HAWKEYES DOWN ILLINI, 30 TO 27

Breene, Carroll to Race for Mayor's Post

Voters Select Candidates to Local Offices

Carroll Shows Little Effort in Leading Opponents

The race for the job of mayor of Iowa City will begin in earnest after today between J. J. Carroll and Harry D. Breene, who were nominated in yesterday's primary election.

With complete returns still lacking from the first ward at 4 o'clock this morning, Mayor Carroll stood head and shoulders above his Democratic opponents, M. P. Lumsden and C. Rollin Shereck. Breene was unopposed for the Republican nomination.

The stiffest fight of the election was in the Democratic race for the office of police judge. Incumbent C. L. Zager appeared late this morning to have lost out by a decided margin, with C. H. Horst leading in all reported wards.

Opposition
Horst will be opposed in the general election March 27 by H. L. Vestermark, lone Republican candidate.

With that single exception, all contests were walk-aways for the high candidates. Edward W. Sybil, incumbent alderman from the second ward, took the Democratic nomination easily from Leo Kohl and R. P. White with a vote of 195. Kohl, the next highest polled seven votes, while White was left with only one.

In the second ward, where three Republican candidates fought for a place on the city council, Prof. S. M. Woodward stood far in the lead ahead of Clark Hughes and Robert Leinbaugh. Professor Woodward managed to poll 233 votes, while Leinbaugh got 88 and Hughes 37.

As with the contested nominations, voting throughout the day was dull and unexciting. A respectable vote of nearly 2,500 was cast, however.

Largest Turnout
The second ward showed the largest turnout, with a total vote of 518, 266 of which were Republican and 252 Democratic. The first and the fourth wards nearly tied with 533 and 535 votes, respectively.

M. J. McGuan, present alderman from the first ward, maintained a slight lead over his opponent, G. T. Maloney. Early this morning, McGuan was leading with a count of 184 to 75.

Barring a complete upset in the final returns from the first ward, the following list of candidates in the coming general election will be correct:

For mayor—J. J. Carroll, present incumbent, Democrat; Harry D. Breene, Republican.

For city treasurer—E. B. Raymond, present incumbent, Republican (unopposed).

For city assessor—William J. White, present incumbent, Democrat (unopposed).

For police judge—C. H. Horst, Democrat; H. W. Vestermark, Republican.

For park commissioner—William Ruppert, Democrat; William M. Rohrbacher, Republican.

For alderman-at-large—James J. Hanlon, present incumbent, and Harry Shulman, Democrat; James E. Stronks and Prof. Jacob Van der Zee, Republicans.

First ward alderman—M. J. McGuan, Democrat; I. N. Rowland, Republican.

Second ward alderman—H. J. Schardt, Democrat; S. M. Woodward, Republican.

Gypsies Loot Farm; Acquire-Pet Mouse!

CEDAR RAPIDS, Feb. 27 (AP)—A farmer near Ely whose identity police have refused to divulge, is gunning for two gypsies he suspects of stealing a pet mouse from his home.

They almost got away with the family cat, too, the farmer complained, but it fell out of a suitcase as the gypsies were leaving.

And the gypsies' talk so impressed the hired man that he too disappeared, the farmer said.

Police said the farmer offered $5 reward for the return of his mouse and a 200 pound hog as a prize for capture of the gypsies. The hog is worth about $5, too.

Physicians of Cermak Hold Waning Hope

Mayor Rallies Slightly Despite Pneumonia Infection

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 27 (AP)—The following bulletin was issued at midnight by physicians attending Mayor Anton Cermak:

"At midnight Mayor Cermak was fairly comfortable and, in spite of the right lower lobe pneumonia, his circulatory and kidney function is being maintained in a satisfactory manner. We feel his condition is somewhat hopeful at this hour. Temperature 100, respiration 36, pulse 120."

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 27 (AP)—A slight change for the better was reported late today in the condition of Mayor Anton Cermak, who is suffering from a bullet wound, pneumonia and colitis.

A bulletin from the Chicago executive's bedside at 5:45 p.m. said he had made a "slight change for the better during the last six hours."

"He has rested well," the bulletin said. "Pulse 120, temperature 101.4, respiration 36."

"The mayor's color continues good," Dr. Karl Meyer said, "and there appears no necessity for another blood transfusion."

Pessimistic Reports
The cheerful news on the mayor's condition followed upon a day of pessimistic reports from his bedside.

The area of the mayor's lung affected by pneumonia has doubled in size since the disease developed yesterday.

Prior to the 5:45 bulletin, doctors in individual comment said their hopes for saving the patient had been lessened by the pneumonia.

However, a cheerful note was sounded by Dr. Meyer who said "If we sustain him for two or three days at the present rate he may be able to win over the lung infection."

Senator Thomas Walsh of Montana, who was married Saturday in Havana, Cuba, called at the hospital to ask about the mayor's condition. He expressed sympathy for the Cermak family and said he hoped the mayor would survive the ordeal.

"Patient Shipping"
Dr. Walter Hamburger, Chicago heart specialist and one of five attending physicians, said late today:

"It seems to me the patient has been slipping, slowly but progressively, since Saturday."

England Will Refuse Aid to Warring East

Declares Embargo on Arms Shipments to China, Japan

LONDON, Feb. 27 (AP)—A virtual embargo on the shipment of arms and ammunition to Japan and China was announced today by Sir John Simon, the foreign secretary, in the house of commons.

There is one condition—orders and contracts already placed by the two countries will be completed and shipped with the sanction of the government.

Coincident with his announcement, the foreign secretary stated that in no circumstances would Great Britain allow herself to be drawn into the conflict. It was felt that in his statement lies the key to the whole policy of virtual embargo.

It was said unofficially that should an actual state of war between China and Japan come about, the Japanese navy easily would be able to seize shipments of arms to China and that if sometime that shipment happened to be in a British bottom, it would be very difficult to escape involvement.

Opinion Divided
Opinion was divided among members of parliament as to which country will be more affected by the government's decision. The Chinese ministry protested it was unfair, asserting that since Japan now is accepted as the aggressor, China should be permitted means of defense. The Japanese embassy declined comment.

It is believed that both countries are about equal in war orders, already placed, but Japan is thought to be well stocked with finished materials and well provided with means to finish materials. Her chief need is raw material.

Amusing Side
Even this phase of the fighting had its amusing side, it was revealed during debate in the house of commons tonight.

It seems the Chinese and Japanese purchasing agents were both shown into the same waiting room of one of the big munitions firms the other day. They got to talking in friendly fashion and finally compared the prices they were paying. The upshot was that they went into the manufacturer together, put up a united front and went away with a 40 per cent cut in prices.

Borah Opposes Embargo

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—The powerful opposition of Borah of Idaho was raised today against the American participation in an embargo on arms shipment to the orient.

"To put an arms embargo on China and Japan," the chairman of the foreign relations committee told newspapermen, "is to take sides with Japan under the conditions and circumstances that now exist."

Others who have taken the same view as Borah have contended that Japan is already well-equipped while China must seek war supplies abroad.

Borah spoke out upon developments abroad after Democratic house leaders had blocked for this session action on President Hoover's proposal to empower the chief executive to place embargoes on shipments of arms and munitions to countries in conflict.

Speaker Garner, who is to be vice president, said it would not be proper to enact the legislation this late in the session and let President Hoover's issue embargo orders that might not be in accord with the president-elect's views.

Taxpayers to Debate Three Tax Questions

Tonight's meeting of the Iowa City Taxpayers' association will be devoted to three specific tax problems, according to Louis F. Mueller, president of the association.

The topics, which will be discussed by speakers, are:

1—"Iowa City pays $3,250, or one mill, to the county schools. Why? Where does it go?"
2—"Practically all the money raised by the auto license law is spent on the public roads of Johnson county and no part of this on Iowa City streets. Why?"
3—"Iowa City pays to the general county fund $19,079.50. How is this distributed?"

Wieland Asks Plea Change

Seeks to Plead "Not Guilty" to Charge of Manslaughter

Trial of a petition asking withdrawal of a plea of guilty to manslaughter charges entered in district court last Tuesday, by Joseph B. Wieland, 25, of Riverside was held late yesterday afternoon.

District Judge J. P. Gaffney announced that his decision would probably be given some time today. The petition, asking that a plea of not guilty be substituted for the guilty plea, was filed with the clerk of the district court Saturday by the law firm of Messer and Nolan.

Wieland was arrested Monday evening, Feb. 26, after the car he was driving struck and killed Morgan E. Hartsock, 67, Tuesday afternoon he was sentenced to an indeterminate period not to exceed eight years in the state penitentiary at Ft. Madison and fined $500 and costs when he appeared before Judge Gaffney and pleaded guilty to manslaughter.

County Attorney Olsen filed a resistance to the withdrawal petition yesterday, contending that Wieland was given all legal rights and that he was fully informed as to his privileges. A copy of the court record of the arraignment and sentence, and affidavits of Sheriff Don McComas and Coroner George Marvash were introduced as evidence.

Clerk of Court Walter J. Barrow was the only witness called. After closing arguments of D. C. Nolan of the firm of Messer and Nolan were given, Judge Gaffney said he would read the brief prepared by County Attorney Olsen and made his decision later.

In commenting on Wieland's arraignment in court, the judge said he believed that all rights of the defendant had been carefully safeguarded but that he would make his decision on the law in regard to withdrawal of plea. He told Attorney Nolan that appeal bond would be fixed at $5,000 if the petition for withdrawal was denied.

county fund $19,079.50. How is this distributed?"

Mr. Mueller said yesterday that the advisory board of the association decided at a recent meeting that the discussion of the association from now on will be strictly limited to constructive consideration of present problems.

Resolutions introduced at last week's meeting have been considered by a special committee, Mr. Mueller said, and will be taken up by the association at tonight's meeting.

Six Students Will Visit Washington for Inauguration

Six students of the University of Iowa will be among the crowds which attend the Roosevelt inauguration at Washington, D. C., Saturday.

This afternoon, the following students are leaving by automobile for the capital city: William W. Hurley, A. J. of Davenport; Ralph E. Wareham, A. B. of Peterson; Kingsley M. Clark, A. J. of Adel; Ray V. Bailey, A. B. of Regal; and Jesse Hart Rosdall, C. B. of Springville.

The party of five plans to meet James Rowe Garner, G. of Bethany, Okla., in Washington. Mr. Garner, nephew of the vice president-elect, had planned to leave last Saturday, but because of the death of his grandfather, he will not leave until today or tomorrow.

The entire group plans to return to Iowa City in a week or 10 days.

Fire Wrecks Reich Building

Germans Believe Fire of Incendiary Origin; Arrest Man

BERLIN, Feb. 28 (AP) Tuesday—Wilhelm Goering, cabinet minister without portfolio, early today ordered the arrest of 100 communist members of the Reichstag a few hours after fire of incendiary origin had swept the first floor of the Reichstag building.

BERLIN, Feb. 27 (AP)—Fire of incendiary origin swept the ornate German parliament building tonight and did damage estimated at millions of marks.

Every fire company in Berlin was rushed to the scene. After two hours hard work they had the flames under control at 10:45 p.m. but ruins still smoldered in the east wing. The gilded cupola above the Reichstag meeting hall was reduced almost to ruins.

Police arrested a man giving his surname of Van de Luebbe, 24 years old, who said he was a Dutch communist. He refused to talk further, but authorities learned from other sources reports that ammunition had perhaps been placed in the burning heaps. Authorities suspected a communist plot.

Coming shortly after an incendiary fire on Saturday night in the historic palace of the Hohenzollerns on the Lustgarten, the Reichstag blaze led horrified citizens to ask what destruction was threatened next.

In less than a week the Reichstag election will be held and the question was raised as to where the newly elected body will be able to meet. It will take months before the damaged sections can be restored.

HAVANA (AP)—Earl C. Mills of Des Moines, imperial potentate of the Mystic Shrine, arrived in Havana today to visit Havana Masons. He was accompanied by Mrs. Mills.

Wallace Holds Own Counsel

New Agriculture Head Refuses to Discuss Appointments

DES MOINES, Feb. 27 (AP)—With the acclamation and praise of farm leaders and friends from all parts of the midwest ringing in his ears, Henry A. Wallace, named by president-elect Roosevelt yesterday as his secretary of agriculture, continued today to maintain silence on his plans or intentions in the new post.

A constant stream of persons poured through his editorial office today and thousands of incoming telegrams kept a force of clerks busy. Through it all Mr. Wallace declined to discuss appointments, policies or relief measures for agriculture, and indicated that his activities as secretary will be a part of the teamwork efforts of the entire Roosevelt cabinet.

His only comment regarding the position was the short formal statement "I hope I may have the strength and wisdom to help the president in carrying out the agricultural adjustments which are so close to his mind and heart."

In his recent speeches and articles in his magazine, "Wallace's Farmer," the new secretary has advocated tariff reduction, controlled currency inflation, and reduction of the acreage now devoted to raising crops, all of which he sums as "the vital necessity for raising the prices paid the producer for farm produce." Unless these prices are increased the vicious economic spirals will continue downward for a nation dependent on agriculture, he believes.

He has spoken in favor of the domestic allotment plan as originally written but points out that the bill as reported out of the senate agricultural committee is a vastly different measure.

Surviving Mr. Smith are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Smith; one sister, and one brother.

Cabinet List Nears Completion

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Feb. 27 (AP)—President-elect Roosevelt is surrounding himself with his new cabinet in preparing to plunge immediately into the titanic task of giving the nation a "new deal" after Saturday's inauguration.

The official cabinet list neared completion today with Mr. Roosevelt's formal announcement that Senator Swanson of Virginia will be his secretary of the navy and Harold Ickes, Chicago lawyer and Republican independent, his secretary of the interior.

The naming of Senator Walsh of Montana as attorney general; Daniel C. Roper of South Carolina as secretary of commerce; and Frances Perkins of New York as secretary of labor, is expected in the next two days before he starts for New York and Washington.

John Barko Leads Iowa in Scoring With Eight Points; Illinois Star Breaks Ankle

Henry Ford Takes Over Banking Role

DETROIT, Feb. 27 (AP)—"Banker" Henry Ford—bearing that title for the first time in his 59 active years—tonight prepared to place in effect, through control of Detroit's banking situation, the definite ideas of finance he has held for more than a score of years.

At the same time, he said that "the practical revealing of my principles will have to be a matter of evolution. We will have to feel our way along."

By his abrupt decision to place $8,250,000 capital into the establishment of two new banks which will take over the liquid assets of two banks now operating under rigid withdrawals, the motor magnate stepped dramatically into the city's turbulent financial scene.

H. G. Smith Service Held at Mortuary

By GENE THORNE
(Sports Editor The Daily Iowan)
Uncovering enough fight and speed to make up for lack of its usual fitness, the University of Iowa basketball team closed its home season last night by defeating the rejuvenated Illinois quintet, 30 to 27, for its eighth consecutive victory. The game was played before a crowd of 7,500 persons.

The Hawkeyes, visibly "off" after the all-important Ohio State game last Saturday, were forced to come from behind to even matters after the Illini had acquired a 7 to 3 lead in the first five minutes. It was Johnny Barko, sophomore forward, who led the Old Gold attack, tallying three field goals and two free throws after he replaced Guedner Krumbholz in the Iowa lineup.

"Huddle" Hellmich, Illinois center, garnered high point honors for the evening, with four field goals, and five counters from the free throw lane. Frank Froschauer, high-scoring Illinois forward, however, caused the Hawkeyes the most trouble until he was carried from the floor in the middle of the first half with a fractured ankle. "Chin" Kamm, Orange and Black guard, was ejected from the game a few minutes later via the personal foul rule.

The margin of the Iowa victory was three free throws. Both teams caged the ball nine times from the field, but the Old Gold made good 12 tosses from the free throw line to nine by Illinois. Both quintets missed five charity tosses.

Off on Shooting
The first half saw the Hawkeyes working double passes nicely, but they were unable to cage a sufficient percentage of their shots to attain a comfortable lead. The score at the half was 17 to 16 in favor of the Hawkeyes.

Play throughout the game was fast but ragged, with many shots going considerably wide of their mark. Both teams battled wildly for the ball on rebounds, with Howard Bastian, Iowa center, cooperating with Johnny Grim and Benny Selzer, Hawkeye guards, to control the ball a good share of the time during the second half.

It was once more the fine ball—

Biochemistry Classes Suspended for Funeral

Funeral service was held yesterday at the Beckman funeral home for H. Gregg Smith, associate in biochemistry at the University of Iowa who died Sunday afternoon after an illness of nearly a week. The Rev. W. P. Lemon, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, officiated.

The body was sent to Muncie, Ind., the home of Mr. Smith's parents, where another service will be held today at the Presbyterian church there.

Classes in biochemistry were discontinued all day yesterday, and all chemistry classes were excused for the funeral. Mr. Smith's successor has not yet been appointed.

Born in Venedocia, Ohio, May 30, 1898, Mr. Smith moved later with his parents to Muncie, Ind., where he entered the public schools. After graduating from high school in 1916, he entered the University of Indiana, and received a B.A. degree in 1920. He was an assistant in biochemistry during his last two years.

Two years later, he received his M.S. at the University of Rochester. After one term at the University of Chicago, he returned to the University of Rochester, and was awarded his Ph.D. in 1927. During two of the years at Rochester, he had a fellowship in biochemistry. From 1920 to 1923, he served as instructor in biochemistry, and from 1923 to 1927 he was an assistant in the same department.

Mr. Smith first came to the University of Iowa in 1927, as an instructor in biochemistry; in 1929 he was appointed associate, the position he held at the time of his death.

He was a member of Sigma Xi, national honorary scientific research organization; the American Chemical Society, the Iowa Academy of Science, and the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Mr. Smith has written various papers on scientific subjects, two of which will appear in the March issue of the Journal of Biological Chemistry.

Surviving Mr. Smith are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Smith; one sister, and one brother.

Hoover Gets Party Letter

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—Six days before he leaves the White House, President Hoover today received from the executive committee of his party a message that Republican supporters "will continue to look to" him "for leadership in these difficult and dangerous days."

Just how this might affect the 1936 political situation immediately became the subject of widespread speculation. Many wondered if the executive committee's letter could be interpreted as an invitation to him to seek once more the office he is about to leave.

Mr. Hoover, himself, remained silent, both publicly and in a letter of guidance to the committee, as to his personal plans. Close friends of the chief executive said he intended

State Investigation Bureau Will Test Patrol Car Radios

DES MOINES, Feb. 27 (AP)—Five types of radio receiving sets to be used in the projected state police radio system were received today by the state bureau of investigation for tests in automobiles.

The newly equipped cars will tour the state, particularly "dead spots" discovered with other sets. From the tests the type of set most adapted to Iowa will be selected by the attorney general.

The law passed by the legislature two years ago requires installation of a receiving set in each county sheriff's office and one patrol car in each county. The law also requires that one set be installed in police headquarters in each city.

to remain titular head of the party, but he desired service in the future only in the "broadest sense," that events conduced, nevertheless, that events of the next four years might alter his decision.

Hear Address by Thompson

A greater degree of governmental control of business in the future was predicted by Prof. C. Woody Thompson of the college of commerce at a meeting of the Roger Williams club in the Baptist church Sunday evening. His subject was "The economic future of the United States, in the light of the past."

Taxes will increase, Professor Thompson declared, and the farmer will become either a capitalist or a tenant with the status of a peasant. The continuation of the United States as a creditor nation will make it the center of world opposition, he asserted. The entire trade policy of this country will be revised.

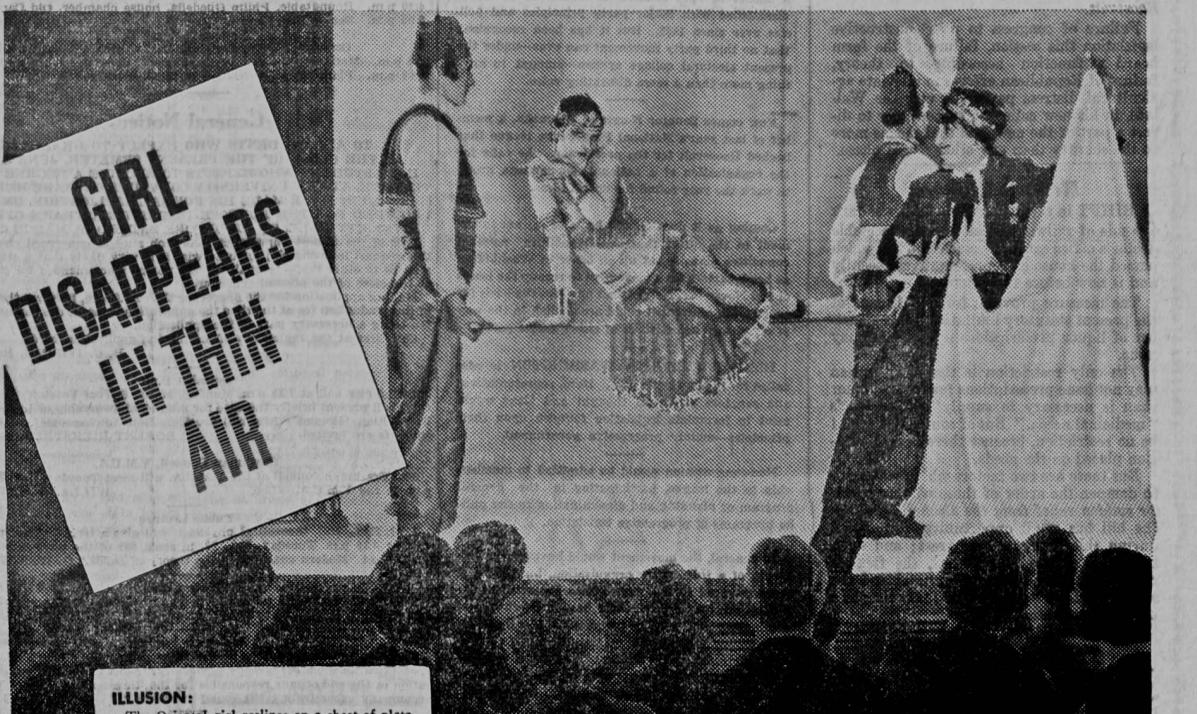

The future will bring a definite social stratification, which only an adequate educational program can cope with, Professor Thompson concluded.

Iowa State Man to Give Child Welfare Radio Series Talk

Prof. Thomas F. Vance of the psychology department of Iowa State college will be the speaker for this week's Iowa Child Welfare Research station lecture. His subject is "Helping the child face success and failure." The address will be broadcast over station WSMU at 7:45 tonight.

Professor Vance will discuss parents' work in helping the child avoid failure. A child's personality must be respected by adults if he is to have confidence. If children are to be leaders and attain real success in their special lines they must be helped to cultivate self-reliance and self-responsibility, Professor Vance believes.

OTTAWA, Ont. (AP) — The department of agriculture today announced plans for a conference between provincial and federal entomologists on March 2; when next summer's campaign against grasshoppers will be mapped.

ILLUSION: The Oriental girl reclines on a sheet of plate glass supported by two slaves. The magician waves a white sheet in front of the pretty maiden... pronounces a few magic words... Presto! She has disappeared in thin air.

EXPLANATION: "Disappearing" acts are among the most popular in the repertory of the magician. Dogs, horses, girls, whole rooms disappear—whisked into wings, dropped through trapdoors, hidden by mirrors. But this "disappearance" is a bit different. One of the "slaves" is a hollow dummy. When the magician holds up the sheet the little lady disappears completely—into the convenient figure of the dummy.

IT'S FUN TO BE FOOLED ... IT'S MORE FUN TO KNOW

There is also a trick of cigarette advertising, whereby a few magic words are used to create the illusion of "Coolness."

EXPLANATION: Coolness is determined by the speed of burning. Fresh cigarettes, retaining their full moisture, burn more slowly... smoke cooler. Parched, dry cigarettes burn fast. They taste hot. This makes the method of wrapping very important.

Improperly wrapped cigarettes begin to dry out as soon as packed. Camels are cooler because they come in the famous Humidor Pack of welded, three-ply, MOISTURE-PROOF cellophane... and because they contain better tobaccos.

A cigarette that is fresh, full of natural moisture, and blended from choice, ripe tobaccos tastes cooler than one that is harsh and acrid. For coolness, choose a fresh cigarette, made from costlier tobaccos.

It is a fact, well known by leaf tobacco experts, that Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand.

Try Camels... give your taste a chance to sense the difference. You'll appreciate it!

Iowa's Hand in the New Deal

"I HOPE," says Henry A. Wallace, "I may have the strength and wisdom to help the president in carrying out the agricultural adjustments which are so close to his mind and heart."

Thus Iowa's new cabinet member expresses himself in regard to a problem of which few men in the country know more, or better understand, the ills confronting the farmer.

He keynotes cooperation, rather than take a stand in favor of a particular brand of farm relief, or of a policy in regard to agriculture in general. In so doing he inadvertently voices the hope of thousands of farmers—that a government responsible for much of the farmer's plight shall assume responsibility for the outcome of the present situation, regardless of individual or sectional benefits.

The new secretary of agriculture favors the domestic allotment plan in its original form, advocates tariff reduction, controlled currency inflation, controlled production and distribution. He is favorably disposed, too, toward reducing the functions of the department that have plunged agriculture headlong into ruin, an attitude that is tied up closely with the policies of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Failure of congress to pass constructive legislation this session, failure of the farm board to function according to theory, failure of Republican efforts to alleviate agricultural distress paves the way for Wallace, in his new capacity, successfully to direct a part of the new deal that means more to the country than any other single phase.

Medicinal Liquor

A SHIFT in the liquor trade from the dark side of railway tracks to the respectable doctor's office can be foreseen in a bill which passed the house of representatives recently and is now before the senate.

The measure provides for the discard of the present statutory limitations on the number of liquor prescriptions a physician may issue.

The only restriction is that a physician may not issue prescriptions for "more liquor than is necessary to supply" a patient's "medicinal needs." But of course this would be no restriction, because there is no limitation placed on the needs.

But there are two factors which will serve to dampen the ardor of those who may look for sudden relief from the alcoholic drouth. The bill has small opportunity of passage during this session of congress; and even though it should become law, the flexible regulations of the attorney general and the secretary of the treasury would take the place of the present statute.

Tests and Individuals

JUNIORS of the present year may remember the group of tests given sophomores last spring, in which the University of Iowa participated with nearly 150 other colleges. First report of the results in the middle-west came recently from the University of Minnesota. At the same time, a little apprehension over the university grading system was felt; the reason—13 of the 32 students ranking highest in the tests were last fall refused admission into the upper division of the colleges, because they lacked a "C" average.

But, with still another quirk of mathematics, the results coincided with the aptitude ratings given in pre-college entrance tests. There is a difference in sitting down to an examination of general nature, which is concentrated into a period of a few hours as the sophomore and entrance tests were, and the taking of an examination which must call up a half year's work, in a special field.

If students should concentrate on one text for a period of a few days, complete an examination and receive credit for a number of semester hours before entering another subject, a university course could be made tabloid size. Probably the grade average of some students completing such a curriculum would be high, because a concentrated effort would bring with it a high degree of retention.

one with the ability to grasp a thing quickly, and nearly as quickly let it get away from him.

Trouser Trouble

Just when it seemed the world was settling back into a calmer routine, the women break out into another of their periodic "rashes" and once more disturb the equanimity of man. Some years back it was close-cropped hair; and that masculine holy of holies, the barber shop, was no longer a refuge devoted solely to the wants of the male. Then some enterprising female discovered that smoking a cigaret was fun. The idea spread rapidly, and it wasn't long before an extra package for the girl friend was a necessary part of the equipment for a date. Finally when woman began to elbow man away from his accustomed place at the speakeasy bar the ordinary mortal thought that the epitome of the freedom of woman had arrived.

Then one fine morning the world awakened to find that one of the leading feminine lights of Hollywood had been seen in trousers. Now a quaking masculine populace is anxiously, warily waiting to see just how far the thing will go, and also is speculating a bit on what, if anything, there is to do about it.

Some men take the stand that if women are to wear the trousers in the family they should be forced to bear the time-honored burdens that go with this now doubtful honor. They should be made to arise early in the morning and get down to the office so that the rest of the family may live. The husband will remain in bed until ten or eleven in the morning and then get up and prepare for an afternoon of bridge with the rest of the "boys." Perhaps he might even spend some time in purchasing a hat, not forgetting to send the bill to the wife. If he is a good house-keeper he will get back early enough in the evening to prepare a hasty dinner—the ingredients coming from the corner delicatessen. At dinner he will not neglect to entertain his mate with a detailed account of the boredom of being forced to spend his days about the house. This will be cannibal bliss par excellence.

The cost of printing the Congressional Record for the seventy-second congress was $983,584. Most of the publication consists of debates on economy.

TODAY'S TOPICS

BY FRANK JAFFE

THE THIRD PARTY IN AMERICA has been a matter of deep concern to thousands of voters dissatisfied with major party principles and policies ever since 1832. But it has been recognized that no third party movement can ever—under the present electoral college system—amount to anything more than a mere dissenting voice.

Now comes Senator Norris of Nebraska, a member of last year's National Progressive league that backed Roosevelt for the presidency, who calls for the organization of a national non-partisan group to work the year round for liberal ideas.

Coming as it does on the heels of an announcement to the effect that the Republican national committee plans to set up an office in Washington as headquarters for a movement to recoup the losses of last November, Norris' plan provides the basis for speculation on what it could accomplish in the way of offsetting the activities of either major party.

HEADQUARTERS IN WASHINGTON is also called for in the Norris plan. Here, representatives and senators of liberal thought and ideas would meet to formulate legislation founded upon their principles—mainly progressive government.

Non-congressmen would be admitted to membership in the league, participating in the general program of planning and disseminating to the public programs of progressive legislation.

In general, the movement would have all the earmarks of a third party organization, but unless it were financed to the extent that the two major parties are financed, it would have little chance of nominating and electing progressive liberals to office.

IT IS SAFE TO SAY THAT if the plan for a non-partisan organization goes through to completion it will meet with the wholehearted approval of several million voters who are fed up on party differences and squabbling to the point where even worthwhile measures get the raspberry intended primarily for the party. And some of those millions were dyed in the wool Republicans before last November.

When it comes to party allegiance, however, the non-partisan league will have to contend with a problem that may wreck its hopes of bringing the nation to its senses in matter of self-government. It might be mentioned here that Senator Reed of Pennsylvania the other day declared that at the next party caucus in the senate, those members of the Republican party who supported Roosevelt last year be scratched off the books.

Perhaps in time it may come to be no disgrace to be expelled from one party or another. It may even be no disgrace to belong to neither major party but to vote according to conscience, or common sense.

POINT NO. 6 IN THE PLAN calls for a provision that the rank and file of the people have a national organization "offering an alternative to the political program of reactionaries seeking to control the Republican and Democratic parties."

But in the rank and file of the people are many who remain more or less loyal to party because they fear chaos and ruin—or worse—were a third party to ascend to power. Therefore they continue blindly to support a major party with hardly a thought as to its controlling genius. There are times, however, when even blind shooting hits the mark.

There is some assurance in this plan that the best brains of the house and senate—and of non-political sources—may be lined up in a unified movement, and by sharp contrast with the less intelligent, or less progressive, so-called leaders, really get somewhere. One might even record—in the formation of such an organization—just another revolution, American style.

Funke Edits Three Articles for Use in German Schools

Three articles edited by Prof. Erich Funke, acting head of the German department, have recently been published in booklet form in Leipzig, Germany, as part of a series of modern language readers. An introduction and special notes fitting the booklets for use in the secondary schools in Germany have been added by Professor Funke to the original articles which appeared in the London Times. The titles are: "The German enigma," "The German inquiry," and "The outlook of young Germany." Among the topics discussed in the booklets is the British view on German pre-war politics. The Times stated that it was essentially a series of heavy blunders in German politics that contributed to the outbreak of the war, Professor Funke said. The booklets were published by Verlag Von Velhagen and Klasing, of Bielefeld and Leipzig, Germany.

BEHIND THE SCENES - IN HOLLYWOOD - By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD - Hollywood, and many of you, will be sorry to hear that Polly Moran is leaving Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. The rollicking star believes she can do better at radio and personal appearances, so the company has agreed to cancel the rest of her contract. Undoubtedly, this means the end of one of the most successful comedy teams in the history of pictures. Polly and Marie Dressler. They clicked sensationally in "The Calhouns and the Murphies" and followed up with four more pictures, the last being "Prosperity." If the demand is sufficient, M-G-M can, of course, recall Polly for more engagements later. I doubt, however, if she will be anxious to return in the near future. There never was a star who so loved an audience. Many is the time I've seen Polly get up in a night club and clown the stay-up-lates into hysterics. At parties she and William Haines are hilarious. No doubt about the reception she will receive on a personal appearance tour. Still, M-G-M will not seem the same place without this jolly star. In five years she has become a fixture at the Culver City studio. We'll be missing her. Very funny, the brush between the news photographers and the movie troupe filming the sinking of a destroyer. The photos had come up in a water-taxi to take pictures of the scene. Plenty of opposition developed, with the result that the water-taxi was escorted away. As it departed shoreward one of the photographers discovered a lifeboat with some gummies in it. "What are those?" he shouted. "Seasick yessen?" HOLLYWOOD PARADE. The comeback road opens up for Anna Q. Nilsson at last. Hollywood's champion hard-luck star will take the leading role in a modernized stage version of "Hedda Gabler," opening at the Hollywood Music Box early in March. It will be the first thing she has done since her unfortunate accident of several years ago. Needless to say, Hollywood stars will make it a first night to be talked about. Well, Mr. Culbertson backed out, and what's to do about it. The bridge expert called off his match with the Marx brothers after Paramount had made extensive preparations and had sent out 150 invitations. In excuse, he said he thought the match was a joke and was astounded to find the Marx brothers were taking it seriously. He says he still believes the motion picture stars are far better kibitzers than they are bridge players. Chico Marx countered with an offer to play the bridge champ a match with $5,000 at stake. Which sort of leaves Mr. Culbertson on the spot. Have you heard about the Fredric March's three-year plan? Florence Eldridge says she wants to adopt a baby a year for three years. That makes four in all... Little Dorothy Wilson (remember, she used to be an R-K-O stenographer) has bought a house in Laurel Canyon... The new Connie Bennett film, "Bed of Roses," will have a Maford Grae background. Bonarratia Wanda Tuchock and Leonard Frank have gone down to New Orleans to absorb atmosphere...

Bill Seeks to Aid Hospital's Needy Cases

Committee to Present Plans for Remedy to Assembly

DES MOINES, Feb. 27 (AP)—Lieut. Gov. Nelson Kraschel today announced the appointment of Senators Patterson of Kosuth, Moore of Pottawattamie and Hicklin of Louisa to the committee to study the overflow indigent patient problem at the University hospital at Iowa City. Governor Herring and Speaker George Miller are each to name three members to the committee today.

Further provision for the care of indigent patients at University hospital will be sought in a measure to be brought before the state legislature when it convenes March 6 after a week's recess, an Associated Press report said yesterday.

The measure is the result of a resolution introduced by Senator George Patterson of Burt and passed by both houses before the recess, calling for the appointment of a committee of nine to consider remedies for what is called a "distressing situation."

The committee, consisting of three members appointed by the president of the senate, three by the speaker of the house, and three by the governor, will meet with the hospital faculty, university officials, and the state board of education, to draft legislation to be presented to the general assembly.

According to Senator Patterson's resolution, more than 5,000 Iowa residents are on the hospital waiting list, as compared with 16 persons on the waiting list of Sept. 1, 1927. It points out that more than 8,000 patients are admitted annually.

One million dollars a year, the sum appropriated for the hospital in the past, is held by the resolution to be inadequate to cope with this year's problem, adding that at present "an emergency exists, wherein more than 5,000 residents of the state of Iowa, men, women, and children, are clamoring for admission to the state university hospital."

In a comment on the waiting list, the resolution asserts that "taxes help to make indigents, and increasing income increases taxes, and a vicious circle has been established."

Jane McNeill, Jean Baylor Win Games

Jane McNeill, A2 of Onawa, and Jean Baylor, A3 of Sigourney, were winners in the singles of the second women's intramural badminton game, yesterday in women's gymnasium. Miss McNeill represented Zeta Tau Alpha, and Miss Baylor represented Delta Delta Delta.

Doubles will be played tomorrow at 6:45 p.m. in women's gymnasium.

Ripley Explanations

EXPLANATION OF SUN-DAY'S CARTOON

The most distinguished lady of science: Mme. Marie Curie, (nee Sklodowska) co-discoverer of polonium and radium, is the only person to have received Nobel prizes from more than one section. She received the award for physics (jointly with her husband and M. Becquerel) in 1903, and was again awarded the Nobel prize in chemistry in 1911.

Mme. Curie, who is of Polish descent, (daughter of a professor of physics in Warsaw) succeeded her husband Pierre Curie as professor of physics and director of the physical laboratory at the Sorbonne. Her scientific experiments, consisting of tedious and innumerable fractional crystallizations, yielded a minute sample of pure radium salt which made possible the precise determination of the atomic weight of radium.

Lapp Lectures on Radioactivity Field at Iowa Wesleyan

Prof. C. J. Lapp of the physics department gave a lecture last night before the Science club at Iowa Wesleyan college, Mt. Pleasant, on "New developments in the field of radioactivity."

The term radioactivity is applied to the phenomenon by which one element breaks up into another. Until recently it was generally thought that there are three steps in the radioactive series—thorium, actinium, and radium, Professor Lapp said.

For certain theoretical reasons Prof. Fred Allison and co-workers at Alabama Polytechnic institute have proposed a series of four. Using a new magneto-optical method, they have discovered 40 new radioactive elements differing in atomic weight, which they find can be logically arranged in four series by applying the new series proposed by the theoretical physicists, the speaker declared.

This new series constitutes a rearrangement of the old one into four members instead of three. The new member is a second actinium.

Professor Lapp has been teaching radioactivity at the university for 10 years.

Two Tax Sales Delayed Pending Efficacy of Law

DES MOINES, Feb. 27 (AP)—While legal steps went forward today to postpone until Dec. 4, 1933, all delinquent tax sales, two such sales were delayed pending effectiveness of the new law.

The secretary of state sent copies of the law to the Storm Lake Pilot-Tribune and the Rolfe Arrow for publication which will put the statute in force. Publication probably will be accomplished by Friday.

One tax sale had been called at Fairfield, but County Treasurer V. S. Samuelson adjourned it until March 27 when no bidders appeared. By that time the new law will be in force.

Three hundred farmers came to the Pottawattamie county courthouse at Council Bluffs to attend the sale there. It was postponed after the county treasurer conferred by telephone with Lieut. Gov. N. E. Kraschel regarding the new law.

Tax Reduction Group Pushes Limitation Bill

Use Spring Recess to Discuss Measure With Voters

DES MOINES, Feb. 27 (AP)—Tax reduction forces in the Iowa general assembly are taking advantage of the spring recess to push for enactment of the Beatty-Bennett tax limitation bill.

A number of those supporting the bill are scheduled for speaking engagements this week, it was announced today, and other members of the assembly plan to discuss the measure with the voters.

Among those who will speak are Senator Roy Stevens of Ottumwa, chairman of the senate tax reduction committee; Lieut. Gov. Nels Kraschel, and Senator John K. Valentine of Centerville, member of the new interim committee.

Gov. Clyde L. Herring also has suggested that the tax limit bill be given serious consideration as a tax reduction step. He urged the "people back home" to talk over this and other legislative proposals with their representatives in the assembly.

Would Limit Tax Levies

In the form in which it awaits house consideration the bill, which was passed by the senate, would limit all tax levies on property for all but state purposes and fixed charges to 75 per cent of the 1931 levies.

Senator Stevens today said the bill is "not nearly as drastic" as it is considered by some school and city authorities over the state. He estimated that the reduction effected would be about 20 per cent.

In senate debate it had been estimated that about $24,000,000 would be cut from the total tax load by adoption of the bill.

Preparations were made today for placing two more measures in operation before the assembly reconvenes on March 6—those suspending all delinquent tax sales until Dec. 4, 1933, and permitting counties to adopt the stamp money plan for poor relief. Both will go into effect Friday following publication on Thursday.

Herring Leaves for Washington

Governor Herring will not be here when the assembly reconvenes as he plans to leave tomorrow for Washington to attend the inaugural ceremonies and the governor's conference called by President-elect Roosevelt.

While in Washington the governor and Mrs. Herring and members of the Iowa delegation in congress will honor guests at a banquet and ball to be given by the Iowa State society March 3, it was announced today. The society is composed of former citizens of that state.

The governor plans to transmit to the assembly when it reconvenes the notification for the submission of the proposed repeal of the eighteenth constitutional amendment to constitutional conventions. A certified copy of the resolution was received today from Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson.

At the same time the governor probably will have ready for senate consideration his appointments to 12 state positions.

County Asks Aid

DES MOINES (AP)—A request from Muscatine county for a Reconstruction Finance corporation loan of $19,000 to meet March and April relief needs was received by the state relief committee.

Survey of Authors' "Who's Who" Attests to Intelligence of Professors Here; 35 of Them Write 128 Books

And if any further doubts persist as to the intelligence of college professors, a cursory survey of a "Who's Who Among North American Authors" will dispel them in summary order.

No less than 128 books by 35 faculty members of the University of Iowa, representing 16 departments and colleges, attest to the more-than-ordinary intelligence of these dissemi-minators of higher learning. Probably more books than are in the average man's library are represented among the titles which have found their way into the above-mentioned "Who's Who."

The composite versatility of these professors is astounding. The scope of their writing extends from mathematics to poetry on the one hand, and from short stories to astronomy on the other.

And besides being authors of books, 27 professors are listed as frequent contributors to periodicals, most of which are technical in nature. Two of the above number, Prof. E. W. Chittenden and Prof. C. C. Wylie of the mathematics and astronomy department, were admitted to "Who's Who" solely on the merit of their magazine contributions.

As to the distribution of these writers, the political science department claims more than any other single department—six. From this department emanates The Palimpsest, published by the State Historical society and devoted to literature on Iowa history. Prof. John Ely Briggs is editor.

Laurels for the greatest number of books go to Prof. Frederic B. Knight of the college of education. He has published a total of 23, including a number of manuals for teachers and students.

At least nine University of Iowa professors are authors of widely used textbooks. Dean C. E. Seashore of the graduate college is noted for his psychology textbooks. Prof. Henry L. Rietz of the mathematics department is co-author of "College Algebra," now in its third edition. Professor Knight and Prof. Ernest Horn of the college of education have made noteworthy contributions to the field of elementary schoolbooks.

Other subjects on which University of Iowa professors have compiled textbooks include geology, chemistry, speech, political science, sociology, and Romance languages.

Three faculty members have published works on literary criticism. One of the best known books in this class is "Toward Standards" by Prof. Norman Foerster, director of the school of letters.

Only one short story writer is listed, this honor going to Prof. Frank Luther Mott, director of the school of journalism.

Prof. Edwin Ford Piper of the English department would seem to be the university's foremost devotee of the poetic muse.

The genius statistician finds one outstanding representative—Prof. George R. Davies of the college of commerce.

Prof. C. C. Wylie, university astronomer, is a frequent contributor to astronomical journals. The recently published 1931 German yearbook of astronomical contributions, "Astronomischer Jahresbericht," indexes several of Professor Wylie's articles.

The most popular subject, judging by the number of writers who pursue it, seems to be history.

Apparently, books in sufficient quantity and variety have been written by University of Iowa professors to furnish a liberal education in themselves.

Creative Writer Has No Chance in Films, Scenarist Maintains

Hollywood offers no opportunity to the writer to express his creative ability, Anthony Veiller, movie scenarist in the Paramount studios, told a meeting of the University of Iowa Socialist club in the women's lounge of Iowa Union Sunday afternoon.

All production is supervised by producers, who are not creative or interpretive artists, but business men, he said. Under them, the writer is forced to set on paper the ideas which the producers dictate. The result, he asserted, is stereotyped and unimaginative writing.

Huge sums of money are spent in adapting novels or plays to the screen, in the salaries of as many as 30 or 40 writers who are put to work on a single adaptation. In preparing the story for the camera, it is so changed that it bears little resemblance to the author's original work, Mr. Veiller declared.

If the screen would allow writers the creative expression of the stage, it would be the greatest of artistic mediums, Mr. Veiller believes. It offers a latitude far beyond that of the stage and the novel, he concluded.

Movie Reels Will Illustrate Talk Tonight

Five reels of motion pictures will illustrate a public lecture on "Reclamation of the Zuider Zee" by Walter Boesch, chemical engineer of Utrecht, Holland, at 7:30 this evening in chemistry auditorium. The lecture is under the auspices of the college of engineering.

The 30 year project of draining the Zuider Zee began in 1918, and is not yet completed. Its objective is to reclaim from the sea an area of 900 square miles of cultivable land.

The project forms a new chapter in the history of the resourcefulness of the Dutch people in their long struggle with the sea.

"The work of this project," said Dean C. C. Williams, "is a tribute to the ingenuity of the Dutch engineers."

Mr. Bosch, who has been engaged in work at Iowa State college this year, will leave for Holland next month.

C. of C. Speaker Outlines Views on Modern Tax Problem

Gross Income Levy Seen as Best Solution

Davenport Man Talks at Luncheon Meeting

The gross income tax as the solution to modern taxing problems was advocated yesterday at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Chamber of Commerce by Louis G. Bein of Davenport.

Mr. Bein, president of the Davenport school board and of the Newcomb Loom company of Davenport, is one of the original members of the Iowa Association for Tax Justice, an organization which originated in Davenport and spread over the state.

The gross income tax, according to Mr. Bein, is designed as a replacement tax for real estate and personal property taxes.

All persons with income would be taxed for their share of government expense on a uniform basis. The plan proposed by the Iowa Association for Tax Justice suggests the levying of a tax of one half of one per cent against the gross sales of any individual business and against the sales of men's services.

Mr. Bein explained that, according to figures obtained by a survey made by the association, the total gross income of the state is from 10 to 12 billions of dollars. The proposed tax of one half of one per cent on the smaller figure, he pointed out, would yield a total of 50 million dollars in taxes.

He urged that the legislature adopt the idea and make the levy on incomes go as far as possible against the taxes on real estate. As business returns to normal, he said, the gross income tax would eventually offset the taxes on real estate and personal property and eliminate special levies and fees.

Mr. Bein contended that the adoption of the plan would reduce the burden on real estate by 50 per cent. The theory back of the plan, he said, lies in the fact that although everyone enjoys the protection and the privileges guaranteed by government, many are not directly interested by virtue of their immunity from taxes.

Senator Paul Schmidt and Representative LeRoy Mercer of Iowa City, who are visiting here during the recess of the general assembly, touched on some problems facing the assembly.

Plans for a special meeting sometime this week are under way at which Senator Schmidt and Representative Mercer will be able to determine the attitude of their constituents on various matters of current interest.

Senator Schmidt explained that the senate committee which is to investigate the handling of indigent patients at University hospital is a friendly one.

Following the luncheon meeting, nearly 30 members of the Merchants' Bureau held an informal meeting and discussed the gross income tax with Mr. Bein.

The luncheon meeting was presided over by George Nagle, vice president of the chamber. Mr. Bein was introduced by James L. Records.

Defendants, Associates, May Get Fines of $250,000

CHICAGO, Feb. 27 (AP) — The $150,000,000 financial bubble that Corporation Securities company turned out to be was charged against Samuel Insull and 18 associates today as a gigantic scheme to defraud an investing public.

Indictments entailing possible punishment by 125 years in federal prison and a $250,000 fine for each defendant were returned by the federal grand jury.

The names of three Insulls led all the rest—Samuel, an exile in Greece; Martin, in a Canadian refuge; and Samuel, Jr., still active in utility affairs here. But with them the jury named several of Chicago's leading capitalists — Stanley Field, chairman of the Continental-Illinois National Bank and Trust company; Edward J. Doyle, president of Commonwealth Edison company; and Harold L. Stuart, head of Halsey, Stuart and company.

Woodin, F. D.'s Treasury Chief Noted for Varied Activities

Personal Friend of President-elect, Wet Republican Who Campaigned for Smith in 1928, Director in Many Corporations, Composer of Good Music and Authority on Numismatics.

WILLIAM H. WOODIN WITH AL SMITH and F.D.R.

WASHINGTON—A man of many parts—of infinite variety—is William Hartman Woodin, whom President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt recently named as secretary of treasury in his cabinet. While serving out a career which has taken him to the industrial heights, Mr. Woodin has found time to dabble in politics, to engage in the hobby of collecting old coins and writing an authoritative book on numismatics and to write music—good music, too.

Born in Berwick, Pa., in 1868, Woodin was ambitious to follow the career of medicine. His grandfather was one of the founders of Jackson & Woodin, of Berwick, which firm later became part of the American Car and Foundry company, and his father, C. R. Woodin, who died in 1931, had been president of the company. It was but natural that the young man would stifle his own ambition to carry on the family tradition. So when William Woodin entered Columbia university he took up the study of engineering instead of medicine.

Leaving Columbia in 1890, Woodin went to work in his father's foundry as a cleaner of castings at 90 cents a day, from which job he was in due course graduated to molder, machinist and so on up the line until he became general superintendent of the company's foundries.

When he had learned all that was to be learned about the foundry business, Woodin decided that a life bound up in iron wasn't so attractive. He resigned and set forth on a travel tour which took him through Europe and the near east. In Paris, Germany, and Austria he studied music and discovered he had a natural aptitude for composing. Among his compositions are five symphonies, a children's book of songs and a score of popular pieces. Incidentally, one of Woodin's musical creations, the "Franklin Delano Roosevelt March," will be played at the inauguration on March 4.

When the man destined to hold the purse strings of the United States returned from his travels, he joined the firm of the American Car and Foundry company, of which he is now president. He is also a director of a score of other industrial companies.

A life long Republican, and member of the Union League club, Woodin created something of a national sensation in 1928, when he declared publicly: "I consider it my duty as a citizen and a business man to give Gov. Alfred E. Smith all the support in his campaign for the presidency of which I am able." Many believed at the time that Woodin's championship of Smith was the result of the strong bond of friendship that has always existed between Woodin and Franklin D. Roosevelt. However, Woodin himself insisted that it was Smith's gallant fight against prohibition which won him over to the Democratic banner.

Throughout his business career, the man who is slated to look after Uncle Sam's pocketbook has often proved that he possesses the faculty of untangling the most knotty financial problems, so he is well equipped for the difficult task that will face him after March 4. While he declined to discuss what his pol-

Woman's Wet Bathing Suit Thickens Suicide Mystery

Servant Reveals Fresh Evidence in Paul Bern Case

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 27 (AP) — A woman's wet, yellow bathing suit, a feminine scream, a mysterious tete-a-tete on the edge of a private swimming pool and the disappearance of a piece of cake linked into a strange chain of circumstances that kept the question of who killed Paul Bern, film executive, a live issue today.

These unexplained events, all occurring within 24 hours of the pistol shot last Sept. 5 that killed the bridegroom of Jean Harlow, platinum blonde screen player, were told today by one of the servants at the Bern residence.

The scene of all them, said Mrs. Winifred Carmichael, was the Paul Bern honeymoon home in Beverly Hills.

Foreman Refuses Testimony
W. W. Widenham, foreman of the county grand jury, kept the death story a live mystery when he refused today to join in a scheduled statement from District Attorney Fitts that the second investigation into the case corroborated the coroner's jury verdict of suicide.

Widenham, induced the district attorney to accompany him with O. C. Lawton, chairman of the criminal complaints committee, for another examination of the premises of the residence.

Bern's body had been found Sept. 5 with a bullet hole in the head, a pistol in one hand and a mystic note in a small book, slumped in his dressing room.

Servant Testifies
Mrs. Carmichael, servant in the house, said a strange woman visited Bern about midnight on the day which proved to be Bern's last. A mysterious woman's scream sounded in the house that night, she said. She discovered a wet bathing suit, yellow and belonging to some strange woman, near the pool of the residence and also two glasses indicating a tete-a-tete at the edge of the pool.

The cake mystery involved a piece of devil food cake she had prepared and left in Jean Harlow's dressing room. Although Miss Harlow had not returned that night, the cake was missing in the morning, and Bern, she said, never ate cake.

Suicide Enacted
In the luxurious home, which Bern had given Miss Harlow as a wedding gift, the suicide version of the tragedy today was enacted by Steven Nowakowski, investigator of the district attorney's office. The audience included the district attorney, the two grand jurors and Chief Deputy District Attorney Stewart.

Nowakowski, about the same height as the late film executive, stood up in the dressing closet, and raised a pistol to his head at the angle which would have inflicted the wound.

Measuring the path the bullet would take from such a position the investigators found that it could have made the mark in the wall after passing through the head.

Foreman Widenham declined to comment on that matter.

National City Bank Switches Chiefs at Directors' Meeting

J. H. Perkins Succeeds Mitchell as Board Chairman

NEW YORK, Feb. 27 (AP) — The National City bank abruptly switched chiefs today in a 10 minute meeting of the board of directors.

James H. Perkins, who first entered the National City bank as a vice president in 1914, leaving to become American Red Cross commissioner in Europe, became chairman of the board of directors, succeeding Charles E. Mitchell.

Mitchell had announced his resignation last night, as a result of criticism growing out of testimony by himself and other officials of the bank before the senate finance committee last week. Mitchell did not attend the board meeting today, having returned to Washington for continuation of the hearings. His resignation was promptly accepted.

Returned in 1929
Perkins had come back into the National City organization in 1929, when National City acquired the conservative old Farmers Loan and Trust company. Perkins had become president of Farmers in 1921, the same year that Mitchell was elected president of National City. Perkins is president of the City Bank Farmers Trust company, successor to the Farmers Loan and Trust, which conducts the trust business of National City.
