Woodin, Davis Scored During Morgan Probe

Senator Asks Spokesman's Recall to U.S.

Says Usefulness of Secretary Has Ended

WASHINGTON, May 25 (AP)—A demand that Norman H. Davis be recalled as America's spokesman at Geneva and a declaration that the usefulness of Secretary Woodin "has ended" came in the senate today from Robinson (R. Ind.) as a direct reverberation from the Morgan inquiry.

To a sharp challenge of the authority of President Roosevelt and of Davis to propose a consultative peace pact in Europe, Robinson added references to the banking committee's disclosure that Davis borrowed from the Morgan house and that, with Woodin, he was on its "favored" customers list.

Senator Tydings (D. Md.) who promptly answered the Indianan's outburst, contended that "going to Europe in 1933 is more calculated in my opinion to keep us out of war" than to get this nation into conflict and continued:

"I think that Mr. Davis, whether he made or did not make a loan from J. P. Morgan and Co., has shown a stature of statesmanship for which this world is hungry."

"The man who attacks an ambassador abroad when that ambassador is accomplishing signal success in attacking humanity. He is sowing the seed of international hate and ill will on which wars thrive."

Senator Davis abroad to negotiate a disarmament treaty and he has been the most efficient representative of any government on the face of the earth."

Davis, in a statement issued yesterday at Geneva, said that he had borrowed $50,000 from the Morgan company several years ago and was paying it back. Testimony before the committee today by George Whitney, one of the Morgan partners, disclosed that he had raised the loan to $75,000 at one time but now had reduced it to $10,000.

Robinson, in the first reference on the senate floor to the Morgan inquiry, wanted to know if Davis was representing the Morgan house in Europe, called him a "mythical ambassador" never confirmed by the senate and added:

"He should be brought back from Europe because the American people have lost confidence in him. He should be recalled."

New Evidence Brought Out in Mitchell Trial

NEW YORK, May 25 (AP)—The government presented new evidence today to bolster its charge that Charles E. Mitchell faked a sale of 4,500 shares of stock to W. D. Thornton in 1930 to write a net income of $624,637 down to a loss and evade paying a $129,719 income tax.

Like the conveying of certain securities to his wife the year before, this transaction was accomplished by letters. Prosecutor Medalle brought out that the letter in the 1930 deal was prepared in Mitchell's office and sent to Thornton to be copied on his stationery and signed by him.

The letter was dated Dec. 26, 1930, and was addressed to J. P. Morgan and Co., which was holding the 4,500 shares of Anaconda Copper stock as collateral for a loan to Mitchell. It authorized the Morgan firm to transfer the securities to Thornton, president of the Greene Cananea Copper company, who also had made a loan there.

Bankers Discuss "New Deal" DES MOINES (AP)—Central and southeastern Iowa bankers met today to discuss the "new deal" in banking. Fred J. Pirge, president of the Iowa Bankers association, and L. A. Andrew, superintendent of the state banking department, were among the speakers.

Governor Herring Sees Improvement in Iowa's Status

DAVENPORT, May 25 (AP)—An improvement in the economic situation within the state is seen by Gov. Clyde L. Herring, here to attend an annual outing of the seven twenty club.

The governor, in a talk with newspapermen, saw hope for the farmers if the present price trend continues.

"Farmers, bankers and industrialists throughout the state are very much encouraged over the present trend," the governor said. "The banking situation is improving daily, and I feel that the betterment will continue."

United States Prepares for Economic Tilt

Will Take Independent Course If World Parley Fails

WASHINGTON, May 25 (AP)—The United States government was said in official quarters tonight to be arming itself for economic war if international efforts at the world economic conference should fail to achieve lowered trade barriers.

At the same time, officials expressed some concern lest strong nationalistic feelings in various parts of the world should lessen the prospects of success not only at London but in the arms reduction conference at Geneva.

Open pessimism as to the prospect of lowering tariffs and other trade barriers at the London conference opening June 12 has been expressed by Assistant Secretary Moley of the state department, close adviser of President Roosevelt and one of the leading architects of his domestic reconstruction program.

Secretary Hull, a life long advocate of low tariffs, has taken a more optimistic view in general but has told newspapermen it must be determined forthwith whether tariff moderation will be the objective or whether the goal will be finally abandoned and every nation turn back upon a policy of commercial isolation.

Other officials said definitely, though privately, that the United States is putting itself in a position to embark on a policy of comparative commercial independence of the rest of the world and to work out a more self-contained national economy if efforts at international action fail.

Three particular pieces of legislation were pointed to as powerful measures which might be employed in undertaking this far-reaching transformation of the American economic system—the farm relief bill under which import taxes are levied equal to processing taxes on domestically produced goods; the industrial recovery or government-business partnership bill, and the new tariff measure under which it is expected the chief executive would be given authority to raise tariffs as well as lower them.

All have a definite bearing on the

Weather Delays Flight of Plane Around World

NEW YORK, May 25 (AP)—Jimmy Mattern was ready tonight for the signal to start his solo flight around the world but abandoned hope of taking off tomorrow when weather was declared unfavorable.

The San Angelo, Texas, flyer, cleared his plane at the custom house, gave it a final inspection at Floyd Bennett field, where he will take off, and then went to the office of the weather bureau for a final report on conditions over the Atlantic.

Dr. James H. Kimball, meteorologist, said, however, the weather was unfavorable.

When the forecast is good Mattern will head for Harbor Grace, N. F., from which point he will leave land behind him.

IOWA: Showers Friday; Saturday partly cloudy; not much change in temperature.

Attach Name of Coolidge to List of Buyers

Other Personages of Fame Added During Investigation

WASHINGTON, May 25 (AP)—Amid disavowals and demands arising from previous evidence, a new list of famous personages to whom J. P. Morgan and company sold stock at prices below their market quotations brought the name of Calvin Coolidge into the record of the senate banking committee today in its investigation of the activities of the banking house.

From Senator Robinson (R. Ind.), there came a demand for the withdrawal of Norman H. Davis as ambassador at large for America and the assertion that Secretary Woodin had outlived his usefulness.

Davis was disclosed yesterday as having received a loan from the Morgan company and Woodin was on a list of customers to whom stock was sold at a reduced price several years before he became secretary of the treasury. A little earlier, Senator McAdoo (D. Cal.), had disclaimed that he was one of the Morgan preferred customers and said he lost money on his stock transactions.

The introduction of the name of the late former president into the record brought a buzz of excitement in the crowded committee room.

Coolidge bought shares Mr. Coolidge was shown to have purchased 3,000 shares of stock at $32 a unit, in the summer of 1929, after he left the presidency. The stock opened in the fall at a listed price of 40 7/8.

Other celebrities on the list included Secretary Woodin, 1,000 units; Senator McAdoo (D. Cal.), 1,000; Charles A. Lindbergh 500; General John J. Pershing 500; John J. Raskob 2,000; Bernard M. Baruch 4,000; Norman H. Davis 500; and John W. Davis, Morgan counsel, 5,000.

Other major developments in the day's inquiry included: A statement on behalf of the Morgan house that it had participated in marketing $6,024,444,200 of securities since January 1, 1919, without "high pressure salesmanship" and favored legislation to require full publicity on profits from marketing stocks and bonds.

Interpret British Income Tax Law

WASHINGTON, May 25 (AP)—Under an interpretation of the British income tax laws by the commercial intelligence division of the commerce department, losses of capital, generally, cannot be deducted from income tax returns in Great Britain.

The explanation was made that capital losses which are taxable are defined as the loss of money invested as capital. Losses arising from dealing in securities would be defined as trading losses and deductible from income tax returns, the bureau explained.

It was added that capital gains are not subject to taxation but that trading profits are taxable.

The point arose after J. P. Morgan had testified that he had paid income taxes in Great Britain for the last two years but had not paid in this country.

Commerce Commission Orders Investigation of Iowa Freight Rates

WASHINGTON, May 25 (AP)—An investigation of freight rates within Iowa to determine whether undue or unreasonable advantage had been given in intrastate commerce because of the failure of the Iowa railway board to extend an increased rate, has been ordered by the interstate commerce commission.

The investigation, it was explained, will cover any conflict between increased rates permitted by the commission on traffic crossing the state boundary and the refusal of the Iowa board to permit a similar increase within the state.

The interstate commerce commission issued an order permitting a 15 per cent increase to be extended beyond last March 7, while the Iowa board ordered railroads to reduce rates on traffic within the state March 31.

Crowd Mobs Hitler Envoy

Communists, Foes of Nazis Storm Man on Arrival

NEW YORK, May 25 (AP)—A thousand Communists, and anti-Nazis, protesting the arrival of Hans Weidemann, Hitler good will ambassador to the Chicago World's Fair, vented their wrath in a pitched battle with police today after Weidemann slipped unmolested from a Brooklyn pier onto a tugboat.

Thirteen men and red hatted women, battered in the battle, were jailed on charges of assault and disorderly conduct.

Two policemen were taken to a hospital after the fray—one, a sergeant, with severe head lacerations; the other, a patrolman, with a broken wrist and three broken fingers.

Weidemann, accompanied by a German artist, Gotthold Schneider, landed quietly at the battery and went to the German consulate for a conference preparatory to leaving Chicago to supervise the German exhibit at the centennial exposition.

The protest was arranged by the Daily Worker, official organ of the Communist party, and the crowds began gathering at the north German Lloyd pier at 9 a.m.

The Columbus, with the representative of the Nazi government aboard, was delayed more than an hour by fog.

Identify Companion of Robbery Suspect as One-Time Convict

COUNCIL BLUFFS, May 25 (AP)—The companion of Lew Axtell, bandit suspect arrested after a chase yesterday, was identified by officers today as Earl Hamilton, alias Earl Murphy of Winterset, former inmate of the Anamosa reformatory and sought for jumping bond on a Guthrie Center felony charge.

Hamilton was being sought in Des Moines after police found that a wounded man believed to be Hamilton went to Winterset Tuesday and later went to Des Moines. Axtell's companion escaped through the rear window. Blood along his trail indicated he was wounded.

The trail of the men was picked up near here following reports of oil station holdups at Avoca and Harlan Monday.

Small Banks' Life Depends on Fight, Says L. A. Andrew

DES MOINES, May 25 (AP)—The life of the small unit bank depends upon a determined fight by small bankers, L. A. Andrew, superintendent of the state banking department, warned 100 central and southeastern Iowa bankers today.

He declared they must fight to prevent the absorption of the country's banking system into seven or eight chain groups.

The Iowa banking superintendent attacked the eastern correspondent banks for selling securities upon which the smaller institutions took losses.

He cited as one of the main causes of the present banking situation the acceptance of Iowa bankers of the word of eastern bankers in making securities investments.

"I confidently believe," Andrew said, "that Iowa banks lost more money in bond investments from which they thought they could trust than from all their farm paper."

Iowa May Get Larger Grant

Revised Public Works Bill Allows State Extra Million

WASHINGTON, May 25 (AP)—Increases of more than $2,000,000 in the original appropriation to Iowa and Nebraska (or their share in the public works fund for highways was revealed today in the revised public works bill.

Iowa's share was increased from approximately $10,000,000 to nearly $11,000,000 and Nebraska's share was raised from approximately $7,500,000 to approximately $8,700,000. As the bill was first introduced, an allotment was made to the states on the basis of highway apportionments in 1921 and the population ratio, but the bill as reported by the committee makes the entire allotment on the 1921 basis, disregarding the population factor.

The bureau of public roads explains that states will not necessarily get the entire sum, however, since the $400,000,000 in the bill is a maximum figure and may not be fully apportioned. The president is empowered to grant up to that sum, and if all is allotted the above state quotas will be apportioned.

Japanese, Chinese Authorities Effect Temporary Truce

TOKYO, May 26 (AP)—Friday—The foreign office announced today that a preliminary truce, called a "formal promise" was concluded orally Thursday at Hwaiji, about 30 miles north of Peking, by Chinese and Japanese military representatives.

The truce will be maintained, it was stated, if the Chinese cease "all provocations" and hold their troops southwest of a line running from Yenking, 50 miles north of Peking, through Changping, Shunyi, and Paoti to Lutai, 30 miles north of Tientsin. This passes within 15 miles of Peking.

The Japanese armies agree to remain northeast of the line. A formal armistice is to be signed next Monday, it was announced. The place was not named.

WILMINGTON, Del., (AP)—With both friends and opponents of prohibition well organized and conducting active campaigns, Delaware voters are preparing to register their attitude on the eighteenth amendment on Saturday.

Glass Measure Also Severs Security Trade From Banks; Would Speed Up Liquidation

House Adopts Procedure of Work on Bill

Sails Into Debate Over Public Works Plan After Decision

WASHINGTON, May 25 (AP)—By a margin so narrow as to cause leaders to fear for the success of the tax program carried in the public works industry control bill, the house adopted a rule of procedure for work on the measure today and sailed into debate amid cries of "gag" rule and "dictatorship."

The huge Democratic majority shifted away from the leaders to such an extent that the rule of procedure was adopted by a majority of only 19 votes. The ballot showed 213 to 194.

Limits Amendments The rule forbids amendments from any quarter except the ways and means committee but Republican advocates of the sales tax have determined upon a plan to force that issue to a vote tomorrow.

Democratic bolters plan to join a majority of the Republicans to support a motion to be made by Representative Bacharach (R. N. J.), to recommit the bill to the ways and means committee and substitute a manufacturers' sales tax for the $220,000,000 program to finance the $3,300,000,000 public works bond issue. The present program carries income and gasoline tax increases.

Democratic leaders evinced alarm over the situation and hurriedly called the steering committee together behind closed doors and then dispatched Representative Byrns of Tennessee, Democratic leader, to the White House. He called on Louis M. Howe, secretary to the president.

82 Demos Shift Eighty-two Democrats sloughed away from the majority to join 107 Republicans and five Farmer-Laborists in opposition to the 213 Democrats who voted for the rule.

Before the vote was announced by Speaker Rainey, who also voted "aye," Representatives Bailey of Texas, Kelley of Illinois, Musseywhite of Ohio and Maloney and Koppelman, both of Connecticut, Democrats, changed their votes from "no" to "aye."

Two amendments agreed upon by the ways and means committee before the house convened helped administration followers to put over the rule. They are designed to plug a loop hole in the capital gains and loss provisions of the income tax law and to transfer the three per cent electricity tax from the consumer to the producer.

The committee adopted an amend-

Former Iowa Student Fights All Night Gale on Flat Iron Mountain

Marvin Moravec of Cedar Rapids, former student of the University of Iowa and now a student at the University of Colorado, was marooned nearly all Wednesday night on Flat Iron mountain, Colorado, by a gale which, according to an Associated Press report, "nearly tore him from a crevice in which he had sought refuge."

The gale struck suddenly while Moravec and Fergus Pingrey, his companion, were half way up the third peak of the mountain, one of the most difficult to climb in the region.

Clawing their toes and fingers on the rock, the youths crawled inch by inch along the face of a precipice until they came to a crevice barely large enough to admit their bodies. There they clung for hours until the gale subsided, constantly threatened by the gusts of wind that tore at them and several times almost hurled them downward.

After midnight, the wind subsided and the youths crawled down from their high perch and returned to Boulder, where the University of Colorado is located. Their only injuries were scratches and bruises.

HONOLULU (AP)—Frank Murphy, former mayor of Detroit, enroute to his post at Manila as governor general of the Philippines, told a group of 300 unemployed Filipinos here today that the "first problem of government is to deal with the unemployed and every other problem is secondary."

Goes Into Conference With Similar Bill From House

WASHINGTON, May 25 (AP)—A steel flanged banking bill designed to prevent a recurrence of such a financial emergency as rocked the country on March 4 was passed today by the senate with less than four hours of debate.

Revised considerably from the form in which it held the senate in prolonged dispute and filibuster last session, the bill passed without the formality of a record vote.

Glass Led Fight It carries provisions for both emergency and permanent insurance of bank deposits and calls for the severance of banking and investment businesses. Like the bill of the last session, it bore the name of Senator Carter Glass (D. Va.), who led the long fight for the legislation.

The measure will go to a conference committee which will reconcile differences between the senate bill and the one passed by the house Tuesday. The two are similar except for slightly different deposit insurance provisions.

Hope for Signature While the legislation has not been made part of the Roosevelt program, its backers hope the president will sign it.

Senator Long (D. La.), who led the long filibuster against the Glass measure last session, said he favored the new one because it contained "protection for the little bank which the last bill didn't have."

An amendment providing for the insurance of deposits in all banks for one year, beginning July 1, after which time the Glass permanent insurance fund would begin to operate, was put into the bill at the request of Senator Vandenberg (R. Mich.).

No Roll Call It also was approved without a roll call. It provides for the insurance of deposits up to $2,500 in federal reserve member banks and state banks certified by state authorities to be solvent.

The participating banks would be assessed one half of one per cent of their total deposits to set up the fund. They could be assessed an additional sum if necessary after Jan. 1, 1934. During the life of the fund, which

British Envoy Shows Policy

Attitude Threatens to Upset Harmony at Arms Parley

GENEVA, May 25 (AP)—Any hard and fast definition of an aggressor nation would be only a trap for the innocent and a protection for the guilty, the delegate of Great Britain told the disarmament conference today.

This attitude, set forth by Capt. Anthony Eden, British foreign undersecretary, threatened to upset the harmony which has prevailed since the American policy of cooperation was expounded by Norman H. Davis, ambassador at large.

It is necessary to know the background of each case of aggression in order to determine which party is responsible, Captain Eden said.

The definition of an aggressor suggested by President Roosevelt is—any country whose armed forces are found within the territories of another country in violation of treaties.

A more elaborate definition of the aggressor has been approved by the security commission of the conference. It includes a number of criteria which the commission believes would assist in determining what state is the offending party in any international conflict.

Davis Vokes Regret

Mr. Davis today voiced his regret before the arms conference that Japan proposes to remove from the projected treaty any mention of the London and Washington naval accords.

The Japanese delegation opposes reference in the new treaty to the two naval agreements on the ground that such reference would put the stamp of approval on treaties whose terms Japan wishes to modify.

Deputies Get Salaries Cut

Reductions in the salaries of deputy county officers have been made by the Johnson county board of supervisors in accordance with a law passed by the state legislature which became effective May 1.

Under the new law deputies are to receive a salary of not more than 60 per cent of the salary of the principal officers under which they work. Salaries of the county auditor, county treasurer, and clerk of the district court have been reduced $350 a year and that of the county recorder $250 a year.

Application of the 60 per cent basis effected a cut of $390 a year for the deputy auditor, deputy treasurer, and deputy clerk, and a reduction of $450 a year for the deputy recorder.

Members of the board of supervisors have been cut from $5 a day for session and committee work to $4 a day, and township trustees have been cut from $4 to $3. The Iowa City assessor's salary has been reduced from $1,800 to $1,600 a year and assistant from $5 to $4 a day.

The county attorney's salary was raised from $1,700 to $2,000 by the legislative bill, but percentages from fines have been taken away. The sheriff's mileage was reduced from 10 cents to five cents a mile. Salaries of the sheriff, deputy sheriffs, district court judges, and shorthand reporters are unchanged by the new law.

Reciprocal Plan to Take Effect Between Interstate Truckers

DES MOINES, May 25 (AP)—A reciprocal agreement between Iowa and Minnesota for truckers was announced tonight by L. E. Wallace, state superintendent of the motor vehicle department, after a conference with J. P. Arnold, chief highway officer of the Minnesota highway commission.

Trucks classified as common carriers and operating between fixed terminals will be taxed in both states.

Roosevelt Abolishes Indian Commission as Part of Program

WASHINGTON, May 25 (AP)—The board of Indian commissioners, created more than 50 years ago, was ordered abolished today by President Roosevelt as part of his governmental reorganization program.

An executive order ending the board's life was sent to congress. It becomes effective in 60 days unless congress by a two-thirds vote of each house disapproves, or acts to make it effective earlier. Other orders affecting widely scattered branches of the government are to go forward soon.

The board was created to act in an advisory capacity to the Indian bureau. Its members have received

Federal Government Identifies Bonds as Stolen From Kansas

SIoux CITY, May 25 (AP)—The federal government today identified liberty bonds put up as collateral for a loan by Frank Beddow and F. A. Heldridge, on trial for conspiracy to defraud the government by forging bonds, as securities stolen from the Gorham bank, Kan., State bank.

W. T. Foster, president of the Gorham bank, identified the bonds as belonging to John Donovan, now deceased, who had left the securities with the bank for safe keeping.

Beddow, a former convict, and Heldridge, once a national bank examiner, are charged with obtaining a $7,000 loan from J. G. Silber, Sioux City investment banker, after posting the $12,000 worth of bonds as security.

The baseball game in the afternoon will be under the direction of L. J. Brecht, assisted by Waldo Geiger and L. O. Messner. Richard Boyles, Dale Welt, and D. McGowan will have charge of the races.

Horseshoe Pitching

Horseshoe pitching will be under the supervision of Ivan Petty, Walter Long, and Howard Bair. The diamond ball tournament in the morning, which is open to all teams, is in charge of Jack Patton and Leck Merritt.

The man with the largest family at the celebration will receive a $5 prize; it was announced by the grand prize committee. The contest will be open to all rural families.

Pair Draws Jail Terms

Clarence and Henry Knoke of Iowa City were each sentenced to 30 days yesterday in the county jail at Davenport for stealing a windshield wiper off a parked car.

Davenport police said the two men face further prosecution on other charges after they finish their jail terms. They were said to have admitted stealing an outboard motor found in an Oldsmobile coupe which Clarence Knoke claimed, but which the Muscatine police declared was stolen.

Knoke, according to information from Davenport, said he bought the car in Iowa City and has receipts to show payment of $175 to a man who is suspected of having stolen it.

The brothers admitted stealing a sweater, a pair of gloves, and a chambray skin from Davenport stores. The goods were found in Knoke's car. Clarence Knoke said he stole the outboard motor out from a man who hid it in a barn near Iowa City after he stole it. Local police are investigating this angle of the case.

Reports were made by President Edward Bartow, President-elect Harold L. Hands, and Prof. Stephen H. Bush, Professor Bush was speaker at the Des Moines convention.

Rotarians were asked to cooperate with the 14 point program of the local Chamber of Commerce for providing jobs for the unemployed by Dr. W. L. Bywater, chairman of the county emergency relief committee. Luncheon guests at the meeting were: Berry McAlester of Columbia, Mo.; Robert Brooke of West Liberty; J. E. Lannon of Des Moines; Prof. Clarence M. Updegraff of Iowa City; Prof. F. E. Horack of Iowa City; H. W. Collins of Chicago, Ill., and George Holmes of Davenport.

DEPOSIT GUARANTY

Glass Bill Passed by Upper House

The treasury would back with an appropriation of $10,000,000, no participant could pay more than 2 1/2 per cent on insured deposits.

Operative in 1934

The Glass insurance clause, to become operative July 1, 1934, creates a corporation with assets approaching $2,000,000,000 to guard deposits in reserve member banks and to speed up the liquidation of closed institutions.

The first $10,000 of a deposit would be fully guaranteed, all from $10,000 to $50,000 would be insured up to 75 per cent, and all over $50,000 by 50 per cent.

The corporation would be capitalized by subscription of $150,000,000 from the treasury; half the reserves of federal reserve banks; and one-half of one per cent of the deposits in member banks.

Board of Directors

Management would be vested in a board of directors of five, one of whom would be the comptroller of the currency; one a member of the reserve board; and three selected by banks, but not that held by reserve banks.

Dividends would be paid in stock held by the government and member banks but not that held by reserve banks.

Another major provision of the measure, and one which has been opposed by J. P. Morgan in the present banking committee investigation, provides that private banking houses shall not do both a deposit and investment security business, and that, if they continue to accept deposits, they shall subject themselves to federal examination.

Other major provisions would:

Stop payment of interest on demand deposits;

Permit the reserve board to limit interest on time deposits;

Limit to 25 the number of directors a national bank might have; Admit Morris plan and mutual savings banks to the reserve system;

Prevent interlocking directorates between private and commercial banks.

Principal provisions of the bill retained from last session include:

Power for the reserve board to curb the use of reserve credit facilities by suspending credit facilities to any bank misusing them.

Forbid loans by member banks to their executive officers.

Require member banks to divorce security affiliates within one year. This originally was two years but was changed on the floor today.

Permit national banks to engage in statewide branch banking in states which permit their state institutions to do so.

Permit the reserve board to remove from office member bank officials insisting upon practices in violation of law or regarded as "unsafe or unsound."

Approve Postal Clause

Heated debate preceded approval of a section requiring depositors in postal savings institutions to give 60 days' notice before withdrawing deposits on which interest is allowed and barring interest on deposits for less than that time.

When Tydings (D. N.D.), unsuccessfully attempted to modify the section preventing the private banks from doing both an investment and deposit business, Glass said if there is money in the security business "there need be no fear that large investment houses can not be set up in this country to be conducted by experienced bankers rather than by blacksmiths."

world conference inasmuch as one of its principal objectives is the removal of restrictions on trade.

The position of the American government, as expressed by Hull, is that every effort will be made at London to persuade other nations there is no hope for permanent relief if the economic isolation policies of the last few years are retained.

and that the way out is freer trade.

Reiterates Hope

The secretary today reiterated his hope that the tragic depression had convinced the nations that tariff moderation is essential. But, in event of failure, he conceded that the drift might be in the other direction.

The views of Bernard M. Baruch, prominent Democrat and financier, that the new industrial recovery bill would mean higher wages and therefore higher tariffs have received considerable attention in the conferences of the men named as delegates to the London meeting and the new tariff bill soon to be sent to congress has been carefully gone over.

Hull's Views

If the proposals at the London conference are rejected, Hull believes, the policy referred to by Baruch would naturally be pursued further. American officials have watched with some concern the progress of Great Britain in concluding special trade treaties with Argentina, Sweden, Norway, Germany and Denmark in addition to the close commercial relations among the members of her empire fostered by the Ottawa trade agreements.

Nevertheless, it has been made clear that the American delegation will make determined efforts to follow up the temporary tariff truce with permanent steps in the same direction under the leadership of Secretary Hull. He has said he feared the policy of extreme isolation "as the greatest danger to world peace and as more seriously threatening the world with bankruptcy than war itself."

University Women Arrange First Archery Tournament

Will Hold Contests in Four Events Next Tuesday

The first annual all-university archery tournament will be held at 2 p.m. next Tuesday at women's athletic field, under the auspices of the department of physical education for women, it was announced yesterday.

Anyone connected with the university, whether faculty member or student, is eligible to enter the competition. Ribbons will be awarded for both men and women.

Four Events

Four events for the meet have been announced: a Columbia round, a wand shoot, Hawkeye hunt, and a clout shoot.

The Columbia round consists of 24 arrows shot at distances of 30, 40, and 50 yards, a total of 72 shots. This is a standard round shot at all state and national tournaments, and is a round that the physical education girls are accustomed to in their competitions.

Wand Shoot

The wand shoot consists of shooting at a board three inches wide from a distance of 100 yards. This is the type of archery for which Robin Hood was famed. At the university meet, however, the distance will be shortened to 60 yards. Few archers are able to accomplish this difficult feat, and the best tournament record is two hits out of six shots.

The Hawkeye hunt is a novelty feature event, "guaranteed to furnish a lot of amusement and fun," according to Prof. C. J. Lapp, publicity director for the meet.

Clout Shoot

The clout shoot consists of shooting at circles on the ground at a distance of 120 yards. There are five concentric circles, the inner having a radius of five feet, and each circle having a radius increased by five feet.

Entries should be made to Janet Cumming, instructor in physical education, at the women's gymnasium. There will be no entry fees.

Cattle Feeders Plan Visits to Nine Farms in County Wednesday

Nine farms in various parts of the county will be visited by Johnson county cattle feeders in the third annual tour to be held next Wednesday.

The tour will begin at the Iowa City Farm bureau office at 8 a.m. and terminate at the Edwards brothers' farm east of Oxford at 3:30 p.m. Herds on each of the farms will be inspected. Discussion on feeding and management problems will be led by Rex Beresford, Iowa State college extension worker.

A representative of the Chicago Producers Commission firm will accompany the local men to discuss the various grades of cattle on feed, market prices, and the cattle outlook. At noon a picnic dinner will be held on the lawn of the E. R. Hughes home.

The committee in charge of the tour consists of: N. W. Davis, chairman; County Agent S. Lysie Duncan; man; Glenn Burr, Emil Meyer, and tion given in the farm relief law would be made except in the weekly condition statement.

The newly enacted law authorizes the system to purchase the securities up to $3,000,000,000 and hold them for a specified period to aid an expansion by producing easier credit and freeing money to be used for loans to business and industry.

An additional $21,726,000 of gold came into the federal reserve banks during the week, making the total gold reserves amount to $3,499,234,000.

Federal Reserve Buys Securities to Start New Plan

WASHINGTON, May 25 (AP)—Inaugurating the first move in President Roosevelt's expansion plan, the federal reserve system this week purchased $25,000,000 of government securities, bringing to $1,382,000,000 the total of such paper the banks hold in their portfolios. This was $19,000,000 less than the banks held on March 8.

The federal reserve board's weekly statement of the condition of federal reserve banks today showed the purchase authorized earlier in the week had been made. It was said at the board's office, however, that no further announcement of the system's purchases under the permis-

The Morgan Show

THE SENATE committee investigating the affairs of J. P. Morgan and company has almost called the roll of "Who's Who" in checking the list of those favored by Morgan in stock sales. Yesterday the late Calvin Coolidge was revealed as a privileged purchaser of "Standard Brands" stocks.

He was a member of a group which included Secretary of the Treasury Woodin, Ambassador Norman H. Davis, John W. Davis, Gen. John J. Pershing, John Raskob, and a dozen or more equally prominent men. All were allowed by Morgan to buy from 500 to 5,000 shares of various stocks at considerably less than market prices.

Ferdinand Pecora, committee counsel, has also brought to light the startling fact that Morgan paid income tax in England and not in the United States during 1931 and 1932. The banker assured the committee that this was because of a legal difference and that he "had tried to obey the laws of both countries."

The committee and its counsel have apparently marshalled their facts well. Intelligent, informed questions have brought some grudging answers and these startling revelations. Just what practical benefit will be reaped is not plain.

Under the present income tax laws, deductions are permissible for capital losses. It was this provision that freed Morgan from tax payments in 1931 and 1932, he claimed. Now these deductions are limited in a proposed amendment to the industrial recovery-public works taxation bill.

Whether or not there will be any further effect on the statutes or on the Morgans cannot be told until the investigation is completed, and the inter-relationship of the mass of facts established.

Another Riot Fails

PROOF THAT NOT everyone has forgotten the Hitler uprisings in Germany, reports of which have been sparse during the last few weeks, was seen yesterday in the riots in New York over the arrival of the German dictator's envoys to the Chicago world's fair.

A crowd of 1,000, disappointed because the envoys were taken from their liner and transferred to a tug in order to avoid the demonstration, ran riot with bricks and bottles and all but drew gunfire from a police riot squad.

The demonstration, of course, was needless. Granted that the enmity and hatred of many people all over the world persists against the Nazi leader and all others in his party, there can be no gain from rioting over the dissatisfaction.

It is conceivable that a majority of those in the rioting group yesterday were Socialists, judging partly from their uniform red hats and banners. It is conceivable, too, that part of their number consisted of Jews.

Naturally, they feel they have a right to protest against the sort of injustice to which their co-religionists and political brethren have been subjected. But they must have failed to realize that, while they may have been upholding a just cause, they were violating the law.

Demonstrations of that sort are at best only the manifestation of a radical element. They impress no one but the police and act as a retrogressive influence upon the cause itself. There are better ways to protest than to yell one's head off and throw bricks. There is a place for thinking, even in that field.

Still Gangsters?

A NEWSPAPER report of the wounding of two innocent bystanders during a gang gunning yesterday in New York attests to the prevalence of open warfare again after a long quiet spell.

Contrary to hopes and expectations that the police had succeeded in keeping gangsters on the run so that they didn't have time to stop and fire, the practice seems not to have been much disturbed.

But two women were shot at and hit by gang bullets and all the gunners escaped. How they escaped is a mystery, considering this phase of the story:

"The car, spitting gunfire, careened around a corner and crashed into an iron fence. Two men, trailing blood, were seen to tumble from it and limp quickly away."

as it was last, with a scheduled bathing beauty contest, baseball game, carnival, fireworks, and all the other requisites.

Last year's celebration gave the young Junior Chamber a good start in its campaign of civic service. It has followed up that lead until now it may be rated as one of the best.

Particularly noticeable last year was the excellent care taken by the Junior Chamber to provide for safeguards against accidents resulting from the heavy automobile traffic and the various amusement devices at the city park. It is probably needless to mention that the same scrupulous care should again be observed this year.

The Junior Chamber bids fair to set another feather in its cap after July 4. The organization deserves the support of every other civic group in making this year's celebration even more successful than last year's. It is to the credit of all who cooperate to conduct a successful affair.

Bill Murray has called a special session of the Oklahoma legislature. Reporters have quit listening to him but state legislators just have to take it.

When editorial writers quit talking about car loadings and begin to discuss how old a girl ought to be before she goes out with the fellows, we'll know that the depression's over.

From the numerous opinions recently expressed about the forthcoming economic conference in London, one assumes the American delegation can easily find suitable personnel for its committee of experts.

TODAY'S TOPICS

By FRANK JAFFE

The Glass-Steagall banking reform measure awaits only acceptance of a conference report to place into operation the most sweeping bank reform in American financial history. The senate yesterday passed the measure, while the similar bill in the house was passed Tuesday.

The purpose of the bill is to strengthen the banking structure of the country, to establish adequate capital requirements, to provide more effective regulation and supervision, to eliminate dangerous and unsound practices, and to confine banks of deposit to legitimate functions and to separate them from affiliates or other organizations which have brought discredit and loss of public confidence.

The senate measure differs in one respect from the house bill, in the matter of guarantee of bank deposits. According to Representative Steagall, speaking in the house the other day, his bill's provision for bank deposit guaranty would cost about seven-tenths of one per cent of all bank deposits in the country. Said Steagall:

"The argument is urged against insuring bank deposits that it would be a premium on bad banks. . . the records abundantly prove that the system of non-insurance of bank deposits which we have had in vogue has resulted in unsafe banking."

"It is bad enough to have bank failures resulting from crookedness or insolvency; it is absolutely inexcusable that solvent banks should fail because of loss of confidence causing runs on banks. Worst of all, bankers are swept into a state of fear which results in a form of hoarding by banks vastly more serious in consequences than that which comes from hoarding by individuals."

The guaranty feature is one of the most important parts of the bill. There are other provisions of almost equal importance, however, and that will meet with more opposition and criticism.

One of these is the provision restricting holding companies to the condition that if they vote stock held by them in national banks they must themselves submit to examination and make regular reports of their conditions. The Steagall bill holds that within two years of the date of passage all banks must divorce their security affiliates. The Glass bill allows only one year.

There are also provisions restricting the investment in bank premises to the amount of the capital of the bank; a provision for national bank examinations of all affiliates; prohibits an executive from borrowing from his own bank and that if he borrows from another bank he must report the loan to the chairman of the board of his own institution.

The measure will fill a long-felt need in the banking structure of the country—a structure that has been slowly crumbling under the inadequacies of the present system. Lack of supervision, lack of public information about other than depository business of banks, no control over bankers themselves—all these have contributed to the downfall.

Under this new measure there will be little possibility of an occurrence similar to that of last March when every bank in the country was forced to shut its doors in response to an appeal from the federal government. Now the federal government obviates the need of making such a sudden decision by keeping its finger on every bank all the time.

(From A Part of the Institution, by Ruth Suckow)
At first, Adams could not believe in the war. It had seemed like the defeat of the Adams ideals. The whole spirit of Adams was "against conflict." Great things were hoped from the peace ship. The professors sent a petition to the President.

But when the United States became involved, it was seen that Adams had stood for peace when peace was possible, but not for the dread name of pacifism. Now the professors who had signed the petition scrambled for positions with relief commissions, with the Y.M.C.A.

EXAMINATION SCHEDULE

Second Semester, 1932-1933

Wednesday, May 24, 8 a.m., to Thursday, June 1, 4 p.m.
The regular program of class work will be suspended, and the following semester-examination program substituted for it. Classes will meet for examination in the rooms in which they have been regularly meeting (except classes in SPECIAL GROUPS, A, B, C, D, E and F, as shown in the form below; and Speech (2), (3), and (4) as shown at "N.B." below).

The Program Committee directs the attention of both students, and instructors and professors, to the regulation that there is to be no deviation, in the case of any examination, from this schedule, except as authorized by the Committee on Admission and Classification, on the student's written petition, filed in ample time, supported by the recommendation of the department concerned,—to provide relief from an excessive number of examinations within a single day. Deviation for the purpose of getting through earlier will not be permitted.

In the case of conflicts (within the SPECIAL GROUPS, A, B, C, D, E and F) the schedule itself, as presented below, provides a general method of making adjustments.
All classes whose first weekly meetings have occurred as indicated in the rectangles, below, meet for examination during the periods noted at the tops of these three columns, and on the days noted in the rectangles directly opposite at the left of the double, vertical line.

Thu. Jun 1	MONDAY AT 3 (Except those in Special Groups A, B, C, D, E, and F)	TUESDAY AT 4 (Except those in Special Groups A, B, C, D, E, and F)	Special Group F All sections of: Engl. 4, 04. For rooms see Department Bulletin Board.

CONFLICTS: In case of conflicting examinations the student should report to the instructor in charge of the first of the two conflicting subjects as listed (read by columns), within the particular group, who will arrange a special examination. Report to him, or her, not later than regular class hour on May 8 and 9.

The first meeting of the class means the first lecture or recitation period in courses having both lectures and recitations, and laboratory periods; or, in the case of courses involving only laboratory periods, the first clock-hour of the first weekly meeting. For example, chemistry 22 meets for lectures T Th S at 8. The first regular meeting is, consequently, Tuesday at 8,—and the class will meet for examination Thursday, May 25, 2 p.m., according to the tabular form above. Again, physics 126 meets twice each week, T F, for a three-hour laboratory exercise, 1-4. The period for the examination is, therefore, Wednesday, May 31, 2 p.m.

N.B. All sections of freshman speech (2), (3), and (4) will meet on the days and at the periods designated below: (For rooms see departmental bulletin boards.)

1. Wednesday, May 24, 8-10: course (2) AA, CA
2. Thursday, May 25, 2-4: course (2) BA, BB, BC, DA, DB, DC
3. Friday, May 26, 2-4: course (2) IA, IB
4. Saturday, May 27, 2-4: course (2) GA, GB, GC, HA, HB, HC
5. Monday, May 29, 2-4: course (2) LC, LE; course (4) A, B; course 6
6. Wednesday, May 31, 10-12: course (2) KA, KB, KC, LA, LB; course 02, ZA
7. Wednesday, May 31, 2-4: course (2) JA, JB, JC, JD, JE, LD

"ODD" classes,—namely those whose first or only weekly meetings occur on Wednesdays, Thursdays, Fridays, or Saturdays, or which meet "as arranged," will be assigned for examination, as announced to each such class by the instructor in charge of the class, at one or another of the following periods:

1. From 4 to 6 on any day from May 24 to June 1, inclusive.
2. Any one of the examination periods assigned, as indicated above, for the examinations in the SPECIAL GROUPS, A, B, C, D, E, and F, since for such "odd" classes these five examination periods will be found quite available.

In connection with any such announcement it would doubtless be well for the instructor making the announcement to ascertain whether any member of his class is already under appointment for examination in some other class for the proposed period. To be sure, it is possible to have examinations in more than one class at any of these times,—if no student is a member of more than one of these classes.

According to one clause in the formal faculty action providing for a special semester-examination program, "the instructor may use the examination period as he sees fit provided he holds the class for the full period. He may have an oral or a written examination, or both, or neither. He may continue regular work or he may use the time for review, or for any phase of his work which may seem to him desirable at this time."

According to another faculty regulation, which is on record as adopted by the faculty, a student absent from the final examination should be reported "Abs.," unless the instructor recognizes that his work up to this examination has been a failure, in which case the final report should be "F."—even though the student may have been absent from the final examination. No examination should be given, subsequently, to such a student until after the absence has been excused by the Committee on Admission and Classification, as shown by a partially filled special report card, signed by the Secretary of the Committee, as indicating that the absence has been excused and that the student is authorized, subject to the consent and at the convenience of the instructor concerned, to take the final examination.

H. C. DORCAS, Secretary, Program Committee

BEHIND THE SCENES

— IN HOLLYWOOD —

By HARRISON CARROLL

STUDIO GOSSIP FILM SCANDAL SCREEN COMMENT

HOLLYWOOD—Lest you be wondering about Henry Garat, Janet Gaynor's partner in "Adorable," the French star will be returning here in the fall to do a picture called "In Your Arms."

This time he's to appear with Lillian Harvey (remember the two of them in the European film, "Congress Dances").

The idea of the reuniting the team has been in Fox's mind from the start. First, however, it was deemed wise to introduce them in pictures with established Hollywood names. In Garat's case, it was Janet Gaynor and in Miss Harvey's, John Boles. By the time Garat rounds out a UFA contract and reports to Fox, Lillian also will have appeared in Buddy De Sylva's "My Weakness."

The new co-starring vehicle is a rewrite on a French play, "The Lottery Lover." It's to be a musical, and Sam Behrman, one of Fox's ace writers, will get it in shape for the screen.

Your theater will be playing it before Thanksgiving.

Around Hollywood they call United Artists the only studio retaining any atmosphere.

Something of this must have been in Anna Sten's mind the other day when she came to talk to Samuel Goldwyn, just back from Europe and seething with plans.

The actress paused and looked dreamily down the main studio street, deserted, except for a few cars in front of the Pickford and Lloyd bungalows.

She said: "It will be a shame when they start a picture here. It will take all the charm away from the place."

HOLLYWOOD PARADE

Last week's excitement at the John Barrymore household is explained—both Dolores Costello and the baby girl had their tonsils out.

Newest fad here is to have a doll replica made of yourself. A shop in one of the smart hotels does it for $7.50 and has enjoyed plenty of business. George Raft and Mae West sent a couple of the dolls to Charlotte Greenwood in London so they could be raffled off at a benefit for actors' orphans.

Out at the Beverly Wilshire the other evening, Countess Frasso was dancing with Douglas Fairbanks. But don't get excited. Mary Pickford had planned to be with the party. A story conference intervened. . . . Latest camera fan in Hollywood is Joseph Schildkraut. The actor was telling friends about it at the Grand hotel. . . . Scouts in London report that Jerry Horne is taking Gertrude Lawrence around. And Sally Eilers, they say hasn't started to get that rest yet. But then everyone agrees that Lord don has never been so gay.

MORE TID-BITS—

Whatever else happens, Dick Arlen insists the new son will not be a junior. . . . Here's a tip for prettiest girls in Hollywood. Samuel Goldwyn is out to get a new chorus for the Eddie Cantor film. He'll personally hold the first interviews tonight and again tomorrow evening.

U. S. May Force Machado Out To Avert Bloodshed

PRESIDENT MACHADO

SUMNER WELLES

MARIO MENOCAI

ARSENIO ORTIZ

HAVANA—That only prompt, not to say instant, action by the United States government will avert a bloody open revolt against the regime of President Gerardo Machado is the belief of observers who are keeping in close touch with the revolutionary movement here and abroad.

It was definitely expected by the Cuban revolutionary junta, with headquarters in New York, that the arrival of United States Ambassador Sumner Welles in Havana would mark the start of Washington's negotiations for a settlement of the Cuban problem. An underground revolt has been in progress for many months, during which many lives have been lost, mostly of students who opposed President Machado. But an open rebellion had been postponed pending long-awaited action by the United States.

Understanding With U. S.
Now, however, a crisis seems to be nearing rapidly. General Mario Menocal, former president of the troubled island, who led the ill-fated revolt in Oriente Province in 1931, is said to have broken with the rebel junta in New York and is reported to be making plans for direct action against Machado. The junta, according to information from well-informed sources here, had an understanding with official Washington not to make an offensive until the United States had had a chance to induce President Machado to resign. But, apparently, Menocal despairs of ever seeing that come to pass.

However, the possibility of Machado's resignation under pressure from the United States is not as remote as Menocal may suppose. Reports that the president has his yacht all provisioned and ready to sail at a moment's notice lends color to the belief that he plans to resign in favor of a provisional government and flee the country.

Army Disgruntled
Although pressure from the United States may have a great deal to do with Machado striking his colors, there is another factor that may also play a prominent part in a change of government. Disaffection has been growing in the federal army back of the president for some time. Soldiers are behind in their pay from two to four months and many officers and men are reported ready to go over to the rebels. Should this disaffection become widespread, there would be nothing for Machado to do but make a hurried exit. For without the army he would not stand a chance.

Prominent Cubans state that it is only the army and the secret police that have kept Machado in power so long. It is the secret police, under the leadership of Arsenio Ortiz, whom Cubans lay the blame for the reign of terror that has been in progress on the island for many months.

"Mark of Ortiz"
If Machado goes, Ortiz will go with him—that is, if he is lucky. For the police chief is the most hated man on the entire island. Cubans speak in whispers about the "Mark of Ortiz." If you are a stranger, the phrase will puzzle you, until they cautiously explain that whenever a body is found on the outskirts of Havana with a bullet hole in the spine at the base of the skull, the victim is known to have received the personal attention of Chief Ortiz himself.

Wyoming Becomes Fourth to Accept Repeal Amendment

CASPER, Wyo., May 25 (AP)—Wyoming became the fourth state to formally ratify repeal of the eighteenth amendment today.

Sixty-five delegates at a state constitutional convention voted unanimously to ratify the twenty-first, or repealing, amendment.

The issue was actually decided at precinct conventions held earlier this month, when wet delegates were named in the majority to county sessions. The counties in turn selected a complete slate of repeal delegates to the state convention today.

Rhode Island, Michigan and Wisconsin are the other states which have completed ratification. New Jersey and New York have voted for repeal but the conventions have not yet been held. Favorable action by 36 states is required for repeal.

County Agent Complains
LE MARS (AP)—C. H. Thompson, county agent, claimed that the Farm Bureau was receiving unfair treatment in Plymouth county by the board of supervisors because of the influence of the strongly organized county Holiday association. He intimated the Farm Bureau might sue the county for a $2,490 Farm Bureau appropriation refused by the board.

Robinson Announces Plans for All-State Photographic Salon

To heighten interest in the conservation of natural Iowa beauty spots is one of the aims of the all-Iowa photographic salon now being planned for next year, according to Benj. W. Robinson, who will direct the salon.

According to present plans, a special section of the photographic exhibit, which will be open to all photographers within the state, will be devoted to nature scenes snapped in Iowa.

As many students who are now attending the University of Iowa will visit such beauty spots during summer vacation, there are unusual opportunities for them to get photographs that will fare well in competition, Mr. Robinson believes.

University Plans to Hold Commencement Ceremonies Indoors

Warned by the rainiest Iowa spring in many years, University of Iowa officials will not gamble with the weather for the formal Commencement ceremonies.

The affair of June 5 definitely has been scheduled for the field house where it occurred last year. For about 13 of the last 15 years, the degree presentation ceremonies were held on the campus facing Old Capitol.

Some 7,500 persons can be seated in the field house, with the degree candidates located upon the basketball court and members of the audience in chairs at the side and in balcony and bleacher seats.

Ripley Explanations

YESTERDAY'S CARTOON
A Two Car Record—In the 300-mile Labor Day race in Cincinnati, Ohio, in 1916, Art Klein was driving in second place when his gas gave out. By the time the fuel was replenished, he lost nine laps and finished fifth. Suddenly noticing that a fellow driver had fainted as he drove his car into the pits for repairs, Klein swung into the pilot's seat and drove the strange car to seventh position. This is the only record in racing where a driver won two places with two different makes of cars in a single contest.

The Cat in the Bag—This feline, a skillful mouse hunter, was placed in a flour bag, the ends of which were tied, to be transported to a farm, which he was to rid of rodents. He escaped in transit, and returned bag and all to his home. The animated moving bag must have been a queer sight to some lonely wanderer on the road at dark.

Hawkeye Nine Opens Four Game Series at Iowa State Today

Play Twice at Ames With Two at Home

Marks Resumption of Old Rivalry With Cyclone Teams

For the first time since the rupture early in the last decade, the University of Iowa and Iowa State college will engage in a major athletic contest when the Hawks invade Ames today for the first of a four game baseball series. The first two games will be played at State today and tomorrow while the series finale will be played on Iowa field Tuesday and Wednesday.

Both the Cyclones and the Old Gold nines will be meeting on about equal levels since neither can boast a winning season. Neither club has been able to build up a sustained winning streak and as a result face this final series with more losses than wins.

Loss to Peacocks

On paper the Iowa team is doped to win but has been a notoriously tough outfit to dope correctly. After beating Upper Iowa handsily in the first home game of the season, it fell before the Peacocks at Fayette last Tuesday to break a three game winning streak.

With continued work bearing fruit in superlative fielding the Iowa team has run through three straight games without an error and has received good pitching for the most part. The greatest weakness lying in the actions of the men at the plate. Although an average of .271 is fairly good this year for a major league team it is expected that college teams will hit at a higher speed than that. A year ago Iowa was slugging at a .350 clip to lead the Big Ten.

Cyclone Hitters Weak

The Cyclone attack will not be any stronger than the local teams since they have been the victims of some good pitching this year. Weakness in the infield, especially around third base and short, has caused several shifts with outfielders and catchers attempting to bolster up the hole.

Their attack has been strengthened, however, by the return of Shea, last year's leading hitter. With Captain Loufele scheduled for mound duty tomorrow, the Iowans will face a second string pitcher today.

For Iowa, the pitching choice will be between Gene Ford, righthander, and Charley Blackman, lefthander, the ace sophomores of Coach Otto Vogel's team. Blackman will probably get the call today with Ford coming in for his third straight Saturday game.

The rest of the team will line up as it has for the greater part of the season. Capt. Mike Riegert, Joe Laws, and Frank Drager in the outfield; Glen Baker, Ham Schutte, Heinrich, Gordon Benn and Stan Bazant in the infield. If Charley pitches, brother Ken will be behind the bat in the place of Dutch Schmidt.

Varsity Cleaner Nine Nips Elks Club 14-13 With Big Sixth Inning

Varsity Cleaners hit the ball hard and far, yesterday, to come from behind and triumph over the Elks club, 14-13 in an open league diamond ball contest.

Going into their half of the sixth with a five run handicap against them, the Cleaners smacked the offerings of Beals, Elks pitcher, and scored six runs to go into the lead, and take the game by a one run margin.

Metzger was outstanding at bat for the Cleaners, getting three hits and scoring three runs. Velnar was the winning pitcher.

Journalist met journalist, yesterday in the closed league, when The Daily Iowan nine outscored the Press Citizen team to take a 3-1 decision. The game was tightly played, with the Iowan scoring first on a scratch hit and errors in the third. Fisher, Iowan pitcher, tossed good ball and also aided his team's scoring with a long double.

Joe Turnesa in Open Metro Lead After First Round

MAMARONECK, N. Y., May 25 (AP)—Blazing his way over the Winged Foot course in sub-par figures, Joe Turnesa today showed the way to some of the nation's greatest golfers in the first round of the metropolitan golf championship.

The Elmsford, N. Y., professional, whose chief claim to fame is winning runner up honors to Bobby Jones in the 1926 national open tournament the difficult course in 70 strokes, two under perfect figures, to lead by one stroke Olin Dutra, the defending champion, and holder of the P.G.A. title from California.

Eighteen holes will be played tomorrow after which the field will be reduced for the final 36 holes Saturday.

Gardner, Vet Driver, Hurt at Speedway

INDIANAPOLIS, May 25 (AP)—William H. (Speed) Gardner, veteran Pittsburgh driver, suffered a broken left thigh and severe abrasions late today when he was thrown from his car while trying to qualify for the 500 mile race to be run next Tuesday.

Charles Schneider of Trufford, Pa., who was riding with him escaped with only a shaking up. The accident occurred on the turn into the home stretch on the first lap of what was to have been a 10 lap run.

Witnesses said the speedster began to wobble just before it reached the last turn and came into it tall end first. The car crashed into the lower retaining wall and spun around, tossing Gardner onto the track. He slid the width of the brick course and smashed feet first into a wooden guard rail at the outside of the track. Schneider remained in the car as it completed three spins, finally coming to a stop upright a few feet away from the wall.

Big Six

(By the Associated Press)

Johnny Frederick of Brooklyn "busted" his way back into the Big Six yesterday and Al Simmons moved up a notch as a semi-official checkup on the records revealed that one of his hits had been overlooked in previous reckonings.

While most of the other leaders in big league hitting were idle, Frederick made two blows in four times up against Cincinnati and took second place in the National league. His average went up five points while Gabby Hartnett, who didn't hit at all, dropped out of the sextet. Simmons' extra hit gave him a .372 mark and second place in the American league and the Big Six.

The standings:

West. Browns	29 118 19 45 .331

Vines, Allison Lead United States Nearer to Inter-Zone Finals

CHEVY CHASE CLUB, WASHINGTON, May 25 (AP)—With lanky Ellisworth Vines and blond William Allison putting on a show of tennis power whenever it was needed, the United States Davis cup team today virtually assured itself another invasion of Europe by sweeping through the first day's singles with Argentina without the loss of a set.

Vines was seldom extended in running through the game of Adriano Zappa, quick footed Argentine captain, 6-2, 6-3, 6-4. In the opening volleys of the final round of American zone play.

Allison, American captain, encountered stiffer opposition in Hector Cattaruzza, appearing in his first North American Davis cup match, but completed the clean sweep for the day by winning 6-2, 6-4, 6-3.

Homer in 12th Gives Pitcher Third Winner

Athletics Outbit But Count in Pinches for 4-3 Win

PHILADELPHIA, May 25 (AP)—The long distance clouting of a couple of Philadelphia rookies and the pitching of "Iron Man" Mose Grove combined to give the Athletics a 4 to 3 victory over the Detroit Tigers in a 12 inning duel today.

Grove, appearing as a relief flinger in his fifth consecutive game, hurled the last four innings and chalked up his third victory within a week and his sixth of the season. He gave only two hits and pitched his way out of trouble in the tenth when a hit and a couple of walks filled the bases for the Tigers.

The Hit Up

For the first eight innings Detroit looked like a winner in a fast moud battle between George Barnshaw and Vic Sorrell. Then Ed Coleman, the first Athletic batter of the ninth inning, crashed a home run over the right field wall to tie the score at 3-3.

Elon Hogsett replaced Sorrell in the tenth after the starting hurler was lifted for a pinch hitter and he was the victim when Pinky Higgins punted another homer over the right field wall with one out in the twelfth to win the game.

Bishop Homers

Max Bishop also hit for the circuit to give the A's their first run in the opening inning but after that they couldn't score until the seventh when Coleman's single, Jimmie Fox's double and Cochrane's infield out pushed over a run.

Detroit tallied in the second on singles by Marvin Owen and Ray Hayworth, plus a walk, and sent over two runs in the sixth when Rogell, Hayworth and Sorrell nicked Barnshaw for successive singles and Eddie Chiocki made a two base miff of Ervin Fox' fly, letting a second run come in.

Score by innings: R. H. E. Detroit .010 002 000 000—3 12 0 Philadelphia .100 000 101 001—4 8 1 Batteries—Sorrell, Hogsett and Hayworth; Barnshaw, Peterson, Grove and Cochrane.

Crowder Chalks Up Seventh Win

WASHINGTON, May 25 (AP)—The Washington Senators unloaded their heavy offensive weapons today and defeated the St. Louis Browns 7 to 2, behind some sterling pitching by Alvin Crowder.

It was Crowder's seventh victory of the season and, after the Browns had touched him for four hits and two runs in the second, they got only two safeties the remainder of the game.

Bob Boken, rookie infielder, got a triple, a double and a single in four attempts.

Score by innings: R. H. E. St. Louis .020 000 000—2 6 3 Washington .011 110 300—7 14 0 Batteries: Hebert, Gray, Knott and Shea; Crowder and Sewell.

Indians Beat Red Sox, 3-2

BOSTON, May 25 (AP)—The Cleveland Indians, after four straight defeats, today opened their series with the Boston Red Sox with a 3-2 victory.

The visitors registered their winning tally on an error in the fifth. After Cissell drew a pass from "Dusty" Rhodes with one out, Burnett filed out and Cissell scored from base when "Dusty" Cooke muffed Earl Averill's short fly to left field.

Score by innings: Cleveland .101 010 000—3 7 1 Boston .000 000 010—2 7 2 Batteries: Harder, Hildebrand and Spencer; Rhodes and Ferrell.

Pi K. A. Protest Refused; Betas Given Kittenball Title

Eligibility Group Holds Vigorous Session on Protests

A vigorous session with the eligibility committee of inter-fraternity athletics yesterday afternoon rejected the protest of Pi Kappa Alpha and confirmed Beta Theta Pi as the champions of the kittenball league. At the same time a protest of Kappa Sigma was lost and a forfeit awarded Phi Alpha Delta through the ineligibility of a Kappa Sigma player in a game last Tuesday.

The reversed decision assures Phi Alpha Delta the championship of the hard baseball league, having won four straight victories.

Definite action on several protests involving the leadership of the track and field meet held Monday and Tuesday was deferred until after Saturday pending further investigation.

Pi Kappa Alpha advanced to the finals of the Greek tennis singles meet with a victory over Gamma Alpha, and Phi Epsilon Pi took Delta Tau Delta to task to go into the semi-finals in the lower bracket and is now paired with Sigma Phi Epsilon, conquerors of Sigma Chi.

With the cleaning up of the closing events in the year's intramural program within the next few days, the final totals in participation points will be made and the winner of the huge trophy determined soon. There yet remains the points to be added for track and tennis.

It was decided yesterday that the election of officers for the intramural program of next year will be put off until that time, as it is too late to get the group of team managers together this spring.

Favor Californians in I.C.A.A.A. Meet

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 25 (AP)—Although out-numbered almost 20 to 1, California's super track and field stars today appeared strong enough to wrest the intercollegiate A.A.A.A. championship away again from the eastern pack, which has been humbled annually since Yale crashed through in 1924.

This year's two day title meet, which opens tomorrow at the stadium, shapes up as a championship tussle between Stanford and Southern California, with the rest of the field striving for individual titles.

These crack California teams have met in two dual meets this season and divided the victories. Dean Cromwell, the Trojan's veteran coach, already has conceded this year's games to his Palo Alto rivals.

Tom Zachary, 36 year old veteran now with the Braves, is one of the few men to pitch more than 10 games in one season without defeat. In 1929 while a member of the Yankees he won 12 while losing none.

Ed 'Strangler' Lewis Billed Meets Hackenschmidt in Cedar Rapids Arena Tonight

In the feature attraction of the mixed wrestling and boxing show to be held tonight at the Cedar Rapids coliseum, Ed "Strangler" Lewis, four time holder of the world's heavyweight crown, will meet Jack Hackenschmidt, well known to local wrestling fans, in a finish match.

Supporting this match will be Bobby Burns of Minneapolis, and Pat McGill of Boston and Ireland. McGill has the reputation of being one of the roughest wrestlers now in the game. He has met all the prominent heavyweight grapplers and his rough tactics and great strength have made him a most popular figure in the modern wrestling game.

Ernest Quigley, Vet Umpire, Collapses After Electric Shock

CHICAGO, May 25 (AP)—Umpire Ernest C. Quigley of the National league tonight was recovering in the Illinois Masonic hospital from the effects of an electric shock which knocked him unconscious after today's game between the Chicago Cubs and Boston Braves.

While dressing after the game, Quigley backed into an exposed wire. The club physician at first thought Quigley had suffered a stroke.

He was revived quickly, however, and was able to tell what had happened. Dr. George Davis said his condition was not serious but that it probably would not be advisable to work for several days. Quigley was not burned.

Wichita May Lose Baseball Franchise

WICHITA, Kan., May 25 (AP)—Beset by financial troubles and unable to play night games because of an unpaid debt for lighting, G. W. Wilson, manager, said today the Wichita Western league baseball club may be moved to another city unless there is an increase in ticket sales between now and Sunday.

Wilson said afternoon games this season have not drawn sufficient support to pay the guarantees of visiting clubs or salaries of the Wichita players.

Week day attendance has not exceeded 100 persons at each game, Wilson said.

The Wichita Eagle said today the resignation yesterday of Manager Rube Marquard followed a conference with other club officials in which he was asked to accept a salary reduction.

The Pacific Coast league knows no limit, apparently, for Smead Jolley once collected 314 hits in one season, Lazzeri 202 runs and O'Doul 825 times at bat.

Babe Herman has played with 13 different ball clubs since he broke into the game in 1921. Only Vance with 14 different clubs can better this record.

Retires First 17 Men Before Zachary Hits

Classy Fielding Wins for Cubs as Braves Fall, 3 to 0

CHICAGO, May 25 (AP)—Big Pat Malone stopped the Boston Braves with two widely separated singles today, while the Cubs combined three of their seven hits with three errors to win the opening game of the series, 3 to 0.

The husky right-hander retired the first 17 men to face him in order, before Tom Zachary, the veteran southpaw who was his starting opponent on the mound, laced a clean single to left field. From there on until there were two out in the ninth, Malone was not touched. Then Wally Berger singled to left.

He needed a little high class fielding to save a shutout for, after Berger singled, Baxter Jordan slashed a liner to Bill Jurgens who made a great stop. His throw to first, however, was wild but Manager Grimm hauled down a high throw to double Berger.

The Cubs made six of their seven hits off Zachary who retired for a pinch batter in the eighth. The other one was notched off Socks Seibolt. Their first run, and the only necessary one, was made in the opening inning without the aid of a hit. Maranville fumbled Bill Herman's grounder and another error by the veteran infielder on the next play permitted Herman to score from first base. Maranville picked up English's roller and in attempting for a force out at second, threw the ball into left field. Herman scored before Mowry could retrieve the ball.

Score by innings: R. H. E. Boston .000 000 000—0 2 3 Chicago .102 000 000—3 7 1 Batteries—Zachary, Seibolt and Hargrave; Malone and Hartnett.

Derringer Finally Wins Ball Game

CINCINNATI, May 25 (AP)—Paul Derringer registered his first mound victory of the season today as he pitched the Reds to a 4 to 1 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers in the opener of a three game series. The victory sent Cincinnati into fourth place while Brooklyn dropped to seventh.

Derringer allowed seven hits, keeping them scattered except in the fifth when doubles by Chick Outen and Dan Taylor produced the Dodger run. The Reds battered Walter Beck for three runs in three innings before Hollis Thurston relieved him.

Score by innings: R. H. E. Brooklyn .000 010 000—1 4 1 Cincinnati .102 000 100—4 10 0 Batteries: Beck, Thurston and Lopez, Outen; Derringer and Hemsley.

Pope Revives Ancient Rites in Pilgrimage

Visits 'Mother Church' on Ascension Day

ROME, May 25 (AP)—Pope Pius today made a pilgrimage to the basilica of St. John Lateran, the "mother church" of the Roman Catholic world, where he was ordained a priest 54 years ago.

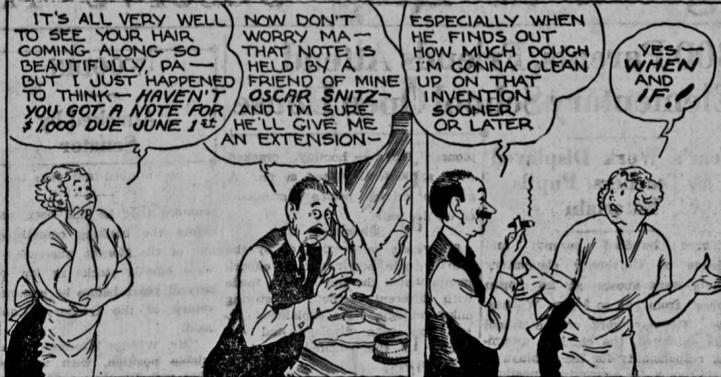

Leaving the Vatican, the aged pontiff blessed a crowd estimated at 200,000 persons and attended mass at the basilica.

The pope thus resumed an Ascension day custom unobserved since 1870 as a result of the voluntary imprisonment of the head of the church.

The papal blessing was pronounced from a balcony of the basilica, where his holiness was greeted by vast throngs massed in the square with cries of "vive il papa!"

Crowds cheer Re-entering his closed automobile

DIXIE DUGAN—Good Logic

At the end of his visit to the "mother church," the pope was driven across the square amid the cheers of the crowd and returned to the Vatican by a circuitous route.

Today's visit to St. John Lateran was the first such pilgrimage on Ascension day by a pope since the visit of Pope Pius IX four months before King Victor Emmanuel II with his troops entered Rome and deprived the popes of temporal power.

Ordinary Pilgrim Pope Pius XI went as an ordinary pilgrim today seeking plenary indulgence remitting punishment of sins.

Other similar visits in observance of holy year are being planned to the basilicas of St. Paul on June 30 and St. Mary Major on Aug. 15.

Passing through the heart of Rome, the papal procession drove under the windows of Signor Mussolini's office in the Piazza Venezia, then turned into New Empire street.

At the church the group was welcomed by cheers of a large crowd which 300 national troops in addition to papal forces kept in order. The pealing of bells greeted his holiness as he descended from his car. Today's visit was the pope's third formal exit from Vatican City since the Lateran treaty with Italy in 1929.

Stock Market Still Moving Sporadically

Day Closes Slightly Lower With Sales of 4,018,660

NEW YORK, May 25 (AP)—Having broken through previous resistance levels, the stock market was unable to hold a second wind today and fluctuated erratically. The closing average of prices was fractionally lower in a turnover of 4,018,660 shares.

Despite the theoretically bullish implications that traders saw in yesterday's push by the rails, the market encountered sporadic realigning. Grains were lower, supposedly because the edge had again been worn off inflation arguments. Second grade flens stood out prominently in a bond market that still tilted upward. Sterling exchange sagged.

The fast moving "wet" shares provided plenty of fireworks. National distillers was up more than 7 points net, while several other favorites in the same group gained 2 to more than 5. Elsewhere, changes were mixed. C. S. Steel, American Telephone, American Can, Consolidated Gas, Montgomery Ward, Union Pacific, Case and Western Union yielded about a point. Santa Fe, Illinois Central and Louisville & Nashville were up as much, while Standard Brands, in the limelight at Washington, gained 1 1/4 net. Allied Chemical, which has not yet composed its squabble with the stock exchange, broke 5 and closed near the low. National Lead was helped by a regular quarterly dividend of $1.25, rising more than one. U. S. Steel preferred slipped 1 1/2.

ern. Bonds of Santa Fe, Union Pacific and Chesapeake & Ohio were inclined to ease.

Some industrial and utility specialties were enthusiastic. Among these were American I. G. Chemical 5 1/2s up 3 points; American Metal 5 1/2s up 2 5/8; Certain-Teed 5 1/2s up 1 3/4; General Steel Castings 5 1/2s up 1 1/4; International Paper 5s up 1 5/8; Postal Telegraph 5s up 1 1/4; Kelly-Springfield 6s up 1 3/4; Pathe Exchange 7s up 4, and Paramount Publix 5 1/2s up 1 3/4. Remington Arms 6s dropped 3 points after their spurt of yesterday. Mead Corp. 6s were off 3, and issues of International Telephone, Consolidated Gas and Warner Bros. eased.

U. S. government securities were unusually inactive with small losses in the majority. Foreign obligations were irregular but improvement was shown by some issues of Uruguay, Great Britain, Sao Paulo, Japan, Germany, Canada and Brazil. French and Belgian bonds were soft.

Auto Registrations Decline DES MOINES (AP)—Auto registrations up to May 1 this year totaled 508,083 as compared with 574,185 for the same period last year, according to Lew Wallace, superintendent of the motor vehicle bureau.

Predicts Iowa Repeal DES MOINES (AP)—A prediction that Iowa would vote for prohibition repeal was made by R. N. Cowin, Waterloo, co-chairman of the Iowa repeal for prosperity committee. He based his forecast on an early survey of counties which he said showed 57 for repeal, 8 against and 34 doubtful.

Inflation Talk Fails to Raise Grain Prices

CHICAGO, May 25 (AP)—Inflation went into eclipse today as far as any immediate influence on the value of grain was concerned.

Prices of all grains ran down hill most of the day and losses were overcome only in part by rallies at the finish. Responsive to at least temporary waning of the effects of inflation talk, many recent buyers switched to the selling side, and gave more heed to bearish weather and crop reports.

Wheat closed unstable, 5-8-1 3/4 under yesterday's finish, corn 5-8-1 1/4 down, oats unchanged to 1 cent off and provisions unchanged to 12 cents decline.

Enlarged rural offerings of corn to arrive both here and at Missouri river points did much to pull corn and oats prices down.

Provisions weakened with grains, despite firmness of hog values. Closing indifferents: Wheat—July 69 1-2-5-8, 72 3-8, September 70 3-4-7-8, 73 5-8-3-4; December 73, 76, Corn—July 45 5-8-3-4, 45 3-4; September 45 3-4-7-8, 47 7-8-48; December 47 5-8-49 5-8.

MARY FAITH by Beatrice Burton. COPYRIGHT, 1931, BY KING FEATURES SYNDICATE, INC.

CHAPTER XLI

"I've got to go back to work, and Mark Nesbit would pay me more than anybody else, Jean," she added. "Kim's left me."

"Again? What was the matter with him this time?" Mary Faith shrugged. "Too many parties and too many pals, I suppose. Don't worry about me, Jean. You know how Kim is. . . . He'll come to his senses after a while, and everything will be all right."

"That's what you always say," Jean remarked tartly. "I don't see how you can go on believing in him, Mary Faith, when he treats you the way he does. . . . Why don't you leave him for good? Why don't you come out to Arizona and make some kind of a new life for yourself?"

"No, I haven't any money to take me and the baby to Arizona. I haven't any money at all, Jean. . . . Look here, will you speak to Mr. Nesbit in the morning? Ask him if he'll consider me for your place, and explain how things are with me? I suppose I ought to have too much pride to go back to work for him, but all I'm thinking of now is the baby. I've got to bring him up decently."

"At noon the next day Jean telephoned her. "I've just told Mr. Nesbit I'm leaving, and I've told him that you'd like to come back," she said. "You know the company never employs married women, don't you?—So I had to explain to him that you're separated from Kim, and he suggested that you drop in to see him on Monday morning."

Mary Faith stood beside the telephone for a long time after she had hung up the receiver. Something that her mother had said to her years and years before came back to her now and seemed to echo through the quiet little rooms of the flat.

"I never really worry about things, Mary Faith," she had said. "The Lord never closes one door without opening another."

Until now Mary Faith had never fully understood what she meant by that. She meant, of course, that there was always a way out of trouble if only you had faith—faith that you would find it.

And, as if to prove her words, here was the way back to Nesbit's opening before her just when every other way in life was closed to her. When Kim had left her, refusing to support her. When her mother-in-law had gone, leaving Mary Faith to face the problem of finding work and caring for the baby at the same time.

"Now it's all settled," she thought as she stood there in the dim little hall beside the telephone. With her salary at Nesbit's she could live as Mrs. Puckett's and hire a nursemaid to look after the baby during the day. It would be hard sledding to do it on thirty-seven dollars a week, but it could be done.

On Monday morning Mary Faith took the baby to Mrs. Puckett's and left him there for two hours while she went downtown to see Mark Nesbit.

There was a tight feeling in her throat as she went up the narrow staircase of the old building. She remembered how many times, years before, she had run eagerly down them to meet Kim waiting for her in the street below, debonair and smiling and good to look at, slouched behind the driving wheel of his little open car. . . . How many noons she had sat at her desk upstairs, embroidering guest towels and tablecloths while she listened to Jean lecture on the evils of long engagements. . . . How lovely life had been then, and how much lovelier it had promised to be!

"Well, it was lovely part of the time," she told herself. "I've been happier at times than some women ever are, no matter how long they live."

She went on up the stairs saying to herself a bit of sentimental poetry that she had read in one of her father's books, a novel called "Aladdin O'Brien": "Give me three breaths of pleasure After three deaths of pain— Her life with Kim had been like that. Long periods of pain when he left her, and then the joy of taking him back and knowing that he was wholly hers for months at a time. She stood at the top of the iron stairs for two or three minutes to get her breath and to screw up her courage.

"Jean Bartlett says that you'll consider giving me back my old position here, Mr. Nesbit," said Mary Faith.

It was going to take all of her courage to open the door of the office and step into it. To face Miss Saxe and Miss Kelly and Mark Nesbit—the people who knew all about her and who would know now that she had come back to them defeated, asking for a job.

The familiar sounds of the place came to her ears as she stood there, like music heard long ago when her life was younger and happier. . . . The clicking of typewriters, the sound of Miss Kelly's voice, the sudden sharp ringing of a telephone.

She turned the handle of the door and stepped inside. Everything seemed to be just about as it always had been. Green-shaded lights above golden-oak desks, shiny cork floor, high narrow windows that looked out toward the west.

Miss Saxe leaned over her typewriter, her fingers flying, her eyes bent on a shorthand pad beside her. . . . Miss Gilday read a book, propped up before her on the switchboard, as she worked. . . . A new office boy, who looked enough like Stanley Odeskalki to be his brother, was getting a drink at the water cooler in the corner. Even the water cooler was the same dark blue one that had always stood in that corner.

The boy turned away from the cooler and saw her. "I'm Mrs. Farrell. I have an appointment with Mr. Nesbit," she said to him, stopping beside Miss Saxe's desk to shake hands with her.

"I'll tell Mr. Nesbit that she's here, Leonard," Miss Kelly sang out to the boy, and she said something into the telephone before she got down from her perch to greet Mary Faith.

"Well, if it isn't grand to see you! And looking so well, too!" The sweet, slightly nauseating smell of peanut brittle rose to Mary Faith's nostrils as she put her arms around her. "I just told Mr. Nesbit that you're here. He says to step right into his room."

She came in slowly and said, "How do you do, Mr. Nesbit?" in a brisk business-like way and sat down beside his desk, like a person preoccupied with grave business. Her whole mind was on that business—the serious business of getting this position he was offering and as much salary as possible along with it. For the moment she forgot that he was the man who had wanted to marry her three years before.

"Jean Bartlett says that you'll consider giving me back my old position here, Mr. Nesbit," she clasped her hands on the edge of the desk and looked at him anxiously. He smiled at her.

"You're not worrying about it, are you?" he asked. "You know you can have it. It's yours. The only questions we have to settle are about your salary and how soon you can start to work."

He leaned back in his chair and studied her with his deep attentive eyes. And under his steady gaze Mary Faith began to feel painfully conscious of a mended place in her white imitation chamois gloves and of her last year's hat that turned down in front when all of the new hats turned back from the face.

"How would it suit you if I started work next Monday?" she asked, taking her hands from the edge of the big flat-topped desk. "There are some things that I have to do this week. You see, I'm breaking up housekeeping and going back to my old boarding house with my baby—and I'll have to find someone who'll look after him days while I'm here—"

"—Would you want to start me off at my old salary?" "I'd thought of thirty-seven dollars a week. That's a cut above your old salary, isn't it?—And next Monday will do." He got up from his desk. The interview was over.

Mary Faith stood up and held out her hand. "That's fine, thirty-seven a week," she murmured. "I hadn't expected a cent more than what I used to earn. Thanks very much, Mr. Nesbit. And good-bye."

He took her hand but without any eagerness. He was all business just as he had been always during the first three or four years she had worked for him. Well, that was it should be. (To Be Continued)

Morgan partner—that he made $889,000 on a single transaction in the stock of Johns-Manville corporation but denied that he profited from inside knowledge as a director of the company.

Explanation by J. P. Morgan, senior partner of the firm, that he paid income taxes in England in 1931 and 1932, when he paid nothing in the United States, because of a difference in the laws.

A statement by McAdoo that, though he made $4,900 on one stock purchase from Morgan, his net on three such purchases was a loss of $2,565, and an assertion that he was not a "preferred client" of the big bank.

Submission of letters from John J. Raskob and others thanking the Morgan house for offering them stock at below market levels and the expression of hope by the former chairman of the Democratic national committee that he might some day reciprocate.

Agreement by the committee to decide tomorrow whether to make public the closely guarded partnership agreement of the house of Morgan and the list of individuals who have deposits of $100,000 or more with the firm.

A suggestion by Ferdinand Pecora, the committee counsel, that the Morgan firm lost a possible profit of $8,623,000 by selling Allegheny Corporation stock to a special list for $20 when its price was many dollars higher.

Whitney retained his usual composure as Pecora leaned across the table and questioned him about the sale to Coolidge.

"At whose suggestion was Calvin Coolidge included?" the committee counsel asked.

"I assume Mr. Thomas Cochran, one of our partners," Whitney replied. "He was a close personal friend of Mr. Coolidge and advised him on his investments after he left the White House."

He gave similar replies to questions about Bernard M. Baruch and Norman H. Davis.

Bond Prices Go Upward

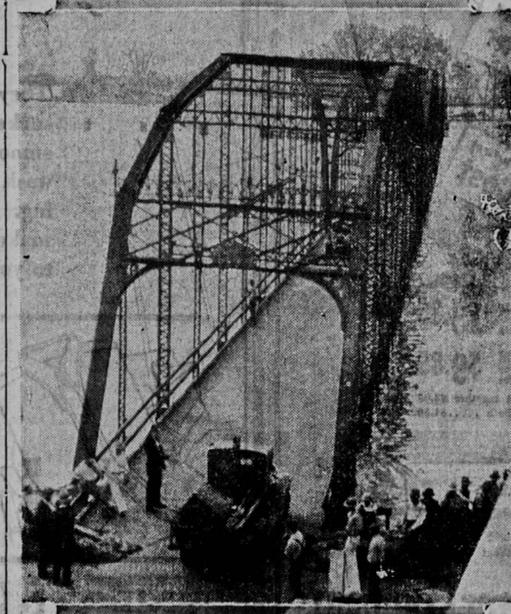

Optimistic Reports Lead Market on Brisk Flourish

NEW YORK, May 25 (AP)—Encouraged by further optimistic freight car loading reports, railway loans led the bond market on another upward flourish today.

Despite considerable profit taking irregularities in the more seasoned groups, the average for 60 domestic corporate issues advanced four tenths of a point to 74 1/2, another new high mark for the year. Sales totaled $15,070,000 par value.

The more active carrier gainers of 1 to around 3 points included some maturities of Baltimore & Ohio, Canadian Pacific, St. Paul, Rock Island, Denver & Rio Grande, Erie, Great Northern, Illinois Central, M. # Herring, O'Connor Take Part in Program as Elks Observe Anniversary

200 Lodge Members From Iowa City, Other Towns, Attend Banquet Last Night

Prominent B. P. O. E.'s Hear Governor's Address

Celebrating their thirty-third anniversary, 200 Iowa City Elks and prominent Iowa members of the lodge gathered around banquet tables last night in the club rooms.

With Governor Clyde L. Herring as guest speaker and Attorney General Edward L. O'Connor as toastmaster a complete program of speeches and toasts was given.

Mayor Breene
Introduced by Mayor Harry D. Breene who praised his work which has "transcended all party lines and political factions" since his inauguration, Governor Herring congratulated the local lodge on its activities and community spirit.

Briefly reviewing state affairs he praised the state legislature for its

Gov. Clyde Herring last night in an interview predicted that Iowa will vote for repeal of the eighteenth amendment June 20. Asserting that legal beer in Iowa has created a favorable attitude toward repeal he pointed out that beer sale has been effectively controlled.

"I believe that the sale of hard liquor can be handled just as effectively," he continued. "Personally I don't care to have whiskey return, but I believe the vote for repeal is the only way we are certain to have beer."

"The supreme court has yet to act on the beer bill and it is likely to reject it. We ourselves have not been sincere in passing beer legislation. We say that beer is not intoxicating and make restrictions as though it were."

cooperation and "unselfish work." "I believe that we are back in the sun where Iowa belongs. Everyone is regaining confidence," he said.

Henry Louis
Henry Louis, charter member of the lodge, briefly reviewed its history and introduced the charter members of the lodge who are still living and active in club affairs. They are: W. H. Bailey, W. F. Bastian, A. T. Calkins, O. H. Carpenter, Eugene F. T. Cherry, George L. Falk, Frank R. Hatch, T. Dell Kelley, Louis Kenyon, Henry Louis, Matt Maher, Max Mayer, M. C. Parsons, G. W. Schmidt, and A. J. Younk.

Other guests at the banquet who gave short talks are: Dr. Charles R. Logan of Keokuk, president of the Iowa association of Elks and president of the Mississippi Valley baseball league; J. Lemley Coon of Cedar Rapids, past president of the Iowa association of Elks; Art Umland of Muscatine, Harry Phillips of Keokuk, Charles Duffy of Ft. Madison, all past grand lodge district deputies;

State Representative
State Representative LeRoy Mercer, State Senator Paul Schmidt, L. D. Ross, state secretary of the Elks; Maurice Cahill of Cedar Rapids, prominent in Legion affairs; District Judges James P. Gaffney and Harold D. Evans; Major William J. O'Connell of Des Moines, manager of the Savery hotel; Ted Martin of Davenport; Vern Nordington of Des Moines, manager of the Hotel Fort Des Moines; and a number of county and city officials.

William Hart, R. Swartzlander, present Exalted Ruler of the lodge, and Attorney-General O'Connor introduced the speakers.

National Organization
The national as well as the local organization of Elks has a history of achievements and progress. In 1867, Charles Vivian formed a little club in New York city and called it the "Jolly Corks." In 1868 the members decided to transform the club into a fraternal organization. The name "Elks" was adopted and the New York Lodge No. 1 was founded based on the present principles of the order, "charity, justice, brotherly love, and fidelity."

When the chapter was procured here in 1900 by Arthur W. Gifford, installation was held with 64 members getting degrees. In the evening a banquet was held at the old Smith Army building. Following the speeches with the Honorable M. J. Wade presiding as toastmaster the first officers were elected; Henry Louis, Exalted Ruler; Orr L. Keith, Esteemed Leading Knight; Eugene Epstein, Esteemed Loyal Knight; George T. Reddick, secretary; S. A. Coldren, Esteemed Lecturing Knight; J. E. Switzer, treasurer, Henry Evers, Tyler; and Max Mayer, Herman A. Strub, and James M. Cash, Trustees.

Active in Improvements
Since its organization the lodge has been active in Iowa City improvements and charities. It has sponsored one troop of Boy Scouts for a number of years and this year is sponsoring another troop for underprivileged boys. It was the first lodge in the country to devise a university scholarship system for deserving students. The system has since been adopted by both the state and national organizations.

When local banks closed in 1931 the Elks loaned $9,000 to students on ment by Representative Vinson (D. Ky.), to prevent the carry over of capital losses to offset net income for tax purposes. This would compel businessmen to absorb all their losses in the current year, instead of carrying them over from year to year.

The amendments resulted from testimony before the senate banking committee in its investigation of J. P. Morgan and company that the senior member of that firm did not pay income taxes during the last two years.

"I offered this amendment in the revenue act of 1932," Vinson said, "but it was eliminated by the senate. I think it will go in now and stay. It will bring in a considerable amount of revenue and will prevent financiers from carrying forward their capital losses to avoid income taxes."

300 Parents, Friends Attend Elementary School Open House

Year's Work Displayed as Teachers, Pupils Entertain

Three hundred parents and friends of University elementary pupils were guests at an "open house" from 1:15 to 3 p.m. Wednesday. Regular work of the school was exhibited, the children assuming responsibility for the displays in their rooms, for answering questions of guests, and for serving tea.

Special projects were displayed in each of seven rooms. In each group progress charts and individual books including samples of each child's work were shown.

Books about the post office, made by each child, and a playhouse built and furnished by the group were shown in the junior primary room. Issues of daily news for the year, dictated by the pupils and recorded by the teacher, with illustrations by some of the pupils, were also displayed.

Studies of the Iowa farm, with charts, from books, and summaries of animals injurious to crops, were exhibited by the first grade. Parents were interested in a display of manuscript writing by the group, and in aprons, bean bags, pillows, and other articles made during the year.

Indian Tepee

An Indian tepee, Indian clothes, and an Indian museum were shown by the second grade. The tepee was made and decorated by the class. A science unit showing how animals protect themselves and care for their young was exhibited.

A pioneer history display was given by the third grade. Pupils demonstrated the process of weaving, and showed a spinning wheel, clothing, utensils which the pioneer used, old books, guns, bullet moulds, and pioneer foods — hominy, cracked corn, apple leather, and so on. A group of original poems was mounted on the wall.

Silkworms

Silkworms were exhibited by the fourth grade, and results of experiments which the pupils have made with different methods of storing silkworm eggs were explained. Cotton and corn displays and sky charts of the constellations were also shown.

Block print souvenirs for the visitors were made by the fifth grade, which displayed specimens of mounted wild flowers, blue prints of various types of evergreens, and charts made in their study of American industries.

A Latin-American display was shown in the sixth grade room. This included drugs and forest products from South America. Plays which have been written by the children were dramatized in a puppet theater. Puppets and theater were also made by the pupils. A dramatization of O'Henry's "Ransom of Red Chief" was the most popular. A collection of Iowa weeds and weed seeds was shown.

Mrs. Paine was a student at the University of Iowa several years ago, and graduated from the University of Minnesota with A.B. and M.A. degrees.

WOODIN

Attacked by Senator

senators that he had been named before the banking committee as one of the Morgan customers who were offered stocks at low prices several years before he became secretary of the treasury, Robinson said:

"Mr. Woodin is occupying an enviable position, with vast powers that call for the confidence of the people behind him. He cannot now command that confidence. His usefulness as secretary of the treasury is ended."

Internal Revenue

He reminded senators "the internal revenue bureau is right in the treasury and the secretary of treasury also directs the collection of income taxes."

"It is a definite shock to the nation that J. P. Morgan is too poor to pay income tax in the United States. But, at the same time, he can find money to pay income tax in England."

The consultative peace treaty proposal, which Robinson covered in a prepared address, Senator Wheeler (D., Mont.), described as a plan "that would unquestionably involve the United States in all the wars that are now brewing throughout the world and those that may come in the future."

"No Authority"

"President Roosevelt has no authority to negotiate any such consultative, war producing agreement," Robinson said.

"I have complete confidence in the good sense of the American people and I am certain that at the earliest opportunity they will definitely and completely repudiate any such plan as that announced from Geneva by Mr. Davis," the Indianan concluded.

Fishing Reports Favorable
DES MOINES—The state fish and game commission promises a big year for anglers. Favorable reports have been received from northwest Iowa, Black Hawk lake in Sac county, Clear Lake, Storm Lake and the Okoboji group, all of which have been stocked with suitable fish.
