175 Iowa City Merchants Operate Under Terms of National Recovery Move

Majority of Retailers Either Accept Agreement or Signify Desire to Adopt Trade Codes

All Signers Express Confidence of Success

One hundred and seventy-five Iowa City merchants posted the insignia of the NRA on their store windows yesterday and began operating under the terms of the blanket code and various trade codes.

Practically all Iowa City merchants have either signed the blanket code and trade codes or have signified that they are in accord with the recovery plan and are waiting for approval of their national trade codes, many of which are expected to be approved by President Roosevelt this week, before forming a definite local association and code.

Confidence

Postmaster Charles A. Bowman said yesterday that all the merchants getting the NRA insignia expressed a confidence in the recovery plan, which is necessary for its success.

D. W. Crum, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, who is in charge of the NRA program here, said that all merchants, according to present indications, would respond to the plan. He is expecting new announcements on trade codes from day to day from Washington, D. C.

Practically All

Practically all Iowa City merchants have either formed local trade associations, agreeing on opening and closing hours, or have meetings scheduled to organize associations.

Shoe dealers met at Dobby's Boot shop last night and agreed to open at 8:30 a. m. and close at 5 p. m. daily except Saturday and to line up behind President Roosevelt's plan.

Laundry proprietors met yesterday afternoon at the Chamber of Commerce offices, all agreeing to sign the blanket code but they decided to wait for the approval of the national code before making any definite decision as to hours and minimum wages.

Auto Dealers

Automobile and automobile accessory dealers will meet at 9 o'clock this morning at the Chamber of Commerce offices in expectation of formulating a local code.

General retail store managers agreed to open at 8:30 a. m. and close at 5 p. m. daily except Saturday when the hours will be from 8:30 a. m. to 9 p. m. Yesterday eight of the larger retail stores, however, agreed on hours of 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. daily except Saturday when the hours will be from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m., the hours to be effective until Sept. 5, after which time the closing hour will be 5:30 p. m. The stores agreeing to these hours are: Vetter's, Strub's, J. C. Penney, Sears-Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, Woolworth's, Scott's, and Kresge's.

Restaurant Owners

Restaurant owners will meet Thursday in an effort to come to some definite agreement. They have been waiting to formulate their local code in accordance with the national code, which is being made up in Chicago now and will probably be submitted this week.

$24,348 in Carrier Taxes

DES MOINES (AP)—The state railroad commission today announced the payment to date of $24,348.36 in tax on motor vehicle carriers.

NRA Discussion to Be Held Today at Public Meeting

The National Industrial Recovery act will be discussed this afternoon at 4 o'clock in a meeting in the senate chamber of Old Capitol.

The discussion, scheduled under the auspices of the summer session, will be led by Prof. Dale Yoder, Prof. George R. Davis, and Prof. Karl E. Leib, all of the college of commerce.

Various phases of President Roosevelt's latest move toward industrial recovery will be discussed, and its method of operation will be explained.

The meeting, according to its sponsors, is not for the purpose of considering the merits of the new codes, but merely for information and interpretation.

The meeting will be open to the public.

New Fund for Public Works

$100,000,000 Are Set Aside for Three Projects

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1 (AP)—Almost a hundred million dollars were set aside today by the public works administration for three projects to provide power, irrigation and transportation to widely separated western regions.

Action upon proposals already approved by President Roosevelt, the public works board allotted $63,000,000 for the Grand Coulee dam project on the Columbia river for power and irrigation; $22,700,000 to the Casper-Alcova reclamation project in Wyoming; and $11,500,000 for the nine foot channel on the upper Mississippi, which will permit deep draft river boats to navigate the river as far as St. Paul and Minneapolis.

The upper Mississippi allotment was designated to carry forward work already started and will keep the project moving for a full year.

The board laid down the policy it will follow on projects for which funds have already been arranged through the reconstruction corporation. It rejected overtures by the metropolitan water district of Southern California and backers of the New Orleans bridge for funds to meet wage increases.

Secretary Ickes, the public works administrator, said the public works administration could not make grants on the basis of modification of terms of the arrangements already entered into with the reconstruction corporation.

Early Start Seen for State Works

DES MOINES, Aug. 1 (AP)—An early launching of the public works program in Iowa was seen today by Lieut. Gov. Nels Kraschel, public works administrator for the state.

Kraschel said he was informed by Colonel Waite of the public works administration in Washington that federal regulations would be issued and a federal engineer appointed for the state within the next few days.

WEATHER

IOWA—Local showers and thunderstorms Wednesday or Wednesday night, and probably on Thursday; somewhat cooler, except in northwest and extreme southeast portions.

Roosevelt, Moley Map Out Battle on Kidnaping, Racketeering in U.S.

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Aug. 1 (AP)—President Roosevelt mapped a war against kidnaping and racketeering today with his intimate adviser, Raymond Moley, an authority on crime, and scanned every available statute to aid an immediate campaign.

He is looking confidently to the new industrial codes with a determination to enforce their provisions to stamp out the rule of force among small groups seeking illegitimate agreements.

To beat down kidnaping he is counting on a super police force, already in organization and at work, to cooperate with state authorities.

The income tax statute and postal regulations also are to be brought into play by the aroused federal government.

Professor Moley, who has made special studies of crime and has written books on the subject, said Mr. Roosevelt did not reveal details of the plans he has in mind.

The visit of Moley, who is assistant secretary of state, revived a fresh outburst of speculation about the reported differences between him and Secretary Hull over state department policies and the possible resignation of the former.

Asked specifically if he were going to continue in the state department, Moley quickly replied "I certainly am. Do you know any good reason why I should not?"

Blood Shed in Pennsylvania Mine Strike

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Aug. 1 (AP)—One striker was killed and more than a score wounded today as deputy sheriffs with guns and tear gas turned back pickets during a day of turmoil in the state's troubled soft coal fields, where a strike spread to more than 30,000 miners.

Fighting at Four Mines

Fighting broke out at four mines and the casualties included nine men wounded by pistol and shot gun fire, five seared by tear gas and others injured by stones.

Louis Podorsky, 28, died of injuries received in a clash at the Colonial No. 3 mine of the H. C. Frick Coke company.

Guardsmen Withdrawn

The disorders flared after national guardsmen were withdrawn from patrol duty by their commander, Maj. Kenneth W. Momeyer, who was represented as feeling the strike area is too vast to be patrolled by his force of 325 men.

The guardsmen camped on a hill overlooking Brownsville, in readiness for emergencies and riots. "Conditional Possibility"

At Harrisburg, Governor Pinchot said there was a "conditional possibility" that more troops will be sent to the coal fields.

Peace overtures by the governor failed today as representatives of the Frick company, in whose mines the strike started in Fayette county, declined to attend a conference with miners' representatives in the state capital.

Demanding Recognition

The miners are demanding recognition of the United Mine Workers of America.

Governor Pinchot's aides said they understood Frick officials would have attended the conference had the "company union" plan it has suggested to its workers been on the agenda.

Mrs. Broxam Returns Home After Completing Work on Stage Bulletin

Mrs. Pearl Bennett Broxam of the extension division will return today to her home in Maquoketa, after spending about two weeks in Iowa City completing work on a bulletin entitled "Glimpses of stage folk."

The booklet will soon be issued, and will contain chapters on the lives of 12 prominent American and English actors. The stories are based on the autobiographies of this group.

Clubwomen in Iowa will use the bulletin in preparing for discussions and reviews of the lives and works of stage folk. With this in view, Mrs. Broxam has cited references for further study on each of the 12 persons included.

It is planned to follow this booklet with a second volume, to contain similar material on the lives of 12 other celebrities of the theater.

"Blue Eagles" in Iowa

Here's How the State Responded Yesterday to Roosevelt's Plan for Recovery

(By The Associated Press)

Throughout Iowa today hours were being lopped off work schedules, men and women were going back to work after long periods of idleness, and higher pay was in prospect when next payday rolls around.

From numerous Iowa cities reports continued to pile up of added personnel in factories and offices, new pledges signed for cooperation in the national industrial recovery

Dairymen in N. Y. Strike

62 Counties of State Join; Troopers Ordered Out

BOONVILLE, N. Y., Aug. 1 (AP)—The scheduled "statewide" milk strike of the Empire Dairymen's association developed in only four of the state's 62 counties today, but with violence that sent troopers speeding to the protection of dairy plants and milk trains.

Milk and cream trucks were dumped, trees and spiked planks thrown across highways, and milk deliveries effectively curtailed for hours in Oneida, Herkimer, Chenango and Lewis counties. Five farmers were knocked unconscious and injured in encounters with steel-helmeted state police at Holland Patent, Alder Creek and Glenfield.

The strike originated among farmers under the leadership of Albert Woodhead, a Rochester business man, and Stanley Piseck, a Boonville dairyman. Both are demanding for the farmers a larger cut of the consumer's milk dollar than the state milk control board is willing to give them. The board has boosted the return to farmers through a complicated system of classified minimum prices, but has refused to grant the flat 45 per cent of the retail dollar which some groups demand.

Woodhead's comment on the strike tonight was: "They haven't got started yet."

New Yorker Held for Theft of Car at Burlington, Ia.

BURLINGTON, Aug. 1 (AP)—Dominick Jacks, 32, of Niagara Falls, N. Y., was arrested for Burlington police at Galesburg today on an auto theft charge.

Galesburg police declared that Jacks had signed a statement late today admitting that he knew he was driving a stolen car but denying that he broke into a local garage to get it. He claimed it was turned over to him by two Peoria men who were to pay him $25 for driving it back to Peoria.

R. F. C. Chairman Says Move Approved by Roosevelt Would Aid 'Back to Work' Campaign

The 600

Hugh Johnson Lists State Heads for NRA Drive

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1 (AP)—More than 600 of the nation's business leaders were called to service tonight by President Roosevelt to push forward the campaign for national recovery.

Signaling the formal opening of the five month's emergency re-employment drive, nine members each of 48 state committees and seven members each of 26 district boards were asked to undertake the work of getting "every patriotic American citizen, employer and consumer to cooperate in this program."

The list included for Iowa: W. A. Schaffer, Ft. Madison; John Reed, Cedar Rapids; Harry Shaw, Waterloo; Rudolph Leytze, Independence; T. Harry Foster, Ottumwa; John J. Hughes, Des Moines; E. P. Schoentgen, Council Bluffs; George Silknitter, Sioux City; Otto Pfaff, Ft. Dodge.

Hugh S. Johnson, the recovery administrator, made the announcement while reports came from all over the land that the N.R.A.'s blue eagle insignia was appearing today in thousands of store windows beckoning shoppers to come there.

Rush of Employers

These reports brought work, too, of a continuing rush of employers to present their agreements to the hour shortening and wage lifting movement and to receive the credentials that marked them as co-operators with the administration.

Here in the capital, meanwhile, General Johnson and his aides laboring into the night on separate codes for industries that will supplant the presidential agreements.

Coal Hearing Aug. 14

Johnson announced that a hearing on a code on competition for the coal industry would begin Aug. 14 and on that for automobiles about the same time.

He said in his press conference that if any reports of violations of codes already adopted by employers were authenticated to him he would take very prompt action to the maximum of the law if necessary.

Administration of South Dakota Loses Tiff With Legislature

PIERRE, Aug. 1 (AP)—Controversial bills on varied subjects were before the special session of the South Dakota legislature tonight as the Democratic administration abandoned efforts today to bar all except beer measures.

Among proposals introduced were house bills to legalize parimutuel betting on horse races and set South Dakota's election on national prohibition ahead from Nov. 8, 1934 to Dec. 12, 1933. Bills which would exempt homesteads from taxation up to $2,000 valuation were introduced in both houses.

Democratic leaders made no effort today to revive resolutions defeated yesterday which would restrict introduction of bills to the scope of the governor's call. Instead, it was reported the administration forces planned to oppose on the floor all bills considered undesirable.

Police Must Alter Tempo

Former Governor of Iowa Tells Group of Changes

CHICAGO, Aug. 1 (AP)—Police machinery, which still "walks and carries a billy," must change its tempo to cope with modern, high speed crime, W. L. Harding, former governor of Iowa, today told the international association for identification.

Harding, one of the organizers a decade ago of Iowa's vigilantes, said that although criminals had gradually widened their fields of operations, there had been no corresponding broadening of the constable's powers.

"Clinging to Old Idea"

"We are still clinging to the old idea of local law enforcement," Harding said, "but using the machinery of the ox cart age. Before we can punish the criminal, we must catch him. And our catching machinery is very largely ancient-walks and carries a billy."

Harding suggested: Reduction of criminal laws in number and to a readable length, with greater distinction between minor and major offenses.

Give Governor Authority

Giving the governor supreme authority without the state command and increase the jurisdiction of all peace officers to organize citizens' vigilantes when necessary.

The identification experts are holding their convention concurrently with that of the international association of chiefs of police.

Cites Repayment of Loans as Evidence of U.S. Recovery

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1 (AP)—With the full approval of President Roosevelt and the treasury, Chairman Jones of the reconstruction corporation tonight asked the nation's banks to aid in the "back to work" movement by expanding credit.

At the same time, Jones asserted in an address that repayments of $710,000,000 of corporation loans was evidence that the country was "inherently sound and recovery well under way."

He said the big lending agency stood ready to inflate the working capital of the banks by purchasing preferred stock in sound ones.

Reads F. R.'s Letter

At the conclusion of his speech, Jones read a letter from President Roosevelt endorsing what he said "about the need for credit and about cooperation in the general scheme of 'everybody back to work.'"

"I congratulate the many bankers who have safely steered their institutions through the troubles of the last four years," the president's letter said, "but credit must be made available to all classes of our citizens if business is to be re-established on a permanent workable basis."

"Without Fear"

"Your plan to provide banks with new and added capital by the purchase of preferred stock on such fair terms as those outlined will enable them to extend this credit without fear of their positions."

"It is also interesting to know—as the bankers will appreciate—that this can be done with no added tax burden, and at no cost to the public treasury."

Jones said there was no shortage of ready money or bank liquidity and that the policy of "forced liquidation" of loans should cease and credit should begin moving into business channels.

"Coffers Filled"

"The coffers of the big banks are filled with government securities, cash balances in the federal reserve and otherwise," he said, "which indicates that they are still waiting to see if the things which people own and have to offer as security for loans have any real value as a basis of credit."

The Railroads Start Maneuvering

THE contemplated absorption of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad by the Pennsylvania system, suggested at a time when the public's mind is filled with a bewildering panorama of news, has been given little attention, yet it entails far-reaching consequences.

The scheme was a part of the so-called Prince plan submitted not long ago to the administration as a substitute for the four-system project.

At present Joseph B. Eastman, member of the Interstate Commerce commission and coordinator of railroads, is at work on a study of ways and means of coordinating railroad service with a view to eliminating waste. He has wide powers to enforce joint use of properties, to direct new routings, and to compel other economies in railroad operation. It is entirely possible that this program will bring forth some plan for closer cooperation between the Pennsylvania and the B. & O.

All this, though indefinite, gives promise of some worthwhile progress, but a proposal for the absorption of the B. & O. before the government's program has been outlined is another matter. The railroads are more or less stringently regulated by the government, and such absorption probably would be less disastrous than it would have been several years ago. Yet competition, in spite of government control, is still a restraining force. If it is to be eliminated the public will surely demand even closer supervision in its own interests.

The president has given notice that he intends, when congress meets in the fall, to present additional legislation to include sweeping reforms in the railroad organization. The extent to which this legislation will tend toward complete government control will undoubtedly be affected by such attempts at monopoly under private management.

Fifty Pfennings and the Story Is Told

SOME phases of the Hitler regime in Germany can hardly be received with approbation, yet conditions in the Fatherland are not without redeeming features.

For 50 pfennings (15 cents) the Berlin police will furnish one with complete and unbiased information concerning the age, wealth, health, and previous condition of servitude of any lady (or man) upon whom he has designs as a prospective spouse, according to a recent news dispatch.

Under more stringent regulations, requests for such information have averaged more than 500,000 every year. Now that the new rules are in effect, every Berliner is expected to take advantage of this unique and valuable service.

Some debt-ridden American cities might open a similar service bureau with profit. If European nations continue offering examples of such ingenious schemes as this and the French lottery perhaps taxes might soon be discontinued altogether.

Lost Continents

(From the Christian Science Monitor)

Music of the spheres rings through their names—Atlantic, Laurentio, Gondwana. These are lost continents, submerged through aeons in the depths of ageless oceans. So tradition and geology combine to tell us. Plato preserved the legend of Atlantis. The International Geological Congress, meeting in Washington, brings to attention the possibility that a greater continent than any on earth today once held aloft its plains and mountains where now the interminable waters of the Southern Hemisphere toss and roll.

Gondwana is the name by which men know this vanished land. Unlike Atlantis, which is supposed to have been inhabited by an almost ideal race, Gondwana never supported human life. Alexander L. Du Toit, South African geologist, told the Geological Congress that this continent drew no civilization down with it; that it sank millions of years before the emergence of mankind. Only the huge and already vanishing reptiles of the miocene epoch, and the earlier warm-blooded animals roamed Gondwana, an area estimated to have been greater than that of all land known today.

Laurentio is another sunken continent, the possibility of whose existence was discussed by the geologists. Laurentio is thought to have been situated in the Northern Hemisphere and to have included all land other than Gondwana. Thus there were two vast continents divided by an earth-circling ocean—the Tethys Deep.

Strange, conflicting responses awake in human thought as it peers through the murky distances of time. The mind's eye is fascinated with what it sees—the mighty mountains breathing thunder, the lowlands lying dimly beneath forever silent mists, continents withdrawing themselves from the light of day, from the view of stars, down into the enveloping chill and darkness of the expanding seas. The thought is touched by something of the awe which Keats ascribed to Cortez,

when with eagle eyes
He star'd at the Pacific—and all his men
Looked at each other with a wild surmise—
Silent, upon a peak in Darien.

Small as men seem against this looming, shifting background of geological transformation, microscopic as their footprints are on the floors of shifting continents, short as their memories against the dusky tapestry of this geological dream, still there is a thought force at men's command that can span the unmeasured spaces, that can catch the mighty rhythms of earth's formation. Indeed, it goes beyond and above these to find a cause more powerful than mineral or atmospheric reactions.

Outlining Atlantis, broader than Gondwana, older than Laurentio—here is another continent, an immeasurable, unlost continent peopled with the thoughts and sunned with the vision which is man's peculiar gift.

GOOD MORNING

Just when the star of Senator Huey P. "Kingfish" Long will fall is a matter of conjecture, but one thing is certain—it cannot fall too soon.

How the blistering, porky politician has kept his hold for so long is a question involving more than the political maelstrom of Louisiana alone.

Shortly after the senator's election a senatorial investigation into political practices in Louisiana was begun at the insistence of certain members of the congress. The committee appointed to do the investigating held regular sessions in New Orleans and Baton Rouge for several months and appeared for a while to be getting somewhere. But just as affairs reached a point where the public expected results the whole inquiry was quashed, the committee returned to Washington, and nothing more came of it.

Testimony taken by the committee is said to be under lock and key in the vaults of the state department, so closely guarded that not even congressmen are allowed access to it. It is generally agreed that evidence is contained therein which would effectively cook a politician's goose, yet it remains under cover.

Shrewd observers conclude that Long's demise has been postponed as a matter of political expediency. Whatever can be said of the "Kingfish," he does control a tremendously powerful political machine and he did use that machine to support the Democratic party. Moreover, when certain senators and congressmen threatened to expose his reprehensible practices to the public, the doctored senator counter-threatened to take his campaign circus (and they say it is even better than Henry Field's) into the home pastures of his enemies and do a little exposing of his own.

Long's actions immediately after his election to the senate were evidence that he expected a great deal in payment for his support. He didn't get it.

The technique of the Democratic party seems clear. Evidently holding enough testimony and evidence in abeyance to completely break him when the time comes, they have him, so to speak, in handcuffs. Whether the defunct investigation will be resumed sometime in the future and the evidence made public is a question which only time will answer.

Just at present Mr. Long has a sufficient problem in Louisiana. The district attorney's office in New Orleans is attempting to make an investigation into charges of fraud in connection with last November's election on the contention that all was not right with the ballot boxes.

The grand jury refused to return a true bill without examining the ballot boxes, according to one of the jurors. The sheriff's force, under order from the judge of the criminal district court, seized the boxes and shooed the jury from their room. The district attorney then examined the boxes and claimed that totals from several precincts were identical.

The vote concerned certain amendments to the state constitution which were supported by the Long faction. On the strength of their passage, state bonds totaling huge sums have been issued. Voters of Louisiana think they are being rimmed in much the same manner as when the palatial state house was built a few years ago.

Long himself is feeling the strain. When a reporter and photographer for the New Orleans Times-Picayune accosted him as he boarded a train for Washington July 22 he lost his temper, threatened the reporter, and broke the photographer's camera. The photographer, however, managed to get a snap of the "Kingfish" and his bodyguard, a burly fellow with a ready automatic.

All this will come to an end before long, surely, and Huey will take his place beside Tweed and others of that clan and the public will not be sorry for his leaving.

Amy's Presence "Jinx" Flight?

CRASH ON FIRST ATTEMPT

CRASH AT FINISH

NEW YORK (U.N.)—Not daunted by a second failure to override a double hoodoo, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Mollison will try again to conquer the Atlantic. They have already indicated as much, though their injuries are still unhealed and their plane a wreck awaiting removal from Connecticut.

It is a question which was the most ominous of the twin hoodoos that rode their plane. For centuries, men have considered it an evil omen for the skippers of ships to have their wives along on an ocean trip. An ill-fortune has attended all but one of the attempts to fly from Europe to New York.

The mythical furies that rule the winds and waves seem bent upon upsetting all well-laid plans to make nonstop eastward trips across the North Atlantic as easy of accomplishment as westbound flights. Of the many flyers who have endeavored to make unbroken jumps from Europe to New York, only Dieudonne Coste and Maurice Bellonte were successful; and they failed in their first attempt.

There is no reason for Amy Johnson Mollison to take to heart the two crashes that have accompanied her husband's attempts to fly the Atlantic with her, for Husband Jimmy had to cut short his solo flight from London to New York in August of last year and land in Canada. Jimmy's inability to make it alone confounds the idea of the superstitious that a wife aboard the ship played a part in the crackup at Bridgeport.

Aviation observers here are inclined to attribute the two failures of Mollison to reach New York after getting across the ocean to his neglect of the intensive physical training which Post and other successful flyers have shown is necessary. Mollison's forced landings after spanning the North Atlantic have been failures of the man rather than of the machine, it is pointed out. Mollison was "all in" both times.

Regardless of their latest mishap, the Mollisons will continue to be the "royal family" of British aviation, and they will have backing for further exploits. Since their marriage, just a year ago, they have been darlings of the British public, and their goings and comings have been well publicized as those of the Lindberghs over here. To Britain, their careers, individually and together, are Romanesque with a capital R.

Amy Johnson, who is 25, was a typist in a London barrister's office at $12 a week when she became an aviation enthusiast and joined a flying club in which she could take lessons on the installment plan. The lessons were taken before and after her day's work. It was in 1930 the unknown girl leaped into the headlines and became the Earhart of Britain by flying to Australia in 19 days. When she hopped off, she had only 200 miles of flying to her credit! Her husband has been a flyer since he was 17.

That the Mollisons have the grim determination with which to make them successful eventually in attaining their projected two-way Atlantic goal, is shown by their record.

In January, 1931, Amy tried to fly to Tokyo, but was grounded in Russia. She tried it again in July, and made it. A month after she made this flight, Mollison, not daunted by a variety of mishaps, winged to Australia in eight days. On his return to England, he hopped off to Capetown, South Africa. Amy Johnson was there, recuperating from an illness. Mollison cracked up in landing. This crash was responsible for the marriage of these two flyers, for after the accident, Miss Johnson came out to see him and express her sympathy. It was their first meeting.

THE OLD HOME TOWN (Registered U. S. Patent Office) By STANLEY

YOUNG FELLER, FOUR WIMMEN HAVE WALKED THROUGH THE STORE AND DIDN'T BUY A THING—THEY AINT USED TO HAVING THINGS PILED UP SO PRETTY, THEY WANT 'EM ALL MIXED UP SO THEY CAN PAW 'EM OVER—IT'S WHEN THEY'RE PAWING THAT THEY BUY—

ISN'T THAT PRETTY? IT WOULD BE A SHAME TO TOUCH IT!

BEHIND THE SCENES - IN HOLLYWOOD -

STUDIO GOSSIP By HARRISON CARROLL
FILM SCANDAL SCREEN COMMENT

HOLLYWOOD—What glamorous visions must rise today before the eyes of Arliss Parrish, 8 year old crippled youth of this city. A film director saw him in the Los Angeles Orphanage hospital, and like a modern Jimmie, will open up the fabled world of the studios and make the boy an actor with a big part in Ann Harding's new picture.

For small Arliss, the event comes as an unbelievable climax to seven years of treatments to bring life back into a limp arm and leg—reminders of the dread infantile paralysis.

For the R-K-O studio, it means the end of a search through many orphanages and hospitals for a crippled boy whose face carries a hint of youthful suffering but whose smile has remained bright and cheerful.

Such a boy is needed to play one of the principal characters with Ann Harding in "Beauty." After looking at many children, Casting Director, Fred Schuessler and Director Al Santell say Arliss is the boy.

For the youngster, and for his parents, who are of modest means, the job is of real importance. It will bring money for more treatments—maybe for an eventual cure.

Credit Everett Crosby, brother and business manager of Bing, with one of the brighter retorts of the week.

An interviewer asked him: "What is Bing's pet economy?" Right back came Ev: "My salary."

HOLLYWOOD PARADE

On a closed set at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, Greta Garbo went before the camera for the first time in 18 months—and made her first screen test in years. She broke her screen because "Queen Christina" is a costume picture and they needed the test for the gowns.

A new night-club near San Bernardino, California, has Al Johnson's brother, Harry, as proprietor. Look out, Mexico City, Katharine Hepburn plans to fly there as soon as she finishes "Little Women."

And those London admirers of George Raft may satisfy their curiosity one of these days. George plans a European trip when he can get away from the camera.

Those wise-guys who had James Cagney as an understudy in "Broadway" and who thought he wasn't good enough to play the lead in the London production, must have had a lot of food for thought these last few years. Wonder if Jean Harlow's union card is okay. She and Mary Astor took a portable projection machine up to Clark Gable's house the other evening and ran off some film for the recuperating invalid.

It's an air trip to New York after all for June Knight. Paramount has taken over the leasing of "Take a Chance," and the musical production starts right away. Poor Charles Butterworth. Holdup recently broke into his home and robbed him and his wife of $15,000 worth of valuables. When he reported a few days later to go to work in M-G-M's "Penthouse," his first scene called for him to be held up by a pair of gunmen.

Graduates of University Fall Prey to 'Marriage Germs'

Even Chronic Man-Haters, Woman-Abominators Can't Successfully Withstand Love This Month, It Seems

"That certain something," whatever it may be, is still in the air! The marriage germ is still at large, and as yet no sure-cure serum for inoculation against love has been found. Even chronic "man-haters" and "woman-abominators" are succumbing under the spell of moonlit nights and summer breezes. Graduates of the University of Iowa seem to be taking post-graduate courses in matrimony.

Richardson-Marsh

Lucy Marsh, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John W. Marsh of Keokuk and the Rev. Robert Dale Richardson will exchange marriage vows tomorrow evening in St. John's church at Keokuk.

Miss Marsh

Miss Marsh attended the University of Iowa where she became a member of Alpha Delta Pi sorority. She was chosen a representative university woman.

Peel-Walden

Announcement has been received that the marriage of Frances Walden to Dr. Frederick F. Peel, the son of Dr. and Mrs. V. R. Peel of Des Moines, will take place today in the First Lutheran church in Des Moines. The Rev. E. F. Berggren will officiate at the ceremony.

Miss Walden

Miss Walden attended Iowa State Teachers college in Cedar Falls. Dr. Peel graduated from Augustana college at Rock Island, Ill., and received his degree in dentistry from the University of Iowa.

The couple will be at home at 2204 Fortieth street, after Aug. 15.

Iverson-Ask

The marriage of Marian Ask, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Ask of Mason City, and Maurice T. Iverson of Sioux City, was solemnized last Saturday at high noon at the home of the bride's parents.

The bride was attired in an ensemble of white crepe, with which she wore a shoulder corsage of raptures roses.

Mr. Iverson

Mr. Iverson is also an alumnus of the university. He is a member of Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity, and has been director of music in the Central high school at Sioux City.

O'Brien-Schadel

After a wedding trip in northern Minnesota, the couple will establish their home in Sioux City.

Gordon-Schadel

The garden of Mr. and Mrs. Vance West at Red Oak was the scene of the wedding which united Jean Schadel of Red Oak, and John Gordon O'Brien of Waukon Thursday at 5 p.m. The Rev. George E. Wood read the ceremony in the presence of a few intimate friends and the immediate family.

Immediately preceding the ceremony two vocal numbers were sung by Mrs. Gordon Summer, accompanied by Louise Artz. Mrs. J. H. Bond, an aunt of the bride, of Fairbury, Neb., played the wedding march.

Mrs. O'Brien

Mrs. O'Brien, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Schadel of Red Oak, was attended by her cousin, Mrs. C. N. McElvain, of Cleveland, Ohio. H. G. O'Brien, a brother of the bridegroom, acted as the best man.

The bride

The bride is a graduate of the Red Oak high school, and attended the Junior college one year prior to her entrance into the University of Iowa, where she received a degree in pharmacy. During her college days she was president of Gamma Phi Beta sorority, and a member of Kappa Epsilon. For the last two years she has been acting as pharmacist at the State Hospital in Clarinda.

Mr. O'Brien

Mr. O'Brien, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. O'Brien of Waukon, graduated from both the high school and the junior college at Waukon. He is also a graduate of the college of law at the University of Iowa.

The couple

The couple will be at home in Waukon after a short wedding trip.

Stringer-Hibbs

Ruth Elizabeth Hibbs, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. F. V. Hibbs of Carroll, and Dr. C. J. Stringer of Cherokee, the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Stringer of Monroe, La., were married in Sioux City July 21, by the Rev. E. N. Thompson. Ruth Courtwright and Maurice Iverson, both of Sioux City, were the only attendants.

The bride wore a white tailored suit, and her accessories were of navy blue.

Following her graduation

Following her graduation from the Carroll high school, Mrs. Stringer attended Iowa State college at Ames where she was a member of Chi Omega sorority. During the last year she has been the secretary to Dr. L. P. Ristine in the state hospital at Cherokee.

Dr. Stringer

Dr. Stringer is a graduate of the University of Iowa college of medicine, and is now in charge of the surgery at the Cherokee state hospital. He is a member of the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity.

Dr. and Mrs. Stringer will be at home to their friends after Aug. 20.

Spanish-American Veterans to Picnic

A picnic supper has been planned for tomorrow by the Spanish-American War Veterans, their auxiliaries and families. The event will take place at 5:30 p.m. at the city park. Those attending are asked to bring sandwiches and table service.

Vincent Cooney Wed Yesterday to Emil Iseli

Marriage vows, uniting Emma Iseli and Vincent Cooney, were exchanged at 7:30 a.m. yesterday at St. Wenceslaus church. The Rev. Carl F. Clemens officiated at the ceremony in the presence of relatives and friends. Attendants were Kathleen Swatchesue and William Ehrlich, both of Iowa City.

Wearing a gown of white crepe with white accessories, the bride carried a shower bouquet of lavender and white gladioli. Miss Swatchesue's frock was of blue crepe and her bouquet was of pink roses.

Mrs. Cooney

Mrs. Cooney, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Iseli, 813 C street, attended the Iowa City schools and has been employed at the University hospital. Mr. Cooney is the son of Mrs. Robert Cooney of Cosgrove. He is employed as an attendant at the sychopathic hospital.

Following the ceremony, a breakfast was given at the home of the bride's parents. Guests were: Mr. and Mrs. A. Mast, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Cooney, Thomas Cooney and son, Leonard, Mrs. Robert Cooney, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Iseli and daughter, Adelaide, Lester Gassler, Doris Gassler, Mrs. J. J. Gassler, Mr. Ehrlich, Miss Swatchesue, and Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Cooney.

The couple will establish their home in Iowa City after a short wedding trip.

Dean and Mrs. Kay Entertain Honoring Visiting Scientists

Older than the science of rocks is the science of entertaining but the two were made contemporaries last night when Dean and Mrs. George F. Kay, entertained at their home in honor of 15 visiting geologists. Sharing the courtesy were Dean Carl E. Seashore of the graduate college, President Walter A. Jessup, and Dean Stephen Stookey of Coe college.

Following the dinner, Dean Kay delivered an illustrated lecture on "Glacial geology in Iowa."

A trip in and around McGregor today will end the two day tour of Iowa areas of geologic interest, conducted by Dean Kay. This was a part of the trip through the central states sponsored by the International Geological congress.

Bryan, Drain to Attend Meetings on Dental Work

Dean Alvin W. Bryan and Dr. C. L. Drain of the college of dentistry will attend meetings on dental work in Chicago during the next week.

Both men will attend a meeting of the American Academy of Periodontology. Dr. Drain will read a paper before the group, on "Observations of interest to a periodontist."

In addition, Dean Bryan will also be present at a gathering of the American Dental Association. As a member, he will also participate in meetings of the national board of dental examiners and the committee for dental health survey.

Dr. Drain will be present at a meeting of the Continental Dental Congress.

Next Wednesday he will give a radio address over station WGN, on "Balancing mouth health."

School of Letters Lecture Series Will Open Friday Evening

The first lecture of this term on the school of letters schedule will be given Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the house chamber of Old Capitol by Prof. Richard Wendell, visiting lecturer in the English department.

Professor Wendell's subject will be "Longfellow in 1933." The visiting staff member came here from Tusculum college, where he is assistant professor of English.

Three weekly addresses will make up the second term schedule. All of the lectures will be open to the public.

Wild Life School at McGregor Opens Up; S.U.I. Men to Talk

Meetings yesterday and Monday opened a two-weeks schedule of the fifteenth annual wild life school at McGregor, on which three University of Iowa staff members and one former staff member will be speakers.

The first of the university men to appear on the program was Philip Dumont of Des Moines, who was formerly research assistant in the university museum. He spoke yesterday and Monday, and will make three other addresses during the remainder of the school.

Other University of Iowa speakers will be Dean George F. Kay of the college of liberal arts, Bruce E. Mahan, director of the extension division, and Homer Dill, director of the University museum.

City Church Societies to Meet Today

Six Groups Arrange Summer Social Affairs

Although many church organizations have discontinued their meetings throughout the hottest months of the summer, there are several which are still carrying out a social program. Today seems to bring attention to religious groups, as six different church societies meet.

Welsh Missionary

Mrs. R. J. Jones will lead the meeting of the Welsh Missionary society this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. D. O. Thomas, route No. 3.

St. Wenceslaus

The weekly card party of the Ladies' club of the St. Wenceslaus church will be this afternoon at 2:15 in the church parlors. Both bridge and euchre will be played.

English Lutheran

"Missionary education through worship" is the topic for discussion by the members of the Woman's Missionary society of the English Lutheran church this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. R. W. Neumann, 742 Kirkwood avenue.

Baptist Society

Mrs. S. P. Benson will lead the discussion. Mrs. F. H. Potter, 248 Hutchinson avenue, will hostess this afternoon at 2:30 to Group No. 2 of the Baptist Women's association at her home.

Zion Lutheran Church

The Ladies Aid society of the Zion Lutheran church will hold a meeting tomorrow at 2:30 p.m. in the parlors of the church.

The committee in charge is Mrs. Louise Munkhoff, Mrs. Joe Munkhoff, and Mrs. William Trumm.

Congregational Society

The members of the Women's auxiliary of the Congregational church will entertain their husbands at a picnic supper tonight at 6 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Samuel Whiting.

At 4 o'clock the women will hold a business meeting.

Perseids Will Stage Annual Meteor Show

Swift bright streaks high in the northeast sky, signaling the 1933 flights of the little Perseid meteors, will flash before an audience of trained Iowa observers next week.

The groups, working at Iowa City, Mt. Pleasant, and Dubuque, will be directed by Prof. Charles C. Wylie, University of Iowa astronomer, who, for the fifth year, is seeking more facts about the annual August display.

To Observe Aug. 11, 12, 13

Height of the observations will be reached between 1 and 3:30 a.m. Aug. 11, 12, and 13, it is expected, when the parties may count hurting meteors at the maximum rate of three per minute.

Each summer, the university man compiles more data about the number of Perseids, just as he does for the larger Leonids in November. He also expects to do some work on the measurement of meteor velocity, since velocity is one of the subjects about which there are no accurate facts.

Plan Counting, Charting

The meteors will appear near the constellation Perseus, first being visible at the height of about 90 miles and disappearing about 50 miles above the earth. As they shoot downward, the observers will count them and chart their direction of fall.

It is believed that the efforts of the Iowans constitute one of the few organized attempts in the United States to increase knowledge of the Perseids. The 1933 display, however, may not be as spectacular as those of recent years because the brilliance of the moon will dim the meteors.

Four Iowa Citizens Present at Groups' Meetings Saturday

Four Iowa Citizens were present last week end at a meeting of the Iowa rural social workers, the Iowa emergency relief committee, and field representatives of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, held at Bradford hotel in Storm Lake.

Emil Sunley, field representative of the social work department of the extension division, was on the program, reading a review of "A Changing Psychology of Social Case Work," by Virginia Robinson.

Other Iowa Citizens who attended were: Lucile Bruner, secretary of the Social Welfare league, Margaret Decker of the same office, and Dr. Kate Daum of University hospital. About 45 social workers attended the meeting.

DES MOINES (AP)—Addressing Governor Herring as "the great white farmer of Iowa," Indians of the Omaha tribe in Nebraska in a telegram asked him to appoint F. J. Colby of Forest City to the state fish and game commission.

SEEN from Old Capitol by TOM YOSELOFF

Explorers in modern covered wagons: The geologists from various corners of the earth, who attended the international meeting in Washington last week, and are now on a "sight-seeing" trip through Iowa, arrived here last night in a caravan of automobiles.

They spent last night exploring the architectural recesses of the Quadrangle, where they "camped" for the evening. But they will be off this morning bright and early for the wide open spaces of Iowa, led by Dean Kay.

The appearance of Professor Higbee's desk these days is mute evidence that university convocations and inductions don't just happen. Plans are now in the process of formation for the convocation Aug. 24 and the induction, which will open the new academic year, Sept. 25.

Take, for example, the induction ceremony. There are officials to be chosen, letters to be sent out, band members to be notified, maps and seating plans to be drawn up, broadcasts and amplification to be arranged for, and—but that presents a rough idea of the fact that there is work connected with it, though it is still two months away.

L. O. Leonard Gives Address Over WHO-WOC

L. O. Leonard of the State Historical society broadcast an address yesterday from station WHO-WOC, at Des Moines, on the subject, "The history of freighting trips across the plains from 1860 to 1868."

Following his lecture, Mr. Leonard left for Chicago, where he will attempt to secure historical material on the Rock Island and the Union Pacific railroads.

Mr. Leonard, who became a member of the Historical society last spring, spent many years building up a collection of railroad documents and other materials, which he has donated to the society.

He has broadcast many addresses on this subject, and is recognized as an authority in this field.

Merchants United Delivery Downs Swaner's Nine by 8-5 Count

Six Teams Enter New Diamondball Circuit Formed by Iowa City Juniors

Oakdale Lands on McGuire for 4 to 1 Victory

Big Fifth Inning Gives Paul-Helen Team 9 to 2 Win

To Merchants United Delivery went the first victory of the new combination league play when the delivery boys staged a last inning rally good for six runs to defeat Swaner's, 8 to 5, in the first game of the evening at City park last night.

The big six run sixth inning saw a let down on the part of the Swaner's fielding. Only two hits were recorded but errors made up the difference.

Bud McGuire fared not so well against Oakdale in the second game of the program and Mutual Benefit lost its first in three starts, 4 to 1.

The game started out as a pitchers' duel between McGuire and Myers, the Oakdale hurler, with Myers getting the best of the argument.

Paul-Helen sluggers waited until the fifth to get busy last night. When they did, eight runs resulted on five hits off Loria and the cafe boys walked away with a 9 to 2 victory over Press-Citizen.

Iowa City Wholesale Fruit company nine downed the Golden Glow tossers 11 to 1 in a practice diamondball game yesterday. The game was featured by the heavy slugging of the winners who contributed six home runs to the evening's score.

Americans Under Iowa Mentor Boast of 49 Victories

An eight-man track and field team which has averaged eight first places in its half dozen meets is the American contingent now competing in Europe under the direction of Coach George T. Bresnahan of the University of Iowa.

Figured up to Tuesday, the Americans had amassed 49 first places in the five meets in Sweden and one in Germany, with five of the athletes still unbeaten.

Excellent performances have featured the American invasion. Some of the best are Metcalfe's 100 meters in :10.3 and 200 meters in :21.1; Cunningham's 1:50.6 for 800 meters and 3:53 for 1,500 meters; the 165 foot 3-1/8 inch discus throw of LaBorde; and the 6 foot 5-1/8 inch high jump of Spitz.

Hawk Grads in Directing, Coaching Jobs

Six Men Begin Next Month in Midwest Schools

Athletic coaching and physical education positions in high schools of three middle western states have been secured by six University of Iowa graduates.

The men, three of whom have won the master of arts degree in physical education, will assume their new duties next month, it was announced Tuesday at the department of athletics.

Francis Merten of Davenport, winner of major letters as a Hawkeye football player and gymnast, will coach at Monticello. Merten, who has an M.A. degree, in 1932 was awarded the athletics board cup for excellence in scholarship and athletics.

Another holder of an M.A. degree, Charles Benton of Spencer, will serve as athletic director at Dickinson, N. D., high school, while the third award winner, Edwin Jones of Albia, will go to Hiteman.

Coach of basketball and assistant in football will be the duties of Ray White, Sioux City, who has been named by Geneseo, Ill., high school; and Harold Fuller of Bloomington, Ill., will handle physical education at Woodbine, Arthur Allen of Cleg-horn will go to Durant, with physical education classes to be placed in his charge.

Hildebrand Suspended Indefinitely by Johnson for Opposing $100 Fine

CLEVELAND, Aug. 1 (AP)—An indefinite suspension of Oral Hildebrand, brilliant young right handed pitcher of the Cleveland Indians, by Manager Walter Johnson, was announced tonight.

Hildebrand's suspension was ordered as a disciplinary action shortly before today's game at St. Louis, when the manager and the hurler exchanged hot words in the clubhouse over a $100 fine which Johnson imposed on the player yesterday.

Johnson did not make public the fine until after he ordered the suspension. Then he said he levied it because Hildebrand objected to being removed from the box in the midst of yesterday's wild seventh inning.

New Yorker Runs Streak to 46 Innings

Braves Down Leaders 3 to 1 in Close Contest

NEW YORK, Aug. 1 (AP)—The Boston Braves put an end to Carl Hubbell's streak of consecutive scoreless innings today after the New York southpaw had carried it to a new National league record length, and defeated the league leaders, 3 to 1.

Hubbell hurled 5 2-3 scoreless frames to stretch his string to an even 46 consecutive scoreless innings. Then, with runners on second and third, Randy Moore smacked a single that broke the streak and won the ball game for Boston.

The old National league mark was 44 innings, established by Ed Ruelbach of the Chicago Cubs in 1908. Walter Johnson holds the major league record of 56.

Huck Betts withstood the heat better than the Giant pitcher. He went the full route, giving only seven hits and the lone run the Giants scored came from three walks in the sixth.

Hubbell had given only two hits up to the sixth as he shattered the 25 year old record in the fourth. Then Bill Urbanski and Baxter Jordan connected for singles. Wally Berger fanned and Jordan stole second as Moore swung at a second strike. The Boston right fielder connected with the next pitch for a base hit and drove in both runners.

Score by innings: R.H.E. Boston.....000 002 100—3 7 0 New York.....000 001 000—1 7 1 Batteries: Betts and Hogan; Hubbell, Luque and Richards; Mancuso.

Pirates Close on New York Giants

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 1 (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates drew a game nearer the league leading New York Giants today as they defeated the St. Louis Cardinals 9 to 3 for their eighth straight victory while the Giants lost to Boston. The victory put the Cubs only 2 1/2 games behind New York.

The Cubs drove Bill Walker to cover and scored five runs in the first inning. The game wound up in a brief slugfest match between Pitcher Steve Swetonic and George Watkins, Cardinal outfielder. Leo Durocher had been hit by a pitched ball in the seventh. Watkins made the last out of the inning and exchanged a few words with Swetonic. They squared off and started throwing punches but other players and the umpires separated them and they both were chased from the game.

Cubs End Losing Streak With 3-1 Win

CHICAGO, Aug. 1 (AP)—The champion Cubs broke their six-game losing streak and regained third place by defeating the Cincinnati Reds, 3 to 1, in the opening game of the series today.

Pat Malone held the Reds to five hits. Though his mates got only one more than that off Frey, Benton and Stout, they bunched five of them in the third inning for all their runs.

Malone also drove in the first run himself with a single after Manager Charles Grimm doubled to get the profitable third inning under way. Singles by Bill Herman and Kiki Cuyler gave the Cubs another run and sent Frey to the showers. Baba Herman then greeting Benton with a double to score the other run.

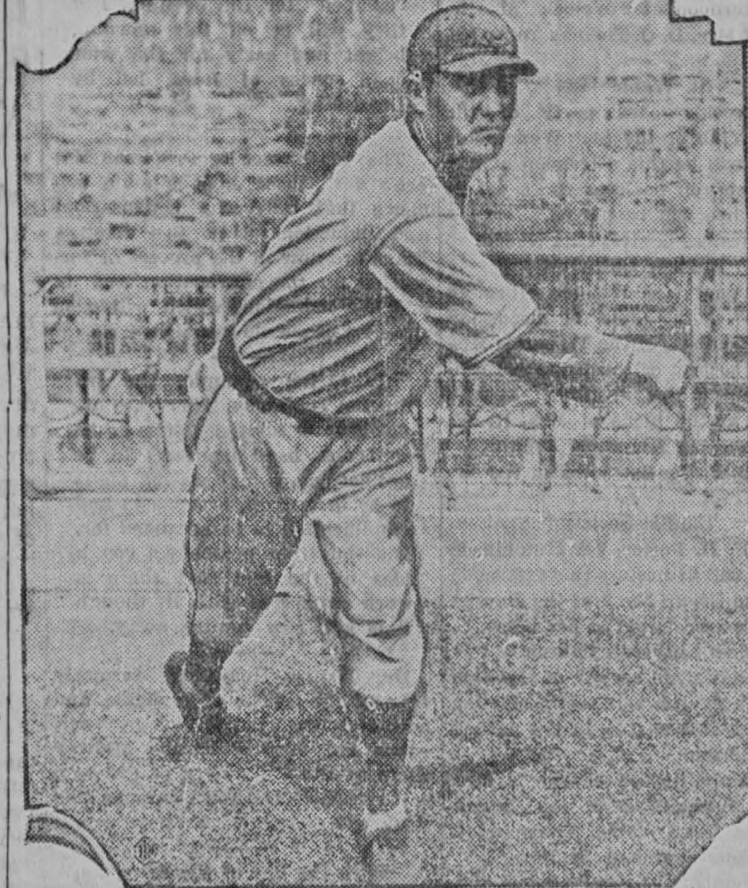

Teams Start Play in State Finals of Legion Junior Meet

ROCKWELL CITY, Aug. 1 (AP)—Burlington and Cedar Rapids were winners in the first day of the state American Legion junior baseball tournament today.

Burlington defeated Burt, 11 to 8, following a wild first inning in which the former scored six runs. In the second game Cedar Rapids downed Le Mars, 11 to 3.

Cedar Rapids plays Burlington and Burt plays Le Mars in tomorrow's game of the round-robin series. With Melvin Harbert holding Le Mars to four hits, the Cedar Rapids nine scored an easy 11 to 3 victory, jumping into a 7 to 0 lead in two innings. The Rapids team had an easy time of it all the way. Harbert not only struck out 13 batters but made the only extra base hit of the game, a two bagger.

PULLS CUBS BACK TO THIRD

Behind the four hit pitching performance of Perce Pat Malone, the Chicago Cubs vaulted back into third place in the National league standings yesterday. Malone, although pitching less than .500 ball has been more effective than usual for the last few weeks and appears ready to take his place at the head of the Cub pitching staff.

No Alibis as American Davis Cup Players Return to U. S.

Best Team Captured Challenge Round and Trophy Is Opinion of All; Vines Says He Will Consider Offers to Turn Professional

By EDWARD J. NEIL (Associated Press Sports Writer) NEW YORK, Aug. 1 (AP)—Amid assertions that the best team had won and there were no alibis to offer, America's Davis Cup forces came home today, but there was muttering here and there and a hint or two of conflicting opinions as to the causes back of Britain's conquest in the inter-zone final round.

Facing a barrage of expert opinion and the French attitude that the Americans were over-trained and over-confident, Bernon S. Prentice, captain of the squad, issued a blanket denial.

"Of course we were disappointed," he said in a prepared statement issued as the liner Olympic coasted up the bay from quarantine. Ellsworth Vines and Wilmer Allison, singles aces, and Johnny Van Ryn and George Lott, victorious doubles team, stood around and faced their questioners.

No Excuses "We have no excuses to offer, only the highest praise for a great British team, led by Fred Perry and Henry Austin at their best, with their games perfectly adapted to a slow court surface."

There was nothing gloomy about Lott and Van Ryn, the doubles team that scored the United States' lone victory as both Allison and Vines went down to defeat in the singles to both Perry and Austin.

But Vines frankly said that some of the edge had gone from his interest in Davis Cup play, that he thought he and Allison were "over-tensed mentally, if not physically" by their long tour last winter through Australia, that the Davis Cup committee should have permitted the players' wives to accompany them abroad, and that he would consider an offer to turn professional.

British Just Too Good "I haven't signed anything," he said, "but I'd certainly consider it if there was enough money in it."

"We were in good condition but the Englishmen were just too good. I wasn't playing as well as I have played, by a long shot. The slow French courts and the slow ball killed our speed. But what are you

Outfielders in Leading Role in 5-2 Victory

Reynolds, West Make It Easy for Gray to Pitch

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 1 (AP)—With Sam West and Carl Reynolds leading the attack, Rogers Hornsby's St. Louis Browns made it two in a row over the Cleveland Indians, winning 5 to 2.

The two Browns outfielders garnered more than half the St. Louis hits. West got a homer and a single while Reynolds connected for a triple and two singles. The two of them either scored or drove in every run the winners made.

Monte Pearson, Cleveland rookie, dropped his second game for Walter Johnson, largely because he had difficulty finding the plate. He issued six walks in six innings while giving up six hits.

The veteran Sam Gray was in rare form, and held the Indians scoreless until he retired in the eighth inning, nearly exhausted.

The two teams had a total of 21 men left on base, the Browns stranding 11.

The Browns took an early lead when they scored twice in the first on singles by Reynolds and Campbell, a double by Burns and two walks, the second with the bases filled.

Reynolds' triple in the second scored West. In the sixth Gray aided his own cause with a three base hit and came home on Storti's fly to Averill.

The Indians came to life in the eighth when Boss beat out a hit to Burns. Gray showed signs of fatigue, and with the count of two and two on Averill, retired in favor of Hadley. The Cleveland center-fielder drew a walk and the two base-runners advanced on a wild pitch. Boss scored as Melillo threw out Hale and Averill who had gone to third, also counted as Levey threw out Kamm.

Score by innings: R.H.E. Cleveland.....000 000 020—2 8 2 St. Louis.....210 001 01*—5 9 0 Batteries—Pearson, Brown and Pytlak; Gray, Hadley and Shea.

Tidball Only Player Needing Three Sets to Win

SOUTHAMPTON, N. Y., Aug. 1 (AP)—The ranks of the seeded contingent in the Meadow club's 43rd annual invitation tennis tournament held firm today as favorites filled all eight places in the quarter final round with straight set victories.

The only extra set match of the day came in the first round where Jack Tidball of Los Angeles conquered Elmer Griffin of New York, 11-9, 3-6, 6-4. Tidball, the new intercollegiate champion, then went on to eliminate Wilmer Hines of Columbia, S. D., 6-4, 6-2 in the second round.

Sidney Wood, defending champion and top-seeded player; Frank Shields, seeded No. 2; Gregory S. Mangin, No. 3; Frankie Parker, No. 4; Dick Murphy of Utica, N. Y.; John McDiarmid, Ft. Worth, and Bryan Grant, of Atlanta, also went into the round of eight.

Brown Names Cedar Falls for 1934 H. S. Meet

DES MOINES, Aug. 1 (AP)—George A. Brown, secretary of the Iowa High School Athletic association, announced today that the Iowa high school basketball tournament will be held at Cedar Falls in 1934.

The tournament has been held in Des Moines for the last three years and the change is in line with the association's policy to change the site to a different district every few years, Brown explained.

Decision to make the change was reached Monday at a meeting of the association's board of directors at Cedar Falls. Members of the board are Chairman C. E. Humphries of Grinnell, C. M. Clevenger of Waverly, and Chris Van Orden of Mapleton.

A committee representing Iowa State Teachers college, and the Chambers of Commerce at Waterloo and Cedar Falls was named to proceed with plans for staging the event.

Local 6 Team League to Start Play Monday

A six team junior circuit in the city diamondball league, players in which must be 15 years of age or under, will start play Monday August 7, according to plans made at a meeting of the junior team managers yesterday morning.

A two weeks schedule has been drafted and at the end of that time a new one, to be drawn up at a later date, will go into effect. Any Iowa City youth meeting the age requirement who desires to play in the league is urged to report to the team manager that he wishes to play with. Players can compete but with one team.

The two weeks schedule calls for daily games five days of the week with all games starting at one o'clock in the afternoon and going seven innings.

All games will be played at the city park diamond and will be umpired by Dennis O'Brien, Donald Rogers, Paul Reed, and Walter Brown.

The six teams and their managers are: Bremer's, Newman Toomey, Gasoline Alley, Robert Rose; Ra

Late Rally in Stock Market Regains Loss

Prices Drift During Most of Quiet Session

NEW YORK, Aug. 1 (AP)—A late rally roused stocks from peaceful dog day slumbers today and the market retrieved part of yesterday's decline.

Prices merely drifted during most of the session, paying little heed to the rise in grains at Chicago and the larger boost at Winnipeg where fluctuations were not restricted.

At the finish, repeat issues, rails and farm belt group looked strongest, though net gains of 1 to 2 points were general.

Stocks up 1 to 2 points net included American Telephone, General Electric, New York Central, Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, American Can, Du Pont, Chrysler, General Motors, Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, Westinghouse, Bethlehem and National Steels, Youngstown, Southern Railway, Lackawanna, Consolidated Gas and North American. Gains for the volatile "wets" ranged from 2 to 6.

In the farm implements, Case was up about 7, and Harvester and Deere around 3.

On the whole, the market seemed nearly as thin on the upside as it had on the downside during Monday's reaction. Offerings were scarce and

Bond Market Trifle Ragged

Traders, Investors Display Caution in Day's Trading

NEW YORK, Aug. 1 (AP)—The bond market was a trifle ragged today as both traders and investors displayed renewed caution in the matter of fresh commitments.

Dullness was the rule throughout, sales totaling only $10,478,000 par value, compared with $13,661,000 yesterday.

A few of the secondary carrier issues reflected further optimistic reports of increased railway revenues. Gains of 1 to around 3 points were recorded by some loans of Alleghany Corp., Baltimore & Ohio, Chicago & Northwestern, N. Y. Central, Nickel Plate and Southern.

While most of the utilities and industrial issues followed a narrow range, there were a few noticeable gainers in these divisions. California Petroleum 5 1/2 was up 2 1/2; International Hydro-Electric 6s, up 1 1/2; adding a total domestic wheat yield this season the smallest in 40 years. The average of these summaries placed 1933 wheat production in the United States at only 480,000,000 bushels compared to 727,000,000 in 1932, with Canada's 1933 crop cut down almost half. Furthermore, buyers were aroused over serious frost damage reports today from parts of Canada, and a broader demand from overseas, when even moderate demand appeared prices rose easily. Larger traders were content to let things jog along as managers of the nation's industry wrestled with the problems called up by the organized move for increased wages and a spread of employment.

which normally would have been put through in Chicago dashed on to Winnipeg.

Sudden complete reversal of grain market sentiment was attributed mainly to action of Chicago board of trade directors last night in fixing a minimum below which quotations here could not go until Aug. 15. This served largely to restore confidence of buyers and to check stampede selling which had overwhelmed the markets of late.

Wheat in Chicago closed strong at the day's top level, 5 cents above yesterday's finish, corn 4 cents up, oats 3 cents advanced, and provisions showing 50 cents gain.

The SEA BRIDE THE ROMANCE OF AN EVENTFUL WHALING CRUISE

CHAPTER XL

FAITH never asked herself whether Brander loved her; she had always known that—known it without admitting the knowledge, even in her thoughts.

She loved him, body and heart and soul; her eyes yearned for his, her tongue to tell him what her heart was singing, her arms to embrace him.

She got up, at last, a little wearily. It was only a matter of minutes that she sat there, looking within herself. When she listened, now, she could hear Noll's voice, on deck, roaring in the old way, she heard the strains of the music, and she felt the presence of the men from somewhere amidships.

Again she caught the murmur of Dan'l Tobey's tones. "She got up, at last, a little wearily. It was only a matter of minutes that she sat there, looking within herself. When she listened, now, she could hear Noll's voice, on deck, roaring in the old way, she heard the strains of the music, and she felt the presence of the men from somewhere amidships.

Brander was her lover; but Noll—Noll was her husband, and she was his wife. Faith passed her hand across her eyes as if to wipe away these visions she had looked upon. Noll was her husband; her vows were his. She was his, and would be. Nothing he could do would make her less his; he was in her keeping, his life and hers could never take diverging paths.

When she protested, he overrode her; and to show his own certainty of himself, he did a thing that Noll, sober, would never have done. He had the rum drawn from the barrel in his storeroom, and served out to the men a ration daily. It amused him to see them half-fuddled with it. He forced it on them; and once, while Faith watched hopelessly, he commanded a hulking Cape Verde—the biggest man in the fo'c's'le—to drink a bout with him. They took glass for glass, till the other was helpless as a log; and Noll vaunted his own prowess in the matter.

Dan'l Tobey contented himself with watching the progress of the tragedy. He no longer stuck a finger in the pie. The captain was going—that was plain to any seeing eye.

Faith could do nothing; Brander could do nothing. Between these two no further word passed; but there was no need. Coming back to face on deck, the day after Noll surprised them, their eyes met in a long steady glance. Their eyes met and spoke; and after that there was no need of words between them. There was a pledging of vows in that glance; there was also a renunciation. Both saw, both understood. Faith thought she knew Brander to the depths.

Neither, in that moment, knew that Dan'l Tobey was at hand; but the mate had seen, and he had comprehended. He slipped away, held his peace, considered.

Brander was fighting for Roy, to fulfill his pledge to Faith. He had set himself to win the boy's confidence and esteem; he applied himself to this with all the strength there was in him. Yet he was careful; he did not forget the taste he did not harass Roy with his attentions. He held off, let Roy see for himself, let him think. There were days when he thought he made some progress; there were days when he thought the effort was a hopeless one. Nevertheless, he persisted.

Noll Wins's good-will in those days extended even to Brander. He offered Brander a drink one day. Brander refused and Noll insisted—and was still refused.

"Come, Brander," Noll said hotly, querulously. "Don't be stiff, man. It will warm you, do you see. You're needing warming. You're over cold and calm."

Brander shook his head, smiling. "Thanks, no, sir," Noll complained, "are you too proud to drink with the skipper?"

Brander refused again; and Noll's brows gathered suspiciously. "Why not?"

"My wish, sir."

"You've a grudge against me, I remember. You stick with Mauger?"

"No, sir."

Noll flung out his hand. "Be off. Your sour face is too ugly for me to look at. Mauger's none so particular. He'll drink with me."

It was true; Mauger had more than once accepted drink from the captain. Noll, at these times, watched the one-eyed man furtively, almost appealingly. It was as if he sought to placate him and make a friend of him.

Mauger had a weak head; he was not one to stand much liquor. It dizzied him, and this amused Noll. That day, after Brander had refused him, Noll sent for Mauger, made the one-eyed man tipsy, and laughed at the jest of it.

Then, one day, this state of affairs came abruptly to an end. Noll went down into the storeroom to fill his bottle, and the spigot on the whisky-barrel gasped and failed. The whisky was gone.

Now Noll had given of the rum to the crew; he had exhausted that; but the whisky he kept jealously. He knew there should be more—much more—gallons, at the least. He turned the handle of the spigot again, tipped the barrel, unable to understand. His bottle was half full, but no more came.

He frowned, puzzled his heavy head, tried to understand. He came stumbling up out of the storeroom at last, with the half-filled bottle in his hand; and the man's face was white. He sought Faith, held the bottle out to her.

"I say—" he stammered. "It's gone—gone!" "What is it, Noll?" Faith asked sharply. "The whisky's gone."

Bolstad Wins Gopher Open Golf Crown

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 1 (AP)—Lester Bolstad of St. Paul and Breezy Point, an amateur, today won the Minnesota open golf championship at the Country club course here, the only golf title of this section he has not held. He counted a 292 total.

He finished two strokes ahead of Gunnard Johnson, professional at the Northwood course here, who totaled 294 to take first prize money in the 72 hole medal meet that opened Monday.

Exciting Finish These two players put on an exciting finish after Johnson had drawn even with the amateur winner on the twelfth hole of the afternoon round, which he started seven strokes behind. He picked up three strokes on the first nine and at the 63 hole mark he was only four strokes over Bolstad's score.

Les Madison, professional at the Breezy Point course, finished second among the professionals with a 296 score. He also had a chance to overtake Bolstad but failed to drop three small putts on the second nine of the afternoon round.

Jim Blair, Minneapolis, had a 298 total while Len Mattson of Keller, St. Paul, who went to pieces in the afternoon round, finished with an even 300.

Herron Falls, Behind Lee Herron, the defending champion and present state amateur titleholder which was relinquished by Bolstad in the tournament several weeks ago, found the going too tough and finished far down the list with 309. He took 77-75 for a 152 total today after 157 yesterday.

Allan Labatt of Minneapolis ranked next to Bolstad among the amateurs with his 303 total.

Davies, Crum Explain NRA to Kiwanians

Speakers Discuss History, Effect, Cause of Act

The National Recovery act was discussed by Prof. G. R. Davies of the college of commerce and D. W. Crum, secretary of the Iowa City Chamber of Commerce before the Iowa City Kiwanians club yesterday.

Professor Davies in his talk pointed out that, "Most of us realize that the president's code is a hastily improvised effort to pave the way for the national recovery act. Due to the collapse of the markets and because the formation of industrial codes takes a long time, some immediate remedy seemed necessary. The president's code is only temporary and no permanent relief will be experienced probably until the various industrial codes are adopted."

History

The national recovery act is really borrowed from the German pre-war system which provided for central control of all industry applied by discipline and scientific study. This method worked out very well in Germany before the war, Davies explained. It is the direct opposite of the English method and the methods born of the frontier and expansion periods of America. The NRA principle provides equal opportunities and an adequate return for effort, he contended.

Discussing the NRA from a local view point, Mr. Crum stressed the seriousness of the situation which calls for unified co-operation which reminded him of war-time measures.

Bands Playing

"We will again hear the bands playing and experience the patriotic emotion of the war in our fight to overcome the depression. Iowa City business men have responded admirably and almost to the man in the request to sign the covenant with the president," said Mr. Crum.

Guests at the meeting were Prof. L. C. Bane of the University of Utah, at Salt Lake City, with Prof. F. C. Ensign, and Merton L. Person of the college of law of the University of Cincinnati, with Prof. C. M. Updegraff.

Junior C. of C. Donates $200 to Unemployment Aid

The American Legion Unemployment bureau yesterday received $200 of the $900 raised by the Junior Chamber of Commerce from the Fourth of July celebration. The money will be used on such civic projects as roads at the Airport park and various improvements at the City park.

The $900 will be turned over to the Unemployment bureau in installments as the need for it arises. This year's celebration was the biggest financial success of any ever staged here. The amount raised is more than twice that of last year, according to Gene Taylor, chairman of the finance committee of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Lightning Kills Four Holsteins in Monday Storm

Four Holstein cattle were killed by lightning during the storm Monday, H. J. Dane, who lives southwest of the city, reported yesterday. The lightning struck about 12:45 p.m. The Danes at the time saw sparks from the electrical fixtures.

The cattle were discovered later in the pasture. One of the cattle killed was Swan, a grade Holstein which has produced 642 pounds of butterfat in the last eight months. The other three were all registered purebred Holsteins. Insurance will partially cover the loss.

Set Hearing on County Budget for August 14

Taxpayers Will Have Chance to Voice Opinions

Public hearing on the proposed 1934 Johnson county budget, which is $79,342 less than that of 1933, will be held at 10 a.m. Monday, Aug. 14, by the county board of supervisors. Taxpayers may appear at the courthouse then and be heard either for or against the proposed expenditures.

The budget is in accordance with the Beatty-Bennett law and appeal to the budget director on any of the funds that will not be necessary. It is estimated that the 1934 budget, which has been submitted to County Auditor Ed Sulek, is about $30,000 less than the maximum sum allowed by the Beatty-Bennett law, under the funds not exempt, so that it comes within the 80 per cent of the 1930 levy.

Totals

Totals in the proposed budget are: expenditures, $502,977; estimated surplus of balance on hand, $23,977; estimated income other than taxation, $111,000; expenditures for 1932, $657,790; and expenditures for 1931, 645,172.

The budget estimate sets out the balance on hand June 30, 1933, in the county funds, the sum of $249,261 most of which is in closed banks and may not be available for next year.

Less Taxation

Out of the total estimated expenditures, $368,000 will have to be raised by taxation as compared with $376,819 for last year, and $427,133 for 1930.

Cocked Hats

June 11, 1842—It is announced in eastern papers that cocked hats are coming into vogue again among the fashionables. They are described as being not quite so high, nor are their corners quite so angular, as those worn by our great-grandfathers, in the olden time. The edges are covered with silk braid or cord. The three corners are arranged so that one projects just beyond each ear, and the third over the nape of the neck. The interiors are lined with silk or leather according to the fancy of the purchaser. But the most important improvement in the old style rendered new, is the addition of visors in front for the purpose of protecting the forehead and eyes. Altogether they are said to be most dashing affairs, and are no doubt destined to literally "knock into a cocked hat" all other kinds of headdress.—Iowa City Standard.

Political Gull Traps

July 9, 1842—The Democratic mass convention, which met in this city on Saturday last, was the largest political meeting ever assembled in Johnson county. The number which took part in the formation of the county ticket, showed plainly that the Democracy of this county are wide awake to their interests, and are not likely to be caught by the political gull traps of the Whigs.—Iowa Capitol Reporter.

"Born to be Sheriff"

July 23, 1842—Mr. Butler will be a "hard hand" upon the horse thieves, and other such gentry, when he gets into the sheriff's office.

He has been experimenting "upon his own hook," in the art of nabbing such chaps, during the last week.

A vagabond who had stolen a couple of horses from the Indians on Saturday last, decamped with them down the river, as was afterwards ascertained.

Mr. Butler, upon learning the fact, put out after him, "solitary and alone," with only his faithful rifle upon his shoulder, and followed on the trail, until he overtook the scamp in the neighborhood of the forks of Cedar and Iowa rivers, where he came up with "the chase."

He brought the fellow back to town with the stolen horses, and the thief is now safely lodged in jail.

"There is more of the spirit of "go ahead—keep moving" in that same Wat Butler, than in any other man with whom we have happened to meet for many a long day. He was "born to be a sheriff."—Iowa Capitol Reporter.

Iowa—A State?

July 23, 1842—At the ensuing August election the voters of Iowa will be called upon to vote for or against a "convention" to form a constitution preparatory to the admission of the Territory into the Union as a free, independent and sovereign state.—Iowa Capitol Reporter.

Expense of a State Government

July 9, 1842—In a former article on the subject, we adopted $30,000 as the maximum of what the expenses of an economical state government should be:—

Governor, $1,200.
Secretary of state, $800.
Auditor of state, $800.
Treasurer, $800.
Attorney general, $400.
Five judges at $1,000, $5,000.
Pay of 75 members at $3 per day, for 50 days, $11,250.
All other contingencies, $10,000.—Iowa Capitol Reporter.

Camp Meeting

July 30, 1842—There will be a Camp Meeting held by the Methodist Episcopal church for Iowa City charge, 3 miles east of the city on the last Saturday and Sunday in August, on the same ground which was occupied for that purpose last year.—Iowa Capitol Reporter.

Swan's Hotel

June 18, 1842—The subscriber has opened a House under the above name, in Iowa City, it being formerly known as the "National." Having placed the same under complete repair, and made extensive improvements, he hopes to receive a share of public patronage. C. Swan.—Iowa Capitol Reporter.

Circus King Sues

John Ringling, head of the famous circus bearing his name, has filed suit for divorce in Sarasota, Fla., charging "mental cruelty." He is shown with Mrs. Ringling, the former Mrs. Emily Buck. They were married in 1930.

Stars! Iowa City Finds It Has Galaxy of Actors

Did you know that Iowa City has a Norma Shearer?

She's not the real Norma but a remarkable double and will appear Aug. 11, at the Hollywood premiere.

Her name will not be revealed until the night of the premiere, when she appears under the flood lights at the Englert theater.

The management of the theater has had many names suggested for the roles of stars, including Iowa Citizens who look like Louise Fazenda, Myrna Loy and Oliver Hardy.

If you know of anyone who looks like, or can imitate a film star, leave the information at the Englert box office.

Try-outs for the film roles will be held next Monday at the theater. Arnold Gillette of the dramatic arts department of the university, will serve as one of the judges to select the talent.

Costumes for the stars will be furnished by local merchants and transportation to the theater by Iowa City auto dealers.

Local Milk Price Raised

The price of retail milk was raised 1 cent a quart in Iowa City yesterday. The new price will be 9 cents a quart.

AROUND THE TOWN with DICK FAGAN

Python Tales

Daily F. Mueller and John Lang, both of Iowa City, have been telling some snake stories the last couple days that will make your eyebrows curl up around your hat brim.

Escaped

According to Mueller a 20 foot python escaped from a carnival at Ft. Madison and went into the wooded region near the Mississippi north of there. He continues the story, "Lang and I heard about it and went down Sunday to the farm where the snake was said to be hiding. The farmer told us that it was discovered when one of his horses stepped on it and the snake wound its sinuous body around the horse. The horse ran down the field and finally brushed off the snake by running up-against a barbed wire fence."

Speedy

"We and the farmer went out near the river where the snake was hiding. He had swallowed one of the farmer's pigs that day and so the farmer naturally wanted it killed. We came near the snake after tramping through the underbrush but he took to the water, swimming with the speed of a motorboat."

Big Fellow

"It was hard shooting at him but although we hit him often the bullets from our .22 rifles ricocheted off his back. At times he came toward shore hissing with the noise of a locomotive letting off steam and we ran towards higher ground. We finally ran out of shells and decided to return to Iowa City. On the banks of the river we found mud covered trees which the snake had been climbing and places on the banks of the river where he had slid into the river—large smooth tracks like those made by sliding truck wheels. While the snake was in the river I could see the bump made in his body by the pig he had swallowed—his head was about the size of a football."

Query

Although Ft. Madison says that no python has ever escaped from a carnival there it's still a walloping good story.

11 Local Blazes Cause Damages of $2,684 for Month

The 11 fires in Iowa City during July averaged $244 damage, according to the monthly report of Fire Chief Herman Amish. The total damage being $2,684.

The fire chief's report is as follows: Value of buildings, $36,000; loss on buildings, $1,450; insurance of buildings, $23,000; value of contents, $19,750; loss on contents, $1,234; insurance on contents, $17,500; total loss, $2,684; and loss not covered by insurance, none.

"Boss" Lord, Managing Editor of New York Sun in Dana's Day, Dies

GARDEN CITY, N. Y., Aug. 1 (AP)—Chester S. "Boss" Lord, managing editor of the New York Sun in the legendary days when Charles A. Dana was its editor, and Arthur Brisbane, Samuel Hopkins Adams, Carr Van Anda and Will Irwin were reporters, died today at the age of 82.

Lord retired in 1913 after guiding the Sun through 33 news-packed years that saw the Cleveland-Blaire campaigns, the Spanish-American war, the Wall Street scandals of early days, the panic of '93, the exposure of Boss Tweed, the sinking of the Titanic and the San Francisco earthquake.

Directed Reporting

From a shabby roll-top desk in a corner of the Sun's city room Lord directed the reporting and the writing of these and other great events with a distinction that gave the Sun a reputation in that period as "the best written and best edited newspaper ever published in the United States."

Since his retirement Lord had led a quiet life, fishing, golfing and enjoying the seclusion of his Long Island home, but to the end he fulfilled actively his duties as chancellor of the state board of regents, of which he had been a member since 1896.

Survivors

Surviving are two sons, Kenneth and Richard Lord, a sister, Mrs. C. B. W. Merritt, and a grandson, Chester W. Lord. The funeral will be held here Thursday.

Lord was born in Romulus, N. Y., the son of the Rev. and Mrs. Edward Lord, and began his newspaper career with the Oswego (N. Y.) Standard in 1871. After a year there he came to New York and obtained a job on the Sun at $10 a week.

Five years later he attempted to go into business for himself, buying an interest in the Syracuse (N. Y.) Standard, but minority stockholders who disagreed with his editorial policies called his notes and he returned to the Sun. In 1880 he became its managing editor.

Celebrated Accomplishment

One of his most celebrated accomplishments was his announcement that Governor Cleveland had defeated James G. Blaine for the presidency the morning after the election in 1884. All the other newspapers had Blaine the winner. Lord had set up his own machinery for gathering the returns, however, and the Sun was the only paper in the country to report the outcome correctly.

It was under Lord that Will Irwin performed his celebrated feat of "reporting" the San Francisco earthquake from a desk in the Sun city room. All wires were down from the coast. The people were hungry for details of the great disaster.

Columns and Columns

Irwin was intimately acquainted with the city. So Lord had him sit down and write columns and columns describing in minute detail what must have happened there. For days Irwin remained at his desk, picturing the earthquake for the Sun readers.

WE DO OUR PART SEARS, ROEBUCK AND CO.

Sears, Roebuck and Company believe that fair wages, reasonable working hours and more jobs result in national prosperity; not only for the industrial worker, but also for the farmer, who benefits through a better market for his crops.

Because this firm belief is one of the principles which for years has guided the Sears organization, we are among the first to sign the President's Re-employment Agreement of the National Recovery Administration. Our ready willingness to subscribe formally to the Code was telegraphed to Washington July 21, three days before the President's radio appeal.

Sears business is founded on fairness—fairness to customers, to factories and to our employees. Hence, we are proud to have an early part in this vast national movement for fairer working conditions which has nation-wide happiness and prosperity as its goal. We are glad to see workers get fair wages, just as we are glad to see farmers get better prices.

We Are Proud to Do Our Part SEARS, ROEBUCK AND CO.

RE Wood
PRESIDENT

We display this emblem as a pledge that directly to our employees and indirectly through our sources of supply, we are doing our share to create prosperity by paying the scale of wages and observing the hours provided in the President's Re-employment Agreement.
