Cuban Army, Navy Officers Get 24 Hours to Accept New Regime

Ultimatum Issued by Island's New President as Insurgents Urge Return of de Cespedes

Open Conflict Unlikely, But Officers Will Fight If Attacked

(Copyright, 1933, By The Associated Press)

HAVANA, Sept. 11 — President Grau San Martin tonight told Colonel Horacio Ferrer that the army and navy officers in practical rebellion at the hotel National must come to terms with the new government within 24 or 36 hours.

Ferrer, secretary of war and the navy in the regime of Carlos Manuel, they had lived on berries, suffering of five which gave way to Grau San Martin, has acted as representative for the officers several times.

Junta Refuses
He formally presented a demand to the junta that it step down to make way for the return of de Cespedes last week. The junta refused to do so.

Returning to the hotel after his conference with the president, Ferrer declared the officers were determined to continue as long as possible to push their demands for the return of de Cespedes to the presidency.

"Can't Return to Posts"
"It is impossible," he said, "for these officers to return to their posts now. They can not be expected to take orders from their former sergeants."

Asked if there was any possibility of an open conflict, the colonel said: "I doubt it very much, but if the officers are attacked, they are prepared to defend themselves."
The 500 officers are determined that "undesirables" shall not "steal the glory" for the overthrow of the Machado regime.

Eight Killed by Accidents in Week End

(By The Associated Press)

Automobile and hunting accidents, an explosion and accidental fall, and drownings contributed to the death toll of eight Iowans over the week end.

Margaret Muir, 18, of Bagley, and Ralph Hood, 23, of Cromwell, were killed in two automobile accidents. Miss Muir was killed when a car overturned between Jefferson and Panama. Hood was the victim of an auto-truck crash at Creston.

William J. Freytag, 58, of Burlington, was killed when hit by an auto on a highway near Burlington.
The explosion victim was Mrs. Anna Etzel, 43, of Davenport, who was fatally burned in a blast while pouring gasoline into a pressure stove.

John F. Mulken, 70, of Waterloo, retired railroad engineer, died of a skull injury suffered when he fell down a stairway at his home.

Harold Harton, 10, Ida Grove, was killed when a rifle accidentally discharged while he was hunting with companions. The bullet pierced his heart.

Robert Workman, 28, of Muscatine, drowned in an attempt to rescue his sister-in-law, Stella Bennett, who was saved by her brother. The body of Mrs. Charles M. Allard of Fairfield was found in the Boy Scout swimming pool at Fairfield. She apparently had committed suicide.

F. A. O'Connor May Succeed Kenyon in Federal Court Post

ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 11 (AP)—F. A. O'Connor of Dubuque, Ia., former United States district attorney, is mentioned as a possible successor to the late Federal Judge William S. Kenyon by the Pioneer Press in its tomorrow's edition.

Reports in Minnesota Democratic circles, the Pioneer Press article states, indicate O'Connor as a strong possibility. O'Connor served eight years as district attorney under the late President Woodrow Wilson and was chairman of the Iowa delegation at the Chicago national Democratic convention which nominated President Roosevelt.

New President

Dr. Ramon Grau San Martin, Cuba's latest president who was named to office Sunday by a junta which assumed control only a week ago, is leader of the island's fourth regime in a month.

Recognition of Cuba Likely Fourth Regime Will Be Okayed by U. S. If Stable

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11 (AP)—Secretary Cordell Hull in a statement late tonight said the United States is prepared to welcome any Cuban government "representing the will of the people of the republic and capable of maintaining law and order throughout the island."

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11 (AP)—Relaxing into an attitude officially described as watchful waiting, the United States today gave informal assurance that Cuba's fourth regime in as many weeks would be recognized formally if it could pass the high test of stable government.

Ability to Protect Life
From both President Roosevelt and his chief diplomat, Secretary Hull, came intimations that recognition depended directly upon whether the government headed by Dr. Ramon Grau San Martin gained the support of the Cuban people and could demonstrate its ability to protect life and property and meet its obligations.

The administration thus apparently sat back to await developments, but with its ring of warships still drawn around the island and with troops prepared for instant movement should American life and property be considered threatened.

Tension Not Absent
Tension at the state department had let down but was not absent. Diplomatic officials kept in almost constant touch with island developments. Early reports were that conditions generally remained quiet, save for what termed sporadic agitation and disorder.

Ambassador Welles prepared to remain at his Havana post indefinitely should there be need. Secretary Hull said Welles was continuing, for the present at least, under what he described as a tacit understanding. He indicated there was little likelihood Welles would return to this country on September 15, as originally planned.

Not Taken Up Formally
Speaking to newspapermen today, Hull undertook to make clear that the question of recognizing the new regime had not been taken up formally by the administration. It was too early, he said, to attempt to appraise the new government, and no request for such appraisal had been made.

How Will Present Conditions Affect Education in 1933-34?

By RADER WINGET
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

(EDITOR'S NOTE: How the public school system of the nation is meeting the attacks of the depression is told in this article, third and last of a series.)

Schools of the nation are welding salary cuts, shortened terms and other economies in an effort to stave off what some see as a possible breakdown in the educational system as the 1933-34 term opens.

The situation is shown in a survey of the country by The Associated Press, with the general view punctuated here and there by exceptions.

Salaries have been reduced as high as 50 per cent; in some cases last year teachers worked for board and room only. Most of the reductions are 10 to 25 per cent with many cuts this year coming on the heels of similar reductions last year.

Some states are keeping schools open at the expense of the teachers, the faculties cooperating with "voluntary" or "permissive" salary reductions.

Diligent efforts to protect the school system are reported in many states. Massachusetts department of education heads say: "It is gratifying to report that all the statutory safeguards that have been erected in more than 100 years for the preservation of education seem at the present, at least, to be firm and secure."
In New York it is reported: "The education department has been pressed by the state to make every possible economy without impairing child education."

James R. Rule, Pennsylvania state superintendent of public instruction, says: "Present indications are that the temporary permissive cuts in salary will permit a much greater number of school districts to keep open for the entire legal term than otherwise might have been expected."

Terms Reduced

Charles A. Lee, Missouri state superintendent, predicts the extent of term curtailment for the coming year will be determined by "how many months the teachers are willing to donate their services."

Terms in Michigan will be reduced from the normal 40-week period to from 18 to 30 weeks in about half the districts, it is reported. Wisconsin will have many districts where terms are "materially shortened," but most sessions will be normal. (Continued from page 1)

Bandits Rob Express Co.

St. Paul Office Looted by Masked Squad of Robbers

ST. PAUL, Sept. 11 (AP)—A squad of bandits obtained loot police said would total between $60,000 and $100,000 as they surprised two employees of Railway Express Agency, Inc., today and carted away two heavy chests, one weighing 700 pounds, the other 200.

Quick Sortie
Leaving a sedan in the semi-darkness of a maze of pillars beneath the Union depot eight men, each masked by a white handkerchief, made a quick sortie which officers tonight said had left them without clues.

A few minutes before the raid other employees had been summoned to remote parts of express company quarters by telephone calls. Investigators said this apparently was done to remove them from the hold-up scene.

Cash, Drafts, Vouchers
Cash, drafts and vouchers consigned to Minneapolis banks from financial houses in 30 or 40 communities in Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa the Dakotas and Montana were in the metal containers.

How much of each was taken will not be determined pending a check which C. A. Mall, local express company superintendent said might require a week. While police said they had information placing the total at between $60,000 and $100,000 Mall said it might be somewhat less.

Mall said he believed the gang had "inside information" regarding movement of the valuables because shipments are made irregularly several times weekly.

Seals to Denote Re-Employment to Arrive Today

Iowa re-employment seals to give added recognition to employers who fulfill the letter and the spirit of the National Recovery Act are expected to arrive here tomorrow, according to word from Fred M. Powell, information director of the state recovery board.

D. W. Crum, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, will receive the seals, which will be distributed to merchants beginning Sept. 15. They are for display along with the blue eagle. They carry a space to show the actual number of new employees who have been added by each merchant under the NRA.

Fifty thousand seals were ordered by the state board and the first copies were received yesterday.

Two Projects at University Are Approved

State Public Works Board Recommends Dormitory Fund

Recommendations for a new dormitory fund of $205,000 and hospital repairs to cost $28,571, were passed yesterday by the state public works board, as part of a list of 33 projects proposed to federal public works officials.

An Associated Press dispatch from Des Moines said that these items had been selected from applications for grants made by the state board of education for the University of Iowa, and were approved in yesterday's list, the first from Iowa.

Dormitory Fund

The dormitory fund, if granted, will be used for several projects. Quadrangle, men's dormitory, will be remodeled. The entrance lobby will be altered, and guest rooms will be built.

The remainder of the fund will be used to build a new dormitory for law students, to be erected on the west campus.

The fund for hospital repairs will be used for remodeling psychopathic hospital. A new roof will be built, several rooms will be altered, and new rooms will be built in the basement.

Plans Drawn Up

University officials said last night that plans for the remodeling projects are already drawn up, and work could be started immediately, if the grants are approved by the federal government. Preliminary plans for the new dormitory have been drawn up, and work could be started about a month after the grant is made, it was learned from an official source last night.

These two proposals are a part of a program of permanent expansion of the university. They were selected at the first meeting of the public works board out of applications totaling nearly a million dollars, made some time ago by the state board of education.

Other Projects

Other projects in the program are a fine arts colony, improvements in the university power house, and walling of the Iowa river to aid in flood prevention.

The 33 projects approved by the state board total $2,742,771, with individual items ranging from less than $1,000 to more than $600,000.

The largest individual item is the construction of a sewage disposal plant at Cedar Rapids, which cost $683,160. Storm sewers at Des Moines, to cost $285,714, make up the second largest request approved by the state board.

Other large applications are: Franklin county, secondary roads, $284,455; Ottumwa, coliseum, $163,000; Dallas county, secondary roads, $131,000; Des Moines, public park improvements, $130,000; and Shenandoah, water works, $125,000.

In Washington the requests must be approved by the public works assistants, then by the general board, and finally by Administrator Ickes.

The requests approved for the University of Iowa, as well as the Fire Prevention Planned for Iowa

DES MOINES, Sept. 11 (AP)—New officers of the Iowa State Fire Prevention association today outlined a comprehensive campaign for the state.

Fred E. Brake of Des Moines, president, said that in addition to the usual committees, eight regional supervisors were named to stimulate and supervise fire prevention work in all sections of Iowa.

University Alumna Dies at Humboldt

Mrs. Lorna Sproule Smith, a graduate of the University of Iowa, died suddenly yesterday afternoon, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Humboldt.

Mrs. Smith was the daughter of the late Dr. E. W. Sproule.

Fund for Jobless Has $207 Balance

The weekly report of the American Legion unemployment bureau shows a balance for Sept. 9 of $207.65.

The report showed a balance on hand of $93.50, with receipts from the Junior Chamber of Commerce of $200, making a total of $293.50. Disbursements of $85.85 left the reported balance. The report was issued by Mrs. B. E. Chehock, secretary of the bureau.

Balloonists Found

Ward T. Van Orman, famous American balloonist, and Frank A. Trotter (top), entrants in the Gordon Bennett balloon race, were found yesterday between Sudbury and Abitibi canyon in northern Ontario after they had been missing for more than a week.

Balloonists Found Safe

Last of Bennett Cup Racers Rescued in Ontario

SUDBURY, Ont., Sept. 11 (AP)—Ward T. Van Orman and Frank A. Trotter, James Gordon Bennett cup balloonists missing more than a week, were found today, ill and their clothing torn after they had cut down a telephone pole in the Canadian wilds to make sure searchers would come and get them.

They had lived on berries, suffered from ptomaine poisoning, worn through their shoes and cut their clothes to ribbons in the bush.

"Glad to See Me"

"I never saw two men in my life who were so glad to see another human being," said James Barrett, lineman for the Ontario Hydro-Electric company, who found them. "They hollered with glee and hugged and kissed me as soon as they saw me."

With Van Orman and Trotter found, all the Bennett cup racers, who took off from Chicago Sept. 2, have been accounted for. Apparently the winners are Captain Franciszek Hynke and Lieutenant Zbygniew Burzynski of Poland, who landed near Riviere A Pierre, Que., 812 miles from Chicago. Van Orman and Trotter made about 500 miles.

Telephone Trouble

Trouble with a telephone line was what led to the discovery of the two balloonists, and they had caused the trouble for exactly that purpose.

When Repairman Barrett reached the cut-down pole, between Sudbury and Abitibi canyon in northern Ontario, he found this note:

"This telephone pole was cut Sept. 10 by U. S. Goodyear balloon team of W. T. Van Orman and Frank Trotter in the hope that repairmen would aid us in getting to civilization from here. We will continue south along the high voltage line. Please come after us. We have a gun and some food, but are both sick evidently from ptomaine poisoning. Fire your gun three times and we will answer. Please hurry."
(Signed) F. A. Trotter.

Forgot About Pole

Barrett forgot about the pole and continued along the high voltage line for about five miles. In a camp at tower No. 35, a lineman's outpost, he came upon the worn-out aeronauts. Arrangements were rushed through to get them transported to Sudbury as quickly as possible.

Would Hasten Liquidation

DAVENPORT (AP)—District Judge W. W. Scott received a proposal to hasten liquidation of debenture bonds held by depositors of the American Savings Bank and Trust company, now in receivership. He set Sept. 26 for hearing.

Legion Picks Schell to Be Commander

Succeeds Gatens as Head of Local Post

Robert S. Schell, 331 S. Johnson street, will be commander of the Roy L. Choquet post of the American Legion for the year 1933-34. He was elected to succeed James E. Gatens in the post at a meeting at the American Legion Community building last night.

Other officers elected last night are: Capt. R. V. Rickard, vice-commander; Ellis Crawford, adjutant; Delmar Sample, finance officer; Frank Merik, chaplain; Elmer Dewey, sergeant-at-arms; and K. M. Dunlop, historian. Charles C. Fieseler and Major Will J. Hayek were chosen to serve with the commander, vice-commander, and the finance officer on the executive committee.

Resident for Nine Years

Commander Schell has been a resident of Iowa City for nine years and is employed with Sidwell's Dairy company. He has been active in American Legion work since the World war and is first district Chemist of the Forty and Eight, social organization of the Legion.

A letter was read at last night's meeting from Congressman Edward C. Eicher announcing that he will be in his office at Washington, D. C., during the month of October to assist veterans from the first Iowa district who wish to make appeals concerning their compensation from the government.

$10 to Red Cross

The organization voted to give the Iowa City Red Cross chapter $10. The post has paid all the Red Cross' telephone expense since July 1.

K. M. Dunlop, C. A. Boyles, and Claude E. Reed were named to arrange a program for the Legion chow two weeks from last night.

$120,000 to Be Paid by Local Bank

More than $120,000, representing a 15 per cent dividend, will be distributed to depositors in the old First National bank beginning tomorrow morning, according to C. O. Craig, receiver.

The payment will bring the total dividends to be paid out by the bank since its closing Jan. 19, 1932, to 70 per cent, representing a total of more than $460,000, Mr. Craig said.

Tomorrow's payment will benefit 1,800 depositors. Receiver's certificates should be brought by depositors to the receiver's office in the First Capital National bank in order to obtain their dividend checks.

This will be the third dividend to be paid by the bank. The first was for 40 per cent and the second for 15 per cent.

Graduate Named to Clarinda Post

H. W. Posten, graduate of the University of Iowa, was named manager of the Clarinda water works, it was learned here yesterday.

Mr. Posten was a graduate student here and assistant to Prof. Jack Hinman of the college of medicine, and water analyst. He received his bachelor's degree last year, and was working on an advanced degree in sanitary engineering.

Sentenced for Forgery

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—J. W. Macklem, 25, James, Ia., pleaded guilty to a charge of second degree forgery in district court today and was given an indeterminate sentence of 10 years in the St. Cloud reformatory by Judge Paul W. Gullford.

Stole for Bride—Is Jailed

COUNCIL BLUFFS (AP)—Elmer Wright, 22, was sentenced to five years in the Anamosa reformatory for breaking into a house and obtaining goods valued at $100 in the hope of establishing a home for his 16 year old bride of a few weeks.

Administration Hints at Prosecution of Profiteers

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11 (AP)—Direct action to curb "profiteering" and compel compliance by employers with the NRA program of more jobs for the unemployed was planned tonight by the directors of the Roosevelt administration's emergency program.

Hugh S. Johnson, the NRA chief, trovesy, still hopeful of a substantial agreement by midweek that would permit the promulgation of a code without its being "imposed" by the government.

Would End Violations

While concentrating on this troublesome situation, however, he told newspapermen that within the next day or two he would announce plans for ending violations of codes and agreements by employers who display the blue eagle.

At the agricultural adjustment administration, meanwhile, George N. Peek, the director, gave emphatic warning he intended to "safeguard the farm recovery program from being jeopardized by unreasonable prices to the consumer."

Specific Example

Referring specifically to charges of profiteering within the textile industry, the first group to come under an NRA code, Peek said in a statement that he and his associates "had a keen interest in searching out and preventing unjustifiable increases on manufactured products."

This declaration by Peek was supplemented by a statement by Fred C. Howe, consumer's counsel for the agricultural administration, that manufacturers and dealers "who represent an unjustifiable share of increased prices for cotton goods as due to the cotton processing tax are exposing themselves to prosecution."

Programs Coordinated

Peek and Johnson, who are old business associates, have been coordinating their programs as closely as possible, but there are no indications whether their present moves to obtain compliance with the spirit of the agreements by employers were planned jointly.

Johnson declined to elaborate with regard to his plans for proceeding against employers who avoid taking on more employees.

Gilmore Talks for Chicagoans

Dean Eugene A. Gilmore of the University of Iowa college of law will address a meeting of the Chicago Rotary club, at Chicago, this afternoon at 12:15 (11:15 central standard time).

The subject of Dean Gilmore's address will be "What price recovery." He will consider some of the legal aspects of the national recovery drive.

The speech will be broadcast over station WMAQ, and will be carried on the National Broadcasting company chain. It is under the auspices of the Chicago Rotary club and the Constitution Educational association.

'We're in the Army Now'—Becomes New Police Theme Song

Wanted—a dozen or so Sam Brownie belts. Address all answers care of Chief W. H. Bender of the Iowa City police department.

No, the police force has not joined the army. At least, not yet.

It all came about when Iowa City's chief law enforcer asked his staff of night stick swingers if they would care to order Sam Brownie belts to decorate the local uniforms. The answer was unanimously in the affirmative.

And so Iowa Citizens will be dazzled in the near future by the reflection of the sunrays, or street lights, as the time of day may warrant, coming from the splendor of new belts around the waists of the local arm of the law.

Jury Probes Death

ELK POINT, S. Dak. (AP)—A coroner's jury was considering the death of Claude Rust, 35, former Elk Point resident, whose body was found Sunday in a ditch. A pistol lay on the running board of his car and his body, with a bullet in the head, was nearby.

The Navy Plans a Holiday

IT IS NOT with unmixed applause that the American public accepts the announcement that the United States navy is contemplating "the most ambitious non-stop mass flight ever attempted" as a gesture in answer to the visit of General Italo Balbo and his armada.

Of course there is little need for re-urging the old question of whether or not such flights contribute anything really valuable to aeronautical knowledge. No agreement could be reached anyway.

But to the average layman such a junket would seem worse than useless just now, when every effort is being made by all other agencies to reduce expenditures to the barest minimum.

It will be remembered that the Italian flight cost $3,000,000 which, while it might seem to the navy an insignificant sum, is to the rest of us a good many dollars to be spent on a gesture of doubtful value.

Perhaps the navy is not considering a cost quite so great for its return call. But surely the navy would not contemplate a lesser flight than that of the Italian's. Balbo's trip was successful because of the infinite amount of planning and preparation for which it is now more famous than the flight itself.

If there were to be any value in an American flight it surely would require the same sort of precision planning, and that costs money. If the navy is planning this little holiday just for its own amusement or for ballyhoo, someone should put an abrupt stop to the whole affair.

Censorship and the Common Man

WILL THE DAY ever arrive when governments will learn the important truth that censorship of the press is authority's death warrant?

Recently Brazil included still more subjects to the already long list not to be mentioned in the Brazilian press. Some of the forbidden subjects now include:

References to disturbances or attempts to perturb public order; references to communistic disorders in any country as well as doctrinaire explanations of Communism, Bolshevism or anarchism; news of troop or police movements, unless given out by official sources; financial or economic comments of destructive character which might injure the credit of the country; comments or declarations that might effect international relations or public order; news or comments tending to create either public or private scandals; comments or news articles of separate tendencies among the states.

It is hardly an exaggeration to say that much of the political unrest in many countries is due in large part to this very tendency to prostitute the integrity of newspapers to the advantage of political groups.

Many persons have expressed surprise that the United States has been able to maintain its faith in the old conservative ideals of democracy in the face of circumstances which could easily drive a people to radicalism and anarchy. The answer, almost unquestionably, is freedom of speech and of the press.

Had the newspapers in this country been censored several years ago; had all mention of communistic or anarchistic activities been banned; had no editor been allowed to express his dissatisfaction with the policies of the government; had no orator been allowed to stand on a soapbox and orate concerning his views of capitalism and in favor of revolution—the result would have been revolution, almost inevitably.

Instead, the common man in the United States has kept his head as he has in no other country, unless it might be England. He has recognized fully the myriad inequalities of a social system that has ground him under foot. He has seen the product of his own labor being gathered into the unworthy hands of men who produce nothing. He has seen graft and corruption in high places.

He is demanding a change, but not by bloody revolution.

He will get the change for which he asks. And this is something which should be learned by censoring rulers. The common man always gets the change for which he asks, somehow, soon or late, inevitably.

Shakespeare and Soap

Modern developments sometimes bring most surprising things into juxtaposition. The connection between soap and Shakespeare, for example, does not immediately leap to the eye. Their names share a couple of letters; but two letters do not necessarily imply a close correspondence.

Yet the influence of soap on Shakespeare may turn out to be quite considerable, for it has just been announced that one of the fellowships established under a bequest of the first Lord Leverhulme, the celebrated soap manufacturer, has been awarded to Prof. J. Dover Wilson of London university for the purpose of research into the text of Shakespeare. Soap will, therefore, indirectly help in the cleaning up of dark places in Shakespeare's writings. And to what better purpose, indeed, could soap be used?

Some scholars are convinced that it is not really known who wrote Shakespeare; while it is almost certain that it is not entirely known what Shakespeare wrote. At any rate, if what Shakespeare wrote is what is printed in the editions of his plays, in many cases no one knows what he meant. Malvolio's remark, for example, concerning the lady of the Strachy who married the yeoman of the wardrobe has puzzled many a student of "Twelfth Night." There are many passages in the comedies, histories and tragedies that will afford Professor Wilson a wide field for activity.

Similar enterprises to Professor Wilson's have in the past been attended by happy results. Few lines in Shakespeare are more widely familiar than those in "Macbeth" referring to the "temple-haunting martlet." Yet until research established the true reading in 1709 it had been supposed that Shakespeare wrote the "temple-haunting barlet," which quite spoils the poetry of the passage. Similarly, the line "Or dedicate his beauty to the sun" in "Romeo and Juliet" had "same" for the final word until the scholar Theobald amended it to its present form. Since such jewels have rewarded former researchers, who knows what treasure may yet be revealed?

GOOD MORNING

The meeting of bankers in Chicago calls up the important question of the extent to which the banks are essential to the success of the recovery drive and the extent to which they are cooperating to fulfill their part in the common effort.

A growing dissatisfaction with the lack of progress under the NRA has of late made itself disagreeably articulate. The reason can be found in large measure in the continued restriction of credit on the part of the banks.

If business men conform to the NRA both in letter and in spirit, as they must if the program is to be a success, they are raising wages far above the level which would logically be supported by increases in revenue. They are adding more men and paying them more money in anticipation of future profits. All of which costs money, hard cash which must be drawn out of reserves.

But what of the small merchant whose reserves disappeared under heavy assaults during the last three years? He must turn to the banker to furnish him with sufficient capital to carry him over the hump and into the valley of Eldorado where rising profits will balance the increased labor costs. But do the bankers loan him the money?

They insist, with a righteous inflection, that any legitimate borrower can obtain money. Yet there is the cases of the small manufacturers mentioned by President Roosevelt the other day who, though he had a $150,000 order from the United States Steel corporation, could get nothing from the banks. This is not a lone example, by any means.

The ultra-conservative attitude of the bankers is easy to understand. Most men would be conservative after learning the lesson they learned in 1931 and 1932. But sympathy for their attitude surely cannot be allowed to stand in the way of success of a nation-wide attempt to pull out of the economic doldrums.

The bankers, by their own argument, are unwilling to take a chance. Yet the whole program of the NRA is based on the willingness of everyone, producers, consumers, bankers, and all, to take chances for recovery. And in any movement of this kind the bankers are the logical leaders. In this instance they are the followers instead.

There is one argument of the bankers which is perfectly reasonable, and in it lies the secret of their failure to perform their part as they should. They contend that the banking system, almost alone in the industrial set-up, has been left unreformed.

This is true, and regrettable. Despite the Glass banking bill, which was more or less emasculated by the friends of state banking departments, the NRA must depend upon a banking system which is hardly more unified than before the bank holiday.

The fault lies principally with the administration. It had an excellent opportunity while the banks were closed to override opposition to unification and to mold the nation's banks into some semblance of unity. It is paying now for its failure to do so.

But recovery cannot be allowed to fall by the boards on this account. The government already has tried to overcome banking hesitation—inevitable in such a hedge-podge system—by offering to enter into partnership with banks by supplying them with new capital in return for preference shares.

This is all right if its effect is forthcoming without too much delay. But the nation cannot sit and twiddle its thumbs waiting for bankers to agree. If it does the whole recovery scheme will get out of hand, as many think it is beginning to do already.

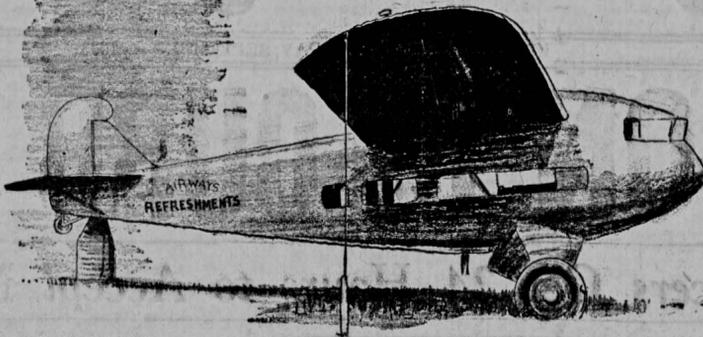

If the present over-caution continues, the government might feel constrained to go over the heads of the bankers and loan directly to business men, as General Johnson already has suggested. The effect of such a move on the banking system might be imagined. The government, instead of being the biggest banker in the United States, might possibly become the only banker.

The administration has taken upon itself the gigantic task of bringing this country back to prosperity. It cannot be expected to stand helplessly by while its efforts are neutralized by the failure of a single unit in the scheme, whether that failure is the fault of the bankers or of itself. The result is too important.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN HOLLYWOOD

STUDIO GOSSIP

SCREEN COMMENT

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 11—They tried to talk me out of announcing it, but Frances Dee and Joel McCrea are engaged.

Hot after a report that Hollywood's most romantic sweethearts would marry during a three weeks' vacation from the studio, I called Frances on the phone at Malibu.

Joel answered the phone. I asked him if they were engaged. He referred me to Frances. To the direct question, she said:

"Yes, I suppose we are." After that, she tried to tell me that Joel hadn't given her a ring and Joel tried to tell me that they'd known each other only for two months, but the admission was out.

There's no doubt that these two are in love and intend to marry. Joel always has said that he never would marry an actress, but he admits he has changed his mind. It wouldn't surprise me to see them take the step any day now. But the best I could get out of them was: "We'll be sure to let you know."

Jim Davis, who keeps the stars in shape at Paramount, has figured out that Mae West has the identical proportions of Venus de Milo. Told of this, Mae's swell retort was: "That may be so but I have it on the Venus because I have two arms and know how to use them; besides I'm not marble."

Actually, the West figure is free of fat. When the blonde star came out here to make her first picture, she went to Davis and suggested taking off a few pounds around the hips and bust. He advised her to let nature's curves alone, but to take some extra ounces off the back and waist. An inveterate early riser, Mae got up at 7 a.m. to take exercises and repeated in the evening. Davis says she showed more endurance than any man he has ever trained. The West muscles are strong, too. She lifted the 150 pound Davis off the floor with one arm.

Remember the epoch-making scene where James Cagney hit Mae Clarke in the face with a grapefruit in "The Public Enemy"?

When Mae reported for work the other day in another Cagney picture, she found in her dressing room a whole crate of grapefruit. An attached card read: "For internal use only, James Cagney."

further publicity on the gowns she had made in Paris. Wonder if she's changed her mind about giving up the trousers or if she's merely planning a grand entrance... There's a story behind the cancellation (by mutual consent) of Arlene Judge's contract at R-K-O. Arlene was sent to another studio for a picture and refused to do a certain scene. Don't blame her either if the scene was as described... Kleig eyes are making an appearance in Hollywood again. Irene Dunne's got them, so has Jack Dempsey.

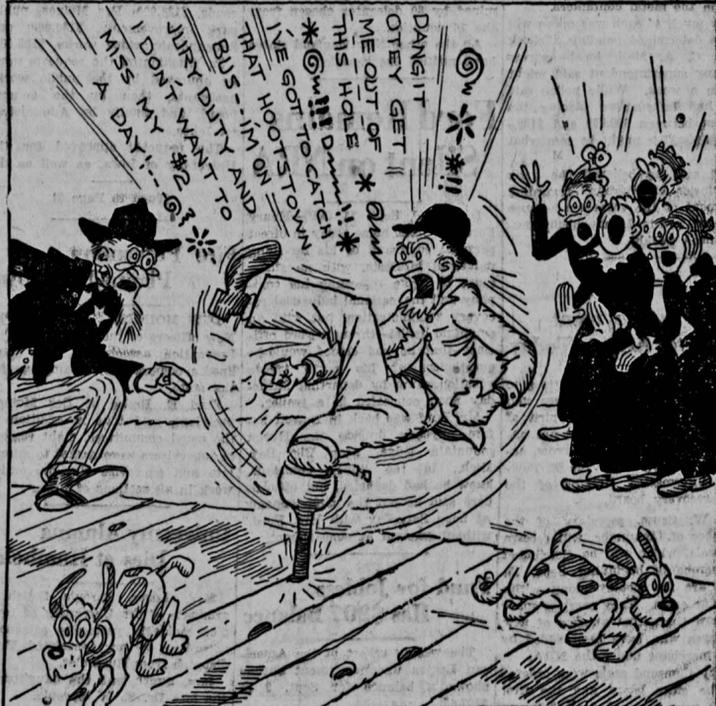

To avoid holding up the "Dancing Lady" company, M-G-M is shooting close-ups of Joan Crawford, whose ankle is too badly swollen to do dancing scenes. It's no uncommon practice, y'know, for stars to wear bed-room slippers when making closeups. Jeanette MacDonald often does it, so does Kay Francis.

DID YOU KNOW—That Lillian Harvey, making her stage debut in Vienna, slipped in a dance, fell into the orchestra pit, bounced off a kettle drum into the lap of a front-row spectator who turned out to be Robert Land, a film director? He waited after the show and signed her for a picture.

Revolt of Youth Indicated at Young Democratic Club Convention Furnishes Food for Thought

By KIRKE SIMPSON WASHINGTON, Sept. 11—There may be food for White House thought in what happened at the Kansas City convention of Young Democratic clubs.

It is not only the applause with which the convention met an attack on "set speeches" by "new dealers" who traveled out from Washington to deliver them but the number of empty seats in the hall which will attract attention.

Both the Republican and Democratic campaign organizations made efforts last year to capitalize on the revolt of youth in post war days about which so much has been printed.

Young Republican and Young Democratic drives were organized. Yet looking over the rally programs prepared for these political fledglings then or now, the "set speech" by party oldsters of varying importance seems to have had a large share in every menu.

"Are we going to spend three days here on a set program of speeches by these men from Washington when we came here to discuss problems close to the hearts of all young men and women in the Democratic movement?" demanded the Kansas City delegate who raised the question.

The Colonel's Problem The bystander can well believe that ultimately that inquiry will under the eye of the astute Louis McHenry Howe, president secretary and, when all is said done, chief political strategist of Roosevelt regime. Postmaster General Farley is party national chairman, to be sure, and the man goes booming publicly about business of perfecting machinery insure a second term; but Col. Howe is the lad who sits back, thinks out the strategy.

He Looks Ahead

Just how a way is to be found give the young party followers chance to get their own oar play instead of being victims "set speech" barrage every they foregather it will be interesting to note. That is just the sort question Colonel Howe likes tackle.

An illustration of how far he lo ahead lies in the new press-clipping service under NRA auspices he setting up. Nominally it has to only with keeping a fast check tionally on press reaction to NE moves.

The bystander understands, however, that its clipping will be done on a far wider scale. Eventually will furnish the White House with an illuminating daily digest of what is being said as to all phases Roosevelt administration activity.

Alumni Will Present Bust of Prentiss, Former Professor

Presentation Will Be Feature of S.U.I. Homecoming

Alumni of the college of medicine will present to the University of Iowa a bronze portrait bust of the late Dr. Henry J. Prentiss, former head of the anatomy department, at a luncheon meeting, to be a feature of the university Homecoming program, Oct. 20 and 21.

The presentation will commemorate the service of Dr. Prentiss to the university and to the teaching of medicine. The luncheon will be open to all who wish to participate in the ceremony honoring the former teacher.

Done by Mrs. Siems The portrait is the work of Mrs. Alice Little Siems, a graduate of the University of Iowa. Mrs. Siems used as a model a portrait of Dr. Prentiss which she had made during his lifetime.

Dr. Prentiss became head of the anatomy department in 1904 and served in this capacity until his death in 1931. During the last two years of his life, he was an invalid, but he continued to direct his teaching activities from a wheelchair.

Formed in 1927 The alumni association of the college of medicine was formed in May, 1927. It was organized with a two-fold purpose—to cooperate in promoting cordial relationships between the college of medicine and the medical profession of the state, and to perpetuate the memory of those men who have been active in developing the college of medicine and bringing it to its present high position.

The first man who was selected for this honor was Dr. Prentiss. At the time the choice was made he was still living, and it was hoped to make the presentation in his presence. The bust will now honor his memory as a man, as well as his work as a teacher.

Luncheon The luncheon at which the memorial will be presented will be held Oct. 21, Homecoming Saturday. This will be a part of the traditional program, which will begin the evening of Oct. 20, with a mass meeting and conclude the following day with a football game between Iowa and Wisconsin.

Plans for the Homecoming program are being drawn up by a faculty committee of seven, headed by Prof. Forest C. Ensign of the college of education.

Some states say the length of terms will be determined by financial developments.

In many states salaries under the $1,000 mark are most in evidence. Some few still are paying more than $2,000 yearly to teachers.

New Taxes Aid Schools Practically all southern states aid impoverished districts through an equalization fund in an effort to insure the meeting of minimum requirements.

The West Virginia legislature decreed a complete reorganization of the state school system, reducing county boards of education from 400 to 55. New taxes to yield $10,000,000 were provided.

South Dakota's new gross income tax law will send 50 per cent of the revenue to the educational system. In Minnesota $6,000,000 in supplemental aid will be borne by the City's Social Season Begins Moving Toward Fall Schedule

Luncheons, Dinners, Meetings for Many Are Taking the Place of "Tea for Two" as Society Gets Back to Normal

"Tea for two" has given way almost entirely to luncheons, dinners, and meetings for many, and the leisure hours of Milady are rapidly being filled with engagements. For the social season is getting back to normal again, and many a hostess is seeing possibilities in the cool, crispness of early autumn, and the wealth of color manifested in seasonal flowers, to entertain.

Guests from out of town are still being feted here and there these days. And various organizations about town are planning meetings as their members return from vacations, and are enthusiastic for a full program for the coming year.

All in all, judging from the wide range of social events listed on this week's calendar, localities are going to have great fun "getting into swing" again.

Edith Rockwood To Be Honored

Edith Rockwood of Washington, D. C., a committeewoman sent out from the national office of the League of Women Voters, will be feted by members of the local league at a luncheon tomorrow noon at the Red Ball Inn. Miss Rockwood is traveling to the various leagues throughout the west.

Approximately 20 women are expected to attend the luncheon, which has been planned by a committee headed by Mrs. Clarence Van Epps and Mrs. Julian Boyd.

An opportunity will also be given at the luncheon for the formulation and discussion of plans for the local league during the coming year.

Five local members leave this morning for Grinnell, where they will attend a meeting of the state board of the organization at the Faculty Women's club house. Miss Rockwood will be a speaker at the meeting.

Included in the party which will attend the meeting are Mrs. Homer Cherrington, president of the state league; Mrs. Minerva S. Knight, president of the local league; Mrs. Harold Anderson; Mrs. Boyd; and Mrs. Dorrance White.

Miss Rockwood will return with the group, and will stop with Mrs. Cherrington while she is in Iowa City.

Woman's Club To Meet Friday

Prominent among the first club meetings this week is that planned by the Iowa City Woman's club for Friday afternoon at Iowa Union.

The executive board will convene at 2 p. m., and members of the club are requested to meet at 2:30 p. m. to dispose of business in order that the program may begin promptly at 3 p. m.

The program is to be given under the auspices of the garden department. Mrs. Louis Pelzer will speak on "Flowers for fall and winter," and there will be an autumn flower display in charge of Mrs. H. C. Parsons, Mrs. Frank T. Breene, and Mrs. L. O. Bender.

Tea will be served by the social committee of the general club, with Mrs. L. R. Benson, chairman, in charge.

Members of the federated clubs of Johnson county, Mrs. Emil Hessel-schwerdt of Kalona, district director, and Mrs. P. B. Olsen of Iowa City, county chairman, will be special guests.

Mrs. Hamsa Entertains 25

Afternoon teas, with their charm of old silver service, lace tea-cloths, and delectable sandwiches and cakes are endorsed by hospitably-minded Iowa Citizens as a favorite type of party.

Yesterday afternoon Mrs. W. R. Hamsa, Seventh avenue, entertained a group of 25 women at her home as a courtesy to her mother, Mrs. Mary E. Brodegaard of Los Angeles, Cal., who has been visiting here.

A display of Danish peasant pottery in blue and yellow lent a color note. Multi-colored zinnias formed the centerpiece.

Assisting Mrs. Hamsa as hostess were Mrs. Forrest Powell and Mrs. A. C. Richmond.

Mrs. Brodegaard leaves today for a short visit in Chicago, but will return to Iowa City to be the guest of Mrs. Hamsa for several weeks.

Methodist Ladies Aid Meets Tomorrow

With the Seger circle as hostess, members of the Ladies Aid society of the Methodist church will open their fall club program tomorrow with a meeting at 2:30 p. m. in the church parlors. Devotions will be led by Mrs. Edward Weber.

The program to be presented will consist of a poem by Mrs. Emerson G. Hoopes, a chalk talk by Mrs. Fred Oberst and two musical selections by a sextet.

New members of the church, desiring someone to call for them, should communicate with Mrs. Harry L. Seger, 6729.

Mrs. Harry Bunker Plans Luncheon Today

The cozy informality of the small luncheon makes interesting conversation easy, and Mrs. Harry Bunker utilized this knowledge when she planned a luncheon for this noon. Honored guest at the event is to be Mrs. George Horner's mother, Mrs. Marsh of Springfield, Ill., who has been visiting at the Horner home for the last week. The luncheon table will be arranged for four guests at the Bunker home, 804 Ronalds street.

Mrs. Fred Ruppert Entertains A.O.C.

Mrs. Fred Ruppert, 419 Pleasant street, will entertain members of the A.O.C. club at their regular meeting tonight at 7:30. Games of bridge will be the diversion of the evening.

Two Couples to Repeat Vows Today

Iowa City's roster of brides is increasing by leaps and bounds. Marriage vows will be repeated by two more couples today, when Martha Lusk becomes the bride of Thomas Wilkinson at 8 o'clock this morning, and Helen Husted and Eugene Richter are united in marriage at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

A quiet ceremony has been planned by Miss Lusk and her fiancé, to be solemnized in the rectory St. Patrick's church. The Rev. P. J. O'Reilly will officiate.

More than 200 guests are expected to attend the Husted-Richter wedding. The event will take place at the First Presbyterian church, and the Rev. E. T. Gough, pastor of the Methodist church at Mt. Vernon, will read the service.

Pre-Nuptial Courtesy Given for Bride-Elect

Despite the general excitement and feverish preparation of purchasing her trousseau, choosing her silver, and performing the hundred and one other little things expected of every bride-to-be, she is always thrilled by the showers and social events planned in her honor. Several such events have been given for both Miss Lusk and Miss Husted.

Priscilla Crain and Mabel Stromsten were co-hostesses Sunday evening when they honored Miss Husted at a shower at the Stromsten home, 121 Richards street. Short verses were the clues in a treasure hunt which led to a shower of gifts for the honoree.

Guests present were Georgia McCollister, Marguerite Stevens, Helen Davis, Dawn Barger, Virginia Shadle, Mrs. R. H. Justen, Miss Husted, and Mr. Richter.

Mrs. Zent to Be Hostess at Bridge

Teas, bridge, and sociability seem to go hand-in-hand. Mrs. E. G. Zent will be hostess to 11 women at an informal bridge-tea tomorrow afternoon at her home, 519 Rundell street.

Guests will be Mrs. Van Crawford, Mrs. William Hageboeck, Mrs. Harry Bunker, Mrs. Harry Newburn, Mrs. F. J. Liechty, Mrs. Ray Ebert, Mrs. L. M. Cubison, Mrs. Charles S. Gallher, Mrs. Ralph B. Freyder, Mrs. Clark Cooper, and Mrs. R. H. Justen.

Entertainers' Club Plans Minstrel Show

Black-faced comedians will make merry tomorrow at 8:30 p. m. at the Odd Fellows hall as members of the Entertainers' club give a minstrel show.

Eight members of the club will participate in the program, and Janice Phend is in charge of the event. Dancing will follow the entertainment. The show is open to the public.

W.M.B. Society Plans First Meeting

Resuming its work after the summer vacation, the W.M.B. society will meet at the home of Mrs. A. J. Page, 428 S. Johnston street, at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow. All members are requested to attend.

Congregational Women To Open Program

Meeting at the home of Mrs. T. D. Davis, 611 S. Clinton street, members of the Ladies Aid society of the Congregational church will open their program tomorrow afternoon. Mrs. J. R. Hughes will assist Mrs. Davis as hostess.

Bethlehem Shrine To Meet Tomorrow

Bethlehem Shrine No. 8, White Shrine of Jerusalem, will convene for a business session at 8 p. m. tomorrow. After the meeting, a social program will take place, with card games and other entertainment planned.

20 Iowa Physicians, Surgeons Gather Here for S.U.I. Course

Latest Developments in Surgery Will Be Explained

TODAY'S PROGRAM
Morning
Children's Hospital
8-12—Orthopedic surgery.
Afternoon
General Hospital
1:30-5—Discussion and clinical demonstrations of otolaryngology.

Latest developments in methods and practice of surgery will be discussed and demonstrated as 20 Iowa physicians and surgeons gather here today for the first day's program of the University of Iowa's surgical survey, a post-graduate course in surgery.

The course, which will extend through Friday, will include instruction in five fields of surgery—orthopedic surgery, otolaryngology, genito-urinary surgery, general surgery, and gynecology. Eighteen staff members of University hospital will present the courses of instruction.

The four-day meeting, an annual affair, is limited to 20 registered Iowa physicians, and lectures and demonstrations will be open to this group, already enrolled.

Two phases of surgery will be considered in today's gatherings. In the morning, from 8 to 12, Dr. Arthur Steindler, head of the orthopedic surgery department, will present his course in that field. Chronic disease of the shoulder joint and spine, certain deformities of the bones, internal derangement of the knee, and routine treatment for low back pain, are some of the subjects to be discussed.

This afternoon three staff members will offer instruction and demonstrations in otolaryngology. Dr. Dean M. Lierle, head of the otolaryngology department, will lead ward rounds from 1:30 to 3:30. Dr. Ralph A. Fenton of the college of dentistry will have charge of a course in cysts of the mandible and fractures of the jaw, which will occupy the attention of the group from 3:30 to 4.

Dr. Lierle and Dr. Paul M. Moore will give clinical demonstrations in this field from 4 to 5 o'clock, concluding today's meetings.

PERSONALS

Prof. Ernest Horn, who, with Mrs. Horn has been vacationing for the last three weeks at Estes Park, Colo., has returned to his home, 832 Kirkwood avenue. Mrs. Horn will return later this week.

Mrs. Arthur J. Cox, 104 E. Market street, is expected to return to Iowa City tomorrow night from Minnesota, where she has been vacationing for the last seven weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Lumbard, who have been houseguests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Stevens, 214 S. Summit street, left Saturday for their home in San Jose, Cal. Enroute they are stopping for a short visit at Des Moines.

Mrs. Milton Remley and her granddaughter, Mary Virginia Adams, leave today for Vermillion, S. Dak. Mrs. Remley will spend the winter with her son, John R. Doyle, and Miss Adams plans to enter the University of South Dakota for one year. She will return to Iowa City to take her sophomore work at the University of Iowa.

Gretchen Kuever, daughter of Prof. and Mrs. Rudolph A. Kuever, Melrose Circle, leaves this morning for Columbia, Mo., where she will enter Stephens college. Mrs. Kuever will accompany her daughter to Columbia, and plans to return to Iowa City Thursday.

William Ellsworth of Omaha, Neb., arrived in Iowa City Sunday. Mr. Ellsworth has been vacationing in the east, and plans to re-enter the University of Iowa this month.

Dr. and Mrs. Robert Gibson, 1029 E. Court street, left Sunday for a two weeks vacation in Baltimore, Md., Charleston, W. Va., and Hartford, Musings of one recently returned to the Iowa campus after a short absence: What a whale of a difference a few days make. . . Workmen busy tearing down ugly landmarks of an earlier day at the corner of Clinton street and Iowa avenue. . . Remodeling in liberal arts building almost finished, with the phoenix of two rooms arising from the ashes of the old auditorium. . . Workmen busy in the main lounge of Iowa Union, which looks pretty bare without carpets and furniture. . . The campus is covered with September's falling leaves, with here and there a patch of dried grass. . .

And if that isn't enough to prove a new school year is on the way, the teachers returning from vacations, the departmental offices reopening, prospective students wandering about the campus, and displays of text-books in book store windows, offer a more definite proof that the process of learning is about to be resumed.

From $235 to $417--That's All A Year's Schooling Need Cost

A year's education at a cost varying from $235 to $417, depending upon place of residence, may be obtained at the University of Iowa in 1933-34.

Two weeks before classes for the new year begin, university officials have computed the costs, declaring them to be the lowest in recent years.

It is most economical for the student to live in a cooperative dormitory. Without figuring such personal items as clothing, laundry, and travel expense, the total reaches only $235. Items include board and room, $90; tuition, $96; matriculation fee (for freshmen only), $10; books and incidentals, $28; and special items such as athletic year book, theater ticket and Daily Iowan subscription, $11.

A girl living at Eastlawn may complete the year with the expenditure of $310, with board and room, $165, as the greatest item. The man who lives in the field house dormitory may spend only $325, while the Quadrangle man's expense is $370 and that for the girl in Currier hall, $417.

The survey shows all of the expense items the same, with the exception of board and room costs. These range as follows: cooperative dormitories, $90; Eastlawn, $165; field house dormitory, $180; Quadrangle, $225; and Currier hall, $272.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

The Frisco doesn't get to Frisco: During the period of American railroad building when powerful railroad interests vied with one another for the best transcontinental route from the Atlantic to the Pacific, a new road was started out of St. Louis named the St. Louis-San Francisco, its backers aiming at the lucrative shipping ports on San Francisco bay. But though it has since spread its rails to Kansas City, Birmingham and Pensacola, Florida on the east, to Menard, Texas and other southwestern cities, the nearest it has come to San Francisco is Ellsworth, Kansas—1,500 miles away. Record Smashing Scores Recorded in National Amateur Golf

Title Holder, Texas Youth Top Players

Somerville, Munger Turn in Sub-Par Cards

KENWOOD COUNTRY CLUB, Cincinnati, O., Sept. 11 (AP)—The steaming battle for the amateur golf championship of the United States began today with a record-smashing outbreak of low scoring, paced by C. Ross (Sandy) Somerville, doughty Canadian holder of the title, and an 18 year old standard bearer of the younger generation, Jack Munger, Jr., of Dallas, Tex.

Deadlocked at 70 Somerville and Munger, each negotiating Kenwood's 6780-yards in 70, one under par, were deadlocked for a one-stroke lead over a field of 152 starters in the first 18-hole round of the 36-hole, two-day qualifying struggle.

Only one other player, George T. Dunlap, Jr., of New York, who occupied third place with a sparkling 71, was able to touch par for the opening round, but the rush to the low-scoring brackets was otherwise so thick and fast that the carnage may be terrific by the time the last shot of the qualifying round is fired tomorrow.

Only 32 can qualify for the match play, starting Wednesday with two 18-hole rounds morning and afternoon, but no less than 45 players had scores of 75 or better today. Nothing like it has ever been witnessed before in the 37-year history of the national amateur tournament, nor has the rampant charge of American youth ever been more pronounced.

It has never taken less than 152 before to qualify for the match play. This was the mark set last year but it seemed likely tonight that at least 151 and possibly 150 would be required to have even a chance to play off for the last qualifying positions.

Chance for New Record On top of the prospective scramble for the honor positions, there was the possibility that Somerville, Munger, Dunlap, or even some other shotmaker in the closely bunched field might set a new low record for the medal. The present mark is 142, held jointly by D. Clarke Corkran, Bob Jones and J. W. Fischer, the home-town Cincinnati boy who was the leader last year and on the heels of the pace setters today with a 72.

The great, the near great and the unknown joined the melee. Tied for fourth place were no less than seven players, including such favorites as Fischer, Johnny Goodman, of Omaha, the national open champion, Gus Moreland, Walker Cup star from Dallas, and a quartet of such altitude—Pat Sayer, of Minneapolis, Willie Turnesa, youthful member of the noted Turnesa clan, of Elmsford, N. Y., William R. Long, Jr., of Austin, Tex., a bank clerk making his debut in national competition, and Don Edwards of San Jose, Cal.

Four at 73. Four more were bracketed at 73, including Gene Homans, of Englewood, N. J., one time runner-up for the title. At 74 were Frank Dolp, of Portland, Oregon, Charley Yates, youthful Atlanta star whose fortunes were being followed closely by the great Bob Jones; Jack Westland of Chicago, 1931 runner-up, William Lawson Little, Jr., San Francisco star, and Boston's Bill Blaney.

Chick Evans, of Chicago, staged a comeback with a 75, the best score turned in by any of the small competing group of ex-champions. Behind him trailed Jessa Gullford of Boston with 76, Max Margston of Philadelphia and Chandler Egan, of Del Monte, Cal., champion in 1904-05, each with 77, and Jess Sweetser of New York, with a 79 that left him slim chance of qualifying.

Long Game Wins The "payoff" today was on the game featuring a long and well-directed belt off the tees. The weather and the course favored the booming type of game, characteristic of the younger generation, so long-hitting youths took their places with the more seasoned and accurate shot-makers. No less than 101 players—two-thirds of the field—broke 80.

Somerville, making a fine start in defense of the title he won from Goodman at Baltimore last year, needed all his experience and skill to match the sub-par 70 first posted by young Munger. The Texan, who won the eastern interscholastic this year, failed to qualify in his first national tournament last September, but he was off with the speed of a Texas jack-rabbit this time.

Munger Stars Out in 34, with an eagle on the 562-yard third where he was six in two remarkable shots, only six feet from the pin, Munger played beautiful golf throughout. Somerville's iron play was not as consistent as usual, but he was gen-

Washington, Giants Add to League Leads

Weaver Hurts Nats to 5-1 Victory Over Cleveland

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11 (AP)—Monte Weaver, the scholarly right hander, dusted the Cleveland Indians off in handy fashion today and led Washington's pennant-bound ball club a step nearer to the world series pot of gold.

9 1-2 Game Lead

By beating Cleveland 5 to 1, the Senators increased their American league lead to 9 1-2 games over the second place Yankees who were trounced by the Detroit Tigers.

With nothing more than an even break in their remaining 16 games, the Senators now would win the pennant even though the Yanks should sweep victoriously through the 18 contests left on their schedule.

Weaver gave up eight hits to Cleveland, but he kept them well scattered and no Indian crossed home until the ninth frame. In that inning Burnett singled, Spencer flied out, Galatzer batted for Hudlin and grounded to Kuhel, Burnett going to second. After Burnett had taken third unopposed, Porter singled to center, scoring him. Cissell ended the inning and game by hoisting a fly to Schulte.

Harder Starts

Mel Harder started for Cleveland, yielding six hits and three runs in six innings he was on the mound, Willis Hudlin relieved Harder and was nipped for three hits which helped to produce two more runs for Washington.

A's Take Twin Bill From Sox

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 11 (AP)—Johnny Marcum, rookie right hander from Louisville, who broke into the big leagues with a shutout win last week, duplicated the feat today in the Athletics' doubleheader victory over the Chicago White Sox.

Boosting his big-league record to 18 scoreless innings, the newcomer to the majors hurled the A's to an 8 to 0 triumph in the nightcap at Lefty Grove, turned in his 21st win with a 5 to 3 victory in the opener.

The double conquest pushed the Athletics into third place over the Cleveland Indians, the first club to fall victim to Marcum's slants. Marcum allowed only five hits, none of them for extra bases and collected three strikeouts, fanning the dangerous Al Simmons twice.

erally long and straight off the tees and had his putting touch with him, Johnny Fischer pulled off the day's most amazing shot, a long iron that carried 180 yards, clipped the branches of a tree, hit the green and rolled into the cup for an eagle two on the ninth.

Denmar Miller of Des Moines, Iowa open champion, made a good start toward landing among the select 32 by posting a 74, four strokes back of Somerville and Munger. Miller put together two nine-hole score of 37 to land well up among the leaders.

Pete Jordan of Des Moines ended six strokes behind Miller with an 80.

Max Baer's younger brother, Buddy Baer, is considering an offer to make prize fight movie films.

New Yorkers Win as Hubbell Checks Red Rally

CINCINNATI, Sept. 11 (AP)—Carl Hubbell, ace of the National league southpaws, stepped forth as a rescue pitcher again today and hurling scoreless ball for three innings saved a game for Herman Bell as the New York Giants won their fourth successive game from the Cincinnati Reds, 3 to 1.

5th Straight Win

In winning their fifth straight game, the Giants increased their lead over the idle Cubs and Pirates to eight and eight and one-half games, respectively. The Giants now need only 10 more victories in their remaining 19 games to gain the pennant, even if the Cubs win all their remaining 16 contests.

Hubbell, who pitched the last three innings of the first game of a double header yesterday and a complete game against the Pirates Friday, stepped into the breach in the seventh when Red Lucas opened the inning with his sharp single with the Giants leading 3 to 1. He retired the Reds without allowing another runner to reach first and gave only one hit, a single by Harry Rice in the eighth, in the two remaining innings.

Pitchers Duel For five innings, the game was a pitchers' battle between Bell and Red Lucas. Then in the sixth the Giants sent a run across the plate on singles by Hughie Critz and Travis Jackson with the help of Terry's long fly. The Reds came right back, however, and tied the score when Bell threw wild to third but muffed an opportunity to take the lead. With the bases loaded and none out, two runners were forced at the plate and Robello fanned.

Three hits, singles by Bell and Terry with Critz' triple in between, gave the Giants the deciding runs in the first half of the seventh.

Braves Blank Cardinals, 3 to 0 ST. LOUIS, Sept. 11 (AP)—Ed Brant of the Boston Braves blanked the St. Louis Cardinals with six scattered hits today and Boston took their last encounter of the season with St. Louis, 3 to 0.

The defeat of the Cardinals gave Boston 15 victories in 22 games with the Cardinals this season.

Association Pennant Playoff Begins Today at Columbus Ball Park COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 11 (AP)—Favored by statistics and backed by the vocal support of an estimated crowd of 10,000 home fans, Columbus will meet Minneapolis here tomorrow afternoon in the first game of the playoff for the American association pennant.

The first three games of the series will be played here, one at 3 o'clock Tuesday and two others at night, Wednesday and Thursday. The teams will carry on Saturday at Minneapolis, playing until one wins four games.

The two clubs will be fighting for the right to meet the champions of the International league in the little world series as well as for the title in their own association.

Large Squad to Make Bid for End Jobs

3 Lettermen Return, Tackles to Be Converted

Long a weak spot on Iowa football teams, the end posts promise to be stronger this year than at any time since 1922.

Three regular letter winners from last year, three tackles who will make bids for the wing positions, and several promising sophomores will be on hand to make battle for the job when Coach Ossie Solem meets his charges for the first time Friday morning.

Not All-American, But—

No candidates for all-America honors will be found among the 11 wingmen who will report this week, but several dependable workers have already given evidences of ability and will do much to wipe out a weakness that has cost Iowa many games in the last few years.

Shortest and smallest of the end candidates, Ray Fisher, Des Moines, ranks as the best defensive man on the lot. Only 5 feet 10 and weighing but 158 pounds, he is still the hardest man of the group to ride out of the play. Last year against Minnesota he was the only man who could sift through the Gopher interference for tackles.

Ranking as the strongest offensive end, Voris Dickerson, Lincoln, Mo., is a fine pass receiver but somewhat weak on defense. John Miller, the third of the veterans from last year, is a good receiver, and equally fair on both offense and defense. Last year the job was new to him but with added experience, Miller should be one of the leading candidates for the job.

Francis Schammel, 215 pounder from Waterloo, Fred Radloff, Marshalltown, and Jim Dee, Mt. Vernon, all tackles, will be given a try at the ends in hopes of adding weight as well as height to the front line. Dee won his award in 1931 and was not in school last year.

Charley Mau, Britt, ranks as the best of newcomers, packing 195 pounds on a 6 foot 2 inch frame with enough speed to rank as an all-state basketball candidate. Rugged and fast, he is the type of man, physically, to stop any of the charges this season. In addition he handles passes as well as any man on the squad.

John Lindenmeyer, West Chester, is one of the tallest men on the squad and looks especially good on passes. He handles his 6 feet 4 inches of height nicely in the air and is fast enough to cover punts with ease.

Gene Liggett, Rockford, Ill., listed as either tackle or end is built to stand plenty of battering. Standing 6 feet 3 inches he weighs 210 pounds. He will probably get plenty of work at the flank post.

Lee K. Mathes, Iowa City senior, looked ready to go last fall, but injuries cut him down before he could show. A fine defensive end, he is a remarkable pass receiver. Ivan Blackmer, Iowa City, a 5 foot 4 inch giant, will return to the gridiron after a four year layoff and may find the last time too much to make up.

Forty Candidates Report for Drake Football Workouts

DES MOINES, Sept. 11 (AP)—Despite warm, sultry weather, Coach V. J. Green, new Drake university football mentor, sent his charges through two stiff workouts today. The squad, which reported Saturday numbers about 40.

Green spent two hours with the candidates on the field this morning and two hours this afternoon. He plans chalk talks at evening sessions the rest of the week and will put the men through their first scrimmage the latter part of the week.

Ross-Canzoneri Bout Holds Tonight's Sport Spotlight

Lightweight Battlers to Fight for Class Title

NEW YORK, Sept. 11 (AP)—Barney Ross, sturdy, swift little fellow from the battle lands of Chicago, swings tomorrow night, with the superstitious citizens of the boxing world pointing warning fingers at him.

Barney will tackle Tony Canzoneri, the brilliant Italian boy, a bit showprow now after eight years of warfare, but made more dangerous than ever by the rancor that has gripped him since June 23 when he lost the championship to Ross in a 10 round bout he thought he had won easily in Chicago.

It's Ross' first test over the 15 round route and the fistie history of the year offers little to reassure him. Three champions, in addition to Canzoneri, have toiled their title into the ring since the last calendar change, and each wound up being toted out of there. Out on the flattened coast Jimmy McLarnin flattened Young Corbett III for the welterweight title, Primo Carnera sank Jack Sharkey for the heavyweight crown, and Lou Brockhard belted out Ben Jely, recognized in New York state as the middleweight champion.

With fair weather promised and the warriors in splendid fettle at the 135-pound class limit, more interest has developed in the battle being staged by Tim Mara, than in any lightweight title tussle here since the days of Benny Leonard. Expectations are that a crowd of 30,000 will pay better than $100,000 at the gate to see the promoters' "natural" the duel of a Jewish boy and an Italian.

The tremendous racial followings of each man have about offset each other in the wagering, with the odds at even money and the gamblers offering 9 to 10 against your choice.

Ross Given Edge Most of the critics give Ross whatever edge there is on the basis of his youth and stamina. He is only 22 years old, an indomitable little fellow who fought his way up through the amateurs to a Golden Gloves title, turned professional and in his 49th bout won the lightweight championship of the world.

He has all the equipment Canzoneri boasts—cutting left hand, fine left hook and hefty right cross. Ross lacks only the polish, the fire, showmanship and ring generalship that through the years and the wearing of both the featherweight and lightweight titles have brought Canzoneri recognition as one of the greatest little fellows in ring history. But though he's only 25, the clock seems to be running down the one-time bootblack from New Orleans. The experts fear the long campaigns have robbed Tony of some of his stamina, stolen away some of his resistance.

Neither boxer has had trouble making the weight. Canzoneri probably will weigh around 133 pounds with Ross a pound and a half heavier. The bouts will not be broadcast.

By The Associated Press At Simmons was out of baseball's Big Six again today while Heinie Manush held undisputed possession of third place in the American league's half of the sextet. With the National league members rained out, Manush was the only one of the group to gain yesterday with two hits in four times at bat, the Washington outfielder boosted his average one point to .331. Jimmy Foxx lost four points while Lou Gehrig dropped two.

Only 7 Left! Major League Battles Narrowed Down to Small Field

Only seven major league teams, less than half the number that started optimistically toward the pennant last spring, have a chance to cop the championships of the two leagues. Two American leaguers, and five National still fall within the pale of the classification, "mathematical possibilities."

Washington, in the junior circuit, can clinch the pennant with any combination of Senator victories or Yankee losses which equals nine. Since the league leaders have, at the very most, but to win 10 of their last 17 games, it appears a cinch for Joe Cronin to occupy one dugout in the World series. Since that is only a .588 gait compared to the present .664 average, things look bad for the world champion Yankees.

AMERICAN LEAGUE W. L. Pct. GBLTP Washington 91 46 .664 0 47 New York 80 54 .597 9 19

The New York Giants can eliminate the Cubs and Pirates, their closest foes, by winning 11 more games, or by a combination of their own wins and enemy losses that equal that number.

Both the Cards and Braves can be dropped from the running on the combination of six. Which makes it almost as easy for Bill Terry to start practicing his glares for the Senators in the coming baseball classic.

Iowa State Opens Football Drill; 30 Squadmen Report

AMES, Sept. 11 (AP)—Thirty hokies reported to Coach George Veenker today for a hard first-day workout at the Iowa State college football camp.

The Cyclones went through limbering up exercises and received instruction in blocking in the morning and then underwent a physical examination and were given further instructions on blocking and pass defense in the afternoon.

Veenker gave his charges a play at each session. All except 10 of those invited for practice were on hand for the first drills.

Backfield Prospects Worry Grinnell Coach

GRINNELL, Sept. 11 (AP)—Twenty-five grid candidates worked out at punting and passing at the first night's practice of the Grinnell college squad tonight. Light blocking and signal drill constituted most of the workout for the Coach Watt was concerned about backfield prospects with Fini and McKee missing from the drill, but he had Don Arnold, former Grinnell high school star, making a bid for a berth, and Bauer and Rose did creditable work.

Condition of Corn in Iowa Is Favorable

Only Slight Decrease Below 5-Year Norm Is Noted

DES MOINES, Sept. 11 (AP)—The Sept. 1 condition of Iowa corn indicated a yield of 413,250,000 bushels, a 19 per cent decrease from the record 1932 crop, but only a 2.1 per cent decrease from the five-year (1926-1930) average yield, Julius H. Peters, federal agricultural statistician, said today.

The condition was 78 per cent, one point lower than the 10-year average Sept. 1 condition. The indicated yield of 37.5 bushels per acre is a half bushel lower than the 10-year average.

Total Tonnage The total tonnage of all grain crops produced in Iowa this year is 25 per cent below last year's production and 14 per cent below the five-year average, he said.

The reduction in Iowa grain crop production is mostly in the small grains, Peters explained, pointing out that the combined tonnage of all small grain crops is 47 per cent less than 1932 and 48 per cent below the five-year average.

Oats The oats crop of 112,374,000 bushels is about half of that harvested in 1932 and the smallest since 1908. The five year average is 216,206,000 bushels.

The barley yield was estimated at 16 bushels to the acre with a total yield of 8,704,000 bushels, compared with 15,100,000 bushels a year ago and 16,751,000 bushels the five year average. It is the smallest since 1926.

The estimated spring wheat yield was placed at 432,000 bushels, the smallest crop since 1924 and the estimated yield of 12 bushels to the acre is the smallest since 1921.

The condition of buckwheat, 71 per cent, is 13 points below the 10-year average with an indicated yield of 12 bushels to the acre and a total production of 36,000 bushels compared with 40,000 bushels last year.

Flaxseed The condition of flaxseed at 69 per cent is the lowest on record, indicating a yield of seven bushels to the acre, the smallest on record. Due to recent increases in acreage the total crops is estimated at 147,000 bushels compared with 171,000 bushels in 1932 and 180,000 bushels for the five-year average.

The late potato crop showed an improvement, indicating a yield of 50 bushels to the acre and a production of 3,900,000 bushels compared with 3,140,000 bushels last year and a five-year average of 6,923, 000 bushels.

Tame Hay The tame hay production was estimated at 4,258,000 tons last year compared with 4,645,000 tons last year and 4,233,000 tons in the five-year average.

Condition of pastures, Sept. 1, was 60 per cent.

Fruit crop estimates were: apples 1,425,000 bushels compared with 1,827,000 last year; pears, 52,000 bushels compared with 78,000 and grapes, 6,440 tons compared with 7,650 tons.

Iowa Crops Rank High Among Others

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11 (AP)—The Sept. 1 condition and indicated production of important crops by principal producing states as announced today by the department of agriculture were:

Corn: Pennsylvania, condition 75 per cent of a normal and indicated production, 48,818,000 bushels; Ohio 65 and 103,230,000; Indiana 65 and 125,906,000; Illinois 53 and 222,773,000; Michigan 73 and 4,950,000; Wisconsin 82 and 77,210,000; Minnesota 66 and 140,125,000; Iowa 78 and 413,250,000; Missouri 60 and 132,365,000; North Dakota 52 and 22,912,000; South Dakota 23 and 31,150,000; Nebraska 64 and 235,014,000; Kansas 36 and 90,108,000; Kentucky 78 and 64,776,000; Oklahoma 26 and 28,701,000; Texas 51 and 74,312,000.

Oats: Pennsylvania 59 and 21,712,000; Ohio 44 and 26,052,000; Indiana 37 and 39,232,000; Illinois 44 and 74,908,000; Michigan 49 and 21,831,000; Wisconsin 57 and 65,208,000; Minnesota 49 and 89,680,000; Iowa 19 bushels per acre and 118,617,000; Missouri 51 and 29,223,000; North Dakota 39 and 23,322,000; South Dakota 17 and 5,474,000; Nebraska 30 and 23,373,000.

Virginia Van Wie Called Golf's "Sphinx of Links"

National Champ Plays Careful, Calm Game

NEW YORK, Sept. 11 (AP)—The "sphinx of the links" is the name by which Champion Virginia Van Wie is known among fellow competitors in women's international golfing circles.

The Chicago girl, who recently won her second national championship at Exmoor, plays a careful, calculating, business-like game. Seldom during the course of a round of tournament play does she exchange words with her opponent. She speaks only to her caddy when advice is sought.

Virginia just trudges along between shots, casting a glance neither to right nor left, always looking ahead to the next shot. Galleries do not disturb her and she evinces little response to the praise and plaudits of her friends.

Popular With Rivals Only when her opponent makes a remarkable shot does she break her habit of silence. Other women prefer her quiet manner to the bluster, nervous, swashbuckling player. She possesses an even temper. Her undemonstrative makeup has often ruffled her opponents. Her rosy cheeks take on a deeper hue occasionally when she misses a shot. Other than that she makes no sign one way or the other.

Virginia was a long time achieving a national championship. Prior to her first triumph in the annual classic last year, she had been a semi-finalist and a finalist several times. In 1932 at Salem, Mass., she scored a convincing final victory over her friend and veteran links-woman, Mrs. Glenna Collett Vore.

Ailing Back a Handicap Every player goes into a tournament to win, but none begrudges a victory to Virginia. She is looked upon as a desirable champion because of her gracious personality, attractive appearance and sound game.

There is only one fear in her makeup and that is a back ailment. When a young girl she injured her back and while playing in a tournament she is in constant fear of a recurrence of the injury.

Stock Prices Go Higher as Week Opens

Active Trading Brings Contrast to Recent Downswing

NEW YORK, Sept. 11 (AP)—Stocks and commodities advanced in more active trading today, thus departing from the slow downswing that had characterized last week's markets.

Fresh inspiration for the rise was given by a revival of inflationary sentiment, partly as a result of remarks on the subject attributed to a cabinet member. Wheat pushed up 4 cents a bushel in lively dealings and held three quarters of its rise. Stocks closed with gains of 1 to around 5 points, while cotton was up a dollar or slightly more per bale. In bonds, U. S. governments were strong and domestic corporation issues hardened.

On the stock exchange, buying for the rise seemed to be largely in professional hands. Group movements were especially noticeable in alcohol and motor shares, though the last half hour saw all divisions moving ahead. Sales totaled 1,910,320 shares.

Allied Chemical, Case, Johnsonville and Delaware & Hudson improved approximately 5 points. Chrysler, enjoying strong sponsorship, gained 5 3/4 net and reached a new high for the year. General Motors' advance was nearly 2. U. S. Steel, Western Union, New York Central, Union Pacific, American Telephone & Telegraph, United Aircraft, Du Pont and Santa Fe were 3 to 4 points higher when the closing gong rang. Among the "wets," National Distillers sprinted 10 points. U. S. Industrial Alcohol 6's and American Commercial Alcohol about 7.

Chicago, Sept. 11 (AP)—In the most active speculative buying witnessed for weeks, all grains kited toward the zenith today, wheat up a maximum of 4 1/8 cents a bushel.

Rumors of France going off the gold standard accompanied the upward flight of prices. Chiefly, however, traders found purchasing incentive in remarks credited to Secretary of Agriculture Wallace that the so-called commodity dollar appealed to Washington administration officials as the best if not the only means of controlled inflation, and suggesting that there might be a strong dose of inflation within the next three months.

Profit-taking led to something of a reaction in the late dealings, and wheat closed unsettled, 2 7/8 to 3 1/4 cents above Saturday's finish, corn 13-8 to 15-8 up, oats 13-8 to 13-4 advanced, and provisions varying from 15 cents decline to a rise of 10 cents.

Contributing impetus to the skyward trend of values were incorrect reports the government September crop estimates due after the close might make a bullish showing, especially as to corn.

Corn and oats advanced with wheat and as a result of reports that recent hot weather instead of hurrying corn to maturity had forced stalks to dry up, putting an end to fillings of kernels and even in extreme cases destroying the value of corn as fodder.

Urges Co-Operation Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, national recovery administrator, as he addressed huge throng at the World's Fair at Chicago, Labor Day. General Johnson urged greater co-operation between worker and employer to assure the end of the depression by the time snow flies.

Among lower-priced rails that rallied 1 to 2 or more points were lines of Allegheny Corp., Baltimore & Ohio, Central of Georgia, Central Pacific, Chesapeake Corp., St. Paul, Chicago and Northwestern, Denver & Rio Grande, Erie, Illinois Central, N. Y. Central, Nickel Plate, Missouri Pacific, St. Louis Southwestern, Southern Pacific, Wabash and Western Pacific.

Gainers in the utility and industrial groups included American & Foreign Power 5's, up 3 3/8; Good-year 5's, up 1 1/4; Goodrich 6's, up 1 3/8; International Telephone debenture 4 1/2's, up 1; Kelley Spring-Field 6's, up 4; Loew's 6's, up 4 3/8; Postal Telegraph 5's, up 2 1/8; and Warner Bros. 6's, up 2.

Obligations of Dutch East Indies were off around 3 to 4 points and French and German issues declined 1 to 2 or more.

Coach Bible Starts Husker Grid Drills With Veteran Squad LINCOLN, Neb., Sept. 11 (AP)—Just to please the fans who eagerly are awaiting the assemblage of the 1933 University of Nebraska football eleven, Coach D. X. Bible today, the first day out for the squad, lined up an all-veteran team for a brief workout.

This morning was given largely to issuing equipment and this afternoon to picture taking. The Cornhuskers will wear satin pants this year, for the first time, and numerals on the front as well as the back of their jerseys.

Hawkeye Athletic Activities Feature World Publication

Photographs of University of Iowa athletic contests, chosen as typical of American university sports competition will appear this fall in a periodical edited by a Hawkeye graduate.

The publication, "This Wide World" will be issued in Sookobomi, Java, by William Zecha, a Chinese student who graduated from the university in 1923.

Printed in four languages—English, Dutch, Malay, and Chinese—the magazine has a wide circulation in the East Indian archipelago and the Federated Malay states. The pictures which have been sent to Zecha include those of football, basketball, baseball, track, swimming, wrestling, gymnastics, and golf.

CHAPTER TWENTY-SIX

"We can't allow you to get mixed up in this, Miss Luneska," he said quietly and politely.

Leni, with her whole world in ruins, put a smile on her lips. The smile had nothing whatever to do with what was occurring in her heart.

Her weaker inner self was reeling from the blow. Under the smile her brilliant white teeth were clenched. But she did not speak. She sat entirely motionless, her hands clasped around her soft silken knees, her eyes misted.

"Can't you see, darling, that this is going to be a terrible scandal?" asked Wingate fustianously. "If any of it rubs off on you it will be positively ruinous. Absolutely! I wouldn't dream of letting you blight your career. You mean too much to the screen—far too much to your public."

"You fool, you fool, you fool! Leni wanted to cry aloud. Can't you understand, you idiot, that your talk of admiration and the screen and the public is nothing but stifling smoke rising from the funeral pyre of my dead ambitions? Do you think you can say anything with that loose, funny-looking mouth that could be important to me—or to Lucky Cavanaugh?"

Yet, strength and power was coming back to her. From where, Heaven alone knew. It poured into the vacuum of her breast, gathered into a deep and expanding pool of vibrating energy that her heart could take hold of and pump through every artery of her body.

"Don't worry about it, please, Ned," said the smiling shell of herself. "Everything will turn out all right."

"That's the spirit!" cried Wingate. Gerstenfeld suddenly was ignoring Leni. He picked up the blue covered contract from the table, folded it and restored it to the envelope.

"Under the circumstances," he said acidly, "we may not be justified in offering this contract to Miss Luneska. I'll have to take it up with the company."

Leni felt she knew what he was thinking. The value of a motion picture star varied almost from day to day. A breath of scandal reacted directly upon the box office. No other business on earth was like this.

"It doesn't matter at all about the contract," she said to Gerstenfeld. "It wasn't going to sign it anyway."

He did not even turn his head to look at her. The commanding power of his eyes drew to a focus that centered upon Ned Wingate.

out of the room. At the door he paused.

"I just happened to think," he said. "Hadn't I better see our press department and ask them to soft pedal everything?"

"Nothing of the kind," Gerstenfeld tossed negligently, over his shoulder. "Just keep your mouth shut."

As soon as Leni was alone in the room with Gerstenfeld a nameless tension increased perceptibly. He took a step forward. Even before he spoke, the dull lights in his eyes began to glow.

"Now we're alone," he said coolly. "We'll cut out the foolishness."

"I'm sorry—there's really nothing for us to talk about, Mr. Gerstenfeld. Whatever has happened is my own private affair. It does not concern the studio in the least."

Nevertheless, something was disconcerting her. A mental flow from Gerstenfeld kept pressing in on Leni's senses.

"Why do you think I stayed here to talk to you?"

"I don't know," said Leni frankly. "It's not on account of your contract—I don't give a rap about that."

"What then?"

Herman Gerstenfeld took a step closer. There was nothing about him of charm or good looks. An inconspicuous man with a tired face and dry, neglected hair on an ordinary head. A man to pass unnoticed in a crowd except for the gathered concentration in those dark and glinting eyes.

"I'm interested in just one thing in this whole business," he said levelly. "I'm interested in you. You're not going to get away. You belong. You're one of us. You and I and all of us in this mad business are like a little tribe of people. We stick together—the other people—the outsiders—they are enemies. You can't get away from the pictures even if you wanted to. It's in your blood."

Gerstenfeld had unleashed something within himself that had changed a cold, mathematical machine into a relentless and pulsating male animal whose newly-revealed personality swept around Leni and threatened every moment to seize command of everything.

"If I saw you stumbling into a fatal accident, I'd snatch you back," Gerstenfeld said.

His attitude, the flash of his eyes, the snap of his voice, bordered upon the contemptuous. His face had grown paler, his body appeared to have no temperature at all but Leni had the distinct impression that a white heat seethed inside him.

"You are a woman and therefore are not always in sound mind. Your imagination runs away with you. For a woman like you, life is going to be miserable—unless you stay where you belong."

Leni made a forced effort to combat him. Deliberately she lifted her eyebrows, an effort at skepticism.

"Are you, by any chance, trying to save me from myself?" she inquired with a hauteur that shook a little.

"There's no one else to save you from, except yourself," shot back Gerstenfeld. "You have beauty, talent—maybe genius, but no brain. Of yourself you can do nothing. It requires the combined resources of the fourth largest industry to make a place in which you can function. Before you get into pictures, what kind of a life did you lead?"

Leni could tell from the tingling in her temples that some of the color was leaving her face. This man, she thought, has found out somehow about my past. It gave her a feeling of cold indecency and she wrapped herself in a quick lie.

"I lived quite comfortably at home," she said.

Gerstenfeld scorched her with his eyes and she turned her gaze away.

"Come—be honest! That's not true, is it?"

Without lifting her lids she answered him. "No."

Bond Trading Still Sluggish

Secondary Issues Gain, But General Trend Is Subnormal

NEW YORK, Sept. 11 (AP)—Secondary issues moved up rather briskly in the bond market today, apparently reflecting the upturn in stock, but trading activity generally continued at a sluggish level.

Sales totaled $8,520,000, par value, still considerably below a normal day's business, and the average for 60 domestic corporate loans advanced three-tenths of a point. This is the first gain in the composite since Aug. 17.

United States government securities were firm throughout. Although Liberties were somewhat dull, purchases of treasuries improved and both the 3 1/8's and 3 1/4's advanced to new highs for the year.

Among lower-priced rails that rallied 1 to 2 or more points were lines of Allegheny Corp., Baltimore & Ohio, Central of Georgia, Central Pacific, Chesapeake Corp., St. Paul, Chicago and Northwestern, Denver & Rio Grande, Erie, Illinois Central, N. Y. Central, Nickel Plate, Missouri Pacific, St. Louis Southwestern, Southern Pacific, Wabash and Western Pacific.

Gainers in the utility and industrial groups included American & Foreign Power 5's, up 3 3/8; Good-year 5's, up 1 1/4; Goodrich 6's, up 1 3/8; International Telephone debenture 4 1/2's, up 1; Kelley Spring-Field 6's, up 4; Loew's 6's, up 4 3/8; Postal Telegraph 5's, up 2 1/8; and Warner Bros. 6's, up 2.

Obligations of Dutch East Indies were off around 3 to 4 points and French and German issues declined 1 to 2 or more.

Coach Bible Starts Husker Grid Drills With Veteran Squad

LINCOLN, Neb., Sept. 11 (AP)—Just to please the fans who eagerly are awaiting the assemblage of the 1933 University of Nebraska football eleven, Coach D. X. Bible today, the first day out for the squad, lined up an all-veteran team for a brief workout.

This morning was given largely to issuing equipment and this afternoon to picture taking. The Cornhuskers will wear satin pants this year, for the first time, and numerals on the front as well as the back of their jerseys.

Active Buying Pushes Grain Prices Higher

CHICAGO, Sept. 11 (AP)—In the most active speculative buying witnessed for weeks, all grains kited toward the zenith today, wheat up a maximum of 4 1/8 cents a bushel.

Rumors of France going off the gold standard accompanied the upward flight of prices. Chiefly, however, traders found purchasing incentive in remarks credited to Secretary of Agriculture Wallace that the so-called commodity dollar appealed to Washington administration officials as the best if not the only means of controlled inflation, and suggesting that there might be a strong dose of inflation within the next three months.

Profit-taking led to something of a reaction in the late dealings, and wheat closed unsettled, 2 7/8 to 3 1/4 cents above Saturday's finish, corn 13-8 to 15-8 up, oats 13-8 to 13-4 advanced, and provisions varying from 15 cents decline to a rise of 10 cents.

Contributing impetus to the skyward trend of values were incorrect reports the government September crop estimates due after the close might make a bullish showing, especially as to corn.

Corn and oats advanced with wheat and as a result of reports that recent hot weather instead of hurrying corn to maturity had forced stalks to dry up, putting an end to fillings of kernels and even in extreme cases destroying the value of corn as fodder.

Fitzgerald Lists Committee to Plan S.U.I. Freshman Week

142 Men, Women Map Out Schedule of Initial Period

Newcomers Urged to Be Present for Entire Week

A student committee to aid in planning and working out events of Freshman week was announced yesterday by Rufus H. Fitzgerald, chairman of the faculty committee on Freshman week.

Mr. Fitzgerald named 142 men and women to work in the traditional program of orientation for new students, which will begin Sept. 20, and end with university induction ceremony Sept. 25.

Events Similar

Events which will make up the five-day schedule are similar to those of past years. Freshmen will be aided in selecting living quarters and registering; they will meet administrative officers and acquire a knowledge of the university campus; social events, climaxed by an open house at Iowa Union, have been arranged.

Freshmen are urged to be present for the entire Freshman week program, which will begin the Wednesday afternoon preceding the beginning of class work.

Meeting

On that day freshmen in liberal arts, including those who will take pre-law, pre-medical, pre-dental, and pre-commerce courses, will meet in natural science auditorium, where Dean George F. Kay and H. C. Dorcas, university registrar, will explain the process of registration. Freshmen in engineering will attend a similar meeting in electrical engineering building, at which Prof. F. G. Higbee of the college of engineering will preside.

Pharmacy freshmen will meet the following day, Thursday, Sept. 21, in pharmacy-botany building, where they will be met by the pharmacy faculty. Sept. 21 has been set also as the date of registration for freshmen in all colleges, at university hall and Iowa Union.

Assembly

Following registration, freshmen will meet at Iowa Union at 7:30 p.m. Sept. 21, for a freshman assembly. Leading personalities of the campus will be introduced, and new students will meet the president and the deans of the university.

Friday and Saturday, Sept. 22 and 23, have been set as the dates of freshman qualifying examinations, a compulsory part of the entrance routine of first year students. All freshmen must take these examinations at the times assigned, regardless of whether they have completed registration.

Activities

All first year entrants, both men and women, will meet in natural science auditorium Friday afternoon, Sept. 22. Extra-curricular activities on the campus will be explained at that time.

In the evening a mixer will be held for new students living in dormitories, at the new music building. The following evening open house will be held at Iowa Union for all students.

The first university vesper service of the year will be the annual freshman service, Sunday evening, Sept. 24, at Iowa Union. The speaker for this occasion will be Prof. M. Willard Lampe, director of the school of religion.

Induction

Monday morning, Sept. 25, preceding the beginning of classes, students and faculty members will meet on the west approach to Old Capitol for the induction ceremony, which marks the first day of a new academic year.

The traditional and colorful ceremony will begin at 7:50 a.m., and will be over in time for the first morning classes at 8 a.m.

The membership of the student committee named for Freshman week is as follows:

Robert Anderson

Robert Anderson, George Amman, W. J. Balzer, Howard Bastian, Martin Bardill, Kenneth Barker, Robert Bartheis, Bill Bartmess, Ed Becker, Fritz Beck, Roy Bodine, Wendell Boylan, Kenneth Braun, Anton Broxmeier, Ross Brudnell, Raymond Buckner, Harold Cassill.

Committees Make Reports on Girl Scouts

Comprehensive reports on the summer's work of the Girl Scouts were made last night by committee chairmen at a council meeting in the American Legion Community building.

Forty-two girls took advantage of facilities of the two weeks' August camp at Camp Rotary, according to the report. The camp was divided into two periods of one week each.

The girls were divided into small groups under the direction of senior and junior camp counselors for all activities. Of the 42 girls who attended, 11 learned to swim, Ruth Frerichs, scout director, said. The girls took part in two day hikes and four overnight hikes.

Sanitation at the camp was inspected by Dr. Harry R. Jenkinson, and members of the camp committee checked various phases of camp facilities.

Mrs. F. B. Olsen, a member of the camp committee, presented a report on the day camp held at the city park during the summer. Forty-two different girls attended and the average attendance was 32. The girls worked on handicraft and other projects during the day.

Four over-night hikes were carried out during the summer, to Camp Rotary and to Dane's farm. Thirty-seven different girls took part in these hikes.

Mrs. George Marech, chairman of the committee on training and personnel, reported that some reorganization will be necessary in the troops on account of changes in residence and for other reasons. Mrs. Sidney Miller resigned as chairman of the badges and awards committee and Mrs. Jessie Gordon was appointed in her place.

The council expressed its appreciation of the assistance given by those who furnished services and materials for the summer camp and to the following organizations and persons for the donation of money to send girls to the camp:

Altrusa club, Kiwanis club, Longfellow P.T.A., Chapters E and H of P.E.O., Raphael club, N. and N. club, Garden club, Entre Nous, Elks club, Child Conservation club, and Prof. H. L. Rietz.

Sales Begin Today on Lots at Site of New State Park

A. A. Welt Will Direct Selling of Property on Lake Front

The new state park site north of North Liberty will have the appearance of a booming subdivision this morning as actual sale of lots along the proposed lake front gets under way.

From a headquarters tent on the 75 acre cottage tract, A. A. Welt will direct the sale of lots and guides will be on hand to show prospective buyers around the park site and lot area.

First Choice

Persons who have signed formal applications for lots at the park will have first choice in the selection of land today.

As soon as enough lots have been sold to pay for the 800 acres included in the park and lake area, the land will be deeded to the state and construction will begin on a dam across Mill creek and on roads and a sewage system for the cottages. The cost of the dam, roads and stocking the lake with fish will be borne by the state.

Soundings Taken

Soundings have been taken by state engineers at the proposed dam site. Solid rock was struck at a depth of 17 feet, four inches.

The route to the park, which lies northeast of North Liberty and west of Solon, will be marked by arrows.

Booster Club Has Meeting

Planning to put pep into this year's football season, 21 members of the Iowa City high school Booster club held their first meeting of the year last night at the American Legion Community building.

All grade school children will be admitted free to the game with Davenport Sept. 22, with transportation furnished by members of the club. At the first game of the season, Sept. 15, holders of season tickets will be allowed to bring women free of charge, as a crowd inducement.

Ticket sales will be in charge of J. W. Willard and the following committee will select yell leaders: Mr. Willard, Henry Slevers, Mike Brown, H. W. Strickler, and C. D. Miller.

Transportation for the team to out-of-town games will be provided by the club members. Twenty-one members were present at last night's meeting.

Zeke Bonura, first baseman slated for early delivery to the Chicago White Sox, has been hitting .315 in night baseball for Dallas of the Texas league and .393 in daytime play.

AROUND THE TOWN with DICK FAGAN

Be Careful, Please

Now that children are prancing along the streets on their way to and from school, Chief of Police W. H. Bender asks motorists to be especially careful. He called attention to the fact that many children will be making their first excursions to school, and will not be used to crossing streets.

Sprucing the Woods

D. W. Crum, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, paid a visit to the new state park site yesterday afternoon, getting everything in readiness for the sale of lots this morning.

To Quit

Mrs. Marvin H. Livermore filed a petition in district court yesterday afternoon asking for a divorce from her husband. She charged him with drunkenness and failure to provide support. The petition asks alimony of $15 a week, custody of their five children, and $100 for attorney's fees. Paul Toomey is the attorney.

In the Band

Neilson Miller, deputy clerk of court, will play in the band at the Oxford homecoming celebration this afternoon.

CORALVILLE NEWS

Jackie Lou McDonald is visiting at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. Hazel Wagner and her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Cramer of Sterling, Ill.

Russell Mintzer of Des Moines spent Sunday evening at the home of Tom Crumley.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Brandstatter and family spent Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Wolfe of Tiffin.

Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Zimmerle and family spent Friday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tesar of North Liberty.

Applebee Funeral to Be Held Today

Funeral service will be held at St. Patrick's church at 9 o'clock this morning for Mrs. Catherine Applebee, who died Saturday night. Mrs. Applebee had been a resident of Iowa City for the last 35 years. She had been ill for only a short time.

Iowa City survivors are Mrs. Margurite Shalla and Thomas Applebee, children of Mrs. Applebee, and two grandchildren, Kathleen and Una Marie Shalla, all of Iowa City.

Sleeping Sickness Cases Admitted to University Hospital

Sleeping sickness came to Iowa City over the week end with the admission of two patients to University hospital.

Jean Pugh, 19 months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Pugh of Mt. Pleasant, came to the hospital Saturday and John Pool, 50, of Baxter was admitted Sunday night. Both were said by doctors to be afflicted with the disease which has caused scores of deaths in the St. Louis area and has gradually spread over the middle west.

The condition of the baby was said to have improved yesterday, although the child has been in a stupor since she was brought here Saturday. Two sleeping sickness cases have been reported at Marengo.

Coal Miners Will Picket

DES MOINES (AP)—Two thousand Iowa coal miners, striking for a basic wage of $5 a day and a 30-hour week, today resolved on a statewide program of active picketing.

Report Given by Ruckmick at Convention

Study of emotional changes occasioned by moving pictures was described by Prof. Christian A. Ruckmick of the psychology department, at a meeting of the American Psychological association in Chicago yesterday, according to an Associated Press dispatch.

The studies were made by attaching electrical "emotion meters" to members of audiences watching the pictures. The movies shown varied in type from slapstick comedy to romantic scenes.

Through this method psychologists were enabled to study emotional reaction through a series of varied events related to the past experiences of the subjects. Formerly laboratory studies had involved only a single controlled emotional situation.

A practical use has been found for this study in its application to mental disorders. This method has enabled physicians to determine the events in the experiences of afflicted persons which had contributed to their disorders.

C. Hollingsworth, Former Iowa Citizen, Dies in Sanitarium

Clarence Hollingsworth, 59, until last February a resident of Iowa City, died early yesterday morning at the Woodman sanitarium, Woodman, Colo. His son, George C. Hollingsworth, lives at 711 E. Burlington street.

Funeral service has been arranged for 2 p.m. tomorrow at the Baptist church with the Rev. Elmer E. Dierks officiating. Burial will be in the Downey cemetery.

Other survivors are his widow, Mrs. Maude C. Hollingsworth of Downey; Mrs. Neil McCoy, a daughter, of Northampton, Mass.; his mother, Mrs. A. W. Hollingsworth, and a sister, Mrs. Leona Chase, both of Los Angeles, Cal. Mr. Hollingsworth had been a resident of Iowa City for 10 years, living at 618 E. Burlington street.

Persons which had contributed to their disorders.

Professor Ruckmick, in collaboration with the Rev. W. S. Dysinger, minister of the First English Lutheran church of Iowa City, recently wrote a book on the effects of moving pictures on children.
