KIDNAPERS DICKER FOR $150,000.00

Mysterious Sea Giant—Observed in Depths of Ocean as Beebe Sets New Diving Record.

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Aug. 15 (AP)—A mysterious deep sea fish 20 feet long and illuminated by myriads of tiny lights was seen today by Dr. William Beebe and Otis Barton, American scientists, during a dive in their "bathysphere" in which they achieved a new depth record.

Sailed in their two-ton iron ball, the scientists spent five minutes at a depth of 3,025 feet, beating their record of last Saturday by 618 feet and passing their goal of half a mile by 383 feet.

Observed Shadow
At 2,750 feet in the descent Beebe observed a large gray shadow. Signaling for a halt, he tried to distinguish what appeared to be an unknown denizen of the deep. He said he was unable to identify it.

The scientist described the strange fish as illuminated by myriads of tiny lights, glittering like a diamond. Around the object, which he estimated to have a length of at least 20 feet. It was assumed the lights were from phosphorescent parasites.

Largest Ever Seen
Dr. Beebe said he thought the monster was the largest he had ever seen in a deep sea dive. Barton exposed 100 feet of moving picture film in an attempt to photograph it, but results were uncertain. All deep sea creatures scuttle away when exposed to the glare of the searchlight played upon them from the bathysphere.

The monster aroused the scientists' curiosity and they said they were anxious to study other specimens in shallower dives. Dr. Beebe said the farther down he went the larger the living creatures seemed to be. There were to be no more attempts this year, however, at reaching the half a mile depth.

The dive was made at approximately the same spot where they went down four days ago.

R.R. Pension Board Wins 150 Railroads Refused Injunction Against New Law

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—The government today won a victory over 150 railroads seeking to prevent the railroad retirement board from administering the recently enacted railway pensions law.

Justice James M. Proctor in District of Columbia supreme court denied the railroads' petition for a restraining order against the enforcement of the act pending a test of its constitutionality.

The ruling was handed down after Hammond Chaffitz of the department of justice contended the railroads had failed to show irreparable injury.

A hearing at which the railroads will endeavor to prove their claim of unconstitutionality is to be held in the court in September.

The railroads' plea for a restraining order was heard Monday when the petition attacking the law was filed by a committee headed by R. V. Fletcher, general counsel for the Association of Railway Executives.

The petition alleged congress had violated the commerce clause of the constitution and also the fifth amendment.

Planning Commission Starts Two Projects Here

Architects To Plan Business District Unity

Two projects for the beautification of Iowa City were started this week by the planning commission, acting on recommendations made by Jacob L. Crane of Chicago, retained this spring to draft a long range plan for this community.

Architectural unity in the business district and an increased number of trees in the residential zone are aims of the projects.

Will Draw Up Plans
To aid the first of these moves, two local architects, J. E. Rust and Herman Smith, have agreed to draw up plans for model store fronts. Other architects are being asked to cooperate.

When Mr. Crane spoke here last week, he advocated an appearance of unity in the downtown section of Iowa City, and pointed to the Nally Chevrolet company and the Varsity theater buildings as possible models of architecture. Members of the local planning commission believe that a "modified modernistic" style would be most attractive, and have tentatively decided to recommend it to persons building or improving business property.

Will Submit Plans
If the project is carried out, plans drawn by cooperating architects will be submitted to prospective builders, and the commission will urge compliance with the type of architecture finally approved.

To increase the number of trees in yards and along Iowa City streets, the commission is planning a preliminary survey and a following campaign.

Queries About "Tree Map"
D. W. Crum, secretary, has written to Prof. F. H. Elwood of Ames to ask whether or not there is a forestry student of Iowa State college interested in making a "tree map" here for his thesis. If such aid can be obtained, the commission will be supplied with a complete survey showing kinds, locations, and conditions of all Iowa City trees.

Mediators Seek To End Aluminum Strike
PITTSBURGH, Aug. 15 (AP)—Government mediators today heard labor's story about the controversy in the aluminum industry and then prepared to hear the views of management in an effort to settle the strike which has paralyzed six big plants of the Aluminum Company of America.

The Federal Government In Johnson County
A Review of Administration Agencies Aiding In the Growth of City, County, University

(Editor's Note—This is the twelfth in a series of articles dealing with the work of the federal administration agencies operating in Iowa City, the University of Iowa, and Johnson county. The stories appear daily on the front page of The Daily Iowan.)

12. CCC
Last year, approximately 100 young men, transients, applied for aid at local relief agencies every month. This year, there are hardly any of these wanderers. Last year, Iowa Citizens had no idea that they would live close to a big state park. This year, Lake Macbride park is nearing completion.

These are the most noticeable results of the civilian conservation corps in Johnson county, according to Dr. W. L. Bywater, local director of enlistment. But CCC activities and benefits are numerous, he pointed out yesterday, including reforestation, erosion control, chinch bug fighting, and the support of many families.

The CCC camp was located east of the Iowa City airport last summer. Workers lived there in tents and wooden barracks, working mainly on erosion control, until winter, when the group moved to near Solon.

Directed by F. S. Yetter, half of the workers have been developing Lake Macbride park this spring and summer, and others have been placed on various projects throughout the county.

The CCC project was originally intended to last only six months, but has been extended for that period twice. Young men, aged 18 to 25, with dependent families, are eligible to enlist. Each member must agree to send $25 out of the $30 received every month to his family. Enlistment is limited to two six month periods.

Although the military aspect of the camps has been criticized, there is no actual military training. During the day, CCC workers are directed by civilian authorities, and army men have control of camp regulations at night.

More than 100 Johnson county young men have entered the camp, which has a total membership of approximately 200. Other workers at the camp are drawn from all over Iowa, and a number of local recruits have been sent to other counties.

Whether or not the CCC project will be continued when the third enlistment period comes to an end next fall has not been learned, according to Dr. Bywater.

Two Killed, Four Injured in Auto Crash at Chester

CRESO, Aug. 15 (AP)—Two persons were killed and four badly injured in an automobile accident today on highway 59, about a mile south of Chester, Ia., and 18 miles northwest of Cresco.

Mrs. Anna Diekhoff, 60, and her daughter, Irene, 25 of Rochester, Minn., were fatally injured in the head-on collision.

Mrs. Diekhoff's sons, Calvin, 28, and Vernon, 15, and two nieces, Emma Meester, 25, and Esther Meester, 24, both of Parkersburg, were seriously injured and brought to Mercy hospital here.

Calvin Diekhoff was driving the car when it was struck head on by an auto driven by Milton Cheney, a farmer who lives near Chester.

Plane Used To Bring Hervert To Iowa City

Broken Neck Sustained By Local Man In Lake Accident

Raymond Hervert, 27, 319 E. Davenport street, who broke his neck while diving at the Arnold's Park bathing beach yesterday afternoon, arrived here by airplane at 8:30 p.m. and was taken to University hospital.

His condition last night could not be learned, for physicians, at the request of Mr. Hervert's family, refused to give out any information.

The accident occurred when Mr. Hervert dived from a water wheel at the beach, in northwestern Iowa, where he was passing a vacation.

He was taken to a hospital here for treatment, and his parents arranged transportation here on the advice of hospital authorities.

The airplane flew from Chicago to Arnold's Park, and then came to Iowa City in two hours despite stormy weather. An ambulance was ready at the field to rush Mr. Hervert to the hospital.

Mr. Hervert lives with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hervert.

Bertha Willis Rites Scheduled for Today

Funeral service for Bertha Willis, who died Monday, will be at 10:30 this morning at the home of her sister, Mrs. Eloise W. Nutting, 922 E. Washington street.

Prof. M. Willard Lampe, director of the school of religion, will officiate, and burial will be in Oakland cemetery.

Germany Gets Testament Of Late President

BERLIN, Aug. 15 (AP)—Four days before the plebiscite on Adolf Hitler's assumption of presidential powers, the German people today were given the political testament of Paul von Hindenburg, which described Hitlerism as "a decisive stride" toward inner national unity.

For months the document, which was signed by the late Reich president on May 11, 1934, but only now was delivered to Hitler, has been a matter of mystery.

Had Been Speculation
There had been speculation as to whether the aged field marshal had definitely named Hitler or Vice Chancellor Franz von Papen as his successor or had perhaps offered possible solutions for Germany's many problems.

The document remained something of a mystery even after it was published.

At the time it was signed questions involving the church, finances and foreign policy were troubling the third Reich.

Question Arises
The query arose today as to why the testament was given out just at this time when the Nazis are asking the people for another expression of approval.

While the inspired press seized upon the statement as proof of the claim made by Hitler's campaigning lieutenants—that the chancellor is von Hindenburg's logical successor, others regarded the closing sentence which looked into the future as significant.

After praising Hitler and his National Socialist movement for taking a decisive stride "of historical importance toward the goal of leading the German people to inner unity," von Hindenburg expressed hopes for the future.

Wishes National Reconciliation
"I know that much remains to be done," he wrote, "and from the bottom of my heart wish the act of national regeneration and unification may be followed by an act of reconciliation to embrace the whole German fatherland."

By some neutral observers this was taken to mean that von Hindenburg hoped for reconciliation of the troublesome church situation; perhaps for restoration of the monarchy, or again for a greater effort to achieve international peace than the Nazis so far have put forth.

Black Resigns Reserve Post To Act as Interpreter Between Banks, Government

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—Eugene R. Black today resigned as governor of the federal reserve board and assumed the job of interpreter between the nation's banks and its government.

His resignation was accepted by President Roosevelt with the statement that "I am glad you are undertaking a new and important task."

"You can do much good by presenting the recovery program to the nation's reserve banks, commercial banks and other financial institutions," the president said in a letter to Black, "by acquainting them with the successive steps taken by the administration which have resulted in the present prosperous condition of these institutions and which made possible their cooperation with the administration in its program of complete business rehabilitation."

In addition to resuming his post as governor of the Atlanta reserve bank, Black will attempt to muster the strength of the financial system behind the movement for industrial recovery. At the same time he will act as a spokesman of the banks to congress, the administration and the people.

Black's place is not an official one, he told reporters, and he will draw no salary. He presented the idea to President Roosevelt a year ago, and has been developing it since.

Iowa City To Receive Loan Benefit Soon

Local Organizations To Cooperate Under Housing Act

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—The federal housing administration announced tonight that 1,131 banks, with total resources of more than eight billion dollars, had signed contracts to make loans for property improvements and repairs.

Iowa Citizens will be able, in the future, to borrow money under terms of the federal housing act from two local agencies—the First Capital National bank, and the Iowa City Building and Loan association.

Officials of these organizations

DES MOINES, Aug. 15 (AP)—The first home reconditioning loan in Iowa under the new federal housing program was granted Wednesday to Lea A. Mould, Des Moines city fireman.

J. J. Hughes, Iowa housing administrator, said he believed the loan was one of the first in the United States.

Mould obtained a loan of $900 through the State Building Loan and Savings association to complete his home at 3712 S. W. Ninth street.

Returned to Prison To Face Execution Late This Year

HUNTSVILLE, TEX., Aug. 15 (AP)—Shackled and closely guarded, Joe Palmer was brought back from Paducah, Ky., today and locked in the same death cell from which he escaped July 22 in Texas' most spectacular prison break.

"Same damn scenery," the condemned gunman muttered as the cell door clanged behind him. Palmer, who twice this year escaped prison, will be electrocuted late in the year for the shooting of a prison guard.

The sharp faced, beady-eyed desperado was sentenced to death for the slaying of Major Crosson, guard at Eastham state prison farm, in a bloody break there Jan. 16. He was retaken and while in the state penitentiary here awaiting execution, participated in the July escape.

Several convicts were shot down in trying to go over the prison wall but Palmer, Raymond Hamilton and Irvin (Blackie) Thompson reached the outside and sped away in waiting cars driven by confederates. The fugitives split up and Palmer was caught at Paducah a few days ago. Hamilton and Thompson remain at large.

F.R. Warns Food Profiteers Against Increase in Prices

Says Government Will Protect Nation In Drought Crisis

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—The president today sternly warned "profiteers" and "speculators" that the government would step in if they attempted to take advantage of the drought situation.

Mr. Roosevelt said he thought existing legislation gave federal authorities ample power to protect the nation against unwarranted increases in the price of food.

He followed this by summoning to the White House Secretaries Wallace, Ickes, Perkins, and others to discuss what additional steps are necessary to provide relief for those hardest hit by the dry siege.

Within the scope of that parley were crop plans for next year and methods to prevent gouging of the nation's consumers.

Mr. Roosevelt said he did not anticipate emergencies beyond those existing; that there was plenty of food, despite decimation of crops in wide areas, but that if a crisis arose,

Boasting that while officers hunting for him stood around, he attended the funeral of Clyde Barrow, southwestern desperado, Joe Palmer, above, who escaped from the penitentiary death house at Huntsville, Tex., last month, is shown following his capture in Paducah, Ky. Palmer, faced by realization he has only 30 days to live, is said to have confessed the killing of six men, and that he was aided in his escape by the late Bonnie Parker, cigar-smoking sweetheart of Clyde Barrow.

Both Parties Pleased After Vote Returns

"New Deal" Advocates To Run Against F.R. Foes

By The Associated Press
Both major parties today professed to find comfort in returns from Tuesday's primaries which showed "new deal" advocates in Ohio and Nebraska named to run for the senate against avowed opponents of the administration's policies.

The Democratic choice in Nebraska was Representative E. R. Burke, enthusiastic Roosevelt follower. He is opposed by Robert G. Simmons, former representative, who takes the emphatic stand that the president is headed in the wrong direction.

Donahy Winner
A. V. (Honest Vic) Donahy, former governor, is the Democratic senatorial nominee in Ohio. Like Burke, he endorses the administration's course. The voters have a clear choice between endorsement of support of the "new deal" in November for Senator Fess, veteran Republican and one of the president's most scathing critics, was selected to oppose Donahy.

The turmoil of the contests in four states Tuesday had hardly died away before President Roosevelt said flatly he was taking no part in any primary campaign, regardless of any representations to the contrary.

Eager for Support
So eager, however, are many Democratic candidates for the appearance of White House support that the claims and counter-claims probably will continue.

Funeral For Cahill Today

Legion, State Officials To Attend Rites At Cedar Rapids

CEDAR RAPIDS, Aug. 15 (AP)—Prominent members of the Iowa American Legion and several state officials will attend funeral services tomorrow for Maurice F. Cahill, Cedar Rapids attorney, who was killed in an auto accident yesterday.

Requiem high mass will be said at the Immaculate Conception church by the Rev. Dean J. M. Molloy. Members of the Hanford post of the Legion in Cedar Rapids and members of the Linn County Bar association will attend the service in groups. Cahill was former state commander of the Legion.

Governor Clyde Herring and Lieut. Gov. Nelson G. Krasschel have tentatively indicated that they will attend.

City to Seek Paving Bids

Decides to Go Ahead With Burlington Street Plans

Advertisement for bids on seven blocks of Burlington street paving will be made within the next few days, Mayor Harry D. Breene announced yesterday.

The decision to proceed immediately on the project was reached after city officials received a letter from P. F. Hopkins, state PWA engineer, advising such action.

Mr. Hopkins assured the city that he could get PWA aid for the project as soon as its cost is definitely learned. The paving is expected to cost approximately $45,000.

Of the total cost, the state highway commission will pay $15,000, and the government will pay 30 per cent. The remainder will come out of state highway maintenance funds usually given to Iowa City. For every mile of highway within city limits, the commission pays the city a certain amount for maintenance. These payments, over a period of years, will retire general obligation bonds issued by the city to pay for the paving.

Minneapolis Asks Aid Of F.R. in Trouble

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 15 (AP)—President Roosevelt and Washington officials today were asked to cure Minneapolis business of the strike ailment with which it has been suffering four weeks as a result of the truck drivers walkout.

DENVER, Aug. 15 (AP)—The possibility that baking beans and bean soup may be scarce this winter delegates from six major bean growing associations will survey the situation at a meeting here tomorrow.

24 Hour Limit to Pay Ransom Elapses With No Contact Made

BULLETIN
TORONTO, Aug. 16 (Thursday) (AP)—Hugh Labatt was reported to have been in communication with the kidnapers of his brother, John S. Labatt, wealthy brewery head, at 1 a.m. today.

He was understood to have talked with his brother's abductors by telephone in his hotel room, where he had been waiting all day and all night for word from them.

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 15 (AP)—With dominion police forces, including the powerful Royal Canadian Mounted, in full cry after the kidnapers of wealthy John S. Labatt, London brewer, the mysterious arrival tonight of a special inspector from Toronto aroused new speculation.

The inspector's visit followed publication by the Toronto Star of a story saying a note believed to be from the kidnaped man had been received by members of the family here.

The note read, according to the newspaper, "do everything possible to aid my release, and obey orders." The paper said the note was signed John Labatt.

No confirmation was available that the note had been received. Hugh Labatt, brother of the brewer, said in Toronto he knew nothing about it.

The 24 hours specified in a previous ransom note as a limit to the time in which $150,000 must be delivered if Labatt were to be released alive, expired at noon today with no contact established with his abductors. The Labatt home apparently was deserted tonight by all save a staff of servants.

The Toronto inspector who arrived tonight, H. Gardner, had been assigned as bodyguard to Hugh Labatt, who is seeking at Toronto to make contact with the kidnapers.

Gardner drove into London in an automobile with two men, one a chauffeur, and went into immediate conference with C. M. Burke, manager of Labatt's brewery. After a 30 minute talk Gardner drove away with his two companions.

It was not possible to ascertain their destination, but it was understood not to be Toronto.

For Greater Service To the State

THOSE WHO have followed the development of radio broadcasting at the University of Iowa will recognize in the application of station WSUI for additional time and power the opportunity for greater educational service to the state.

Handicapped today by lack of sufficient power and restricted broadcasting hours, the station has not been able to make the most of the opportunities offered by university students and faculty for good educational broadcasts.

With only 500 watts power, WSUI has been able to reach only a small area. Over the greater part of the state, except under unusual conditions, the broadcasts can not be heard. If the additional 500 watts power is granted, the value of the broadcasts will be enhanced because they will reach a wider audience.

More has been said in recent months than ever before about the quality of WSUI's programs. Great improvement has already been made under Mrs. Pearl Bennett Broxam's direction. Much still remains to be done in this regard.

Comments have been sharply divided. It is obvious that educational programs have little appeal to the majority of radio listeners, fed on the tinny jazz of a thousand second rate orchestras and the cheap hokum of Eddie Cantor and Jimmie Durante. That is not the audience at which WSUI programs are aimed. Where commercial broadcasts are designed to reach the masses, educational broadcasts are designed to reach groups with specific interests.

So it is from the comments of this group that the success of Iowa's radio broadcasting must be determined. And these have been of two kinds. No one interested in education has seriously doubted the value of the broadcasts. There has been praise from those who derived specific benefit from specific programs—and there have been suggestions for improvement from those who have the interest of station WSUI generally in view.

The station has already started on the long road toward improvements which will make it a great factor in the life of the state. Plans have been made for the use of extra time and power. And if those plans have been carefully made, Iowa will benefit.

Reconciliation—Who Cares?

"Hollywood, Aug. 15 (AP)—Mary Pickford, America's sweetheart, came home today from Chicago and disclosed she soon will confer with her estranged husband, Douglas Fairbanks."

JUST AS A voice in the wilderness, this newspaper would like to suggest that it is of no consequence whatever that Mary Pickford intends to confer with her estranged husband.

Nor is it a matter of great public concern whether the conference results in another "reconciliation" or not. There ought to be a law—oh, what's the use?

New Regions Under The Sea

WILLIAM BEEBE is the type of scientist who captures the imagination of the public and holds it. His explorations in the fantastic, gaudy depths of the sea set him apart from the ordinary mortal and make him a thing of wonder, like the strange fish whose habits he explores.

Perhaps one reason for the glamour that surrounds him and his labors is the fact that he has made it clear that underneath the sea are limitless regions of exotic mystery. He has opened the door just a little way on a realm of never-ending adventure.

It has been a matter of deadening regret to bored souls that the map of the world is so complete. And now Mr. Beebe has reminded them that the map covers only the surface, and that underneath the great blue splotches which cover three fourths of the globe lie enticing regions totally unexplored, peopled with stranger actors than ever greeted Alice in any wonderland.

What Others Think

Two Points Of View

(From The San Francisco Examiner)

The war to "make the world safe for democracy" did not achieve that purpose, but the corollary idea succeeded. The world was made unsafe for monarchy, and kings, kaisers, czars and sultans were tumbled into the ashcans of Europe. Democracy failed as a substitute in many instances and Russia, Germany, Italy and Turkey are further from democracy than they were 20 years ago.

And now there is talk of reviving monarchy in troubled Austria.

America might as well give up trying to understand the European mind, which seems to have no alternative for royalty but the rule of the dictator. Austria might redeem its old throne from whatever secondhand furniture man who now has it, and the result might be better than a dictatorship.

But in the long run a dictatorship is more hopeful than restoration of the monarchy would be. The trouble with a monarchy is that it is self-perpetuating, while a dictator is an individual who can not live forever. When he passes there is hope for democracy again. But when a king dies, there is a princeling waiting for this perch, and sycophants ready to serve the new man. To the American mind, restoration of the monarchy in Austria would be retrogression—but Europe looks at things differently from America—from debts to dukes.

GOOD MORNING

Republicans and Democrats are mobilizing their troops from all over the United States for the coming big offensive in Maine, where elections are held two months ahead of the parade.

Senator Dickinson already is on the ground, ready to make loud unintelligible noises invoking the ghosts of the fathers in wrath against the desecration of wicked Rooseveltians. And the wicked themselves are there, anxious to convince the "barometer" voters of Maine that the record of the New Deal justifies the reelection of Democrats to legislature, senate and congress.

Thus the big guns of the fall campaign are in place and ready to fire. What sacred cows will be killed in the shooting remains to be seen. The nation hopes both camps will forget the cows this time and say things with meaning.

But the chances, apparently, are rare. This column pointed out not long ago that the Republican party, in spite of an unusual opportunity, does not seem inclined to tackle the problems involved, but to stick faithfully to the cows.

Someone subsequently suggested that perhaps this was wise political strategy, which perhaps it is. The big objective of the Republicans, of course, is not this fall's congressional election, but the presidential battle two years from now. It might be folly to waste too much ammunition in advance.

But one would like to know just how much ammunition is in the arsenal. What, specifically, does anyone suggest should be done? Certainly there is something.

One hears criticism everywhere, but can anyone point to a solution that has been offered for the problems that are obvious?

Almost every ounce of recovery this country has experienced in the last year and a half can be attributed directly to government spending. And that, while one can argue plausibly that it had ought to be, is not a healthy situation, and cannot continue. Who has something to offer in its place?

The announcement from Washington that Secretary Wallace and the president are considering a proposal to establish huge national granaries to meet the exigencies of lean years like the present harps back to the days of enlightenment when the Chinese civilization was the finest in the world.

Old narratives tell of just such granaries from which, in times of drought and trouble, the emperor released great stores of grain so that, as an old Arab writer says, "there was never any want."

The same system is in use today in mysterious Tibet, where nothing has changed for unnumbered hundreds of years. There each farmer, when his own storehouse has been filled, puts his surplus into the common granary. When drought depletes the crop and famine threatens, the common stores are opened to the people. It is a simple system, and it works.

Here, where millions can go hungry in spite of quantity, everything is dependent upon price. To maintain huge stores of grain against privation it would be necessary to convince the market that they would be used only in times of sheer necessity. But that should not be difficult.

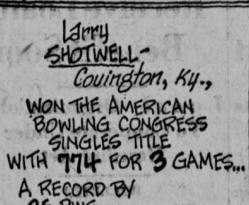

Already the United States has a normal carry-over of 125,000,000 bushels of wheat, and the market is rather used to unused surpluses. To increase that surplus by 75,000,000 bushels, with the understanding that it was strictly a reserve, should not hang too heavy a weight over the market's head.

Behind The Scenes in HOLLYWOOD By Harrison Carroll

HOLLYWOOD, Cal.—Next time Joel McCrea tells a fish story, he'll be better prepared to prove it. Sheepshead, the R-K-O star tells of how he cooked up a ruse to fool his Hollywood friends, but had the tables turned on him when two game wardens refused to see the point of the joke.

Over confidence brought the whole thing on. Joel was going on a fishing trip to Little Lake in the Owens Valley country and optimistically invited some pals to come over and have a trout dinner on his return.

Unfortunately, he caught no fish. He seemed to be in for plenty of ribbing. Until he remembered Noah Beery's trout farm. Stopping there on the way home, he caught a creel-full in an hour. But instead of using the regular Beery cartons, he packed the fish in a box carrying the name of the Owens Valley camp.

What he didn't know was that two game wardens had a barricade in Mint Canyon. They discovered Joel with more than the limit and saw the camp's name on the box. In vain, the star tried to explain that it was all a joke. He was all but arrested when one of the wardens finally agreed to go back to Beery's resort with him and confirm the story.

Evelyn Venable's father is moving in with her, and her friends see this as the end of her romance with Hal Mohr, Fox cameraman. Professor Venable was responsible for that contract in which the starlet was forbidden to play screen love scenes. He has threatened several times to take his daughter out of the movies and is known to have disapproved of Evelyn's real life romance. Since he came to Hollywood a while back, the professor has lived in an apartment, while Evelyn took a house in Hollywood with a companion and a housekeeper. Now the companion is no longer with her. She'll have her father for company.

Tennis-mad Hollywood will be interested to learn that John Lodge's ancestors were among the earliest patrons of the sport in this country. In fact, the second lawn tennis court in America was built on the estate of John's grandfather, Henry Cabot Lodge at Nahant, Mass.

KNICK-KNACKS—

Kent Taylor was an eye-witness to the slaying of that bank bandit on Wilshire boulevard. And admits it made him squemish. I printed that Edna May Oliver bought a house but that doesn't half tell the story. She made the purchase, furnished the place and moved in in three days. Stayed-out-laters at the Cocoanut Grove blicked to see Spencer Tracy at the same table with Sally Blane. But Sally's official escort was one of the two men at the table. . . . Washington Bystander

By KIRKE SIMPSON
Roosevelt head and storm center of the busy nomination tumult in Chicago was not so happy about California's political prospects as might have been expected. He had grave forebodings that one, Upton Sinclair, political newcomer of the leftist lot, was about to walk away with the Democratic gubernatorial nomination. That did not suit McAdoo at all. McAdoo made no secret of what he expected to happen in such event. Against Sinclair for governor, he predicted "conservative Democrats" and Republicans would gang up to put over the Republican, probably Acting Governor Merriam.

Few Democratic Governors
At that, if the stories of the aftermath of the San Francisco general strike drifting into Washington are credible, Merriam might not need Democratic support. His popularity, due to his firm action to restore peace on the San Francisco waterfront, is described as booming. And while California has strayed at times in its national Republicanism, it has run to Republican governors so habitually that you have to dig deep in the books to find a Democrat at Sacramento.

What is perhaps of greater interest than the gloomy party prospects McAdoo sees as to the governorship is his view that all except one of the house Democrats from California would be jeopardized by nomination of Sinclair. He thought only Lea of the Santa Rosa region, who has sat for many terms as a Democrat with Republican endorsement, would escape.

Iowa Rich in Historic Sites; Shrines Listed by Swisher In Article in The Palimpsest

Describes Monuments, Old Capitol, Little Brown Church

The east is not alone in its great historic shrines. Iowa, too, is rich in sites representative of great chapters in American history.

That is the opinion of Jacob A. Swisher, research associate of the State Historical Society, and author of "Historic Iowa" in the August issue of The Palimpsest, monthly publication of the Historical Society, out this morning.

Many of these unusing shrines of Iowa are listed and described by Mr. Swisher, who is now making a survey of the state, together with Russell Paul of Ames.

Describes Floyd Monument
One of the great shrines of Iowa, the Mesopotamia of the new world, is the monument to Sgt. Charles Floyd, a member of the Lewis and Clark expedition, erected on the banks of the Missouri in Woodbury county. Originally marked by a cedar post, the site now is marked by a sandstone shaft 100 feet high.

State Parks Established
A state park was established on the site of old Ft. Atkinson in Winnebago county, and another fort at Estherville has also become a state park now.

Old Stone Capitol was the seat of government of the Territory of Iowa from 1842 until 1846 and the capitol of the state until 1857.

Song Immortalized Church
The song which immortalized the little brown church has made it famous the world over.

The university, by its actions, at least, seems to be in favor of the west door as the front.

SEEN from Old Capitol
By TOM YOSELOFF

This question of which is the front and which the back door of Old Capitol is attracting more logic and history. This time it's Prof. Bruce E. Mahan, director of the extension division and an expert in the field of Iowa history.

Going back into history, he brought forth the original plan for the development of Iowa City as the state capital.

On the other hand, however, one might consider the front door, the entrance which is normally approached. Before the coming of the railroad, Professor Mahan points out, Iowa river was the main highway of transportation, and boats approached the city and Old Capitol from the west.

Peterson Talks To Lions Club

Discusses Nazism As It Affects Modern Germany

It is difficult for one to realize the values of freedom until one has seen life under a dictatorship, Prof. E. T. Peterson of the college of education told members of the Lions club at their luncheon in Reich's pine room yesterday.

Professor Peterson described Germany as he saw it this summer. He told of the Nazi organization, and pictured Hitler as a stupid man, surrounded with equally inferior advisers, who is instilling German youth with hatred towards other nations.

Pointing out that German citizens have lost all of their rights as individuals, he stated that "I cannot make a deep enough impression of the value of free press and speech, after passing only a month in a land where civil rights have been squelched by marching you out to be shot if you voice any objections."

Although just a minor part in a program, the main rule of which is that there must be no alterations in Hitler's plans, the anti-Jewish attitude is driving Jewish profes-

Expect Increased Enrollment In Law Enforcement School

Officers From 22 Iowa Counties Present At First Session

An increased enrollment in the Iowa Sheriff's association district school of instruction was expected for the second and closing session at the Johnson county court house today.

Approximately 50 law enforcing officers from 22 counties were present at the first session yesterday afternoon. Speakers on the program were Justice of the Peace B. F. Carter, Chief of Police W. H. Bender, Paul Toomey, local attorney, Mayor Harry D. Breene, and Foss Davis, president of the state association.

The program for today is as follows: 9:30 a.m.—Address by Warden W. H. Frazer of the men's reformatory in Anamosa.

10:00 a.m.—Address by David W.

AROUND THE TOWN with

John Pryor

Beware

If you happen to visit the sheriff's convention in progress at the court house, do not let anyone persuade you to sniff at a little bottle. Police Chief W. H. Bender had this reporter take a whiff, "to clear your head." It did all of that and more—for the bottle is filled with liquid tear gas.

Armaments

A display at the convention included everything from the cursed tear gas to a complete array of bullets of all sizes. A sub-machine gun, a protective shield for officers, pistols, black-jacks, and other delicate instruments are exhibited. Enough to prove to the casual observer that "crime don't pay."

Finale

Miss Dummy, the newspaper stuffed "corpse" found by the police department, has been tossed on an ash heap, now that all police station visitors have been shocked by the gruesome sight.

Nine Pounder

Shown in Bremer's window is a nine pound, 10 ounce pike caught at Ice Cracker lake, Park Rapids, Minn., by Ed C. Miltner, head of the Bremer shoe department. It (the fish) is stuffed, and a certificate from the resort proves that Mr. Miltner really did catch it.

Taxes

The county collected $14,331.07 in taxes during July, according to a report made yesterday by Treasurer W. E. Smith.

Prisoner

A spectator at the sheriff's convention here yesterday was embarrassed when, while examining a pair of handcuffs, his companion shut them on his wrists. When the key could not be found, the unfortunate spectator looked forward to the unpleasant prospect of either wearing his bracelets or having them filed off. But finally Sheriff Don McComas came to the rescue by filling down one of his keys to fit the lock.

To Leave

Several members of the local hospital company will leave today for Camp Dodge to prepare for the annual encampment starting Aug. 19. Capt. George Maresh will command the advance detail.

Miss Croulek, Rural Teacher, Dies Yesterday

Evelyn Croulek, 29, of Oxford, died at 3:30 p.m. yesterday at a local hospital.

Miss Croulek graduated from Oxford high school, and had been teaching in Johnson county rural schools since 1923. She attended summer sessions at Coe college and the University of Iowa.

Surviving relatives are Mr. and Mrs. Anton Croulek of Oxford; one sister, Leona, at home; and two brothers, Joseph and Milo, both at home.

Funeral arrangements had not been completed last night. The body is at the Oathout funeral home.

sional and business men to complete ruin, he said.

Professor Peterson praised Mussolini, as compared with Hitler, and stated that the men surrounding the former are of much higher calibre than the followers of the latter.

Crum, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

10:30 a.m.—Address and demonstration on "First aid" by the Northwestern Bell telephone company.

11:30 a.m.—Address by Judge Harold D. Evans.

12:30 m.—Adjournment for lunch.

1:30 p.m.—Address by Leslie Francis, legal advisor for the state liquor commission.

2:00 p.m.—Roundtable discussion.

2:30 p.m.—Talk by E. A. Baldwin, attorney.

3:00 p.m.—Address by Prof. Rollin M. Perkins of the college of law.

3:30 p.m.—Roundtable discussion.

4:00 p.m.—Address on "Legislation" by Foss Davis, president of the Sheriff's association.

4:30 p.m.—Address, "Your association," by J. B. Steinel, business manager.

6:30 p.m.—Banquet, Jefferson hotel. Entertainment provided by Sheriff Don McComas; toastmaster, R. W. Nebergall, editor of The Iowa Sheriff; speaker, Judge James P. Gaffney.

SALVATION ARMY TO CHOOSE CHIEF

Commissioner Henry Mapp

Commander Evangeline Booth

General E. J. Higgins

LONDON (I.N.)—Almond-eyed Japanese clad in kimonos, Hindus wearing turbans, Africans with bushy hair, Chinese, Swedes, Danes, North Americans, Persians, Argentinians and scores from other lands are converging by steamer, plane, railway and horseback.

The first high council in five years for election of a new commander-in-chief of the Salvation army has been summoned and for months delegates from faraway ports in 82 lands have been making their way to London.

Back in 1877, William Booth, whose great mane of white hair and long beard gave him the aspect of a Biblical prophet, gave the name of Salvation Army to the missionary organization that worked in the poverty-devastated districts of this city.

Music, uniforms and drill were embodied in a militant battle with the devil. The idea was new and spread to the world's remote corners. A special flag was created for the army, and poke bonnets, severe-visored caps and military clothes of blue were adopted. The tambourine became a symbol of mercy.

$100,000,000 Empire The Salvation Army virtually is a world empire, with hospitals, hotels and industrial enterprises circling the globe, and valued at nearly $100,000,000. National headquarters in 82 countries and colonies head an evangelistic force of more than 30,000 full time workers. The 14,000 outposts or chapels are stations for hundreds of thousands of volunteers.

On street corners in Osaka, Paris, Chicago, Warsaw and Stockholm, the brass instruments of the army can be heard. Their activity is a veritable "league of nations."

But the organization that brought the name of the bearded founder to world fame, and made him a friend of kings and statesmen, has been a source of frustration and bitterness to his sturdy family of eight children who followed into the Army.

For Gen. Ballington Booth, who was sent to America to organize posts back in 1904, Army activities resulted in hostility with his father which finally led to his resignation.

Legion Post Nominates

Nominations to local American Legion offices for the coming year were made at a Roy L. Chopek post meeting Monday night and were announced yesterday by Commander Robert Schell.

Nominees are as follows: Ellis Crawford, commander; Elmer Dewey and R. V. Campbell, vice command; Gerald Schillig, George Spencer, Robert Vogt, and Glenn Means, adjutant; Delmer Spann and E. E. Raymond, finance officer; Frank

He organized a rival army, the Christian Volunteers.

Succeeding his as U. S. commander, his sister, Evangeline, by brilliant industry soon made her territory the wealthiest of the army's sectors. Her coal-scuttle bonnet with its big red ribbons became a familiar sight during great charity campaigns. Under a New York law, she and four trustees are solely responsible for the organization's millions of assets.

In 1929, the first rumble against the Booth dynasty sounded and Gen. Bramwell Booth, first resigning heir over the holy war storm troopers, was forced to resign after a long rule.

Report Dissension

Edward J. Higgins, commander in Canada, was chosen in his place amid scenes of excitement and alleged "wire pulling" by various influential officers. Open dissension was reported in the Booth clan. Stories that Founder William Booth had left a will arranging for the succession to the "throne" arose but were proved fiction.

Because the Salvation Army's domain is so extensive and the calling together of a high council so tedious, it is the policy to select a leader to govern for quite a number of years. This probably will rule out most older candidates who are already nearing the retirement age of 73. Various dark horses are frequently mentioned, including Commander Evangeline Booth, regarded as one of the favorites, and her niece, Commissioner Catherine Bramwell Booth, who it is asserted, believes she should have succeeded her father. But there is said to be prejudice against selection of a woman.

Outside the Booth dynasty, there is Commissioner Henry Mapp, chief of staff, and a member of the army for more than 50 years. The commissioner has had long experience in handling foreign outposts from the London headquarters. Age and a reported autocratic manner stand in the way of his election.

Much younger, and well liked by most of the higher officials is Commissioner Samuel Hurren, chancellor of the Army's exchequer, who may be the winning candidate at the council session soon to be held.

Mezik and Lloyd Howell, chaplain and historian; and Mr. Campbell, Gordon Dinsmore, and E. F. Paynter, sergeant at arms.

Executive committee nominees are Charles Fiesler, Judge Harold D. Evans, Mr. Sample, Will J. Hayek, W. H. Bender, and R. V. Rickard. A vote on the nominees will be taken at the September meeting. Nominations may be made before that time.

Delegates named to the state convention at Sioux City, Sept. 3, 4, and 5, are Mr. Schell, chairman, Thomas Martin, Mr. Dinsmore, L. E. Clark, and Judge Evans. Alternates are Mr. Crawford, Francis Boyle, and H. I. Jennings.

Distinguished Families United

WOODSTOCK, Vt., Aug. 15 (AP)—Two of America's most distinguished

Conn., and New York, became the bride of Laurance Spelman Rockefeller of New York, son of John D.

Rockefeller, Jr., builder of Radio City and grandson of the founder of the Standard Oil empire.
