The narrative came in answer to the agents routine inquiry as to whether he possessed sheep. Here's the story: "I had an old sheep that presented me with two lambs and then died. I just turned them over to an old mother hound and she raised them with her puppies. The puppies soon grew up, as did the lambs, and started hunting rabbits. So did the lambs—they just followed the hounds through the woods chasing rabbits but they never learned to bark. "The dogs got jealous one day and killed the two lambs. Otherwise, I would be able to show you I did own sheep."

Provisions of Economy Bill

WASHINGTON, March 15 (AP)—In brief, here is what the emergency economy bill does: Gives President Roosevelt sweeping authority to readjust the amount of benefits received by veterans, limiting them largely to service-connected disabilities. Empowers the chief executive to lower the compensation of government employes in conformity to the ratio by which the cost of living has dropped since 1928, provided it does not exceed 15 per cent.

Monthly pensions for disability shall range from $6 to $275 a month and for death from $12 to $75. The president may determine within these limits how much pension the veterans and their dependents may receive. A new survey will be made of grants to veterans of the Spanish-American war and since to determine whether they should be continued. The salary cut applies among others to military personnel, the vice president, speaker, senators and representatives. The president may voluntarily reduce his compensation but, under the constitution, can not be compelled to do so.

Amendments Will Come Up Before House

WASHINGTON, March 15 (AP)—After three days and two nights of furious debate, the senate tonight gave overwhelming approval to the bill granting President Roosevelt power to reduce veterans' benefits and federal pay to the extent of half a billion dollars. Needy Wives Study Sewing

Prof. Alice Brigham Displays "Tricks" of Art

In anticipation of changing their old clothes for new a dozen wives of the unemployed assembled in the sewing room of the Home Economics department last night from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. for the first of a series of classes in making over old or outmoded clothing.

As Prof. Alice Brigham outlined the course and displayed renovated clothing made in one of her classes, the women waxed enthusiastically, eager to get at the work themselves. "Ohs" and "Ahs" greeted each of the garments as they were held up and the tricks of remaking them explained.

Plan Talks

The plan for the meetings is to have a half-hour talk at the beginning of each class on any subjects in which the women are interested and to spend the rest of the time in sewing with individual help. Slips of paper were passed around on which the women checked four or more subjects that they would particularly like to have discussed in the meetings. Subjects included dyeing, cutting a pattern from a ready-made garment, making and sewing on shirt collars, reeling coats, binding button holes, and removing stains. A special report was made for instruction in darning.

Suggest Possibilities

Another list was passed around giving suggestions for the things it might be possible to make out of various old garments.

Instruction was given last night in dyeing, Professor Brigham and her assistants demonstrating the complete process before the class. Those who did not know how to use the Singer sewing machines or who had had no practice in operating machines at all were explained the rudiments of their use.

The clothes which the women had brought with them were examined and it was decided what should be made from them. Patterns were also chosen and work begun in cutting out the garments. Some things that needed only a little alteration were practically completed in the one evening's work.

Professor Brigham announced that they would be glad to have all the women bring their friends next Wednesday.

New National City Bank Head Started Career in Chocolate

Despite Sweet Beginning, James H. Perkins Carved Out Noteworthy Career as Banker—Decorated for Distinguished Services in World War.

PERKINS DURING WORLD WAR

NEW YORK—James H. Perkins, who succeeds Charles E. Mitchell as chairman of the National City bank, is, like his predecessor, a native of Massachusetts. But whereas Mitchell is built along go-getter lines, Perkins conforms more to the popular conception of the country banker—conservative and cautious.

Perkins was born in Milton, Mass., in 1876. He was graduated from Harvard in 1898, but did not at once begin his career as a banker. Instead, he devoted seven years of his life to the chocolate manufacturing industry. Despite the rapidity with which he gained promotion in this business, Perkins apparently realized that his future success lay elsewhere.

So in 1905, he washed his hands out of chocolate and entered upon a banking career in Boston. His rise in the new profession was rapid, and after three years with the Boston financial house Perkins was offered a vice presidency of the National Commercial bank of Albany. Here, too, he gained rapid advance-

Nelson Speaks to Engineers About River Navigation

Methods of maintaining navigable depth in river channels, and construction of models for studying navigation problems were described by Martin E. Nelson, assistant engineer in charge of war department hydraulic work at Iowa City, in a lecture yesterday afternoon before a joint meeting of the student branches of the American Society of Civil Engineers, American Institute of Electrical Engineers, American Institute of Chemical Engineers, and American Society of Military Engineers in the electrical engineering auditorium.

Four ways of facilitating river navigation were discussed—dredging, building of wing dams at bends in the stream, controlling flow of water by reservoirs, and canalization.

By these means it is proposed to make the upper Mississippi river and its major tributaries navigable to a minimum depth of nine feet. The total project, Mr. Nelson said, will cost $124,000,000.

Stereoscopic slides and one reel of motion pictures of models in operation at the hydraulics laboratory were shown. Current and flood problems are studied in miniature before the dams are constructed, thus effecting an appreciable saving in upkeep of the dams, Mr. Nelson declared.

Hart to Head Social League in Iowa City

William R. Hart, Iowa City attorney, was elected president of the Social Service league for 1933, at its annual meeting in the council chamber of the city hall last night. He succeeds Richard L. Davis, who had served for the last year.

Local Attorney Takes Post Held by Davis for Last Year

Mrs. S. A. Swisher was named vice president, and Nora Donohoe was re-elected secretary.

Directors elected for terms ending in 1936 were Mrs. Charles Baker, Mrs. Norma Kosek, Mrs. Florence Knight, Nora Donohoe, and the Rev. W. P. Lemon. Cliff Noland and Prof. Kirk H. Porter were chosen to serve as directors until 1935.

Laule Bruner, executive secretary of the league, in her annual report, touched on the varied problems handled in last year through her office at the city hall.

Tasks of League

Included in the tasks of the league, she said, have been mending family difficulties, budgeting families deeply in debt, furnishing food and clothing to Iowa City needy, finding positions for unemployed men and women, and arrangement for medical care of clients.

Although there is always need for social service work, Miss Bruner said, last year was unusually busy. During the year the Iowa City office dealt with 365 cases, 215 more than a year ago.

The clothing center, a new project of the league, served 150 families in 1932, the secretary reported. They were supplied with 7,350 garments and 2,600 pairs of shoes. Transients numbering 725 were given clothing, food, gasoline, medical aid, or other services, she said.

Employment Given

The unemployed situation was partially relieved, Miss Bruner explained, by furnishing work on the county roads. On this project, 673 men worked 24,476 hours. The league is also assisting in administration of relief funds provided by the Reconstruction Finance corporation by furnishing food work and sewing to unemployed men and women throughout the county.

Through its membership in the Family Welfare League of America, the Iowa City organization has helped locate missing persons and reunite them with relatives in this vicinity. It has received similar cooperation from social service

National City bank at a time when the institution is under fire by a senate committee which is investigating the New York Stock Market. It was due to disclosures at this investigation that former Chairman Mitchell resigned, "because," he said, "he did not wish the criticism leveled at him to touch the institution he represented."

Testifying before the committee, officers of the bank admitted that the bank had participated in the flotation of $90,000,000 Peruvian bond issues, despite a series of letters and memoranda in its files indicating that Peruvian credit was "bad moral and political risk."

Of the huge amount of Peruvian bonds sold to the American public, few now have little monetary value.

Margaret Wolf, Marcella Gray, Margaret Beck, and Mona Cross were initiated. Marguerite Hall, A1 of Iowa City, Eleanor Schump, A2 of Iowa City and Elma Fullerton received majority certificates.

Flowers were presented to Mrs. Emma Weeber, worthy advisor, by members of the Rainbow for Girls. A gift was presented to her by the Order of Eastern Star.

Plan Funeral Rites for Iowa City Resident

Funeral service for I. J. Gittins, 79, who died yesterday at 6:55 a.m. at his home, 508 Kirkwood avenue, will be held tomorrow at 1:30 p.m. at the Beckman funeral home, with the Rev. Harry D. Henry in charge. Burial will be in Oakland cemetery. Mr. Gittins, a resident in Iowa City for many years, has been in ill health for several years. He was born at Buffalo in 1853 and came to this city 28 years ago as an employe of the Rock Island railroad. For the last 12 years he had been retired from active service as a honor roll member. He was a member of the Methodist church and of the A. F. and A. M. of the Masonic order. Survivors are: his widow, two sons, Frank of Louisville, Ky., and Elmer of Cherryvale, Kan.; two daughters, Mrs. Clara Schneider of Des Moines, and Mrs. Edna Spurgeon of Iowa City, and five sisters, Mrs. Margaret Kuns and Esther Gittins of Minneapolis, Minn.; Mrs.

Sarah Baldwin and Mrs. Anna Dayton of Des Moines, and Mrs. Pearl Hague of Audubon. Two stepsons, Clarence P. Hood and Huber G. Hood of Iowa City, are also survivors. KANSAS CITY (AP)—It was not so much news that A. C. Price, a salesman, was robbed of some samples today as it was that one of the samples was—a burglar alarm system.

Laws Present Box to 'Father' Box in Honor of Little Box

A box for Box! Or rather a big box for the little Box. So thought the junior laws as they trooped blithely into Prof. Percy Bordwell's class in titles yesterday afternoon in the law building, and, so thinking, they cast their study-worn eyes upon the beaming countenance of Herbert Box, L2 of Ottumwa. Ah-h, he might smile, but they too were to have their fun. The class was over. A big box, loaded with diapers, rubber pants, safety pins, canned beans, a baby bottle, canned soup, rattles, and a toy rabbit, was lavishly thrust into the arms of Mr. Box. You guessed it, it's a girl!

Prodigal Money Returns

FIVES, TENS, twenties piled in soft green stacks on crowded counters. . . Long lines of men and women, eager, bank books in one hand, green bills in the other. . . An atmosphere of complete security and confidence. . . That was the First Capital State bank all day yesterday. The doors had barely opened yesterday morning when the depositors began to file in with their money and to go away again, relieved and satisfied. . . Contributing greatly to the general confidence was the admiration of the depositors for the stand taken by the directors of the bank, who refused to adhere to the rule of the state banking department by opening Monday under partial receivership and waited instead for license from the national treasury to open without restriction. . . The result is that Iowa City once more has a strong bank, made even stronger by the bolstering of the banking structure of the entire nation. . . And the result should prove conclusively to those charged with the administration of public affairs that the American people are not gullible, but will heed appeals for confidence only when the appeals are fortified by actions which merit confidence.

Mecca Week

MECCA week, yearly festival of the college of engineering, is upon us again. Opening with the annual Mecca Ball tomorrow night, it will continue through an exhibition of practical and fantastic engineering feats Saturday and the banquet and show next week. . . A fine old custom is Mecca week, one of the few remaining university traditions. Somehow, rooted as it is in history, it brings to mind the ivy-clad walls, cloistered halls, and gracious ladies and gentlemen of a day when college was a more leisurely, dignified matter than it is today. . . The event, with its frothy, frivolous exterior and its serious undercurrent of sentiment and practicality, is a fine example of the sane balance that obtains in modern university life. . . True, the laws and engineers still vie for the honor of announcing the Mecca "queen." Brawny six-footers still garb themselves in velvet and chiffon as they "tread the boards" in their annual show. An all-university dance remains one of the crowning events of the week. . . But underneath is a sincere effort to show evidence of solid accomplishment to those on the outside. The electricals will display their increasing mastery of television. The curious will see metal-forging and the testing of gasoline motors, as demonstrated by the mechanical engineers. Finding the heat content of coal will be one of the tasks of the chemicals. All engineering departments will have similar exhibitions of the practical results of class-work. . . Mecca week is one university event that deserves, through its record of accomplishment as well as through tradition, to persist.

Something's Wrong

WHAT HAS happened to Southern California? Led by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, the westerners have always admitted to the wide world that the best of everything is located in the Southern California district. . . But something is wrong. Experts on earthquakes at the California Institute of Technology at Pasadena have announced that the shocks which caused damage of more than $50,000,000 and killed more than 125 persons, besides injuring thousands was not a first rate, or even a second rate, but a third rate tremor. . . That Southern Californians would admit that any place else in the universe could have anything better is, to use their own expression, "unusual." . . However, the experts also pointed out that because the quakes in the Los Angeles district were so minor, people are in no more danger—in fact not as much—as in many other portions of the United States. . . It is assumed that Florida tornadoes and booms would be included in the more dangerous incidents.

Symbol of 1933

THE NEW president rides with an open throttle. Symbolic of the new administration's speed, a four passenger amphibian airplane flying the flag of the president landed in Washington this week. . . President Roosevelt seems destined to mark the end of an old era and the beginning of a new. And the most characteristic features of the new era are frankness and speed. . . The symbol of the old era was the presidential yacht Mayflower. Slow and sluggish, gish, it muddled through, satisfied with itself, oblivious of the trim cutters and the ultra-modern liners swarming around it. The symbol of the new era is an airplane. Sleek and fast and confident, it flies on an even plane with the times, sure of its objective and direct in its course. Unlike the old, it is oblivious only of the cross-currents that beset its path.

Fuel for Battle

AMMUNITION for opponents of athletics was furnished this week in the death of Monte Lee Munn, member of a famous University of Nebraska athletic family. After a long career in football and wrestling, he died of a sudden heart attack at the age of 32. . . So those who have long maintained that "athletic heart" is an active peril for American college men can point to the case and say "I told you so." . . Then their adversaries, supporters of athletics, will dig out their frequently-used books of statistics, and show that such-and-such number of athletes lived so many years longer than an equal number of non-competitors. . . Each side will call upon expert testimony and will find hundreds of physicians ready to support its view. No one will make much of an investigation, and the public will be generally apathetic to the whole affair. . . Then the controversy will subside, without a decision, to await the next report from Columbia university of vital statistics on university students, or the next death before 40 of a man who played football in college.

TODAY'S TOPICS

By FRANK JAFFE
A NEWS DISPATCH FROM Chicago relates how professors in the university of that city have been beseeched by their students to devote entire class periods to discussions of the banking situation and the general economic condition of the country rather than devote any time to what the courses of study demanded. . . One professor of money and banking told a reporter that he had not had a free evening since March 4 because of students' demands for after-class discussion and that his class in money credit and prices had done nothing but talk about the current affairs in that line. . . At Loyola, the dean of the college of liberal arts and sciences said that all economics and political science courses had been altered to include study of previous financial crises for comparison with the present one. . . INDICATIONS THAT STUDENTS brought face to face with serious problems not of their own making but certainly affecting them are anxious to discover what it's all about, should be heartening news to parents who have been trying to impress upon their offspring the hardships connected with sending them to school. . . Aside from that there is the realization that these problems, in more or less the same form, will have to be met by these same students when they have become the bankers and businessmen, taxpayers and workers of tomorrow. They might as well become familiar with them now. . . There is no better laboratory than life itself for a study of life in any of its aspects. That's why some courses, in this day of enlightened educational method, are not taught from text books, why the project method of teaching is held in such high regard. . . BUT THERE WILL ALWAYS be the type of student who just cannot understand how all this hubbub about banks and congress can possibly have anything to do with him. . . A bit of conversation between two students overheard in a recent luncheon table discussion is an example in point: . . First student: "This man Roosevelt certainly is keeping things rolling, isn't he?" . . Second student: "Oh, yeah? Can't see how you can say that. How can you tell? He's doing a lot of talking all right, but . . ."

THE MAJORITY OF STUDENTS

want to know—they cannot help finding out even if they read only the headlines in the newspapers, if they listen to only smatterings of conversation, if they stay awake only part of the time in most of their classes. . . There is a tendency, however, to skim over the surface of all the available information; little desire to go very deeply into the problems of the day and discover what lies at the bottom. And it doesn't take a thorough course in economics or political science to arouse that desire, either—just a strain of intellectual curiosity will do it—coupled with a natural bent for knowing where and how to use that curiosity. . . The average man of tomorrow ought to be better fitted for life than the average of today because of just such occurrences as have been witnessed over the last three years. The feeling that all, somehow, is not right with the world; that the old fundamentalist concepts can be changed without bringing down the wrath of the gods—unless they be the money gods—; that people—ordinary people—can do something about a new order; that a liberal education can be put to practical use; all of this and much more is being found out by students no different from the students of a decade ago. But today's students will know, it is hoped, that their place in the sun is now being prepared by what they are doing to prepare themselves for it.

Book Bits

(From The Column, by H. W. Davis)
Schools have a way of developing a student's mind and body, but fail miserably when it comes to developing his sense of humor. Not nearly so much of a humorist's efforts would go to waste if folks had a well-trained sense of humor and could see the points of his jokes without the aid of a diagram.

EACH STUDENT WHO EXPECTS TO RECEIVE A DEGREE OR CERTIFICATE, AT THE UNIVERSITY CONVOCATION TO BE HELD JUNE 5, 1933, MUST HAVE MADE HIS FORMAL APPLICATION, ON A CARD PROVIDED FOR THE PURPOSE IN THE REGISTRAR'S OFFICE, IN UNIVERSITY HALL, ON OR BEFORE SATURDAY, MARCH 25, 1933. . . It is of the utmost importance that each student concerned comply with this request immediately; for otherwise it is very likely that a student who may be in other respects qualified will not be recommended for graduation at the close of the present semester. . . Making application for the degree, or the certificate, involves the payment of the graduation fee at the time the application is made, the payment of this fee being a necessary part of the application. . . Call first at the registrar's office for the application card. H. C. DORCAS, Registrar

TO STUDENTS WHO ARE EXPECTING TO REGISTER IN THE COLLEGE OF MEDICINE FOR THE YEAR 1933-34

The university examiner's office is mailing to such students now on the campus as can readily be identified as "pre-medical" students, and who are likely to be ready for admission to the college of medicine for next year, double post cards requesting that if they expect to enter the college of medicine here next year they promptly return to the office of the registrar "their halves" of these double post cards answering the question. . . But since it is hardly possible for the office to identify every "pre-medical" student who may now be on the campus, we are adopting this method of asking the attention of such students as may be thus overlooked in the mailing of the double post cards, to the desirability that all such students let us know before Saturday, March 25 that they expect to enter this college for next year. . . We wish to review immediately the record of every such student in order to see whether there may be any difficulties in his preparation for admission; and to notify him accordingly, so that he will have the best opportunity possible to make provision against any such defects between now and the middle of next September. BEHIND THE SCENES — IN HOLLYWOOD —

STUDIO GOSSIP
By HARRISON CARROLL
FILM SCANDAL
SCREEN COMMENT

HOLLYWOOD, Cal.—As one studio's answer to the banking situation, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer plans to start one of its biggest productions, "Dinner at Eight," within the week. . . To the imposing list of stars already announced for this Edna Ferber-George Kaufman play yesterday were added Lionel Barrymore and Madge Evans. Barrymore will play the harassed head of the shipping line and Madge will be the feminine detective. . . You'll not have seen such a cast since "The Grand Hotel." Marie Dressler will play Carlotta Cance, the one time musical comedy star; Wallace Beery will be Dan Packard the rapacious financier; Jean Harlow will be Kitty Packard, his second wife; Franchot Tone is to be the society doctor and Karen Morley, Louise Closser Hale and Jean Hersholt have parts. . . The broken-down film star, played so successfully on Broadway by Conway Tearle, remains to be selected. . . Some of the cast are not immediately available, but Director George Cukor can shoot sequences in which they do not appear. In "Grand Hotel" you recall, there were seldom more than three or four principals in the same scene. . . Responsibility for this banner production will rest on the shoulders of David O. Selznick, M.G.M.'s new associate producer. . . Maybe you've heard it, but I hadn't. . . Spencer Tracy tells the story of the author who was completing his second novel. . . "Where did you get the idea?" a friend asked him. . . "From the screen version of my first novel," replied the author.

HOLLYWOOD PARADE
You must hear about the prowess of that dusky chap, J. Franklin Biddle. He is Johnny Hines' servant, and you can judge for yourself how good he is. On the day of the bank closing, Johnny was caught with $5. Instead of eking it out, as you and I, he turned the fiver over to Biddle, who eased down to Central avenue and shot so many screws and everts that the Hines menage has enough cash to tide it over the holiday. . . John Boles' five year old daughter has scarlet fever. She's isolated, of course, but it's a mild case and nothing to worry about. How well I remember when this youngster was born. Proud fathers at the same time, John and I used to stand side by side in the Hollywood hospital and look through a glass pane at our remarkable achievements. . . He's laughing at it now, but Alexander Kirkland had a narrow escape the other night. They were filming the burning stable scene from "Black Beauty," and the producer pleaded with Kirkland to be sure to get the horse out. When they went to shoot the action, however, the animal turned difficult. So intent was the actor on saving his charge that he caught on fire himself. Property men and electricians had to beat him lustily to put out the flames. . . Quite a scoop, Fox's idea of making a picture based on the life of the late Anton Cermak. But how about that assassination scene? Are such things wise to put on the screen? . . . It was a big evening at the "Saturday Nighters" firm Billmore dinner dance . . .

Debaters Will Compete Here

28 Iowa High Schools to Hold Tourney in March, April

Debaters from 28 high schools throughout the state will compete for the state championship in the finals of the Iowa High School Debating league contest, to be held at the University of Iowa March 30 and 31, and April 1.

Among the entrants will be East high school of Sioux City, winner of last year's tournament. Other championship teams who will seek the state title here are: Roosevelt high school of Des Moines, winner of class A title at this year's Drake university tournament; Mason City and Cedar Falls, winners in class A and B respectively at an Iowa State Teachers college tournament.

The complete list of competing schools is as follows: class A—East high of Sioux City, Ft. Dodge, Mason City, Ames, Decatur, Cedar Falls, Thomas Jefferson high of Council Bluffs, Creston, Roosevelt high of Des Moines, Oskaloosa, Ottumwa, Davenport, and Fairfield.

Class B—Northwestern academy of Orange City, St. Mary's academy of Cherokee, Storm Lake, Lake Mills, Maxwell, Waukon, Maquoketa, Avoca, Mt. Airy, Onawa, Ripley, Colfax, Cincinnati, and Brighton.

Each of these schools is the winner of its division in districts into which the state has been divided.

The three best debaters from each of the winning schools will be awarded a four-year scholarship to the University of Iowa. These speakers will be determined according to rankings made in the various contests. Each of the winning schools will receive a plaque as a permanent trophy to be awarded by the extension division.

The league will hold its annual meeting in connection with this contest.

RELIEF PLANS

House leaders today agreed to continue in session to await the farm and unemployment proposals. At the request of the president, Secretary Wallace and drafting clerks worked late tonight seeking to get the new farm bill in form for presentation tomorrow.

In the interests of speed, senate leaders agreed to waive the procedure of sending the beer bill from the finance committee to the judiciary committee for a test of its constitutionality. After less than an hour of consideration, the senate finance committee sent the measure to the floor today without even a record vote.

Immediate Consideration
Chairman Harrison of the committee said he would ask that it be taken up immediately after disposition of the economy legislation. Some leaders believed a day of debate would suffice.

The legislation is to go into effect 15 days after enactment. President Roosevelt is ready to put his name to the measure as soon as it reaches the White House.

Watching closely the changes made by the senate in the economy measure, the president also is ready to put into immediate effect the reductions in compensations and salaries allowed under this.

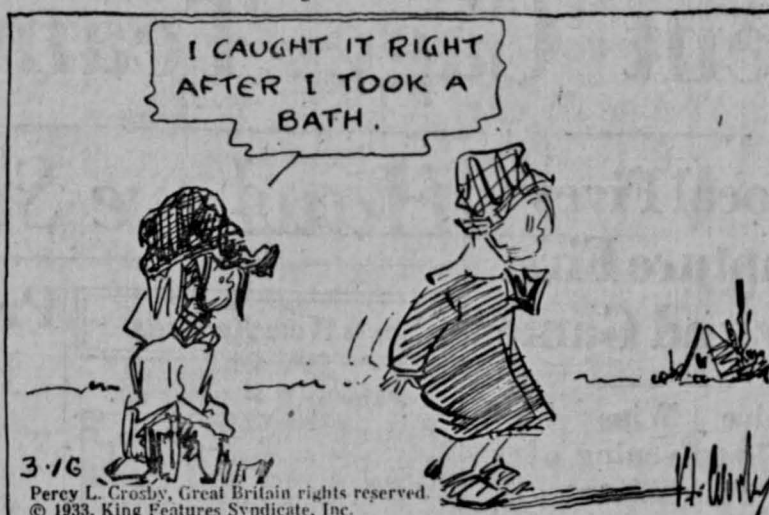

And Balanced Budget
He believes long steps toward bringing the government costs within reach of its income will have been made by these measures, thus affording the groundwork for the unemployment and farm aid proposals he wants.

On farm relief he believes it is imperative for action before this year's crops are in the ground. Therefore, he wants the legislation before early April. Otherwise, he thinks agricultural relief might as well be postponed until the next session of congress.

F.D.R. Ready to Cut Tariffs

WASHINGTON, March 15 (AP)—The new administration revealed itself tonight as already reaching out

SKIPPY—A Day to Remember

THE END OF ILLINOIS DRY LAWS

Governor Henry Horner of Illinois, photographed as he signed the bills repealing the Illinois prohibition and search and seizure laws. At left is his secretary, Arthur P. O'Brien. This action leaves the federal dry laws as the only curb on rum sales.

to draw other nations into mass action against huge agricultural surpluses and bristling tariff barriers to trade.

As proof of its sincerity in this significant move for economic disarmament, the Roosevelt government will seek from congress broad powers to control farm production and has made clear that it stands ready to practice what it preaches on cutting high tariffs if other nations will follow suit.

It was disclosed that already the project of limiting production of wheat to the level of world consumption by agreement among the great producing nations has been discussed informally with foreign representatives.

The president expects that in response to a special farm relief message he will send to congress soon the present special session will give the executive branch power to reduce the output of agricultural products in which burdensome surpluses have been holding down the price.

The broad authority to be asked is expected to include means for the government to lease from the farmer a part of his acreage to take it out of actual production.

Take Leading Part
With a firm hand thus regulating the flow of America's exportable farm products, the president would be able to take a leading part in getting producing nations to agree upon a pro-rata apportionment estimated to meet the needs of the world and not to pile up surpluses.

The unofficial discussions engaged in thus far have involved a single project—wheat—and were understood to have taken place with the Canadian government.

Through diplomatic channels, further conversations are to be held with the major wheat producing nations including Australia and Argentina with a likelihood that the matter will be definitely decided at the international economic conference in London some time this summer.

Visiting Professors for Next Summer Session Appointed

Fourteen Men, Women Named to Teach Courses

Educators from eight states and Canada, a total of 14, have been appointed to positions on the staff of the University of Iowa's summer session.

Because of economic conditions, the number of visiting professors is the smallest in many years, for usually between 50 and 60 men and women are appointed.

Teach in Nine Departments
The 1933 appointees will teach in nine departments. Most of them will appear during the first term of summer session, June 12 to July 20, but a few will come for the second term, July 24 to August 24.

Four of the visitors will aid in the department of music, working with the all-state high school groups in band, orchestra, and chorus. These are Helen Stowell, Lincoln, Neb., high school; Henry Stump, University of West Virginia; Louis Rood, Julliard School of Music, New York city; and Asher Treat, College of the City of New York.

South, East Represented
The south will be represented by Richard Wendell of Tusculum college of Tennessee, English; while two easterners are Ruth Brown, Yale, in classical languages; and Frederick Turgeon, Romance languages professor from Amherst college of Massachusetts.

Other visiting teachers are: Eugene C. Davis, Cleveland, Ohio, dramatic art; J. Raymond Derby, Iowa State college, English; Sherman Kirk, Drake, classical languages; William Line, University of Toronto, psychology; T. Raymond McConnell, Cornell college, education; Grace Stafford, Gary, Ind., women's physical education; and Arthur Zimmerman, Waterloo, law.

Chicago Merchants Make Applications for Beer Licenses

CHICAGO, March 15 (AP)—There probably won't be a saloon in Illinois when and if beer becomes legal, but the beverage will be available almost anywhere in the loop as soon as the president signs the beer bill.

Already 2,138 applications have been filed with the city collector for licenses to sell beer, and 741 have been issued. All the principal hotels have been licensed, a large number of restaurants, several department stores and 60 night clubs.

The licenses cost $150 for six months. Legislation for the control of beer selling, awaiting general assembly action, includes a ban on the word "saloon."

Idaho Home Ec. Head Visits Here

Prof. Katherine Jensen, head of the home economics department at the University of Idaho, is visiting the Iowa department of home economics today.

Professor Jensen is traveling through the United States, visiting the various universities and studying their home economics departments. She visited the University of Nebraska before coming here, and plans to make the University of Minnesota her next stop.

Blackstone to Speak at Teachers' Meeting in South This Month

Prof. Earl G. Blackstone of the college of commerce will speak in Raleigh, N. C., before the High School Principals' association and the Commercial Teachers' association of that state March 24 and 25.

He will present to the gathering of principals the functions of commercial education in a changing economic order. Emphasis will be on the need for:

practical concepts of modern business; training that will fit students for jobs they may hold rather than for those that don't exist; convincing the business man of the worth of commercial training by producing capable stenographers; demonstrating the folly of cutting costs of education so much as to affect possible development of the student. Speaking before the teachers, Professor Blackstone will point out the need for educating the community concerning commercial education. He will set up a program showing how this may be accomplished.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

Fast delivery: A most unbelievable record of rural mail delivery is that of Thomas F. Saunders, who has the longest mail route in the state of Iowa, running over hills, dirt roads, and even in river bottoms. In exactly 2 hours and 24 minutes he drove his old automobile over the 63 mile route, stopped 192 times to serve 215 mail boxes, wrote applications for a few money orders, delivered 711 pieces of mail, and collected 91 parcels and letters.

The astounding record is verified by the official files of the post office in Peterson, Ia.

The fig: Contrary to popular opinion the fig is not a fruit. It is merely the fleshy receptacle of the so-called "seeds," each one of which is a fruit containing a seed of its own. The blossoms are on the inside of the fleshy receptacle. Tomorrow: "Is the shamrock an Irish emblem?"

Yetter's Will Observe 45th Anniversary

Optimistic Trend Seen as Bank Reopens Doors

Yetter's will observe the forty-fifth anniversary of their department store in Iowa City this week with their sale opening today.

The business was originally located on the east side of Clinton street between Iowa avenue and Washington street at the time of its founding in 1888 by C. Yetter. Later the firm moved south on Clinton street into larger quarters in the block now owned by the Loyal Order of Moose.

In 1920, with the store under the management of Mr. Yetter's sons, the business leased its present Washington street location, remodeled the building, and enlarged its departments.

The three floors today are occupied by 14 departments with a total personnel of 40. Chris Yetter is manager of the women's apparel department. Leslie Yetter is merchandising manager for the first floor and basement and Robert Yetter heads the drapery department.

Chris Yetter yesterday commented that customers were optimistic in their buying again with the reopening of the local bank and there seemed to be confidence that things were on the up-turn. The store has purchased thousands of dollars worth of new merchandise for its forty-fifth anniversary.

Degree Candidates File Applications at Office of Registrar

More than two months must elapse before the University of Iowa's June commencement, yet degree candidates already are anticipating their awards. The men and women, both seniors and graduate students, now are filing formal application for degrees and certificates with H. C. Dorcas, registrar. By March 25, all applications, accompanied by the graduation fee, must be made; otherwise it is possible that the student will not be recommended for a degree. How many degrees and certificates will be presented at the formal ceremonies of June 5 is yet to be determined, but the total probably will exceed 1,000. The university's largest commencement was that 1932 when 1,112 awards were made, including 1,619 degrees.

Independent Cage Teams to Play 2nd Round Games Tonight

Hear the Birdies?

Major League Clubs Grind Into Early Training Routine.

(By The Associated Press)

WINTER HAVEN, Fla.—Contract difficulties of Don Hurst, hold-out first baseman, and the 6 to 3 victory of the "Regulars" over the "Yanigans" shared the spotlight in the Phillies training camp.

Hurst and President Nugent were unable to agree on terms in a long conference. Fred Pearce, recruit hurler, in his two inning workout today let the regulars down with one hit.

BLOXI, Miss.—Ed Linke, rookie hurler, played a neat major league role in helping the Washington Senators break the tie in their three game series with Atlanta by a score of 13 to 2.

Linke pitched five scoreless innings, with three strikeouts, got two hits in two times at bat, driving in one run and scoring another. Then he stole home on the business end of a double steal and figured in one of Washington's two double plays. Bud Thomas, Linke's leading contestant for a pitching berth, allowed but three hits the last four innings. Kuehl got four hits in five times up and catcher Bolton three out of three.

LOS ANGELES—Chicago's National league champions, the Cubs, won the first game of their spring training city series from the Chicago White Sox today, 13-7 in a wild hitting spree.

The Cub sluggers pounded three young Sox pitchers for 17 hits, including two home runs and three doubles. Kiki Cuyler, center fielder, had a perfect day at bat with a homer, a double and two singles in four times up.

OAKLAND, Cal.—The Pittsburgh Pirates of the National league wound up their series with Oakland of the Pacific Coast league by putting over a 5 to 2 victory. The Pirates clinched the game in the third inning by scoring four runs off Lou McAvoy, former New York Yankee pitcher.

McAvoy issued two walks besides being touched by singles by Suh and G. Vaughan and a double by Grace.

SAN ANTONIO—Tommy Bridges and Gerald Walker were near casualties in the Detroit Tiger camp when they figured in accidents. Bridges took an unexpected throw by Catcher Desautels on the back of his neck, while Walker stopped one of Desautels' line drives in the solar plexus. Both resumed play.

NEW ORLEANS—Manager Peckinpaugh of the Cleveland Indians looked over his squad of hurlers and announced he would send Mel Harder, Clint Brown and Oral Hildebrand to the mound in an exhibition game with the New Orleans Pelicans tomorrow.

TAMPA—With pitching staffs switched around, the Regulars of the Cincinnati Reds took a 4 to 3 licking from the Yanigans in a seven inning practice game.

Frazier, Fonger and Hilder pitched for the first stringers, Frazier leading the youngsters in allowing only two hits in three innings. Johnson, Kopl and Orden did mound work for the Yanigans, allowing only five hits but with Johnson alone yielding two runs.

ST. PETERSBURG—The New York Yankees squared accounts with the Boston Braves, winning the second game of their spring exhibition series, 8 to 7.

The Yankees, with Ben Chapman driving out a triple and a double, scored six of their three runs off Ed Fallenstein, a rookie, in the first three innings.

Babe Ruth worked out for an hour before the game and then left to play golf.

BRADENTON, Fla.—The St. Louis Cardinals opened their spring exhibition schedule by defeating the Philadelphia Athletics, 6 to 4.

The Red Birds out-hit the Mackmen 13 to 10. Jimmy Wilson, O'Farrell, Orsatti and Pepper Martin were outstanding for the Cards.

WEST PALM BEACH—With only three more days for practice before their first game of the year, the St. Louis Browns were pretty well set for Sunday's affair with the House of David team. Dick Hoffman will be the starting pitcher. Manager Killefer will have Levey, Burns, Molloy and Schrein in the infield.

NEW YORK, March 15 (AP)—In a spectacular driving finish, Glenn Cunningham of the University of Kansas won the classic Columbian mile tonight.

4 Local Fives Capture First Round Games

Decisive Wins Mark First Evening of Tournament

Prep Quints Ready to Go in Iowa Tilt

State Finals Open This Morning in Drake Fieldhouse

DES MOINES, March 15 (AP)—Drake university's field house was ready tonight for the invasion of 16 Iowa high school basketball teams seeking the state championship.

Heading the vanguard was Roosevelt high of Des Moines, the defending champion and a favorite to retain the championship. Sharing the admiration of the fans with the Roughriders was Abraham Lincoln high of Council Bluffs, represented by a veteran aggregation.

The pre-tournament dopesters look forward to an interesting semi-finals session between these two seasoned quintets Saturday afternoon, but they are not unmindful of pitfalls that may trip either or both before the last day of the tournament is reached.

Bluffs Meets Mason City

Tomorrow Council Bluffs must tackle Mason City, one of the four teams represented in the tournament last year. Roosevelt has a seemingly easier first round task in Marshalltown.

The second round engagements, barring upsets, would pit Council Bluffs against either Cambridge or East Sioux City, probably the latter, while Roosevelt would tackle Hedrick or Eldora.

And while these battles are going on in the lower bracket, the finalist from the upper bracket must be selected from eight teams whose competitive strength already has been proved in sectional and district tournaments.

They include Burlington, a team without an impressive season record but one that showed real competitive spirit in knocking off Davenport and Washington high of Cedar Rapids in successive district tournament games.

Marshalltown, another holdover from the 1932 tournament, or Chariton, its first round opponent, may gain the finals. Both have shown plenty of fight in previous tournaments. Marshalltown downed Boone, the central Iowa champion, to reach the finals. Chariton had to conquer Oskaloosa's strong entry.

Watch Class B

Besides the class A entrants are those eight class B teams. Past experience has shown them dangerous. In the last three years five of the 12 semi-finals teams have been class B. Last year two small teams were among the last four, both of them losing just a step short of the finals.

The battle begins at 10 a. m. tomorrow with Burlington opposing Plover. The schedule for tomorrow: 10 a. m.—Burlington vs. Plover. 11:10 a. m.—Cumberland vs. Lone Tree. 2 p. m.—Dunkerton vs. Granger. 3:10 p. m.—Cambridge vs. East Sioux City. 4:20 p. m.—Eldora vs. Hedrick. 7 p. m.—Abraham Lincoln (Council Bluffs) vs. Mason City. 8:30 p. m.—Chariton vs. Marshalltown. 9:20 p. m.—Roosevelt (Des Moines) vs. Marshalltown.

State Teams Will Round Out Tennis Schedule for Iowa

Scheduling of meets with Iowa colleges, probably Grinnell and Coe, will complete the University of Iowa's tennis card, Coach E. G. Schroeder said Wednesday.

The Hawkeyes now have five definite dual meets with Western conference teams, all on opponents' courts and three of them on successive days.

After opening the Big Ten season against Illinois at Urbana April 20, the Iowans will take on Chicago the following day and Northwestern April 23. Minnesota at Minneapolis April 29 and Wisconsin at Madison May 6 are the other conference matches.

Like Coach Otto Vogel of the baseball team, Coach Schroeder found it more profitable to play away from home than on the Iowa City courts, because of the cash guarantees made by opposing universities.

Squad Moves to Grid for Brisk Trial

Wallace Joins Squad to Increase Veterans List to 10

Iowa field felt the clutch of cleats for the first time since last November as Ossie Solem brought his charges down to the gridiron in the real start of spring football practice yesterday. Influenced by the crisp March weather, candidates for the squad scampered briskly through a schedule ranging from blocking, kicking, passing, to running.

The field, still damp from a winter's soaking, showed signs of punishment at the cleats and shoes of the frisky athletes, but managed to take all the lads to dish out.

One more member of the varsity in the person of Wilbur Wallace, appeared at practice, bringing the total of last year's squad present to 10.

Solem, Boelter Work

Coach Ossie Solem handled the linemen in scrimmage to test their knowledge of plays and formations, while Bill Boelter, fresh mentor, took care of instructing the backs in the gentle arts of blocking, passing, and kicking.

Two casualties were reported yesterday. Lloyd Hoffman, gargantuan frosh tackle, who bruised a thigh muscle on Monday, and Phil Thurgie, who hobble about the field with a wrenched ankle.

Spring practice is expected to get underway in full force after the state track championship, when a number of freshmen and former varsity players will be free to take part in the daily practice sessions.

In the meantime, the present squad is being groomed carefully to withstand the strain of stiffness and sore muscles.

Veterans Return

The list of players drawing equipment for the spring practice includes the following veterans: Byron Bury, Benton Harbor, Mich.; Ray Fisher, Des Moines; Clarence Hipp, Omaha, Neb.; Marvin Kuhn, Charles City; Lawrence Parsons, Ft. Dodge; Fred Radloff, Marshalltown; Herman Schneiderman, Quincy, Ill.; Phil Thurtell, Mason City; John Miller, Valparaiso, Ind.; Harold Weber, Muscatine.

Other men turning out for practice are: Fred Armstrong, Des Moines; Woodrow Beard, Ames; Glenn Booten, Iowa City; George Coulter, Seneca, Ill.; Richard Crayne, Fairfield; James Dee, Mt. Vernon; Alfred Denny, Des Moines; Whitey Edwaldt, Sioux City; Russ Fisher, Des Moines.

Foster, Gallagher

Jerry Foster, Cedar Rapids; John Gallagher, Chicago, Ill.; Richard Hahn, Cedar Rapids; Warren Halton, Tingley; William Hawkins, Los Angeles, Cal.; Ken Herberster, Iowa Falls; Lloyd Hoffman, Sibley; Dwight Hoover, Iowa City; Loren Isensee, Iowa City; Casey Jones, Ames; Thomas Kaszaks, Chicago, Ill.; Clarence Kemp, Iowa City; Theodore Lee, Estherville; Rudolph Leysa, Independence; Edward Ligger, Rockford, Ill.; Lee Mathes, Iowa City; Charles Mau; Brit; Ronald Miller, North English; Marvin McAllister, Winfield; Clement O'Brien, Scranton; Frank O'Leary, Cherokee; Harold Owens, Melcher; Mark Panther, Burlington; Chisox White Hose Making No Early Claims to Championship.

This is the fourth of a series of stories analyzing major league baseball club prospects for 1933.

PASADENA, Cal., March 15 (AP)—The Chicago White Sox are claiming no immediate championships, but have their sights levelled conservatively on a first division place for 1933. This is not such a modest aspiration when it is considered the Sox of yesterday and the day before did not even dare hope for a place in select baseball society.

The change in the situation is based on the acquisition of three ranking athletes from Philadelphia and a return to health of two good pitchers.

Former A's Perform

Most of the interest of the rail birds at Brookside Park, where the Sox train, has been centered on Jimmy Dykes, Mule Haas and Al Simmons, the ex-Athletics, but the managerial forces have been deriving considerable satisfaction from indications that Ted Lyons and Vic Frasier, who spent a lot of time last season on the hospital list, will be in there doing a lot of effective pitching this year.

Lyons, long a great pitcher, does not need many runs to win most of his starts.

With Simmons, Haas and Dykes contributing their quota of base hits, the pitchers should benefit accordingly.

The Chicago infield is not all that it might be, boasting fair quality perhaps, but no quantity. With Manager Lew Fonseca at first base, Jack Hayes at second, Luke Appling at short and Jimmy Dykes taking care of third, four-fifths of the active infield roll call has been sounded. Hal Rhyne is available for the utility role, but in the best major league circles one extra infielder is not considered sufficient.

May Shift Kress

If no infielders are added to the list, Red Kress, considered an outfielder now, may be restored to good standing as an infielder, although Manager Fonseca wants him in right field. Billy Sullivan, listed as a catcher, is no stranger to infield tasks.

The outfield will compare favorably with the others in the league. Simmons in left and Hans in center, of course, are set. Kress, Evar Swanson and Elliot Funk, another fast man, will fight it out for the other places. Kress is considered the best hitter of the trio.

There are no catching worries in the camp. Charles Berry and Frank Grube will offer satisfactory performance.

Varsity Sets Back Reserves in 6 Innings

Forj Blanks Reserve Hitters in Short Practice Game

While his teammates were pounding out a 4 to 0 win over the varsity reserves in a six inning practice game yesterday at Iowa field, Capt. Mike Riegert had a field day on the base paths, stealing four bases.

Gene Ford, giant sophomore hurler, did the pitching for the varsity and easily set the reserves down in order. Only the fine defensive play of Al Jorgenson and Dale Filch for the reserves kept the score down.

Blackman at Plate

Ken Blackman took care of the catching and as usual played a bang up game. This Solon youngster has been more than filling Dutch Schmidt's shoes behind the plate.

It may be that Blackman will receive the regular backstop assignment thus releasing Schmidt for regular service in the outfield where he first began his collegiate baseball career until circumstances forced his use behind the plate.

Schmidt is still out of action with an infected toe and according to Dr. Pourt, may not get into action before the beginning of next week.

The defensive play of the squad as a whole is very good but due to the unfavorable weather conditions the batting practices have been limited so that the squad needs plenty of batting drills. Ham Schulzebrich caught hold of a fast ball in the fifth inning for a home run, the

Western May Not Organize

Lean Season Prospect May Cause League to Disband

TOPEKA, Kan., March 15 (AP)—Beset by financial difficulties and faced with the prospects of a lean 1933 season, the Western league, once foremost of the class A circuits, may give up the ghost and not attempt to organize for the baseball season, now rapidly approaching, Dale Gear, president of the league, said here today.

A plan under consideration by Gear some weeks ago to split up the league into two compact six-member circuits has been abandoned for the 1933 season at least, he said, due to the impossibility of finding 12 cities financially able to support professional baseball teams.

No alternative suggestions have been advanced, Gear said, although he added he still was seeking a solution.

"However, unless there is a decided improvement in general business conditions in the next two weeks, I don't believe there is any chance for the league even to start at all from financial and other standpoints, than to start and be forced to call the schedule off later."

Prep Matmen in Limelight

Freshmen Will Work to Numerals Awards in Tournament

With the varsity season completely in the past, freshman grapplers will be getting most of the limelight from now until April 5, when the yearling championships are run off.

Many of the men who have been working irregularly with the varsity for the last few months will now settle down to the big problem of getting into shape. Coach Mike Howard, freed from his varsity responsibility now plans to devote all of his time to drilling the greenies in fundamentals and to smoothing out the technical of high school wrestlers.

Experienced and inexperienced alike will all be setting the tournament in April as their goal, for to the winners of its eight classes will be awarded the 1936 numeral sweat-ers.

GRINNELL, March 15 (AP)—The Grinnell college track team, minus the services of two regulars, will compete in the quadrangular indoor track meet at Iowa City Saturday night.

Harold Anderson, quarter miler and member of the mile relay team, and Albert Rose, shot putter, will be unable to compete because of illness. Other members of the team will appear.

Tells Club of Earthquakes

Prof. A. C. Trowbridge Speaks to Members of Lions Club

The history and causes of earthquakes were reviewed briefly yesterday noon by Prof. A. C. Trowbridge of the geology department before members of the local Lions club in Reich's pine room.

"Slight shocks are being recorded on seismographs continuously in all parts of the world," asserted Professor Trowbridge, "most of these take place in countries bordering on the Pacific ocean, such as western United States, Japan, China and Australia."

Two main causes of these vibrations originate with volcanic eruptions and slipping of rocks, called "faulting," said the speaker. Great tidal waves often follow earthquakes and do more destruction than the shocks along sea coasts.

"It is commonly believed that quakes occur only in 'young regions' geologically speaking," said the speaker, "but we know of many cases such as the Charleston, S. C., quake of 1886 which cause much destruction along the eastern sea coast. Other shocks have been recorded in the New England states and the lower Mississippi Valley region."

The earthquake of 1793 in Japan was cited by Professor Trowbridge as the most disastrous one known. He said that at that time there were more than 200,000 persons killed. "Fire often does more damage than the actual shock, for water mains are destroyed and the water supply is cut off," he said. He then concluded his talk by saying that persons who build their houses on sandy soil are safer during earthquakes than those living on solid ground, for the sand muffs the shocks.

New State Department Aides Well Equipped for Positions

Two of Secretary of State Hull's Lieutenants Are Experienced Diplomats—the Other, an Expert on Law and Politics.

CORDELL HULL, WILLIAM PHILLIPS, PROF. RAYMOND MOLEY, WILBUR J. CARR

WASHINGTON — Following the nomination by President Roosevelt and confirmation by the senate of three appointees to the department of state, Secretary Cordell Hull can take off his coat and go to work on the difficult job that lies ahead, secure in the knowledge that he has a corps of lieutenants who are ideally equipped for the job.

William Phillips of Massachusetts, who takes the post of undersecretary of state, has had a notable career in diplomacy. Graduated from Harvard in 1900, he spent a further two and a half years at the university law school, after which he attended Queens college and Dalhousie university in Canada, and Bates college.

Phillips began his diplomatic career as private secretary to the Hon. J. H. Choate, ambassador to Great Britain, in 1903, and since then has held a variety of important posts at home and abroad. In 1914 he was appointed third assistant secretary of state, which post he held until appointed first assistant secretary in 1917. His most recent position was as a member of the president's commission for unemployment in 1931.

Under-Secretary Phillips will be directly in charge of the state department and accountable to Secretary Hull. Assistant Secretary of State Wilbur J. Carr of New York, the second appointee, is also familiar with his job, having held the same position under the last administration. Carr is a graduate of the Commercial College of Kentucky. He also took degrees at Georgetown university; Columbia university and Hillsdale college. Carr began his diplomatic career as a clerk in the department of state in 1892. From 1907-1909, he was chief of the consular bureau of the department of state, after which

The Old Gray Ford
An old gray Ford went tearing up Clinton street at about 7 p.m. yesterday and attempted to turn east on Jefferson street, but instead climbed over the curb and laid on its side. Two sweated and sweating young men climbed out, tossing bottles on the parking. After about five minutes of wrestling the Ford was put right side up and it chugged off toward the east, little the worse for the accident.

United States Grain Markets to Open Today

CHICAGO, March 15 (AP)—With the usual brakes furnished by quotations on daily and weekly indemnities, all grain exchanges in the United States prepared today to resume business tomorrow. The indemnities, known also as privileges, are on insurance contracts to protect the holder against loss by price fluctuations of grain.

High and low price limits officially announced today, under emergency rules of the Chicago board of trade, showed that extreme fluctuations tomorrow could hoist no future delivery of wheat higher than 55 cents a bushel and that 43 3-4 cents would be the minimum permitted. These prices were named to conform with last night's announcement that, until further notice, the changes in wheat values during any one day could not extend up or down more than 5 cents a bushel from the latest previous day's finish.

A huge gong will be sounded when the price limit in either direction is reached on the Chicago board of trade and thereafter any transaction beyond the official limit would be void. Corn in some cases may go as high as 31 cents a bushel tomorrow for a future delivery. The lowest price permissible would be 21 3-4 cents.

Firemen received about 10 telephone calls yesterday asking if they would like to sell some of the 13 quarts of horseshod they ground Monday.

Swisher Writes History of Iowa Insurance Business

The history and characteristics of life insurance business in Iowa are discussed in a series of articles by Jacob A. Swisher, research associate of the State Historical society, in the new issue of The Palimpsest, monthly publication of the society, which will be distributed today.

Mr. Swisher terms life insurance "a province in the larger realm of business" containing "much that is political, social, and humanitarian." Growth Tracing the growth of insurance from a beginning in the sixteenth century, he points out that the earliest life insurance in America was instituted by the Presbyterian church of New York and Pennsylvania, to pay deferred annuities to widows of the ministers.

During that period life insurance, as a business, grew slowly. It was considered sacrilege to buy insurance, because its application was intended to "mitigate the evils of death" and circumvent "the will of the Almighty."

Equitable Life
The first life insurance company in Iowa was organized Jan. 25, 1867, according to Mr. Swisher's article. This first group, the Equitable Life Insurance company, was organized by Frederick Marion Hubbell, in association with four other men, at Des Moines.

A second company, the Bankers Life association, was formed in Des Moines 12 years later, to insure due to the bitter spirit of rivalry that had been manifested between the "laws" and the engineers. Semblances of the old "feud" still mark the observance of Mecca week, notably in the handbills circulated by the "laws" announcing their choice for Mecca Queen, and the "black flag" that flies over the law building during the festive week. Mecca Queen was first chosen in 1929 to reign over Mecca Ball. Her duties were subsequently extended to encompass the whole week's events.

Knights of Meccasacius Acclaim Saint Patrick Engineering Patron, Celebrate Birthday With Festival

Whether or not St. Patrick ever wielded a slide rule or a transit, engineers have acclaimed him their patron saint, and each year they do homage to his name by opening their festival on his birthday.

First Mecca day was held on March 17, 1910, and a float parade was the chief event of the day. Five thousand spectators witnessed the parade, which included the university band and bugle corps.

Barney Stone
Kissing the "Barney stone," a ceremony which made the senior engineers Knights of St. Patrick, was performed later in the afternoon on the steps of Old Capitol.

Then the festival, was held until the next year, directions for finding it being deposited with the dean.

School Days
A free show in the evening, a parody of "School Days," climaxed that first Mecca day. The eighth annual engineering banquet was held in 1920, and at the suggestion of Dean William G. Raymond the new engineering activities were combined with it to make a series of events.

The name Mecca was adopted in 1926, and effort was then concentrated on the exhibition. At this time also the Law Jubilee was discontinued by "the powers that be."

Absent Voters May Procure Blank Ballots

Absent voters' ballots for the city election March 27 are now available for distribution at the city hall, City Clerk George J. Dohrer announced yesterday.

Applications for ballots may be made either in person or by mail by those who, because of absence from the city or physical disability, will be unable to come to the polling place election day. Upon request Mr. Dohrer will mail an official application form and a ballot to the applicant, postage prepaid.

No third person is permitted to have a hand in the voting of the absent ballots, but a notary public must be present when the ballot is marked.

The voter must then deliver the ballot in person at the clerk's office or mail it in the envelope provided. When a request for a ballot is made by proxy, the ballot and application are sent directly to the voter.

Absent voting may also be done at the city clerk's office any time before the election. Mr. Dohrer emphasized the importance of casting an absent voter's ballot as soon as possible.
