Parley Faces Showdown on Currency Plan

'Gold Nations' Urge England to Cooperate

Bank of England Still Refuses to Ask for Stabilization

LONDON, June 27 (AP)—The world economic conference faced a showdown tonight upon the decision whether the principal European powers will follow the American monetary program for breaking the back of the depression or will leave the United States to pursue her own policy alone.

Abandoning all hope of persuading or forcing the United States to stabilize the dollar, representatives of central banks of four continental gold countries, headed by France, exerted pressure on the Bank of England to join the stabilization group, but "the old lady of Threadneedle street," remained mum.

While the monetary drama was being played behind the scene of the conference, the four-power wheat deliberations for restriction of production and export encountered stubborn difficulties and called a recess for its meeting until sometime in July when the size of the 1933 crop may be more exactly known.

Note of Optimism
A note of determined optimism was sounded by Raymond Moley, assistant secretary of state, as he approached London to bring the latest reports with the views of President Roosevelt.

"Definite progress is being made in accordance to the original program," Mr. Moley said at Cobh, Ireland.

Determination that the conference must succeed also was voiced by Cordell Hull, secretary of state, and chairman of the American representation here, who spoke at a luncheon given by the Pilgrims' society in honor of the delegates from Washington.

C. H. Ireland Dies Suddenly

Heart Disease Fatal to Warden of Anamosa Yesterday

ANAMOSA, June 27 (AP)—Warden C. H. Ireland of Anamosa reformatory died today of heart disease after an illness of a few days.

He was 53 years old.

Ireland had been warden of the state reformatory since 1922 when he was appointed by Governor Turner to succeed J. N. Baumel.

Deputy in Charge
Deputy Warden F. L. Brinacombe will be in charge of the reformatory temporarily, it was announced by E. H. Felton, member of the state board of control who was here today.

Warden Ireland was a life long resident of Jones county and for 20 years had been active in business in Anamosa. He served for some time as a guard in the institution and was a veteran of the Spanish-American war.

Surviving him are the widow and three children, Malsie, a student at Grinnell college, and Charles, Jr., and Dorothy.

Pays Tribute
Felton paid tribute to Ireland in the following statement:

"The state of Iowa has lost a most valuable and efficient servant. He lived and worshipped his work, being in close touch with even the most minute detail of the institution.

"He ruled with a firm but fair mind, always being kind and considerate of his employes and of the inmates.

"He overtaxed himself in the performance of his duties."

Hits Telephone Pole
Charles Vermace of Iowa City ran into a telephone pole on Rochester road at about 9:15 p.m. yesterday breaking it off and smashing the radiator of the car in which he was riding. None of the occupants of the car was injured.

WEATHER

IOWA: Probably scattered showers or thunderstorms Wednesday; Thursday partly cloudy; continued warm.

Five New Members Are Elected to State Historical Society

Five new members were elected to the State Historical society, and three were enrolled as life members, at a regular monthly meeting of the board of curators in the rooms of the society yesterday afternoon.

Those named to membership are: L. F. Cerny of Iowa City, Russell A. Hult of Davenport, Prof. Floyd A. Nagler of the college of engineering, Mrs. Olive Cole Smith of Mt. Pleasant, and Lee H. Clearman of Lindsay, Cal.

The newly enrolled life members are: D. A. Emery of Ottumwa, Ruth A. Gallaher of Iowa City, and Walter Frederick Dickinson of Jerico, N. Y.

Rowe Ends University Conference

Gives Final Address to Physical Education Teachers

Tests are invaluable in physical education, Floyd A. Rowe, directing supervisor of the bureau of physical welfare, Cleveland, Ohio, told teachers and students of physical education assembled in Old Capitol yesterday morning during the last day's session of the University of Iowa's conference on problems in that field.

"Tests have paid their way, in the method which they have given us of differentiating the abilities of students," Mr. Rowe told the group of 100 persons.

Results Useful
The results of these tests, he pointed out, may be used by school superintendents or supervisors of physical education to determine the effectiveness of their teaching methods and to suggest any needed changes.

"By far the greatest use to which these tests may be put, however, is by the teacher in the classroom," the speaker declared.

Four steps make up the testing process—administering the tests, determining the results to find the weaknesses, formulate a basis for working in courses of study, and working out these changes. Retesting may be used to determine the effectiveness of these changes and suggest further development, he concluded.

Professor Mitchell

The morning session opened with an address by Prof. Elmer D. Mitchell of the University of Michigan. Professor Mitchell explained the manner in which programs of intramural sports may be developed in public schools.

Many persons say there is a race between civilization and catastrophe and when they say that they are attacking education and the schools, declared Grace Stafford, assistant supervisor of physical education, public schools, Gary, Ind., in an afternoon address of the conference.

Secret Diplomatic Letters Reveal War Was Prolonged After Germany Sought Peace

Central Powers Asked Cessation a Year Before Armistice

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—Secret diplomatic correspondence of the turbid closing days of the World war today was uncovered with a revelation that the conflict had been prolonged for 10 months after Germany and Austria-Hungary had sought peace.

Decoded Messages
Decoded messages, dust-laden in locked files for a decade and a half, disclosed that the central powers—foreseeing and fearing ultimate defeat—petitioned for peace nearly a year before the final signing of armistice, only to be met by insistence upon full capitulation to American peace terms.

The year 1918, which the state department correspondence covered, began with the central powers feeling more and more the pinch of the allied blockade. The complete force of America's men and millions had yet to be thrown into the fray. The outlook in Berlin and Vienna was bleak. On Jan. 8, President Wilson outlined his famous 14 points.

Chancellor Hertling
A fortnight later, Chancellor Hertling told the German Reichstag that he could agree with it in all but those points having to do with colonies, evacuation from occupied territories and the creation of a free Poland.

Simultaneously, Chancellor Czernin told the Austro-Hungarian parliament he found in the Wilson attitude a "close approach to the Austro-Hungarian point of view."

But behind these formal expres-

W. Virginia Votes Repeal

California Also Joins List of 'Wet' States

CHARLESTON, W. Va., June 27 (AP)—West Virginia, regarded as one of the driest of the dry states, for 20 years, tonight became the fifteenth consecutive state to ratify repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

A wave of ballots that rolled in from the populous centers which cradle the state's great industries towered far above the comparatively meager majorities from 19 dry rural counties to give repeal a lead of 73,810 with two-thirds of the precincts reported.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 27 (AP)—Repeal votes outnumbered prohibition ballots more than 3 to 1 in first returns tonight from California's referendum on the eighteenth amendment.

Virtually all these returns were from Los Angeles county, which with its thickly populated neighborhoods once constituted the stronghold of the drys in the state. In 1,406 precincts out of the state's 9,347 the vote was 173,031 for repeal and 76,041 against.

Gives Formal Proclamation of Wheat Tax

30-Cent Levy Effective at Midnight on July 8

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—Upshooting grain prices notwithstanding, a processing tax of 30 cents a bushel on wheat, effective at midnight, July 8, was formally proclaimed today by Dr. R. G. Tugwell, assistant secretary of agriculture, after approval by President Roosevelt.

The tax, to be collected from millers and other manufacturers converting wheat into food products for home use, will be in effect for the ensuing marketing year. The rate, however, is subject to changes, which, Secretary Wallace has said, "will be as infrequently as possible."

483 Cents for Bread
In terms of an average one-pound loaf of bread, the tax will amount to 483 of a cent. For all flour except whole wheat and graham, the tax would come to .704 of a cent a pound.

The proclamation will automatically put into effect compensatory import taxes of 30 cents a bushel on wheat brought into this country, in addition to the present duty of 42 cents a bushel.

Price Swell Ignored
The swell in wheat prices during the last week was reported to have been ignored by farm administrators in determining the rate of the tax, which is expected to yield about $150,000,000. This would be used to pay cash benefits to farmers agreeing to curtailment up to 20 per cent of wheat acreage for harvest in 1934 and 1935.

The plan was sent by wire to President Roosevelt as he cruised up the New England coast on his first White House vacation. He signed it yesterday and returned it immediately.

Grains Still Soar Skyward

NEW YORK, June 27 (AP)—Grains galloped away from the other financial markets today.

Wheat—it rose substantially above $1 a bushel at Chicago—corn, oats, rye and barley left Wall Street's entries well in the rear, closing with advances that ranged from around 3 to 7 cents a bushel.

Stocks were strong in spots and hesitant in others, the average net change being a gain of 30 cents. This rise, however, was sufficient to put the Associated Press-Standard Statistics closing composite at a new high since November 1931, or $87.20. A number of shares closed $1 to $5 higher; a few leaders were off slightly.

Cotton blossomed hopefully during the first quarter hour, adding nearly $1 a bale to Monday's big advance. Heavy profit-taking nipped the rally and the market closed with net losses of 5 to 35 cents a bale.

On the New York stock exchange traders singled out individual groups for special attention. "Wet" shares soared, particularly National Distillers' products which skyrocketed $16.50 net to $102 against its 1933 low of $16.87.

Suit Attacks Law Reducing Salaries of Public Officers

SIoux CITY, June 27 (AP)—Constitutionality of the law reducing salaries of public officers was in question today in a suit brought by F. Price Smith, Woodbury county attorney, seeking the former salary of the office.

Smith represents the state committee of county officers organized to fight the law. The group contends that the law is unconstitutional because its provisions are contrary to the constitution, that no yea and nay vote was taken in the house, that the vote was not recorded in the house journal, that the bill was not properly named, and that it attempts to change many sections of the code.

Dr. Kappers, Neurologist, Speaks at University Today

Amsterdam Specialist to Discuss Cortex of Brain

A lecture on "The phylogeny of the brain cortex" will be presented this afternoon by Dr. C. U. Ariens Kappers, internationally known neurologist, at 4 o'clock in chemistry auditorium.

Dr. Kappers, as director of the Central Institute for Brain Research at Amsterdam, has carried on studies in anatomy and the development of the human brain and nervous systems of men and animals.

During the course of his work he has traveled throughout Europe, Asia, and Africa, where he made investigations on the human brain. He has studied Europeans, Egyptians, Chinese, Africans, and Arabians.

He has been ranked by physicians throughout the world as the leading specialist in the study of the nervous system. He has visited the United States several times, lecturing at various universities. He was awarded a degree by Yale university, and has been invited to join the staffs of several American institutions.

At present he is in Chicago, where he delivered several addresses before gatherings under the auspices of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, at the Century of Progress exposition.

Dr. Kappers' visit to the Iowa campus today will be his first. He will illustrate his lecture with slides which he prepared from his own studies.

The lecture will be open to summer session students and faculty members, as well as others who are interested.

Committee Asks Wallace to Hurry Application of Farm Measure in Raising Prices

Labor Voices Opposition to Textile Plans

Protests Wages, Hours as Outlined in Proposal

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—From labor and minority groups sudden opposition sprung today as the nation's textile operators formally placed before the national recovery administration their proposal to stabilize industry by establishing minimum wages and maximum working hours.

Hardly had the broad outlines of their agreement been sketched before the crowd of spectators present, when William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, objected to the age and labor provisions of the code and several manufacturers came forward with requests that their plants be exempted.

Two-Thirds
Presented by more than two-thirds of the domestic spindle and loom operators, the proposed code of fair competition must be approved by the Roosevelt administration before it takes the effect of law binding minorities to abide by it.

Hugh S. Johnson, administrator of the recovery legislation, told the thousand or more persons crowded into the big hot commerce department auditorium that "you are about to be witnesses to what may prove one of the most momentous meetings of this kind that has ever been held anywhere."

Opposition Voiced
George A. Sloan, president of the cotton textile institutes, Robert Amory of Boston, speaking for the northern plants, and William D. Anderson of Macon, Ga., spokesman for the south—had not concluded their statements before opposition was voiced.

Appearing unexpectedly with a request that he be heard, Senator James F. Byrnes of South Carolina made an appeal for curbing the stretch-out system.

Just Another Load

Hay Was Hey-Hey to Fairbank and Carmody, But It Was Still Just Hay to Constable

It might be hey-hey in Iowa City but it was just hay to the Riverside constable yesterday.

But "Doug" Fairbank, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, and Leo Carmody, employed at the Boone Coal company thought that the parade needed pepping up—and it was pepped up.

By the time the motored of Iowa City merchants advertising the Fourth of July celebration and Iowa City sales days reached Riverside yesterday afternoon it was beginning to be mere routine so when Fairbanks and Carmody spotted a truckload of hay parked on one side of the road they thought that it was just the thing to give more atmosphere to the parade—it did.

Hollers for Law
When the farmer found his load of hay moving down main street in the procession he hollered for the law and the law came. The constable proceeded to stop the hay wagon and evicted Fairbanks and Carmody from the driver's seat and began marching them down the main street of Riverside to the tune of, "And the farmer hauled another load away."

As they passed the band Carmody reached out and grabbed a bandman's cap and placed it on his head. When the constable looked up to see that he had a member of the band instead of the fellow in the white cap he let Carmody go and apologized but proceeded to the mayor's office with Fairbank.

Wanted Justice
Although the farmer was offered $10 to drop the charges he wanted the culprits punished and so the mayor held the trial.

He found Fairbank guilty of a willfully and knowingly stealing a load of hay from the main street of Riverside but smilingly decided that perhaps Fairbank, and the mysterious second person (Carmody) meant no great harm and so dismissed the case. But he warned them that if they were ever caught stealing another load of hay in Riverside they would be punished to the full extent of the law.

Would Pattern After Wheat, Cotton Plans

DES MOINES, June 27 (AP)—An already glutted pork market and a prospective increase in the number of hogs for the next six months goaded the Iowa corn-hog committee today to quick action in requesting of Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace prompt application of the farm relief act to corn and hogs.

Ask for Meeting
In a conference with Secretary Wallace, who left tonight for Kansas City after spending a few days at home, the committee asked that he call a meeting of producers to formulate a plan for using the same means to raise hog prices which are contemplated for wheat and cotton.

A similar request was included in a letter to Prof. A. G. Black, farm relief administrator at Washington, and other states were urged to cooperate with the Iowa committee in securing prompt action.

Farmers Impatient
Members of the committee told Wallace that Iowa farmers are impatiently waiting for some action and are ready to cooperate on any workable program. In reply Wallace declared that the administration is ready to act on the corn-hog problem as soon as farmers have shown their desire to have the farm act provisions applied to their products and have formulated a workable program.

The committee declared that corn (Turn to page 2)

Theater Will Present Play

Performance Scheduled to Begin at 8 o'Clock This Evening

"In the Shadow of a Rock," by Ellsworth P. Conkle of the speech department will be presented by University theater tonight at 8 o'clock in natural science auditorium. It will be repeated tomorrow.

The cast of 25, named to appear in this world premiere production, will be headed by Marie Park, in the role of a staunch pioneer woman of the Nebraska frontier of 1849. She is presented as a strong figure, known and loved by all in the community. This is the third of Mr. Conkle's plays to be produced by University theater during the last year. This has been characterized by Barrett Clark, New York dramatic critic, as "the most mature" of Conkle's plays.

The production will be presented under the direction of Prof. E. C. Mable. Settings have been designed by Arnold Gillette, theater scenic artist; costumes are by Mildred Sutherland, and lighting effects by Hunton D. Sellman, of the theater staff.

The play will be presented in natural science auditorium. Tickets will be sold at a single price. They may be secured at the office, room 10, liberal arts building, university extension 8464. Seats will also be on sale at the door.

Iowa Refused Aid of Reforestation Corps in Chinch Bug War

DES MOINES, June 27 (AP)—Refused the aid of reforestation corps workers, the state of Iowa today proceeded with its war on the chinch bug, which is damaging the corn crop in southern counties.

The state yesterday had asked the help of the 3,000 reforestation recruits but was advised today by Assistant U. S. Forester Fred Morrell that the reforestation act would not apply to such work.

In launching its offensive, calculated to destroy the bugs as they moved from fields of small grain into the corn, the state shipped two carloads of oil to the infested areas, where it will be used in constructing barriers.

Judge Considers Case of Vermace

District Judge Harold D. Evans took the case of Charles Vermace, who was brought into court on County Attorney F. B. Olsen's application to revoke his parole, under advisement yesterday.

Vermace was paroled in 1932 when he was convicted of a charge of child abandonment. C. B. Russell represented Vermace.

Mabel Kirkpatrick to Wed A. Hohenboken Tomorrow

Sister of Mrs. Newkirk Will Marry Geneseo Man at Muscatine

In the presence of more than 75 friends and relatives, Mabel Kirkpatrick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Kirkpatrick of Nichols, will tomorrow at 4 p.m. wed Arleigh K. Hohenboken of Geneseo, Ill. The ceremony will take place in the Trinity church of Muscatine with the Rev. Stanley Jones reading the marriage service.

Attired in a white satin, floor-length gown, the bride will wear a cap veil of tulle, both veil and gown being made with tulle. Her attendant, Annaelle Kirkpatrick of Lone Tree, is to wear pink chiffon with white accessories. Their bouquets of sweet peas and roses are to correspond to their gowns in color.

Attending the bridegroom as best man will be Robert Kay of Payson, Ill., and as ushers, Leonard Eckhart of Geneseo, Ill., and Chauncey Parker of Gray's Lake, Ill.

Miss Kirkpatrick is to enter on the arm of her father, as Harold Meimertorf, organist, plays the wedding march from Lohengrin.

Following the ceremony, 55 guests will attend a reception at Hotel Muscatine, and the couple plan to leave on their wedding trip immediately.

Miss Kirkpatrick is a sister of Mrs. D. Newkirk of Iowa City, and graduated from the University of Illinois in June, where she was a Gamma Phi Beta. Mr. Hohenboken received his degree from the University of Illinois in 1932, and while there affiliated with Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity.

Junior C.D.A. Plans Dinner

Group to Fete Parents, Members of Senior Organization

Feting their mothers and members of the Senior Catholic Daughters of America, the celebration of the first anniversary of the Junior C. D. A., will be held tonight at Youde's inn.

A dinner and evening of bridge will honor approximately 125 guests, for which a program of singing and dancing has been planned. John Byers will entertain with a tap dance, Norma Leeney with acrobatic stunts, and Wilma Leeney and Dorothy Gough with a number of vocal selections.

A color scheme of yellow and orchid is being used for table flower decorations, and for the programs of the event later in the evening, for which event escorts are invited. Dusty Keaton's orchestra has been engaged for the affair.

The committee in charge of arrangements includes: Margaret Demory, Evelyn Livermore, Mary Louise Tennyson, Mary Eileen Horton, Marie Kuncel, Catherine Johnson, Geraldine Spratt, Catherine Burke, Wilma Leeney, Laverna Wolfe, Dorothy Gough, Mary Eloise Stork, Kathaleen White, Dorothy Belger, and Rose Noone.

CHICAGO (AP)—With 2,531,014 paid admissions recorded since A Century of Progress exposition opened its gates one month ago today, world's fair officials declared the attendance to have exceeded their expectations.

WALLACE Urged to Act Swiftly

producers and hog raisers could best be aided through trade agreements for immediate improvement of hog prices and reduction in both corn and hog production and marketing for the coming season.

The pig crop survey released today by the U. S. department of agriculture forecast an increase in the number of sows to farrow during the next six months of 13 per cent over 1932 for the corn belt states and an 8 per cent increase for the United States.

Secretary Wallace, in reviewing the situation today, declared that the low price of hogs and the resulting discrepancy with corn prices going up is profit of the need for some production planning for the future. The administration campaign to aid wheat and cotton prices is making entirely satisfactory progress, he declared, and expressed himself as optimistic that the same plan can be employed for corn and hogs, although the latter will present more difficulties.

He reiterated his statement that the administration will check closely on any attempt by manufacturers to pass on processing taxes or other charges under the farm relief act to consumers.

"We intend to maintain a balance between the price which the consumer pays, the wages which the consumer receives, and the price which the farmer is paid for his produce," Wallace declared.

"The administration program is designed to keep these three moving up together, he added.

The secretary conferred late today with Gov. Clyde Herring. Following the meeting it was announced that the state advisory committee on administration of the farm relief act would probably cease to function since operation of the act's provisions was to be left in the hands of producers insofar as possible.

Members of the Iowa corn-hog committee are Oscar Helme of Marcus, Ralph Meyer of Fairfield, George Godfrey of Algona, and H. M. Evans of Laurens. State Senator William McArthur of Mason City also met with the committee.

Wallace is to confer at Kansas City tomorrow with M. L. Wilson, wheat administrator, on plans for beginning work on wheat and is scheduled to deliver an address at Salina, Kan., later in the day.

Farm act administrators at Washington today inferred that they intend to levy a 30-cent-a-bushel processing tax on wheat despite the recent sharp rise in grain prices. Under the farm act they have authority to levy a processing tax on wheat used in milling flour and manufacturing other human food products equal to the difference between the "current farm price" and the "parity price" based on pre-war farm prices.

Eventually, however, it was halted and the allied drive of the summer, which led to victory in the fall, was begun.

Lora Molby Weds Carl Utz, Graduate of S. U. I., June 22

Lora Molby and Carl R. Utz of Davenport were married June 22 in Galena, Ill., the Rev. A. E. Elrich, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church of Warren, Ill., officiating.

The bride is a graduate of Baker university in Baldwin, Kan., and has for the last seven years been teaching in the Sudlow intermediate school. Mr. Utz is a graduate of the University of Iowa and is now a teacher of general science, also at Sudlow. After a few weeks spent in the north, Mr. and Mrs. Utz plan to make Davenport their home.

Messages Reveal War Prolonged

sions and surface manifestations there was developing a constant effort to discuss peace, which on the part of Austria-Hungary eventually took on a frantic tone.

The Vienna government was willing, even anxious, to make a separate peace, and on one occasion was encouraged by an informal offer of American financial assistance should she break with Germany.

Franz Josef was dead. The Emperor Charles had succeeded to the throne. He foresaw the approaching disintegration of his empire. His people were war weary. Peace, constitutional concessions to his subjects, and the end of the alliance with Germany was his aim.

He forced Czernin, ardently Prussian, to adopt his conciliatory tone and meanwhile a trusted adviser, Professor Lammasch of Vienna, was seeking these objectives in informal negotiations in Switzerland.

Later, the Austrian government utilized the good offices of the Spanish and Swedish sovereigns to dispatch notes to President Wilson asking a conference.

Wilson's reply was that his peace points had been made sufficiently clear in his speeches to congress. When the Teutonic powers were ready to agree with them there could be peace.

Meanwhile, as early as Jan. 4, Grant-Smith, the American charge in Denmark, told the state department that "a Teutonic peace offensive is making itself felt on every hand."

On Feb. 19, Vice Consul McNally at Zurich, Switzerland, cabled Secretary Lansing:

Offensive Held Back
"The German offensive is being held back by the influence of the Kaiser who urges that the terrible slaughter which must follow should be withheld as he is certain that Lloyd George, the only person now preventing peace, soon will be disposed. The pan-Germans are exceedingly incensed and have informed him that the offensive will not be withheld later than very early March."

But no agreement could be reached. The German offensive of the spring of 1918 was launched, with resulting tremendous casualty lists, and severe setbacks for the Allied forces.

Eventually, however, it was halted and the allied drive of the summer, which led to victory in the fall, was begun.

.750 AVERAGE Bandits in Game of "Loot 'Em and Run"

McClelland, June 27 (A.P.)
The robbers who invaded this little town early today hung up an average of .750 in the game of loot 'em and run.

There are seven stores and a depot in the town and the robbers broke into five stores and the depot before they fled after one of the invaders had fired twice at pursuing citizens with a shotgun.

The first shot missed Floyd Leslie, druggist, and the second missed Fred Hansen, owner of the Farmers' Cash store from which the cash register was stolen but later abandoned by the robbers. The alarm had been sounded when Mrs. John Haubener, the town telephone operator, had seen a man move into the shadows of the Cash store door way.

Efforts to bottle up the robbers failed and they escaped with loot consisting of 13 3-cent stamps taken from the depot; six candy bars from the town's pool hall and some tools from the blacksmith shop.

The two business places not entered were a small garage and a hardware store.

Senate Probe to Investigate Kahn's Taxes

Norman H. Davis Is Mentioned During Testimony

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—Senate banking investigators decided late today to question Otto H. Kahn, senior partner of Kuhn, Loeb and company of New York, regarding his income tax returns. They deferred it until tomorrow after hearing from Kahn that Norman H. Davis, American ambassador at large, had received $35,000 in 1925 for promoting Chilean loans.

Ferdinand Pecora, committee counsel, announced he would take up the income tax phase, speaking after an all-day examination of Kahn, 66 year old financier of German nativity, on hitherto undisclosed facts, figures and operating practices of the private banking house.

Discloses Loan Angle
Kahn disclosed the Chilean loan angle after a defense of the buying and selling of securities without competitive bidding, during which he identified a large batch of documentary evidence, including the firm's partnership agreement and balance sheets for the five year period, 1927-31.

The Chilean loans were underwritten by his firm and the Guaranty company of New York.

Kahn said Davis, whose name recently figured among clients of J. P. Morgan and company who were allowed to purchase securities at below-market prices, was paid the $35,000 in connection with a $20,000,000 loan to the Mortgage Bank of Chile and another loan of unnamed amount. This was before Davis assumed an official capacity with the government.

No Agreement
The statement, signed by J. R. Swan, president of the Guaranty company, said there was no agreement with Davis as to the amount he was to receive, but upon conclusion of the deal the bankers fixed his fee at $15,000 to be paid by the banking group and $10,000 by the Guaranty company. Subsequently, a further fee of $10,000 was paid on a second loan.

Declaring the loans were arranged after careful study of the circumstances, Kahn said they were first called to the attention of his house by Dreyfuss Brothers of Paris, which was also paid a fee for "finding the business."

Kahn testified there were five different Chilean loans totaling $90,000,000 and that his firm insisted on a government guarantee before underwriting them.

"Foolish or Right"
Later, he added, Kuhn, Loeb and company was "foolish enough or right enough" to advance another $5,000,000, which he said was "our money and is still there."

Earlier in the day, Kahn told how his firm, organized at just about the time he was born in Germany and which he joined 36 years ago, had relied on its reputation for accomplishment and service rendered, rather than "cut-throat competition," to buy and sell securities, largely of railroad corporations.

Such competition, he said, had resulted disastrously both to the public and the borrowing corporation.

The firm's partnership agreement showed losses were divided in the same proportion as profits, but that five unnamed partners among the total of 11 did not share in the losses.

Right to Use Name
The right to use the name of the firm also was confined to five partners, whose names were not given. Disagreements over conduct of the business were settled by a vote of a majority of four partners, whose names also were deleted.

Under the agreement no partner could invest in a security not approved by a majority of the partners, and no partner, without the consent of the others, could "directly or indirectly speculate or be interested in speculation in stocks and bonds or any other article whatsoever."

The company's balance sheet showed a sharp shrinkage in assets in 1931, compared with the boom year of 1929 and the two previous years, even greater in portion than those of J. P. Morgan and company for the same period.

Assets of Kuhn, Loeb and company were placed at $97,244,628 in 1927 and $129,402,193 in 1929. In 1931, they were $66,374,845.

Deposits of their corporation clients in 1929 were $88,549,766 and in 1931 were $69,449,016.

Iowa Order of Eagles Chooses Sioux City for 1934 Convention

CLINTON, June 27 (AP)—John Witt of Davenport was elected state president and Sioux City selected as the 1934 convention city at the annual convention of the Iowa fraternal order of Eagles today.

Importance of the drive in Iowa for old age pensions was expressed by Thomas J. O'Donnell of Kansas City, representative of the Grand Aerie. He said that he hoped the bill would be called up at the next session of the state legislature.

Officers elected other than Witt included C. P. Engelhardt of Keokuk, vice president; Walter Appel of Burlington, conductor.

because it dare not fail." Secretary Hull told a distinguished gathering which included Prime Minister MacDonald.

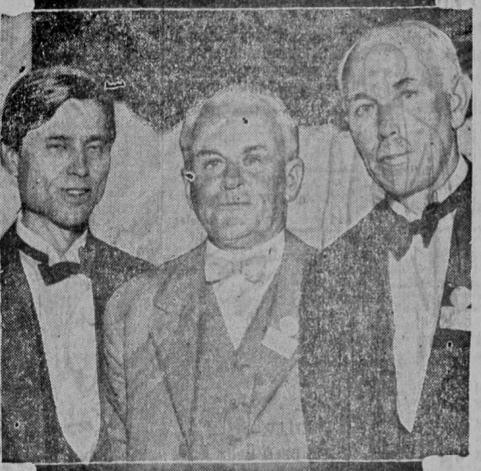

In an address before a sub-committee of the conference Sam D. McReynolds of Tennessee assailed those who have accused the United States delegation of being animated by a spirit of economic nationalism and defended the policy of his government in the parleys here.

"We are trying to place our own house in order to increase the purchasing power of the dollar to give unemployed employment and to once more bring our country back to prosperity," he said. "If that is what is meant, then we plead guilty to the charge."

Well-informed persons said this evening that British financial authorities have refused to commit themselves to stabilization as urged by officials of the central banks of France, Holland, Belgium and Switzerland.

These four banks and the delegates from these countries are understood to be bitterly opposed to following the United States program for restoring commodity prices and are believed to have reached an agreement to fortify their currencies against speculative bear attacks such as that against the Dutch guilder yesterday.

Iowa Graduate Delves Into History of Mormons' Sojourn Into Illinois

What did contemporary persons think of the Mormons who traveled thousands of miles across the country in an effort to establish themselves in some place where they might practice freedom of religion?

A completed study has been made by Cecil A. Snider, graduate of this university, on the Mormons and their sojourn in Illinois from 1839 to 1846. The University of Iowa library has acquired this source material.

Data Collected

The data were collected from newspapers, handbills and pamphlets, the majority of them being newspaper material.

The newspapers expressing public opinion on the Mormons of Illinois were those published in an area of some 20,000 square miles in which the Mormons had settled. This area ran about 250 miles north and south of Nauvoo, Ill., and 200 miles east and west.

This was no arbitrary area outlined for this piece of research but it was the place in which the Mormons made their contacts with the gentiles.

"Most Important"

At that time Mormonism was the "most important thing in Illinois" outside of politics, and a great deal of opinion was circulated concerning it. The materials are non-Mormon in their nature; that is, neither anti-Mormon or strictly Mormon.

This collection is complete for that area in Illinois. As far as can be ascertained all the files of those newspapers that are in existence have been acquired.

5,000 Pages

The collection includes some 50 newspaper files. They are approximately 5,000 pages of material. This takes in the material printed from 1838 to 1847, one year preceding and one year following their sojourn. This was done to get the attitude of the press before the Mormons came and after they left.

Mr. Snider and his wife have been working on this project. Most of it has been individual research. It took about one year to gather these data. Mr. Snider is now writing a syllabus at the request of the university.

newspapermen he was opposed to prime provisions of the code—the wages and maximum hours provided in it.

The code proposed a forty hour week generally for the industry, with a $11 a week minimum scale in the north for unskilled inside workers and $10 in the south.

Green suggested instead a maximum of 32 hours a week, said to be even more to be preferred, and asserted a $14.40 weekly minimum wage would be too low.

Byrnes Speaks

Byrnes, one of President Roosevelt's close advisers, said:

"It is in the interest of the manufacturer as well as the employe that there should be included in any agreement under this act some provision regulating the machine load of employes during the national emergency which the act declares to exist."

Johnson edged the child labor question to the fore, giving an indication that he might align himself with Secretary Frances Perkins to outlaw children in factories.

Child Labor

"I understand that the child labor question eliminated itself by making this a minimum wage for everybody and there would be no advantage in employing a child when an adult could be obtained for the same wage," the administrator said to Sloan.

"That is correct," Sloan replied. He said that within 60 to 90 days children would be automatically eliminated from the textile plants.

Throughout the long hearing, the walnut-paneled auditorium was filled—prominent industrialists rubbing shoulders with workmen who had come without coats.

Donald Richberg

At Johnson's right sat Donald Richberg, general counsel for the recovery administrator, and W. L. Allen, New York steel engineer, who as chief deputy administrator conducted the hearings.

Nearby was the industrial advisory board including Edward N. Hurley of Chicago, William J. Vereen of Moultrie, Ga., Austin Finch of Thomasville, N. C., and Sloan.

To Johnson's left were the labor advisers, headed by Dr. Leo Wolman and including Green, Rose Schneiderman, Secretary Perkins and John L. Lewis of the Mine Workers union. Back of him was the consumers advisory board headed by Mrs. Mary Rumsey of New York.

A Precedent

LIKE his chief, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Secretary of Agriculture Wallace turns directly to the people when he wishes to win them to his side or when he needs advice. Yesterday, Wallace broke all precedent. For the first time in the many years that politicians and farm "leaders" have mulled over the problem of agricultural relief, a frank appeal was made to the dirt farmers of Iowa. Wallace issued a set of questions and asked for opinions. Recalling that farmers have recently shown much interest in governmental efforts to raise and stabilize corn and hog prices, he made the following inquiries: "Shall we levy a processing tax? If we levy a processing tax on hogs, should we also levy another tax on meats? Shall we use funds from such taxes to finance corn acreage reduction? Will a processing tax cause a temporary lowering of hog prices? "Should this result, are the farmers willing to stand by the administration and look far enough ahead to see that they will gain in the end through adjustment of production to bring supply and demand into proper relationship? Shall we rent acreage to hold down corn production or shall we apply the allotment plan? Are the farmers willing to take the responsibility of helping work out a plan and administering it?" He concludes his statement by asking Iowa farmers to "think over and discuss these problems and let me know what they want to do." Probably thousands of different opinions, learned and crude, will pour into his office. Possibly the answers will only cause more confusion and indecision for Wallace. But, no matter what the result, such an appeal certainly shows an excellent attitude. There can be little ultimate harm when a politician breaks long-established rules and goes to the voters for guidance.

Cheaper Sports

CONTINUED reduction in the admission price to Iowa athletic events as announced yesterday is in accordance with the times. It is a welcome move to students who have been wondering how they can loyally support their teams without over-stretching their pocket books. The new price range for football games is the lowest in history for Big Ten competition at Iowa. The two major contests will cost patrons only $1.50 each, while for the season's opener with Bradley Tech the general admission is set at $1. Coupon books for admittance to all home football and basketball games, formerly priced at $8.50, will be available for $5 this fall. The economic stress of the times is, of course, the principal reason for the price reduction. The action, however, is also evidence of a determination on the part of the athletic administration to go more than half way in making Iowa's greatest sporting events available to those who wish to enjoy them. There is little doubt that the drastic price reduction will go far toward bringing the crowds to which the Iowa stadium and the Iowa team are entitled. They should prove popular with old friends of the university and should do much toward the enlistment of new ones.

Or Else

BEFORE dragging gold hoarders into court, their names will be published, Attorney General Homer Cummings announced yesterday. If public opinion doesn't force the yellow metal out of hiding, the government will use its $10,000 fine and imprisonment of 10 years to lure it into the federal treasury. This publication, often threatened but as often delayed, will start in the very near future, he promised. Those holding the largest amounts of gold will get their names in print first, and publicity will then be granted to 185 other persons who are known hoarders. Whether or not the spotlight will frighten gold into the open is a debatable question. The public is not showing its teeth as much as it did during the bank holiday, when the call for gold was issued. And another undecided point is, if publication of names is ineffective, how far can Cummings go? "Bring in your gold—or else," says he, but he is rather hesitant about making the "or else" mean anything more than a threat. Hoarders claim that their punishment would be held illegal by the courts, and have issued defiant messages. Mr. Cummings says he would have "no difficulty" in getting convictions, although he does not rush to prove it. Apparently, if the statement made yesterday was in earnest, things are coming to a showdown, and perhaps some of these questions will be answered. It is to be hoped that the answers are all in favor of Mr. Cummings, if just to show hoarders that they are not stronger than the government.

GOOD MORNING

Dollar wheat and a booming corn market, hilarious hogs and rollicking oats are bringing ever rising cheer to the hearts of millions who see in the fitful ticker tape the first rays of a rising sun. But unless the nation is extremely careful, these signs of approaching prosperity will be portents of doom instead of good cheer.

Prosperity is the most delicate jewel in all the world. It is ponderously and precariously balanced on the head of a pin and can be destroyed by the slightest breeze. The world has learned and relearned this innumerable times, and has forgotten it as often.

Already the prophets of the full throttle are wagging their tongues. Editorial columns of commercial and financial journals already are renewing their old cry of "Less government in business!" The theme of their new song is this: "Look at the ticker. Prices are going up. Prosperity is on its way. Perhaps the vigorous action of the Roosevelt administration did start the wheels to moving. Any more interference by the government with the natural flow of business can serve only to retard the return to good times. Thanks, Mr. Roosevelt, for the lift, but we don't need you any more."

And they are partly right. Should the government gracefully withdraw and allow matters to follow, willy nilly, their own course, prosperity would probably return. The momentum with which industry is already rolling forward would carry it inevitably upward. The course it would follow can be traced today with deadly accuracy.

Rightly, it would be something like this: Prices, already cheerfully on the upgrade, would continue to rise. With the rise in the general level of commodity prices, securities of all kinds would boom. Plants all over the nation now idle would begin humming once more. Production would increase enormously and billions would again be spent in advertising. The grip of holding companies over the nation's business would become more firm and utilities would once more begin their diligent education of the masses to a "proper" conception of the rights of property and of the glories of private initiative. The United States of America would be back on the high road once more, waving penny flags and shouting.

And that is the only aspect of the times we would hear very much about. But there would be another side. Although factories would be open and wheels humming, five million men or more would still be spending their nights in the parks of great cities. Millions more would be working for wages hardly sufficient to keep them alive. While prices soared upward, wages would lag pitifully behind, while labor started anew its age-long struggle for decent treatment.

All this would continue unabated, with ever increasing tempo like the wild beating of a Voodoo drum, until Crash! The whole structure would tumble down around our dumfounded heads, carrying all the advances and dreams of yet another generation into the ash heap.

Can it possibly be that the world is too stupidly blind to understand? Is it possible that our memory can be dimmed by dollar wheat to the extent that we will forget the miseries of the last four years and the hysterical "prosperity" that brought them about?

There is little appealing to Wall Street for understanding. It is all to the interest of those who hold the money bags to get the government out of the way now that prices have started on the upward trend. If the hand of the Roosevelt administration is firm on the throttle, prices will be held down in keeping with the pace of wages. All society will benefit and industry will be built for once upon a sane, but there will be small hope of the oldtime fabulous profits by which millionaires were made in a week and became multimillionaires in a fortnight. Why shouldn't the commercial and financial journals strike up the old theme song? "Thank you, Mr. Roosevelt, but you're just an old shoe now."

The appeal must be made to the people themselves, the millions who, by their overwhelming expressions of confidence, have made possible for the first time the inauguration of a really progressive governmental policy in the United States. These millions must not fall. They must not allow themselves to forget the lessons catastrophe has taught them. They must remember, regardless of reams of publicity and propaganda, that private property as we have come to regard it is not sacred. They must remember that neither Mr. Morgan nor the corner grocer has an inalienable right to practice wholesale extortion by virtue of inheritance or cunning. They must remember that theirs is the power to do with society as they choose. They must not be intimidated or snared by false hopes.

Rising prices, though a healthy sign, will not bring real prosperity unless wages rise in proportion and the nation's idle are given jobs. Continued and ever increasing control of the throttle by capable governmental hands will be more vitally necessary tomorrow than it was yesterday and is today.

Book Bits—
(From Pageant, by G. B. Lancaster)
Now the moon was up, turning the drooping fern fronds, the smooth white tree trunks into splendor. The warm night drew the flavor of the bush, of some crushed plant poignantly sweet. There were delicate stirrings in the air; a peaceful sense of those great forests, untrod, untroubled, lying at rest along the hills. Moths, like frail spirits bewitched out of nothingness by the night showed a delicate wing and were gone again. Snow stood, shaken by the beauty into an artist's passion. This only was life: this unearthly mystery pouring from the heavens; this utter calm whereby man attained communion with the unreachable gods.

"Off The Record"

Unofficial Doings in Washington, D. C.

By SIGRID ARNE
The legislative mills ground so dizzily that Mrs. Virginia Jenckes, the new representative from Indiana, did some research. She found she had cast more votes in fewer than three months than some of her predecessors had cast in four years.
She felt rather good about attending to business. Then she ran into an irate party "whip."
"Where were you when such-and-such a vote was taken?" he demanded.
"And that was the only vote I missed," laments Mrs. Jenckes, shorn of her elation. "I felt as though I'd skipped school. Thank goodness, I was at the White House in conference."
The Illinois delegation found out that rank pervades even the kitchen. They met nightly to tie on aprons and cook up such tempters as pigs knuckles and sauerkraut, or corn beef and cabbage.
Representative Edwin Schaefer and J. Leroy Adair somehow or other got the onions to slice, the fish to scale and the potatoes to peel.
The orders were shouted to them from the porch, where Senator William H. Dieterich preserved his senatorial dignity in a rocking chair.
The usual noon-day crowd was peacefully eating lunch in a hotel restaurant.
Forks hung suspended. Conversation stopped. But no one signalled the page.
"Well," boomed a white-haired man, "J. P. isn't the only Morgan in the world." Everybody went back to eating.
Representative Magnus Johnson of Minnesota was storming on the house floor. He was busy registering disdain for the statistics sleuths of the agriculture department.
"Statistics!" he shouted. "Why, a pig can't be born on my farm without the department of agriculture knowing it in ten minutes!"
Corn—Texas versus Iowa—was under discussion in the house cloakroom. Representatives Thomas Blanton of Texas and Otha D. Wearin of Iowa were the opponents. The longer they talked, the taller the corn became.
"Why, I remember riding through our cornfields when the corn came up to my shoulders," announced Blanton wistfully.
"Must have been a pretty short horse," squelched Wearin.

Keeping Up With the New Books

By JOHN SELBY

"Count Your Blessings," by Rhys Davies; (Covici-Friede, New York).
NEW YORK—Some months ago a novel by a Welshman named Rhys Davies was published in this country. It was called "The Red Hills," and according to the publishers it sold only a few hundred copies. But, they continued, they very much believed in Mr. Davies, and shortly would offer another novel by him.
They have. It is called "Count Your Blessings," and in spite of certain eccentricities many will feel it an extraordinarily fine performance, perhaps even a great work. Unfortunately, perhaps, the first pages are so filled with rather oracular speeches in the Welsh vernacular (which apparently consists chiefly in putting the end of the sentence where the beginning should be) that many may bog among them.
Those who survive shortly will find themselves in the midst of a life so sounding and so heady it will at times take their breath. Mr. Davies has the gift of writing strong prose, not "stark" in precisely the HOLLYWOOD—Leisurely production methods are no more. Cecil B. De Mille, who used to take months in preparation for a story, will start shooting "Four Frightened People" within five weeks. Before he sailed on a brief yachting trip, the director fixed upon two important members of his cast. They will be Claudette Colbert, who recently worked for him in "The Sign of the Cross," and Mary Boland.

This leaves only two principals to be cast—both men.
In "Four Frightened People" De Mille has a story slightly reminiscent of his old success, "Male and Female." Both deal with a group of city dwellers suddenly thrown upon their resources amidst primitive surroundings. Only there is no "Admirable Crichton" to inject the element of class distinction into the story.
"Four Frightened People" was written by E. Arnot Robertson, whose earlier novel, "Three Came Unarmed," is scheduled for production at R-K-O.
It happened, relates Sammy Finn, in a little fur shop of Hollywood boulevard.
The proprietor was trying to sell a cheap neck-piece to a stout lady—and he was meeting with plenty of resistance.
"Finally, when the sale was just about put over, she exclaimed: "Well, suppose I get caught in the rain. What will happen to the fur?"
"Listen, lady," came the weary reply, "did you ever see a fox carry an umbrella?"

Nybakken to Give Lecture

Will Discuss Remains of Roman Monuments in France

Oscar E. Nybakken, instructor in the classical languages department, will give a lecture on "Roman remains in France" this afternoon at 4:15 in room 109, liberal arts building. It is the second lecture of the classical language series.

The remains are in what is now called Provence, in southern France, and are found mainly in the towns of Lyon, Avignon, Arles, Nimes, La Turbie, and Vienne.

Most of the monuments date from the years immediately following the victories of Julius Caesar which are the last years of the first century B.C.

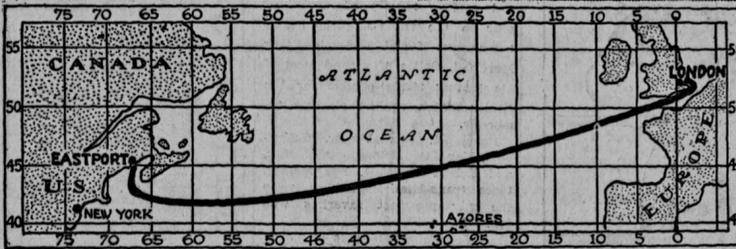

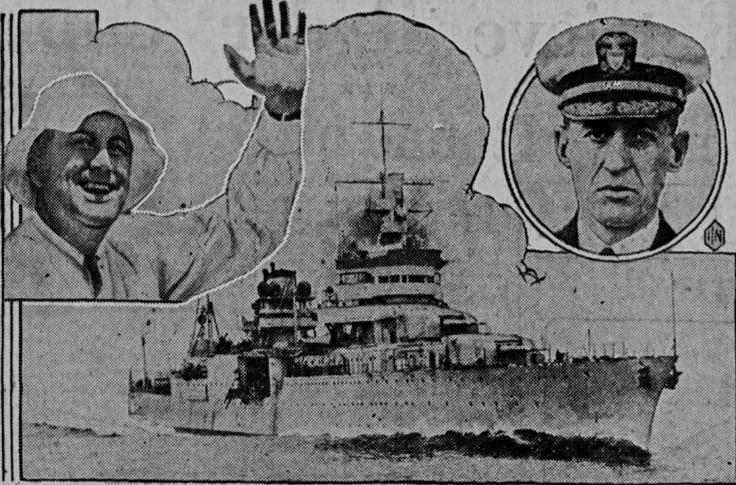

They center around the Forum and are ordinarily found in these centers—temples, theaters, amphitheaters, baths, aqueducts, arches of triumph and other monuments.

Mr. Nybakken intends to pick out certain buildings in France and show by means of slides and pictures the architectural remains.

He says that it is not necessary to make a trip to Italy to get a complete picture of Roman life.

The lecture will be open to the public.

Cruiser Ready to Rush President to London

By ROY WILLIS (Special Correspondent) WASHINGTON, D. C.—Notwithstanding official denials to the contrary, the rumor persists here that the U. S. S. Indianapolis, newest and fastest of Uncle Sam's cruiser force, has been prepared not merely for the purpose of bearing President Roosevelt back from his vacation spot at Camp Bello Island to Washington, but to London in order that he may give his personal attention to the snarls in the Economic Conference over which the world's nations are wrangling.

The announced program is for the Indianapolis to pick up the president at Eastport, Me., and rush him back to the capital. That, too, is the story of Captain J. M. Smealle, the cruiser's commander, and the 700 officers and men who comprise her personnel. But the curious ones are asking why the Indianapolis altered, with the inclusion of ramps and elevators that have the appearance of permanency, if the chief executive is making only the comparatively short trip down the coast.

It is also significant that the navy's fastest cruiser, capable of making the crossing to England in four days, was selected for the jaunt from Eastport to Washington.

How Theorists See It

The lynx-eyed and razor-minded observers, whose bread and butter depends on what they read between the lines, lean to the belief that the direction in which the Indianapolis points her bow after leaving Eastport will depend on what Assistant Secretary of State Moley reports to the president on the World Economic Conference situation. If the chief executive sees no other way of swinging the sentiment of the conference into line with his policies, the probability is that he will go to London to set off his own firecrackers.

U. S. In Thames

Should he leave the United States during his tenure of office, President Roosevelt would be following the precedent set by President Wilson when he personally attended the peace conference in Paris in 1918. But, unlike the war-time president, F. D. R. may be planning to dominate the London parleys while technically remaining on United States soil.

This seemingly impossible feat of jergedmain could be accomplished by anchoring the U. S. S. Indianapolis in the Thames river. The president need not leave the ship, which is U. S. territory, but he could invite the delegates to visit him on board to talk things over. Color is lent to this possibility by the elaborate preparations made aboard the cruiser to house its distinguished passenger.

The ostensibly temporary fittings have all the appearance of having been constructed as if for use over a long period.

Most Modern Warship

If the president does make the dash to London, he will travel on the most up-to-date warship afloat. The Indianapolis is the newest of the 10,000-ton treaty cruisers. She is 100 per cent electrically operated—even to the potato peelers in the galley. At her recent speed trials, off Portland, Me., the cruiser had no difficulty in making 32.7 knots an hour, but her officers proudly boast that their floating home can do 40 miles an hour if necessary.

The "vital statistics" for the first term of this summer session reveal that the University of Iowa is maintaining its geographical representation, with 40 states and four foreign countries among the 2,000 or so students registered at the present time.

The total registration from outside of Iowa is 550, with the leading spot held by Illinois, with a representation of 132 students. Missouri is next in line, sending 62 favorite sons—and daughters. Wisconsin has the third rank, with 48, and South Dakota, Minnesota, and Kansas are next in order.

In addition to those states students are on the campus from Alabama, Arizona, California, Colorado, Arkansas, Connecticut, Florida, Georgia, Idaho, Iowa, Indiana, Kentucky, Louisiana, Massachusetts, Michigan, Mississippi, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Virginia, West Virginia, Washington and Wyoming.

Only five states which sent students last year are among the "missing" this summer. They are Vermont, South Carolina, Maryland, Maine, and Montana.

Eight foreign students make up the "international" aspect of the situation. In this category, China ranks first, with three representatives. In addition, Germany, Canada, and the Philippine Islands send students here this year. Java, Hawaii, Canal Zone, and the Union of South Africa, all of which had students at Iowa last year, are lacking in Iowa "spirit"—or what?—this summer.

Nearly half of last year's summer session students were graduate students—42.3 per cent was the exact figure. This year the ratio has increased, with nearly 60 per cent of the students enrolled working in advanced courses.

All of which proves something, without a doubt. At least it proves interesting. It's all contained in the summer session directory, which was ready for distribution Monday afternoon.

Woman Envoy Seeks Reverse in Trade Tide

COPENHAGEN (AP)—Turning the tide of Denmark's foreign trade is, probably, the main task that confronts Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen, America's first woman envoy to a foreign capital.

For better or for worse this country has wedded herself commercially to Great Britain, promising to honor offers of British goods in return for a steady market in England for her butter, bacon and other agricultural products. The contract is to run three years.

Denmark has been a good customer of the United States, buying generally more than 12 times as much as she has sold across the Atlantic. That proportion held good even as imports dropped from nearly $60,000,000 in 1927 to less than half that figure in 1931.

Danes Show Good Will But under the new trade treaty with Great Britain, the Danes must show a decided preference for British products.

The Danish capital already has surrounded Mrs. Owen with an atmosphere of sympathy and good will. Her announced effort to prove the principle of equality for men and women in high public posts will, insiders say, meet much kindly assistance.

The embassy is housed in a huge duplex garden apartment in the heart of the city. Mrs. Owen took over an apartment used by her predecessor, Frederick Coleman, and added an upper apartment, giving her in all 15 large rooms.

Rail Auto Coaches Win French Favor in Service Tests

PARIS (AP)—The solution of many transportation problems of the future lies in the automobile which runs on rails, in the belief of French railroad experts.

Several types of varying size and speed already are either in use or on trial here.

M. Paganon, minister of public works, is so impressed by the machines that he predicts that in a few years there will be an hourly service of them from Paris to the principal cities of France, leaving timetables as a bad memory.

Change Dates for Lectures

Departments Revamp Plans to Allow for Recess

Changes in dates of lectures originally scheduled for next Friday and Monday have been announced by various departments presenting the campus lecture series.

A lecture on museum work by Homer Dill, director of the university museum, scheduled for Monday, will be given next Wednesday at 8 p.m. in geology auditorium.

The second lecture in a series under the auspices of the school of letters, "Sophocles," by Prof. Sherman Kirk, head of the classical languages department of Drake University, originally slated for Friday evening, will be given tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. in the house chamber of Old Capitol.

A lecture in the chemistry series, to have been given next Monday, has been indefinitely postponed. It may be again scheduled for the second term series. The remainder of the addresses will go on as planned.

The changes in plans were necessitated by the Fourth of July vacation, to begin Friday evening, and to continue until next Wednesday at 7 a.m.

Will Continue Radio Courses

Broadcast of courses direct from the classroom, a project in which the University of Iowa was one of the pioneer institutions, will be continued during the second term of summer session.

Director Bruce E. Mahan of the extension division announced yesterday that the three new courses would go on the air July 24 and would continue for exactly a month.

He said that the definite schedule now is nearing completion and probably would be announced within a week. Each of the courses will be in a different department.

The summer broadcast series was opened June 12, the contributors of the first term being Prof. Philip G. Clapp, music; Prof. W. Ross Livingston, history, and Prof. John E. Briggs, political science. These courses end July 20.

because they are so poorly and loosely organized. Physical education is attacked most because it is the newest thing in the schools," asserted Miss Stafford.

She pointed out that when budgets must be cut, civic authorities begin by cutting education. She believes that there will be a complete change in civic organization.

"Short-Sighted" "Many short-sighted people strike at the room of education. They want to go back to the three hour period," Miss Stafford said.

Taking physical education as one of the things being attacked, Miss Stafford explained that fine things may be approached through physical education.

Health Education Mr. Rowe concluded the conference addresses with his talk on "Health education in the public schools and its integration with physical education."

The best program of health service and physical education will be for the teachers to build around the findings of the school doctors, dentists, and nurses, he declared.

Following the conference, the extension division showed a four reel moving picture of the tenth Olympic games held in Los Angeles last year.

She was suffering from exposure and the shock of watching her husband, James Gillette, the pilot, and Peter Keller, mechanic, slip to their deaths, one by one, from the raft.

Lapp to Give Talk Tonight

Prof. C. J. Lapp of the physics department will deliver the third lecture in a series on "This physical world," tonight at 7:10 in physics auditorium. The subject of his address will be "Jiggles."

Professor Lapp will take up the subject of mechanical vibrations. He will speak on vibrating rods, strings, and beams; together with the two types of vibrations—longitudinal and transverse.

The lecture will be an experimental one. The speaker will demonstrate the vibrations of air columns and electric currents, showing that these motions are similar to the mechanical vibrations.

Two lectures have already been given in this group, which is under the auspices of the physics department. The series opened with an address by Professor Lapp on the subject, "The rise of the robot." Last week a moving picture on "The theory of relativity" was shown.

All the addresses in this series are open to the public.

MT. PLEASANT, June 27 (AP)—Defense attorneys for T. W. Kriechbaum, Burlington banker found guilty Monday of accepting a deposit when he knew his bank was insolvent, announced today that they would file application for a new trial.

Judge George Dashiell of Albia gave the defense until July 10 to file the new trial notice and Paul McCoid of Mt. Pleasant, defense attorney, declared that the application would likely be filed by the end of next week.

McCoid said that the probable defense plea would be errors of the court and admission of certain testimony.

Floyd Strain Identified as Robber; Goes Back to Minnesota

SIoux FALLS, June 27 (AP)—Floyd Strain, thrice identified as a bank robber, will be turned over to Minnesota authorities to answer for his part in the $1,419 raid on the Okabena, Minn., bank May 19.

Sheriff Melvin L. Sells made this announcement today after John V. La of Westport, Minn., president of the Citizens State bank there, pointed to Strain in a "show-up" and said: "That's the man that held a gun in my face."

Another Held

John Clemens, 38, of Omaha, held with Strain, was partially identified as the bandit who stood guard at the door while a four-man gang seized $5,400 on Jan. 6. Floyd Lingie, of Britton, S.D., and Ben Brune, Sioux Falls, are also held.

Walter Gordon, a private detective, and O. C. Lee and William Conley, Minnesota state crime bureau operatives, questioned Strain late today, but made no announcement of the result.

Earlier they questioned Dora Jones, Milford, Ia., girl seized in the raid Saturday in which Strain and Clemens were arrested with two others. Gordon said she was innocent and would be released eventually.

Victims of a robbery of the Klein National bank, Madison, Minn., were unable to identify any of the gang. Neither could officers of the Farmers State bank at Kaylor, S.D., where one man was killed in the holdup.

British Golfers Down U.S. to Retrieve Ryder Cup Trophy

Trans-'Sippi Golf Qualifiers Ready for Opening Round of Tourney Play Today

Britains Take Six of Eleven Title Matches

Shute Fails in Final Round Against Easterbrook

SOUTHPORT, England, June 27 (AP)—America's blue ribbon golf professionals, fighting from behind to the very last putt on the home green, today bowed in defeat to Great Britain and lost the Ryder cup, emblematic of international supremacy, six matches to five, with one foursome halved.

Two days of the fiercest competition in the annals of the team play ended on the rolling sand dune green in front of the Southport club with nearly 20,000 spectators, among them the Prince of Wales, trying to see the exciting finish in which Syd Easterbrook defeated Denmore Shute, enabling Great Britain to keep the trophy in the land of its origin.

Shute Loses Chance

Shute, coming from behind on the last nine to first square the match and then take the lead, missed a six yard putt, then one from eight feet away to surrender the hole, the match and the series.

The burden of defeat did not rest alone on the slender youngster.

With him in losing matches were Olin Dutra, who went completely off his game for a time to lose to Abe Mitchell 9 and 8, Paul Runyan, who bowed to Percy Arliss 2 and 1, and Leo Diegel, who was defeated by Arthur Havers 4 and 3.

Hagen Spurts to Win

Capt. Walter Hagen, all square with A. J. Lacey at the end of 27 holes, made a garish finish to nose out victory 2 and 1, Gene Sarazen, who will defend his British open crown next week, defeated Alf Padgugan 6 and 4, Craig Wood, big blond from New Jersey, won from W. H. Davies 4 and 3 and Horton Smith season, weakened in the eighth Whitcombe, Ryder cup captain in 1933, 2 and 1.

W. W.'s Take North Liberty

W. W. Club defeated North Liberty last night at City Park in the first game of the evening program, 4 to 2. The winners scored their runs in the first three innings while the losers scored in the fourth and seventh. White pitched for the winners.

Oakdale fell before the Elks, 12 to 4, in the second game of the evening. The game went six innings and was called on account of the time limit. Boyle hurled for the Elks and Christy for the losers.

Maid-Rite played North Point of North Liberty in the night cap in place of the postponed Golden Glow-Kelley Cleaners game, and emerged the winner, 11 to 2. The Iowa Citizens had little trouble hitting Smith and Burns, hurlers for the losers. Trepto and Ebert hit home runs for the sandwich shop boys and M. Sullivan for North Point. Linder and Fay pitched for Maid-Rite.

Other men from Iowa who are likely to go in with Coach George Bresnahan will include Jimmy Owen, Maplewood, Mo., sprinter, and John Whinnery, who arrived here yesterday on his way to the Chicago meet. The latter will compete in the shot and discus.

An added feature to the meet this year was announced recently by the A.A.U. officials in the form of the entry blank of Dr. Patrick O'Callaghan, two-time Olympic hammer throw champion. The husky Irish doctor will be a hands down favorite for the title.

Owens vs. Metcalfe

Another long waited feature will be the duel between Jesse Owens, sensational young colored sprinter from East Tech, Cleveland, and Ralph Metcalfe, intercollegiate champion. Both runners were clocked in .29.4 in Chicago a week ago and argument has been rife as to the outcome of the race. Owens will compete both days since this is his first A.A.U. meet.

Probably even more sensational will be the battle for the half mile title. Charles Hornbostel, Glenn Cunningham, George Bullwinkle, and Ben Eastman will tangle with the prospects for a new world record almost certain unless weather conditions prove adverse. Hornbostel and Cunningham hooked up in the intercollegiate to better the old world record with a mark of 1:50.9, "Stop Cunningham".

The mile will be as hotly contested as any event on the program as the nation's best attempt to stop Cunningham from beating his time of 4:09.8, set at Chicago.

Such men as Gene Venzke, Pennsylvania; Bullwinkle, C.C.N.Y.; Jack Ryan, Manhattan; Mangan, Cornell; Crowley, Manhattan; and Frank Nordell, N.Y.U., are all capable of going under 4:15 to give the Kansan the toughest field he has faced this year.

Every event on the program is capable of producing new record breaking performances since the best men in the nation have been entered.

Ed Gordon Leads Hawkeye A. A. U. Entries

Junior Events Claim Three Other Hawks

Dean, Hoskinson Enter Sprints; Barker in Weights

With Ed Gordon, Iowa's first Olympic winner, heading the Hawkeye team, four Old Gold athletes will compete in the National A.A.U. track and field meet at Chicago tomorrow and Friday.

Gordon, who is breaking a retirement that has lasted since he won the Olympic broad jump title at Los Angeles last summer, will compete in the senior broad jump while the other Iowans will enter the junior events which will be held the first day.

In order to provide a fairer basis of competition, all athletes who are competing in the meet for the first time are entered in the junior division and then, if they want to, are allowed to compete in the experienced class the following day.

Three Hawk Entries

Iowa's three collegiate entries are Sid Dean and Calvin Hoskinson in the quarter mile, and Dale Barker in the hammer throw.

Dean will have an excellent chance for a place in the 440 since he turned in a 48.2 race in the intercollegiate when Slat's Hardin won the event in the time of 37.1. This time ranks Dean as one of the fastest quarter men ever to compete for Iowa.

If Barker will come through with one of his 145 foot tosses he should also count points.

Gordon will have another chance to defend his A.A.U. broad jump title which he won last year with a leap of 25 feet 3 3/8 inches. His most dangerous competition from collegians will come from John Brooks, Chicago's colored star.

Weldon Enters Squad

L. D. Weldon, former Big Ten javelin titleholder from Iowa, will also take his four athletes to compete in the junior division. His squad includes a 14.7 hurdler, a 1:58 half miler, a 4:25 miler, and a pole vaulter who can beat 13 feet 4 inches.

Other men from Iowa who are likely to go in with Coach George Bresnahan will include Jimmy Owen, Maplewood, Mo., sprinter, and John Whinnery, who arrived here yesterday on his way to the Chicago meet. The latter will compete in the shot and discus.

Gus Moreland Places Second to Tell Eaton

Maytag Ties for Third in Qualifying Field of Thirty-Two

Colorado Springs, Colo., June 27 (AP)—Conclusion of the record setting rounds of qualifying play in the trans-Mississippi golf tournament found Champion Gus Moreland, Dallas, Tex., and most of his leading rivals eligible for the titular match, conflict starting tomorrow.

Harry K. Strassburger, Coffeyville, Kan., the Colorado titleholder, and Robert McCrary, Des Moines, twice trans-Mississippi king, were the only pre-meet favorites who failed to qualify.

Eaton Medalist

Tell Eaton, par-breaking Oklahoma City star, set the medal pace with a stellar 137 for the 36 holes, the lowest medal score in trans-Mississippi history. Eaton was under par on three of the four nine-hole rounds and brought in a dazzling 68 today to put alongside his sub-par 69 carded yesterday.

Moreland placed second among medalists with a 141, one over par figures. The champion scored a 69 today, one under par, after taking 72 for the initial 18.

Fred Dold, Wichita, Kan., and L. B. Maytag, Newton, Ia., who shared first day medal laurels with 68's, showed a reversal of form today but ranked among the leaders. Maytag required a 74 to land in a tie for third place at 142 with Lawson Little, San Francisco, and Earl Berryhill, Sapulpa, Okla.

"Spec" Stewart

Verne "Spec" Stewart, Albuquerque, N. M., southwestern and New Mexico champion, was next in line with 143. Nate Grimes, Denver, duplicated Eaton's 68 today to accomplish a comeback after yesterday's 76 and rank next to Stewart in a tie with Ben Cowdry, Omaha, with 144.

The other leaders were Spec Goldmani, Dallas, and Deimar Miller, Iowa champion, with 145; Jess Oldham, Denver, with 146; Walter Oberg, Denver, 147; Henry Robertson, Oklahoma champion; Edwin Kingsley, Utah titleholder, and John Dawson, Chicago ace, all with 148's; Fred Dold, Wichita, T. B. Cochrane, Dallas, and Neil Smith, Dallas, with 149's; C. L. Dexter, Dallas, Howard Creel, Pueblo, Colo., Leonard White, Dallas, W. B. Dwyer, Sacramento, Cal., Ralph Wilkins, Denver, and Robert Warren, Denver, with 150's; Howard Crocker, Denver, escaped a play off by carding 151.

Play-Offs

Nine players who tallied 152's were booked for play-offs to decide the remaining seven places to be filled in the championship fight. They are Owen Covey, Salt Lake City, E. J. Rogers, Oklahoma City, Frank English, Denver, Pete Jordan, Des Moines, Arthur Bartlett, Ottumwa, Ia., Leland Hammond, Waco, Tex., John Kraft, Denver, Harry Gandy, Tulsa, and Harrison Smith, Oklahoma City.

Pete Jordan, Iowa open champion, dropped out on the first hole of the play off and Kraft on the second extra hole, lost his qualifying chance, leaving the other seven as qualifiers.

The Broadmoor Country Club won the Brock four-man team trophy with a low score of 592.

Wakonda Club

Scores of other clubs included: Wakonda of Des Moines, 615; David Davis, Des Moines, won unofficial junior honors in competition with two other youngsters with a 36 hole card of 82-83-165. Dee Redlegie, Oklahoma City, 14 years old, turned in an 88-83-171, and Billy Adams, Pueblo, also 14, had 92-90-182.

Horace Gooch of the Broadmoor

club had the low for seniors in the meet, a 151, good enough to qualify for the championship fight had he wished to enter. Guy Smith, Dallas, senior champion, was close on Gooch's heels with a 153.

Announce Plans for S. S. Golf Tourney
For the first time a summer season golf tournament will be held at the University of Iowa.
Open to all students in school, the qualifying rounds will be held Thursday and Friday over the 18 hole course at Pinkbine field. All entries must be in by Wednesday and the first 18 holes completed by Friday night.
Pairings will be made as soon as medal play has been finished and the matches will be played off during the next two weeks.

CHICAGO, June 27 (AP)—President Thomas Jefferson Hickey today indefinitely suspended, for using strong language in disputing an umpire's decision, Manager Nick Allen of Kansas City who became enraged at Minneapolis yesterday.

Last Tuesday, Hickey suspended Manager Ray Blades and Catcher Bill Delancey on the same charge. Yesterday, he indefinitely barred Manager Bruno Betzel of Louisville.

"Managers as well as players must understand that strong language against umpires or anyone else on the playing field will not be tolerated," said Hickey.

BREZZY POINT, Minn., June 27 (AP)—George Jewett of Anoka, who won the singles and all around championship besides tying in the handicap, added the state doubles championship to his list today by breaking 94 of 100 birds in keeping with 95 other gunners on the concluding day of the four day Minnesota state trapshooting tournament here today.

Stocks Drop Off as Grain Prices Rise

Trading Restrained as Some Leaders Fall Lower

NEW YORK, June 27 (AP)—Grains ran away from other markets today, leaving stocks, cotton and the group of minor commodities far behind.

An enormous demand for wheat, corn, oats, rye, and barley took the financial world's eye. Shares were fairly restrained and a few leaders finished lower, net changes being moderate. Nevertheless, the closing composite made a new high.

Fluctuations in foreign exchange were at the expense of the dollar which went to new lows against the British pound, Swiss francs and French francs.

Alcohol issues did very well while rails and motor stocks managed to hold their ends up. There was also a smattering of robust specialties. However, U. S. Steel, American Telephone, American Can, Westinghouse, Allied Chemical, Du Pont, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Woolworth, Union Carbide and General Electric finished around their previous close, either slightly up or moderately lower.

National Distillers products stole the show on the big board with a rise of 16 1/2 points to 102 at the close. U. S. Industrial Alcohol, American Commercial Alcohol, Celanese, Duplan Silk, Industrial Ray-

Tennis Rivals Go 54 Games

Opponents in National Intercollegiate Set Record

HAVERFORD, Pa., June 27 (AP)—Two stalwart sons of the net game—a tall Stanford ace and a husky Yale athlete—established a world record for long distance tennis today in a grueling three hour, third round match of the national intercollegiate tennis championships.

For a 54 game set—which officials said has never been equalled in major tournament competition—Joe Coughlin, the west coast netman, and Egbert Miles, Ell star, last surviving member of Yale's four-man squad, battled on a Merjon Cricket club court before the seventh seeded Stanford player emerged victor by a 28-26 count.

Then after a brief interval they resumed play. The first set grind had taken too much from the Yale man, and Coughlin quickly ran out the second, 6-1.

Coach Jimmy Phelan of the University of Washington football squad and two of his team were members of a vacation party in Alaska which reported killing four bears.

On one day this June both Dale Alexander and Lefty O'Doul, 1932 batting champions of the American and National leagues, were on the bench because of hitting slumps.

Rails Boost Bond Prices

Heavy Trading Reflects Optimistic Reports on Revenues

NEW YORK, June 27 (AP)—Heavy trading in railway specialties, reflecting further optimistic reports of increased traffic revenues gave the bond market another lift today. The sales volume expanded to $21,027,000, par value, while the average for 60 domestic corporate loans advanced three-tenths of a point to another new 1933 high at 78.5.

The more active carrier gainers of 1 to 3 or more points included issues of St. Paul, Chicago & North Western, Rock Island, Chesapeake Corp., Alleghany Corp., Baltimore & Ohio, Denver & Rio Grande, Erie, International Great Northern, New York Central, New Haven, Frisco, St. Louis Southwestern, Southern and Wabash.

United States government securities were slightly easier and foreign obligations were irregular. The utilities were a trifle hesitant, although a few of these moved forward.

Heavyweights Finish Lengthy Training Grind

Sharkey, Carnera Wait for Gong Thursday Night

NEW YORK, June 27 (AP)—Two months of the monotonous grind of training ended today for Champion Jack Sharkey and his heavyweight title challenger, Primo Carnera, leaving only the longest stretch of all—the nerve-tearing wait for the starting bell in the big Madison Square Garden bowl on Long Island Thursday night.

Finishes Gladly Sharkey, getting along in years physically, feeling more and more the rigors of conditioning, closed out the last drill in his camp at Orangeburg with the same gusto that sweeps a football team the day it burns the tackling dummy before the final game.

He sharpened his eyes for the last time with four rounds at the small bag, shadow boxed three more, then grabbed his robe and towel and raced gleefully for his dressing room. Sharkey plans to come leisurely to New York either tonight or tomorrow, and hide away in an uptown hotel, slipping out occasionally to a movie or for a walk to loosen his muscles. He weighed 203 pounds.

Carnera Reluctant Carnera, who will outweigh the champion by about 60 pounds, in addition to enormous advantages in height and reach, was in the midst of a slugfest match with Arthur Huttick at his camp on Pompton Lakes, N. J., when his manager, Bill Duffy, jumped between them and hollered "time."

The huge Italian, who had already fought two rounds with Harold Mays and another with Huttick, wanted to keep going. "Nothing doing," said Duffy. "You're on edge. Hold it." He will stay at Pompton Lakes until time to drive into New York for the weighing in.

U. S. Tennis Players Win at Wimbledon

Vines, Mrs. Moody Lead American Triumphs

WIMBLEDON, Eng., June 27 (AP)—The American champions of Wimbledon, Mrs. Helen Wills Moody and Ellsworth Vines, Jr., today proved their right to the title as they led the way through the second round.

Keeping pace with their more famous compatriots were Lester Stoeffen, Cliff Sutter, Keith Gledhill, Helen Jacobs, the American champion, and Mrs. Dorothy Andrus Burke.

Queen Helen was making her first appearance in defense of her title, having drawn a first round bye, and she stroked her way to a 6-0, 6-0 victory over the experienced British player, Mrs. J. R. MacReady.

Vines, lazing along, was impressive in walloping A. T. England, British player, 6-1, 4-6, 7-5, 6-1, showing the ability of all true champions, to win even when they are having a bad day.

Sutter was in especially good form as he outsped and out-thought the left-handed Christian Boussois of France to take a 4-6, 10-8, 6-4, 6-2 victory.

The giant Stoeffen ousted the wiry little Nipponese, R. Nunoi, 6-7, 2-6, 9-7, 1-6, 6-2.

Barley Leaps Past Wheat in Points Gained

CHICAGO, June 27 (AP)—Feverish, big speculative buying that clutched grain markets anew today, forced 8 cents maximum fresh rise in values and outdid yesterday's sensational advance of 7 3/8 cents.

Wheat went far above $1.00 traditional goal of thousands of farmers, and reached $1.05 3/8 for May contracts. For the second day in succession the wheat market ran up a maximum new gain of 7 3/8 cents, but barley surpassed wheat with a jump of 8 cents flat. At the extreme top, wheat showed a rise of 21 5/8 cents over last week's low and more than 53 cents gain since the beginning of the season.

Highest prices, unequaled since 1930 reached in the final quarter hour of business, were in the face of immense profit-taking sales and despite indications of showers promising at least some relief from prolonged drought and heat that have been wrecking crops.

Wheat closed mild at somewhat below the new top figures, but 5 3/4 3/8 cents above yesterday's finish, corn 3, 3 7/8 up, oats 2 to 3 cents advanced, and provisions at a rise of 5 to 30 cents.

At times, temporary setbacks from wheat price advances amounted to 2 cents in less than that many minutes, but immediate broadening of purchase power on every such occasion rushed the market higher than before until almost the closing gong. Advice from many experienced traders that the markets were entitled to a reaction after recent violent advances went practically unheeded. Reports of nearly unprecedented crop damages continued to be the chief dominating influence.

Unofficial estimates of aggregate trading varied by millions of bushels, and opinion was divided as to whether yesterday's staggering total of 208,553,000 bushels had been exceeded.

Barley's sensational upward flight of 8 cents a bushel was attributed to indications that crop damage to barley

Columbus Retains Lead in American Association League

COLUMBUS, O., June 27 (AP)—Columbus retained its five-game lead in the American association race tonight by rallying in the eighth inning to defeat Toledo, 5 to 4. The Red Birds scored four times in the eighth and drove Ralph Wingerger from the mound.

Frank Wykoff, only official world record holder for the 100 at 9.4 seconds, saw Ralph Metcalfe run that fast in the N. C. A. century and expressed relief that he wasn't in that race.

The SEA BRIDE THE ROMANCE OF AN EVENTFUL WHALING CRUISE

WHAT HAS HAPPENED BEFORE. FAITH KILCUP marries Noll Wing, middle-aged captain of the whaler, Sally Sims, and sails away with him. Roy, Faith's brother, and Dan Tobey, who loves Faith, are among the crew. Noll's strength is failing from age and drink. Seeking to discredit all Faith's crew, Dan causes a quarrel between Noll and Mauger, one of the crew, during which Noll kicks out Mauger's eye. Faith tells Noll it was a cowardly thing to do, but prevents his apologizing to Mauger, saying it would humble Noll before the men. From that time on, Noll lives in constant fear of Mauger's vengeance. One day, after Noll had been harsh with Faith, Dan tells her of his love, but she repulses his advances. Noll's slackness has its reaction upon the crew and they no longer fear him. The Sally Sims puts in a lonely island for supplies. Faith strolls inland.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY. CHAPTER XI. THE path she was following was a well beaten trail. People must use it. They might come this way at any time. She wished wistfully, that she might be sure no one would come; and so wishing, she pressed on, each new pool among the rocks wooing her ahead and urging her to its cool embrace. She heard, in the wood ahead of her, an increasing clamor of falling water, and guessed there might be a cascade there of larger proportions than she had yet seen. The path left the stream for a little, winding to round a tangle of thicker underbrush, and she hurried around this tangle, her eyes hungry to see the tumbling water she could hear.

Hurrying thus she came out suddenly upon the lip of the pool. It was broad and dark and deep; its upper end walled by a sheet of plunging water that fell in a mirrorlike veil and churned the pool to misty foam. Her eyes drank eagerly; they swung around the banks. And then she caught her breath and shrank back a little and pressed her hand to her throat.

Upon a rock, not fifty feet from her, his back half turned as he poised to dive, there stood a man—a white man, for all the skin of his whole body was golden brown from long exposure to the open air. He poised there like some winged-god. Faith had a strange feeling that she had blundered into a secret temple of the woods; that this was the temple's deity. She smiled faintly at her own fancy. God had made nothing more beautiful than the human body, whether it be man's or woman's. Faith thought, in the instant that she watched, that this bronzed man of the woods was the most beautiful thing she had ever seen. She had no sense or shame in watching him; she had only joy in the sheer beauty of him, golden-brown against the green.

And when, even as she first saw him, he leaped and swung, smooth and straight, high through the air, and turned with arms like arrows to pierce the bosom of the pool, she gasped a little, as one gasps on coming suddenly upon a mountain-top with the world outspread below.

Then he was gone, with scarce a sound. She saw for an instant the golden flash of him in the pool's depths. His brown head broke the water, far across the way. He shook back his hair and passed his hands across his face to clear his eyes. His eyes opened and he saw her standing there. There were seconds on end that they remained thus, each held by the other's gaze. Faith could not for her life, have stirred. The spell of the place was upon her. The man, for all his astonishment, was the first to find his tongue. He called softly across the water: "Good morning, woman."

"Good morning, woman!" "It's afternoon, man," she said, "Good afternoon, man!"

She nodded. "It's delicious!" "Your being here means that a ship is in, of course," he said quickly. "Yes." "What ship?" "The Sally Sims—whaler." "The Sally? I know the Sally," the man cried. "Is Noll Wing still captain?" "Of course." "His eyes were thoughtful." "I'm in luck, woman," he said. "Listen. Will you do a thing for me?" "What do you want me to do?" "I've a sort of a home, up on the hill above us here; an observatory. I've been waiting four months for a ship to come along, keeping a lookout from the top there. Missed the Sally somehow. Must have come in sight after I came down." "We made the island a little before noon," she said. "Ah, I was in my bonnet then. I want to ship on the Sally. Does she need men?" "Her eyes clouded thoughtfully. "I—think so," she said. "They lost two, three days ago." "What was it?" he asked quickly. "Fighting whale?"

Women's Golf Match Starts

CHICAGO, June 27 (AP)—Under a blistering sun that made good golf almost impossible, the battle for the women's western open championship opened over the match play route at Olympia fields today with a record-equaling overtime match. With the temperature close to a 100 degrees, Mrs. Robert Bullard of Springfield, Ill., engaged in a marathon duel with Florence McCoy, Chicago, and won after five extra holes, tying the 18 hole overtime record for match play established in 1915. Jane Weiler of Chicago, defending titleholder, barely squeezed by Mrs. J. W. Taylor, Evanston, Ill., one-up. A spectacular shot from the rough on the final hole won for the champion. June Beebe of Chicago, winner of the medal yesterday with a course shattering 79 over the difficult number four layout, was an easy victor, vanquishing Mrs. Lee Mida, Chicago, 3 and 2.

BIG SIX

(By The Associated Press) Al Simmons found his batting eye again yesterday and paced the big six hitters with three blows in five times at bat. He gained the three points he lost the day before and one more to bring his average up to .357. Joe Cronin held his mark even with two blows in five times up while two out of four were good enough to give Fred Schulte three points. The National league section became a Philadelphia monopoly even though the Phillies were idle as Jim Collins of St. Louis failed to hit in four times up, lost seven points and dropped behind Chick Fullis. ### Businessmen to Incorporate Under Codes

Provision Made for Industrial Control Projects

DES MOINES, June 27 (AP)—Iowa businessmen moved today to organize to come under the provisions of the national industry control act.

Coal mine operators, clothing manufacturers, and druggists met to organize while manufacturers were urged to take steps at once so that their views may be incorporated in any national code adopted for their groups.

Mine Operators
The coal mine operators, meeting here, tentatively approved a code drafted at Chicago June 23 by Iowa, Indiana, Montana, Missouri, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Washington and Kentucky representatives. They were still considering the matter of wholesale coal prices.

Des Moines heavy clothing manufacturers indicated that shorter working hours and an increased minimum wage would be incorporated in their code after receiving a report from a meeting of midwestern manufacturers at Milwaukee setting a tentative program of a 40 hour week and a $10 a week minimum wage.

Druggists
Druggists of southern Iowa met here yesterday to take the first step toward organizing their business. Another meeting was held in Ft. Dodge today and a third meeting will be held tomorrow at Cedar Rapids. Denny Brann and James Gillespie, Des Moines druggists, were named to represent the business on the local retail recovery board.

Manufacturers were urged by E. J. Kimball, secretary of the Iowa Manufacturers association, to contact their national trade groups at once in order to have their views represented in the codes.

Dealers in many other products were planning meetings during the next few days. Iowa tobacco merchants have called a meeting here July 1, and fruit distributors will convene July 8.

Goodwill Tour Is Successful

Fifteen Nearby Towns Visited by Local Caravan

Leaving the American Legion Community building at 8 o'clock yesterday morning the 15 cars comprising Iowa City's second annual goodwill tour visited 15 towns in the surrounding trade territory, returning to Iowa City at 7 o'clock last evening.

The motorcade was advertising the Iowa City sales days Thursday, Friday, and Saturday of this week sponsored by the Retail Merchants' bureau, and the Junior Chamber of Commerce Fourth of July celebration at the city park. The motorists were met by large crowds at every town visited and received hearty applause at the close of each musical program.

Solon, Morse, Onias, West Branch, Downey, West Liberty, and Nichols were visited in the morning. After stopping for lunch at Lone Tree, the caravan made stops at Riverside, Ainsworth, Washington, Kalona, Wellman, Oxford, and Tiffin.

The musical entertainment was furnished by a band provided by the Retail Merchants' bureau and piano-accordion solos and duets by Mrs. Pearl Bane and Edward Stepanek who were secured by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

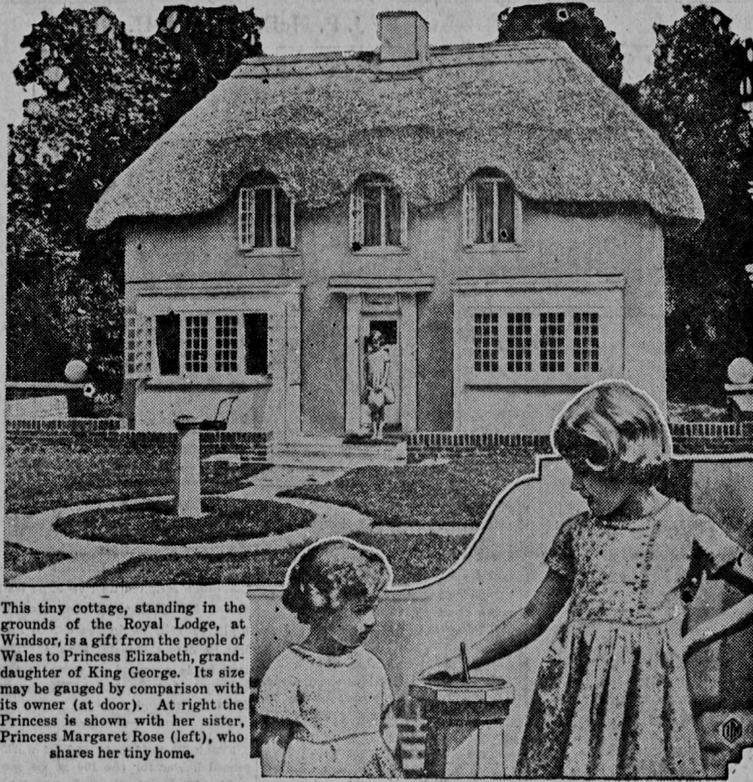

The children along the way were much amused by Goody's large bear in a special truck which accompanied the cavalcade.

Rotary Donates Fireworks Fund to Sick Children

There will be no lack of fire-crackers, drills, songs, and all other things that go with the Fourth of July for the little patients of children's hospital this year!

The Iowa City Rotary club has donated funds for a huge display of fireworks. The excitement will be on the east lawn of the hospital at 7 p.m. next Tuesday. All the patients in the hospital who are able to be moved will see the program from the terrace.

Ethel Havens, assistant in education at children's hospital, will direct the program, which will consist of recitations, songs, flag drill, and a brief address by a representative of the local Rotary club.

1933 Delinquent Tax Limit Set at June 30

Pay your taxes now, warns County Treasurer W. E. Smith, because first half taxes paid after June 30, will draw penalty of three-fourths of one per cent per month from March 1.

The delinquency limit on the first half of taxes this year was extended to June 30, to aid taxpayers. However, delinquency after June 30, will be figured from March 1.

Gives Talk on Olympiad

Bresnahan Speaks on Athletic Pageant for Kiwanians

The Xth Olympiad was revived at the weekly Kiwanis club luncheon yesterday when George T. Bresnahan, university track coach, presented moving pictures of the athletic pageant, accompanying them with pertinent comments.

One of the high lights of the movie program was the film showing the late George Saline, Iowa's premier hurdler, breaking the world's record in winning the high hurdle event. Other interesting scenes showed the gala appearance of Los Angeles streets dressed up for the international games, the Olympic village where the athletes were quartered during the competition, and the impressive opening ceremony.

"Backstage"
As well as giving a complete description of the games from the layman's viewpoint Coach Bresnahan took the Kiwanians "backstage," explaining the methods used in handling the vast crowds and in providing for the large number of competing athletes. The speaker went on to tell of the new camera device which eliminates any possible inaccuracies in timing running events.

Wind Velocity
Wind velocity is now being studied with an eye to discovering its effect on the speed of a runner. The physical education department and the department of physiology of the state university are co-operating in an analysis of breathing and other significant elements of the making of champions, Coach Bresnahan said.

Rear Admiral Charles E. Riggs, Washington, D. C., a guest of Kiwanian Isaac B. Lea, attended the luncheon.

WHEAT TAX Formally Announced at 30 Cents

be ordered into effect about Aug. 1 to defray costs of a production control drive now underway in southern states. Cotton prices recently have risen rapidly and their increase may also be ignored in determining the tax rate, which, on the basis of early June price relationships, could be at a maximum rate of 4.1 cents per pound.

The farm act provides that the maximum processing tax that can be levied is the difference between the current average farm price of a commodity and its "fair exchange" value, which is based on pre-war average farm prices.

"Fair Exchange" Value
The "fair exchange" value, which recognizes living costs to farmers, is that which gives a bushel of wheat or other commodity the same purchasing power as it bore from 1909 to 1914.

Tugwell did not specify what period was used as the basis for the figures. Price indices prepared by the bureau of economics for the period May 15 to June 15 were reported to have been made available to him in advance of the availability to the public.

Tugwell also established conversion factors which will be employed in taxing flour stocks of flour held

Boeck Must Support Child

Judge Orders Former Officer to Pay $125 Yearly

Charles Boeck, former police officer who was found to be the father of the child of Mrs. Electa Kennedy last week by a district court jury, has been ordered by District Judge Harold D. Evans to pay $125 per year for the support of the child until she reaches the age of 16.

The money is to be paid in quarterly installments of $31.25, beginning Sept. 15, 1933. The payments of $125 per year are to be continued until further order of the court, the court reserving the right to increase or diminish the amount as circumstances may require.

Another judgment ordered Boeck to pay the clerk of court the sum of $145.25, the expenses of confinement, the payment to be made by July 1, 1934. The third judgment assessed the costs of the court trial, totaling $128.40, to Boeck.

The judgments by Judge Evans are based on the verdict of the jury which named Boeck as the father of Betty Charleen Kennedy-Boeck born Oct. 12, 1932.

Urges Milk Advertising

WATERLOO (AP)—Speaking at the Iowa Holstein Breeders association, Glenn Householder, manager of Wisconsin State dairy herds urged advertising of health benefits of milk through a fund created by payment of one cent per 100 pounds of milk by producers.

of wheat being equal to 196 pounds of flour.

For whole wheat and graham flour, the tax on 100 pounds will be 166.67 per cent of the 30 cent per bushel tax on wheat and for all other flours, 234.7 per cent.

It has Everything! The SEA BRIDE By BEN AMES WILLIAMS

Tang of the Sea

THE whaling ship "Sally Simms" carries Capt. Noll Wing and his youthful bride Faith on their honeymoon trip. The witchery of the sea takes away from her the man she loves and leaves in his stead a hard-bitten, hard-drinking whaling captain.

Spice of Romance

ROMANCE creeps into this situation when it was most unexpected and jealousy and suspicion add their bits to complicate the trying situation in which Faith finds herself on her honeymoon.

Pepper of Action

UNEXPECTED drama and the happy solution of Faith's predicament are brought about because sailors are a two-fisted, slugging lot, given to action rather than soft words. It is one of the reasons "The Sea Bride" has everything!
