Second Term Enrollment Shows Increase Over Last Summer

Speedy Settlements of Strike Troubles in Minneapolis, San Francisco Seen by Mediators

Harbor at Portland Opened; Seattle Troubled

MINNEAPOLIS, July 21 (AP)—The first death as a result of the clash between police and striking truck drivers' pickets here yesterday, occurred tonight when Henry Ness, 40, Minneapolis, died from his wounds. He had been shot in the back.

By The Associated Press
Hope for speedy settlements of the two most troublesome walkouts brought a cheerful conclusion yesterday to one of the most eventful weeks in the nation's strike history.

Possible termination of the truck drivers strike by Monday was held out by labor leaders at Minneapolis, where on Friday 68 persons were wounded or injured in a clash of police and strikers. Father Francis J. Haas, federal mediator, said employees had agreed to a peace plan which was to be put before employers.

Early Settlement Seen
Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, national recovery administrator, said he believed the settlement of the Longshoremen's strike at San Francisco, which brought on the general strike and paralysis of the city early in the week, was a matter of hours.

Waterfront employers in San Francisco said they would arbitrate the strike on condition Longshoremen would agree to submit differences to the president's labor dispute board. The employers' arbitration plan did not mention disposal of the problem of hiring halls or employment agencies, long stumbling blocks to settlement.

Guardians to Withdraw
While peace moves went forward, the national guard on strike duty needed verbal orders to prepare for withdrawal from San Francisco. By night fall the major portion of the troops in the San Francisco region had orders to withdraw.

Indiana Police Say
Nothing to Reports Dillinger Was Seen

CHICAGO, July 21 (AP)—Chicago police tonight received a telephone "tip" that the slippery Indiana desperado, John Dillinger, was in the northern Indiana lake region near Culver but officials there and state police reported all quiet on the Dillinger front.

For several days there have been rumors that the elusive gang leader was in the vicinity of Lake Maxinkuckee and the northern part of the state—one long of his reported hideouts.

The rumor gained such intensity that a posse was formed at Culver on the report that a bank was to be robbed.

F. R. Approves Promotion
WASHINGTON, (AP)—Secretary Swanson of the navy announced today the president had approved recommendation by the marine corps selection board for promotion of 92 captains to majors and 89 first lieutenants to be captains.

Tool Works Picketed
The Ames-Baldwin-Wyoming tool works at Parkersburg, W. Va., was picketed after 550 workmen struck in a demand for a change in the collective bargaining situation.

Two more federal mediators assisted the Rev. J. W. Maguire in his efforts to settle the strike of union workers at the Kohler Manufacturing company plants at Kohler, Wis. Picketing of the plant by plane on the party of Sheboygan union members was planned for today.

More than 1,200 relief workers were on strike for the second time within the week at Danville, Ill. The relief centers demanded the removal of relief officials and the payment of rent for the unemployed.

Dancers and other entertainers imported from France unpacked their belongings again and were preparing for the reopening of the French Casino at Chicago. The amusement center, closed since Tuesday by a strike of waiters and other union employees, was to reopen last night pending arbitration.

Strikers at the Harriman Hosiery mills in Tennessee refused to approve an agreement under which the blue eagle was to be restored to the plant, closed after the emblem was removed. The strikers said they doubted the authority back of the agreement.

Better Luck Next Time!

But Be Sure to Pick On Someone Small, Mr. Snake!

TRENTON, N. J., July 21 (AP)—"Gophie," a big gopher snake all the way from Georgia, tried to do his swallowing act at the New Jersey state museum today, but he didn't get away with it.

His opponent, a sleek green snake from the Jersey pine belt, was just a little too long.

Unfriendly
When the express man brought the box containing Gophie, museum attendants unpacked him and placed him in the same cage with "Slim," the Jersey pine snake who feels quite at home there after three years' residence.

But Slim doesn't take to big black snakes from foreign parts. He coiled himself into a neat roll and viewed the newcomer with alarm. "Gophie," too, put on his fighting stance, drawing himself into kinky undulations, ready to start something at the slightest provocation or none at all.

Swallows and Swallows
Slim aimed a stiff blow at "Gophie's" head, but the big gopher snake caught Slim's head in his gaping mouth.

Gophie swallowed and swallowed until finally he could swallow no more. Eight inches of Slim's writhing tail protruded. Gophie kept trying to swallow for 15 minutes but it was of no use. Slim was too long.

The big newcomer from Georgia opened his mouth and let his opponent wriggle his way out. Museum attendants expected the two to get along well hereafter.

German "Clean Up" Campaign Jumps to High Nazi Officials

Punishment According To Rank Due Guilty Courts Hear

BERLIN, July 21 (AP)—The general "clean up" campaign in Germany today turned sharply toward high Nazi officials, as the courts of justice were warned that a person in exalted position merits "corresponding punishment" if he is guilty of misconduct.

The warning came in a decree from Minister of Justice Franz Guertner, indicating the extent of the general cleansing of the Nazi party which is following Chancellor Hitler's "purge" of three weeks ago.

At this same time it was revealed that the whole set-up of student leadership is to be revamped, the first step being the removal from office today of Andreas Felckert, named national leader two days ago, and all present sub leaders.

These developments came while

Woman, Convicted Of Poisoning Daughter, Gets Life Sentence

GUTHRIE CENTER, July 21 (AP)—Mrs. Frank Hopkins, 41, must spend the rest of her life in Rockwell City reformatory for poisoning her feeble-minded daughter, Elma, 17.

Mrs. Hopkins was sentenced today, when she pleaded guilty before Judge W. S. Cooper of Winterset. "I had been told that Elma was considered incurable, and that she was gradually growing worse," Mrs. Hopkins explained.

She had sprinkled poison on some chicken which the girl ate at her home in Casey.

Russian Debt Talks Brought To Capital

WASHINGTON, July 21 (AP)—Negotiations for a settlement of debts and claims estimated at between $400,000,000 and $500,000,000 will begin between Alexander Troyanovsky, the Soviet ambassador, and state department officials early next week.

After months of futile discussions between William C. Bullitt, the American ambassador, and Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet commissar of foreign affairs, in Moscow, the negotiations would serve to break the existing deadlock.

Hold Conference
The state department's announcement was made after a conference today between Troyanovsky and R. Walton Moore, assistant secretary of state.

Resumption of negotiations in Washington under more favorable circumstances is expected to result in an early and amicable settlement. Trade between the two nations is now frozen, largely because of failure to achieve a settlement.

Ranks Fifth in Purchases
The United States now ranks fifth in purchases by Russia and expectations of greatly increased trade, as a result of recognition, have failed to materialize.

The debts and claims by Americans against Soviet Russia are based on the items:

1—$187,000,000 loaned by the United States treasury in 1917 during the World war to the Kerensky provisional government.

2—$33,000,000 in three issues of Imperial Russian bonds floated by New York banking institutions before the United States entered the war which have since been defaulted.

3—Claims of American corporations and individuals for an unrevealed amount for damages alleged to have been suffered through confiscation of their property by the Soviets' nationalization of property decree.

Eight Per Cent Advance Noted By Registrar

Figures Expected to Go Higher Through Late Registration

(See Story on Page 5)

With the official registration period for the second term of the summer session completed yesterday afternoon, enrollment figures stood eight per cent above last year's. This was revealed last night by H. C. Dorcas, university registrar. The percentage is based on a comparison with enrollment up to Saturday night preceding last year's second term.

Many Others Expected
Though the official registration period is over, past experience has shown that probably only about half the students have completed their enrollment procedure. Many others are expected to register during the next week.

With hundreds of students already in the city and many more arriving hourly by train, bus, and automobile, university officials expect the comparative increase to be maintained in next week's late registration.

350 Courses Offered
Most of the second term students will be graduates working toward advanced degrees, as usual. However, courses will be offered in some 30 departments and colleges of the university, including undergraduate and several professional units.

A total of about 350 courses will be offered, maintaining the academic unity of the school year and the first summer term.

Classes in the second term of the thirty-fifth summer session will begin tomorrow at 7 a. m., and will continue for nearly five weeks. The term and the summer session will be concluded Aug. 23, with the annual Convocation at which it is expected about 200 certificates and bachelors' and advanced degrees will be conferred.

High School Music Work
A special music course for all-state high school musicians has again been scheduled, and will begin tomorrow morning. Continuing the custom of the last several years, courses will be broadcast by station WSUI directly from the classrooms.

These will consist of a course at 11 a. m. on American political ideas, at 2 p. m. on teaching of English, Monday through Thursday, at 9 a. m., on meters, and Friday at 9 a. m., on speech in radio broadcasting.

Dairymen to Meet
DES MOINES, (AP)—Independent dairymen of Iowa will convene here Tuesday to consider problems of the dairy industry, Carl W. Carver of Marion, president, announced today.

$2,000,000 In Sales Taxes
DES MOINES, July 21 (AP)—More than $2,000,000 will have been collected in retail sales tax revenue by next week end, Fred H. Wray, director of the sales tax collection office, said today.

Revival—Walter Huston Plays In Mining Town Shakespeare Role

CENTRAL CITY, Colo., July 21 (AP)—On the time-hallowed boards of the little Central City opera house, Walter Huston tonight slipped back from the modern world of Dodswoth and the movies and became Shakespeare's passionate Moor—Othello.

It was the opening night of the third annual Central City play festival and thousands crowded this mountain village and crammed themselves into the venerable playhouse.

The festival will continue two weeks. Huston, who dropped his highly successful "Dodsworth" in New York to play the title role here, was appearing in his first Shakespearean play, supported by Nan Sunderland, his wife, as Desdemona.

Hard-bitten miners who still labor the flanks of the mountains of the once mighty kingdom of Gilpin, looked on in amazement as celebrities from over the nation crowded into the 750 kitchen chairs of the opera house.

Warsaw Flooded As Vistula River Again Runs Wild in Poland

WARSAW, July 21 (AP)—Flood waters of the Vistula river, which took more than 200 lives in southern Poland, swept into Warsaw today, forcing many citizens from their homes as the streets of suburbs were turned into canals.

The Vistula, whose rampages have already caused damage estimated at $200,000,000, rose to a level of 16 feet, compared with the normal 4-foot reading here, and the water reached the gates of the presidential palace.

Seven nearby villages were inundated, and Luna Park, huge amusement center, was under water.

F. R. Says U. S. Will Have Full Navy Strength

Tells Crew of Houston Congress, Country Behind Move

ABOARD U. S. HOUSTON WITH PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT, July 22 (Sunday) (AP)—President Roosevelt, talking today to the crew of the Houston in mid-Pacific, promised a United States navy up to treaty strength in three to four years.

He said the country expects the fullest efficiency from its sea-fighting forces.

The president outspokenly declared his pride in the navy. He said the crew of the Houston was splendid, and represented a good cross-section of the first line of defense of the nation.

Country Behind Program
He assured the sea-going fighting force that congress and the country were behind the naval building program now under way, calculated to reach treaty strength.

The president spoke to the white-jacketed crew in the cruiser's well-deck after regular morning inspection, with planes poised overhead as the vessel sped toward Hawaii.

Captain Brown, the president's naval aide, with Franklin and John Roosevelt and Rudolph Forster, participated in the inspection.

Recalls Last Inspection
The president recalled that his last inspection was on the U. S. S. Melville at Queenstown during the war, in 1918, with Admiral Bayly and the late Admiral Pringle.

He mentioned his happiness at being on the Hawaiian cruise.

The Houston and the New Orleans cruised past the three-quarters line on the trip to Hawaii Saturday under a clear sky and with a smooth sea. No other ship has been seen since leaving Panama more than a week ago.

Announces Rail Board
While carrying on his official affairs the president took occasion to announce the personnel of the newly-formed railroad mediation board.

As members of the national mediation board to administer rail disputes the president named William M. Leiserson, Yellow Springs, Ohio; John M. Carmalt of Washington, D. C.; and John Carmody, chief engineer of the FERA.

May Succeed Husband

Mrs. William Langer, wife of the deposed governor of North Dakota, whose name may be placed on the ticket as candidate for governor in the event of his final disqualification.

North Dakota Threats Fade

Troops Removed From Bismarck as Langer Fights for Post

BISMARCK, N. Dak., July 21 (AP)—Threatened physical violence faded from the political scene today in North Dakota, under command of factional leaders.

The slogan sounded by ousted Governor William Langer, "—by force, if necessary," tonight gave place to a new cry, "—by strategy, completely."

Guardsmen Removed
National guardsmen who have been on duty since declaration of martial law by Langer last Tuesday, were removed from the capital corridors and steps today on orders of Adjutant General Earle R. Sarles.

The men had been in active service under the executive order of Acting Governor Ole H. Olson, who directed Sarles to dispose of troops at "his discretion."

Still Hero
Still with Langer their political hero, faction groups confidently assured questioners they would possess a senate quorum, and would press their battle for the investigation demanded by Langer.

Don't Get It Too Hot

For If Heat Is What You Want, Ordinary Steam Is Better Than Superheated Steam

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., July 21 (AP)—If heat is what you want, don't get the steam too hot.

A test heater set up in the mechanical engineering laboratory of the Pennsylvania State college showed that superheated steam is less efficient than ordinary steam.

The difference is due to the dryness of the superheated steam. The lower temperature steam contains more moisture. As explained by F. C. Stewart, professor of mechanical engineering, the water vapor in the ordinary steam condenses readily against the size of the steam pipe.

As each particle condenses it contracts and pulls new particles into contact with the pipe. From this water the heat passes readily through the metal and outside the pipe.

But in superheated steam every bit of water has been heated well

Death to 108 Yesterday Sends Toll Up; Nineteen States Feel Fury Of Record-Breaking Heat

Crop Losses Reckoned In 100 Millions

(Copyright, 1934, By The Associated Press)

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 21 (AP)—Suffering acutely from the worst drought in its history, the midwest and southwest tonight counted its crop loss in the hundreds of millions of dollars.

Officials and semi-official sources, reporting the widespread damage, said each additional day of the withering heat would add thousands of dollars to the tremendous toll already exacted and the weather forecast said the blazing, rainless spell would continue indefinitely.

Water, Pasture Lacking
Barren pasture land, and lack of water, caused distress among livestock. Thousands of head were sold to the government for processing. Forced selling, because of the water shortage and burned meadows, brought a heavy influx of livestock that threatened demoralization of the Kansas City livestock market. Nearly 50,000 head were received this week, and a larger number was expected next week.

A 5-state drought conference was called by the federal department of agriculture, to meet in Kansas City Monday, to discuss the increasingly serious situation. Representatives from Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Oklahoma, and Arkansas will attend.

Nebraska Damage $156,000,000
In Nebraska alone, the crop damage was estimated officially at $156,000,000.

In Missouri, the corn crop lost some 100,000,000 bushels in July, and continued to drop with each additional day of drought. The oat yield was estimated at only 10 per cent of the normal crop, the lowest yield in the state's history. Pastures were only 15 to 20 per cent of normal and decreasing rapidly. Corn rapidly approached the condition of no yield at all, and even a bumper crop would leave the state short of feed to carry cattle through the winter because of loss of hay and forage crops.

Thirty per cent of the farmers over the state were hauling water. Fifteen per cent had trouble getting any water at all. In some places, livestock had to be driven 10 miles to water.

Minnesota Losses High
In Minnesota, Ralph Crim, assistant state agronomist, said losses ran into the millions, with each additional day of the heat further damaging the corn crop. The loss to small grain, he said, runs from four-fifths to one-half of the crop.

Southern Iowa expected only half its usual crop. A government official said many farmers in the triangular area between Des Moines, Shenandoah and Centerville had harvested no oats, no wheat, very little hay, and their corn is worth no more than fodder. Tank cars hauled drinking water to Creston.

Wheat In 2 Cent Rise
CHICAGO, (AP)—Almost 2 cents a bushel rise of wheat values today accompanied an official forecast indicating that next week would bring no substantial relief from drought.

Drought Aid Plan to Begin

Federal Tree Belt For Climate Control To Be Put Up

WASHINGTON, July 21 (AP)—An immediate beginning on an experiment in climate control that will benefit the mid-western drought area with a belt of trees 100 miles wide and over 1,000 miles long was decided upon by the government.

An executive order, signed by President Roosevelt July 11, allocated $15,000,000 of emergency funds for preliminary work on the project.

Wallace Ready to Begin
Federal authorities have had the venture under consideration for some time. Meanwhile, the drought has been growing progressively worse. Secretary Wallace announced today that now is the time to begin.

"This will be the largest project ever undertaken in this country to modify climatic and other agricultural conditions in an area that is now constantly harassed by winds and drought," F. A. Silcox, chief of the forest service, said.

Salient Features
Here are the salient features of the plan:
The shelter belt will extend from the Canadian border to the Texas panhandle through North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas and Oklahoma.

The cost is estimated at $75,000,000.

Colorado Springs Sees Snowfall as Nation Simmers

By The Associated Press
Another assault from a persistent heat wave yesterday boosted the death toll of three blistering days to calamity proportions and burned more havoc in the nation's fields.

One hundred and eight more deaths were reported as the thermometers climbed far past normal July marks in 19 states. The number for the superheated three days stood at 208.

Snow in Colorado
Only the northern border and the west escaped Saturday's siege. New York city, comfortable at 77 degrees on Friday, sweltered in a temperature of 94. In Maryland 100-plus readings were common.

While the rest of the nation simmers, snow fell in Colorado Springs, Colo., for several minutes after the first rain since July 4. Such snowfalls have occurred before but are rare.

But the sun blazed most fiercely in the drought-blighted middlewest where the heat wave was only a hotter interlude in a 30-day siege for which weather books contain no parallel this side of 1901.

108 at Ottumwa
For the second day it was 108 degrees in Ottumwa, Ia., Springfield, Ill., reported 105; in St. Paul the mercury jumped 11 degrees over Friday's high to 103. Hottest spot in the corn belt was Mitchell, S. D., at 114.

Nebraska, in its thirteenth consecutive day of temperatures of 100 degrees or worse, reckoned its crop losses at $156,000,000. The day intensified the water-famine on the great plains, and farmers sank new wells to keep their stock alive.

111 in Ohio
Above 100 temperatures were general in Ohio, and in Columbus a thermometer held at street level boiled up to 111 degrees. The heat literally broke the thermometer at Burlington, Ia., where the government's official instrument popped at 107 degrees.

Although a few degrees below Friday's record-breaking highs in some cities, Saturday's onslaught brought scores of heat prostrations along with the 90 deaths attributed to the discomfort.

29 in Chicago
The toll for three days in Chicago rose to 29. Missouri's list of heat victims struck 50. Nebraska blamed the wave for 32 deaths.

Elsewhere totals were:
Kansas 12, Oklahoma 7, Connecticut 2, Minnesota 8, Illinois 35, Iowa 12, New York 4, Texas 10, Pennsylvania 2, Ohio 10, Michigan 3, one each in Arkansas, Maryland, Mississippi, Rhode Island; Kentucky 3, Georgia 2, Massachusetts 3, Washington, D. C., 2, Indiana 4.

Recent Marriage Of Graduates Of S.U.I. Revealed

Announcement is made of the marriage of two University of Iowa graduates, Eula I. Cook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cook of Zeoring, to Dallas Henry Feay, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Feay, 422 Bowers street, which took place Friday at 5 p.m. in New York city.

The bridegroom's brother, Herbert L. Feay, and a few friends attended the ceremony.

Mrs. Feay is an alumna of the school of nursing, from which she graduated in 1931. Since her graduation she has been employed in the University hospital. She also attended Iowa State Teachers college at Cedar Falls.

Mr. Feay graduated with the class of 1930 from the college of liberal arts, where he majored in mathematics. Since that time he has been employed in the actuarial division of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company in New York city.

Mr. and Mrs. Feay, after a two weeks' trip to Albany, N. Y., will be at home at 8405 Thirty-Fifth avenue, Jackson Heights, New York city.

Fashion Favors Slender Lines For End of Season Silhouettes

By BARBARA BEAUFORT (Associated Press Fashion Editor)

PARIS (AP)—Fashion's silhouette narrowed down and straightened out somewhat in many clothes shown in the collections for late summer and early fall wear.

Some designers showed skirts, jackets and bodices built on more slender lines and numerous smart women are following their lead in the clothes they choose for end-of-the-season wear.

Designers refuse to predict whether the same trend will hold good in the winter fashions already being evolved behind the closed doors of workrooms, but stylists are keeping a watchful eye in that direction.

Suit for Walking Some of the evening frock skirts are so slender they are slit to give ease in walking.

Though the night-time silhouette is by no means "straight up and down" it is designed on slender lines which do not cut in below the hips, the hemlines often being deeply slashed back or front.

A slender black crepe evening frock is slashed up the front to the knee, a sapphire blue crepe is slit for 10 inches both front and back, and a bottle green crepe is slit open at the side back.

Day skirts with town ensembles topped by three-quarter length coats are likewise showing the narrower effect.

Boots Returning to Women's Wardrobes; Designs Unknown

PARIS, (AP)—Boots are coming back into women's wardrobes. The shoe world here is agog with talk of new designs, still hidden in workrooms and still incomplete, which entirely cover the ankle bone. The new models, intended for fall wear and as yet only tacked to their wooden frames are a cross between shoes worn 200 years ago and something as modern as an aerodynamic car.

They fit the foot as a glove fits the hand—and to make that matter certain a number are designed with elastic insets (just as in grandmother's day) placed in the side of the shoe.

Kid Mostly Used Most of the new models, not yet out of designers' workrooms, are fashioned of kid. A black model stitched with red has a seam up the center of the foot ending at the pointed tip an inch above the ankle bone. It swoops smoothly over the instep and ankle to button on each side, with little black shoe buttons like those seen on a schoolboy's boots years ago. A dark green kid model has a vamp closed by elastic straps to insure its clinging close to the instep and ankle, and a brown kid model is finished with kid-covered elastic side pores to make it fit.

Slenderizing Designs Julienne, who is working on a new fall boot, has already launched for summer and early fall wear shoes which completely cover the instep but whose tops stop short of the ankle bone. They are generally designed with a slenderizing, tongued

Democrats To Meet Thursday

State Organization Will Select Committee, Set Platform

DES MOINES, July 21 (AP)—Democrats from all sections of Iowa will gather here Thursday at their state convention to select a new state central committee, adopt a platform for the fall campaign, and listen to talks on the work of the national and state administrations.

It will be the first time in 4 years that the Democrats have gathered together as the major party in Iowa. For that reason many more than the 1,270 convention delegates are expected to attend the meeting.

Jolly Twelve Euchre Club Postpones Meeting

The Jolly Twelve Euchre club will not hold its usual meeting this week, owing to the fact that many members are on vacations.

'Solid Base' Heels

The heels of the new models are a far cry from spikes. They are of medium height and they have a solid base to balance the line of the shoe and to insure ease in walking.

Evening slippers are beginning to venture into the same high trend designs. Julienne fashions a black satin model completely covering the instep with bands of satin in contrasting color on a slant down the sides. Other designers have fashioned satin evening slippers with a criss-cross network of straps rising over the instep.

Thirty-Five Men, Women Take Part in FERA Work Here in Adult Education

R. W. Tallman Directs Training in Last Six Weeks

The University of Iowa's engineering building has been the scene of a novel experiment in education in the last six weeks.

In a classroom on the second floor, 35 men and women, under the direction of R. W. Tallman of Jewell, have been training for future positions as teachers in adult educational projects in industrial centers.

Students from 3 States One of 18 training centers established by the federal government throughout the United States, the University of Iowa class has drawn students from three states—Iowa, Kansas, and Missouri.

By far the greatest percentage—all but seven of them—have been from Iowa. Three are from Kansas, and four from Missouri.

The school was established here under a grant of $5,000 from the Federal Emergency Relief administration, supervised by Harry L. Hopkins in Washington, D. C.

First Step in Plan The purpose of the classes throughout the country has been to train unemployed teachers in adult educational methods, as the first step toward a national system of adult education.

United States, of which the Iowa class was the second to be started. Also take regular work. In addition to their work in the special adult education class, the 35 men and women were permitted to register for regular university work. Those who have taken the special course in the last six weeks are as follows:

Iowa students: Wilma Grace Brown of Hawarden, Wesley T. Carroll of Newton, Edwin Everett DeCamp of Muscatine, Nina Ashby Hanks of Lucas, Dorothy E. Haseljohn of Dallas, Hans Holberg of Des Moines, Granda B. Halleywell of Abbia, William D. Houlette of Des Moines, George H. Hubert of Keokuk.

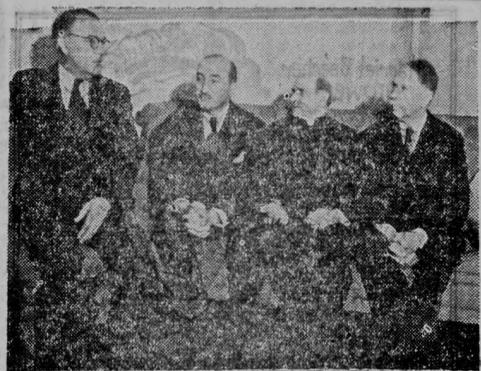

Clinton William Ellis Huff of Clinton, William Jarman of Ft. Madison, Sigurd Jorgenson of Fairfield, Jean McKellar of Waterloo, Pearl Morgan of Oskaloosa, Harvey William Moule of Mason City, J. Edmond Murphy of Charles City, Louise C. Murphy of Davenport, Genevieve F. Norfolk of Ottumwa.

G. W. Perkins of Sergeant Bluff, Eva Icel Reeves of Mystic, Pearl L. Sager of Adel, J. Ward Sanford of Eagle Grove, Effie Morris Spence of Promise City, Ann Catherine Walker of Burlington, Lillian V. Wilkinson of Des Moines, and Florence E. Wilson of Creston.

Kansas, Missouri Kansas students: R. O. Baker of McCune, Benton M. Henderson of Lawrence, and Walter Louis Henry of Topeka.

Missouri students: Anetha Smythe Bryan of St. Louis, Elmer Ray Child of Kansas City, Theodore Faegan of Kansas City, and Isaac Irvin Glass of St. Louis.

He Feels The Pulse—S. U. I. Graduate Is Morgenthau Aide; Reports Finances.

Testing the financial temper of America—that is the unique work of Cyril B. Upham, graduate of the University of Iowa, who is a visitor in Iowa City over the week-end.

Mr. Upham, who is staying with his brother-in-law and sister, Prof. and Mrs. John Ely Briggs, was recently appointed special assistant to Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, with the duty of keeping the secretary informed as to the financial attitudes and condition of the nation.

On Tour At present Mr. Upham is on a tour through the United States interviewing bankers and financial experts in various parts of the country. Yesterday he conferred with Frank L. Williams, vice president and cashier of the First Capital National bank of Iowa City. He will remain in Iowa City until tomorrow.

Among the things which he is at present investigating is the flow of credit. When his tour is completed, he will make a report to the secretary of the treasury.

MacDonald, Snowden Present Riddle to British Politicians

LONDON, (AP)—Two one-time co-workers, friends no longer, are presenting enigmas to British politicians—one for his temporary exit from the affairs of state, the other for his promise to return to the arena.

One is Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, who has obeyed the instructions of his physicians to seek rest for his over-worked eyes in a three-month holiday; the other, Viscount Snowden, who has announced his return to politics.

MacDonald, son of a farm worker, and Snowden, son of a weaver, made their first ineffectual bows in politics the same year, worked side by side as architects of the labor party; stood shoulder to shoulder in the first labor government, then in the national government—and parted company.

By coincidence they come into the news again at the same time. The question people are asking about the prime minister is: "What if three months fail to give the relief to his eyes that is expected?" Snowden has given them a different riddle: "How does he propose to make his announced return effective?" His announcement created scarcely a ripple in the London press, particularly since he said in it somewhat the same things he uttered when he left the national government nearly two years ago and later in one of his rare speeches in the house of lords.

The consensus is that he may make himself into another one-man party, sniping away with the gibes and scorn that made him the center of sharp skirmishes in the commons.

Whether his barbed tongue has been dulled, the country has yet to learn. One critic made the suggestion that his comeback must be the emptier because he no longer has Winston Churchill sitting in the same chamber as a target for his shafts.

Bleriot, 25 Years After Hop, Sees Scheduled Ocean Flying

Channel Flyer Says Airplanes Yet In Early Stage

PARIS (AP)—Air liners flying passengers across the Atlantic are foreseen by Louis Bleriot as a result of his own daring hop over the English channel just 25 years ago. Flights at dizzy speed through the stratosphere eventually may come. Some handy crew may circle the globe without stop.

But such facts, if ever performed, will be merely spectacular stunts, the French pioneer of aviation believes. The future of commercial flying, he says, is in planes of the present-day type, perfected in motor and line.

Recalls Bad Ten Minutes "We must conquer the wind," he explained. "The greater the speed the greater the risk from air pressure."

The planes of today, he added, follow the principles he successfully tested on the historic Sunday morning of July 25, 1909.

"There isn't much to say about that flight, as I remember it now," said Bleriot, whose exploit was as thrilling at the time as Lindbergh's was years later.

"It was all over in half an hour, but within it I had a difficult 10 minutes. That was when I was between the sky and the water, with both the French and English coasts lost to view.

Losses Course in Fog "There was a light fog and the wind was blowing me off my course. I had no compass. So I gripped the steering rod between my feet and trusted to luck. After I got across the channel I found myself north of Dover and had to turn back.

"If I had fallen into the sea, I doubt if I would have survived, for I was using crutches, because of an accident several weeks earlier at Douai.

"The government sent a torpedo boat and a torpedo destroyer to pick me up in case of accident, but the plane soon outstripped them. I could see clearly a submarine which was submerged in the channel.

"In landing the plane was damaged, but I wasn't hurt. Journalists and English officials greeted me." Bleriot showed a photograph, which pictured him in a pre-war automobile beside Lord Northcliffe, who donated the cup and the $5,000 which constituted the aviator's prize.

'Crate's' Design Survives Bleriot had smashed 10 crate-like contraptions in test flights before he accomplished his channel hop.

"I must confess that I am proud," he said, "that the plane in which Codos and Rossi twice flew the Atlantic is of the same mechanical conception as that in which I flew the channel.

LOUIS BLERIOT —As He Looks Today

If the cabin cracked for instance, the occupants would be lost.

Plans American Trip "Except for sport flying, perhaps the next generation won't see much greater speed or altitude from airplanes. Lindbergh and I agree that a speed of 155 to 160 miles an hour is the best for regular commercial flying, including that over the ocean."

Bleriot has not flown the channel since 1929, on the twentieth anniversary of his famous hop. He has not piloted a plane for 10 years.

His health has been poor lately—he is 62 years old—but if it improves he intends to visit Canada in August for the Jacques Cartier anniversary. If he does, he hopes also to visit the United States and see Lindbergh, who owns a piece of the propeller of Bleriot's channel-crossing plane, exchanged for a strip of fabric from Lindbergh's "Spirit of St. Louis."

Middle Course for Cuba Platform of Ex-President In New Political Line Up

By EDMUND A. CHESTER

HAVANA, (AP)—In an effort to reconcile Cuba's warring political factions, former President Carlos Manuel de Céspedes has launched a centrist party which he hopes will draw to its fold both leftists and rightists.

With a platform based on the idea that a "sound, sane, centrist party is the political salvation of Cuba," Céspedes has just finished a tour of the eastern provinces of the island.

Fights Cross Currents Himself a proven conservative, Céspedes was caught in the currents that swerved the course of three successive Cuban governments from right to left and again back to right.

Céspedes' downfall from the presidency, where he was placed after Machado was forced from office in August, 1933, was caused by the "enlisted men's revolution" of September 4, while he was touring hurricane-torn district of Cardenas and Sagua.

He had only been in office 22 days when, returning from the interior, he was met at the presidential palace by the then sergeant, Fulencio Batista, and five members of a revolutionary committee—Sergio Carbo, Guillermo Portela, Jose Irizarri, Porfirio Franca and Ramon Grau San Martin.

His Candidacy in Doubt They informed him he was "through as president." Céspedes picked up his hat and walked out of the palace with his aides, warning his successors that theirs was "the responsibility before history."

Now, almost nine months since he was ousted, Céspedes is campaigning for a new party. Whether he will be a candidate for the presidency in the December elections has not been announced.

On his recent trip, from Matanzas to Oriente, he expounded as the ideal of his centrist party is based: "That Cuba's ship of state should not be steered to the right or to the left; that a center course is the best."

Speaking in all the important towns of the interior, Céspedes called on Cubans to put patriotism above political or social prejudices.

He urged "proven statesmen, the most brilliant intellects, men of serious mind, men of strong arms, idealistic youth, laborers, field workers and all other solid elements," to rally to a centrist platform.

"Both rightists and leftists have in turn carried the country to the brink of the abyss," he declared.

Oklahoma Man To Appear Before Carter On Entering Charge

Robert Ryan of Oklahoma City, Okla., will appear before Justice of the Peace B. F. Carter Monday on a charge of breaking and entering. Ryan was arrested early yesterday morning by local police after a guest of the Jefferson hotel found a man going through the clothes in his room.

Police followed Ryan north on Dubuque street, and arrested him near the city limits. A woman, driving Ryan's automobile, was questioned and released.

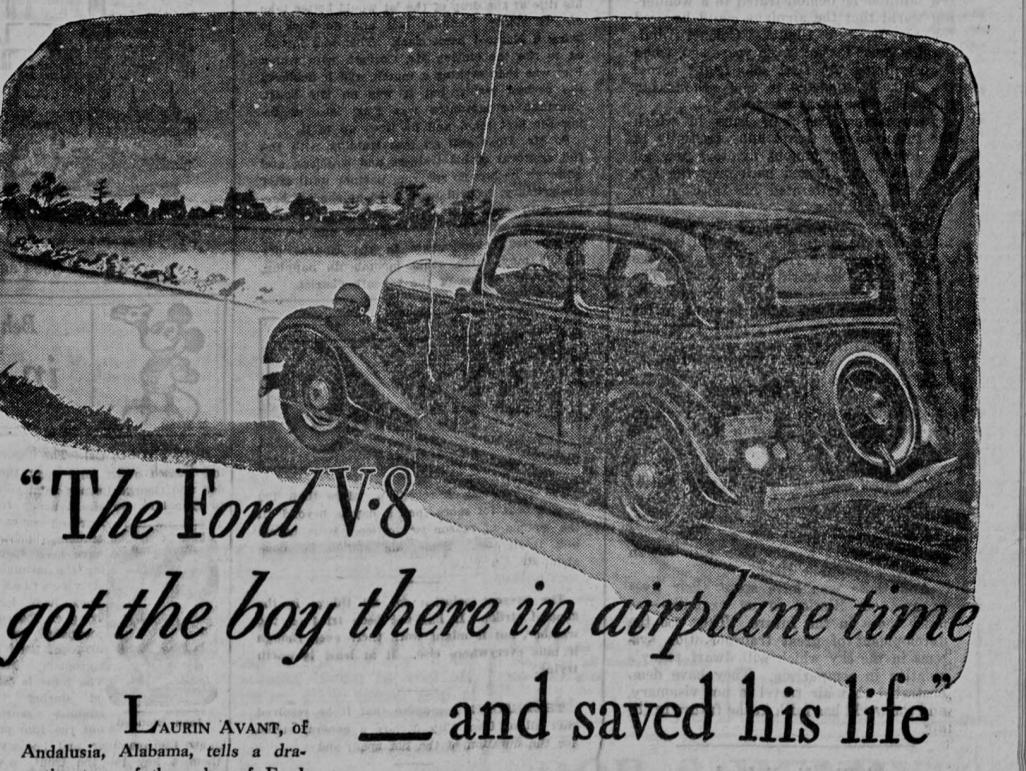

Ray Koontz, driver for the North Western bus line, awoke in his hotel room to find a man, believed to be Ryan, emptying the pockets of his clothes. The thief ran from the room and out of the hotel.

Fingerprints of Ryan were taken and were sent to the departments of justice in Des Moines and Washington, D. C.

The official decree from the ministry of communications explains that huge kites at high altitudes impair the visibility for aviators and constitute a danger to planes.

STRAIGHT FROM OWNERS OF FORD V-8 CARS

"The Ford V-8 got the boy there in airplane time — and saved his life"

Laurin Avant, of Andalusia, Alabama, tells a dramatic story of the value of Ford quality and Ford performance in time of stress.

"Saturday, December 23," he writes, "my youngest boy was sitting before the fire cracking nuts. He cracked one in his mouth and as the nut burst, part of the hull went into his windpipe and almost completely stopped his breathing."

"We rushed him to our doctor. He said he couldn't get it out and the nearest place was Birmingham, 220 miles away. No train, no airplane. My doctor telephoned to Birmingham and told them that if we could get there in three or four hours, we might save him. They said it was impossible to make it in that time unless we had an airplane. But the Ford made it in 220 minutes."

"I drove my Ford V-8 lots of the way at a speed of 80 miles an hour. I was compelled to drive that fast to average a mile a minute. The Ford got the boy there in airplane time and saved his life."

This is just one of many hundreds of letters that have been sent to us by owners of the Ford V-8. Letters that tell what the Ford car means in the daily lives of people and how it serves and helps in countless ways.

Along with these letters came actual figures on the economy and dependability of the Ford V-8—conclusive proof that it is the most economical Ford car ever built.

34,954 owners of the Ford V-8 wrote that they had driven a total of 272,815,970 miles, over all kinds of roads, without a penny for repairs. Thousands of these owners reported 18, 19 and 20 miles per gallon with no oil added between 1000-mile changes.

Full Program of Extra-Curricular Activities Planned for Second Term

A full program of extra-curricular activities has already been planned, as the second term of the University of Iowa's thirty-fifth summer session gets underway tomorrow.

Moving pictures, plays, lectures, tours—all will have their part in eliminating the tedium of class work and reading for these.

The program of moving picture demonstrations inaugurated by the visual aids department of the extension division in the first term will be continued.

Sound pictures and silent films on various educational subjects will be shown twice next week, Tuesday and Thursday at 4:30 p.m. in room C5 East hall.

Announced Later Pictures to be shown on these programs, open to all students interested in visual education, will be announced by Lee Cochran later in the week.

The first graduate lecture of the second term will be given Wednesday by Prof. John Wishart of Cambridge University.

Prof. Wishart will speak on "Mathematical foundations of the analysis of variance procedure," in a public lecture at 4:30 p.m. in room 222 physics building.

Lazell to Lead Bird Walk Prof. Fred J. Lazell of the school of journalism will continue to lead his weekly bird and nature walks Saturday mornings.

The first tour of the term will be next Saturday at 8 a.m., when students and faculty members will gather at the east steps of Old Capitol for the trip of nature observation.

The extension division has scheduled a "return engagement" of the tour to the Amanas colonies made in the first term.

Those wishing to go on the tour, which will include visits to various homes and community projects in the Amanas, will leave Iowa City at 8:30 a.m. next Saturday.

Two Plays Planned No charge will be made for those who wish to drive their own cars. Others may secure transportation at a nominal cost.

Prof. E. Mahan, director of the extension division, announced. Two plays by University theater have been scheduled for the second term.

Though the titles have not been announced, they will be Elizabethan dramas, continuing the series begun in the first term under the direction of B. Iden Payne, guest director.

First Aug. 1 The first of the two plays will be presented Aug. 1, on a reconstruction of the old Fortune theater of London, erected in Macbride auditorium.

Titles of the plays and their casts will be announced soon by Prof. E. C. Mabie, director of University theater.

Funeral for Scott, River Victim, Today

Funeral service for Wilton Scott, 45, 506 S. Linn street, who drowned while making a needless attempt to rescue his son from a deep hole in Iowa river south of town Thursday, will be at 2:30 this afternoon at the McGovern funeral home.

The Rev. Mr. Ogilston of Muscatine will be in charge of the ceremony. Burial will be in Oakland cemetery.

SEEN from Old Capitol By TOM YOSELOFF

The heat has had this department stumped for several days. What to do about it—that is the question. Having exhausted my stock of beverages and formulas for keeping cool, I began to investigate.

Yesterday, one man was walking the streets with a pair of woolen gloves on, reaching halfway to his elbows. The night before, one student walked about the streets barefoot and in his pajamas.

But to some these extremes will have no appeal, and so we continue today our policy of service to the readers of The Daily Iowan by offering a few suggestions:

Try appealing to the heat. Call to its attention the untold misery it is causing. Remind it of the deaths which can be laid at its door.

Threaten to commit suicide if the heat continues. Bring up the dangers of famine, and recall to its mind the Biblical prophecies. Heat may feel ashamed of its cruelties and disappear.

Try appealing to the patriotism of the heat. Recount the efforts of the federal administration to restore prosperity to the farmers. Offer it an NRA blue eagle emblem if it will promise to cooperate.

Remind it that continued drought will nullify all the efforts of the Agricultural Adjustment administration. Sing the national anthem. Heat may urse in pride and go away.

Try a campaign of ignoring it. Resolve not to say "Is't hot nough forya?" to anyone. Continue to wear a smile, and if anyone mentions the heat, maintain a blank expression.

Disdain to use a fan, and pass by all soft—and not so soft—drink establishments with eyes averted. Heat may feel frustrated and go away in chagrin.

Try to exercise. Walk—or run—three miles at intervals of two hours. At the end of each running session you will be far warmer than the weather, thus nullifying the effects.

Try threatening. Call the heat enemy of the people. Tell it that it will be deported if it continues to stir up the populace. Cite action of Washington labor officials against strike agitators in San Francisco. Heat will become fearful, and will discontinue its activities immediately.

Raise all the windows in the room or apartment. Heat will see chance for practical joke, will disappear immediately, and a raging storm, accompanied by enough rain to ruin all the furniture, will supplant it.

(P. S.—When all these have failed, carefully remove as much clothing as is commensurate with modesty, lie down beside open windows, turn on electric fans, and sip ice-cold lemonade. A guaranteed remedy.)

Plan All-Iowa Music Fest DES MOINES, July 21 (AP)—The Des Moines Legion junior drum and bugle corps will launch the first grand all-Iowa music festival to be held at the Drake stadium, Sept. 15.

Music Work To Continue The junior music course and courses in instrumental music for Iowa City children of high school age and below will be continued during the second term of the summer session, according to an announcement of the music department.

The program of the classes in instrumental music includes lessons and rehearsals of band and orchestra under the auspices of the music department. The instruction staff is composed of K. V. A. Forbes, Lloyd Swarthly, Ray Ryerson, Catharine Thomas, and Hattie Voxman.

Five periods of instruction each week for each student are provided in the junior music course. More advanced students receive two lesson periods weekly and three rehearsals of band or orchestra. In addition to these courses a complete schedule of individual lessons, music theory and appreciation classes and rehearsals for members of the all-state high school band will be in operation. A number of vacancies still remain in the clarinet section of the all-state band.

Registration for the junior music course will be in the south music hall on Gilbert street between Iowa avenue and Jefferson street, tomorrow from 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. All students desiring this work must register and pay fees at that time.

That Roche' Girl Wages Ideals Fight; Seeks Governorship DENVER, July 21 (AP)—"That Roche girl," a girl no longer but a first-class "fighting man," is waging today in Colorado a battle for ideals for which she fought so long ago, many of which President Roosevelt has embodied in his "new deal."

Josephine Roche is 48 now. From a zealot daughter of a reactionary coal magnate she has become a progressive owner of his mines and now, with her wealth of waving hair turning slightly gray she is vigorously campaigning for governorship of the state where she early rebelled against the mine magnates and set out to bring about a better and larger life for working folk and their children.

Almost at the outset of her campaign for the Democratic nomination Miss Roche went down to Trinidad and Augilar and Walsenburg, back to the bloody coal fields of 20 years ago to talk to the miners of things they both knew and remembered well, of "the strike," of "the massacre."

Plan All-Iowa Music Fest DES MOINES, July 21 (AP)—The Des Moines Legion junior drum and bugle corps will launch the first grand all-Iowa music festival to be held at the Drake stadium, Sept. 15.

Music Work To Continue The junior music course and courses in instrumental music for Iowa City children of high school age and below will be continued during the second term of the summer session, according to an announcement of the music department.

The program of the classes in instrumental music includes lessons and rehearsals of band and orchestra under the auspices of the music department. The instruction staff is composed of K. V. A. Forbes, Lloyd Swarthly, Ray Ryerson, Catharine Thomas, and Hattie Voxman.

Five periods of instruction each week for each student are provided in the junior music course. More advanced students receive two lesson periods weekly and three rehearsals of band or orchestra. In addition to these courses a complete schedule of individual lessons, music theory and appreciation classes and rehearsals for members of the all-state high school band will be in operation. A number of vacancies still remain in the clarinet section of the all-state band.

Registration for the junior music course will be in the south music hall on Gilbert street between Iowa avenue and Jefferson street, tomorrow from 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. All students desiring this work must register and pay fees at that time.

BITS

ABOUT SPORTS

Marvin Nelson . . . Eccentric and Disconcerting Antics . . . Young Pitchers . . . Color and Hawkeye Grid Team

MARVIN NELSON of Ft. Dodge, nationally known distance swimmer who will defend his 15 mile swim title at "A Century of Progress" today, was considered about the most eccentric student ever to attend the University of Iowa. Nelson was observed, and in mid-winter mind you, walking to and from classes minus hat, coat and tie and with shirt sleeves rolled up. Sometimes he would even play about in the snow clad thusly. The Ft. Dodge swimmer used this method as a training system for his distance swims in waters of very cold temperatures. The Toronto 15 mile swim, which he has won more than once, was one of the events.

TIS SAID that if either of the Dean brothers fails to pitch on a scheduled date before the home folks the club management has boys going through the grandstand and bleachers with cards on which is written an explanation of why the brothers don't hurl. Dizzy won his 17th victory the other day, but Paul has not been having so much luck lately. Neither has Johnny Broaca of the Yanks. He, too has been weakening after hurling superb ball up until a few days ago. Both Dean and Broaca are newcomers in the majors and what they had on the ball was too much for the opposing batters for a short while. The clubs are getting on to them a little now, evidently, and the two should be hit some for a while.

YOU SPEAK about color in athletics, about colorful figures and teams, but this fall's Hawkeye football team will be just about as colorful as they come. Back from last year's sensational Iowa that knocked critics for a loop will come Dick Crayne, whose reputation preceded him after his performance against Northwestern; Russ Fisher will lead the Iowans, and who will fight his outstanding play in the Michigan game when he tackled Everhardus by breaking through a wall of four interferences. There will be "Skeets" Halton, a sophomore with a high school record as good as Crayne's and who was known throughout the state as the acme of athletes; There will be the two Simmons boys, Ozzie and Don, who came all the way from Texas to play under Solem.

THERE ARE a host of others who helped make the Hawks the team to be feared last fall. Take Fred Radloff, the rangy tackle playing end at Purdue, who sited in to nail the Boilermaker backs from behind all afternoon; and then there is Bernie Page, the 155 pound end who more than held his own with the best in the country. These boys add the pep and life to a team that raises it above the ordinary, takes away the drab and replaces it with the ball of fire, so to speak. Take "Fireman" Joe Laws, for instance. He scintillated during his senior year in print because his grid exploits were of the nature bordering on the sensational. Everything like the sensational, the ball of fire that makes high lights out of the darkness.

Cards Snatch 5-3 Triumph From Braves

BOSTON, July 21 (AP)—Jim Mooney of the St. Louis Cards stopped into the breach today after Bill Hallahan was injured on a line drive and proceeded to pitch his team to a 5 to 2 victory over the Boston Braves. It was the third victory in a row for the Missourians over the Boston club.

With the score tied at three all in the seventh, singles by Rothrock, Medwick and a pass to Collins landed the bases. Then Davis singled to center to score the two runs that provided the margin of victory.

MILLER WINS AMATEUR GOLF CROWN, 13-2

Vavra Fails To Take One Of 24 Holes

Work on Greens Kills All Chances for Triumph

By LEYLAND SKELLEY
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
HYPERION CLUB, Des Moines, July 21—Denmar Miller, of Des Moines, today became the twin-champion of Iowa golf.

Already holder of the state open title, the sensational Des Moines shot-maker today touched off a riotous finish to the amateur tournament by simply overpowering Johnny Vavra of Cedar Rapids 13 to 2, an unprecedented final score for the annual meet.

Driving and putting with a true champion's touch, Miller broke Vavra's heart with a string of pars and birdies that soon gave the match a farcical touch.

Consistent

So consistent was the new champion that Vavra, struggling bravely to overcome the effects of misbehaving putter, did not win one of the 24 holes. Twice in the morning round Johnny got down for birdies only to have Miller shatter his spirit by dropping long putts to halve the holes.

Off the greens Vavra was an entirely different shooter. He could fire the ball down the fairways for long drives and come through with sparkling approaches. But his work on the greens was so "jitterish" it destroyed any chance of the Cedar Rapids player making the match interesting.

They cannot say that Johnny quit, however. Often he would step from a three putt green to uncork a startling drive and an iron shot, only to relapse again on the next green.

Worthy of A Champ

Miller's golf today was worthy of a champion. He was "on" his game from the opening hole where he jumped into the lead with a par 4. He swung around the first nine in par 36, winning six of the holes as Vavra floundered around on the greens. Vavra could do not better than 42 for the outside nine.

They halved the first four holes of the inside, but Miller slipped seven up on the 14th, and after three more halved, ended the morning round with another winning hole to go 8 up. Miller again had a 36, making his first 18 holes a 72, for seven par. Vavra improved on the second nine, reducing his figure to 35, and would have gone lower had he been able to putt.

It was only a matter of time as they started the afternoon session with Miller swinging into that same unbeatable gait. He took the first three holes in par figures, halved a hole, then put on the finishing touches on the next two holes.

Illustration

An example of Vavra's putting was never better illustrated than on the 21st hole. He had made a beautiful approach to within 18 inches of the pin. It seemed impossible that he could lose the hole with Miller stranded 17 feet away in three. But to the astonishment of the gallery Johnny three putted. His first rolled by and he missed coming back.

All through the match it appeared Vavra had lost his confidence on the greens. Often he was entirely off line and still often he rolled by the hole.

Miller rarely was in trouble today. When he did reach the rough he was right out again with marvelous recovery shots. His putting held up with the rest of his game, although he, too, was tricked by the spotty greens a couple of times.

Few Hundred

Only a few hundred persons braved a blistering sun to watch the match that lost its interest shortly after the beginning.

The championship today is Miller's second amateur title. He won the 1922 meet at Stone City by defeating Pete Jordan of Des Moines and captured the Iowa open crown last year. Several times he has held the Des Moines city title.

Vavra also is no stranger to tournament golf. This was his third trip to the finals of the state meet, each time failing to click for the championship.

Lovelock Defeats Bonthron as Mates Drop American Foes

LONDON, July 21 (AP)—Handicapped by a knee operation which was thought to have robbed him of much of his speed, Jack Lovelock, New Zealand schoolmaster and Oxford student, today outraced Bill Bonthron, one of America's greatest milers, in 4 minutes, 15.4 seconds for the second straight year to help give the track and field stars of Oxford Cambridge victory over Princeton-Cornell.

Score by innings: 010 200 200—St. Louis; 002 010 000—Boston.
Runs batted in—Davis 2, Whitehead 1, Hallahan, Mooney, Lee 2, Double play—Urbanski to McMann to Moore. Left on base—St. Louis 9; Boston 9. Bases on balls—Off Mooney 3, Brandt 4, Struck out—By Brandt 1. Hits—Off Hallahan 6 in 3-3 innings; off Moore 7 in 3-3; off Sphor 1 in 1-1; off Brandt 4 in 3-3.

Local Tennis Players Enter Mississippi Valley Net Tourney

Woods, Shields Lose Singles In Davis Play

U. S. Hopes Rest on Doubles, Singles Mon., Tues.

WIMBLEDON, England, July 21 (AP)—Bringing across a tremendous wall from an unexpected quarter, Australia's Davis cup team today captured both singles matches from the United States in the opening of their interzone series to deal what probably is a knockout blow to American hopes of regaining the famous international tennis trophy this year.

Into Cocked Hat

Vivian McGrath, curly haired, imperturbable 21 year old star from down under, knocked the advance hope into a cocked hat by humbling Sidney P. Wood, Jr., Uncle Sam's ace, 7-5, 6-4, 1-6, 9-7, after Jack Crawford, the Aussies' top-ranking player, had scored an almost casual victory over Frank X. Shields, 6-1, 6-2, 12-10.

The double setback left Capt. R. Norris (Dick) Williams' disappointed warriors facing what looked like an impossible task of sweeping the remaining doubles match on Monday and the two singles on Tuesday, when Shields engages McGrath and Wood takes on Crawford.

Task Too Great

The players themselves seem to feel that the task is too great.

"It's up to you George to get in there and win on Monday," a fan told George M. Lotz, Jr., as the players went to their dressing rooms.

Lotz, who will pair with towering Lester Steffen against Crawford and Adrian Quist, replied in a somewhat downcast tone:

"Yes, but what's the use? It's the same old story."

Browns Win 7th Straight

Defeat Senators 6 to 5 After Putting Down Rally in 8th

ST. LOUIS, July 21 (AP)—Ray Pepper's double scoring Sammy West in the ninth put over the St. Louis Browns' winning run as they defeated the Washington Senators, 6 to 5, for their seventh straight victory.

The Senators took an early lead, but the Browns began hitting Southpaw Bob Burke and evening the score in the third. Phillips' home run in the fourth put the Senators in front again until the eighth.

Leads Poll

Laws' total was 19,389 yesterday, to 14,481 for Pardonner of Purdue, next ranking candidate for the quarter-back post. Zud Schammel, another 1922 Iowa Great, is running a close second to Rosenberg of Southern California for a guard berth. Rosenberg has 23,582 votes to Schammel's 21,376.

Laws, who will continue his football in a Green Bay Packer suit in the professional league this fall has been gaining in popularity as the contest progresses and appears certain to add this honorary berth to his list of football accomplishments.

It was Laws' part in aiding the rejuvenation of the Hawkeyes in 1933 that brought him into nation-wide prominence.

All-Big Ten

After a great season of play, Laws was given a berth on the Big Ten all-conference team, was selected on numerous all-Americans, participated as a member of the East's all-star team against the West on New Year's day, and won the Chicago Tribune award for the player of most value to his team.

It was his aggressive, driving type of play that caught the fancy of Iowa sport followers. Equipped with only average speed, Laws spun and twisted with the skill of a toe dancer, and often broke away after opponents thought they had him down.

Marvin D. Kuhn; This 180 Pound Fullback Hails From Charles City

Editor's Note: This is the twelfth and final short article of this series concerning University of Iowa athletes who will help carry Hawkeye football hopes through the 1934 Big Ten gridiron season. Another series, concerning promising sophomores, will follow at a later date.

By JACK GURWELL
(Daily Iowan Sports Editor)

Introducing Marvin D. Kuhn, a football player who held down an end position in high school at 140 pounds and carried the ball for Iowa as a fullback weighing 185 pounds. You have the facts of the matter, but how he put on the added poundage only he himself knows. You who would gain a little weight might ask him next fall. How the added weight embarrassed him no end you will soon learn.

Weight Okay

The extra weight was all okay with Marvin, but, to be frank, his extra weight was a hindrance to him to properly maneuver his newly acquired avoidpouts about on the gridiron.

Kuhn could smash the line like a bolt from the blue. Once through, however, and leaning into the enemy, his feet could not keep up with his hard driven torso. He sometimes stumbled and was lost. Coach Ossie Solem came to the rescue and remedied the matter by fitting him up last fall with a pair of padded number 9's, this form of padding turning the trick in keeping Kuhn on his feet by reason of a broader understanding.

This varsity plunger of ability reported for Burton Ingwerson's freshman squad in the fall of 1931 weighing 150 pounds and earned a numerical with the rest of the boys. Then came the surprise. When he reported to Coach Solem for varsity practice, the athlete weighed 180 pounds, picking up the extra 30 pounds in three short summer months.

Necessary Weight

These extra pounds gave him the necessary weight to become an outstanding line plunger and ball carrier. He earned two honors for his two season's work and will be back this fall, trying for a major award. He was handicapped his sophomore year by a painful ankle injury at the start of the season.

Not only a footballer—Kuhn reported to Coach George T. Bresnahan this last spring and placed in several track meets in the pole vault.

The Hawkeye senior was born in Charles City and played out his high school competition on the local athletic teams. His small size relegated him to an end position, but he performed ably and was chosen to captain his team in his senior year. Kuhn competed in the weight events on the track team, and played basketball during his senior year.

Medicine

The Charles City athlete spent a year at Iowa State Teachers before entering Iowa. Kuhn won freshman numerals in basketball and track, in addition to his grid number.

He is taking pre-medical work and plans to enter the college of medicine this fall on the fall of 1935.

Task Too Great

The players themselves seem to feel that the task is too great.

"It's up to you George to get in there and win on Monday," a fan told George M. Lotz, Jr., as the players went to their dressing rooms.

Lotz, who will pair with towering Lester Steffen against Crawford and Adrian Quist, replied in a somewhat downcast tone:

"Yes, but what's the use? It's the same old story."

Ray Dauber Visits I. C.

Leaves Soon to Coach Panama Olympic Team

Ray Dauber, former University of Iowa football and track athlete, is visiting friends in Iowa City this week end before leaving for Panama City to coach for the remainder of the summer the Republic of Panama's future Olympic track team.

A six letter man at Iowa and present assistant football and head basketball coach at Tulane, Dauber will leave Iowa City sometime during the first of his trip to Panama City. He will travel by auto to New Orleans and from there take a boat to his destination.

The former Hawkeye, competed on Iowa football teams in 1923, '24 and '25, and won three more letters as a weight man on the track team in 1924, '25 and '26. Dauber captained the Hawks in his final year of track competition.

Since graduating from Iowa, the former athlete coached at Western Reserve and Mississippi State before taking his present position at Tulane.

Mrs. Dauber will remain in Iowa City during Dauber's sojourn in the southern republic.

Detroit Stages Triple Play to Lick Athletics

Event in 4th Inning Nips Threatening Rally By 4-1 Tally

DETROIT, July 21 (AP)—That supreme defensive achievement, a triple play, helped the Tigers defeat Philadelphia 4 to 1 here today and defend their American league leadership.

Not only did big Hank Greenberg, Tiger first sacker, start the mass killing, but he got a single, two doubles and a triple in four times at bat.

With Warster on first and McNair on second, the A's called for a hit and run play in the fourth inning. Bery lined to Greenberg, who stepped on the bag to double Warster, then threw to Rogell, nipping McNair and squelching a rally that threatened to wipe out the one-run lead the Tigers enjoyed at that moment.

Score by innings: 010 002 120—Chicago; 000 002 000—St. Louis.
Runs batted in—Seltzgraver, Gehrig, Chapman, 2; Lazerer, Crosetti, Honkiss, Chapman, 2; three base hits—Swanson, Dickey, 2; Sacrifices—Lazerer, 2; Byrd, 2; Double play—Simmons, 2; Base on balls—Gomez, 1; Struck out—Gomez, 1; Error—Gomez, 1; Hit by pitched ball—Gomez, 1; Lost on throw—Gomez, 1; Umpires—Donnelly, Moriarty and Gelsinger. Time—2:08.

Four Diamondball Games Scheduled At City Park Today

Four games will be played for the entertainment of local diamondball fans at City park today. Two games are Junior affairs while the other two are senior contests.

The first game is at 2 p.m. when Riverside Juniors take on Sidwell's Jrs. The second game will be played at 6 p.m. when Casino Jrs. will play Elks Jrs. This game is a rubber contest with both teams beating each other twice.

The third and fourth games are senior encounters. Elks will tangle with West Branch at 7:30 while in the meantime Kelly Bros. will entertain the fast Mt. Vernon outfit.

Riskulus Wins

ARLINGTON PARK, Ill., July 21 (AP)—Riskulus, a temperamental colt which turned out to be nothing but a losing streak since he left his happy hunting grounds at Agua Caliente, ran the race of his life today to beat out Mrs. John D. Harty's March 11 in the $100,000 Arlington handicap.

Score by innings: 010 002 120—Chicago; 000 002 000—St. Louis.
Runs batted in—Seltzgraver, Gehrig, Chapman, 2; Lazerer, Crosetti, Honkiss, Chapman, 2; three base hits—Swanson, Dickey, 2; Sacrifices—Lazerer, 2; Byrd, 2; Double play—Simmons, 2; Base on balls—Gomez, 1; Struck out—Gomez, 1; Error—Gomez, 1; Hit by pitched ball—Gomez, 1; Lost on throw—Gomez, 1; Umpires—Donnelly, Moriarty and Gelsinger. Eve Gilbert, Keeler Help Raise Total

Expect Rush of Entries Up Until Tuesday's Closing Time

Heightening local interest in the annual Mississippi Valley tennis tournament to start here Wednesday was reflected yesterday as several more Iowa Citizens signed for the event, bringing the tournament total to 31 with three more days remaining before the deadline is reached Tuesday evening.

The players who entered yesterday are: T. Evans, Irving Keeler, K. Anderson, Carl Redenbaugh, George Buis, Mrs. George Buis, Margaret Farrish, and Eve Gilbert. Keeler, who was assistant football coach at Iowa City high school last year is a former college star. Mr. and Mrs. Buis and Margaret Farrish have been members of past Iowa City tennis teams.

Entries Expected

With the state tournament out of the way, the list of players is expected to mount rapidly Monday and Tuesday. Only a few players have entered so far from Cedar Rapids and Des Moines and these two cities are especially expected to increase their numbers.

The women entries have been checked somewhat by the imposing names of Thelma Kenefick and Betty Butler among the contestants. However, seven have entered thus far and with three more days to go this division of the tournament will probably show an increase over last year.

Yanks Slam Chisox, 6-2

Gomez Gets 15th Win; Gehrig Clouts 26th Home Run

CHICAGO, July 21 (AP)—Extra base hitting behind the six-hit tlingling of Lefty Vernon Gomez gave the Yankees an easy 6 to 2 victory over the White Sox today and kept them two games behind the league leading Detroit club.

Gomez chalked up his fifteenth victory of the season. Lou Gehrig swatted his twenty-sixth home run of the year, a line drive into the right field stands, for the second Yankee run after he and Bill Dickey had connected for doubles in the first. Dickey followed Lou's blow with his eleventh circuit drive.

Title Holders

Although only about half of the expected number of players have entered, there are many title or former title holders already in the group. Led by Ed Davis, the collegiate defending champion from Peoria, Ill., this list includes Thelma Kenefick, Frank Brody, Ronald Reddig, Merle Robbins, Dick Gepp, Betty Butler, Kenneth Cline, and Bob Okerbloom.

Miss Kenefick, many times state champion, is the present "Sigh" women's title holder. Robbins was 1931 and 1932 men's champion. Reddig and Gepp were the winners doubles combination in 1932, and Miss Butler was women's champion in 1932; losing her title to Miss Kenefick. Okerbloom is a former Big Ten player from Ohio State; Cline is present Southwestern Iowa champion, and Brody comes here as last ex-champ of the state, having lost his title in the quarter finals of this year's meet Thursday.

Dodger Rally In 9th Downs Bues, 8 to 7

BROOKLYN, July 21 (AP)—The Dodgers made it two straight off the Pittsburgh Pirates today, winning 8 to 7 on two-run ninth inning rally that resulted from the wildness of Red Lucas and Len Chagnon.

Coggeshall Plays Bill Kiley, Kenefick Meets Betty Butler in State Net Championship Finals

Beckerman Defaults in Singles; To Play With Brody

DES MOINES, July 21 (AP)—Harris Coggeshall, Des Moines, will be playing for his fourth Iowa tennis championship when he meets Bill Kiley, Kansas City, Mo., Sunday in the final round.

Coggeshall defeated Bob Welstock, St. Louis, Mo., 6-3, 6-1, 6-3, Saturday in the semifinals, while Kiley turned back Ben Beckerman, Des Moines, 7-5, 6-2. Beckerman gave the third set to Kiley when he saw Kiley's forehead take the first two. He defaulted so that he could play a doubles match with Frank Brody later in the day.

Beckerman's action proved to be wise as he and Frank Brody, Des Moines, doubles champions, by a straight-set match went into the finals against Bob Demaree, Tulsa, Okla., and Bill Kiley.

In the women's championship, Thelma Kenefick, Eagle Grove, present titleholder, was scheduled to play Betty Butler, Des Moines, and two other championships were to be decided.

Bob Demaree, Tulsa, Okla., and Bob Storis, Kansas City, Mo., were to meet Jack Savage, Knoxville, and Junior Owens, Ames, for the junior doubles title.

Dorothy Day and Diane Southern, both Des Moines, were matched against Betty Butler, Des Moines, and Thelma Kenefick, Eagle Grove, in the finals of the women's doubles.

Hubbell Falls To Reds 3-2

Stout Pitches Brilliant Game; Gives Six Hits, Fans 5

NEW YORK, June 21 (AP)—Allyn Stout, who hadn't pitched a complete game in 20 previous appearances, got the better of the mighty Carl Hubbell today to give the cellar-dwelling Reds a 3 to 2 victory over the Giants.

Brilliant Game Stout pitched a brilliant game, giving the world champions only six hits, walking only two and fanning five. He topped off his performance by driving in the decisive run himself in the second inning.

The Reds, beating the league leaders for the fourth time in six meetings this season, hit Hubbell hard. They collected nine hits and failed to connect in only two innings.

Teams Err Errors by both teams, however, were the principal sources of runs. Every Giant infielder except Manager Bill Terry made one costly misplay while Oskie Slade's error played the Giant scoring in the sixth.

Hawk Swimmers Win Cedar River Distance Event

CEDAR RAPIDS, July 21 (AP)—Francis Presler, 25, former University of Iowa swimmer, won his fourth victory in the seventh annual Y.M.C.A. Cedar River Swim Marathon Saturday by covering the three and a half mile course in 1 hour, 22 minutes, 14 seconds.

Dick Westerfield, 19 year old University of Iowa sophomore of this city was in second place 60 yards behind Presler after waging a determined fight for first place.

Larry Dennis, 19, another local youth, was third and was followed by Joe Seel and Robert Wood.

John Stark, 18, was winner of the boys' one mile swim in 26 minutes, 40 seconds, and Walter Maciejewsky, 17, Washington high swim star, won the boys' class B mile swim in 27 minutes, 11 seconds.

Harold "Bud" Foster Recommended to Get Wisconsin Cage Post

MADISON, Wis., July 21 (AP)—Harold "Bud" Foster, star forward on the University of Wisconsin basketball team for three years, and freshman coach at the University last season, was recommended by the university athletic board today to succeed Dr. Walter E. Meanwell as basketball coach.

Foster was recommended for the position by Dr. Meanwell, whose 20-year tenure as basketball coach of Wisconsin was officially terminated today by the acceptance of his resignation by the board. Meanwell recently was appointed director of athletics at the university by the board of regents.

Explanation Of "Strange As It Seems"

Harriet Beecher Stowe, famous as the woman who wrote "Uncle Tom's Cabin," came from a family of noted preachers. She was one of 13 children, and had seven brothers, all of whom were clergymen. Her most famous brother was the great Henry Ward Beecher who in the days of the Civil war was one of America's outstanding pulpit orators.

The Uncle Tom of Harriet Beecher Stowe's best known book was another preacher in real life.

He was Josiah Henson, born a slave in Port Tobacco, Md., in 1787. He ran away from his owner and escaped into Canada in 1828, and later became a Methodist preacher at Dresden, Ontario. Mrs. Stowe met him and from his life story she fashioned the character of Uncle Tom. Henson lectured in the United States and Canada for years, and made three tours of England. On one of these he was entertained at Windsor Castle by Queen Victoria.

The famous London clock that is known widely as "Big Ben" is really the Parliament Clock.

"MA CINDERELLA" by Harold Bell Wright

CHAPTER XXXI. Wilson's tone was still a trifle formal and precise, perhaps, but the mountain woman did not mistake the kindly spirit of his answer. "I shall be most happy to serve you, madam," he hesitated, then added, with earnest meaning—"in any way I can."

"You are exactly right, Mrs. Haskel. What you call 'quality'—and it is a very good word—is not at all a question of money. A man may be in rags, so to speak, and still, if he be a gentleman, his quality will show. A woman may wear gowns from Paris and deck herself out with a fortune in jewels and still be quite common."

"I sure admire plain talk, Wilson. I don't hit myself an' I allus like fer hit to be used by whosoever's a-talkin' to me."

"Wal," returned Ann, "I reckon my well start by tellin' you right out plain, 'cause you're bound to hear this out anyway, that I warn't no ways born to such as this. I grew up without no schoolin' ner nothin'. I'm gess an ignorant old backwoods woman what's been a-livin' an' a-workin' in the ashes an' dirt all her life. But here of late I got me a chance, mebbe, at somethin' different—somethin' like I've allus dreamed I could be—'cause even if I be ignorant like I say, I sure ain't never been low-down trash like some I know."

"I know you an' well that's the truth, Wilson. I don't know so mighty much 'bout some things but I've sure found out that 'tain't money what makes folks quality. That's a bunch of folks what comes every summer to live near my place in the backwoods an' they got seeds of money, but, shucks! I'm a-tellin' you they ain't no better'n some of our lowest-down hill-billies—jest jargon, triflin' do-nothin'-but-jargon trash, that's what they be. They live in this year city, too, when they're to home. That's the main reason I come here an' rented this place. I sure ain't to show 'em."

"Yes, sir, I've sure learned that folks can have money an' education an' the right raisin' an' be real quality, long with all. An' folks can have money an' plain down everything an' be jest plain down right, bone-worthless an' ornery. Hit ain't the money what does hit, it's somethin' inside. I ain't a-hittin' to be no different inside than I've allus been. I've allus knowed how I ought to act when I didn't have nothin'. Now I want to learn how to act when I got money 'nough to buy anything I want. 'Tain't that I'm a-wantin' to be no different inside."

Brown Denies Charges of Beating Juvenile Home Inmate

Father of Youth Files Action Against Supervisor of Home

Use Charges in Attempt To Force Ouster Of Brown

Clarence E. Brown, superintendent of the Johnson county juvenile home, denied last night that he had caused the black and blue spots and red welts on the body of 4 year old Paul Akers which formed the basis for charges of assault and battery filed against him in police court yesterday morning.

The charges, filed by Ben Akers, the boy's father, are being used by Mrs. Mabel Evans, county probation officer, and Mrs. Emma Harvat, chairman of the board of the juvenile home, to force Brown's ouster.

Mrs. Evans and directors of the home have been seeking Brown's dismissal for several months, but the Johnson county board of supervisors has so far ignored their charges.

Brown at one time turned in his resignation when complaints were made that he was physically unable to take care of the home satisfactorily. He said last night that he withdrew it on the advice of District Judge Harold D. Evans.

Mrs. Evans said yesterday that repeated reports of cruelty have come to her end to the board of the juvenile home. "We have urged action by the supervisors," she said, "but they have failed to heed our petition thus far."

The charges against Brown were set by Police Judge Harold W. Vestermark for 11 a.m. yesterday, but Brown failed to appear on a plea of illness. He said last night that he has been ill from the heat for some time, but that he would engage an attorney to represent him Monday.

Explaining his theories for enforcing discipline at the home Brown last night admitted that he and Mrs. Brown occasionally "spanked" the smaller children under 6 years of age. The older ones, he said, can be "talked to."

He said the Akers boy, a motherless child whose sister and four brothers have also been cared for at the home, was one of the most difficult children he had to deal with and that he occasionally had to resort to physical persuasion. He insisted, however, that he had never bruised or seriously hurt the boy. Bruises which were evident on the youngster's body yesterday he guessed were received in play.

Mrs. Brown indicated that a certain amount of force in the care of children was approved by some members of the board of supervisors. He quoted one member as telling Mrs. Brown recently to give the intractable ones "a good licking."

Incredulous

Iowa Citizens are rugged individualists when it comes to the weather situation. Many a bitter word was exchanged here yesterday as heat sufferers guessed at the temperature. Incidentally, most of them guessed that yesterday was hotter than Friday or Thursday.

Hero

Actually seen on Washington street at 3:30 p.m. yesterday—a man walking briskly along the sunny side of the street, with a coat on. He had no vest, but his collar was stiff and a neatly tied cravat held it tightly against his neck. He lived that way for two blocks and then disappeared around a corner.

houses 14 children, nine girls and seven boys ranging in age from 3 to 13. The home is a 65 year old three story house on the corner of Gilbert and Bowers streets, surrounded by a large yard.

The children, committed to the home by the juvenile court, attend the public schools and are cared for by the county. The number of children fluctuates between about 10 and 28, depending upon the case with which homes can be found for them in private families.

Two Details Pending

Only two details are now holding back final approval of Iowa City's sewage disposal plant. One is official acceptance of the revenue bonds, and the other is the approval by the PWA finance division of the Ralston Creek improvement and the construction of storm and sanitary sewers as part of the project.

These other improvements were approved by the legal division recently after an appeal from the city council. As soon as these details are officially settled, the city council may order work to begin on the $493,000 project.

PWA Examiners Advise Finance Division To Accept Bonds

PWA examiners have advised the finance division to accept revenue bonds as security on a loan and grant for the proposed Iowa City sewage disposal plant, and the city will probably receive a contract providing for the government purchase of these bonds in the near future, it was announced yesterday by Dr. W. L. Bywater.

A letter to Congressman Edward C. Eicher from P. M. Benton, PWA finance director in Washington, D. C., was forwarded to Dr. Bywater, who had asked Congressman Eicher to push the sewage disposal project.

PWA Hesitated

The PWA hesitated to accept revenue bonds, which differ from general obligation bonds in that they are retired by the revenues of the plant for which they are issued instead of from city taxes, as provided for under the old Simmer law.

This law was amended at the last session of the Iowa legislature, however, and the PWA, if it officially endorses the statements in Mr. Benton's letter, will accept the revenue securities.

Local CCC Recruits To Report Tuesday

Twenty-eight Iowa City recruits will report for duty at the Solon CCC camp Tuesday morning, Dr. W. L. Bywater, director of selection for this county, announced yesterday.

All local young men interested in enrolling for CCC work may apply at the office of Lucile Bruner, Social Service league secretary, in the city hall.

Check-Up On Work Pledges Is Scheduled

Drive Managers Plan To Total Figures Tomorrow

A check-up on work pledges in the Renovating and Reemployment campaign will be made tomorrow afternoon, drive managers announced yesterday.

Although soliciting has been held at almost a standstill by the heat wave, pledges from business and residential districts are believed to total $56,000.

Not Thoroughly Canvassed

Neither of the two sections have been thoroughly canvassed. Junior Chamber of Commerce members made a preliminary survey of the downtown section Wednesday and Thursday, and got improvement pledges of nearly $40,000.

The residential drive for promises of home renovating was slated to begin after the dinner for men Thursday night, but few solicitors have ventured to work during the last few days.

Seek $200,000

As soon as cooler weather comes, 75 local men will make a house to house canvass. The goal towards which campaign directors are working is work pledges of $200,000 and jobs for 1,000 Iowa City unemployed.

Nyle Jones of the federal reemployment service office here, said

Rate Funeral Service Set This Afternoon
