VOL. XXXII NUMBER 261

MAYOR, COUNCIL FILL CITY JOB LIST

State Senate Approves Beatty-Bennett Bill

Banking Plan Postponed by Upper House

Appropriations Measure Will See Action Today

DES MOINES, April 3 (AP)—Mandatory tax reduction was brought a step nearer today when the state senate approved the report of a conference committee on the Beatty-Bennett bill.

Work also was begun by the upper house on the new banking bill, although consideration was deferred until tomorrow, as was action on the biennial appropriations bill. The new truck carrier regulation bill also was discussed.

Highway Charges Deleted

Meanwhile the house took up and disposed of the report making charges against the highway commission and Chief Engineer Fred White in connection with the purchase of cement. All reference to charges was deleted and it was decided to turn the material gathered over to the attorney general.

Bankers from all parts of the state were gathered in the senate chamber to hear the discussion on the administration supported banking bill, designed to protect depositors in the reorganization of banks. Deference until tomorrow was decided upon to allow the printing of numerous amendments which had been filed.

Approve Report 42 to 6

Approval of the conference committee report, which carried with it passage of the proposed substitute for the original Beatty-Bennett bill, was by a 42 to 6 vote. Opposing passage were Senators Hopkins, Hush, Patterson, Ritchie, Schmidt, and Wilson.

The substitute measure worked out by the conference committee seeking to end the deadlock between the two houses, provides for a 20 per cent reduction in city and town levies in 1933-34 from the 1930 totals, and a graduated reduction in school levies.

Originally the senate had stood firm for a 25 per cent mandatory cut while the house had favored requiring only a 15 per cent slash. Senator Roy Stevens, chairman of the senate conferees, estimated the bill approved today will effect a $5,000,000 reduction annually.

"Still Good Bill"

"The measure does not effect as great a saving as we had hoped but it still is a good bill," Stevens told the senate. "It will help cut taxes and also will point the way toward further reductions if the taxing districts so desire."

The measure was messaged over promptly to the house, which also must act on the committee report. Senator George Patterson of Burt, sought to block senate consideration of the committee substitute, contending it carried subject matter not included in the original bill. He later withdrew this objection, however.

Circularization of the senate brought "lobbysts" under verbal fire as the upper house was considering the bill to provide for the regulation of truck carriers by the state railroad commission.

Hubert Ayres Gets 30 Year Jail Sentence

Hubert W. Ayres of Iowa City was sentenced yesterday to serve 30 years in the state penitentiary at Ft. Madison when he pleaded guilty at Tip-ton to a charge of assault with intent to commit murder.

Ayres was arrested here three weeks ago by Sheriff W. W. Christian of Cedar county for the shooting of John R. Miller, farmer living near Cedar Bluffs. Miller was shot from ambush and slightly wounded.

Ayres originally pleaded not guilty when arraigned before Judge A. B. Clark March 20. The case against him was strengthened, however, when L. C. Augustine of Iowa City signed an affidavit stating that he drove him to the Miller farm the night of the shooting and left after waiting for more than an hour for him to return.

The controversy between Ayres and Miller arose over a land deal in which Ayres acted as agent for a farm purchased by Miller.

Cowles Resigns as Director of R.F.C.; Will Return Home

WASHINGTON, April 3 (AP)—Gardner Cowles, Des Moines publisher, today tendered his resignation as a director of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, effective April 8.

President Hoover appointed the Iowan last June to fill the unexpired term of Charles G. Dawes. Although the term was to have expired in January, Cowles remained on the board at the request of President Hoover and later of President Roosevelt. He said personal reasons prompted him to resign at this time.

After a motor trip through the south Mr. and Mrs. Cowles will return to Des Moines about May 1.

Father Kills Son, Former Iowa Student

Jess Bell of Valley Junction Dies of Wounds

DES MOINES, April 3 (AP)—Double murder and suicide was the verdict today in the deaths of John S. Bell, 59, justice of the peace at Valley Junction, and his two sons, Byron, 22, and Jess, 20.

Mrs. Bell said she was awakened by a shot and met her husband coming out of a front bedroom, where he had just killed the younger boy. Warning her to "get out of the way" he went into another bedroom and shot Byron, then turning the gun on himself.

In Ill Health

Mrs. Bell said her husband had been in ill health and had complained of severe headaches and inability to sleep. A local minister added that Bell had termed himself "almost crazy from worrying about those two boys," both of whom have been unemployed for some time.

Investigations by Polk county officers of justice of the peace courts have brought no criticism of his court, they declared. He had served as justice for three years since his retirement as a locomotive engineer on the Rock Island.

Other Survivors

Besides Mrs. Bell, survivors are two other sons, Dr. S. C. Bell of Grand Island, Neb., and Dr. R. R. Bell of Clinton; two daughters, Mrs. T. W. Saries of Cincinnati and Mrs. Clara Chittenden of Des Moines; and two sisters, Carrie Bell of Des Moines and Mrs. George N. Shepherd of Chester, Mont.

Jess Bell, former student at the University of Iowa, was enrolled during the first semester of this year. He re-enrolled for the second semester but left the university after three weeks of residence. He roomed at the Quadrangle.

According to information here, it was determined that as recently as last week, Mr. Bell complained of his inability to cope with the conduct of the two sons. He was reported as having been despondent over their actions.

Aviators Conquer Mt. Everest Heights in Flight Yesterday

PURNEA, India, April 3 (AP)—Two airplanes sailed across the summit of Mt. Everest today and for the first time in history men looked down on the highest mountain in the world.

The feat was accomplished by the Marquis of Clydesdale, accompanied by Lieut. Col. L. V. Stewart Blacker, and by Flight Lieut. D. F. McIntyre, who had with him an expert photographer named Bennett.

The photographer succeeded in taking a number of pictures which, it is hoped, would provide an authentic record of the conquest of the 29,141 foot mountain on the sides of which numerous men have perished attempting by old fashioned methods to gain the honor of being the first man to reach the top.

Charges Filed

OMAHA (AP)—Paul Barnes, 35, Sioux City baker, was charged with impersonating a government official in a complaint filed by J. L. Flood, special agent for the federal bureau of investigation. Barnes was alleged to have posed as a postal inspector in an attempt to extort money from Mrs. Nora Adams.

Chicago Authorities Order End of All Beer Racketeers

Local Brewers Pledge Selves to Give Assistance

CHICAGO, April 3 (AP)—The extermination of the beer racketeer was officially ordered today by Chicago authorities, and local brewers pledged themselves to that end.

State's Attorney Courtney demanded exclusion of underworld interests from the legal beer field at a conference with brewers and union representatives—a conference prompted by reports that gangland was attempting to shift the grip of its malded fist from a doomed industry to its legalized successor.

There arose at the meeting echoes of the days when Al Capone reaped millions as czar of the booze runners, when his fleets of trucks rumbled through Chicago streets offering beer to speakeasy proprietors at $5 a barrel or else—

Dies in Gun Battle

Last week a beer runner died here in a gun battle with business rivals. Newspapers termed it the "last of the beer slayings."

Courtney pledged his efforts to make that headline stand and consign the rumble of those trucks irrevocably to the limbo.

Attending the conference were heads of five of the city's licensed breweries and officials of the brewery drivers' and helpers' union. From the brewers came the information that gangsters were already trying to force retailers to accept their beer at $17 a barrel; from the union men the complaint that hoodlums were forming their own drivers' organization.

Precede Legal Brewers

Several of the brewers told Courtney that racketeers had preceded their representatives in many restaurants and soft drink establishments with the warning to proprietors:

"You'll take our product or get a pineapple!"

The technique of the racketeers

Local Hospital Patient Sought in Des Moines

Authorities were directing their search last night toward Des Moines for Mrs. Charles Annan, 40, of Clarinda, who disappeared Sunday morning from Psychopathic hospital.

Although notes left at the hospital indicated that she had contemplated death by drowning, Dr. Andrew H. Woods, director of the hospital, said last night that it had been determined that Mrs. Annan had obtained about $3 from relatives visiting her Saturday and that she had been inquiring about bus routes to Des Moines Sunday.

Mrs. Annan was a voluntary patient at Psychopathic hospital, having entered the institution Jan. 30. Dr. Woods said she had apparently almost recovered from the depressed condition in which she first came here.

She is described as slightly more than five feet tall, weighing 125 pounds, having dark brown hair, and wearing glasses. When last seen, about 10 a.m. Sunday, she was wearing a brown felt hat and a black coat.

Nine Million Dollars Given to Iowa as Aid for Economic Straits

Iowa's share of the $262,346,000 advanced by the government in February to aid business and the needy was shown as $9,494,245 in the Reconstruction Finance Corporation's monthly report to congress, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Washington, D.C.

The report, made public by Speaker Rainey, was the first report congress has received since the new speaker took up his duties.

Speculation on future activities of the corporation was revived yesterday with the resignation of Gardner Cowles, Sr., of Des Moines, sole remaining Republican director of the agency's board. There are now three Republican vacancies.

F.D.R. Sends New Plan Up to Congress

Would Aid Farmer in Boosting Income, Meeting Debts

WASHINGTON, April 3 (AP)—Aid for the farmer in meeting his debts, and an effort to boost his income as well, was demanded of congress today by President Roosevelt in a special message urging a broad mortgage relief program.

President Roosevelt, adhering again to his system of writing succinct messages, called for the mortgage bill "as an integral part of the broad plan to end the forced liquidation of property, to increase purchasing power and to broaden the credit structure. He told members of congress also he had in mind help for the home owner and reciprocal tariff agreements."

To accomplish the goal, set by the president, the mortgage bill calls for the following 2-year program:

Refinancing farm mortgages at 4 1/2 per cent interest.

A $2,000,000,000 4 per cent bond issue, to finance new loans to farmers and to take up mortgages.

Appropriation of $50,000,000 as a loan to the federal land banks.

Expanding the Reconstruction corporation's lending power by $300,000,000 to permit a loan of $100,000,000 to joint-stock land banks to prevent foreclosures for two years, and $200,000,000 for loans to enable farmers to refinance other debts under the bankruptcy law's provisions for debt-creditor compositions.

The corporation also would be authorized to lend up to $50,000,000 to drainage, levee and irrigation districts to reduce and refinance their debts, with the stipulation that reductions must be passed on to the taxpayers.

Lower Water Rate Effected

Water bills for March are figured on the rates established by the old city council, George Keller, manager of the Iowa Water Service company, announced yesterday.

The city council passed the ordinance demanding the reduction in the middle of February and it would have gone into effect immediately but the water company said the change would necessitate the re-reading of most of the meters and a change in all their books, making it almost impossible for them to get the bills out on time. The council then permitted the company more time to make the changes.

The reduction for the year has been estimated to total about $13,500.

Council Accepts Bond Posted by Vestermark for Police Judge Job

The city council yesterday accepted $1,000 bond posted by H. W. Vestermark for the office of police judge. Although no official action was taken by the council it was thought last night that the acceptance of the bond definitely decided that the office of police judge in Iowa City will be continued.

Under the law passed by the Iowa General assembly just two days before the city election, it was left optional with city councils whether or not they would continue the office,

Willis Plan Still Delayed

Petition Against Bill Circulates Through Iowa City

A large number of Iowa City business and professional men last night had signed the petition, which began circulation Saturday night, calling for postponement of action on the Willis bill, and others will be given an opportunity to do so within the next few days, according to its sponsors.

The petition was drawn Saturday after representatives of the various merchants' organizations had expressed themselves as being unfavorable to the bill's passage.

The Willis bill, which is now on the calendar of the house of representatives, is an act designed to prohibit state institutions from engaging in activities ordinarily conducted by private business.

Yesterday Representative Arch McFarlane of Black Hawk county filed an amendment to the bill, according to an Associated Press dispatch, which would make it inoperative in the operation of dormitories, restaurants, and cafeterias at Iowa State Teachers college or of restaurants and cafeterias in public schools.

Representative Reed of Mahaska also filed an amendment which would permit the sale at wholesale prices of any produce grown, articles manufactured, or livestock raised by an institution for experimental purposes, and to permit any state institution to maintain any experimental laboratory that is essentially vital to achieve the purpose of the institution.

Reed claimed, according to the Associated Press, that his amendment would permit the continued operation of unions and dormitories at the state institutions. If it does not, Representative Willis of Dallas will probably introduce an amendment to clarify the bill, he said.

Cut Salaries of Appointive Officers, Combine Posts to Fulfill Economy Promises

City's Mayor Got His Start on Railroads

The staccato crackle of a telegraph key, the west in the wild old days, a hook of Shakespeare, the steel rumble of wheels, and the roaring of locomotives—those are the threads that have woven themselves into the fiber of the 69 years of the life of Iowa City's new mayor, Harry D. Breene.

On his own at the age of 15, Mr. Breene went to work for the Rock Island lines as night telegraph operator and switch tender at the end of the double track lines three miles east of Davenport.

The nights were long and there was little to do, so the young telegraph operator became acquainted with the only companions available, a Bible and a book of Shakespeare.

Engrossed with the drama of Shakespeare's endless troupe, he established an acquaintance that has become permanent. Since then he has always carried with him a copy of at least one of Shakespeare's plays.

From isolated operator to dispatcher, Mr. Breene's rise with the railroad was rapid. But his health became poor at the end of five years and he went west for his health.

In Medora, in the Dakota territory, he found not only health but an entirely new life. Working as operator for the Northern Pacific railroad at Medora, he became acquainted with Theodore Roosevelt, former president of the United States and fifth cousin to President Franklin D. Roosevelt. The great "Teddy" owned and operated two large ranches in the vicinity of Medora.

The Dakota territory was a wild country, with vast expanses of ranges which knew the presence only of cattle and cowboys. The present mayor of Iowa City tells of many a night spent with the riders out under the stars in the hills.

It was here that he met Howard Eaton, after whom many of the trails in Yellowstone park are named. Eaton, a rancher near Medora, was a famed rider and buffalo hunter and stocked many buffalo farms through the middlewest.

With his health restored, Mr. Breene returned to the employ of the Rock Island and in 1895 came to Iowa City to be general agent. Here he has remained for the last 38 years. He retired in February after 50 years of service (45 continuous) with the Rock Island railroad.

Mother, Brother

With his mother and brother, the late Frank T. Breene, former dean of the college of dentistry, who died Oct. 13, 1931, Mr. Breene lived at 419 N. Clinton street. Since the death of his mother and brother, he has lived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Schmidt, 225 E. Fairchild street.

Through the medium of his interest in Shakespeare, Mr. Breene developed an intimate acquaintance with the late Prof. George Cram Cook of the English department, who invited him to attend his classes.

Professor Cook, who was the husband of Susan Glaspell, novelist, died about two years ago in Greece, where he had gone to live in a Greek hovel close to the common people.

Mr. Breene has always been a bachelor. His interest in the welfare of the University of Iowa and the community as a whole is active and intense.

Although Mr. Breene has entered politics for the first time in his life, he is still a railroad man, with memories of never ending rails and roaring locomotives and the open west of the old days and the long lonely hours with Shakespeare.

Two Houses Debate 30 Hour Week Bill

WASHINGTON, April 3 (AP)—The 30 hour week bill, which its advocates say will return 6,000,000 jobless to employment through national sharing of work, today began a doubtful legislative journey at both ends of the capitol.

The five day week, six hour day bill of Senator Black (D., Ala.), was made the unfinished business for the senate and debated the entire afternoon, although it will be laid aside temporarily when the farm relief bill is ready for floor consideration, either late tomorrow or Wednesday.

The meeting will be called by President Joe Munkhoff of the bureau and Secretary C. W. Crum of the Chamber of Commerce, who were charged with the task of obtaining speakers to present the problem.

The committee sought the opinion of the merchants as to the necessity for tax reduction and the proper remedies. Since there was not a sufficient number of merchants present, it was decided to call a special meeting for the near future to go into the problem further.

Deal First Cards in Iowa City's "New Deal"

With a directness and aggressiveness comparable to the national "new deal" Mayor Harry D. Breene and the new council dealt the first cards in Iowa City's "new deal" yesterday.

Immediately after being sworn into office at high noon by City Clerk George J. Dohrer, the council began fulfilling its economy pledge by passing ordinances cutting the salaries of appointive officers and combining the offices of engineer and street commissioner.

The solicitor was cut from $1,350 to $1,200, the nurse from $1,350 to $1,200, the janitor from $1,200 to $1,000, the clerk from $1,980 to $1,500, the engineer from $2,500 to $2,400 and had the office of street commissioner combined with it at a salary of $1 a year. The salary reduction totaled $2,439.

Declaring at noon that the city positions would be filled with no thought of partisanship but with men who are well qualified for the work expected, Mayor Breene announced his appointments at the council meeting last night, retaining three of the present officers and appointing four new ones. The council, following the same procedure as the mayor, retained the veteran clerk and auditor George J. Dohrer, expressing its confidence in his ability.

Disagree on Solicitor

All ran smoothly in the council appointments with the only indication of pointed disagreement coming on the office of solicitor. Alderman Roscoe B. Ayers objected to the appointment of Attorney Thomas Martin on the grounds that he received a pension from the national government and advanced the candidacy of Attorney Richard Davis.

Nominated by Prof. S. M. Woodward and seconded by Jacob Van der Zee, Attorney Martin won the appointment with the support of Aldermen Sybil and Stronks. Ayers, McGuan, and Memier voted for Davis.

There were no real disagreements on the other officers. Dairy Inspector C. G. Sample was elected by the votes of Stronks, Van der Zee, Memier, and Ayers with McGuan, Woodward, and Sybil voting for the other candidate.

City Clerk and Auditor George J. Dohrer was appointed with only the votes of McGuan and Ayers, who upheld L. C. Yoder, dissenting. Stronks, Van der Zee, Memier, and Sybil all cast votes for the winning candidate for city engineer, J. H. Sproatt.

Police Chief William H. Bender replaces Frank L. Smith, Janitor Gregory Patterson replaces George Letts, Health Officer I. A. Rankin, M.D., replaces Dr. F. L. Love, Street Commissioner J. F. Sproatt replaces James McClelland, City Engineer J. F. Sproatt replaces Allen Wallen, Dairy Inspector C. G. Sample replaces Dr. J. S. Potter, and City Solicitor Thomas Martin replaces Will J. Hayek.

The advisory committee of the Iowa City Taxpayers' league met last night with members of the Merchants bureau and discussed the relative merits of tax reduction and tax revision and of plans for both.

The committee sought the opinion of the merchants as to the necessity for tax reduction and the proper remedies. Since there was not a sufficient number of merchants present, it was decided to call a special meeting for the near future to go into the problem further.

The next stage was in the field of biology, and the new knowledge had important practical applications in agriculture and medicine.

Professor Davies stated that the third stage in scientific development which has hardly yet got under way is the social. "What man may discover in economic sociology and related sciences, and how the new knowledge will be applied to the building of a progressive but more stable society remains to be seen," Professor Davies concluded.

His theme was that "it can be as glorious and thrilling to campaign for peace as to make war for kirehe, kinder, und Vaterland or to make the world safe for democracy."

Phillip Louis Ray, A1 of Clinton, read excerpts from a speech made against declaring war in April, 1917, by the late Senator Robert M. La Follette.

Roland A. White, G of Marengo, meeting chairman, urged those present not to let "the war to end war" be abandoned. A discussion of plans for helping further a bill in the state legislature to make R. O. T. C. optional were discussed by a group which remained after adjournment.

Botany Club Hears About Laboratories

The 100-acre Arcadian haven of a botanist, Lakeside laboratories, located in the northwest corner of Iowa, where one may get first-hand information of the ordinary plants and animals, was described at a regular meeting of the Botany club by Prof. George W. Martin of the botany department yesterday afternoon.

Lakeside laboratories, when purchased in 1905, extended over five acres of land, and in succeeding years enough ground was purchased through the efforts of members of the botany department so that extensive work could be carried on.

Swamps, lakes, pastures, prairie plants, and wooded land offer to students opportunity for genuine research, Professor Martin said.

Picture slides of views about the laboratories, and specimens of plants that grow in the fields, were shown.

TODAY'S TOPICS

BY FRANK JAFFE

REPRESENTATIVE BLANTON of Texas had a bone to pick with practically the entire government printing plant yesterday because his honor was at stake.

It seemed that Representative Boland of Pennsylvania made some remarks in the house recently favoring the medicinal liquor bill. The remarks, however, were credited in the Congressional Record to Blanton.

When questioned on the floor yesterday, Blanton admitted that the printers made only about 15 mistakes in his remarks—all of a minor character—last year. Somebody rose to say that Blanton used about 40 per cent of the entire Record, and that on the face of things 15 errors a year wasn't so bad.

Maybe Mr. Blanton has now learned the lesson that so few congressmen ever learn—that loquaciousness is not always the best virtue. For all the people who read the Record, anyway, it may make little difference as to quantity; after all, it's what is said that counts, not how long one takes saying it.

AFTER YEARS AND YEARS of trying to get somewhere in equalizing the farmer's burden, government machinery was again being oiled yesterday with a view to grinding down some of the debts that agriculture has had heaped upon it.

Unlike previous attempts, this time there is the conviction that a workable plan can be devised, and that everybody will agree to it. That's been the trouble for a long time. Just as soon as the government tries to help the farmer it is beset with the pleadings of industry and city folk who decry "class legislation."

The new mortgage relief bill is as necessary a piece of legislation as anything yet undertaken by the congress or the administration. It is vital to the best interests of agriculture, just as the R.F.C. seemingly was vital to the best interests of banks and railroads and industry.

THE FACT THAT THE NEW bill gives the secretary of agriculture another slice of administrative power—seasoned slightly with some legislative jurisdiction—makes it all the more slated for success, tinged as it is with the New Deal coloring.

In his message concerning the new farm mortgage plan, President Roosevelt declared that it is "an integral part of the broad plan to end the forced liquidation of property, to increase purchasing power, and to broaden the credit structure."

Those words have rung before through the house and senate chambers. In fact, they have been mentioned wherever and whenever any two people interested in the agricultural situation have been together. They mean, however, differently now. Unless they are too late to be effective, they will accomplish what they have been trying to do since 1921.

Book Bits

(From Sparks Fly Upward, by Oliver La Farge)

They snatched away the blindfold and the horse rose under him. It was caught in some kind of a trap, things bound it, like the day it was roped and brought in, something heavy was on its back. It lunged forward, but the bindings and the weight came with it, offering no resistance. It could not brush past the ropes that bound its head, it twisted, and nothing happened. Then there was hot pain, spurs thrust into its flanks, the stinging quilt on its quarters, and yells from the men standing about. The thing on top was screeching and clawing like a wildcat, only the horse knew it was a man. It twisted itself once like a snake, then it leaped high into the air and came down stiff legged. As it continued bucking, its fighting spirit returned, twisting itself, lashing out forefeet and hind, leaping and turning in the air, all one wild passion of fury that was close to panic.

Other addresses will be given by university faculty members. Prof. Norman C. Meier of the psychology department will speak on "New light upon the nature of artistic aptitude." Professor Patzig will speak on "Experiments in art education," and President Walter A. Jessup will give an address of welcome.

Motion pictures demonstrating etching and the art of the silversmith will be shown by Lee W. Cochran of the extension division as the concluding number of the two day program.

A special program will be conducted for visiting high school students during the general conference. Features of this program will include a tour of the university; a visit to the university museum conducted by Homer R. Dill, director; and a visit to the Studio theater at Iowa Union, where two one act plays will be presented by a class in dramatic art.

Three Named to Judge First Salon of Photographic Art

George Yates of Des Moines, Erwin O. Christensen of Washington, D.C., and Aden F. Arnold of the university's graphic and plastic arts department, were definitely named yesterday as judges for the University of Iowa's first salon of photographic art.

Mr. Yates is head of the photography department for the Des Moines Register and Tribune, and Mr. Christensen is director of the department of educational work for the American Federation of Arts at Washington.

The 197 photographs entered in the salon contest will be judged by this committee April 8, and those that measure up to a standard set by the judging committee will be displayed at Iowa Union, April 18 to 30.

RACKETEERS Ordered Exterminated by Chicago

In building up their future beer trade, Courtney was told, is to force an adequate number of retailers into promising to buy their product, then approach the brewer with an offer to distribute his brew to them at a "reasonable" commission.

The alternative Courtney gave the brewers was to report any overtures on the part of the racketeers or they themselves would suffer revocation of their licenses.

"We must co-operate to keep this business in legitimate hands," he said. "I want you to notify police immediately when any muscle man attempts to coerce you.

"Business men must forget their weak knees. If this office has your co-operation, I think we have the gangsters beaten already."

The brewers promised Courtney their co-operation.

Shortly before the conference a bomb was exploded in the soft drink parlor of one Tony Popalski. Police regarded it as the opening outburst in the gangsters' campaign of intimidation.

HOLLYWOOD, April 3.—George Bernard Shaw, April 3.—George Bernard Shaw, who will give a series of painting demonstrations and criticisms before the classes in graphic and plastic arts this week, is expected to arrive in Iowa City this afternoon. These demonstrations follow a custom of several years' standing in the graphic and plastic arts department.

Mr. Adams has received awards for his work in art ranging from honorable mentions to the $1,000 Altman prize at the National Academy of Design.

Recent prizes which he has won include the second Altman prize for a figure painting of "Pop" Hart, shown at the 1932 winter exhibition of the National Academy of Design, and the Lippincott prize in the February exhibition of the Pennsylvania Academy at Philadelphia for a portrait of Jerome Meyers, a fellow artist.

Mr. Adams was chosen by the National Academy of Design to be the American artist to paint President Hoover's portrait in December, 1931. He had previously painted a portrait of President Coolidge for the Union League club of New York city.

Last winter Mr. Adams gave two demonstrations in New York city for the benefit of needy musicians and artists: one in November at the New School of Social Research with Walter Damrosch as model, and another in December at the Grand Central galleries with Walter Hampden, actor, as model.

Mr. Adams was chosen by the Metropolitan museum as the subject of one of a series of art movies recently. The camera recorded a complete painting of a portrait by the artist. The project consumed three hours of time, and about 25,000 feet of film were used. The completed movie was about 50 minutes in length.

A portrait of Booth Tarkington has been shown extensively in America, and was displayed on invitation at the Luxembourg exhibition of 1919. It was also shown at the International exhibition at Venice, Italy, in 1924.

In 1931 and 1932 Sidney Dickinson of New York city gave similar demonstrations before the graphic and plastic arts classes. The late Charles Hawthorne painted several portraits and still life pictures before the classes the three preceding years.

Expected to Arrive in Iowa City This Afternoon

Wayman Adams, portrait painter and teacher of New York city, who will give a series of painting demonstrations and criticisms before the classes in graphic and plastic arts this week, is expected to arrive in Iowa City this afternoon. 1,400 Persons Attend Spring Band Concert

The impressive Grand Overture Solonelle "1812" of Tschalkowsky climaxed a program of stirring music by the 65 piece university band, directed by Dr. O. E. Van Doren, in its annual spring concert at Iowa Union Sunday afternoon. More than 1,400 persons attended.

Effective individual instrumentation and full group work featured the program, and a number of novelties were injected into encore numbers. "Ole South Patrol," "Men of Iowa," "Entry of the Boyards," and "The Whistling Farmer Boy" were given as encores. Donald Pratt, Al of Cedar Rapids, presented "Stars in a Velvet Sky," by Clarke, as a cornet solo, and Victor Herbert's "Kiss Me Again," as an encore. He was accompanied by the ensemble.

The Tschalkowsky overture, describing the invasion of Russia by Napoleon's troops and their defeat at Moscow, was colorfully performed. The fury of the battle, intermingled with strains of "La Marseillaise" and the song of the Cossacks, and the ultimate joyful notes of the church bells, were given a picturesque presentation by the band.

Government Printing Error Mixes Wet, Dry Congressmen

Blanton on Record for Speech Favoring Liquor Bill

WASHINGTON, April 3 (AP)—Somebody at the government office made a mistake last Thursday night and Representative Blanton of Texas was recorded in the Congressional Record as making a speech in favor of the medicinal liquor bill.

Blanton, a prohibitionist, said today on the floor it was an "inexcusable error" and that there was a feeling of resentment against him at the government printing plant.

Delivered by Boland

The remarks attributed to Blanton actually were delivered by Boland of Pennsylvania.

"From his standpoint it was a very splendid speech," said Blanton, "but my name was put on it and 35,000 copies of that Record went into every state of the union.

"Someone who didn't like me could take that Record and go from one end of my district to another saying this is what Tom Blanton said about a wet bill in the house. It does me a discredit as a dry."

"Not Hurt Much"

Boylan (D., N. Y.), asked Blanton how many mistakes the printing office had made in handling his remarks in the last year.

"Oh, about 15," Blanton replied, "but they were 'st minor errors that didn't hurt' much."

"The gentleman uses about 40 per cent of the entire record of the house," Boylan pursued. "Doesn't the gentleman think that only 15 mistakes a year is a pretty good batting average?"

Blanton didn't like Boylan's attributing to him 40 per cent of the Record. They got into such a hot argument about it that Clarke (R., N. Y.), asked Speaker Rainey to "protect that dry from that wet."

Horner Takes Issue With Bids Submitted for Cement Contracts

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 3 (AP)—Rejection of cement company bids to sell cement for highway construction at $1.62 a barrel, an average of 68 cents above the 1932 price, was announced today by Governor Horner. He said the 16 companies making virtually identical bids would be asked to quote new prices on 3,300,000 barrels of cement to be purchased by the state.

"The shocking thing about the bids is the unanimity of prices shown by the cement companies," Horner said. "We may have to start cement mills of our own in order that the state may get a fair price."

Legislative authorization for state manufacture of cement has been given one or two times in the past as a protest against prices asked, but the project has never been started because of adjustments reached.

27 Iowa Athletes Win Major Letters; 8 Earn Minor Awards

SPORT Potshots by EUGENE THORNE

EACH year as track records topple, the writer wonders when the maximum will be reached—when the marks will be the best humanly possible. As long as track coaches continue to concentrate upon the science of the sport, the athletes will continue smashing marks, we suppose. The records which have fallen during the last five or six years alone are most remarkable. It wasn't so long ago that 13 feet in the pole vault was considered exceptional. It is still mightily good, of course, but Stanford this year boasts Miller, Olympic champion, and a sophomore vaulter, who have both been clearing 14 feet.

From all indications, Coach Carl Kaufman's all-university boxing tournament finals will provide a lot of action. Otis Wolfe, 175-pounder, appears to be the hardest hitter in the tournament. Last year, outside of winning the title, Wolfe's best exhibition was that of breaking a perfectly good punching bag. Coach Kaufman is hoping that another Intercollegiate tournament is held this season. He figures his boys could make it tough for any of them this year.

COACH Mike Howard's freshmen get under way today in the preliminaries of the annual yearling tourney to determine numeral winners. Several of the lads look pretty good to Mike. The Iowa mentor is looking forward to next season in the hopes of getting some breaks, and he deserves them. Last fall things looked pretty rosy for the Hawkeye mat team, but injuries and failure of several good men to return to school wrecked the prospects. However, with most of his veterans back, and with a little help from this year's freshmen, and the Iowa coach should have his team up towards the top by the end of the season.

One boy that Howard is counting on strong is Frank O'Leary, brother of Capt. elect John O'Leary. Frank, a strapping 200-pounder, has been showing up well in practice, and it appears that for the first time in several seasons, an honest-to-goodness heavyweight will wrestle for Iowa in that division. And while on the subject of wrestling, scouts have been unable to learn any more about the rumored match between Coach Howard and the "Terrible Russian," although indications are that such a match will take place. A report from apparently no source at all said that the two men might get together at the finals of the freshman tournament.

WRESTLING fans in this vicinity will get their first glimpse in some time of a real live claimant to the heavyweight championship of the world Thursday night when Jim Browning, twice conqueror of Ed "Strangler" Lewis, meets Glen Munn in the Cedar Rapids ring. Unlike most of the so-called "kings" of the heavyweights, Browning wasted no time in getting to the outlying districts. Usually the champs stick to the big cities for a while, but Browning is getting right out to pick up all the loose change in the "tank towns."

Followers of the Flake family of athletes no doubt remember the play of "Chummy" Flake on the Lone Tree basketball team during the sectional cage tournament at City High this winter. Chummy will keep the prestige of the family in the athletic world by fighting Tommy O'Brien of Iowa City in a four round bout as a preliminary to the Browning-Munn wrestling match Thursday.

COACH Bill Boelter has just about decided to take a correspondence course in memory work, according to reports. The Hawkeye mentor last fall had the job of checking in coaches and teams at the high school cross country meet. When the various mentors brought their prep teams in to the state indoor meet last week end, they would spy Bill, rush over and shake hands, with a, "Hi, Bill." Bill could, in most cases, remember neither faces nor names, and was said to have suffered extremely from suspension of the action of the local vasomotor nerves, allowing the arteries and capillaries to dilate. (*) He blushed.

Two more entries have been received by the military department for the annual small bore shoot here Saturday, according to Lieut. Col. Converse R. Lewis, professor of military science and tactics. They are Cretin High School Rifle club, at St. Paul, Minn., and Third Infantry Regimental Rifle club, at Ft. Snelling, Minn.

Chuck Klein and Virgil Davis hit home runs, both off Leroy Mahaffey, while Bartell, Whitney and Dugas cracked out doubles. Hitting honors, however, went to the Athletic's rookie outfielder, Bob Johnson, who had a perfect day at bat with a home run, double and a single.

Hawks Meet Chicago in Only Big Ten Encounter

A schedule of eight outdoor meets has been drawn for the University of Iowa track and field team, Coach George T. Bresnahan announced yesterday.

The Hawkeyes will compete in three championship meets, two relay carnivals and dual meets, and a triangular contest, according to present plans.

Chicago, to be met at Iowa City May 6, is the only Western conference team to be met in a dual event. Only a few men will go to the Kansas relays, the bulk of the team competing against Grinnell on the same day.

This is the card:
April 15—Triangular meet (Coe, Cornell, Iowa) at Cedar Rapids.
April 22—Grinnell at Grinnell; Kansas Relays at Lawrence.
April 28, 29—Drake Relays at Des Moines.
May 6—Chicago at Iowa City.
May 13—State collegiate championships at Ames.
May 19, 20—Conference championships at Evanston, Ill.
June 9, 10—National Collegiate championships at Chicago.

Coralville, Oakdale to Enter Kittenball League This Season

Almost 20 teams have signified their intentions of entering Iowa City's Kittenball league for this season. The list includes teams from Coralville and Oakdale.

Waldo Geiger, one of the organizers of the league this year, had planned to meet with all of the managers tonight, but there is a possibility that it may be postponed because of a Junior Chamber of Commerce meeting. If the get-together is postponed, it will be held in the near future when a discussion of the rules and schedule making will be discussed.

MEMPHIS—While Carl Hubbell and Bill Shores were spacing the Memphis Chicks' six hits over as many innings, their teammates pounded out 16 blows off three hurlers to give the New York Giants a 10 to 2 decision over the Southern association team.

Four Leading 1932 Tank Teams Enter Y.M.C.A. State Meet

The four leading teams of 1932 will appear prominently in the 1933 state Y.M.C.A. swimming championships at the University of Iowa Saturday.

Cedar Rapids will defend its championship with about 40 athletes, ranging from boys of 9 years to young men over 18. Both Davenport, last season's runner-up, and Des Moines, third in 1932, will have nearly as many competitors, D. A. Armbruster, Hawkeye coach, said Monday.

Winner of fourth last year, Newton will enter contestants in practically all events, while Oskaloosa will have representatives in the senior and intermediate divisions.

About half a dozen other Iowa cities are expected to be enrolled by Wednesday, the last day for the filing of entries.

Ex-Iowa Ace Pitches Great Ball for Tribe

Two Good Helps Down New Orleans by 16-0 Score

(By The Associated Press)
NEW ORLEANS—Oral Hildebrand and Forest Two good pitched shutout baseball as the Cleveland Indians walloped New Orleans, 16 to 0. Every member of the Tribe made at least one hit except Two good, who batted but once. Harley Boss, rookie first baseman, hit a home run and two singles.

BUCS DEFEAT CHISOX
TUCSON, Ariz. — Pittsburgh twinned Ted Lyons hard to overcome a four run lead and defeat the White Sox 9 to 6, in the first of their spring training exhibition series. Successive doubles by Swetonic, Jensen, Lindstrom and Paul Waner drove in all the Pirate runs in the sixth inning. Haas led the White Sox clubbing with four hits.

HERMAN THREATENS
DEMING, N. M. — As the Cubs rolled eastward, Babe Herman took the floor and warned National league pitchers to beware of his bat from now on.

"My stride has been wrong for two weeks," Herman told his mates, "but I'm myself once more. I will be very tough on pitchers from now on." The Cubs will meet the Kansas City Blues Wednesday.

RED SOX WIN
JERSEY CITY — The Boston Red Sox bunched most of their eight hits in the sixth inning to gain their second consecutive shutout over the Jersey City club, 6-0. The International League made only four hits off Mike Meola and Henry Johnson.

CARDS TRIUMPH
COLUMBUS, Miss. — The St. Louis Cardinals defeated the Meridian team 18 to 3, in an exhibition game. "Pepper" Martin, back at third base for part of the game, counted a hit on each of his two trips to bat.

BENGALS SLUG
KNOXVILLE, Tenn. — Closing their performance with a slug fest that netted 10 runs in the eighth and ninth innings, the Detroit Tigers defeated the Knoxville club of the Southern league 14 to 11.

The Bengals were trailing as they went into the eighth inning, but a home run by Stone and a triple by Reiber started the procession to victory. Reiber and Gehring also got home runs.

CRASH VICTIMS

Stops Seever in First Heat of University Tourney Bout

A lean 175 pound lad stepped into the ring yesterday and earned his right to fight in the finals of the all-university boxing tournament after just one minute and 35 seconds of the first round.

Otis Wolfe, defending 175 pound champion of last year came from his corner at the sound of the bell to lash a hall of vicious blows that make him the brightest spot in the tournament so far.

Stop Scrap
Ronald Seever, his opponent, and a good boy in most company, was probably hit more times in the minute and a half that the fight was allowed to go than any one else in the previous bouts has been in the full three rounds. Wolfe's savage two-handed attack explained why he was champion in his weight last year.

At 4 o'clock this afternoon, Paul Jacobs, who out-pointed Max Tutinstra, and Woodie Beard, will decide Wolfe's opponent in the finals to be held Friday evening in connection with the freshman wrestling tournament.

Jacobs, Beard Meet
Jacobs is a clever boxer and Beard is a husky football player so Wolfe will have a tough job on his hands either way the bout goes.

There will be seven bouts of boxing, ranging from the fight between the midjets, Prusa and Brown, to the slug fest that Everett Mays and McGilvery Wilson will engage in as heavyweight contenders.

Scribes Pick Yanks, Bucs to Win Titles

NEW YORK, April 3 (AP) — The seventh annual Associated Press "pennant poll" with a batting average of .500 to its credit since 1927, points today to the New York Yankees and Pittsburgh Pirates as the probable winners of the 1933 major league baseball races.

With the opening of the season barely a week off, four score experts vote the world champion Yankees a wide margin over all rivals, although noting especially the improvement of such clubs as the Washington Senators and Chicago White Sox. The same critics, however, figure the Pirates have added sufficient strength to overthrow the Chicago Cubs, particularly since the league champions lost Kiki Cuyler.

Exactly 60 out of the 79 American league ballots favor the Yankees to repeat and thereby claim their eighth pennant since 1921. An even dozen name the Senators to spring an upset, and at the worst, take second place away from the Athletics.

Six others still like the chances of the A's despite the loss of Al Simmons from the Philadelphia firing line but this represents a distinct falling off in support for the Mackmen.

Simmons' shift to the White Sox apparently inspired one solitary pennant vote for the Chicago club. The consensus also reveals the high esteem in which the great slugger is held, his big bat attracting enough votes to make the White Sox the choice over Detroit for fifth place. This is higher than the Sox have been rated in five years.

The National league ballots totaled 81, of which 42 picked the Pirates to finish first and 21 remained loyal to the chances of the Cubs making it two pennants in a row. The Pirates have been named twice before in the Associated Press poll as probable pennant winners and they, too, have a batting average of .500. The Bucs justified the predictions of the experts by winning in 1927 but ran second in 1928 to the St. Louis Cardinals.

Praise No Music to Dubuque Prep Star; Others Blow Horn

Howard Connolly, Dubuque high school track star, lets others toot his horn.

When Howard returned from the Mississippi Valley indoor track meet a week ago his mothers asked him if he made any points.

"Mother, what do you think I went down there for?" was his elusive, matter of fact reply. The next morning his mother learned from the Dubuque paper that he had won two firsts and had come in second for total score.

This week end Howard's mother fooled him. It was the first of April. She listened to the news of his success in the Iowa high school meet over the radio.

Varsity Wins 6-0 Five Inning Game From Reserve Team

Displaying mid-season form, Gene Ford, husky University of Iowa right hander, set down the reserves in a five inning game yesterday at Iowa field, without allowing a single hit, while the varsity made six runs on six hits off the delivery of Vance Marquis.

Schwant, reserve right fielder, was the only man to reach first base. He went down to the initial bag on Drager's error in the first inning and again in the fourth frame when he worked Ford for a base on balls. Ford never had to exert himself at any time during the brief contest.

Gordon Benn, sophomore shortstop, led the varsity attack with two singles in three trips to the plate, besides fielding in a flawless fashion. The second inning saw the varsity push three runs across the plate when errors by Bazant and Murphy put Baker and Ford on base, and successive singles by Schulte-henrich, Drager and Benn drove the runs across the plate. Joe Laws grounded out to second to retire the side leaving two men stranded on the paths.

Marquis pitched a creditable game but errors led to his downfall, three of which were made by himself.

Frank Stempel, veteran right hander upon whom Coach Otto Vogel is banking his conference hopes this year, reported yesterday for his first workout in 10 days. Stempel is still suffering from a heavy cold and took things easy.

Preliminary Matches to Begin at 4 p.m. Today

A field of 25 freshman wrestlers will be cut down to an even 16 finalists this afternoon as the preliminaries to the yearling numeral tournament gets under way in the wrestling room at the field house. The finals, to be held Thursday at 7:30 p.m., will be run off in conjunction with the university boxing championships, wrestling bouts alternating with the mitt slinging three round affairs to form a total of 16 scraps.

Wrestlers will be seeking the numeral sweater awarded the winner in each class while the boxers will have first and second place medals at which to shoot.

Some of the weights in wrestling have only two contestants and so there will be no need for bouts in all classes today.

Which classes the men will wrestle in will not be certain, however, until weighing-in is over and drawings are made at 4 o'clock this afternoon; several men may not be able to make their preferred divisions.

Preliminary bouts are assured in the 126, 145, 165 and 175 pound classes, however, as there are at least two contestants in each. Of the probable six boxing bouts on this afternoon's card, the matches featuring Allen Hurley, 165-pounder; Woody Beard, 175 pounder; and Les Swan, 145-pounder, should be the high spots of the afternoon.

Coaches Will Select Iowa Circus Queen

Announcement was made yesterday of a plan to select a queen and four attendants for the first annual circus which is to be staged April 20 at the field house under the patronage of associated students of physical education.

George Bresnahan, varsity track coach, has been selected as queen chairman and in company with other university coaches will select "her majesty" from a group of candidates nominated from every sorority on the campus.

The circus will appear as a three ring show, according to Larry Griswold, chairman, with plenty of action throughout a full program. It will be similar to university circuses at Illinois and Northwestern which have been in progress for a number of years. It is hoped that the Iowa circus may sometime assume the proportions of several others which have grown to include all Greek letter organizations on the campus, every department in the university and all other university organizations. It would be an all-university event.

Among the features of the circus are mass drills in silent marching, gymnasium apparatus, tap dancing, and calisthenics; tight wire walking, rope spinning, and hand balancing; springboard tumbling, bicycle race (six day), roller hockey, boxing and wrestling, Indian clubs, rings, basketball with boxing gloves, and soft shoe dancing.

The tight wire walkers are rapidly assuming the appearance of so many birds and look out of place on terra firma. Steve Nielsen and his pyramid work is progressing rapidly and Colonel Swaney's drill squads are taking on a precision.

These acts run through regular rehearsal every day in preparation for the final appearance and some fine entertainment is promised by the management.

Phi Psi Wins 3 to 1 Verdict Over Delt Six

Phi Psi Wins Title in Water Loop; Start Kittenball

A scoring attack that packed lots of punch netted Phi Kappa Psi three goals and the title of the inter-fraternity water polo league in the playoff yesterday afternoon, the Delta Tau Delta team coming through with one marker late in the second half.

Reed entered early in the initial period to open the scoring and was followed by Crowley who caged a goal just before the end of the half. The losers found the net once near the middle of the next period when Mallory flipped one from the center. It was quickly equalized however by Goddard for Phi Psi who scored to end the game.

The final standing:
W. L.
Phi Kapp Psi 3 1
Delta Tau Delta 2 2
Sigma Alpha Epsilon 1 1
Sigma Nu 1 2

KITTENBALL
A single by Halliday, scoring Wirth, who had gotten on base with a double in the last half of the seventh with two out, broke a knotted, count 13 to 14 and Alpha Tau Omega won its first game of the inter-fraternity kittenball league from Sigma Chi yesterday afternoon.

The game was a close one all the way, the lead alternating three times. The losers garnered the first score of the game but the lead was taken away from them in the second inning.

Delta Sigma Pi picked Michael of Delta Chi for 11 runs and the latter's team dropped its opening contest 11 to 6. The winners held the Delta Chi offense well in check while collecting a heavy lead. Home runs by Tompkins and Ewald of Delta Chi featured the play.

A hard played game featured the Beta Theta Pi victory over Sigma Nu, 5 to 2, in seven innings. The victors touched Cretzmeier for 13 hits while the later's team could collect but eight. The scoring was close all the way, although the winners held the lead in every frame but the first when Sigma Nu ran in one tally to start things off.

Phi Beta Pi couldn't wait until today to trounce the Sigma Pi team and in a game Sunday morning blasted the latter crew for a 7 to 1 victory.

The Kappa Sigma-Alfa Kappa Psi game for yesterday was postponed until next Sunday.

Two other postponements were played off Sunday. Phi Beta Delta, with the aid of Newman's circuit blow and Levine's triple, dropped Phi Alpha Delta, 4 to 3. Georgia fanned seven laws in his session of the mound.

Phi Delta Theta took a victory from Delta Tau Delta in the afternoon, 12 to 7. The Phi Eit bombardment was too potent for the losers' defense.

Games today find Phi Beta Delta and Sigma Alpha Epsilon matched in section one. Phi Kappa Sigma and Phi Gamma Delta, and Delta Upsilon and Beta Theta Pi in section four.

PARTICIPATION
Delta Tau Delta leads the race for the Greek participation trophy to date this year with a total of 121 points, well above the second place Sigma Chi who have collected 93. The Deltas scored heavily in physical efficiency, free throw, and cross country, having been absent only from the fraternity relay.

The present totals do not include kittenball or water polo. Third place is held by Sigma Alpha Epsilon with 95, close behind the Sigs. Other places among the leaders are as follows: fourth, Sigma Nu, 90, fifth, Phi Delta Theta, 74, and sixth, Phi Kappa Alpha, 62.

BASKETBALL
The intramural independent basketball league is slated for action the latter part of the week. There was some misunderstanding over the week end about possible entry fees which held three teams up temporarily. The managers of those teams are requested to report their entries to "Dad" immediately so that the scheduling may be completed. There are four other teams signed for the completion.

TWENTY THOUSAND YEARS IN SING SING

By LEWIS E. LAWES
Warden Sing Sing Prison

Screen Version Fictionized by Hamilton Thompson

CHAPTER V

THE break was started by Hype feigning illness. He writhed and moaned as if in terrible pain. The guard came up on the run. He called the night sergeant. "Man sick in Cell Block 5. . . Call the hospital. . . Tell 'em to send a stretcher."

"That may be the trouble," said the Warden. "Boys, let's go!"

Warden Long and the three guards, walking through the yards, heard the report, "Man sick in Cell Block 5."

The guards with the stretcher arrived and stopped in front of Hype's cell. One of the guards threw a master lever, which moved the bars from all the cells.

Silently and swiftly, Bud, who had been watching, unlocked his own cell door, with his make-shift key, and crept toward Hype's cell.

"You yellow!" Bud yelled. "Naw—but it's Saturday, my jinx day. . . I'd jinx you all. . . Take Black Jack—that'll make you there."

"Aw, Hell. . . come on then, Jack. Quick, into the guard's uniform." With Hype and Black Jack dressed in officers' uniforms, Bud laid on the stretcher, and the group started along the corridor. . . to their destiny.

Meanwhile, Warden Long and the three guards, entered the building in a rush, but not before a sergeant who had encountered the fleeing men on the upper tier, had been shot down, as he blew his whistle as an alarm.

Bedlam! Whistles shrieking, taking up the refrain from the whistle of the dead sergeant; alarm singing out with clarion notes. Then "Big Ben" the powerful prison steam whistle came into action, sending out its following message of "ESCAPE," to the countryside, summoning all guards to the prison immediately.

Fay fought like a wild cat, Finn at first seeking only to protect his face from her wild swings and scorchings. In the front seat, the driver grinned the more and stepped on the gas.

Fay redoubled her efforts until one stinging blow landed full in Finn's face. He cursed and reached out to catch both her hands, ignoring her knees, which immediately came into action. One suddenly doubled upward like a jack-knife, catching Finn in the pit of his stomach.

This was the opportunity Fay sought. Finn momentarily relaxed; but as Fay's hand found the door handle he quickly recovered and moved toward her. She pushed it downward and pressed forward. The door opened suddenly and Fay's body hurtling through the air from the speeding car, struck the concrete pavement, and rolled down a steep embankment.

The car slowed down momentarily. Then a hand reached out, the door was slammed shut and the car continued toward the city.

Down below lay Fay's body very still. (Continued tomorrow)

DIXIE DUGAN—Changed Point of View

Stock Market Prices Show Small Losses

Active Leaders End Above Minimums for Day

NEW YORK, April 3 (AP)—Indecision was still the mood of the moment in today's irregular stock market. With volume down to 600,540 shares, prices worked back and forth lazily. Final quotations averaged into a nominal net loss, with the most active leaders finishing comfortably above the day's minimums.

A boost for wheat and publication of the government's plan for easing indebtedness of the agricultural regions were news highlights in markets.

Fall Back

Farm implement shares and equities of other companies which are associated with the fortunes of the farming districts firmed for a time in the morning but manifested little buoyancy and fell back when further scattered selling appeared in rails. Some members of the latter division dropped a point or two, but their losses were generally reduced. Tobaccos again strengthened and favorites clung to gains of 1 to around 2. Industrial leaders seemed content with recent quotations and contributed little to the day's changes.

Strong Representatives

American Tobacco "B" and Liggett & Myers "B" were strong representatives of their group. American Can was well supported, while such issues as Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Macy, Lambert, Great Western Sugar, Borden, Du Pont and General Electric returned moderate gains. Case and Harvester both closed with fractional losses, as did Consolidated Gas of New York, North American, Public Service of New Jersey, Baltimore & Ohio, Canadian Pacific and Missouri Pacific. Delaware & Hudson and Louisville & Nashville were off a point. Santa Fe preferred slumped 5 1/2 in a thin market, while Eastman Kodak, whose management hopes to maintain the present dividend barring a further decline in business, dropped 2 1/2.

Telephones Recover

American Telephone reacted nearly a point, then made a full recovery. Bell System station losses, it is understood, are averaging about 100,000 a month. General Motors was fairly active and very steady. Car deliveries by one of its leading units for the year to March 20 exceeded the figure for the corresponding period of 1932, though the margin of improvement was small.

Measures for relief of the farmer assumed wide prominence. Call money on the stock exchange renewed at 2 1/2 per cent, lowest since March 2, and then went to 2 per cent.

Wheat Prices Skyrocket to Strong Gains

CHICAGO, April 3 (AP)—Wheat went skyrocketing today to within 1-2 cent of the peak prices attained just after the recent bank holiday period came to an end. Today's renewal of soaring quoti-tions accompanied authoritative official reports that United States 1933 production of winter wheat would be the smallest since 1904, totaling but 371,000,000 bushels compared with 462,000,000 last year. The reports estimated the present condition of the crop as only 61 per cent of normal, the lowest condition ever known and 21 points below a 10 year average.

Wheat closed strong at virtually the day's highest quotations, 1 3/8-1 3/4 cents above Saturday's finish, corn 1 1/8-1 5/8 up, oats 1 1/4-1 1/2 advanced, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 5 cents.

Adding impetus to the upshot of values was word of a big decrease of 3,014,000 bushels in the United States wheat visible supply total. Bullish aspects of proposed farm legislation at Washington were also a stimulating influence. Trade was more active than for some time, with the general public participating on a broad scale.

Corn and oats went up grade with wheat. Both corn and oats established a new high-price record for the season. Provisions were responsive to grain strength, despite weakness of hog values.

Closing indemnities: Wheat—May 54 5/8-3/4, 56 1/2-5/8; July 55 1/4-3/8, 57 1/8-1/4; September 56 1/4-3/8, 57 7/8-5/8. Corn—May 31 1/8-1/4, 32 1/4-3/8, offers; July 33 1/8-1/4, 34 3/8; September 34 3/4, offers.

CHAPTER FIFTY-FOUR

Wolfe woke to the sound of breaking glass. He was conscious of a thin, small voice shouting and shouting in the dim distance of a dream. Someone was shining a light upon the bedroom window, for he could see the frame outlined in shadow upon the ceiling. A strong wind was blowing gustily about the house.

Wolfe sprang out of bed, and made his way to the window, just as a second stone came crashing through the glass. A carriage lamp showed its yellow eye in the little garden below.

Wolfe threw up the window. "All right, all right, hold on there. Who is it?" A voice came from behind the carriage lamp.

"I guessed it were your window, sir. It be me, John Munday. The young missus has been took bad. I've brought ye a letter."

"All right; I'll be down in five minutes." Wolfe lit a candle and dressed like a man whose house is on fire. He still was conscious of a thin, small voice calling and calling in the distance of dreams, and of the restless blustering of the west wind over Navestock town. A gust blew the candle out as he opened the front door.

"Darn the wind! Come inside, John." "I reckoned as you wouldn't mind me using stones, seeing how the young missus be that bad—"

Wolfe had shut the door and re-ent the candle. "No, you might have fired a gun in and I'd have thanked you, Joe. The letter? Hold the candle."

He untwisted the crumpled note and spread it against the wall with one sweep of the hand. A doctor receives many such messages, tragic, anguished scrawls penned anywhere, like a dispatch on a battlefield. Mary Mascall had written in pencil, but the writing was steady and showed nerve. She was a woman who could keep a clear head and remember facts that might be vital.

Wolfe crumpled the letter and thrust it into his pocket. After a furious drive on this raw November morning, Munday's market cart brought Dr. Wolfe to Moor Farm where Mary Mascall awaited with the porch door open.

"Thank God you've come, John." Mary Mascall had shaded the lamp in Jess's room, but even in the dim light Wolfe could see the extreme pallor of her face. She was like a figure of wax, with bloodless lips and pinched features. Her hands were moving restlessly, the white fingers plucking at the quilt.

"Is it you, John?" Her voice was a mere whisper, and when she turned her face to him her eyes looked great black circles.

Wolfe bent over her. "Don't talk, Jess, and don't move a finger. Keep absolutely still." An hour passed. Mary Mascall lay back in the old walnut-wood arm-chair in the corner, her eyes closed. She had not realized how weary she was till Wolfe had come and taken some of the sharpness from her suspense. The farm-house was very still. Her eyes opened; she found Wolfe watching her. He beckoned her to come to him. She slipped her shoes off, and moved noiselessly across the room. Wolfe drew her very close, and spoke in a whisper. "This is a good sleep. Her pulse has picked up just a little. Go to bed, Mother, and get some rest."

"But you? They have been working you to death. And there's to-morrow." "I am going to sit here all night. I am not going back to Navestock till I know."

"Not even to-morrow, John?" "Not for a month, if necessary. Navestock can go to the devil. Is there plenty of oil in that lamp?"

"Yes." "Then go and get some rest." She kissed him, and slipped silently out of the room.

Wolfe remained there through the night, sitting beside Jess's bed, his fingers resting lightly on her wrist. The faint beating of her heart measured out the night for him, the flutter of blood under the white skin. Grey-eyed dawn found him there, gaunt and stiff like a sentinel, outstaring Death, who stood at the foot of the bed and watched.

Navestock found itself suddenly in the position of a beleaguered town whose governor had disappeared in the night and left the place to confusion. A crisis created the man who is indispensable. Navestock realized this fact directly the indispensable strong man disappeared.

Till noon of the next day no one knew what had become of John Wolfe. He had been called out in the night, and had not returned. Even this was surmise, and the bell and knocker of the little white house at Eve's Corner were restless and importunate.

"Is Dr. Wolfe in?" "We haven't seen him this morning." "Surely he has not forgotten to call at Mrs. Ballard's?"

"Oh, please will you tell the doctor to come to Mr. Rotherwood's at once? There's been a change for the worse."

"I've called for Mrs. Mostyn's medicine." "Can you tell me what time Dr. Wolfe will be home?"

The little maid grew cross and furred. Mrs. Loosely herself took charge of the front door, growing more stiff and innocent each time the knocker banged or the bell jangled.

"Dr. Wolfe must not be called out in the night. I don't know where he has gone. I have not seen him since I went to bed."

It was at Moor Farm that they found him. But Navestock called and beckoned to a man who was both blind and deaf. All Wolfe's consciousness had withdrawn itself into that long, low upper room with its oak beams, old-russia coloured walls, and its snow maiden in the white quilted bed. Jess had awakened two hours after dawn, to find John Wolfe sitting beside her. Her shadowy eyes had smiled up at him with a look of dreamy contentment.

"Stay with me, John." She had fallen asleep again almost instantly. No power on earth would have moved John Wolfe from Moor Farm. Messages, letters were brought him, one full of frank entreaty from Ursula Brandon.

"Come down to the town, even if it is only for an hour. Perhaps you do not realize that Navestock is without a doctor. Threadgold went away yesterday for his health. The locum tenens who was to have taken his place has not arrived. What are the wretches to do?"

Wolfe wrote his reply on a black oak pedestal table. He was sitting by the window of Jess's room, with the brown leaves blowing about the grass in the garden below.

"Pardon me, but it is life or death here, and I remain till it is decided. Navestock is drawing out of the valley of shadows; things were at their darkest a month ago. Let them send for Bruce or Halliday, or some of the Warrington men. I have given a good deal to Navestock. They must not grudge me these few days. They are mine, and I shall take them."

About the fourth day of Wolfe's withdrawal, a special meeting of the Board of Guardians was called to consider a communication that the Board had received from the Lords of the Council. The letter had come in reply to their appeal for expert advice in the matter of the town's sanitation. Lawyer Crump was the recipient of this letter and as clerk he had to lay it before the Board.

The Lords of the Council desired to inform the Navestock Board of Guardians that they—the Lords—had consulted Dr. Percival, the expert whom they had sent some months ago to report on the state of the town. Dr. Percival had stated that the Navestock Guardians had the very man they needed living in their midst. They ventured to suggest to the Navestock Guardians that they should elect Dr. John Wolfe as their medical officer and be guided by the expert knowledge that he possessed.

Crump's eyes twinkled. "Excuse me, sir, but I have another letter to read to the Board. I regret to say that bad health has compelled Dr. Threadgold to resign."

Crump read Dr. Threadgold's letter. The resignation was accepted. Then came the critical pause. Robert Flemming caught the prompting gleam in Crump's eyes.

"Well, gentlemen, it seems to me that our only logical and sensible step is to elect Mr. Wolfe as our medical officer. Speaking personally, I don't think we could make a better choice."

Robert Flemming saw the sun setting over Tarling Moor as he crossed the paddock to Moor Farm. Robert Flemming found himself holding out a hand to Mary Mascall. Her face looked pale, and set with the stiffness of painted endurance.

"My girl is not so well again." "I am sorry."

"You want to see Mr. Wolfe?" "Yes."

Robert Flemming had all the aristocrat's graciousness towards women. Instinctively he had lowered his voice.

"It is very necessary that I should see Dr. Wolfe, if he can be called without disturbing your daughter."

"She is asleep just now. But I doubt if John will leave her."

Boy, Girl Scouts Combine to Produce Junior High Play

Boy and Girl Scouts are combining this week for the second production by the University junior high school of "The Windmills of Holland," an operetta, at 7:45 p.m. Saturday.

Proceeds from the showing will go toward the operation of the Iowa City Girl Scout-Boy Scout camp this summer. The play will be presented in the auditorium at the university school under the direction of Anne Pierce, head of the music department at University elementary school.

Money derived from the sale of tickets will probably be used for the purchase of steel cots for use at the camp, according to Ruth Friedrichs, Girl Scout executive.

The operetta was presented about two weeks ago by the junior high school.

Repeat of the five day marriage law seems to have had little or no effect on the volume of marriage licenses issued in Johnson county. Only one has been issued since the repeal went into effect.

Bond Prices Drop Lower

Railroad Liens Suffer 1 to 2 Points to Lead Losses

NEW YORK, April 3 (AP)—The bond market was unable to work up any enthusiasm today and prices again drifted listlessly to moderately lower levels.

Cautious traders and investors held to their side line positions and dullness was the rule throughout. Sales totaled only $8,966,000 par value and the average for 60 domestic corporate loans sagged three tenths of a point.

Federal securities declined two-thirty-seconds to eighteen-thirty-seconds of a point. With the exception of the low yield treasuries, though, trading in this section was rather inactive.

Railroad liens despite a number of moderate rallies, were the heaviest of the corporate categories. Losses of 1 to 2 or more points were suffered by some loans of Santa Fe, Chesapeake corporation, St. Paul, Chicago and Northwestern, Kansas City, Ft. Scott and Memphis, Great Northern, Illinois Central, Southern Pacific, Texas and Pacific and Union Pacific.

Losses and gains were about even among the utilities and industrials. The foreign department was irregular. German government obligations reacted 1 1/2 to 2 points but some German corporate bonds recovered 1 to around 3 points.

A permit was issued to J. L. Cannon for the erection of a filling station by the Nash and Cannon Oil company. The station will be located on Riverside drive, south of the Midway inn. Charles Demery will operate the station.

Other permits were issued to Robert Adams for remodeling a residence, estimated at a cost of $1,000; and to Charles M. Holubek, for apartment remodeling, value at $650.

Gaffney Asks Cooperation Between City, University

Asks Remembrance of Obligations Due From Both

Lashing at the heart of the recent threatened disruption between town and gown in Iowa City James P. Gaffney, judge of the district court, spoke before members of the Chamber of Commerce at their regular luncheon in the American Legion building yesterday.

Charging both sides to remember the obligations placed upon them, the speaker, just this week ending his first term as district judge, struck at those who would encourage the friction between university and city.

"It is shameful to read in the press of the city the things we have during the last few days," he told the chamber. Gentlemen, don't be children, be men! If there is friction, it must be wiped out."

"Stop the horseplay," he said, raising his fist to his hearers, "let the Junior and Senior Chambers of Commerce and the university get together for the boosting of both. Let them remember that the welfare of one is the welfare of the other."

He exhorted the city and the university to remember that they are entities, both of which "must respect the rights and privileges of the other. It is for both," he said, "to give undying and never-flagging co-operation to the work of forwarding the welfare of each in the great stream of progress.

Help Each Other "Don't let any business man think that the university has not helped to put him where he is," he said, "nor think that the university will deny that business has helped."

"In the court I have met the keen, sparkling mentality of university men. Outside the court I have met the genial personalities of those men who give unceasingly to humanity in the hard, sweating, soul-giving work of imparting knowledge to others."

He expressed appreciation of a report given earlier by Vern Smith in which it was felt that both sides have gone half-way to aid in clearing up the existing bad feeling. "Nothing could be more encouraging now," he said.

Expresses Appreciation Judge Gaffney expressed his appreciation of the reception accorded him in Iowa City during his term here as district judge. He praised the work of the bar association in its effort to curtail expenses in the court, and thanked them for the things they have done to make his work pleasant.

City institutions came in for praise from the speaker. "You have reason to be proud of your schools," he said. Banking facilities, civic clubs, hotels, restaurants, mercantile establishments, and industries were praised as among the best in the state.

Iowa City Merchants Look to Spring Opening Festival

Annual Affair Begins Tomorrow Night at Sundown

In view of the success of last fall's opening event, the Iowa City Merchants bureau is planning confidently for tomorrow night's annual spring opening festival.

If the weather is fair, the event will begin at sundown with the sounding of "taps" by buglers stationed in several parts of the city. Perry Rowland, chairman of the Merchants bureau committee in charge of the affair, said last night that unless the weather is promising, the opening will be postponed until Thursday.

The festivities will begin at 7 p.m. with a parade which will start at the post office building and wind its way through the business district. Mr. Rowland said plans are under way to have the University of Iowa beauties ride in the parade in automobiles entered by local dealers.

Bury "Old Man Depression" The feature of the opening will be the burial of "Old Man Depression" by a group of professional and semi-professional undertakers. They are Earl Snyder, John Piper, Waldo Geiger, and M. J. McGovern. The burial will be held on Washington street between Dubuque and Clinton streets.

All merchants carrying style merchandise plan to be open until 10 p.m. Windows and stores will be specially decorated for the affair, featuring new spring merchandise, Mr. Rowland said.

Invited to Participate All merchants will be invited to participate in a window shopping contest, for which a series of cash prizes will be offered. Merchants taking part in the opening will place in their windows certain articles not ordinarily carried in their stores. Contestants for the prizes will make a note of the number of articles of this kind and the names of the stores in which they find them. Those noting the largest number will receive the prizes.

Mr. Rowland urged all merchants who wish to participate to advise S. B. Osborn of the names of the foreign merchandise which he intends to display before noon today. Members of the committee in addition to Mr. Rowland and those conducting the burial are J. J. McNamara, J. H. Steinmetz, Floyd Jackson, Mr. Osborn, Perry Oakes, Mrs. Frank Selbach, and Harry Bremer.

Summer Welles of Maryland, to be assistant secretary of state. Claude G. Bowers of New York, to be ambassador to Spain. Joseph W. Woodrugh of Nebraska, to be judge of the eighth circuit court of appeals. Harry M. Durning of New York, to be collector of the port of New York.

First Degree Murder Charge Filed Against Confessed Iowa Killer

COUNCIL BLUFFS, April 3 (AP)—First degree murder charges have been brought against George Matheson, 52, confessed slayer of Charles Harris, who was arrested last night at the home of a Missouri river fisherman near Missouri Valley, authorities said today.

The Pottawattamie county grand jury returned the murder indictment last January, soon after Matheson had fatally wounded Harris, a farm laborer, at the home of Harris' sister.

Witnesses told police that Matheson shot Harris while the latter was defending his sister, Mrs. Grace Robinson, 23. Mrs. Robinson formerly was Matheson's housekeeper. Matheson claimed today that he shot in self defense.

The trial will be held during the August term.

Iowans Keep Close Watch Over Floods

Waters Force Firms in Cedar Rapids to Close

DES MOINES, April 3 (AP)—Flood waters in Iowa rivers swept southward today while vigilant authorities kept watch against serious overflows at various points.

Rising water from the Cedar river forced the closing of the plants of the Quaker Oats company and Penick and Ford at Cedar Rapids. The basements of the Quaker Oats plant were flooded and the waters covered the yards and basement of the Penick & Ford works.

Strengthen Dikes With the river still rising during the afternoon, Cedar Rapids city employees were kept busy strengthening dikes along the banks. In some places the water was above the level of protected streets and yards.

Five families in the extreme southern section of Cedar Rapids moved out today and others moved their furniture to second floor rooms. The river was 14 feet above normal.

Meanwhile, the danger seemed to have passed at Waterloo and points further north along the Cedar. At Waterloo the river was dropping from the high point reached Sunday. The Western league baseball park at Des Moines was covered by the overflow from the nearby Des Moines river. Traffic across the Euclid avenue bridge, in the north part of the city, was halted by several feet of water which covered the road at one place.

Covered With Water Sixth avenue, the main north and south artery through the center of Des Moines, was covered with water near the baseball park entrance. Birdland park, in the same vicinity, was under water.

The Des Moines and Central Iowa railroad was forced to abandon some of its tracks along the Des Moines river and the line's trains to Calfax were rerouted.

The Raccoon river showed a rise of 1.4 feet at Van Meter, reaching a stage of 9.1 feet.

Minnesota May Send Delegate to Chicago

ST. PAUL, April 3 (AP)—Gov. Floyd B. Olson today said Minnesota probably would be represented at the Chicago milk conference called for April 6-7 by Gov. A. G. Schmedeman of Wisconsin.

He said other business would prevent him from going. Governor Schmedeman invited governors of Minnesota, Michigan, Illinois, Indiana and Iowa to discuss the milk price situation and related topics.

Beer at White House, If -----, Says Mrs. Roosevelt

Issues First Statement of Possible Official Concern

WASHINGTON, April 3 (AP)—There will be beer at the White House for anyone who wants it, if and when use of the brew becomes legal in government buildings.

The authority for that assertion is Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt herself, who in the role of mistress of the presidential mansion, today issued a formal statement to that effect. She herself will not drink it, she said, and nobody else will get any at the White House unless the District of Columbia beer regulation bill makes it permissible.

Take Action Beer and senate conferees on the beer bill took action during the day which pointed toward the time in the near future when serving the brew at the White House—or any place else in the district—would be lawful.

The senate had a provision in the bill it passed prohibiting the sale of beer in public buildings. The house didn't like that.

Out of the discussion between the conferees came a compromise which would allow the District of Columbia commissioners the power to permit the sale of beer and wine in buildings located in the district.

Stricken from Measure The prohibition against sale of the beverages in public buildings outside the district, including army and navy posts, was stricken from the measure entirely.

There was a question, however, whether the compromise came in time for the district government to set up its licensing system by April 7, when beer, nationally speaking, will be legal.

Mrs. Roosevelt's statement today was in continuance of the practice she established at the beginning of her regime of having conferences with newspaper women each Monday.

First Signed Statement It was the first time, however, that she has issued a signed statement and the first time in the White House that she has made a pronouncement on a matter of possible official concern.

In the statement she made a plea for temperance, expressing hope that the legalizing of beer would do away with beer bootlegging and would satisfy many "who have used stronger things."

"No matter what the legislation," she said, "I myself do not drink anything with alcoholic content but that is purely an individual thing. I should not dream of imposing my own convictions on other people as long as they live up to the law of our land."

Brief The statement was brief. It started out by saying: "When it is legal to serve beer in any government house it will naturally be proper to do so for anyone who desires it at the White House."

Then followed her remarks on temperance: "I hope very much that any change in legislation may tend to improve the present condition and lead to greater temperance."

"There has been a great deal of bootlegging in beer and once it is legal, this will be impossible and I hope that a great many people who have used stronger things will be content with legal beer so that the cause of temperance will be served."
