

TRAIN WRECK KILLS 14, INJURES 100

Tropical Hurricane Causes Death, Destruction in Lower Rio Grande Valley

Cuban Enlisted Men Overthrow De Cespedes Government in Radical Uprise

Fear Heavy Loss of Life, Great Property Damage in Wake of Texas Hurricane

Storm Cuts 200 Mile
Swath Through
Lower Rio

BULLETIN
EDINBURG, Tex., Sept. 5 (AP)—Twelve known dead, more than 50 injured and many millions of dollars damage was the toll of the gulf hurricane which last night and today laid waste to the rich and populous lower Rio Grande valley.

DETROIT, Sept. 5 (AP)—Henry Ford is honorary president of the Dearborn, Mich., unit of the NRA, it was revealed today.

The fact that Dearborn's first citizen had been named to the post became known when the unit met today to determine what if any action should be taken regarding his appointment in view of the fact he has not signed the NRA agreement for the automotive industry.

The unit was formed three weeks ago and its officers, saying they had been assured that Ford would cooperate, named him honorary president.

Today's meeting adjourned without reaching a decision regarding Mr. Ford.

DETROIT, Sept. 5 (AP)—An upward revision in wages in the plants of the Ford Motor Co., bringing the daily pay for some classes of employees to $4.80 as against a previous $4 minimum became known today. Apparently it was Henry Ford's first move in "going one better" for the NRA automobile code from which he is a holdout.

It was indicated that already approximately 10,000 of the 40,000 Ford employees have benefitted by the increase in basic pay rates. While it was stated that the basic minimum still is $4 a day, the increases for certain types of skilled labor, including workers on the assembly lines, to $4.80 and more bring the Ford wage once more within striking distance of the famous $5 minimum wage with which Ford started the industrial world in 1914.

Some skilled workers at present are receiving as high as $10 a day. The company still continues on the five day week, with employees working eight hours a day.

Whether this is Ford's answer to the wish of the administration that he sign the automobile code, which became effective today without any indication from the motor magnate of his future plans, could not be learned.

Ford, still at his Huron mountain camp in Michigan's north woods, remained silent on his policy. Edsel Ford, similarly uncommunicative, was expected to return tomorrow from a vacation at Seal Harbor, Me. Local officials would not comment on the Ford-NRA controversy.

The statement in Chicago of Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, recovery administrator, that "it's Ford's move," brought no response from officials here. They indicated, however, that any statement on the company's stand, if made at all, will come from Ford himself, who is not expected to return to Detroit until Friday.

Whether or not the Ford company, in its indicated policy of going the NRA "one better," will reduce hours to the 35-hour maximum demanded by the automotive code, could not be learned.

Re-indicted for Forgery
LOGAN (AP)—Alleged to have forged the name of Mrs. J. E. Tierney on a $316.69 bank draft, President W. J. Burke of the Valley Savings bank of Missouri Valley was re-indicted by a Harrison county grand jury on a forgery charge.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The First National bank at Glidden, Ia., was licensed to re-open by the treasury department.

WEATHER

IOWA—Increasing cloudiness Wednesday, possibly followed by scattered showers and somewhat cooler in north portion; cloudy and cooler Thursday.

Seize Power in Bloodless Coup D'Etat

(Copyright, 1933, By The Associated Press)

HAVANA, Sept. 5 (AP)—Seizing power in a swift but bloodless coup d'etat, the enlisted men of Cuba's army and navy took over the reigns of government today, replacing President Carlos Manuel de Cespedes who was forced out with his entire cabinet.

Aiding the enlisted men to oust the de Cespedes government—in office less than a month—were radical students and members of the police force.

A revolutionary junta described as the "executive commission for provisional government," took charge when Cespedes stepped down with the declaration: "Now is the time for others to assume responsibility."

Apparently the revolutionary movement was designed as a nationwide effort. Reports from Santiago and Camaguey said army commissioned officers had been imprisoned and civil authorities replaced by revolutionary junta.

Meanwhile, two American destroyers were in Cuban ports—the Sturtevant at Santiago and the McFarland at Havana.

Today's meeting adjourned without reaching a decision regarding Mr. Ford.

4 Warships

Speeded to Cuba

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5 (AP)—President Roosevelt and his foremost cabinet aides agreed today in a lengthy conference that Cuba's latest flare-up of internal strife was fraught with all the peril of an open powder keg but decided to dispatch no additional warships in the wake of the four sent at top speed to Havana and Santiago in the early morning hours.

While other cruisers and destroyers stood by in nearby waters, high officials of the administration sought by telephone and cable communication with Ambassador Sumner Welles in Havana to learn just how radical or responsible might be the members of the group of students and army non-commissioned officers into whose hands the destiny of Cuba has been placed.

State department officials who recognized no familiar names among the new holders of Cuban power said they knew not what to expect, but it was evident that the members of the group of students and army non-commissioned officers into whose hands the destiny of Cuba has been placed.

Roused from their beds at daybreak by alarming reports from Ambassador Welles, Secretary Hull and Assistant Secretary Caffery at the state department decided that the presence of American war vessels in Cuban waters for the second time in less than a month was necessary to protect the rights and property of United States citizens.

Immediate communication was established with President Roosevelt aboard the yacht Nourmahal in the lower Potomac on which he was returning to the White House from a stay at his Hyde Park, New York, estate.

With the president's approval, the naval radio station flashed out orders for the cruiser Richmond to speed to Havana from the Canal Zone, the destroyers MacFarland and Bainbridge to hurry there from Key West and the vicinity of Norfolk, and the destroyer Sturtevant to proceed along the coast from Guantanamo naval station to Santiago.

Actor, Playwright Dies at Age of 83 After Long Illness

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 5 (AP)—Clay Meredith Greene, 83, actor and playwright and eleven times elected Shepherd of Lambs club in New York, died at his home today after a prolonged illness. He had been bedridden since he broke his hip in a fall last May.

Greene was said to be the first American child born in San Francisco and was the oldest living member of the famous Bohemian club here. He was born March 12, 1850.

F. R. Regains Control After Ocean Voyage

Cuba Occupies Official Attention as Soon as Ship Lands

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5 (AP)—President Roosevelt took quick command of the government upon his return from sea today and within a few hours had canvassed thoroughly the Cuban situation and the progress of national recovery.

He went into immediate conference with state department and naval officials on Cuba upon his arrival at the White House at 2 p.m. He then discussed the whole scope of domestic affairs with the recovery council.

Another 24 hours, at least, probably will be given Henry Ford to say what he is going to do about cooperating with the rest of the automobile industry under the NRA code.

Mr. Ford's case was mentioned in the recovery council's session. No word has been received from him. The president is still watching and waiting.

The appearance of Admiral William H. Standley, chief of naval operations, in the White House conference on Cuba led to the belief that the president was preparing to send other warships to Cuba if necessary to back up the four already there.

Frank C. Walker, secretary of the recovery council, submitted a detailed report of progress at the council session. Apparently there was some concern in the administration about the cooperation of some of the states toward relief work. An effort to hurry this along was made today by the public works board.

L. W. Robert, assistant secretary of the treasury, submitted a recommendation for construction of 702 post office buildings under the public works program, at a cost of $62,000,000.

Secretary Ickes, the administrator of this $3,300,000,000 fund, arranged for a conference tomorrow with the president to talk over new projects.

Iowa Miners Strike Ranks Reach 2,400

DES MOINES, Sept. 5 (AP)—The ranks of striking Iowa miners were swelled to the 2,400 mark today with the walkout of workers at three mines in Monroe, Marion and Boone counties.

A total of nearly 1,500 miners quit work Friday and Saturday at 10 P.M. and Lucas county pits, and 930 more walked out today. These included 500 at the Scandia Coal company mine No. 4 near Madrid, Boone county; 280 at the Rock Island Improvement company mine No. 3 at Melcher, Marion county; and 150 at the Smoky Hollow mine No. 12 near Hiteman, Monroe county.

The strike began Friday at two Lucas county mines near Williamson, the workers expressing themselves as dissatisfied with delay at perfecting a recovery code for the coal mining industry. They asked a $5 wage for a 6-hour day with a five-day week.

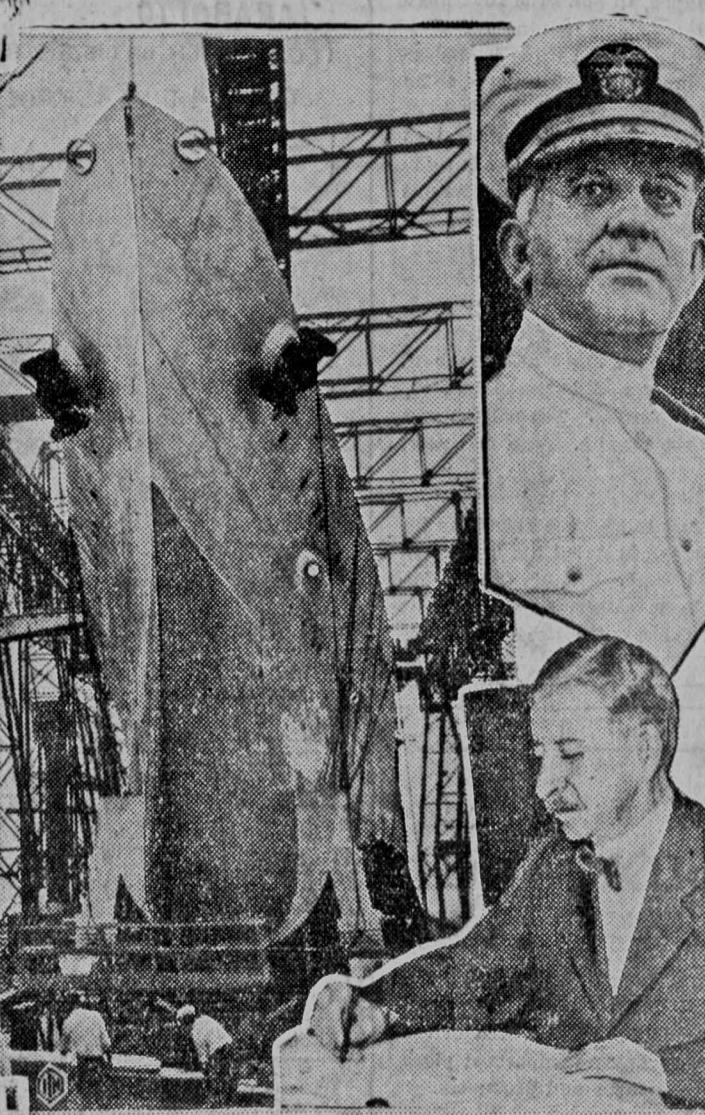

Officials of the United Mine Workers of America urged the miners to return to work, declaring that the walkout violated the contracts now existing between operators and workers.

Frank Wilson of Albia, president of district 13, the Iowa district of the U. M. W. A., said that the strike, as a protest to delay in reaching a code agreement, had already served its purpose in calling to public attention the delay. Other leaders of the miners and Donald Richberg, general labor counsel for the NRA, who spoke yesterday at Ottumwa, also urged that the miners return to work, arguing that their strike would hamper recovery officials in their work.

Six Die

DES MOINES (AP)—Six persons died of sleeping sickness in Iowa so far this year, while the 1932 toll was 28. Dr. Walter L. Bliring, state health commissioner, announced.

NEWEST CRUISER—MORE TO COME

Unusual view of the bow of the new U.S.S. Minneapolis as she looked prepared for launching at Philadelphia navy yard. She is the thirteenth cruiser completed of the 18 permitted under London treaty. Top right, Capt. Gordon W. Haines, who will take command. Lower, Secretary of the Navy Swanson signs contracts for 17 more new ships under the new Roosevelt navy-building program.

Elect Wheat Lease Officers

John T. Winborn Heads Group to Put Plan in Operation

To set the machinery for wheat control in motion, Johnson county farmers met at the Farm Bureau office last night and organized the Wheat Production Control association, elected officers and directors, and appointed a committee.

John T. Winborn was elected president of the association. Other officers were Scott Walker, vice president; S. Lysle Duncan, county agent, secretary; and I. G. Birrer, treasurer.

Directors are Mr. Birrer, Mr. Walker, Mr. Winborn, A. C. Smith, and J. E. McCollister. Appointed on the county allotment committee were Mr. Winborn, Mr. Smith, and Mr. McCollister, who will meet at 8 p.m. Friday to review applications for federal leasing of wheat land.

H. L. Elching of the Iowa State college agricultural extension service spoke to the group, outlining the wheat control act and its methods of operation.

According to Mr. Duncan, 13 Johnson county farmers have signed applications offering their land to the government, and more applications are expected before Friday. Sixteen attended the meeting last night.

Gil Berry Goes to Hollywood; Gives Up Professional Football

CHICAGO, Sept. 5 (AP)—Gil Berry, captain of the 1932 University of Illinois football team, has decided to forget about the professional gridiron and take a fling at the movies.

He advised Mr. David Jones, owner of the Chicago Cardinals of the National professional football league, today that he had signed a five weeks contract for a tryout with one of the large film companies in Hollywood and would depart for the west Oct. 3.

The Cardinals agreed to cancel the contract, which was signed with the provision that if Berry were given a chance at the movies it would be null and void.

DES MOINES, Sept. 5 (AP)—K. E. Porter of Des Moines was chosen secretary of the Iowa Restaurant Owners association today at an organization meeting preparatory to the association's first annual convention which opens tomorrow.

K. E. Porter Chosen Secretary at Meet of Restaurant Men

Speeding Milk Train Hurts Into Rear of Flyer Standing Still at Binghamton, N. Y.

Formulation of Trade Charters Awaits Johnson

Administrator Speeds Capitolward From Chicago

By JAMES P. SELVAGE
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5 (AP)—The formulation of trade charters for two industries—automobiles and retailers—whose normal employment was estimated by recovery administration officials to embrace ten million workers, tonight awaited Hugh S. Johnson.

The administrator, speeding back to the capital from Chicago where he had disclosed that there was no further word as to whether Henry Ford would adhere to the NRA's automobile code, came to a desk piled high with work, topmost of which were codes for the retail and construction industries.

A statement of policy designed to simplify the writing of a master code for all retailers before the end of the week was in the hands of Arthur D. Whiteside, the deputy administrator, ready for Johnson's approval. Tomorrow, public hearings open on a single code covering nine of the most important divisions of the construction industry.

Ford Bound to Code

The code which went into effect today for the automobile industry is binding also upon Ford under the law and should be violated its provisions the administrator said "I'll have to do something."

The general impression in official circles was that Ford would put his employees upon wages and hours at least equal, or better, than those in the code. The compensation now in effect at the Ford plants is higher than the minimum prescribed in the code. It became known that wages in the Ford plants were being pushed upward, many from $4 to $4.80 a day.

In the law's provisions guaranteeing to labor the right of collective bargaining and the code's stipulation that certain records of each company must be open for inspection was seen the principal objection of Ford.

Johnson pointed out in Chicago that Ford's employees organize and send representatives to negotiate with the manufacturer, and he refused to meet them, this would be a direct violation subject to action by the administration.

No Need for Books

As for the opening of company's books, Ford's production figures are known generally by the industry, the most recent ratings placing him second. The figures range from about 49 per cent of all production for the leader, 32 for Ford, and 26 for the third largest manufacturer.

But while the profits of other companies are made public in accounting to stockholders, since their stocks are listed on the market, this has been one of Ford's closely guarded secrets. His is a family-owned company and is not required to make a public showing of profits and loss.

Discussing this, Johnson said "the code may require a certain amount of openness, but I wouldn't stand for trying into anyone's business secrets."

Among high administration officials the opinion was expressed that Johnson and President Roosevelt hoped the Detroit auto magnate would accept the code for the industry for they do not relish a give and take battle which they feel might distract the public's attention from the general cooperation upon which the NRA program is based.

No Favoritism

These officials pointed out, however, that in bringing the remainder of the automobile manufacturers under a code the administration has made a distinct commitment not to give competitors an advantage.

There still was the coal dispute to be settled.

A resumption of conferences be-

Wooden Coach Splinters Like Egg Shell in Crash

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Sept. 5 (AP)—The list of identified and partially identified dead in tonight's Erie train wreck:

Harry Westfall, Susquehanna, Pa.

Donald Bur, Susquehanna, Pa.

Harry Lannon, Susquehanna, Pa.

Julia Comfort, Susquehanna, Pa.

A man named Vacarra, Susquehanna, Pa.

M. Dabrozek, Brooklyn, N. Y.

A man named Bulyea.

Eli Van Aiken, Susquehanna.

M. C. McCollum, Susquehanna.

Cecil Teskey, Susquehanna.

Mrs. Mary Bouille, Susquehanna, Pa.

Mrs. Arthur Teskey, Susquehanna.

Mrs. Catherine Harrison, Conklin, R. D. 1.

Two women unidentified.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Sept. 5 (AP)—Fourteen persons were killed and more than 100 injured when a milk train crashed into the rear of the Chicago flyer on the Erie railroad, eastbound on the outskirts of Binghamton tonight.

The passenger train had stopped because a switching crew was working on the main line ahead. Flagman A. C. Morris of Hornell, who

The Daily Iowan

Published every morning except Monday by Student Publications Incorporated, at 126-128 Iowa Avenue, Iowa City, Iowa. Fred M. Pownall, Director.

Board of Trustees: Frank L. Mott, Paul C. Packer, E. MacEwen, Sidney G. Winter, Phyllis Michael, Harold W. Cassill, Ernest C. Cassill, Cherie McElhinney, Lummund Wilcox.

Harry S. Bunker, General Manager
William T. Hageboeck, Assistant General Manager

Entered as second class mail matter at the post office at Iowa City, Iowa, under the act of Congress of March 2, 1879. Subscription rates—By mail, $5 per year; by carrier, 15 cents weekly; 15 per year.

The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to use for republication of all news dispatches credited to it or otherwise credited in this paper and also the local news published herein.

All rights of republication of special dispatches herein are also reserved.

EDITORIAL DEPARTMENT

Donald J. Pryor ..... Editor
George Goldbach ..... News Editor
Richard W. Wilson ..... City Editor
Tom Yocouff ..... Campus Editor
Harry G. Burrell ..... Sports Editor
Charles A. Graham ..... Assistant Sports Editor
Celia Goldberg ..... Society Editor

BUSINESS DEPARTMENT

Charles L. Johnston ..... Business Manager
Ernest C. Cassill ..... Circulation Manager
Agnes W. Schmidt ..... Accountant

DIAL 4191
Branch exchange connecting all departments

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 6, 1933

General Motors, Henry Ford, the Unions

THE AUTOMOTIVE storm around the blue eagle seems destined to develop into greater proportions than anyone yet imagines, judging from week end news reports concerning the intention of Henry Ford and the repercussions from the industry's collective bargaining code as applied by General Motors corporation.

Mr. Ford's feud with other automobile manufacturers is a matter of long standing and the announcement that he would not cooperate in a plan originated by his opposition was hardly a surprise. Rumors have been rife that he either would set out on a lone campaign and present a code of his own designing or refuse to sign and let the government license his plants. Too good a business man to overlook the disadvantages in opposition to a national movement, it probably can be assumed that if he refuses to abide by the already approved agreement he will offer a substitute plan of his own rather than run the gamut of public disapproval.

Developments in labor-employer relations in the Chevrolet plant Saturday gave room for wondering whether Mr. Ford might not have room for complaint against the sincerity of his competitors.

Union employees of the Chevrolet plant, a subsidiary of General Motors, telegraphed the president a plea that the corporation be denied the right to display the blue eagle because they charged, 100 active union employees had been discharged. Chevrolet officials denied the charge.

Chevrolet has set up a plan for a "company union" by which employees might deal collectively with the company according to NRA provisions. Officials were careful to point out, however, that membership in the union would be voluntary.

The next move is for Mr. Ford. But union leaders should come forward soon with a well organized plan for reform of the old and bothersome craft unions and the substitution of a union to cover the whole industry. This would remove many of the worst features of unions to which automotive employers rightfully object and would make way for a settlement of much of the present controversy.

Friends Again, But There's a Reason

"Marshall Joseph Pilsudski has been invited to Moscow as the guest of the Soviet government to participate in the Red Army celebrations on the anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution Nov. 7."—News item in the New York Times.

All of which involves a fairy tale concerning the strange effects of memories upon the relations of men and nations.

A month or so ago, while Russian officials were rummaging through old files and documents they came upon the records of the Czarist police relating to Marshall Pilsudski's pre-war revolutionary activity against the old regime.

One of these records told in official language of the stirring times when Revolutionary Stalin and Revolutionary Pilsudski were brothers in arms, imprisoned by the Czarist soldiers. So soothing were the memories recalled by the musty documents that Stalin, dictator of all the Russias, forgot his post-war animosity for the Pole of Poles and sent him the old records as a personal gift, along with an invitation to attend the Russian anniversary celebrations.

Of course it must not be forgotten for the sake of a good story that reminiscence alone is not the cause of the new found Russo-Polish amity. Bombastic Herr Hitler seems to have had quite as much to do with it as the old police records.

Hostility between Russia and Poland was open and bitter until the accession of the Nazi in Germany. Marshall Pilsudski—whose fighting of the revolution was for the single purpose of setting Poland free—has been the point of constant and bitter jibes from the Russians, who have looked upon him as a traitor to his own cause. In retaliation, Poland carried on a systematic campaign to discredit the Soviet regime.

But the advent of Little Adolf in Germany with his flashing of swords and his threats with toy pistols has sufficiently aroused the fears of both Poland and Russia that they feel themselves being drawn again into a common cause. Last month the two nations signed a pact of non-aggression to insure friendly relations. If the Polish leader accepts the invitation of Comrade Stalin it will be clear that hatred has been turned aside by memories of old times, fortified by expedience.

The Insull "Boom"

(From the Christian Science Monitor)

That forlorn fugitive in Greece, Samuel Insull, did two colossal things: He built up a $3,000,000,000 electric empire and he caused one of the greatest business failures in history. As the American Government seeks to bring him back for trial, his disaster shuts out the earlier picture of his success. Yet Mr. Insull stepped up the industrial progress of the world by producing cheaper electricity. The good he did heightens his gigantic tragedy.

Thanks to this man without a country, electricity came into its many uses in business and in the home much more swiftly than it would have otherwise. He was the first, his former associates say, to see the advantages of interconnecting cities into a giant system which could furnish better and steadier service at a lower cost than could a multitude of small power plants in many cities. Power systems now embrace the nation with their networks.

Mr. Insull demanded cheaper production costs. If electricity was to be widely used, it must cost less. He pioneered in getting the biggest possible machinery to produce electricity at the least cost per ton of coal. He encouraged electrical manufacturers to build larger units than had ever been made before.

He led them, for instance, to build the first huge reciprocating Corliss type steam engine for electrical use. Then when the turbine came in, he ordered the first large turbine, of 5000 kilowatts, to be employed in an electrical power plant. He kept calling for bigger units and the manufacturers kept responding, until today the largest turbine of the kind is operating in one of the plants he put up. Its capacity of 212,000 kilowatts indicates the progress he insisted on and got.

His men, who credit him with these achievements, call him the greatest electrical utility operator the world has seen. He foresaw the tremendous use of electricity and planned ahead for it. As a constructing engineer and business builder, he had great vision and courage. Toward the end he built too much and too rapidly. As a financier, he crashed.

Insull was a boom, like the Florida boom, all by himself. People hastened to buy the securities he offered merely because they carried his name. In Florida, the land is still there. Though faith in Insull has been costly to investors, much of great value due to his engineering enterprise fortunately remains.

GOOD MORNING

Work of "Consumer's Research, Inc." in disseminating supposedly unbiased information concerning all sorts of products for the benefit of the consumer is coming to occupy an important place in the minds both of consumers and producers.

This enterprise, the outgrowth of a movement begun a couple of years ago by Economist Stuart Chase and his collaborator in "Your Money's Worth," an expose of certain advertising methods and high pressure salesmanship, is a perfect though incomplete example of a type of service the federal government should provide.

Consumer's Research, on the basis of exhaustive studies of all types of goods from automobiles to toothpaste, distributes to its subscribers confidential information concerning the degree to which various products live up to the claims of their manufacturers.

These periodic reports do not hesitate to print the facts as they find them, naming all products by their brand names and the names of their manufacturers. Obviously, it is an invaluable service to housewives who otherwise must rely upon the producers' own claims which, sadly enough, are often exaggerated. Circulation of these reports already has reached more than 40,000, according to the publishers.

When Mr. Chase began his campaign several years ago he contended that it should be a regular function of the federal government to assemble such material and furnish it free of charge to anyone who desired it. This contention has been repeatedly supported in this column, in the conviction that the government is just as truly obligated to safeguard its citizens against the fraud of misrepresentation when it involves a tooth brush as when it involves fake mining stock.

Much of this material, as Mr. Chase has pointed out, already is in the hands of the bureau of standards at Washington, but is unavailable to the general public. It should be made available as a part of the new deal, together with a greatly enlarged service.

The effect would not be disastrous to industry. On the contrary the publication of such information would go far toward eliminating the unfair competition against which business men are so wont to complain. A decent manufacturer can no more compete against a man who distributes inferior products under false colors than against the employer of child labor.

Neither would the advertising industry be injured. If everyone were able to check for himself the accuracy of manufacturers' claims, there still would be the necessity of creating a demand for goods in the minds of the consumers.

But the whole field of advertising would of necessity be raised to a higher plane. The basis of comparison between goods, as far as advertising was concerned, would be quality, style, price, and service. It would be next to impossible, obviously, to sell pitchforks through sex appeal or to put across the slogan hoax and the misleading catch-phrases which are so common today.

Such a service would be decidedly harmful to the unscrupulous merchandiser, but it would prove an almost unalloyed benefit to most of industry and to the consumer.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT

(Reg. U. S. Patent Office)

By Ripley

TRAINWRECK
14 Killed; 100 Injured

(Continued from page 1)

the wooden coach, which was crushed to splinters.

One woman was hurled more than 50 feet from the track. She was dead when found.

Most of the other coaches of the passenger train were derailed. The locomotive of the milk train was bounced off the tracks but its crew was not hurt.

Investigation Set

An immediate investigation into the cause of the wreck was ordered by Robert E. Woodruff, vice president of the Erie, from the company's general offices in Cleveland.

At least twelve persons were dead when picked up. Others died on the way to hospitals, or shortly after arrival.

Every available bed was taken at the Binghamton city hospital. An extra force of physicians and nurses was called in to care for the maimed and dying.

"Oh, it's terrible," cried a nurse as stretcher after stretcher was brought in.

Hospitals at Johnson City and other nearby places were asked to be ready to receive some of the victims if the congestion here became too great.

The wreck occurred in the outskirts of the city along the Susquehanna river, just opposite the Binghamton state hospital for the insane.

The agricultural adjustment administration has estimated that approximately $50,000,000 will be required to carry out the program and that this could be obtained by a tax of one-half cent per pound on live hogs. The pigs being slaughtered weigh between 25 and 100 pounds and the sows not less than 25 pounds.

Clitheroe estimated the slaughtering program would cost approximately $32,250,000, and he proposed the money be raised as follows:

Twenty-five cents a head from November to January, inclusive, to obtain $4,000,000; 75 cents a head from February to April, to provide $9,000,000; $1 from May to October to raise $21,762,000; and a floor tax of 15 cents per 100 pounds to bring in $1,200,000.

Surplus for Bonuses

This would raise, he said, slightly more than $36,000,000. He advocated that the surplus be utilized for bonuses or for unexpected expenses.

The prediction that dumping would follow the imposition of a high tax was made by Wilson, who explained the packers would have to "get out from under" and that this would "break the market and immediately reflect itself in lower prices."

The United States army entered the lists against the malady with the setting up of a laboratory for research at Jefferson barracks, under the direction of Major James S. Simmons, distinguished bacteriologist. His study will be on the possibility that insects are spreading the disease.

Slow Improvement

Wilson said little improvement from the emergency program would be felt before early next year because that is the time in which the swine now being killed ordinarily would have been marketed.

John W. Rath, a Waterloo, Iowa, packer, said it would be a "catastrophe to impose a very heavy processing tax."

"The packers are interested in seeing this program a success," he added, "but it would be impossible to impose any more burden on the livestock industry. We should proceed very cautiously so as to be sure we are not doing the opposite of that which we desire to accomplish."

Two Counties Plan Special Election to Fill State Positions

DES MOINES, Sept. 5 (AP)—General reductions in freight rates of coal shipped between points within the state were made by the Iowa board of railroad commissioners in a new intrastate rate schedule announced today.

The reductions in some instances are as high as 20 per cent. Iowa coal operators, the Iowa Coal Institute and Chambers of Commerce within the state lead the fight for decreased rates which began several months ago.

The new rate schedule, which is in line with the intrastate rates of surrounding states, makes sharp decreases in the rates for short hauls the only exceptions being in certain long haul schedules which were slightly increased in certain instances.

Members of the commission said that the new schedule applies to both single and joint line hauls and that it would benefit in particular the sections in the western part of the state where coal is not mined.

Clay county Republicans nominated A. H. Avery of Spencer as their candidate to oppose Mrs. Ella Jones Morgan, Democratic candidate in the September 26 election for the vacancy caused by the resignation of Representative Frank E. Wenig.

Benton county Democrats elected delegates to the Benton-Tama convention at Belle Plaine next Saturday when Republicans also will hold their district convention. A successor to Senator H. C. White will be named in an election Oct. 3.

Viscount Grey Still Unconscious, Weak

CHRISTON BANK, England, Sept. 5 (AP)—A bulletin late tonight from the bedside of Viscount Grey of Fallodon said that he remained unconscious and was weaker than during the morning.

Those watching at his bedside now were represented as being able to do little except ensure that the patient is made as comfortable as possible.

Wounds Fatal

LE MARS (AP)—George Schultz, 45, committed suicide by spraying himself with gasoline and touching a match to his clothing. Resulted in the death of Adolph Reynolds.

THE OLD HOME TOWN

Registered U. S. Patent Office

By STANLEY

© 1934 Lee W. Stanley Central Press

9-6-33

DIAL
4191

NEWS OF CAMPUS AND CITY SOCIETY

DIAL
4191

Iowa City Woman's Club Issues Latest Year Book

Every Woman Will Find Own Niche in Program Outlined for Next Nine Months of Varied Activity in Club

Whether her interests run toward dramatic activities, craft work, or the study of social science developments, each Iowa City woman will find a niche particularly suited to her in the varied activities of the Iowa City Woman's club scheduled for the next nine months. The year book of the organization, released yesterday, gives the complete program for the year, and identifies members and leaders of various departments of the club.

Directing the work of the club from central group will be the following officers: Mrs. T. R. Reese, president; Mrs. W. S. Dysinger, vice president; Mrs. A. V. O'Brien, recording secretary; Mrs. G. E. Johnston, treasurer; and Mrs. W. F. Smith, historian.

A tea and an autumn flower display will entertain members of the Federated Clubs of Johnson county who will be guests of the club at the general meeting of the year, Oct. 15. In addition to the tea and display, Mrs. Louis Pelzer will speak on "Flowers for fall and winter." The meeting will be held at Iowa Union.

Second Meeting
Members of the public welfare department of the club will be hostesses at the second meeting, Oct. 20, at which Mrs. Jessie B. Gordon will explain the recreational program plan under consideration by the department. Mrs. Walter Jessup, 102 Church street, will be hostess to group.

The drama department will present a program for the November meeting of the organization following a luncheon at Youde's inn.

Mrs. C. H. McCloy will talk on symbolism in Chinese art" at the fourth meeting, Dec. 5, at which members of the drama department will entertain. Mrs. E. W. Chittenden, 1101 Kirkwood avenue, will be hostess.

Davenport seems to have had an attraction for Iowa City residents during the recent double holiday. Eunice Howell, Mary Louise Epperson, and Dean Wartchow went there Saturday in order to visit former classmates.

Mrs. Shambaugh to Speak
The author of the book, "Amana," Mrs. Benjamin F. Shambaugh, will speak about the Amana colonies at the annual meeting of the club at which the social science department will entertain. Mrs. Christian Yetter, 519 Elm street, will be hostess.

Mrs. W. F. Boiler, 1016 E. College street, will open her home to the literature department Feb. 16 as it presents a program for the club.

The Alpha Xi Delta sorority house, 4 E. Fairchild street, will be the scene of the music department's program March 16.

Iowa History
Iowa history is the topic of the April meeting at which the general club program committee will entertain. The discussion will follow a luncheon held at Iowa Union.

Concluding the year will be the May meeting at which new officers will be elected, annual reports will be given, and miscellaneous business will be attended to. Mrs. C. W. Washington, 325 S. Lucas street, will be hostess to the group.

Departmental Chairmen
Chairmen of the eight different departments of the club, each of which holds regular meetings during the year, are the following: Mrs. F. L. Allen, crafts, Mrs. Chittenden, drama, Mrs. W. T. Goodwin, garden, Mrs. H. Dorcas, literature, Mrs. C. A. Hawley, music, Mrs. G. F. Robeson, public welfare, Mrs. J. E. Switzer, social science, and Mrs. Alexander Elliott, chorus director.

The Iowa City Woman's club starts on its twelfth season with 162 active members.

Pirates Get Strike Out Star

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Pirates have acquired a fine pitching prospect for next season in Darrell Blanton, purchased from St. Joseph of the Western league. Blanton struck out 39 batters in 214 innings on the mound this year.

George Arliss gives his greatest biographical portrayal as the eccentric French genius, Voltaire, in the picture now playing at the Englert.

SKIPPY—The "Cream" of the Catch

By PERCY L. CROSBY

Stephens Graduates Recall Experiences in Boarding School

It may be the influence of the recent holiday—the last of the summer, the slow but steady influx of students preparing to enter the university for the first time or to continue their academic work, or perhaps it's the hint of coolness in the air in place of the scorching heat of summer that has done it—but anyway, Iowa City seems to be a livelier place these days.

Many trips to visit friends and relatives were taken over the weekend, and the Century of Progress still comes in for its share of attention from travelers.

Evelyn Benda, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Benda, 1135 Hotel avenue, and her aunt, Marie Benda, 724 E. Fairchild street, returned last night from a trip to Ohio. They visited friends and relatives in Cleveland and Norwalk during a week's tour of the state. Miss Benda will return to the University this fall as senior students.

Sunday afternoon Miss Beckman, Miss Spencer, and Miss Lampe attended a dinner given by Miss Mathew for Miss Summer and Miss Jesen in her home at Tipton.

Asks Change in Education

State Official Says New Vocational Study Needed

DES MOINES, Sept. 5 (AP)—Changes taking place in the social and economic system necessitate revision and improvement of the vocational education programs, believes Director F. E. Moore of the state board for vocational education.

In order to function properly vocational education hereafter must be based upon a broad program of general education, he said today, especially the social sciences.

Broad Study
An apparent trend toward the entrance of youth into initial employment at an age later than formerly is regarded by Moore as making it advisable that students of high school age receive a general and broad education during their early years of training. Specialized training in some vocation would follow this general training.

The general trend toward a shorter working period also raises other educational problems, many of them common to both youth and adults, Moore said.

There is a definite need, he said, of extending and expanding the part time school programs for young people who have not entered employment on a full time basis, the training to include both their vocational and civic development.

Adult Programs

Vocational programs for adults regularly employed will continue to be necessary, he said, and there also is the need of providing vocational training opportunities for adults who are out of employment. These adult vocational programs will not be complete, he believes, unless they provide opportunities for vocational re-education for persons forced to find new ways of earning a living.

Additional leisure time for all working people will also result in a demand for training in avocational pursuits, he said, and in some parts of the country "hobby" schools have been established to train persons to use their spare time in a worthwhile manner.

Menjou's Former Wife Sues for $2,500 More

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 5 (AP)—Charging that Adolphe Menjou, motion picture player, had failed to comply with the terms of a property settlement at the time of their divorce recently, Kathryn Carver, actress, sued him for $2,500 today.

The complaint stated that under the settlement her former husband was to pay her $5,000, of which one half was to be supplied at once, and $2,500 in 10 days. She said the second payment had not been made.

WSUI PROGRAM

For Today

12 noon—Luncheon hour program, Fisher's Concertina orchestra.

3 p.m.—Science news of the week, Education by Radio series.

1:15 p.m.—Illustrated musical chats, Harold E. Cerny.

6 p.m.—Dinner hour program.

7 p.m.—Late news flashes, The Daily Iowan.

8 p.m.—Musical program, Carol C. Brown.

8:30 p.m.—Musical program, Genevieve Neuzil.

9 p.m.—Late news flashes, The Daily Iowan.

9:10 p.m.—Musical program,

9:30 p.m.—Arlene Fowler.

Explosion Kills Two

CUT BANK, Mont. (AP)—An explosion of undetermined cause in the North End pumping station of the Santa Rita Oil and Natural Gas Line, today took the lives of two workmen. The dead: R. E. Richey and Ed S. Elliott, both residents of Cut Bank. A third man, Emil A. Nelson, was given only a slight chance to live, physicians said.

Iowa Student Gives Views on Premiere

Editor's note: This review was written by Tom Yoseloff, campus editor of The Daily Iowan, on vacation in the east.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 5—Earl Carroll's "Murder at the Vanities," which will be the first musical show of the new season in New York, when it opens at the New Amsterdam theater Friday, had its premiere performance last week at the Garrick theater here.

"Murder at the Vanities" combines a musical revue, lavish with the usual Earl Carroll settings and half-dressed American beauties, with a murder mystery.

It is all about a detective who attempts to find the culprit who is trying to murder the vanities beauty. And he does the solving while the show is going on.

All of which should make a good musical. But unfortunately the first night performance seemed to display evidence that the presentation was premature. A few weeks of rehearsal might have made for a much smoother performance.

James Rennie was a smooth, suave detective in the midst of the rough, awkward show. Second was Pauline Moore as the threatened heroine. The surprise of the evening was the poor quality of acting shown by Olga Bacanova and Bela Lugosi of the movies. The additional week of rehearsal may make for a better show on Broadway Friday.

James Rennie was a smooth, suave detective in the midst of the rough, awkward show. Second was Pauline Moore as the threatened heroine. The surprise of the evening was the poor quality of acting shown by Olga Bacanova and Bela Lugosi of the movies. The additional week of rehearsal may make for a better show on Broadway Friday.

James Rennie was a smooth, suave detective in the midst of the rough, awkward show. Second was Pauline Moore as the threatened heroine. The surprise of the evening was the poor quality of acting shown by Olga Bacanova and Bela Lugosi of the movies. The additional week of rehearsal may make for a better show on Broadway Friday.

James Rennie was a smooth, suave detective in the midst of the rough, awkward show. Second was Pauline Moore as the threatened heroine. The surprise of the evening was the poor quality of acting shown by Olga Bacanova and Bela Lugosi of the movies. The additional week of rehearsal may make for a better show on Broadway Friday.

James Rennie was a smooth, suave detective in the midst of the rough, awkward show. Second was Pauline Moore as the threatened heroine. The surprise of the evening was the poor quality of acting shown by Olga Bacanova and Bela Lugosi of the movies. The additional week of rehearsal may make for a better show on Broadway Friday.

James Rennie was a smooth, suave detective in the midst of the rough, awkward show. Second was Pauline Moore as the threatened heroine. The surprise of the evening was the poor quality of acting shown by Olga Bacanova and Bela Lugosi of the movies. The additional week of rehearsal may make for a better show on Broadway Friday.

James Rennie was a smooth, suave detective in the midst of the rough, awkward show. Second was Pauline Moore as the threatened heroine. The surprise of the evening was the poor quality of acting shown by Olga Bacanova and Bela Lugosi of the movies. The additional week of rehearsal may make for a better show on Broadway Friday.

James Rennie was a smooth, suave detective in the midst of the rough, awkward show. Second was Pauline Moore as the threatened heroine. The surprise of the evening was the poor quality of acting shown by Olga Bacanova and Bela Lugosi of the movies. The additional week of rehearsal may make for a better show on Broadway Friday.

James Rennie was a smooth, suave detective in the midst of the rough, awkward show. Second was Pauline Moore as the threatened heroine. The surprise of the evening was the poor quality of acting shown by Olga Bacanova and Bela Lugosi of the movies. The additional week of rehearsal may make for a better show on Broadway Friday.

James Rennie was a smooth, suave detective in the midst of the rough, awkward show. Second was Pauline Moore as the threatened heroine. The surprise of the evening was the poor quality of acting shown by Olga Bacanova and Bela Lugosi of the movies. The additional week of rehearsal may make for a better show on Broadway Friday.

James Rennie was a smooth, suave detective in the midst of the rough, awkward show. Second was Pauline Moore as the threatened heroine. The surprise of the evening was the poor quality of acting shown by Olga Bacanova and Bela Lugosi of the movies. The additional week of rehearsal may make for a better show on Broadway Friday.

James Rennie was a smooth, suave detective in the midst of the rough, awkward show. Second was Pauline Moore as the threatened heroine. The surprise of the evening was the poor quality of acting shown by Olga Bacanova and Bela Lugosi of the movies. The additional week of rehearsal may make for a better show on Broadway Friday.

James Rennie was a smooth, suave detective in the midst of the rough, awkward show. Second was Pauline Moore as the threatened heroine. The surprise of the evening was the poor quality of acting shown by Olga Bacanova and Bela Lugosi of the movies. The additional week of rehearsal may make for a better show on Broadway Friday.

James Rennie was a smooth, suave detective in the midst of the rough, awkward show. Second was Pauline Moore as the threatened heroine. The surprise of the evening was the poor quality of acting shown by Olga Bacanova and Bela Lugosi of the movies. The additional week of rehearsal may make for a better show on Broadway Friday.

James Rennie was a smooth, suave detective in the midst of the rough, awkward show. Second was Pauline Moore as the threatened heroine. The surprise of the evening was the poor quality of acting shown by Olga Bacanova and Bela Lugosi of the movies. The additional week of rehearsal may make for a better show on Broadway Friday.

James Rennie was a smooth, suave detective in the midst of the rough, awkward show. Second was Pauline Moore as the threatened heroine. The surprise of the evening was the poor quality of acting shown by Olga Bacanova and Bela Lugosi of the movies. The additional week of rehearsal may make for a better show on Broadway Friday.

James Rennie was a smooth, suave detective in the midst of the rough, awkward show. Second was Pauline Moore as the threatened heroine. The surprise of the evening was the poor quality of acting shown by Olga Bacanova and Bela Lugosi of the movies. The additional week of rehearsal may make for a better show on Broadway Friday.

James Rennie was a smooth, suave detective in the midst of the rough, awkward show. Second was Pauline Moore as the threatened heroine. The surprise of the evening was the poor quality of acting shown by Olga Bacanova and Bela Lugosi of the movies. The additional week of rehearsal may make for a better show on Broadway Friday.

James Rennie was a smooth, suave detective in the midst of the rough, awkward show. Second was Pauline Moore as the threatened heroine. The surprise of the evening was the poor quality of acting shown by Olga Bacanova and Bela Lugosi of the movies. The additional week of rehearsal may make for a better show on Broadway Friday.

James Rennie was a smooth, suave detective in the midst of the rough, awkward show. Second was Pauline Moore as the threatened heroine. The surprise of the evening was the poor quality of acting shown by Olga Bacanova and Bela Lugosi of the movies. The additional week of rehearsal may make for a better show on Broadway Friday.

James Rennie was a smooth, suave detective in the midst of the rough, awkward show. Second was Pauline Moore as the threatened heroine. The surprise of the evening was the poor quality of acting shown by Olga Bacanova and Bela Lugosi of the movies. The additional week of rehearsal may make for a better show on Broadway Friday.

James Rennie was a smooth, suave detective in the midst of the rough, awkward show. Second was Pauline Moore as the threatened heroine. The surprise of the evening was the poor quality of acting shown by Olga Bacanova and Bela Lugosi of the movies. The additional week of rehearsal may make for a better show on Broadway Friday.

James Rennie was a smooth, suave detective in the midst of the rough, awkward show. Second was Pauline Moore as the threatened heroine. The surprise of the evening was the poor quality of acting shown by Olga Bacanova and Bela Lugosi of the movies. The additional week of rehearsal may make for a better show on Broadway Friday.

James Rennie was a smooth, suave detective in the midst of the rough, awkward show. Second was Pauline Moore as the threatened heroine. The surprise of the evening was the poor quality of acting shown by Olga Bacanova and Bela Lugosi of the movies. The additional week of rehearsal may make for a better show on Broadway Friday.

James Rennie was a smooth, suave detective in the midst of the rough, awkward show. Second was Pauline Moore as the threatened heroine. The surprise of the evening was the poor quality of acting shown by Olga Bacanova and Bela Lugosi of the movies. The additional week of rehearsal may make for a better show on Broadway Friday.

James Rennie was a smooth, suave detective in the midst of the rough, awkward show. Second was Pauline Moore as the threatened heroine. The surprise of the evening was the poor quality of acting shown by Olga Bacanova and Bela Lugosi of the movies. The additional week of rehearsal may make for a better show on Broadway Friday.

James Rennie was a smooth, suave detective in the midst of the rough, awkward show. Second was Pauline Moore as the threatened heroine. The surprise of the evening was the poor quality of acting shown by Olga Bacanova and Bela Lugosi of the movies. The additional week of rehearsal may make for a better show on Broadway Friday.

James Rennie was a smooth, suave detective in the midst of the rough, awkward show. Second was Pauline Moore as the threatened heroine. The surprise of the evening was the poor quality of acting shown by Olga Bacanova and Bela Lugosi of the movies. The additional week of rehearsal may make for a better show on Broadway Friday.

James Rennie was a smooth, suave detective in the midst of the rough, awkward show. Second was Pauline Moore as the threatened heroine. The surprise of the evening was the poor quality of acting shown by Olga Bacanova and Bela Lugosi of the movies. The additional week of rehearsal may make for a better show on Broadway Friday.

James Rennie was a smooth, suave detective in the midst of the rough, awkward show. Second was Pauline Moore as the threatened heroine. The surprise of the evening was the poor quality of acting shown by Olga Bacanova and Bela Lugosi of the movies. The additional week of rehearsal may make for a better show on Broadway Friday.

James Rennie was a smooth, suave detective in the midst of the rough, awkward show. Second was Pauline Moore as the threatened heroine. The surprise of the evening was the poor quality of acting shown by Olga Bacanova and Bela Lugosi of the movies. The additional week of rehearsal may make for a better show on Broadway Friday.

James Rennie was a smooth, suave detective in the midst of the rough,

IOWA CITY, IOWA WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 6, 1933

City High Faces Lone Tree in First Football Game Next Week

Elks Nine Captures Wild Diamondball Exhibition From Oakdale Club, 12 to 6

Tough Games for City High This Season

Will Play Six Home Encounters, Three Away

With Lone Tree coming up just a week from Friday, Coach George Wells was planning to mete out plenty of hard work to his Iowa City high football team during the next few days.

Three full teams answered the call today at the first workout and the Little Hawk mentor expects to work with about five teams by the end of the first week of school. The week's drill calls for single workouts each day except Friday when an extra session will be held under the lights.

The Red and White schedule looks like murderer's row with the tough Davenport club appearing on the local field in the second game of the season. With the single exception of Armistice day, City high will face tough ones every week end until Nov. 30, when Grinnell plays here in the Thanksgiving day engagement. In the meantime Washington, Washington high of Cedar Rapids, Clinton, West Waterloo, Dubuque, Grant or Cedar Rapids, and University high must be met.

Six at Home

Six games will be played at home with the possibility of a seventh coming under the lights at Shadrafield. Lone Tree, Davenport, West Waterloo, Dubuque, Grant and Grinnell will all play here. No site has been picked for the U. H. high game but it too will probably be played on the City high field.

All home games will be played on Fridays under the lights.

Irv Keeler, who helped with the Little Hawks before taking up his studies in law at Harvard, will again serve as an assistant to Wells.

So far 13 men with some experience have reported including Roscoe Ayers, Vern James, Ed Walsh, Paul Mutchler, Dale Marshall, Bill Kitmire, Ralph Andrikil, James McGreevey, Herb Williams, Art Nelson, John Alberts, Jim Roberts, and Cecil Peterson.

Three more vets are expected to report soon, Fred Ballard, Olin Zager and Dale Williams.

Other men reporting thus far: George Maresh, Woody Maher, John Ware, "Ham" Snider, Dale Swails, Alvin Miller, "Bingo" Snyder, John O'Leary, Gene Paine, Mrs. Norgaard, Lawrence Hunter, Ken Jones, Bill Summerhill, George Eakes, John Roberts, and Don Roger.

The schedule:

Sept. 15—Lone Tree, here.

Sept. 22—Davenport, here.

Sept. 29—Washington, there.

Oct. 6—Cedar Rapids (Washington), there.

Oct. 13—Clinton, here.

Oct. 27—Dubuque, here.

Nov. 3—Cedar Rapids (Grant), here.

Nov. 17—University high.

Nov. 30—Grinnell, here.

Hawkeye-Cat Tickets Here

Some 1,200 tickets for choice seats in Soldier field stadium for the Iowa-Northwestern football game of Sept. 30 will be placed on sale at the Hawkeye department of athletics this week.

Charles Gallher, manager of ticket sales, announced Tuesday that the allotment would be increased if demand warrants. Each ticket will sell for $1.65, and applications will be filled in order of receipt.

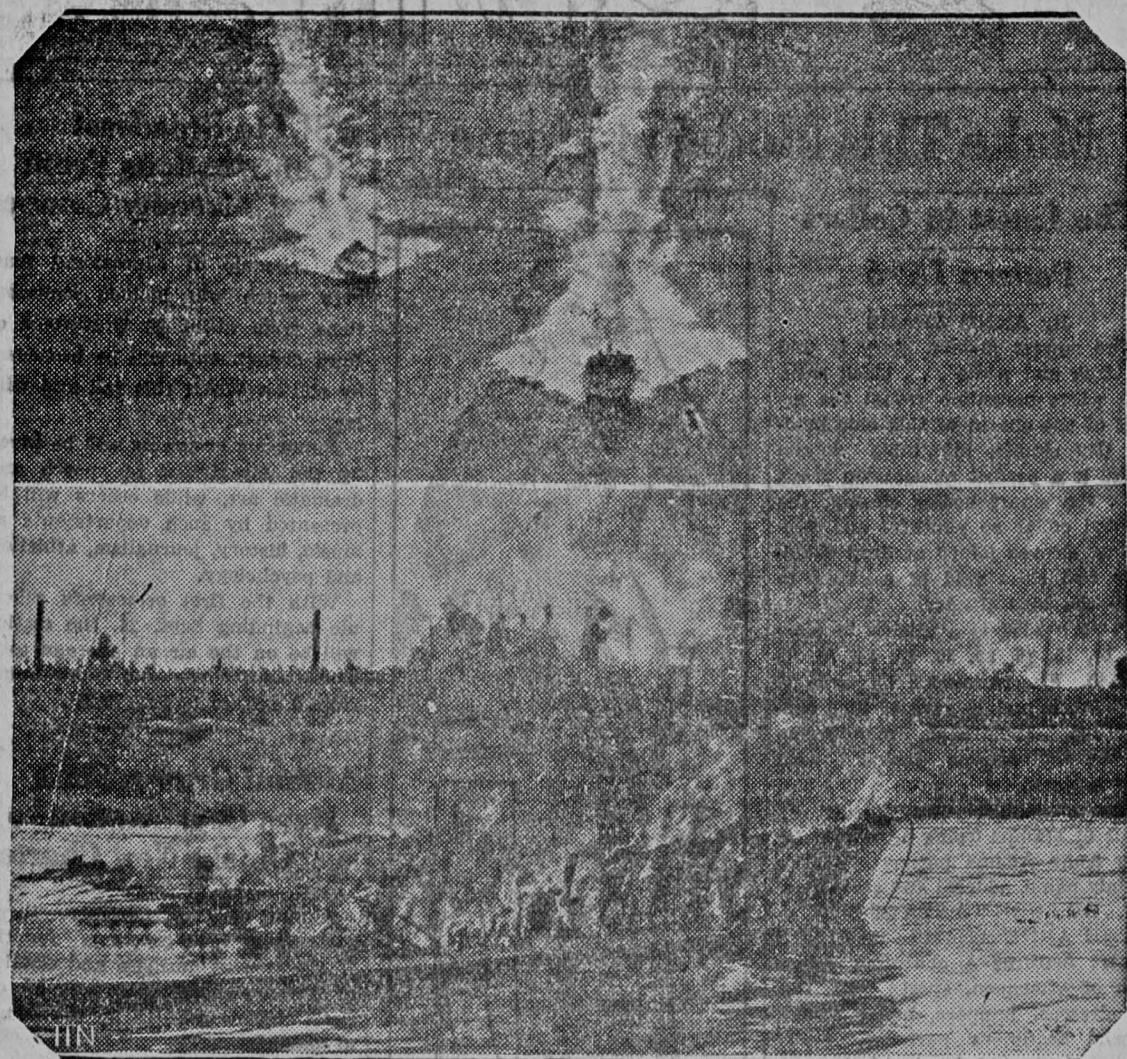

The game, which opens the season for both teams, is the first affair on the entire 1933 Western conference schedule. Booked as one of the Century of Progress exposition's athletic attractions, it also is the first appearance in recent years of a Hawkeye eleven on a neutral gridiron against a Big Ten foe.

The Giants made their only serious gesture in the fourth when Vaughan's error gave Hughie Critz a life. Bill Terry forced him and Peet's single put the runner on third. Then Mel Ott cracked a double for the only New York run.

French's single, Jensen's sacrifice and Lindstrom's double got back that run in the fourth and sent Hubbell to cover.

Foreign Tennis Luminaries Encounter Tough Opposition at Forest Hills

CAR WOOD KEEPS HARMSWORTH TROPHY

Easily outclassing Hubert Scott-Paine and his Miss Britain III, Gar Wood's Miss America X took both heats of the Harmsworth Trophy race last week. Photos show the American boat going into the lead (top) while the lower picture shows the Horace Dodge entry, Delphine V, burning after catching fire at the start. The pilot and mechanic escaped.

Pirates Beat Giants, 6 to 1 in 1st Game

Send Hubbell to Showers in Four Innings Yesterday

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 5 (AP)—The second place Pirates brought New York's flying Giants down with a crash today, winning the first game of their important series 6 to 1, battering Carl Hubbell, the Giants' ace southpaw, into submission and reducing the losers' lead to 6 1/2 games.

Hubbell was knocked out in the fourth inning as the Buccos halted his three game winning streak and his string of consecutive scoreless innings at 24.

Lindstrom Doubles

Fred Lindstrom, who left the Giant family to join up with Pittsburgh this season, drove the great left hander to the showers with a double down the left field foul line that scored Larry French with the fourth run.

Settle, who piloted the winning balloon from Basle, Switzerland, in 1932 and thus brought this year's competition to America, landed the navy balloon last night near Bradford, Conn., about 800 miles from the starting point at Curtiss-Wright-Reynolds airport here 52 hours previously.

The distance attained by the young naval commander, who is licensed to pilot any type of ship that floats or flies, and his aide exceeds considerably that of three other balloons which have been reported.

It was considered possible, however, that two balloons not yet reported down might have gone even farther than the navy craft. They were the Polish entry and an American civilian balloon piloted by Ward Van Orman of Akron, O., dean of ballooning in the United States, assisted by Frank A. Trotter.

The crew of the Polish balloon was Capt. Francized Hynek and Lt. Zbignski.

It was possible, they said, that the Polish or the Van Orman balloon might have drifted far into Canada.

In addition to Settle's, the balloons already down in the event which started Saturday, are those entered by Germany, France, and Belgium.

Settle-Kendall Navy Balloonists Look Like Winners in International.

Mahaffey Limits New York to Three Blows

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 5 (AP)—The Athletics and the New York Yankees divided doubleheader today with a mixed display of good pitching and hard hitting that didn't get either team anywhere. The A's won the first 6 to 1 and the Yanks the second 9 to 6 to stand 9 1/2 games behind the Washington Senators.

Roy Mahaffey held the Yanks to three hits in the opener while Jimmie Foxx clouted his fourth homer of the year off Lefty Gomez in the sixth. Mahaffey allowed Lyn Lary to single on his first pitch, then didn't grant another until two were out in the ninth, when Lou Gehrig tripled and scored on Ben Chapman's single.

Gehrige opened the Yankees' firing in the nightcap with his twenty-third homer of the season to aid Charley Devens in his argument with "Sugar" Cain and Rube Walberg. Chapman and Frank Crosetti also hit boundary belts for the Yanks and Roger Cramer for the A's.

Senators Win Two From Boston

BOSTON, Sept. 5 (AP)—Although out in both games, the league leading Washington Senators today took both ends of a doubleheader from the Boston Red Sox. An in-field error enabled the Senators to capture the 11 inning opener by a 5-4 margin and they slugged four Boston pitchers for a 9 to 6 decision in the second contest.

"Dusty" Rhodes started the Senators in the eleventh by passing "Buddy" Meyer and was relieved by Bob Weiland, who gave way almost immediately to Bob Kline. Meyer went to third on two infield outs and scored the winning run when Will Werber fumbled Fred Schulte's grounder down the third base line.

Harold "Bud" Foster, star center for three years on Wisconsin basketball teams, including the 1928 Big Ten co-champions, will assist Coach Walter Meanwell with the Badger cagers this year.

Iowa Varsity Coaches Mold Football Plans

Ossie Solem, Rollie Williams, and Otto Vogel, the coaches who will develop the University of Iowa's 1933 football team, were here yesterday, formulating final plans for the opening of practice Sept. 15.

The head coach, Solem, returned from the boys' summer camp near Annandale, Minn., while Williams has been at a camp near Woodruff, Wis. except for last week when he taught basketball in a coaching course at Gustavus Adolphus college.

With the exception of two weeks, Vogel spent the summer in Iowa City.

official times at bat against the Yankees, Foxx wallop a home run, double and single, bringing his average up three points to .363. Mantle dropped a point to .332 with three hits in 10 tries while Kuhel failed to connect in eight times up.

The standing: G. A. B. R. H. Pct. Klein, Phils ... 124 450 .85 190 .383 Foxx, A's ... 127 488 109 177 .383 Davis, Phils ... 115 410 42 142 .346 Munson, Natl. ... 132 568 104 192 .332 Schulch, Phils ... 98 355 54 116 .327

The standing: G. A. B. R. H. Pct. Klein, Phils ... 124 450 .85 190 .383 Foxx, A's ... 127 488 109 177 .383 Davis, Phils ... 115 410 42 142 .346 Munson, Natl. ... 132 568 104 192 .332 Schulch, Phils ... 98 355 54 116 .327

But he has 11 lettermen, 14 other squad men and 30 youngsters to work with.

By The Associated Press

Jimmie Foxx had all the better of the batting argument with Heinie Manush, his only Big Six clouting rival to get into action yesterday. Joe Kuhel, hardly more than an onlooker in the race, also played but he slumped clear out of the sextet, giving third place in the American league to the idle Simmons. In five official times at bat against the Yankees, Foxx wallop a home run, double and single, bringing his average up three points to .363. Mantle dropped a point to .332 with three hits in 10 tries while Kuhel failed to connect in eight times up.

The standing: G. A. B. R. H. Pct. Klein, Phils ... 124 450 .85 190 .383 Foxx, A's ... 127 488 109 177 .383 Davis, Phils ... 115 410 42 142 .346 Munson, Natl. ... 132 568 104 192 .332 Schulch, Phils ... 98 355 54 116 .327

But he has 11 lettermen, 14 other squad men and 30 youngsters to work with.

By The Associated Press

Jimmie Foxx had all the better of the batting argument with Heinie Manush, his only Big Six clouting rival to get into action yesterday. Joe Kuhel, hardly more than an onlooker in the race, also played but he slumped clear out of the sextet, giving third place in the American league to the idle Simmons. In five official times at bat against the Yankees, Foxx wallop a home run, double and single, bringing his average up three points to .363. Mantle dropped a point to .332 with three hits in 10 tries while Kuhel failed to connect in eight times up.

The standing: G. A. B. R. H. Pct. Klein, Phils ... 124 450 .85 190 .383 Foxx, A's ... 127 488 109 177 .383 Davis, Phils ... 115 410 42 142 .346 Munson, Natl. ... 132 568 104 192 .332 Schulch, Phils ... 98 355 54 116 .327

But he has 11 lettermen, 14 other squad men and 30 youngsters to work with.

By The Associated Press

Jimmie Foxx had all the better of the batting argument with Heinie Manush, his only Big Six clouting rival to get into action yesterday. Joe Kuhel, hardly more than an onlooker in the race, also played but he slumped clear out of the sextet, giving third place in the American league to the idle Simmons. In five official times at bat against the Yankees, Foxx wallop a home run, double and single, bringing his average up three points to .363. Mantle dropped a point to .332 with three hits in 10 tries while Kuhel failed to connect in eight times up.

The standing: G. A. B. R. H. Pct. Klein, Phils ... 124 450 .85 190 .383 Foxx, A's ... 127 488 109 177 .383 Davis, Phils ... 115 410 42 142 .346 Munson, Natl. ... 132 568 104 192 .332 Schulch, Phils ... 98 355 54 116 .327

But he has 11 lettermen, 14 other squad men and 30 youngsters to work with.

By The Associated Press

Jimmie Foxx had all the better of the batting argument with Heinie Manush, his only Big Six clouting rival to get into action yesterday. Joe Kuhel, hardly more than an onlooker in the race, also played but he slumped clear out of the sextet, giving third place in the American league to the idle Simmons. In five official times at bat against the Yankees, Foxx wallop a home run, double and single, bringing his average up three points to .363. Mantle dropped a point to .332 with three hits in 10 tries while Kuhel failed to connect in eight times up.

The standing: G. A. B. R. H. Pct. Klein, Phils ... 124 450 .85 190 .383 Foxx, A's ... 127 488 109 177 .383 Davis, Phils ... 115 410 42 142 .346 Munson, Natl. ... 132 568 104 192 .332 Schulch, Phils ... 98 355 54 116 .327

But he has 11 lettermen, 14 other squad men and 30 youngsters to work with.

By The Associated Press

Jimmie Foxx had all the better of the batting argument with Heinie Manush, his only Big Six clouting rival to get into action yesterday. Joe Kuhel, hardly more than an onlooker in the race, also played but he slumped clear out of the sextet, giving third place in the American league to the idle Simmons. In five official times at bat against the Yankees, Foxx wallop a home run, double and single, bringing his average up three points to .363. Mantle dropped a point to .332 with three hits in 10 tries while Kuhel failed to connect in eight times up.

The standing: G. A. B. R. H. Pct. Klein, Phils ... 124 450 .85 190 .383 Foxx, A's ... 127 488 109 177 .383 Davis, Phils ... 115 410 42 142 .346 Munson, Natl. ... 132 568 104 192 .332 Schulch, Phils ... 98 355 54 116 .327

But he has 11 lettermen, 14 other squad men and 30 youngsters to work with.

By The Associated Press

Jimmie Foxx had all the better of the batting argument with Heinie Manush, his only Big Six clouting rival to get into action yesterday. Joe Kuhel, hardly more than an onlooker in the race, also played but he slumped clear out of the sextet, giving third place in the American league to the idle Simmons. In five official times at bat against the Yankees, Foxx wallop a home run, double and single, bringing his average up three points to .363. Mantle dropped a point to .332 with three hits in 10 tries while Kuhel failed to connect in eight times up.

The standing: G. A. B. R. H. Pct. Klein, Phils ... 124 450 .85 190 .383 Foxx, A's ... 127 488 109 177 .383 Davis, Phils ... 115 410 42 142 .346 Munson, Natl. ... 132 568 104 192 .332 Schulch, Phils ... 98 355 54 116 .327

But he has 11 lettermen, 14 other squad men and 30 youngsters to work with.

By The Associated Press

Jimmie Foxx had all the better of the batting argument with Heinie Manush, his only Big Six clouting rival to get into action yesterday. Joe Kuhel, hardly more than an onlooker in the race, also played but he slumped clear out of the sextet, giving third place in the American league to the idle Simmons. In five official times at bat against the Yankees, Foxx wallop a home run, double and single, bringing his average up three points to .363. Mantle dropped a point to .332 with three hits in 10 tries while Kuhel failed to connect in eight times up.

The standing: G. A. B. R. H. Pct. Klein, Phils ... 124 450 .85 190 .383 Foxx, A's ... 127 488 109 177 .383 Davis, Phils ... 115 410 42 142 .346 Munson, Natl. ... 132 568 104 192 .3

Stock Prices Drag Lower in Quiet Day

Declining Commodity Markets Prove Costly

NEW YORK, Sept. 5 (AP)—Declining commodity markets provided an unfavorable background for stocks today and prices dragged lower in quiet trading.

With wheat heavy and cotton influenced by private estimates placing the crop above the government's Aug. 1 forecast, stocks dropped through the first few hours with slight changes, mostly recessions. Toward the close, however, offerings increased and quotations gave ground readily, just as they had advanced in the final minutes last Friday. Net losses of 1 to 4 points or more were plentiful. Volume totalled 1,253,040 shares.

Gold mining issues were fairly firm at times. Chemicals bogged down, Allied losing 7 net and Du Pont and Union Carbide nearly 3. U. S. Steel and Bethlehem each lost a couple of points. Farm implements sympathized with grain markets, while rails and wet shippers skidded. New York Central, National Distillers, Santa Fe, U. S. Industrial Alcohol, Case and Union Pa-

Sister to Settle Arbuckle's Property

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 5 (AP)—Special letters of administration of the estate of the late Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle, screen comedian, were granted today to his sister, Mrs. Nora Arbuckle St. John.

Mrs. St. John stated she believed Arbuckle left an interest in real estate and personal property in California and wanted permission to search through his property.

Arbuckle died in New York city June 29. His widow Mrs. Addie McPhail Arbuckle, has petitioned New York courts for authority to probate his $2,000 estate there.

Specific flopped approximately 4 points. American Telephone, American Can, General Electric, General Motors, Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, Sears, Roebuck, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Consolidated Gas, Western Union, Harvester and Southern Pacific dipped 1 to 3 net.

News over the holiday appeared to have provided few, if any, fresh clues as to probable fall business trends. Early September is normally a time for cheerfulness, since trade begins to anticipate the larger requirements of the autumn season, and considerable optimism has been expressed over prospects for this year.

Money markets were flabby and some dealers quoted still lower rates on time funds.

Authorities in Vain Attempt to Help Deer

WATKINS GLEN, N. Y., Sept. 5 (AP)—Balked in a "big push" to drive the Watkins Glen deer from its prison home on a rocky ledge in the Glen gorge, authorities hoped today a trial of baited corn would get the seven point buck from the predicament in which it has spent 11 days.

Seven men, lowered 50 feet from the top of the cliff, tried in vain to corral the animal and drive it across the bridge constructed a week ago.

Several times during the chase the buck leaped over the end of the bridge, camouflaged with evergreens and moss, but refused to cross. Death for the animal in the chasm below appeared imminent after the chase became active and the men were hauled up.

A trail of corn, baited with a preparation attractive to deer supplied by Michigan State college, was laid across the bridge while a detail of state police kept tourists at a distance of 1,000 feet.

Jubilant over the record-breaking attendance of more than 100,000 persons over the holidays, park officials said they were considering asking permission to let the deer remain where it was until weather conditions made a change imperative.

Banks Must Issue Credit Says F. D. R.

Necessary for Full Benefit of NRA Act

CHICAGO, Sept. 5 (AP)—President Roosevelt told the bankers of America today he expected them to unleash the flow of credit and enable industry and commerce to take the fullest advantage of the national recovery act.

"I am confident you will work with me to meet the credit needs of industry and trade," he said in a speech read by a deputy before the annual convention of the American Bankers association, attended by 5,000 bankers from over the nation.

Two of the administration's spokesmen—Governor Eugene R. Black of the federal reserve board and Chairman Jesse H. Jones of the Reconstruction Finance corporation—expressed in even stronger tones a demand that banks loosen their credits.

Up to Bankers

Black declared the government had made provision for the bankers to make credit more elastic, saying:

"Now, it's up to you to do it."

"The blue eagle should be on the vault door as well as on the bank window," Jones said. "The greatest obstacle to the NRA would be failure of banks to extend available credit for every unit in our economic structure."

Roosevelt reviewed the history of banking over the last six months—since the national bank holiday was declared and the emergency banking act was passed. He said that steady progress had been made since that time, but continued:

"I do not mean to suggest that the task is finished. We have before us continuing duties for bankers, depositors, and the government in the development and maintenance of the highest standards in bank organization and management."

Much to Accomplish

"We still have much to accomplish in making credit facilities adequate for the national recovery we are bringing about. The banks must play an important part in making increased loans to industry and commerce.

"Loans can be made and will be made. I want you to know that we rely on your organization for its cooperation in furthering the free flow of credit so essential to business enterprises. Only if this is done can employers do their full part in the great recovery program under way."

The president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Still professing ignorance as to the identity of the man who socked him at a Long Island party recently, Senator Huey P. Long, Louisiana's "Kingfish," leaves the auditorium at Milwaukee, Wis., where he addressed the Veterans of Foreign Wars convention. The senator denounced reporters, the new deal, John D. Rockefeller and practically helpless.

Longer the president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Longer the president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Longer the president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Longer the president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Longer the president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Longer the president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Longer the president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Longer the president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Longer the president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Longer the president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Longer the president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Longer the president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Longer the president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Longer the president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Longer the president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Longer the president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Longer the president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Longer the president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Longer the president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Longer the president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Longer the president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Longer the president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Longer the president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Longer the president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Longer the president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Longer the president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Longer the president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Longer the president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Longer the president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Longer the president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Longer the president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Longer the president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Longer the president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Longer the president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Longer the president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Longer the president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Longer the president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Longer the president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Longer the president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Longer the president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Longer the president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Longer the president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Longer the president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Longer the president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Longer the president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Longer the president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Longer the president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Longer the president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Longer the president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Longer the president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Longer the president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Longer the president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Longer the president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Longer the president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Longer the president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Longer the president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Longer the president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Longer the president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Longer the president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Longer the president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Longer the president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Longer the president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Longer the president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Longer the president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Longer the president said he understood the courage and judgment required after a period of drastic liquidation in appraising security and extending credit. He declared the matter required immediate attention from the bankers toward "putting savings to gainful use."

Long

NRA Campaigns in County, City Continue Full Speed for Final Wind-Up Drive

Nearly 1,200 Consumers Sign Pledges to Back Blue Eagle

Iowa City and Johnson county NRA campaigns continued in full strength this week, with a wind-up effort to get consumer's signatures on buying pledges here, and with a meeting at Lone Tree last night to organize an NRA committee.

Nearly 1,200 consumers in Iowa City signed pledges to support merchants who are "doing their part" in a campaign conducted by women's organizations under the direction of Mrs. Thomas R. Reese last week.

Solicitors said that almost every person approached was willing to sign the pledge. Two new workers, Mrs. Grover Watson and Mrs. D. P. Fitzpatrick, will solicit pledges in the fourth ward this week, and Mrs. Paul Otto is replacing Mrs. Jane Hauber in Morningside addition.

Aid in Campaign

Several members of the Iowa City Chamber of Commerce went to Lone Tree last night for supper, and to aid merchants there in the organization of an NRA campaign.

The complaints committee will meet at 7 o'clock tonight at the American Legion Community building, according to Mr. Crum, to interpret the blanket code in regard to individual problems and to deal with offenders.

Amend Blanket Code

New amendments to and interpretations of the blanket code were received yesterday by Postmaster Charles A. Bowman and may be examined by any merchant. The new provisions deal with union contracts, individual difficulties in complying with the code, and with individuals, not employers, who wish to sign the agreement.

Nudist Gives Woman Scare

WATERLOO, Sept. 5 (AP)—A nudist gamboling over the fairways of Gates Parks public golf course here this afternoon in naught but nature's suit, apparently didn't know that Capt. William Uri and two policeman in civilian dress were playing a game of golf during off duty hours at the time.

Attracted by a woman player's screams, the officers hurried to her assistance.

"There's a nude man down in that ravine," she exclaimed. "He went that way," she pointed out. Although unable to see their object the police hurried through a "rough" of brush, brambles and high grass until they came to a shack maintained by a local gun club. The door was locked, but after some minutes of effort they battered it down.

Inside they found a man dressed in shirt, trousers, cap and shoes, whom they arrested for investigation.

He gave his name as Harold Wright, 34, and a local street address. Police said they knew him as a former taxi driver.

State Park Plans to Get Airing at Meeting Tonight

All persons interested in the purchase of lots in the proposed state park may attend a meeting at the American Legion Community building at 7:30 this evening, according to D. W. Crum, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Crum has completed the drawing of a large map, showing the exact position of the lots, and the outline of the proposed park. This map and others will be exhibited at night.

Since the park plans were first announced, it was revealed yesterday, 67 persons have bought cottage sites in the park.

Roller Skates Under an Automobile Cause Scare for Boy, Man

A pair of roller skates gave James Dolceal, 1121 N. Summit street, and an unidentified boy a scare yesterday afternoon that left their faces white and their knees shaky.

Mr. Dolceal, delivering goods for McNamara's Furniture company from the Strand theater, saw a youth on roller skates dart out between two cars and slide with his feet before him between the front and rear wheels of a moving automobile.

He dived, got the boy by the shoulders, and yanked him out just in time to save him from being run over by the rear wheels. The boy was too frightened to give his name.

Man Who Fought for "Blue Eagle" Fined

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 5 (AP)—Robert Wright, unemployed cook who beat Max Komen, restaurant man and forced Komen to kiss a "blue eagle" emblem, was fined $500, the maximum punishment, on a charge of peace disturbance today. He will appeal.

Applied

Sunday Accident Sends Martha Mabe to Hospital Injured

Martha Mabe, of near Iowa City, was in University hospital yesterday with scalp wounds received early Sunday morning when a car, in which she and three other persons from near Iowa City were riding, left the road and knocked over two telephone poles and one tree at Iowa and Muscatine avenues.

Robert Montgomery, one of the occupants of the car, was fined $25 and costs for intoxication Sunday morning by Police Judge Harold Westermarck.

Other persons riding in the car were Ernest Mabe and Al Kurles. All four were injured, but none of them were seriously wounded.

State Park Plans Given to Kiwanians

Crum, Anthony Outline Program at Regular Club Meeting

Plans for the proposed 800 acre state park in Johnson county were discussed at the Kiwanis luncheon at the Jefferson hotel yesterday by D. W. Crum, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, and Dr. E. J. Anthony, chairman of the committee which has made arrangements for the park.

The speakers described the park, telling how it would contain the largest lake in east and southeastern Iowa, and pointing out that it would be within 20 miles of 110,000 persons.

May Deed Lots

If 100 cottage lots are sold, Mr. Crum stated, the rest of the land will be deeded to the states. The entire project will be paid for by the sale of these lots, by the state, and the work would be done by the civilian conservation corps workers.

To complete the park, Doctor Anthony explained, would mean the building of $65,000 worth of roads by the state, and this and other expenditures would bring a large sum of money into this community. Both speakers urged Kiwanians to support the project and to encourage the purchase of lots.

D. J. Edwards of Iowa City was a guest at the luncheon.

FAROUND THE TOWN with DICK FAGAN

Almost Perfect

Labor Day, according to the police, who ought to know, was quieter this year than it has been for the last several years. Only four drunks disturbed the peace of the community.

Peace

Police, therefore, had a fairly peaceful time. Lyle Murray was fined for speeding, but otherwise all was well.

Heroes

Yesterday city employees went out into Iowa City streets, dodged autos, and suffered heat while they painted new parking lines. Sheepbacks, placed to protect the wet streaks of yellow, made the street resemble a track set for a hurdle race.

Plenty Paint

The entire paint job will be completed in a few days. This "paint up" campaign is conducted by the city twice yearly, and each time it takes 35 gallons of paint to do the job, according to Police Chief W. H. Bender. And each gallon costs about $1.80.

Plenty Pinch

As soon as the paint is down and students begin to return, police will start an intensive campaign against parking rule violators, the chief said yesterday. Because the downtown district has seldom been congested this summer, police have been lenient concerning parking violations. But not from now on.

Humane

Dorothy Sutton, who is secretary to the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, reports that she has rescued a tiny pup from starvation.

She found the dog yesterday and has been trying to feed it olive oil, but it will eat nothing but fish. Thus its name—"Fish."

Here's Hoping

And Ruth Frerichs, Girl Scout executive, reports that she found, and is carefully preserving, a four leaf clover. She is also busy making out a detailed report of Girl Scout camp.

Applied

Paul Scheetz, 21, and Marguerite

DIXIE DUGAN—Euphemista!

DIXIE DUGAN—At Work!

In Strike Tragedy

Double Guard Holds Bailey Behind Bars

Spotlight Plays on Other Underworld Characters

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 5 (AP)—As forces of the law concentrated attention on the kidnaping of Charles F. Urschel in readiness for the federal court trial of Harvey Bailey, Albert Bates, and nearly a dozen others charged in the abduction, developments involving the activities of other underworld characters claimed the spotlight today.

A double guard stood watch inside and outside the old county jail building where Bailey was imprisoned late yesterday after his spectacular escape from the Dallas county jail and recapture at Ardmore. The jail's exterior is floodlit at night.

Held with the two outlaws are Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Shannon and their son, Armon, on whose farm Bailey was captured while asleep several weeks ago.

At Dallas a rigid investigation of the jail break was under way. Written statements by jail attaches and officers will be turned over to federal authorities. A federal grand jury will look into the mysterious escape.

Worked at Night

Nick Tresp, jail turnkey who was kidnaped by Bailey at the time of his escape, stated that Bailey told him all the work of sawing the bars of his cell was done Sunday night and Monday morning.

Tresp quoted Bailey also as declaring he brought the saw into the Dallas jail hidden on his thigh by adhesive tape, and that he found the pistol used in the getaway in a matress.

Dallas authorities revealed that an inquiry failed to show a pass for James Mathers, Bailey's attorney who went to Dallas last Friday to talk with the outlaw. It was explained Mathers entered the jail with another lawyer from Ft. Worth who had a pass.

There remained some uncertainty whether Bailey would be tried here in the kidnaping case before being taken to Kansas City for trial in connection with the Union station plaza slayings in which four officers and Frank Nash, a federal prisoner, lost their lives.

The brief said that to go back to the time during the alleged conspiracy when Capone was here would be to violate the statute of limitations.

Attorney General Cummings is to decide whether to grant permission for Capone's removal from the southern prison where he is serving 11 years for income tax evasion.

Health Champion Has Touchy Tonsils Anyway

MT. PLEASANT, Sept. 5 (AP)—Clista Millspaugh, Iowa 4-H club health champion, underwent a tonsil operation today.

Clista lost several points in the health contest at the state fair last week because of her failure to have her tonsils removed. Other demerits were for skin blemishes, tooth fillings and a cracked leg bone.

She hopes to raise her score several points higher in preparation for the national contest at Chicago through the tonsillectomy and dental work and treatments for her skin.

Rohret, 19, both of Oxford, made application for a marriage license at the court house yesterday.

By J. P. McEvoy and J. H. Striebel

By J. P. McEvoy and J. H. Striebel

BIG FIRE SALE

STARTS TODAY SEPT. 6

$35,000 Stock of High Grade WALL PAPER, PAINTS Must be closed out quickly

Our fire loss has been adjusted

We have received a satisfactory adjustment from the insurance companies for our fire loss and are now ready to close out our entire stock of WALL PAPER and PAINTS. No item is offered for sale that is not usable. Every article is priced to you at a remarkable savings.

Entire Stock Must Be Sold

Every piece of merchandise that was in our store at the time of the fire is to be closed out regardless of former costs. We have made prices alluring enough to move everything in a very short time. The Big Fire Sale continues until nothing remains.

Below Are Some Typical Wonder Bargains in This Biggest Bargain Carnival of the Year.

Sheep Wool SPONGES formerly 65c Now— 27c	ABSORBENE Wall Paper Cleaner 3 for 15c 6 can limit	ALABASTINE 5 lb. package formerly 65c now 27c	FLOOR VARNISH formerly $4.50 gallon now $2.27
--	--	--	--

Here Are the Wall Paper Bargains for All Time

WALL PAPER Formerly 8c Now—Roll 3c	WALL PAPER Formerly 10c Now—Roll 4c	WALL PAPER Formerly 12c Now—Roll 5c	WALL PAPER Formerly 14c Now—Roll 6c	WALL PAPER Formerly 16c Now—Roll 7c	WALL PAPER Formerly 18c Now—Roll 8c	WALL PAPER Formerly 20c to 35c Now—Roll 9c	WALL PAPER Formerly 35c and up Now—Roll 10c
---	--	--	--	--	--	---	--

STILLWELL PAINT STORE

VERN BALES

216 E. Washington Street

F. R. NOVATNY