LOCAL MERCHANTS SIGN NRA CODES

Readjustments in Upper Wage Brackets Left for Industries to Settle

Thousands of Employers in NIRA Accord

New Interpretations Rely on 'Sense of Justice'

WASHINGTON, July 28 (AP)—In an attempt to straighten the path for President Roosevelt's blanket wage and hour agreements for industry, the national recovery administration ruled tonight that "equitable readjustment" of pay in the upper brackets must be left largely to the discretion of employers.

Thousands Sign

The interpretation was issued at the end of a day that saw thousands of employers—many of them employing hundreds of men—affixing their signatures to the covenants with the chief executive under which they agree to help restore purchasing power by raising wages and shortening hours of work to spread employment.

From one post office after another reports came to the recovery administration of intense interest in the president's plan and of hundreds of thousands of agreements being signed, dependent upon the size of the city.

Johnson in Detroit

Hugh S. Johnson, the administrator and key man of the recovery campaign, was in Detroit, meanwhile, obtaining an agreement among directors of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce to a code of fair competition for that industry.

The interpretations of the agreement were issued by Donald R. Richberg, general counsel of the administration, and Thomas S. Hammond, executive directors of the emergency re-employment campaign.

Up to Employer

They held that no attempt could be made to fix the "equitable readjustments" called for in pay above the minimum wage, this being left to the "sense of justice of the individual employer." However, Richberg said in supplementing the formal statement, the employer was "subject to being corrected if he shows a peculiar sense of justice."

Both Richberg and Hammond said the president's agreement was not intended to disturb contractural agreements between labor and employers but that, unless these contracts were altered so as to conform to the maximum hour provisions, the employer could not display the "blue eagle" insignia of the N.R.A.

Returns From Trip to Find $200 Gone

DENISON, July 28 (AP)—Returning to her home after being gone for two weeks, Mrs. Gus Retman disclosed that burglars had taken about $200 from the house during her absence. The marauders left $35 untouched.

Mrs. Retman found the front door open upon her return.

Tally-Ho!

Varied Cries Greet Cyclists Chasing Cow in Streets.

WATERLOO, July 28 (AP)—Shouts of "Tally-Ho!", "Thar She Blows," "Ride 'Im Cowby!", "Heigh-O, the Fox!", and "Go on, Little Dogie" mixed in the afternoon air as two vaqueros on bicycles chased a small buff cow through Waterloo's busiest streets.

The cow, evidently A.W.O.L. from a local packing plant, meandered peacefully down Water street until the pair of punchers on their steel ponies with lariats ready moved up on the flanks. Then she broke into a lope which shortly changed to an annihilating gallop as more cowboys, riding in a truck, joined the chase.

Ignoring a red traffic light at an intersection, the bovine whirled into Fourth street and then broke another ordinance with a left turn into Sycamore, still with the pursuers close behind. In a last effort to shake the buckaroos she dove into the Cedar river. The cowpunchers tied their steeds on the bank, commandeered a motorboat and cast a rope harpoon around her horns as she neared the middle of the river.

Officers Stumble Onto Counterfeit Suspects in Hunt for Barrows

DES MOINES, July 28 (AP) — Two men and a woman, arrested in an east side rooming house yesterday by detectives searching for the Barrow bandits, were held in jail tonight in lieu of bonds after federal officers had filed charges of possessing counterfeit bills against the men.

The accused are Peter Manfredo, 28, and Jack Conroy, 24, of Chicago. Mrs. Phyllis Conroy, 23, was held as a material witness. Federal officers said the prisoners had several bogus $5 federal reserve notes in their possession. Charges were filed by two U. S. treasury agents, who came here from Omaha to question the trio after the police report.

Pension Pleas to Be Heard by Federal Board

70 to 90 Groups Will Have Hearing in Next 90 Days

WASHINGTON, July 28 (AP)—With 90 days to complete their task, the first federal boards will be set up next week to review the claims of 150,000 veterans for pension payments on ailments presumed to have originated in service.

President Roosevelt, announcing his approval today of regulations creating the boards, sanctioned an order authorizing $50 monthly to Spanish-American war veterans 50 or older, who are 50 per cent disabled and in need. He will define need later.

Announced Monday

Between 70 and 90 reviewing boards will be established immediately. They will be announced as quickly as possible. The first are to be made public Monday.

The boards will determine by Oct. 31 whether the veterans should continue to receive benefits on the presumption that their disabilities resulted from service or if they should be removed from the rolls.

75 Per Cent

Until the board decides his case, each veteran will draw 75 per cent of the amount received prior to July 1, when the economy law became effective, or until Oct. 31. The president has the authority to extend these payments after Oct. 31, if necessary to permit the boards to complete their work.

A special board of 15 members will give a final review to the work done by the regional boards.

Two County Veterans Appeal

Two Johnson county veterans will appeal immediately to the regional board, according to Mrs. Martin Pedersen, Red Cross manager.

Others, she said, have talked to her about their pensions and will probably make appeals before the end of next month.

Dohrer Reminds Voters of Poll Tax Now Due

Two thousand cards notifying voters that their $2 poll tax is now due are being sent out by City Clerk George J. Dohrer this week. The tax must be paid to City Clerk Dohrer at the city hall before Oct. 1, 1933, to avoid penalty. The penalty after Oct. 1 is $2, making a poll tax $4.

It is not possible to work out the poll tax on city streets in Iowa City. Wages and property are not exempt from a judgment obtained in a justice of the peace court on delinquent poll taxes.

All males between the ages of 21 and 45 are required to pay the annual tax.

Seabury Leads Revolt Against Bi-Partisans

NEW YORK, July 28 (AP)—Samuel Seabury led a revolt today against a bipartisan ticket headed by Major General John F. O'Ryan and designed to unite Republicans and independent Democrats against Tammany Hall in the fall municipal election.

Seabury, whose investigation of the city government ended in a hearing last year before Franklin D. Roosevelt and the resignation of Mayor Walker, charged the ticket was dictated by Tammany forces and was not intended to win.

Illinois Organizes Secret Anti-Kidnaping Alliance

Federal, State, City Authorities Unite Under Plan

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 28 (AP)—The state of Illinois undertook today the organization of a secret, highly cooperative agency to stamp out kidnaping through the united efforts of federal, state and city authorities.

Proposed by Governor Horner, the nucleus of the anti-kidnaping alliance will be a central clearing house for information about criminals and crime.

Under the plan, the Illinois state highway police would cooperate with local authorities in running down criminals, the U. S. attorney general's office would assist in prosecution and the three groups would be connected by a private system of communication.

Setting up of a central alarm system for quick mobilization of law-enforcing officials also was considered by Horner and a group of sheriffs, police chiefs, prosecuting attorneys and representatives of the federal government.

"The extortion gangs operating in Illinois must be broken up," the governor told the assembled officials. "To end their reign of terror we shall use every ounce of power, every arm of the state, every weapon we command.

"United action by all heads of law enforcing bodies is demanded by the seriousness of the situation. We believe the citizen population will back the efforts of all these police efforts."

University in Damage Suits

Corsos, Fitzgerald Ask Damages, Costs for Condemnation

Damages in the condemnation proceedings in the proposed construction of the university fine arts building are being asked by Melvin Fitzgerald and Joseph and Catherine Corso against the state, the university, and the state board of education.

Joseph and Catherine Corso yesterday filed a petition in district court asking that the court determine and assess costs in the recent civil action and attorney's fees against the state. They also ask for damages which they claim they sustained in condemnation and abandonment. The petitioners state that they believe condemnation has been abandoned.

The Corso property was condemned by the state but they appealed to the court where a jury appraised the land at $11,500. The motion of the state for a new trial was overruled by the court. The state did not buy the property.

Melvin Fitzgerald filed a similar petition against the state university and the state board of education. His property was condemned and he also appealed to the court where a jury set the appraisal at $25,200. Both petitions were filed by Attorneys Messer and Nolan, and A. E. Maine.

Hearing on both petitions was set by District Judge Harold D. Evans for 9 a.m., Aug. 9, at the court house. Copies of the petitions are being sent to W. H. Bates, university secretary, and Attorney General Edward L. O'Connor.

New Elevator Is Refused by Evans for Bank Building

The application of the receiver of the Johnson County Savings bank to install a new elevator in the bank building at a cost of $8,000 was turned down yesterday in a court ruling by District Judge Harold D. Evans.

Public hearing on the application was held Thursday afternoon. Judge Evans in the ruling said there is no immediate necessity for the installation of a new elevator in the bank building and that the expenditure of $8,000 for the purpose is unnecessary and unwarranted at this time.

He also said that it would not be for the best interests of the depositors and creditors of the bank to authorize such an expenditure as asked in the application.

Two Victims of Kidnapers Still Missing

Another Abduction Is Reported to Police in Texas

By The Associated Press

With the victims of two sensational kidnapings still missing, one other abduction was reported yesterday while police of the world formulated plans to speed organization of an international constabulary.

Illinois organized its law enforcing officers to begin a frontal attack on kidnaping racketeers.

Two men, Charles F. Urschel, Oklahoma City oil millionaire, and John J. O'Connell, Jr., of Albany, N. Y., apparently were still in the hands of their captors. The wealthy and politically powerful relatives and friends of the New York national guardsman, kidnaped from near his home 22 days ago, had virtually exhausted their efforts to trace him. The ransom demand, originally $20,000 has been reduced, it was learned, but the negotiators in this case have refused to divulge their present situation.

The seventh day since the Urschel kidnaping saw no developments.

In San Antonio, Tex., Adolph Galle, a parking lot operator, reported to police he was released early yesterday by kidnapers who held him captive and forced him to sign three blank checks.

St. Louis police arrested three men in connection with an alleged plot to kidnap C. P. Delore, wealthy mine owner.

An extortion plot in which $60,000 was demanded under threat of injury to members of the family of Michael and Isaac Katz, wealthy druggists, was uncovered yesterday in Kansas City. Michael was kidnaped several years ago and released after paying a large ransom.

In Chicago the police chiefs of 14 nations and 22 major American cities discussed the most feasible methods of coperating to thwart national and international crime.

Weather Still Delays Balbo

SHOAL HARBOR, Newfoundland, July 28 (AP)—Unfavorable weather today induced General Italo Balbo to postpone departure of the Italian air armada for Valentia, in the Irish Free State, but the youthful leader hoped to be able to take off on the 1,800 mile transatlantic journey tomorrow.

The 24 seaplanes were all ready today to begin the eastward Atlantic flight but General Balbo after a study of meteorological data, decided it would be wiser to wait.

The Italian squadron arrived here Wednesday from Shediac, N. B., where it came from New York, first stop on the return trip from Chicago.

The projected stage to Ireland is 300 miles longer than the longest flight accomplished by the fleet on its trip from Italy to Chicago when it flew from Iceland to Cartwright, Labrador, a distance of 1,500 miles.

General Balbo prepared to take off tomorrow some time between 1:30 and 2 o'clock, E. S. T.

Alleta Draheim Seeks Divorce

Alleta Draheim yesterday filed a petition in district court asking for a divorce from Louis Draheim charging non-support and cruel and inhuman treatment.

They were married at Lincoln, Neb., on Sept. 2, 1920, according to the petition filed by Attorney Vernon L. Sharp. A temporary writ of injunction restraining Mr. Draheim from molesting Mrs. Draheim was issued by District Judge Harold D. Evans.

WEATHER

IOWA—Generally fair and warm Saturday, scattered showers Sunday, followed by cooler.

INDICTED

Twenty-four Chicagoans were named in conspiracy indictments returned in the Cook county criminal court at Chicago Thursday. The indictments were the outgrowth of a secret three months' war against rackets. Among those named in the true bills are Dr. Benjamin N. Squires (left), former head of the Cleaners and Dyers' Institute, and Alderman Oscar F. Nelson (right), Republican leader in the Chicago city council. Alderman Nelson is attorney for the Laundry and Dye House Drivers' Union, Local No. 712.

'Like Snowball Rolling Downhill'

That's How NIRA Program Gained Size, Speed, Significance in Iowa Yesterday

(By The Associated Press)

Like a snowball rolling downhill the national industrial recovery program in Iowa gained in size, significance, and speed today.

From more and more towns, cities, trade organizations, and individuals came reports of growing interest in the recovery plans and pledges of cooperation.

At Des Moines retail grocers began adding new clerks to their payrolls to meet reduced hours of work and believed that employment for 600 persons would result. The Des Moines Electric Light company and Des Moines Gas company, joint organizations, prepared new work schedules to submit to the board of directors. W. S. Kessinger, president of the Iowa Dental Laboratory association, petitioned Washington authorities for a ruling limiting working hours of 35 per week for both small and large laboratories.

Boone

Boone grocers and butchers have adopted the code proposed by President Roosevelt and reduced the hours of operation of their stores. Automobile merchants formed a permanent organization to inaugurate the code and beauty operators, shoe and clothing merchants, dry goods dealers, and restaurant operators were in the process of organizing.

At Waverly dry goods merchants, grocers, butchers, hardware dealers, restaurant proprietors, and garage and filling station operators joined in an agreement to limit hours of operation and add employes.

Oelwein

Oelwein business men pledged themselves to add employes to their present staffs where necessary after having voted to continue their present schedule of hours of operation.

At Harlan retail merchants, restaurant keepers, and garage owners called a meeting for Monday night to formulate a code of operation.

Grocers at Charles City agreed to a tentative plan for keeping their stores open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. and other merchants, including dry goods dealers, clothiers, and barbers adopted similar agreements.

First Resistance

One of the first instances of resistance to the NRA program arose at Decorah where L. K. Knight, manager of the Connor-Knight department stores declared he had already discharged four clerks and might discharge more since he would secure the best help available at the minimum wage suggested.

Ulch Will Admitted to Probate Yesterday

The will of the late J. S. Ulch, former Solon banker, who died July 4, was admitted to probate in district court yesterday by District Judge Harold D. Evans.

The widow, Fannie Ulch, and his son, Leo, are executors without bond. The will bequeaths a life estate to the widow of all the property. The children sharing in the estate are: Lillie, Milo, Olga, Leo, and Libbie Ocheltree.

Dollar Gains Value Abroad

White House Denies Change in Money Policy

WASHINGTON, July 28 (AP)—The American dollar edged upward in foreign exchange markets today despite a reiteration at the White House that there had been no decisions regarding the money problem.

The position of President Roosevelt for higher prices and greater mass purchasing power was outlined again.

The treasury, too, gave no indication of any definite plans for increasing the rate of inflation. Some of the presidential aides indicated they believed things were moving along well enough and fast enough.

The administration is focusing attention on the huge governmental refinancing for next month. An early announcement by the treasury of its plans in this respect is in prospect. Secretary Woodin, who has been ill for some time, expects to confer with Mr. Roosevelt next week at Hyde Park.

In that connection, fresh reports about Woodin's resignation were denied quickly today at the White House.

S. U. I. Research Assistant to Head Arizona College

Appointment of Thomas J. Tormey, research assistant in the college of education, to the presidency of Arizona State Teachers college at Flagstaff was announced in an Associated Press dispatch here yesterday.

The appointment was made Thursday night at Flagstaff by the board of education of the college. Mr. Tormey will take active charge Aug. 15. He received his doctor of philosophy degree here at the August convocation last year.

To Buy Machine Guns

DES MOINES (AP)—Approval for the purchase of two machine guns by the state bureau of criminal investigation was given by the state executive council.

CEDAR RAPIDS (AP)—Otis Waddle, 50, of Walker, died of burns suffered Wednesday when the boiler of a steam engine in a threshing outfit exploded.

Seventeen Sign Agreement to Raise Wages, Slice Hours as National Campaign Opens

United States Auto Industry Reveals Code

Ford Refuses to Sign Agreement; Wants More Time

DETROIT, July 28 (AP)—Ending a flying visit to Detroit, and three hastily-summoned conferences with officials, General Hugh S. Johnson, national recovery administrator, dashed back to Washington tonight in an army airplane, bearing the wage-work agreement of the nation's automobile industry.

The agreement, not yet approved by the administrator, and as yet unsigned by Henry Ford, provides for a minimum 35-hour week and a minimum wage ranging from 40 to 43 cents an hour, depending upon the size of the city in which the automobile plant is located. Child labor is barred.

35 Hour Week

"Sure we got a code," said Johnson, as he started for the airport after his final conference. "That's what I came here for. Thirty-five hours a week; that's the working week I wanted."

Bluff, hearty, but determined, Gen. Johnson flew unannounced to Detroit last night and dove headlong into a hurriedly-called conference of directors of the national automobile Chamber of Commerce, who a few hours previously had ended a session without reaching an agreement on the signing of the code. This morning he called another conference and shortly before noon a third. Then he emerged, triumphant.

"Only Regret"

"My only regret is that Henry Ford has not signed up," he said. "Up to now, every code that has been presented to us has been signed 100 per cent by the industry involved."

Officials of the Ford company said Mr. Ford is awaiting an opportunity to study the full code before making any statement. Aside from the wage minimum, hours of labor and the child labor ban, none of the provisions were made public. These will be disclosed at hearings in Washington soon.

State Charges of Kidnaping to Face Touhy Upon Release

ST. PAUL, July 28 (AP)—State warrants were sent to Milwaukee today by County Attorney M. F. Kinkead, who asked that Roger Touhy and three others be held for him should they be released on bail in the William Hamm kidnaping case.

He explained they were "Joe Doe" warrants, issued here July 10 before the four were charged by the federal government with seizure of the millionaire brewer.

Asked why the warrants were forwarded an official replied "just to make it tougher for them to raise bail and be on the streets."

Touhy, Ed McFadden, Willie Sharkey and Gus Schafer are held in Milwaukee for $50,000 bail each. Their removal hearing has been set tentatively for August 4.

Governor Pinchot Threatens Martial Law in Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 28 (AP)—Under threat of martial law, Governor Pinchot today directed Sheriff Hackney of Fayette county to withdraw his deputies immediately from the bituminous coal strike area.

"I notify you hereby that, unless you immediately withdraw your deputies from the strike area, I shall be obliged . . . to take over the preservation of law and order in your county," the governor wired Hackney from Milford.

Held for Slugging; Robbery

BURLINGTON (AP)—Robert Campbell, 26, of Kansas City was held in jail under $10,000 bond on charges of having slugged and robbed Peter Mennen, Knights of Columbus hall custodian, Thursday.

Local Trade Meetings Planned to Draft Organization

Full influence of President Roosevelt's NRA plan was becoming evident yesterday as Iowa City merchants began lining up in compliance with the blanket code.

With the delivery of the letters from President Roosevelt yesterday to every employer in Iowa City organization of business under the codes began in earnest. Postmaster Charles A. Bowman, to whom the certificates of compliance with the blanket code are delivered, said last night that 17 merchants had already signed. Practically all Iowa City merchants have expressed their intentions of rallying to the president's plan of recovery.

"Blue Eagle"

The "blue eagle," insignia of cooperation with the NRA and other display material will be handed to merchants signing the certificates of compliance by Postmaster Bowman who said last night that the material would be here before Aug. 1, when the code goes into effect.

With the local shoe rebuilders already organized a number of meeting were being planned for trades to organize under codes.

Printers

Johnson county printers met last night to lay tentative plans for a county organization under the NRA and to prepare detailed suggestions for the district meeting at Cedar Rapids on Aug. 6, where some definite decisions as to wages and hours and organization are expected.

Twenty out of the 22 Iowa City owners of hairdressing establishments agreed to sign the blanket voluntary employment code last night, and drew up local rules.

Sign Today

They will sign the blanket agreements today, it was decided, and will start on the new schedule Tuesday.

After several hours of debate the hairdressers agreed to operate their shops daily except Sunday from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., and set a minimum price list in order to eliminate possible cut-throat competition.

Price List

The price list will be pulished Sunday in The Daily Iowan. Wages, after Tuesday, will be paid in accordance with the terms of the national code. D. W. Crum, Chamber of Commerce secretary, opened the meeting, held at the American Legion Community building.

Who Pays for Proclamation?

DES MOINES (AP)—The attorney general's office was studying the problem of from what fund costs of publication of the governor's proclamation for the special repeal election and of the ballot should be paid. The legislature required publication but made no provision for payment. Heretofore such expenses have been met from unappropriated treasury funds.

$5 an Egg

Hollywood Resident Pays $25 to Hurl Henfruit at Hutton.

HOLLYWOOD, July 28 (AP)—It cost Miss Jane Thomas $25 at five dollars an egg today for hurling them at the ponderous David Hutton, estranged husband of Aimee Semple McPherson, during a stage appearance here last night.

"It was just an impulse of the moment," the pretty 29 year old stenographer told Municipal Judge Clarke, who assessed the fine.

"I know it was none of my business what I did, but when he said, 'Ladies and gentlemen, I'm glad to be in the city of angels; you know I married an angel—' I just couldn't stand the so-called baritone and I let him have it."

"Are you a member of the congregation at Angelus temple?" the judge asked.

"I should say not."

"Did you bring the eggs from home?"

"Of course not. I purchased them from a market and they were really fresh eggs."

Spectators in the court room roared.

Hutton denied what many of the theater crowd insisted was the case—that Miss Thomas' accuracy was really not so bad.

Frank R. McNinch— Another Appointive Ringer?

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT has a way of going into the backwoods for his appointments and picking persons with little experience in public life and in many instances with little renown in their own fields of endeavor. Secretary Ickes, for instance, was formerly known as the "husband of Mrs. Ickes," who has long been prominent in Illinois politics. J. F. T. O'Connor, comptroller of the currency, was chosen partly because he was a lawyer and partly because he was unfamiliar with the banking business. He picks them "for the set of their jibs" rather than for their reputations.

According to formula, Frank R. McNinch of North Carolina, newly appointed chairman of the Federal Power commission, is virtually unknown. Not only is he comparatively unfamiliar with the power industry, but the most important public office he has held is that of mayor of Charlotte, N. C.

But he does have that "set of the jib" which is all important in the Roosevelt family of appointees. And he brings to his new job a viewpoint which is thoroughly sound and he gives abundant evidence that he has a solid grasp of the problems involved in the duties he is about to assume.

"Power is a necessity in the present state of society, and the power industry is a social agency, indeed a governmental agency, where hydro-electric power is concerned," he says.

"Though privately administered, its administration is a public trust in the interest of the consuming public. It offers no fair field for stock jobbing, intercorporate trafficking or any other exploitation of the public. Every dollar honestly invested is entitled to a fair return and no more; every dollar paid by the consuming public is entitled to a full return in service and no less."

This, so succinctly stated, should be the creed of every agency in the country charged with the regulation of activities affected by a public interest. This statement, which is the theory and should be the constant practice of government regulation of public utilities, has been too long absent from the consciousness of some utility interests and in many cases the regulatory agencies.

The president apparently has made another ringer.

Criminals and the Parole System

THE recent outburst of crime in its more sensational forms has directed an unusual amount of public criticism against the system of criminal justice.

The discovery that a surprising number of criminals apprehended by the police are paroled convicts has brought forth a stream of abuse against the parole system. Such commendable papers as the Kansas City Star and Times have condemned the system as too lenient. They question whether men convicted of serious crimes against society are deserving of anything but punishment.

This is an easy conclusion to reach and will find ready favor in the public mind. But is it a logical one? If these criminals were not convicts on parole, they would be ex-convicts. Viewed even from the superficial angle the parole system itself cannot logically be blamed for crime. If there is any one part of our machinery of criminal justice that can be blamed it is the prison system which has been called not without reason "a school for crime."

Crime records show that the great majority of criminals spend their lives following a great circle route in and out of the prison door. The theory on which the parole system is based is that newly released convicts should have the advantage—both for themselves and society—of a guiding and restraining hand.

That it is an effective system has been definitely proved wherever it has been given a reasonable opportunity. Criminologists tell us that it so far it has never been given a fair chance. Parole boards in many cases are not adequately trained and their staffs are far too small to do their work effectively. If there is to be any criticism of parole it should be directed at the system's administration, rather than at the system itself.

Chicago and Her Schools

(From the New York Times)

The Century of Progress in Chicago presents an impressive view of the advances that man has made in the last hundred years. The "'I will" spirit has been powerful in lifting a new glory out of the lake.
Our fathers travel'd eastward to revel in wonders
Where pyramid, pagoda and picturesque attire
Glow in the fading sunset of antiquity,
Now the men of the East "have seen "the electric light in the West and have "come to worship." A proud distinction Chicago has thus had in illustrating the furthest reach of the race in physical conquest.

Turning to the new century, Chicago's first act is to refuse to give to her own children its fullest advantage. Shortening the school year, reducing heavily the teachers' salaries, failing to pay them what has been long due, denying the children the sort of training that has been most urgently recommended by high educational authorities—these are not fit acts of a community that was not daunted by the depression in building its World's Fair. A city that has conceived, planned and brought to successful completion so magnificent an undertaking must have within it the spirit, the creative and administrative genius and the means to provide for its children in as full measure as any community in America.

The report made at the meeting of the National Education association in Chicago early this month gave a hopeful view of the school situation generally in America, despite the failure of certain States and cities to make their usual provision. Nothing could more emphatically aid the cause of public education than that Chicago should now attack her school problem with the same intelligence, zeal and unanimity that she has shown in building the amazing new city on the borders of the old. The creation of a model school system would do even more for the Chicago and America of the coming century than the challenging exposition of the progress of the hundred years that have passed. Here is a new opportunity—and Chicago is "a complete summary of the metropolitan civilization of the United States."

Grain prices are something like elevators, but they need some improved variety of safety clutch to prevent them fro tumbling down the shaft.

Someone not long ago advocated the return of the bearded male. He must be a "barbaculturist."

A number of Viennese newspapers claim to have discovered a trace of Jewish blood among the ancestry of Adolf Hitler. We might expect Herr Hitler to remove himself from office with dispatch, condemn himself to eternal peasantry, and refuse himself a passport by which he might escape his own persecution.

GOOD MORNING

The fact that most persons have begun to cast aside their ancient prejudices and to keep their minds open to new theories and old dogmas in a sincere attempt to find something that will shed light on the perplexing problems of this critical era was made even more evident by the International Congress of Women in Chicago.

The open sympathy with which these women listened to discussions of Communism, Fascism, Socialism, and Democracy was heartening. It evinced a genuine desire to discover the faults and the advantages of every system.

The first requisite for such a reasonable approach is to admit, even to insist, that every system of government must have some virtues or its existence even for a short while would be impossible. Though this appears to be a statement of obvious fact, it would have been hard not long ago to have secured an admission from many that there could be anything virtuous in Communism, or even in Fascism.

This new open-mindedness is the direct result of the disquieting developments of the times. The system of which we have been so proud and so positive has failed in many vital respects. Whether these failures signify the presence of fundamental faults or whether they are merely leaks in a sound hull which can be repaired with a little calking and a few new planks is the question to which we must find the answer.

There are those who insist in no uncertain terms that the whole fabric of Democracy is outworn and must be replaced with newer cloth. The Russians more than 15 years ago threw out the old order entirely and set up a new society which seems destined to last for a long while. This system boasts some unquestionable advantages. It is certain that in Russia today there is no unemployment and that an equal distribution of wealth has been attained. If each individual is still in the clutches of poverty, the reply is that his poverty is far less acute than it was under the old regime and that it is steadily improving as Russia develops her resources to a plane more nearly equal with the United States.

It is equally true that Fascism, both in its German and its Italian manifestations, is not without virtues. Italy has achieved an efficient corporate society that has done miracles for the economic welfare of the nation. Germany has united the German people in a common purpose more completely than ever before in peace time.

Advocates of both these forms of government proclaim with glee the downfall of Democracy. If Democracy is to succeed, it is incumbent upon us to discover its faults in a spirit of sympathetic candor and to correct them.

Personally, I believe that all nations will return eventually to the fundamental ideas of Democracy and representative government. The basic principles of the American system seem to be to represent the goal toward which all nations are striving. But we have strayed too far in some respects from these principles. Until we have discovered some method of reducing the waste and inefficiency to which democracies are subject and have decided that government's first duty is to maintain equality of opportunity among individual members of society we shall not have demonstrated that Democracy will not fail. —Don Pryor

(From Quiet Street, by Michael Ossorgin)

There's no doubt about it, I've killed human beings—not with my own hands, but with a bullet. All the same I'm not a murderer, I'm a fighter. We're fighting for State reasons, Dunka. When we get orders we go like lambs to get wounded or even killed. But as for wanting the war, I don't want it—in fact I don't want it at all—I tell you straight.

SUMMER SESSION OFFICE.

NEW YORK, July 26—Norma Shearer has an answer to the recently raised question, "Is happy marriage possible in Hollywood." The famous film actress not only says it is possible but cites her own experience to prove her assertion.

On arriving from Europe with her husband, Irving Thalberg, and 3 year old Irving, Jr., Miss Shearer was asked to comment on the recent wave of divorces and separations that swept the film colony, with more marital break-ups predicted. She believes the explanation may be found in too great a diversification of interests.

How to Be Happy

"A great many divorces might be avoided," said Miss Shearer, "if the couple would try to be together more. Both the man and woman should be occupied with things they like to do, but they should emphasize those things they enjoy doing together, whether it happens to be entertaining, going to the theater, or whatnot. They should also try to avoid being too serious and introspective and too critical of each other's shortcomings. By fostering common interests the tendency will be to get away from thinking too much about themselves and in consequence they will be much more contented.

"I am against all unnecessary separations. I don't believe in these so-called marital vacations that are said to be necessary breathing spells for husband and wife. Naturally I don't mean that two people should remain in each other's company constantly, but I think if they are well-suited to each other at all, they will enjoy traveling and doing things together.

Children Safeguard

"I think children are a great safeguard against unhappiness in marriage. Perhaps one of the reasons why so many marriages in motion picture and theatrical circles have not been successful is that the possibility of having children has always been excluded.

"I think a too great concentration of one's own interests, as often happens with a movie celebrity, is dangerous. And on the other hand, I think it is equally dangerous to have so much leisure time that your life doesn't follow a certain well-planned routine. The substance of it as I see it is work, and play, together in proper proportion and the fostering of mutual interests."

True Romance

Though Miss Shearer has been married only six years she is one of the longest wed of the film colony's actresses. Her romance with Irving Thalberg, youthful film producer, started when she appeared at Thalberg's office in response to an offer. At their first meeting both must have been impressed for Miss Shearer signed and has never since worked for any other company.

Two years after their first meeting they were married in the home Thalberg had purchased for his bride-elect and in which they still reside. Irving, Jr., was born three years ago. Judging by the picture of happiness presented by the Thalbergs on their arrival here marriage in Hollywood CAN be successful.

Missing Minnesota Accountant May Have Disappeared on Purpose

FAIRMONT, Minn., July 28 (AP)—Investigators tonight said that George R. Cavers, 22, missing oil company accountant, may have disappeared voluntarily.

They were unable to learn why he should do so, however, and relatives said they knew of no reason.

He last was seen Wednesday night when he left the home of his fiancee, Lucille Prafke, three miles from here in his automobile.

Organ recitals are played daily during examination week at the University of Missouri to afford students relaxation from mental strain.

BEHIND THE SCENES — IN HOLLYWOOD —

By HARRISON CARROLL

STUDIO GOSSIP | FILM SCANDAL | SCREEN COMMENT

HOLLYWOOD—Just to show you how hungry they are for new personalities in the movies, look at Pert Kelton. A few months ago, this young comedienne couldn't get a decent job at a studio. Now Samuel Goldwyn and R.K.O. are fighting to see who gets her first.

The reason for the argument is two-fold. Pert is a genuine find as a screen actress, and she is the news. Rightly or wrongly, Hollywod has dubbed her "The girl who stole a picture from Constance Bennett."

Now R.K.O. is anxious to give her a chance to steal another picture, "Aggie Appleby," and Samuel Goldwyn is equally eager to have her play the part of Satan in the Anna Sten picture, "Nana."

Both companies have contracts with the actress. Unfortunately, the pictures will start about the same time. Priority may decide the issue.

When a footlight attraction premieres on the coast, you can usually figure that it wasn't strong enough to achieve production on Broadway. Such was the case with a comedy presented here not long ago.

It was Leonard Spiegelgass who neatly called the turn when he said at intermission: "Shall we go in before the play comes out and gets us?"

HOLLYWOOD PARADE

Although Max Baer's reconciliation with his wife put the quietus on rumors of a romance with June Knight, it looks as if the two may meet in Hollywood after all. "Take a Chance," the Universal-Schwab & Mandell musical for which June was due to leave for New York, has been called off, or at least postponed. The blonde actress is here waiting an assignment. Baer arrives to prepare for his picture at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

Jean Harlow does not go exclusively with Hal Rosson. Her squire at the Cocoanut Grove the other evening was W. H. Perry, New York business man. . . Yes, I know it now. The Earl of Warwick and Rose Bingham are not going to marry—they already have. I missed that cabled item last week. . .The latest choice for Francis Lederer's first picture is "A Man of Two Worlds."

The new 24-hour border and the general pickup in business has done plenty for Agua Caliente, Baja California resort. Saturday night was packed. Some Hollywood, some navy crowd from Coronado and San Diego and a big chunk of the general public. The fans kept mistaking Mrs. Charles Starrett for Joan Crawford. There really is a resemblance, especially about the eyes . . . The Howard Greens and Sol Wurtzel also down during the week end.

Abe Lyman's new gag sends the dancers away hilarious. During the last tune of the evening, the members of the band get playful, tear each other's collars off. At 1 a.m. this rolls the customers in the aisles.

DID YOU KNOW—

That Joan Crawford once earned boarding school tuition by washing dishes?

Local Social Calendar Full of Parties for All Occasions

Birthdays, Weddings, Visiting Relatives, New Friends, Old Residents, Vacationers— All Have Their Share of Limelight

"Every event worth remembering at all, is worth remembering with a party," seems to be the motto of hospitably minded local women this season. Birthdays, weddings, visiting relatives, new friends, old residents, pre-nuptial honorees and "going-on-a-vacation" citizens come in for their share of the limelight as the summer progresses.

And so, despite the rising thermometer, with its "—degrees in the shade," parties continue to go on in a charmingly simple fashion, and persons continue to come and go to and from Iowa City, vacation-bound, in an ever-changing pageant of life and whole-hearted enjoyment.

If it was suntan they wanted, Women Golfers had a good opportunity to get it yesterday, as they participated in the regular Ladies' day activity at the Iowa City Country club.

Mrs. H. L. Hands received the prize for low medal score for the morning's round of play, and Mrs. Henry G. Walker received an award for the most one-putt greens. Mrs. Weldon B. Gipple won the consolation prize.

A luncheon was served at noon on the porch of the club house. Mrs. Thomas Brown and Mrs. Martin Shoup were hostesses. Places were arranged for 16 women.

An invitation has been received from Muscatine to play a return match there Thursday, with the members of the Women Golfers of the Muscatine club.

A wedding is equally as thrilling to the mother of the bride-to-be, as to the bride herself, and with that idea in mind, Mrs. B. J. Lambert is entertaining 12 mothers and daughters this afternoon in honor of Ellen Ford. The afternoon will be spent at bridge.

Miss Ford is to be married Aug. 16 to Dr. Donald Lindsley. This is the second of a series of parties to be given in her honor.

First in a series of social events complimentary to Coach and Mrs. Burton Ingwersen and son, Gordon of Baton Rouge, La., will be a Sunday night supper, given for a few intimate friends by Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Ewers Sunday. The event will take place at the Ewers home, 351 Magowan avenue.

Plans for further parties are as yet incomplete, but next week promises to be a busy one, as both old and new friends of the Ingwersens join in renewing acquaintances, and in making their stay in Iowa City a pleasant one.

Mrs. Ingwersen and Gordon will visit with Prof. and Mrs. Ernest Horn, 832 Kirkwood avenue, while Mr. Ingwersen will be the guest of Dr. Dean M. Lierle, 603 River street.

It's a wise husband who remembers birthdays, wedding anniversaries, and what not, but the husband who remembers them to the tune of a party is even more wise.

Preston C. Coast, 122 E. Church street, gave a birthday-bridge party in honor of his wife Thursday night. The guests included members of two bridge clubs and a few out of town guests, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tait of Baltimore, Md., Bess Portwood of Greenwood, Miss., and Sally Romes of Chicago, Ill.

High score winners were Mrs. W. Hal Stewart and Prof. Percy Bordwell. Consolation prizes were awarded Prof. Baldwin Maxwell and Miss Portwood.

Mrs. Clark Cooper of the Burlington apartments, entertained 11 women yesterday afternoon at an informal afternoon party.

The afternoon was spent at bridge, and prizes went to Mrs. Ralph Freyder, and Mrs. Raymond Ebert.

A brisk cantor in early morning air, an invigorating trip around the Davenport golf course, a refreshing dip into a swimming pool, a picnic dinner, with the informality and spontaneous joviality it inspires, and an evening of bridge will be the program of the day for the National Federation of Business and Professional Women when they attend the Sixth Iowa district picnic at Davenport Sunday. Reservations may be made with Delvina Anderson.

Highlights from the vacation-life of some of the university professors and their families indicate that the faculty is "relaxing" in a variety of ways. Their vacation plans include a wide scope of travel far and near, and in some cases, a peaceful time spent with family and friends.

The home economics department has one advantage over other departments in the university, in that during the second session, when it becomes a bit too warm to cook and sew, the department closes, and the staff departs for a well-earned vacation.

Prof. Frances Zuill, head of the department, is at her home in Whitewater, Wis., but Aug. 1 she will meet Prof. Lula Smith in Chicago, and the two will tour the east.

Prof. Alice Brigham, also of the Prof. Alice Brigham, also of the home economics department is at home in Buffalo, N. Y. She expects to spend most of the summer, however, at her camp in Canada. Prof. Edna Hill is in Warren, N. H., and Ione E. Hosman, also an instructor, is in Omaha, Neb. Prof. Mate Gidings will return to Iowa City from Chicago next week.

Prof. Norman C. Meier of the psychology department returned recently from New York city, where he, as a member of the Carnegie foundation committee for art research, studied the results of research by Gregor Paulsson of Stockholm, Sweden. Professor Meier, who made the trip by airplane, will leave tomorrow with his wife and two sons for a month's vacation in Sante Fe, N. M.

The west has also attracted Ruth Updegraff, research associate in child welfare, and Janet Cumming, instructor in the physical education department. They are leaving today for a jaunt by motor through Colorado, Arizona, and New Mexico.

A school teacher evidently believes in practicing what she preaches, and so Lula Palmer, teacher of the third grade in pre-school is combining pleasure with education, as she tours New England this summer.

Kathryn Baker, secretary of the Romance languages department, leaves today for her home in Burlington.

Prof. Elmer W. Hills of the college of commerce will take his wife and two sons to Grand Beach, Mich., today. Professor Hills will return Monday, but his family will remain there until September.

Clara Wallace Will Wed Lee Behrens on Second of September

Sept. 2 has been set as the wedding date of Clara Louise Wallace of Council Bluffs to Lee Behrens of Sterling, Ill.

Miss Wallace, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Wallace of Council Bluffs, attended the University of Iowa, and is a member of Gamma Phi Beta sorority.

Mr. Behrens, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George G. Behrens of Sterling, will graduate from the college of dentistry at the University of Iowa next June, is a member of Phi Gamma Delta social fraternity, and of Delta Sigma Delta, national dental fraternity.

Sails Seas in 30 Foot Boat

Former Professor Here Reaches Tahiti Safely

After sailing through Pacific waters for many weeks, Henry Blanco, formerly professor in the University of Iowa Romance languages department, arrived at Tahiti recently, according to word received by his former associates here.

The professor left Iowa City about five years ago, with his wife and daughter. In New York he purchased a 30 foot fishing boat, and the family sailed for Spain.

For more than a year there was no word of the adventurous trio, and their Iowa City friends believed that they had been drowned in an Atlantic storm. But finally the professor sent a card from Buenos Aires, Argentine, saying that his wife, sick, was in Spain, but that he and his daughter were continuing the voyage.

The recent letter announced that he and his daughter, now 10 years old, were in perfect health, and that the boat was in good condition. From Tahiti they will sail westward, intending to complete the trip around the world.

Iowa Student at Art Colony

The only Iowa City student attending the summer session of the Stone City Art colony was Aulus Ward Saunders, 613 Rundell street. Mr. Saunders is a research assistant in psychology at the state University of Iowa, while on a two year leave of absence from the city schools of St. Louis where he teaches art. He attended the colony's classes on week ends between terms of the university summer session.

The faculty of the Stone City Art colony is headed by Grant Wood, painter of "American Gothic" and "Daughters of the Revolution." There are 11 instructors and an average attendance of 54 students this summer.

More than 3,000 persons have visited the colony on the last four Sundays to see the gaily painted ice wagons in which the art students live and the old water tower and stone buildings that house the institution and its exhibits.

Prof. Ladd, Family Take Week's Trip

Prof. Mason Ladd of the college of law left yesterday morning in company with his wife and children for Calendar where Mrs. Ladd and the children will visit her parents.

Professor Ladd will attend a meeting of the executive committee of the Iowa State Bar association in Des Moines Tuesday. They will return to Iowa City the latter part of next week.

Libraries are doing a rushing business this season. Several students here during the summer session are actually learning, under pressure, that libraries do have a use, and that they aren't such bad places to spend an afternoon of research. If you have anything to search for.

Noticeable among the summer students on the campus this session is the predominance of Phi Beta Kappa keys, and other honorary fraternity emblems. Much more so than fraternity or sorority pins.

Even seasoned speecn teachers "crack up" now and then. Prof. H. C. Harshbarger, who conducts a course in radio broadcasting in East hall this season, could tell some interesting tales, if he "chose" to talk. What there is about a metal box mounted on a stand, which transmits the voice to the adjoining room, to frighten the average human being, has never yet been discovered. But if you've never had a case of genuine "stage-fright," with shaking knees, perspiring brow, gasping for breath, trembling hands, and all that goes with it, drop in on Professor Harshbarger. He'll see that you get it.

The depression is over! At least, it should be, if we can judge by the number of alumni weddings which have poured into The Daily Iowan office the last month. Happy days are here again . . . and that isn't the Democratic campaign song.

The employes cafeteria at the hospital looks like a reunion of the class of '34, '35, and '36. If you're in Iowa City just for a day, and you'd like to see as many of the "old gang" as you can in your limited time, drop around to the "employes entrance" around mealtime. They "may be there, Charlie."

The grassy slope just west of Old Capitol has a new use. Newcomers to the Iowa campus with a photographic urge may be seen most any sunny afternoon, armed with a kodak, taking snaps for "the folks back home."

Mrs. George Unash Wins Bridge Prize

Mrs. George Unash was awarded prize for high score at the conclusion of the bridge party given yesterday afternoon by the American Legion auxiliary. Mrs. Harold Harmon won consolation.

Bridge was played at six tables during the afternoon. Mrs. Robert Schell presided as hostess.

Steck Assists U. S. Attorney

S. U. I. Grad., Former Senator to Start Work Soon

Former Senator Daniel F. Steck of Ottumwa, has been appointed special assistant to the United States attorney general. Steck, a graduate of the college of law here with the class of 1906, will have general charge of condemnation business pertaining to the 9-foot channel on the upper Mississippi and will have his headquarters in Ottumwa. He will have such aides as necessary as the work progresses.

Negotiation and court proceedings will be involved, some in Minnesota and Wisconsin as well as in Iowa and Illinois.

Steck already has been sworn in and is getting his final instructions from the department. He has been in Washington, D. C., about a month. Before taking this appointment, he was tendered another under the department of justice.

With the appointment of Steck, two former political enemies from Iowa now hold jobs under the administration. Former Senator Smith W. Brookhart is employed by the department of agriculture as a student of foreign trade possibilities. His salary is reported to be about $6,000 a year.

No salary has yet been set for Steck, the attorney general's office said.

Ripley Explanations

The well of death: The volcano of Tecuamburru is situated in the extreme south of Santa Rosa Mountain, Guatemala. The area is highly volcanic, rich in vapors and sublimates. From a profound depression in the mountain, called the Crater of Tecuamburru, surges a continuous emanation of carbonic acid, which will kill any animal passing there.

The torpedo: This electric fish belongs to a genus of rays possessing electric organs, capable of discharging electric shocks of considerable power. These electric organs possess a high degree of development, and specimens from 2 to 3 feet long have been known to disable a fully grown man by a single discharge.

Tomorrow: "The village on a raft."

IOWA CITY, IOWA SATURDAY, JULY 29, 1933

Hold Eastern Iowa Junior Golf Championship Here Aug. 14

Meet Open to All Boys Less Than Eighteen

36 Holes of Medal Play to Decide Individual, Team Crowns

Open to all junior golfers in the district, the Eastern Iowa Junior golf championship will be decided Aug. 14 over 36 holes of medal play at Finkbine field.

With Coach Charles Kennett in charge, the tournament will enter its second year of existence, the individual title resting with Henry Kadgihn, Iowa City.

This year a new feature will be added to the meet in the form of a team trophy donated by Walter "Stub" Stewart, former Iowa star. The cup will go to the four man team making the best showing over the 36 holes of medal play. In order to qualify for this trophy the team members must come from the same school and no more than one team will be allowed to represent any one institution.

Under 18

With an initial division of the players by ages, Coach Kennett announced that there would be as many flights as were necessary to enable every entrant to play. Since there will be no greens fee, each entrant must pay an entry fee of 25 cents when he sends in his blank. The committee announced that no player over 18 will be allowed to enter.

Boys between the ages of 16 and 18 will form the senior flight which will be further divided according to the number of entries and those under 16 will enter the junior class.

Prizes will be given as follows: to the winning team and its members, the individual winner, the junior winner, the senior winner, and the high ranking players in each flight.

Probable Deadline

No definite deadline has been set as yet but Kennett indicated that Aug. 11 would probably be selected.

Last year more than 100 boys entered the meet and a larger field is expected this year since invitations will be sent to all nearby towns to enter both the individual and team championships.

Entries will be made on coupons which will be run in The Daily Iowan each day and should be sent to Coach Charles Kennett, Finkbine Field, Iowa City.

Kerr's Circuit Clout Margin for Winners

Parisha Hurls Steady Game as Mates Give Support

With Parisha bearing down hard in the tight spots and receiving good support from the field, Iowa City Wholesale Fruit nipped a last inning, two run rally, to take their second victory of the week in two starts at the expense of Varsity Cleaners, 6 to 5.

Parisha allowed seven hits and struck out seven batters. His speed ball served him well, especially in the last frame. Two runs were across and the tying run on third when he sent the last batter from the plate on strikes.

The Wholesalers scored first in the second frame when Parisha sacrificed to let in Donaly. Three runs crossed the plate in the third with Johannas, J. Shannon, and Kerr scoring. Kerr blasted a long home run over center field in the fourth with Harwood on to bring in the winners' final scores.

Varsity Cleaners scored one run in the third by Morris on a triple by Baker. In the fifth Willard singled to score on Tiffany's triple blow. Metzgar's single scored Tiffany for the second score.

Two costly errors by Donaly and Rosenberg's triple almost stole the game in the seventh for the Cleaners. With two down, Metzgar got to first on Donaly's muffed catch. The same play let Miller to first. Rosenberg blasted a triple past Donaly to score Metzgar and Miller. Parisha smoked out Richardson for the last out that nipped the rally.

Printers Down M. U. D., 5 to 3

Press-Citizen gave Louis Loria plenty of support last night and defeated Merchants United Delivery in the sandwich game of the evening, 5 to 3. Five runs scored in the third inning proved too much of a lead for the losers to overcome.

The five run third was the printer's big inning. D. Roose got to first on the fielders choice that put out Rogers at second. Anderson got to first and the error let Rogers home. Anderson, Loria, Owen and R. Roose scored before the frame was over, all the result of errors on M.U.D.

United Delivery started a rally in the fifth on Cerny's triple. C. Wagner drove a high fly to Rogers who dropped it and Cerny scored on the throw-in. Wagner scored as V. Shimon took first when his fly escaped Patton, right fielder. The last run, by Shimon, was the result of Moffitt's hit.

Cerny hurled for U. D. with Moffitt working behind the plate. Cerny struck out seven batters.

Kelley Cleaners Beat K. C. Team

Knights of Columbus fell victim to a six run spree manufactured by the re-organized Kelley Cleaners outfit in the opening game last night and went down, 6 to 2. Kelley Cleaners combined with Hydraulic Lab. to put the winning combination on the field and will probably play this combination in the new league lineup starting Monday.

World's Greatest Scullers Compete in Canadian Meet

LONDON (AP)—Ted Phelps, world sculling champion, is to defend his title against Robert Pearce, the Australian ex-holder of the Diamond Sculls, at the Canadian exhibition during the last week of August and the first week of September.

Pearce has twice won the Olympic title as well as national amateur championships in Australia, America and Canada.

Phelps won the world championship from H. A. Barry in 1930 and successfully defended it against Major Goodsell last September at Long Beach, Cal.

Eric Phelps, brother of the champion, also will go to Canada. He will compete in a contest with Bert Barry and Major Goodsell.

George Von Opel, the German sculler, has entered for the amateur events at the Canadian exhibition.

Seeded Aces Win Again at Cedar Rapids

Thelma Kenefick Meets Betty Butler Today for Title

CEDAR RAPIDS, July 28 (AP)—While all seeded players advanced to the quarter-finals in the men's singles of the eastern Iowa tennis tournament today, Betty Butler of Des Moines earned the right to meet Thelma Kenefick of Eagle Grove for the women's title by defeating Mrs. James Bell of Cedar Rapids in a hard fought match.

Quarter and semi-final matches in the men's singles will be played tomorrow with the finals now set for Sunday.

First round play in the men's doubles and mixed doubles largely occupied the afternoon with no upsets occurring. Ed Davis of Peoria, Frank Brody and Bennie Beckerman of Des Moines, Reddig of Rock Island, and Raymond of Cedar Rapids were among the aces who entered the quarter-finals of the men's singles today.

PAST AND PRESENT CARD LEADERS

Pictured above are the two men involved in the latest of the long series of managerial changes at St. Louis. Phillies Sweep Series With Braves; Indians Beat Tigers

Score 9 Runs in Ninth to Tie Score at 12 All

PHILADELPHIA, July 28 (AP)—The Phillies, nine runs behind in the fifth, came back today to tie the score in the ninth and add another run in the tenth to beat the Boston Braves 13 to 12 and sweep their three game series. The victory consolidated the Phils' hold on sixth place, giving them a full game over the idle Cincinnati Reds.

Chuck Klein, Philadelphia's leading slugger, drove in the deciding run in the tenth, walloping a double with two aboard and one out to bring in Bartell, from second. Bartell got on by forcing McLeod, who had singled, and Fullis advanced him with a base hit.

The Braves did all their scoring in the first five frames. They started in the first when Moore walloped a home run with two on base and added four more in the second as Wally Berger duplicated Moore's feat, pasting his 18th homer of the season to tie Klein for the National league lead.

Ad Liska, third Philadelphia pitcher, finally checked the Braves after he had yielded two runs in the fifth, and pitched shutout ball until he was removed for a pinch hitter in the ninth. Austin Moore hurled the last frame and was credited with the victory.

Going into the ninth still three runs behind although they had driven Frankhouse to cover in six frames and hit Brandt hard, the Phils got started again when Hurst hit a homer behind a walk to Klein. Schulmerich followed with a triple and scored the tying run after Warner flied to Lee.

Schulmerich also hit for the circuit, connecting with two on base in the fifth.

Cleveland Wins Series Opener in Easy Fashion

CLEVELAND, July 28 (AP)—The Indians had practically no trouble defeating the Detroit Tigers 7 to 2 today in the opener of their three games series to take a firm hold on fourth place.

The victory put Cleveland a full game ahead of the Tigers and the same distance behind the third place Philadelphia Athletics, who were idle.

Oral Hildebrand went the route and had the Detroit batsmen eating out of his hand most of the way. The Tigers scored their first run in the eighth with the aid of an error by Hale and added another on the tail end of a double play in the ninth. Hildebrand gave them only eight hits and before the eighth didn't let a runner get past second base.

The Indians just about settled the game in the first by scoring three runs off Vic Sorrell. A walk to Oulliber, started the trouble. Boss followed with a single and Averill brought them home with a triple. Hale's single scored Averill.

Cleveland added two more runs in the fifth when Porter doubled, advanced on Oulliber's sacrifice and tallied on a base hit by Boss. Averill followed with another single and Boss scored on Hale's infield out.

In the seventh three hits off Herring brought two more runs. Oulliber's smash bounced off Gehringer's leg and was good for a double. Boss smacked another two bagger and Hale singled Boss home.

French Star Loses Tough 5 Set Match

Defender's Hopes Rest With Success in Doubles

AUTEUIL, France, July 28 (AP)—The French Davis Cup tennis defense crumbled unexpectedly today with the defeat of Henri Cochet in the singles and England smashed through for two victories that forecast, simultaneously, the end of France's six-year reign and the first British triumph since 1912.

Cochet, little Frenchman who was regarded only two years ago as the world's premier player, went down before the powerhouse attack of Fred Perry, 24 year old top-ranking British star. With him toppled the slim French hopes of sustaining their hold on the international trophy.

Perry Faints

Perry fainted from fatigue in the dressing room afterward but there was no sign of distress as the stalwart Briton trounced the great Cochet in the fifth set of an otherwise hardfought match, decided by scores of 8-10, 6-4, 3-6, 6-1.

Following upon the decisive victory of Henry W. (Bunny) Austin over the youthful Andre Merlin, newcomer to Davis Cup play, by scores of 6-3, 6-4, 6-0, England thus gained a 2-0 lead and now needs only one more match to clinch the series and take the historic cup across the channel. France, in order to keep the trophy won from the United States at Germantown in 1927 and successfully defended five times by her famous "Musketeers," would have to win all three of the remaining matches. The defenders have a good chance to pull out the doubles tomorrow, with the veteran Jacques Brugnon and Jean Borotra in good form, but no one expects Merlin to stop Perry in the singles Sunday nor Cochet to have advantage over Austin.

Lee May Play

The astute English captain, H. R. Barrett, may withdraw Perry from the doubles and substitute H. G. N. Lee as a partner for George P. Hughes against the Brugnon-Borotra combination. Perry's condition after today's hard match made it imperative he have a good rest for Sunday's singles.

Shields Beats Greg Mangin

New Yorker Crushes Indoor Titleholder at Seabright.

SEABRIGHT, N. J., July 28 (AP)—Crushing his opponent with mighty drives along the white sidelines, big Frank Shields of New York today won possession of the silver bowl denoting the men's singles championship in the Seabright invitation tennis tournament by completely outclassing Gregory Mangin of Newark, the national indoor titleholder.

The winner of the trophy taken last year by Sidney Wood, gave Mangin only five games in the three set final. The score was 6-1, 6-3, 6-1.

Just as one sided was the women's doubles final in which Josephine Cruickshank of Santa Ana, Cal., and Alice Marble of San Francisco overpowered the Boston pair of Virginia Rice and Marjorie Sachs.

The Californians, considered favorites to take the national title by virtue of their easy victory over the 1932 champions, Helen Jacobs and Sarah Palfrey, in the semifinals here, won by a score of 6-2, 6-1.

Shields was the favorite but the manner in which he smashed the conqueror of the sensational Frankie Parker in the semifinals yesterday was far from anticipated.

Three more titles—in women's singles, men's doubles and mixed doubles—will be decided tomorrow.

Stocks Have Dull Market in New York

Volume Subsides to 1,390,555 Shares

NEW YORK, July 28 (AP)—Stocks had a rather heavy but thin and very dull market today as commodities skidded and foreign exchanges cut capers.

Reactions of grains at Chicago and Winnipeg, as well as declines in cotton here, were partly associated with currency movements. Sterling took a bad spill at London before our opening but its extreme loss of around 8 cents against dollars at New York was more than recovered before American markets closed. Nevertheless, quotations on the staples remained down.

Facing a holiday tomorrow, stocks were listless. Volume subsided to 1,390,555 shares, the smallest market in weeks. Professional traders stood aside, content to await developments which, some think, may take the form of a "secondary reaction" from the week's recovery. Offerings were light, encouraging a belief that the removal of recent casualties was making satisfactory progress but buyers were hesitant and the market did little more than drift.

Losses averaged into a net decline of 2 points. American Telephone, Republic Steel, National Steel, American Can, Western Union, Union Carbide, Industrial Rayon, U. S. Rubber, Auburn and Columbian Carbon were off in the neighborhood of 2 points. Case and Celanese lost about 3, while for U. S. Steel, Westinghouse, General Motors, General Electric, Sears Roebuck, North American and a number of rails the recession approximated a point. Gold stocks again dragged lower. Tobaccos were fairly steady.

Muskogee Not to Quit Loop

One Owner Denies That Team Will Cease to Operate

MUSKOGEE, Okla., July 28 (AP)—A denial that the Muskogee club of the Western league had dropped out of the circuit was made here late today by Luther Shirley, co-owner of the club with Ed. Wilson.

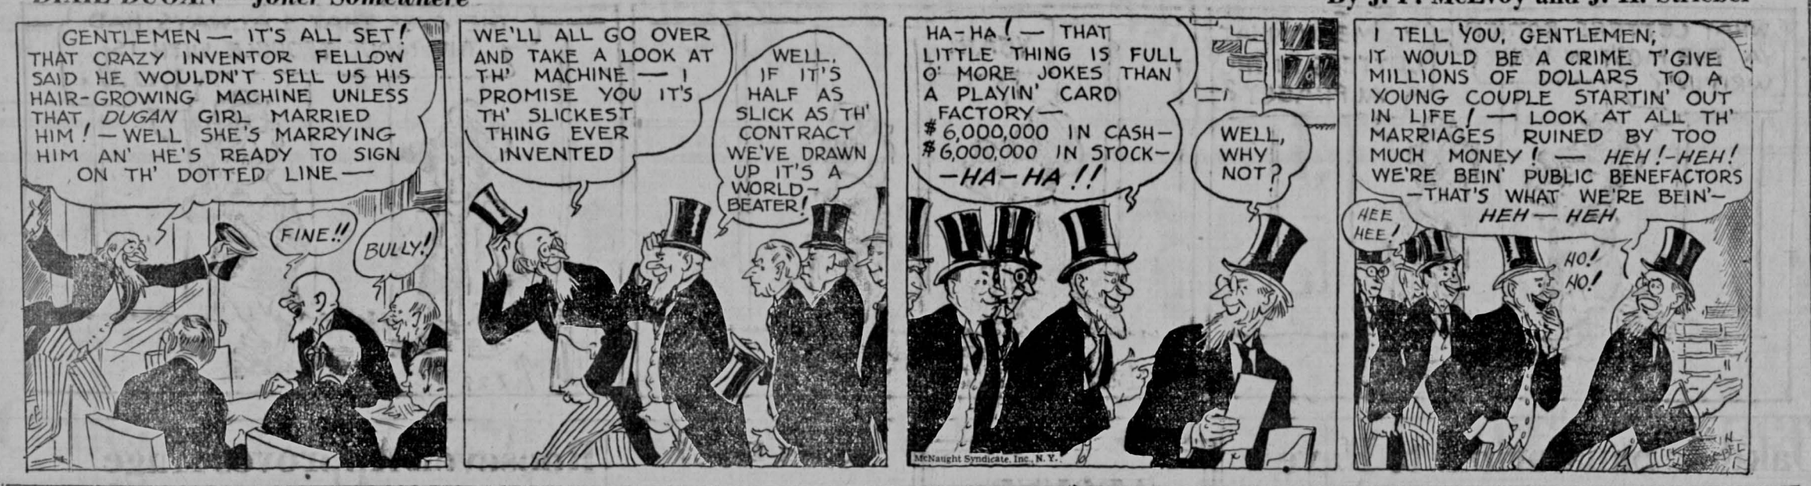
A dispatch from Bartlesville today stated that Wilson had wired Johnny Butler, manager of the Des Moines club playing there, that the Muskogee club would relinquish its franchise because of poor attendance. The report stated further that Wilson offered Butler the choice of the Oiler players.

Shirley admitted there was dissatisfaction over salary arrears, the Oilers refusing to meet Omaha's team last night on this account. He said, however, that at a meeting today the players reached an agreement to play tonight pending a report tomorrow from the Junior Chamber of Commerce, which is undertaking to refinance the club.

Shirley has been recognized here as principal owner and operator of the Muskogee club. Outfielder Glass was selected by the players today to be temporary manager, succeeding Wilson.

MADISON, S. D., (AP)—Woodrow Erickson, 12, Sioux Falls, critically injured when he was hit in the head with a midiron on the Colton golf course Monday, was reported improved today with hope held for his recovery. When the lad was brought to a hospital here his condition was considered hopeless.

DIXIE DUGAN—Joker Somewhere By J. P. McEvoy and J. H. Striebel



Emery, Bliss, Westland, Dann Enter Semifinals of Western

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 28 (AP)—Producing one of the greatest rallies this tournament has seen, Walter Emery, national intercollegiate titleholder from Oklahoma City, today overcame a four-hole deficit to defeat Leland Hamman of Waco, Texas, one up on the 37th hole in the feature quarter finals match of the western amateur golf championship.

Four down at the three quarter mark and with defeat seemingly only a matter of a few holes away, Emery got his game under control and equalled par on the last nine holes to wipe out the Texan's lead, square the match and finally win it.

Jack Westland, Chicago veteran, Carl Dann, the Florida champion; and Rodney Bliss of Omaha, Nebraska state champion, joined Emery in the semifinals.

Westland won a hard fought match from Chasteen Harris of Memphis, 3 and 1. Dann turned back Mike Roach of St. Louis, 6 and 4, while Bliss defeated Charles Yates, Atlanta, by the same score.

Hamman, who furnished an upset yesterday when he eliminated the defending champion, Gus Moreland, seemed ready to write another across the record books today. Square through the first nine holes, he won the first three holes of the second nine and went to lunch two up. While Emery was playing raggedly for a 40 on the first nine this afternoon, Hamman added two more holes to his lead.

Then Emery began battling. He won the 28th and 29th, the latter with a birdie four, and forced Hamman to shoot a birdie to halve the 30th. Emery's par four was good enough to win the 31st, and cut Hamman's advantage to one hole.

Hamman won the 32nd and halved the next two, leaving Emery on the 17th tee two down and two to go. The Oklahoman won the last two in par fours as Hamman overshot both greens.

Emery hit a terrific wallop on the 37th and Hamman drove into the rough. His second also landed in the rough while Emery was well on the green. Hamman made a nice recovery to the carpet, but Emery putted almost to the cup's lip, leaving the Texan a stymie. He knocked Emery's ball away trying for the cup but missed and conceded the match.

Bliss and Yates were all square for nine holes but the Nebraskan, runner-up in the national intercollegiate tournament, pulled away to a four hole lead on the second nine which he shot in par 35, Yates held on but was unable to chop down Bliss' lead through the first nine of the afternoon round. Still four up through the 30th, Bliss won the next two holes to close out the Atlantan.

Westland gained a two hole lead over Harris on the first nine holes and protected it through the 27th. Harris won the 28th, but Westland took the 32nd to go two up again and won on the 34th.

Roach was off to a good start and had Dann two down through the fifth. He was one up through the ninth and the 18th, but Dann squared the match on the 21st and went up on the 22nd for the first time. Starting with the 28th, Dann shot two under par for five holes to wi nall of them.

Tomorrow Emery plays Westland and Dann meets Bliss over the 36 hole distance in the semi-finals.

over the winter, I hope to play regularly. You know, I can hit."

One of the Rajah's first official acts today was to send Outfielder Sam West and Pitcher George Blaeholder back to St. Louis to recover from their illnesses.

Chick Fullis walloped four hits in six times up in the Phillies' slugging match against Boston yesterday and tore past Arky Vaughan of Pittsburgh into third place in the National league batting race to give the Phils three members of the Big Six again. Fullis' hits were good for a four point gain, bringing his average up to .337. Spud Davis, who retired after hitting "two for two" equalled that gain but Chuck Klein, Big Six leader, was just able to hold his mark at the .370 level by hitting twice in five times up. All the American league leaders were idle.

Bond Market Drifts Lower

Sliding Stocks, Scarcity of Bids Cause of Decline

NEW YORK, July 28 (AP)—The bond market drifted irregularly lower today under the influence of sliding stocks, heavy commodities and a general scarcity of bids.

It was an extremely quiet session despite the fact that sales totalled $11,840,000, par value. The average for 60 domestic corporate loans sagged three-tenths of a point.

While the majority of high grade issues maintained a steady to firm position, the secondary groups were highly mixed. Gains and losses of the more active maturities, however, generally were held to around a point.

Among the comparatively few rail gainers of a point or more were some liens of Baltimore and Ohio, Great Northern, New Haven, Pere Marquette, St. Louis Southwestern and Seaboard Airline. Similar losses were suffered by issues of Canadian Pacific, Central of Georgia, Central Pacific, Chicago and Eastern Illinois, St. Paul, Rock Island, Erie, Northern Pacific and Southern Pacific.

Among the few industrial advances of 1 to 2 points were Hudson Coal 5s, Paramount Public 5 1-2s and St. Joseph Lead 5 1-2s. Losers of 1 or more points among the industrials and utilities included American and Foreign Power, International Telephone, Lackawanna Steel, Postal Telegraph and United Drug.

THE ROMANCE OF AN EVENTFUL WHALING CRUISE

CHAPTER XXXVII.

"WHO says I stole whiskey?" Roy demanded.

"I," Faith told him.

"Who— Somebody lied to you!"

"No."

Roy was near tears with bafflement.

"Why—what makes you—"

"Don't you want to tell?" Faith asked quietly.

"It's a lie, I say!"

She looked to her husband. Noll saw they were all waiting on him, and he tried to rise to the occasion.

"By Jupiter, Roy, what did you go and do that for? Can't a man have a ship without a pack of thieves on her? Mr. Tobey, you—"

He wavered, his eyes swung helplessly to Faith. He seemed to ask her to speak for him.

"Take him on deck, Dan'l," she said, "till Cap'n Wing decides."

"I tell you," Roy insisted, "I didn't——"

But Dan'l Tobey hushed him. Dan'l was getting his first glimpse of the new Faith, and he was afraid of her. He took Roy's arm, led him out and away. Faith and Noll were left alone.

At noon that day, at Noll Wing's profane command, Roy was put in irons and locked in the after 'tween-decks to stay a week on bread and water. The boy cursed Faith to her face for that, and Faith went to her cabin and dropped on her knees and prayed.

But she kept a steady face for the men, and in particular she kept a steady eye for Dan'l Tobey. She knew Dan'l now! Dan'l had warned Roy before bringing him to the cabin. He must have warned the boy, for Roy was prepared for the accusation. He must have warned the boy, therefore, he must have known what Faith would assert.

And Faith knew enough of Dan'l's ascendency over Roy to be sure the mate had prompted her brother's theft.

She must watch Dan'l, fight him. And—she thanked God for Brander. There was a man, a man on her side. She was not to fight alone.

She dreamed of Brander that night. He was battling for her, in her dream, against shadowy and unseen things. And in her dream she thought he was her husband.

An unrest seized Noll Wing—an unrest that was like fear. He assumed, by small degrees, the aspect of a hunted man. It was as if the death of Slatter prefigured to him what his own end would be. His nerves betrayed him; he could not bear to have any man approach him from behind. He struck out nervously at Willis Cox one day when Willis spoke from one side, where Noll had not seen him standing.

The continual storms of the Solander irked him; the racking work of whaling, when it was necessary to run to port with each kill fretted the flesh from his bones. They lost a whale one day in a sudden squall that developed into a gale and swept them far to the southward, and when the weather moderated and Dan'l Tobey started to work back to the grounds again, Noll would have none of it.

"Set your course to the east'ard," he commanded, "I'm fed up with the Solander. We'll hit the islands again."

Dan'l protested that there was nowhere such whaling as the Solander offered, but Noll would not be persuaded. He resented the attempt to argue with him.

"No, by Jupiter!" he swore. "A pity if a man can't have his way. Hell with the Solander, Dan'l. I'm sick o' storms and cold. Get north to where it's warm again."

So they did as he insisted, and ran into slack times once more. The men at first exulted in their new leisure; they were well enough content to kill a whale and loaf a week before another kill. Then they began to be impatient with inaction; discontent arose among them. They remembered the ambergris; and their talk was that they need stay out no longer, that the voyage was already a success, that they had a right to expect to head for home.

Noll was wax in Faith's hands in these days. His fear, growing upon him, had shaken all the fiber out of the man. He could be swayed by Dan'l, by old Tichel, by Faith, by almost anyone—save in a single matter. He wast drinking steadily now, and drinking more than ever before. He was never sober, never without the traces of liquor in his eyes and his loose lips and slack muscles. And they could not shake him in this matter. He would not be denied the liquor that he craved.

Dan'l was getting his first glimpse of the new Faith, and he was afraid of her.

Faith never felt more keenly the fact of her marriage to Noll and her identity with him than now. She never thought of herself apart from him; and when he debauched himself she felt soiled as if she were herself degraded. Nevertheless, she clung to him, lived the vows she had given him.

There were other times, after that first, when she dreamed of Brander. She could not curb her dreams. He was much in them; but waking, she put the man away from her. She was Noll's; Noll was hers.

Brander avoided her. His heart was sick; she possessed it utterly. But he gave no sign; he never relaxed the grip in which he held himself.

Now and then, on deck, when Noll swore at her or whined or fretted, Brander had to swing away and put the thing behind him; but he did it. He was strong enough to do this; he was almost strong enough to keep his thoughts from Faith. Almost—but not quite. She dwelt always with him; he was sick with sorrow and pity and yearning for the right to cherish her.

They spoke when they had to, in the cabin or on deck; but they were never alone, and they avoided each other as they would have shunned a precipice.

Save for one day, a single day, a day when Faith called Brander to her on the deck and spoke to him; a day that would have been, but for Faith's strength, the bloody destruction of them both.

The incident was the climax of two trains of events, extending over days—extending, in the one case, back to that first day when Dan'l had roused the jealousy in Noll and blown it into flame. Dan'l had never let that flame die out. He fanned it constantly, and when he saw in Faith's eyes, after the matter of Roy's theft of the whisky, that she had guessed his part in it, he threw himself more hotly into his intrigue. He kept at Noll's side whenever it was possible. He covertly taunted the captain with his growing fear of Brander. He roused Noll to gusts of rage, but always these passed in words, and Noll fell back into his lethargy.

Dan'l began to fear there was not enough man left in Noll to act. Noll, moved though he might be, had in his heart a trust in Faith which Dan'l found it hard to shake. He might never have shaken it had not luck favored him. And this luck came to pass on the day Faith sought speech with Brander.

That move on Faith's part was the result, of an increasing peril in the fo'c's'e. The men were getting drink again.

This began one day when a foremast hand came aft to take the wheel. Old Tichel smelled the liquor on him, saw that the man's feet were unsteady, and flew into one of his tigerish fits of rage. He drove the man forward with blows and kicks. He came aft with his teeth bared, and flamed to Noll Wing.

Men were sent for and questioned. Three of them had been drinking. They were badly frightened; they were sullen. Nevertheless, in the end, under old Tichel's fist one of them said he had found a quart bottle, filled with whisky, in his bunk the night before. Tichel accused him of stealing it; the man stuck to his tale and could not be shaken.

Drought Relief Reports Bring Grain Setback

CHICAGO, July 28 (AP)—Influenced by prospects of at least a little relief from crop-destroying heat and drought, wheat prices tumbled back late today 5 cents a bushel.

Five cents fluctuation down or up is the extreme daily limit allowed by a new set of emergency rules adopted today which provide that the maximum change in any one day is computed from the average of the closing quotations of the previous day. Unusual gyrations of foreign exchange and sharp breaks in grain prices at Winnipeg did much to unsettle confidence of wheat buyers right at the outset here, and despite vigorous rallies at times the day's lowest prices were reached in the final dealings.

Wheat in Chicago closed weak, 4 7-8—5 1-8 cents under yesterday's finish, corn 3 1-4—4 1-8 down, oats 2 3-8—3 1-8 off, and provisions at 20 to 50 cents decline.

In an abrupt downward plunge of prices at the opening, Chicago wheat prices just barely escaped a head-on collision with the new emergency limits. Almost immediately, however, sharp rallies began in all the grain pits, and during much of the time later buyers instead of sellers were in a majority. Traders friendly to upturns pointed out that extremely high temperatures and dearth of any important moisture relief still prevailed over the Canadian and American northwest, with severe crop deterioration continuing.

At no stage, though, did wheat prices or those of any other grain, get up to yesterday's closing figures.

Corn showed relatively more strength than other grains, though sympathizing with wheat weakness. The major part of the corn crop is now at a critical stage, and anxiety was evident that a heat wave in the corn belt might cause heavy damage. Speculative buying almost disappeared in the oats market, and prices dropped to the limits permitted.

Provisions gave way with hog values and with grains.

Save $30,000 in Six Months

DES MOINES (AP)—State Treasurer Wegman said that in two departments he had saved almost $30,000 in the first six months of this year. The gasoline tax refund bureau was operated at a cost of $26,931 compared with $51,635 and the cigaret tax bureau costs were $2,593 compared with $10,412 for the last six months of 1932.

Hornsby in Junior Loop Debut Today

Expects to Pinch Hit This Year, But Regular Next

CHICAGO, July 28 (AP)—Rogers Hornsby started on his fourth adventure as manager of a major league club today by taking charge of the Cave Dwellers of the American league, the St. Louis Browns.

A little grayer around the temples, a trifle heavier and apparently far more mellow than he was during his stormy career in the National league as champion batsman and pilot of the St. Louis Cardinals, Boston Braves and Chicago Cubs, the Rajah took charge of the team and then held a secret session with his new mates in the banquet room of a southside hotel. He was introduced to the players by L. C. McEvoy, vice president of the club, who let them know without mincing words that Hornsby was undisputed boss of the club. With that, McEvoy left the meeting.

Starts at Bottom

Hornsby, back in a managerial role in a rival league, seemed a different man today. He chatted with the players about other subjects than baseball and wound up by telling them to take the day off to do as they pleased inasmuch as today was an open date in their schedule.

"This is just the kind of a job I've always wanted," he said as the familiar Hornsby grin spread across his face. "Nobody can kick me now—at least for a while—for not winning a pennant because of a couple injured players and other unforeseen hard luck. I'm starting with a last place club and working up, and that's a whole lot better than starting at the top and being kicked down to the bottom by a long, long ways, mister."

No Immediate Change

Except to say that he had only seen the Browns in action about six times and that he didn't plan any immediate drastic shakeups, the Rajah was reticent to talk about his reorganization plans.

"They tell me that we have a great double play combination and that's important," he mused. "We'll have to center on what we have for the rest of the season and experiment with new material. We need hitters and pitchers. Myself? Sure, I plan to get in there swinging as a pinch hitter during the rest of the season. I'm not as old as Babe Ruth—I'm only 37—and if my heel improves

International Police Force Is Discussed

Chiefs of 14 Nations Confer in Chicago on Project

CHICAGO, July 28 (AP)—An international police force empowered to disregard all boundary lines to get its men—that was the aim today of law enforcement officials gathered from over the world.

Police chiefs from 14 foreign nations and 22 major American cities discussed the most feasible methods of cooperating to eradicate crime in its national and international aspects.

Collier Tells of Plan

Barron Collier, deputy police commissioner of New York city who conceived the idea of a world-wide constabulary, explained how such a body would operate to intercept the criminal who crossed oceans and continents plying his profession.

For three years Collier has visited foreign lands preparing for organization of the police.

International Bureau

"My idea originally was the formation of an international bureau through which police information could be correlated and disseminated," he said, "but the project has grown to much greater proportions than I had ever expected."

Two official bureaus, one in Washington, D. C., and the other in Vienna, would be created, Collier said. They would act as service units to any official police departments and, although employing law enforcement officers of their own, would serve as clearing houses for international criminal information.

LOCAL NIRA

Program Advances Rapidly

will hold a meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at Domby's Boot shop to discuss the NRA as applicable to their business. They expect to set opening and closing hours and form some organization. The stores to be represented are: Lorenz Brothers, Domby's, Ewer Shoe store, Stewart's Shoe store, Krueger's, Kinney's and Mueller's stores.

Mass Meeting Monday

A general mass meeting of Iowa City merchants has been called for 9 a.m. Monday to discuss local problems of organization under the act. D. W. Crum said last night that the merchants would be asked to group off in their various trades after the general meeting to work out their own trade organizations and agreements.

Indicative of what is expected to happen from the concerted action of business was the announcement yesterday by Hugh J. Williams, proprietor of Williams' Iowa Supply that in support of the new deal he would place three persons to work in his store at once.

Statements of Cooperation

Along with the display of the "blue eagle," consumers' statements of cooperation will be issued which pledge the signer, "I will cooperate in reemployment by supporting and patronizing employers and workers who are members of NRA."

Iowa City was just one of the working cogs of the nation running at high speed back to the road of recovery yesterday as similar reports came in over the Associated Press wires from all cities and towns.

Full Force by Aug. 1

Prediction for Iowa was made yesterday by commercial organization officials meeting in Des Moines yesterday who decided that Iowa should be working under the voluntary employment code by Aug. 1.

According to D. W. Crum, Chamber of Commerce secretary, who was accompanied to the meeting by Prof. Dale Yoder, the 400 delegates present unanimously agreed that every merchant should sign the code immediately.

Speakers at the conference also urged that the code organization be by counties, so that wages and working hours in large and small towns may be as uniform as possible.

Oakdale Sanatorium to Have Exhibit at Iowa State Fair

Institution's Progress Will Be Shown in Display

The state sanatorium at Oakdale will send a comprehensive exhibit of basketry, needlework, artwork, and leatherwork to this year's Iowa state fair, as one of the features in the state board of control exhibits, according to announcement made public yesterday by officials of the institution.

The exhibit will show all the various types of work being carried on at the institution. It will occupy a large section on the ground floor of the Educational building along with the exhibits of 14 other institutions now operated by the board of control.

The other groups which will have representative exhibits in the display include the state hospitals at Independence, Cherokee, Mt. Pleasant, and Clarinda; the state schools at Glenwood and Woodward; the training school for girls at Mtchellville; the Women's reformatory at Rockwell City; the men's reformatory at Anamosa; the state penitentiary at Ft. Madison; the soldiers' home at Marshalltown; training school for boys at Eldora; Juvenile home at Toledo, and Orphans' home at Davenport.

This year's Iowa State fair will open Aug. 23 and continue through Sept. 1.

Violators Will be Rounded Up

Persons who have ignored police court summons during the recent traffic drive will be called into court for hearing, Justice of the Peace B. F. Carter, acting police judge, said yesterday. Only half of the persons who received cards responded—those that did not come in will have some explaining to do, he said.

Pointing out the necessity of sane driving Judge Carter has compiled the following list of automobile accidents in Iowa from Jan. 1, to July 1, 1933; 211 killed, 4,432 injured, 7,898 cars involved, 811 women drivers, 6,718 men drivers, 27 drivers under 16 years.

Causes: 368 reckless driving, 332 skidding, 285 losing control, 133 speeding, 134 violating right-of-way, 115 failing to observe stop signs, 98 wrong side of road, and 54 improper parking.

Direct Air Service to Washington Begins

Because of increased travel to Washington, D.C., United Air lines announced yesterday that there is direct service from Iowa City to the national capital. The planes make the trip in seven and two-thirds hours. Passengers leave Iowa City at 2:22 p.m. and arrive in Washington at 11 p.m.

Company officials report that with the many meetings being called at Washington in connection with the recovery act and other federal activities, air travel to the national capital is the heaviest on record.

The Barbarous Mexicans

April 16, 1842—Large preparations are making all along the Mississippi and Ohio rivers for the purpose of raising companies to go to Texas, to assist the Texans in their difficulties with the barbarous Mexicans. Each man is required to have 100 rounds of ammunition and 10 dollars in money, which is considered sufficient for the emergency. All those going will be transported free from New Orleans. Will the Texans again have compassion upon Santa Anna when they get him at the point of their bayonets. We think not.—Iowa City Standard.

Soliloquy

May 21, 1842, New York—To go to Texas or not to go? That am the question—whether it are better to stay home and bore these ere ills what we has got, or to take up arms against a lot of Mexicans and Ingines, and by fighting 'em, kill 'em. To fight? to fire? 'taint nothing more, nor hardly that; but, in that fight of ourn, what bullets may come, when we have shuffled off a shot or so, must consider on't. Aye, there's where it rubs. Rather guess we won't go on the whole—Iowa Capitol Reporter.

A Monopoly

May 14, 1842—The Hudson Bay company has an exclusive monopoly of all the fur trades north of the United States, from Hudson's bay on the one side, to the Pacific and Russian settlements on the other and have a very large number of employes, who traverse this immense region in every direction, having posts or stations all over the same; indeed they have spread a complete network throughout the length and breadth of the country. —Iowa Capitol Reporter.

Whiggery in Johnson County

May 14, 1842—The spawn of the assembled mass of crude and disjointed whiggery that managed to get together into this city some days since, after receiving the finishing stroke of the superintendent of public faith, has been cast upon the sufferance of the community. —Editorial, Iowa Capitol Reporter.

Village Farming

June 4, 1842—It is all fudge to suppose that a man must live in the country in order to be a farmer.

All experience proves that an extensive farming business can be carried on in every village.

For example, every village should have at least two cows, and other horned cattle. In the summer they do well in the woods and in the winter they pick up a very respectable living from the farmers' wagons as they come into town. We have cows among us that can climb a ladder, or a ship's rigging.

Hogs can easily be kept in great abundance and the more porkish their disposition the better. They eat up all the filth in the streets, have a great regard for the property of their neighbors, and discourse eloquent music on a rainy day. We found one in a barrel of flour the other day, but on being reprimanded he ejaculated "ugh!" and took his departure. A sow and 16 pigs are indispensible to every well regulated family. We recommend every body to attend to these little matters, and they will soon find out village farming is not only profitable, but interesting and delightful.—Iowa Capitol Reporter.

Jake Shields was arrested again yesterday for intoxication. Police Chief W. H. He will go to the county jail for 30 days unless he can furnish $100 fine.

In The Alley

For parking in an alley W. H. Wagner was fined $1 and costs when he appeared yesterday before Justice of the Peace B. F. Carter, acting police judge.

Won't Work

Acting Police Judge Carter seems determined to spoil that attitude of many drivers of—"A red ticket—just tear it up." He said yesterday that he was going to call in all persons who have disregarded police court summons and let them do some explaining—and it will probably make more than one stutter.

Officials' Radios to Be Altered; Can't Get Police Messages

Contact with the state police radio station, KGHO, at Des Moines has not yet been made with the radios at the local police station and the county sheriff's office but according to word yesterday the radios will be fixed immediately.

An agent from the Des Moines office was here yesterday looking over the radios. He said that reception in other places in the state had been satisfactory.

J. F. Quigley, chief engineer of KGHO, in a letter to Police Chief W. H. Bender yesterday said that the station is getting a new aerial and a speech amplifier for the transmitter which he thought would improve reception here.

Roosevelt Approves Huge Government Developments

Okays Resumption of Work on 9-Foot Channel

WASHINGTON, July 28 (AP)—Huge government developments in the northwest were approved today by President Roosevelt in clearing off his desk to turn tonight toward his home at Hyde Park, N. Y., for a couple of weeks away from the Washington heat.

The president gave a quick approving nod to the proposed construction of a dam in the Columbia river at Grand Coulee, Washington, that will mark the beginning of the Columbia basin project.

North Platte River

Mr. Roosevelt also signified to the public works board his favor for immediate resumption of work on the nine foot channel in the upper Mississippi river and for development of Casper-Alcova flood control and reclamation project in the North Platte river in Wyoming. The board is expected to approve these two at its meeting next week.

The administration also disclosed a plan for taking sub-marginal, non-profitable farm lands out of production to prevent any increase in commodity output through the new reclamation plan.

No Production Increase

Mr. Roosevelt is opposed to allowing any increase in production. However, he does want the good lands on the new reclamation projects to be used. Enough of the sub-marginal lands will be withdrawn to balance the increase in production.

The Grand Coulee dam is to be 140 feet high and will cost $63,000,000, of which 70 per cent is to be repaid by the state of Washington.

Third Avenue Gets Restless

Fights, Profanity Mar Quiet for Residents in Last 2 Days

It hasn't been very quiet on Third avenue in East Iowa City the last couple of days.

A few days ago, according to information filed, Margaret Stagg took a swing with a rolling pin and landed it deftly on the head of her spouse, Harry Stagg. At 10 o'clock this morning Mrs. Stagg, charged with assault and battery, will appear before Justice of the Peace B. F. Carter for hearing.

A little before this, Mary Murphy of the same avenue, was arrested for disturbing the peace by using loud and profane language. Yesterday she was found guilty by Justice of the Peace B. F. Carter and sentenced to 15 days in the county jail. The sentence was suspended but a jail committment, to be enforced if Mrs. Murphy is arrested again, was issued and turned over to Police Chief W. H. Bender.

Duncan Selecting Stock for Largest Exhibition in U. S.

The 4-H club livestock show at the Iowa State fair will be the largest of its kind ever held in the United States. S. Lysle Duncan, Johnson county agent, is making a tour of the county to select the baby beeves, purebred heifers, colts, dairy calves, purebred and market pigs, purebred and market sheep, and poultry that will be shown by Johnson county boys and girls at the show, which will include nearly 2,000 animals.

More than $10,000 in cash prizes is being offered in the farm boys' and girls' competitions this season. Besides the 4-H club livestock show there will be a boys' and girls' crop judging contest, health contest, and demonstrations for state championships by farm and home economics teams from every county in the state.
