Argument in Inquiry Centers Around Reports of Woodin's Possible Future Resignation

Penitentiary Convicts Flee With Warden

Eleven Escape From Prison in Kansas

VINITA, Okla., May 30 (AP)—County Attorney Paul Simms of Craig county, in which Warden Prather of the Kansas state prison was released by escaping convicts, said tonight he was informed one of the convicts was badly wounded and that medical aid was being sought by his comrades.

Word of Washington last night reported from responsible sources that Secretary Woodin of the treasury department will not resign "at any time soon."

This word came despite a report read in senate debate yesterday by Senator Long which said that Lewis Douglas, director of the budget, would succeed Mr. Woodin in the treasury post. James M. Cox, former presidential candidate, had also been prominently mentioned as a possible successor.

His remark stirred up a discussion of possible successor to Woodin in which the name of James M. Cox, former presidential candidate, was mentioned, but in which there was no denial of the belief that Woodin would resign.

Woodin was named on the two lists of special clients of the Morgan firm which have been put before the investigating committee.

To Give Review

Pecora, the committee counsel, was expected to start the inquiry off tomorrow with another such list of clients to whom stock was sold at bargain prices.

Before resuming his job of uncovering the innermost activities of the house of Morgan, however, the aggressive counsel must give a review of his evidence to the investigating committee.

Undisturbed by the committee's decision, Pecora arrived in the capital late today.

Couzens Leaving

He will be without one of his strongest supporters on the committee during most of the remainder of the inquiry, however, as Senator Couzens (R. Mich.), said he was leaving this week for Detroit preparatory to sailing for London as a delegate to the world economic conference.

Long opened the senate debate by reading a report that Douglas would succeed Woodin. He contended the budget director's family was "inextricably interwoven with the Phelps-Dodge corporation," which he contends was a Morgan affiliate.

Defends Douglas

Senator Ashurst (D. Ariz.), quickly came to the defense of Douglas, asserting he was courageous, honest and unsusceptible to influence.

"It would be astonishing news to me if Mr. Douglas had any connection with a Morgan company," Ashurst said. "But even if he were financially interested, Mr. Morgan would be impotent and powerless to influence that young man."

During Ashurst's speech, Senator Norris (R. Neb.), interrupted to point out to published reports that Cox had declined an offer of Morgan stock. "This has been denied by Pecora."

Asks For Cox

"It seems to me," Norris said, "that if the disclosures of this investigation put the man out of office who accepted (the Morgan stock), the president might well put the man in who refused to accept."

Shortly afterwards, Senator Reed (R. Pa.), referred to a demand for investigating the income tax payments by former Secretary Mellon, and told the senate Mellon had long urged revision of the law which permits deduction for capital losses.

Senator McKellar (D. Tenn.), has introduced a resolution asking a report on tax collections from Mellon companies.

Counsel to Set Forth Course Planned in Investigation

WASHINGTON, May 30 (AP)—Amid debate over disclosures it already had made, the senate banking committee arranged today to receive from Ferdinand Pecora an outline of the course he expects to pursue in the resumption tomorrow of the inquiry into J. P. Morgan and company.

The debate in the senate today circled about a possible successor for Secretary Woodin who has been disclosed as having been on a list of those who were sold stock by the Morgan company at reduced prices several years before he took the post as head of the treasury.

Long Protests

Senator Long (D. La.), told the senate selection of Lewis Douglas, director of the budget, to succeed Woodin would be like "going out of the frying pan into the fire."

Word of Washington last night reported from responsible sources that Secretary Woodin of the treasury department will not resign "at any time soon."

This word came despite a report read in senate debate yesterday by Senator Long which said that Lewis Douglas, director of the budget, would succeed Mr. Woodin in the treasury post. James M. Cox, former presidential candidate, had also been prominently mentioned as a possible successor.

Twenty Compete in First S. U. I. Archery Tournament

McMartin, Fastenow, Reilly All Place High in Events

Twenty University of Iowa men and women competed in the first annual all-university archery tournament, under the direction of Prof. Claude J. Lapp, yesterday afternoon on the women's athletic field. The archery affair consisted of four events: Columbia round, wand shoot, clout shoot, and the Hawkeye hunt.

Howard McMartin, M3 of Iowa City, won first place in the Columbia round with a score of 320, Wendell Reilly, A2 of Iowa City, second with a score of 262, and Melvin Fastenow, C3 of Peterson, third with 204. This event consisted of 24 arrows at distances of 30, 40, and 50 yards. The targets used were furnished by the women's physical education department and consisted of five rings, with a valuation of 9 for a "bull's eye" and counting 7, 5, 3, and 1 respectively for the other rings.

In the women's section of the Columbia round, Edith Musgrove, A3 of Iowa City, won first with 147 points. Catherine Wright second with 110.

Mr. Reilly scored the first hit in the wand shoot for men and Miss Wright won in the women's division.

Mr. McMartin won the clout shoot with the high score of 38. The arrows were fired on a prone target, of five rings, at a distance of 120 yards. McMartin also won first place for the best end, the high score on six consecutive shoots.

Mr. Reilly scored the most goals in one end in the men's division, while Miss Musgrove won the women's section.

The last event of the competitions was the Hawkeye hunt, consisting of six arrows fired at a moving target. The target was composed of two silhouettes, one of a rabbit and one of the Iowa hawk. Mr. Fastenow succeeded in "killing" the rabbit and Professor Lapp struck the hawk.

Ribbons were presented to the winners of all events. These awards were given by Union Board.

Plan Gigantic Statue of Lenin

Soviet Palace to Have Figure 55 to 80 Yards High

MOSCOW, May 30 (AP)—A gigantic statue of Lenin, dwarfing all the thousands now dotting Soviet Russia in honor of the leader of the Bolshevik revolution, will be the crowning glory of the much talked of palace of the Soviets, according to the latest plan.

Announcing that a design by E. M. Iofan, Soviet architect, finally has been accepted as the basis for the project after three competitions, the committee of government officials in charge of planning the palace revealed that they intend to surmount the combined office building and large assembly hall with a huge statue of Lenin.

This statue will be from 55 to 80 yards high. The building itself would form a sort of pedestal for it.

Wisconsin Exhibit Furnishes Initial Bear Story at Fair

CHICAGO, May 30 (AP)—From Wisconsin's exhibit in the court of states comes the first "bear" story of the Century of Progress exposition.

Archibald, one of three 10 weeks old cubs, slipped out of his shipping case today and started out to see how mankind was progressing, if any. He didn't get very far.

A. E. Doolittle, bear tender in charge of Archibald, discovered his absence and set out to reason the thing out.

"Now," he asked himself, "if I were a bear I would go—"

Archibald was found resting comfortably in one of the oak trees in the exhibit's reconstructed forest.

Woman Sues Huey P. Long

Says Senator Defamed Character, Caused Arrest

BATON ROUGE, La., May 30 (AP)—Senator Huey P. Long today was named defendant in a $250,000 damage action filed by Mrs. Anne Ector Pleasant, wife of former Gov. Ruffin G. Pleasant, who charged the senator with defaming her character and with illegally causing her arrest in connection with a reputed attempt to eject her from the state capitol here a year ago.

Mrs. Pleasant, who with her husband has played a leading role in the "Long opposition camp" in recent years, charged that Long "without cause" ordered her arrest after he had directed that she be put out of the state house during the 1932 legislative session.

Her suit alleged that the incident occurred June 15, 1932, when she was in the office of Alice Lee Grosjean, state supervisor of public accounts, seeking data on "the practice of nepotism and the questionable use and disposition of taxpayers' money in certain state offices, departments and institutions."

She alleged that the senator had called her before witnesses "a drunken, cursing woman," and had ordered her ejection. At Washington Senator Long denied that Mrs. Pleasant had been ejected from the capitol by him.

"I Don't Believe in Clairvoyants, But—"

DULUTH, Minn., May 30 (AP)—Capt. Otto Fricke of the Duluth coast guard, says he does not believe in clairvoyants, but to satisfy a Superior, Wis., woman his crew will drag Tower Slip Wednesday on the strength of a fortune teller's tip.

Mrs. Anthony Kulus, Superior, told Captain Fricke a clairvoyant had said her husband, missing since May 14, had drowned in Tower Slip.

Kulus, 36, was a jailer at Douglas county jail. He had six children. "I don't believe in fortune tellers, but to satisfy the woman, we will drag the slip," Captain Fricke said.

Jobs for the Jobless

ASIDE FROM THE already urgent need for employment, another incentive to local action was added Monday with the announcement by Dr. W. L. Bywater, chairman of the Johnson county R.F.C. committee, that state emergency funds are now exhausted and that all county committees will close their accounts today.

Since the organization of the committee here Johnson county has received $13,830 from the R.F.C. There has been a balance every month the committee has been in existence. Fuel, food, and clothing have been taken care of for the needy families since Feb. 1.

As is also suggested in the Chamber of Commerce 14 point prosperity program every cent expended by the committee has been made up by work on some county project. Local taxpayers have been saved a total of $12,246.

Now, however, those funds are exhausted and a large percentage of Johnson county needy are still jobless. The burden for them must be assumed in one way or another by the county, or in the case of local people, by the city.

In line with that it is the purpose of the proposed Chamber of Commerce program not only to furnish a means of living for the jobless but to continue along the road to general county improvement. Roads, municipal airport, the city beautiful are only a few of projects contemplated—all of which by their very utility, whether backed by the Chamber of Commerce, city, county, or state, are certain to be carried out in the future.

With those considerations in mind, it takes no very great argument to point out the immediate value of such a program. State road funds will be spent somewhere—just as well in Johnson county. Various improvements are already contemplated throughout the county and city—just as well now when labor and construction costs are lower than they have been in years.

And the jobless need their jobs.

One Point Won

NEW YORK summer students won a point last week when the board of estimate authorized funds for the maintenance of free summer sessions at Brooklyn, Hunter, and City colleges.

The decision was the climax of a controversy that began when summer session appropriations were eliminated from the college budgets last fall by the board of higher education. Its significance reaches farther than the boundaries of New York city.

The most important problem in the world today is education, a fact that has been too often overlooked in the modern jumble.

It would seem to be self evident that if education could be carried through to its ultimate goal there would be an end forever to such senseless affairs as wars and depressions, graft and official deceit, pornographic magazines and gang murders, poverty and unemployment.

This is not meant to be a blanket agreement with all the methods of modern education. Everyone is entitled to his own opinion as to the value of this or that course of study. In fact it has been a healthy thing for the American public to display some interest in consideration of values in the education for which it pays. This is rather a gentle protest against the fundamental fallacy underlying the too common contention that education doesn't pay and should be simplified to the old nine months course modeled on the three R's.

It is almost axiomatic that complete knowledge, tolerance, and a high plane of character on the part of disagreeing men will preclude any chance of a serious controversy. It is as true of nations as of men. The character of a nation is merely a reflection of the composite character of the common people, those who go to the polls and vote. This character is dependent for its quality directly upon the extent to which the forces of education—the home, the church, the school, the movies, the radio, the newspaper—combine to lead the common man in the right direction. The responsibility is inescapable.

Most seriously needed in education today are not the three R's. These can be taught to the gangster; they will aid him in his profession, but he will still be a gangster. What is needed, and badly, is the coordination of all the educational forces in the dissemination of culture in its broadest sense. Knowledge is necessary. Love for work and tolerance in all things are essential if the problems besetting the troubled world are to be finally solved.

The goal cannot possibly be achieved by a wholesale slashing of costs at a time when true education is most urgently needed. Instead the situation calls for redoubled effort with eyes focused far ahead on a possible better day.

Hot Propaganda

(From the Christian Science Monitor)

As porridge is to the Scot and garlic to the Italian, so is paprika to the Magyar. The stirring cadence of her romantic gypsy music has made Hungary beloved, but it is paprika that made her famous. And now goes forth the decree from Budapest that a more or less paprikaless world be apprised of the virtue and aroma of the pungent peppery condiment.

It is possible, albeit improbable, that spots exist in Hungary where the galloping rhythm of the gypsy's fiddle does not nightly lure the Magyar to dance the fantastic csardas, but no traveler may escape the dish which is flavored by the national sweet red pepper. And when not passing his palate it traverses his vision in every marketplace where small heaps of pods and seeds add their scarlet hue to the general scheme of color. Naturally, in a land so rich in poetry and imagination, verse has been written in its praise.

Curiously enough, the paprika of Hungary is less peppery than the product bearing the same name in alien lands where more phlegmatic temperaments find the original article insufficiently caloric. In this respect the Magyar may be said to be more gourmand than gourmet, frankly preferring quantity to quality, for the true Hungarian finds that repeat lost where paprika does not reign.

New boundaries established at Versailles lopped goodly chunks of territory from the land of the Magyars, compelling them to seek wider markets. It is more than passing strange that a World war and its labyrinthine aftermath should start a wave of propaganda to carry the aromatic fruit of trees grown on the plains of Hungary to add a relish to the tables of the nations.

The fact that sharp reductions in armaments and food acreage are being sought simultaneously at the Geneva conferences indicates that those who are seeking to improve world conditions believe that at this time the swords will have to be beaten into something other than plowshares.

TODAY'S TOPICS

By FRANK JAFFE

No one who has thought that perhaps officials of the Chicago World's Fair—Century of Progress to you—were joshing when they prognosticated that their great city would be pulled out of the depression by the time the fair was over need have any fears. Either their forecast will come true or Chicago will be worse off than ever.

Although the fair has about broken even during its first three days—it must attract 100,000 persons per day to cover expenses—there are prospects of real money, not only for the Century of Progress but for every one of Chicago's department stores, theaters, restaurants, souvenir shops, etc.

A single visit to the fair convinces one that no body can afford to miss going. Even though it may take three weeks—a conservative estimate—to see everything, that fact should be no deterrent, nor should anyone be frightened off because lemonade costs a dime or because the fair is three and one-half miles long.

Most interesting of the thousands of exhibits in the hundreds of buildings is that in the medical department which depicts the knowledge of medical science and presents educational material aimed at acquainting hundreds of thousands of fairgoers with the facts of life and what is being done about them. Clustered about these exhibits, hundreds of men, women and children—wide-eyed and unbelieving—gasp at the cross-section of human bodies, at the drawings and explanatory posters. And in a small auditorium where a number of health lectures are given daily, sit several hundred men and women of all ages, interestedly watching a glass robot through which may be seen the human innards, and listening while the robot explains what he's all about.

Next in importance and interest is the electrical building and the hall of science, where most of the advances of the last century are presented in exhibits costing hundreds of thousands of dollars. The marvels of the electrical age are here shown in detail—a bewildering assortment of accessories to daily human life.

Several thousand guards and cashiers, hundreds of ricksha-pullers and wheel-chair wheelers—all trained in the manner of Roxy ushers and versed in the wiles of sightseers' guides—are ever-present throughout the grounds. In every corner, at every intersection and doorway, at every flight of stairs, near every exhibit, these attaches are ready to explain or show the way.

Behind the scenes at Century of Progress headquarters in the Administration building all is hurry and bustle and confusion. Even the office boy doesn't know who works there or what they do, granted that he knows himself what he is supposed to do. A glimpse here makes the orderly conduct of the rest of the fair the more miraculous.

Many of the officials and even public address announcers obtained their jobs through political "pull," admittedly. One of the latter category presented letters from two U. S. senators and the governor to get his position. His chief worry now is getting paid for his work. So far it is the understanding that all employees must accept 10 per cent of their pay in six and one-half per cent Century of Progress bonds.

Nevertheless, anyone who comes within a thousand miles of the fair and doesn't go is doing himself an injustice. It hardly seems possible that so much of the record of human progress can be recorded in one place, in any sort of intelligible manner. But it has been done. Spending 10 hours just seeing one-fifth of all there is to see is an experience I wouldn't have missed for the world.

Book Bits

(From The Ambassadors, by Henry James) "I hope you at any rate," she pursued with a quick change, "appreciate the care I take of Mr. Waymarsh." "Oh, immensely." But Strether was not yet in line. "At all events," he roundly brought out, "the attachment's an innocent one."

EXAMINATION SCHEDULE

Second Semester, 1932-1933

Wednesday, May 24, 8 a.m., to Thursday, June 1, 4 p.m.

The regular program of class work will be suspended, and the following semester-examination program substituted for it. Classes will meet for examination in the rooms in which they have been regularly meeting (except classes in SPECIAL GROUPS, A, B, C, D, E and F, as shown in the form below; and Speech (2), (3), and (4) as shown at "N.B." below.

The Program Committee directs the attention of both students, and instructors and professors, to the regulation that there is to be no deviation, in the case of any examination, from this schedule,—except as authorized by the Committee on Admission and Classification, on the student's written petition, filed in ample time, supported by the recommendation of the department concerned,—to provide relief from an excessive number of examinations within a single day. Deviation for the purpose of getting through earlier will not be permitted.

In the case of conflicts (within the SPECIAL GROUPS, A, B, C, D, E and F) the schedule itself, as presented below, provides a general method of making adjustments.

All classes whose first weekly meetings have occurred as indicated in the rectangles, below, meet for examination during the periods noted at the tops of these three columns, and on the days noted in the rectangles directly opposite at the left of the double, vertical line.

Table with columns: Exam. Period, 8-10 A.M., 10-12 A.M., 2-4 P.M. Rows include dates from Wed. May 24 to Thu. Jun. 1 and exam details for Special Groups A through F.

CONFLICTS: In case of conflicting examinations the student should report to the instructor in charge of the first of the two conflicting subjects as listed (read by columns), within the particular group, who will arrange a special examination. Report to him, or her, not later than regular class hour on May 8 and 9.

The first meeting of the class means the first lecture or recitation period in courses having both lectures and recitations, and laboratory periods; or, in the case of courses involving only laboratory periods, the first clock-hour of the first weekly meeting. For example, chemistry 22 meets for lectures T Th S at 8. The first regular meeting is, consequently, Tuesday at 8,—and the class will meet for examination Thursday, May 25, 2 p.m., according to the tabular form above. Again, physics 126 meets twice each week, T F, for a three-hour laboratory exercise, 1-4. The period for the examination is, therefore, Wednesday, May 31, 2 p.m.

N.B. All sections of freshman speech (2), (3), and (4) will meet on the days and at the periods designated below: (For rooms see departmental bulletin boards.)

- 1. Wednesday, May 24, 8-10: course (2) AA, CA
2. Thursday, May 25, 2-4: course (2) BA, BB, BC, DA, DB, DC
3. Friday, May 26, 2-4: course (2) LA, LB, A, B, C, D, E, and F
4. Saturday, May 27, 2-4: course (2) GA, GB, GC, HA, HB, HC
5. Monday, May 29, 2-4: course (2) LC, LE; course (4) A, B; course 6
6. Wednesday, May 31, 10-12: course (2) KA, KB, KC, LA, LB; course 02, ZA
7. Wednesday, May 31, 2-4: course (2) JA, JB, JC, JD, JE, LD

"ODD" classes,—namely those whose first or only weekly meetings occur on Wednesdays, Thursdays, Fridays, or Saturdays, or which meet "as arranged," will be assigned for examination, as announced to each such class by the instructor in charge of the class, at one or another of the following periods:

- 1. From 4 to 6 on any day from May 24 to June 1, inclusive.
2. Any one of the examination periods assigned, as indicated above, for the examinations in the SPECIAL GROUPS, A, B, C, D, E, and F, since for such "odd" classes these five examination periods will be found quite available.

In connection with any such announcement it would doubtless be well for the instructor making the announcement to ascertain whether any member of his class is already under appointment for examination in some other class for the proposed period. To be sure, it is possible to have examinations in more than one class at any of these times,—if no student is a member of more than one of these classes.

According to one clause in the formal faculty action providing for a special semester-examination program, "the instructor may use the examination period as he sees fit provided he holds the class for the full period. He may have an oral or a written examination, or both, or neither. He may continue regular work or he may use the time for review, or for any phase of his work which may seem to him desirable at this time."

According to another faculty regulation, which is on record as adopted by the faculty, a student absent from the final examination should be reported "Abs.," unless the instructor recognizes that his work up to this examination has been a failure, in which case the final report should be "F."—even though the student may have been absent from the final examination. No examination should be given, subsequently, to such a student until after the absence has been excused by the Committee on Admission and Classification, as shown by a partially filled special report card, signed by the Secretary of the Committee, as indicating that the absence has been excused and that the student is authorized, subject to the consent and at the convenience of the instructor concerned, to take the final examination.

THE BLOOD-DRINKING MASAI. Bravest Natives of Africa—ARMED ONLY WITH A SPEAR AND LEATHER SHIELD A WARRIOR WILL ATTACK AND KILL A LION. KIKUYU FLAPPER WEARS EARRINGS WEIGHING 10 POUNDS. When in the jungle she removes her earrings and ties her ears under her chin.

This cartoon was drawn in Kisumu, a small city in central Africa, on the shore of Lake Victoria. Kisumu is noted for its giant hippopotamuses. Horace, which wanders through the main street every night.

Here I made my first contact with the two famous African tribes—the Kikuyu and the Masai. The Masai are the most warlike people in Africa, and the warriors perform the almost unbelievable feat of attacking and killing lions while armed only with a spear and a rhino hide shield. They have the extreme courage to hold their ground in face of the charging lion, and as he leaps upon them drive their spears through his breast as they fall backward, covering themselves as they fall with the rhino shields.

No African tribe is more fond of jewelry than the Kikuyu. They distend their ear lobes to great lengths with all sorts of bangles—tobacco tins, brass rings and coils of telegraph wire. The Kenya and Uganda Railroad Telegraph Co. lost over forty miles of telegraph wire in one year, due to the Kikuyu flappers' mania for this kind of jewelry. When in the jungle or heavy brush, these dusky maidens remove their earrings and tie their elongated ear lobes under their chins. I saw a Kikuyu maiden today whose ear lobes reached down to her shoulders, heavily weighted with mammoth-sized jewelry.

BEHIND THE SCENES

IN HOLLYWOOD

By HARRISON CARROLL. STUDIO GOSSIP. FILM SCANDAL. SCREEN COMMENT.

HOLLYWOOD — Finding that Clark Gable will be too busy to play in her next picture, Mae West has signified to Paramount that young, handsome Cary Grant will be an admirable substitute.

The matter, then, is settled. Cary goes into the West picture as soon as he finishes "Big Executive."

It will be the second time he has appeared opposite the blonde star of the amplitudinous curves. "She Done Him Wrong" saw him cast as the secret service operative. Now, for the new picture, he'll add a touch of gray to his hair and play a Long Island society man.

Needless to say, the circus queen heroine of the story will have several other admirers. And there'll be plenty of love scenes. Mae will tell you that the censors cramp her here.

As she put it the other day in good-natured annoyance, "They kept me three feet away from the men in 'She Done Him Wrong.'"

It's a swell story they tell of George Kaufman and Bob Sherwood during the writing of the new Cantor picture. Well into the plot, the two got the hero into a predicament in the Roman Coliseum. As if tiring of the whole thing, they suddenly concluded: "The seems to be as far as we should go along these lines. Here we might have a chariot race. But why?"

Then they hopped a boat for Europe.

HOLLYWOOD PARADE Red-headed Charles Bickford was afraid nobody would believe him when he said he wanted to give away his garage and service station. To date almost 3,000 persons have made personal application at the garage and 3,000 more have written or wired the actor.

Despite an exciting trip, Marlene Dietrich found time in Paris to buy Director Rouben Mamoulian a truck watch in a wooden case. He's just received the gift. . . . Helen Costello and her husband, Arturo Del Barrio, spend much time in the late spots these nights. Saw them at the Colony club and afterwards at "The Barn." . . . That was Barbara Barondess with Bill Rankin at the former spot. . . . And a goodly crowd greeted Ray West and his orchestra at the Roosevelt Blossom Room.

He denies it's a separation, but Weldon Heyburn is leaving for New York tomorrow. Greta Nissen remains in Hollywood to act at Fut. . . . Everybody is pleased to hear that George O'Brien's father, former Chief of Police Dan O'Brien of San Francisco, is much improved of his heart ailment. Meanwhile, George is planning another trip as soon as he finishes one more picture. It will take him to Argentina, then to the Orient and back to California.

BY WAY OF REPORT Joan Crawford is helping her sister-in-law's new shop by buying her hats there. She had 16 made in the last few weeks. . . . It's getting slow. Neil Hamilton is going to make a bicycle tour of California this summer. Neil was the original—or very near it—bicycle fan in the film colony. . . . Since Richard Boleslavsky wrote "Way of a Lancer" and "Lancer Down," he has received hundreds of letters from Polish mothers asking if he knows where their sons are buried. . . . DID YOU KNOW? — That Bruce Cabot broke a bank in casino at Monte Carlo.

12 Year Old Boy Gets Newspaper Prize for Spelling Championship

WASHINGTON, May 30 (AP)—Twelve year old Alma Roach, representing the Akron (Ohio) Beacon-Journal, today won the $500 first prize in the national spelling bee organized by the Louisville Courier-Journal to which local champions were sent by newspapers throughout the country.

Second place and $300 went to George Meltzer, 14, of the Jersey Observer, Hoboken, N. J. Virginia Wood, just a year younger than George and representing the Buffalo Evening News, took the $100 third prize.

Virginia went down on "holocaust." George knew that one but missed on "propitiatory." Alma corrected his spelling and then spelled the next word on the list—"torsion"—for first place.

The contest was for students of the eighth grade or under and most of the spellers were from 10 to 14 years.

balance of the 186 prisoners into locked cells and gave out a list of the missing.

Powell, prison storekeeper, said eight convicts quietly drew revolvers and pistols while the Decoration day baseball game was being played, quickly grouped themselves around Prather and placed a wire around his neck and proceeded to commandeer keys to one of the guard posts on the wall.

Obtain Keys

Once the keys were obtained, they went up a stairway to the post which was No. 3, lowered a ladder on the other side and made their dash. The retreat was covered by the warden and hostage guards.

Turning backward as they ran, several of the prisoners fired a volley into the group of watching and helpless guards, wounding John Stewart, a guard, in the arm.

The dash led to the prison garage where Alex Davis, a Negro trusty, was washing a sedan belonging to W. W. Woodson, prison farm superintendent. Virginia Woodson, 15, his daughter, was preparing to drive the car away. Davis, seeing the fleeing prisoners and hearing the shots, grabbed the girl from the wheel and ran away from the car toward the Woodson home. The prisoners fired several shots in their direction.

Convicts Take Car

Wood, whose car was commandeered, reported that he was stopped by a touring car (Ford), that six men evicted him from his own sedan (Willys) and roared away with his wife, daughter and Miss Wears. He said a woman dressed in red and a man in a gray suit remained in the touring car and drove back toward Leavenworth. This report was believed to indicate the fugitives already had separated and were seeking escape in two, or possibly three commandeered cars.

A short time later one car, containing prisoners, broke through a cordon of county and police officers near Eudora, Kan., by holding the prison guards on the running boards as shields. Eudora is east of Lawrence Kan. The car continued west on highway No. 10.

Prisoners Armed

Bert Warren and "Young" Pettijohn, farmers who live near Basehor were forced from their automobile by three convicts 11 miles south of Leavenworth. They said the convicts were armed with two rifles and a revolver.

Powell, the storekeeper, said he was watching the baseball game, when he noticed the athletic director stand up with his hands in the air. A few seconds later he saw the prisoners capture Warden Prather and place the wire around his neck. The prisoners, Powell thought, were about eight in number and already were armed. They marched the warden over to post three and a half and forced Pete Kley, the guard in the tower, to throw down his rifle. They then went to post No. 3 and the guard there was ordered to drop his rifle and keys, which admitted the desperadoes to the stairs which led to the tower.

Underhill

Underhill, the Wichita slayer, shouted "Come on," and the whole group went to the tower, where the ladder was lowered over the wall, and the break was made.

Three prisoners apparently joined the eight who had planned the escape.

The guard at the No. 3 post, Albert Courtney, was reported to have fired a shot into the group. The prisoners, who held the wire around the warden's neck, ordered Prather to tell the guard to stop shooting. Realizing the jeopardy in which the warden was placed, Courtney threw down his rifle.

The ladder used by the prisoners in getting over the way was obtained by the prisoner Harvey Bailey. Bailey has been known as the "golf course" bandit because he was arrested last fall while playing golf in Kansas City with Francis L. Keating and Thomas Holden, who escaped from the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth where they were serving sentences for the $133,000 Evergreen Park, Ill., mail robbery. At his trial Bailey was identified as a participant in the $2,000,000 looting of the Lincoln, Neb., Bank and Trust company.

The house approved a resolution giving the president authority to declare an embargo on munitions to any country after obtaining satisfactory concurrence from other nations. The senate committee Saturday attached an amendment compelling the president, if he declares such an embargo, to make it applicable impartially to all nations involved in the dispute which evoked the declaration.

Senator Couzens was the fifth member of the delegation to be appointed. Others are Secretary Hull, who will be the chief delegate; former Governor James M. Cox of Ohio, Senator Pittman (D. Nev.), and Representative McReynolds (D. Tenn.).

Meyers Enters Field of Double Winners With Speedway Win

Two Killed as Meyer Wins Honor of Being Second to Repeat as Winner of Classic

Victor Sets Record of Better Than 104 M. P. H.

BULLETIN
INDIANAPOLIS, May 30 (AP)—Lester Spangler, 27, of Los Angeles, injured in one of the crashes at today's 500 mile race at the Indianapolis motor speedway, died tonight at the city hospital.

Spangler was a native Hoosier, having been born at Brook, Ind., where his parents still live. He broke into the racing game at the Roby speedway near Chicago but in recent years had raced on the west coast. He took second place in the Pacific coast driving championship last season. He was not married.

SPEEDWAY, INDIANAPOLIS, May 30 (AP)—Death took the wheels of two of the speeding race cars today as Louis Meyer, 29, of Huntington Park, Cal., rode to victory in the 500 mile automobile race, joining Tommy Milton as the only ones ever to win twice.

While the cheers of 100,000 spectators were proclaiming Meyers in triumph, two young men lay dead and two others were seriously injured, victims of two tragic smash-ups. The victims were Mark Billman, 30 year old Indianapolis driver, and G. L. Jordan, 27 year old mechanic of Lafayette, Ind., who succumbed to injuries when the two cars, traveling at terrific speed, crashed over the retaining wall on the treacherous turns of the 2 1/2 mile brick track.

New Record
Meyers rode the 500 miles in 4:48.05, for an average of 104.162 miles an hour, breaking all records. He eclipsed the performance of Freddie Frame of Los Angeles, winner of the 1932 race, who won that event at an average of 104.144 miles per hour. Meyer's performance was regarded as amazing considering the fact that the race was twice slowed down, with the drivers traveling at a snail's pace, while the track was being cleared of wrecked cars.

Billman, fatally injured when his car, traveling at record breaking speed, crashed into the retaining wall on the northeast turn, skidded to the top and hung there, the front wheels remaining on the track and the rear wheels hanging over the wall. With the first terrific impact, the side of the car which Billman was driving, was crushed like a paper box. Billman's left arm was caught and horribly mangled. He was rushed to the emergency hospital where physicians amputated his arm in an attempt to save his life. He died, however, an hour later.

Jordan Killed
Young Jordan, riding as a mechanic for Les Spangler, Los Angeles, died by his injuries when a car driven by Malcolm Fox of Westville, N. J. which had skidded into the middle of the track after losing a wheel on the south turn. Spangler's car, going swiftly, could not be stopped or turned away from the disabled machine. He crashed headlong into it, then shot to the top of the track, with both cars plunging over the wall, falling 20 feet below. Jordan died an hour after the accident.

Spangler remained in a critical condition tonight, with attending physicians holding out no hope that he would survive. Fox was not so seriously injured.

Tragedy stalked into the race soon after it started. First Freddie Frame, the 1932 winner, after leading, was forced out when his car cracked into the wall with Frame and his mechanic luckily escaping injury. Then came the tragic deaths of young Jordan and Billman.

Takes Lead at 300 Mark
Meyer, son of an old bicycle racer, snatched the lead after traveling 300 miles and never relinquished it, although challenged by Wilbur Shaw of Indianapolis, who finished second, seven miles back of the winner. Chet Gardner of Long Beach, Cal., flashed across the finish line in third place with Lou Moore of Los Angeles, fourth. Nineteen of the original starters finished. Meyer coasted to victory in the last 25 miles, reducing his speed to save gasoline and to avoid the danger of an accident.

Meyer, begrimed after his five hour ride, and his mechanic, Lawson Harrison of Indianapolis, were almost crushed in the jam that wheeled their racer into the infield after completing their perilous ride. Meyer did not know of the deaths of Billman and Jordan until the race had been finished.

Meyer intends to quit racing for the year and go back to his home in Huntington Park, Cal., with the $12,000 he won as first prize.

see-saw affair, with Wild Bill Cummings first assuming the lead, then giving way to Frame with Babe Stapp of Los Angeles later assuming command and then Meyer going to the front. A blistering pace was set all the way, starting at the very beginning and maintained until Meyer decided to slow up in the last 25 miles.

At 100 miles Cummings lost the lead and was far back in the field as a result of a long delay at the pits caused by a broken radiator cap. Being of particular design, his pit crew had to manufacture one for the occasion. Frame was setting the pace at the conclusion of the first 100 miles at an average of 112.247 miles an hour. Then Stapp poked the nose of his racer in front, with Meyer second. When the half way mark was reached at 250 miles, Stapp was still leading at an average of 109.429 miles an hour, with Meyers scorching the bricks behind him in second place.

The average speed was stepped up during the next 50 miles to 109.892 miles an hour, with Stapp still leading. However, he quickly lost it to Meyer when he ran out of gasoline on the back stretch to relinquish his advantage, plus several laps.

Accidents Start
With Meyer in command, the accidents started to occur with resulting deaths and withdrawal of other cars due to motor trouble.

With one exception the drivers competing today were the pick of the American racers. Arrayed against them was a lone invader, dashing Raoul Riganti of Argentina, whose car was unable to go with the speed of the American creations. Riganti with Juan Gaudino as relief driver, pulled up fourteenth, the last car allowed to finish. He was about 38 miles back of the triumphant Meyer, but gamely struggling in the first 10 and thus share in the prize money.

Besides bagging $12,000 as first prize money, Meyer earned $1,150 as lap prize money with Stapp getting $1,000, Cummings $500 and Frame $400. Meyer also will receive a major share of the $17,500 in money offered by automobile accessory firms.

Meyer first flashed into racing fame in the Indianapolis race of 1927, driving as a relief driver. Then the next year he swept to a victory, winning the race at an average of 99.482 miles an hour. In 1931 he started but was forced out on the twenty-eighth lap and also was forced to surrender at the end of 50 laps a year ago.

He finished second in 1929 and fourth in 1930.

IOWA BASEBALL

Team Whips Iowa State by 5-1 Score

Meter to end the Iowa State uprising.

Iowa went into the lead in the fifth after two were out. Benn, first man up, singled to center. Schulteheinrich popped out to Van Meter at short. Captain Mike Riegert rapped a roller to second, forcing Benn, but beating out an attempted double play.

He stole second and scored when Ken Blackman's Texas leaguer punch over second base fell safe for two bases when the Cyclone defense couldn't decide who should handle the ball.

Drager drove out his second hit of the day to score Blackman and stole second, but Baker grounded out, short to first, to retire the side.

Captain Riegert started things off again in the seventh when he hammered a single to left after Schulteheinrich had whiffed. Ken Blackman followed with a sharp blow down the third base line, and Drager sent his two mates home as he fattened his batting average again with a smashing triple to center field. Baker's fly, trapped by Grefe in deep center for the second out, allowed Drager to score from third after the catch for the final Hawkeye run. Bazant filed out to left field for the third out.

Blackman appeared to strengthen again after the Cyclones scored their run in the fourth and was never in trouble, no Iowa State runners getting past first base. One hit in the eighth and one in the ninth failing to produce anything.

Outside the huriling of Blackman, a sparkling performance by Schulteheinrich and some fast fielding by Benn were high spots of the Iowa play, the former spearing several hard hit balls that looked like sure hits.

The teams will play the second game of their series today at Iowa field, starting at 4:05 p.m. Who would get the Iowa pitching assignment today for the game, which will wind up athletic activities of the Hawkeyes this spring, was in doubt last night. Gene Ford, husky sophomore right-hand ace, was scheduled to work one of the two games, but he has been in bed with a slight attack of grippe. If sufficiently recovered, he will get the call. Otherwise, Bill Ricker or Frank Stempel will start.

"I take no chances," "I don't care," he shouted, "I slowed down almost to a walk there during the last of the race. I didn't intend to take any chances."

From the start the race was a

Cardinals Win Double Bill; New York Downs Washington

Washington State Claims Brace of 3 Sport Athletes

PULLMAN, Wash. (AP)—In these days of specialized sport performances, "three-sport" athletes are something of a rarity, but Washington State college has two likely prospects for the honor.

Bob Houston, a real giant with his 6 feet, 7 inches and 225 pounds, already has won his football letter as an end. His first love is basketball, but he was held out of play last season to preserve three years of eligibility. He is the leading prospect for the center post next winter. A brilliant baseball pitcher, Houston is figured to be one of the mainstays of the Cougar hurling staff this season.

Although football and shot putting were regarded as George Theodoratos specialties, he added further to his fame by winning the Pacific Coast intercollegiate heavyweight boxing championship. He is certain to win his track letter this spring.

Nelson Paces Clinton to Win Sprint Star Collects 18 Points to Take Honors

DAVENPORT, May 30 (AP)—Paced by Carl Nelson, sprint star, the Clinton high school track team with 77 points won the outdoor championship of the Mississippi Valley conference today.

The Clinton cinder phantom took three firsts and chalked up a total of 18 points for individual honors. For the fifth consecutive time he reeled off the 100 yard dash in 9.7 seconds, one of seven new records.

Sturtz of Clinton, established a new record of 4:39.7 in the mile run, lowering the mark set by Dennis of Grant high, Cedar Rapids, in 1931. The mile relay mark also was bettered with the Davenport quartet registering a time of 3:33.4.

Welles of Dubuque, who set a record of 44 feet 4 1/2 inches in the shot put last year, was dethroned by another Key City athlete, Connolly, who heaved the ball 47 feet 11 inches for a new record.

Brown of Clinton clipped more than a second from the existing 440 yard dash mark, sprinting the distance in 51.6 seconds.

Nelson set the other two new marks in winning the broad jump and furlong.

A mild sensation was presented in the half mile relay when Nelson's best efforts as anchor man could not put Clinton out of the ruck and the quartet from Washington high of Cedar Rapids finished first. The time was 1:32.5, or two seconds under the Clinton team's record at the Drake relays.

Jurges Leads Cubs to Win Over Pirates
PITTSBURGH, May 30 (AP)—Bill Jurges swung the big stick for the Chicago Cubs this afternoon, leading them to a 6 to 2 victory over the Pirates after Pittsburgh downed the visitors 2 to 1 in a morning encounter.

Jurges evened the score at 1 to 1 in the fifth with a homer over the left field fence. This drive, coupled with an error by Traynor, in the seventh, led to the downfall of Heinie Meine. He was touched for five hits and as many runs in that inning—Jurges again starting by driving in two of the counters. Smith relieved Meine in the eighth.

Defeat Reds to Strengthen Hold on 2nd

Carleton Pitches Sixth Victory of Season in 1st Game

ST. LOUIS, May 30 (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals took two close games from Cincinnati here today and climbed to within a half game of the league leading Pittsburgh Pirates who leading a double bill with Chicago. St. Louis won the first game 5 to 4, and the second 3 to 2.

Tex Carleton pitched his sixth victory of the season against one defeat, in the first game. The Cards, facing Paul Derringer, former Cardinal, for the first time since he was traded to Cincinnati, put over four runs in the first inning on a single, three doubles, a walk and two errors.

The Reds' rally in the ninth was cut short with two runs when Dizzy Dean relieved Carleton with two men on base and none out.

A Cincinnati lead stood up in the second encounter until the seventh inning. Then the Cardinals, taking advantage of an error by Morrissey, scored two runs and coasted to victory.

Terry's Homer Helps Dodgers Split Bill

NEW YORK, May 30 (AP)—Arlinghough pitching and home runs enabled the Giants and the Brooklyn Dodgers to divide their holiday bill today. The Giants won the first game 2 to 1 when Byrne James hit the first ball pitched by Van Mungo in the ninth for a home run and the Dodgers took the nightcap on Tony Cuccinello's homer with one on in the sixth.

Cuccinello also hit a homer for the only Brooklyn run in the opener as Hal Schumacher and Dolf Luque held the Dodgers to four hits against five off Mungo. Manager Bill Terry's circuit blow as a pinch hitter in the eighth tied the score and gave the decision to Luque. Each team was limited to four hits in the nightcap, Mel Ott hitting a four bagger for the Giants. Roy Parmelee lost his first game of the season as he bowed to Walter Beck.

Jurges Leads Cubs to Win Over Pirates
PITTSBURGH, May 30 (AP)—Bill Jurges swung the big stick for the Chicago Cubs this afternoon, leading them to a 6 to 2 victory over the Pirates after Pittsburgh downed the visitors 2 to 1 in a morning encounter.

Jurges evened the score at 1 to 1 in the fifth with a homer over the left field fence. This drive, coupled with an error by Traynor, in the seventh, led to the downfall of Heinie Meine. He was touched for five hits and as many runs in that inning—Jurges again starting by driving in two of the counters. Smith relieved Meine in the eighth.

White Sox Player Says Merkle Plays Still Quite Popular

CHICAGO (AP)—They're still having "Merkle" plays in the minors, vouchsafes Paul, Gregory, rising young Chicago White Sox hurler.

At least as recently as two seasons ago, Gregory says, he was in a ball game in which the very play which made Fred Merkle famous was executed.

It was in a game at Nashville, Tenn., with the score tied in the ninth, bases full and two out. The batter singled to right, sending over the winning run, but "Lefty" Davis, who was on first, ran only halfway to second, saw the run score, then Cronin dashed for the clubhouse.

"Blondy" Ryan, Atlanta shortstop now with the Giants, noticed the omission just as did Johnny Evers of the Cubs in that famous 1908 game. He got the ball and tagged Davis.

"Max S." in Best Weight

Schmeling Spars Six Rounds to Prove Not Stale

LAKE SWANNANOVA, N.J., May 30 (AP)—Max Schmeling went back to work today after resting since his one round tussle with Jack Dempsey last Saturday and battered his sparring partners for six rounds.

Fear that the German was going stale for his 15 round bout with Max Baer in the Yankee stadium June 8 was dissipated somewhat when Schmeling weighed in two pounds heavier after his layoff. He scaled 191 pounds today, little above his best fighting weight.

Schmeling boxed cleverly against Tommy De Stefano, Barney Baker, and Lou Barber, his shock absorbers, and whaled them viciously through two rounds with each.

Grove Again Big Aid to A's

BOSTON, May 30 (AP)—Bob "Lefty" Grove twice came to the rescue of wily Philadelphia Athletic pitchers in a double header with the Boston Red Sox today and as a result the A's won 7 to 3, and 11 to 8.

Grove received credit for the victory in the first game only. The nightcap went to 12 innings, and the latter part was played in the rain.

In the opener, Grove relieved "Sugar" Cain in the sixth after one run was across, one out and men on first and third. Pipgras hit into a double play, retiring the side. Grove then held the Red Hose scoreless, allowing two scattered hits.

In the nightcap the A's came from behind twice to tie. In the seventh Coleman's homer knotted the game 5-5 and in the ninth Cramer's four fly clout put the tilt at 6-6.

Earnshaw started for the A's but was relieved by Peterson in the fourth. Grove took up the burden in the ninth for the seventh time in the last nine games.

Sox, Indians Split Even

CHICAGO, May 30 (AP)—After being held practically powerless and defeated by Ed Durham in the first game, the Cleveland Indians broke loose and batted out 23 hits at the expense of six White Sox pitchers today to gain a 15 to 8 victory and an even split on their holiday double header.

Durham held the Indians to five singles in the opener and three of them didn't come until after one was out in the ninth. He fanned nine and didn't allow a Cleveland runner to pass first base until the seventh inning.

But the second game was an entirely different story. After whetting their appetites with two runs in the first inning, the Indians pummeled Gregory, Heving and Kimsey for seven hits and five runs in the third inning. They chased Kimsey in the very next inning. They kept pounding Frasier's offerings until Miller rushed to his rescue in the seventh and then wound up with a couple of hits off Gaston in the ninth.

The Indians' hits went for a total of 29 bases and they batted around in the seventh inning as well as the third. Burnett and Kamm each got four singles; Ayerll a triple, double and single; Vosmik a triple

Yanks Settle Dispute With 3-2 Decision

Argument Again Arises Over Lou Gehrig's Homer

WASHINGTON, May 30 (AP)—In a scene drawn tense from past battles and enlivened by heated protests from Washington players and bottle throwing by the fans, the New York Yankees today handed the Senators a 3 to 2 defeat to entrench themselves more firmly at the top of the American league.

When Larrupping Lou Gehrig, New York first sacker, lifted one of Whitehill's fast balls over the high right field fence in the eighth to give the Yankees a 2 to 1 lead, an ensuing rumpus almost ended the ball game permanently.

Umpire "Berk" Owens at the plate ruled the blow had topped the fence inside the right field foul line and that Gehrig was entitled to a homer. Virtually the entire Washington team thought otherwise and Owens was quickly surrounded by gesticulating players. Three bottles were thrown from the stands and the game was halted for more than 10 minutes.

When play was resumed, Washington pushed over a run in his half to tie the score. Kuhel singled and advanced on Manush's sacrifice. Cronin batted across his second run of the day by a clean single that brought Kuhel home.

In the ninth, however, Whitehill granted the last of his five bases on balls to Crosetti. Van Atta sacrificed and Combs singled to put the Yanks once more in the lead.

A double header had been scheduled, but intermittent rain caused difficulty in completing even the first contest. A double header was scheduled for tomorrow.

Score by innings: R.H.E.
New York .100 000 011-3 8 0
Washington .000 100 010-2 9 0

Wins Again

FT. MADISON, May 30 (AP)—Pushed to the limit by two of southeastern Iowa's finest sprinters, Ralph Metcalfe of Marquette university this afternoon ran the fastest hundred yards recorded on an Iowa track this season.

He won the feature exhibition race at the annual Ft. Madison relay carnival in 9.6 seconds, beating Cecil Garrison of Burlington Junior college by a scant yard with Hall Huffman of Iowa Wesleyan, Iowa conference champion, an equal distance behind Garrison.

The relay meet, which drew athletes from a widespread territory in Iowa, Illinois and Missouri was run off under almost perfect conditions. Five meet records were broken before a crowd of about 3,000.

Although out-of-state athletes carried off most of the individual laurels, southeastern Iowa schools won five of the six special trophies offered in the relay races.

Burlington had the best time in the open quarter-mile and quarter mile for football lettermen. Ottumwa won the two mile and medley trophies and Ft. Madison clinched the half mile. The only relay trophy to go outside Iowa was won by the Galesburg one mile team.

and two singles, and Pytlak three singles. Pitcher Clint Brown was the only Clevelander to step to bat who didn't get at least one hit and Bill Cassell the only one who didn't get two.

Tigers Divide With Browns

DETROIT, May 30 (AP)—Detroit and St. Louis broke even in their double header here today, the first game going to the Tigers 8 to 6, and the night cap to the Browns 3 to 1.

Errors played an important part in the opening game, four St. Louis runs in a second inning rally being the result of misplays. Also two errors figured in a Tiger eighth inning rally. Detroit out hit the Browns, 10 to 6.

The second game was a duel between Hebert and Sorrell. Three safeties and a walk off Sorrell in the opening inning gave the Browns two runs and Sorrell a handicap that he failed to overcome. Herring replaced him in the eighth inning.

U. High Sets Record for City Scoring

Phillips Holds Lead in Number of Events Won

Add University high's athletic talent to M. F. Carpenter's coaching ability and the result is a handsomely hand combination which succeeded in its object of winning victories and setting records over track and field rivals of this season.

The Blue and White colors of the river school have been carried through one of the most rigorous schedules in years to be culminated when Van Phillips, ace quarter miler and all round athlete, brought to University high the state championship in the 440 yard dash.

Phillips paced a quintet of river school performers, Ed Joy, Martin Warren, Ed McCollister, and Bob Schnoebelen, through four dual meets and the Little Seven conference meet, and led with 101 1/4 points of the total of 242 points collected by these boys. Joy was second in points scored with 60; Martin Warren third with 33 1/2; Ed McCollister fourth with 30, and Bob Schnoebelen, who failed to get going until the last of the season, with 22 1/2 points for fifth.

Metcalfe Runs Century in 9.6

Metcalfe runs the 100 yard dash in 10 flat, 23/4 yard dash in 22.8, 440 yard dash in 50.4, and a mark of 2:05.7 in the 880 yard run. He also holds conference records in the 100, 220, 440, and javelin throw.

Tipton fell before University high indoors this spring, 60 to 40, to open the season in a smooth fashion. This victory gave Coach Carpenter something of a line on the green men he had to pilot through the campaign for conference and state honors.

Following their trip to the State Teachers relays at Cedar Falls where they took second in the mile relay, University high lost its first dual in 16 starts when St. Ambrose of Davenport nosed them out 68 to 63. Phillips led his inexperienced teammates with 25 1/4 points scored with wins in the 50, 100, and 220 yard dashes, and the javelin throw, and a second and third in the broad jump and discus.

Again Phillips led the assault when University high won its third straight Little Seven conference title by collecting 25 points with four firsts, a second, and a third. A 52.2 quarter and a 23 1/2 yard dash accounted for two new records. Martin Warren gave account of himself by winning and setting records in the shot put and discus throws. It was in this meet that Bob Schnoebelen started his scoring campaign by taking second in the 220 yard hurdles. Also, a new University high mile relay record of 3:46 was set.

In the state district meet at Cedar Rapids, Phillips and Warren qualified for the state meet at Ames where the following Saturday Phillips won the state 440 yard dash title.

Monticello fell victim to the Blue and White in its next dual meet, 77 to 50, with Bob Schnoebelen pulling out the fireworks. "Sneh" pulled an upset by winning the javelin throw with a heave of 101 feet after having never thrown it until this meet. He also took second in the 220 yard low hurdles, and third in the 100 yard dash, to collect 9 points. Anchor Christensen and Bob Stevens got their first wins of the season with firsts in the mile and half mile.

U. High Conquers City
Iowa City high was the loser in University high in the last meet of the season, 77 to 44. This was Phillips last competition for the Blue and White and he collected 10 points and set a new school record in the 220 yard dash with a run of 22.8 seconds. Ed Joy turned in a fast 2:05.3 half and won the broad jump to finish his river school career. Schnoebelen, Warren, and Christensen, were victorious in their events. "Sneh" won the discus race of the meet, the 220 yard low to beat out Boyce of Iowa City high.

With the closing of this season went two of Coach Carpenter's star performers—Van Phillips and Ed Joy—and left "Carp" with the job of finding some capable men to take their shoes.

Iowa and Northwestern, which clashed on the last week of the Big Ten football season, will be the first conference foes to tangle in the coming season, meeting Sept. 20 at Chicago.

One of the four former speed kings to face the starter at Indianapolis yesterday, Louis Meyer, winner of the Speedway Classic in 1928, became the second driver ever to win the race twice when he broke the record to finish seven and one half miles ahead of Wilbur Shaw.

Great Crews Accepted at Long Beach

Intercollegiate Race to be Held for First Time

LOS ANGELES, May 30—Competition the equal of that which was seen here last year in the Olympic games rowing will match strokes at Long Beach July 8 when Yale, Harvard, Cornell, Washington, and perhaps California come here as guests of U.C.L.A. to participate in the first annual national intercollegiate crew race.

Experts able to see through the mysteries of precision of strokes, comparative times, past records and other technicalities which befuddle the layman are of the opinion that Washington is the equal of California's 1932 Olympic champions if not better.

Yale, they believe, can match Italy's best efforts, and the Italians, incidentally, hold the Long Beach

Whitney Colt Wins Withers Belmont Mile

NEW YORK, May 30 (AP)—Showing the speed that made him a feared member of the juvenile last year, C. V. Whitney's The Dab today challenged for the three year old championship as he turned his first important start of the season into a smashing victory, winning the fifty-eight running of the Withers Mile at Belmont park.

The Dab was denied a chance at the Kentucky derby and the Freshness when he became ill a week before the Churchill Downs classic but he got right into the middle of the muddled titular picture today in winning the purse of $20,550.

The track was sloppy and rain fell at intervals during the seven race holiday program but the son of St. Germain, which also steeled the mighty Twenty Grand, splashed his way across the finish line with three lengths to spare over Joseph E. Widener's Golden Way, W. S. Kilmer's Dark Winter, an outsider, was third, beaten a head for the place and a length in front of the fast closing Kerry Patch.

marine stadium record.

Washington will attempt to establish itself as the record-holder in the July regatta, having come within a second of the time in the triangular race with California and U.C.L.A. in April.

The Huskies appear thoroughly capable of erasing Italy's mark of 6 minutes 28 3-5 seconds for the 2,000 meter pull, having rowed 6 minutes 30 seconds on the same course and under almost the identical conditions without any difficulty.

Yale, undefeated this year, has only the annual tussle with Harvard remaining on its schedule before coming to the coast. The Blue is believed to be nearly equal to the Huskies in strength and the west

Major Goodsell has altered their stroking slightly, placing greater emphasis on the catch.

He was in bad humor, growling and shouting with each punch as he battered his mates with left hooks to the body and right uppercuts. He seemed still far too easy to hit, however, and Pete Wistor nailed him several times with right counters to the head.

U. S. ENVOY AT LONDON HOME

CHAPTER I
THE NEW COMMANDER

The Italian harbor was filled with British and Italian warships that dotted the blue water like a group of giant seagulls come to rest but agitating their smoke-like heads as if ready to take flight at the first alarm. All around the semi-circular bay Taranto lay upon the cliffs spread out, jewel-like, under the clear Italian sun. The docks, streets, even the promenades, were crowded with people awaiting the arrival of an American submarine flotilla. On the bluff above the harbor the Navy Hospital was visible; airplanes circled over it and around the bay.

Out to sea was a blur of smoke and the outlines of ships coming ashore at even pace. As the vessels approached the harbor spectators could count them; there was the U. S. S. submarine tender Bushnell, followed by seven submarines. Excited voices rent the air in cheers as the flotilla steamed into the harbor.

"Vivo l'America! Vivo l'America!"

"The Yankee submarines are bigger than ours!" cried a short, swarthy man with a fochown voice. His amazed shout was heard above the multitude of voices raised in welcome to the long-expected arrival of the ships of the American allies.

"Looks like they'd been in a fight," said a man in the crowd at the naval dock.

"Look at that third submarine!" cried another. "It has been shot to pieces!"

All eyes were fastened upon the flotilla as the seven submarines came to rest in mathematical pattern around the submarine tender. The third submarine, the AL14, was made fast to the Bushnell. It was badly battered; conning tower partly shot away, the superstructure splintered. Spectators on the shore could distinguish the crew, in strained attitudes, grouped about the deck. What it could not see was that the crew was unshaven, hollow-eyed, oil-stained and pow-

U. S. ENVOY AT LONDON HOME

Robert Worth Bingham, new United States ambassador to Great Britain, is pictured with his wife and their daughter outside their new home in London. Ambassador Bingham leased the residence in the exclusive Prince Gate section for the duration of his tenure of office.

"I hope you get command, Knowlton."

Lieutenant Knowlton stood at salute, watching the Commander and his broken body disappeared upon the deck of the Bushnell. He did not move from the spot until McDougal, chief petty officer, approached and said, respectfully, with a friendly grin:

"Will the new Captain—we hope so, anyway, sir—give us the orders of the day about the liberty parties?"

"Yes. Carry on in the usual order."

"This is one liberty I can use," said Lieutenant Walters aside to Knowlton.

"You and me both!" exclaimed Knowlton, with a look around at the battered deck. "It will take a lot of red wine to wash away the taste of that trip!"

"A pair of lovin' arms would help me to forget," said Walters, and his voice held in it the effect of a nudge.

"If ever a man needed the freedom of port, it's me," said Knowlton.

"A sailor can do a lot of good for himself in twenty-four hours," said Walters, with an anticipatory smile.

"Listen, Brick. Your first duty is to find quarters ashore. You know. Establish a base of operations... for a couple of sailors to work out of."

"Aye, aye, sir!" and the enthusiasm in the voice of Lieutenant Walters was not assumed.

They were started by a voice, strident and commanding, from the side of the vessel, asking:

"Who's second in command here?"

Knowlton and Walters turned and saw a tall, ascetic-looking middle-aged man in a captain's uniform stepping aboard the submarine from the tender catwalk.

Prominent, the cook, to whom the remark seemed to have been addressed, managed to conceal his surprise as he replied:

"Mr. Knowlton, sir."

"I have orders to take command," the words were addressed to the crew at large, and Knowlton advanced a few steps and saluted. Then he turned to the chief petty officer.

"McDougal, call the crew to quarters."

McDougal was galvanized into action at sight of the new commander, and shouted:

"Quarters, men! Quickly now!"

The crew obeyed the order with an alacrity as great as his own in giving it.

"My name is Knowlton, sir," said the chief lieutenant of the AL 14.

"Mine is Toler." He extended his hand. The shake was stiff and perfunctory. He took a paper from his pocket and read it quickly, even more perfunctorily than had been his handshake:

"From Senior Officer Sloat to Commander T. J. Taylor, U. S. N. Immed-lyal U. S. S. AL 14—port-board, same command that vessel."

He put the order back in his pocket and addressed the crew.

"Leave your quarters, men. Let's go below, Lieutenant, and look at your ship."

They went to the main hatch and descended. No sooner had their heads disappeared than the crew burst into quick comment.

"I served under him," said McDougal. "You better not let him smell orange extract on your breath, Promaine."

"Pal," replied the cook, "from now on I sticks to Peruna."

"He acts like he wrote the book," said Lieutenant Nelson to Lieutenant Walters.

"Boy, you can take off those rose-colored glasses," said "Brick" Walters, gloomily.

Those few remarks summed up the crew's opinion of the new commander.

Meantime Knowlton and Commander Toler were inspecting the control room.

der-burred, and that about the after-ward were tarpaulin-wrapped bundles containing the bodies of the men who had given their lives in the first conflict of the submarine with enemy ships.

One of the twin booms of the tender was lowered to the deck of the AL14; its ropes were fastened to the stoke's stretcher in which lay the form of the submarine's captain. As the boom was raised, lifting the wounded man from the deck, the crew came to respectful attention.

"Stay it a minute!" said the Captain as he was lifted from the deck.

"Stay it there!" commanded Lieutenant Knowlton. The engineer on the tender stopped the turning of the winch. The Captain remained dangling in the air at eye-level of the men whom he had commanded in the trip across the Atlantic and in the first engagement with German ships.

"Men," he continued in a sad voice, "the saddest day of my life is here—leaving the best crew that ever blew a tank. You put up a grand fight." He stopped a moment, overcome with emotion. The muscles of his throat moved convulsively. "Till live," he continued after a time, "hoping we can all be shipmates again... And this goes for Mr. Knowlton there too, and... the greatest orange-extract-drinking cook in the Navy."

The crew laughed, sadly, brokenly, at the sally of their commander. He made as if to speak again, was overcome by emotion, and gave the signal to be hoisted aboard the tender. As the boom started on its interrupted upward journey, the commander called to his senior lieutenant.

Iowa Farmer Sees Mother for First Time in 20 Years

Learns Correct Name After Visit to Nebraska

LINCOLN, Neb., May 30 (AP)—A 27 year old Iowa farmer was happy today as he had visited his mother for the first time in almost 20 years and learned his correct name.

Robert Larsen, a farmer near Lewis, Iowa, came to Lincoln, his birthplace, after a visit in North Platte, Neb., with his mother and sister.

When eight years old, Robert's father died and as the family was without resources he was placed in the care of the Nebraska Children's Home society at Omaha. He never saw his mother again until Thursday.

Shortly after he was placed in the home his mother made efforts to locate him but was unsuccessful. Robert's first home outside the orphanage was with Peter Larsen, a farmer near Farwell, Neb., and he took the name of Larsen.

Married in 1929
In 1929 he married Mignonette Cress of Hancock, Iowa, and today the Larsens visited at the home of her brother here.

At the time of his marriage Larsen determined to find his mother. He was aided by the Rev. Wm. McElfresh of Lincoln, a former official of the orphanage, and County Attorney C. S. Beck of North Platte.

Farm-Owned Radios Decrease During Year

DES MOINES, May 30 (AP)—A decrease of 29.2 per cent in farm-owned radios in the year ending Jan. 1, 1933, is shown by reports of township assessors to the state weather and crop bureau.

About one Iowa farm in three has a radio set in operation at this time, bureau officials estimated, declaring that the large decrease in active radio sets "is a good barometer of the ready cash on farms."

In almost every instance the discontinuance of the radio set was due to the inability of the farmer to provide replacement batteries and tubes, it was explained. Nearly half of the farms had radios on Jan. 1, 1931, records showed.

Chinese Delegates to Confer in Japan

TIENSIN, China, May 30 (AP)—Heavily guarded Chinese delegates, bound for armistice negotiations with the Japanese at Tangku, passed through Tiensin today by train.

The personnel of the Chinese delegation was not made public, but it was believed that the leader was General Hwang Fu, representative of the Nanking government, against whose life two attempts were made by bombers two weeks ago.

The greatest precautions were taken for the safety of the delegates while the train stopped in Tiensin. Traffic through the city was halted and a strong guard was on duty at the railroad station.

Blackstone 'Rules' Over Court Room as Lawyers Plea

Every attorney who pleads a case in the Johnson county court room—every judge who hands down a decision of law—does so before a large oil painting of Sir William Blackstone that hangs above the bench at the front of the room.

His white wig and white collar symbols of his office, his stern features representative of determined justice, the renowned English jurist has looked down on trials and hearings from his vantage point on the wall for many years.

Blackstone is honored, not because of any great success as a lawyer and a judge, but because of the influence of his "Commentaries" upon the law in the United States. He was never considered a scientific jurist in England during his eighteenth century career. Counsel to the king, solicitor-general to the queen, professor of law, member of parliament, and judge in the court of common pleas—at no time did he gain fame in pleading or in making momentous decisions.

But in the United States, after the Declaration of Independence, his "Commentaries" became the chief, and in some parts of the country the only, source of the knowledge of English law. What had been a textbook in England became in America an oracle of law.

In July, 1924, at a joint visit of the American and Canadian law associations to England, American lawyers presented to the London courts a marble statue of Blackstone, in order to "mark the influence which the great commentator had had over American jurisprudence."

So Sir William Blackstone, with traces of dust showing on his white wig and white collar, continues to look down from the wall as justice is administered in the Johnson county court room.

U. S. Isolation Alternative To Arms-Economic Amity

WASHINGTON — When Norman Davis, President Roosevelt's ambassador at large, made his now-famous speech at Geneva recently, in the course of which he promised that the United States would participate in any action taken against a violator of international peace, the cry arose from our American nationalists, "There goes our isolation," and for a time it seemed as if the cry was justified. But that statement was merely one card in the new deal—there's an ace in the hole, which should prove comforting to those who shiver with dread at the thought of foreign entanglements.

U. S. the Leader
The fact of the matter is that President Roosevelt's offer to lead the world towards lasting peace and prosperity was not made without an alternative course having been considered. It is the Roosevelt plan to extend every possible concession to wrangling Europe in the hope that the world will shake off the chip it carries on its shoulder, get down to business and pull together in a united effort to gain firm ground out of the mire of depression.

U. S. Isolation
In these circumstances it is cheering to know that an alternative plan is being prepared by the administration. In the event of the failure of the London conference and the breakdown of disarmament negotiations, the United States is ready to go back to her policy of isolation. A course has been charted to make the United States self-supporting, a prosperous market for its own goods. Not only that, but if the rest of the world does not see fit to make drastic cuts in armament, it is planned to build up the U. S. navy to a position second to none in the world, while back of it will be an army, composed of a quarter of a million reserves, trained under the reforestation camp program.

Life Saver
This building up of the U. S. navy and the training of an army reserve is provided for in the gigantic public works program, which is to cost $3,300,000,000. Thus does the United States hold an ace in the hole which may compel Europe to meet us half-way at the forthcoming economic conference. It is the president's intention to offer his terms—Europe can take them or leave them.

Iowa Congressmen Express Approval of Bank Measures

Dickinson Differs to Direct Slap at Glass Bill

WASHINGTON, May 30 (AP)—General approval of the Glass-Steagall bank reform bill which passed the house last week, and less enthusiastic endorsement of the Glass bill adopted by the senate, were expressed by Iowa's congressmen this week.

Insurance of bank deposits and divorcing security affiliates from banks were lauded as "life savers" by some Iowans, but given only partial support by others.

Senator L. J. Dickinson (R), said "the bill as passed by the senate would wreck every state bank in the country that did not join the federal reserve system."

He expressed hope, however, that the conference committee will enforce house-originated protection of state banks into the measure. He endorsed the divorcing of security affiliates as provided in both the house and senate measures.

Senator Louis Murphy (D), said state banks will be protected under either measure. He has been a strong advocate of deposits insurance, and expressed gratification at the move to force banks to drop their security affiliates.

Rep. Guy Gillette (D) regards the banking legislation as "the first step in a program which must ultimately come to insure depositors the full return of their money."

Not Thoroughly Sold
Rep. Otha D. Wearin (D) is not thoroughly sold on the bank reform legislation, but admits that "the country needs revision of its banking laws" and said he hopes the program "will result in desired benefits to the people."

Rep. Edward C. Eicher (D) said "a new day will dawn for the nation's business under the remedial influence of legislation which divorces investment affiliates from commercial banks and provides a workable plan for insurance of deposits in state and national banks."

Rep. Fred C. Gilchrist (R) described the proposed divorcing of security affiliates as "not so important to the tall grass country," but of great potential benefit to cities. He said previous experiments with deposit guaranty in states has been unsatisfactory, but explained that the insurance of deposits provided by the house bill is much more practical.

AROUND THE TOWN with DICK FAGAN

Some Bed!
According to Frederick M. Irish in "Annals of Iowa" there was a temporary tavern in block 61, near the corner of Linn and Washington streets back in the 1840's called "Lean Back hall." "The lodging room, it is said had but one bed; but this bed was large enough to accommodate 36 men. This number reposed in it many a night, and no complaint was ever entered against it"—fraternity members in the 1930's have often had the same experience when they went home at night to find almost that number in their beds.

Negro Swings Mean Mop to Foil Robber
CHICAGO, May 30 (AP)—There's no question about it—James Arlington, Negro, swings a mean mop.

James was busy at his daily duty of mopping up the floor at the Williams grill when a would-be robber came in today. James kept on mopping. The robber marched the chef from the kitchen up beside the cash register where Peggy Felling quaked in her shoes. James kept on mopping.

The intruder gave one look at James and decided the Negro was going to mop the floor, robbery or no robbery. As the man edged to the cash register, James edged up with his mop. He took one big swing, caught the man with the dirty wet mop and floored him.

At a police station the prisoner identified himself as Arthur ...
