Federal Farm Board Loses Money Loaning Functions

Central Bank Plan Set Up to Handle Credit

Administration of Farm Credit in Charge of Operations

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30 (AP)—Money-lending functions of the Hoover-created federal farm board today passed to a new division of the central bank administration, the central bank for cooperatives, with appointment of a board of directors to the new agency.

The central bank will have headquarters here and its activities in making loans to national farm marketing and purchasing cooperative organizations will be supplemented by cooperative banks in each of the states where federal land and intermediate credit banks are located.

At St. Louis

The first of the regional banks has been established at St. Louis. The others will be set up later. These will make loans to regional cooperatives for sums up to $500,000, and more than $500,000 to national cooperatives and loans to regional cooperatives will be handled directly by the central bank.

Interest rates will be from three to six per cent under a law passed at spring reorganizing government agricultural credit institutions and bringing them under the farm credit administration of which Henry Morgenthau, Jr., is governor. The farm board made loans with interest rates below two per cent in many cases under the agricultural market act of 1929. This was repealed last year.

Seven Directors

Seven directors will have charge of the new institution. F. W. Peck, Paul, who is cooperative bank commissioner, is ex-officio chairman of the board. Morgenthau selected three members to represent the general public and three others to represent cooperatives.

Members of the group representing the public were Dean Thomas Cooper of the University of Kentucky college of agriculture for a one-year term; J. D. Miller, Leesylvania, Pa., president of the national cooperative council, two years; H. L. Young, executive manager of the Citizens and Southern national bank of Atlanta, one year.

Two Names Considered

So far as the American appointment is concerned, two names are being discussed in conference circles. One of the possibilities is Mr. Murphy, who has been an outstanding figure since the inception of the wheat negotiations, and the other is Robert W. Bingham, American ambassador to Great Britain.

No Salary

The directors will not be paid a salary but the credit administration they might be allowed "a reasonable amount per diem to cover their expenses."

Under the plan of operation, cooperatives that receive loans will become stockholders in the banks from which they obtain them. In order to obtain a loan, a cooperative will be required to own or acquire capital stock of $100 for each $1,000 of the amount of the loan, on discharge of the loan, the stock may be retired and cancelled and the association will be paid for.

Morgenthau is authorized to subscribe for stock in the banks out of revolving fund established under the agricultural marketing act. Sources originally contained $500,000, but Morgenthau estimated that approximately $350,000,000 was provided by the farm board in its stabilization efforts covering cotton and wheat.

Washington Joins States for Repeal

SEATTLE, Aug. 30 (AP)—Washington's leap to the repeal bandwagon gave it a push that will assure elimination of prohibition before Christmas, national and state officials said today as mounting pressure turns the state around. It is estimated that the state returned only four delegates to 95 wets.

The total vote for wet and dry delegates late today, with 2,079 precincts out of 2,682 reporting, was 30,310 for repeal and 141,857 against.

Lions Club Members Endorse Proposal to Build Sewage Plant

Members of the Iowa City Lions club endorsed the proposal to construct a sewage disposal plant in Iowa City yesterday at their weekly noon luncheon at Reich's Pine room.

City Engineer J. F. Sprout and M. V. Norris, representative of the Currie Engineering company of the disposal plant is being asked of various civic groups to accompany the city's application to the federal government to obtain 30 per cent of the cost of the project as a gift. Other organizations are expected to vote in the near future on the question of endorsing the plant. Earl Kurtz was introduced as a new member of the club.

World Wheat Pact Complete

Signature of Argentina Puts Last Touch on Agreement

LONDON, Aug. 30 (AP)—Argentina's signature to the international wheat agreement today put the finishing touch to a pact which, the negotiators assert, will rehabilitate the wheat industry and thereby do more toward restoring world prosperity than could any other single factor.

Wheat experts here assert that, unless the world's impoverished wheat farmer is put on his feet, there can be no universal prosperity.

No Miracle Expected

Frederick E. Murphy, Minneapolis publisher and American representative, is one of those who hold this opinion but he said today that the agreement need not be expected "to work a miracle overnight."

Argentina became the twenty-second nation to sign the pact, the general purpose of which is to reduce production by the great wheat nations and stimulate consumption in the importing countries.

The next move is for the governments to appoint their members of the permanent advisory wheat committee, which presumably will have headquarters in London and will guide the working out of the agreement.

"Hunger Strike" Ends in Waterloo

WATERLOO, Aug. 30 (AP)—Waterloo's "hunger strike" ended today when the group which had camped on the court house steps since Monday dispersed after their leader had conferred with the poor relief committee of the county board of supervisors.

The leader, Edward Malloy, agreed to work for a food order. Several others who had previously refused to work, followed Malloy's action and were given immediate food orders when they agreed to do additional work for back orders.

A woman who had requested a special diet was referred to the social welfare league.

State Fair Expected to Make Expenses

DES MOINES, Aug. 30 (AP)—Iowa state fair officials today predicted that the exposition would be "out of the red" on this year's exposition as the result of heavy attendance.

The official figures showed that $114,955.58 had been taken in up to Tuesday night. Fair officials expect $7,500 in receipts from miscellaneous sources before the fair closes, and three of the biggest days, today, Thursday and Friday, were yet to be included.

It is estimated that $145,000 is necessary to pay expenses of the fair, in addition to a $30,000 grant from the state.

Republicans, Demos Meet at Fair in Annual Pow-Wow; Reach No Major Conclusion

Year Considered Too Young to Discuss 1934 Politics

DES MOINES, Aug. 30 (AP)—Republicans and Democrats met and talked things over today at the annual state day program at the Iowa fair, but failed to arrive at any major conclusions.

Customarily a time for political pow-wows, the day this year was considered by political chiefs generally to be premature for announcements of candidacy for offices in the 1934 elections.

Republicans were in the majority at a noon luncheon at which legislators and state officials were guests and there was some talk of possible candidates. Discussion added to the probability that the Republican gubernatorial race will be a free-for-all.

Little Talk

Democrats, headed by Governor Clyde L. Herring, and other party leaders from over the state, attended the gathering but there was less talk of candidates than in previous years at this time.

Following the informal political gatherings, attention again shifted to the regular fair program. Additional champions and grand champions were announced in livestock classes. Attendance at the fifth day of the fair was estimated by officials at early 35,000.

A movement to draft Robert Colflesh of Des Moines for the Republican nomination for governor was under discussion while nearly a dozen others who have been mentioned for that post on the party slate were present but declined to make any definite announcement.

Hat in the Ring

Talk of other places on the Republican ticket brought the probability that Ole T. Naglestad of Sioux City will throw his hat in the ring for attorney general, while Karl Fischer of Vinton was said to be considering making another try for auditor of state, and G. C. Greenwalt might seek re-election to the office of secretary of state.

Former Governor Dan Turner of Corning was not present. In some circles there were reports that he might be asked to agree, in the interests of party unity and accord, to seek the top post on the Republican slate.

There were few indications as to (Turn to page 2)

No Sock 'im! Didn't Hit Huey Long, Says Police Chief

NEW YORK, Aug. 30 (AP)—With a wide grin, Chief of Police Steve Webber of Port Washington denied published reports today that he was the guest who smacked Senator Huey P. Long over the eye at a Long Island club charity affair Saturday night.

To inquirers, the police chief—a 220-pound amateur boxer, six feet and more tall—displayed his hard fist, free of any bruises.

Ponder Identity

All week, New York has pondered the identity of the man who knocked the senator down during a function at the Sand Point Bath club, near Port Washington.

Asked by friends if he would object to the publication of the reports that he was the assailant, Chief Webber said:

"Not at all, as long as you print along with it my flat denial of the report."

Floored Long

According to the version told by members of the club and guests at the affair, one visitor was affronted by the Louisiana political leader, swung out with his fists and floored Senator Long.

Senator Long was enroute today to his New Orleans home after an address in Milwaukee yesterday. While Long journeyed homeward, Postmaster General Farley, in Washington, commenting upon the senator's attack on the administration's patronage handling, remarked:

"It is evident that the administration indicated to Huey where he stood on the patronage question some weeks ago."

Oh No! Let Me Do It My Dear Gaston!

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 30 (AP)—Police Scouts Jerkins and Story, reporting a collision between the automobile of R. H. Jones and Joe Colner, said: "Both claimed to be at fault; both wished to pay damages and both refused to leave the scene of accident. We examined the men. Neither was drunk." The report continued: "This is too much for us."

Thugs Make $30,000 Haul in Minnesota

One Policeman Killed; Touhy Gang Under Suspicion

SOUTH ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 30 (AP)—One policeman was slain and another wounded seriously today in a $30,000 bank messenger holdup which officials said might have a connection with the William Hamm kidnaping in June.

Suspicion was directed toward the Touhy gang of Chicago after five handbills, laying down a smoke screen to hide their operations, shot off by officers Leo Pavlak, 35, and John Yeaman in the street in front of the local postoffice. Pavlak died instantly and Yeaman was hurt severely by shots and pistols swept the street and sidewalk, sending pedestrians scurrying to safety and breaking windows in nearby stores.

With Bank Messenger

The officers were accompanying two local bank messengers, Joseph Hamilton and Herbert Cheyne, who had received a $30,000 currency consignment from the federal reserve bank in Minneapolis.

It was intended for a Swift and company, payroll.

District Attorney L. L. Drill said in nearby St. Paul, "rumors have been current in the underworld for some time that members of the Touhy mob might come here to start trouble."

Held in Jail

The leader, Roger Touhy and three other Chicagoans, are in jail in St. Paul awaiting trial in November on charges growing out of the seizure there of Hamm, millionaire brewer, who was held nearly four days before being freed on payment of $100,000 ransom.

Other government officials, who declined use of their names, suggested intimidation of Hamm case witnesses may have been an aim or that funds for defense of the quartet were sought. All said they had no specific information.

More Than Million Allotted for Use in National Forests

DENVER, Aug. 30 (AP)—Allotment of $1,166,000 for immediate use on roads, trails and other improvements in national forests in Colorado, Wyoming, Nebraska, Oklahoma and South Dakota was announced today at the U. S. regional forest service office.

A total of $417,000 was allotted for roads and trails to be divided among the states as follows: Colorado, $271,000; Wyoming, $76,000; South Dakota, $59,000; Nebraska, $8,000; and Oklahoma, $3,000.

For other improvements, $749,000 was allotted as follows: Colorado, $392,000; Wyoming, $125,000; South Dakota, $110,000; Oklahoma, $59,000; and Nebraska, $45,000.

WEATHER

IOWA: Fair and slightly warmer Thursday; Friday unsettled, probably local showers, followed by cooler in west and north.

TAKING NO CHANCES WITH BAILEY

Closely guarded by officers with machine guns, Harvey Bailey (coatless), who was arrested at Paradise, Texas, in connection with the kidnaping of Charles Urschel, Oklahoma millionaire, is pictured as he entered the federal building, Ft. Worth, for a hearing before removal to Oklahoma City to stand trial.

Plan Drive to Wind Up NRA Campaign to Include All Employers Here in Iowa City

A drive to enroll all employers in Iowa City under the NRA insignia will be conducted this week by a committee of Iowa City business men. Professional men, in addition to business men, will be expected to enroll under NRA.

D. W. Crum, Johnson county NRA chairman, yesterday announced the following committee to conduct the campaign: W. B. Gipple, chairman, Frank D. Williams, Hugh J. Williams, Charles A. Beckman, Joe Munkhoff, Verne Bales, I. Fulks, Willis Mercer, H. L. Hands, Everett Means, William H. Palmer, George H. Bouck, Perry Rowland, George Nagle, Albert B. Sidwell, Herman Smith, Phillip D. Ketelsen, LeRoy Spencer, Fred Seaman, Harry Shulman, D. R. Pile, H. J. Dane, Frank Fenstermaker, L. M. Cubbison, and Chris Yetter.

A second committee consisting of W. L. Davis, chairman, Jay J. McNamara, and L. W. Yetter was appointed to investigate the desirability of holding an NRA parade or celebration.

Both committees will meet at 9:30 this morning at the Chamber of Commerce rooms at the American Legion Community building to complete plans for the campaign.

House to House Campaign Starts

The house to house canvass to enroll all Iowa City householders under the insignia of the NRA was started yesterday under the direction of Mrs. Thomas R. Reese, chairman of the committee.

Mrs. Reese has appointed the following women to conduct groups in the campaign: first ward, Mrs. F. P. Schone and Mrs. I. B. Weber; second ward, Mrs. George Martin and Grace Meyer; third ward, Mrs. C. E. Cousins; fourth ward, Catherine Novak; fifth ward, Mrs. L. R. Benson; Manville Heights, Mrs. Clifford Palmer; and University Heights, Mrs. Forrest Allen.

Other women helping in the campaign are: Mrs. L. C. Jones, Mrs. Catherine Hope, Mrs. C. E. Bock, Mrs. A. C. Trowbridge, and Mrs. Blanche Phelps. The campaigners are all representatives of the following organizations: Melrose club, Manville Heights club, Entre Nous club, Art circle, N.N. club, I.F.E. club, Iowa Woman's club, Rundell club, Athens Historical club, and the Iowa City Woman's club.

Mrs. Reese, chairman, said last night that they expect to have an NRA insignia in every home before the end of the week.

Seek Clues

PLEASANTVILLE, Aug. 30 (AP)—County officers today sought clues to the identity of two men who last night obtained $60 in the holdup of Mr. and Mrs. Miles Galvin, elderly farm couple.

Boys Rescued From Ledge

Carried to Safety After Being Trapped Two Days on Ledge

LAKE PLACID, N. Y., Aug. 30 (AP)—Rescued from the narrow ledge on which they had been trapped for two days, three Plattsburgh Boy Scouts were brought down a wild Adirondack mountain trail tonight from the great cliff of Wallace mountain.

They were hoisted from the two-foot shelf one at a time late today on the end of a 225 foot rope to a higher ledge from which there was a difficult but not impossible trail to the bottom of the gorge 500 feet below.

Under physician's care, the boys, Robert Glenn, 17, Tyler Grey, 19, and William La Due, 21, were weak and exhausted from lack of sleep and food when they arrived at the Adirondack lodge, six miles away tonight. They had passed 24 hours without food or water and had huddled together through the freezing night in light clothes.

Trapped early yesterday when they found themselves unable to proceed higher or to retrace their steps in their effort to climb the perpendicular wall of the cliff, they were without food until noon today, when rescuers succeeded in lowering oranges, and sandwiches over the shelf high above.

The ledge on which they were marooned is 400 feet high and veteran mountain climbers had thought it inaccessible. Their predicament had drawn scores of volunteer rescuers, including state police, the U. S. coast guard, the state conservation department, airplane pilots and expert climbers.

Third Child Dies of Virulent Typhoid

Warren Wilson, 6, of Wilton Junction died yesterday of the same malady that killed his two brothers a few days before. His brothers Joseph, 4, and Allen, 2, died at the University hospital a few days ago.

Doctors were unable to diagnose the malady until Tuesday night, pronouncing it to be a very virulent form of typhoid. The boys were in a semi-conscious state most of the time.

They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Ellwood Wilson of Wilton Junction.

Century of Progress Will Close Oct. 31

CHICAGO, Aug. 30 (AP)—A Century of Progress exposition will close definitely Oct. 31, President Rufus C. Dawes said today despite requests from all sections of the country that it be continued next year.

"It will be impossible for us to hold the fair over," Dawes said.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30 (AP)—Another famous snack, but of a different variety, was recorded today when a blonde young woman and a dark-browed young man held a kiss for three hours and two minutes to win the world's endurance title.

The champions, who outlasted the other couples in the final elimination of the Coney Island kiss marathon, are Betty Burns and Michael Calabrese.

"Goosestep" Claim Denied by NRA Head

In No Sense a Czardom, Says Administrator Johnson

BOSTON, Aug. 30 (AP)—Hugh S. Johnson denied today that the national recovery administration was attempting to make business "goosestep."

"NRA is in no sense a czardom," the administrator told a mass meeting of recovery workers.

"It is a sort of rules committee where the great coaches of the American industrial and labor teams are collaborating to make a new and fairer game out of business competition in this country."

Pointing out that the "whole experiment" is up to the workers and consumers, Johnson said:

"There is not a manufacturer or merchant who can live if we workers are not with him—we must help those who help us, or we all go down together."

"I want to say with all earnestness that this campaign of consumer education which you are launching here today is the crux—the very vitals of the great national effort."

"It is up to you to demand the blue eagle. It is your chance to help yourself and, if there is one thing certain if this great national game of ours, it is that nobody can legislate the country out of its troubles. The most that can be done is to give every man a chance to help himself. That the blue eagle does."

"That is the true rugged individualism. That is the new freedom. And the rules of that game are simple. For the consumer there is only one and I can say it in 17 words, 'Buy under the blue eagle—buy freely and buy now to the limit of your present needs.'"

After recalling that the American revolution was not a rebellion against the British constitution but, "resistance to economic pressure—to business exploitation," he said, "We are still a land of limitless resources. We are still a people of boundless energy. There is no more sense in starving in a land of plenty now than there was in 1776."

Ask Probe of Crime Set-Up

NEW YORK, Aug. 30 (AP)—New York county's grand jury today appealed to Attorney General John J. Bennett, Jr., to utilize the new state anti-racket law to investigate charge of politico-racketeer alliances.

The jury, which heard U. S. District Attorney George Z. Medalis and Chief Justice Frederic Kernochan of the court of special sessions charge that certain political leaders were linked with racketeers, suggested that "if the conditions alleged really exist, a statewide agency should be the medium of investigation."

Use of the anti-racket statute, signed yesterday by Governor Lehman, was advised by the jury, which had undertaken the investigation independently of the district attorney's office after Medalis and Kernochan had testified before the senate sub-committee investigating racketeering.

Faces Charges

LE CLAIRE, Aug. 30 (AP)—Bert G. Smith was in the Scott county jail at Davenport today facing charges growing out of the slaying of his wife early this morning.

Packs Bags for Cruise Back to Nation's Capital

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30 (AP)—A demand from organized labor for shorter working hours than is being provided now in NRA codes, to absorb the jobless millions faster, confronted Hugh S. Johnson tonight on his return to the capital.

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Aug. 30 (AP)—President Roosevelt put pressure behind the national industrial reorganization today, naming the committee of fifteen to govern the oil business and inquiring into the delay of Henry Ford in signing up with the other automobile manufacturers for the new deal.

He picked James A. Moffett, former vice president of the Standard Oil of New Jersey, as the head of the three members representing the national recovery administration on the oil committee of 15.

The newly appointed group is already enroute to the capital to confer tomorrow with Secretary Ickes, the oil administrator on regulations for the new working agreement for the industry which goes into effect on Saturday.

Will Take Helm

Packing his bags tonight for a sea cruise back to Washington to take the helm of the almost completely organized national recovery drive, Mr. Roosevelt awaited a report from General Hugh S. Johnson, industrial administrator, on the attitude of Mr. Ford toward cooperating with the other automobile manufacturers under the blue eagle code.

The president is making no threats about the Michigan motor manufacturer and he does not believe Johnson is making any but there is no doubt here that he expects a report on just what Mr. Ford is going to do before he takes a few days off, beginning tomorrow, to sail to the capital.

The other two representatives of the NRA on the oil committee are Donald Richberg, labor counsel of the NRA, and M. L. Benedum of Pittsburgh, an oil leader and friend of the president.

Enforcement

While keeping Mr. Ickes, secretary of the interior, as oil administrator, the president virtually put the enforcement of the new working code for oil under the national recovery administration.

He will rely on his cabinet member to be the arbiter in disputes. But it is expected that Moffett will take over the active work of governing the oil industry.

In announcing the committee of 15, S. T. Early, secretary to the president, also disclosed that Mr. Roosevelt and Secretary Ickes intend to organize "several regional emergency operating committees."

"These committees," said Early, "will be created to give wider representation to the industry. When appointed, it will be their duty to study and arrive at conclusions on purely local questions within their regions."

To Complete Coal Agreement

In addition to finding out just what Mr. Ford intends to do in the way of cooperation, Mr. Roosevelt has one other thing he intends to be completed before sailing—the signing of the working agreement for the bituminous coal industry.

This code is expected at the summer White House before sailing time at noon tomorrow.

With this agreement in effect, the president will return to Washington the morning after Labor day to take over his desk with all of the basic industries of the nation, employing millions, under the code of his new order to spread jobs through shorter working hours and to raise wages.

Complaints Group Unable to Hear All Local NRA Cases

The local NRA complaints committee was unable to hear all complaints and hear all questions regarding codes at a meeting at the Chamber of Commerce rooms last night. It was decided to hold another meeting sometime this week.

More than 10 persons appeared before the committee asking for rulings on the NRA code in regard to their business. There were a few complaints by employees, who said their employers were not living up to the terms of the NRA agreements. The committee will attempt to settle some of the difficulties before meeting again.

Mein Kampf and America

PROTESTS have risen from the ranks of American Jewry against the publication of Herr Hitler's autobiography, "Mein Kampf," announced recently by Houghton Mifflin company for printing this fall.

The American Hebrew and Jewish Tribune, a weekly paper published in New York, complains that there is "neither room nor reason" for the circulation in this country of "such un-American, inhuman, and vituperative propaganda."

They forgot to add that it is also "un-American" to ban the publication of any book because it expresses a foreign political or religious philosophy.

That "Mein Kampf" is replete with "inhuman and vituperative" passages cannot be denied. But that is no reason for barring it from American bookshelves. The American Hebrew and Jewish Tribune forgot that this volume is the autobiography of one of the three great dictators of the world, the German chancellor, Adolph Hitler. It is the story, "in his own words," of the growth of Nazism, the strangest and most fanatical, and in many ways the most significant, of all modern political diseases.

Even though America were destined to don a dirty brown shirt after reading the book, there still would be no excuse for barring it. But unless we are far less intelligent than we like to believe the result is bound to be the exact opposite.

The book is a glorification of Hitler, war, and the swastika, mixed with an insane vilification of the Jews. The Hitler book, like the Hitler mustache, is ludicrous. It can do little damage in this country to the Jews. It can do extensive harm to Herr Adolf.

The Iron Major Leaves Pleasant Memories

THE "Iron Major" is no more. But, though he has died in the flesh, nothing can ever take away the impression that his life has made upon the thousands of young men with whom he worked.

Known affectionately to thousands as "Cav," Major Frank W. Cavanaugh gave his all to his country and to his fellowmen. Ever since the day when he first started making gridiron history as a star end at Dartmouth, he has never been out of the limelight. Yet he has never sought it.

His life is an outstanding example to American youth. Never did he seek favoritism. His whole life is the story of a man who reached the top in every field he entered by dint of his own dominating efforts.

"Cav" entered the World war as a buck private in a field artillery unit. He came out of the war a major. Every school that he has coached has made gridiron history, from Worcester academy to Fordham.

Now he is gone. No more will his name flash over the country as the teacher of the gridiron's great. No more will he be quoted as the man that cannot be beaten.

Only his memory lives. The memory of a man who could sit in a front line trench and write his son a comforting letter telling him to take care of his mother. The memory of a man whose every thought during his own sensational rise to success was for the help of some other.

May such memories never die.

The Junkers Become Junked

THE East Prussian Junkers have at last given way to the inevitable progress of the modern world and "consented" to divide their huge feudal estates into innumerable peasant homesteads.

There were two reasons for this consenting, one economic and the other political. As in this country, the depression caught the landlord in Germany more severely than anyone else, and the Junkers held most of their wealth in great estates scattered over the fertile territory near the Polish corridor.

As for politics, Herr Hitler has constantly campaigned for the end of Junkerdom, but without success until the fall of President Paul Von Hindenburg from power.

Thus the final dissolution of the Junker estates represents also the dissolution of the power and appeal of the old Germany and of all that is meant by the name of Hindenburg. The new Germany has shed its last baby tooth.

A Plot in the Pyrenees

(From the Christian Science Monitor)
Only one thing seems lacking in the Andorran tangle to furnish rich material for a comic opera and that is a heroine. Enough of all the other Gilbertian elements are there to make the perfect plot.

A tiny principality old as Charlemagne and just as proud—tucked away in a corner of the Pyrenees; a mountain-locked valley of little farms and tranquil villages; a hilltop state in the pocket-handkerchief class among nations. That is Andorra, but its patriarchal population of 6000 is bravely hurling "boos" of proud defiance, or their equivalent in the Catalan dialect, at France and Spain.

It is all very confusing to everybody on the outside of those mountains. Nominally a republic, Andorra has been under the suzerainty of France and Spain since 1278 A. D. and on the whole the relations have been pleasant. Each year the midge dominion acknowledges its fealty by paying the sum of 960 francs to France and 460 francs to the Bishop of Urgel, representing Spain. In return those two powers assume joint responsibility for the continuance and welfare of Andorra.

The tribute is a formality. For instance, once every two years three councilmen of Andorra cross the Pyrenees to the ancient walled city of Perpignan in France and solemnly hand over 1936 francs to the representative of the president of the republic. Whereupon the French prefect spends rather more than that amount in a lavish banquet tendered to the Andorran functionaries and their suite.

It seems, however, that some French capitalists wanted to start a gambling casino, a la Trouville, in the fastnesses of Andorra, and the Spanish Bishop of Urgel wanted the inhabitants to use Castilian postage stamps, new-fangled changes which Andorrans stubbornly resisted. Thereupon, the other day an invading French army of 50 gendarmes took possession of the village council halls and arrested Andorra's police force consisting of seven uniformed constabulary and a citizen police body of 26.

It is probable, however, that Spain and France will grant their little sister republic what she asks, namely, a greater measure of self-government. Meanwhile all that is needed is a heroine like Miss Wendy Wood who, leading a gallant party of Scottish home-rulers about a year ago, captured Edinburgh Castle one Saturday afternoon when the garrison was away on its usual half-holiday.

If a maiden of Andorra would arise and throw off the Castilian-Gallic yoke, which, after all, seems pretty light, the world would get a laugh and applaud the happy ending to this Pyrenean peribouffe.

GOOD MORNING

In an editorial filling the better part of a page the St. Louis Post-Dispatch last week took Secretary of the Interior Ickes to task for his failure to distribute the $3,300,000,000 in his charge with as much dispatch as General Johnson has displayed in executing his end of the new deal.

The Post-Dispatch points out that barely more than $1,000,000,000 has been allocated to date, and this mostly on federal government projects, where the government is called upon to pay all of the cost.

It cannot be denied that the public works project constituted a highly essential part of the recovery drive. The theory on which it is based is that the work provided by the three billion federal dollars would serve to raise employment along with prices until industry could be completely mobilized by General Johnson and become able to stand on its own feet once again.

To carry out this object it would be necessary that the public works money be allocated with dispatch and that work begin almost immediately on thousands of projects. Indeed, it might be that failure to expedite this program has a direct bearing upon the degree to which prices have outdistanced wages, a condition that has been a cause for apprehension in Washington.

Secretary Ickes, of course, recognizes all this. Early this spring, when Director of the Budget Douglas argued in favor of spending only a small part of the public works fund, the secretary, with a firm grasp of its importance, held that it should all be spent, and that as soon as possible. Recently, in a statement urging that projects submitted for allotments from the fund carry with them the essential of furnishing immediate employment, he said: "We do not seek to allot a project money which will lie in a bank or treasury for months, putting nobody to work."

Granting the sincerity and competence of Mr. Ickes, the Post-Dispatch feels that he is sadly lacking in the qualities of forceful, red-tape leadership which so characterizes General Johnson.

"Whereas General Johnson plunged immediately into the business of code preparation, Secretary Ickes has been slow to award grants for public works, though both are essential if any real dent in the unemployment army is to be made before winter sets in," says the editorial. His friends have said that he is "consumed with the fear of graft and the allocation of money to unworthy projects."

The Post-Dispatch has no quarrel with such caution; "nevertheless, the country is in a crisis, and crises call for a bolder type of action than Mr. Ickes has thus far shown. In other words, the secretary seems to suffer from the defects of his qualities."

In spite of all this it would seem that Secretary Ickes is following the only sane course. His job is fundamentally different than General Johnson's and gives no opportunity for that type of aggressive action. And, even though his hesitation might be the cause of serious apprehension now, his care will be doubly appreciated when it comes to paying the bills.

— IN HOLLYWOOD —

STUDIO GOSSIP SCREEN COMMENT

HOLLYWOOD—In the general excitement over the reunion of Greta Garbo and John Gilbert, Hollywood has almost forgotten about Laurence Olivier.

The English actor will be well repaid, however, for the hurried trip from London and the anti-climatic finish when studio officials decided he was not tall enough to play opposite La Garbo.

Before sailing for Honolulu yesterday with his wife, Jill Esmond, Olivier signed one of the most unusual contracts of recent film annals.

Over a period of years, he can return to Hollywood at his own convenience and make pictures for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. The contract has options but he, and not the studio, has the right to take them up.

Meanwhile, the actor must return to Broadway after a brief vacation to take the leading role in Jed Harris' production, "The Green Bay Tree."

They tell it that Norma Talmadge, George Jessel and Harry Akst were attending a concert the other evening at the Hollywood Bowl.

"Think of it!" exclaimed Norma. "Fifty thousand people in this bowl." Jessel looked about him, murmured "How would you like to have it filled with borsch soup?"

HOLLYWOOD PARADE Poor, Kathryn Carver Menjou, illness forced her to cancel her reservations on the Lurline an hour before it sailed for Honolulu yesterday. Chances are she'll take a later boat.

the probable issues for the coming campaigns. It was considered that events of the next few months, and particularly those of the approaching special session of the assembly, will have an important bearing on the issues and the selection of candidates.

The report of the Brookings institution on the proposed state revenue system, announced yesterday, was another subject of comment in the informal gatherings.

Legislators were interested principally in the approaching special session and there was talk of agreeing on some plan to limit the duration of the session. It was generally agreed that tax revision, liquor control and governmental reorganization will be the major problems.

Health Champion A Henry county farm girl, Clista Millsbaugh, 16, of Mt. Pleasant, was named today as the 1933 Iowa health champion girl. Miss Millsbaugh scored 99.1 per cent perfect but was only two tenths of a point ahead of Dorothy Taylor, 17, of Woodbine, Harrison county's entry. Frances Bedell, 19, of Springville, Linn county champion, placed third with a score of 98.6.

Miss Millsbaugh will represent Iowa in the national health contest at Chicago next December and examining physicians and officials of the contest were optimistic today concerning her chances of winning the national title.

Two thousand 4-H club boys and girls shared the day's honors with Iowa public officials. Work in judging, showing, and demonstrating farm projects by the boys and girls was nearing completion and they turned to enjoyment of the fair's attractions.

Guests of Fair Board Officers of the two state organizations were guests of the fair board at the afternoon grandstand performance and tonight the entire club organizations gathered for a candle light ceremony in which candles for each Iowa county will be lighted for the giant Iowa candle which was set aglow by light from the star Arcturus in similar ceremony at the Century of Progress exposition in Chicago.

A. R. Corey, fair board secretary, in announcing that today's attendance would run close to 35,000 persons, added that the continued fun of record days had assured the fair of financial success.

Feature's Awards A feature of today's awards in the livestock competitions was the winning of the Hampshire grand champion boar and sow awards by Lady Dike and Eclipse, daughter and son of Blue Boy, Iowa's hog movie star.

Rennick's entries also won the senior boar and sow championships. The junior champion Hampshire boar was shown by Mrs. E. J. Lettow and Sons of Alden and the junior champion sow by Edwin Seiders of Iowa City.

Poland China The spotted Poland China senior and grand champion boar, Big Flyer, was shown by Edward Thurm of Waverly with Charles Gorrell of Merriam, Kan., winning the junior championship.

The champion fat Hereford steer was shown by A. C. Shallenberger of Alma, Neb.

William Dorf of Tonia, Ill., swept the grand and senior championships for both boar and sow Berkshires with Built Rite and Beauty D, 2nd, respectively. He also won the junior boar championship while George Debar and Sons of Aurora won the junior sow championship.

In the sheep department today John Graham and Son of Eldora won the Oxford down ewe championships with Gabriels 2897. The champion Cotswold ram was shown by Joe W. Edgar of New London and the Cheviot ram and ewe championships went to R. E. Pullin of Waterloo.

Sweep Championships Schultz Brothers of Galt, Ill., swept the championships for Brown Swiss dairy cattle with one exception. Their entry, O. D.'s Windy Boy, won the senior and grand championships for bulls, Doris Pearl won the senior and grand championships for females, and a third entry, Vronicka's Valley Girl of W. B. was junior champion female. The only break was the winning of the junior championship for bulls by H. A. Sherman of Iowa Falls.

Boulder Bridge farm of Excelsior, Minn., repeated its high winnings in other livestock departments by winning the grand senior, and junior championships for Guernsey dairy cattle.

Marjorie Donner of Malvern won another of the girls 4-H club high honors today when her hand made gown took first place in the state show in which club girls modeled clothes made by themselves and were rated on both the dresses and their presentation of them.

Thursday will be "livestock parade day" with final judging in all livestock classes to be completed before noon in preparation for the annual million dollar parade of livestock.

Crusader Outlines Plan to Wipe Out Rackets, Kidnaping

Would Unite Guardsmen, Army Along Vast Front

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Aug. 30 (AP)—A revolutionary plan to unite the nation's police forces into one huge army crusading against crime with the backing of the national guard and the regular army was placed before the American Bar association today by the man in charge of the government's war on rackets and kidnaping—Assistant Attorney Pat Malloy.

The far-reaching proposal, which contemplated the arming of every law enforcement officer in the nation—sheriffs, policemen and all—with federal commissions, came a short time after the association's president had opened the annual convention with a declaration that federal laws are encroaching on the rights of the states.

Out of Hand But the president—Clarence E. Martin—also had warned that the crime situation is getting out of hand and declared that "candor compels the admission that America is a crime breeding and criminal protecting nation."

Malloy said the plan was his own but had the endorsement of Attorney General Cummings.

He declared that "we are facing a crisis in dealing with the problems of the racketeer and kidnaper. "We should federalize the police forces of America," he said. "What does that mean? It means every United States attorney and marshal and his assistants, every state and county prosecuting attorney, every sheriff and his officers, and every state police officer in the country would hold a commission from the federal government and be a unit under one directing head to take up the trail and make swift and sure the capture."

One Head Necessary "It would be essential that the direction of such a plan be concentrated under one head, the attorney general of the United States.

"Behind such an organization stands an enthusiastic, active, helpful public opinion. A citizenship of 125,000,000 people will applaud. The militia of every state stands behind this civilian federalized force and behind that stands the army of the United States with its power of military occupation."

Asked if Walker, who resigned as mayor last year during an investigation of the city government by Franklin D. Roosevelt, intended to return soon to the United States, Blumenthal said:

"He is planning to return with Betty, but not right away. I should say about the first of the year. He will re-enter the practice of law."

Former Mayor of N. Y., Wife Centers of Rumor

NEW YORK, Aug. 30 (AP)—A guarded hint that former Mayor and Mrs. James J. Walker are expecting a baby was given out today by A. C. Blumenthal, home from a visit with the couple on the Riviera.

"They both talk about the baby all the time," said Blumenthal, a close friend of Walker and his second wife, the former Betty Compton. He returned yesterday from a European trip during which he stopped with Mr. and Mrs. Walker in their villa at Cannes. They have been living there since a honeymoon tour of Italy after their marriage at Cannes last April 18.

"If they can have a baby," Blumenthal continued, "it will be the greatest happiness of their lives. I suspect that there is some reason for believing that there will be a blessed event in their family before long."

Asked if Walker, who resigned as mayor last year during an investigation of the city government by Franklin D. Roosevelt, intended to return soon to the United States, Blumenthal said:

"He is planning to return with Betty, but not right away. I should say about the first of the year. He will re-enter the practice of law."

Woman's Relief Corps Here Honors G.A.R. in Program

Addresses During 'Affair' Tell of Part Women Played During Days of Civil, World Wars; Past W.R.C. Presidents Introduced

Behind the program given last night by the Samuel J. Kirkwood corps, No. 78, Women's Relief corps, in honor of the G.A.R., was an atmosphere of sacrifice and service. As the speeches were given, the history read, and the presentations made, visions of women sewing on garments for soldiers of the Civil war and the World war, cheering veterans of these wars when they were despondent, and keeping the little families of ex-soldiers together, seemed to arise and give a fuller, richer meaning to every word uttered, every gesture made.

Mrs. William Weber, in reading the history of the organization, recalled the beginnings of the W.R.C. during and immediately following Civil war times, and the formal start of the group in 1883 when it met with the G.A.R. and was made an auxiliary organization. She told, too, of the founding of the local corps in 1886—exactly 47 years ago, of the 96 stars which appeared in the service flag of the group floated during the World war, of the thousands of garments made by the hands of members during that great war, and of the child welfare work done in more recent years.

Welcomes G.A.R.
Mrs. Tracy Bradley welcomed the G.A.R., "those boys in blue who sacrificed so much that we might enjoy these United States of America," and explained that the evening's celebration was a birthday party, the forty-seventh anniversary of the local corps.

The past presidents of the W.R.C. were introduced by Mrs. Weber, and along with their presentation, Mrs. Weber told of other state and national officials held in the past and at present. The past presidents are: Mrs. Anna Shalla, Mrs. Louise Trundy, Mrs. Minnie Luscomb, Mrs. Carrie Chapman, Mrs. Della Marble, Mrs. Anna Larkin, Mrs. Tena Holubar, Mrs. Lola Harmon, Mrs. Weber, Mrs. Lillian Bridenstine, Mrs. Gertrude Cunningham, Mrs. Mae Mareah, Mrs. Josie Moon, and Mrs. Maud Whedon Smith. A special guest at the affair was Mrs. Anna Behan of Muscatine, the state president.

Gifts Presented
Gifts were presented to every Grand Army man at the reception, and those unable to attend were sent their presents. The G.A.R. men living in the surrounding vicinity are: E. E. Hinchcliffe, T. D. Davis, Joe Bair, and Charles Hennrich, all of Iowa City; Isaac Myers and George Alt, both of North Liberty; George Siberly of Lone Tree; George Foster of West Liberty; and Comrade Martin of Shueyville.

Tap Dances
Augmenting the patriotic program were two tap dances by Dorothy and Betty Cole. For the first of these, a military dance, they were dressed in diminutive white satin suits, resplendent with gold braid, and for the second, a rag doll dance, pink and green dresses and white ruffled panties suggestive of Colonial days.

600,00 Hitlerites Celebrate Success of Party in Germany

NUERNBERG, Germany, Aug. 30 (AP)—Bells pealed from the medieval Saint Lawrence, Our Lady's, Saint Sebaldus and all other churches of this ancient city tonight as the biennial congress of the National Socialist (Nazi) party was opened by Chancellor Hitler.

It was the first national gathering of the organization since Hitler, born in Austria, rose to power last January upon the fall of the von Schleicher cabinet.

Bells Drown Cheers
The pealing of the bells at times drowned out the prolonged cheers of the crowd as the chancellor went to the 600 year old city hall to initiate the five day program.

Already 600,000 visitors have swarmed into the city.

The visitors, emerging from the railway station, were faced by a forest of flags, houses garlanded and tramways decorated with pennants and streamers. Banners reading "Hail Hitler" were stretched across the narrow winding streets. Thousands of uniformed brown shirted storm troopers bustled about.

Endless cheers reverberated as Hitler and other party leaders slowly proceeded from a tent outside the city to the town hall.

Trumpets announced the chancellor's entry. A chorus rendered "Awaken, You German Land." Lord Mayor Liebell, welcoming the party chieftains, declared, "We no longer live in a Reich of dishonor but in a new Germany."

Seat of All Congresses
"I have decided that all future congresses must be held at Nurnberg," Hitler said, "to demonstrate that our movement is nothing less than a continuation not only of German greatness but of German art and culture."

At the end of the ceremony Hitler was presented with a painting, a work of the noted German artist Albrecht Durer, who lived here. The painting "The Knight and Death," was done in 1513.

Invitations to attend the affair were extended to all embassies and legations. Neither W. E. Dodd, the American ambassador, nor the French, British, Italian, Turkish, Japanese, Russian, or Spanish envoys accepted. The Argentine, Bolivian, Brazilian, Cuban, Guatemalan, Haytian, Mexican, Nicaraguan, Peruvian and Uruguayan diplomats accepted.

ly that producers have not received enough for their output to enable them to buy it back and keep our farms and factories going.

"That is the reason for unemployment and falling business, exhausted savings and abandoned homes. That is the reason, and until that reason is reversed, there isn't going to be any recovery."

Comparing the development of boxing to business, the general said, "nobody ever heard Jack Dempsey complain of any hampering restrictions of his rugged individualism when Luis Firpo lifted him over the ropes into the typewriters and he came back to floor Mr. Firpo four times in 40 seconds and, of course, neither of them lost any eyeballs—they didn't even hit below the belt—but they squeezed into a furious minute about as vigorous display of human effectiveness and individual liberty of action as anybody could want to see.

"But that was only in boxing. In business we're still in the eye-gouging era until Franklin D. Roosevelt began to revise the rules.

"You know the sordid story as well as I throughout the whole business of making the things we wear, this industrial sweatiness appeared in furtive sweatshops and sewing lofts as well as in mill villages north and south.

"It was almost as bad as the conditions in the coal mines that have been a basis of contention in this country for a generation—depressing business everywhere, creating human misery and, as a by-product, more communists than any other single cause."

Margaret Knoedel Honors James Vannoy
Margaret Knoedel, 818 E. Jefferson street, was hostess to a group of young friends Tuesday evening in honor of James Vannoy who left that night with his brother, French, and his mother, Mrs. Marjorie Vannoy, for his home in Damascus, Va.

Guests at the party were: Wilma Myers, Gregory Kennedy, Marie Meyers, Elzear Wonick, Mildred and Bessie Skriver, Joe and Bobby Knoedel, French Vannoy, and Bobby and Billy Myers.

Enid Wilson, Virginia Van Wie Lead March in Women's National

Miss Robinson Takes Decisive 5-4 Triumph

Lucile Meets Helen Hicks, 1931 Title Winner

By PAUL MICKELSON (Associated Press Sports Writer)

EXMOOR CLUB, HIGHLAND PARK, Ill., Aug. 30 (AP)—Blazing the trail with prize shots that vanquished their foes and par by decisive margins, the golfing queens of Great Britain and the United States, Enid Wilson and Virginia Van Wie, led a victory march of the favorites into the quarter-finals of the women's championship today.

The English girl, out to place the American trophy alongside the three British crowns she has won in succession, and the American champion shattered par by three strokes in their drives to win with ease and stay in the chase.

Miss Wilson Wins Miss Wilson disposed of Mrs. Harley Higbie of Detroit, 4 and 3, and Miss Van Wie, playing a somewhat erratic game as she decorated her card with two eagles, defeated Mrs. Leo Federman of New York, 4 and 2.

Together with the champions of two nations and a pair of young rising stars from the east and middle west, Charlotte Glutting of West Orange, N. J., and Lucile Robinson of Des Moines, Ia., four of America's most prominent contenders emerged victorious—Mrs. Leona Cheney, San Gabriel, Cal., 1929 finalist; Maureen Orault of Hawthorn, N. J., one of the games greatest stylists and finalist in 1927; Mrs. Opal S. Hill of Kansas City, three times western champion, and Helen Hicks, hard hitting 1931 titleholder from Inwood, N. Y.

No Close Matches Not one match was close today, Miss Robinson turning in the largest margin with a 5 and 4 triumph over Margaret Maddox of Atlanta and Miss Glutting, who conquered Miss Wilson at Salem last year and who faces the English champion again tomorrow, winning by the shortest advantage, defeating Peggy Watties of Buffalo, 3 and 2. Mrs. Cheney, three over par for the distance, eliminated the hope of the south, Ariela Gorczyca of Ft. Worth, Tex., 4 and 3; Miss Orault defeated Mrs. Charles Newbold of Wichita, Kan., 4 and 2; and Mrs. Hill routed Frances Williams, Philadelphia, 4 and 3, the same score by which Miss Hicks halted the title bid of Mrs. Ben Fitzhugh of Vicksburg, Miss.

Eagles and Birdies perched on several cards today but it was Miss Wilson who shot the best golf again. Out in 36, three under par, as she whaled into the ball for average tee shots of better than 200 yards and arching iron shots that split the pin, the tall, blonde English champion led from start to finish. The large gallery, following in her wake, was amazed at the distance of her shots and her accuracy. Using woods with 4 1/2 inch shafts and Lamboos shafted irons, she strayed from the fairway only six times and recovered brilliantly.

Eagles and Birdies Miss Van Wie collected her eagles and spectacular shots on the second and fifth holes to break her opponent's heart. On the second, a 500 yard stretch with par at five, she chipped in from 30 feet off the green for a three. On the fifth, she smacked a long spoon shot of 220 yards that left her a three foot putt. Out in 37, she won every hole to lead three up. Mrs. Federman rallied to win the thirteenth and fourteenth holes but Virginia didn't give her a chance thereafter, ending the struggle with two successive birdie fours.

Mrs. Cheney, who will attempt to stop Virginia's march to a second consecutive title tomorrow, forged in front of the 21 year old Texas girl on the eighth and ninth holes with a par and birdie and was never headed. She was three over par for the stretch.

Miss Orault was off her game today but didn't have any difficulty while Mrs. Hill, never down after the fifth, missed shooting a perfect game by one shot. Mrs. Hill and Miss Orault meet tomorrow.

Iowa's bespectacled contender, who beat Miss Van Wie in the western finals this month 6 and 5, started raggedly with a pair of sixes and a seven but ended only two over par. She bagged an eagle on the fifth, whacking a long brassie 15 feet from the pin and dropping the putt for a three. She meets Miss Hicks tomorrow.

O'Doul Leads Giants in 9th Inning Win Over Cardinals

Hits Single With Bases Loaded to Score Winning Run

NEW YORK, Aug. 30 (AP)—The New York Giants kept their six game lead intact today as Lefty O'Doul followed up a home run blast with a ninth inning single to drive in the run that defeated the St. Louis Cardinals 5 to 4 in the league leaders' final game before invading Boston tomorrow for the first of a six game series to be played in four days. The Braves also won today.

O'Doul's final inning blow, hit with the bases loaded, sent Joe Moore across the plate with the deciding tally but it was Lefty's home run smash, following Terry's circuit drive in the fourth inning, that kept the Giants in the thick of the battle.

The Giants were trailing by four runs and Dizzy Dean apparently was on the way to his second pitching triumph of the series over Hal Schuchman when Hughie Critz connected with the first hit off the St. Louis speed ball artist in the fourth. Still Dean did not appear to be in serious danger, not even when Terry came through with a home run to score Critz.

Ott followed his manager's home run belt with a single, however, and then O'Doul parked his fourteenth homer of the season in the right field stands, tying the score.

Although Dean and Schuchman managed to finish what they started, both were hit hard. The Giants connected with 19 safe blows, four of them by Critz, while the Cardinals got nine hits, four of them hit in succession by Frisch.

In the matter of bases on balls and strike outs, the two pitchers finished all square. Each walked six and fanned the same number.

Dean's half-dozen strike outs ran his total for the season to 174 as the league's leading hurler in that department of play.

field for the season. After Charlie Root had outpitched Hollis Thurston to give the Cubs the opener, 2 to 1, the Dodgers hammered Guy Bush hard to win the nightcap, 7 to 3.

Root was touched for 10 hits but kept them well scattered while his mates coupled two of their 11 blows with a walk off Thurston to score both of their runs in the second inning. Mosoff walked and advanced to third on Harvey Hendrick's double. Bill Jurges' single scored both.

The second game was a closely fought affair until the Dodgers broke loose with four runs in the seventh. After the Cubs had tied the score in the third Rosy Ryan relieved Fred Heimach and held the champions in check to receive credit for his first victory of the season.

Linus Frey, recruit shortstop from Nashville, drove in two of Brooklyn's runs with a double and a triple.

Braves Win on Maranville's Hit BOSTON, Aug. 30 (AP)—The ancient kid of the Boston Braves, Rabbit Maranville, gave the second place warriors a ninth inning victory today as he drove out a single with Whitney on base for a 3 to 2 decision over the Cincinnati Reds in the final game of the series.

With the game deadlocked at two-all, Whitney opened the final inning with a single. He was sacrificed to second by Lee's bunt. Al Spohrer fouled out but Maranville pushed the first pitch over Jim Bottomley's head into right field and Whitney raced home with the winning tally.

The victory, the second in the four game series with the Reds, left the Braves still six games back of the Giants, who defeated the St. Louis Cardinals. Tomorrow the Braves and Giants meet in the first of a six-game crucial series, which will be played in four days.

Logan Confers With Club Officials on Post-Season Series

DAVENPORT, Aug. 30 (AP)—President C. R. Logan of the Mississippi Valley baseball league met today with representatives of the Davenport and Rock Island clubs regarding a proposed post-season series for the league championship.

Paul Lagomarcino, Davenport president, has advised league officials that, since his team won both halves of the split season, there is no need to play the post-season series. He contended it would merely be a penalty on his club and would give Rock Island its third chance to upset the Davenport team.

Charles Beers represented the Rock Island team. Davenport holds a decisive lead on the second half title, with Rock Island in second place.

Nelson Takes Toronto Swim

Fort Dodge Marathoner Sets New Record in Winning

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 30 (AP)—Marvin Nelson, powerful distance champion from Ft. Dodge, Ia., today won the Canadian national exhibition's annual 15 mile men's swimming marathon and became the first man ever to win the event twice.

Adding further to his accomplishment, Nelson ploughed through the warm waters of Lake Ontario from start to finish in seven hours, 37 2/3 seconds, stripping better than 19 minutes from the mark of 7:19:52 set by George Blagden, Memphis lawyer, in winning the event last year. First place brought Nelson the top prize of $5,000.

Blagden quit after 12 miles today and Bill Goll of New York came on to take second place and $1,500 in prize money far behind Nelson. Frank Pritchard of Buffalo won $700 in third place and his brother Stanley added $200 more to the family winnings for the day by finishing fifth.

Harry Clancy, of Cincinnati took fourth place and $500. Eli Radakovich of Duquesne, Pa., won the last cash prize of $100 with sixth place. None of his rivals was able to threaten Nelson, winner of the event in 1930 and fourth last year, through the final five miles as he steadily increased his advantage. The Iowan coasted along in third place at the end of the first two miles, dropped back to fifth through the next two and then started to move up into a lead that was never challenged in the final miles.

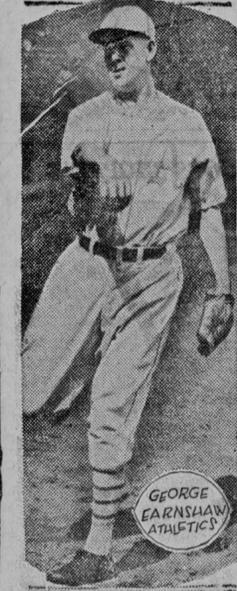

Exhaust Fumes Hindrance Although the water was much warmer than usual and there was little breeze, the race was a difficult one due to exhaust fumes from many motor boats. The vapor hung close to the water, forcing several strong swimmers out of the grind.

In addition to Blagden, George Young, Toronto boy who once conquered the Catalina channel; Gianni Gambi, of Italy; Jack May of Honolulu; Isadore Sponder, Canadian star; and Clarence Ross of Chicago, all were forced out of the field of 100 that started the swim.

Finishes Fresh Nelson apparently finished the swim as fresh as he began. After crossing the line, he refused to be taken into his boat and instead sprinted to the officials craft and up the ladder so fast photographers failed to set his picture. He was obliged to go back in and climb out again before he could be congratulated by Ruth Corsan, who won the women's 10 mile swim last week.

Nelson said he ate a few eggs and some steak during the race, "felt fine," and thought a lot of credit should go to his trainer, Johnnie Walker. Goll finished 18 minutes behind Nelson. Frank Pritchard finished two minutes back of Goll with the rest spread out far behind.

Retires

George Earnshaw, world series hero of a few years back, has been ordered into retirement for the remainder of the season by his boss, Connie Mack. Once considered baseball's best hurler, he has had tough luck this year, which, combined with a suspension for infringement of training rules, has given him a poor average for the season.

Lott-Stoefen Win Doubles

Down Parker-Shields in Four Set Match

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 30 (AP)—George M. Lott, Jr., of Chicago, hailed by many as the world's outstanding doubles tennis player, today master-minded himself and Lester Stoefen, lanky Los Angeles star, into the national team championship with an 11-13, 9-7, 9-7, 6-3, triumph over Frank X. Shields, New York, and 17 year old Frankie Parker of Milwaukee in the final match.

Almost every stroke made during the 65 game contest was at Lott's dictation. He used Shields and Parker, two of the finest younger players in the game, as foils for his uncanny skill. Many times they rebelled against his forcing tactics, but George whipped them back into line with his delicate shots and compelled them to set up more than 50 kills for the slashing but erratic Stoefen, who was invincible and unrelenting by turn.

Lott Controls Play Lott seemed bent on making Stoefen and the opposition do most of the heavy playing. But many times he was forced to jump into the thick of things, and pull Stoefen out of holes. His racket supplied most of the power that cracked Parker's service for the required three sets.

When Stoefen had control of his wonderful game, Lott gave him his head, but as soon as the Californian youngster became unsteady, the master mind came to his rescue by setting off long series of baffling jobs that generally drove Shields into the net. Lott's sharply-cut drop shots ruined Parker's steadiness every now and then and when the youngster became wild, Lott exacted every possible penalty from him.

Fourth Time The victory made Lott a national doubles champion for the fourth

Ninth Inning Error Proves Costly to Elks

Morty Koser Stars in Field for Losing Nine

Rising up with a mighty wrath in the fifth inning that netted five runs, and tying the game in the sixth and seventh, Merchants United Delivery took the wind out of the sails of the Elks at City park last night when Anderson, lodge third baseman, threw wild to first to let Joe Shimon come in with the winning run of a nine inning game.

Diamondball may be on the wane this season, players may fall to show up, but if only one game a night proved as interesting and exciting as last night's contest it would be well worth the while of fans who have been faithful all season but are now dropping out because of pick-up contests. M.U.D. won the game, 8 to 7.

With Mort Koser turning in a splendid performance at shortstop and the whole of the Elks outfit giving pitcher Geiger good support, the lodge club collected four runs in the first and two in the third to sport a six run lead when the Merchants took up their bats in the fifth. The lead was cut down to one run by a four hit, five run spurge.

Charlie Wagner tied the score at six-all in the sixth but knocked himself out in the process by sliding home and hitting his head on the wooden plate as his part in a double steal. Moffitt was the other performer in the steal, getting to second.

Geiger's hit in the seventh put the Elks again in the lead by scoring Fink for the last of the loser's scores. And then came one of those freak home runs on a succession of errors that almost broke up the game by ribald laughter. The Merchants took the bats in the last of the seventh and the first man grounded out. Calta hit and started for second as V. Shimon hit one too short. Calta was caught at second. Second baseman Hoover threw wild to Fink on an attempted double play and Shimon went to second. Fink made a bad throw to Hoover and Shimon got to third and then went home as Hoover threw wild to Anderson, third baseman. This run tied the score at seven-all.

The eighth frame went scoreless and Elks failed to score in their half of the ninth. Merchants came to bat and Fry filed out to Fink. Joe Shimon got hold of a good one and tripled. The costly wild peg to first by Anderson came on the next play when Calta hit an easy grounder to Anderson whose hurried throw to Fink was high and Shimon came in with the winning run.

What's all the shouting about? asked Babe Ruth, somewhat ruefully, after slipping quietly, almost into town, "Say, this must be a Giant town."

New York didn't give up hope of a Yankee come-back until the team started to skid in the closing stages of the last series with the pennant-bound Washington Senators. But the club's August road trip and a bare even break through the west dispelled its last lingering chances. Eight games behind now, the Yankees are thinking mostly about where the lightning will strike in the drastic shake-up planned before next season.

Ruth Slumps Ruth's slump to a point where the great slugger was playing only part-time and hitting only .167 for the trip was simultaneous with the general collapse of the Yankee resistance. The long-deferred end for the Babe's active, daily career seems definitely at hand, despite his own insistence that he still "has a lot of baseball left." He will be 40 next year and has now been through his twentieth major league campaign.

Yanks Limp Back Home

New York No Longer Yankee Conscious City

NEW YORK, Aug. 30 (AP)—Baseball's one-time "Invincibles" limped back to the big town today, war-weary, pretty well battered and strangely inconspicuous.

World champions less than a year ago, odds-on favorites to retain the American league pennant as late as this June, the New York Yankees came back from a disastrous western trip, virtually out of the running and almost unnoticed in the suddenly developed "Manhattan madness" over the rise of the Giants to the National league heights.

Lots of Noise "What's all the shouting about?" asked Babe Ruth, somewhat ruefully, after slipping quietly, almost into town, "Say, this must be a Giant town."

Earnshaw Retires--!

Connie Mack Tells Big George to Go Back Home.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 30 (AP)—Big George Earnshaw and the Philadelphia Athletics have come to the parting of the ways—at least so far as the 1933 campaign is concerned.

Pitching hero of the 1930 world series and one-time ace right hander of the A's hurling staff, Earnshaw has hung up his glove, disclosing today that Manager Connie Mack had retired him for the remainder of this season.

Climaxes Rift

The action climaxed the rift between Earnshaw and the veteran manager which had its inception last winter when news dispatches reported that the hurler picked the New York Yankees to repeat in the American league race this season "in a walk."

Earnshaw had been sent home twice from the road during the campaign this year, once from Detroit with the order "to get in condition," the second time from New York with a fine and suspension. Earnshaw would say nothing today concerning the possibility that he may be through with the game for good.

He explained that three weeks ago he received permission to leave the A's in Cleveland because he did not care to make the last western road trip which ended yesterday in Chicago.

Asked to Retire

"I received a letter from Mr. Mack yesterday asking me to retire for the season," he said today. "I went to Shibe park, cleaned out my personal belongings and I'm through for the year."

It has been reported Earnshaw took a salary cut in his contract for this year, with a stipulation that he pitch under a bonus agreement. He is reported as resenting not having sufficient opportunities to pitch to earn the bonus. His record for the season is six victories and nine losses.

Stock Market Prices Fall in Down Trend

Traders Seem Willing to Sell Out for Vacation

NEW YORK, Aug. 30 (AP)—Stocks dragged lower today in a rather uninteresting market. Wheat, on the other hand, rallied vigorously after an early sag, its recovery served to check the downward swing in shares during the last hour, but the list slipped again at the close and net losses of a point or more were numerous.

Trade statistics served to emphasize the previously apparent seasonal contraction in industry. Mining shares, stimulated yesterday by President Roosevelt's gold order, appeared to have discounted the prospective improvement in earnings as a result of better selling prices. They met considerable profit taking and finished with numerous losses of a point or so.

With the market facing a three day vacation, traders seemed willing to close out commitments and reluctant to acquire new lines, hence prices receded easily under moderate pressure. Sales totaled 2,170,780 shares.

Oil equities were fairly firm as the industry's code date approached. Utilities also braced a bit but rails and industrials were sluggish.

U. S. Steel and Bethlehem Steel were mildly reactionary. Consolidated Gas was firm at the close.

American Can, General Electric, American Telephone, Du Pont, Chrysler, Sears Roebuck, National Biscuit, Pennsylvania, Santa Fe, New York Central, Baltimore and Ohio and Western Union were down 1 to 2. Allied Chemical reduced a loss of more than 5 points to 3 1-2 net. Homestake Mining dropped 21 points, then rallied to close six lower.

The dollar had a fair rally in the morning, then tended toward narrow movements.

Maid-Rite in Initial Loss

Gasoline Alley opened their junior league game with Maid-Rite with a bang yesterday and before the bewildered Sandwich shop boys were aware of their surroundings they found themselves handicapped by a five run assault which they were unable to overcome. The Gas dispensers made all their tallies in the second inning and took the game 6 to 2, thereby accomplishing what no other team has been able to do this season.

Roose hurried for the winners and received excellent support from his teammates. Hull was the losing moundsman.

Racine's swamped the Le Vora cleaner nine under a 13 run deluge and then coasted in allowing their opponents to hang up three tallies. Guttererz aided largely in the run away by contributing two triples to Racine's total.

Yesterday was the cigar store players day to rampage, for they came right back from defeating the cleaners and swamped Sammy's Wreck service, 14 to 0. Elbert of Sammy's nine added color to an otherwise listless game with his beautiful one handed catch of Guttererz' long fly to right field that had home run marked all over it. The young right fielder chased far back into deep right and caught it while still on the run.

Bremer's captured the closing game from Iowa Supply, 6 to 2. Toomey hurled good ball for the clothiers and was never in danger.

Cards Sign Dizzy's Brother
ST. LOUIS, Aug. 30 (AP)—Paul Dean, strikeout king of the American association and "kid" brother of "Dizzy" Dean, spectacular Cardinal hurler, has been bought by the St. Louis National League ball club from its Columbus farm for delivery next spring.

Mrs. Moody Justifies Her Default to Miss Jacobs in Women's National Tourney

Felt She Was About to Faint With Score 3 to 0

By RUSSELL NEWLAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 30 (AP)—Helen Willis Moody does not expect to be out of the world tennis picture for a long time to come. Neither does she regret her action in defaulting to Helen Jacobs in the national championship finals last week.

Smilingly agreeable and answering questions with willingness that contrasted sharply with her sudden withdrawal from the finals and quick departure from Forest Hills last Saturday, the forty-year-old woman who ruled undisputed for seven years returned to her home today.

Her husband, Frederick Moody, Jr., greeted her.

Give up tennis? The deposed queen of the courts laughed as though the question was absurd.

"Certainly not," she said. "That is, I hope I will not have to."

Going to Rest
"I am going to rest for six months. If the doctors say I have fully recovered from this injury I shall play as much as ever. I love the game too much to give it up if I do not have to. My hope is I will be ready for the tournament season next year."

Mrs. Moody traced her condition to a vacation near Santa Cruz many months ago. She lifted heavy rocks but felt no ill effects at the time. She said she first noticed the injury three months ago while en route to London, where she won the Wimbledon championship.

Apparently firm in the belief she did right in leaving the court, when Miss Jacobs was leading 3-0 in the deciding set, Mrs. Moody said:

No Regrets
"I don't regret my action. As the match progressed I had several dizzy spells. I felt as though I was about to faint. The thought of fainting seemed so silly. I disliked causing a scene.

"The pain in my right leg grew intense. I knew what I should do, but could not follow out my impulses as I should. So I just decided to stop playing. Under the same conditions I would do it again."

Mrs. Moody said there was no such thing "as a feud between Miss Jacobs and me. We have always had in common a mutual love for tennis. I think she is a splendid competitor. I am sorry the match ended as it did."

East Leads West 3 to 1 in Net Play

Tidball Only Western Winner; Beats Alonzo

By GREGORY HEWLETT
ORANGE, N. J., Aug. 30 (AP)—A quartet of seasoned tennis campaigners from the eastern half of the United States took a three to one lead in the fifteenth annual east-west tournament today.

Only Jack Tidball of Hollywood, Cal., was able to break the monopoly of the eastern players. He won by a grueling three-set conquest of Manuel Alonzo of New York.

Hall Beats Coughlin
Before Tidball's triumph, J. Gilbert Hall, of South Orange, had beaten down Joseph Coughlin of San Francisco, 6-3, 6-3, and Gregory Mangin of Newark had squelched Keith Gledhill, 6-1, 6-4.

After the one western victory, Wilmer Allison and John Van Ryn, joined forces in doubles to conquer Ellisworth Vines and Gledhill, 6-4, 7-5, and to put the east off to a surprising advantage over the far western representatives.

It remained for Tidball, and Alonzo, former Spanish Davis cup star, to put on the "marathon" match of the day, as the youngster and the veteran required three overtime sets to settle their issue, Tidball finally edging out his 7-9, 8-6, 10-8 victory after two hours of action.

Five Matches Today
Five matches are listed for tomorrow, closing day of this intersectional fixture. Lester Stoenen, giant Californian, is to meet Van Ryn; Gene Mako, 17 year old westerner, will face once again his arch rival of the same age, Frankie Parker; Vines is down to clash with Allison; Stoenen and Henry Culey are to oppose Alonzo and Mangin; and Mako and Tidball will collide with Parker and Frank Shields.

Betty Nash Wins in Steele County Fair 2:18 Pace Program

OWATONNA, Minn., Aug. 30 (AP)—Taking three straight firsts, Betty Nash, owned and driven by S. F. Wagner, Garden City, S. D., won the 2-18 pace, feature racing event on the Steele county free fair program here today. The best time was 2:11.

Midget O'Brien, owned by A. J. Lee of Madison, Minn., won straight firsts in the 2:18 trot.

El Martin took the three year old pace, negotiating the mile in 2:15.5. The entry is owned by W. H. Duffy of Mankato.

Missourians Prove Popular Homecomers

COLUMBIA, Mo., (AP)—The University of Missouri's football team will help furnish excitement at five homecomings this fall, including that on the Tiger campus.

The Missouri eleven meets St. Louis university Oct. 21 on the latter's home field; Iowa State at Ames Oct. 28; Washington university at St. Louis Nov. 18; and the University of Kansas at Lawrence Nov. 30.

Illini Ready for Gridmen

Sept. 14 Set as Date of Return for Gridders

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Aug. 30—With the opening of football practice Sept. 15 rapidly approaching, there is a stir in the University of Illinois athletic department.

Candidates for the team are asked by Coach Bob Zuppke to report on Sept. 14 to take the required physical examination and to check out their equipment in order to be ready for the first practice Friday morning, Sept. 15. There will be two practices a day for four days until university instruction begins Sept. 20.

Traditional Jerseys
At the stadium equipment awaits the returning athletes. Illinois will continue to wear the traditional blue jerseys and stockings, khaki pants and orange headgear but the numbers which appeared in "stickum" strips on the fronts of the jerseys will be eliminated as they were distinguishable from the stands only in close quarters. Large numbers in orange will be carried on the backs of jerseys as before.

Considerable painting and cleaning up has been done on the stadium which will present a spick-and-span appearance when Vee Green, former Illinois player, brings Drake here for the opening game, Sept. 30.

All-Illinois Staff
An all-Illinois staff will assist Bob Zuppke, whose aides will be Jus Lindgren, veteran line coach, Mill Olander and Bob Reitsch, with Willie Wilson as head freshman coach. Matt Bullock, long trainer, will dispense good cheer along with tape.

In the football ticket office Manager C. E. Bowen is ready to begin the filling of mail orders, which are flowing in as a result of the recent mailing of ticket information and application blanks. The Wisconsin homecoming game, Oct. 14, naturally leads in interest, with the Michigan Dad's day game, Nov. 4, next in line, although Chicago, Nov. 18, also has its partisans.

Irish Continue Homeward Trek
DUBLIN (AP)—The homeward trek of Irishmen is continuing. Official figures show that last year 26,689 persons landed at Cobh, Galway and Moville. Embarkations totaled 17,083. Within two years 9,583 persons have come from America to reside in the Free State.

"PREMIERE" by ROBERT TERRY SHANNON

SYNOPSIS

At the premiere of her latest motion picture, Leni Luneska, beautiful star, is stunned by the appearance of her jailbird husband, whom she married in Vienna when only fourteen. He insists upon recognition as her husband and waits in a private office of the theatre for her to reconsider her refusal. Lucky Cavanaugh, handsome gambler, who fell in love with Leni on sight that evening, tries to make Kruger leave. Kruger empties his gun at Cavanaugh without effect, then rushes into the next office in a rage. He surprises burglars looting a safe and is shot dead. Cavanaugh slips out unnoticed but meets Detective Tom Mulrooney in the hall. Later as Leni and Cavanaugh are about to leave the theatre to avoid questioning, Mulrooney stops them. They deny knowing Kruger, but the theatre manager identifies Kruger as the man Cavanaugh brought to the office to await Leni. Lucky cautions Leni against talking, but she tells all to Mulrooney. Cavanaugh also reveals what he knows, except the name of "Slug," one of the robbers whom he recognized. Believing Cavanaugh knows who committed the robbery and killing, if he didn't himself, Mulrooney gives him four days in which to find the guilty man. Escorting Leni home, Cavanaugh finds "Slug" hiding in the shrubbery to warn him that the gangsters fear Lucky will squeal. The latter declares he doesn't know them.

CHAPTER SEVENTEEN

"Well, you saw the one guy that you handed my jimmy to, anyway. How come you give it to him?"

"Because he had hoodlum stamped all over his pan," said Cavanaugh contemptuously. "I knew you two belonged together."

"I'm awful sorry about that," said Slug morosely. "I oughtn't to have mixed up with them fellows. They ain't right. We've cut up the dough already. We cut up the dough, but they've gone in a panic. They didn't have to shoot that bird—they could have slugged him. These guys that is so nervous on the trigger is always yellow. But that's what I get for working with strangers."

"All right, what's the total?" asked Cavanaugh impatiently.

Slug avoided his eyes in answering.

"I'm sorry as hell, Lucky. I talked to them rats but they're on a hot stove. They got the idea you're the only witness against them. So they're prowling around town laying to you."

It was not the first time in his life that Lucky Cavanaugh had received information that death was in store for him. It was not pleasant news but neither was it paralyzing.

"Thanks, Slug," he said.

Slug made a regretful gesture with his hand. "I tried to tell them you was the rightest guy in California but they're itching. One of them's on the dope—he's the gunner. I thought I'd give you the word."

"Do they know where I live?"

"I don't know. They was phoning around trying to find out when I scrambled."

Cavanaugh was conscious of gratitude toward Slug. In his crude way the man had tried to do something decent, perhaps had risked his own safety. There were worse men around than Slug and many of them occupying higher positions in society.

"Well, it's swell of you to tip me," Cavanaugh said warmly. "Maybe I can do you a favor sometime."

"I won't worry about you now," said Slug. "As long as you're wise, I guess you can take care of it. I'll get along—S'long!"

"They got the idea you're the only witness against them. So they're prowling around town laying to you," said Slug.

His mission finished, Slug wasted no time in farewells but moved down the street keeping instinctively as much in the shadows as possible.

Cavanaugh watched Slug disappear at the end of the block and then Lucky turned toward Leni's house.

He put the key into the lock and swung the door open noiselessly.

In the dark as Cavanaugh let himself into the wide hallway of Leni's house there was the indefinable flavor in the air of a lovely woman's home. The warmth was friendly and comfortable. His imagination told him there would be flowers about in vases.

He stood in the center of a heavy rug until his eyes became accustomed to the lack of light.

A battery of push buttons were set into the wall, their glazed surfaces shining. One touch of his fingers would illuminate everything, but he forebore.

A strange feeling of leisure came over him. There was no hurry about anything. The cool dusky living room invited him and he entered. One hand rested for a moment upon the back of a comfortable chair. Tonight had been the strangest night of his life. He dropped into the chair, got out a cigarette and lit it.

Something deep in his being was trying to communicate with him. An inner voice was trying to speak.

The curious thing was that when he thought of Leni he was not able to hold her image focused in his mind. Instead, the commonplace features of Mulrooney kept intruding. He could see the man's clear blue eyes, the hunch of his shoulders, the stubby moustache as accurately as though he were present in the flesh.

Crossroads...

The single word spilled into Cavanaugh's brain meaninglessly. Slowly he filled his lungs with cigarette smoke. What the devil was he trying to remember about crossroads. He grew very still.

"You've come to the crossroads," he seemed to hear Mulrooney saying.

Gradually through his conscious-

Strong Gains Registered in Grain Market

CHICAGO, Aug. 30 (AP)—Grains abruptly "about faced" today and turned sharply upward late in the session. Reports that Argentina had signed the London wheat pact helped the advance.

Led by wheat with a rise of more than six cents a bushel from early low levels, all grains finished well above the previous close. Weakness in early dealings was acute, September liquidation causing distress in all grains. Wheat quotations were down to the lowest levels reached since June 23, but better buying developed at the bottom and the upward reaction was the strongest in some time.

Wheat closed strong at gains of 2 3-8 to 2 7-8 cents a bushel, compared with yesterday's finish, corn also strong and 1 7-8 to 2 1-2 cents up, oats 3-4 to 1 7-8 higher, rye 1 3-4 advanced, and provisions ranging from a 25 cent decline to gains of 5 cents.

Wheat opened with a mixed tone and soon declined sharply under pressure of persistent liquidation of September contracts by traders unwilling to accept wheat on the first delivery date, Friday. The pressure of persistent liquidation of September contracts by traders unwilling to accept wheat on the first delivery date, Friday. The pressure carried prices down more than three cents a bushel with offerings heavier than demand. May wheat declined below 90 cents, hitting bottom at 89 1-4, but rallied from that level were continuous.

Belief that September liquidation had run its course brought many buyers back into the market and May wheat rallied more than six cents to a peak of 95 5-8. Bullish news overnight was paid scant heed in early rounds.

Professional bears were routed by the late upturn which forced many of them to cover their commitments.

Liquidation of September corn held prices of the yellow cereal in check for a time, but the upswing in wheat carried corn also sharply higher. Corn displayed more resistance to the selling than did wheat and only declined around two cents a bushel, but the rallies were also shorter than in wheat. Corn shorts were slow to cover on the bulge.

Oats idled up and down with the leading cereals. Rye and barley were firmer than wheat early and quickly turned upward with improvement of the leading bread grain.

Bonds Have Lifeless Day

Show Little Interest as Day Closes With Mixed Trends

NEW YORK, Aug. 30 (AP)—Bonds displayed little interest in generally lifeless trading today and at the closing prices were mixed.

Sales totaled but $9,638,000, par value, and the average for 60 domestic corporate loans eased one-tenth of a point.

Fractional losses and declines were the rule in most of the prime investment groups. Owing to a later moderate rally in the speculative categories, the majority of net price changes here were also unimportant.

Traders apparently were watching stocks and commodities for a cue as to future commitments.

Among the rails, Western Pacific first 5's recovered 2 1-4 points following announcement of the road's officials that Sept. 1 interest payments had been arranged. Allegheny 5's lost 2 points and Chesapeake corporation 5's were off 1 3-4, these issues apparently reflecting disappointment over the failure of the Chesapeake corporation to follow the Chesapeake and Ohio in raising dividend rates. The latter road's bonds, however, were also slightly lower. Loans of Louisville and Nashville were up a point or more.

Maturities of American and Foreign Power, Armour & Co., Paramount and Phillips Petroleum were a trifle higher. Those of Warner Bros., United Drug, U. S. Rubber, International Telephone, Consolidated Coal and Kresge Foundation were somewhat heavy.

U. S. government securities eased and foreign obligations were irregular.

BIG SIX

(By the Associated Press)

Bill Terry connected with only one hit, a home run, yesterday but that one blow gave him a batting average of .333 for the day and shoved him back into baseball's big six. He replaced Wes Schulmerich, who could do nothing in the Pirates-Phillies game. Chuck Klein got two of the four hits off Birkhofer to boost his average one point to .379. Virgil Davis went hitless and lost four points but retained runner-up honors in the National League's half of the sextet. The American league members were idle.

Thirty-Four Cottage Sites at State Park Sold on First Day

Money Derived From Lots to Pay for Land, Water

Thirty-four cottage sites were sold yesterday, the first day of sale, in the 75 acre tract reserved in the new 800 acre state park four and one-half miles northeast of North Liberty. There are only about 100 lots available along the lake shore for cottage sites. As soon as these lots are sold the park land will be paid for and added to the state.

Application blanks for cottage sites are available at the office of the Security Finance company, 114 S. Clinton street, which is acting as trustee for the Chamber of Commerce on the financial and legal matters connected with the park project. Information regarding the lots may be received from A. A. Welt, members of the Chamber of Commerce park project committee. A deposit is necessary to insure the holding of a lot. The cottage sites are also on sale in Cedar Rapids.

Pays for Dam
Money derived from the sale of the lots will pay for the land and the installation of a water and sewer system for the cottages. The federal government, in accordance with the conservation program, will pay for the dam which will back up the waters of Mill creek and one of its tributaries into a 200 acre, V-shaped lake. The Civilian Conservation Corps here will supply the labor for the development of the project.

The sale of the cottage sites must be completed in the near future before some of the options expire, Dr. E. J. Anthony, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce committee, points out.

Nine engineers were in the park area yesterday making surveys so that work could begin soon. Soundings of the dam site and the lake bed have been taken and have been reported favorable. The water line of the lake is being established and the laying out of the lots is now under way.

Stocked With Fish
The lake will be stocked with game fish and some of the park area, which is now occupied by farms, will be reforested. Professor Fitzsimmons of the landscape engineering department of Iowa State college has been here looking over the cottage sites and surrounding territory making plans for developing.

A road will be built around the lake and across the dam to make all parts of the park accessible to motorists. The average lot will have a 75 foot lake frontage. Depth will vary. Chemical septic tanks will be installed for sewage disposal and a well will be drilled for water supply.

Three Injured as Car Strikes Culvert
JAMESTOWN, N. D., Aug. 30 (AP)—Thomas Knudson, Mound City, S. D., and Ed Bekken, Pingree, were in a critical condition today from injuries received when their auto struck a culvert and turned over near Pingree last night. Knudson suffered a brain concussion and Bekken a skull fracture. Alfred Hansen, Glenham, S. D., was cut about the head. He was released after treatment.

Dies of Injuries
FAIRFIELD, Aug. 30 (AP)—Mrs. Maude Bowermaster, 53 died today in Jefferson county hospital of injuries received in an automobile accident May 7. Six children survive.

And It Runs!
Paul S. Otto constructs miniature gasoline motor car for young son

The dream of almost every boy has come true for "Sonny" Otto, 1647 Morningside drive. Sonny's father, Paul S. Otto, sales manager of the Economy Advertising company, has just completed an automobile 37 inches long, which is propelled by the power of a two cylinder gasoline engine that would fit inside a hat.

The entire automobile, except the engine block, transmission and differential, which were cast, has been made by Mr. Otto in his machine shop at his home. He drew the designs for the parts cast.

The machine is modeled after a racing car, is painted brown, has a leather upholstered seat, regular steering apparatus, and a crank, about the size of an old telephone crank.

The engine develops a three-fourths of a horsepower and can obtain a rate of 7,500 revolutions per minute. (The average commercial car runs at the rate of about 2,500 revolutions per minute.) The cylinder bore is one and one-eighth inch and the piston stroke is one inch.

The engine is equipped with a rotary valve, invented by Mr. Otto, which evenly distributes gasoline from the half pint gas tank to the two cylinders. A muffler has been invented by Mr. Otto, which, according to tests made thus far, does not cut down the power of the engine. When running all that can be heard is the click of the distributor points.

The car is equipped with leaf springs, disc wheels, with Goodyear tires from souvenir ash trays on them. The wheel base is 27 inches long and the tread is 9.5 inches.

Mr. Otto has not yet tested its speed as he is still training "Sonny," the racing car driver, in the running of the machine.

AROUND THE TOWN with DICK FAGAN

Sale Begins
Thirty-four cottage sites were sold yesterday in the new state park. There are only 100 lots available, the rest of the 800 acres being deeded to the state as soon as the lots are sold. The park project, which is being sponsored by the Iowa City Chamber of Commerce, will provide a lakeside resort at Iowa City's back door.

Inquest
A post-mortem examination will be held this morning on Bruin, the large brown bear that choked to death yesterday morning while eating a chunk of meat at the city park zoo. Bruin, who is 17 years old, has been subject to choking spells and it is thought that there was something wrong with the tissues in his throat. Yesterday he gulped a large piece of meat, choked, and became helpless. Although the park custodian, William Fischer, went to his rescue he was unable to dislodge the piece of meat. The bear was skinned yesterday and his pelt will be mounted.

Other Animals
There are still a number of animals in the park zoo: one bear, one lion, two raccoons, a bobcat, an alligator, silver, gold and ring-necked pheasants, an ostrich, 45 wild ducks, monkeys, and a number of pigeons.

Unemployed
Despite the number of men being put to work under the NRA code there are still approximately 525 unemployed men and women in Iowa City, according to enrollments at the American Legion Unemployment bureau.

Will Remodel Racine's No. 1
Remodeling of Racine's Cigar store No. 1, at an estimated cost of $10,000, was started yesterday.

The interior of the store, which is located at Dubuque and Washington streets, will be rearranged to make room for a marble and stainless steel combined soda fountain, 25 stools and lunch counter.

Fred Racine, manager of the store, said yesterday that the work, which will include the closing of the billiard room on the second floor, excavation of the basement for use as a store room, and the moving of the toilet to the west side of the building, will be completed by Sept. 20.

The work is being done by Hunzinger Wagner company. The second floor, which was formerly a billiard hall, will be taken over by Harry Bremer, owner of the building. It will be remodeled to contain a number of office suites.

Elks Will Meet in Des Moines
The state convention of the Elks lodge will be held Tuesday, Sept. 26, at Des Moines. State Senator Paul Schmidt, state president, said yesterday.

The date was set by the president and three district deputies, Henry Cook of Ottumwa, Paul Roscoe of Shenandoah and J. J. Deering of Boone, at a meeting in Des Moines Tuesday. All of the 34 lodges in Iowa will be expected to send a representative to the convention, he said.

DIXIE DUGAN—

By J. P. McEvoy and J. H. Striebel

King Carol Planning to Wed Mme. Lupescu

PRINCESS HELENE, KING CAROL, PRINCE MICHAEL, MAGDA LUPESCU, ZIZI LAMBRINO

LONDON (I.L.N.)—Following reports current here which emanated from Vienna that King Carol of Rumania is making all necessary preparations to marry Mme. Magda Lupescu, the woman for whom he once deserted his queen and throne, the belief is expressed in diplomatic circles that the playboy monarch is again flirting with the loss of his crown should he persist in the course attributed to him.

King or Joker?
For almost 16 years, Carol of Rumania has occupied a prominent place in the world's newspapers with his antics as a royal Romeo, and it is only the statercraft of his mother, the dowager Queen Marie, that has kept him on the throne up to now. For it is an open secret in European diplomatic circles that Carol is a complete failure as a ruler.

Unlucky Helen
That first misstep was put down by Carol's doing family as a "mistake of youth," and when Carol and the beautiful Princess Helen of Greece married, the Rumanian royal family and the millions of loyal subjects it ruled nodded sagely and said "now the boy will settle down." But the boy didn't. While the first child of the marriage, the present Crown Prince Michael, was still an infant, the world learned that Carol was paying more attention to the red-haired Magda Lupescu, daughter of a junkman, than he was to his wife and heir.

Royal Romances
Carol began sowing his crop of wild oats in 1918 at Odessa, Russia, country's representative to the funeral of Queen Alexandra in London. He was ordered on his return to purchase several planes for his government with national money he carried. Carol sent the planes back home, worthless crates, but refused to return to Rumania himself, announcing he would renounce his claim to the throne. He then settled down to a lotus-eater's life in Paris with Mme. Lupescu.

Humiliated by her royal spouse, Princess Helen asked for and was granted a divorce, winning custody of her child, Michael, who since his father's renunciation, became heir apparent. Following the death of his grandfather, young Michael became king of Rumania. But Carol was unhappy, even with his charm, out of the spotlight. Somehow he induced the dominant party in Rumania to arrange his return, and in 1930 he was restored to the throne. An attempt at reconciliation between Carol and Helen fell through when Helen discovered Mme. Lupescu had returned with Carol and was being kept in a villa near the capital. Since then, Carol has associated with his charmer more or less openly. Recently an attempt was made upon her life, but she escaped with a minor wound in the arm.

Federal Works
By far the largest part of the total allotments made so far from the fund have gone for construction on federal projects, although the biggest single item was $400,000,000 grant to the states for roads.

The navy department by an executive order received the second largest item so far from the fund—$238,000,000 for ship construction. Contracts for the vessels have been awarded. The navy also received $13,600,000 for construction and repairs at shore stations.

The other larger allotments included $50,000,000 to the Tennessee valley authority; $100,000,000 to the farm credit administration; $40,000,000 to the civilian conservation corps $25,000,000 for establishment of subsistence homesteads; $43,986,956 for flood control on the lower Mississippi river; $44,460,000 for reclamation, including $38,000,000 for Boulder dam; $22,700,000 for the Casper-Alcova irrigation power project in Wyoming; $11,500,000 for continuation of work on the nine-foot channel in the upper Mississippi river;

Funds Granted for Building Tunnel Under Hudson River

Total Allotments for Public Works Pass $1,000,000,000

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30 (AP)—A loan of $37,500,000 to the Port of New York authority for a mid-town vehicular tunnel under the Hudson river today brought total allotments from the public works fund to $1,325,896,138.

This advance, to finance construction of a tunnel under the Hudson from New York to Weehawken, N. J., carried the public works administration's total approvals for the day from the $3,300,000,000 fund over the $55,000,000 mark.

Irrigation Projects
Earlier, it announced allocations of $15,415,000 for construction work on 14 irrigation projects in Arizona, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, Texas, Oregon and Utah and $2,250,000 for the naval hospital at Philadelphia.

The allotment for the tunnel was on the basis of a loan and did not contain the proviso that 30 per cent of the total would be made as an outright grant upon completion of the project. Such grants are authorized under the law creating the public works fund in cases where the public works administration sees fit to make them.

In authorizing funds recently to the triborough bridge authority of New York for the completion of the triborough bridge there, the public works administration loaned the authority $37,000,000 and made a direct grant of $7,200,000 to be paid over when the work is completed.

Iowa's Corn Crop Approaches Average of Last Ten Years

DES MOINES, Aug. 30 (AP)—Iowa's corn crop ranges from the best in several years to a complete failure in some sections—but the average is not far from the 10-year average for production—said Charles D. Reed's report today.

The federal crop observer reported that the crop made satisfactory progress toward maturity during the week, although some of it is drying prematurely because of persistent deficiency of moisture.

Some farmers are looking for a bumper crop, but in other sections the anticipated production is far below normal.

Farmers have been busy filling silos and cutting some of the corn for fodder. Where pastures have dried up, the corn is being fed to livestock.

Third cutting of alfalfa is almost completed. Some soy beans were cut for hay in the northeast section.

Senator Schmidt Buys Auto Service Station
Senator Paul W. Schmidt of Iowa City announced yesterday that he had purchased the Complete Auto Service station at Burlington and Dubuque street from W. J. Harter.

Senator Schmidt plans to remodel the building and do some repainting and painting. The station will continue to handle Conoco products and Goodyear tires. A 70' car fire proof garage is operated in connection with the station.
