Violence Feared as New Cuban Regime Tackles Island's Problems

Cabinet Takes Office Amid Storm Clouds Stirred Up by Barricaded Army Officers

Opposition Counts on Secret Societies' Support

HAVANA, Sept. 12—A Cuban government made up exclusively of men who fought to oust Gerardo Machado tonight took this island's destinies into its hands as several hundred army officers outspoken in their opposition remained barricaded in their hotel.

Apparently paying little attention to the storm clouds of opposition, the regime set to work on the republic's manifold problems. As a guide mark they had the declaration of Grau San Martin that "Cuba at last is free."

"I feel happy to say that Cuba at last is free among the civilized nations of the world," the president told a loudly-cheering crowd which assembled in the palace to witness the formal swearing-in of the cabinet.

"... at last Cuba has a stable government," he added. "All that is needed is to assure prosperity."

Fears were expressed in many quarters that violence might result from the attitude of the army officers who lost their posts in the coup of non-commissioned officers and enlisted men which drove Carlos Manuel de Cespedes from the office of provisional president.

Barricaded several days in the National Hotel, but without the services of the hotel employees, the officers remained adamant that Grau San Martin retire to make way for the return of de Cespedes.

Similar demands were made on the radical junta of five which preceded the present administration. They were flatly rejected.

Openly the officers scoffed at an ultimatum handed down last night by Grau San Martin that they swing into line within 24 or 36 hours. They counted on the support of the two powerful secret societies—the ABC and the OCCR.

Soldiers remained on guard on the hotel grounds, as they have done almost from the time the officers set up headquarters, moved in arms and ammunition and named Horacio Ferrer, secretary of war in the de Cespedes cabinet, as their representative in negotiations with government heads. The new cabinet follows:

New Cabinet
State—Manuel Marques Sterling.
Treasury—Manuel Despaigne.
Justice—Joaquin del Rio Balmañeda.
Education—Amuel Costales Latañu.
Communications—Manuel Moreno.
Health—Dr. Carlos Juan Finlay.

Governor Herring in Washington to Push Iowa Relief

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—Intent upon pressing for prompt action on Iowa relief needs in addition to his work as individual adviser in hearings on the automobile retailers' code, Gov. Clyde Herring of Iowa arrived here today and began a series of conferences with federal officials.

U. S. Remains Aloof as Cuban Parties Battle

Intervention Unlikely Unless Shots Are Fired

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—Disturbed by increasing threats of an armed clash between the new Cuban government and Havana's besieged army officers, the Roosevelt administration gave notice today it would follow a line of strict neutrality between the island's opposing factions.

Although reiterating both publicly and privately the desire to avoid intervention in Cuba, some officials were known to feel that it might be necessary to land American armed forces should shots be fired in Havana.

Tense Conflict
The tense conflict of interests centering around the National hotel, where more than 300 defiant officers of the old Cuban army and barricaded, was described by several observers here as presenting dangers analogous to an open powder box.

Ambassador Welles had been a resident at the big hotel until today, and other Americans were believed to be staying on there.

Secretary Hull, determined to offer no provocation to any one faction by siding with another, indicated the United States would pursue a strictly hands-off policy until Cuba solved "her own political problems."

Dictates Statement
The secretary of state late last night awakened his aides to dictate a formal statement to this effect, and it was transmitted hurriedly to newspaper offices. Administration advisers said privately Hull had been motivated, at least in part, by the dangers surrounding the National hotel, when he said:

"The government of the United States has no interest in behalf or prejudice against any political group of independent organization which is today active in the political life of Cuba."

Board Opposes New NRA Seals

DES MOINES, Sept. 12 (AP)—The Iowa seal of re-employment plan met opposition today from members of the Des Moines NRA inter-pretations committee who charged it was discriminatory.

The Iowa plan, scheduled to be launched Friday, provides for affixing a state seal at the bottom of blue eagles showing the number of new employees added to payrolls under NRA.

The plan was assailed by Fred Swanson, general chairman of the Des Moines NRA committee; John H. Brine, chairman of the interpretations committee, and Dr. T. C. Denny, president of the Des Moines Chamber of Commerce.

Their objections generally were grounded on the assertion that employers who had laid off the most employees during the depression would show the greatest re-employment figure, whereas the employers who had retained workers at a sacrifice would receive no credit.

$33,000,000 Suit Filed Against Movies

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 12 (AP)—Suit for $33,950,000 was filed by the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees' local against most of the major motion picture producers and two unions in superior court today.

Three More States Vote Wet by Overwhelming Majorities

Maryland, Minnesota, Colorado Favor Repeal

DENVER, Sept. 12 (AP)—Colorado voted to strike prohibition from the federal constitution by approximately 21-2 to one, it was indicated tonight in the tabulation of ballots from more than half of the precincts in today's special election.

Returns from 1,061 precincts out of 1,547 in the state gave 112,528 for repeal and 49,595 for retention of the eighteenth amendment.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 12 (AP)—Maryland today joined the procession of states voting for repeal of the eighteenth amendment. The vote from 1,057 of the state's 1,379 precincts was:

For repeal, 167,708.
Against repeal, 26,775.
Uninstructed, 3,039.

ST. PAUL, Sept. 12 (AP)—The home state of Andrew Volstead, co-author of the prohibition enforcement law, leaned toward repudiation of the eighteenth amendment tonight on the basis of incomplete returns from today's special referendum.

With 1,675 precincts heard from of 3,693 in the state, the vote stood: Repeal, 268,478; against, 124,229.

Iowa's Board to Begin Hearings

DES MOINES, Sept. 12 (AP)—Iowa's liquor control plan committee will hear the views of various organizations at public hearings beginning Sept. 20, under arrangements made today.

The committee, appointed last week, completed its organization today by electing M. A. Tinley of Council Bluffs chairman and W. H. Millhaem of Des Moines secretary.

All liquor control phases will be discussed at the public hearings but the arguments of the various organizations will be limited to 30 minutes. Each organization appearing will be asked to submit a printed brief or further study.

Local Boards to Force NRA Compliance

Johnson Renews Effort to Crush Deadlock on Coal Code

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—In the face of strike threats from impatient miners in western Pennsylvania, the final drafting of an NRA code for the soft coal industry will begin tomorrow.

Plans for NRA officials and spokesmen for mine operators and workers to sit down and paragraph by paragraph whip together a charter for the industry were announced today.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—A renewed effort to crush the long-standing deadlock over a bituminous coal code was begun today by Hugh S. Johnson, the NRA director, simultaneously with announcement that "compliance boards" would be set up in every community to compel observance of blue eagle agreements.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—In the first attempt to apply the recovery act directly to an employer accused of violating the Ives bargaining provision, the national labor board ruled today that the Berkeley Woolen Mills at Martinsburg, W. Va., had attempted coercion of its employees.

In announcing the decision of the arbitration board, Senator Wagner of New York, the chairman, said:

"The importance of this unanimous decision of the board will be widely recognized. It should help clear the atmosphere. It embodies the letter of the recovery act and, if freely accepted by both sides in the spirit of the act, should point the way out of numerous actual and threatened disputes."

The dispute hinged squarely upon the key issue between labor and capital of whether the mill was compelled to recognize a national union or could take a position of dealing only with its own workers, through a company union.

Reports reached the capital of plans by impatient coal miners in Pennsylvania to strike as a means of hurrying along an agreement among soft coal operators.

Public Hearing
At a brief public hearing the various groups of mine owners were directed to name representatives to begin immediate conferences designed to reach a general agreement upon a code.

In announcing this procedure, while Johnson sat silently looking on, Donald R. Richberg, the general counsel of the NRA, indicated officially for the first time that regional codes might be necessary instead of one broad charter for the entire industry. He said that if any small groups remained "irreconcilable we may find it necessary to proceed without them."

Seven Members
The long awaited move by the administration to compel observance by employers of the wage and hour compact they signed with President Roosevelt pending adoption of permanent codes called for boards of seven members in every town and city.

Without authority actually to withdraw a blue eagle from any window, the boards were charged with investigating complaints, seeking voluntary compliance by an employer where violations were found and, if necessary, reporting to NRA headquarters here.

Membership of Boards
Johnson reserved to himself the right to act against specific employers.

The boards, which are to be set up immediately, will include two representatives of employees—one for industrial workers and the other for retail and wholesale trade workers; two spokesmen of employers with the same divisions, one consumer representative, preferably a woman, and one attorney. They will choose a chairman as the seventh member.

Eleven Locks Are Ordered for Use on Upper Mississippi

ROCK ISLAND, Ill., Sept. 12 (AP)—Orders to rush plans for construction of 14 locks in the upper Mississippi river were received today by the district office of the United States engineers.

An allotment of $22,000,000 from the federal public works funds is expected shortly to finance the projects.

Capt. J. M. Silkman, district supervisor here, received the order from Col. George R. Spaulding of St. Louis, director of river improvements for the upper Mississippi.

The locks are to be located at Winona, Minn., Tremleau, La Crosse, Genoa, Lynxville, and Cassville, Wis., Specht's Ferry, Gordon's Ferry and Le Claire, Iowa; 2.8 miles above Burlington, Ia.; two miles below Quincy, Ill.; and 5.5 miles below Hannibal, Mo.

Lamson Trial Nearing Close

Defense Rests Case in Hearing on Campus Murder

COURTHOUSE, SAN JOSE, Cal., Sept. 12 (AP)—Evidence intended to support a theory of accidental death ended the defense testimony today in the murder trial of David A. Lamson, accused of crushing his wife's skull with an iron pipe because of marital difficulties.

Accidental? Before resting their case, defense attorneys sought to establish, through expert testimony that Alene Thorpe Lamson died as a result of an accidental fall in the bathroom of the Stanford university campus cottage where she was found last Memorial day.

The defense closed after examination of Dr. E. O. Heinrich, noted criminologist.

The cross examination by Herbert Bridges, deputy district attorney, was marked by wordy exchanges.

Defense Move Falls
A last minute move of the defense failed when Judge R. R. Syrer excluded a report on Mrs. Lamson's physical condition when she entered Stanford university before her marriage. The defense offered a letter from Ray Lyman Wilbur, president of Stanford, which contained a report that Mrs. Lamson's ankles turned easily as a result of being sprained. The court ruled the report was too remote.

In an effort to impair testimony of Heinrich that he found no traces of blood on the iron pipe taken from a bonfire which Lamson had been tending in the back yard of his home the day of his wife's death, the state put long, complicated questions to the criminologist.

New York City to Assess Taxes for Relief of Jobless

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP)—The city board of estimate voted today to impose $24,000,000 in emergency taxes to finance unemployment relief, overriding the protests of stock brokers, bankers, insurance and utility companies.

The bills, if enacted by the board of aldermen Thursday, will impose a five per cent tax on profits of stock brokers, a one and one-half per cent tax on the gross income of utilities, a one-fourth of one per cent tax on investments of savings banks and life and fire insurance companies, and a four cent a share stock transfer tax.

Amid scenes of acrimony and disorder, opponents of the program, devised by Samuel Untermyer, the city's financial adviser, appeared before the board.

Federal Officers May Enter File Mann Act Charge Against Dick

HASTINGS, Neb., Sept. 12 (AP)—The refusal of Harold Dick of Hastings to waive extradition today caused Wright county, Iowa, officers to abandon their plan to come here and take Dick into custody.

Other Nations Seek Lessons From Changes Effectuated in American Economic Policy

Inflation Is Urged Anew for Recovery

Roosevelt, Aides Plan Continued Drive for Business Pick-Up

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—President Roosevelt gripped the recovery reins tightly today, planning with his executive council for a continued upward pull in prices, wages and employment.

As he called in the government chiefs for a report, he heard an urgent recommendation for "rational inflation" from Chairman Harrison of the senate finance committee.

Credit, Price Problems
The credit and price problems have received particular attention from the chief executive during the last 24 hours, but neither Harrison nor the recovery aides were prepared to state the president's ideas for the immediate future.

F. M. Law, president of the American Bankers association, assured Mr. Roosevelt of the cooperation of the bankers in the recovery drive. Law was accompanied by Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

Two Hour Session
For more than two hours the president met with his recovery council in regular session. This group includes members of the cabinet and the heads of all the special federal agencies.

Hugh S. Johnson, the recovery administrator, left early, after reporting progress on a number of new industrial working codes. He would say nothing publicly either about the bituminous coal code nor about Henry Ford.

For two more weeks the president is going to direct affairs from his desk here. He will depart then for a week in New York city and at Hyde Park, ending on Oct. 4, with a speech before the conference of Catholic charities in New York city.

Six More Die of Encephalitis

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 12 (AP)—The epidemic of encephalitis in the St. Louis area continued to grow tonight, adding six to the death list since last night.

Since July 30, when the inroads of the malady were first discovered, 126 have died and 741 have been afflicted.

Many of the first cases have recovered with few bad effects, but hundreds are in hospitals and others are being nursed in their homes.

Dr. Paul Zentay, assistant city health commissioner, said many letters are being received asking whether it is safe to visit St. Louis.

"The number of patients in proportion to the population of St. Louis and St. Louis county is so small," he said, "that visiting St. Louis entails no more hazard than taking a train ride."

Total deaths in the state in the last six weeks from the disease number 140.

Body of Judge Kenyon to Arrive at Ft. Dodge Friday for Last Rites

FT. DODGE, Sept. 12 (AP)—The body of Judge William S. Kenyon, who died Saturday at Sebascos, Mo., will arrive here early Friday morning. Funeral service will be held at 2 p. m., with many close friends of the jurist and former United States senator in attendance.

The Rev. Peter Young, pastor of the Congregational church, will officiate. Brief talks will be made by former Gov. N. E. Kendall and D. M. Kelleher of Ft. Dodge, a former law partner of Kenyon.

The body will lie in state at the First Congregational church from the time of its arrival until the hour for the service. The Masonic lodge will have charge of the committal service.

DES MOINES (AP)—Senator Key Pittman of Nevada, stopped here a few minutes while enroute to Washington by air to lay before federal officials a plan for unlimited coinage of silver.

New Secretary-General of League Comments on World Affairs

GENEVA, Sept. 12 (AP)—The world awaits anxiously the results of the great economic experiment being carried on in the United States, seeking lessons which may be profitable, Joseph Avenol, new secretary-general of the League of Nations, said tonight in his first interview since assuming office.

The secretary-general, one of the leading international financial and economic authorities, and the secretary of the world economic conference, said the transformation in the American economic systems affects the interests of the entire world.

U. S. Able to Measure
"At the world economic conference," he added, "the United States was able to measure the international repercussions of its policies."

Indications are increasing, M. Avenol continued, that at the international disarmament conference supreme efforts will be made to negotiate some kind of treaty.

"In the far east there must develop an equilibrium in the relations of China with Japan, the United States and Europe.

Must Be Adjustment
"Throughout the American continent, after the difficulties caused by the fall in prices, must come an adjustment of the relations with the United States and Europe.

"With the Sino-Japanese conflict and the Latin American disputes, the League of Nations has left the limits of Europe and become universal.

"Even if in this extra-European progress errors have been committed, this would be compensated for by experience which the league gained."

Miners Try to Extend Strike

DES MOINES, Sept. 12 (AP)—A motor cavalcade of striking Iowa miners visited mines in Marion and Monroe counties today in an attempt to extend the scope of the walkout which began Sept. 1 in an effort to obtain higher wages and shorter hours.

The group, numbering between 200 and 300 miners, left Des Moines this morning. The men appeared at the Pershing mine near Knoxville and attempted to persuade the miners who had gone to work there to walk out.

Frank Adams, president of the Pershing local of the United Mine Workers of America, refused to permit them to enter the mine, but advised the strikers he would submit the proposition to the miners when they emerged from the pits.

The Pershing mine resumed operations today after having been idle since April.

The cavalcade then proceeded to the Rex Fuel company mine No. 6 near Albia, but failed to persuade the workers to walk out.

Besides the Pershing mine, the Central Iowa Fuel company mine No. 4 near Chariton also resumed work today. The Scandia Coal company mine near Madrid was scheduled to reopen, but remained closed when miners failed to report.

Officials Sued by Mother of Boy Shot in Prohibition Raid

OSKALOOSA, Sept. 12 (AP)—Mrs. Mary Stanton of Eddyville, mother of Gerald Blackwood and administratrix of his estate, filed a $50,000 claim against Police Chief Howard Allgood, Sheriff Frank Hook and Deputy Sheriff Frits Vandenoren in district court today.

The trio of defendants conducted a liquor raid on an island in the Des Moines river last June 14 in which young Blackwood was shot and fatally wounded.

Los Angeles Learns a Lesson

LOS ANGELES county authorities have learned the valuable lesson that play is the most effective known combatant of crime.

The principal weapon in the county's fight against juvenile delinquency—the major cause of adult crime and the modern type of big-city gangdom—is the Department of Recreation Camps and Playgrounds.

So far the score, as always where the experiment has been tried, has been chalked up on the side of play. The county probation department, for example, reports that instead of 300 cases of delinquency during July, as it had last year, only 261 cases were reported.

Another encouraging sign in the report of the juvenile division of the Los Angeles county sheriff's office, which had but one case to every five of last year.

It all came about through the discovery that professional play supervisors were numerous in the list of those who were unemployed and working for subsistence wages with picks and shovels.

Attendance figures at the county's playgrounds increased by spurts and delinquency decreased even faster. The result has been the wholesale transformation of small-boy gangs into athletic clubs and worthwhile activity groups.

The same thing has been accomplished in dozens of forward-looking cities throughout the United States. Everywhere the result has been the same.

Meanwhile such cities as Chicago and New York sit and wail because their tenement district children are growing up with their fingers on triggers and their eyes in keyholes.

The same lesson can well be applied right here in Iowa City. Not all children of this community are growing up to be model citizens. Scores of them are allowed to wander at random about the streets with nothing to do.

Let's Grow Old Together

RECENT DISCLOSURES by American scientists that the future will witness 65 and 70 year old "average" citizens, instead of today's 45 and 50, ought to start the wiseacres a-popping.

For example, in 1960 there ought to be a number of grandmother governors and lots of bearded street car conductors. For that matter, college students will probably all be married men and women of 30 or more.

Seriously, if the American people—on the whole—can't find a better way of life for their extra 20 years or so, then they'll have about as much use for longer lives as Methuselah.

There will of necessity be a complete metamorphosis—for better or for worse—of customs and manners and ideals, of government and education and convention, of ethics and religion and morals.

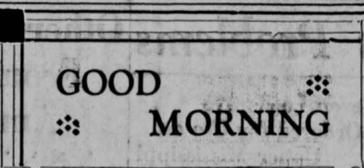

That's one good reason why today's scientists might better get easy on their discoveries of how we can stretch our lives. They'd prove a greater boon to mankind by far if they'd spend all their time discovering how we can better live the few years we already have.

Pegler on Stamps

Westbrook Pegler's suggestion that the government issue comic strip stamps in series, as a way of popularizing the mail service and eliminating the post office deficit, has greater possibilities than even Mr. Pegler seemed to have considered.

a stamp dealing with some episode in the crowded career of Col. George Bungle; an invitation might be introduced by a picture of one Mrs. Jiggs' efforts at bringing up father in the social world, and the sender of a love letter might prepare his correspondent by affixing an episode from the romantic adventures of Tarzan.

As a drug store customer remarked in one of C. Fields' recent comedies, the trouble with the stamp business is that the buyer has so little choice. Mr. Pegler's system would permit him to shop around. It would allow him to express his own individuality, and much more besides.

Friday the National Recovery Administration moves into the second stage of its gigantic effort to mobilize industry under the blue eagle.

When this phase is over, when the talons of the eagle have a grasp on the majority of industry, the country will be able to watch for results.

As the movement has entered the transition period between organization and enforcement the activities of the NRA have been marked by the first signs of internal disruption and discord.

The second major disruption was the resignation of Dudley Cates as assistant administrator for industry. Mr. Cates objected to the let-alone labor policy of the administration and claimed that if the drive was to be successful the government would have to prescribe the vertical, or plant, type of labor union in preference to the horizontal, or craft, type on which the American Federation of Labor is based.

The third point of serious discord came with the well-known controversy with Henry Ford, who so far has refused to sign the automobile code. The individualism which brought him success is still uppermost with him.

General Johnson's estimate of the first phase of work is somewhat cheerful. Two million men, he says, have been put back to work and payrolls have climbed $30,000,000 a week.

Beginning Friday, however, there will come a distinct change in emphasis for the whole program. At this time the administration will direct its attention to the equally difficult and even more serious problem of enforcement of the organization it has been setting up.

General Johnson has indicated that the more flagrant cases will be cared for as examples and that cheaters will be paraded before the public so that everyone may see what happens to the slackers.

These are strong words, of course, and action of this kind is fraught with all sorts of dire possibilities. Henry Ford falls in this class, for instance. It is possible that the licensing provision of the recovery act will have to be enforced in this and many other cases.

The Agricultural Adjustment Administration already has taken advantage of the licensing provisions of the law under which it operates, and has had this power upheld in a lower court.

If this provision is applied to industry, it would force the employer either to conform to the demands of the government or to go out of business. In the case of an employer of the Ford stature this would be certain to result in an immediate court test which might take months or years before a final decision could be reached.

Concurrently with this phase of enforcement, the campaign to regiment consumers to purchase only under the blue eagle will go forward with even greater energy. This has been referred to as a boycott, a charge that has been half denied by the administration.

Whatever the outcome, the days after Sept. 15 will be exciting ones in the life of the nation. They will be well worth watching.

Administration Has No Illusions as to Relief Situation It Will Face This Winter

WASHINGTON—Repeated insistence by Harry L. Hopkins, federal emergency relief administrator, that the states match the half billion Uncle Sam has provided, coupled with President Roosevelt's approval of plans to carry the conservation corps camps on through the winter, make it clear that Washington has no illusions about the situation it may face during the cold months.

Administrator Hopkins has estimated that no less than a billion will be needed for unemployment relief, despite the improvement shown in statistics reaching him from various states in August. That feeling made him bear down hard on such states as were slow to provide relief funds themselves as a basis of requests for additional federal aid.

Uncle Sam's half billion is being nursed in such fashion as to make the administrator highly unpopular, probably, with several governors.

Cutting Job Lines Behind the decision to carry on the forest camps lay the desire to keep the young, single men now in the camps out of the job-hunter lines for the first rush of re-employment expected from NRA efforts.

That involves heavy additional cost to the government to provide winter clothing at the camps and equipment suitable for all-year-round operation where practical. The White House felt it would be worth that cost to keep a quarter of a million men out of the job lines of industry during the winter months.

Administrator Hopkins may not have as showy a place at this time in the Roosevelt recovery program staff as has General Johnson, say, but in a way his is a more difficult job.

It is his mission to compel state cooperation in the direct unemployment relief task of the winter on such a scale that the recovery program will not break down before it can get into full swing. Even if half the huge army of unemployed had been reemployed on an earning basis by mid-winter, the plight of the rest would continue as a menace to the whole recovery project.

Mr. Hopkins probably will be holding the center of the stage in Washington soon after snow flies. His big problem lies ahead of him.

Aiding Teachers It must have been pleasant to Hopkins to find in the idea of affording relief funds for employment of idle teachers a momentary escape from his battle with demands of the states for a share in that half billion dollar relief melon.

What Hopkins had in mind was trading limited relief payments to the tens of thousands of unemployed teachers for supplemental courses in rural schools particularly. That would remove the stigma of a "dole" from these relief expenditures and also help overcome the handicap that the depression has created for children now in their most impressionable years yet denied the opportunity of adequate schooling. It is an alluring idea.

To what extent the University of Iowa is a composite of students from every walk of life is very well illustrated by the current issue of the University News Bulletin.

The paper carries six stories, written by students who are more or less representative of their groups, discussing the cost of a year of schooling at Iowa and the value or meaning of such schooling—not in dollars and cents, but in new experiences, new contacts and friendships, broadened viewpoint, and in general enrichment of the mental and spiritual life of the students.

The cost of year at Iowa, according to these students, ranges from $177, for a young man who lived in the Quadrangle and worked for his board, to $700, spent by a girl who lived at a sorority chapter house. The costs quoted by the other four students, who lived in dormitories, private homes, and a fraternity, show a wide variation within those extremes.

Social advantages are stressed by the Greek letter students, but the others have also had a full social experience. Economy seems to be the ruling factor, even in fraternities and sororities. Says the sorority sister: "I can recall jolly sleighriding parties and Sunday night oyster stews last winter which amounted to twenty-five cents a couple."

Instruction, the university libraries, dramatics, journalism, athletics, social life—all have come in for their share in making the years of these students at Iowa worth while. Through all six of the articles runs the theme that, high or low as the cost may be, the ultimate returns in the form of a richer life can not be measured in terms of the money spent—that they are priceless. And this is written with an evident sincerity that can not be doubted.

The university commemorative dinner plates, issued by the Alumni association, have proved so popular that only five dozen remain out of the first edition of 150 dozen. The plates were issued in sets of 12, each with a symbolic border design and a view of some building or scene on the Iowa campus.

The alumni office has promised that if the demand is great enough to warrant it a second edition will be issued.

The plates will do honors on dinner tables throughout the land. Thirty-two states, the District of Columbia, and Porto Rico are the homes of the Iowa alumni who have subscribed to the first edition of the Wedgewood plates.

Helen Husted Married to Eugene Richter Yesterday

First Presbyterian Church Forms Setting for Wedding of Local Girl, Davenport Man, Both Former S.U.I. Students

The First Presbyterian church formed a setting of solemn beauty yesterday at 4 p.m. for the wedding of Helen Husted, daughter of Mrs. C. S. Meardon, and Eugene P. Richter, son of Mr. and Mrs. August Richter of Davenport.

The church, with its candle-lit altar and floor baskets of fall flowers and palms, reflected a charmingly blended kaleidoscope of color in the gowns of the wedding party.

Martha Lusk, T. Wilkinson Repeat Vows

Local Couple Married at Simple Service in St. Pat's

Nuptial vows were taken yesterday morning by Martha Lusk, a niece of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Manville, 126 Richards street, and Thomas J. Wilkinson, son of Mrs. J. L. Wilkinson, 620 S. Dodge street.

The Rev. E. T. Gough, pastor of the Methodist church at Mt. Vernon, read the marriage service. Miss Gough improvised softly at the organ after the opening words.

White Satin Gown The bride was attired in a gown of white satin, fashioned on long silhouette lines with full-length sleeves of white lace.

Immediately following the ceremony, members of the bridal party and the families were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Meardon at a wedding dinner. Tables were decorated in pink, blue, and white, and bouquets of white asters, dahlias, and gladioli formed the centerpieces.

Guests

Out of town guests in attendance were Mr. and Mrs. Richter of Davenport, Dr. and Mrs. Fred Merritt of Mt. Vernon, Dr. and Mrs. R. L. Byrnes of Los Angeles, Cal., Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hossman, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Eckhardt, and Mrs. Michael, all of Davenport; Helen Collins of Des Moines; and Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Dunkerton of Chariton.

Mrs. Richter attended the University of Iowa, where she became affiliated with Kappa Alpha Theta sorority. Mr. Richter received his degree from the university last June. He is a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity. At present he is associated with his father in the August Richter Furriers at Davenport, where the couple will reside.

Officers of Rundell Club Are Re-Elected for Coming Season

Last year's officers of Rundell club will again direct the affairs of the organization this year. The officers were re-elected at a meeting Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. E. Beck, 503 Grant street.

They are: Mrs. Beck, president; Mrs. D. L. Crissinger, vice president; Mrs. Richard Nelson, secretary and treasurer.

After the business session, the afternoon was spent informally.

Mrs. John Strub Hostess to Circle

Mrs. John Strub, 515 N. Van Buren street, will be hostess to members of the Friendship circle of the English Lutheran church when they convene at her home this afternoon for a meeting. The business session will begin at 2:30.

Mrs. Adolph Lind is the assistant hostess.

SKIPPY—No Solution

HOUSE to HOUSE

With Sept. 18 nearing, thoughts of Sue and Joe College are turning from vacation good-times to that all-important season of rushing.

Arrival of prospective Eds and Coeds. Tall slim ones, little blond ones, medium-sized brunet ones, lots of redheads, and some just-in-between, all bound for their fraternal homes.

Already some of the fraternity and sorority houses have assumed an air of hilarity, gaiety and activity, as strains of melody drift from open windows, and the stream of young men and women, coming and going, begins in earnest.

Immediately following the marriage ceremony, members of the bridal party were entertained at a breakfast at the Manville home. Mrs. Wilkinson attended the schools of Macon, Mo., and has been employed at the Iowa City Savings bank in Iowa City.

After a wedding trip to Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Wilkinson will be at home in Cedar Rapids. Woodrow Beard and Ellis Johnson, both of Ames, arrived in Iowa City yesterday. Both will be enrolled in the college of liberal arts.

Paul Cash of Lenox will matriculate for his third year in the college of medicine. Mr. Cash arrived yesterday.

Louis Mangels of Hartley will be a senior in the college of liberal arts. Mr. Mangels also returned to the campus yesterday.

Among the Gamma Phi Betas who have returned to the house are: Margaret Lee and Marietta Born, both of Story City; Jean Anthony of Sioux City; Rose Marie Beck of Remsen; Frances Ringena of Brooklyn; Mary Jane Soechtig of Ft. Madison; and Dorothy Durian of Wellman.

Making arrangements for the rushing season at the Delta Gamma house are Carolyn Murphy of Red Oak; Frances Datesman of Council Bluffs; Janet Larrabee of Clermont, and Ruth Fatherson of St. Paul, Minn.

Value of NRA Questioned by Dean Gilmore

The value of the national recovery program was questioned yesterday by Dean Eugene A. Gilmore of the University of Iowa college of law, in an address before the Chicago Rotary club.

He warned that the program offers a "distressing" challenge to the political philosophy of the American constitution, and hinted that the present movement may be a symbol of the breakdown of the constitution.

"Men are seriously questioning whether the constitution is unassailable," Dean Gilmore told the Rotarians and the Constitution Educational association.

He declared that the country may pay with its principles for "much desired, although often temporary results." The government, he said, is staffed with "philosophers, crusaders, and economic evangelists who are planning to blow up the people's basic ideas."

The planned economy which is proposed may produce a fuller life and a larger freedom, Dean Gilmore said. "But," he added, "to many it looks like a wheel chair and a plaster cast."

The Iowa teacher's address was broadcast over a nation-wide hookup of the National Broadcasting company.

With the United States included in the Cuban territory, it is easy to see that Machado was president of the United States.

Athena Delphian To Discuss Books The books "Aucosin and Nicolet" and "Paul and Virginia" will be discussed by members of Athena Delphian at a meeting Friday afternoon.

Cornerstone of Church to Be Removed

Contents Will Go to State Historical Society

The State Historical Society and the Iowa City Unitarian church will share the cornerstone of the old Universalist church at the corner of Clinton street and Iowa avenue, which is being razed by the university.

Prof. Benj. F. Shambaugh, superintendent of the Historical society, said yesterday that the contents of the stone will be deposited in the library of the organization, and the stone itself will be given to the Unitarian church.

No record is available of the contents of the cornerstone, and what the builders saw fit to place in it will not be revealed until the stone is opened.

The church is one of the few remaining landmarks of the early days of the university. A short historical sketch, prepared by Jacob A. Swisher, research associate of the society, says that the cornerstone was laid in 1870.

The church was completed in 1873, and several years later, it was sold to the Iowa state Unitarian church. This group, in turn, sold it to the University of Iowa, the original owner of the land on which it was built.

No use has been made of the building for several years, and it is being razed now, together with other buildings on Clinton street.

The city court of Charleston, S. C., has not tried a case in 24 years, although it has convened regularly.

Kurtz Named to Committee on Television

S. U. I. Professor Will Aid in Work of Two Groups

The University of Iowa advanced another step in its pioneering in the field of television, with the appointment of Prof. Edwin B. Kurtz of the college of engineering as a member of the general engineering and research committee and chairman of the education broadcasting committee of the National Television association.

Promote Television The association, which was organized in Chicago this summer, is composed of commercial and educational broadcasters and manufacturers of television equipment.

Its purpose is to promote the interests of television in all its phases. Professor Kurtz has been the guiding hand in the organization of Iowa's television broadcasting station, W9XK. This station is the first fully-equipped television broadcasting station to be set up by an American university.

WSUI-W9XK Programs Last year several broadcasts were made in association with station WSUI. It is hoped that advances may be made this coming year toward the goal of educational broadcasts in sight and sound.

Professor Kurtz attended several engineering meetings this summer. He was present at the annual convention of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers and the annual convention of the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education, both at Chicago.

Physicians in Second Day of S.U.I. Course

Genito-Urinary, General Surgery Will Be Studied Today

TODAY'S PROGRAM Morning Fourth Floor, General Hospital 8-12—Genito-urinary surgery lectures and demonstrations.

Afternoon Fifth Floor, General Hospital 1:30-5—General surgery, lectures and ward walks. With lectures and demonstrations in two fields of surgery scheduled, 20 Iowa physicians today will enter their second day in the annual surgical survey, a post-graduate course in surgery, under the auspices of the college of medicine and the extension division.

The instructional staff, which yesterday began the four-day course in instruction in new surgical methods and developments, is composed of 18 members of University hospital staff.

Four Day Program Four days filled to the brim with activity have been scheduled, with courses arranged every day from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Five surgical groups will be studied: orthopedic surgery, otolaryngology, genito-urinary surgery, general surgery, and gynecology.

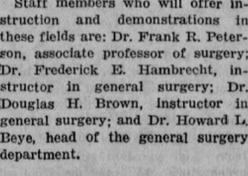

Today's program is made up of work in genito-urinary surgery and some phases of general surgery. From 8 to 12 o'clock this morning, demonstrations and lectures in the first named group have been scheduled. Ward walks will give the physicians an opportunity to study various urological conditions.

Doctors in Charge Dr. Nathaniel G. Alcock, head of the department; Dr. R. H. Flocks, and Dr. Wayland K. Hicks, both of the department, will have charge of this instruction.

Instruction in general surgery, to be given in the afternoon, will include consideration of neck and abdominal surgery, stones in the biliary duct, fractures, and pre- and post-operative management.

Staff members who will offer instruction and demonstrations in these fields are: Dr. Frank R. Peterson, associate professor of surgery; Dr. Frederick E. Hambrecht, instructor in general surgery; Dr. Douglas H. Brown, instructor in general surgery; and Dr. Howard L. Beye, head of the general surgery department.

Johnny Fischer Collects Amateur Medal Honors Second Time

Barney Ross Gains 15 Round Decision Over Canzoneri in Defense of Crown

Homebred in Lead by One Stroke Edge

Goodman in Tie for Seventh Place Position

KENWOOD COUNTRY CLUB, Cincinnati, O., Sept. 12 (AP)—Two youthful collegians waged a record smashing fight today for the qualifying medal of the United States amateur championship with Johnny Fischer of Cincinnati and the University of Michigan triumphant by a single stroke over Pat Sawyer of Minneapolis and the University of Minnesota.

Fischer captured the low scoring honors for the second consecutive year with the new record figures of 72-69-141 in one of the wildest and most exciting finishes in the 37-year history of the national tournament.

Brilliant Performance Home-town idol and one of the greatest of a fast rising crop of young American golfing stars, Fischer gave a brilliant performance under heavy pressure. His 69, two under par, equalled the new competitive course record for Kenwood, nosed out Sawyer and lowered the tournament qualifying record by one stroke.

Sawyer with 72-70-142, equalled the old mark. Fischer wiped out a record that was set in 1924 by D. Clarke Corkran of Baltimore, equalled by Bob Jones in 1927 and 1930, and by Fischer himself a year ago.

Fischer and Sawyer, with 72 each yesterday, both started their final qualifying round two shots behind the pace-setters, Ross Somerville of Canada, the defending title holder, and young Jack Munger of Dallas, Tex.

Munger faded from the pace-setting picture in a jamboree that carried nearly a dozen brand new national tournament figures into the qualifying vanguard.

Fischer knew what he had to do down the stretch, and so did a steaming gallery of nearly 2,000 fans who watched the 21 year old son of a Cincinnati mail man. Things looked a bit dismal for Johnny's medal chances when he drove a clump of trees on the 14th hole and could not shoot for the green.

Two more tournament records were smashed when it developed that 38-hole scores of 150 marked the qualifying limit and that a playoff was needed among an even dozen who finished there. The scoring range of 141 to 150 for the qualifying list compared with the former low range of 142 to 152, last year. The biggest previous playoff field was the group of 10 that fought for places at Chicago, two years ago.

Playoff Tomorrow morning starting at 8 o'clock (EST) the 12 in the 150 bracket will battle it out on the elimination system for eight places remaining to round out the match play field of 32.

The three surviving ex-champions, Max Marston of Philadelphia, Chick Evans of Chicago and H. Chandler Egan of Del Monte, Cal., finished on the border line. Along with them were two Walker Cup stars, Maurice McCarthy, Jr., of Cleveland, and George T. Dunlap, Jr., of New York, who nearly blew himself out of the tournament with a 79 today after his sensational first round 71.

The others are R. M. Grant of Hartford, Conn.; Chris Brinke of Philadelphia; Nicol Thompson, Jr., of Canada; Eddie Held of Jamesburg, N. J.; Spencer Overton of Baltimore, who came back with a sub-par 70 after his opening 80; Will Gun, Jr., of Wallingford, Pa., and Ira Couch of Chicago.

Many Stars Fall Some of the most promising names in American amateur golf were outside the qualifying fold. Jess Sweetser of New York, despite a gallant 72, failed by a stroke to enter the playoff. At his total of 151 were Fred Wright, Jr., of Boston, Charley Kocsis, young Michigan star; Walter Emery of Oklahoma City, and Rodney Bliss, Jr., of Omaha, the winner and runner-up, respectively, in this year's national intercollegiate.

Jesse Gullford of Boston, another ex-champion, George Dawson of Chicago and Frank Dolp of Portland, Ore., were out of the running with 152 each.

Another Record Young Sidney Noyes, Jr., of New York, furnished the day's most electrifying spurt with a 31, four under par, for a new record over the incoming nine. This pulled him down to par 71 for the day and a qualifying total of 149.

He escaped with only a 5, then

Last Year's Football Captain Appointed as Assistant Hawkeye Coach

Tribe Beats Washington Team, 3 to 1

Pearson Allows Only Five Hits in Duel With Crowder

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—Monte Pearson, the Indian's sensational rookie, today bested the veteran "General" Alvin Crowder in a neat pitching duel and Cleveland set the Washington Senators down, 3 to 1.

The defeat shaved a game off from Washington's American league lead since the New York Yankees trimmed the Detroit Tigers in New York. The Senators are heading the parade by 8 1/2 games with 15 more to be played.

Pearson was bearing down all the way and allowed only four hits. Crowder likewise was miserly, giving up five, one of which was Hal's home run in the second.

Cleveland pushed across its second and third tallies in the seventh when they bunched three hits. Averill singled, and then Trosky hit to deep short. Cronin, hoping to make a force play, threw wildly and the runners made second and third. Hale fouled out, but Wes Ferrell singled to bring them in.

Browns Defeat Red Sox, 4 to 1

BOSTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—The combination of Sammy West and Dick Coffman spelled a 4 to 1 defeat for the Boston Red Sox today by the St. Louis Browns.

Coffman limited the hose to six hits while West scored his team's first two tallies, batted in another, robbed Mueller of a hit by a sensational leap and one-handed catch and made two hits, including a double.

Uhle Whips Old Mates, 5 to 3

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP)—George Uhle, who once pitched for the Tigers, kept most of the Detroit players under control today and pitched the Yankees to a 5 to 3 victory. It was Uhle's fourth straight victory for the Yanks.

New York won the final series with Detroit 3-1 and the season's series 15-7.

Aussies Lead Americans in Davis Cup Net Exhibition Matches at Lake Forest.

ONWENTZIA CLUB, Lake Forest, Ill., Sept. 12 (AP)—Australia led America two to one at the end of the first day's play in the Davis cup exhibition matches at Onwentszia club today.

Adrian Quist sent the Aussies into an early lead by disposing of Keith Gledhill, 3-6, 6-2, 6-3. While in the battle of 17 year-olds, Frankie Parker, America's "boy wonder" of tennis, outmaneuvered the equally youthful Vivian McGrath in straight sets, 6-4, 6-2.

McGrath atoned for this setback by teaming with Jack Crawford, veteran Aussie Davis cupper, to sweep through Parker and Frank X. Shields, the giant New Yorker, in four gruelling sets, 6-8, 6-4, 6-4, 6-3. The Australians after a shaky start, settled down in the second set and repeatedly forced their opponents into errors.

Tomorrow's singles matches pit Wilmer Allison, the American captain against Don Turnbull, while Crawford, who was finalist in the national singles at Forest Hills last week, meets Shields. The doubles bring together George M. Lott, Jr., and Lester Stofen, the American champions, versus Quist and Turnbull.

BIG SIX

By The Associated Press. Heine Manush and Lou Gehrig exchanged places in the Big Six standing yesterday, Manush moving up to second in the American league batting race and fourth in the sextet as he cracked out two hits in three times up. He added two points to his average while Gehrig lost two, failing to connect in four attempts. Spud Davis gained a single point with two hits in four tries and Chuck Klein lost one, hitting once in four trips to the plate.

The standings: G. A. B. R. H. Pct. Klein, Phils., 132 529 91 199 376. Fox, A's, 133 512 116 185 361. Davis, Phils., 122 438 43 150 342. Manush, Nats 143 607 109 292 333. Gehrig, Yanks 187 541 126 179 331. Piet, Cubs 105 360 45 117 325.

Marvin Gudat, Los Angeles club outfielder, is playing his first full season in one position. Before the 1933 season he pitched, played first base and alternated in the outer garden.

Marc Magnussen to Serve as Assistant Grid Coach

Former Iowa Captain Will Work With Linemen

Marc Magnussen, the man who would play football, commences a new chapter in his colorful grid career Friday when he assumes his duties as assistant varsity coach at Iowa. Edward H. Lauer, director of athletics, made the announcement yesterday morning. He will work with the line, both this season and next spring.

Magnussen's varsity career lasted over five years, three of competition and two on the sidelines. The blonde pivot man played sub to Dick Brown, captain and all-star center, in 1928 and in 1929 was good enough to merit all-conference consideration.

Elected co-captain with Mike Farroh in 1930, he was declared ineligible. Working off his deficiencies, he was picked as the key in an otherwise weak line when a broken leg again sent him to the stands. Finally, last year, he returned as the leader of the Hawkeye eleven and finished one of the oddest of Iowa football careers.

He will be a junior in the college of medicine this year.

Plan Series of Wrestling Shows Here

Red Beers to Appear on Thursday Night Program

With all the headliners scheduled to make appearances in the future, the first of a weekly series of wrestling exhibitions will be held at the American Legion Community building Thursday night, Bob Craddock, Kansas City promoter, promises a real show for local wrestling fans.

As soon as the game gets a good foothold in Iowa City, the leading wrestlers of the country will be imported for exhibitions.

Thursday's show will feature Jesse Joy, one time star at Drake, and Walter O'Connor, Kansas City's leading contender for the world's light heavyweight title. It will be for two out of three falls, no time limit.

The semi-windup finds the greatest wrestling machine ever turned out at the University of Iowa, Leslie "Red" Beers, mixing it with Tony Garbaldi, smooth working grappler from St. Louis. Beers is wrestling coach at Purdue.

Frank Brachley, Des Moines, and Roy Beehrle, Marshalltown, will fill out the bill.

Ball Players Want Queer Life's Work

COLUMBUS, O., (AP)—When the third strike is called on a baseball player for the last time and he gets his final release from the national game, what becomes of him?

Most of them choose a new job. The question was put to members of the Columbus Red Birds, American Association team, and here are their answers:

Ray Blades, manager: would like a drug or hardware store. Paul Dean: always wanted to manage a big filling station. Bill Delaney: never liked work and intends to go fishing.

Bill Lee: has studied to be a lawyer, but would prefer to operate a night club. Harold Anderson: thinks he would prefer to be a banker. Burgess Whitehead: thinks he has the hands of a surgeon. Bud Teachout: has always had a "hankering" to be a weatherman. Andy High: is an electrician and still has his union card. Mike Gonzales: when he is too old to play ball for someone else, wants to be president, manager, captain and catcher on his own team.

Fred Browning, Des Moines Western league pitcher, is a brother of Jim Browning, claimant of the heavyweight wrestling title. Billy Sullivan, Jr., White Sox catcher recently out of Notre Dame, plans an Australian honeymoon this winter.

No Change in Majors Leaders Fail to Add to Edge Over Other Teams.

The leaders failed to help themselves yesterday, the Giants because they didn't play and the Senators when they dropped a decision to Cleveland.

As a result, the Yanks gained a game and still face the combination of nine before going down for the final count.

All the four challengers in the National remained as they were yesterday, the Cubs and Pirates closing up a half and full game but still needing to watch that 11 combination. The Cards and Braves must watch out for the same set of seven losses or Giant wins.

Bob Zuppke Favors Food But No Funds

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Sept. 12 (AP)—Coach Bob Zuppke of the University of Illinois is in favor of training tables for football teams but opposed to any plan that would give the athletes a share in the gate receipts.

In a speech before the Rotary club, Coach Zuppke said he was in favor of re-establishing the football training table, which was banned by the Big Ten conference years ago.

"Any profit sharing of the gate receipts, however, would soon have schools bidding against each other for the services of athletes," he said.

Coach Zuppke has just returned from his vacation in Michigan preparatory to opening football drill Friday.

Getting a player by the name of Sewell from the Cleveland Indians seems lucky for winning pennants—the Yanks did it with Joe Sewell, and it is working for the Senators this year with Luke Sewell.

Willie Dunn, Los Angeles Athletic club golf pro, uses a two-headed driver to teach the proper back-swing of a club in tee shots.

Columbus Captures First Contest From Minneapolis Team

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Sept. 12 (AP)—Columbus took the measure of Minneapolis in the first game of the playoff for the American Association pennant today, 6 to 2. The crowd, estimated at only 4,000 was held down by threatening weather. The Redbirds did not get going against the pitching of the veteran southpaw, Jess Petty, until the seventh inning when they knocked him from the box. Hilcher, who relieved Petty, followed him in the eighth, Tauscher going to the mound to finish the game.

Iowa Tackles to be Bigger Than Average

Hoffman, 230 Pounder, Cops Heavyweight Honors

The biggest set of tackles to try out for a varsity job at Iowa in many years will greet Coach Ossie Solem Friday when eleven huskies, averaging an even 200 pounds, trample the sod of Iowa field for the first time this year.

Ranging from "Tiny" Hoffman at 230, the weight drops to a mere 180 pounds for Max Tuinstra. Six of the men weigh 200 pounds or more.

Better yet, all of them, even the huge Sibley lineman, can show a surprising amount of speed. Speed and weight, the two most important factors in the make up of a good tackle, are present and waiting to show the opposition how tough they can make it for them.

Foster Back Jerry Foster, after a year's lay-off to recover from the affects of an operation, is back to add his 210 pounds to the forward line. Although a regular in 1931, the Iowa City junior will be pushed to the limit if he regains his old post.

Fred Radloff and Zud Schammel, regulars last year, will be on hand again but will take a whirl at end rather than at the tackles.

Hoffman is counted upon strongly to aid in building up a strong line. Strong as a bull, he handles himself with the ease of a 190 pounder and will be hard to stop when he gets his chance. He is a sophomore.

Harold Swaney, who was an end in 1931 and both an end and a tackle last year, is the only other veteran unless Jim Dee turns back from the ends to a tackle.

Three Good Sophs Gene Liggitt, Rockford, Ill., can be used at either end or tackle and with Hoffman and Rudy Leytze, ranks as the best of the newcomers. Frank O'Leary is another two position man, performing at either guard or tackle. He is the best man on the kickoff Iowa has had since Pete Westra graduated.

McAllister, Rubeer and Tuinstra complete the roster of men who aim to be plenty tough on those off-tackle smashes employed by Iowa foes.

Coach Frank J. Murray of Marquette, starting his twelfth season, is out-ranked in continuous service to one school only by Bob Zuppke of Illinois, as far as the middle west is concerned.

Maurice Archdeacon, who operates a tavern at St. Louis, is the same Archdeacon who once held the record for circling bases.

Cubs Blank Phillies for 2 to 0 Win

Camilli Again Helps Chicago Overcome Philadelphia

CHICAGO, Sept. 12 (AP)—As a final tuneup for their "last ditch" series with the New York Giants, which opens tomorrow, the Cubs edged out the Phillies 2 to 0 today and took the series, three games to one.

The Cubs fell into a tie for second place as the Pittsburgh Pirates won two games and gained a half game on them.

Only two Philadelphians got as far as second base and none to third as Lon Warneke shut them out with six hits for his season's seventeenth victory.

Adolph Camilli, rookie first baseman, spoiled the five hit work turned in by Ed Holley and Frank Pearce of the Phils by clouting a triple in the second. Camilli, playing his fourth major league game, accounted for a Cub victory for the second time in his brief big league career. After Frank Demaree had singled, Camilli bounced his three-base drive off the top of the screen in left center. Then Gabby Hartnett hit a long fly and the youngster scampered home with the second run of the game.

Pirates Shutout Dodgers Twice

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 12 (AP)—The Pirates clambered back into a tie with the Chicago Cubs for second place in the National league today by beating the Brooklyn Dodgers 1 to 0 and 2 to 0 in their final double header. The Bucs finished 7 1/2 games behind the idle New York Giants.

Heinie Meine held the Dodgers to five hits and Waite Hoyt granted only four.

Meine scored the only run of the opener in the ninth. He singled, advanced on Lloyd Warner's hit, then after Paul Waner had been passed, scored on Pie Traynor's single.

Stoneham Denies Selling Ball Club

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP)—Charles A. Stoneham, president of the New York Giants, today indignantly denied a report that he had sold his controlling interest in the New York Giants of the National baseball league to A. C. Blumenthal, real estate and theatrical promoter.

"You can make that as emphatic as you wish," Stoneham said when advised of the report. "There is absolutely nothing to it. The Giants are not for sale."

Keeps Title After Long, Hard Battle

Fastest Lightweight Bout in Fifteen Years of Fighting

By EDWARD J. NEIL (Associated Press Sports Writer) POLO GROUNDS, New York, Sept. 12 (AP)—Barney Ross, fighting with the fire of a zealot, saved his lightweight title from returning to desperate little Tony Canzoneri tonight in a fifteen-round battle that surpassed in savagery anything the lightweight division has seen here since the history duel of Benny Leonard and Lew Teller years and years ago.

For fifteen rounds with scarcely a moment for a long breath, two of the fastest, most desperate hitters among all the little fellows fought each other to a frazzle in a struggle so close, so shifting in its roaring tide, that in the end only the split-second decision of Referee Arthur Donovan and the two judges retained the crown for the burning-eyed, aesthetic faced scrapper from Chicago's Ghetto.

Thus Ross saved his title as he won it from Canzoneri in ten rounds in Chicago in June, by the narrowest possible margin, as a crowd of 40,000 thronged about the ring and howled in protest.

Round after round they ripped at each other, first one then the other weakening, then coming back, then fading off again under a punishing storm that never gave the huge crowd a quiet moment. But toward the end it was the stamina that oozed from every muscle of the 22 year old champion that lifted him onto the closing rally that saved him the day.

Judge Arthur Kelly voted for Canzoneri by a margin of eight rounds to seven, while Judge Harold Burris gave the defending champion a decisive edge with nine rounds won, two lost and four even. It was up to Referee Donovan to decide, then, and he cast his vote for Ross, giving him eight rounds, Canzoneri four, with three even.

Donovan decided that he took the sixth, eighth and ninth rounds from Canzoneri because of jaw blows.

Rarely has New York ever seen a battle so close, so fierce, so interesting.

For six rounds the brilliant little Canzoneri, at 25 a former champion of both the featherweights and the lightweights, swarmed over the titleholder, dazzling him at times with his footwork, his feints, his right hand punching that at times shook Ross' head so badly it seemed he had to go down.

Tony had all the edge along the early way, gaining whatever margin there was in the first, winning the second, fourth and sixth and holding a savage, desperate young champion even in the third and fifth.

But the fire that burned in the veteran of eight years of hard warfare started to flicker spasmodically from the seventh round on, Ross won that one by his thudding body punching, though Tony drew blood from the champion's nose with one barrage to the face.

Stock Market Fails to Keep Monday Gain

Lacks Strength to Hold Rally; Prices Close Somewhat Lower

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP)—Stock market enthusiasm waned a bit today after an early bid for extension of Monday's rally. Prices exhibited considerable resistance to such selling as trickled through the list during the afternoon, but the market lacked the strength for further appreciation and final prices were generally lower.

Forenoon trading was active, particularly in the first half hours or so which some good extension of yesterday's gains. Later, volume dwindled and the market became colorless. Net losses were averaged into a major fraction, though some of the favorites were down a point or slightly more. Sales totaled 2,240,396 shares.

Bonds tended toward improvement, helped by a demand for speculative loans. Cotton moved narrowly.

In stocks, oils maintained an upward direction and so did some of the motors. Petroleum was mostly higher at the close, but automobile issues were more subject to the profit-taking which pared down prices elsewhere. Chrysler succeeded in negotiating 50 for the first time in about four years, then lost more than a point net. General Motors touched its best price since 1931 and held part of the advance. Other industrial leaders limited their losses largely to moderate proportions. U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, American Can, General Electric, Harvester and Westinghouse lost major fractions to about a point. Case and Allied Chemical yielded 2. Ralls were somewhat lower, New York Central, Southern Railway, Southern Pacific and Chesapeake & Ohio dipping slightly. Union Pacific lost 2-1/2 while Santa Fe closed unchanged. Alcohols got no inspiration from Maine's prohibition repeal vote, and finished with declines.

American Telephone was firm on reports that the Bell system's might report a net gain in installations for September.

Dollar exchange weakened.

FISCHER WINS

Medal Honors in Golf Tournament

finished the last four holes one under par where every shot meant the difference between victory and defeat. The crowning shot was an explosion from a trap bordering the 17th green, within six feet of the pin, and the crowd howled as he got down to putt for a birdie 4. He had a chance for another birdie and a 68 when he put his second within five feet of the home hole, but the ball missed by inches.

Another Step Up

Fischer's performance not only climaxed an unprecedented exhibition of golf scoring for the national tournament but marked another big step in the Cincinnati amateur's sensational advance. A former Big Ten and intercollegiate champion, Johnny reached the semi-finals of the 1932 national championship after winning the medal, but was eliminated by Francis Ouimet, Walker Cup captain.

Somerville, who will start match play defense of his title tomorrow in the first of two 18-hole rounds, shot the best qualifying score of his career, 70-73-143, but it was only good enough for third place, just a stroke behind Sawyer, 20-year-old Minnesota who couldn't qualify last year.

Youth in Lead

For the most part it was a field day for the country's golfing youth. Tied for fourth place at 144 each were the seasoned Gus Moreland of Dallas, Tex., and two newcomers, Jim Milward, 20 year old Madison, Wis., entry, and William R. Long, a young Austin, Tex., bank clerk. Milward started the day's fireworks with a 69, the first time 70 has been broken on the remodelled Kenwood course.

Johnny Goodman of Omaha, 23 year old national open champion, had to be satisfied with a tie for seventh place with Frank J. English of Denver, another newcomer and Colorado state amateur runner-up for the last two years. Goodman missed at least seven chances for birdies, posting 72-73-145. English carded 74-71-145.

Kiwanians Fully Behind NRA Plan

AURORA, Ill., Sept. 12 (AP)—Kiwanians of the Illinois-eastern Iowa district are 100 per cent behind the NRA program, Governor George W. Fleming of Chicago told the 16th annual convention of clubs in that region today.

The delegates are expected to adopt a resolution tomorrow pledging the society's support to the recovery campaign.

11-8 under yesterday's finish, corn 1 to 1-1/2 down, oats 5-3 to 7-8 off, and provisions varying from 5 cents decline to a rise of 7 cents.

The wheat market was extremely nervous. Mills were good buyers early, and this encouraged speculators to purchase, but finally the demand proved inadequate to absorb selling to realize profits.

Corn and oats receded with wheat, notwithstanding that the aggregate yield of coarse grains in North America is about 1,374,000,000 bushels less than last year's harvest, and makes the smallest total in a great many years.

Provisions at times displayed notable strength.

PREMIERE by ROBERT TERRY SHANNON

CHAPTER TWENTY-SEVEN

"I don't know anything about outside women—but I know every thing about actresses like you. I know you like a diamond broker know as a stone. Your kind has passed through my hands daily for the last twenty years. You bought a ticket to Hollywood and we did the rest. Somebody gave you a job, somebody dressed you and made you up and pointed a camera at you. We paid you and groomed you and publicized you. All you did was stay alive and do what we told you. We painted you like an artist paints a portrait in a gilt frame. Hollywood has a thousand pretty waitresses who could be in your shoes today if given the breaks."

She shivered. He had succeeded in inoculating her with a feeling of inferiority. About the only thing that remained was a suffocating desire to escape.

"If I amount to so little as that," she said, with a shriveled feeling in her breast, "let me get out of all this."

His eyes tightened. Restlessness came upon him and he walked around the room.

From the corner of her eye Leni observed him. In his movements was the faint suggestion of an animal trainer with a whip in his hand.

"You can't get out of it, because you belong where you are," he lashed at her cruelly. "If an engine gets off the track it goes smash. The same thing would happen to you. You think you're a woman—free, white and twenty-one! You aren't! You're just a flickering photograph printed on a strip of celluloid, a thousand feet to a reel, I'm the same thing. We belong to a strange tribe. At anything else we're no good. I'm telling you. We're a race of people and we're all crazy. It's something in the blood that makes us different from the outsiders. If you break loose the only thing you'll take with you will be your body. The living part of you will stay behind out on the lot."

Something had happened to Leni's common sense. The cold logic with which she might have answered Gerstenfeld was swallowed up in a palpitating excitement.

His words kept pouring into her like a strong drink, confusing the brain and distorting all reality. She became a strangled harp which his hand plucked to produce blended harmony and discord. He was striking from her soul odd strains never before heard in her secret self. The man was neither good nor evil. He was the wild eerie tone of a Gipsy violin.

"But why—why can't I go?" her voice was a vibrating echo.

ber he is charged with murdering a woman. You go down and present yourself to the police and they, in turn, hand you over to the newspapers. And what do you become? A questionable woman spattered with dirty notoriety! Would you help him any?"

Fiercely and devastating intoxication had possession of Gerstenfeld and everything he said carried directness and vigor and energy.

"If you go—you'll be just one more woman for Cavanaugh to explain away to the police," he said. "You rush to him in your emotional blindness—your stupidity—and defeat your own purpose."

Leni had no answer to an argument such as this. Inconceivably the man was correct. Yet this was not enough to still the twisting ache in her heart.

"But he needs me!" "Needs you!" scoffed Gerstenfeld. "He needed you last night when he received that woman in his apartment. What a fool you are, Leni. You break your heart while he—while he—"

A rudimentary sense of pity for the first time entered into Gerstenfeld's voice and checked what he was saying.

The radiant gold of Leni's head bent forward a little. Last night unredeemed itself, a tangled skein of triumph and terror and a meager measure of radiant bliss and devouring eagerness that she and Cavanaugh had named Love.

Incredibly, it was scarcely twelve hours ago that she had been with him and was filled with tenderly patient desire. Every cell in her body was again aching with uncontrollable longing to be with him again—as soon as possible.

"I know this must be love—the kind of thing I've always dreamed

"But why—why can't I go?" her voice was a vibrating echo.

Wheat Falls Off Despite Early Rally

CHICAGO, Sept. 12 (AP)—Despite a fresh advance of 1-1/4 cents a bushel today, wheat finished at a loss.

Profit-taking in the late dealings more than offset continued notice of inflation possibilities and of needed rain for northern Argentina, where a repetition of severe crop damage in 1929 was suggested. A handicap to bulls was that United States government crop figures, although confirming major losses in all cereals, were not as low as trade expectations.

Elks Will Visit Iowa City Nov. 4, 5, for State Convention

Iowa-Ames Football Game to Be Feature of Program

New Officers for All State Posts Will Be Elected

The double purpose of a state convention and the first Iowa-Ames football game since 1920 will bring Elks from all over the state to Iowa City Nov. 4 and 5.

The state-wide meeting is being called by Henry Cook of Ottumwa, deputy of the southeast Iowa district and the local lodge is inviting all lodges in the state to attend.

Reorganization
A reorganization meeting of the state association, at which new officers for all state posts will be elected, will be held at the club house at 8 p.m. Nov. 4.

Sunday, Nov. 5, at 10 a.m. a deputy's meeting of the southeast district will be held at which the exalted ruler and secretary of every lodge in the district will be present.

Delegates to the convention are expected to begin arriving Friday night and Saturday morning. A golf tournament for the visitors has been arranged for Saturday morning, Nov. 4, at the Country club and lunch will be served at the lodge in the afternoon.

To Witness Game
Saturday afternoon will be left open in order for delegates to witness the Iowa-Ames game at the university stadium.

There are 34 Elks lodges in Iowa, 13 of which are in the southeast district. The local lodge was organized May 24, 1900, and now has more than 300 members.

CUBAN Regime Takes New Grasp

the post under de Cespedes. Chibas did not accept immediately.

The administration plans to split the department of agriculture, labor and commerce into two sections, with labor being put by itself. No selection has been announced for either portfolio, but Gabriel Casuso was regarded almost certain as the agriculture department head. Rafael Suarez Solis, a newspaperman, was regarded as in line for the labor post.

Secretary of State
The new secretary of state became the Cuban ambassador to Washington after the overthrow of Machado.

Grau San Martin promised "women their place in the sun" but made plain that he considered direction of technical departments more in their line.

In announcing his appointments the chief executive declared that "the mediation is not represented here." He was referring to the mediation efforts of Sumner Welles, United States ambassador, which preceded the deposing of Machado.

No Bargainers
"We can have nothing to do," said the president, "with men who mediate or make bargainers."

Sergio Carbo, a member of the radical junta, expressed a similar opinion.

"It is absurd," Carbo continued, "to think there could be any conference involving Welles, de Cespedes and Grau San Martin."

Lending credence to fears that trouble might eventuate was a statement of Captain Mario Torres Menier, former head of the aviation corps and one of the besieged officers.

"Can't Go On"
"This can't go on, we've got to do something, even if it means fight," he said.

Officers in the hotel also claimed to have the support of at least 3,000 of the approximately 10,000 soldiers who aided in ousting them last week.

Meanwhile an undetermined number of sailors was reported to have assembled secretly in the basement of the hotel, ready to aid their former superiors.

32 Lots Sold at New Park Yesterday

Thirty-two lots at the new state park north of North Liberty were sold yesterday.

D. W. Crum, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, appeared confident last night that all lots in the tract will be sold before the options expire, so that the property can be paid for and deeded over to the state.

As soon as a deed to the land has been given to the state work will be begun on the dam and a road through the tract.

Several of the 32 persons who purchased cabin sites yesterday were from Cedar Rapids, Mr. Crum said, but most of them were Iowa City business and professional men. The sale will continue this morning and last until the lots have been disposed of.

Bonds Gain 1 to 2 Points

Industrials Substantial, Utilities Rather Indifferent

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP)—Reports of continued gains in freight car loadings brought renewed buying into secondary carrier bonds today and advance of 1 to around 2 points were held by a number of the speculative favorites.

While some of the industrials improved substantially, the utilities were rather indifferent. With the exception of some of the Liberties, United States government securities were inclined to sag moderately and foreign obligations were still somewhat irregular.

Trading activity expanded under the demand for the rails and industrial specialties and sales totaled $10,042,000, compared with $8,520,000 yesterday.

Among the more active rail gainers were some lines of Baltimore & Ohio, Erie, Great Northern, Hudson & Manhattan, Illinois Central, International Great Northern, Missouri Pacific, N. Y. Central, Nickel Plate, Southern Pacific and Union Pacific.

Bonds of International Telephone and Western Union were in fair demand and the better industrials included issues of Certain-Teed, McKesson, National Steel, Philadelphia Reading Coal & Iron, Remington Rand, Texas Corp., United Drug and U. S. Rubber, profit taking in the last hour cut down extreme advances in most categories.

County Board Votes $21,900 Issue of Bonds

To take up poor fund warrants which have been refused for lack of money and have been held by the bank, the Johnson county board of supervisors voted the issuance of $21,900 of refunding bonds.

The refunded warrants date from Jan. 1 of this year. The issue will consist of 21 negotiable bonds of $1,000 and one of $900, bearing five per cent interest.

The bonds will become due as follows: May 1, 1940, $4,000; Nov. 1, 1940, $3,000; May 1, 1941, $4,000; Nov. 1, 1941, $3,000; May 1, 1942, $4,900; and Nov. 1, 1942, $3,000. Both principal and interest on the bonds will be retired by tax levies in 1933 and 1941.

The refunded poor fund warrants are being held by the First Capitol National bank and will be exchanged for the bonds.

Local Theaters File Assessment Appeals With District Court

Appeals to district court from assessments placed by the Iowa City board of review on property of the Central States Theater corporation in the Varsity and Englert theaters were filed with the clerk of court yesterday through William R. Hart, attorney for the theater company.

The board of review, at a meeting May 9, placed the value of the company's property in the Englert theater at $7,000 and in the Varsity theater at $4,000. The petition claims the property is worth only $5,000, $1,500 for the Varsity and $3,500 for the Englert.

The company petitioned the board of review to reduce both assessments, but the petitions were refused. Hearing on the appeals are set for the September term of court.

A new national forest in western Michigan, between Cadillac and Manistee, to embrace about 200,000 acres, is being proposed.

DIXIE DUGAN—Plain Song

Astor, Vanderbilt Heirs Share Fortunes of Famous Families

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (IIN)—Four years of depression notwithstanding, there is still plenty of money in these United States. The fact is brought home to us by the news that John Jacob Astor, III, recently celebrated his twenty-first birthday at Newport, R. I., and formally received an inheritance that makes him one of the richest young men in the country. The amount is variously estimated at between six and 40 million dollars.

Posthumous Child
Young Astor is the son of Col. John Jacob Astor, who lost his life in the Titanic disaster. He was born four months after his father's tragic death, but it is understood that his father made ample provision for the expected child.

Colonel Astor left a net estate of $87,218,791. Of this, Vincent, John's half brother, is supposed to have received about $69,000,000. John's mother, Mrs. Madeline Talmadge Force Astor, tossed away an inheritance of $5,000,000 in 1916, when she married William K. Dick, from whom she was divorced this year.

The young man himself is a shy and reserved individual. He has had an exemplary upbringing avoiding the spotlight of publicity. His one big moment in the news was when he was reported engaged to Donna Christiana Torlonia, daughter of Prince Torlonia, of Rome. But the rumor was proved unfounded.

So sheltered has been young Astor's life he has never matriculated at college. Private tutoring and attendance at a Newport preparatory school plus extensive travel abroad taught him all the things he thinks he ought to know.

Twin of Fortune
Another young man whose case strikes a remarkable parallel to that of young Astor is Alfred Gwynne

Los Angeles in New War on Criminal

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 12 (AP)—In a thrust to rid this metropolitan area of organized crime and a possible reign of gangsters, law enforcement agencies today began a registration of all persons convicted of felonies within the last 10 years.

An ordinance adopted yesterday by Los Angeles county supervisors, requiring the registration within 48 hours, is considered by officials their ace card.

The campaign to rid the county of gangsters was incited by two recent and vicious criminal outbreaks. In the background, as added incentive, have been reports indicating efforts to promote racketeering and in this field.

Under terms of the ordinance, all persons who have been convicted of felonies within the last 10 years must register within 48 hours of the time they arrive in Los Angeles county. Every registered person will be required to furnish the sheriff with information regarding his place of residence and means of support and keep the sheriff informed of all changes of address. The measure carries a penalty of $500 fine and six months in jail.

The two criminal outbreaks which directly caused the anti-crime campaign were the holdup shootings of Crombie Allen, retired publisher and authority on international affairs, and his companion, Cora Withington, school teacher, the night of August 16 and the gang slaying of Harry Mackley and Frank Keller, easterners, in a Hollywood cafe, the night of Aug. 28.

Mrs. Mary Huffman, Pioneer of Region, Dies at Age of 84

Mrs. Mary E. Huffman, 84, died yesterday afternoon at the home of her son, A. O. Carlton, at 1103 Rochester avenue. She had been a resident of Iowa City and Coralville for the last 79 years. She came to Iowa City in a covered wagon at the age of five.

Her survivors are: two sons, Mr. Carlton of Iowa City and Charles Carlton of Emily, Minn.; two sisters, Mrs. John Kubicek of Coralville and Mrs. Fred Goss of Iowa City; and a brother, Charles Augustine of North Liberty.

First and Second
The first case filed for the November term of court was a divorce petition presented Monday. Yesterday another one was filed by Martin Jensen asking for a divorce from Emma Jensen on a charge of cruel and inhuman treatment. The Jensens have five children, according to the petition. They are Swain, Olaf, Ida, Helen, Kenneth, Evalyn, and Robert. Mr. Jensen said in the petition that all of them are working and helping to support their mother.

HELD IN KIDNAP-SLAYING

Arrested while driving the car of his victim, Joseph Nesbitt (inset) automobile executive, of Detroit, these four young terrorists, according to police, admitted the crime of which they were accused by Nesbitt on his deathbed. They beat, robbed and finally shot him fatally as he pleaded for mercy. Left to right are: Roberta Bufa, Douglas Whitsitt, Robert Razo and Charles Davison. They are shown in district attorney's office, Detroit.

Joe Adair Waives to Grand Jury on Drinking Charge

Joe Adair waived to the grand jury on a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated yesterday when he appeared before Police Judge H. W. Westmark, acting justice of the peace in the absence of B. F. Carter. He posted a bond of $500.

Adair previously was fined $15 and costs on a charge of intoxication in police court. Both charges grew out of an accident Monday night in which he struck a car belonging to Dr. R. A. Walsh which was parked on Iowa avenue.

Officers Map Out Safety Campaign

Solem Tells Prospects of 1933 Season

Brighter than usual prospects for the University of Iowa's football team were outlined yesterday by Coach Ossie Solem at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis club.

Coach Solem predicted that every team in the conference will be stronger this year than last, promising a season of unusually good football.

He expressed gratification with the fact that nearly all candidates for berths on Iowa's 1933 team are so far ranking well in their studies. Following Coach Solem's talk, Glen G. Fordyce, Boy Scout executive, gave a resume of the aims and program of scouting. He was introduced by Dean Wilber J. Teeters of the college of pharmacy.

Donald B. Durian, Associated Press correspondent for Iowa City, was a guest of Charles A. Bowman, secretary of the club.

NRA Employees Must Not Work Over 8-Hour Day

The Iowa City complaints committee of the NRA last night ruled that merchants operating under codes must not work their employees longer than eight hours in any one day. The ruling was made in response to questions from many merchants, but is tentative pending word on the matter from the state committee at Des Moines.

The committee also heard a number of minor complaints and adjusted a few controversies over the working of the codes. The meeting was held at the American Legion Community building.
