FLYERS DOWN IN IRELAND

Failing in their attempt to make a non-stop flight to Rome, Capt. George R. Pond and Lieut. Cesare Sabelli landed in County Clare, Irish Free State, at 2:30 p.m. (E.S.T.) yesterday. Pond, a former navy flyer, and Sabelli, Italian war ace, had been planning the flight for several months. They had hoped, originally to make the attempt last fall, but abandoned the idea because of unfavorable weather. Picture shows, left to right, Cesare Sabelli and Pilot Captain Pond just before their takeoff. On the right, their orange and maroon monoplane, the "Leonardo Da Vinci," is shown just after it had left the ground. The plane was heavily loaded with 680 gallons of gasoline, enough to carry the flyers 5,500 miles (Rome is 4,600).

LONGFELLOW SCHOOL NEWS

Freshmen "Brush Up" on Words For Vocabulary Contest

Just what sort of impression would be created if a person were described as being "vociferous"? Would he be antagonistic, awkward, or clamorous? Does "culinary" mean sharp, or does it pertain to the kitchen or, more specifically, to knives? If one were told to gravitate, should he annoy, confer, or descend?

Freshmen need especially at this time to learn to make distinctions between meanings of various words, if they are in preparation for an annual vocabulary contest which will take place tomorrow evening in university hall.

This contest, which will be subjective this year, will consist of a list of 100 to 125 words for freshmen to define and to use in sentences. Prizes will be in the form of dictionaries, furnished by the G. & C. Merriam Co.

Among the "boners" which have been gleaned from former contests are:

"Villa's famous banditti played martial airs before attacking the American cavalry."

"Dr. Harvey Cushing has made an exhaustive study of the human lymph glands."

"The sweet music of the harpies was enough to move Orpheus to jealousy."

"He commensurated his friend for not having taken part in this absurd performance."

"On the roofs of Gothic cathedrals were placed oligarchs, monstrous creatures with grinning faces, and bodies half bird, half beast, strange caricatures of the natural world."

An evidence that University of Iowa freshmen are not daunted by vocabulary difficulties lies in the fact that approximately 70 freshmen competed last year in the contest.

Four Will Leave For Meeting Of Social Workers

Included on the week's program are addresses by Frances Perkins, secretary of labor, and Harry Hopkins, federal emergency relief administrator.

Emil M. Sunley, field representative in social work, and Mary M. Maxwell, director of the social service division, will represent the university at the conference. Lucile Bruner, director of the Iowa City Social Service league, and Margaret Decker, a case worker, will also attend.

Physical Education Students Begin New Camping Course

Baseball, archery, horseshoes, tennis, deck tennis, track, speed ball and tether ball are all receiving their share of attention from past-year women's athletic field west of Old Capitol, but the latest innovation seems to be arousing more curiosity than any.

The sound of axes and of whittling and the sight of pup tents, leaf hells and camp fires have added a great deal of curiosity.

The group responsible for these sights and sounds is the junior recreational class of Miriam Taylor, assistant in physical education, which has started a short camping course.

At the end of the course the girls in the class must have passed a number of requirements. They must be able to pitch a pup tent well, to make a bed roll in a square pack, sausage roll, or short roll, and to know when to use and how to tie at least four different knots.

Not the easiest requirement is to use an axe skillfully. They must know how to carry it, how to care for it, how to use a buffer log when chopping, and chop through a log at least four different knots.

When green wood is wanted they must know what trees to chop down, and have to be able to split wood, chop the limb of a tree, and sharpen a stake.

Intelligent and skillful use of a knife is required. How to open and close it properly, the direction of strokes, and sufficient manual skill to carve some object must be learned by the class.

Other requirements are to know how to care for food, how to build different kinds of camp fires, and how to use a compass and make land follow maps.

The Voice of Youth Again War

"YOUTH WANTS TO LIVE FOR ITS COUNTRY, NOT DIE FOR IT. . . FOR THE FIRST TIME IN HISTORY, THE VOICE OF YOUTH IS BEING HEARD. THE MOST HOPEFUL SIGN OF FUTURE PEACE IS IN THE AROUSING OF THE YOUTH OF THE COUNTRY."—Excerpt from the remarks of the Rev. Charles M. Sheldon of Topeka, Kan., at Iowa Union Sunday evening.

The Rev. Mr. Sheldon said nothing new or startling Sunday evening, when he urged the youth of America to rise in protest to war and to war-inspiring militarism. Throughout the centuries peace has been a dream of youth—an illusion which was thoroughly throttled by the disillusionment of the practical affairs of the world. It is nothing new in the world that youth is again making its dream heard.

The Rev. Mr. Sheldon summed it up well when he said that "War is made by old men." War is the chess game of diplomats and old line generals. The flowering youth of warring nations constitute the chessmen—the pawns to be played with by the "old men."

H. G. Wells, in his book, "The Bulpington of Blup," reminded the youth of the entire world of the challenge left it in the World War. Not in "war fought to end war" or in "war to make the world safe for democracy" is the salvation of the world to be found, but rather in peace as its own end.

The old generation fought a "war to end war," and enveloped the world in the crisis of today, with half the world ready to take up arms at short notice in a group of armed camps.

Then the old generation gathered around world conference tables, and turned out sheafs of documents—the Kellogg pact, the Washington agreement, the nine power treaty, and a dozen others.

Then the old generation delegates went back to their own countries and planned diplomatic notes to minimize the value of the treaties they had written.

As the speaker pointed out, though the Kellogg pact outlawed war for all time to come, every government which entered the agreement is spending head over heels to bring its arms up to capacity—"millions for war posters urging young men to enlist, but not a cent for peace posters."

In many universities the strength of student feeling against war has already been felt, with student groups passing resolutions declaring that they will not participate in future wars. Though they may meet disillusionment and change of heart if another war comes, the movement in itself is significant.

For, after all, youth forms the chessmen in the old man's game of war. If the chessmen show their souls and object to being moved like pawns, object to becoming fodder for old men's cannons, peace may come closer to being a reality. Upon the power of youth to make its cherished dream come true depends the future of world peace.

The Proof Of the Pudding

WITHIN THE next two or three days, Iowans will receive through the mail secret ballots in a new Literary Digest straw poll, to test the beliefs of some 15,000,000 American voters.

This poll is significant, in that it will allow the United States voters to express their opinions of the policies of the Roosevelt administration. The ballots will contain two questions: "Do you approve on the whole the acts and policies of Roosevelt's first year?" and "For whom did you vote in 1932?"

The object of the poll, according to the editors of the magazine, is to test public reaction to the work of the Democratic administration, and, more especially, to determine as nearly as possible how many Americans have shifted their party allegiance since the election of 1932.

For the first time, the American public will have a chance to give voice to its feelings about the federal administration directly. The comparative accuracy of the Literary Digest straw votes has been demonstrated to the nation many times. The presidential elections of the last 15 years have been accurately forecast, and the changing attitude toward prohibition was first crystallized through this medium.

The proof of the pudding is in the eating.

ing, and the proof of the Democratic administration will be in the reaction of America. The nation will watch with interest to learn if America shares the social mindedness of her leaders.

Abe Lincoln And a New America

TODAY MARKS THE SEVENTY-FOURTH anniversary of the nomination of Abraham Lincoln by the Republican convention. Much water has gone through the mill since then.

In many ways the circumstances surrounding Lincoln's administration corresponds to the current situation. He came into office in the midst of a serious crisis, took the helm with a fine disregard for red tape and conventional restrictions, and guided the nation according to the needs of the hour.

Lincoln, like President Roosevelt, recognized that law must be made the servant of man, not the master. He sought no constitutional precedent for his emancipation proclamation; he was guided only by what he felt to be the needs of America in a grave crisis.

In the same way, President Roosevelt has interpreted his powers broadly. He, too, feels that the needs of the people should be placed above the letter of the law—above the technical wording of the constitution.

A great republic like the United States can live and be governed successfully only when its laws are adaptable to the times. That is why the constitution has undergone dozens of changes in interpretation, becoming ever more liberal.

Russian troops on the north and Japanese troops on the south strain across the snaky Amur river and snarl like terriers at each other. Agents of peaceful nations, they are in the best possible positions to provoke war.

Monday a Manchukuan gunboat steaming up the Amur was thrown into confusion when a burst of gunfire from the north bank killed one sailor and wounded a Japanese officer.

Immediately the government of Manchukuo dispatched a protest to Moscow demanding indemnity, an apology for the accident, and a guarantee against future lead hails.

This incident, perhaps, will not prove serious enough to start an international conflagration of dangerous proportions. But one hesitates to guess what might have been the result had the Japanese officer been a prince and had the bullet struck a more vital spot. Do the Japanese have archdukes?

It is indeed reassuring to hear that Chester Davis, farm administrator, has assured President Roosevelt that there is no danger of a food shortage in the United States. In fact, even the suggestion that such a thing might be a remote possibility is a relief after thinking in terms of impotent surpluses for all these years.

Meanwhile the spectacle of the president proceeding without hesitation to provide relief for drought stricken states is a happy contrast with previous crises of this kind.

In addition to extending the program of direct relief for farmers, the president has taken steps to provide increased water supplies, furnish seed for forage crops, buy cattle and other stock from the dry areas, and reduce freight rates on cattle moving out and on feed moving in.

With each new attempt or projected attempt to explore the frigid mysteries of the stratosphere, the day when Prof. Auguste Piccard's predicted air fleets will span continents and oceans by skimming through the thin upper reaches draws nearer.

Special interest will attach this summer to the flight of the world's largest free balloon under the direction of the National Geographic society and the United States army.

The balloon, which will have a capacity of three million cubic feet of gas, will take off from a pocket in the mountains near Mt. Rushmore, S. Dak. Manned by a major and a captain of the army air corps, it will be used to gain valuable information concerning the little known regions into which Professor Piccard made the first ascent several years ago.

But while the National Geographic society and the army are busy with practical problems in stratosphere flying, the professor's mind has wandered on far ahead into the realm of interplanetary travel.

Not long ago he predicted that the time would soon come when man would be able to fly from planet to planet in contraptions utilizing the energy liberated by the destruction of matter.

But this, in the opinion of most scientists, is a remote possibility. Once heralded as the eventual liberator of mankind and the future source of all power, the destruction of the atom as a source of useful energy is no longer held in such high esteem.

The atom has been broken into pieces, but so far the process has been too expensive and too unwieldy to offer much promise as a practical possibility. But perhaps Professor Piccard and a few of the more imaginative scientists will some day find the answer.

Behind The Scenes in HOLLYWOOD By Harrison Carroll

HOLLYWOOD, Cal.—Crooning has put Bing Crosby on easy street, but the film and radio star will now raise horseflesh on the side.

Bing has just laid some of those four-figure salary checks on the line to buy 50 acres in the Rancho Santa Fe, where, with Douglas Fairbanks, Victor Fleming and other cinema celebrities as neighbors, he plans to breed racehorses on a commercial scale.

The star's new property is inland from Del Mar and about 25 miles north of San Diego. It includes two 125 year old adobe houses with modernized interiors. Bing plans to use these as guest-houses and to put up a rambling ranch-house for himself and Dixie Lee. One of the star's dreams also is a fine private golf course.

Horse-raising not only will provide the star with a paying hobby, but it will put him in business—and, since he is incorporated, Bing has to be in business of some kind.

Take it from Irvin Cobb, his biggest thrill in California was the ride Will Rogers gave him behind a pair of runaway mules.

"You should see the road we came down," says the humorist. "I'm sure the thing must have been originally laid out by an intoxicated tapeworm."

Superstition is no new thing in Hollywood but Bruce Cabot has topped them all by making R-E-O put a clause in his contract that he doesn't have to work on the 13th of the month. Before his marriage to Adrienne Ames, the young star had more than 50 good-luck pieces. She has talked him into discarding all of them but a rabbit's foot which he always wears on the end of his watch-chain.

Not only does Bruce refuse to work on the 13th but he scarcely stirs from the house on the so-called unlucky day.

Marlene Dietrich's youngest, Maria Sieber, has the strangest pets in the film colony—a pair of white lambs. One escaped the other day and the whole staff of body-guards was called out to recapture it. And, speaking of bodyguards, the German star takes one precaution that other film stars would do well to follow. Each one of her watchmen must come with recommendations from the local sheriff's office.

Strange things happen in Hollywood. A $15 a day motion picture extra working in "Cleopatra" faces a suit for $250,000.

He is Leon Beaumont, who carries the spear of an Egyptian guard in the C. E. De Mille picture, but who is an inventor with a yearly income of $15,000 from several of his patents.

It is on one of these patents, involving tube lighting, that the suit is based.

Besides his claim to fame as an actor-inventor, Beaumont is the son of John C. Beaumont, official of the U. S. Steel corporation. His brother is the Rt. Rev. Theodore Beaumont, bishop of the diocese of Sinyachow, China.

Other Hollywood blondes may go tan this summer, but Mae West still clings to her creamy complexion. Boris Petroff, one of the star's few intimates, has bought a 48-foot cruiser, but has been unable to get Mae to take a trip in it. She sent Jim Timony out and when he came back with his face several shades redder than usual, the star firmly declined to put foot on board.

Newest game around the studios is called "Fluff." Wynne Gibson and Paul Lukas started it on the set at Universal. Whenever either blows up on a line, the other gets 25 cents. At the end of the first day, Wynne was out $2.50.

EXAMINATION SCHEDULE Second Semester, 1933-1934

Wednesday, May 23, 8 a.m., to Thursday, May 31, 4 p.m. The regular program of class work will be suspended, and the following semester-examination program substituted for it. Classes will meet for examination in the rooms in which they have been regularly meeting except classes in SPECIAL GROUPS, A, B, C, D, E and F, as shown in the form below; and Speech (2), (2), and (4) as shown at "N.B." below. The Program Committee directs the attention of both students, and instructors and professors, to the regulation that there is to be no deviation, in the case of any examination, from this schedule,—except as authorized by the Committee on Admission and Classification, on the student's written petition, filed in ample time, supported by the recommendation of the department concerned,—to provide relief from an excessive number of examinations within a single day. Deviation for the purpose of getting through earlier will not be permitted.

In the case of conflicts (within the SPECIAL GROUPS A, B, C, D, E and F) the schedule itself, as presented below, provides a general method of making adjustments.

All classes whose first weekly meetings have occurred as indicated in the rectangles below meet for examination during the periods noted at the tops of these three columns, and on the days noted in the rectangles directly opposite at the left at the double vertical line.

CONFLICTS: In case of conflicting examinations the student should report to the instructor in charge of the first of the two conflicting subjects as listed within the particular SPECIAL GROUP rectangle above which is involved. (Read downward first in left column and then in right column.) The instructor will arrange for you a special examination. Report to him, or her, not later than the regular class hour May 16 or 17, if possible, May 9 or 10.

The first meeting of the class means the first lecture or recitation period in courses having both lectures and recitations, and laboratory periods; or in the case of courses involving only laboratory periods, the first clock-hour of the first weekly meeting. For example, chemistry 22 meets for lectures T Th Sa 8. The first regular meeting is, consequently, Tuesday at 8—and the class will meet for examination Thursday, May 24, 2 p.m., according to the tabular form above. Again, physics (126) meets twice each week, T F, for a three-hour laboratory exercise, 1-4. The period for the examination is, therefore, Tuesday, May 29, 2 p.m.

N.B. All sections of Principles of Speech (2), (2), and (4) will meet on the days and at the periods designated below. Consult the bulletin board in room 13, Hall of Liberal Arts, for room assignments.

1. Wednesday, May 23, 8-10: Section F
2. Thursday, May 24, 8-10: Section C; 2-4: Sections A and D
3. Monday, May 28, 2-4: Sections H, I; Speech (2), Speech (4)
4. Tuesday, May 29, 8-10: Section G; 10-12: Section E; 2-4: Section B

"ODD" classes,—namely those whose first or only weekly meetings occur on Wednesdays, Thursdays, Fridays, or Saturdays, or which meet "as arranged," will be assigned for examination, as announced to each such class by the instructor in charge of the class, at one or another of the following periods:

1. From 4 to 6 on any day from May 23 to May 31, inclusive.
2. Any one of the examination periods assigned as indicated above, for the examinations in the SPECIAL GROUPS, A, B, C, D, and F, since for such "odd" classes these five examination periods will be found quite available.

In connection with any such announcement it would doubtless be well for the instructor making the announcement to ascertain whether any member of his class is already under appointment for examination in some other class for the proposed period. To be sure, it is possible to have examinations in more than one class at any of these times,—if no student is a member of more than one of these classes.

According to one clause in the formal faculty action providing for a special semester-examination program, "the instructor may use the examination period as he sees fit provided he holds the class for the full period. He may have an oral or a written examination, or both, or neither. He may continue regular work or he may use the time for review, or for any phase of his work which may seem to him desirable at this time."

According to another faculty regulation, which is on record as adopted by the faculty, a student absent from the final examination should be reported "Abs." unless the instructor recognizes that his work up to this examination has been a failure, in which case the final report should be "Fd."—even though the student may have been absent from the final examination. No examination should be given, subsequently, to such a student until after the absence has been excused by the Committee on Admission and Classification, as shown by a partially filed special report card, signed by the Secretary of the Committee, as indicating that the absence has been excused and that the student is authorized, subject to the consent and at the convenience of the instructor concerned, to take the final examination.

Deadline For Competition Moved Ahead

The final date for submitting designs to the eleventh annual Homecoming badge design contest has been extended from May 15 to June 1, it was announced by Prof. Rudolph A. Kuever, chairman of the committee on Homecoming badges.

This move has been made in order to give more students the opportunity of submitting designs.

"Designs have been coming in slower than in previous years," Professor Kuever said.

Entries must be turned in to Ruth Wilkinson of the graphic and plastic arts department in room 314, physics building. The drawings must be made in India ink on white Bristol board and should be designed to fit a circle six inches in diameter. They should be drawn in heavy enough lines to reproduce clearly when reduced to one fourth the original size. They should bear the words "Iowa Homecoming, October 27, 1934."

University buildings, football players, corn monuments, or any other subject that might convey the spirit of Iowa Homecoming are suggested by Professor Kuever and Miss Wilkinson as suitable subjects for a successful design.

"I would be glad to confer with students about the contest," Miss Wilkinson said yesterday. "The fear of too stiff competition should not keep persons from entering the contest."

"Not only will the winner get a $100 prize but he will also have the honor and satisfaction of seeing his creation worn by thousands of Homecomers next fall," Professor Kuever said.

Student Engineers To Hold Meeting

The student branch of the American Society of Engineers will meet tomorrow at 7:15 p.m. at Iowa Union cafeteria.

The meeting will consist of a business discussion and social activities.

Leonard to Lead Excursion Through Yellowstone Park

Following the same paths that he walked in 1880, carrying a transit, as a civil engineer just graduated from the University of Iowa, L. O. Leonard of the State Historical society will conduct an educational excursion through Yellowstone park, June 16-27.

The tour is intended to acquaint students and interested persons with the American "centers of beauty and history." Mrs. Leonard will act as hostess and chaperon.

Untamed Country

When Mr. Leonard first entered Montana to lay out the track centers of the first railroad into that state, the country was still untamed. The Custer massacre was living history, and the Indians who roamed the country were far from pacified.

Mr. Leonard attributes his absolute safety among the savages to the superstition which prevented the Indians from attacking an engineer with a transit. They believed that when a man peered through this instrument he saw into the land of the "Great Spirit."

Relates Story

Mr. Leonard relates a story which demonstrates something of the powers which the Indian attached to the engineer's instrument. He was approached one day by a brave who had a number of horses, and who demanded that he be allowed to search the neighboring hills through the eye of the transit.

Realizing that it was scarcely prudent to argue, Mr. Leonard adjusted the instrument and permitted the Indian to look through it. At first he was too frightened to approach it, but finally he overcame his fear, peered into the transit, and turned away in disgust. He had expected to be able to see through the hills and to the plains beyond.

Edited Paper

Mr. Leonard went into the west directly from the university, and progressed with the country. He had a part in the mining rush when prospectors became millionaires overnight. He edited the first newspaper in Anaconda, Mont., and in this capacity led the first editorial excursion ever to enter Yellowstone. He has preserved the newspaper account of that expedition which was published in his Anaconda Weekly Review.

He had as his guests on the park on that occasion, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Savery of Des Moines. Mrs. Savery was the first woman to be graduated from the University of Iowa college of law.

Applications should be submitted to the office of Dean Carl E. Seashore of the graduate college May 21 to be considered for the award.

Miss Camp Will Present Motion Picture Program

Canoeing stunts, loading canoes for trips, and some closeups of various canoeing strokes will be shown in a motion picture program Friday at 3 p.m. in chemistry auditorium by Prof. Marjorie Camp of the women's physical education department.

The pictures were taken in a girls' camp at Lake Miramichi in the Adirondacks. Crews of four will be shown in formations which are used as part of a program for the camp water day and as demonstrations for visitors.

Even so she will come another year."

Which is all O.K., except that this department doesn't like cherry pie. Could we please make it strawberry, with whipped cream? . . .

Seen from Old Capitol

By TOM YOSELOFF

One of the less wise coeds in the botany department was somewhat worried yesterday. It seems that the University of Iowa is interested in the Byrd expedition, now grabbing Antarctica for the United States. The girl had evidently read about the fact that Admiral Byrd is now isolated somewhere at the bottom of the earth without any means of communication.

Prof. George W. Martin and Prof. Robert B. Wylie, both of the botany department, and both "Byrd-lovers," received a telegram from the expedition—or at least, one section of it. So the little girl spent her time trying to figure out how a telegram could be sent when the men had no means of communication. This department isn't going to take space to answer that one. After all, I'm just a "seer from Old Capitol"—not an Eskimopsy. (A pun).

Notre Dame Perks Up in Play On Diamond . . . Carleton Battle Next Tuesday Not Monday . . . All But Golfers Absent.

THAT NOTRE DAME will be no soft touch for the Hawkeye baseball team Friday and Saturday is now apparent. . . Early this year it seemed as if the Irish would never win a ball game. . . But now that they're going they should be tough to stop. . . Yesterday the South Bend outfit handed Northwestern a 3 to 2 setback.

ALONG WITH the baseball and track teams, the tennis men will vacate the campus this week. . . The above average Iowa team will appear in the conference championships at Chicago starting tomorrow. . . Although chances for any championships are remote at best, a higher placing should be gained by "Dad" Schroeder's boys.

THE CHICAGO CUBS and their city rivals, the White Sox, seem to have picked out a pair of swell rookies first basemen this year. . . Zelig Bonura of the Pale Hose and Dolph Camilli of the Bruins are the players. . . Both seem to be much the same type of hitters—long distance. . . While not sporting outstanding batting averages, they have accounted for their share of runs batted in. . . And have also hit for the circuit on frequent occasion. . . The White Sox have long needed a first baseman and now possess a thoroughly capable one in Bonura. . . Camilli is competing against one of the best first sackers in the majors in the person of his boss, Charley Grimm. . . But if Dolph continues to come through, Charley will certainly welcome the opportunity to devote all his time to managing his outfit.

Hawks' Trio In Tourney

Leaves for Big Ten Net Meet at Chicago; Sieh Out

Three members of the University of Iowa tennis team, accompanied by Coach E. G. "Dad" Schroeder, will leave Iowa City this noon for Chicago where they will participate in the Big Ten tennis championships which begin tomorrow.

Capt. Al Sieh is the only man not making the trip, a conflicting examination requiring his presence here. John Fletcher, John Van der Zee, and Frank Nye, regulars along with Sieh during the dual meet season, will make up the Iowa contingent. . . Of this trio, Fletcher has the best record, having won five of his seven singles matches. Both Van der Zee and Nye, however, have shown great improvement in recent matches.

All three of the men will appear in the singles competition with Fletcher and Van der Zee pairing up in the doubles. Coach Schroeder said yesterday, following Iowa's defeat at the hands of Minnesota on Monday, that the Gophers appeared to have the strongest team in the conference this year and rank as the leading contender for the team championship.

Dick Powell just sizzles, when he warbles with the Four Mills Bros. in "Twenty Million Sweethearts," coming to the Varsity theater Saturday.

GIANT WIN PUTS CUBS IN SECOND PLACE

Hubbell Holds Chicago to 7 Hits; Fans 5

Ott's Clout With 2 On In 4th Drives Root From Mound

CHICAGO, May 15 (AP)—The New York Giants today showed some of the form that carried them to the 1933 world's championship as they wound up their first tour of the west with a smashing 10 to 3 triumph over the Cubs.

The triumph couldn't lift the Giants out of fourth place in the standings, as they started a game and a half behind the St. Louis Cardinals, but it returned the Cubs to second place after a day at the head of the parade. The loss dropped them behind the idle Pittsburgh Pirates, who have a .682 average to Chicago's .667.

After losing the first two games in Chicago, the Giants came back today with a 15 hit attack that polished off Charley Root in four innings and continued when Bud Tinning took the hill. Mel Ott provided the blow that resulted in Root's downfall when he patted his seventh home run of the season with two mates on base in the fourth. Joe Moore also hit a Giant homer while Dolph Camilli hit a futile four bagger for the Cubs, his second of the series.

Meanwhile Carl Hubbell limited the Cubs to seven hits after weathering a bad first inning and chalked up his fifth mound victory of the season against two defeats. He fanned five and gave no walks although he brushed Chuck Klein with a pitched ball.

Cubs Tie Score After Travis Jackson's single with the bases loaded in the first gave the Giants a two run start, the Cubs evened the count in the same inning. Augie Galan singled, Klein was hit and Galan scored when Jackson fumbled Kiki Cuyler's grounder. "Tut" Stainback smashed a hard double that scored Klein but a moment later Cuyler was tagged trying to score on Camilli's bounder and the rally was checked. From then on Hubbell hurled scoreless ball except when Camilli lofted one into the right field bleachers in the sixth.

The victory ended the Giants' trip with a record of five victories and eight defeats while the Cubs, in their stand against the east, reversed that record with eight games won and five lost.

Score by innings: R. H. E. New York . . . 291 304 030—10 15 2 Chicago . . . 290 001 009—3 7 3 Batteries—Hubbell and Mancuso; Root, Tinning and Tate.

American Woman Loses PORTHCAWL, Wales, May 5 (AP)—Grace Amory, America's lone contender for the British women's golf championship, was eliminated today when she lost a nip and tuck extra hole match with Betty Ellis, sturdy Irish player, in the third round. The tall, slim girl from New York and West Palm Beach, Fla., passed out of the tournament on the 19th hole where her adversary holed a six foot putt for a winning birdie.

Grimes Released ST. LOUIS, May 15 (AP)—Burling Grimes, the last of the major league spitball pitchers, was notified of his unconditional release today by President Sam Breadon of the Cardinals. Grimes, who performed the major duty in winning the world series in 1931 for the Cardinals, had been credited with two victories this year, both in a relief role and on successive days.

Win Kittenball Section Title From Alpha Sigma Phi

Falling upon Larson for six runs in the first inning, Phi Beta Delta trounced Alpha Sigma Phi, 12 to 4, in a game of interfraternity play yesterday at City park.

The winners backed Gorkin, their hurler, up in fine style, holding their hard-hitting opponents well in check, except for a three-run outburst in the fifth inning. Newman, Sobel, and Karchafsky divided batting honors for Phi Beta Delta, while Evansky turned in a fine fielding performance. Larson, though hit hard on the mound, had a good day at bat, lashing out two hits for the losers.

Ball Hounds! 'Bring-'em Back Alive' Blackman Rescues Grandstand P u p s

"Hey coach, I got a litter of pups!" shouted Ken Blackman, as he rushed out from beneath the third-base grandstands, where he had gone to retrieve a foul ball.

The Hawkeye baseball players were hard at work sharpening their batting eyes for the Notre Dame series at Lafayette, Ind., Friday and Saturday, and Blackman's sensational announcement brought the proceedings to a sudden and complete halt.

"I just found them under the stands. Come on and take a look," continued the versatile Kenny, and Coach Vogel heaved a sigh of relief as he joined his players in a rush to the designated spot.

There were seven lonesome looking puppies, exact breed unknown, who looked up at the rapidly arriving ball players as if to say, "We want our Ma." The proud discoverer surrendered his priority claim to Coach Vogel, who announced his intention of taking the entire litter home and caring for the members until he could place each of them in separate sanctuaries.

However, the process of finding suitable refugees for the orphans got under way almost immediately as three spectators bid for the privilege of acquiring a real aged-in-the-park ball hound. Prof. E. H. Lauer, athletic director, who happened to be present, was the first to relieve the coach of one of his charges, and before the interrupted practice session was completed, two more of the "foundlings" found their way to established homes.

B'klyn Comes From Behind To Nip Cards

Double Steal in Eighth Breaks Tie; Final Score, 6-5

ST. LOUIS, May 15 (AP)—After Jim Mooney had held them in almost complete submission for five innings, the Brooklyn Dodgers began to come to life and pulled out a 6 to 5 triumph over the Cardinals in the final game of their first western invasion.

The defeat left the third place St. Louis club only a half game in front of the victorious New York Giants. In the first five frames the Dodgers rapped Mooney freely but could score only one run while the Cards urged on by a hitting spree by Jack Rothrock, counted five times against Ray Benge.

Brooklyn got into the game by scoring twice in the sixth when Sam Leslie was hit by a pitched ball and Al Lopez, Jimmy Jordan and Lonnie Frey connected for singles. They put over the winning tallies with another outburst in the eighth while Relief Pitchers Ray Lucas and Owen Carroll blanked the Cards with three hits in the last four innings.

The first three Dodgers to face Mooney in the eighth, Jordan, Jim Bucher and Frey, hit singles, Jordan scoring, then Dizzy Dean was summoned for the rescue role. Len Koonce nicked him for a single that loaded the sacks. Dan Taylor forced him but Bucher tallied on the play, then Frey and Taylor worked a double steal for the winning run.

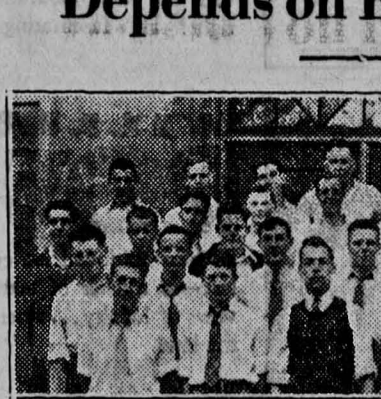

Although he couldn't win the game, Rothrock was easily the first time up and wound up with three singles and a double added for a perfect day at the plate. He figured in all three St. Louis scoring innings and twice started double plays from his post in right field.

Score by innings: R. H. E. Brooklyn . . . 000 102 030—6 12 1 St. Louis . . . 101 030 000—5 12 1 Batteries—Benge, Lucas, Carroll and Lopez; Mooney, J. Dean, Haines and V. Davis.

Track Men Meet For Photos At Iowa Field Today

All members of the freshman and varsity track teams are requested by Coach George T. Bresnahan to report in uniform on Old Iowa Field at 4:15 o'clock this afternoon for a series of photographs.

It is important that all men be there at the appointed hour, Coach Bresnahan said, so that the pictures can be taken as quickly as possible.

Will Leave Tomorrow

Light Workouts Order Of Week As Hawks Prepare

Coach George T. Bresnahan will take 15 men to the Big Ten outdoor conference meet at Evanston, Ill., Friday and Saturday.

The Hawkeye mentor, Ted Swenson, freshman coach, and the squad will leave Iowa City tomorrow, arriving at the scene of the meet in time for a night of rest before the preliminaries Friday.

Although the Hawks made a poor showing indoors, their chances in the outdoor affair seem brighter and Bresnahan looks for an improved showing.

Last night's varsity workout was not of a heavy nature. Distance men worked at three fourths distance and hurdlers practised the 220 yard lows around a curve.

Iowa's hopes rest on point getting in the hurdle races, the 440 yard dash, and the 880 yard and mile relays.

Although strong in dual meets, the Iowa field event strength does not look equal to withstand assaults of the conference meet stars. Only Mark Panther in the javelin throw is conceded a good chance of winning points.

Frosh Times Slow

Freshman tracksters run off nine of the 15 events of the Iowa-Wisconsin-Chicago telegraphic triangular meet last night. The remaining six events will be held tonight.

Running under the handicap of a slow, soft track, times for track events were unimpressive. Dashmen could not go under 10 seconds for the 100 yard dash and hurdle times were slow.

Paul Nelson turned in a fine performance in the one mile run by winning in 4:33.7. Events held last night were the 100 and 440 yard dashes, the 120 yard high and 220 yard low hurdles, pole vault, high jump, discus throw, and shot put.

Tonight the remaining six events will be run off. They include the 880 yard and two mile run, 220 yard dash, mile relay, broad jump, and javelin throw.

Red Sox Buy Lyn Lary For Cash, Player

Trade Only Outstanding Deal As Clubs Cut Down to Limit

By ALAN GOULD (Associated Press Sports Editor) NEW YORK, May 15—The perfunctory business of lopping off rookie heads to bring major league rosters within the 23 player limit today was interrupted by the sale of Lyn Lary, much sought Yankee infielder, to the Boston Red Sox and the evidence of frantic efforts otherwise by most American league managers to strengthen their clubs for the attack on New York's big pennant lead.

Following the apparent return to form of their expensive left hander, Bob Grove, the Red Sox were willing to hand over approximately $20,000 in cash, besides a rookie infielder, Fred Mulker, in exchange for Lary. The Yankees previously had offers for Lary from at least three other clubs, including the Detroit Tigers, but besides putting a stiff price on his release Manager Joe McCarthy also was anxious to get a pitcher in any deal for the infielder's services.

Devens Released Apparently McCarthy is now satisfied that his pitching staff will do for the balance of the season for he's not only agreed to part with Lary, a $50,000 investment, but also announced the release on option of Charley Devens, former Harvard ace right hander, to the Newark Internationals. Devens, ill most of the spring, performed so well last year with Newark and the Yankees that he was figured a likely starting pitcher in the big leagues this year.

Meanwhile, rumors were rife concerning pending deals calculated to fortify the champion Washington Senators, Detroit Tigers and Cleveland Indians in their pursuit of the Yankees, who threaten to make another runaway of the American league race. On the National league side of the fence, the staggering New York Giants, acting like anything but world champions, were reported dickering for Babe Herman, slugging outfielder of the Cubs and a former Brooklyn favorite.

Hornby Spikes Rumors Rogers Hornby, manager of the St. Louis Browns, spiked reports he would consider parting with his star second baseman, Oscar Melillo, in any deal but Walter Johnson, pilot of the Indians, admitted he would like to get Myril Hoag, substitute outfielder of the Yankees, and Harry Davis, a first baseman owned by Detroit but now playing with Toledo. Johnson said he turned down a chance to get Frank Doolack, Tiger outfielder.

Since swapping infielders with Washington, Ralph Kress for Bob Boken, Manager Jimmy Dykes of the White Sox is sitting tight, "waiting for something to come along" that will bolster the fall end Chicagoans.

Two major landmarks, Joe Judge of the Red Sox and Durelidge Grimes of the Cardinals, received unconditional releases in the general rush to reduce rosters to the player limit. Judge has spent 13 years in the majors and Grimes, last of the spitballers, had just started his 19th season.

The Yankees latest acquisition, Muller, who came up last season from Seattle, won't even have a chance to wear a New York uniform for the time being. He joined Devens and Norman Klein, young backstop, on the list of players optioned to the Newark farm.

The Cubs released Pitcher Lynn Nelson to Atlanta, the Browns returned Pitcher Jim Weaver to the Newark Internationals and the Brooklyn Dodgers sold Phil Page, southpaw, to Kansas City and Outfielder Glenn Chapman to Albany, while the Detroit Tigers released Pitcher Steve Larkin to Toledo.

Saturday Is the Big Frivol Day

With one week to go before finals, quadrangle sports are on their last lap for the year. The finals in tennis, singles, tennis doubles, golf, and horseshoe pitching are yet to be played off.

In order to get all results in on time, Pete Affre, quad athletic director, has announced that all semifinal matches must be played today. That sets the deadline on these matches at dusk this evening.

Results: Tennis singles: Reeve defeated Kent Fuller 4-6, 6-1, 7-5. Druker went into the semi-finals by way of wins over Metcalf, 6-2, 6-3, and Duntrock, 6-2, 4-6, 6-1. Druker

Frosh Stars Show Up Well in Grid Windup at I.S.C.

AMES, May 15 (Special)—The showing of four Cyclone freshmen in the Veishea football game here last Saturday was the most impressive feature of the afternoon. The four boys, Gene Collasaco, Springfield, Ill., and Russell Comdoff, Gary, Ind., guards, Marvin Oberg, Fremont, Neb., tackle, and Tommy Neal, Sioux City, quarterback will all be eligible for their first year of varsity competition next fall.

The defensive work of the three linemen was particularly satisfying, and Neal, an all-state quarterback in 1933, gave a nice exhibition of his ability as a triple threat man.

Jim Londos In Rapids Match

To Oppose George Mack At Coliseum in C. R. Friday Night

CEDAR RAPIDS, (Special)—Jim Londos, world's heavyweight wrestling champion, will display his championship wares in the Memorial Coliseum ring in Cedar Rapids Friday evening, May 18, against George Mack, the Boston Caveman, Matchmaker Eddie Jennings of Hanford Post American Legion has announced.

In keeping with big-time wrestling regulations, the Londos-Mack encounter will be a one fall 90-minute time limit affair. Mack was selected as the most suitable opponent for the swarthy Greek heavyweight, as the "Caveatun" has demonstrated to the delight of fans in this territory that he can not only take it, but give it with plenty of vengeance.

Londos has engaged in over 1,000 matches since taking up wrestling at the age of 19. He is now 37, weighs 205 lbs. and is a physical specimen not unlike the ancient Greeks who depended on their physical strength in warfare.

In addition to the main event, an attractive supporting card has been arranged. Such luminaries as Hans Kampher, German heavyweight champion, and Jim Parker of St. Louis will engage in a 30-minute time limit event. Jagot Singh, the Hindu mystic, and Lou Plumber of St. Louis, will also wrestle under the 30-minute limit, as will Steve Nagy, Hungarian champion, and Jimmy High, Canadian champ. Singh and High appeared on the last wrestling program here and provided plenty of real entertainment.

Holds Fifty Point Lead Over Baker

Also Tops List With Total Number Of Safe Hits

With Ken Blackman still leading the way, the Hawkeye baseball team is maintaining a batting average better than .300. The last official check-up shows the boys hitting to the tune of .303 with nine players above the .300 mark.

Blackman's average fell after the Northwestern games to .354 but he still has a 50 point lead over Baker, his nearest rival whose mark is .344. Schmidt, Mason and Stephens are running neck and neck with averages of .326, .325, .323.

Captain Schulte-Henrich, although he lost several percentages points, is still hitting at a steady clip. His mark of .315 is the lowest he had gone so far this year. Drager with .304, Bazant and Murphy with .300 each, round out the group of players in the .300 class.

In runs scored Stephens and Schulte-Henrich lead with 21 apiece, three more than Drager who has 18. Blackman heads the list in number of hits with 26, followed closely by Schulte-Henrich with 21.

Blue Faces City High In 2-Day Meet

University high's trackmen meet City high today in the final intracity prep school athletic event of the year. The meet, an annual affair between the two schools, will take place over a span of two days, with field events being scheduled for this afternoon at the river school's track, and running events contested at Old Iowa field tomorrow.

Based upon comparative records, the Blue team, under the tutelage of Coach Carpenter, will take the field a favorite to outpoint Coach Wells' Little Hawks, though the latter may spring a surprise with Marshall leading the way in today's field events against Captain Warren's troupe.

In the first division, and Gordon is the second division, are the only two participants to reach the semifinal brackets.

Preston and D. Southern have come through the semi-finals of the horseshoe pitching event and are paired in the final match.

Iowa River Patrol Provided By University Prevents Many Canoe Disasters To Students

By PHIL RAY
With canoeing one of the most popular spring sports among the University of Iowa students, there has always been a need for some organization to supervise activities on the Iowa river. This need is now filled by the river patrol which is composed of expert swimmers and life savers under the direction of Coach David A. Armbruster. The patrolmen who are now on duty every day are Bruce Grove, August Anderson, and George Ernst, all of whom were members of the varsity swimming team and are qualified life savers.

Three Enter Annual Race

Armbruster to Keep List Open Until Tomorrow

Only three fraternities have entered teams in the annual interfraternity canoe race which is scheduled to be held on the Iowa river tomorrow afternoon at 4:30. The race will begin at a point midway between the city park bridge and the island and will end at the Iowa Union bridge.
Beta Theta Pi, Delta Sigma Delta, and Phi Kappa Psi are the three organizations which have entered teams in the annual event. Coach David A. Armbruster, who is in charge of the race, expects many new contestants to sign up today and will keep the entry list open until race time tomorrow.
Contestants must report at the starting line with their canoes before 4:30. A special view will be stretched across the river at the Iowa Union bridge to aid in judging the finish.

Moguls Lift Ban on Baer

Maxie Gives Illustrated Lecture on How To Beat Carnera

NEW YORK, May 15 (AP)—Max Baer made his peace with the New York state athletic commission today and the suspension imposed upon him for flouting the majesty of the fist fathers a week ago, was immediately lifted. His manager, Ancil Hoffman, shared the pardon.
The big Californian who fights Primo Carnera for the heavyweight championship June 14 explained in detail and with gestures the manner in which he plans to depose the present king. He appeared in fine shape and full voice, and hustled back to his training camp at Atlantic City, N. J., after a half hour visit.
While at the commission Baer also went through the routine of signing a contract for the bout, stipulating that he is to receive the regular challenger's share in the receipts, 12 1/2 per cent. The contract signed with Madison Square Garden calls for more than that and also cuts Jack Dempsey in for 7 1/2 per cent.
Baer's suspension was more or less of a formality when he failed to appear at the commission offices over a week ago before the officials had left for the day. Today he was on hand before they arrived.
"He gave an illustrated lecture on boxing," Bert Stand, secretary of the commission, announced after the meeting, "and he was the only speaker at the gathering because no one else could get word in edge-wise."
"He also spoke for some time on the fact that he had to knock Carnera out swiftly June 14 because he has an offer of $10,000 to appear for just that one night as master of ceremonies in a night club. Or it may have been $100,000 if he is offered. By the time he got to that I had stopped listening closely."

Joe Jacobs Arrested
PORTBOU, Spain, May 15 (AP)—Joe Jacobs, manager of Max Schmeling, fretfully awaited the arrival at his frontier town tonight of Barcelona police who will escort him back to that city to answer charges of fraud in connection with the alleged non-payment of taxes on the purse Schmeling received for his 12 round draw with Paulino Uzcudun on Sunday.

Gabby Hartnett, in Thirteenth Major League Season Behind Plate, Scoffs at Superstition

CHICAGO, May 15 (AP)—Gabby Hartnett, veteran catcher for the Chicago Cubs, is one ball player who isn't superstitious about the number 13.
"It's a good thing he isn't, for this is his thirteenth year with the Cubs. In celebration Gabby is out to maintain or better his record of the last four years of catching more than 100 games a season.
As evidence of his disdain of unlucky 13 Gabby—there's a story in how he came by that name—stepped up at bat the other day after going hitless for 12 times in a row.
It was one of those 11 inning affairs with the St. Louis Cardinals and a lot depended on Hartnett. He swung, connected with the ball and whammed it afar to bring in the winning run.
Arm Shattered in Boyhood
Time was when Hartnett, dean of the Cubs, appeared destined to become nothing more than an interested spectator at ball games. That was in his boyhood days when every bone in his arm was broken in a blavny mishap.
Gabby carried a pall of sand for three months and so well did the broken bones mend that, save for one year, his arm never has bothered him since. His bad year was in 1929 when he was used only as a pinch hitter.
Since then he has been setting a pace that has led baseball men to regard him as one of the game's outstanding catchers, along with Mickey Cochrane and Bill Dickey.
Retiree Earns Him Nickname
In eight of the seasons Gabby has been behind the plate for the Cubs he has played in more than 100 games. His biggest year was 1930, when he caught 141 games and ended the season with a .339 batting average. In the 1932 world's series he played in all seven games and had a batting average of .313.
Gabby was born Charles Leo Hartnett at Woonsocket, R. I., Dec. 20, 1900 and it wasn't until years later that "Gabby" was ever applied to him—and then it implied just the opposite.
It was the year he broke into the Cubs. During the long trip to Catalina he recalls that he didn't want to give an impression of freshness so said little—about five words in all.
In desperation, after failing to draw him out, a late Chicago sports writer turned to him and said:
"Why don't you say something? You sure are a gabby guy."
And "Gabby" it has been to this day.

"THE LONE WOLF'S SON"

by LOUIS JOSEPH VANCE

SYNOPSIS
Aboard the S.S. "Navarre," bound for New York, Michael Lanyard, reformed "Lone Wolf" and underworld celebrity, is reunited with his son whom he thought dead. The boy, "Maurice Perry," has followed in the "Lone Wolf's" footsteps, but Lanyard hopes his son's interest in Feno Crozier, lovely daughter of the wealthy Mrs. Fay Crozier, will prove a good influence. Maurice steals Mrs. Crozier's Habsburg emeralds. Lanyard retrieves them for Fay. Detective Grand warns Lanyard to get out of the way—vengeance of "Jack Knife" is on Lanyard and "Engish Archie," two gunmen whom Lanyard exposed for cheating Maurice at cards. Shortly afterwards the gangsters steal Mrs. Crozier's emeralds and plant them in Lanyard's cabin. Maurice saves his father by substituting imitations and secretly placing the emeralds in the purser's care for Fay. Notwithstanding Lanyard's innocence, Detective Plon is suspicious of him. Later, when one of "Jack Knife's" accomplices tries to intimidate Lanyard into stealing the emeralds and splitting fifty-fifty with the gang, Maurice appears on the scene, masked. He knocks the gangster unconscious, planting a string of pearls stolen from the notorious gold-digger, Tess Boyce, in the thief's pocket. Tess, in gratitude to Maurice for catching the thief, gives a dinner in his honor. Lanyard disapproves of the society of Tess Boyce for his son, but Feno asks him to leave Maurice to her. Discussing the Boyce robbery, Plon informs Lanyard that the prisoner swore Lanyard and Maurice planted the necklace on him.
CHAPTER XX
"Unfortunately for you, monsieur, the accusation is supported by certain evidence—not, I admit, conclusive, but for all that, strong enough to dispose me to credit it."
"For example?"
"The prisoner is a man of less than average stature. He was plainly dressed in what Americans call a sack suit. The blue-and-white cotton handkerchief he wore as a mask was what they call a bandana."
"I myself made the same observations. What then?"
"The man of whom two stewards on night-duty caught glimpses as he ran down the passageway leading to Mme. Boyce's suite, when she was screaming the alarm, was as tall as you, monsieur, as tall as your son, and wore a dinner jacket; and the handkerchief over his face was a black one."
"So they say, your precious witnesses. But you and I know how untrustworthy is the evidence of eyewitnesses in times of excitement."
"It is true, they are apt to contradict one another. But these two agree."
"What of it?" Lanyard's amused attitude was flawless—a historic triumph over the catch at his heart. That wretched boy! "Are you seriously disposed to credit the fantastic claims of a notorious criminal caught prowling with stolen property on his person, with no more support than the testimony of a couple of hare-witted stewards?"
"I have only this to say, monsieur." Here Plon timed into consideration the fact that you have been involved already in two robberies, and have admitted that you know, while refusing to reveal, the identity of the thief who stole Madame Crozier's emeralds, I feel obliged to advise you—and this with the sanction of the Captain—that should a third such incident occur before we dock, you and your so-called son will be returned to France in irons."
"Many thanks, I'm sure," Lanyard did blow a formal yet burlesque bow. "My compliments to

King Levinsky Given Year's Suspension

LOS ANGELES, May 15 (AP)—King Levinsky, Chicago heavyweight, was suspended for not less than one year by Dr. Harry Martin of the California Athletic Commission today when the fighter failed to show up at weighing in time for his scheduled 10 round bout tonight with Art Lasky, Minneapolis.
Dr. Martin said he would seek the suspension of Levinsky in New York and Illinois on the basis of their agreements with the California governing body.
Mrs. Lena Levinsky Levy, sister and co-manager of the Kingfish, also was cited by the commissioner, who revoked her license as manager in the state. Martin said he would seek to have her barred in New York and Illinois as well.
Levinsky and his sister disappeared from Los Angeles Saturday after failure of an effort to postpone the fight.
No action was taken immediately by Promoter Lou Daro, who advanced Levinsky $300 on his share of the fight.

"Strange As It Seems"

The recent case of an American Indian girl of 12 years giving birth to a child is eclipsed by a case reported a few months ago in the British Medical Journal in London.
In the case reported in London the mother was six years and eight months old. She was a Mohammedan girl living in Delhi, India. According to Hilda L. Keane of the Victoria Zannana hospital in Delhi, where the child was born, the mother was born on Oct. 11, 1925. Her daughter was born on June 7, 1932—four months before the mother's seventh birthday.
The age of the girl was given by her father when she entered the hospital several months before her child was born. It was further verified by hospital authorities from other records and by interviewing members of the family.
The baby weighed four pounds and three ounces at birth, was nursed by its mother for nine months at the end of which time it weighed more than 11 pounds. It was a Caesarian birth.
The white girl who is believed to hold the American record as the youngest mother is Mrs. Theodore Walsh of Syracuse. She gave birth to a 7-pound baby daughter when she was only 12 years old.

Miss Bruner Reappointed Social Service Head Will Serve For Next Year

Laetia Bruner was appointed executive secretary of the Social Service league for another year at a meeting of the board of directors of the league Monday night.

The resolution adopted by the board is as follows: The board of directors hereby express their great appreciation of the excellent work done by Miss Bruner as executive secretary, and their confidence in her ability to maintain the high standards of service that have characterized relief work in this community ever since her appointment.

"One of Best" Prof. Kirk H. Porter, president of the Social Service league, had this further comment to make: "It is perhaps not generally known that Iowa City has one of the very best county welfare units to be found in this part of the county. Of course I am not referring to size of staff and amount of money handled, I am referring to standards of service and general efficiency."

"Administration of relief involves many baffling problems that constantly challenge the patience, skill, and judgment of those who have to deal with them."

"Splendid Work" "Miss Bruner, Miss Decker, and other members of our staff have done a splendid piece of work for which they are entitled to high praise."

"The needy are being adequately cared for and it is being done in accordance with the best ideals and practices universally recognized by expert social workers. There has been an almost total absence of friction and ill feeling among the various agencies that have to function through the office of the social service secretary."

"Cordial Relations" "Available funds have been intelligently conserved and the relations of the local office with the state and federal authorities have been most cordial, and have always prompted the highest commendation."

"Needless to say I am much pleased that Miss Bruner is going to serve for at least another year."

Plan to Aid School Band

Women to Hold Sales For Transportation Funds

The sale of kolaches will aid in sending the Iowa City high school band to the national band contest at Des Moines late this month.

A group of women plan to make kolaches all night Friday in the kitchen of the St. Wenceslaus church which has been offered for their use by the Rev. Carl F. Clems.

All materials have been donated and 100 dozen kolaches will be baked and placed on sale Saturday.

Mrs. William Parizek is taking orders for the kolaches, or the orders may be called in to the St. Wenceslaus church on Saturday.

The sales will be held at Sidwell's dairy store, and at Gay's and Kozak's and McColligan's meat markets. General chairman of the food sales is Mrs. R. V. Smith.

A rummage sale will also be held Saturday at 119 S. Dubuque street to aid in raising funds for the band. Rummage will be collected by grade school children and brought in tomorrow. Persons having any clothing for the sale are requested to call Mrs. E. H. Lauer, Mrs. E. T. Hubbard or Mrs. R. V. McCollum. These women along with Mrs. Roscoe Hughes and Mrs. Thomas Caywood make up the committee in charge of the sale.
