

U. S. LEADERS PUSH FOR INFLATION

Melvin Augustine, Facing Murder Charge, Being Held in Jail Here

Tried to Kill Self by Eating Watch Crystal

Iowa Citizen Indicted for Murder of Store Proprietor

Melvin E. Augustine, 45, 3 W. Prentiss street, charged with murder by an Iowa county grand jury, is being held here in the county jail after a reported attempt to commit suicide by eating the crystal of his watch Sunday after his arrest.

After the return of an indictment Thursday by an Iowa county grand jury charging him with the murder of George Hardy, proprietor of a crossroads store near Parnell, on the night of June 25, 1929, Augustine was arrested here Saturday night by Sheriff Don McComas and Sheriff J. F. Voeckel of Iowa county. He was questioned most of Saturday night with the assistance of James Ridsden, former chief of the state bureau of investigation and now a private detective. Sunday morning he ate the crystal from his watch and was taken to Mercy hospital under armed guard where his stomach was pumped out, according to officials. He was returned to the county jail yesterday.

Continue Questioning
Iowa county officials are expected to be here again today to continue the questioning of Augustine, who as yet has not hired an attorney. Because of the condition of the Iowa county jail it is expected that Augustine will be kept here for a time.

Hardy, who was supposed to have kept between $7,000 and $15,000 in his crossroads store, was found stabbed to death in his store by Augustine, who then lived on a farm near Parnell. Two blood stained knives were found in the store, which had been ransacked. There was no evidence of a struggle and neighbors said they saw no one enter or leave the store during the time Hardy was supposed to have been murdered, between 7 p. m. and 12 p. m. Hardy's pockets were turned inside out and four empty pocketbooks were found on the floor. Hardy, who had no known enemies, was not married and lived alone.

Blind Walls
Investigation at the time of the murder led only to blind walls. Augustine, who is said by officials to be the last person seen with Hardy before his death, has been questioned before. He was recently questioned here in Iowa City in connection with the shooting of a farmer near Tipton for which Hubert Ayers was sent to the penitentiary at Ft. Madison.

Augustine was born in Johnson county, has farmed in Iowa, Cedar and Johnson counties the last few years, formerly residing between Oxford and Tiffin. According to his wife, they began farming just before the murder of Hardy.

Bond for Augustine was set at $75,000 by District Judge Harold D. Evans, presiding judge at Marengo.

Plan Hearing on Bond Issue

Public hearing on the issuance of $75,000 worth of judgment funding bonds will be held at the council chamber in the city hall at 4 p. m. Sept. 29. The council at the meeting will begin proceedings for the issuance of the bonds to take up the city's refused warrants.

Although there is more than enough city money tied up in closed banks it was deemed advisable by the council to take up the warrants immediately through a bond issuance rather than wait for the release of the city funds and by taking up outstanding debts keep up the credit rating of the city.

A judgment was returned against the city last week for $75,000 in district court in favor of Arno Schreiber of Davenport. The bonds will be issued to fund this judgment to the First Capital National bank and the White-Phillips company of Davenport, who will provide necessary funds to pay the judgment against the city in return for the $75,000 issuance of five per cent interest bearing city bonds.

CHICAGO, Sept. 18 (AP)—Sally Rand, fan dancer who hasn't been in the news since she fell out of a speedboat a few weeks ago, got back into the public notice today by displaying a discoloration she alleged was given her by Sam Balkin, manager of a night club where she appeared.

Officials Say Third Degree Was Not Used

Officials denied last night that Melvin E. Augustine, charged with murder by an Iowa county grand jury, had been given the third degree as voted by his family in an interview last night.

Contending that her husband is innocent and can account for all his actions the night of June 25, 1929, when the murder was committed, Mrs. Augustine said last night that this was the third time her husband had been questioned concerning the murder.

Denies Suicide Attempt
Derry Augustine, brother of the accused, denied last night that Augustine had tried to commit suicide, although he had not seen or talked to his brother.

Sheriff Don McComas, who is only in charge of the prisoner and does not have anything to do with the questioning, the case being handled by Iowa county officials, denied last night that there had been any third degree methods used. He said that Augustine had not been ill treated as accused by his family. Dr. D. F. Fitzpatrick, county physician, said that Augustine was suffering from the glass eaten by him and there were no bruises on the body or head or any other signs of ill treatment.

Attorneys
Although the family had not hired an attorney last night it was indicated by them that W. J. Kehoe of Wellman and another attorney would be hired for Augustine's defense. It is expected that Augustine's attorneys will be announced today. It was also indicated that Augustine will plead not guilty to the charge.

Augustine has four children and has been married twice. One of the children is a baby less than a year old. Augustine was born in the southern part of Johnson county and has lived all his life in Cedar, Johnson and Iowa counties.

Coal Code to Be Effective in Fortnight

F. D. R. Strikes Out Provision as He Signs Compact

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18 (AP)—Moving the coal code out of a freshly brewed dispute, President Roosevelt late today issued an executive order making the compact for the soft coal industry effective within two weeks.

In doing so, he struck from the code a provision that had been written into it in the last hour of its negotiation—a section to which labor already had voiced objections.

Interpretation
The president said in his executive order that the section sought to interpret the paragraph of the recovery law that specifies that labor shall have the right to join organizations of its own choosing.

This had been the interpretation that William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, and John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, had placed on that section of the coal code.

Statement
In eliminating the provision, the president said: "Because it is evident that attempts by those submitting codes to interpret section 7-A of the national industrial recovery act have led to confusion and misunderstanding, such interpretations should not be incorporated in codes of fair competition."

"Therefore, paragraph 'B' of article five must be eliminated without by this exclusion indicating disapproval in any way of the joint statement of the administrator and general counsel of the national recovery administration which has been attached to the code as schedule 'B' and was incorporated by reference in said paragraph 'B' of article five."

Sub Official
Hugh S. Johnson, the administrator, said that this meant that the joint statement on labor still stood as official but not as an integral part of the code.

The president also made a change to permit the appointment by himself of the entire bituminous industrial board.

He also reserved the right to fix those rates of pay not already specified in schedule "A."

The president, in his executive order, asserted that the bituminous companies must continue to give reports to governmental agencies as well as to the NRA.

Roosevelt Troubled by Slight Cold

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18 (AP)—Troubled by a slight cold, President Roosevelt remained in bed today, resting.

Lieut. Com. Ross McIntire, naval physician, suggested the day of relaxation when he noted a mild fever, but expressed no concern over the president's condition.

Both McIntire and Stephen T. Early, a secretary to the president, predicted the return of Mr. Roosevelt to his desk tomorrow when he meets in regular session with the recovery council.

There wasn't much in the way of urgent business today to command the president's attention. He conferred only with Secretary Woodin.

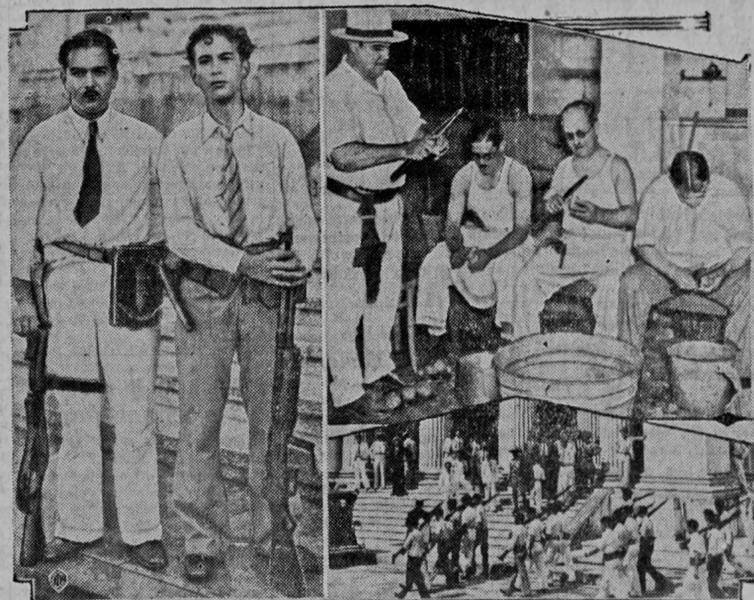

President Roosevelt, interrupted his day of rest late in the afternoon to go to his study to sign the coal code and draft an executive order putting it into effect.

ARMED DIPLOMACY IN REVOLT-TORN CUBA

Three interesting pictures from turbulent Cuba, where, it is reported a new revolt is brewing. At left Santiago Alvarez and Ysmal Seijas, heads of the student "brain trust" that directs the policies of President Grau San Martin. Automatic rifles indicate they do not put all their trust in brains. Top right, four of the Cuban army officers besieged in Nacional Hotel, Havana, prepare a meal in the kitchen. Disarmament Plea Is Made

New Proposal Made to Great Britain by France

PARIS, Sept. 18 (AP)—New disarmament proposals in a determined bid for British and American support were understood to have been made today to Captain Anthony Eden of Great Britain as Norman H. Davis arrived here with President Roosevelt's oral message telling Premier Daladier the world must disarm.

The French, who are seeking a united front against Hitlerism at the forthcoming Geneva conference, preferred to carry on the preliminary work in separate talks and Mr. Davis was expected to see the premier and Foreign Minister Paul-Boncour tomorrow without the British representatives being present.

The new proposals contained concessions to the British viewpoint, it was said, which the French were willing to adopt in return for support at Geneva.

They remained firm, however, regarding the necessity of international control with no reduction of forces until that control was made effective.

Captain Eden will fly to London with the proposals tomorrow. He is to return here after his government replies to the French offers.

Jean Harlow Is Remarried

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 18 (AP)—The glamorous platinum blonde siren of the screen, Jean Harlow, was married for the third time today in a romantic early morning airplane elopement to Yuma, Ariz., with Harold G. Rosson, film cameraman.

The 22 year old star and her 38 year old husband, flying back to Hollywood shortly after the ceremony at 4:30 o'clock this morning, said they would return to work tomorrow at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio at Culver City.

Miss Harlow said she may go to Mexico for a picture and, if so, that will be their honeymoon trip.

Even blase Hollywood was surprised but film folk began to piece out a romantic story of a film cameraman who fell in love with a beautiful actress and worshiped her secretly for many months until he dared to profess his devotion.

DES MOINES, (AP)—Figures of the state highway commission show that primary road projects now under contract in Iowa involve $2,300,000, almost one-fourth of the $10,000,000 allotted the state under the federal public works program. The next letting will increase the amount to about $3,300,000.

MCGREGOR, Sept. 18 (AP)—Mrs. Myron Knapp was in a hospital suffering from a bullet wound inflicted today by her husband, who then committed suicide.

Hospital attendants said her chances of recovery were good. The bullet penetrated her left lung. Knapp, 65 year old employe on government work at Clinton, used a .38 caliber revolver in the suicide and attempted murder. Clayton authorities said no inquest is planned.

Urschel Trial Jury Chosen

Courtroom Doors Are Under Muzzles of Machine Guns

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 18 (AP)—Twelve small town business men and farmers were chosen tonight to hear the trial of 11 men and one woman accused of conspiring and kidnaping Charles F. Urschel, one of the country's richest men.

The jury, with two alternates added, was selected in the tense setting of Judge E. S. Vaughn's small courtroom at the top of the new federal tower, where entrances and exits were constantly under the muzzles of sub-machine guns in the hands of stern-eyed deputies.

At 9:30 a. m. tomorrow the jurors will hear five separate statements from the prosecution and the various attorneys for the defense before Urschel, takes the witness stand to tell his story of the kidnaping and his ransom for $200,000.

Throughout the day of questioning of nearly two-score talesmen, guards watched the government's two principal captives, Harvey Bailey and Albert Bates.

These two, accused of being the "brains" and the "muscle," with the missing George Kelly, in the abduction of Urschel, sat nonchalantly through the proceedings.

Skeleton of Boy Found Along Beach

NAHANT, Mass., Sept. 18 (AP)—A skeleton, apparently that of a boy from 12 to 14 years of age, was found today on the beach here, evidently washed up by the storm of the last two days.

There was little aid in identifying the skeleton other than the remnants of a patch-work quilt and a sport shoe.

The head was missing and most of the bones of the remaining skeleton were separated.

Cuba Faces Crisis Again

Dr. Grau San Martin Awaits Ultimatum From Opponents

HAVANA, Sept. 18 (AP)—President Ramon Grau San Martin arrived at the place late tonight to hear the final memoranda, or "ultimatum," of his strongest opposition. Usually well informed circles said the four leading opposition groups were unanimous that Grau and his cabinet resign and that these demands would be formally presented.

Five memoranda, one each from the ABC and the OCCR secret political societies, the Menocalists, the Marianistas and the Nationalists, reached the palace near midnight. The documents were handed to Rotarians who are acting as mediators.

In three meetings between Grau and the opposition bloc during the past few days the president has steadfastly refused to quit, but whether he would continue adamant could not be learned. The opposition bloc has demanded he step aside in favor of a "truly nationalist government."

Certain political circles were inclined to consider Grau would abdicate.

New Mexico, Idaho Vote on Repeal Today

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Sept. 18 (AP)—With the question of limiting property tax levies almost outweighing the prohibition issue, New Mexico voters will decide tomorrow whether the state shall join the national repeal parade.

Repeal advocates predicted the state would go wet and that the vote would at least equal the two to one majority by which the state went dry at a special election in November, 1917.

Little actual campaigning has been done. The women's organization for national prohibition reform has stumped the state in the interests of repeal and the dry forces have held scattered meetings.

BOISE, Ida., Sept. 18 (AP)—With fair weather predicted for tomorrow's repeal election in Idaho, leaders of the dry cause were encouraged at the prospect of a heavy rural vote.

R. H. McCracken, chairman of the allied dries, predicted a vote of more than 100,000, with "well over 50,000 of them" opposing repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

William Healey, one of the repeal candidates for delegate to the state ratification convention Oct. 17, predicted a maximum vote of 75,000, of which he estimated 45,000 would be for repeal and 30,000 against.

Cotton States' Spokesmen Join Iowa Senator in Urge for Expansion of Currency

Jurist Finds Detroit Banks Were Solvent

No Evidence of Any Criminality Is Found

DETROIT, Sept. 18 (AP)—Judge Harry B. Keidan, who took testimony for three months in a one-man grand jury investigation of reasons for the collapse of Detroit's two national banks, tonight found that the banks were solvent at the time of the Michigan banking holiday and that there was no evidence of criminality on the part of the bank officers.

He also found that there was no evidence of "smart money" withdrawals just prior to the banking holiday last Feb. 14, after which the First National Bank-Detroit and the Guardian National Bank of Commerce failed to open.

One of the points of controversy through the three months of open hearings was whether the government was justified in placing the two banks under conservators less than a month after the holiday. In support of the treasury department's action, Senator James Couzens had testified that secret reports by examiners to the treasury department some months before the holiday had showed the banks in bad condition.

But Judge Keidan, in his findings made public tonight, within a few hours after the hearing was unexpectedly terminated, said:

"Most powerfully am I urged to conclude that the government would not permit an insolvent bank to operate in fraud of its citizens. . . and I am constrained to find that the two national banks on Feb. 11, 1933 were solvent."

Feb. 11 was the last business day before the holiday.

Tammany Hall Awaits Polling

Strong Fusion Action Hints Overthrow for Tiger

NEW YORK, Sept. 18 (AP)—Threatened with overthrow by the strongest fusion movement since 1913, Tammany Hall tonight eagerly awaited the outcome of tomorrow's primary, seeking a gauge to the popularity of Mayor John P. O'Brien.

Financial distress, new taxes and internal fights served to complicate the primary as the harassed wigwam launched O'Brien against two major independent Democratic opponents.

Meanwhile, annoyed by persistent reports that the mayor would be shunted aside if he fails to emerge from the primary with an impressive plurality, Tammany and its allies reiterated their determination to stand by O'Brien.

Mayor O'Brien also recognized the reports, announcing that, if nominated, he intended to remain in the race as his party's nominee.

"I am going right through to the ballot box on election day in November if God keeps me on his footstool and, moreover, I am going to win," he said.

According to the petition the city council leased the ground to Alexander in November 1930 for five years and Alexander rented part of it to Schmidt. Popham and Hayek represent Alexander.

Roosevelt Is Silent as to Course He May Take

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18 (AP)—Calling inflation the antidote for the farmers' ills, spokesmen from nine cotton states tonight adopted a resolution urging President Roosevelt to use the currency expansion powers vested in him by congress.

Unanimous
Rallying to the cause of which Senator Thomas, Democrat, Okla., has been the leading advocate for months, they accepted the resolution unanimously and immediately laid plans to take it to the White House tomorrow.

While southern spokesmen, in session here, put on paper a demand for inflation to help the farmer, Thomas' office was the focal point of telegrams and letters from members of congress urging monetary expansion.

Roosevelt Silent
President Roosevelt, at whom the flood of messages is aimed, maintained an absolute silence on his own plans, despite the increasing demands that he avail himself of the inflationary powers vested in him by congress.

Primary responsibility for holding up farm prices, Thomas said, rested upon the chief executive and whether he would use the currency expansion authority.

To aid the credit expansion program of the administration, President Roosevelt put $150,000,000 more into use as funds for the federal land bank to assist in refinancing farm mortgages held by banks that are heavily loaded with such paper.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18 (AP)—Senator Louis Murphy of Iowa today said that currency inflation was necessary to tide farmers over the lean period before the agricultural recovery program produces concrete results.

"So far," he said, "wheat and cotton growers are the only producers who have received actual benefit from farm legislation passed in the special session of congress. Corn and hog prices are still low. No benefit has been felt by farmers producing poultry, eggs and dairy products."

The Iowan said he had no sympathy with persons who think the farmers' ills are completely cured. He referred to the outbreaks in Iowa and other states when congress hesitated over farm relief last spring. In his opinion those farmers are again reaching the boiling point.

With commodity prices being boosted by the NRA, Murphy said the farmers are in a "nut cracker." The prices of things they are buying are rising and the prices of things they sell still are dragging.

Murphy also asserted the farm mortgage refinancing act has not fulfilled its objective and criticized Governor Henry Morgenthau of the farm credit administration this summer for what he termed the "administrative failure" of farm mortgage refinancing through federal land banks.

NEW YORK, Sept. 18 (AP)—The retrial of United States Senator James J. Davis of Pennsylvania on federal lottery charges growing out of the conduct of a "charity ball" by a fraternal order, postponed since last December, finally got under way today. At parties today sorority women will do less flattering for names, and rushees will feel a bit more at ease than they were at the affairs of yesterday. And, strange as it may seem, tomorrow night rushees and rushees will feel that they have been friends for years despite the fact that their acquaintance has been in existence for only three brief days. Greek social events today in the various houses are as follows:

History of Universalist Church Is Revealed in Cornerstone Opened Yesterday

Document Written by Pastor Is Among Contents of Stone

Historical Society Will Be Depository for Papers

The history of the Iowa City Universalist church, in the handwriting of its pastor of that time, the Rev. Augusta J. Chapin, is among the documents found in the cornerstone of the old Universalist church, which is now being razed by the university.

The stone was opened yesterday afternoon by Jacob A. Swisher, representing the State Historical society, which will be the depository for the documents. The stone, which weighs 600 pounds, will be given to the Iowa City Unitarian church.

Accounts of the laying of the cornerstone, which took place Aug. 31, 1871, are contained in copies of the Daily Evening Press and the Iowa City Republican, two Iowa City newspapers of that time.

A catalog of the University of Iowa for the session of 1870-71 was also found in the sealed box, as was a catalog of the Kansas and Iowa Academy of Music, of Ft. Leavenworth and Iowa City.

A chip of wood from the first Universalist church built in the United States was enclosed, with a slip of paper bearing the words: "Fragment of the old Murray meeting house, first Universalist church built in America and still standing in Gloucester, Mass., August 31, 1871."

Other documents found were: A small bible, a copy of the constitution of the State Historical society, minutes of a convention of the Universalist church, and copies of two magazines, The Ladies Repository and Manford's Magazine. Four coins, a five-cent piece, a three-cent, two-cent, and one-cent, were also in the box.

In addition to the Iowa City newspapers, the following papers were found in the stone:

- Christian Leader
- The Christian Leader, New York city, Jan. 21, 1871.
- The Gospel Banner, Augusta, Me., April 22, 1871.
- The Universalist, Boston, Mass., Aug. 26, 1871.
- Star in the West, Cincinnati, Ohio, Aug. 26, 1871.
- The Missionary Box, New York city, September, 1871.
- The New Covenant, Chicago, six copies of varied dates.
- The Present Age, Chicago, July 29, 1871.

Owen Scores Nationalism of Low Breed

The Rev. L. A. Owen, pastor of the Congregational church, decried a "low breed of aggressive nationalism running wild in nearly every nation of the world," in a sermon Sunday morning on "Religion and a nation."

This increasing nationalism "thinks in terms of bombing planes, warships, colored shirts, and national superiority," he said.

"The Christian church in every land must set its face against this madness," he continued. "Any nation that creates a spirit of suspicion, fear and intolerance among her people should be rebuked soundly by the church which represents millions of souls. The time has come for this kind of vigorous Christian leadership. The church must think and act in terms of world brotherhood, present a united world front, Protestant and Catholic. Of what value are all our meritorious domestic plans for recovery if we smash them with canon and drown them in the blood of our young men?"

"We see the power in the Christian religion as never before. No longer can human life, the gift of God, be crippled and degraded; with like-minded souls in every land we are determined to usher in this new day; when an employer has not the power of life and death over hundreds of his employes, when workmen are not thrown ruthlessly on a human scrap heap in old age, when the lust for profits will not poison the springs of family and national life, when men use intelligence instead of bombing planes to settle international differences, when men are masters and not slaves of their own creations, when people will not have the work of their hands devoured by mortgage foreclosures, excessive taxes, and exorbitant interest charges, when men who want to work can work, when a mere subsistence wage will be displaced by a living income, when stunted children in mill and mine will be placed in school, in short, when men, women, and children can enjoy that feeling of security which flowers into happy and peaceful human relations."

A 500-acre tract of land in South Carolina is still held under a grant deed by King George II of England in 1714 by the descendants of Axil Page.

Would Move Acacia House

Bella Vista Residents Petition to Oust Fraternity

A movement to oust the Acacia fraternity from its present location in Bella Vista was started yesterday with the filing of a petition, signed by 14 Bella Vista residents, with the city council.

The petition says that the fraternity is violating an agreement between the Bella Vista residents and the city, which is an amendment to the zoning ordinance excluding all sororities and fraternities from the district. Bella Vista is located at the north end of Linn street overlooking the Iowa river.

The petitioners ask that the council declare the lease of the fraternity to be vacated immediately. The council at the special session yesterday morning considered the petition and decided that the petition and the fraternity should be notified to appear at a meeting of the council Friday evening, when action will be taken on the matter.

Bella Vista residents who signed the petition are: J. N. Pearce, Martha S. Pearce, L. Charles Raiford, Sara A. Raiford, Hazel G. Carlstrom, Robert R. Wheatstone, Hattie B. Wheatstone, Fred J. Seemann, Dr. R. H. Volland, D. R. Thomas, Sadie H. Ford, Prof. F. C. Ensign, Lida B. Stebbins, and W. A. Rittenmeyer.

Wheat Jumps Above Dollar, Then Recedes

CHICAGO, Sept. 18 (AP)—Like the army that marched up the hill and then marched down again, the wheat market got plenty of action today and did nothing else in particular.

Advancing to sharply above $1.00 and to more than 13 cents above last week's low, wheat showed itself responsive temporarily to inflation talk, but displayed even greater readiness to fall back on account of general desire to realize quick profits. Offerings became scarce, however, when prices at one stage went below Saturday's finish.

Wheat closed steady, unchanged to 1-4 cent higher, corn 5-8 to 1-8 down, oats unchanged to 3-8 up, and provisions 10 to 30 cents advanced.

A steep rise in British exchange and a new upturn in the Washington price of gold went hand in hand with early broad speculative buying of wheat. The market soared 2 cents a bushel, and during a considerable period gave evidence of power to rally strongly from setbacks that resulted from profit-taking sales. Most of the buying, though, came from miscellaneous sources, and there was little evidence of the concentrated eastern buying which had been a big factor on Saturday.

Besides, numerous Chicago operators, active buyers of wheat Saturday, turned to the selling side today. This put more weight on the market than could be readily absorbed, and prices dropped an extreme of almost 3 cents from the day's top. Supporting orders were uncovered on the break. Canadian reports told of wet weather impeding threshers and causing heavy deterioration of the quality of wheat even in the best crop areas.

Corn values were handicapped owing to enlarged receipts and to heavy rural selling of corn to arrive. Oats chiefly followed the action of wheat.

Provisions went higher as a result of hog market upturns.

Injunction Against Bread Weight Law Is Made Permanent

DES MOINES, Sept. 18 (AP)—A permanent injunction restraining state officers from enforcing the Iowa bread weight law was granted today by Federal Judge Charles A. Dewey.

Several months ago the law was held unconstitutional and a temporary injunction was issued by a three-judge court composed of Judge Dewey, the late Judge W. S. Kenyon of the circuit bench and Judge George Scott of the northern Iowa district.

Twelve baking companies petitioned for the injunction, claiming that the permitted variation is so slight that it was impossible for them to comply with the statutes.

When Traffic Jams Are Welcome

TRAFFIC JAMS are the bane of a policeman's life, but to the rest of Iowa City the sight of hundreds of cars filled with students Sunday night was even more welcome than robins in the spring.

One cannot fully appreciate the exceptional ability of this town to transform itself in appearance and personality overnight unless he has known it in all its moods.

The season just beginning is one of life, action, youth. The one just ended was one of peace, quiet, middle age. But one should not say, "the season just beginning," or "the one just ended." There is no slurred ending or beginning; one ends abruptly, and the other begins immediately. There is no transition.

Iowa City is purely a university town. Without the students it would be just a crossroads hamlet. The citizens of Iowa City are different from those of most other places. They understand student life and enjoy the verve which belongs peculiarly to a university environment.

This explains in part why the invasion of automobiles Sunday night filled the whole town with gladness and stepped up its pulse so pleasantly.

The Reichstag Blaze Is Spreading

THURSDAY morning, at the same time University of Iowa students are beginning their registration for the new semester, five men, charged with the burning of the German Reichstag building last February, will go on trial at Leipzig. If they are found guilty, their heads will fly into a basket from Germany's new chopping block.

The five men are Ernst Torgler, floor manager of the German Communist party; Marinus der Lubbe, a Dutch Communist who was arrested in the building the night of the fire; Georgi Dimitroff, a writer; Blagoi Popoff, a student; and Wassil Taneff, a shoemaker. The last three are political refugees from Bulgaria.

The trial is expected to give the Nazis another instrument for propaganda. In international importance it already has reached the level of interest attained by the Dreyfus case in France and the Sacco-Vanzetti trial in the United States.

A factor that makes it doubly interesting is the parallel trial being conducted at the Hague based on information independently obtained. This hearing is being held primarily to attract world-wide interest to what is generally considered outside Germany as a travesty on justice.

Persons from the outside who have investigated the case openly accuse the Nazis themselves of starting the Reichstag blaze in order to crystallize public opinion in their favor and thereby gain complete control of the government. In this purpose they succeeded.

The trial in Germany, conducted under the strict supervision of a censor-mad government, is well calculated to increase even more the ardor of Germany for their brown shirt dictatorship and to hate even more violently the Communists and Jews. But the same trial bids fair to wipe out whatever respect the rest of the world has maintained for Germany. And for all Hitler's power he can hardly afford increased animosity from other nations.

Love's Level

(From the Baltimore Sun)
To Prof. M. W. Fritz, of the psychology department of Iowa State college, we owe the discovery that, like water, love seeks its own level. By one of those tests by which academic psychologists frequently manage to get themselves in the news dispatches, Professor Fritz has discovered that college men tend to pick women of their own intellectual level for wives.

Such a finding ought to be highly palatable to the romantic persons who believe that true love and true merit always receive their deserts. Popular fiction in which the hero and the heroine always come out on top is hardly more encouraging than this supposedly scientific dictum that high intellectual caliber always—well, nearly always—finds high intellectual caliber with which to mate. One would be more reassured, however, if one knew precisely what Professor Fritz used to measure high intellectual caliber.

That is one of the rubs in the case of tests such as the Iowa professor has made. Love may know its own level, but the real question is whether psychology does. There are a lot of intelligence tests, some of which have created quite a stir in their day. But intelligence remains one of the most baffling of human phenomena. Some of the most unlearned men turn out in the end to be the most intelligent, and some of those who are apparently most learned turn out to be incredibly stupid. When the college psychologist learns to discriminate in this field, his findings will be more readily accepted when he tells us that love intuitively finds its own intellectual level with the opposite sex.

GOOD MORNING

America has prided herself, and for good reason, upon the increasing specialization of functions within society. We have found that our highly complicated modern machinery of civilization is best operated by men who are trained experts in particular fields of endeavor.

This notion is at the same time a cause and an outgrowth of modern methods of mass production. It is the most efficient method of operating industry and its advantages are early recognized.

Yet the overdevelopment of this theory presents serious dangers to a society afflicted with a growing dearth of men with a wide fund of knowledge and a philosophical turn of mind. When it reaches a stage of exaggeration, as it seems to have done in the United States, the result is a nation without perspective, a nation of self interested specialists more or less ignorant of their relative importance in society as a whole.

This subject is of special interest this week, as thousands of students prepare to enter another year in the university. It is of the greatest importance that freshmen students, with four years or more of exceptional opportunity ahead of them, give it most serious attention.

Without entering into a long and futile discussion of what does or does not constitute happiness, it might be assumed that accomplishment and the consequent admiration of fellow men brings more rewards than any other thing. Thus every freshman dreams of future accomplishment, and is willing to spend several years of his life to prepare himself for the task.

For many years America held most of her laurels for the great scientists, lawyers, and financiers—the great specialists. It was to these men that the nation looked for guidance and it was to these men that the nation gave rewards.

Almost totally disregarded has been the great field of government and politics and all the other professions which require the services of men of exceptional breadth and vision instead of specialists.

But times are beginning to change. We can see vividly how the age of specialists has brought us unmeasured wealth that we cannot distribute or consume. We have seen, with a sense of helplessness, how our government, which we have considered rather unimportant, is really the most important institution we have and that for it to be effective it must attract the best minds in the nation.

But politics has always been a dirty business in the United States, a business of committee rooms and hotel lobbies, a trade and barter business that has provided little attraction for men of real ability and integrity.

But even that is beginning to change. There are problems of the greatest magnitude to solve, and they require the application of men of real stature. The old time politician is being lost by the wayside for the simple reason that he has neither the ability nor the training to face the problems that confront him.

To the young man with vision, integrity, the capacity for hard work, and a love of battle politics offers the greatest single chance for accomplishment today. The field is wide open and ready to be conquered.

Two other professions present unusual opportunities for youth of real ability and liberal mind. These are education and journalism.

The development of education in America has just begun. The educational system today is in need of new ideas, new concepts, new applications. The problems of adult education and the more effective training of high school children, the elimination of the present regrettable lack of standards in primary training, and a score of kindred problems are only a few which require the work of men of high caliber.

There probably is no profession more seriously in need of really good material than journalism. American newspapers have developed and maintained a standard of ethics in the reporting of news perhaps without equal in the world. American newspapermen are unexcelled in a gathering facts and putting them down on paper.

But two qualities are lacking. The number of men with liberal backgrounds and with the ability to write well is pitifully limited. The result is a journalism more or less without feeling or life, without the perspective so sorely needed in presenting a worthwhile picture of day-by-day events.

Together with the law, these three professions form the foundation of our whole society. Their importance cannot be overestimated. Without good government there can be no order and no liberty. Without education of a high type—and it still is far from the ultimate—our type of government is utterly impossible. Without a free and unrestricted press, conducted by men of ability, energy, and breadth, it is useless to make pretenses to democracy.

And none of these can be conducted by specialists. They require the broadest possible training and the greatest freedom of intellect. Any one of these hold out the opportunity for the greatest of accomplishments, albeit none of them are highways to millions.

Washington Close-Up

Something New in Personalities Is Discussed

By KIRKE SIMPSON

WASHINGTON—Something new in political personalities seems to be headed toward Washington with the nomination of Mrs. Isabella Selmes Greenway by Arizona Democrats to succeed Budget Director Lewis Douglas in the house.

Politics bring what they are in Arizona, Mrs. Greenway's election looms as a mere formality. They follow the good old southern custom of using Democratic primaries for elections in Arizona. They have yet to send anybody but a Democrat to Washington.

Even before young Douglas had caught the eye of President-elect Roosevelt he was a marked man. Senator Ashurst of Arizona, in the big and breezy Ashurst way, was fond of referring to him as Arizona's third senator.

More or less, a representative-at-large, elected by statewide vote, fills that bill. Yet at the time the notion prevailed that young Douglas might be under observation for actual senatorial honors some day.

Whither Away?

If she does become Arizona's representative-at-large, will Mrs. Greenway also be known as third senator? She is already a member of the Democratic national committee and is reported to have had designs on the governorship.

Will a term of service in the house merely whet her political appetite as it did that of Representative Ruth Hanna McCormick of Illinois for other Washington honors? Ashurst and Hayden, that strangely dissimilar Arizona senate team, may be wondering about that. That one-time cow-puncher in the wild and woolly west who is now the most courtly, dignified and oratorical of senators, Henry F. Ashurst, is at bat again next year.

Roosevelt's Friend

Whatever Mrs. Greenway's future, her election to the house would insure that President and Mrs. Roosevelt had an intimate friend there. Mrs. Greenway has been a friend of all the most important Roosevelts, it seems, including Theodore the First who launched the family on its high and two-party political road of destiny.

Somehow, being a friend of the Roosevelts, Democratic or Republican, seems to engender political ambitions. The thrill they personally got out of the great American game was passed along.

250 Will Get Work on State Highways

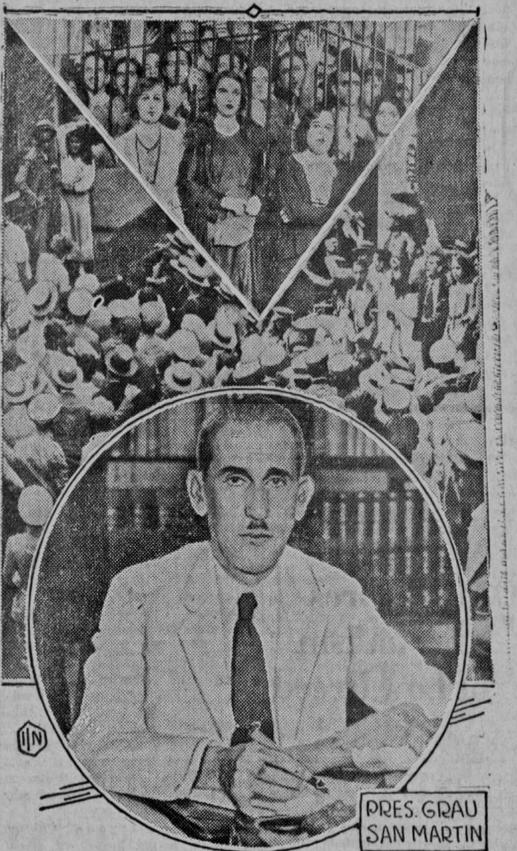

AMES, Sept. 18 (AP)—The state highway commission plans to give employment to 250 additional men in highway maintenance work in the next few months.

The new workers probably will be recruited through the federal re-employment service for Iowa and the jobs allocated to the various counties, it was indicated.

The additional force is to be employed in carrying out national recovery act provisions applying to hours and labor.

New Cuban Head Noted Surgeon

HAVANA, (I.N.)—Although it was not until the recent revolutionary coup that the name of Dr. Ramon Grau San Martin became familiar outside of Cuba, the newly-appointed provisional president of the island republic long has played a prominent role in the political drama of the turbulent country.

Non-Partisan
The man on whom Cuba pins its hopes of restoring peace and prosperity to the troubled land is that rare avia—a president with no party affiliations. But even though not bound by party ties, Dr. Grau San Martin owes a certain allegiance to the society known as the ABC, a student body which was organized in opposition to the administration of former President Machado.

President Grau San Martin is 49 years old. Slightly over six feet tall, he has a commanding figure with piercing eyes and black hair streaked with gray. He is one of the most popular men in Havana, where he is regarded as one of Cuba's most prominent surgeons and medical authorities. He is wealthy and a bachelor.

Born at Consolacion Del Sur, in the province of Pinar del Rio, the new Cuban president was educated at the University of Havana, from which he was graduated. Later he took post-graduate courses in the United States and Europe.

University Professor
Following his return from abroad, Grau San Martin occupied the chair of anatomy at the University of Havana for several years, and won an international reputation as an expert in that field. It was while conducting classes in the university that he won the esteem of the students, which is directly responsible for raising him to the highest post in the gift of his country.

When former President Machado closed Cuban institutes of learning as hotbeds of revolution and sedition, Grau San Martin sprang into the spotlight as a bitter critic of the dictator's administration, and by popular acclaim was made leader of the student directorate in 1930.

His activities in opposition to the Machado regime resulted in his exile the following year, and until the ousting of Machado he had continued to work for Cuban liberation with other exiles who had incurred the displeasure of Dictator Machado.

When the revolutionary junta was formed at Miami, Fla., last March, Dr. Grau San Martin was a member, representing the university group in the deliberations held both at the Florida city and in New York.

Is He A Radical?
Following the ousting of General Machado and the ascension of Dr. Carlos de Cespedes to the presidency, Grau San Martin returned to Havana and was prominently associated with the coup that unseated the new administration. He was one of the members of the commission of five that set up a governmental junta, and it was he who informed President de Cespedes that he had been replaced. Grau San Martin's post on the revolutionary junta was minister of public instruction and public health.

Considerable speculation has been going the rounds as to the new president's political leanings since he came into power. Some say he is a radical, others that he is liberal, still others that he is conservative. To all of which President Grau San Martin turns a deaf ear. Those who know him best assert that Grau San Martin is a disciple of no one political doctrine. He is out for what is best for Cuba, and in his inauguration speech the new president made it clear that he intends to clean out of Cuban political life the graft that has permeated it for 25 years, and to put men in public office who will work for Cuba and not for their individual interest.

BEHIND THE SCENES

— IN HOLLYWOOD —

STUDIO GOSSIP SCREEN COMMENT

HOLLYWOOD — The funniest story in days is how Mrs. Edna Schley, a Hollywood author's agent, interrupted Max "Don Juan" Baer, rehearsing a movie love scene with a couple of sofa pillows arranged on a divan.

Yes, sir, for all his sureness, Max was practicing how he intended to make love to exotic Myrna Loy before the camera.

He was in Edgar Allen Woolf's office and he had arranged the pillows in the semblance of a woman's figure lying on the couch.

Approaching the make-believe object of his passion, Max fell on one knee. "Sweet, my dear," he said vigorously, "don't say no. Be reasonable. Don't send me away."

At that moment, Mrs. Schley opened the door. Woolf was hidden behind it. All she could see was Max bending over the couch and murmuring endearments.

She gave one horrified look. "Oh," she cried, "I beg your pardon!"

The quick intervention of the hysterical Woolf and the shame-faced but now grinning Baer was the only thing that kept her from slamming the door and rushing away.

Has it been printed before, Walter Catlett's story of the colored sexton who hated funerals so much that he always got tight before attending them?

On one occasion, he took too many drinks and went to sleep, waking only to hear the solemn words: "And now, my friends, do you realize that brother Johnson is not dead, he merely has gone away from us for a while?"

The sexton roused himself in annoyance. "Dat so?" he said. "Ten dollars against your 50 he's dead."

What will they say now, the gossips who have been having Irene Dunne and her husband, Dr. Francis Griffen, separated for these many months? Yesterday Irene signed a new two-year contract with R-K-O and the man who conducted the negotiations for her was none other than Dr. Griffen, who took a vacation from his New York practice and came out to Hollywood to do the job.

With the deal completed, he leaves soon for the East. Irene joins him for Christmas.

The saddest tale going the rounds right now is about the former well known character actress and her son who are practically destitute.

They were down to wondering where their next meal was coming from when the head of a local grocery firm recently sent them a cartload of groceries and cancelled an $800 bill with his company.

New Yorker to Open Season's Lecture Series

Everett Dean Martin of Cooper Union Will Talk at S.U.I.

Everett Dean Martin, director of the People's Institute, Cooper Union, New York city, will open this year's series of the University of Iowa lectures, it was announced yesterday through the office of Prof. Benj. F. Shambaugh, chairman of the senate board on university lectures.

Second Appearance

This will be Mr. Martin's second appearance as a lecturer here. He spoke before a summer session audience here June 12, 1930, on the subject, "What is an educated person?" Mr. Martin has received wide recognition as a lecturer and thinker. He has held the position of minister in several churches, among them the Unitarian church of Des Moines, where he served from 1910 to 1914.

He has also been lecturer in social psychology at the New School of Social Research, instructor in this subject at the Brookwood Workers college, and Culver lecturer at Brown university.

With People's Institute

Since 1916 he has been associated with the People's Institute. As director of the Cooper Union forum, he has been in charge of an extensive program in adult education, carried on through the medium of free discussion on political and educational subjects.

He has made several tours of the country, speaking on subjects dealing with current problems in politics, sociology, and other contemporary questions.

Author

Mr. Martin is the author of several books, among them: "The Meaning of a Liberal Education," "Liberty," selected by the Book of the Month club, "Civilizing Our selves," "The Behavior of Crowds," "The Mystery of Religion," and "The Conflict of the Individual and the Mass."

His lecture, the first in the annual series, will be held in natural science auditorium Oct. 9, at 8 p.m. The following afternoon he will lead a round table discussion in the senate chamber of Old Capitol.

Probe of Slaying Centers on Party Attended by Flyer

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 18 (AP)—Investigation of the slaying of William T. Dodson, former navy flyer and movie stunt man, centered today on a night club party at which he knocked down an unidentified man who sought to dance with his comely wife, Tonya Dodson, 22.

Dodson was stabbed nine times by an unseen assailant who lurked in the airman's driveway as he drove in last night.

The night club party was Saturday night. Dodson, police said they learned, objected to remarks of a man who attempted to dance with Mrs. Dodson and felled him with a blow to the jaw.

The man returned to the Dodson table later, police said, and was reported to have told Dodson, "I'll get you."

To Hear Liquor Discussion

DES MOINES, (AP)—Mrs. Ida B. Wise Smith, president of the local W.C.T.U. and president-elect of the national organization, has accepted an invitation to appear before the Iowa liquor control plan committee at its public hearing, Wednesday. This brings to 11 the number of speakers who will appear.

SEEN from Old Capitol

The opening of the cornerstone of the old Universalist church yesterday was a matter of some interest to one member of the group that watched the process. That man was L. O. Leonard, now engaged in research work for the State Historical society.

Mr. Leonard was present when the cornerstone was laid a little more than 60 years ago. It was something of an experience to see the huge block re-opened, after more than half a century of service in the old church.

The announcement that Everett Dean Martin, director of the People's Institute at Cooper's Union, New York city, will speak here next month, will recall to those who heard him at that time, his address here three years ago.

It may also recall to those who read it, an article which appeared in Harper's Magazine some time ago. An excerpt from it, describing a scene in Cooper's Union when Mr. Martin is speaking, is worthy of repetition:

"By a quarter past eight the seats are well filled—rows upon rows of quiet faces intent upon some absorbing business soon to begin upon the platform. The man seated in the speaker's chair arises and steps forward. Instantly the audience is crystallized into a fixed, rigid attention. The speaker is Everett Dean Martin.

"As he develops his subject, bringing into play the varied resources of a trained social psychologist, his listeners are a remarkable study. They are following his every word, weighing each syllable with a detachment which separates them sharply from an ordinary audience. When the long lecture draws to a close a motion sweeps over the throng. Hands flash up from all over the hall. Some of the more impetuous hearers leap to their feet. For half an hour volleys of sharp questions are met with keen answers. Sparks fly. Almost every subject in the range of human knowledge is touched upon—history, politics, science, literature.

"You have a feeling that glimmering sparks are struck here which will kindle into a blaze of concepts. These men and women emerge night after night as from the gateway to a new and stimulating universe. It is they who are the 'Intellectual Aristocracy' of New York."

THREE STUDIES OF HARVEY BAILEY
SCENE OF KANSAS CITY MASSACRE

OKLAHOMA CITY (I.L.N.)—Called the "most dangerous criminal in America," Harvey Bailey, notorious badman, charged with a variety of crimes ranging from kidnaping to murder, has another title today. Once again in the clutches of the law following his sensational capture at Ardmore, Okla., the desperado who escaped from Dallas, Tex., and enjoyed his freedom for four hours is now the most closely guarded prisoner in America.

No More Miracles
Not that Bailey wasn't well watched before. The Dallas jail from which Bailey made his sensational get-away is said to be the strongest in the southwest. The desperado was caged in the death cell on the eighth floor of the building—ordinarily a position from which it would be impossible to escape. But altitude and iron bars are no protection against treachery. Somehow Bailey obtained possession of a pistol with which it was a simple matter to force jail guards to do his bidding. It ought to be remembered that those jailers knew Bailey had nothing to lose by killing them. His life already at stake, another murder or two wouldn't make any difference.

However, the department of justice itself is taking pains to see that Bailey never duplicates his Dallas feat. From Washington comes word that in the event he should make another attempt to escape Bailey will be met by a trained squad of heavily-armed federal agents whose duty it is to watch the desperado night and day until the law has had its last word with him.

Jesse James a Piker
Although Bailey is held specifically in connection with the kidnaping of Charles Urschel, Oklahoma oil millionaire who paid $200,000 for his release from abductors, federal investigators believe they can link him to a series of crimes that makes the activities of the doughty Jesse James look like the frolics of a Sunday school pupil.

Charged to Bailey's lurid record are implication in the St. Valentine's Day massacre in Chicago in 1929, when eight gangsters of the Bugs Moran booze organization were lined up against a garage wall and mowed down with machine guns; the $2,000,000 robbery of the National Bank and Trust company at Lincoln, Neb., also in 1929; the daylight hold-up of the State bank

Nothing New on Hospital

Report Made last April Still Unendorsed by Medical Council

Contrary to reports published by a Des Moines newspaper Sunday, no new report has been issued by the legislative committee which investigated the condition of indigent patients at University hospital last spring.

The only report issued, and the one quoted in the published story, was the original report, made public April 1. No additional report is being contemplated by the committee, it was learned from an authoritative source last night.

The Iowa State Medical society council, which met in Des Moines last week again refused to endorse the report, which recommends that certain administrative changes be made at the hospital.

State Senator Paul Schmidt of Iowa City, in a statement Sunday, declared that the report is merely propaganda looking to the removal of the state hospital from Iowa City to Des Moines.

This is just continuance of the propaganda started in the last legislature to move the hospital from Iowa City to Des Moines, so that the last two years of medical work will be done there," he asserted.

"This propaganda has been circulated by two prominent physicians, one in the western part of the state and one in the central part," he said. The senator declined to give the names of the alleged propagandists.

Levinsky Wins Judges' Decision Over Sharkey in Savage Battle

Ex-Champion Takes Them on the Chin

Fish Peddler Outslugs Sharkey to Stop Comeback

By CHARLES DUNKLEY Associated Press Sports Writer COMISKEY PARK, Chicago, Sept. 18 (AP)—King Levinsky, Chicago's ex-fish peddler, tonight scuttled Jack Sharkey, perhaps forever, as a heavyweight threat.

Levinsky, to the acclaim of 20,317 spectators, was awarded a unanimous decision over the former world's heavyweight champion in their blistering 10 round battle in Comiskey park, home of the Chicago White Sox. The verdict of the two judges and referee "Little Phil" Collins gave Levinsky a wide margin. The Boston tar was credited with winning only one round.

Takes Seven Count

Sharkey, opening a campaign which he hoped would culminate in his regaining the world's heavyweight title, which he lost to Primo Carnera three months ago, came dangerously near being knocked out in the first two rounds. Levinsky, after rocking Sharkey with the first right hand punch he landed, followed up his advantage with another right hand blast that knocked him flat on his back. Sharkey got up at the count of seven, bewildered and dazed, but managed to last out the round. Levinsky, with a little more alertness, might have finished him but, when Sharkey was swaying on his heels, Levinsky failed to charge in for a finishing punch.

In the second round Sharkey was forced to weather another heavy storm. A heavy right hand blast to the jaw had him teetering on his toes but ring experience and generalship enabled the ex-sailor to dance around until he got his bearings.

Sharkey Outslugged

Sharkey, regarded a master heavyweight boxer and figured in the betting to outpoint Levinsky, started out to outslug the tough youngster from Chicago's ghetto. This brought about his downfall. When he attempted to box Levinsky piled into him with a charge of dynamite in right hand swings, giving him no opportunity to use his science. In some spots of the battle the lumbering Levinsky put on some speed and actually out-toxed Sharkey.

While Levinsky mauled and out-slugged Sharkey all through the fight, the exciting first two rounds practically saw the finish of Sharkey's come-back campaign.

Round One

Sharkey with a sneer on his face came out to hook a left to the jaw, but they tied up in a clinch. Levinsky threw a left to the body and cut loose with a wild swing to the head. He cracked a right to the jaw and floored Sharkey staggering him and then knocked him down for a count of seven. Sharkey held on when he got up and wrestled to the ropes with Levinsky, swinging punches from his hips. Sharkey drove a right to the jaw and Levinsky pounded him around the body. They traded body punches in midring with Sharkey retreating to the ropes. Both missed in wild exchange in midring as the round ended.

Round Two

Sharkey began throwing punches to the body with the Kingfish circling around him. Levinsky was wild with two rights to the head and Sharkey stabbed him with straight lefts to the face. Levinsky swung another wild right to the head forcing Sharkey to clinch. Levinsky cracked Sharkey with two more right driving the sailor to a corner. Sharkey teetered on his toes but managed to stay upright. Sharkey dug a left to the body and hooked a left to the jaw. Levinsky missed a wild right to the head. Levinsky backed Sharkey into a corner with a left and right to the head. Sharkey drove a short right to the jaw. They continued to punch after the bell.

Round Three

Sharkey attempted to box at long range but the Kingfish bulld his way in close. They traded lefts to the face and then Levinsky swung right to the jaw. They slugged furiously in midring throwing punches to the head and body. To the surprise of the spectators Levinsky held his own in trading left jabs to the face. Levinsky switched his attack to the body. Levinsky hooked a left to the body and caught two lefts in return. Sharkey chased him to a corner and they fought it out on the ropes. Levinsky landed a heavy right to the body and at the bell Sharkey ran to a neutral corner looking for a place to sit down.

Round Four

Sharkey walked in and ripped a left to the body. They maulled at close quarters with neither doing any damage, then Sharkey hooked a left to the jaw that spun Levinsky around. They slugged head to head with Levinsky throwing punches to the body. Sharkey connected with a left and

8-Man Team Invited to Cuba in 1934; West for Nationals

Trips to Cuba and to California are in prospect next summer for star University of Iowa track and field athletes, Coach George T. Bresnahan said Monday.

The Hawkeye coach has been invited to bring an eight-man team to Havana, for a series of exhibition events and to conduct a summer coaching course in track and field.

Invited by Official

James Kendrick of the University of Havana, one of the athletic leaders of the island, extended the invitation to Coach Bresnahan. Sanction for the competition of the Hawkeyes will be obtained from American and international sports governing bodies.

Any university student will be eligible to try for the team, Bresnahan said. This ruling will permit star freshman athletes to compete with varsity men.

Iowans Go to West Coast

Iowa will be represented at the National Collegiate A.A. championships at the University of Southern California June 22 and 23, the Iowa mentor also announced. It is expected that expense money will be prorated among leading universities on the basis of number of athletes who have competed in past N.A.C.C. title meets.

This meet, in which Iowa teams only once have ranked lower than sixth and twice have been third, has been held in Chicago since it was organized in 1921, but lack of public support caused it to be transferred to Los Angeles.

right to the jaw. Levinsky missed a right uppercut. Levinsky drove a right to the jaw before they tied up in a clinch. Sharkey missed a left hook to the head and they roughed it in midring with no serious damage. Sharkey drove both fists to the body and blocked Levinsky's returns to the head.

Round Five

Sharkey connected with a left and right to the jaw and took a left hook to the chin. The former champion dug a left hook into foul territory and Levinsky retaliated with a blow in the same territory. Levinsky connected with a heavy right to the head.

He missed only one green with his approaches and then by less than two feet. It was playing of this sort that enabled him to win the title.

Bucs Still Hold Slight Chance as Giants Lose

St. Louis, Sept. 18 (AP)—Seeking the victory that would clinch the National league pennant, the New York Giants today fell before the pitching and hitting of Tex Carleton as the St. Louis Cardinals won the second game of the series, 4 to 3.

With the Giants leading 3 to 1 as the result of an early attack of Carleton, Manager Terry called on Carl Hubbell to protect the advantage when Herman Bell started to falter in the fifth. The brilliant southpaw, who pitched a full game against the Cubs Saturday, was not equal to the task however, and the formal winning of the championship was delayed at least for another day.

Hubbell was pounded for seven hits and three runs in three and two-thirds innings. The climax came in the eighth when, with Durocher on third as the result of a triple, Carleton crashed a single, scoring what proved to be the winning run.

Fred Fitzsimmons started on the mound for the league leaders but was forced out in the second when a line drive off the bat of Bob C'Farrell hit him on the neck. He was rushed to a hospital for an X-ray examination, although a hasty examination in the club house by Dr. Robert F. Hyland, Cardinal physician, did not disclose any serious injury.

The Giants jumped into an early lead but after the fourth they were helpless before the pitching of Carleton. He allowed only two hits in the last five innings and stopped a promising rally in the ninth by forcing Ryan to hit into a double play.

Dodgers Win From Cubs, 6-4

CHICAGO, Sept. 18 (AP)—Knocking Leroy Hermann out of the box with five runs in the first three innings, the Brooklyn Dodgers went on to defeat the Chicago Cubs 6 to 4 in the third game of the series today. The victory was the Dodgers' second in 10 games at Wrigley field this season.

Johnny Frederick led the attack on Hermann, driving in three runs and scoring one with a homer and a single. The Dodgers picked up their other run off Roy Henshaw in the sixth on Cuccinello's single and Lopez's triple.

The Cubs hit Mungo hard in the last seven innings but he managed to go the route for his 15th victory of the season.

Phillies in, Out of Cellar

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 18 (AP)—Big Ed Holley shut out the Pittsburgh Pirates with four hits in the second game of a double header today, pulling the Philadelphia Phillies out of the cellar, where they had dropped due to a 2-1 defeat in the opener. The Phils took the nightcap, 6 to 0.

Holley was in no danger during the game, except in the first when Paul Waner, who won the opening game with an eighth inning home run, tripled with two out. The big right hander allowed one hit an inning for the next three frames and thereafter no more.

Mowry's Triple Helps Braves Win

CINCINNATI, Sept. 18 (AP)—A chance to crawl from the league cellar within their grasp, the Cincinnati Reds fell before Boston 3 to 2 today as St. Johnson failed to exercise his usual mastery over the Braves.

A hail of doubles and singles and Mowry's triple brought in four runs before Stout replaced Johnson in the third. J. Moore of the Reds was knocked out as R. Moore's return of his two bagger hit him on the head in the third but recovered after a few moments and continued in the game.

(By The Associated Press)

The battle for runner-up honors in the American league's half of baseball's Big Six today favored Heinie Manush, who pounded out four hits in as many times at bat yesterday to gain four points on his rival Al Simmons, who was idle. Manush's gain boosted his average to .335 as compared to .331 for Simmons. In the National league, Bill Terry took undisputed possession of third place with one hit in two official times at bat.

Table with columns: G, AB, R, H, Pct. Rows: Klein, Phillies; Fox, Athletics; Davis, Phillies; Manush, S'n's; Sim'ons, W. S's; Terry, Giants.

Sam Gray Sets Down Mates of Few Weeks Ago

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18 (AP)—Sam Gray, the St. Louis Browns' veteran hurler who lost a chance to get a slice of World Series coin a few weeks ago by confessing a sore arm, dragged his ailing flipper to the hill today and pitched a 4 to 2 victory over Washington's Senators.

Clark Griffith, Washington owner, who turned Gray back to the Browns after the hurler admitted his arm was sore, must have regretted the move today as he watched the Senators swing vainly at the old timers' offerings and lose a chance virtually to clinch the pennant.

A victory for Washington today, while New York was dividing a double bill with Chicago, would have brought the pennant chase within a few fraction points of its end. As it is, the Senators only need two more victories out of 9 games.

Gray showed little sign of arm trouble as he held Washington to check for eight innings with eight scattered hits. Manager Hornsby rushed Hadley to the mound in the ninth when the first Senator up got a hit, but Gray was given an ovation by the throng as he shuffled to the showers.

Bob Burke, Washington hurler, went the route and held St. Louis to seven hits but lost his game in the eighth when Gullis tripled after Campbell had doubled and Mellillo walked. Up to that time the game had been tied at two all.

Detroit Beats A's in Seventh

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 18 (AP)—Putting on a four-run rally in the seventh, the Athletics captured a see-saw contest from the Detroit Tigers, 9 to 8.

The A's nicked two Tiger hurlers for 12 hits while Mahaffey, Coombs, Peterson and McKeithan held the Tigers to nine blows. McKeithan's effective relief hurling aided the Athletics to their victory. Fox, Detroit centerfielder, and Cramer, Johnson and Higgins of the A's, hit homers.

FOOTBALL NOTES

Alaskan Sweats for Michigan

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Sept. 18 (AP)—Willard Hildebrand, 203 pound lineman, breezed in from Alaska today, climbed into uniform and put on an exhibition in the afternoon scrimmage session that definitely started him on the road to becoming Michigan's number 1 guard this fall.

Hildebrand won his "M" as a tackle in 1932 but was out of the game most of the season with a series of boils. He apparently has the speed that Coach Harry Kipke's new "rump wheel" formation will require of his guards this season.

Carideo Calls Again

COLUMBIA, Mo., Sept. 18 (AP)—A Carideo called signals for the Missouri Tigers at practice today under the direction of another Carideo who made his name known throughout the nation as quarterback for Notre Dame.

Although ineligible for varsity competition until next year, student Angelo Carideo drilled at the position in which his brother, Frank, now head coach at Missouri, starred for the fighting Irish a few years ago.

Cornhuskers Stand Heat

LINCOLN, Neb., Sept. 18 (AP)—With the division today of candidates for the 1933 University of Nebraska football team into the varsity and B squads, Coach D. X. Bible reminded the players of the need for reserve material and said good work will be rewarded.

Maroons Have Small Squad

CHICAGO, Sept. 18 (AP)—Handicapped by a small squad, Coach Clark Shaughnessy of the University of Chicago today began training his veterans and more promising players to play two positions, quarterback and fullback.

Three of last year's regular backfield will be back, however, Lorence Fuhrmeister, fullback, Bob Schneobelen, halfback, and Bob Meyers, quarterback. With this veteran trio to carry the brunt of the attack, and Leo Mentzer, halfback, who saw service after the injury of Fuhrmeister in late season last year, Coach Kistler will have a working combination.

Three of last year's linemen were also on hand. Milton Schneobelen, tackle, Martin Warren, end, and Bob Jessup, end, will get plenty of work for the next two weeks before the opening of the season when University high meets Kalona at Kalona, Sept. 23.

Because most of the players are

Page Replaces Miller at End in Afternoon Round; Gallagher Moves Up to 1st String Tackle

End Problem Still Unsolved as Iowa Mentor Shifts Candidates in Search for Strong Wing Combination

The sophomores may be getting the attention from Coach Ossie Solem, but the vets are slowly showing the advantage of experience and training.

With a crack bunch of freshmen slowing down the efforts of the varsity yesterday afternoon, the Iowa head coach shifted Bernie Page, last year's midget fullback, to end, replacing Johnny Miller, regular last year. Page, though new to the job in collegiate circles, played both end and back in high school and won his numeral at end on the frosh eleven four years ago.

Small Squad Works Out at River School

Fast and rugged, despite his 155 pounds, the Newton junior looked good at the wing post although he showed the effects of his long absence from the position.

Drill in Fundamentals Meted Out to Blue and White

One soph, however, was good enough to move up to the first string line, Jack Gallagher replacing Jerry Foster at a tackle post. The big Chicago boy was making it plenty tough for the regulars before getting the promotion.

Another shift saw Charley Mau, Britt ngwomer, going back to his old job at end after working for the first few days at center. Mau looked well on offense, snagging several passes during the afternoon's work.

One reason for the shift was the appearance of Gene Liggett, 210 pound lineman from Rockford, Ill. Liggett, listed as either a guard or a tackle, was shifted to center, where he alternated with Captain Tom Moore during the day.

Laws Moves Up

In the backfield another vet broke in when Joe Laws replaced Skeets Haltom at the quarterback post. Teaming with the Colfax senior were Dick Crayne, Joe Richards, Dwight Hoover and Russ Fisher. In the afternoon workout the backs were still further shifted, Laws, Crayne, Ash, Kuhn, Haltom, Panther, Richards, Hoover, and Fisher all mixing it up with the yearlings.

Fred Radloff moved up to the varsity late in drill yesterday, replacing Hoffman while Jones and Seel alternated the right guard post.

unable to attend practice because their homes are in the country, a full squad will not be expected until school commences next Monday.

New Ideas in Economics

Connection Between NRA and Public Works Plan

By J. R. BRACKETT
WASHINGTON (AP)—More and more attention is being turned to the public works program being pushed ahead by thin-lipped but smiling Secretary of the Interior Ickes.

This program, with some $3,300,000,000 to spend, was supposed to provide purchasing power to stimulate the NRA industrial plan and at the same time to give energy to the heavy industries, particularly building, which have had some trouble getting under way.

Not quite half of the public works money has been allotted and a considerably smaller portion actually has been spent. Public works officials explain that this apparent slowness results from the many processes necessary for the letting of contracts and so on. A great many of these interferences have been brushed aside by Secretary Ickes, but he is the first to admit that the way ahead is far from smooth.

Still Many Jobless
Officials have guessed that some 2,000,000 have been added to unemployment in recent months, through the activities of both the NRA and the public works program. If, as American Federation of Labor figures showed, some 11,000,000 were out of work when these efforts started, many millions still are out of work with winter approaching.

The hope now is that the stimuli provided by the NRA and public works will permeate and quicken the activities of the entire economic system.

Indians Scalp Boston, 9 to 0

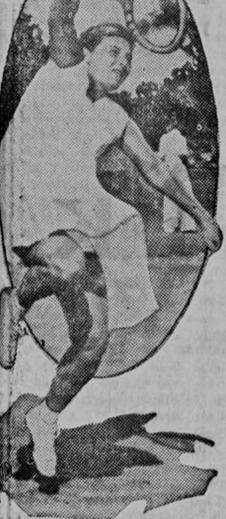

BOSTON, Sept. 18 (AP)—Cleveland had little trouble taking a series opener from the Red Sox, 9 to 0, today as Oral Hildebrand limited the Sox to two scratch hits.

The Cleveland hurler was in no trouble throughout the game as he received good support from his teammates. The two hits made by the home team were a single by Cooke in the fourth and a double by George Stump.

Yankees, Sox Split Twin Bill

NEW YORK, Sept. 18 (AP)—The two-hit pitching of Johnny Allen and the seven-hit hurling of Leslie Tietje, a Texas league recruit from Dallas, gave New York and Chicago an even break in today's double-header, the Yankees winning the first game 6 to 1 and the White Sox the second contest, 4 to 3.

Champ in Embryo

Experts predict a brilliant future in the tennis world for Virginia Arnold, of Dorchester, Mass., who is shown in an excellent action picture during the recent tourney at her home town. Miss Arnold's form is reminiscent of the great Suzanne Lenglen at her best.

Some of the fifty beautiful New York show girls in the new season's big musical comedy "Moonlight and Pretzels" opening for a six day run at the Strand tomorrow.

While Allen was holding the Sox to two safe blows, the Yankees, led by Gehrig and Dixie Walker, collected 10 hits off Paul Gregory. Gehrig hit his 28th home run in the sixth while Walker connected with a homer and triple.

Gehrig drove out his 29th homer of the season in the second game, but Tietje was stingy with hits in the pinches until the ninth when Wyatt was called in to stop a Yankee uprising.

The Sox got the jump on the Yankees in the nightcap when Red Kress cleared the bases with a double in the first inning. Dykes, sent in what proved to be the winning run with an infield out in the fifth.

By breaking even, the Yanks retained a mathematical chance of winning the American league pennant.

LEVINSKY WINS Sharkey Wins One Round

that shook Sharkey to his heels and Sharkey stabbed Levinsky with four straight lefts to the face. Levinsky landed with a left and right to the body. They traded heavy rights to the head in midring and then Levinsky nailed Sharkey with a straight right to the head, waving for the former champion to come in and fight.

Round Six

Sharkey's first punch was a left hook low. Levinsky missed a right uppercut and a left to the head. Sharkey countered with short body punches. Levinsky stepped under a left hook and threw both hands to the body. Sharkey was short with a left to the jaw and then stabbed the Kingfish with two lefts to the face. Levinsky landed a heavy right to the head and then they traded body punches on even terms. Sharkey nailed Levinsky with a right to the jaw and caught a heavy right swing in return. He hit Levinsky with an uppercut on the breakaway drawing boos from the crowd. Sharkey connected with a left and right to the jaw. Levinsky missed a wild return.

Round Seven

Sharkey charged in with three sharp left hooks to the body and he caught a left hook to the head. They traded two straight lefts to the face and when Sharkey stepped in he hooked his left to the body. Sharkey went to the ropes and Levinsky swung three heavy rights to the head missing two of them. They slugged it out in mid-ring and Sharkey snared over Levinsky's shoulder as they were locked in a clinch. Sharkey jabbed two straight lefts to the face and then Levinsky tore into him throwing both hands to the head. They roughed each other in the clinches, heeling with the gloves. Sharkey connected with a left and right to the head as the bell ended the round. It was Sharkey's most impressive showing thus far in the fight.

Round Eight

Sharkey missed a left to the body and clinched. Jack dug a left hook to the body and Levinsky threw both hands to the head. Levinsky nailed Sharkey with a heavy right to the jaw that knocked him back on his heels and he invited the sailor to come on and slug. Sharkey stepped in and caught another right to the head. Levinsky dropped a right hand shot to the jaw and then repeated. Sharkey tried to charge in but the Kingfish tied him up and smashed away with both hands to the body. Levinsky drove the ex-champion to the ropes under another body attack. Levinsky shoved Sharkey into the ropes again before the round ended.

Round Nine

They went into a clinch with Sharkey sending two light lefts to the face. Levinsky stepped in with right and left to the body. Sharkey landed a hard right under the heart and Levinsky shot a right uppercut to the head. As they clinched Sharkey jolted the Kingfish with three lefts to the body. After missing two rights and a left Levinsky backed Sharkey into a corner landing a heavy right to the head. Levinsky again rushed Sharkey to the ropes, outscoring him in their exchanges. Levinsky pinned Sharkey into a corner and swished away with both hands to the head.

Round Ten

They shook hands in mid-ring and Sharkey missed a vicious right uppercut. Levinsky again nailed Sharkey with a looping right to the head and Sharkey backed away. They clinched and hammered each other round the ribs. Sharkey drove two lefts to the face. The Kingfish appeared to be tiring. Levinsky suddenly lashed out with a right to the head and left and right to the body. He forced Sharkey to the ropes with heavy swings. Sharkey stabbed two lefts to the face and then blocked a left hook. Levinsky swung lefts and rights to the head. Sharkey backing away, Sharkey missed a left and right to the head. Levinsky landed with two rights and three lefts to the jaw and nearly knocked Sharkey through the ropes. They were in a clinch as the bell ended the round.

Cyclones in Scrimmage

AMES, Sept. 18 (AP)—Not content with results of Saturday's scrimmage, Coach Veenker today sent the first and second teams through two scrimmage periods to polish off plays and improve blocking and tackling technique. A heavy dummy session preceded the scrimmage.

Marlow Williams, backfield prospect, was on the side lines in the afternoon nursing leg injuries received in the morning practice. Ike Hayes, prospective quarterback, was in a suit for the first time today.

Success of New State Park Assured by Number of Sales

Enough Land Sold to Insure Execution of Options

The success of the state park project was assured by the Chamber of Commerce park committee yesterday with the announcement that enough cottage sites had been sold to insure the execution of the options on the 800 acres included in the park.

With more than 60 lots sold only a few remain to be purchased. Some of the options, which expire tomorrow, will be taken up today and the entire tract will be deeded to the state board of conservation. Work on the artificial lake, which will be made possible through federal emergency funds, will begin as soon as the land is deeded to the state.

There are still a few lake shore sites left and a few wooded lots in the second tier. It is expected that all of these will be sold before the end of the week. Information concerning the remaining lots at the state park may be obtained from A. A. Welt at the Security Finance company, 114 S. Clinton street.

Four Autos Stolen Over Week End

Four cars were stolen in Iowa City over the week end and yesterday. Two of them have been recovered.

A Ford coupe belonging to Gladys Williams was stolen Saturday night from near 111 E. Church street and was found Sunday in Cedar Rapids.

A Lincoln sedan, belonging to Glenn Smith of Chicago, which was stolen from in front of the Van Meter hotel Sunday night, was found yesterday by Officer Herbert Beranek at the entrance to Oakland cemetery. The hot water heater, all the tools, and the gas from the tank were gone.

Frank Sloan, 630 N. Dubuque street, reported yesterday that his Ford coach had been stolen from the downtown district while he was getting a milkshake in a drug store. The car was registered in the name of the Standard Supply company of Des Moines.

The Burkett-Updegraff Motor company reported the theft of a Ford V-8 from their used car lot sometime Saturday afternoon. The license number is 70-3869.

Deadline Set for Defaults at 2 O'Clock

Two o'clock this afternoon is set as the default time in the September term of district court. The equity assignment for the week will be made out by District Judge James P. Gaffney this afternoon.

With approximately 140 cases filed for the September term a long session is expected. Present plans call for the impanelling of the first jury on Monday. The grand jury which met for its first session yesterday afternoon at 2 p.m., when it was impanelled, will probably be adjourned by the end of the week. The grand jury will consider the charge of embezzlement against Charles L. Berry, former county treasurer. The grand jury of the May term refused to return an indictment against him on the charge.

U. High Pupils Kept Busy by Registration

Enrollment, Exams to Last Through Friday

Registration for entrance to University high school, one of the laboratories of the college of education of the State University of Iowa, is now under way. Seventh and eighth grade pupils yesterday started the registration program which will extend through Friday.

Today, registration and physical examinations for ninth grade students will be held, in addition to mental examinations for all tenth, eleventh, and twelfth grade pupils not enrolled in University high school in 1932-33, will also be given on this day.

Thursday, the eleventh grade will register and submit for physical examination. The registration period ends Friday with the enrollment and physical examination of the twelfth grade pupils.

Honors
University high school is a member of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. It also has a chapter of the National Honor Society of Secondary Schools and semi-annually selects for membership pupils outstanding in scholarship, leadership, and service.

Athletics
A rounded program of activities is afforded the pupils. Interscholastic athletic teams are maintained and in addition each student has an opportunity to take part in intramural sports throughout the year.

Library
Both the junior and senior schools have membership in athletic conferences, the former playing nearby schools in basketball and the latter in basketball, football, cross-country, and track. The girls have their own athletic association. Other activities such as glee clubs, chorus, orchestra, ensemble groups, dramatics, publications, and student council, are also provided for the students. Swimming and physical education are offered as a part of the program. The school has its own swimming pool.

Plan Rites for Mrs. E. Zeller

North Liberty Resident Will Be Buried Thursday

Funeral service for Mrs. Edna Zeller, 64, of North Liberty, who died at a local hospital at 1 a.m. yesterday, will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday at the Methodist church at North Liberty. Burial will be in the North Liberty cemetery. The body will be at the Oathout Funeral home until time of the funeral.

The time of the funeral service was changed from 2 p.m. today to Thursday because a sister, Mrs. Emery Albertson of Whittier, Cal., cannot arrive in North Liberty until Thursday morning. Mrs. Zeller was born at North Liberty Dec. 24, 1886, and passed all her life there with the exception of 19 years at Winterset.

She is survived by her husband, four children, Dorothy, Esther E., Frank Jr., and Fred; her father, Isaac Meyers, Sr., a Civil war veteran; two sisters, Mrs. Emery Albertson of Whittier, Cal., and Mrs. L. L. Lentz of North Liberty, John G. Meyers of Gasport, N. Y., and Lewis Meyers of Colorado Springs, Colo.

Mrs. Zeller was a member of the Methodist church of North Liberty and a member of the Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil war.

Glenn Matthes Appeals Case

Glenn Matthes, after being found guilty of contempt of court by violation of a liquor injunction by District Judge James P. Gaffney yesterday, gave notice of appeal to the supreme court and posted appeal bond of $750.

He was fined $250 on the contempt charge and was sentenced to the county jail for a period not to exceed 75 days until the fine is paid. He was warned by Judge Gaffney that he would be given the maximum fine of $1,000 and one year in jail if he was found guilty of the same charge again.

Matthes pleaded not guilty to the charge and was represented by Attorney Guy Linville of Cedar Rapids. County Attorney F. B. Olsen prosecuted for the state.

Buck's Claim Dismissed

The claim of E. O. Buck against the closed Johnson County Savings bank was dismissed in district court yesterday upon the failure of Buck to appear for hearing as set by the court. The hearing had been set for 3 p.m. yesterday.

Our Milk is Pasteurized in a modern sunlight plant for your protection. From the time it is produced at the farm until it reaches your porch the most rigid rules of sanitation are enforced.

Our routes reach all parts of the city and carry a complete line of dairy products—Milk, Golden Guernsey Milk, Cream, Whipping Cream, Butter, Cottage Cheese, and Buttermilk—all Pasteurized.

No order is too small. Our system is so planned that no matter how seldom you buy we are pleased to serve you.

N. R. A.

Every retail coal merchant in Iowa City signed the NRA covenant early in August; every one signed and put into effect the new retail Code by the middle of August. We are 100% with the President.

Coal prices have been kept lower and quality better by strict adherence to the rule that "coal is cash." Elimination of bad accounts and unnecessary book-keeping and collection expenses have enabled us to sell at prices lower than other Iowa cities of equal size.

Please help US to help YOU by not asking for credit. It is a commodity we no longer have. And it is embarrassing to face an old customer over the counter and say "George, we must have the cash." Please be fair! Help us keep costs down by paying cash without even asking for credit.

Yours truly,
IOWA CITY RETAIL COAL MERCHANTS ASSN.
