IOWA CITY, IOWA SATURDAY, JUNE 10, 1933

VOLUME XXXIII NUMBER 9

INDUSTRIAL BILL PASSED BY SENATE

France May Default Debt Payment June 15

Premier Fails to Reply When Interrogated

Forecasts Speedy End to Difficulties With Italy

WASHINGTON, June 9 (AP)—Notes were dispatched tonight to all of America's debtor nations reminding them of their payments due next Thursday.

PARIS, June 9 (AP)—Another French default when the next war debt installment becomes due June 15 was strongly indicated today when Premier Daladier ignored the debt question while responding to queries concerning the French foreign policy in the chamber of deputies.

The premier forecast a speedy effort to put an end to the differences between France and Italy over the spoils of the World War which have existed for 14 years.

Responding to Premier Mussolini's compliments over the recent initialing of the four-power European peace pact, M. Daladier expressed hope that the common interests of France and Italy would be adjusted.

At the conclusion of the premier's remarks, the war debt question was injected in the session by Deputy Fougere, who favored payment of the $19,000,000 installment due the United States last December as a means of helping solve the economic crisis. The chamber received the deputy coolly.

Premier Daladier leaves Sunday for the world economic conference in London and there is small possibility of any chamber action on the debts before that. (June 15 a $40,000,000 installment becomes due. The French government must have the approval of the chamber before paying it.)

Reiterating France's determination to stay on the gold standard, M. Daladier declared that nations which have left gold ought to agree to currency stabilization.

He advocated a policy of collaboration with other nations, explaining that France had initiated the four-power peace pact in the conviction that the agreement furthered French interest in peace. No longer, the premier said, is there a question of the rearmament of Germany.

Johnson county prohibition repeal forces, working with the state organization, will make their first public demonstration at 5 p.m. Monday, when members of the Iowa division of the Women's Organization for Prohibition Reform are to speak on the streets of Iowa City.

Iowa City is one of the 30 stops in a motor caravan which will cover the eastern part of the state next week. At a meeting of the county repeal committee at the American Legion Community building last night, a committee consisting of Dr. John Voss, J. J. Hanlon, Frank Volkringer, Edwin Wilson and Ed Koser was appointed to meet the caravan in Marengo.

When the caravan arrives in Iowa City, according to plans of the local repealers, the corner in front of the Johnson County bank building will be roped off and speakers will address the crowd from the sidewalk or from the tops of automobiles.

Names of the speakers have not been announced. From Iowa City the caravan will go to Cedar Rapids, where a repeal meeting will be held at night.

Forest Army to Arrive at Noon Today

Will Start Journey Across Pacific Soon

DES MOINES, June 9 (AP)—Ten companies of Iowa conservation corps workers will be sent to northern Minnesota and one to South Dakota to assist in the national reforestation program. Col. O. E. Stodter, Fort Des Moines army post commandant, was instructed today.

At noon today 200 civilian conservation corps men will arrive in Iowa City and will begin construction of "Camp City" northeast of the baseball diamond.

Maj. Edwin Patrick of Ft. Des Moines, who will manage the camp with Capt. Earl Paynter of the university military department, was here yesterday to make preliminary arrangements for the housing and feeding of the men.

By this evening "Camp City" will be almost complete. The men will dig ditches for water pipes, raise the 11 dormitory tents, the dining tent, the officer's tent, and the kitchen. The first meal will be served at the new camp tonight when the kitchen gets properly arranged. Sandwiches will be served this noon.

Major Patrick returned to Des Moines last night after a conference with Dr. W. L. Bywater, county relief chairman. He will return with the men tomorrow, accompanied by Captain Paynter, who has been in Des Moines for more than two weeks.

Until word was received from Des Moines Thursday, the prospect of a camp location at Iowa City was indefinite. Several months ago the state committee announced that either Iowa City or Washington would be selected for a site, and then the matter was dropped, according to Dr. Bywater.

Washington made no effort to get the camp. Here, however, the Chamber of Commerce and the R.F.C. board kept in touch with state officials. The Chamber of Commerce appointed Dr. Bywater, Col. C. R. Lewis, and Dr. E. J. Anthony on a committee to investigate possible camp sites, and this committee recommended the old cannery factory building and the stretch of land between the airport and the river. State officers visited Iowa City last week and approved the latter site.

No Johnson county men will be stationed at this camp, Dr. Bywater said yesterday. It is a rule in this state that recruits must be moved out of their home counties. The 59 men who have been taken thus far from Johnson county are working in other parts of the state or are in training at Ft. Des Moines.

Farmers who desire to have work done on their farms by the forestry army have been requested to notify the Johnson County Farm bureau office as soon as possible.

Two more camps are to be established in Iowa, according to word from Des Moines last night, one at Backbone state park, near Strawberry Point, and the other at Davenport.

Jury Still Out on Eby-Ryan Damage Suit for $6,800
At 1 o'clock this morning, jurors in the district court were still undecided concerning their verdict in the $6,800 damage action of Mrs. Pearl Eby against Ed Ryan.

The jury went into session at noon yesterday and at 10:30 p.m. their votes were brought in to them. In the suit before the court Mrs. Eby claims that the defendant allowed his hogs to wander on U. S. highway 6 and that she damaged her car and injured herself when the machine struck the hogs on Feb. 15, 1931.

Mattern Takes Off Again on Hazardous Flight Over High Siberian Mountains

Leaders Okay Compromises Over Vet Cuts

SEVILLE, Spain, June 9 (AP)—Captain Mariano Berberan and Lieut. Joaquin Collar, Spanish aviators, took off at 4:45 a.m. today, (10:45 p.m. Iowa time, Friday), on a transatlantic flight to Havana, Cuba.

MOSCOW, June 10 (Saturday) (AP)—Reuters (British) News agency was informed today that Jimmie Mattern, American round-the-world flyer, took off from Belyoe, Siberia, at 1:50 a.m., Moscow time today, (4:50 p.m., Friday, Iowa time), for Khabarovsk, Siberia.

The agency reported he passed over Irkutsk at 2:30 a.m., Moscow time. Mattern planned to start his trans-Pacific flight from Khabarovsk.

MOSCOW, June 9 (AP)—Making a quick recovery from a mishap in the air which almost cost him his life and forced him down in a sparsely settled section of Siberia, Jimmie Mattern, American round-the-world flyer, sped on his way across Russia today and rested tonight in the little town of Belyoe preparatory to resuming his voyage tomorrow.

Halting only once on the way to Belyoe from Belovo, where overpowering fumes from a leaking gas line caused him to make a forced landing Wednesday, the airman made Krasnoyarsk in fairly good time. He remained only long enough to take on fuel and make superficial repairs.

He had intended to stay in Krasnoyarsk long enough to rest and to have permanent repairs completed. On the landing field at Belovo the tail was broken.

Continuing from Krasnoyarsk, he flew to Belyoe, which is only 50 miles west of Irkutsk near the Manchurian border. Apparently he landed there as the Siberian night settled over the steppes rather than attempt the hazardous flight over Lake Balkal and the high mountains in that section in darkness.

Five Reported Killed in Blast

NORTH ARLINGTON, N. J., June 9 (AP)—Five persons were reported killed tonight in an explosion that wrecked a celluloid factory in Fiver Road. About 75 persons were said to have been injured by burning celluloid scattered by the blast.

A second explosion occurred about 10 minutes after the first. Twenty men, women and children were bathing at a small beach near the factory when the explosion occurred and many of them were burned.

An emergency call was sent to Newark for medical aid.

Hull Meets MacDonald

U. S. Secretary Holds Preliminary Parley With Britisher

LONDON, June 9 (AP)—Undaunted by the fact that the war debts are starting him in the face, Secretary of State Cordell Hull, head of the American delegation to the world economic conference, today went quietly about his preliminary discussions, in which was included his first meeting here with Prime Minister MacDonald.

Although Mr. Hull and Mr. MacDonald met at a private luncheon for 45 minutes before a British cabinet session at which the debts were discussed, it was emphatically asserted in high American delegation quarters that the debt topic was not raised.

At the cabinet session, no decision was reached on the $7,950,000 installment due the United States next Thursday.

The debts are the liveliest subject in the British press, which displays a tendency to regard default as improbable.

Regarding the British disinclination to separate debt and economic problems, American delegation quarters pointed out that the debt negotiations have been handled directly at Washington and that Mr. MacDonald is wholly familiar with the American viewpoint as the result of his recent visit to the United States. This, it is said, relieves Secretary Hull of responsibility in the matter.

It is expected that a note setting

House Okays Coordination of Railroads

Lacks Only Signature of President Before Becoming Law

WASHINGTON, June 9 (AP)—The administration's plan for reorganizing the nation's railroads on an economic operating basis through suspension of the anti-trust laws—a task to be supervised by a federal coordinator—tonight lacked only the president's signature before becoming law.

By unanimous consent, Chairman Rayburn (D. Texas) of the house interstate commerce committee, today obtained approval of the report composing differences between the two branches on the encompassing measure. Senate adoption followed.

President Roosevelt plans to appoint Joseph B. Eastman, interstate commerce commissioner, as coordinator for one year. If Eastman's job of reorganizing the carriers and scaling down their capital structure to a point of reasonable return is incomplete by that time, the president has the power to continue this section of the measure for another year.

Await Aid for Home Owners

WASHINGTON, June 9 (AP)—The approval of the senate and the signature of the president were all that remained necessary tonight to convert into law the administration bill designed to apply a $2,000,000,000 alleviation to the debt burden of home owners.

Without a single member dissenting, the house today approved the final form of the home mortgage bill. As soon as the senate does likewise, the bill will go to the White House, to be signed as a part of President Roosevelt's recovery program.

Bankruptcy Bill Passed

WASHINGTON, June 9 (AP)—The municipal bankruptcy bill was passed late today by the house and sent to the senate to take an uncertain place on a crowded calendar.

The measure permits cities and other taxing subdivisions to work out debt adjustments with the approval of a federal court and two-thirds of the bondholders.

Passage was by a voice vote, which went unquestioned by the opposition.

Wilcox (D. Fla.) told the house that "unless some means can be found for readjustment on their basis to pay, local governments will collapse."

He estimated more than 3,000 such governmental units were in default.

David Fischer Wins Honors in National H. S. Music Contest

Gasoline Tax Continues
WASHINGTON (AP)—Continuance of the one cent a gallon gasoline tax, reduction of local postage from 3 to 2 cents and transfer of the 3 per cent power tax from consumer to producer were virtually upon the law books tonight as the house broke a long deadlock over the proposals.

Mercury Forgets Promise—Climbs Up Thermometer
Starting cool and windy in the morning, the weather showed little regard for the feelings of Iowa citizens yesterday by pushing the mercury up to 93 degrees.

Although the sky held out some hope of rain in the afternoon, the clouds drifted eastward at evening before a mild breeze.

At 7 a.m. yesterday the thermometer showed 68 degrees. By 7 p.m. the temperature had slid back down to 81, and the city enjoyed a clear, cool night.

WEATHER
IOWA: Partly cloudy Saturday and Sunday, possibly scattered thundershowers, warmer in east portion Saturday; cooler Sunday in central and west portions.

What Shall I Wear? Beach Clothes Make the Woman

By JANE COOLEY (Society Editor, The Daily Iowan)

That gay, light-minded summer season has come around again and imaginations bound off to the most delightful places.

Day dreams expand and rise up like warm air, and there's plenty of time for swimming, ample hours in which to rest and sun-bathe on a sandy golden beach.

Changing summer moods are most conducive to week ends near Pack a bag with heaps of this fascinating season's bathing garbs, and spend your time being an exotic part of summer's color scheme.

But exotic or no, choose things that are water-wise and beach-broke, choose sturdy fabrics and trim lines for your water-side conquests. Reserve clinging vine aspects of lovely languidness for moonlight and garden terraces, and be a healthy, frankly athletic individual when going resort-ward.

Shocked you may be at some of the newer editions of bathing paraphernalia, but it will be hard to resist a veritable shopping orgy for such perfectly grand creations. In the days before sunbath became an ambition, a bathing suit was merely a necessary nuisance. Now its chief consequence, beside being utterly fetching in itself, is setting the color note for accessories and things.

Coarse fabrics and curious colors seem to be the rule. And fabrics become curious—wide weave knits, twine and cord bedecked—combinations of jersey and peasant linen, sateen and even gingham—in the swankiest of plaids and checks. And colors turn coarse—new blotches of mustard, grey, black, raw blue, deep red, and unfinished white.

Form-fitting they are, some concealing, more revealing, with the coyness of omissions and quaintest of additions, bathing suits have really come into their own. Crinkled rubber has caught the eye of more than one sea-wise maid, smart gingham in their simple chic, are being worn by the score.

Draw-strings necks, suits practically strapless, the deepest of décolleté, shorts and shirts—in fact, imagination has run wild, and there are new ideas every day.

If you have a yen for slacks and sweaters, wear them—in the gaudiest of colors and softest of rough fabrics—wear a turkish towel robe or cape—but blend your color scheme, in light or friendship with the grey or yellow of your suit.

If you are tired of the eternal pajama family, fetch yourself a beach dress—preferably linen and loosely wrap around—or a monk-like night-shirt, of linen, too, or lisle knit—in a wise bright orange, or flattering black.

Hats are of the sunshade variety, with shallow crown and the very widest of brims—adorable. And even bathing caps have awakened, no longer are they thingsamabobs with a strap under the chin, but oh, so good-looking as a fez or beret.

Espadrilles and sandals have decided to be nothing more or less—on the beach, that is—than a flat sole, and cotton cord (don't forget that toenails are still being worn in red) wound round and round.

Buy heaps of things for that jaunt to the open air, the blue sky, and emerald water. Be good to yourself, for it seems that being smart on the beach is every whit as important as a chic and sophisticated entrée to an afternoon tea or terrace dance. "What shall I wear?" may be a time-wearly question, but if going to a beach that you are, give an exceedingly exuberant answer.

FAIRFIELD (AP)—An engine and several cars of a Burlington freight train were derailed last night. The engine of a westbound passenger train was derailed at Batavia in switching from the east to the west-bound track. No one was injured.

Solons Near Vacationing

Both Houses Clear Up Major Work of Session

WASHINGTON, June 9 (AP)—Congress pushed its way to the threshold of adjournment tonight, ready for a final big clean-up of the extra session's emergency legislation and a grand rush for cooler climes.

Driving into votes on the industrial recovery bill and a measure to help debt-burdened municipalities, the senate and house set themselves for quick disposal of legislation in conference and speedy action on the few important bills still to be cleared away.

Maybe Saturday? Some leaders saw a chance to get through late Saturday night as desired by President Roosevelt, but to accomplish this, the utmost unanimity and cooperation would be required from both parties. The more conservative figured on getting away Monday.

However, while the senate plugged through the day to a decision on the industrial bill, the house in rapid succession adopted conference reports on two big bills—the home mortgage refinancing measure and the railroad reorganization proposal—and left only similar senate action needed to get them to the White House. After that, the house began its swift run on the municipal bankruptcy bill.

End to Row An end to the veterans economy dispute was sighted when house leaders agreed on a modification of the president's compromise and made plans to take it up in the house tomorrow. The leaders predicted the house would accept this compromise and Representative Goldsborough (D., Md.), chairman of the special veterans committee, quoted Mr. Roosevelt as saying that additional taxes would not be needed if it were done.

The president today hailed the signing of the peace pact by Great Britain, France, Germany and Italy as an augury for a happy outcome of the London and Geneva conferences.

Real Estate Board Cites Kansas Firm for Illegal Selling

DES MOINES, June 9 (AP)—The Merchants Finance company of Wichita, Kan., was named in an order issued today by H. H. Crenshaw, secretary of the Iowa real estate commission.

County Attorney W. O. Garberson of Osceola county was instructed to file charges against the Kansas company of selling real estate without a license, as the result of a listing transaction at Sibley.

Crenshaw said inspectors of his department received complaint from Charles Sasse of Sibley that a salesman, representing himself to be affiliated with the Merchants Finance company, had collected $40 from him on a listing contract.

The salesman agreed to furnish Sasse with purchasers for his real estate but failed to comply with the contract, Crenshaw said. Investigation showed, he added, that the firm did not have a license to sell real estate in Iowa.

The Atkins corporation of Los Angeles, cited previously to appear and show cause why its real estate license should not be revoked, voluntarily surrendered the license today, Crenshaw said.

Bank Bandits Wound Two in Gun Battle

Carry Officials Away After Daylight Raid

IHLEN, Minn., June 9 (AP)—Wounding the president and the cashier of the Ihen State bank in a surprise raid late this afternoon, four machine gun bandits kidnaped four men, including one of the wounded bankers, to facilitate their flight out of town. The amount of the loot was not immediately ascertained.

The four hostages were released about a mile out of town after a wild rise through the main street which the robbers peppered with machine gun bullets as they fled.

In their wake they left the bank cashier bleeding and believed dying in the rear room of the bank, and William Arndt, barber, standing in the center of the dusty main street fidgeting his rifle but afraid to fire lest he hit one of the four hostages. He dodged to cover as the invaders sprayed the street with a burst of fire.

Ted Arp, cashier, was shot three times in the back. He was rushed to a hospital as was Joe Evenson, president, wounded in the leg, when townspeople picked up him and the other hostages where the bandits had freed them after deeming themselves safe from pursuit.

So great was the confusion immediately after the robbery that the amount stolen from the bank was not determined.

The bandits fled toward South Dakota. Witnesses said their automobile bore a South Dakota license.

Entering town late in the afternoon two of the robbers lugging a machine gun stood guard in a hardware store across the street from the bank, keeping Herman Krapf, proprietor, and Elmer Ihlen, a patron, covered. The other two bandits, also with a machine gun, entered the bank.

First reports were they opened fire upon entering, dropping Arp in a rear room, and shooting Evenson when they thought he was slow in obeying commands to get money from the vault. Theodore Holme, a bank patron, was compelled to lie on the floor.

As the two robbers in the bank pushed out a few minutes later, pushing the wounded Evenson and Holme before them, their companions in the hardware store prodded Krapf, and Ihlen onto the robber automobile's rumbling board and the whole party sped out of town. Townspeople picked up the four hostages later.

President Plans Trip

Roosevelt Expects to Take Sea Voyage in Week

WASHINGTON, June 9 (AP)—A week from tonight President Roosevelt hopes to be out on the bounding seas off the Massachusetts coast en route to Campo Bello island, just over the border in Nova Scotia.

Assured by congressional leaders of early adjournment of the extra session, the president laid plans today for his first vacation since entering the White House.

Mr. Roosevelt's plans call for departure next Thursday night for Groton school in Massachusetts to attend commencement exercises the following day when his son, Franklin, Jr., is graduated.

That night somewhere along the Massachusetts coast the president will board the Amberjack, 2nd, a sea-going schooner, for a slow cruise of two weeks along the New England coast to Eastport, Maine.

Arriving at Eastport June 28, the president intends to depart the next night aboard the cruiser Indianapolis, for a speed trial that will take him to the mouth of the Potomac river.

There he will board a destroyer for the trip up the river to Washington. He will be accompanied only by his sons, Franklin, Jr., and John and James.

The meeting between Mr. Hull and the prime minister took place at the home of Ray Atherton, counselor to the American embassy. Considerable secrecy surrounded it. The fact that Mr. Hull had been there was not revealed until after his return to conference headquarters.

Earlier, Secretary Hull vigorously criticized what he described as attempts by "minority groups" in various countries to divert attention from the real purpose of the world parley. This was in reference to a story in a London newspaper directing attention to Mr. Hull's reference to the Irish Free State as the Irish republic when he spoke at Cobh on his way here.

"I have no doubt," the secretary said, "that minority groups in every country will be sitting up nights trying to divert attention to some wholly slight consideration and thereby attempting to divert the work of the conference from its real purpose."

He spoke to a room-full of American and British reporters at his hotel.

Hosts to the C. C. C.

TWO HUNDRED young men will move into Iowa City today for an indefinite visit. They are members of the Civilian Conservation Corps, the president's reforestation army.

Establishment of the conservation unit's camp at the airport means the consummation of one of the most important objectives in the 14 point program recently enunciated by the Chamber of Commerce. It should prove to be an achievement of great value to Iowa City and Johnson county.

Although none of the men in the local camp come from Johnson county homes, 69 of this county's unemployed are being put to work elsewhere. For obvious reasons it was decided by the officials that it would be best wherever possible to take the recruits out of their home environments.

It behooves Iowa City to be a good host to the men who are here. It will be a mark of appreciation for the aid being given our own unemployed and for the valuable work to be done on Johnson county farms and streams. It will also be an expression of support for the program of the president.

Those Who Quit

RECENT calculations by Dr. Frederick L. Hoffman, statistician, and W. F. Poorman, actuary of the Central Life Assurance company of Des Moines reveal:

- 1) Davenport had the highest suicide rate of any city in the United States in 1932, with 50.3 per 100,000 population; Sacramento, Cal., was second with 43.1; and Seattle, Wash., was third with 42.
2) The suicide rate for 100 American cities rose from 20.5 per 100,000 population in 1931 to 21.3 in 1932, the second highest figure ever reached.
3) The total number of suicides in the nation jumped from 20,088 in 1931 to 23,000 in 1932.
4) Many other nations of the world recorded new highs.
5) Suicide is losing its popularity as a method of defrauding insurance companies. In 1931 suicides and violent deaths accounted for 24.4 per cent of the number of death claims. This percentage dropped to 18 in 1932 and to 14 in the first four months of 1933.

When it is considered that less than 30,000 deaths were caused by auto accidents in 1930 (according to the 1930 census), or that if all the suicides were in one area they would wipe out a town almost the size of Burlington, some notion of the importance of suicide can be gained.

The effect of the depression on the stability of men's minds is clearly demonstrated by the sudden increase in self destruction since 1930 when the rate was only 15.6 per 100,000.

Why Davenport should have the doubtful honor of harboring more suicides than any other city in the country is rather hard to explain. Perhaps it is because Davenport is to such a large extent the bedroom of industrial Rock Island and Moline.

As a check on the alarming increase in suicides, Dr. Hoffman advised the establishment of a suicide clinic in every large city in the United States in an effort to apply psychiatric knowledge on a larger scale in the treatment of mental depression.

This idea already has been tried with noteworthy success in various European countries and deserves consideration. In any event some drastic social pressure should be brought to bear to reduce if possible the great damage resulting from so futile a means of escaping responsibility.

Looking Ahead

SECRETARY of Commerce Roper's plan for an advisory commission composed of major industrialists will go into operation soon to inaugurate the first serious attempt at long range business planning. The plan represents a drastic departure from the traditional American trust in luck.

The movement has been given the endorsement of a group of nationally known business men, including Henry I. Harriman, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce; Alfred P. Sloan, chairman of the board of General Motors; Walter C. Teagle, president of the Standard Oil company; Alexander Legge, president of the International Harvester company; and Gerard Swope, president of the General Electric company.

The whole idea of the plan is in line with the general program of the new administration and seeks to set up the machinery by which industry rather than government will undertake measures to counteract the periodic fluctuations in prosperity.

Together with the pending bill for industrial control and re-employment, this new step toward national planning is a sort of Fascistic attempt to obtain the willing support of capitalism in fulfillment of the most attractive features of Socialism.

GOOD MORNING

Let the following quotations speak:

J. P. Morgan, ruler of a financial empire beyond comprehension in its complexity, conservative capitalist par excellence, prophet of the chilly dollar, explained to a correspondent for the London Daily Express in Washington the other day that over-spending by governments and the modern trend toward Socialism are largely responsible for the world's troubles.

"The whole world today is an example of the unrest caused by the Socialistic trend of government. England, France, and the United States are examples of what legislators will do in order to give the people what they want.

"Modern parliamentarians seem to be responsible for the orgy of over-spending, giving to people benefits for which they have not worked and to which they are not entitled," he said.

Deprecating the "legend" of the power of the house of Morgan, the world's premier financier humbly insisted, "As a matter of fact, we haven't got as much power as President Roosevelt."

As to the future of capitalism he predicted, "I think the capitalistic system will endure because it is the only system guaranteeing distribution of wealth. Once you get started on redistribution of the world's goods you can't stop. The next person coming along will want redistribution after his own fashion."

Like most common persons, the name of Morgan fills me with such unexplainable awe and fearful reverence that it is only with difficulty that I can raise my voice above a frightened whisper of protest. But these expressions of Mr. Morgan's undoubtedly sincere convictions are so inimical to the "general welfare" upon which any enduring system of society must be based, so out of step with the progress of the world, so arrogantly reactionary, that it remains impossible to be quiet even out of loyalty to the royal house of Morgan.

In order to be perfectly fair and clear, we will take up the Ruler's several points one by one and see just what they mean and what their significance might be.

As for the first, has not Mr. Morgan forgotten that the "Socialistic trend of government" upon which he blames the world's "unrest" began to gain headway only recently because it promised a measure of relief from that same unrest? The trend toward Socialism has been a direct result of the unrest long nurtured by the Morgan order of things, certainly not a cause of it.

It is difficult to understand in this year of 1933 how anyone could petulantly deplore the fact that "England, France, and the United States are examples of what legislators will do in order to give the people what they want." What, may we ask, are legislators and governments for if not to give the people what they want? The people pay the bills; the people elect the legislators; the people live and die under the governments they create. What sort of logic is it that insists that the legislators should not give the people what they want?

To go just a little deeper, Mr. Morgan insists that the parliamentarians have given the people "benefits for which they have not worked and to which they are not entitled." Did Mr. Morgan work for the benefits he has received? Memory recalls that he fell heir to them. By what right other than through the divine chance that he is his father's son is he entitled to them? Have those benefits that have come to him since he took over his father's throne been purely the rewards of labor? Many of them seem rather to have been the rewards of shrewd manipulation to avoid his honest share in the cost of the government whose benefits he enjoyed.

He questions the right of the people to the benefits given them by their legislators. The people elected those legislators. Whatever benefits accrue to the people are paid for by the people. How could their title be clearer?

In the next step the great man would be almost ludicrous if it were not for the awful pregnancy of his sorrowful complaint that "we haven't got as much power as President Roosevelt." It is time the nation gives thanks to a benevolent providence that what he says is true.

I do not intend here to write a brief for Socialism or to argue that Capitalism is doomed. To make this discussion complete, however, it is necessary to point out what appears to be a glaring fallacy in Mr. Morgan's final contention that the capitalistic system will endure because "it is the only system guaranteeing distribution of wealth."

The truth of the matter is that capitalism, with all its praiseworthy incentives to progress and individual achievement, has the almost fatal drawback of being the only system that makes absolutely no pretense of "guaranteeing the distribution of wealth." Of course no one would expect Mr. Morgan, whose family and friends have benefited probably more than any other single group by Capitalism's maldistribution of wealth, to be in favor of any system that would threaten to take the pudding from his hand. But the brazenness of his apparent belief that this is a just distribution is simply an insult to reason and to justice.

In direct refutation of Mr. Morgan's whole philosophy, the cure for the world's troubles, the sedative for the world's "unrest," seems to lie in the adoption of one of two courses: complete Socialism, or an adaptation of the best principles in Socialism to the present system of Capitalistic individuality. The latter path is the one in which the present administration is heading.

Since Mr. Morgan harbors such a righteous dread of Socialism, it will be to his interest to stoop to compromise and lend whatever support he can to the progress of the times. If the new program fails and it is found impossible to effect a satisfactory distribution of wealth by maintaining the skeleton of Capitalism, the American people are liable to insist on a complete fulfillment of the "Socialistic trend of government." And the legislators will "give the people what they want."

New Ideas in Economics

How They Balance the Budget; Two Expenditures.

By J. R. BRACKETT

(Associated Press Business Writer) NEW YORK (AP)—How can a government spend more than it receives and yet have a balanced budget?

The answer to this paradox is both a matter of bookkeeping and a practical matter. It comes down to paying expenses that recur year after year out of the budget while paying for other expenditures by borrowing money.

One expenditure is known as ordinary or operating and the other as extraordinary. The government has certain ordinary expenses in operating—for instance, the department of agriculture and other state departments. It must also pay money to war veterans every year. To meet these expenses the government assesses taxes.

On the other hand, the government at times spends large sums of money for extraordinary purposes. At present it plans to spend $3,300,000,000 for public works. To raise this money by taxation at once would mean that taxes would have to be more than doubled.

To avoid such taxes the government borrows, proposing to pay off the debt installments. Enough money must be raised by taxation to pay the interest and installments on the debt, which become ordinary expenditures.

Congress is now planning taxes to take care of the interest and installments on the proposed $3,300,000,000 extraordinary expenditures, and the president has insisted that if expenses for veterans are increased new taxes to meet those payments must be affixed.

Keeping Up With the New Books

By JOHN SELBY

"Evelyn Prentice," by W. E. Woodward; (Alfred A. Knopf, New York)

NEW YORK—A happy revision of one of the standard novel plots goes on the stands today. It is called "Evelyn Prentice," and it is written by W. E. Woodward, whose previous efforts have been in two fields besides fiction—biography, and economics. There have been at least three other novels, and his biographies include both George Washington and General Grant.

"Evelyn Prentice" is about the wife who marries the busy lawyer, gets bored, returns casually to the scene of her girlhood, and is thereby psychically prepared for disaster. It is a little involved, the reason why, but no matter.

In Evelyn's case the disaster was a young poet named Kennard, and exactly what you expect to happen did happen. It gets to be a regular affair, letters are written (by Evelyn), and in the end money is demanded for the letters. Melodrama fits its bat-like wings.

increased new taxes to meet those payments must be affixed.

Below War Record

The government's total debt is still some $5,000,000,000 below the record set at the end of the war, during which it was necessary to borrow much money to meet extraordinary war expenditures.

The total then reached was more than $25,000,000,000, against more than $21,000,000,000 today. The debt was reduced to some $15,000,000,000 between 1919 and 1930.

Political economists say that in times of depression the government is about the only agency which can spend money and that it must spend it to care for the unemployed, and for other purposes.

Hog Administrator Would Boost 1933 Spring Pig Crops

AMES, June 9 (AP)—Price increases on the 1933 spring pig crop is the immediate aim of Dr. A. G. Black, Iowa State college farm economist who was appointed corn and hog administrator under the federal farm act.

Dr. Black said it is probable that a national conference will be called to plan details of the corn and hog problem, with the hope of immediate action on hogs and a reduction of acreage in the 1934 corn crop.

Dr. Black is on six months leave of absence from the college and will leave Monday for Washington.

SCREEN COMMENT

HOLLYWOOD—And still they come—these anecdotes about the Marx brothers' fistic protege, Canvassack Cohen.

Several days ago, the Paramount studio asked Zeppo Marx to get the brothers and the fighter together for publicity pictures.

Zeppo agreed. They suggested 11 o'clock the following morning. "Okay," said Zeppo. "No, wait a minute. If he comes at 11, we'll have to feed him. Better make it 1 o'clock."

HOLLYWOOD PARADE—Negotiations are going on with much secrecy, but a few people know that Connie Bennett is close to signing a contract with the new Twentieth Century Productions, which means Barry Zanuck and Joseph M. Schenck. Higher bids from another company may block the deal. But they'll have to be quick.

Just as soon as the studio gives the final word, Jean Harlow is leaving for the World's Fair. (She used to live in Chicago.) On her way home, the platinum-haired star will visit her grandmother in Kansas City... Greta Garbo has joined the bicycle fad, but she makes no public appearances. Her pedaling is limited to the walks and paths of her estate... Wonder why Billie Bakewell ducked out on his party at the Brown Derby the other night and went across the street to the Hollywood Place to long distance El Paso? And he talked for 30 minutes.

The funniest picture Fox ever made—they'll tell you—can't be shown in theaters. It's Winnie Sheehan's private reel peered together from blow-ups (missed lines and impromptu comments) on the sets.

Impatient to start on Dick Barthelmess' "Shanghai Orchid," Warners have persuaded the star to forego his European vacation. He'll be coming back here in about 10 days. And Ann Dvorak may play opposite... Lupe Velez did not return. Johnny Weissmuller has a wire telling him to meet her at the station or she'll "keel" him... And Bill Gargan is studying singing, tap dancing and typing. Says he: "No matter what happens in the picture business, I'm going to make a living."

Students Pour Into Iowa City to Register for University Summer School

Expect 3,000 to Enroll for S.U.I. Session

Record Attendance is Predicted in Two Units

The acquisition of knowledge by which they hope to better themselves economically will be continued by some 3,000 men and women in the University of Iowa's thirty-four annual summer session.

Beginning Monday morning, the first term, with its hundreds of courses in about 36 colleges and departments, will continue until July 20, and will be followed by the second term of five weeks.

Deans Predict Gains
What will be the effect of the times on the total registration will not be known until the rolls are complete, but two deans, Eugene A. Gilmore of law, and Carl E. Seashore of graduate college, have predicted record enrollments in those units.

Emphasis is placed upon the quality rather than the quantity of courses, it is pointed out by Dean Paul C. Packer of the college of education who is serving his seventh year as director of the session.

Grad Students Return
The work is so arranged that graduate students return for several summers to study under the same professors, in order to complete requirements for advanced degrees. Many of these are school teachers and administrators to whom a higher degree is a virtual necessity for professional advancement.

Nearly 40 states probably will be represented by the registrants. Last year's Iowa summer session was the seventh largest among American state universities.

New Ruling Made on Work Done Prior to Five Years Ago

Credit work taken by graduate students of the University of Iowa prior to five years ago will be reduced in reckoning credits toward a master's degree, it was announced by the summer session office.

Credits dating back to six years will be reduced by one-fifth, those dating back seven years by two-fifths, eight years by three-fifths, nine years by four-fifths, and credit earned 10 years ago or longer will be assigned no value.

Ripley Explanations

A 7,000 mile fire alarm: On May 28, 1929, an oil well caught fire at Moroeni, Rumania, and all the resources of the Rumanian government and of the American concessionaires proved insufficient to extinguish it. By the spring of 1931, the fire had burned out a crater 250 feet wide and 65 feet deep; had taken a toll of 14 human lives, and $750,000 in good American money. Two hundred people were wounded in the attempt to combat it. Then Myron M. Kinley of Tulsa, Okla., the fireman of the 7,000 mile run, was called into action. Hurrying to the scene of the great conflagration, he required more than five months of skillful labor to extinguish the volcano of oil. He caused hundreds of pounds of explosives to be dragged to the edge of the crater, and lowered in fireproof wrappings, to blast dirt into the flaming hole. Water was played on it constantly, and the mud and cement boiled and bubbled like lava. The fire was choked off when the crater was finally filled with the cement mixture, cooled by tons of water, and Mr. Kinley returned to America from his record 7,000 mile alarm.

All-State High School Music Groups to Establish Record

Advance Enrollments Total 60 From 5 States

The largest all-state orchestra and chorus in the five-year history of the University of Iowa's plan is assured as 60 high school boys and girls from 22 towns and five states yesterday were listed as advance applicants.

By the middle of next week, music department officials expect that the final enrollment will reach 80. The organizations, composed of outstanding young musicians, will rehearse for six weeks.

Prof. Charles B. Righter, director of the groups, said that despite the heaviest advance applications there are vacancies for violins, French horns, bassoons, and string basses in the orchestra, and for tenors in the chorus.

Several sections of the state are represented, he reported. Young musicians will come from Burlington, Iowa City, West Liberty, Ames, Toledo, Dubuque, Waukon, Des Moines, Lone Tree, Washington, Council Bluffs, Waterloo, Ida Grove, Cedar Rapids, Fairfield, Colfax, Red Oak, Oelwein, Tama, Brooklyn, Lansing, and Ottumwa.

The groups also are open to musicians from other states who have demonstrated their ability in competition. Michigan, Nebraska, Minnesota, Indiana, and New Jersey each will contribute pupils.

After two days of quiet, following commencement and the high school academic contest, the campus was again the scene of much activity yesterday, as summer session students began the process of registration for the first term.

Though no figures are yet available on the number of registrants, yesterday's activities indicated that the depression had by no means conquered the quest for knowledge. At least two units of the university are expecting greater enrollments than last year.

Dean Seashore predicts a larger enrollment in the graduate college, and Dean Gilmore expects a record group in the college of law.

It will be a matter of interest to compare statistics for this year, when they are available, with those of last year. Last year's figures show, for example, that nearly half the summer session students were graduates, 42.3 per cent, to be exact.

They show also that the summer session draws students from a wider area than the regular academic sessions. The states represented last year were: Alabama, Arizona, California, Colorado, Arkansas, Connecticut, Florida, Georgia, Idaho, Illinois, Iowa, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Mississippi, Montana, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, New Mexico, North Carolina,

Bonds Suffer From Relapse

Market Influenced by Weakness of Specialties

NEW YORK, June 9 (AP)—Influenced, apparently, by the weakness of various specialties, the bond market suffered another moderate relapse today despite a last-minute rally which enabled some of the principal losers to retrieve portions of their declines.

Trading turned quiet dull as prices sagged and sales totaled only $15,184,000, par value, compared with $20,568,000 yesterday. The average for 60 domestic corporate loans was off three-tenths of a point, the sharpest drop in about two months.

Communications company issues were the heaviest of the day. Postal Telegraph 5s dropping 7 points and Western Union maturities losing 1 to more than 3 following the elimination from the railroad bill of the amendment which would have permitted mergers of telegraph and cable companies. International Telephone loans were also off 3 to more than 4 points. American Telephone bonds were slightly easier.

Losses of 1 to more than 5 points in the German group were also an unsettling factor. The reichsbank's formal announcement of a partial transfer moratorium was the depressant in this list. Other foreign bonds were irregular.

The more active domestic losers of the day included some of the following: American Telephone & Telegraph Co. 4s, down 1/2 point; American Telephone & Telegraph Co. 5s, down 1/2 point; American Telephone & Telegraph Co. 6s, down 1/2 point.

Johnny Goodman Grabs National Open Lead With Record Breaking Score of 66

Walter Johnson Succeeds Roger Peckinpaugh as Manager of Cleveland Indians

Omaha Golfer Leads Field by 2 Strokes

Armour in Second With Kirkwood's 144 in Third Place

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

NORTH SHORE GOLF CLUB, Glenview, Ill., June 9 (AP)—Johnny Goodman, 23 year old amateur star and "giant killer" from Omaha, Neb., skyrocketed into the lead for the United States open golf championship in the gathering dusk today with a dazzling, record smashing 66, six under par.

The youth, who has been banging at the ball of golfing fame ever since he eliminated Bob Jones from the national amateur championship four years ago, achieved the seemingly impossible by spotting Tommy Armour seven strokes and then taking the lead away from the famous "Black Scot" by a two stroke margin for the first 36 holes of the tournament.

Passes Armour
Goodman rushed to the front at the half way mark with 75-66-141, overhauling Armour's 68-75-143, which had barely withstood the day's previous attacks, and leaving an all star field staggering in the wake of the spectacular amateur.

Joe Kirkwood of Coral Gables, Fla., adding a sub-par 70 to his 74 for a total of 144, occupied third place; Olin Dutra of Los Angeles, the P. G. A. champion, was fourth with 75-71-146; and the defending champion, Gene Sarazen of New York, was a full 10 strokes back of Goodman with two erratic rounds, 74-77-151.

Not Since Jones
No amateur since the reign of Robert T. Jones, Jr.—a spectator today—has given the professionals as sound a drubbing as Goodman administered to them with the greatest round of his meteoric career. Whether or not Johnny can keep up his electrifying pace, over the final 36 hole stretch tomorrow, he was king for the time being, with a round of golf that has had only one equal and no superiors in the 37 year history of the open championship.

The 66 tied the previous tournament low mark, made by Sarazen last year on his last round. It clipped two strokes off the North Shore course record, set by Armour yesterday. It was featured by as marvelous an exhibition around the greens as any championship has ever witnessed.

Equalling the all-time record for low scoring in the national open, Johnny Goodman shot into the lead with a 66 to give him a total of 141 for the first 36 holes. He was two strokes ahead of Tommy Armour.

Gehrig, Foxx Tie Babe for Homer Lead With Twelve

PHILADELPHIA, June 9 (AP)—The New York Yankees outdid the Athletics in today's section of the home run derby and won a 7 to 0 decision.

Tony Lazzeri's tenth four-base blow of the season was the deciding hit after Lou Gehrig and Jimmie Foxx had clouted a homer apiece to tie Babe Ruth for the major league lead. Tony came up after Ruth and Chapman had drawn passes in the eighth and parked one of Rube Walberg's pitches on top of the left field pavilion to provide the winning margin. The A's got back two runs in their half of the eighth but a double play stopped them short of a tie.

Gehrig walloped homer No. 12 with two aboard in the first inning to send the Yanks off ahead and Foxx hit his twelfth of the season and fourth in two days with Coleman on base in the seventh to tie the score.

Appling's Homer Wins in Fourteenth

CHICAGO, June 9 (AP)—A home run smash off Art Herring's first pitch in the fourteenth inning by Luke Appling today gave the Chicago White Sox a 10 to 9 victory over Detroit, after they had staged a five run uprising in the ninth to tie the score.

The Tigers went into the last of the ninth boasting a 9 to 4 lead, only to have the Sox drive Charley Fischer and Elton Hossett for home runs.

BIG SIX

Ever Swanson of the Chicago White Sox came back into the big six yesterday. He made four hits in seven times up in the long game against Detroit and took third place in the American league away from Ben Chapman, who failed to get a hit. Al Simmons made three hits in the same game and added two points to his first place average.

While his rivals were idle, Pepper Martin improved his position at the top of the National league by seven points, hitting three times in five attempts.

Tennis, Golf Swimming to Attract Many

Hold Tournaments for Golf, Tennis Players

Although no organized sports program on the scale of usual collegiate activity is offered summer school students, those who are athletically inclined will find no limit to the field at Iowa.

Organized sports in the strictest sense of the term are not present but as a rule each sport is organized, either in the form of a league or a tournament. Golf and swimming are the two sports which have the least organization while tennis is the most highly organized.

Although called the varsity courts, the seven playing surfaces next to Iowa field are open to all students for tennis.

Across the river on either side of the field house will be found additional courts to the total of almost 40. In addition to these outdoor courts there are two courts in the field house to be used in case of rain.

The tournaments usually climax the season, both open to all students, but one open to all entrants. The summer school championships are held near the end of the season, just before the Mississippi Valley tennis tournament.

The latter meet is open to all comers with divisions for men's singles and doubles and women's singles. Golf enthusiasts will have an opportunity to play over one of the best college golf courses in the middle-local field but few college owned links can equal those used by Coach Kennett's teams.

Swimming offers the greatest variety, for there are enough pools to furnish room for all students at any time. Ranging from the huge tank in the field house, one of the largest in the country, to innumerable open pools within 20 miles of Iowa City, summer students need have no worry about the 'old swimming hole.'

Baseball or kittenball is confined, for the most part, to the summer school league which plays a double round robin schedule to decide the title. Entries are usually from the Camp, the Quad, and any other groups that can muster sufficient strength.

In addition to all these sports, the field house, women's gym, women's field and Iowa field offer plenty of opportunity for as varied an athletic program as any one could desire.

Cards Take First Place

Pound Chicago Hurlers for 12 to 2 Win and Lead

ST. LOUIS, June 9 (AP)—Tex Carleton pitched the St. Louis Cardinals back into first place in the national league today, defeating the Chicago Cubs, 12 to 2. It was Carleton's seventh victory of the season against two defeats.

The Cards' victory gave them a percentage of .625, three points ahead of the Giants, who were idle. The Redbirds drove Pat Malone, the Cubs' strikeout pitcher, from the mound in the third and Lloyd Tinning, who succeeded him, was for three runs in the fifth taken out for a pinch hit the seventh. Lynn Nelson Henshaw then each hurled a victory today was the six or the Cards in the last 19. It was the second victory lays over the Cubs and the out of 11 games this season.

Former Star Hurler Back to 'His Game'

Couldn't Resist Evans' Proposition for Managership

CLEVELAND, June 9 (AP)—A gentleman farmer of Maryland packed his bags tonight and reserved train tickets for Cleveland, where he will become manager of the Indians—Tris Speaker's old ball club.

He is Walter Johnson, the "Big Train," whose arm of steel performed pitching wonders for the Washington Senators through nearly a score of years.

He is the same Walter who piloted the Nats through four stirring years from 1929 to 1932 and then tried to quit the game that made his name immortal.

But he could not resist the temptation to return when Billy Evans, the Indians' general manager, gave him a proposition this week. So he signed up today to manage the club the rest of this year and all of next season. He starts work Sunday.

Johnson succeeds Roger Peckinpaugh, an old Washington teammate whose five-year term here was something of a managerial record in the big leagues.

Bresnahan to Preside Over Track Clinic in Chicago, June 15th

George T. Bresnahan, University of Iowa track coach, will preside over the annual clinic of the National Collegiate Track Coaches association in Chicago June 15 when more than 75 mentors from all sections of the country will discuss mutual problems.

The Hawkeye coach has been president of the organization for the last two years. Discussions about the shot put, sprints, and mile and two mile will be led by such men as R. L. Templeton of Stanford, Dean Cromwell of Southern California, and Matthew Geis of Princeton.

After being on the varsity track squad only a week, Barry Ornstein of Illinois tied the famous Willis Ward of Michigan in the high jump in a dual meet at 6 feet, 1 1/2 inches.

The Bucs added another run in the seventh on a hit by Thevenow, a walk, a sacrifice and Lloyd Warner's single.

Morgan Condemns Publicity Given Clients as Senate Concludes Investigation

Asserts Probe Resulted in "Unwarranted Criticism" of Company's Customers

Banker's Parting Shot Ends Present Series of Hearings

WASHINGTON, June 9 (AP)—J. P. Morgan's parting shot tonight at his senate investigators was a vigorous condemnation of the publicity given selected client lists, which he said resulted in "an unwarranted criticism of our customers."

"This unjust criticism we feel deeply," said a statement filed by the head of the banking house at the close of three weeks of hearings.

Another List
Just a bit earlier, the financier had watched another of the lists which have caused such official reprobation placed into the banking committee's record. It showed bargain-price sales of Johns Manville stock in June, 1927, to Morgan and company's official family at one price and to prominent outsiders at $10 higher.

Again included were such names as William H. Woodin, Norman H. Davis, Owen D. Young, and John J. Raskob. The sales were long before Woodin and Davis entered official life.

"Protested Vigorously"
"We protested vigorously against the breach of what we have always assumed to be the confidential relationship of the banker and his customer," said Morgan and company.

This printed document ended the present series of hearings on Morgan and company affairs. But Thomas W. Lamont, a partner, was told to prepare himself for certain questions next fall and the committee will determine tomorrow whether to summon officials of Kuhn, Loeb & company and Dillon, Read & company.

Last minute testimony also included a balance sheet of the Morgan house, prepared by certified accountants as of March 31. It showed that from Dec. 31, 1932, total assets shrank from $424,709,095 to $317,837,290, deposits from $340,000,000 to $238,793,000 and government security holdings from $224,000,000 to $146,071,000.

Partners
Most of the day was devoted to questioning four Morgan partners—Thomas W. Lamont, Thomas S. Lamont, William Ewing and Harold Stanley—about stock transactions which showed losses deductible from taxable income.

Nor was the tax phase of the inquiry forgotten in Morgan's last statement. Earlier it was indicated that all 20 Morgan partners paid no income tax in 1931 and 1932 and but $48,000 in 1930.

"The precise facts as to our payments of income taxes seem to have been misunderstood by a portion of the community," the firm said. "Since 1927 the partners of our firm have, as stated, paid upwards of $51,000,000 in income taxes. . . . In 1929 alone they were approximately $11,000,000.

"In the years 1930, '31, and '32 our capital losses (deductible under the law just as previously the profits had been added) were such as more than to wipe out all our income and leave nothing taxable. Income taxes are after all payable

AROUND THE TOWN with DICK FAGAN

Visitors

It was not known last night whether or not curious Iowa Citizens would be allowed to visit the conservation corps "Camp City" this afternoon. There will probably be a crowd watching the construction of the city, however, in spite of any orders that camp commanders might issue.

Wandering

And with all plans for camp provisions still indefinite, local merchants were wondering yesterday where food and other supplies will be purchased.

Restrained

Judge Harold D. Evans issued a temporary injunction yesterday to keep William Walsh from speaking to or molesting his wife, Mary Walsh. A divorce suit was started in April by the latter.

On Again, Off Again

Police report that there is a decrease in the number of mumps quarantine signs that they have been posting for the last month. Now they are taking them down as fast as they are putting them up.

Fewer Canines

Also, according to Police Chief W. H. Bender, there are fewer stray dogs around the city now. Homeless dogs have been keeping police on the run for some time.

Again

The hearing on the application to install a new elevator in the Johnson County bank building has been postponed again. It will come up the last of this month.

Health

Twenty-six 4-H club boys have entered the county health contest. Physical examinations will be held Monday and Tuesday at University hospital and the winners will be announced at the annual Farm Bureau exhibition here.

CENTERVILLE (AP)—Death, following a brief illness, claimed James A. Bradley, 71, president of two banks here and four others in southern Iowa.

upon income and not upon deficits." Senator Costigan (D., Colo.) questioned Thomas W. Lamont almost an hour about the influence of the Morgan firm and its many corporate activities. He said a recent book had stated that Morgan through interlocking directorates and other means controlled one-fourth the corporate assets of the country.

"I think you would have to reach some far-fetched conclusions to reach anything like that figure," Lamont replied.

"In other words, I think there is a popular illusion that we are much more powerful than we are."

Congress Revolt on Vet Cuts Threatens Roosevelt Program

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT, SEN. TOM CONNALLY, LEWIS W. DOUGLAS

By ROY WILLIS
Special Correspondent
WASHINGTON, June 9—In the hotly-debated veterans' pensions issue, which dispelled the harmony that has existed between the president and congress since his inauguration, President Roosevelt faces the first hurdle of his administration, and the importance of the outcome can hardly be exaggerated. For should the president be beaten on this issue, his whole economy program stands in danger of failure.

Battle Is On
That he intends to fight the matter to the last ditch became apparent when President Roosevelt called a group of house Democratic leaders to the White House to discuss the looming revolt. During the conference the chief executive told the house leaders that if the amendments—sponsored by Senator Tom Connally of Texas—to the Independent Offices bill became law, congress would have to provide higher taxes. The Connally amendment, which was adopted by the senate, would reduce economies in veterans' allowances and pensions and would increase government expenditures by $153,675,000. That sum added to the amounts involved in other senate amendments would bring the total increase to $170,675,067. These figures come from Budget Director Lewis W. Douglas.

Platform Cited
In his conference with house leaders, President Roosevelt warned that passage of the Connally amendment would be a violation of the Democratic campaign platform, which pledged drastic cuts in government expenditures. However, the president made it clear to the conferees that he is prepared to make any reasonable changes in the original economy measure as they affected destitute veterans, asserting that the administration would not permit veterans to be put out of hospitals, even if they were not beneficiaries under the new regulations. According to the Democratic platform the government pledges itself to take care of war veterans who have suffered disability or disease caused by or resulting from actual war service and of their dependents. The president made it clear that the government intends to carry

Plan Series of Lectures

A series of lectures on "Religion and the new knowledge" has been arranged by the First Presbyterian church for the first session of summer school, it was announced yesterday.

Speakers who will take part in the church program are Prof. C. W. Stewart of the department of physics, Principal Maude McBroom of University elementary school, Prof. I. L. Pollock of the political science department, Prof. P. A. Bond of the chemistry department, Prof. F. E. Haynes of the sociology department, and Prof. M. Willard Lampe of the school of religion.

The first lecturer will be Professor Stewart who is to speak at 9:45 a.m. tomorrow at the church. At 6:45 p.m. the Rev. W. P. Lemon will open a vesper series on "Religion in world literature" with a talk on the "Divine Comedy" by Dante.

Bank Released

DES MOINES (AP)—Release of the Iowa State Savings bank at Knoxville from restrictions of S. F. 111 was announced today by the state banking department. The department announced also that the Farmers Trust and Savings bank at Nevada had gone into receivership.

ry out this pledge, but payments to veterans with non-service disability must be drastically cut.

—Or Higher Taxes

Speakers Henry Rainey of the house of representatives, who was one of the White House conferees, offered the opinion that the sentiment of the lower body is overwhelmingly in favor of the Connally amendment, but admitted there is a possibility of a compromise which may head off an explosion in congress.

Falling such a compromise, which, of course, must be acceptable to the administration, the president will give congress the difficult task of providing taxes to meet the increased expenditure. For the chief executive told the representatives that the budget must be balanced, and that if necessary he would stay in the capital the whole summer to do it.

It was originally intended that congress should adjourn on June 10, but it is the opinion of congressional leaders that the new developments will necessitate a continuance of the session for at least another week.

It is unlikely that any action on the veterans' pensions impasse will be taken until members of congress have gauged the country's reaction. It is also possible that President Roosevelt may make a direct statement of his side of the case to the public.

Clarence Betts Sentenced, Fined

Clarence Betts, appearing yesterday in district court on the charge of maintaining a liquor nuisance, was sentenced to the county jail for three months and ordered to pay a fine of $300 and costs by Judge Harold D. Evans.

If Betts pays the fine, however, his jail sentence will be suspended on good behavior, Judge Evans ruled.

Parade Ends in Disorder

Unpaid Teachers of Chicago Protest Treatment

CHICAGO, June 9 (AP)—A nine blocks long parade of unpaid Chicago school teachers, their pupils and parents was punctuated by fist fights and disorders in the loop today.

Several persons were mauled and a few emerged with minor injuries. Police denied that they had clubbed any of the demonstrators.

The first brush with police occurred as the marchers—estimated as high as 18,000—protested when officers took a truck, equipped with loud speakers, out of the parade. Leaders had used the amplifiers to direct the parade. Police said the teachers had no permit to include an amplifier in the parade.

Most Serious
The most serious disorders occurred at State and Randolph

in the heart of the loop, when several teachers engaged in arguments with police because street car traffic was permitted to go through the parade. Several fights started, witnesses said, but they soon were quelled by police and the march resumed.

A little later at Jackson boulevard and Dearborn street, two mounted policemen, with clubs raised, rode into a section of the procession to halt it and to permit traffic to pass. Police broke the line in the midst of a group of women.

Men Move Enmasse

Several men, claiming the officers harassed the women, moved enmasse on the officers and forced them to retreat. The police backed their horses out of the line and the parade proceeded. A few pedestrians who tried to break through the parade were roughly handled.

In a mass meeting following the demonstration leaders called upon teachers to stage parades every Tuesday until they were paid their back salaries—now five and a half months overdue—in full. The group pledged allegiance to the president, to the flag, sang the national anthem and then adjourned.
