IOWA BOWS TO CORNHUSKERS, 7-6

Interview-- Interviewed?

With R. D. Blumenfeld It Is a Mixture of Both.

By TOM YOSELOFF
It is almost impossible to conduct a one-sided interview with a newspaperman. And if it is a newspaperman with a half century of journalistic experience behind him, it becomes doubly difficult. For as soon as the interview gets underway the journalist in him exerts itself, and he begins firing questions at the would-be interviewer.

Borah Comes to Aid of F. R.'s Monetary Plan

Strong Winds Bring Snow, Dust to Iowa

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Nov. 25 (AP)—Dust and snow rode into Iowa today in the wake of a strong wind which swept eastward from the Rocky Mountain area.

Dares Critics To Substitute Better Policy

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25 (AP)—Senator Borah, Idaho Republican, jumped into the free-for-all battle over President Roosevelt's monetary program today with a direct challenge to critics of the price-raising plan to offer something in its place other than "the policy under which we arrived at our present disastrous conditions."

Borah's challenge was made in a statement directed at Alfred E. Smith and others who have recently attacked the president's monetary policies.

It was the high spot of another barrage of comment on the money question, in which R. Walton Moore, assistant secretary of state, lined up with the president; Senator Fess (R., Ohio) attacked the program; and Governor Black denied a rift between the federal reserve board and the treasury.

No Change in Gold Price

The administration made no change in the prevailing price of domestic gold of $33.75 an ounce, though the dollar strengthened abroad and agriculture department statistics showed a rise in the farmer's purchasing power from an index figured 60 to 61.

"Dishonest Dollar"

"The gold dollar is the most dishonest dollar ever created, except absolutely irredeemable paper money," he said. "The farmer is just as much interested in sound money as anybody."

His statement was a direct reply to Smith, James P. Warburg and O. M. W. Sprague, who have led the recent attack on the administration's program.

Hawkeyes Throw Passes to Pave Way For Score Late in Final Quarter; Heavy Gale Handicaps Both Teams

Hawks Take Loss With a Brave Smile

By DON DURIAN (Associated Press Staff Writer) MEMORIAL STADIUM, Lincoln, Nov. 25—If there was ever a need for stout hearts it was in the Iowa football dressing room under the Nebraska Memorial stadium tonight and the Hawkeye players, beaten by the slimmest of margins by the Cornhuskers, took the setback bravely.

Most of the players who emerged from the game battered and weary, would not, or rather could not talk football. When a few of the loyal alumni, who crowded in to shake their hands asked them about the game, they choked, shook their heads, and walked away.

Coach Ossis Solem mustered a smile as he came in a few minutes later, but he too had little to say. The coach slapped each man on the back and called each by name. "Nice game, Tom, buck up Scham, or that's all right, Joe."

There was one question which all of the men put to Coach Solem. Was it legal for Masterson to run with the ball after Miller held it in position to kick? Some of them said Miller's knee was on the ground, and the ball could not have been legally put into play.

Solem, however, refused to say whether he thought the officials had made a mistake in allowing the Nebraska quarterback to run with the ball for the touchdown which caused Iowa's defeat. The question, of course, was whether Miller's knee was actually on the ground as usual in place kick formation, or whether it was a few inches above it. If his knee was on the ground the ball would have been dead.

All of the men were weary and bleary-eyed from bucking the 50 mile gale which swept the field during the entire game. Dick Crayne explained what happened when he missed the ball on a kick which, recovered by the Cornhuskers, resulted in a touchdown a few minutes later. "The wind carried it up just as it was passed from center," Crayne said, "when I caught the ball it was high and by that time I was hurried. I just had to drop it and take a chance. My luck was bad."

Bill Glassgow, all-American half-back on the Iowa team of 1925, added a cheerful note by congratulating each man with a pat on the back. Most of them took heart from his big smile. Dwight Hoover tried hardest to come through with a grin but it took too much effort. He had a deep cut on the side of his mouth which hurt when he tried to pull up the corners.

None of the players were seriously hurt but nearly all had some minor injury. Bernie Page, who was taken from the game in the third quarter, had a "charley horse" in the calf of his leg where someone had stepped on him. Russ Fisher had a badly bruised shoulder, and Joe Laws nursed a bruise over his ribs.

Before the players were dressed and ready to leave a crowd had collected outside the dressing room to offer the men condolences and congratulations. Some of the fans were Iowa alumni and a few Nebraska, but all had nothing but good words for the Hawkeye team which battled under adverse conditions and came out worse by a single point.

By JACK GURWELL (Daily Iowan Sports Writer) MEMORIAL STADIUM, Lincoln, Nov. 25—Fighting with a viciousness that matched the 50 mile gale sweeping Memorial stadium, Iowa's Hawkeyes raged through the last quarter of their battle with Nebraska here today, punched over a touchdown in the closing minutes of play but failed to convert the extra point and lost, 7 to 6.

More than 37,000 spectators, the largest crowd since Notre Dame played here in 1927, swarmed from the stands onto the track surrounding the field as two Iowa passes in the closing minutes placed the ball on the one yard line and Dick Crayne smashed over for the touchdown.

Great Defenses

The adverse conditions brought out the magnificent goal line defenses of the two teams and the outstanding work of Francis Schammel, Iowa's stellar guard, and Clair Bishop, 151 pounder for Nebraska. Both were in every play, stopping every threat with terrible consistency. For once Laws failed to scintillate, his tries being held for nominal gains for the most part although on one or two occasions he appeared on his way to the pay station only to be hauled down from behind.

Wind Aids Huskers

Yet it was this very gale that gave each team its scoring opportunity. All the football playing of Joe Laws and Dick Crayne for Iowa, and LaNoue and Masterson for Nebraska went for naught until, with the wind at their backs, the teams hammered at the enemy's goal until success crowned their efforts.

Even Battle

Statistics give an idea of the evenness of the battle, Iowa making nine first downs to the Huskers' eight, the home team having a slight edge in net yardage gained because of a better record in passing.

Tough Luck

After Laws made a sparkling 18 yard punt return in the second period, Nebraska and Iowa traded the ball back and forth with startling regularity. It was during this exchange that Laws twice broke free only to be pulled down from behind. Following the second of these runs Iowa suffered another heart-breaking blow. Hoover passed directly into Ray Fisher's hands only to see the wind snatch the ball out to make it an incomplete pass.

And in honorable defeat came to an end the Iowa football careers of five Hawkeyes, finishing their most successful season. Capt. Tom Moore, Joe Laws, Zud Schammel, Ray Fisher and Harold Swaney played their last game for the Old Gold and Black of Iowa today and for the final time will turn in their suits tonight.

Both Sides

Mr. Blumenfeld has viewed things from both sides of the Atlantic. In his paper, the Daily Express, he has combined both the British and the American points of view. An outward sign is the fact that his paper is one of the few London journals which does not carry classified advertising on the front page.

His life in both countries has led to a desire for a union between America and England. It is largely in this cause that he is now making a lecture tour of the United States.

Lucile Bruner Makes Survey Of Work in Social Service

University Club Hears League Secretary At Clubrooms

A resume of the work done by the Iowa City Social Service league was given by Lucile Bruner, league secretary, to University club members at a meeting last night in the club rooms at Iowa Union. Statistics, examples, and aims of the work were included in Miss Bruner's talk.

To pay for the food, fuel, and clothing given them, the men who receive aid from the league work for 30 cents an hour, she said. Approximately 150 families have been helped in this way.

Federal Aid
Federal aid was necessary for the league because of the county poor farm debt of $300,000 and because of the $300,000 of county money in closed banks.

"One woman," Miss Bruner said, "wished to trade a milk bottle for a stamp to send a letter to her family in the south. So that they wouldn't have to give up their car, one family transferred their automobile to their six year old son."

Budgets
Miss Bruner also reports that many budgets for household expenditures have been made. One woman has canned 900 quarts of fruits and vegetables in preparation for the winter months.

Some of the problems confronting the social worker in her case work, as listed by Miss Bruner are: the family car, the newly-married, unemployed son of the family, the "spoiled" members of the family, and the recreational part of the family life.

Children Restless
"Children brought up in the period of depression are more restless, their sense of duty different, and their feeling toward the right of self-expression is intense," stated the league secretary in closing.

Graphic Outlines of History By CHARLES A. BECKMAN

Cincinnati in 1810 (from an early print)
In the last part of the eighteenth century, settlers poured into the Northwest. New communities started on the Scioto River and also at Losantiville, now called Cincinnati. About the same time, Cleveland, an agent of the Connecticut Land company, founded the city now named after him—Cleveland—on Lake Erie. Experienced ability and inherent courtesy are qualities that make our services sought by discriminating people.

Progress Made in Search Of Sleeping Sickness Cause

Although there is still much to be learned about sleeping sickness, considerable progress has been made in the study of this disease, according to Dr. J. T. Leake of the United States public health service, who visited yesterday at University hospital to discuss matters pertaining to this medical problem in Iowa City and vicinity.

Surveys prove that encephalitis or sleeping sickness occurs chiefly in adults, Dr. Leake asserted. It is distinctly a summer or fall disease, and there is much to suggest that it is closely related to infantile paralysis.

The public health service is now undertaking a survey of the United States to ascertain how prevalent this disease actually is. Dr. Leake will conduct this research in the eastern states, and two other physicians in the health service, Dr. Victor Hass and Dr. W. Workman

Ten Reasons Why Air Travel Is Popular

Four years ago, United Air Lines experimented with stewardess service on its planes on night sections of its Coast-to-Coast flight. The idea proved popular with travelers and the original eight stewardesses have been supplemented until 160 are now required as the third member of the crew on United's fleet of three-mile-a-minute multi-motored planes.

Duties of air stewardesses, some of whom are pictured above with one of the new Boeing monoplanes, include serving lunches aloft, providing reading and writing material, checking tickets, answering questions, making night-flying passengers comfortable for sleeping, and in other ways adding to the enjoyment of plane travel.

BOOK REVIEWS

Hindus Reveals Troubles, Hopes, Joys of Russia

The Great Offensive, by Maurice Hindus; Smith and Haas, New York.

Of the many guides to the new Russian civilization that have appeared recently, this is probably the most interesting, though not the most complete.

Hindus, well qualified by experience to speak, as he has done in "Humanity Uprooted" and "Red Bread," of Russia, gives the reader photographic descriptions of some of the Soviet's achievements, attempts, and failures.

Prison Farm

For example, he tells of a prison farm that he visited. It was not a political prison, but one where perpetrators of lesser crimes were sent to work out their sentences. Hindus

Impartial

Hindus is not noticeably partial. Although his surveys of Russian economic possibilities, made especially interesting by America's recent recognition that that nation existed, are favorable to the Soviets, his tales of famine and non-cooperation in the Ukraine form a bitter charge against that government.

Because it deals with economic and cultural conditions instead of the means by which they were achieved, because it does not argue, because it presents unusual features of Soviet life as seen by an understanding and sympathetic student of that life, "The Great Offensive" deserves the attention of any person interested in learning about history's greatest experiment.

SEEN from Old Capitol

By TOM YOSELOFF

Privel, the University of Iowa's superhumor publication, is going in for sports in an original way. According to Managing Editor John Greene, there's been altogether too much of this all-city, and all-state, and all-American football teams, baseball teams, basketball teams, marble players, and mumbly-peg shooters. So Mr. Greene and his staff of assistants are embarked on the great task of selecting two all-sports football teams.

The novelty, of course, lies in the requirement that none of the team members may be a football player. Editor Greene, sometimes known as Rantland Grice, has devised a much better system of selecting players. Selection will be based on the stunning ability of sorority women, and ability will be gauged by the number of aspirin tablets needed to recover from a "stun." Thus far no one has been able to do it, but if any girl can cause Mr. Greene to faint she'll probably land a place on the first team. Both first and second teams will be announced in the December issue of Privel.

I was sitting well toward the front of natural science auditorium Friday evening during Mr. Blumenfeld's university lecture, so I can't judge. But as a faithful reporter I must report that those less fortunate have complained that the political and social conditions in Europe today were very hazy beyond the sixth row back. Which confirms the British editor's fears. Before his address he said that he was afraid he would talk too softly.

A horse on them: Iowa City is now a one-horse town! The old days of rigs and saddles were recalled yesterday, when someone tied a horse, by converting a lamp post in front of Whetstone's drug store into a hitching post. The horse was curious about things, or perhaps he was looking for the grass which Mr. Hoover once predicted would grow on the streets. He wandered up on the sidewalk, nibbled at the cement, and got in everybody's way—at least everybody who happened to be passing at the time.

Holt, Jones Appear Before Police Judge

Two persons appeared before B. F. Carter, acting police judge, yesterday. E. J. Jones, charged with intoxication, was fined $5 and costs and given six hours to get out of town.

Albert Holt of Iowa City had part of his driver's license taken away for failure to stop at an arterial highway.

Firemen Extinguish Two Small Fires

Two fires caused little damage in the Dunkel hotel building, 2-6 E. College street, yesterday morning. The first, at 6:15 a.m., was a chimney fire in the rooms occupied by Otto Marousek. At 8 a.m. sparks from the chimney ignited some dry leaves in an airway leading to the basement of the apartment occupied by Charles Dunkel.

A student at Miami university went home and got partially undressed before the sight of three sleeping girls reminded him he had moved to another rooming house.

Broadcasting Contest Will Begin Dec. 7

An inter-fraternity-sorority contest, in which the various Greek-letter houses will present their musicians, dramatists, or comedians over station WSUI, under the auspices of the Y.M.C.A. and the Y.W.C.A., will begin Dec. 7.

To the winners of these contests will be presented two loving cups; one for the best fraternity, and one for the best sorority in this contest. Individual house broadcasts will not exceed 12 minutes in length, and must consist of one of these major classifications: music, drama, or comedy.

Entry blanks for the contest will be obtainable at the Y.M.C.A. office in Iowa Union, and all houses participating must secure these blanks as soon as possible so that the schedule of programs can be arranged. The programs will be judged as to the reception over the air and the ability of the participants.

In the good old days at the University of West Virginia a bell was rung every night at 9 o'clock, warning students that they must retire. At 6 a.m. a cannon was fired at the armory to get them out of bed.

Chop, Chop—5,000 True Americans Ready to Die For Thanksgiving!

By CHOLM HOUGHTON
"Chop, chop, chop, and their heads come off!"

And the heads of Bluebeard's many wives clicking to the ground accompanied by the lilting melodies of Ben Bernie and his "lads," aren't the only heads that are being severed this week.

Typical Americans
For about 5,000 red-blooded, typical Americans, who are mentioned in history as far back as the first Thanksgiving day, are giving up their lives this week at a farm five miles north of Iowa City on U. S. highway 161, so that 25,000 persons can have roast turkey for Thanksgiving, and cold turkey for a week after Thanksgiving.

Maybe the inhabitants of the mid-western turkey ranch deserve this bitter fate. For in the last eight months these birds have made pigs of themselves and have consumed about 1,102,500 pounds of feed.

Proud, Haughty
And they've been proud and haughty. If they were able to speak, they would probably boast of their early ancestry in America and tell how the first settlers not only were glad to see their predecessors, but "just ate them up!"

"I'm glad to see predecessors!" Instead of accepting just anything to eat and any sort of lodging, they have had balanced ration, milk, and corn for their diets. And they have consumed 4,500 pounds of this preparation daily. Little did they care that the wholesale cost of their food was one and one-fourth cents a pound.

Luxurious Apartments
Their 70 by 30 feet brooder homes were each divided into 14 luxurious apartments, and during their childhood and early adolescence, they were kept in the house all the time to avoid contamination of any kind. Moreover, each of their homes has an all around screen porch. These piazzas' floors are covered with one-half inch hardware cloth. As they grew older, they were taken to a grove on the farm to live. Apparently they liked their new home.

Time Has Come
But a few weeks ago, R. E. Waltz, the manager of the farm, decided the time had come to take them to a field a half mile from the woods so they would be handy to participate in Thanksgiving preparations.

Unlike the early Christians, these birds revolted at the death march, and balked at martyrdom as if they foresaw the wholesale slaughter that was to follow.

Stampede
So they stampeded. In the rush, one of them flew at the foreman and stunned him. When the manager "came to," the bird lost its head completely. Two other turkeys were killed in the stampede. Death, they probably reasoned, was inescapable no matter what they did.

About 2,000 "well-rounded" members of the flock were selected last week to make their debuts in New York, Chicago, and Philadelphia. After a few days in the society of the easterners, they will probably be completely "finished."

"...will make their debuts"

There are no turkeys for apartment sized ovens at the midwestern ranch. The smallest ones average 12 pounds, and the largest ones 30 pounds.

35 Employees
At the ranch, which is owned by Dr. and Mrs. G. H. Scanlon of Iowa City, 35 are employed picking turkeys. One day last week, 1,000 birds were prepared for shipping. "A good picker," Mr. Waltz says, "can dress a bird in 10 minutes."

With the market price a little less than it was last year—17 cents to 18 cents a pound for number one birds—Mr. Waltz expects the sale before Thanksgiving and Christmas to relieve him of all the turkeys he has raised in the last eight months.

Then what? Then he says he will do as he did last year; he will care for 7,000 less aristocratic birds: chickens.

Three Iowa Grads Work With Theater

The Marshalltown Community theater, which opened its second season with an enrollment of 550 contributing members, is under the direction of a committee which includes three graduates of the University of Iowa.

Edward A. Wright of New London, who is supervisor of speech in the Marshalltown high school and junior college, is treasurer of the organization. He received both his B.A. and M.A. degrees here, majoring in speech and dramatic art.

Allice Van Law of Marshalltown, who also received two degrees from Iowa and majored in speech, is artistic director of the organization. The third graduate who is a member of the executive committee is Evelyn Bowman of Marshalltown who received her B.A. degree here in 1932.

Both Miss Bowman and Mr. Wright were elected to membership in Purple Mask while attending the university.

Von Graff to Speak Before N.Y. Society

Dr. Erwin von Graff of University hospital will leave Wednesday for New York city where he will address the New York German Medical society Dec. 4 on "Demonstrating frequency of cancer after partial removal of female genitalia."

He will return Dec. 7.

Lapp Will Talk To Lutheran Students

Prof. C. J. Lapp of the physics department will speak to the First English Lutheran Student association in the church parlors at 6:30 this evening. His topic is "A scientific look at religion."

Maxine Moore To Read Of Negro Strife

Maxine Moore, A3 of Newton, using "Mamba's Daughters" by DuBose Heyward as a basis, will appear today at 4 o'clock in the second of a current series of Sunday afternoon readings held in the main lounge of Iowa Union under the auspices of the speech and dramatic art department.

Written by the author of "Porgy," the Theater Guild success of the 1927 season in New York, "Mamba's Daughters" is the portrayal of the feminine element of three generations of Negroes from the Charleston waterfront. Miss Moore's presentation will depict the rise to Metropolitan opera heights of the youngest of the family, made possible by the connivances and sacrifices of her mother and grandmother.

"Mamba's Daughters" is a realistic portrayal of a cross-section of waterfront life. Heyward gives as a background to the action the Charleston social life of which he was a part.

Miss Moore, a member of University Players, prepared her reading under the direction of Eugene Bahn of the speech and dramatic art department. This current series of readings is open to the public.

Lindquist to Speak On Broadcast Series

Prof. Everett F. Lindquist of the college of education will appear this week on a regular series of broadcasts presented by the psychology department over WSUI.

Michigan Takes Fourth Straight Title; Minnesota's Slate Clean

State Errors Lead to 14 to 0 Victory For Detroit Eleven

DETROIT, Nov. 25 (AP)—A costly fumble and a poor punt by Michigan State college paved the way for a 14 to 0 victory by Detroit university today. McCracken, substitute halfback, scored both Detroit touchdowns with short end runs after straight power plays had driven the ball inside the eight yard line.

Maroons Top Dartmouth in 39-0 Victory

Chicago Scores Four Times in Final Quarter

STAGG FIELD, CHICAGO, Nov. 25 (AP)—Chicago's touchdown-starved Maroons, overlooking few opportunities to add to their total, dealt Dartmouth a blistering, humiliating 39 to 0 beating today in their intersectional gridiron meeting.

Chicago had been held to one lone touchdown by five previous major opponents this season, but today, after earning 15 points in the first two periods, took advantage of a wild and ruinous flurry of Dartmouth passes to add four touchdowns in the final session and make the game a rout.

Lee Carries Bryan Extra Hole for Win

Ramblers Do Battle With Riverside Team Tomorrow

Iowa City basketball enthusiasts will focus their attention tomorrow night on City high gym where the crack St. Mary's five opens its season with Riverside in a contest that should afford a satisfactory line on the prospects of the Ramblers in the coming campaign. The opening whistle will be blown at approximately 8 p.m. with a preliminary tilt between the scrubs of both schools taking place at 7:15 o'clock.

Battered Northwestern Team Fights Hard But Vainly

EVANSTON, Ill., Nov. 25 (AP)—Michigan again is gridiron champion of the Western conference. In wind-swept Dyché stadium, with darkness falling rapidly, the fagged-out Wolverines, undefeated but tied once this season, conquered Northwestern today in the final game of the year, 13 to 0, to win their fourth consecutive football championship of the Big Ten.

The achievement of the Wolverines equaled the record of the famous "point-a-minute" eleven coached by Fielding H. Yost, with his famous machines of 1901 to 1904, which set a record of winning four straight championships. The present day Wolverines, in winning the 1933 title, conquered five Western conference foes, and were held to a scoreless tie by Minnesota. They triumphed over Ohio State, 13 to 0; Chicago, 28 to 0; nosed out Illinois, 7 to 6; beat Iowa, 10 to 6; and wound up the strenuous season today with a triumph over Northwestern.

After being outplayed by an infuriated squad of Wildcats in the first period, the Michigan eleven began clicking, in the second with Herman Everhardus, the flying Dutchman from Kalamazoo, putting his mates in the lead. With less than 30 seconds to go before the finish of the first half, Everhardus, flashing right halfback, booted a field goal from the 25 yard line to chalk up a three point advantage. Then Michigan, working smoothly and with championship precision, scored a touchdown and another field goal to wind up the season.

N.Y.U. Upsets Carnegie Tech

NEW YORK, Nov. 25 (AP)—New York university's aerial attack in the second period gave the Violets a surprising 7-0 triumph over the favored Carnegie Tech eleven at the Yankee stadium today in the eighth meeting of the rivals since 1925.

Gaels Win Memorial Coliseum, Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP)—An astonishing aerial attack which swept the University of California at Los Angeles off its feet in the first half, sent the Bruins into defeat by the giant Gaels of St. Mary's today, 22 to 14, before 35,000 persons.

Vuchnich Again Brings Illinois Downfall With Kick

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 25 (AP)—Mickey Vuchnich again proved his right to rate considerable respect in and around Champaign, Ill., today when his toe provided the winning point for Ohio State in a battle with Illinois. The score was 7 to 6.

By those who watched the Ohio-Illinois tussle a year ago at Champaign, it will be recalled that Mickey Vuchnich kicked a field goal to permit the Buckeyes to win 3 to 0.

Vuchnich didn't kick a field goal today, but his conversion of the extra point after the Buckeyes had managed a touchdown in the third period—after a scoreless first half—proved the margin of victory.

Dickinson Picks Wolves Iowa Ranks Fourth Behind Ohio, Minnesota.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Nov. 25 (AP)—Michigan won the 1933 Big Ten championship, according to the Dickinson football rating system, with Ohio State second, and Minnesota third.

Michigan received 20 points each for defeating Chicago and Northwestern, and 30 points each for defeating Ohio, Illinois and Iowa, all three first division teams.

For the tie with Minnesota, Michigan received 22.5 points. Because Michigan won more games than Ohio State an extra 20 point victory was discarded, making a total of 132.5 points, or an average of 26.5 points for the season.

Ohio State, with three second division victories over Northwestern, Indiana, and Wisconsin, a first division loss to Michigan, counting 15 points, closed her season with a first division victory over the Illini, counting 30 points, making the total 105, or an average of 21.00 points to give the Buckeyes second place.

Indiana Falls Behind After Early Margin

Boilermaker Backs Tilt Stride in Last Half Rally

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Nov. 25 (AP)—The Boilermakers from Purdue beat back the annual challenge of Indiana with a smashing second half attack today to smother the Hoosiers 19 to 3 and hold custody of the Old Oaken Bucket for another year.

Jim Pelle's 90 yard return of an Indiana punt for a touchdown was the spectacular feature, but only the smashing attack of Duane Purvis and Jim Carter, hard-running Purdue center, booted a placekick from the 25 yard line after five minutes of play, the Boilermakers gained the edge on Pelle's run and then, although fought to a standstill in the second period, came back to show an offensive burst that brought victory over their Hoosier rivals for the third successive year.

Carter scored the second Purdue touchdown by outrunning the Indiana left end to go over from the 17 yard line. Leon Dally, contributed the final score, climaxing a 50 yard drive with a plunge from the two yard mark.

Rube Waddell and Collins Head List of All-Time A's

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Connie Mack, tall, lean dean of the national pastime, is dispersing another great Philadelphia Athletics ball team.

Simmons, Haas, and Dykes went last year. Before the start of another season, unless all signs and portents are amiss, Mickey Cochran, George Earnshaw, Rube Waddell and Lefty Grove will be wearing the uniforms of rival teams in the American league, and Mack will be starting all over again after 50 years in the game!

It's a long road the A's veteran pilot has traveled since he first broke into organized ball as a catcher. Today, at 71, he can look back over a panorama of faces that have come and gone, the greats and near-greats developed by him and other managers.

Fumble Aids Gopher Win Over Badgers

Swedes Win, 6-3, From Fighting Wisconsin Eleven

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 25 (AP)—Minnesota, unbeaten but tied four times in Western conference competition, eked out a slender 6 to 3 victory over a fighting Wisconsin eleven today in a football game played in driving rain and snow.

Outplayed by the Badgers, who failed to win one conference tilt this year, the Gophers capitalized on a goal line fumble by Smith, Badger fullback, in the third period to score a touchdown and remain with Michigan at the top of the Big Ten standings with unblemished records.

Hawaiians in Star Roles at Oregon State

CORVALLIS, Ore. (AP)—Two husky youths from Hawaii are engraving their names in bold letters in the pages of American college football this season.

They are Harry Field, tackle, and Pierre Bowman, halfback, and they attained lasting fame as two of the eleven "Iron Men" of Oregon State college who played 60 minutes without a substitution against Southern California.

 BLOOMINGTON, Ill. (AP)—Illinois Wesleyan clinched the Little 19 championship here today by defeating the McKendree Bearcats, 13 to 7.

Yale Bows to Daring Attack of Crimson by 19-6 Score

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 25 (AP)—A Harvard team that gambled gallantly for all or nothing rose out of the woes of a mediocre season today to strike Yale down 19 to 6 with three tremendous thrusts, and paint another dramatic picture against the 58 year old back ground of the east's most brilliant football rivalry.

Twice Harry Wells, a burley fellow who has been waiting two years for this day, whipped tremendous passes into the air to wipe away half the distance from one goal to the other. Then after Yale had rallied in the third period, had come in to batter out its lone touchdown, Tommy Locke, took the next kick off and flashed 90 yards straight down the heart of the gridiron and over the Ell goal.

After the first exchange of kicks opening the ball game, Wells tried his first pass. He faded back to his own 40 and whipped the ball far and high down the center of the field.

Wells only threw four passes all day, completing three of them for 106 yards, and he saved his third and greatest effort until the second period was almost over. Then, with the ball on his own 44 yard line, he faded back to his own 30 and again the pigskin sailed high and far down the right side of the field.

Cotton Warburton Leads Southern California to One-sided Win Over Ramblers

Victory Gives Cardinals Tie for Pacific Conference Title

Bears Hold Early Lead With Second Period Field Goal

STANFORD STADIUM, Palo Alto, Cal., Nov. 25 (AP)—A crowd of 85,000 fans, including former President Herbert Hoover, sent cheers reverberating through this great brown bowl today as Stanford's Cardinals defeated California's Bears 7 to 3 to earn a tie for the Pacific Coast conference championship.

At the same time the victory practically assured Coach "Tiny" Thornhill's Blisken warriors the big tie to represent the west against the pick of the rest of the country for the nation's mythical championship at Pasadena on New Year's day.

One of the most spine tingling battles in the memory of the oldest alumni of the two rivals saw the sophomore-manned Stanford eleven come from behind in the last period to push over a touchdown, stave off a last minute bid by a desperate Golden Bear and emerge with victory for the first time since 1930.

The Cardinals put the ball into play on their own 44 yard line after receiving a punt.

Alustiza, quarterback, launched his team goalward with one yard gain. On the next play, the basque ball carrier rifled a 25 yard pass to Norgard, right end, and the latter neared 30 yards to cross the line.

Short end in the betting odds of 10 to 7, California sent hopes of followers skyward with a second period rally that ended in a successful field goal.

Stewart, starting quarterback for the Bears, recovered a fumble after Grayson, Stanford fullback, had dropped the ball on his 45 yard line.

Arleigh Williams, substituting at left halfback, tossed a pass that was good for 26 yards, it put the ball on Stanford's 20 yard marker. Three line plays advanced the leather to within 16 yards of the goal.

With fourth down and six yards to go, Williams dropped back to the 25 yard line and, with Stewart holding the ball, placekicked the oval straight through the bars.

Stanford Will Play in Rose Bowl Contest

Indians Favor Princeton as New Year's Day Game Opponent

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Cal., Nov. 25 (AP)—Stanford university's football team has accepted an invitation to represent the west in the Rose bowl game at Pasadena New Year's day, Al Asters, general manager of the board of athletic control, announced here late today.

Masters made the announcement after a meeting with C. H. Reynolds and J. J. Mitchell, representing the football committee of the Tournament of Roses association of Pasadena.

Hugh Rosson, graduate manager of the University of Oregon, which finished in a mathematical tie with Stanford for the Pacific Coast conference championship, expressed himself satisfied with the selection of Stanford to represent the west.

Both Oregon and Stanford completed their conference schedule with four victories and one defeat. Stanford, however, beat Southern California, 13-7, and Southern California swamped Oregon, 26-0.

Stanford defeated the University of California at Los Angeles, 3-0; Southern California, 13-7; Montana, 33-7; and California 7-3, and lost to Washington 6-0.

While no indications were forthcoming tonight as to the team Stanford will invite to be its opponent, it was understood the Cardinals favored Princeton.

Masters said he would open negotiations immediately, Coach "Tiny" Thornhill said he would like to send his team against Princeton but would be satisfied with any other eleven selected.

It will be Stanford's fourth time as a Rose bowl representative. The Cardinals played Notre Dame in 1925, losing by a 27-10 count. In 1927, Stanford tied Alabama, 7-7, and a year later, defeated Pittsburgh, 7-6. Southern California has been the western representative the last three years.

At the University of Minnesota the leading items in the lost and found department last semester were gloves and ten cent store jewelry.

Bulldog Ties With State's Cyclone, 7-7

Drake Scores First But Allender Ties Count

DES MOINES, Nov. 25 (AP)—Eleven Iowa State Cyclones huffed and puffed vainly today but the Drake Bulldogs led the breeze whistle through their ears and the thirty-fifth anniversary contest ended in a 7-7 tie before 8,000 Drake homecomers.

The Bulldogs started the scoring early in the second quarter on an intercepted pass from Allender and several plays later Wieland sprinted for a touchdown on a long end run to the right. Swan's place kick was good for the extra point.

Early in the fourth period Allender turned the tables intercepting a pass from the Bulldogs and started a smashing drive which ended when he plunged through center for the visitors' tally. Dana's placekick tied the score.

The remainder of the battle was a driving contest with Iowa State staving a brilliant passing attack which netted long gains but failed to employ the scorers.

Three times the Cyclones threatened and once in the third were on Drake's one yard line but the Bulldogs' teeth held.

Just before the first half ended the visitors started an offensive which nearly netted them a score featuring Allender and Williams in long plunges and passes. On Drake's 22 yard line Allender shot a long pass to Hood who stood on the locals' goal line but in the excitement the Cyclone thumbed the oval and the threat was averted.

Drake opened the third with a series of crashes bringing the ball deep into Iowa State territory and suddenly halted when Allender intercepted a short hove.

Allender shot the ball to Miller to advance to the Bulldog's 13 yard line. Miller took the next play to the 9 yard ribbon and Allender brought it in another yard. An incomplete pass returned the pigskin to Drake. Wieland punted to Allender who returned the oval to the locals' 45 yard line.

Williams, picking the ball out of the windy regions, carried it to the 25 yard marker. Hood advanced to the 16, and Allender laid it down on Drake's one yard line. The Cyclones, however, lacked the fortitude to smash over and the second threat was avoided.

The final drive for the Cyclones came in the fourth after their tally was on the books in a series of passes and smashes in which Winter, Schafroth, Allender and Williams finally deposited the ball on Drake's seven yard line.

A gain in an incomplete pass brought disaster to the visitors and the gun ended a speedy exchange of punts and passes.

Iowa, Drake Play at Ames

Veenker Promises Four Home Contests for Iowa State

AMES, Nov. 25—Four of seven football games definitely on Iowa State's 1934 schedule will be played at Ames, according to Coach George F. Veenker, director of athletics. Two of the home contests are with Big Six opponents while the other two are with traditional Iowa State foes—Drake and Iowa.

The contest with the Hawkeyes, which became an annual attraction again this fall after 13 years in which the two teams did not meet, will open the main part of the Cyclone schedule next year. This battle will probably be the third game of the season for the Cyclones, as Coach Veenker has left two preceding dates open for preliminary games.

The complete schedule: Sept. 29, open. Oct. 6, open. Oct. 13, Iowa at Ames. Oct. 20, Missouri at Columbia. Oct. 27, Nebraska at Lincoln. Nov. 3, Kansas at Ames. Nov. 10, Oklahoma at Ames. Nov. 17, Drake at Ames. Nov. 24, Kansas State at Manhattan.

Princeton Finally Scored on But Wins Over Rutgers, 26-6

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 25 (AP)—Football's two most ancient rivals—Princeton and Rutgers—met in Palmer stadium for the thirty-second time today and, although the unbeaten Tiger eleven emerged from the battle with a 26 to 6 triumph, it remained for the Scarlet to become the first team of 1933 able to score against the talented pupils of Fritz Crisler.

As 40,000 spectators looked on, the successors of those two teams which in 1869 played the nation's first intercollegiate grid game fought each other through 60 minutes of hard football.

Pug Lund Honored by Native Town

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 25 (AP)—Francis "Pug" Lund, the University of Minnesota's candidate for all-American halfback, was the guest of honor here tonight at a banquet where 70 of his friends and neighbors from Rice Lake, Wis., gathered to fetter their football hero.

Braving the driving snow and cold in Memorial stadium, the Rice Lake residents journeyed to Minneapolis to see their famous "Pug" and his mates defeat Wisconsin in the last game of Minnesota's season.

It's an old southern custom, but apple cores may no longer be thrown onto the football field as a cheering device at the University of Alabama.

Army Overcomes Surprising Navy Eleven to Win, 12-6, Before Crowd of 79,000

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 25 (AP)—Navy's gallant warriors boomed a sensational challenge to Army's football supremacy today but it wasn't quite enough to break down the vaunted power of the Cadets, who rallied to win an unexpectedly close game 12 to 7, before a capacity crowd of 79,000 spectators at Franklin field.

Favored for the second straight year by Indian summer weather, the biggest and most colorful crowd of the eastern gridiron season saw the service rivals put on a spectacular scoring battle in the first half, then stand off all opposing threats in the last two periods.

Navy's aggressive line fought Army's forwards to a standstill, while the strong right foot of Fullback Bill Clark gave the Midshipmen repeated advantages in the kicking exchanges, but Navy's fleetest pair of backs were unequal to the job of offsetting the dazzling running of Paul Johnson, the Soldier's quarterback, and his Texas running mate, speedy Jack Buckler.

Johnson, in the first few minutes of the game dashed 81 yards on the runback of a punt for Army's first touchdown. Buckler as the climax of a 71 yard drive in the second period, romped 25 yards for the second and deciding score after Walter Baumberger, hero of the Navy attack, had run 39 yards to cross the Army goal and a substitute line.

There is some agitation at Michigan State college for the inauguration of a football course for both men and women and any one else interested in the fundamentals of the game.

South Dakota Defeats Illinois College, 7-0

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Nov. 25 (AP)—In a game replete with thrills, the University of South Dakota today defeated Illinois college, 7 to 0.

Before a disappointing crowd of 600, Clanker, a substitute for Dunn at right half, ran for the only touchdown of the game in the third quarter and Groves kicked for the extra point.

Thereafter Illinois college opened a spectacular passing attack that on two or three occasions threatened to score. Once an end missed a clean pass in the end zone.

During the game each team missed several chances to score, the ball at various times being within four yards of counting.

"Keep Out" Terry Wouldn't Swap "Little Mel" for Chuck Klein.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 25 (AP)—Chuck Klein may be the pride of the Chicago Cubs, but Manager Terry of the New York Giants wouldn't swap Mell Ott for him.

"I don't think he will help the Cubs as much as most people think he will," Terry said today.

"He only hit .155 against us in the Polo Grounds all season," he added, "and I wouldn't consider trading Mell Ott for him."

Slippery "Cottontail" too Good for Irish as Troy Wins, 19 to 0

Midget Quarter Gets Two Scores During Encounter

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 25 (AP)—Notre Dame's Ramblers of football stuffed 20 rabbits feet in their moccasins for good luck today against Southern California's Trojans, but they couldn't catch the slippery "cottontail" from San Diego's hills and were hopelessly crushed 19 to 0.

Picking up where he left off with his spectacular touchdown raids along the far west sector, Irvine Warburton, a human rabbit with a hundred tricks concealed in his five feet six inch, 145 pound frame, smashed the Rambler defense works to lead the Trojans to their most decisive conquest in eight games of warfare against their one mighty foe.

Warburton started the scoring in the second period, ended it with a minute to go, and so ridged the Rambler line that he gained a total of 95 yards in 19 attempts for an average of better than five yards a try.

"Cottontail Warburton, ably assisted by a stalwart line and a tackling genius in Cal Clemens, gave the Trojans a great measure of satisfaction in today's smashing triumph.

Before today, the largest margin of victory ever achieved by the western invaders was 13 points gained in 1928 and last year. Too, the victory evened the series between the rivals at four games each, sent Southern California ahead in the point total of eight contests, 108 to 88, and partially avenged the defeat absorbed by Southern California in 1930 when the late Knute Rockne led his raiders to a 27 to 0 conquest. It was the first time any team had beaten Notre Dame three times in a row.

The Trojans, themselves defeated this season, had a wide advantage in the play, running up nine first downs to four and gaining 164 yards from scrimmage to 107 for the Ramblers. On passes, which resulted in one touchdown, the Trojans gained 51 yards to Notre Dame's 33.

CHAPTER FORTY-NINE

Other people were going in when they got to the Bijou and everybody wanted to stop and talk to them but Pop just kept going on like an Indian. Mom had given him a dollar before they left the house and he walked right up to the window and laid it down like he was going to the opera house in New York. But George Kauffman was there and he smiled and said to Pop:

"Your money is no good here tonight, Mr. Randolph."

Mom saw that eye go down and she was deathly afraid Pop was going to bowl George Kauffman out right there because there was no telling what he would say or do when he was like this; but George said:

"Tommy's folks are guests of the house tonight—I'll take you down to your reserved seats myself." And here George had a dress suit on.

Pop smiled, just a bit, but he didn't even say thank you and Mom had to go so fast to keep up with him that she hardly got a look at the pictures of Tommy outside.

Inside they were going down the aisle following George Kauffman. The lights were still on and the place was almost filled up, and when everybody saw them coming they started to clap. It was all Mom could do to keep from crying right out loud; but Pop just took her arm and squeezed it tight and he was so grand that Mom felt like a great lady herself and they went down the aisle as though nothing had happened. Mom had never been so proud of Pop. She thought Coolidge himself couldn't have done it better.

Then Mom got mad. There was Cousin Emmy standing up, waving her skinny arms for Mom to come where she was, letting everybody know that she was one of the family; too; and Mom pretended not to see her making a show of herself and would have gone somewhere else; but that was right where George Kauffman took them to their reserved seats.

And there, on one side of her was Pop and the other side of her was the Mayor; and just in front of her was Charlie Whitney, and with him was the Superintendent of Schools, R. K. Washburn.

And the Mayor shook hands with her and Pop, and so did Charlie Whitney, looking right into her eyes, he did, like he had never done before; and Mom could see he had the same pretty blue eyes he did when he was a boy; and somehow Charlie looked so pleased you would have thought Tommy was his boy.

And everybody was cheering and Mom felt like it was in a dream and she wished Tommy could be there, it was so wonderful, except that Cousin Emmy was still standing up, smiling to Mom, showing her teeth, and waving her skinny arms, still wearing the flowered chifton. Even then Mom almost had to laugh at the way Pop took it, hardly a smile except way back in his eyes. He sure carried off.

Then the lights went off and the picture came on the screen and Mom heard Pop groan and reach down for his feet. She knew, sure as anything, he was going to loosen his shoes; she prayed he wouldn't take them clear off because his feet would be sure to be swelled—and wouldn't it be a nice howdy-do to end the evening with him not able to get his shoes back on?

Mom's greatest movie thrill—Once her boy looked right at her from the screen while he was supposed to be kissing the glamorous Valeska Mourat!

Then Mom forgot Pop's feet. In the darkness, where nobody could see, she was crying.

Then she had to laugh again; for Pop was nudging her. He was winking at her, the devil. Just like when they were married, while he was putting the ring on her finger.

The program opened up with a "Mickey Mouse" and Mom smiled; because the mouse got the best of the cat, and Mom was making love, particularly to that bold Valeska Mourat; and it was to Tommy's credit that you could see he was just acting because he had to, and he wasn't really falling in love with her. Once he had looked right at Mom while he was supposed to be kissing Valeska Mourat, just like he was telling her . . . don't pay any attention to this, Mom.

He certainly showed them in it football—a though every time Mom thought of the football, she shook her head, even in her sleep, and thanked God he was through with all that; and she was glad she had never seen him play the football because then she would have worried herself sick more than she had. It was a good picture, Mom thought, and Jack Devere was very comic but there wasn't enough of Tommy in it. But everybody seemed to like it, particularly Cousin Emmy, who made Mom mar every time she stuck her hands up in front of her to clap and looked around at everybody to see if they could see her and her silly grin. Even Pop noticed her and he wasn't one to pay attention to things like that.
