U.S. Labor Relations Board Seeks Textile Peace Conference

Attempts To Avert Strike Set Sept. 4

Union Men, Members Of Cotton Board Invited

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27 (AP)—Following the weight of the national labor relations board behind federal efforts to avert a nation wide textile strike, Chairman Lloyd Garrison tonight sought to have both union men and members of the cotton textile institute sit with his board in a peace conference on Wednesday.

In a telegram to George A. Sloan, chairman of the cotton textile code authority and head of the Textile Institute, Garrison said: "Urges Quick Action"

"If any action is to be taken it should be taken speedily."

He urged Sloan to round up a representative committee to meet here day after tomorrow, or if that day was too early, on Thursday, with labor representatives at the board's offices here.

Garrison's intercession came as strike leaders worked on plans to extend the walkout to 300,000 silk, rayon and woolen workers. Already 460,000 job-holders in the cotton textile industry have been ordered to strike on Sept. 4, the first working day after the deadline set for Friday night.

Follows Formal Notice It followed closely, also, formal notice served by Sloan upon Chairman Robert Brumey of the cotton textile industry relations board, whose mediation services the union has spurned, that "the industry must stand firmly upon code number 1."

In invitation to the conference sent in a letter to Chairman Francis J. Gorman of the union's strike committee, who declined to comment until it reached him. The union already has indicated its desire to have Garrison and his board intervene in the situation but Gorman has steadfastly insisted that the strike could not be averted or delayed through conference.

"We are fed upon promises," he said earlier today. "What we want is action—concessions by the employers."

$35,000 Blaze At Stockyards

Chicago Firemen Check Conflagration In Slaughter House

CHICAGO, Aug. 27 (AP)—Flames roared through the four-story beef slaughter house and wholesale market owned by Armour and company, gutting the structure and causing damage of about $35,000 before it finally was brought under control late today.

For more than an hour the flames roared through the building in the heart of Packingtown.

The fire, discovered about 4 p.m. spread rapidly through the two top floors and plummeted through the roof, sending flames high into the air.

State Department Outlines Reciprocal Treaty With Haiti

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27 (AP)—Visibly encouraged by what they termed a predominately favorable reaction accorded the Cuban-American reciprocal trade treaty, state department officials today outlined the second reciprocal treaty—to be negotiated with Haiti.

Authoritative word came from the department that announcement of public hearings on this treaty might come within a day or two. Under the law, this announcement must be made 30 days before the treaty is concluded.

Nation Views Primaries In Three States

Sentiment Toward 'New Deal' Expected To Be Reflected

By The Associated Press The drift of political sentiment to or from the "new deal" will be reflected in the results of Tuesday's primaries in California, Mississippi and South Carolina.

The nomination of Senator Hiram Johnson on four California party tickets has been forecast because of strong administration backing of the independent Republican, who has been a consistent Roosevelt supporter.

Two conservative candidates for the California Democratic gubernatorial nomination dropped out of the race in favor of George Creel, who, among others, is contesting against Upton Sinclair, former Socialist and advocate of an "epic" form of government.

National Democratic chieftains were alarmed over the apparent Sinclair strength. Privately they expressed concern over the possibility of the party splitting in the November elections should he gain the nomination. They say many Democrats would vote for Republicans in event of Sinclair's nomination, possibly resulting in the election of a Republican governor and national house delegation.

Acting Governor Frank F. Merriam, who succeeded the late Governor James Rolph, Jr., and C. C. Young, former governor, are two of the leading contenders for the California Republican gubernatorial nomination.

The outcome of a heated race for Mississippi's Democratic senatorial nomination, which is tantamount to election, appeared doubtful. Senator Hubert D. Stephens, representative of Ross Collins, former Governor Theodore G. Bilbo and State Senator Frank Harper wound up a bitter campaign with claims of victory.

South Carolina elects a governor and nominates candidates for the national house, as do California and Mississippi. No senatorial contest is on in South Carolina, however.

U. S. Student Aid Increase Not Granted

FERA Decides Only 12 Per Cent To Get Help

Increased student aid from the Federal Emergency Relief administration, sought by the University of Iowa and other institutions in this state, will not be granted, according to an Associated Press report last night.

Government officials, the message reported, have definitely decided that only 12 per cent of the students enrolled in non-profit making schools may get federal benefits to aid them to continue their education.

At a meeting here Aug. 12, representatives of Iowa colleges and universities conferred with F. J. Kelly of the United States bureau of education in an attempt to raise this quota. At that time, the relief administration was considering a proposed increase in appropriations for schools in the drought area.

The quota originally set for the University of Iowa—505—will probably remain unchanged as a result of the announcement yesterday.

Presidents of institutions receiving grants, the report also stated, will be directly responsible to the state relief administration, and it is their responsibility to see that equal proportions of both men and women students get benefits.

President Emeritus Walter A. Jessup and the Iowa College Presidents association committee on student relief attended the meeting here Aug. 12.

Girl Flyers Aloft 4 Days

Continue Monotonous Grind for Women's Endurance Mark

CHICAGO, Aug. 27 (AP)—With a hearty meal of "mother's cooking," two Texas girl endurance flyers rounded out their fourth day aloft tonight and continued their monotonous grind of the women's re-fueling record.

Mrs. B. W. Owens, Ft. Worth, Tex., mother of Mary Owens, who with Jean La Rene hopes to remain in the air for an entire week more, arrived today and announced she is here to stay until the girl flyers come down with the record of 240 hours broken.

Installing herself in a farm house near the airport, Mrs. Owens took charge of the girls' diet and wardrobe. Tonight they dined on chicken stew and home-made rolls, sent up to them on the refueling plane which took them a new supply of gas and oil at 6:30 p.m. (CST).

MacNider Slaps "New Deal" CHICAGO (AP)—Col. Hanford MacNider, former commander of the American Legion and former minister to Canada, last night described the "new deal" as "America in reverse" and charged the Democrats repudiated their important planks and promises.

Workers Circulate Petition SHENANDOAH (AP)—While a hundred idle laborers eyed a large dredge brought here for excavating at the site of the new city water works, a PWA project, others yesterday circulated petitions protesting use of machines instead of hand labor.

Speakership Campaign Opens Up as Byrnes Returns to Capital

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27 (AP)—Campaigning for the speakership of the next house got under way in earnest today with the return to Washington of Representative Joseph W. Byrnes of Tennessee, Democratic floor leader.

Byrnes, William B. Bankhead of Alabama, Sam Rayburn of Texas and John E. Rankin of Mississippi, are announced candidates to succeed the late Speaker Henry T. Rainey.

Railroads Ask Authority For Rate Increase

Threatened Insolvency Pleaded; Seek Freight Rate Advance

WASHINGTON (AP)—The first class railroads of the country, pleading threatened insolvency to many of their number, today asked the interstate commerce commission to authorize rate increases that would raise the nation's freight bill between 5 and 6 per cent.

On the ground of mounting costs of operation, the carriers asked that the increase be applied to specific commodities and classes of freight in varying amounts. It was estimated revenues would result totaling approximately $170,000,000 in 1935.

The petition pointed out that "it is a matter of common knowledge, that the carriers are in dire need of additional revenues," and that "the additional increase in their operating expenses that now confronts them intensifies that need."

The increases referred to are $156,000,000 in past pay cuts due for restoration by April 1 next, and $137,000,000 estimated added cost for materials. While they did not mention it, there is also in mind an item of $60,000,000 for the railroad retirement law which the carriers are fighting in court.

The proposed increases would affect every commodity in almost every section of the country. Even major farm crops which of recent years have been given a preferred status in rate making are listed for increase.

Grain and grain products of all kinds would be charged three cents per 100 pounds more for transportation except in the east where there would be no increase. Cotton rates would be raised 10 per cent, with a maximum of four cents a hundred pounds except in the south-west where rates recently were raised. Tobacco would be assessed an additional 10 per cent, with a minimum of four cents, while livestock of all kinds would be charged 10 per cent more. Coal increases would range from 3 to 20 cents a ton. Class rates which take in all freight not given specific commodity rates would be raised generally 10 per cent.

League May Be Influence Attack on Al Smith, Davis May Result In Party Split

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27 (AP)—A withering arraignment of Alfred E. Smith and John W. Davis by one of the chief Roosevelt aides in congress promoted the conviction tonight that the American Liberty league, whether it chooses or not, may become a factor in current political campaigns.

Representative Woodrum of Virginia, who has been cited as a possible administration favorite for house leadership, said "the 'Happy Warrior' of old has joined the disgruntled and malcontents."

The statement linked Davis with Wall Street, and said "he just can't understand the liberal forces that are at work in rejuvenating America."

Thus, the 1928 and 1924 Democratic presidential nominees—now joined with prominent Republicans for a critical, "non-partisan" scrutiny of the new deal—have come under a fire potentially conducive to a schism within their party.

Directors of Two Steel Companies Approve Merger

CLEVELAND, Aug. 27 (AP)—A consolidation of the Republic Steel corporation and the Corrugated-McKinney Steel company was approved by directors of both companies today and at the same time it was announced that directors of the Truscon Steel company had agreed to accept Republic securities in exchange for their Truscon holdings.

New Basis Of Production By Farmers Seen

AAA May Allow Only Enough for U. S. Consumption

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27 (AP)—The AAA, it developed today, may tell American farmers soon that they shall produce only as much as is consumed within the borders of the United States plus whatever can economically be sold abroad.

That would mean abandonment of the present system under which production is limited to a fixed percentage of a farmer's average output over a "base period"—a number of past years.

Sugar Now On Basis The only commodity now produced on a domestic consumption basis is sugar, which is limited by agreement to around 6,476,000 tons during 1934.

But a new livestock control plan for next year is being drafted. Under it, the number of livestock raised would be limited indirectly by control of feed grains.

Meanwhile the bureau of agriculture economics issued an estimate that income of farmers in the United States would total approximately $6,000,000,000 during the present calendar year.

The estimate, which includes sales of farm products, income from rental and benefit payments, and receipts from sale of cattle, sheep and goats to the AAA, is 19 per cent above last year and 39 per cent over the previous year. It is still well below the peak year of the last 10, or 1923, when income was $10,479,000,000.

Based on Estimates Figures announced were arrived at by estimating income during the coming four months of the year plus total income during the first seven months of $2,894,000,000.

The new livestock plan, which has received the support of several farm organizations, would be executed through a composite contract covering production of all feed grains now listed as "basic commodities" in the agricultural adjustment act.

Wheat, corn, rye, grain sorghums, and barley are the basic grains included.

Happened Last Week All this happened last week, creating a situation that caused Mr. Roosevelt to return to Washington after Speaker Rainey's funeral in Illinois, and seek to resolve the quarrel instead of going directly to Hyde Park, as he had planned.

As the situation shaped up today the following results predominated: Johnson will remain as national recovery administrator and very likely will head the board which later is to take charge of NRA.

Richberg to Continue Richberg will continue for the time being at least as NRA counsel, with an understanding that Johnson is the chief of that agency, later he probably will be given a key post in the recovery campaign, probably that of head of the national emergency council.

Miss Perkins in the future probably will confine her work more closely to the activities of her own department.

PRESS LEARNS OF NRA REVAMPING

Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, NRA administrator, is pictured being questioned by newspaper men at the portals of the White House following his conference with President Roosevelt on the reorganization of the NRA. Denying there had been a break between him and Donald Richberg, director of the National Emergency council, Johnson said the NRA had to be revamped "so that I will have more time to myself."

Hugh Johnson Wins Out In NRA Reorganization Fight

Richberg, Miss Perkins Learn NRA Head Is Undisputed Boss

(Copyright, 1934, by The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Aug. 27 (AP)—Complete tactical victory for Hugh S. Johnson, leaving him the undisputed boss at NRA, is the outcome of an intense, personal wrangle with Secretary Perkins and Donald Richberg over plans for reorganizing the blue eagle agency.

So deeply did the controversy run, it was learned today, that the blustery general stormed out of a White House conference charging efforts to oust him. He later resigned in writing, only to reconsider at the earnest persuasion of President Roosevelt.

Ordered by Law-- Physicians Perform Operation on Boy; Parents Still Stand by Faith Cure

FT. PAYNE, Ala., Aug. 27 (AP)—An operation was performed late today on Wallace Doyle Sharp, Jr., 8 year old son of parents who had previously refused to allow physicians to attend him because they believed he could be "healed by the Lord through prayer."

The operation was performed by the light of an oil lamp by Dr. A. W. Ralls, Gadsden, Ala., surgeon, with Dr. W. T. Miller, local physician, administering the anesthetic.

Dr. Ralls said the child's chances of life "are good unless his constitution has been too much weakened by the infection in his leg."

"Little W. D.", as he is known to his playmates, had suffered from an infected leg for two weeks, and Saturday after authorities had ordered that he be given medical attention, he was spirited away to Dutton, a settlement in Jackson county, so

Residents In Storm Area Are Warned

Course of Hurricane Uncertain; Prepare For Quick Action

BULLETIN FREEPORT, Tex., Aug. 28 (Tuesday) (AP)—Strong winds of an estimated velocity of 75 to 80 miles an hour, continued to bear down on this town early today. Torrential rainfall added to the fury of the storm.

HOUSTON, Tex., Aug. 27 (AP)—Wind estimated at 80 miles an hour lashed the Texas coast in the vicinity of San Luis Pass and Freeport late tonight.

At Freeport, a city of 3,500 located 30 miles southwest of Galveston, the wind died down for a time, but came up again and reached a greater velocity than at any time previously. Attendants at the coast guard station estimated it was blowing about 80 miles an hour.

Gale gusts were reported from the San Luis Pass station on the west tip of Galveston island. The wind became extremely strong around 11 p.m. (central standard time), then subsided again.

Both stations reported that the wind still was blowing from offshore. Their attendants had heard of no property damage and said there would be no danger of water damage unless the wind should shift and start blowing from off the gulf.

High winds and tides buffeted the coast in the vicinity of Galveston and hurricane-wise coast residents were apprehensive. They were warned to be ready to act quickly.

The course of the storm was uncertain and a slowing up in its rate of advance caused observers to be on the alert for unexpected developments.

Patients Moved An advisory report from Washington pointed out that "the rate of advance of the tropical disturbance has decreased decidedly. Such a slowing up is almost always followed by unusual movements."

"Accordingly, persons in exposed places in east Texas and western Louisiana coastal areas should await further advice tonight and be prepared to act quickly."

Patients in the Freeport hospital were moved 45 miles northward to Houston as a precautionary measure.

Internal NRA Change Made

Planned to Promote Efficiency in Code Supervision

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27 (AP)—An internal reorganization was made today in the national recovery administration to promote efficiency in supervising the diverse codes of fair competition.

As one of the first steps in the reshaping of the blue eagle machine, an activity already productive of official wrangling, there will be henceforth 22 groups in each of which will be placed the codes having related interests. At present there is no such groups of the more than 600 codes.

Officials said, for instance, that all the codes having to do with the textile industry would be placed under one of the groups. The idea is that this would make them easier to administer and that any inequities could be more easily ascertained and corrected.

O'Connor Makes Plea To Fight Crime By Popularizing Law

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 27 (AP)—Atty. Gen. Edward L. O'Connor of Iowa, asserting racketeers are levying $15,000,000,000 in tribute annually against the American people, today pleaded with the attorneys general conference of the American Bar association convention to fight crime by making law enforcement popular.

Criticizing what he termed a tendency to make heroes of John Dillinger and kindred hoodlums, O'Connor said newspapers "should carry more stories of the hazards encountered by fearless law enforcement officials in tracing the criminal to his lair."

The CCC and Private Business

UNTIL SUNDAY, when the Associated Press announced from Washington that the CCC probably will be made permanent by the next congress, the organization had almost slipped one's mind.

Criticism of the CCC has been almost negligible. With the exception of a few outbursts to the effect that it was the beginning of a civilian army, the public has heard little but praise for the work of this corps of thousands of young men taken from the streets and poverty to work in the forests and fields.

It is strange that more criticism has not arisen from those who make it their purpose in life to complain about the federal government interfering in business. The CCC is definitely in the contracting business, competing in a very real way with private enterprise.

True, it is doing jobs that ordinarily would not be done, but they are jobs that private enterprise could very well do, and upon which handsome profits could be made.

When the navy plans construction of a few new battleships, private shipbuilders will loudly when it is proposed that the ships be constructed in government yards.

They wait so loudly that the argument always ends in construction of most of them in private yards at a higher cost, while government facilities lie idle and the taxpayer holds the bag.

It is probably because the CCC offered the least objectionable method of earning for a large number of men and women who required care, and does it in a rather inconspicuous way.

The Necessary Prelude To Peace

THE WORLD has come to accept the obviously unhealthy condition of modern Europe as an inevitable sore that cannot be healed, but which must some day break out in a consuming rash.

Mussolini certainly has this view of the problem. He is ready for war, and says in so many words that he expects war. But the world can hardly look to Mussolini for solutions; he is too proud of his cannons.

Indeed, the world has just about given up the search for a solution. Peace conferences have failed before they began, and as long as Hitler remains in Germany and France keeps a chip on her shoulder there can be little hope of peace.

The peace treaties remain the basic cause of unrest in Europe, and it is certain that as long as they remain in force there can be no enduring peace. But it is equally certain that France is in no mood to allow their revision.

The future of Europe, then, seems to depend first upon the downfall of Hitler and the return of Germany to the world's good graces. That is a lot to ask, but it will be necessary before sufficient pressure can be brought to bear upon France to force revision of the Versailles treaty and a sensible and just rearrangement of Europe.

What Others Think

A Criticism

(From Editor and Publisher)
To read some newspapers one would believe, were he unsophisticated, that "Reds" were behind every strike, instigating every labor move, heroically defending every poor man's cause, from the Atlantic to the Pacific. By "Reds" is meant, presumably, Communist party members.

If there are 50,000 members of the Communist party in the United States, or persons who could by any stretch of the imagination be called "Reds," we would be vastly surprised. But to those who do exist the American press is attributing stupendous power and influence, amazing cunning and courage, remarkable organizing ability.

It is, of course, a lot of bunkum. "Red" exaggeration has gone to extreme lengths. This represents a stupid psychology. Millions of our people have suffered economic hardship during the past 43 months. The morale of the American people under pressure of personal hardship, in large measure due to mismanagement of public and industrial affairs, is a wonder of the world.

However, embittered people are wont to turn to embittered councils. Exaggerated news about "Reds" does not scare such folks, but rather glorifies in their eyes the very elements "Red" criers seek to discredit.

We are well aware of the presence of violent political elements in large industrial communities, men with no respect for American free institutions and who would tear this government to shreds if they had the power. Such elements also exist in other lands, and we particularly cite England. There they are not chased, beaten and flattered by headlines in the press. They are permitted to blow themselves out in Hyde Park, and elsewhere, and that is just what they do.

The English people do not resist such political movements, except when violent, and by such process conservatism ultimately wins over extreme radicalism, as in the case of the Labor government, now fairly self-wrecked.

We Americans lose sight of the fact that Communists have as much right under our laws to organize, protest, petition and voice sentiments as have Republicans, Democrats, Socialists, Farm Laborites, and all other parties. And "Red" is a scare word which doesn't scare an embittered citizen, if he thinks it will cure his ills.

Our criticism concerns an obvious and widespread misrepresentation in the news concerning Communists, their power and numbers. If newspapers that do most of the "Red" crying have it as their purpose to defeat the spread of Communism in this country it is our view that they have not considered the psychological effect of such publicity.

Two items in Sunday's papers do serious damage to one's faith in mankind. One is the story of continued activities of the Hartzell fraud ring and the other an account of further insanities growing out of the Holiness religious cult in Alabama.

The Des Moines Register reprinted a story Sunday from the Milwaukee Journal which made it clear that Hartzell's conviction in federal court at Sioux City has not served to dampen the ardor of fools to contribute money in the hope of sharing in the mythical $20,000,000 Drake estate.

Thousands of dollars, apparently, are still being collected by Hartzell's agents in Wisconsin and other midwestern states. Conversation quoted by the Journal's reporter is a revelation of illiterate gullibility.

In Alabama authorities are searching the hills for an eight year old boy whose father has whisked him off to the woods where he and other members of the Holiness faith can pray the infection out of his swollen leg.

In spite of this sort of evidence, which proves that the United States still is full of men and women willing and anxious to become suckers for clever deadbeats with a line of tommyrot, there still are many who insist that education has been overdone.

As long as people are willing to give money to Hartzell and to risk the lives of their children to the incantations of self-appointed hill-billy saints we might as well consider ourselves mere novices at the business of education and begin thinking about expansion rather than contraction.

If there are thousands willing to give their life savings to a crook in the ridiculous belief that even though there was a Drake estate it would ever be settled, and thousands more willing to fall for the renege enthusiasm of the first man who fails to die of snake bite, how many more thousands are there on the border line?

And how do these people vote? How can they vote except by following the leader? If they can't think for themselves in their private affairs, how can we expect them to judge the policies of government?

But they must do so. They have the right to vote, and the duty to exercise that right. They are a part of the great Vox Populi, upon whose shoulders rests the responsibility for good government in a great democratic state, and in whose heads there is such limited evidence of activity.

It is not because of low IQ's, either. It is the educational system that is at fault. We are proud of our mass education, but the larger part of the masses manage to escape the educational machine.

Even if every citizen went through the process like so many hot-dogs and emerged with diplomas the result would be far from ideal, because the machine is decidedly imperfect. But even though it were an excellent mechanism capable of turning out citizens to order, it would require more material.

In the south, especially, education needs relief. The northern states have heard far too little about conditions in the south to realize how deplorable they are.

The south has become progressively impoverished by high tariffs until today the cotton belt is approaching peasantry. Education has suffered along with all other public activities, and the number of voting citizens in the Hartzell and Holiness class inevitably multiplies.

Behind The Scenes in HOLLYWOOD By Harrison Carroll

HOLLYWOOD—It's good for a chuckle, the way June Brewster disposed of a party pest, the other evening.

He was soured to the eyes, but became indignant when anyone mentioned it. "Show me a straight line and I'll walk it," he would shout. "I can walk a straight line as good as anyone here."

He kept at it until the party was on the verge of breaking up. June Brewster got rid of him. Finally, June went to the door of the apartment and opened it. Taking a lipstick out of her bag, she drew a straight line on the floor of the apartment, over the door sill and out into the hall.

"There, mister," she said, "Walk that."

Doctors are conferring to see whether Bing Crosby will have to go into the hospital to rid himself of a troublesome appendix. The star has been suffering pain for several weeks. He went to one doctor and was advised to have the operation.

Another told him there probably was no need of it. The new conference was arranged by Albert Kaufman of the Paramount studios. Bing is supposed to start his new picture, "Here Is My Heart," in a short time, and the studio wants to know whether there is any chance of the appendix acting up in the middle of production. If so, they'll urge the crooning star to get the matter over with at once.

The Toby Wing-Jackie Coogan romance grows more amusing. The latest arguments between them is whether Jackie is a good enough mechanic to build a miniature automobile. He guaranteed to do it if Toby would pay for the material. So what? So she did and now Jackie is earnestly endeavoring to make good.

New York Has Word for It So "Lottery" May Be "Emergency Relief Corp." In Raising Funds for Poor

NEW YORK—When is a lottery not a lottery? What's in a name? Why, a lottery is only a lottery when you call it such, and a name is an empty thing at best. There are, you see, more ways to kill a cat than one.

The kitty in this instance is the currently nil emergency relief fund, upon whose rehabilitation will depend the clothing and feeding of the city's destitute during the month of September.

He Has Words For It In the words of Hizzoner, Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia, not a franc remains—not a single sou. But in the words of Bronx Borough President James J. Lyons, the city can hurdle the legal barriers to the lottery and thereby pump $12,000,000 annually into the fund. The answer is easy because, unlike the Greeks, Mr. Lyons has three words for it.

They are "Emergency Relief Corporation."

Of course the corporation would work just like a lottery, but that's okay too because the corporation, if adopted, would be incorporated and thereby legalized, whereas a lottery is only a game of chance and a very illegal thing indeed.

This is the sum and total of the plan, already seconded by local Fusionists and Democrats.

An organization known as the Emergency Relief corporation would be formed. Shares—not tickets—to this corporation would be sold to the general public at the nominal price of $2 or $2.50 per share. As a corporation must be officered, these "officers" would be elected by the well known custom of pulling names out of a hat. That is to say, all the holders would have their names on slips of paper and placed in something large enough to hold them. Then, at public drawings, a number of names would be taken at random. The holders of these names would become the new "officers" of the corporation.

Shakespeare Was Right Then, to compensate them for their "services" while holding "office," an elaborate "salary" would be taken from the accumulated shares—fees and paid to them. It is proposed that officers serve only three months, thus assuring "re-elections" four times a year. So, it might be that an unemployed man who held the lucky $2 "share" would conceivably net him $1,000 a week over a three-month period.

After the "salaries" were paid, proponents of the plan estimate, a surplus of at least $12,000,000 would remain. Every florin of this would go to the city's needy.

You see, my friends, a lottery is a lottery only when you call it a lottery, and, once again, Shakespeare was right.

LIONS BEST KIWANIS DONKEYBALLERS, 3 TO 1

5,000 on Hand To Have Look At Spectacle

Linder's Mighty Clout, Plus Speedy Steed, Wins Contest

They didn't ride to heaven on a mule, and a few of the boys failed even to ride the lions, but the lads representing the Lions club at City park last night emerged the winners over the Kiwanis in the famed donkeyball contest, 3 to 1.

The park was packed about as full of persons as could get within spys-glass distance of the contest. A goodly 5,000 persons were on hand when Louie Loria hammered out a hard hit, chambered aboard his mouse colored little steed, and edged toward first base.

Don Brown, a top hand with the Kiwanis, opened the scoring in the second inning with a home run. And what a circuit clout. Don patted the ball far into rightfield, climbed aboard the nearest donkey, and prodded it toward first base.

Lions then took over the lead and another home did the trick. Joe Shimon got to first after a tussle with the donkey, and Pal Linder, Lions pitcher, hit a mighty swat clear to the crowd in left field and urged his donkey to the extent of actually getting a jerky lunge.

The Lions batted out 13 hits to four for the Kiwanis. No errors were recorded. The game lasted five innings and about an hour and a half was needed to play the affair.

Big Field In Nat. Amateur Plan All-Match Play For U. S. Tourney; Begins Sept. 10

NEW YORK, Aug. 27 (AP)—Sixty-eight golfers, including Champion George T. Dunlap, Jr., and W. Lawson Little, Jr., the British titleholder, who together are top-heavy favorites, were given first round byes today in the national amateur championship by the United States Golf association.

Coinciding with the announcement of the "breathers," the U.S.G.A. made known the field would comprise 188 starters, eight more than had been anticipated, and the receipt of entries from Tony Torrance and his brother, W. B. Torrance, former British Walker cup players.

Besides Dunlap and Little three other members of the 1934 American Walker cup team advanced to the second round. They are Johnny Fischer of Cincinnati, Johnny Goodman, 1933 holder of the open crown, and Jack Westland of Chicago.

Three of their teammates, however, will take part in the man-to-man warfare in the first round of the first all-match play championship in 31 years. They are Francis Quimet, veteran Estonian and former champion, Forest W. McNeer of Houston, Tex.; Joe Helstand of Hillsboro, Ohio, and Hale Jones of East Alton, Ill., tied at 199-200 for the crown. Helstand missed on the first 25 target shoot-off and took fourth place.

Bridges Hurls Tigers to 11-0 Win Over A's

Allows Five Hits As Mates Pound Out 14 Blows

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 27 (AP)—With Tom Bridges allowing only five scattered hits for his first victory of the Detroit Tigers' current eastern invasion, the American League leaders scored in a romp over the Philadelphia Athletics today, winning 11 to 0.

The Tigers started strong and finished in the same manner, banging out 14 hits, including three each by Manager Mickey Cochrane and Marvin Owen and a home run by "Goose" Goslin.

The victory, coming while the Yanks were scoring a victory over the White Sox, enabled the Tigers to keep their lead of four and one-half games.

Joe Casarella's wildness helped the Bengals to get off to a three-run lead in the second inning. Making only one hit, a single by Owen, the Tigers were assisted by three free tickets to first, a hit-batsman and an error by Dibs Williams.

They added three more runs in the next two frames, nicked the plate with one in the sixth and wound up with a four-run assault on the rookie hurler, Lagler, in the ninth.

Meanwhile Bridges sailed along with never a worry. He walked three men but three fast double plays wiped out the Athletics, whenever a rally appeared apparent.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27 (AP)—Sixty-eight golfers, including Champion George T. Dunlap, Jr., and W. Lawson Little, Jr., the British titleholder, who together are top-heavy favorites, were given first round byes today in the national amateur championship by the United States Golf association.

Coinciding with the announcement of the "breathers," the U.S.G.A. made known the field would comprise 188 starters, eight more than had been anticipated, and the receipt of entries from Tony Torrance and his brother, W. B. Torrance, former British Walker cup players.

Besides Dunlap and Little three other members of the 1934 American Walker cup team advanced to the second round. They are Johnny Fischer of Cincinnati, Johnny Goodman, 1933 holder of the open crown, and Jack Westland of Chicago.

Three of their teammates, however, will take part in the man-to-man warfare in the first round of the first all-match play championship in 31 years. They are Francis Quimet, veteran Estonian and former champion, Forest W. McNeer of Houston, Tex.; Joe Helstand of Hillsboro, Ohio, and Hale Jones of East Alton, Ill., tied at 199-200 for the crown. Helstand missed on the first 25 target shoot-off and took fourth place.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 27 (AP)—Tom Zachary, veteran of 18 years major league competition, today handed the pennant hopes of the Cardinals a setback as he pitched the Brooklyn Dodgers to a 10 to 1 victory. The defeat left the Cards six and one-half games back of the league leading Giants and two games to the rear of the second place Cubs.

Hawkeye Track Mentor Instructs Coaching Methods

Coaching technic with which he developed Olympic, national and Big Ten track and field champions in the last 14 years will be explained by Coach George T. Bresnahan of the University of Iowa during Drake's coaching course which started yesterday and will continue until Sept. 1.

The Hawkeye mentor will work with F. P. (Pitch) Johnson of Drake and Robert Simpson of Iowa State in handling the classes in the school's track and field section. He will present facts about methods used in Western conference competition since he is the only Big Ten coach on the roster.

Dodgers Hammer Three St. Louis Hurlers For Victory

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 27 (AP)—Tom Zachary, veteran of 18 years major league competition, today handed the pennant hopes of the Cardinals a setback as he pitched the Brooklyn Dodgers to a 10 to 1 victory. The defeat left the Cards six and one-half games back of the league leading Giants and two games to the rear of the second place Cubs.

The Cards got to Zachary for 11 hits but the veteran southpaw kept the blows widely separated. Only in the first were the Cardinals able to bunch enough of their hits to score a run. Meanwhile, the Dodgers drove Tex Carleton from the mound in the fifth after scoring three runs in each of the second and fourth innings and continued their 16-hit attack off Dazy Vance, Jess Haines and Jim Mooney.

McNeely, Omaha Ball Player, Sold To Albany Outfit

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Aug. 27 (AP)—Al McNeely, "handy man" of the Omaha Western league baseball club, has been sold to Albany of the International league, the club announced today. McNeely arranged to leave immediately following the game with St. Joseph tonight.

Omaha received $1,500 and two players in exchange for McNeely's contract. The players, as yet unnamed, are to report next spring.

Manager Mack Pickett also announced a deal was under way in which outfielder Charley Clements will be sold to Minneapolis of the American Association, probably this week.

Tiger Bill Stages Pretty Race To Defeat Martina Armstrong In Featured 2:10 Pace at Fair

DES MOINES, Aug. 27 (AP)—The Horne stable, Times for the Tiger Bill, bay son of Aquilian, owned by Ralph Buss, Mt. Sterling, Ill., turned in one of the prettiest races in its class this season to beat the favored grand circuit entry, Martina Armstrong, in the featured 2:10 pace at the Iowa state fair today.

Tiger Bill was boxed in third place after the first heat, which cracked out two hits to gain two points and go into a tie for third place in the American league with Charley Gehring, who failed to get a safe blow against the Athletics. Each had an average of .365. Paul Waner, the National league leader, made the only gain among the regulars. He cracked out three hits for a gain of three points and ended the day with an average of .369, six points above Bill Terry, who dropped a couple of points.

Few Favorites As Iowa Open Golfers Ready

Pat Wilcox, Nebraska Pro, Wins Driving Championship

DES MOINES, Aug. 27 (AP)—Pat Wilcox, the big Nebraska pro who makes his tonnage count when he hits a golf ball, won the Iowa open driving championship for the second straight year today when he outlived the field to capture the opening event of the eighth annual tournament at Wakonda.

Driving uphill all the way and into a slight wind, bulky Pat smashed three mighty woods up the eighteenth fairway for an average of 248 yards per shot, to clinch the championship. The professionals made a clean sweep of the three prize places, Charley Miller of Muscatine bringing up second place with an average of 243 yards, and Bob Hartenberger, Manchester pro, winning in third place with an average of 242 yards.

New Threat A new championship threat put in his appearance late Monday when Harold Jug McSpaden, Kansas City professional, reported ready for action. Winner of the Oklahoma open championship a week ago, McSpaden boasts a formidable record in competitive golf.

Virtually all of the contenders will get away this morning in the 72-hole struggle over the course practicing Monday. Few of them reported scores for their practice rounds. The best scores turned in were the 74s collected by Irving Nelson, Spencer pro; Jimmie Miller, Roosevelt high school athlete, and Pat Wilcox, Norfolk, Neb., professional. Each of these contenders missed Wakonda's elusive par by one stroke on their closing practice rounds. Billy Cordingley, city champion, had a 75.

Field Intact The championship field was virtually intact late Monday as the combatants withdrew on the eve of the opening volley.

Contestants and bystanders were equally backward about naming favorites as the battle opened. McSpaden was conceded a chance to win. But, so were Denmar Miller, Art Bartlett, Johnny Kraft, Art Andrews, Pat Wilcox, Johnny Vavra, Billy Hall, Joe Brown, Bob McCrary, Irving Nelson and Bob McCree, to mention a few.

Schumacher Drops Tight Game in 7th

Stainback's Hit Does Trick; Cuts Lead To 4 1/2 Games

CHICAGO, Aug. 27 (AP)—Holding the world's champions to three hits, as did his pitching colleague, Lon Warneke, yesterday, Big Bill Lee today shaded Hal Schumacher in a brilliant pitching duel to give the Chicago Cubs their second straight victory over the New York Giants. The score was 1 to 0.

"Tuck" Stainback's seventh-inning double, following Kiki Cuyler's single, brought home the only run of the game and reduced the Giants advantage over the Cubs to four and one-half games.

A crowd of 25,000, the largest Monday turn-out at Wrigley field in several seasons, saw Schumacher match the Cubs' freshman right-hander for six scoreless innings. The break came in the seventh, however, and Cuyler, already on his way to second, sprinted home as Stainback slashed a double against the left field wall, fair only by inches.

Cuyler was the only Cub to pass second and Stainback, the only other Chicagoan to reach the Kestons bag, as they were held at five hits by Schumacher. He did not issue a base on balls while he gave four free tickets to first. Only three Giants got as far as second however.

Tames Giants The victory was Lee's eleventh triumph of the season, three of which were scored at the expense of the Giants, who have yet to defeat him. The defeat was Schumacher's sixth setback against 19 victors.

CHICAGO, Aug. 27 (AP)—Roderich Menzel, towering Czech-Slovakian who has beaten both Fred Perry and Jack Crawford, was summarily removed from the eastern grass courts tennis championships today as favorites otherwise pushed their way into the third round.

Claiming a knee injury, Menzel, top-seeded foreigner in the tournament, defaulted to Dr. Eugene McCauliff of Yonkers, N.Y., twenty-fourth in the national rankings, when he was trailing 0-4 in the third decisive set.

The Czech had taken the first set at 6-4, but McCauliff came back to outscore him in the Marathon second set, 12-10, after a 22 game battle, 12-10. The Yonkers shot-maker quickly peeled off the first three games of the third set and then took the fourth when Menzel fell while dashing in for a net shot at game point. Slowly the Czech rose, then motioned he was unable to continue, and walked off the court under his own power.

Sweep Series DAVENPORT, Aug. 27 (AP)—Davenport made it three straight tonight to sweep the series with Rock Island. The margin was 5 to 2.

Movie Moguls To Keep Maxie Safe For Motion Picture HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 27 (AP)—Max Baer, the heavyweight champion, is scheduled to arrive here Wednesday to make a motion picture.

Studio executives and the boxer's representatives, discovering the film can not be started into production for at least two weeks and knowing Maxie's proclivities toward social and night life, put their heads together.

As a result Max will remain in Hollywood only a few hours. That he will be troubled off on a two-week tour of the Pacific northwest, during which he will referee several fights.

Explanation Of 'Strange As It Seems'

Peter the Great's inspiration for taxing beards was a result of his tour through Europe in the late seventeenth century. On this tour he became convinced that the European in general was superior to the Russian—therefore he set about to make his subjects as much like Europeans as possible.

WELL, I WON'T MIND IT SO MUCH THIS YEAR.

He also issued an imperial order forbidding ancient costumes, and decreeing that his subjects wear Saxon or Magyar jackets and French or German hose. This order, although seemingly unimportant, resulted in several rebellions.

WITNESS SONG by JOAN CLAYTON AND MALCOLM LOGAN

CHAPTER XX Then I thought about Loren. He had tried to fool Mark with a palpably false alibi, and then had offered a very lame explanation of it. But he had photographed Lake-side Cottage and with it the murderer, about to enter Vail's room to kill him; obviously if he were the murderer, he could not take a photograph of himself. Then why had he tried to fabricate an alibi? "That's easy," Mark said promptly when L pronounced that question the next morning. "When Loren talked to me in the morning, he didn't know he had an alibi in the form of a photograph. And did you notice, he didn't offer an explanation of the lie he told me until after I had pointed out the gardener in the picture?"

66 Merchants Cooperate in Iowa City Days; Start Thursday

Bargain Event, Largest Ever Held Here, Will Last 3 Days

Plan Sales Days To Be Held 4 Times Each Year

Iowa City will be the merchandising hub of all Johnson county and surrounding trade territory for three days beginning Thursday when 66 local merchants cooperate in the largest bargain event ever held here.

Every merchant has chosen special bargain attractions for the three days in addition to participating in the general sales event.

Glenn E. Porter, manager of Strub's and chairman of the Iowa City Days committee of the Iowa City Merchants bureau, said yesterday that all arrangements for the event have been completed and that consumers will find exceptional bargains.

The event will be a regular merchandising attraction four times each year in the future, Mr. Porter said. Others this year are scheduled for November, February and May.

Mr. Porter stressed the fact that a special appeal is being made to the rural trade, and thousands of buyers from all parts of the Iowa City trade territory are expected here Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Other members of the committee in charge of the event are Harry Bremer, L. W. Yetter, Jay J. McNamara, J. H. Steinmetz, and D. W. Crum, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

Hog Prices Go Higher

Reach New Mark Of $7.75 in Chicago Market

CHICAGO, Aug. 27 (AP)—Hog prices again moved higher today in a continuation of one of the longest sustained market spurts in the memory of traders at the Chicago stock yards.

Today's peak prices of $7.75 was nearly double the top of a fortnight ago. The upturn was reflected in all the retail markets, where cuts of fresh pork in some cases were doubled within two weeks.

Wholesale fresh pork loins were quoted at $22 to $24 a hundred pounds and retail pork chops at 23 cents a pound. The wholesale price only two weeks ago was $12.50 to $13.50 a hundred. The retail price now is about 50 per cent higher.

The price to the farmer, meanwhile, was the stockyard figure according to the classification of hog sold, plus the $2.25 processing tax. Today's average price was in the neighborhood of $7 plus, making the producers' return about $9.25 a hundred. The AAA had fixed $8.80 a hundred as the objective of the price raising drive to give the hog raiser a fair return on his effort.

The basic factor in the rise of hog values was the shrinking supply offered. Market men reported buyers bidding frantically for what was available and looking for more. The shrinkage was reflected in the 17,000 hogs received here, compared with 21,000 last Monday and 49,000 a year ago.

Payments on Corn-Hog Contracts May Begin Here Soon

Payments on corn-hog contracts in which no errors have been found may start here soon, it was announced at the Farm Bureau office yesterday.

Two AAA checkers, who have been going over local contracts to see if they conform with contracts in other states and counties, left Saturday but are expected to return today.

Crop reduction contracts which are apparently in order will be released by them, it is believed, while payments on others may be held up for further investigation.

Purple ribbon for the grand championship Jersey bull went to E. S. Baughman of Pulaski on Volunteer Double Aldan. The junior champion, Volunteer Blond Sultan, was shown by Claire Werner of Gibson.

Wins Ayrshire Title

J. J. Lynes and Sons of Plainfield, showing Fairfield's Admiral, swept through the Ayrshire bull class to win the grand championship. Grand champion Ayrshire cow was shown by Adam Seitz and sons of Waukesha, Wis.

R. C. Yohe of Allerton captured both rings of the Shropshire division in the sheep show. Yohe's Maple Heights Marble was judged champion ram and his Miss Delvoir champion ewe.

The champion ewe and ram of the Southdown shown were shown by R. E. Strutz and Sons, company, Jamestown, S. Dak. The South Dakota exhibitors also showed the champion ram in the Cotswold show. Champion Cotswold ewe went to Joe W. Edgar of New London.

Horse Show Strong

Judges and exhibitors agreed that the horse show was the strongest at the fair in years. The beef cattle show was weak in numbers but strong in quality. Drought's crop devastation was reflected in the swine show which swine experts characterized as inferior as a whole to former years.

Chief feature of the sixth day of the fair was an address by Chester C. Davis, administrator of the agricultural adjustment act, who laid the problem of future agricultural adjustment policy squarely in the laps of the nation's farmers.

Harness Races

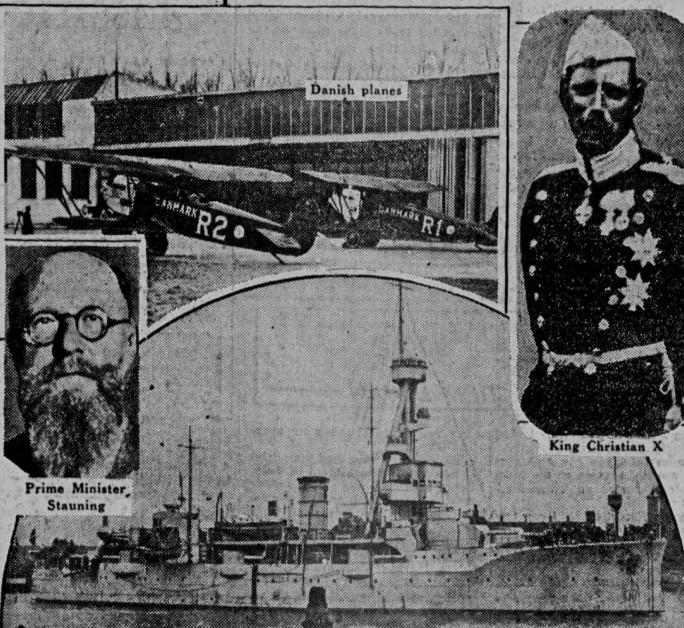

Harness races were held on the grandstand program for the first time during the fair. The 4-H boys' kittenball tournament opened with 60 teams entered. Competition in the state horseshoe tournament narrowed down to the more expert tossers.

A world's record fell on the horse-shoe courts today when Charles Jones of Waukesha, Wis., threw 32 double ringers in one game. The state's checker wizards started their play in the administration building.

Denmark Drops Peace Plans to Save Province

Denmark has decided it takes more than one peace-loving nation to play at disarmament. Ever since the Social Democrats came into power under Prime Minister Stauning, the tiny island kingdom of Christian X has pared its military budgets down to the last kroner, partly because it realizes it is futile to spend enormous sums for defense with the nation so open to invasion at any time. But with the advent of the German Nazis to power, Denmark has been forced to turn back on its disarmament activities due to the current propaganda to reunite Schleswig province with Germany, which had been returned to Denmark through a plebiscite after World war, almost 75 years after Prussia tore it from the Danish kingdom. Premier Stauning has moved armed police and soldiers to the unrestful frontier to show the world that Denmark means business.

COPENHAGEN (I.L.N.)—Despite all of Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's avowals to the world that Nazi Germany is peace loving to the last swastika-decorated storm trooper, Denmark, its tiny peninsula neighbor to the north, is clipping its own dove wings as a safety first precaution.

For almost a century the Danes have led the world in disarmament activities, gradually paring down their defense forces on both land and sea. Without colonies except for gigantic Greenland which has definite limits of exploitation, Denmark has found it unnecessary to play the role of imperialism. Its virtually sea level terrain and treacherous coastline has solved its military problems by the cold fact that Denmark can't do very much to help itself.

Unique Nation

Denmark, with its 16,567 square miles of area and a population of less than 3,700,000 people who are quite unwilling to pour out millions of dollars to fortify strategic places when the tiny collection of islands is at the mercy of any large invading enemy, is unique among civilized nations.

The Social-Democratic party, now in power under the premiership of A. M. Stauning, had attacked the problem back in 1925 before it had formed a ministry. Its proposals were startling, even to a Denmark which realized large military expenditures were futile, due to the ease with which the country could be invaded.

The disarmament features the Social-Democrats succeeded in pushing through the lower parliament chamber consisted of abolition of conscription for the army and the navy, and the complete elimination of a ministry of defense. A consular corps of 7,000 men and a maritime police force of 10 ships and 12 seaplanes were left as the only "military" groups in Denmark. These curtailments alone were designed to make a budget reduction of one-fifth, totaling more than $10,000,000. Recruited voluntarily for 12 years, only 250 police were to be on duty, the rest subject to call at any time. As frontier guards, they might be armed with clubs, revolvers and hand grenades, but lacking artillery or rifles. The navy was to be about as warlike.

Nazis Seek Schleswig

It was all very "neighborly," but the Danes were quite aware of the tempest brewing on the other side of the Schleswig border, where Nationalistic Germans were denouncing the plebiscite that had restored to Denmark, South Jutland and other Schleswig territory which Prussia and Prussia seized in 1864, and demanding the return of the areas.

With the emergence to power of the Nazis, the demand for brown shirts for the forcible seizure of the plebiscite territory reached a high pitch. Across the border in Denmark, Nazi groups were organized to stir up the German populace with National Socialist enthusiasm, and to clamor for their return to the reich, reborn again under Reichsfuehrer Hitler. There were occasional frontier riots, but the social democratic Premier Stauning refused to be stampeded.

All colored shirt groups were forbidden to parade, and the ordinarily peaceful Danes resolved to show that they, too, could be firm. The government under these threatening gestures conferred with Sweden and Norway to resolve on a unified attitude towards the "Greater

The board decided that Donovan was not "inefficient" as Gen. Hugh S. Dick See Says: 'WE'LL DO OUR PART'

Folks like me who live in a town like this ain't got much chance to know about the worries of the poor. Last week I wuz in the city visitin' my daughter and a ragged lookin' feller came to the door peddlin' safety pins. My girl's like her paw—s o f t hearted—so she bought some. The man got friendly and started tellin' us about his family. Five kids and he had been injured in an accident and couldn't keep his family. He was gettin' relief but he had one little girl who was all run down and needed a tonsil operation.

The doctor told him she wouldn't live through it if she wasn't built up. So he had to raise the money for a quart of milk and four oranges every day. Poor cuss, he was sure workin' to sell them pins. I wished I could buy all the oranges in California but all I could do was stock up on pins.

I got to thinkin' that some of the kids in our town that I've seen been ain't gettin' all the milk they need. Wouldn't it be a darn good thing if each of us would buy a quart of milk each day for some worthy family? We'd get satisfaction out of it and the dairies would be gettin' a lot of extra business and them little "shavers" would have a chance to grow up with strong, sturdy bodies. Why don't you kick in to the relief agency today?

Farmers who want to donate milk can give it to our tank truck men and they will deliver it to the agency.

Think this over, folks, and remember the owners are all DIXIE stations are home town folks.
