HOMECOMING BADGE DRIVE BEGINS

Pecora Will Subpoena 1,375 Members of Stock Exchange

Action Taken When Exchange Fails to Compel Answers to Senate Group's Questionnaire

Members Must Show All Records of Transactions

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 (AP)—Ferdinand Pecora, counsel for the senate banking committee, announced tonight that subpoenas would be issued to compel the appearance here of the 1,375 members of the New York stock exchange in the committee's investigation of stock market practices.

This action is to be taken as the result of the exchange's refusal to require its members to answer a questionnaire approved by the committee.

Go Out Today

The first of the subpoenas, Pecora said, would go out tomorrow. The exchange members will be required to produce their records, Pecora said he did not know when the first of them would be heard.

A letter from Richard Whitney, president of the New York exchange, accompanied by a legal opinion from Roland Redmond of counsel for the exchange, was delivered to Pecora's New York office this afternoon and relayed to him by telephone. He said that Redmond's opinion held that the governing authorities did not have the right or the power to compel the members of the exchange to answer the questionnaire.

Expense Item

Whitney's letter added that the expense imposed upon members would run into millions of dollars. The questionnaire contained more than 50 questions asking information and records of transactions in joint, pool, margin and cash accounts from July, 1929, to July, 1933. It went to the 15 largest exchanges in the country, among them also the New York curb exchange.

Pecora said that he "personally doubted" whether the members of the exchange had seen the questionnaire and that it was his belief that the decision not to submit it had been taken by the governing board. He said that the subpoena method was "bound to impose far greater expense upon them than would be entailed in answering a questionnaire."

Pecora said the Redmond opinion contained no challenge to the power of the committee.

Chase Probe to Begin Today

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 (AP)—The long deferred investigation of the Chase Securities corporation, affiliate of the Chase National bank, will be opened by the senate banking committee tomorrow, climaxing its current inquiry of Wall Street practices.

The Chase inquiry will bring to the witness chair another of the country's financial chieftains, Albert H. Wiggin, who will play the leading role assigned in previous inquiries to J. P. Morgan, Otto H. Kahn, Charles E. Mitchell and Clarence Dillon.

Iowa Gold of Little Value, Declares Kay

Dean George F. Kay of the college of liberal arts, commenting on the rumor that gold had been discovered near Missouri Valley, said that it was possible, but highly improbable that gold of commercial value could be found here.

The report of the finding of gold caused speculation and some investigation yesterday, according to an Associated Press dispatch.

The report was confirmed by V. D. Quackenbush, Loveland gold buyer, who said a nugget weighing 16 1/2 pennyweights had been brought to him by a farmer, who refused to give his name because he did not want trespassers digging up his farm.

He said he found the gold in a gravel pit "somewhere east of Missouri Valley."

Quackenbush said the nugget, when assayed and refined, sold for $15.88. Dean Kay, who is state geologist, said he knew nothing directly of the find here, but that a study of the origin of Iowa gravel forms a "conclusion that no large amount of gold could be concentrated in this state."

Hospital Reports No Change in Condition of Prof. F. A. Nagler

No change was noted early this morning by hospital authorities in the condition of Prof. Floyd A. Nagler of the college of engineering, who has been confined to Mercy hospital more than a week since he underwent an operation for a ruptured appendix.

Board Set Up for Release of Frozen Funds

Will Free Billion as Soon as Possible, Report Says

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 (AP)—The federal liquidation board, a division of the R.P.C., whose formation was announced last night by President Roosevelt, got to work today and, after a long meeting, announced readiness "to proceed with all possible dispatch" toward releasing $1,000,000,000 of frozen deposits in banks.

Chairman Jones of the Reconstruction corporation said machinery for getting appraisals of bank assets to the new board would be accelerated by the Reconstruction corporation, the treasury department, the comptroller of the currency, the deposit guarantee commission and other related agencies of the government.

The liquidation board is composed of C. B. Merriam, a director of Reconstruction corporation; Jones; Dean Acheson, undersecretary of the treasury; Lewis W. Douglas, director of the budget; J. P. T. O'Connor, comptroller of the currency; and Walter J. Cummings, chairman of the deposit insurance corporation.

Jones said the plan of operation would be to select a chairman of the deposit liquidation committee for each federal reserve district, who in turn would select local chairmen if he desired.

The district chairman and his committee would assume responsibility for appraising and certifying as to the value of the assets of banks in his district that have closed since Jan. 1.

Ehlers Funeral This Afternoon

Former Teammates to Serve as Pall Bearers

Funeral service for Arthur Ehlers, freshman football tackle who died Sunday morning from head injuries received in practice Thursday, will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Lutheran church at Maynard.

Robert Moore of LeMars, Herman Rasar of LeMars, George Rice of Mapleton, Harry Largent of Ft. Dodge, Frank Jakoubek of Cedar Rapids, and Theodore Osmilok of Toledo, O., all freshman football players, will be pallbearers.

Prof. E. H. Lauer, director of athletics; Ossie Solum, head football coach; William Boelter and Lawrence Harrison, freshman football coaches; and Coaches E. G. Schroeder, Charles Kennett, George Bresnahan, David Armbruster, and Rolle Williams, and captains and representatives of each athletic team will attend the funeral in a body.

Demonstrating the Stiff-Arm?

Coach Spears Says 'Twas a "Light Push," But Photographer Points to Foot, and Groans

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 16 (AP)—Dr. Clarence Spears, Wisconsin football coach accused of injuring, and breaking the camera of a Milwaukee Sentinel photographer at the Wisconsin-Illinois game at Champaign Saturday, in a statement today said he merely gave the photographer "a light push."

"It should not have upset—let possession of his faculties," Dr. Spears said. "However, he fell down, and in falling landed on his camera. If the instrument was broken that is how it happened. The statement that I kicked the camera is of course utterly false."

Spears said that Illinois authorities had instructed the photographers to keep out of territory directly in front of the Badger bench. But photographers crossed between him and the field many times and on three occasions he asked them to keep away, he said.

World Ponders Next Move as Arms Parley Adjourns

Von Neurath Declares Against "Second Disarming"

BERLIN, Oct. 16 (AP)—Foreign Minister Konstantin von Neurath told the world's press, in effect, today that "there must not be a second disarming of Germany."

In a half hour interview with correspondents he expanded Chancellor Hitler's appeal of Saturday night regarding Germany's withdrawal from the League of Nations and the world disarmament conference.

Baron von Neurath sought to fix the responsibility for the "world's tangle" upon England and France, and at the same time paid tribute to American and Italian arms delegates for their efforts to mediate the differences.

The question of Germany's equality, which led to the decisions to resign, the foreign minister declared, was the central issue in contemporary world politics.

This equality, he demonstrated by an array of historical data, has consistently been denied the reich.

He challenged powers represented at the Geneva conference to agree on a mutual disarmament, claimed the British foreign office had misrepresented Germany's attitude to Washington and pledged anew that Germany would assist in any project to rid the world of the arms burden.

"Cardinal Question" "The cardinal question around which the entire politics of the present day turns," he maintained, "and concerning which the unequivocal answer must be given, is: 'Shall the division of nations into victors and vanquished be eternalized or is, at last, the principle to receive recognition that all states are members with equal rights in the community of nations?'"

"The recognition and realization of this principle is decisive for every form of international cooperation. "The more evident the political opposition to the execution of general disarmament became the more earnestly did Germany warn that the League of Nations' fate was sealed if it failed to fulfill the task of bringing about a general disarmament and thereby the restitution of Germany's equality."

"When we re-entered the conference we learned with disappointment that the foundations of the conference discussions no longer existed. There was but one answer to make, namely, to leave the conference. Public opinion abroad seemed surprised at our reply."

Statements Not Surprised "That is understandable, since the recent negotiations were conducted confidentially, but the participating statesmen were in no wise surprised. "With satisfaction, I observe that during these last negotiations the representatives of the United States and Italy left no effort untried to mediate."

"All the efforts, however, failed on account of the efforts of the other powers to erect a united front against Germany, to which Germany could do nothing but yield. This united front failed to develop."

McCooey Dispels Disorder in Ranks of N.Y.C. Demos

NEW YORK, Oct. 16 (AP)—Fighting off a threat of political extinction, John H. McCooey, for 22 years the Democratic leader of Brooklyn, today quelled an uprising of his district leaders who have been wavering in the direction of Joseph V. McKee, independent mayoral candidate.

McCooey, Tammany Hall's chief ally in its struggle to re-elect Mayor John O'Brien, checked the scramble of his leaders toward the McKee bandwagon from his sick bed. He was unable to attend the meeting of the county executive committee and it adjourned subject to his call without endorsing McKee.

Pennies!

CORNING (AP)—Vernon Larimer's savings of 30 years constitute the largest sack of pennies the local post office has received. The pennies numbered 3,356 and weighed 24 pounds.

Nations' Capitals in Disagreement Over Future Dealings

(By The Associated Press) With the adjournment Monday of the world disarmament conference until Oct. 26, world leaders pondered the next move to be made in the muddled arms situation.

The plea of Arthur Henderson, conference president, that "the struggle for disarmaments must go on" was re-echoed in some world capitals, but others took a different view of Germany's withdrawal from the parley and the League of Nations.

Geneva GENEVA—Delegates said they had a two fold problem: getting Germany back into the negotiations or drafting an arms convention without Germany. In a note Henderson sent Foreign Minister von Neurath of Germany, the chairman declared he considered invalid the Reich's reasons for withdrawing. The conference adjourned to give delegates opportunity to consult their governments. Many had the conviction that American cooperation alone would make possible a disarmament agreement.

BERLIN—Foreign Minister von Neurath told correspondents of many world newspapers, in effect, that "there must not be a second disarmament of Germany" and blamed England and France for the world's "tangle."

Doorn

DOORN—The former Kaiser expressed approval of Germany's stand. LONDON—Governmental circles avoided strong comment but Great Britain continued to hope that fears on the continent would pass.

VIENNA—University students conducted pro-German demonstrations and the remark was heard in official circles that Germany's action typified the emotions of nations defeated in the war.

PARIS—Premier Daladier tried through his foreign minister to keep the United States and Great Britain lined up with France in any proposed arms solution and was expected to mention the situation when he brings a comprehensive financial program before the chamber of deputies Tuesday.

WASHINGTON—The administration determined to let European powers decide on the continuation of disarmament efforts on a general scale and will not be represented at various European conferences this week.

NANKING—Chinese circles were anxious because they believed any arms race will involve Japan and consequently have a bearing on China.

TOKYO—A foreign office spokesman said "the crisis affects Japan indirectly through its effect on the Russian policy in the far east which is the phase we are closely watching."

Many Killed in Siamese Rebellion

BANGKOK, Siam, Oct. 16 (AP)—Up-country rebel troops and loyal forces clashed today in severe fighting which saw many killed and wounded and several airplanes shot down.

The fight for control of the government became largely a matter of supremacy in the air with the establishment by government forces of a temporary airport in the capital city.

From there the government, with 10 airplanes, plans to direct its activities against the rebel air force, which has taken over the military airport 15 miles north of the capital. "Pierce fighting raged in the outskirts of the city and, at the end of the day's maneuvers, the government issued a communique saying the rebellious forces were in retreat."

Store Burned

MARSHALLTOWN, (AP)—The E. J. Dillon General store at Liscomb was destroyed by fire of an unknown origin. Loss was estimated at $21,000, partly covered by insurance.

WEATHER

IOWA: Generally fair in east, mostly cloudy in west, slightly warmer Tuesday; Wednesday unsettled, possibly local showers.

AS FIRST BADGE WAS SOLD

Prof. Forest C. Ensign, chairman of the Homecoming executive committee, is evidently happy to be the first "customer" of Peg Hise, J4 of West Liberty, captain of Delta Delta Delta team. Professor Ensign has been the guiding hand in the annual celebration for 19 years—since the beginning of Homecoming organization. He has been active in alumni affairs as well, and his popularity among Iowa grads is attested by his election as president of the Alumni association last spring.

'I'll Be Wearing My Badge,' Says Jessup

President Walter A. Jessup wholeheartedly gave his support to the Homecoming badge sale, which will begin this morning, and he urged everyone to support it.

He indicated last night that he would be among the first to "practice" this doctrine.

"I'll be wearing my badge tomorrow," President Jessup said, "and I hope to see everyone else wearing one."

U.S. to Buy Butter, Beef

Relief Corporation to Provide Food for Needy

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 (AP)—Two million pounds of butter and an undetermined quantity of beef will be bought by the surplus relief corporation for distribution to the unemployed.

In accordance with plans formulated recently, Harry L. Hopkins, relief administrator, and Secretary Wallace announced today that the purchases were to be made. The cattle will be of the canner and culler grades.

The food will be in addition to 100,000,000 pounds of pork bought by the farm administration in its emergency hog program and turned over to the relief administration.

The program announced today will cost approximately $15,000,000.

The butter purchasing program worked out by Farm Administrator Peek and Major R. M. Littlejohn, chief of the special commodities section, is designed to cut into an existing surplus estimated at about 70,000,000 pounds. This surplus, it is claimed, has been holding down prices.

John Moreland Not Guilty of Contempt

John Moreland was found not guilty of contempt of court, for non-payment of alimony to Helen Moreland, at a hearing before District Judge James P. Gaffney in district court.

Executive Acts to Restore Buying Power

BISMARCK, N. D., Oct. 16 (AP)—Governor William Langer late today signed a proclamation prohibiting shipment of wheat from North Dakota, effective at midnight Wednesday, and continuing indefinitely.

The chief executive of the nation's leading wheat producing state of 1933 acted, he said, in an "effort to restore to our farmers a buying power with which to maintain a livelihood, and to stimulate commerce and trade among our people." Prices now being paid farmers for their wheat "are unconscionable with the cost of production. . . and results in an unwarranted drain of

Sororities Vie for Distinction of Selling Most

Badge for Every Iowa Citizen Is Goal of Campaigners

"A badge for every student and every member of every family in Iowa City."

Members of three sororities will take the campus and the city by storm today, in an effort to make the motto of this year's Homecoming badge sale a reality.

Beginning at 7 o'clock this morning, girls from Delta Delta Delta, captained by Peg Hise, J4 of West Liberty; Alpha Delta Pi, captained by Laura Alice Shove, A1 of Cherokee; and Theta Phi Alpha, captained by Helen Weirich, A3 of Iowa City, will engage in a five day sale which will end with the first whistle of the Iowa-Wisconsin game Saturday.

The sale of badges at 10 cents is the only means of financing all expenses of Homecoming festivities. With the proceeds of the sale, the Homecoming committee has in past years paid for receptions, smokers, stunts, parades, and the traditional corn monument and Iowa avenue bridge arch.

Purchasers In addition such permanent parts of the university as floodlights on Old Capitol and on University hospital tower, and a gift portrait of W. O. Pinkbne, who, with his brother, donated the land for Finkbine field, have been purchased with this money.

The Homecoming committee, in order to secure as much decoration as possible, has offered to match dollar for dollar, up to a total of $50, with any student group wishing to decorate university buildings.

Tri Deltis Won Members of the three sororities, as in the past, will engage in a sales contest. Standings will be reported daily. Last year's winning team was Delta Delta Delta.

The official Homecoming badge is the only one authorized by university officials to commemorate the 1933 Homecoming. This year's badge was designed by Mathew Herito Jackovich, who won a $10 prize in the annual competition for a design.

The badge, in black and Old Gold, has for its center design a drawing of Tom Moore, captain of the 1933 Hawkeyes. The design is made up entirely of straight lines.

Committee The committee which selected the winning design in the badge contest is composed of: Ruth Wilkinson, instructor in graphic and plastic arts; Prof. Forest C. Ensign, chairman of the general Homecoming committee; Prof. Rollin Perkins of the general Homecoming committee; and Prof. R. A. Kuever, chairman of the Homecoming badge committee.

Badges will be sold throughout Iowa City and the campus, and they will be sent to alumni groups. In past years, they have been sent as far west as Washington and California, and as far east as Boston.

Loan Delayed to Railroads

Price Question Holds Up Roosevelt's Project

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 (AP)—President Roosevelt's attempt to prime the basic industries into activity by lending railroads an initial $25,000,000 for purchasing steel rails apparently was held up tonight upon a question of price.

Although the proposal is two weeks old, the administration was without word that the four companies producing heavy rails were coming forward with bids and officials generally assumed that the White House demand for trimmed prices was responsible.

C. V. McKaig, vice president for the Carnegie Steel company, a U. S. Steel corporation subsidiary, in Pittsburgh said $40 a ton is about right.

Brookings Institute Would Expand Duties of Assessment Board

DES MOINES, Oct. 16 (AP)—A section of the Brookings Institution report made public today showed that expansion of the duties of the state board of assessment and review to centralize state tax administration is among the recommendations made to the interim legislative committee.

The board, under the institution plan, would be renamed the state tax commission and would have charge of the administration of gasoline, cigarette, beer, inheritance and estate, motor vehicle carrier, motor vehicle license and otcomotor-garage taxes.

The present board of assessment and review has supervision over the property tax assessment.

Invites Governors

DES MOINES, (AP)—Governor Herring sent invitations to the governors of Indiana, Michigan and Kentucky to send representatives here for a uniform liquor control legislation conference Oct. 26. Invitations previously had been sent the executives of six other states.

New C.C.C. Camp

MILFORD (AP)—The 178th Civilian Conservation corps camp this winter will be along the north edge of the town. Nine camp buildings are to be constructed. The corps will devote the winter to projects around Okoboji and Spirit Lakes and within the greater lake region.

3,000 Modern Flares to Light Pep Parade at Homecoming

Pep Fraternity Will Sell New Colored Illuminators

The customary home-made flares of other years will be replaced by 3,000 modern illuminators in this year's Homecoming pep parade to be held Friday night.

Members of Pi Epsilon Pi, pep fraternity, will be in charge of the sale of 2,000 illuminators and 1,000 giant sparklers, it was announced last night at a meeting of the 11 students who are supervisors and assistants on the mobilization committee.

Torches, Sparklers
Red and green torches that glow for 12 minutes, and sparklers that burn seven minutes have been received by the military department, which is cooperating in the distribution.

In order that many students, alumni, and residents of Iowa City may carry flares in the torchlight parade, the committee has decided to sell the illuminators for 15 cents and the sparklers for 7 cents.

Lieut. Col. Converse R. Lewis, head of the military department, who is faculty advisor to the mobilization committee, said the military department decided to order and distribute the flares because other organizations on the campus were not well equipped to handle them.

Representatives
Residents of each organized house will have a chance to buy their torches from the student who is representing them on the Homecoming committee. Other distributing points in Iowa City where townspeople and alumni may buy their flares will be announced later.

Military men are purchasing their illuminators at the field house and are allowed to deduct the cost from their military deposits.

After the orders are turned in at the field house, members of Pi Epsilon Pi will distribute the flares to all who have ordered them.

Meeting Last Night
The torches and sparklers were exhibited, and the plan for selling them announced, last night at the meeting which was attended by representatives from the three areas into which Iowa City has been divided for the formation of the three-point parade which will concentrate east of Old Capitol.

Others who attended the meeting were Hunter Gehlbach of Ogden, Don Fryor of Burlington, and E. S. Neufeld of Des Moines. They are serving as co-chairmen of the student committee. Prof. T. Dale Yoder of the college of commerce, serving in advisory capacity, was also present.

LONGFELLOW SCHOOL NEWS

Last week we had stories and talks on "Fire prevention." We enjoyed this work.

Raymond Kloos and Raymond Lehman have returned to school after being absent because of illness.

We studied about Columbus this week. Some of the children read interesting stories about him.

Mary Remley Gets Crested Ring for Grades

Sixteen pupils in our room had perfect spelling papers last week. They are: Loreta Hughes, Virginia Kelly, Dorothy Grapp, Kenneth Bennett, Jean Stoner, Betty Koudelka, Pearl Watts, George Gay, Charles Elliott, Joseph Boarts, Marjorie Schenck, Ervin Gosenberg, John Winslow, Burton Rosenberg, Mary Gosenberg, and Morris Ward.

We wrote "Fire prevention" rhymes last week. Here are some of them that we like very much. My name is Marjorie Ann I keep matches in a can. They will not start a fire if they are kept up higher. If you keep all rubbish clear Then fires do not appear.

My name is "Buddy" I like blankets fuzzy, So I never play with a match Around a blanket fuzzy.

My name is Ethel Mae, And every day While I am at play I am careful Not to throw matches away.

My name is "Buddy" I never catch fire to a board, For I'm afraid it will do some harm Especially when I'm on a farm.

My name is Ethel Mae, And every day While I am at play I am careful Not to throw matches away.

Albrights Entertain Vesper Speaker at Dinner Here Sunday

Fred B. Smith of White Plains, N.Y., who was the speaker at vesper services Sunday evening, was a guest in the George C. Albright home, 715 Park road, during his stay here. Mr. Smith is a cousin of Mrs. Albright.

Friday evening, Dr. and Mrs. Albright entertained a group of friends at dinner in Mr. Smith's honor. Sunday afternoon Mr. Smith drove with the Albrights to Mt. Vernon to speak at the vesper services at Cornell college.

Mrs. Albright and Mr. Smith drove to Cedar Rapids yesterday morning where Mr. Smith addressed the students at Coe college.

From Cedar Rapids Mr. Smith went to Dubuque where he lectured last night. From Dubuque he went by plane to Worcester, Mass., and then to Ithaca, N. Y. to talk to students at Cornell university.

Unity Church Society Plans for Meeting

An all day meeting is planned by members of the Unity Missionary society for Thursday. Mrs. Joseph Brown will be hostess to the group at her home.

Mrs. William Austin will lead the devotionals, and Mrs. Robert Cochran will give the foreign topic for the meeting.

Esquire, New Magazine for Men, Appears

A new magazine, Esquire, designed especially for the male element, has its debut this week.

Esquire has resorted to subject matter and contributors best known to the masculine reader. Audrey Wurdeman, a poetess, the granddaughter of Shelley, is the only dash of femininity in the magazine.

The writers of non-fiction in the first issue are Ernest Hemingway, Nicholas Murray Butler, Gilbert Seldes, Charles Hanson Towne, and Ring Lardner, Jr. Fiction is authored by a group of contemporary writers. Bobby Jones, Gene Tunney, Benny Leonard, and Charles Paddock are the sporting-bloods-turned-writers. Humor and pictorial aspects also have their exponents.

Particular stress is made on men's fashions, and they are illustrated by more than a dozen drawings in full color.

"Princeton panorama," a treatise on college life by Ring Lardner, Jr., is featured.

Postpone Music Club Meeting
The meeting of the Tuesday Morning Music club which was scheduled for this morning will be held next Tuesday at the same time and place.

70 Local Children Will Present "Tom Thumb's Wedding"

Seventy local children will participate in a mock wedding ceremony tonight at 7:30 at the Christian church when Tom Thumb and Lily take their marriage vows.

Given under the auspices of the W.M.B. society of the Christian church, the ceremony will be enacted by children of the church. Dorothy Kelsey of Farmington will direct the production.

Shirley Gilbert will take the part of Lily, the bride, and Billy McCree will be the bridegroom. Officiating as the minister will be Richard McCree.

Solists at the ceremony will be Ruth Norman, June Korah, Clifford Hall, Richard Steninger, Shirley Viers, and George Gay, Jr.

Speech Mixer to Be Given Tonight

Under the auspices of the University theater and University Players, a speech mixer will be given tonight in the river room of Iowa Union at 7:30.

Registration for competition for membership in University Players and trypouts will take place.

and Gentlemen it leaves the Ladies flat!

If you use lipstick—or if you really prefer a chocolate pecan sundae to a Scotch and soda—you might as well stop reading right at this point. ESQUIRE is not for you and you had better face the grim fact now.

If, however, you are a genuine male—if you have a healthy masculine taste for good clothes and strong language—if you like the real inside on sports—if you'd rather read a brief saga by Ernest Hemingway than a sugar-coated tale of love in the suburbs—

In that case you will want to rush right out and get your copy of ESQUIRE before this first and somewhat limited issue is sold out.

For here, at last, is a man's idea of a magazine come to life! Here are "short" short stories by such writers as William McFee, John Dos Passos, Dashiell Hammett and Manuel Komroff.

Here is humor by such a rollicking list as George S. Chappell, Montague Glass, Robert Buckner, George Ade, Harry Hershfield and David Monroe.

Here are 16 pages on what to wear and when to wear it—written for men who think that good tweed is something to be smelled with reverence and worn with ease.

Charles Hanson Towne comes to the rescue of a bathtub gin generation with some hard-and-fast advice on how to behave when the waiter hands you a wine card—and won't that be a help! Benny Leonard himself tells about half a dozen fights for the lightweight championship that were never entered in the record books. Charlie Paddock gives the inside on why some famous championships changed hands.

Never before, in fact, has such a list of contributors been gathered together in a publication. In addition, there are forty pages in color including the greatest number of full-page cartoons ever printed in a magazine.

The price of ESQUIRE is fifty cents per copy or one dollar fifty for four issues. If your dealer cannot supply you address Esquire Publishing Company, Palmolive Bldg., Chicago, Ill.

Geneva Goes The Way of London

ONCE AGAIN the world's so-called statesmen and diplomats—so fluent and so well versed in the delivery of weasel-worded speeches—have seen reality staring them in the face and are bewildered.

Thus a press association correspondent informs the world that the disarmament conference is going the way of the London economic conference, the way of expensive, colossal, ineffectual failure.

And it is all because Germany, by bringing the central controversy out into the open daylight and demanding that the former allies fulfill their sworn obligation under the Versailles treaty and disarm or that Germany be released from the restrictions imposed upon her by the same treaty, called their bluff.

It was suggested in THE DAILY IOWAN Sunday morning that a statesman worth his salt, by appealing to the French people and to the Italian people and to the English people and giving them the truth, could turn the present situation into a real victory for disarmament and peace.

But these are not the tactics of diplomacy. Instead, the great men run to their hotel rooms and compete among themselves in denouncing Germany because she took her toys and went home.

Milo Reno—The Man Who Cried "Wolf"

ONCE AGAIN Milo Reno, energetic head of the Farmers Holiday association, is on the warpath, and once again he has picked the agricultural administration as the butt of his criticism.

Shouting to the world that the agricultural readjustment act is "diabolical," the Stentorian-voiced Mr. Reno demanded once again that Secretary Wallace, in whose hands farm destiny now rests, should be removed.

The immediate reason for Mr. Reno's latest outburst last Saturday was a district meeting of the farmers' association, with about 5,000 farmers in attendance at Shendaoh.

But the reason matters little—any excuse is sufficient to set Mr. Reno off on his fixed speech demanding that Secretary Wallace resign, charging that the farm administration is "double-crossing" the farmers, and in other ways inciting the Iowa farmers who contribute to the support of Reno's organization.

The sad condition is that he can command such attention—that he is able to arouse farmers against the administration, and persuade them to do things which can do nothing to better farm conditions.

First it was the burning of excess crops and oleomargarine, while thousands of Iowans were without food. Another example in point is the "farm strike," which Reno has used as his weapon time and again.

GOOD MORNING

One of the most absorbing, if not one of the most immediately important, problems of our day is that of the church and its destiny, of the part religion is to play in the civilization of tomorrow.

It has long been admitted almost universally that it is futile to argue matters of creed and dogma; such controversies have little place today outside of theological seminaries.

This in itself is a healthy sign, and one of its fruits is the school of religion at the University of Iowa, where Catholic, Protestant, and Jew work together in harmony and on common ground.

But if the church is to prove the vital force it should in the economic and social reconstruction of the modern world it must reach down into the homely life of the people; it must forget phrasings and forms and all unimportant frostings; it must know the miseries of hunger and the heart-aches of poverty; it must be an evangelist against inequality and injustice wherever these are found; it must put its teachings into practice aggressively.

This is not an original thought, and has no such pretensions. The churches themselves have fully recognized the problem.

As Prof. M. Willard Lampe of the school of religion pointed out in a recent paper on "Contemporary Tensions Between Religion and the Social Order," the "concern of organized religion with social questions" was evidenced by the Encyclical Letter of Pope Leo XIII, entitled Rerum Novarum, issued in 1891.

The principles laid down in this letter, in which the pope took up the cause of the common man against the injustices of a social system badly awry, were further proclaimed in 1931 in an encyclical issued by Pius XI called Forty Years After. Nor have the protestants or Jews been lacking in recognition of this vital relation between religion and social problems.

In fact, so great is this activity that already rumblings can be heard of a new religious reformation in which the ministers of the faiths might conceivably become evangelists of justice in the common, practical problems of existence.

How apt is this analogy with conditions during the first Reformation is made clear in the October number copy of The American Lutheran, which is given over to a review of the life and works of Martin Luther, who was born 450 years ago.

In his Address to the German Nobility he writes, "It is not right that one should work that another may be idle, and one live ill that another may live well, as is now the perverse abuse."

Nor do the revelations made by the senate investigation into manipulations on the stock exchange by the house of Morgan and others present new problems to the world. In the days of Luther the house of Fugger in Augsburg was the house of Morgan, and Luther took the place of the senate committee.

Quant? Then so also are the following points relating to economic justice contained in the Social Creed of the Churches, adopted at the quadrennial meeting last December of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America:

1) Practical application of the principle of social well-being to the acquisition and use of wealth; subordination of speculation and the profit motive to the creative and cooperative spirit.

2) The right of all to the opportunity for self-maintenance; a wider and fairer distribution of wealth; a living wage, as a minimum, and above this a just share for the worker in the product of industry and agriculture.

3) Reduction of hours of labor as the general productivity of industry increases; release from employment of at least one day in seven, with a shorter working week in prospect.

4) Abolition of child labor; adequate provision for the protection, education, spiritual nurture and wholesome recreation of every child.

Obviously, the churches are aware that they must apply the principles on which they stand to the common problems of humanity. The next step is for the church, like Martin Luther, to address itself "neither to the doctors nor the magistrates, of whom I have forty in my church," but to the "multitude of children, young people, servants, and other plain people, of whom are more than two thousand."

BEHIND THE SCENES - IN HOLLYWOOD -

HOLLYWOOD — Traffic hazards are bad enough, but Greta Garbo will take her six year old limousine any day in preference to the stage coach used by Queen Christian of her native Sweden.

Noted biographer Emil Ludwig is not devoting his entire time to writing for the movies and to attending dinners. Almost every morning, he takes a dancing lesson.

The star just had a narrow escape from injury when a replica of the royal coach, in which she and Elizabeth Young were riding suddenly broke loose from the horses and rolled back down a 40 foot incline covered with slippery gypsum (movie snow).

"What for?" asked Max. "I want to go down on Central avenue and brag about you," was the cash-winning reply.

Three months of trial separation find Gloria Stuart an enthusiastic exponent of this cure for incompatibility.

Will Hollywood be surprised to hear that the latest heavy romance in the film colony is between Barbara Weeks and Guinn "Big Boy" Williams? Heretofore too much interested in polo to have an eye for feminine beauty, Guinn recently has been escorting Barbara to the Bing Crosby-Richard Arlen party and to various other places. There's definite talk of elopement between them and don't be surprised if it happens soon.

"Blair and I are lovers again! Instead of being staid old married people, we are back ready to our courting days of five years ago," exclaims the blonde Universal actress.

By maintaining separate homes, she says she and her sculptor husband no longer have a clash of temperament when she comes home late from the studio in no fit mood for company. Moreover he now can have his sculpturing classes without fear of disturbing her on her days of rest.

The accident occurred on M-G-M's lot 2 as cameras were grinding upon the coach making an entrance into the courtyard of the royal castle. Defective harness snapped and the heavy vehicle started to roll.

Printing of that story about Alice Brady receiving an offer of kidnap insurance brings cautious but apparently authentic tips that a number of such policies already are held by prominent film folk. Premiums are sky-high and the policies are said to be automatically voided the day the star admits having them.

Eight stalwart extras, playing members of the royal guard, quickly turned fictional roles into reality when they leaped after the runaway coach, with the aid of the crew which also rushed to the rescue, they managed to halt the vehicle before it overturned.

Prof. Youtz Gives Child Study Talks Over WSUI, WOI

Prof. May Pardee Youtz of the Iowa Child Welfare Research station will speak this evening at 8 o'clock over station WSUI. The subject of her talk is "Learning to sleep."

This program, which is under the auspices of the Iowa Radio Child Study club, will be the second of a series of talks addressed to parents of preschool age children.

Mrs. Youtz will discuss the difficulties encountered in establishing desirable sleep habits among preschool age children and how to overcome them.

Following the lecture there will be a discussion of the questions which have been sent in from members of the Radio Child Study clubs on last week's lecture entitled "Learning to eat."

This same program will be broadcast over WOI at Ames tomorrow at 2:30 p.m.

Field Hockey Club Will Start Course in Umpiring Today

An umpiring course given by the Iowa City Field Hockey club will be held starting this afternoon every Tuesday, Wednesday, and Friday at 5 p.m. and Saturday at 10 a.m. in the social room of women's gymnasium.

Although this course is given primarily for physical education majors, it is open to anyone interested in receiving hockey rating. Two examinations will be given students, one written and one practical.

Anyone passing these examinations is entitled to local rating, but if her work is thought to be exceptional by the judges, she is privileged to try out for higher rating either at the mid-west tournament at Iowa City Nov. 17 and 18, or at the national tournament in Chicago Thanksgiving week end.

Jane Shurmer of the women's physical education department is in charge of local ratings; Margaret Meyer, instructor at the University of Wisconsin, is in charge of mid-west section ratings; Prof. Elizabeth Halsey, head of the women's physical education department, is in charge of national ratings.

Smith Favors Cooperation, Understanding

Y. M. C. A. Worker Addresses 1,200 at Vespers

World understanding and international cooperation are essential to the progress of the world according to Fred B. Smith, Y.M.C.A. worker of New York city, who spoke before 1,200 persons at a vesper service in the main lounge of Iowa Union Sunday evening.

"Certain obvious facts must be dealt with if we are going to accomplish anything in bringing about world understanding and international cooperation," said Mr. Smith.

Speaking of the world crusade to find the basis for international understanding, Mr. Smith said, "This crusade is going to win, I don't know when, but you can be sure it will win."

War Penalty "The present world of the world is fundamentally war penalty, and any man who would solve our problems but does not consider the war penalty is a blind guide," stated Mr. Smith.

"The world will not come out of its present difficulties in a normal way unless there is no more war for at least 25 years," the speaker declared.

"In building a field of recovery we must first find a proper diagnosis of our situation," said Mr. Smith. "There is no government sure of itself for the next five years."

He pointed out the trend away from democracy which is going on in the world today.

Even the United States has taken definite steps away from democracy, according to Mr. Smith.

In the matter of economics, Mr. Smith said, "It is high time we had a change in our economic philosophy."

When conditions are so bad that the burning of wheat and cotton are proposed and yet great numbers of people are starving, a change in our economic philosophy is needed."

Mr. Smith pointed out that in the midst of all the talk of world understanding and international cooperation we are building up an army. He does not believe that we can expect to end war by reciting the horrors of the last war.

Germany Justified He believes Germany is justified in its action against the other countries of the world. If the rest of the nations would pass a resolution to go home and carry out the disarmament policies of the Versailles treaty, it would be much better for everyone, Mr. Smith concluded.

The Rev. Harry D. Henry, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, was the chaplain. Music was furnished by the university orchestra which played the Overture to "Iphigenia in Aulis," by Gluck, and the university chorus which sang "De Profundis" by Gluck, and the Amen.

Iowa to Argue Unseen Debaters in Novel National Radio Contest

By ARTHUR BARNES

When Iowa "takes the air" against Bates college of Maine Oct. 28, it will be pioneering a comparatively new development in intercollegiate debating.

Radio debates, where both schools speak from the same station are not uncommon, but Iowa will be among the first to participate in a contest where the speakers are separated by a thousand or more miles.

Vergil Tracy, Ll of Council Bluffs, and John Harrison, A4 of Oakland, representing Iowa, will speak from the Chicago studios of the National Broadcasting company, while the boys from Bates will be speaking from Boston.

There have been a few debates of similar character during the last two years. Harvard university and the University of Stanford have the distinction of being the first schools to engage in a debate of this sort.

On Nov. 27, 1931, Harvard representatives, speaking from Boston, went on the air over the Columbia Broadcasting system against a team from Stanford speaking from San Francisco.

Later that same year Harvard and Oxford university of England presented the first international intercollegiate debate to be carried on by radio.

Using short wave transmission, these two schools put on the first transatlantic combat. This debate was re-broadcast generally in this country but was not heard in England.

"Transatlantic Listeners" It was not until Yale "met" Cambridge on Feb. 11 of this year that audiences on both sides of the ocean listened to a debate originating on two different continents.

On April 8, Oxford clashed with Columbia university in this unique form of contest.

The University of Pennsylvania debated McGill college of Montreal, Canada, in a nationally broadcast appearance which was heard in both countries on March 26, 1932.

The Pennsylvania speakers talked from Philadelphia and the Canadian boys from Montreal.

National Championship Debates of this sort are not a common occurrence and it is because of the championships which Iowa and Bates won in forensics that they have been selected to represent the west and the east, respectively, in this contest for the "national title."

Lions, Kiwanians to Hear Senator Hicklin State Senator Ed Hicklin of Wapello will speak this evening at a joint meeting of the Lions and Kiwanis clubs on tax revision.

This meeting, 6:15 p.m. at the Hotel Jefferson, will take the place of the clubs' usual noon luncheons.

County Red Cross Meeting Thursday The meeting of the board of the Johnson county Red Cross which was to have taken place tonight is postponed until Thursday evening at 7:30 in the American Legion Community building.

Mrs. Martin Pederson, secretary of the local chapter, announced yesterday.

Homecoming Over WSUI

Highlights of Annual Celebration to Be Broadcast

Highlights of Homecoming will be broadcast in advance when the annual University of Iowa program goes on the air from station WSUI tomorrow at 9 p.m.

Cast of 30 Under the direction of Prof. H. C. Harsbarger of the speech department, the homecoming program will involve a cast of nearly 30 students, as well as four faculty members, an orchestra, and the university band.

The broadcast will present dramatizations of principal Homecoming events, such as the mass meeting, the campus throngs on the morning of the game, the dance at Iowa Union, and the Wisconsin-Iowa football game.

Jessup to Speak As the continuity unfolds, talks will be given by President Walter A. Jessup, Prof. Forest C. Ensign, chairman of the Homecoming committee and president of the alumni association; Prof. Edward H. Lauer, director of athletics; and Ossie Solem, head coach of football.

Among the students in the cast will be Paul Handel of Marshalltown; Willard Hensworth and Jay Levi, Waterloo; Berne Enslin, Washington; Jane Kirk, Davenport; Edmund Linehan, Dubuque; Phyllis Michael, Ottumwa; Marianne Prugh, Burlington; Rose Rizk, Sioux City; Margaret Crooks, Boone; Kenneth Herberster and Duane Amundson, Iowa Falls.

After remaining two years at the seminary with the Quaker Friends, he came back to Iowa City, and entered the university as a special student. Together with John Seerley, who later became a member of congress, and Homer Seerley, later president of Iowa State Teachers college, he roomed in the basement of Old Capitol during the year 1870-71.

Those were difficult days, Mr. Howard recalls. Often he had to eat stale bread and mush. The Seerley brothers, he remembers, were more fortunate—every two weeks their parents brought them fresh vegetables.

"Some eight or 10 of us formed an underclassmen's literary society, called the Symposium. Our debates would have been very amusing to students of this day. However, Mrs. Currier and other members of the faculty would come in and encourage us.

Some of the members were John J. Hamilton, later editor of the Iowa City News; Judge Byington; John Seerley, and Homer Seerley. One of the members later became president of a bank."

After a year here, he went into the cattle business with Professor Pinkham of the public speaking department. Among the well known cattlemen whom he started are: Senator Warren of Wyoming, Governor Boyd, Senator Carey, and the Creighton brothers of Omaha, whose profits in the business led to the founding of Creighton university.

Now 87, Mr. Howard is still apparently in good health. If you must know how he did it, here it is: "I attribute my good health and activities to having kept my temperance pledge, which I took when I was 21. I have never used any intoxicating liquors or tobacco."

And Mr. Howard seems to enjoy it!

Depression Is No Barrier to Such Students

Financial difficulties and all the attendant troubles of the depression seem to have placed little or no damper on the urge for higher education, according to figures obtained from the office of Dean Carl E. Seashore of the graduate college as approved candidates.

During the last year, 1932-33, probably one of the most stringent years of the depression, 937 students were working toward advanced degrees in the graduate college as approved candidates.

Increase of 19 This marks an increase of 19 over the total of 918 for 1931-32, and an increase of 125 over the 1930-31 total which was 812. These figures represent only those graduate students who were working for the master's degree or the Ph.D. degree and do not include the large numbers who are registered for courses but do not intend to take degrees.

From these 937 students last year, a total of 441, or approximately 47 per cent received degrees during the year. Since a large number of the candidates for degrees were merely beginning their graduate work during that year, Dean Seashore feels that this figure is significant.

220 Ph.D. Candidates Of the 220 Ph.D. candidates, 75, or approximately 34 per cent, reached their goal. According to Dean Seashore, this is an excellent percentage since a Ph.D. demands at least three years, and in most cases more, of hard work and research.

There were 556 candidates for the master of arts degree registered, of which 281, or approximately 50 per cent received degrees, and 161 master of science, of which 85, or approximately 53 per cent were granted degrees. In spite of hot weather, the August convocation seems to be most popular among graduate students. In August, 148 awards were granted: 22 Ph.D., 108 M.A., and 18 M.S. The June convocation ranked next with 22 doctorates, 80 M.A., and 32 M.S. degrees, a total of 134. Of the 124 awards given in July, 22 were doctorates, 81 M.A., and 21 M.S. degrees.

Prof. Halsey Plans National Hockey Meet

Prof. Elizabeth Halsey, head of the women's physical education department, went to Chicago over the week end to confer with Mrs. Greeley, president of the Midwest Hockey association.

In this conference, problems concerning the midwest hockey tournament to be held here Nov. 17 and 18 were settled, and the umpiring committee for the national tournament was chosen.

Loss of Vets to Injury List Worries Coach

Death of Father Calls Schneidman Home; Schammel Injured

With Homecoming preparations gaining headway here and all over the state, the morale at the Hawkeye grid camp received a double blow yesterday, when it was learned that Francis Schammel, regular right guard, and Herman Schneidman, reserve back, are more than likely lost to the team for the Wisconsin game, Saturday.

Schammel is confined to the Iowa Methodist hospital in Des Moines for treatment of a leg infection which developed from a cleat injury in last Thursday's practice. The seriousness of the infection has not yet been determined, but it is extremely unlikely that he will be ready for action by Saturday.

Schneidman was called to his home in Quincy, Ill., by the death of his father.

Coach Ossie Solem is worried over the reserve problem, the two men who have had the most experience at guard besides Schammel being on the injured list.

Lumir Kouba and Wilmon Hass, both major letter winners of last year, may not be able to play Saturday, Kouba being out with a bruised leg, and Hass with an injured shoulder.

This lack of reserves throws the whole burden of filling the vacant guard post on to the shoulders of Bill Hawkins, 190 pound sophomore from Los Angeles, Cal. Hawkins saw service in the Bradley Tech game.

Coupled with the injury problem is the shock caused by the death of Arthur Ehlers, freshman player. Ehlers' funeral is this afternoon and will be attended by a group of Hawkeye coaches and players.

Despite all handicaps, Coach Solem drives his players through a dummy scrimmage on both offense and defense. A picked freshman eleven was unable to do much in the stopping of the new plays that the Hawk mentor has designed to fool Wisconsin. Crayne and Laws both broke away for long runs.

Late in the practice Jim Dee was replaced on the first string lineup by Ray Fisher. Dee was ordered to desert his end post after he had injured a knee in a pileup.

Weight Slows German Star

BERLIN, Oct. 16 (AP)—About 20 pounds weight seem to have stymied Hans Heins Sievert in his efforts to boost his world decathlon crown out of the reach of Jim Bausch of America. The additional weight is needed for the field events, but if Hans takes it on, it will only slow him up in his running events.

Sievert has been taped in winter training tossing the shot 16.5 meters, over 54 feet, but in his decathlon tries at various German sports meets this summer his best effort was 15.89 meters and in his performance whereby he claims the world record with 8,467.62 points, his shotput was but 14.55 meters.

Sievert trains the year around on his father's huge farm near Eutin and takes on considerable weight throughout the cold season when he cannot practice running.

German papers, anxious to see a world weight tossing championship return to Germany, after it had been held so long by Hirschfeld, are clamoring for Sievert to take on the additional weight.

Big Ten Coaches Recite; Are Stricken with Woe or Full of Cheer

In the PRESS BOX with H. G. B.

NOW that Homecoming is only a few days away it is safe to bet on two things. The weather and Iowa injuries. Iowa football injuries are not like those at other schools. At Minnesota, for instance, Josting was in the hospital on a Friday night and the next afternoon he led the Gophers to a 41 to 0 victory on Iowa field. Such cases are common at other schools but never at Iowa. When a Hawkeye is injured he stays injured. Zud Schammel was added to the list over the week end when he was taken to the Iowa Methodist hospital in Des Moines suffering from an infected leg.

Early Friday night, as he was witnessing the Drake-Creighton game, Schammel was cut down by the poisoning of an injury sustained in scrimmage. Without the big "gaber" in there in the line much of the old Iowa pep is lost. One man they can't down, that's Schammel. Last year, after playing 59 minutes of hard, fast football he still had speed enough left to carry an intercepted pass over half the length of the field to put Iowa in a scoring position against Minnesota. With a tough game coming up, Solem can little afford to lose him.

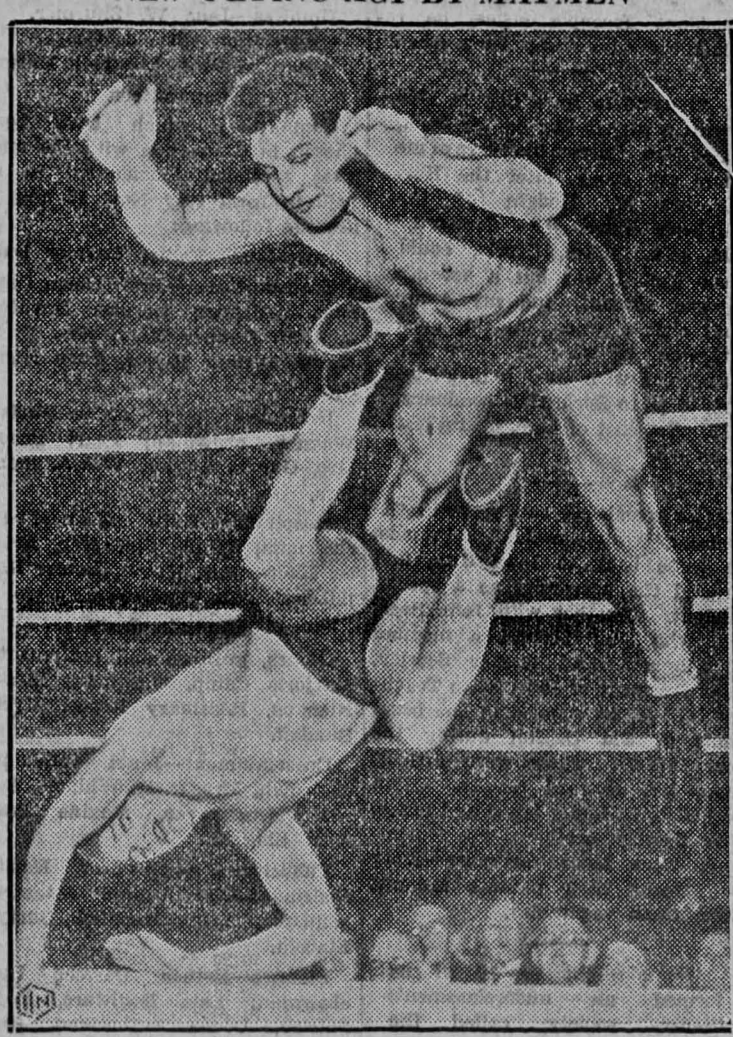

EVEN before the echo of the final gun had died away. Solem was telling how tough the Badgers would be despite an apparent one sided beating at the hands of Illinois. One expression told the story of a lot of unexpected upsets. "I wouldn't have believed it if I hadn't seen it." Too often fans hear of a one sided beating and take for granted the seeming superiority of the winner. Can't be done any more. Breaks and better generalship often can make champs out of second flight material. The Wisconsin team didn't click but you can bet on one thing, they will click Saturday.

During the rest of the week we will have ideal football weather, that is, up until Saturday. Few indeed are the times when Iowans have been fortunate enough to play before a Homecoming crowd with perfect conditions for a hard, well fought game. Last year it rained and there is the usual story. The week started out a bit different this time however, raining first. May be the turning point and if it is dry at game time look out for a real battle of titanic linemen and hard running backs.

YESTERDAY Charles S. Galther announced that ticket reservations were coming in at the rate of 2,500 a day, figures which mean a new record for the stadium if they hold out the rest of the week. Tickets now are being sold around the 20 yard lines but are going fast, at least fast enough to insure a crowd of 35,000 at this stage of the sales. Again weather conditions will play an important part. If the day of the game shows clear skies, many fans from nearby towns will drive in and get tickets at the stadium. Good weather may mean a sell out and a sell out at Iowa means the real beginning of that long delayed comeback.

Mentors Fear All Opposition This Week End

Badgers Have Speed, Power, Versatility, Says Solem

By PAUL MICKELSON Associated Press Sports Writer CHICAGO, Oct. 16 (AP)—Class was called for the Big Ten football coaches today and each one was given a chance to recite, cheer or alibi for his ball club.

Professor—"Well what have you fellows to say for yourselves and your teams? Some of you did right well Saturday; others weren't so hot. What about it?"

Harry Kipke, Michigan—"I thought our boys showed a little improvement. It's usually a good sign to have a team come up gradually, but we lack a passing attack and will have to depend on a running game for Ohio State for the first time in years."

Professor—"What do you mean a 'little improvement.' You beat Cornell 40 to 0, didn't you?"

No Passing Attack, But—Kipke—"Yes, but we haven't a passing attack."

Sam Willaman, Ohio State—"We are going to give everything we have to win this Michigan game Saturday and know it will take everything we have to win. It will be the hardest kind of a contest and I'm reluctant to predict the outcome."

Professor—"So am I and all the rest of the sports writers."

Bob Zuppke, Illinois—"Army looks like anybody's game with evenly matched teams and probably will be decided by open field runs and passes. Our victory over Wisconsin's powerful team meant, we hope, that Illinois has started to climb back to its old place in football."

Professor—"You say Wisconsin has a strong team even though you beat the Badgers 21 to 0 Saturday? How about it Ossie, you saw the game."

Ossie Solem, Iowa—"I might have been misled if I hadn't seen that game. I pity the team that underestimates these Badgers. They just didn't click. They have everything—speed, power, versatility."

"Doc" Spears, Wisconsin—"We're not as hopeless as the newspaper stories would indicate. Our line was poor on offense but relatively good on defense. Zuppke's boys kept us in a hole with their punts. The yardage gained by both teams was about the same."

Professor—"It seems Wisconsin has grounds for libel against the sports writers who covered that game."

Wildcat Mentor Dickey Hanley, Northwestern—"We didn't look so good against Iowa but we sure improved Saturday to hold Stanford. What a race this is, professor. There are any way six teams in the Big Ten today which could have won the title in a romp five years ago. Upsets? Say, they are just starting. This race won't be decided until the last day. Every team is getting better daily."

Bernie Bierman, Minnesota—"We should have taken Purdue but the fact we didn't was proof we still have to find the scoring punch. Getting close doesn't count. Alfonso played the best game at right half for us that anyone has shown me yet."

"Lucky to Escape"—Kizer Noble Kizer, Purdue—"Guess we were lucky to escape with a tie at Minnesota. The Gophers displayed one of the most powerful attacks we have met in four years. We had our backs to the wall most of the time and our line saved us. We had only one chance to score and capitalized on that. We've got to get more scoring power or expect another dog fight at Chicago Saturday."

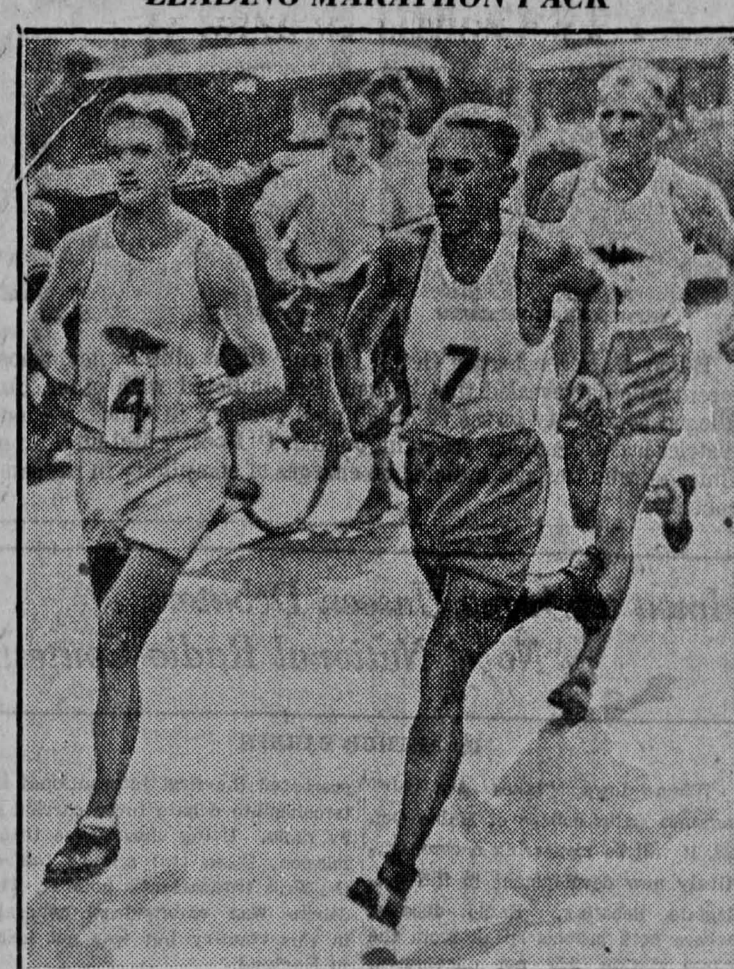

E. C. Hayes, Indiana—"Notre Dame had too much reserve power, and we had to sacrifice offense for defense by inserting Jones as fullback. I'm well pleased with my sophomores."

Clark Shaughnessy, Chicago—"Sure we have piled up 72 points in two games, but we haven't played a Big Ten team. Will someone tell us how to keep that Purdue score down Saturday?"

Heavy weight and nimble feet don't go together often, but Carl Goode of the North Carolina State college freshman squad is an exception. He weighs 255, but has run the century in 11 seconds.

Cedar Rapids orchestra has open date for this week end and would like to play for fraternity or sorority party. Dial 6254.

LEADING MARATHON PACK

With 5 miles already past under their flying feet and 21 still to go, three leaders in the New York to Port Chester marathon race are shown setting the pace. They are Percy Wyrer (left), Frank Hupal (center) and Paul de Bruyn, German-American A. C. star, who won the event.

Nelson, Owen to Lead Frosh Tracksters' Intra-Squad Duel

First Chance for Men to Earn Green Jerseys

Track followers will have a chance tomorrow and Thursday to obtain an idea of what future Iowa will have in this sport when the freshman team stages the first meet of the season.

With one of the strongest yearling squads since Bresnahan has held the track reign at Iowa, good times are expected to feature every event. With two interscholastic world record runners reporting daily in the sprints and a host of other short distance aces in the events, all indications show that the university record in the two shorter races may be equaled or lowered.

Leading the shorter races will be Jimmy Owen and Carl Nelson. Both men have proven their ability already on Iowa track this fall by traveling the century in 10 seconds and under with less than two weeks practice. Nelson ran the distance a week ago in 9.8 seconds.

Coach Swenson, who is handling the fall sport, has listed the events to take place over a two day period in order to permit one man to run in more than two events. The schedule is as follows:

Wednesday—4:15, 60 yard high hurdles and pole vault. 4:25, 100 yard dash and shot put. 4:30, 800 yard run and javelin.

Thursday—4:15, 60 yard high hurdles and broad jump. 4:25, 440 yard dash and discus. 4:30, 220 yard dash and mile run.

Coach Swenson has announced that this will be the first attempt of the freshman to earn the right to wear a green jersey during the season.

Noble Kizer and Rip Miller, Navy and Purdue football coaches, respectively, were buddies in the Notre Dame line in '24 and became brothers-in-law, marrying sisters from Elkhart, Ind., near Notre Dame.

Homecoming Battle Faces Little Hawks

Strong West Waterloo Team Forces Long, Stiff Drill

Weakened by injuries and ineptilities, but showing spirit, the City High Little Hawks last night started pointing for their big homecoming battle with West Waterloo here this week.

Displeased with the way his linemen were charging in the Clinton tussle last Friday, Coach Wells drove them through a strenuous drill in this department in the attempt to get the men to charge low and fast.

Although no actual scrimmages was meted out in last night's session, it was one of the most grueling of the season, with nearly every man on the squad definitely showing fatigue before it was over.

Other fundamentals such as passing, falling on a loose ball, covering punts and shifting the ball, were stressed.

Encouragement came to the squad when George Eakes, freshman full back reported for practice. Eakes was forced out of the Clinton game early in the third quarter with a back injury and it was feared he would be lost for several weeks. He is still stiff from the injury, but is expected to be in good form again before Friday night.

Olon Zager, first string back, who has been out since the Davenport game, was in suit again last night and barring further injury will probably see action against West Waterloo. Dale Williams, one of the best-known boys on Coach Wells' squad, who was also held out of the game last Friday, is again participating in the daily workouts.

Wade Sure of Victory

Duke's surprising 10 to 2 victory over Tennessee, ending the long victory string of the Volunteers, returns Wallace Wade to the prominence he held among the leading coaches when he was turning out conquering hosts at Alabama.

Wade alone had a clear picture in advance of what was about to happen. So sure was he that he invited all the prominent football critics and writers of the country to attend the smashing of Tennessee's streak. Many who came with skepticism stayed to congratulate.

Gorman to Captain Notre Dame at Pitt

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 16 (AP)—Notre Dame's game captain for the Carnegie Tech encounter at Pittsburgh Saturday will be Tom Gorman, center.

Coach Anderson was highly pleased with Gorman's performance in the Indiana game. The Irish reserves were shown a few Tech plays today.

Players on three deadly rival high schools of Gary, Ind., are varsity team mates at Notre Dame this fall—Don Elser, fullback from Horace Mann school, Nick Lukats, halfback from Froebel, and Rocco Schirall, guard from Emerson.

New Plays for Michigan ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 16 (AP)—Rain kept the Michigan squad indoors today learning new running plays for use against Ohio State next Saturday.

Veller to Play BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Oct. 16 (AP)—News that Don Veller, injured quarterback, is expected to be able to play against Northwestern Saturday cheered the Indiana football camp today as the varsity engaged in a light workout and listened to criticism of faults shown in the Notre Dame game.

Seeks Aggressive Wall CHAMPAIGN, Ill. Oct. 16 (AP)—Coach Hanley excused the Northwestern first stringers today but sent the reserves through a brisk drill.

While the Wildcats failed to score in the two games they have played, records showed they have gained much ground.

Buckeyes Have Secrets COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 16 (AP)—Ohio State's gridgers were given a secret workout today for the first time this season.

Badger Shakeup MADISON, Wis., Oct. 16 (AP)—A shakeup in both line and backfield were ordered by Coach Spears today as a result of Wisconsin's showing in the first Big Ten conference game against Illinois.

Army to Receive First Major Test of Year This Saturday

Meets Illinois in Game at Cleveland; Pitt Plays Gophers

By EDWARD J. NEIL (Associated Press Sports Writer) NEW YORK, Oct. 16 (AP)—There's a considerable mixture of anticipation, disappointment and viewing-with-alarm all tangled up in Army's football work this week at West Point.

The anticipation comes of the first big test of the season against Illinois at Cleveland Saturday, the disappointment from the fact that this is the only out-of-town contest of the year, the corps of cadets will not attend and the alarm from the power the Illinois displayed wallowing Wisconsin 21 to 0 Saturday.

Practice Games For three straight weeks, Army has ridden through practice foes, Mercer, V.M.I., and Delaware, and not even the head coach, Lieut. Gar Davison, has any idea as yet what manner of success against major foes is in store for the lightest but the fastest eleven the Cadets have had in ten years.

Beal Develops Only one man among the Cadet forces, aside from the known quantities, has developed varsity caliber since the first practice of the season. He is Jack Beal, a 190 pound tackle mauler of Jack Hutchison, the only 200 pounder on the team.

Army's line, with Pete Kpesak and Paul Burlingame on the ends, Captain Jablonsky and Stacey Gooch in the guards and Ralph Buckham at center, will average 185 pounds. The first string backs, Iret Jack Buckler, Travis Brown, Joe Stancock and Paul Johnson, average but 165 pounds.

Pitt Outstanding On the basis of Saturday's 34 to 6 conquest of Navy, Pittsburgh is the team the east must lean on heavily again in the sectional bid for national honors.

The Panthers appear two full touchdowns stronger than last year, when ties with Ohio State and Nebraska alone marred a seasonal record that included victory over Notre Dame before Southern California wrote an ignominious ending in the post-season Rose bowl game.

Pittsburgh tackles Minnesota's powerful outfit in Minneapolis Saturday, then meets Notre Dame Oct. 28. Centre at Pittsburgh adds a southern flavor Nov. 4, while Nebraska comes east to battle Nov. 18. Carnegie, another Tartar, has the Nov. 30 date in Pittsburgh.

Great Line To meet this heavy opposition, Jack Sutherland has moulded a line that appears even stronger than last year's mighty forward wall with Rooker, a six foot four inch end, replacing Ted Dalley as a wing mate of the all America candidate, Joe Skladany. Kilskey, a reformed full-back, has developed into a fine center to replace Joe Torney, the only other line graduate.

Sutherland has a half dozen fiery climax runners in Sebastian, Randow, Nickelski, Matesio, O'Dell and Leonard and the attack seems faster and more versatile than when Warner Heller was earning all America honors last fall.

Purdue Coach Uses Old Baseball Trick to Speed Riveteers

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—An old trick of baseball psychology has been made over by Coach Noble Kizer to apply to his Purdue university footballers this fall.

He has ordered unusually lightweight same uniforms for the Boilermakers, weighing less than 10 pounds including shoes and head-gears. But the practice paraphernalia is above average weight.

Part of the theory is the same as that of a baseball player swinging two bats just before taking his turn at the plate. After bearing up under heavy uniforms all week the Old Gold and Black gridgers may feel like flying when accoutred in their balloon-silk pants on a Saturday afternoon.

McMillen Limits Men to Light Grid Workout

MANHATTAN, Kan., Oct. 16 (AP)—Determined to have his men in the best of condition, Coach McMillen limited his Kansas State Wildcats to a light drill in opening preparations today for the crucial Big Six conference game with Nebraska here Saturday.

Abbot was the only man on the injured list and, with Maddox back in the line, the Wildcats will present their strongest defense to the hard driving Cornhuskers. Today the players studied Nebraska's military huddle and engaged in dummy scrimmages.

NORMAN, Okla., Oct. 16 (AP)—Bill Pansze, halfback, and James Stacy, guard, nursing minor injuries from the Texas game, were the only regulars on the sidelines today as Coach Hardage sent the University of Oklahoma Sooners through a long signal drill. The plays were practiced for the Iowa State game here next Saturday.

Plenty of Greyhound Racing for Florida Tourists This Winter

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Dog racing and plenty of it awaits tourists this winter at Florida resorts.

The south Florida district will witness the operation of three greyhound tracks for the extent of the season—West Flagler from Dec. 23 to Feb. 22, the Biscayne Bay Kennel club from Jan. 15 to April 1 and the Miami Beach Kennel club from Jan. 15 to April 1.

The state racing commission has declared its determination to keep the races free of fraud and unethical practices and has adopted a system of examination designed to prevent the "doping" of dogs. Any owner found guilty of administering drugs will be expelled from the track.

Carideo's New Plan Brings 14 Candidates

COLUMBIA, Mo., Oct. 16 (AP)—Fourteen new men reported for football practice at the University

Jack Doyle, Irish Boxer, Will Train Under Dempsey

CORK, Ireland (AP)—Jack Doyle, the Irish boxer who punched his way by a series of one and two-round knockouts to a fight for the British heavyweight crown, is going to America to be trained by Jack Dempsey.

Dempsey already has mapped out a program for Doyle, who will take on a series of minor contests at first to improve his ringcraft.

Doyle was unbeaten until he met the British champion, Jack Peterson, last July. He lost the fight on a foul after continually being warned by the referee and was suspended for six months.

He has a good singing voice and with his dark wavy hair, massive figure and boyish features was the idol of women fight fans in England.

Georgia Tech has two co-captains and three alternate captains for this year's football team.

Freshman Gridders Get Blocking Drill, Scrimmage Varsity

Sending two of his yearling teams against the varsity Coach Bill Boelter in last night's practice sent the remainder of the squad through a drill practice on blocking and running off plays.

Two of the teams on the frosh squad will spend the rest of the week scrimmaging against the varsity in preparation for the Wisconsin game.

Due to the small number of freshmen that have been reporting for practice Coach Boelter said that he did not know whether or not he would divide the squad into teams to compete against each other as has been the usual custom each year.

About 50 men have been reporting daily for practice.

Chief Amish Pleased With Inspections

Fire Chief Herman J. Amish, who has completed the autumn fire inspection, reports that he is well pleased with the cooperation given by Iowa Citizens.

Chief Amish and members of the fire department inspected 409 mercantile buildings, three hospitals, four theaters, 17 churches and schools, 53 apartments, 48 gasoline stations, 15 bulk gasoline stations, and 61 fraternal organizations...

The fire department spent 149 hours in inspecting the buildings, distributed 200 posters, made 301 recommendations, served 81 notices, conducted 12 fire drills and Chief Amish made 13 fire prevention talks.

Although no inspections of private dwellings were made, Chief Amish urges anyone who desires expert advice to write or call the fire station and it will gladly be given.

"WHEN A FELLER NEEDS A FRIEND" THE PIPE TOBACCO THAT SPEAKS FOR ITSELF

Briggs Pipe Mixture advertisement with image of a pipe and text: "Named in honor of Clare Briggs, America's most lovable cartoonist, BRIGGS Pipe Mixture appeared quietly on the market a few months ago. It seemed to inherit the qualities of the man himself! Kindly, gentle and extra winning. Without ballyhoo, without blare of trumpets... BRIGGS began to sell like sixty! Each smoker told another smoker, and he told still another. BRIGGS will need no selling talk to sell you. Just try a tin and let it speak for itself!"

Vertical advertisements on the right edge of the page, including "FINE, SEMI-CODE PRESCRIPTION RESTRICTED" and "WASHING TONE" with a "FIVE CENTS" price tag.
