2 DIE AS STRIKERS BATTLE POLICE

Quite Attached Officials Won't Grant Siamese Twin A Marriage License.

NEW YORK, July 5 (AP)—Flatly refused permission to marry in two states because she is a Siamese twin, red-haired Violet Hilton and her would-be bridegroom, Maurice L. Lambert, decided tonight to wage a legal battle for the license.

In both New York and New Jersey officials were unyielding to pleas of Violet, accompanied of course by Daisy, the left half of the famous twins, and Lambert. They based their refusals on moral grounds.

The trio appeared first at the municipal license bureau in Manhattan, where a stammering clerk delayed them while he sought a legal referee in the corporation counsel's office.

After a lengthy study of legal tomes was made, it was decided no license would be issued. The twins and Lambert journeyed to Newark, N. J., and there the perplexed clerk's refusal was based on the same moral grounds that caused a hitch in the proceedings across the Hudson.

"We'll go to Elkton, Md.," said Violet. But instead, the trio turned back to New York, and their attorney said he would start mandamus proceedings against city officials tomorrow in supreme court.

Publicity Stunt? The corporation counsel's office admittedly based the non-issuance of the license on the theory that a city has the right of discretion in their issuance.

The officials also voiced a suspicion that the application might be a publicity stunt for a forthcoming vaudeville tour of the twins, who are joined together at the hips.

"The very idea is quite immoral and indecent," said acting corporation counsel William C. Chandler. "No, there's no law against it, but it just seems indelicate to me."

Roosevelt Promises Withdrawal of U.S. Marines From Haiti

CAP HAITIEN, Haiti, July 5 (AP)—After promising the prompt withdrawal of American marines from Haiti, President Roosevelt joined the chief executive of Haiti today in a toast to the restoration of complete independent relations between the two republics.

The president came ashore from the U.S.S. Houston, which is taking him to the Pacific ocean on his vacation. During the visit, he made a brief address—partly in French—at the Union club, saying the marines will leave Haiti within a month or six weeks.

Theater Will Present Play Here Tonight Comedy Will Run Two Nights; Special Stage Used (See Story on Page 5)

University theater will present "The Shoemaker's Holiday," by Thomas Dekker, tonight at 8 o'clock in Macbride auditorium. A second performance is scheduled for tomorrow night.

This play, the first of a series of Elizabethan productions under the direction of B. Iden Payne, well known Shakespearean actor, will open the theater's summer season. Three other plays will be given in the series, Prof. E. C. Mable, director of the theater, said.

29 Students Twenty-nine summer session students will have parts in the production, which will be performed on a reproduction of the old Fortune theater stage, which has been built in Macbride hall.

"The Shoemaker's Holiday," subtitled "A pleasant comedy of the gentle craft," is a rollicking play of the shoemakers of London in the reign of Queen Elizabeth.

First published in 1599, it is concerned with the fortunes of Simon Eyre, a shoemaker who rose to the position of Lord Mayor of London. Cecil E. Matson, G of Tolovana Park Ore., will play in the role of Eyre, said to have been based on a real person, who was an upholsterer and later a draper.

Officials from other states will be present to discuss the work of similar departments in Illinois and Michigan. The purpose of the meeting is to bring together public officials and academic men.

The following persons will be present: Senator J. K. Valentine of Centerville, chairman of the interim legislative committee on the reduction of governmental expenditures; Senator D. W. Kimberley of Davenport; Senator G. E. Roeloffs of Sioux City; Representative E. M. Dean of Mason City, and Representative John Spalding of Washington, all members of the committee.

Nazi Papers Make Claims Of Conspiracy

Hindenburg May Halt Demotion Of Von Papen By LOUIS P. LOCHNER (Copyright, 1934, by the Associated Press)

BERLIN, July 5 (AP)—France, through her ambassador here, tonight formally and vigorously denied she was involved in the plot against Chancellor Hitler's government which was broken up by the weekend executions.

The denial was given out and it was stated a formal protest will be made to the German government after the Nazi press had accused the late Gen. Kurt Van Schleicher of having dealings with France.

The killing of Von Schleicher, who in 1932 was chancellor for 58 days, was justified, the newspapers insisted, on the basis of "the heinous crime of entering into negotiations with France, thereby giving the idea to Paris that the Nazi system is not going to last."

French Ambassador Andre Francois-Poncet branded the charge an "absurd fable" and protested strongly against the "great prominence" given to the story in German newspapers.

The ambassador was said by French sources to have been promised when he called at the Wilhelmstrasse yesterday that the German press would not be permitted to drag France into the matter.

Accused Plotters Hitler had accused some of the plotters of negotiating with a "foreign power" and there was much speculation as to what country was meant.

The German newspapers' story accused Von Schleicher, one of those executed by Hitler's men, of having dealings with France while he was chancellor in 1932. French Foreign Minister Louis Barthou was accused of revealing the Von Schleicher plot to the British at Geneva May 30. "Hitler's days are numbered," E. H. Mulock of Des Moines. (Turn to page 5)

Church Confesses To Gentry Killing, Says 'A Good Job'

JEFFERSON, Wis., July 5 (AP)—Ready to accept punishment for an act he described as "a good job for society," Carl Church, 36, itinerant laborer, tonight calmly faced a probable life sentence in state prison for the slaying of Earl Gentry, 47, former bodyguard of D. C. Stephenson, one-time grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan in Indiana.

Church, a native of Monett, Kan., pleaded guilty when arraigned today in justice court on a first degree murder charge, carrying a maximum penalty of life imprisonment.

New Dealer Upholds Acts Of Roosevelt

Talk of Dictatorship Sheer Nonsense, Says Richberg PORT WORTH, Tex., July 5 (AP)—Donald R. Richberg, chairman of the president's new industrial emergency committee, tonight scoffed at talk of a Roosevelt "dictatorship" as "sheer nonsense."

The former general counsel of NRA declared that President Roosevelt on the contrary had developed democratic government in this world in the face of "a worldwide reaction against democratic institutions."

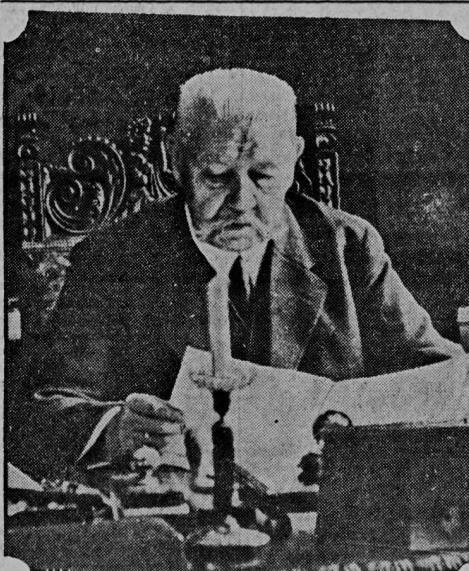

First Address Richberg, holder of three new deal titles and charged with coordinating the industrial policy of the administration's recovery agencies, made before the Texas Bar association his first public address since taking over his new tasks.

As a direct result of recovery measures, he asserted, more than 5,000,000 people have been re-employed in trade and industry, while "the total payroll of the nation has been doubled."

"Agricultural income has been enormously increased," he said. "Several hundred thousand homes have been saved from foreclosure. Temporary work has been provided for as many as 4,000,000 people. Public projects of a more permanent character have furnished employment, and direct relief payments have given subsistence to millions more."

Two Alternatives Richberg devoted virtually his entire address to praise of Mr. Roosevelt's policies and criticism of new deal critics. He contended there were only two alternatives to the recovery program and that both were "alike destructive."

VETERAN GERMAN LEADER ILL

Here is a recent photo of President Paul von Hindenburg of Germany, who has been reported gravely ill, while his country seethes in turmoil and bloodshed as a result of the quelling of an uprising in the Nazi party.

England, Germany Reach Debt Interest Agreement

Reich to Pay Holders Of Bonds; U. S. Displeased (By The Associated Press) Great Britain and Germany's agreements that Germany is to make interest payments to British holders of Dawes and Young bonds was apparently received with satisfaction Thursday everywhere except in the United States.

British financial quarters welcomed the settlement with unconcealed relief and satisfaction and the belief was expressed in the press that German credit might be rehabilitated.

The German foreign office seized upon the happy averting of an Anglo-German trade war as an outstanding gain accomplished by Germany in the negotiations.

French treasury officials indicated they hoped to make an arrangement similar to that of Britain's with Germany, and it has been said in Berlin that any other nation was welcome to enter diplomatic negotiations to that end.

But in Washington it became known that the United States will demand that Germany give Americans, holders of about $1,500,000,000 of German obligations, an even break with Britons in the payment.

Many Others Wounded As Pickets Riot

Fighting Subsides As Guardsmen Move On Area Copyright, 1934. By The Associated Press SAN FRANCISCO, July 5 (AP)—Fighting reminiscent of World war battles raged on the San Francisco waterfront today as strike pickets fought hand-to-hand over an area a mile square with police amid roaring blasts from pistols and riot guns and the blinding fumes from tear gas bombs.

Two of the strikers, seeking to enforce a blockade of the port of San Francisco—tied up since May 9 by a longshoremen's strike—fell mortally wounded. Thirty-one other persons were shot, and 38 more suffered gas and club injuries requiring hospital or physicians' treatment.

Guards Advance Two thousand national guardsmen, ordered by Gov. Frank Merriam to safeguard state-owned property, moved upon the strike-torn area tonight. The situation had quieted.

A gutter near the strikers headquarters ran red with blood as the two slain strikers lay helpless until ambulances screamed their way through the streets.

Taking protection behind telephone poles, the police opened fire directly at the strikers. Pickets a block away shouted threats and the officers answered by blasts from their pistols and shotguns.

Empty Guns Throughout the afternoon the strikers gathered in groups, only to be dispersed quickly by tear gas shots. In one instance the police used nauseating gas to scatter the men from a pool room in which they had sought shelter from the withering fire.

One officer stood at a street intersection, firing his shotgun into the ranks of the strikers until it was empty, and then emptying his pistol. Police said the officer had been struck in the head with a rock. The rioting, bringing to a bloody (Turn to page 5)

Rain Strikes Central Iowa Damages From Rain, Windstorms Are Reported

(By The Associated Press) While other parts of the state reported high temperatures, central Iowa suffered serious damage from a heavy rainstorm accompanied by a 30-mile-an-hour wind disrupting power, light and telephone service, blowing down buildings and blocking streets with blown over trees and water.

Borah Hits Bureaucracy

Pope Replies to Anti-Administration Charges WASHINGTON, July 5 (AP)—Senator Borah, Idaho's powerful campaigner, headed west tonight to carry on his one-man crusade against "bureaucracy and monopoly."

Borah told newspapermen he had not completed his campaign plans but that in any event he would speak during the summer in Chicago, Minneapolis and Kansas City. He left Washington for Chicago on his way to Boise.

As Borah departed, his Democratic colleague, Senator Pope, retorted to his criticism of "bureaucracy" in the new deal by asserting "mere criticism can never take the place of a constructive program to meet the practical needs of our people."

Pope, in a statement commenting on Borah's speech, said it was apparent to him "that the rank and file of the people are less interested in legalistic conceptions of liberty and more interested in practical measures to promote human welfare."

F.R.'s Order Kills Board

U. S. Recovery Review Group Told To Stop Work WASHINGTON, July 5 (AP)—The national recovery review board, formerly headed by Clarence Darrow and which made three critical reports on the influence of NRA codes on little business, has been abolished by President Roosevelt.

The White House disclosed today that this was one of the last orders of the president before he closed his desk to sail for his Pacific trip.

The order, dated June 30, was handed to the three remaining members of the review board the day before the board gave to newspapers copies of its third and last report to the president.

Prison Heads Sign Compact

Agree to Code of Fair Competition For Products WASHINGTON, July 5 (AP)—The nation's penologists were reported closer today to solving their perplexing old problem of keeping prison inmates busy and simultaneously preventing their cheaply manufactured products from cutting into the field of free labor and industry.

A struggle which began early in the 19th century and has continued ever since is now yielding to a new line of attack, encompassing negotiation through the prison labor authority. This board was established under NRA to administer a code of fair competition for prison industries.

Twenty-nine states signed the compact. The states included are Alabama, Connecticut, Delaware, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New York, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Vermont, West Virginia, Wisconsin and Wyoming.

In the only other contest election, R. E. Offenbauer, superintendent of schools at Lima, Ohio, was chosen treasurer.

Mme. Marie Curie Dies

Private Burial Planned; State Will Honor Scientist PARIS, July 5 (AP)—The body of Mme. Marie Curie, world's foremost woman scientist, was secretly brought to Paris today from Sallanches, guarded, like her work, from the gaze of a curious world.

The government announced tonight that in view of the Curie family's insistence that the burial be held in strictest privacy, it had abandoned plans for a national funeral.

It is planned, however, to hold a solemn commemorative ceremony in the fall on the reopening of the University of Paris. Officials and members of the family alike declined to reveal when and where the burial will take place. The body was expected to be cremated tonight. The ashes will be placed without ceremony tomorrow morning in a tomb at Sceaux, near Paris, where Mme. Curie's husband, was buried in 1906.

Used successively as a private home, a hospital, a nurse home, priests home and then dining hall, it will be replaced soon by a modern structure.

Mrs. Mary Hohenschuh, 229 N. Gilbert street, then 15 years old, described the house when it was built by her father, John P. Dostel, Iowa City brewer, in 1880.

Three stories containing 22 rooms was to house the family of eight persons. Solid walnut was used throughout. Two large living rooms, a music room, dining room and kitchen were among the rooms on the first floor. A bath and bedrooms occupied the second floor. A recreation room, reserved for the six children, was on the third floor.

Most of the materials for the house were brought up from Muscatine by horse teams and wagon, she explained.

Many of the maple trees still standing around the house were planted by Mr. Dostel himself as a part of the landscaping which included a large flower garden to the east of the house.

Council Not Likely To Take Action On Loan at Meeting

With Elmerman Jacob Van der Zee still out of town, it is unlikely that the city council will take any action on Iowa City's PWA loan and grant of $917,000 for a municipal light plant at meeting tonight, councilmen indicated today.

Although information has been received that the PWA loan and grant has been approved and instructions in regard to bid lettings have arrived, city officials are still in the dark as to necessary requirements needed to obtain the loan and grant.

Officials are also waiting word on the sewage disposal plant matter from PWA officials.

POLITICAL ACTIVITY FLARES ANEW

Senator Connolly, Senator Johnson, Senator LaFollette

WASHINGTON (IIN)—In the summer, the sun blisters down hot on Washington. This year, as usual, senators and congressmen are going or have gone home, and President Roosevelt is cruising to Hawaii.

Washington is practically deserted of its administration leaders and its politicians. Vacation time is at hand for everyone and everything—except politics.

There is no vacation for politics. Indeed, the summer will be brimming over with politics, not especially in Washington, but in many parts of the country. Politicians are launching campaigns for the fall congressional elections, and they portend to be lively and hot, and not solely because of the weather!

New Deal at Stake

Control of congress is not at stake this year, but that fact doesn't lessen the importance of the fall elections. The New Deal is at stake, President Roosevelt faces the jury to be judged.

Mid-term elections often have been regarded as barometers observing the political weather ahead. For example, Taft lost congress in 1910; in 1912, he was defeated. Again, in 1918, Wilson lost control of congress, and two years later the Republicans moved bag and baggage back into the White House.

So, the fall elections are very apt to tell us how things may go in 1936, provided, of course, some unforeseen influence doesn't change the flow of the tide.

The national aspect of the congressional contests hardly can be shunted into the background, even though the election is a collection of individual contests. It affects 435 seats in the house and at least 32 in the senate.

Hope for 50 Seats

If the Republicans could win a majority of the seats to be refilled, the control of congress would pass from the Democrats, who now have a majority of exactly 200 in the pointed official delegate to the Elks national convention in Kansas City, Mo., July 15, it was announced last night.

It was not known how many other members of the club besides the golf and trapshooting teams plan to attend the convention.

O. H. Carpenter was appointed to the position of tyler to fill the vacancy left by the death of A. T. Calkins recently.

Takeoff, End Hardest Parts Of Trip Into Stratosphere

RAPID CITY, S. D., July 5 (AP)—The first and last few hundred feet will be the most difficult part of the 600 miles or more which the National Geographic Society—Army Air corps balloon is expected to travel on its stratosphere flight from South Dakota's Black Hills.

Plan to Start

As Capt. Albert W. Stevens, observer and instrument designer, started final installation of the delicate machinery in the gondola today, Maj. William E. Kepner, pilot, studied plans to get the huge balloon, the largest ever built, out of the wall-encircled bowl on the first favorable day after July 9.

Once clear of the 550 foot walls, the balloonists expect comparatively little navigation difficulty, barring bad weather until the hydrogen-filled bag approaches earth.

Then careful maneuvering will be necessary to bring the gondola and instruments down undamaged.

Winds a Hazard

As the balloon rises to an anticipated record height of 15 miles and drifts 600 to 800 miles, probably southeast, high winds or lightning might prove an additional hazard. But by careful study of weather forecasts, the flight participants hope to avoid adverse conditions.

As the balloon is carried along by wind currents, it will move perhaps 50 or 60 miles an hour at times, but the passengers in their air-tight metal sphere will have no sensation of motion.

The greatest drift is expected at the 40,000 foot level. Kepner and Stevens will be sealed in the gondola Saturday afternoon in a 12 hour test before the flight.

Prof. Ward Talks On Mathematics

Prof. Lewis E. Ward of the mathematics department lectured on "Mathematics" yesterday afternoon in physics building.

Reilly next Thursday at 4 p.m. in room 222 physics building. "Interpolations" will be the subject of his lecture, which will be open to the public.

Plan to Ship Gordon's Body To S. Africa

William Foster Gordon, 48, of Cape Town, South Africa, who died following a heart attack Tuesday morning at University hospital, will be buried at Cape Town Aug. 7.

Charles Beckman, director of the Beckman funeral home, and Mrs. Gordon left yesterday for Chicago to make arrangements with the British consul for shipping the body.

Mr. Gordon was a patient in the Stewart Hay Fever and Asthma clinic in Iowa City. He came to Iowa City after meeting Dr. Zella White Stewart during a cruise on the S. S. Franconia on the Mediterranean last year.

Mr. Gordon, born in Australia, had extensive land holdings in both South Africa and Australia at the time of his death.

Mrs. Gordon will sail from New York tomorrow night on the S. S. Europa to South Hampton, England. She will take another liner to Cape Town, Mrs. Gordon is the only survivor.

Divorce Granted Jennie Mace On Cruelty Grounds

Hitler's Government—Built on Sands

AS THE smoke of the Nazi rebellion begins to clear away, one thing at least becomes increasingly evident: Adolph Hitler himself laid the foundations of revolution and civil war when he took over the government.

Two factors enter into this analysis. The first concerns the status of the various military groups in Germany; the second is somewhat analogous to the situation in the United States at the present time—the dispute between conservative and more radical elements in the government.

Germany's military forces, excluding the standing police, are composed of three groups. Hitler's brown shirted storm troopers, the backbone of the Nazi power, have vied with the regular German army, the Reichswehr, for national supremacy.

The storm troopers have been jealous of the military recognition accorded the standing army.

The Staalhelm—the steel helmeted war veterans—were opposed to the second Reich, the republic, and joined the ranks of the Hitlerites in the hopes that it might mean the restoration of the Hohenzollerns and the monarchy.

On these widely diverse military organizations Hitler built his power. He expected national unity of purpose where there were only the seeds of disunion and clash.

The second factor was first brought to the surface several weeks ago, when Vice Chancellor Franz von Papen made his now famous Marburg university speech, in which he challenged the radical elements in the Nazi party.

"Have we gone through an anti-Marxist revolution in order to carry out a Marxist program?" he asked—and struck at the basis of the factional quarrel.

While all of the Nazi leaders affect a scorn for Marxism in varying degrees, a powerful faction, led by propaganda minister Joseph Goebbels, favors the reorganization of the social structure along lines of extreme leftist socialism.

Von Papen is the nominal leader, on the other hand, of a conservative element which has been attempting to hold in check the radicals.

On such sands has the Hitler government been built. He hoped to mold powerful competing factions into a single party, but he failed to recognize the fact that individuals had their own ends to gain out of his organization.

Within these major factions are smaller, more specialized groups, each seeking to further its own interests, and the interests of each totally foreign to the others.

Whether a government built on the rivalry of factional strife under a surface unity can attain the singleness of purpose and action which Hitler seeks remains to be seen. Observers are in complete disagreement on the significance of Saturday's revolt, but one thing seems certain. The Nazi regime is not a strong, unified party. It is founded on promise of disintegration.

Hopeful Sign: City Slickers' Retreat

THE "city slickers" are retreating from the Ozarks—and therein lies a hopeful sign that the economic depression is rising somewhat.

There is a history behind the situation. When the depression first struck the metropolitan centers, thousands of "white collar" workers were thrown out of work. Following the cries of back-to-the-soil enthusiasts, hundreds went into the Ozark mountains to establish homes.

The life-long residents of the Ozark backwoods knew that the city slickers wouldn't stay.

"These furriers," The Christian Science Monitor quotes Bill Hicks, "won't stick it out. They think they will but I've seen too many of 'em come and go. They're just folks from the pavements run into the timber till the storm's over."

Now, aided by increasing possibilities of employment and a rising level of business, the "furriers" have begun to leave. By hordes, they are coming down from the timbered hills to the pavements and speed of the cities.

So, if Bill Hicks is right, and the nation certainly hopes he is, the retreat of the city slickers can be significant of only one thing—the storm is over and America is coming out from the shelter of the woods.

Something Wrong

(From the San Francisco Examiner) Did the officials of the State Emergency Relief Administration hear President Roosevelt last Thursday evening when he said that the first principle of the Administration of relief is "that direct giving shall, whenever possible, be supplemented by provisions for useful and remunerative work?"

According to widespread complaints in California that "first principle" is not being followed. Mayor Rossi, who is a patient man in all disputes, has felt that he had to telephone to the national administration in Washington for a showdown on the situation.

The mayor had been told by city officials that here only 29 men had been put to work on SERA projects designed to employ 3,000.

He had also been told that for every two men employed there is one executive.

Conditions in other communities are similar. Mayor Earl C. Thomas of Palo Alto, who is by no means a professional politician, but is associate professor of engineering at Stanford university, has made similar protests on conditions in his city. Mayor Thomas charges that the tactics of the director of relief in Santa Clara county prevent employment and result in the "stultification of the purposes of SERA."

In that county, it is charged, the SERA administrator failed to accept the carefully prepared list of persons eligible for work, presented by the director of the county emergency relief department.

This refusal caused delay in employment. Families went hungry while red tape was unwound—or politics served!

The object of SERA is to put men to work, so that they may support their families in self-respect.

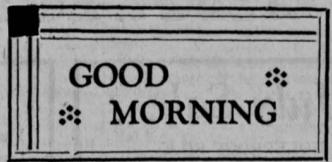

Speedy employment is essential when hunger threatens.

Does the situation in San Francisco and Santa Clara county call for federal investigation?

The good intentions of President Roosevelt can not be questioned; the ability of Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief administrator in Washington, is recognized.

But how about the local executives entrusted with the vital task of putting men to work, of averting starvation?

There must be an end to this discreditable delay.

"When Europe looks at Roosevelt, it sees the protentious shape of his country. It sees an American advance beginning with forms of socialism they have long since absorbed and rushing on in the same sweep toward a form of socialized capitalism beyond anything they have yet imagined. Inevitably, the president has become the symbol of this headlong jump from 1900 to 1930. Inevitably, his cool and smiling performance in a revolutionary role reanimates a fading legend. Roosevelt restores to Europe the lost image of the New World rapt once again in some large, strange, irregular and immeasurably adventure all its own."

"Roosevelt as Seen From Abroad," by Anne O'Hare McCormick in The New York Times magazine.

It is time now, while the president is away on his vacation, for the American people to take quiet stock of the first year under the New Deal. Not merely to summarize the measures enacted by congress and the progress of business under the NRA, but to orient themselves in the grand perspective, to see the picture from the refuge of detachment.

This process of orientation—assuming that it is at all possible—will of course be seriously handicapped by the congressional campaign in which opposing forces will do their best to becloud the picture. But it at least should be attempted.

Men and women who intend to vote this fall, and again in 1936, should see their country in its proper relationship to the stream of world events. Where do we stand in the progress of nations? How does our government compare with those of the rest of the world?

Any voter who focuses his eyes closely upon this picture is bound to be shocked at the apparent hopelessness of the world muddle. He will see neither rhyme nor reason, but only a vast and inexplicable seething of currents, and the resounding clash of opposing forces struggling for power.

And he will be pleasantly surprised to find that of all the great nations of the world, only two—his own and England—appear to be moving without hysteria along the path of human progress. Russia might also be included in this category if it were not for the fact that its vast and silent movement is as yet beyond understanding and incomparable.

He should ponder what he sees without prejudice, calmly, until affairs in his own country take on their proper shape, unblurred by passion or patriotism. Then, and not until then, should he listen to the speeches of the politicians and read the opinions of economists, and decide which way he thinks America should go.

When University of Iowa debaters meet a team from New York university here Monday night another step will have been taken in bringing the summer session up to a plane of activity equal to that of the regular school year.

This process has been long underway, and the gradual development of the University of Iowa summer session to the present stage is evidence of the need for a full-fledged college program throughout the year.

The logical culmination of this progress would be the adoption of a calendar for the school year which would make for complete continuity from season to season.

Behind The Scenes in HOLLYWOOD By Harrison Carroll

HOLLYWOOD—The prize for unconventional vacations goes to Gertrude Michael, Paramount star. She has borrowed an automobile trailer from a friend and will motor down the southern California coast and as far into Mexico as whim directs.

Gertrude is not the first Hollywood beauty to go on a trailer vacation. Helen Twelvetrees and Jack Woody spent their honeymoon that way and Joel McCrea and Frances Dee plan the same sort of trip.

But Gertrude is the first to try it without a husband along just in case of emergency.

The Talladega, Ala., girl, who became a concert pianist, built and operated her own radio broadcasting station and spent a year in law school, figures she is able to take care of herself. She has a chauffeur to take the wheel and has hired an old fisherman from San Pedro to go along and teach her the fine points of angling.

One of those pests was sitting next to Jim McGuinness at the recent N.C.A.A. track meet at the coliseum. He was eating peanuts and kept urging Jim to have one. Two or three times, Jim declined, saying he didn't want to spoil his dinner.

"Well, go on, just have one," insisted the pest. "That won't hurt you."

Jim snapped: "Listen, buddy, do you want me to start the whole complicated system of digestion just for one lousy peanut?"

The story comes leaking through that Marie Dressler has been in a state of practical unconsciousness for much longer than we all thought. Even her beloved servants, Jess and Mammie Cox, who have been with her for years, were unable to arouse her. The only voice to pierce the haze was that of Frances Marion. The star always recognized her.

Here's a letter from Rochelle Hudson, which speaks for itself: Dear Harrison: Al Franklin is not THE boy friend or even A boyfriend. I've seen him exactly twice since he returned from London and I'm afraid there is nothing between us that would interest you or anyone else. He's a very nice boy but, after all, I'm paddling my canoe independently for the moment."

Sorry to have rocked the boat, Rochelle.

Eddie Cantor is always quick to lend a helping hand, and few of his generosity reach print. A typical instance was the case of a middle-aged Turkish Jew who shines shoes and sells flowers at the United Artists studio. The fellow's daughter is a cripple and her only chance for recovery is a course of expensive treatments. Eddie heard of the case, sent for the man and advanced him the money. "You can pay me," he said, "by keeping flowers in my dressing room."

In the day's news is a bit of drama from the set of "Sacred and Profane Love." The studio hired a double for Joan Crawford in certain trick riding scenes. During the day, she asked to be excused promising to be back in an hour. The assistant director hit the roof. Finally, the girl confessed she wanted to go home and nurse her baby. She had been out of the hospital only a short time. Thanks to Joan's intervention, she got her wish.

S. U. I. Graduates, Bush and Edwards, Get New Positions

Two graduates of the college of engineering have recently accepted new positions. Burt Bush, who received his M.S. degree in 1931, was made research associate at Fenn college, Cleveland, Ohio.

F. W. Edwards, who received his B.S. degree in 1928 and his M.S. degree in 1930, was made an assistant engineer on the Muskingum flood control project for the federal government. He was formerly with the U. S. army river experimental laboratory at Vicksburg.

Prof. Funke To Lecture About Poetry

"Poetry as an expression of the epoch," will be discussed by Prof. Erich Funke, acting head of the German department, in a lecture tonight at 7:30 in the house chamber of Old Capitol.

He will deal with the form in which the general rhythm of the epoch expresses itself. He says each nation has rhythm of its own which finds expression in all forms of life and art. It is especially noticeable in the contents of ideas in poetry.

Medical records will be played and pictures of architecture, sculpture, and painting will be shown in comparing the development of poetry.

The address is the third in a series under the auspices of the school of letters.

Bonno Tapper Gives Lecture

Discusses Poet As An Interpreter Of Life The poet as an interpreter of life was discussed by Prof. Bonno Tapper of the philosophy department yesterday in a lecture on "The philosophy of literature."

"The philosophy found in literature may be defined as the poet's attempt to find a meaning in life; that is, in the mutual relationship of the forces which he considers most elemental," said Professor Tapper.

The conception of these forces differs in different cultural epochs. In the classical period of Greek literature when life was considered from the universal rather than from the individual or personal point of view, the elemental factors were those of fate and the gods. Professor Tapper illustrated this point with examples from the plays of Aeschylus.

Dante's "Divine Comedy" illustrated the medieval point of view of controlling factors in a personal God and his just and merciful will, and Goethe's "Faust" served as an example of the elemental forces of the modern man, chance and an immanent dynamic principle.

Creston To Get Water From State

CRESTON, July 5 (AP)—Iowa's emergency relief administration is taking over the job of supplying Creston with water during the present emergency, Mayor Ray Emerson announced today.

The state administration is to provide funds for shipment of water into the city beginning probably Monday, Emerson declared. Cost of the relief project is estimated at between $600 and $1,000.

A state engineer and accountant is to be sent here to take charge of the municipal water company during the emergency. The water company, powerless to supply the city with sufficient water due to the long drought, is turning over the entire plant and facilities to the state administration which is to pay cost of fuel, supplies and plant salaries.

The company, however, agreed to pay for any permanent improvements made during the emergency period. Included in the improvements to be made is the rebuilding of the water works railroad track so that cars of water may be shipped direct to the purifying plant.

Water rates during the emergency have been set by the state administration at the rate of $1.50 a month per 1,000 gallons for the first 5,000 gallons. For the next 20,000 gallons consumed monthly the rate was set at 70 cents per 1,000 gallons.

Water will be shipped over the Burlington railroad from either Des Moines or Council Bluffs at the rate of from 40 to 50 tank cars daily.

University Theater Play Dates Back to Days of "Queen Bess"

A bit of the London of "good Queen Bess" will come to life at the University of Iowa tonight at 8 o'clock, when University theater presents its first play of the summer season.

"The Shoemaker's Holiday," which sent princes and commoners of Elizabeth's day into gales of ribald laughter, will be presented on a reproduction of the stage of London's old Fortune theater, built in Macbride auditorium.

To Act on "Apron" The players will give their play on an "apron" of the stage reaching far out into the orchestra seats of the auditorium, just as in the days of Elizabeth, 300 years ago, players performed surrounded on three sides by the audiences in the pit.

Erected in 1600 It is especially appropriate that "The Shoemaker's Holiday" will be the first play to be given here on the new stage, for many of the plays of Thomas Dekker, its author, were first presented at the original Fortune.

Anna Antonio Denied New Trial, Faces Electrocutation

OSSINING, N. Y., July 5 (AP)—Anna Antonio, mother of three children, was unaware tonight that she had been denied a new trial and that she again faces electrocution for the "insurance" slaying of her husband.

Prison attaches did not inform Mrs. Antonio that County Judge Earl H. Gallup at Albany, had denied the motion for a new trial. It is a prison policy to allow counsel to communicate court actions to convicts. She received no word.

Two Reprieves Unless Gov. Herbert H. Lehman intervenes, the 28 year old woman and two men convicted with her of plotting her husband's murder will be executed during the week beginning July 9.

When informed of the court's action the governor, at his home in New York, withheld comment. "Makes Me Hopeful" From the cell in which she collapsed twice as the hour set for her

Seeks Senate Post

Deaths Ended? A government spokesman, in the midst of disturbing rumors, reiterated and emphasized that summary executions are ended and showed the clear desire of the government to have the public forget Hitler's ruthless methods.

It became more and more evident that the "official list" of those executed—said by the government to number "under 50" but placed much higher by others—may never be given out.

The post named as that to which Von Papan may be demoted was Saar commissioner, but the question arose in many minds as to whether this treatment of his protégé will be acceptable to the aged president.

SEEN from Old Capitol By TOM YOSELOFF

Fourth of July memories: It was very early on the morning after the night before. Every few minutes the terrific boom of an exploding cannon cracker would split the silence below the window of my apartment.

"Hello, I said in my best sleepy journalist voice. "Say," said a sharp voice, "if you don't quit shouting those firecrackers out the window, I'll have the police up there."

We retained our even journalist temper, but we couldn't help the sleepy note which crept into our voice. "What firecrackers"—although it was evident that the voice referred to those which had kept us all awake for the last half hour.

"You know—well what firecrackers," the voice was not only getting irate, but it insisted on repeating that shocking little curse. Still this department was patient.

"I'm sorry," I explained, "but we've been in bed for some time—" but the voice didn't wait. The receiver clicked impatiently.

Paul Revere returned to Boston last Friday. And therein lies a story. One of our favorite paintings has always been Grant Wood's "The Midnight Ride of Paul Revere," with its sharp angles, its contrasts, and its tiny dashing figure of the historically famous rider on horseback. This picture expresses completely the keen humor with which Professor Wood has painted the American scene, and which takes the place of photographic art in painters of lesser insight.

As I started to say, Paul Revere returned to Boston. The Christian Science Monitor, in its Friday issue, carried a large reproduction of the painting, with an appreciative analysis by Charles Fabens Kelley. U. S. Army Officer Gets Courtmartial

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., July 5 (AP)—Capt. Harold K. Coulter, who elected to stand trial by courtmartial rather than accept a reprimand for alleged misconduct, was convicted today and ordered dismissed from the United States Army.

The courtmartial conducted at secret hearings upon the defense's request found Captain Coulter guilty on seven counts, including four specific charges of intimacy with Mrs. Alice Traylor Morgan, divorced wife of William F. Morgan, wealthy San Antonio oil man.

Nothing to Say "I haven't a thing to say," Capt. Coulter said after the verdict. The verdict was returned shortly after Mrs. Morgan and the captain's wife drove to the scene of the courtmartial at the staff post here today in the same automobile.

The trial opened last week, after Coulter, star polo player, declared he was innocent of the charges, and said he preferred to stand trial by courtmartial, instead of accepting an optional reprimand.

Verdict Commanded The courtmartial found Captain Coulter guilty of specifications under the 9th, 95th, and 69th articles of war.

The verdict was officially given out at the command of military authorities. It had been expected the verdict would be withheld unless Captain Coulter chose to reveal it.

The sentence will have to be passed on by reviewing authorities and approved by President Roosevelt. Maj. Gen. Johnson Hagood, commander of the eighth corps area, in this instance will be the reviewing authority.

tance from the city's famed Ferry building, was the scene of some of the fiercest fighting. The hill was besieged repeatedly, with the strikers maintaining possession of the knoll temporarily and then retreating in wild confusion when police stormed up the weed covered slopes.

Possession of the hill changed hands half a dozen times as the police shot tear gas bombs into the ranks of the cursing pickets and then opened up point blank with blasts from their riot guns.

One striker, blinded by tear gas, stumbled against a mounted officer, who struck him across the head, telling him, and then rode into a swirling mob of strikers.

Extra long clubs were issued to the police by Chief William J. Quinn, who personally directed his men in efforts to restore order on the riotous scene.

Police, already with their hands full in attempting to quell the numerous riots, endeavored unsuccessfully to force the spectators to flee from the scene.

Fighters at Fair . . . Shorter Bouts . . . Mussolini Interested In Boxing . . . Should Try it on National Scale

BY JACK GURWELL

WHAT with all the big interest in the World's Fair at Chicago, both athletic and otherwise, the athletes, both present and past, have their share of glory. Every day a new athletic exhibit is planned. Plans now call for three old time heavyweight fighters to stage exhibitions at a Century of Progress. Jack Johnson and Jim Jeffries, former title holders, and Tom Sharkey will provide the fist-cuffs. As masters of ceremonies, the three will be at the fair for two weeks. Exhibition bouts are also planned for the trio. This should be the chance for fans to see the former "greats" of the ring, but what about the progress. Some people still contend that the old battlers had it all over the present day boys.

PERSONALLY, it would be a sorry sight to see fellows that made their history in the days when fights went 20 or more rounds wheezing about before a lot of curious and unimpressed spectators. Find a fighter nowadays who would venture into a ring barefisted for 20 rounds with a foe. Of course the little gloves—hardly more than knuckle protectors—worn by present day fighters are not to be laughed at, but neither were a pair of flints to be laughed at. Gradually the want for longer fights have cropped out until the bouts are going 15 rounds. Ten rounds always was too short a time in which to decide a world championship. Fifteen rounds is about right, but make a fighter go 20 rounds and you'll see only the best hold the titles.

COUNT FRANCESCO Campello, a member of the Italian boxing commission, arrived in the United States Wednesday. He denied that he intended to investigate stories of unfairness in the victory of Max Baer over Primo Carnera. He did say that the Italian commission hoped that a return battle between the two heavies could be arranged in Italy, but doubted that sufficient safe assurance could be given. Campello also said that Mussolini was a rabid boxing fan. Mussolini is a rabid fan of most any sport. He is visiting Italy up on sports. If the Italian leader should decide to take up boxing in a big way he could probably produce a few fighters able to take a title or two from this country.

THE CORALVILLE Cardinals, a girls diamondball team, recently defeated an Oxford girls outfit 27 to 2. More than 200,000 baseball fans attended Fourth of July doubleheaders in the eight major league cities. Art Jones, Albany Senators pitcher, put on a little celebration himself on the Fourth of July by winning a no-hit, no-run, 2 to 0 game from the Baltimore Orioles. Junior Coen's doubles partner in the Central States tennis championships Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday of this week was his 60 year old father. The pair reached the semi-finals. Jimmy Fox was the only major leaguer in 1933 to hit home runs in all eight parks he played in. Kenneth Cline, who with Charles Okerblom won the Central States tennis meet doubles crown, will be available for the Iowa tennis team next spring.

Ticket Prices Set by Iowa's Football Foes

The five universities which will entertain the University of Iowa's football team next fall will charge from $1.65 to $2.40 for the Hawkeye game, according to information received Thursday at the department of athletics.

Iowa State, which meets Iowa at Ames Oct. 20, has set the lowest price, $1.65, while Ohio State, rival of the Old Gold eleven at Columbus Nov. 24, will charge $2.40, the highest.

The Iowa game has been selected by Indiana as the annual homecoming attraction at Bloomington Nov. 3, with tickets priced at $2.20. Hawkeyes also played before the homecoming crowd in 1932, their last previous appearance at Bloomington.

For the Northwestern game at Evanston Oct. 6, the first conference clash of the season, and the Nebraska battle at Lincoln Oct. 13, the reserved seat price is $2.20.

With the exception of Iowa State's rate, all of the prices are from 20 to 40 cents higher than the tariff for Iowa's two home Big Ten games, Minnesota Oct. 27 and Purdue Nov. 10.

NEW YORK (AP)—The United States Lawn Tennis association today sent out a call for entries for the forty-seventh annual national women's championships, to be played at the West Side Tennis club, Forest Hills, L. I., Aug. 13-18. The lists close Aug. 4 with the draw four days later.

Mail Bids For 'Sippi Tournney

Some 500 announcements of the University of Iowa's third annual Mississippi Valley tennis tournament July 25 to 28 will be mailed Saturday to players in five states, Prof. E. G. Schroeder, director, announced Thursday.

The announcements will go to most of the players who have entered in other years, as well as to numerous outstanding amateur stars of Iowa, Illinois, Minnesota, Wisconsin, and Missouri.

Tentative entries already have been received from all of the defending champions. They are Ed Davis of Peoria, Ill., men's singles; Thelma Kenefick of Eagle Grove, women's singles; and Frank Brody and Jay Fink of Des Moines, men's doubles.

Another championship, mixed doubles, not on the program last year, will be decided. All entries must be filed by July 24.

Jack Medica Scores Easy Heat Victory

CHICAGO, July 5 (AP)—Jack Medica, sensational young star from the Washington A.C., Seattle, Wash., and Ralph Flanagan, of the Miami, Fla., Beach club, warmed up for their duel in the National A.A.U. swimming championship mile race tomorrow by easily dominating the qualifying trials in the World Fair lagoon today.

Medica, regarded as the greatest of American distance swimmers, won the opening heat of the mile, the only preliminary event on today's program, without extending himself, but was only 16 seconds over Arne Borg's world record. He loafed in 100 yards ahead of Herb Barthels of the Los Angeles A.C., in 21 minutes, 22 seconds. The time also was about 10 seconds slower than Flanagan's American standard.

Flanagan led the second group home in 23:10.8, and had a margin of more than 25 yards over Bob Boale, another Los Angeles A.C. representative.

139 First Places Won by Hawkeyes In 1933-34 Year

Officials picked University of Iowa athletes for 139 first places during the 1933-34 season in seven sports, as track and field men led the parade with 39 individual victories.

Records for recent years in Hawkeye athletics were surpassed by the personal achievements of the Iowans, according to a summary complete at the department of athletics.

Swimmers turned in 29 first places, golfers, 26; and wrestlers, 23. The other personal wins were distributed between tennis, 14; gymnastics, 5; and cross country, 3.

Lose Doubles, Mixed Doubles In Day's Play

Jacobs, Lott, Stoenen Keep Stars, Stripes Flying

By GAYLE TALBOT (Associated Press Sports Writer)

WIMBLEDON, Eng., July 5 (AP)—Helen Hull Jacobs, United States singles champion, and George M. Lott, Jr., and Lester Stoenen, American doubles titlists, today kept the Stars and Stripes flying in the all-England tennis championships.

Miss Jacobs, matched against an old-fashioned girl who wore long skirts tied with a big bow in the back, Joan Hartigan, of Australia, won as she pleased 6-2, 6-2 to enter the finals of women's singles.

Lott and Stoenen, showing vastly improved form over their previous appearances, polished off the young German team of Hans Denker and H. Denkel 6-1, 13-11, 6-3 to enter the semi-finals of men's doubles.

Sad Day Otherwise

Otherwise, however, it was rather a sad day for the invaders. Miss Jacobs and Sarah Paley, former holders of the American doubles title, were eliminated in the quarter-finals of women's doubles, Miss Paley and Lott were put out of the mixed play and Sidney B. Wood, Jr., and Richard Norris Williams, American Davis cup captain, lost out in the men's doubles.

Some of the sting was taken from the defeat of Miss Jacobs and Miss Paley as Dorothy Andrus, of Stamford, formed half of the team which put them out 6-4, 4-5, 6-1. Her partner was Mme. Jung Henroth, of France.

One American representative also remained in the other semi-final of women's doubles, Elizabeth Ryan, the former Californian, advancing with her French partner and co-champion, Mme. Rene Mathieu. The defeat of Miss Paley and Lott left the United States without a representative in the mixed play.

Wins With Ease

Miss Jacobs won with such ease over Miss Hartigan, who appeared to be taken with stage fright on her first appearance on Wimbledon's famous center court, that enthusiastic astic supporters predicted an easy victory over the other finalist, Dorothy Round, of England.

Miss Round, barely working out a victory over Mme. Mathieu 6-4, 6-7, 6-3, however, faced a seasoned veteran of many an international tennis war. It was Mme. Mathieu who out little Miss Paley in the quarter-finals.

When they take the center court Saturday for the title it will be no new experience for either. The American was a finalist in 1929 and 1922, both times bowing to Mrs. Helen Willis Moody while Miss Round was defeated in the final by Mrs. Moody last year.

The real sunshine of the day, from the American angle, came from the fine showing of Lott and Stoenen. The big blonde from California was especially potent and there were many to say that perhaps the services of Wilmer Allison would not be needed after all in cup play.

Hurry Call

At Lott's request a hurry call was sent to the states for Allison to come over and play with him in the interzone matches but if Stoenen continues his improvement it is possible Allison may be held in reserve.

The defeat of Woods and Williams at the hands of Jean Borotra and Jacques Brugnon, veteran French defending champions, 3-6, 6-2, 6-3, was not unexpected.

Diamondball Clubs Win, Lose 4th of July Park Frays

The Fourth of July diamondball tournament at City Park was won by Racine's by virtue of a 2 to 0 victory over the Coralville Tavern outfit.

Racine's went into the second round on a bye while Coralville defeated Swane's, 2 to 1, and the Stockyards Athletic club blanked the Boone Coal Co. outfit 4 to 0. Racine's won over the Stockyards, 2 to 0, in the second round and then went on to win the tourney over the Tavern outfit.

Marshalltown Merchants' eighth inning rally, netting two runs, gave them a 5 to 3 triumph over the Iowa City Merchants baseball team in the Fourth of July baseball attraction at City park.

Ramsey, hurling for the visitors, gave up seven hits against the 11 hit pitching of Stahl, local hurler. Local hitters were led by Ebert and Hap Erbe.

The Coralville Cardinals, girls diamondball team, handed the Hills feminine outfit a 13 to 9 defeat in a Fourth of July sport attraction at City park.

JUST A FAMILY ARGUMENT

The Dean brothers of the St. Louis Cardinals, Paul (left) and Jerome. Dizzy doesn't even have to go out of the family these days for arguments. They can stage a good one between themselves on the subject of who is the better pitcher. The bit of pantomime in the above picture, taken in Chicago, conveys the idea that young Paul thinks he's better, but this draws only a scornful wave of the hand by Dizzy. Seriously, it is the combined pitching of these two that is keeping the Cards in the pennant scramble.

Favorites Advance in National Clay Court Net Championships

"Bitsy" Grant Dusts Off Mystery Man; Enters Semi-Finals

CHICAGO, July 5 (AP)—Bryan "Bitsy" Grant, Atlanta's mighty atom of tennis, dusted the last remaining mystery man out of the national clay court championship flammé today to join Donald Budge, flaming red-head from Oakland, Cal., in the semi-finals.

Mystery Man Out

While half the quarter-final field remained idle because of a heavy rain that almost halted play, Grant opened his full fire after losing the first set and came through easily to eliminate Arthur Hendrix of Lakeland, Fla., the mysterious stranger of the championship, 4-6, 4-1, 6-1, 6-2. Budge was forced to put on a fast finish to survive, eliminating Jack Tidball of Los Angeles, former national collegiate titleholder, 6-2, 1-6, 10-8, 6-1.

Among the idle quarter-finalists today was Frankie Parker of Milwaukee, defending titleholder, who was paired against Robert "Letty" Bryan of Chattanooga in the top match of the lower bracket, the winner of which will meet Budge in the semi-final Saturday. The others were Gene Mako, Los Angeles, and Henry Prusoff, Seattle, who meet tomorrow for the right to battle Grant for a final berth. Parker and Mako were expected to win with comfortable margins, but stirring, take-your-pick battles were expected in the semi-finals.

First Set Loss

Hendrix, lost the first game after it had gone to deuce twice, evened it up by taking the next one at 4-1, and then trailed four games to three. Hendrix won the next three games to hand "Bitsy" his first set loss in three successive tournaments, 6-4, 6-3, 6-2, 6-1.

Trailing only after the first game of the second set which Hendrix won at 4-2, and piling up 88 points to 50 for his rival.

Athletics Take Boston, 6 to 5

Tie Score in Sixth; 3 Macks Single in 7th for Win

BOSTON, July 5 (AP)—After spotting the Athletics five runs in the first inning, the Boston Red Sox squared up the game in the sixth frame, only to lose out by a 6-5 margin in the seventh when three Mackmen singled consecutively to drive over the winning run.

Three Pitchers

Each team used three pitchers. "Dusty" Rhodes opening for the Sox and lasting only two-thirds of an inning. He gave two passes and singles to Bob Johnson, Frank Higgins, Charlie Berry and Al Benton. The Sox were trailing by five runs when Johnny Welch relieved Rhodes.

Benton was driven from the mound in the third frame when the Sox pushed over three tallies on a pass to Rick Ferrell, Lyn Lary's single, Max Bishop's triple and Bill Werber's line drive. Vaughan relieved Benton to retire the side and when the Sox came to bat in the fourth, they faced righthander Joe Casarella, who was hit freely in the sixth when Ferrell's single and doubles by Bishop and Werber tied the score at five-all.

Game Clinched

Against Welch in the seventh, Eric McNair, Rog Cramer and Bob Johnson hit safely in one-two-three order to clinch the game for the Mackmen.

Moore's Pinch Homer Brings Giants Victory

Defeat Dodgers, 13-7; Bases Filled When Wallop Comes

BROOKLYN, July 5 (AP)—Joe Moore's pinch home run with the bases filled in the sixth inning today provided the big wallop of a 13 to 7 victory of the world champion New York Giants over the Brooklyn Dodgers at Ebbets field. The Dodgers were leading by five runs to three when Moore, pinch-hitting for Eddy Ryan, came to bat with two out in the sixth. Moore's mighty blow struck the right field screen, wiped out the Dodgers' lead and started the Giants on their way to victory.

Moore Hits Homer

The four-base hit was made off Ray Benge, who was hanging on to a two run advantage. Benge slipped over a third strike which Moore tipped and the pinch hitter had another chance to hit when Catcher Al Lopez dropped the ball. He connected soundly with Benge's next offering, driving it for the circuit.

That devastating blow ended Benge's tenure on the mound and he was succeeded by Watson Clark, who was given a disheartening welcome in the seventh when the Giants scored five more runs to build up a safe lead and put the game on ice.

Giants Bunch Hits

The Giants bunched five hits off Clark—all singles—in addition to drawing a pass and an error for the five runs in that inning. Walter Beck relieved Watson and finished the game. He was nicked for three hits and a run in the ninth.

The Dodgers did most of their scoring early in the game, mainly on the strength of home runs by Al Lopez and Tony Cuccinello. The Brooklynites staged a mild recovery in the ninth, tapping Herman Bell, successor to Hal Schumacher and Clyde Castelman, for four hits and two runs.

Score by innings: R. H. E.
New York . . . 002 005 50-13 17 3
Brooklyn . . . 101 120 002-7 13 3

Braves Outslugged

PHILADELPHIA, July 5 (AP)—The Phillies outslugged the Boston Braves to win the first game of the series today, 14 to 11.

The Phils pounded Rhem, Brandt and Smith for 20 hits, including home runs by Camilli and G. Davis. It was the former's circuit clout, his ninth of the year with the score tied at 11 to 11 and two on base in the eighth inning, that gave the Phillies the victory.

Boston . . . 010 060 040-11 17 1
Philadelphia . . . 100 233 05-14 29 2

Batteries—Rhem, Brandt, Smith and Spohrer; C. Davis, Grabowski, S. Johnson, Collins and Wilson.

Net Crown to Iowa Citizens

Kenneth Cline and Charles Okerblom, local tennis players, defeated Ed Davis and Ken Black of Peoria, Ill., 6-3, 7-9, 7-5, for the Central States tennis doubles crown Wednesday at Davenport.

The Iowa City pair advanced to the finals by virtue of a 9-7, 6-3 victory over Dick Goepfert of Rock Island and Ron Reddig of Moline, Davis and Black advanced over Junior Coen of Kansas City and his 60 year old father, 5-2, 4-6, 6-3.

Coen defeated Francis Coggeshall of Des Moines for the men's singles title, 6-3, 3-6, 7-5.

Thelma Kenefick of Eagle Grove won the women's singles title with a 6-3, 9-7 victory over Emma Benedetto of Iowa City, southern Kansas champion.

Pick of College Senior Grid Players of 1933 Meet Chicago Bears in World's Fair Game

Popular Vote to Choose College Players For Contest

CHICAGO, July 5 (AP)—The pick of college senior football players of 1933, and the Chicago Bears, champions of the National professional league, will meet in Soldier field Sept. 31, under the sponsorship of the Chicago Tribune, it was announced tonight.

The team to oppose the Bears and its coaches will be selected by popular vote, under the same system as that governing the all-star major league baseball game, which was inaugurated by the Tribune last year. The game will be the football feature of the 1934 World Fair, and the profits will be turned over to three Chicago charities, the United, the Catholic and the Jewish.

A squad of 27 players will be named by popular vote, in which 30 newspapers throughout the country will cooperate. The squad will be assembled in Chicago two weeks before the game for two drills a day under the direction of the coach selected by the fans.

The team is limited to 1933 seniors on the ground that they should still be physically capable of playing a full game in fast company. Any players selected, who are under contract to teams in the National pro league, will be permitted by their teams to play with the college all-stars—even those under contract with the Bears, George Hallas, owner of the Chicago team, has agreed.

College-Pro Nothing exactly like the college game has been attempted before. Several years ago the famous "Four Horsemen" of Notre Dame, six years out of college, and other Notre Dame stars, met the New York Giants of the National league. Last fall the Bears met a team of former Notre Dame players.

All seats for the spectacle will be reserved, and are already on sale. A block of 4,000 seats between the two 25-yard lines, will go at $1.05 each, with the remainder, about 104,000, priced at $1.10.

Yale Crew In Record Tying Regatta Race

HENLEY-ON-THAMES, England, July 5 (AP)—A smooth stroking crew of Yale 150 pounders, one of three surviving American entries, helped batter ancient records around today in the second stage of the annual four day Henley regatta.

Boating out a rival American eight, Tabor school, of Marlon, Mass., by less than a quarter of a length, the Ell lightweight tied the 12-year old record of seven minutes, six seconds for the Thames cup competition over the classic Henley distance of a mile and 155 yards.

So good were water and wind conditions, despite a blazingly hot sun, that the big Leander crew, chief rival for Princeton's varsity in the Grand Challenge cup, smashed the record that has stood for 37 years in beating the London Boat club by a quarter of a length in 6:45.

Kingston, rowing in the Thames cup preliminaries, also tied the 13 year old record of Yale equalled.

The time of the Leander eight, which is certain to race Princeton if the Tigers beat Pembroke in their first test tomorrow, broke the record of 6:51 set by New college in 1911 and tied by Oxford in 1897 and Leander in 1913.

Three U. S. Entries American record books list a record of 6:45 made by the Thames Rowing club in 1923, but that was the year 100 yards inadvertently cut out from the length of the course.

Only three of six original American entries remained in the various competitions tonight. In addition to Yale and Princeton, Winchester Rutherford, coach of the Princeton varsity, was a favorite to reach the finals of the classic diamond sculls.

Leonard, Moline Fighter, Suffers Fractured Arm

CHICAGO, July 5 (AP)—Solly Dukelsky of Chicago, was awarded a technical knockout victory over Red Leonard, rugged East Moline, Ill., middleweight, tonight when the latter suffered a fracture of his left wrist in the seventh round of the round feature at Shewbridge field.

Leonard was well out in front when he suffered the injury, and might have lasted to win the decision. An Illinois state athletic commission physician, however, ordered the bout stopped. Dukelsky weighed 156 1-2; Leonard 162 1-2. Sheridan Kennard, 146, Fargo, N.D., outpointed Chuck Reed, 149, Chicago, in the eight round semi-final. Kennard was down for 10 minutes in the fourth, and more than fended it up by knocking Reed down for a count of seven in the fifth. Al Paul, 138 3-4, Sioux City, Ia., outpointed Gary Baldwin, 139, Detroit, in a four-round preliminary.

Broaca in 4th Straight Triumph; Gehrig Gets 2 Homers

NEW YORK, July 5 (AP)—A pair of former college stars, Lou Gehrig, from Columbia way back, and Johnny Broaca, a 1934 Yale graduate, today combined their hitting and pitching talents to give the New York Yankees an easy 8 to 3 victory over last season's pennant-winning Washington Senators.

Two More for Gehrig Gehrig's big bat propelled his 22nd and 23rd home runs, putting him only one circuit drive behind the co-leaders Jimmy Foxx and Bob Johnson, and two singles, accounting for seven of the Yankees' eight runs.

Broaca, although hit freely by the Senators who had gathered an even dozen safeties, allowed but three runs on twelve hits. Two of these were home runs by Buddy Myer and Johnny Stone in the seventh and ninth innings, respectively, when the bases were empty. Heinie Manush sent the other Senator runner across the plate after Stone had doubled in the first inning. It was Broaca's fourth consecutive victory in his first season in the major leagues and added considerably to the bespectacled college star's popularity with the regular customers of the Yankee stadium.

Stewart started on the mound for the Senators and after being pounded for eight hits and six runs was relieved by Bob Kline in the seventh. Kline lasted one inning after which he was taken out for Alex McCall.

Hayes Out Again

CHICAGO, July 5 (AP)—Jack Hayes, White Sox second baseman, will be out of the line-up for at least a month due to a fractured thumb he suffered in his throwing hand in yesterday's double header with St. Louis. X-ray examination today revealed the extent of the injury.

Hayes returned to the Sox lineup only last Saturday and had played only four games when injury struck him. Previously, an operation for removal of a chipped bone from his elbow had kept him on the sidelines since May 10.

Junior C. of C. to Present Fireworks Display Monday

More Than 17,000 See July Fourth Program

The Junior Chamber of Commerce fireworks spectacle, part of the Fourth of July celebration called off because of rain, will be presented free of charge at the city park at 9:15 p.m. Monday.

Preceding the display there will be a double header diamond ball game under the lights, Committee Chairman Ed Urbans said yesterday. The Boone Coal company will play Swanner's at 7 o'clock and Brady's grocery will play Kelly Brothers at 8 o'clock.

Profits to Charity
The entire fireworks display will be presented as scheduled for the celebration with all pieces damaged in the rain Tuesday night being replaced. A representative of the Thearle-Duffield company will remain in Iowa City until Monday to superintend firing.

The series of showers the evening of the Fourth caused the cancellation of the display by officials.

The net profit of the celebration, which was attended by more than 17,000 persons, had not been calculated yesterday, Mr. Urbans said. Profits will be turned over to charity.

In spite of cloudy weather in the morning, the crowd arrived early at the park for the diamond ball tournament and band concert.

Sports

In the afternoon the Marshalltown Indians defeated the Iowa City Merchants baseball team 5 to 3 and the Coralville team defeated the girls from Hills 13 to 9 in a diamondball game.

Dusty Keaton's orchestra played for the dances in the afternoon and evening in the park pavilion. The Parkway Amusement company, which furnished the sidehows and rides for the celebration, will be in Iowa City until tomorrow night.

The Red Cross first aid station, directed by Mrs. Martin Pederson, dressed several firecracker wounds and provided tired celebrators a place to rest.

Glass Talks To Rotarians

Schools Must Solve Unemployment, He Says

America must look to its schools to help solve the unemployment problem, Prof. James M. Glass of Rollins college, Winter Park, Fla., told the Rotary club at a luncheon in the Jefferson hotel yesterday.

When industries of America close their doors to the youth of the country, said Professor Glass, then the only alternative is to open the doors of schools and colleges wider.

The speaker pointed to the spread of the junior college movement west of the Mississippi river as a possible solution to the problem.

The creation of social criminals of the future and the organization of youth movements were two dangers that might develop out of the present situation if no remedy was found, the speaker pointed out.

The solution may lie in federal subsidies to states to support national education, Professor Glass said. Another possible remedy he advocated, was the idea of "universal service" to be rendered by the youth of each community.

LeRoy R. Spencer, newly elected president of the club, presided at the meeting.

handcraft will be in the recreational center, 194 S. Linn street, if it rains tonight, Miss Reckmeyer said.

If packages sent registered, insured or collect on delivery are marked "personal," they are not subject to the extra charge.
