Union Workers Vote for Strikes in Two Cities

Arbitration Favored By Employers

Labor Board Seeks To Avert General Walkout

BULLETIN
SAN FRANCISCO, July 11 (AP)—San Francisco's 2,500 union teamsters tonight confirmed their vote to strike at midnight as a protest against conditions resulting from the Pacific coast maritime dispute.

BULLETIN
OAKLAND, Cal., July 11 (AP)—Oakland's 1,200 union teamsters tonight confirmed a strike vote taken in connection with the maritime dispute, and announced the walkout would start at midnight.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 11 (AP)—A proposal to arbitrate differences in the strike of 27,000 Pacific coast marine workers was accepted today by the employers and submitted to a referendum of the idle longshoremen.

The offer of arbitration came from President Roosevelt's labor disputes board, seeking to avert a general strike which would involve more than 100,000 union workers on the seacoast. It was accepted unconditionally by steamship companies and employers in the major ports, and a few hours later William J. Lewis, Pacific coast president of the International Longshoremen's association, announced the 12,000 striking members of that organization would vote upon the proposal. The status of 15,000 other idle marine workers remained uncertain. Archbishop Edward J. Hanna, chairman of the president's board, said he was encouraged but added "I am going to say my prayers while we wait."

Cook Explains Girl's Death

Woman Relates How College Beauty Died

NORMAN, Okla., July 11 (AP)—The death of 20 year old Marian Mills, University of Oklahoma beauty queen, was disclosed today to be the tragic sequel of a campus romance.

Mrs. Hazel Brown, 39 year old cook for the Delta Upsilon fraternity confidante-told University of Oklahoma Paul Updegraff that the girl had taken many doses of an illegally prescribed medicine in an effort to escape motherhood before she died at Mrs. Brown's duplex apartment yesterday.

Updegraff said he was "satisfied that death was caused by an overdose of this medicine."

The report of an autopsy, however, was awaited.

Search went on for 21 year old Neal Myers, Junior pharmacy student last year at the university. He disappeared from the Brown apartment yesterday afternoon after a panic-stricken call for a doctor. The physician, Dr. E. F. Stephens, found the girl, fully dressed, lying face down on the bed. She was dead.

While officers hunted in Norman for Myers, his mother, Mrs. P. B. Myers of El Reno, Okla., said she was convinced he and Miss Mills had been married secretly. His father, a physician, said "I don't believe there is anything against my boy. He always has been a clean, respectable young man."

Condition of Mrs. Hamborg Unchanged

The condition of Mrs. F. L. Hamborg, wife of the University of Iowa treasurer, was reported to be about the same at University hospital last night.

Mrs. Hamborg was taken to the hospital Monday night after a week's illness. Physicians did not state the cause of her illness.

Minneapolis Drivers Vote For Walkout

MINNEAPOLIS, July 11 (AP)—Minneapolis truck drivers tonight voted to strike, effective at midnight Monday, after all-day conferences between union leaders and employers' representatives failed to bring about terms to ward off a walkout.

Before the vote was taken, Robert Fleming, president of the St. Paul Drivers' union, assured the mass meeting of truck drivers and helpers that "St. Paul is with you because we have the same grievances as you have." St. Paul truck drivers will meet tomorrow night to consider a strike.

The strike vote was taken after union leaders hurled charges of "double-crossing" by employers and threatened to "tie up every semblance of transportation which we are convinced is not cooperating with us," and to "pick up right where we left off."

More than 200 persons were injured and two persons fatally hurt in the 11-day strike of the truck drivers which ended May 25.

STRIKE SITUATION

By The Associated Press
Shipowners and employers involved in the Pacific coast's drawn-out strike of 27,000 longshoremen last night agreed to arbitrate as the threat of a general strike of 100,000 coastal union employes was intensified by violence.

Longshoremen's officers said the arbitration proposal would be submitted to the membership for a referendum.

In St. Paul
Meanwhile in Minneapolis, truck drivers voted to strike Monday, and action of St. Paul truckmen was to be taken today on a similar proposal. The central labor body endorsed the vote of the truckmen but did not indicate if general sympathy strikes would be called in the twin cities, scene of violence in May when two persons were killed and 200 injured in transportation strikes.

At West Allis, Wis., where a shot was fired and two persons were injured in disorders attending a strike at the Wehr Steel company, an announcement of a tentative settlement was made last night. Nine persons were arrested there.

Strike Ends
At Pekin, Ill., a strike of some 200 employes of the Corn Products Refining company ended when strikers after mediation with a federal labor board agreed to submit all questions to a bargaining committee of workers and employers.

Amalgamated Association of Steel Workers of the Republic Steel corporation at Warren, O., voted not to go back to work until a new union contract is signed. Tuesday the company announced it would not renew a contract which expired June 30.

Representatives of 18,000 members of the United Textile Workers of America have been called to meet Sunday at Birmingham, Ala., to consider a report of the national research committee and ballot on a strike call.

Wallace Says Relief Through If Adjustment Act Repealed

Must Retain Plan Until Foreign Markets Reopen

MADISON, Wis., July 11 (AP)—The prediction that opponents of the agricultural adjustment act will launch a drive for its repeal was coupled with a warning by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace here tonight that farm relief is through if the act is destroyed.

Wallace, speaking at the tenth meeting of the American institute of cooperation on the prospect of foreign markets for agricultural products, said the farmers must retain the present adjustment machinery until the foreign markets are reopened.

Urging farmers to hold on to the centralizing powers of the AAA, the secretary said he was not shutting the door against changes and modifications, but that further changes undoubtedly will be submitted to the next congress.

The attack on the adjustment act, he said, "will be preceded by honeyed words of concern for the farmer;

NRA Chief Draws Up Basic Code

Believe Swedish Explorer Held By Moslem General

LONDON, July 11 (AP)—Dr. Sven Hedin, noted Swedish explorer, is being held by bandits in central Turkestan, according to a dispatch from Peiping to the Daily Mail.

It was reported that Hedin and 12 companions were seized by the Moslem General Ma Chung Ving, and that they are captives in an inaccessible camp in the region of Aksu.

The retreat was regarded a bandit stronghold, and officials of the Chinese government and the British consulate at Kashgar said that sending a rescue expedition would be extremely difficult.

Lee Admits Getting Pay From Nazis

Receives $25,000 For Advice on Various Matters

NEW YORK, July 11 (AP)—Evidence that Ivy Lee, prominent public relations counsel, is receiving $25,000 a year from the German dye trust for services which include advice on German rearmament was presented today to the congressional subcommittee investigating un-American activities.

Lee is in Europe but testimony which he gave the committee at a private hearing was read into the record before a packed audience. It was corroborated on the witness stand by Burnham Carter, one of his partners.

Reports from Lee's office, supposedly on American reactions to German governmental policy, were transmitted to the "Interessen Gemeinschaft" or dye trust in Berlin. However, the reports included suggestions as to German policy on armaments and other matters, the testimony showed.

Nazis Emphasize Hitler's Talk

BERLIN, July 11 (AP)—The Nazi government's radio was turned into a town crier today to announce over and over again the importance of the speech Chancellor Hitler will make to the Reichstag Friday night and urge every German to listen to it.

This move emphasized the importance attached by the government to the explanation Hitler will give of his suppression of the "Roehm revolt" on June 30 and the events of succeeding days.

To make certain that every one has a chance to hear the speech, it was announced, loud speakers will be placed in public places.

Johnson Sets Deadline For Code Making

Uncoded Industries May Come Under New Rulings

WASHINGTON, July 11 (AP)—Hugh S. Johnson promulgated a new "basic code" for industries still without the NRA fold today and set a 30-day deadline for winding up blue eagle code making.

In a special order, Johnson gave all uncoded industries the choice of merging with existing kindred codes or operating under the new basic code with a general NRA code authority to be created by Johnson.

Urges Competition

Johnson said "It is not intended by this plan to force all remaining uncoded industries under codes," but gave notice that industries remaining outside NRA which appear to be harboring labor abuses may have a code imposed.

NRA said the mopping-up plan would cover 262 pending codes and any industries which had not yet applied for codes. Code agreements appeared near on 135 of these and NRA urged their completion in the next 15 days thereby eliminating them from the basic code group.

Not included
Several codes, such as the anthracite and shipping, were described as "having special and important economic, labor or legal conditions" and will be held aside for individual consideration. The service trades, whose fair practice provisions have been suspended, are not included in the plan.

The uncoded small industries, while numerous, were said by NRA to employ far less than 10 per cent of America's 24,000,000 industrial workers. Most workers are covered by the 478 codes in force. The gold fish, pretzel, corn cob pipe and circus industries are an example of some of the uncoded trades.

Experts Seek Cuts in Costs

Hope to Save Millions For Treasury By Check Up

WASHINGTON, July 11 (AP)—Treasury experts are trying to see if the government can't save a few millions here and there on such items as snag boats in the upper Mississippi, prize money for Spanish war captures and civilization of the Sioux Indians.

These, chosen at random, are three of several hundred items that used to be called "permanent appropriations." They just went on from year to year without anyone bothering about whether they were needed or were costing more than they should.

Annual Check

In the future, however, they will be overhauled annually by congress and the money voted directly if needed, as with any other appropriation. This is the result of a bill passed in the closing days of the last session.

How much money will be saved, no one will even guess as yet. In fact there is still some argument as to just how much such money has "gone out of the backdoor of the treasury," as it was termed, in past years.

Totals $268,663,222
The treasury's recapitulation of expenditures in this category for the fiscal year 1933 totalled $268,663,222, after deducting items exempted in the bill, such as public debt retirement, contributions to the civil service retirement fund and payments to states.

Budget estimates for the fiscal year 1934 listed 135 items in the classification at a total of $135,392,274 and for the fiscal year 1935, the same number at an aggregate estimated outlay of $121,048,162.

Illinois Governor Views Wreckage Left by Tornado

JACKSONVILLE, Ill., July 11 (AP)—Governor Henry Horner today motored from Springfield and toured the storm area from Jacksonville to Havana, Ill., where hail, rain and wind of tornadoic fury left a trail of debris and a trail of injuries.

The storms hit late last night, uprooting trees, dashing small buildings to bits, flanging communication lines asunder, unroofing homes. Surveys late today indicated the property damage would approximate $1,000,000. About a score of persons were cut and bruised and three were hurt seriously.

New Powers Taken Over By Dollfuss

Military, Police Forces Under Control Of Chancellor

VIENNA, July 11 (AP)—As a preliminary to a ruthless campaign against Austria's bomb-firing Nazis, Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss today concentrated the full military and police powers of the country in his own hands.

The vigorous little chancellor became a sort of second Mussolini as he reorganized the cabinet and made himself minister of foreign affairs, minister of defense and minister of agriculture in addition to being chancellor.

Fey In New York

Emil Fey, formerly vice chancellor and later minister of security was stepped down to the position of "general commissar for extraordinary security," in which capacity his duties will be to carry out the orders of minister of security.

Fey began his new job with a vitriolic editorial in his newspaper, "Abendzeitung," in which he warned the Hitler government in Germany that Austria realizes that "anarchy" prevailed in the neighboring Reich.

"Therefore," said the editorial, "Austria must safeguard itself, and the time has come to consider what's to be done to extinguish the center of contagion. It is not surprising that the wildest rumors are circulating in Berlin, including reports that France is preparing to march into Germany."

Warns Reichstag

The editorial concludes with a warning to the German Reichstag that if it "associates itself with June 30 (the day of the 'purge') it will mean a catastrophe for Germany."

The Austrian foreign office, however, cautioned correspondents that Fey's attack is not to be regarded as a semi-official attack on Germany. The spokesman pointed out that Fey's new job is purely domestic and has nothing to do with other nations.

Two Local Troops Will Attend Guards Camp Aug. 1 to 19

Two troops of national guards of Iowa City will attend the annual encampment of the Iowa national guards at Camp Dodge Aug. 5 to 19. The dates were set by Adjutant-General Charles Grahl last night, according to the Associated Press.

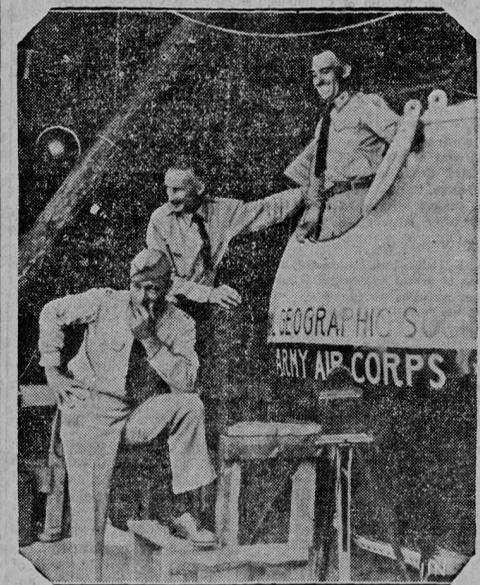

The Iowa City units of the national guards are the 186th Hospital corps and Troop I of the 113th cavalry which are headed by Capt. George Maresch and Maj. Will J. Hayek, respectively.

The guardsmen will be transferred from their home cities by train to Des Moines except where special permission is granted to travel in privately owned automobiles.

Lt. Col. Earl B. Bush of Ames was named camp surgeon by the adjutant general and will have charge of the annual physical examination of guardsmen at the camp.

Stratosphere Balloon City to Get Liquor Store

Commission States City Included in Next Group

Iowa City will have a state liquor store, the state liquor commission announced in Des Moines yesterday. The store will be among the next group established.

Local landlords who were interviewed by the representative of the liquor commission last spring said yesterday that they had received no word in regard to the location of the store. It was indicated that the commission would probably take another survey of available buildings here.

In spite of the fact that Iowa City is a "college town" the commission felt that there was a strong enough demand by the general public to warrant the placing of a store here.

The commission had not considered the opening of liquor stores in Ames and Cedar Falls where the other state schools are located.

Liquor stores will not be opened in smaller college towns in the state because of the strong opposition to legal liquor, the commission pointed out.

Iowa City was listed as one of the larger college towns in which the demand was large enough to justify the opening of a store.

Warrant Issued

BERLIN (AP)—A warrant charging tax evasion was issued today for the "temporary" arrest of Otto Klemperer, orchestra conductor who is well known in the United States.

Employment Of 1,000 Men Seen as Goal

Active Campaign To Start Thursday With Talks

The Iowa City and Johnson county "Renovizing and Reemployment" campaign, to stimulate home modernization and to give employment to more than 1,000 men, was launched last night at a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Housing committee in the American Legion Community building.

To acquaint residents of Iowa City and Johnson county with the purpose of the campaign, which will get under way next Thursday, William L. Davis, chairman of the committee, tentatively announced plans for a combined service club luncheon at the community building Monday.

Committee to Meet

A committee to work out details in regard to carrying on the campaign will meet this afternoon at 2 o'clock in the community building. Members of the committee, as appointed by Chairman Davis, are Jay J. McNamara, the Rev. L. A. Owen, D. W. Crum, Mrs. C. E. Seashore, Joseph Porter, Jr., Harry Bunker, and Ed Chappell.

"Unemployment in Iowa City is again becoming an acute problem," Mr. Davis said. "With the completion of the various federal projects in the county, and the unemployment list growing, it is the aim of this campaign to meet the problem by creating jobs through home modernization and repairs," he explained.

Need Employment

The need for some method to take care of the jobless, which at present are estimated at 1,000 men and whose ranks will undoubtedly increase to more than 2,500 men this winter, was pointed out by Nyle W. Jones, head of the local reemployment office.

Take Place of CWA

Mr. Jones said that these men must get temporary work this summer to take the place of the CWA in order that they might accumulate money to carry them through the winter.

Mr. Porter, manager of the Iowa City Light and Power company, who headed the Kansas City, Mo., "renovizing" campaign last year, described details of the campaign in a talk before the members of the committee last night.

The tentative plans drawn up by the committee for the campaign will include a canvass of the residential district of Iowa City next week by women canvassers, who will leave pledge cards for homeowners to sign stating what they intend to have done on their ground and homes.

Collect Pledge Cards

On the following Monday, canvassers from the Chamber of Commerce will collect the pledge cards giving the number of hours of work and the size of the job pledged.

The repainting will include painting, new roofs, fences, redecorating, and work on fences surrounding homes.

No Goal Set

No goal was set at last night's meeting in regard to the number of laborers to be given employment and the amount of money to be spent by Iowa City and Johnson county homeowners for this work.

For persons who wish to make improvements on their homes and lack the ready cash, the committee will attempt to negotiate loans under the terms of the national housing act passed in the last session of congress.

The act provides that persons may borrow up to $16,000 on one home from a local bank or loan association with the government guaranteeing the payment of 20 per cent of the loan.

Laborers for all jobs will be provided through the local reemployment office, Mr. Jones said.

Speakers To Be Announced

Speakers at the meeting Monday will be announced at the committee meeting this afternoon, Mr. Davis said.

Members of the Chamber of Commerce housing committee are: Mr. Davis, Prof. C. M. Updegraff, Mr. McNamara, Albert Sidwell, L. G. Frutiger, Robert E. Neff, V. W. Nall, the Rev. Mr. Owen, and W. H. Cobb.

Guard Kills 22 Year Old Girl Slayer

Helen Eaton Dies In Prison Break Attempt

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., July 11 (AP)—Making good her threat that she would never be taken alive, Helen Eaton, 22 year old slayer of two men, died in a gun battle with a trusty guard seven miles from the Jacksonville women's prison farm near here late today.

She made her fourth escape from the farm late yesterday.

Shotgun Charge
The comely brunette, clad in overalls, a man's shirt and men's shoes, fell before the shotgun charge of Frank Martin, who with B. O. Brockman, deputy superintendent of the women's prison farm, was searching for her after she was reported to have invaded a farm house in an attempt to force a farmer's wife to provide her with transportation.

The guard and Brockman saw her walking along the road a short distance from the farm house. Martin said she left the road and walked into some brushwood and he and Brockman separated to cut off her escape.

The trusty said he called upon her to stop and that as he called, she reached for a pistol. He fired once, Martin said, and she pitched forward.

First Trace
The farmer's trace to the prison was the first trace of the fugitive since she escaped yesterday by feigning illness as she worked in a strawberry patch with other prisoners. Gaining permission to enter the house for medicine, she did not return but made off with the night watchman's pistol.

The farmer's wife told officers the girl convict entered the house with a drawn gun and demanded transportation. The wife ran into the field screaming and notified her husband, who telephoned authorities at Jacksonville.

'Criticism' Wins Young G.O.P. Vote

CHICAGO, July 11 (AP)—Over protests from a minority that it made them "just a party of 'againers,'" young Republican leaders today endorsed the campaign policies of their elders.

The young political leaders had been asked to write a statement of policy by the party's national managers, as part of a meeting of 63 delegates from young Republican clubs of 23 states. Immediately a dispute arose over whether the party should criticize the "new deal" or offer alternatives.

Report Wins
The policy committee's report, condemning "bureaucracy" and deploring the Democrats for spending too much money, won out, but over a vigorous dissent from delegations from Maine, New York and New Jersey.

"It's a lot of high sounding words," said Delegate Albert B. Hermann of Milltown, N. J., "It makes us simply a party of 'againers.' Let's offer something constructive."

Delegate Protests
"Rather than see us offer nothing, I'd see us do nothing," said Delegate Archie O. Dawson of New York. The original draft which had been read and approved by a sub-committee of the national committee, won on a roll call, 15 to 3.

The young Republicans' hopes for a national organization, to include citizens from 18 to 36 years of age, received the sanction today of National Committeeman John D. M. Hamilton of Topeka, Kan., named by Party Chairman Henry P. Fletcher to rally the young voters this fall.

F.R.'s Ship Crosses Canal

BALBOA, Canal Zone, July 11 (AP)—President Roosevelt crossed the Panama Canal today on the cruiser Houston, forging another link in his historic good-will and inspection tour of American possessions and South America.

Under bright skies after rainy weather had prevailed most of the day, the Houston came into dock shortly after 4 o'clock having made a speedy six hour crossing from the Atlantic.

The president's ship was received with cheers of a large crowd and a salute from the cruiser New Orleans, which will become its new convoy.

POST PREPARES FOR SPEED DASH IN STRATOSPHERE

Hoping to discover if unheard-of speed is possible in the emptiness of the stratosphere, Wiley Post, daring 'round-the-world flyer, is preparing for a speed test flight at a height of 50,000 feet in his famous plane, Winnie Mae. During the proposed flight, which is expected to start from Glennville, Ill., Post hopes to attain a speed of at least 350 miles an hour.

daily life on all sides. Individuals unduly or show other signs of over-activity or excitement." In his laboratory Dr. Jacobson has found many ailments originated from nervous disorders can be traced to a failure to relax.

No Embracing Allowed
NEWTON, Mass., July 11 (AP)—When an automobilist, who is under suspicion of driving while intoxicated, tries to kiss a 214-pound cop—that seems to prove something. Anyway, Judge William S. Bacon found Gaetano Freoli, 45 year old defendant, guilty, Wednesday after Patrolman Robert C. Stevens, the arresting officer, asserted that no sober man had ever before tried to embrace him.

Movie Tarzan Pictured As Violent Husband by "Lupe"

LOS ANGELES, July 11 (AP)—Picturing her movie Tarzan as a violent, cursing, furniture wrecking husband, Lupe Velez, vivacious Mexican screen actress, filed divorce proceedings here today against Johnny Weissmuller, screen actor and Olympic swimming champion. Only last night she announced they had separated.

Charging cruelty, Miss Velez asserted her Tarzan "cursed, swore and threatened his wife" and that he "broke and destroyed furniture in the home and some of the articles struck the plaintiff and caused severe cuts and lacerations."

The screen actress asserted Weissmuller's conduct in the presence of strangers and friends caused her to become "ill and nervous" and resulted in "great grief and mental suffering."

The marriage of the mercurially tempered Lupe and the bronzed athlete has produced a series of temporary separations invariably accompanied by voluble explanations. Last Saturday Lupe and Johnny returned from an eastern trip with the little actress vowing she would "scratch out plenty of eyes if anybody say me and Johnny bust up." "I no like to be tough guy," she said then, "but some day I got mad. It gives me goose flesh. We come east. Johnny stop off in Washington to play golf and some papers say we bust up. Johnny, on his way back here, see these papers, and he say, 'What the h—l is thees?'"

They separated on Monday. She said she and Johnny would remain "the very best of friends."

Lupe and Johnny eloped by airplane to Las Vegas, Nevada, October 8, 1933, and were married shortly after the swimmer had been divorced by Bobbe Arnst, dancer, on cruelty charges.

Miss Velez was born in San Luis Potosi, Mexico, July 18, 1910 and was convent educated. Her real name is Guadalupe Villa Lobos, she was a Wampas baby star of 1928 and has played leading parts in numerous films.

Complete Relaxation Needed For Health, Chicago Physiologist Says

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third of a series of articles appearing daily in The Daily Iowan dealing with research in various fields of science.

CHICAGO, (AP)—Relax, urges Dr. Edmund Jacobson, University of Chicago physiologist. In the same breath he asks, "Can you relax?"

Complete relaxation, as he sees it, is something more than stretching out in a chair or on a bed with some muscles eased but other delicate muscles still tense, to be tormented by the problems of a busy day.

A person who is thoroughly relaxed is free from all muscular contractions save those affected by the self-actuating contractions of the heart, says Dr. Jacobson. Even in thinking and in most sensations men experience minute tensions in delicate muscles are brought into play, the physiologist finds.

Tension Causes Early Death
"It is physically impossible to be nervous in any part of your body if in that part you are completely relaxed," he says.

In the case of the business men, Dr. Jacobson blames many early age deaths—particularly those since 1928—partly on a failure to relax.

"Unfortunately," he says, "when the executive leaves his place of business for the day his cares generally go with him. Tensions which have been present during the preceding hours are likely to continue in the background of his evening occupations."

Dr. Jacobson declares a business man who has mastered the art of relaxation would not take his own life.

"Modern invention and labor saving machinery have relieved physical drudgery," he says, "but have apparently only increased the nervous strains."

"One method to effect relief, at least in part, might be a return to a simpler way of life. This solution seems practically impossible, the complexities of modern living evidently are here to stay."

All Need Relaxation
Accepting this as the inevitable conclusion, he says the question resolves itself into one of "cultivated" relaxation. Laboratory studies have led him to conclude relaxation is necessary in a walk of life—even to the society matron with overwrought nerves.

"The hostess at a dinner party or reception engages in many hours of trying arrangement of detail not apparent to the casual observer and is frequently not at her ease until the entire event lies in the past," he says. "Small talk, conventional at such affairs, when protracted, may make a demand upon nervous energies comparable with that required for concentrated work."

Beginners Should Go To Bed
In learning to relax, Dr. Jacobson recommends a course requiring careful thought and practice until one acquires it as a habit.

The arms, legs, eyes, lips and other parts of the body must be free of tension if relaxation is to be complete, he says.

The first step in learning to avoid muscle tensions is to become conscious of where they occur. For beginners Dr. Jacobson advises periods of lying flat in bed with eyes closed and mind free of thought.

Relaxation, he says, also can be carried to one's daily work through "differential" relaxing. The performances of dancers, singers and athletes depend upon absence of tension in the parts of their bodies not directly involved. Workers can learn to prevent the overflow of tension from muscles needed in the work to those not needed.

"You can with care," says Dr. Jacobson, "observe excess tension in

The NRA Builds For Permanency

THE recommendation of General Hugh Johnson that the National Recovery administration be placed under the control of a commission set up by executive order marks the change in it from a transitory proposition established for emergency use to a matter of permanent government policy.

There can be little doubt now that the NRA will become a permanent part of the federal government. Various details of its administration may change, new offices may be created and old ones abolished, it may venture into new fields, and leave old ones, it may blunder and remedy, but its fundamental basis—national economic planning—is undoubtedly becoming recognized even by individualists as here to stay.

With its adoption as a part of our national life, some more stable means of administration has become a necessity. Though the commission form of administration has often proved slow and inefficient, it has been favored for executive duties in state and federal government, and in all probability a commission will be established.

Three things should be kept in mind by those in power in setting up a recovery commission. The first is that the NRA has blundered in its treatment of small business. While Mr. Johnson has been laying dead cats, business surveys have shown that large corporations are gaining in volume of trade at the expense of small business. In making the NRA permanent, federal officials must adopt some means to prevent it from becoming a tyrant to the "little fellow."

Secondly, the value of centralizing administration should not be overlooked. The appointment of one member of the commission or an outsider as administrator or director, with full authority to execute the commissions plans, would probably be the best solution to this question.

Finally—though such a warning need hardly be given to federal officials—the commission should be set up so that the balance of power should always be with the party in control. A house divided against itself stands on weak foundations.

Permanency now seems to be the goal of those in control of the NRA. It is noteworthy on General Johnson's part that he is one of the first to recognize its needs. HERR GOEBBELS

Herr Goebbels Views Honest Journalism

STORIES have come from Germany of speeches which have been made by high government officials, which, in view of conditions agreed by all reliable newspaper correspondents to exist there, have seemed a bit ironic.

But probably nothing is so tinged with bitter humor as the address of Propaganda Minister Goebbels, in his announcement to the world that only German journalism was fair in reporting the recent bloody uprisings in the Reich.

Though no direct reference was made to American newspapers, Herr Goebbels did cite British, French, and Russian newspapers as having printed "atrocious" lies. Perhaps the officials informed of the German nation did not see the American papers.

At any rate, it is difficult to see how even an atrocious imagination of a Frenchman could have developed more horrible tales than the admittedly fair reports sent to America.

To state the situation frankly, Herr Goebbels is upset because honest correspondents refused to take the "official" government reports that 60 were killed in Hitler's "purging"—knowing full well that the total ran into the hundreds.

Herr Goebbels seeks to prove his point by showing that the German newspapers—honest, upright government publicity sheets—accepted the official reports without question. Of course, he failed to point out that if the German papers had disobeyed—so strict is the censorship—the plants would have been closed, publication discontinued, and their editors summarily killed, along with the other traitors.

To American and other correspondents who are risking their lives daily to send back honest reports from Nazi Germany, much honor is due—Herr Goebbels' little ironic joke to the contrary notwithstanding.

Sabine Women—1934 Version

IN BUTTE, MONT., things have come to a pretty pass, indeed. Take it from E. A. Diller, a Butte miner, who is seeking a housekeeper—object, matrimony.

Mr. Diller has made his complaint to the San Francisco bureau of missing persons. There are too many men in Butte, and not enough women, he says.

Turn back the pages of history, Mr. Diller. In Rome, when the shortage of women became an acute problem, the Romans took command of the situation in no uncertain manner. They went out, captured the Sabine women, and brought them to Rome to become Roman housewives.

There is the precedent, Mr. Diller. The moral seems clear:

"When in Butte, do as the Romans do." Here's to a happy voyage in matrimony, Mr. Diller.

The Building Demand
(From the Ames Daily Tribune-Times)

The demand for homes in this country, especially in the industrial centers, is probably stronger today than it has been for 10 years. In one community of a little over a million persons, a real estate survey indicates that 6,000 families would like to build or buy homes, and that 4,000 of them would build at once if they could arrange the financing. An acute housing shortage is foreseen.

What would be the business effect, not to mention the effect in personal and family comfort and satisfaction, if 4,000 homes could be built this year, in any equivalent community or section? An expert figures it out as follows:

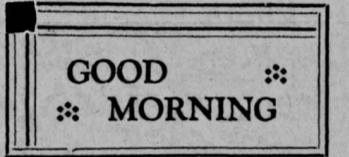

It would furnish jobs to 200,000 men in the building trades.

It would pay $18,000,000 in wages at the home site or in the mills.

It would buy $6,000,000 worth of materials.

It would revive the real estate market and raise real estate values, thereby helping to revive all other values.

It would stimulate industry generally, because no industry draws its supplies from so many others as building does.

GOOD MORNING

It is time members of the university family and the public generally took stock of radio station WSUL.

The place of radio in education is clear, even though it is something of an innovation. Its possible field is almost limitless, and in its future one can envision the fulfillment of the grand dreams of the democratic educational theory.

WSUL is due for criticism. Its shortcomings are obvious and often serious. It lacks sufficient power to cover more than a fourth of the state effectively, and its programs more often than not are not of the caliber that becomes a great university.

But WSUL likewise has made admirable progress when in comparison with other stations of its kind. It is one of 30 educational stations remaining out of a once proud list of more than 100. With such a fearful fatality rate, WSUL's longevity is something of which to be proud.

But it has not merely lived. In spite of a sadly inadequate budget, it has progressed. Under the direction of Mrs. Pearl Bennett Broxan, programs have become dependable, if they have not yet reached the quality that might be desired.

The most noteworthy advance of the last year is the series of study programs broadcast regularly by the child welfare research station to organized groups of women throughout the state. This series, the results of which have been increasingly encouraging, point the way to the future place of radio in the educational pattern.

The same thing can be done on a much more ambitious scale in broadcasting special programs into high school classrooms. Certainly there are no technical difficulties.

All high school classes—civics, economics, social science, natural sciences, English and foreign language, history, music, speech and dramatics—are rich fields for radio education.

The result would be mutually profitable to everyone concerned. The advantages of giving high school students the stimulation once or twice a week of contributions from leaders at the state's educational center are obvious. Why can't it be done?

The answer is the same as the answer to every question regarding the improvement of WSUL. Money. All credit is due to the men and women of the faculty and student body who regularly contribute their time and talent. But a first class radio station, even of the educational type, cannot depend entirely upon gratis talent.

The day will soon come when WSUL will have to be put on a more secure budgetary basis if it is to advance to the fulfillment of its possibilities. The present budget of $2,500 exclusive of salaries is not enough on which to operate the mechanical facilities of a radio station and produce well rounded and well planned programs besides.

The need is for a general recognition of the great function an educational station might fill today and will fill in the future. The place of radio in the future of education is secure, and will steadily expand.

It is no longer an experiment. It has reached the stage where it must launch out to fulfill the promise revealed during the stage of experimentation. It must become of age.

Behind The Scenes in HOLLYWOOD
 By Harrison Carroll

HOLLYWOOD, Cal.—For sense of humor, I'll take the orchestra of the S. S. Lurline, playing the Honolulu run. Peter Fortune Ryan (owner of countless millions) and his bride just honeymooned it over on the vessel.

When the pair made their first appearance, the orchestra struck up: "I Can't Give You Anything But Love."

Hottest rumor in Hollywood is that John (Jake the Barber) Factor returns here soon to make that long-discussed motion picture on his experiences with the kidnapers. Boulevard gossips insist the story is all ready to shoot and that space has been rented in a certain studio. Some added details are that Factor plans to have his wife and son react the roles they played in the sensational snatch case and the resultant conviction of the racketeer. Dope is that the picture will point the moral that the victims should talk and give the federal government every aid in identifying their captors.

Among the livelier items told of the Hollywood delegation that went to the Shriners' convention in Minneapolis is that Jackie Coogan got off at every station to send a wire back to Toby Wing. The pair are said to have worked out a code for their telegrams just to baffle such curious persons as me.

The young West Point lieutenant whom all the sheets said would marry the M.G.M. starlet, Shirley Reems, isn't to have any such luck. Soons as Shirley decided to come back from West Point via her old home town, Omaha, Neb. While there, she met a childhood sweetheart, and, from all reports, the army suffered a crushing defeat. Shirley has returned her officer's pin and the Nebraska lad is arriving here to press his suit.

And to make the columnist's day a little harder, Shirley won't tell his name.

Where are the Hollywood art directors carrying us? Van Nest Pol-

glass, of R-K-O, tops his competitors by inventing a fur-lined bedroom for "Gay Divorcee." 'Tisn't as bad as it sounds, only the moldings, but even so, this moth's delight is not likely to sweep the country.

Columbia's troupe making "Captain Hates the Sea" are cruising desperately over the ocean in search of sunlight, but studio officials are not the only ones to get the jitters. Wynne Gibson writes: "Do something, I'm miserable. Seven days aboard this heap (the specially chartered S. S. Ruth Alexander) and I've done five each into a net off the side of this ship. And that is all. Lost 30 bucks playing black-jack with the hired hands and won 52 cents at bridge and have acquired a bulge in the vicinity of my waistline—Gibson hates the sea."

The principle of conservation of energy and the concepts of "power" and "work" are demonstrated in experiments. The film closes with a review of present and future sources of energy.

In the second of the films to be shown, "Sculpture in stone," Anna Hyatt Huntington, sculptress, will be seen creating the statue of a crouching jaguar from a block of New York marble. The whole of the sculptural process will be depicted from the roughing out of the crude block of marble by the stone carvers under the direction of the sculptress to the final creative effort of the artist.

A special reel on camera equipment will be shown through the courtesy of the Eastman Kodak company and a selection of cameras and photographic equipment will be on display.

German Schools Moulded To Nazi Regime, Peterson Says

Propaganda Taught In Place of History, He States

Education has been suppressed and moulded to the Nazi regime in Germany in the opinion of Prof. Elmer T. Peterson of the college of education who has recently returned from studying conditions there. He spoke to 225 persons in the senate chamber of Old Capitol yesterday on "The Nazi educational program."

"In the schools there has been a replacement in all positions of leadership. Everybody associated in any liberal movement in Germany is under suspicion unless he has joined wholeheartedly the Nazi program," declared Professor Peterson.

History Changed

Curricular changes are most apparent in the study of history. Students constantly see and hear the history of Germany from the Nazi point of view, the speaker said. The study of it has been simplified to a study of Frederick the Great, Bismarck, and Hitler, with the implication that Hitler is the greatest of the three.

Racial charts are popular in the scientific studies and there is a nationwide attempt to stimulate the birthrate, said Professor Peterson. The Nazi aim, he explained, is to increase the population within 100 years from 60,000,000 to 250,000,000 persons and all of them to be of the Nordic type.

Told to Breed

"Women," he continued, "are associated with the words: children, kitchen, and church. Sixty thousand girl graduates of higher institutions of learning were told not to seek employment in activity outside the home, but were told their true function is definitely to breed."

Young people are lent 1,000 marks which are cancelled at the rate of 250 marks for each child born, the speaker said.

The object, Professor Peterson said, of the Hitler policy, is to unify Germany in terms of a set program. In connection with the educational program he discussed the Hitler youth movement which has effected the abolition of every form of youth organizations, such as Y.M.C.A., and the Boy Scouts. Boys are admitted at the age of 7, are drilled and trained in a militaristic manner, and are dressed in uniforms similar to the state troopers with a dagger or sword at their sides.

Professor Peterson stressed the fact that personal advancement in Germany is based upon faithful adherence to Hitleristic principles.

PWA Plan Long Urged by Briton

Back of the huge sums congress voted President Roosevelt to spend as "he saw fit" to push forward the public works administration projects looms the figure of John Maynard Keynes, noted British economist, who for decades has pleaded for a large public works expenditure fund as a means of pulling nations out of depression doldrums. Keynes recently talked for several hours at the White House with apparent effect inasmuch as the chief executive immediately asked for increased PWA appropriations. The influential British scholar accurately foretold the world crisis after the "disastrous" Versailles treaty in 1919, and withdrew from the peace conference in protest against its "injustices."

LONDON (I.N.N.)—At Cambridge university, near here, lives a tall, mild-mannered Englishman whose influence on the "New Deal" policies of the Roosevelt administration has been more potent than that of most Americans at home.

He is John Maynard Keynes, fellow at King's college, whose black mustache adorns the face of one of the most famous economists in the world. For years he has been advocating the appropriation of huge sums in public work projects to ease depression crises and unemployment.

Ideas in Platform

Ex-Prime Minister David Lloyd George adopted his idea as part of his Liberal party platform in the English elections in 1931. But it was left to President Franklin D. Roosevelt, when he entered the national scene of hunger and chaos, to turn eagerly to the theories constantly offered by Keynes as a positive aid to "recovery."

The gigantic NRA appropriations in 1933 called for the expenditure of $3,300,000,000 on public works alone in charge of the liberal, efficient Secretary of Interior Harold Ickes. Millions were poured out or set aside for the CCC, Tennessee valley, highways, river and harbor projects. With state and municipal authorities, the PWA co-operated to help finance new works and those left unfinished with the advent of the depression.

All this, Keynes regarded as good. But later he suggested in an open letter to the president.

"You have made yourself trustee for those who seek to mend evils of our conditions by reasoned experiments of existing social system. Yet reform may impede recovery. The U. S. must plan loan expenditures... not merely refinancing."

Urged More Funds

He suggested that more and more real martyrs in the cause of a great scientific work.

(Reader's note: Why don't you print the names?)

This department has been called all sorts of things in the past—many of them hardly complimentary. So imagine my surprise, my utter amazement in fact, when I came home yesterday to find awaiting me a five pound bag of sugar, to which was attached a note with the words: "Sweets to the sweet."

To anyone who has such rare good judgment this corner donates a thousand thanks and a big orchid. But the strange situation is that sugar is one of the major ingredients in a delicacy of which I am very fond, and the household to which I am attached has been out of sugar for a week. It is a strange coincidence indeed!

Several years ago he married Lydia Lopokova, a Russian dancer.

Feigl Will Talk Today

Faculty Member To Speak on Modern Science

"The philosophical message of modern science," will be the subject of a lecture by Prof. Herbert Feigl of the philosophy department this afternoon at 4:10 in the senate chamber of Old Capitol.

Professor Feigl will discuss science in its relationship to certain philosophical beliefs. In speaking of the variety of opinions regarding the human value of science and its intellectual implications, an unbiased appraisal is very much needed.

"The radical changes in the fundamental scientific concepts have seriously shaken a number of traditional philosophical beliefs. Philosophy, under the influence of science, is undergoing a most thorough reconstruction. 'Philosophy of science,' a rapidly gaining movement in European and American thought, is one of the most significant symptoms of this transformation."

Professor Feigl is a member of the editorial board of Philosophy of Science, a philosophical journal which has appeared this year. He also studied mathematics, physics, and chemistry in Munich and Vienna, and held a Rockefeller fellowship in physics at Harvard university in 1930-1931 before he came to the University of Iowa.

BROTHER AND SISTER AT FAIR

17 Photographs of Iowa Scenes Exhibited at Union

Pictures Taken, Selected By Former S.U.L. Student

Seventeen enlargements of photographs taken by Gerald Young of the Young-Phelps company in Chicago, are now on exhibit in the main lounge of Iowa Union.

Mr. Young selected these pictures for display here because of the familiarity of their subjects to Iowa City residents.

Amama Views

Seven of the prints were taken at Amama. They include "Amama Home," "Back Porch," and the Amama woolen mills, showing machines and processes of carding and spinning wool.

The Quaker Oats plant in Cedar Rapids is also represented. Five pictures, "Grain Conveyors," "Grain Elevators," "Oat Hulling," "Carton Conveyors," and an exterior view of the plant, make up this part of the display.

Taken in Waterloo

The remaining pictures were taken at the national dairy cattle congress in Waterloo, and include photographs of livestock and machinery.

Mr. Young is the son of Mrs. F. C. Young, 336 Beldon avenue. He is a graduate of the college of engineering here, and of the Clarence White School of Photography in New York.

University Chorus Will Sing Ancient, Modern Selections

Compositions by both ancient and modern composers from many countries will be sung by the university chorus in a concert Saturday at 8 p.m. in the lounge of Iowa Union.

The oldest of the compositions will be the "Adoramus Te" by Giovanni Pierluigi da Palestrina, Italian composer of the Renaissance who lived from 1526 to 1594. Although the original words of this sacred song were in Latin, the chorus will sing an English version. Responses in this composition will be sung by a quartet from the chorus: Herald Stark, tenor; Margaret Hausen, soprano; Marion Nagler, alto, and John Bloom, baritone.

Purcell Selection

Almost equaling in age the "Adoramus Te" but differing from it in tone, is the light and happy song, "In These Delightful Pleasant Groves," which was written by Henry Purcell, who was perhaps the first of the great English composers. Purcell lived during the latter half of the seventeenth century when Italian opera was first being introduced into England and he reveals certain Italian influences in his songs.

When Purcell died in 1695, the 10 year old German lad, Johann Sebastian Bach, had already begun to attract attention in his native country. Bach will be represented in the program sung by the university chorus by a selection, "Now Let Every Tongue Adore Thee," from his cantata, "Sleepers Awake!"

Modern Numbers

In contrast to these three compositions of the early classic period, two selections from the contemporary composers, Palmgren and Cyril Jenkins, will be sung. Both of these works, "Lullaby" by Palmgren and "Hymn to the Soul" by Jenkins, are written in the modern harmonic style with altered chords but with a predominating melody.

Two modern arrangements of folk songs are also included in the program. "The Carol of the Russian Children" was arranged by Harvey B. Gaul and "Listen to the Lambs" by Nathaniel Dett. Dett, an American Negro composer, used a Negro spiritual for his material. The solo parts of "Listen to the Lambs" will be sung by Margaret Hausen of the music department.

Russian Song

The Russia of the last century will be represented on the program.
