TIFFIN PLANE CRASH KILLS 2

12,000 Hear James Roosevelt Hit at Financiers as Critics Of National Demo Program

Says "Get Together" Of Industry, Labor Is Necessary

Declaring that opposition to the national Democratic program is coming from financiers who must lose the "choking power which was theirs in the past, and which some of them today are making a dying gasp to hold a few years more," James Roosevelt, son of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, told an audience of 12,000 in the field house Sunday that industry and labor should "get together" to quicken recovery.

One of the largest political gatherings ever convened in Iowa heard the president's son denounce and answer opposition to administration policies, and heard him "suggest" a method whereby the government might "relinquish its management of industry to industry itself."

When industry, labor, and agriculture work out a plan, under the guidance and suggestion of the government, to take care of present unemployed, federal relief appropriations will stop, he said.

Mr. Roosevelt suggested that "such a man as Walter P. Chrysler," all together employers, to meet with labor delegates appointed by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, and that this group prepare a program for industry itself and for legislation by state and national governments.

"A step in the right direction would then have been taken, for until industry realizes that it must force the organization of labor, not hinder it, then only will the employer have a responsible labor leader to confer with," he said.

The president's son spent some time explaining purposes of the AAA, and in answering charges against it. After rebuking those who claim that nature, through the drought, is punishing the government, that cattle and hogs are being wantonly destroyed, and that farmers are getting excess payment, Mr. Roosevelt defined a "definite conclusion" of the AAA program.

"This conclusion will be reached when the price of hogs is fair to the producer and the consumer and when an administration has been established which can advise each man of the approximate crop which shall be raised for his own good each successive year."

Mr. Roosevelt vigorously denied accusations that the government is usurping liberty. "The government today is simply saying that the Constitution was written for us, the people of the United States. . . and that liberty is available to all, and not to a small minority to isolate into themselves," he said.

"If the few who raise the loudest voices only could realize it, the liberty for which the government seeks as provided in the Constitution, is a liberty which is lasting, while the other kind is doomed to destruction sooner or later."

In addition to the addresses, there will be round table discussions on labor unions, reference work in libraries on subjects assigned, and entertainment features.

Open To All

The institute is open to all persons, said John P. Jenks, president of the General Workers organization. "Our aim is to cooperate for worker's education," he said, "and in doing so we hope to promote a better understanding among workers for further cooperation for mutual benefit."

The principal speech on Thursday morning will be by Prof. Charles Robbins on "Some methods of teaching adults," followed by a discussion until noon when lunch will be served. W. N. Leeper, county superintendent of schools, is to address the group on "Why you are not employed as teachers" immediately after lunch. Discussion after Superintendent Leeper's speech will concern "What to do to meet the new requirements."

Van der Zee to Talk

At 3:15 p.m., Prof. Jacob Van der Zee is to speak on "Folk schools of Europe and adult education." The afternoon session will adjourn at 5 p.m. and at 7 p.m. Ivan L. Rainbow Gets Third Victory Turns in Convincing Triumph Over Endeavour

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 24 (AP)—Fleeing before the wind like a huge white gull, beating sturdily back as though she had never known a conqueror, Harold S. Vanderbilt's Rainbow trounced the British challenger, Endeavour, for the third straight time today and pushed the ancient America's cup farther than ever from the reach of T. O. M. Sopwith's straining fingers.

And so tonight the doughty Englishman, after winning two straight at the start, was farther away than ever from the goal of lifting the historic mug, Britain's unrequited dream from the day in 1851 when the yacht America sailed so fast around the Isle of Wight in winning it that Queen Victoria was sadly told "There was no second, your majesty."

Gilmore Urges Freshmen To Make Most of Opportunities

3,000 Take Part In Annual Induction Ceremonies

With the almost traditional cloudy sky lending a gray tinted background, University of Iowa officials yesterday morning ushered in a new academic year with the fourteenth annual induction ceremony.

Challenging incoming students to find the highest spiritual and intellectual values in the university, President Eugene A. Gilmore delivered the induction address, acting for the first time in the official capacity.

Before a record group of more than 3,000 students and faculty members who attended the early morning ceremony, President Gilmore declared that the true meaning of the university is open only to those who seek it as intelligent individuals.

"You see all about you the material and outward evidences of the university; this beautiful campus, these well proportioned and substantial buildings, the libraries, the laboratories, and all the facilities generally provided by the people of Iowa to help you carry on the fascinating and baffling process called education.

"But the real university you can

Law Strengthens Charges Against Hauptmann

Foley Expects Indictment Of Suspect Soon

New Information May "Split Case Open," Defense Says

(Copyright, 1934, by the Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Sept. 24 (AP)—Three agencies of the law—detectives gathering fresh clues, prosecutors building an extortion case, and New Jersey officials pressing a murder charge—moved forward tonight against Bruno Richard Hauptmann, imprisoned as the key man in the Lindbergh kidnap-killing.

Explanation "Very Good"

On the defense side, Attorney James M. Fawcett asserted he had information, which, if corroborated, would "split the case wide open," and termed an explanation of possession of the ransom money, received in a long personal conference with Hauptmann, a "very good" one. Fawcett withheld details.

The attorney said he had his own investigators at work over a considerable area and their inquiry would require several weeks. Meantime, he planned to talk to Hauptmann daily.

Expects Indictment Tomorrow

Fawcett said he could not ask numerous questions because he had heard his client already had been indicted. He would not amplify that statement. District Attorney Samuel J. Foley said he expected an indictment Wednesday, the day Col. Charles A. Lindbergh will appear before the Bronx grand jury making the extortion investigation.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24. (AP)—Lockouts in many mills and vehement charges of employer discrimination against unionists today prolonged the bitterness of the great textile strike, now officially ended.

A majority of the industry's factories reopened and welcomed the strikers back to their jobs but a large number continued idle. Some mill owners bluntly told strike participants that their jobs had been filled.

Francis J. Gorman, national strike leader, asserted that all cases of discrimination would be carried promptly to the labor relations board which President Roosevelt is to appoint soon to adjudicate labor disputes within the industry.

"The most serious cases of discrimination," he said, "come from the south and there is a strong evidence of a premeditated design not to reemploy some of the workers. These cases will be taken up immediately."

Discrimination Against Unionists Charged By Labor

Kendall, piloting from the rear cockpit of the open cockpit, three passenger Trelair biplane, was taken to Mercy hospital. His injuries are not serious.

More than 25 persons were needed to move the plane from where it had ploughed its nose into the ground, so the bodies could be removed from the front cockpit.

Night Captain Joe Doezal of the Iowa City police force was called to the scene, and the hundreds who gathered at the field were not permitted to go near the wreckage. Gasoline and other sprinkled the ground near the plane.

Headed for Iowa City

Whether or not the motor was dead before or after the machine brushed through the tree could not be accurately learned from spectators of the crash.

An Associated Press dispatch from Waterloo said last night that Kendall and his passengers left the Canfield airport at noon, headed for Iowa City and Ottumwa supposedly on business.

Lampe Says Religion, Ethics Inseparable in Vespers Talk

Religion and ethics are inseparable, Prof. M. Willard Lampe, director of the school of religion, told a capacity audience in the main lounge of Iowa Union Sunday evening.

Drawing his text from the Biblical admonition, "Do justice, love kindness, and walk humbly with thy God," Professor Lampe presented "A text for all the faiths" in a special Freshman week vesper service opening the year's series.

Conduct toward one's fellow men is as much a part of religion as conduct toward God, the speaker declared. He urged freshmen to conduct their social and financial affairs justly, to forget racial prejudices, and to make religious training a part of their lives.

Pointing out that the vesper services "constitute an integral and vital part of the university life," President Eugene A. Gilmore urged that religion be made a basis of cultural existence.

In Russia the Iowa president saw the antithesis of this spiritual conception, and warned against the Soviet point of view.

"American universities are facing today, as never before, the old problem of the material versus the spiritual values," he declared. "The University of Iowa accepts the spiritual interpretation of the universe and of life. Education can not realize its full fruition on a purely materialistic basis."

President Gilmore introduced religious leaders of the campus and the community. The following were presented: Prof. Moses Jung and Samuel Bernson, representing the Jewish faith; the Rev. Patrick J. O'Reilly, pastor of St. Patrick's church; the Rev. Harry Ryan, assistant pastor, and John Murphy, president of the Newman club, representing the Catholic constituency; Prof. Charles A. Hawley of the school of religion faculty and Frances Hartley, president of the Interchurch group, representing the Protestants.

Pilot Suffers Broken Arm, Lacerations

Two passengers were killed and the pilot was injured when an airplane hit a tree and nose-dived in an attempted takeoff from a cornfield a half mile west of Tiffin at 7:30 last night.

The dead are:
Gerald Randall of Ottumwa.
John Lee of Hudson.

Both men were about 30 years old.

The pilot, Ronald L. Kendall, 25, manager of the Canfield airport at Waterloo, suffered a broken arm and lacerations on his face.

Evidence found in the airplane, consisting of bottles and an empty tin, will be presented to the grand jury in session at the Johnson county court house this morning, Coroner George Marsh said last night. He will not hold an inquest.

Became Confused

Kendall told The Daily Iowan he was flying from Waterloo to Iowa City but became confused near Tiffin and landed in a field to learn his location. More than 20 persons gathered to see him take off.

"The plane rose about 40 feet, but failed to clear the top of a tree. After brushing the uppermost branches, the machine side-slipped and hit the ground in a nearby cornfield with an impact which crumpled its nose and the wings on one side.

"The two passengers, seated in the front cockpit, were almost instantly killed. One was dead when pulled from the wreckage, and the other lived only a few minutes.

Fine, Decorative Arts Important in Life of Mrs. Lucy Anderson, Artist

Editor's note: This is the first of a series of articles dealing with the Iowa artists who will be represented in the Iowa City art library, to be opened Oct. 1. For the entire month pictures will be on display in the public library. Residents of Johnson county will then be permitted to borrow pictures to hang in their own homes, upon payment of a nominal fee. The pictures may be exchanged, much as books are exchanged in the ordinary public library. The plan had its inception through Mrs. Louis Pelzer, wife of Professor Pelzer of the history department, who is also working out the details and is in charge.

Mrs. Lucy Anderson

Fine and decorative arts have played an important part in the life of Mrs. Lucy Anderson of Ft. Dodge. She studied music and supervised the musical education of her children; she has designed furnishings for her home; even in quilts she found an opportunity to demonstrate her flare for the unusual.

But it is in her painting that her love of the fine arts has found its real goal. She studied painting first under Anson K. Cross of Columbia university for two years. Then she came under the influence of Grant Wood, when she was a member of the Stone City art colony in the summer of 1933.

Known for Figures

For eight years she has done work in oil and water color, landscapes and still life. More lately, however, she has become known for her figures and portrait studies.

Born in Waterloo, she has lived in St. Joseph, Mo., Omaha, Neb., Waterloo, and Ft. Dodge. Before her marriage to Louis Anderson she was Lucy M. Lane.

Mrs. Anderson has exhibited at several shows of the Iowa Federation of Women's clubs, at the Iowa Nebraska exhibit at the Joselyn Memorial gallery in Omaha, in shows of the Iowa Artists' club, and at least one picture in each of the Iowa artists exhibits in Great hall at Ames.

Officer of Women's Clubs

She is an officer of the Iowa Federation of Women's Clubs, a member of the Iowa Artists' club and of the Ft. Dodge Art guild.

A Pledge And Education

"I pledge, here and now, lifelong loyalty to the ideals of scholarship and character of the founders of this institution, to the end that I may loyally serve this university, this commonwealth, and this nation."
—The Iowa pledge, given by all students yesterday morning at the 1934 induction ceremony.

OF COURSE such pledges, repeated with dolorous solemnity en masse, very seldom penetrate to the consciousness of the pledger. The occasion is too profound for that.

It is for this reason that we repeat it here. It really does mean something. It means, simply, that "I pledge myself to take advantage in every way of every opportunity provided by this institution to the end that I might become a worthy citizen of the commonwealth which made it possible and of the nation of which the commonwealth is a part."

Which gets down to the reason for state universities, and to the student's obligations. If it were not for our philosophy of government, which depends utterly upon the caliber of the average citizen, there would be no excuse for an institution like the University of Iowa. The state provides the institution as part of a broad program of education designed to perpetuate the state itself. Thus there is a double obligation, that of the state to the citizen in the form of opportunity, and that of the citizen to the state in taking advantage of the opportunity.

Where Is The Council Now?

THE HEARING started yesterday in district court on an application for an injunction to prevent Emil Smykil from turning his residence at 330 Summit street into a funeral home must be embarrassing to a few city officials.

If the court grants the injunction—establishment of a funeral home there would be in direct violation of the zoning ordinance—and Mr. Smykil asks the city council to come to his rescue by putting a block or so around his home in the business district, the council will be on a precarious limb.

It already has made numerous such amendments to the zoning ordinance to satisfy special interests. So zealous has it been not to step on anyone's toes that it is by this time in a position where it cannot consistently refuse anybody anything.

There is a provision in the zoning ordinance of a penalty for violation amounting to $100 fine or 30 days in jail. In the past, it has not been necessary to violate it, but merely to put an amendment through the city council.

It is about time to stop this farce. When James J. Hanlon was a member of the city council he became disgusted and insisted that if the zoning ordinance was not to be enforced it should be scrapped. That still is good advice.

Another Place To "Crack Down"

WHILE THE police department is "cracking down" on traffic violators seems to be an appropriate time to call attention to a situation about which numerous reports have come to The Daily Iowan.

Housewives and mothers inform us that the corner of Church and Dodge streets is fast becoming a death trap for small children going to and from school. The stop sign on that corner apparently means nothing to motorists, and especially to the drivers of delivery trucks. An accident not long ago in which a small girl was struck by an automobile which failed to stop should be enough to spur someone to action.

The same condition exists in greater or less degree near all schools, where the danger is especially acute. The Daily Iowan suggests that officials of the schools and the police department cooperate in devising some system whereby these corners can be more closely guarded during hours when children are on their way to or from class.

What Others Think

The Future of the Past

(From The New York World-Telegram)
The past may be said to enjoy a better future

today than it did in the post-war years. Not meaning by this, either, that the past of the now middle-aged man or woman achieved in the 1920's finds its glamour especially consoling in days of cooler blood. For all that remains of the flaming youth (r. i. p. the epithet) of these days often enough is just a smell of stale smoke. That age of "self-expression" was so busy with the expression that the self had to grow as it might in the split second between "wise cracks." Like the flower in the crannied wall, if less cosmic. For notoriously the cult of the present took much presence of mind and admitted of little landscaping of the personality with vistas and perennial borders. All of which becomes more and more evident as the then foreground becomes the present background. But playboys and playgirls of that era must do the best they can with what remains of the effervescence (it was a fine big collar, wasn't it?) of their own particular version of the good old days.

Unfortunately, they not only despised the past; they also borrowed very, very heavily on the future. And their future is now—alas!—their present and ours. And much of it has become a thin film—no longer a foaming bead—upon a serviceable past, an infinitely small fraction of the whole, affording (as certainly was never intended) with its vanished illusions an old moral lesson—viz., that the past rightly read is a better guide to the present than a precocious and mostly verbal wisdom attempting to operate in one dimension of time. There is just as grave danger of becoming parasitic upon the future as upon the past.

GOOD MORNING

A second reading of James Roosevelt's field house speech stirs one's speculative tendencies critically. It was a good speech, and the more one reads it the more significant it seems to be.

Especially provocative were his references to business and to labor, in which he said:

"Business, as it is called, howled, before 1932, for the government to do something for them to revive the marts of trade. The government, having undertaken the task and the results now being evident in the fact that 80 per cent of those corporations which were in the red in 1932 are now in the black, is now called upon to cease its efforts and to let business alone to follow its own course.

"But our government has a different understanding. It contracted not alone with business, but with the people of the United States to establish, in the industrial as well as the agricultural parts of our national life, a security of human happiness which would make impossible a return to the conditions of 1929-1932.

"It will not relax its efforts in that direction until business and labor together have proved that they understand their own problem to such an extent that, through their cooperation, they can successfully manage their own affairs to the benefit of the general public and not for the benefit of a favored minority.

"The answer to the problem lies in industry itself. Two things must happen. First, labor must, and will achieve a position where its leaders are responsible and where a labor leader thinks first of his country's welfare and secondly of his labor union.

"The employer must play his part so that, through his fairness the obvious honesty, through the open inspection of his books to the responsible and authorized representative of labor, he too can prove that his thought is for the welfare of the whole citizenship. And the quicker they get together and accomplish this definite objective, the quicker will government relinquish entirely its management of industry to industry."

Mr. Roosevelt could repeat a dozen times that he is "an outsider" and really doesn't know, but his speech sounded as thoroughly official as anything possibly could.

And when he made the concrete suggestion that Walter P. Chrysler call leaders of industry and labor together to initiate the kind of cooperation to which he referred, it sounded more official than ever.

Evidently the administration is seriously concerned about the present disruption in the forces of industry, and the failure of NRA to bring about the degree of cooperation hoped for by its sponsors.

It is evident, too, that the administration is aware of the necessity for responsible organization of labor. And it seems significant that this suggestion—which amounts to a complete reorganization of labor along new and more responsible union lines—is in direct opposition to the view of General Johnson.

Johnson, it will be remembered, decided in the early days of NRA to let labor follow its own course, organizing as its leaders saw fit and without any guarantee of responsibility. The result has been chaos in the labor field. The White House, apparently, is determined that something shall be done about it, Johnson or no Johnson.

Behind The Scenes in HOLLYWOOD By Harrison Carroll

HOLLYWOOD—From the shadow of tragedy, Irene Franklin will turn to work. Walter Wanger has offered the stage and vaudeville star a part in his first picture, "The President Disappears" and Irene has accepted. The actress' friends all are cheered by the news. The suicide of Jerry Jarnagin, Irene's husband and accompanist for many years, left the star in a state of virtual collapse.

Just previous to Jarnagin's death, Warner Brothers sought Irene for a part in the screen version of "Sweet Adeline." Tests were to be made any day.

Since then, the part that Irene was to have played has been dropped from the script.

The Wanger story, adapted from an anonymous novel due on the stands Oct. 1, will be highly sensational. A president, trying to keep the country out of war, is kidnaped by interests seeking the spoils of the conflict. One sequence calls for an avenging mob to march upon the White House.

If I'm not telling secrets, Fred Spencer, of the Wanger staff will go to Washington seeking permission for a director and a camera crew to film these scenes in the national capital. If this is refused—and the chances of acceptance would seem to be slim—the scenes will be staged in Hollywood.

American and British newspapers carry the story that little Freddie Bartholomew, 10 year old English lad, gets the coveted role of David Copperfield as a boy. The news will bring disappointment to many a hopeful parent, but someone had to have the good luck. And the widespread search was no phony. Decision wasn't made till the last minute.

Here's an amusing anecdote from the last days of the search. Freddie McLaughlin was sent from New York to Hollywood to make a test. When he reported to the studio the other day two front teeth were missing. He got them knocked out in a fight on the train.

"But you ought to see the other fellow," he boasted, as officials sighed and sent him on his way.

Bing Crosby's shift to that British-American record company lends perhaps to trade news, but there is a real human interest story behind it. Several years ago, when Bing had his argument with the Coconut Grove here, he went to New York with only one prospect of an income—a contract to make phonograph records for $150 per record. Manager of the company at that time was Jack Kapp. After hearing Bing's story, Kapp tore up the old contract and gave Bing a much better deal. Now, Kapp, for reasons too complicated to tell here, is giving up his old post to become head of the British-American company. The shoe is now on the other foot. He needs Bing. And the crooning star is delivering... Just like he did for Mack Sennett, when the comedy producer needed money recently.

By KIRKE SIMPSON

WASHINGTON—Looking back over Congressional Directory election statistics for Wisconsin, it develops that Senator "Young Bob" LaFollette had an election majority of better than 7 to 1 when he ran in '28. He got 625,000 votes against 81,000 for his opponent.

The directory sets that 81,000 anti-LaFollette vote down as "Democrat," but attaches a note saying it was not Democratic at all but "independent Republican."

Now consider Wisconsin's primary results this year against that background. Running as a Progressive, young Bob with no opposition gets his nomination by say 115,000. To off-set that, a group of Democratic senatorial contenders divide about 175,000 votes and the regular Republicans—in '28 they had to be classed as independent Republicans—piled up say 100,000 for their man, also unopposed.

Poll Controlling Margin
What does that mean—and turning to the primary figures on the three-way gubernatorial nomination race only emphasizes the situation—as to the complete change in party situation in Wisconsin since '28? The results show the Democrats polling a controlling margin for both state and national political purposes.

Regular Republicans chortled over their success two years ago in turning the LaFollette out of control of the Republican label in Wisconsin. It meant turning the State over to the Democrats, of course; but what of it, the G. O. P. warriors argued. That would be a mere temporary embarrassment.

If the '34 primaries indicate anything, they indicate that Wisconsin has made a substantial beginning on a Democratic state organization of some lasting quality.

Made Good On Boasts
Wisconsin Democrats apparently have made good on their boasts which served to keep administration hands off that particular situation. Despite a White House liking for Senator LaFollette, no such move to take him into the Democratic camp without a change of label, as materialized in the case of Senator H. Johnson of California, was possible. The primary figures show why.

Quadrangle Library Opens For Use; Second in Dorm System

The second of a system of dormitory libraries, in the Quadrangle, men's dormitory, is now open for use, it was announced yesterday by Grace Van Wormer, acting director of university libraries.

The Quadrangle reading room is located just off the lounge. Here Quadrangle residents can make use of easy chairs, with which the room is equipped, and read from their favorites from among 400 selected volumes.

The books are of all types, in order that they may have a varied appeal. The room is paneled in knotty pine, with bookcases on three sides finished to match.

The library will be open from 4 to 10 p. m. Monday to Friday, and from 1 to 10 p. m. Saturdays and Sundays. Four attendants, James A. Norman, Robert L. Neff, Lloyd Summers, and Owen Babbe, have been appointed to have charge of the room.

A special bookplate has been designed for the Quadrangle books by Jerry Wood. The plate bears a drawing of the Quadrangle and the university seal.

The Quadrangle reading room is the second such library to be opened within the last year. A similar room was opened in Currier hall, women's dormitory, last year.

ABOUT SPORTS

On the Spot... Swinging On the Gate... Tickets Going At a Fast Rate... Tigers Can Rest a Bit.

WHAT with Southern California, Princeton, Minnesota, Indiana, and a host of other schools "on the spot," and put there by loyal friends and alumni who expect nothing but world beaters in the way of football teams this fall, the poor coaches had better purchase criticism proof armor of some kind.

The huge athlete who guards the entrance to old Iowa field these afternoons had a lot of fun swinging on the iron gate. He would open the gate with caution to allow one person at a time to pass through, and then climb on and swing back, a distance of about two or three feet.

A gentleman wended his way to the field house yesterday afternoon to purchase tickets for the Iowa-Minnesota game. He found he could buy tickets entitling him to seats near the end zones.

Well, he might get to see somebody make a touchdown or a strong goal defense. The meek might inherit the earth but they haven't as yet taken over the football field.

The Detroit Tigers had the day to listen to the radio and hear the Yanks get shut out by Boston. Mickey Cochrane can give his boys a rest, although they seem not to need one.

Perry Wins LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Frederick J. Perry, world's champion, won his third Pacific southwest singles tennis title today, taking a three-set victory over Lester Stoen, national indoor crown wearer, 10-8, 6-4, 6-3.

DETROIT TAKES PENNANT AS YANKS LOSE

Red Sox Win Easily 5 to 0 Detroit Is Idle

Johnny Merena Blanks New York With Four Hits

NEW YORK, Sept. 24 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers today won the American league pennant for the first time in 25 years without swinging a bat or throwing a ball when the New York Yankees were mathematically counted out of the race as they closed their home season by dropping a 5 to 0 decision to the Boston Red Sox.

With only five games remaining on their schedule, the Yankees dropped six games back of the Tigers. Mickey Cochrane's men can lose all of their remaining five contests and still finish with a game to spare if the Yankees win all of their games.

Johnny Merena, youthful right-hander from Syracuse who joined the Sox at the close of the International league, actually clinched the Pennant for the Tigers. He allowed the Yankees only four widely scattered hits, two of them by Lou Gehrig. Only one Yankee got as far as third base and that was Gehrig, who singled in the fourth and advanced on Eddie Morgan's error and an infield out.

The Sox found Johnny Murphy easy in the early rounds, making four of their five runs in the first three innings. The former Fordham ace allowed only seven hits, but three errors, two by Red Rolfe and one by Selkirk, figured in the scoring. Rolfe's two mistakes came in the second inning when the Sox counted twice with the help of two bases on balls.

Babe Ruth, making his last appearance of the year at the stadium and probably his last as a regular, was forced to retire after his first time at bat because of a charley horse in his left leg. He had one putout in the outfield and walked in his only time at bat. Myril Hoag ran for him and then took over in right field.

Little Hawks Drill in New Game Suits

City high gridders will show lots of color this year—one of one type or another. Twenty-four brilliant new uniforms to be used in the games this year were worn for the first time yesterday as the players practiced through a light drill after Friday's victory.

The backs were garbed in bright cardinal red satin pants with white stripes down the back and jerseys and socks to match. The ends had the same color scheme but had to be content with cloth pants, while the pants for the linemen were completely red. Tan helmets with black stripes completed the sartorial effect.

But They Did LOS ANGELES, (AP)—A set-to with a taxi-cab driver cost Jack Kearns a $20 fine today. The former manager of Jack Dempsey, one-time heavyweight champion, pleaded guilty to a charge of drunkenness. He was taken into custody after an altercation with a taxi-cab driver, Lester Myers, in front of a beer parlor. The police said Kearns protested: "You can't put me in jail—I'm Jack Kearns."

Hawkeyes Enter Final Week of Drills

Light Drills Feature Big Ten Practice

CHICAGO, Sept. 24 (AP)—Coach Clark Shaughnessy sent the University of Chicago squad through a brief drill today, devoting the entire period to forward passes, Jay Berwanger, the number one Maroon back, picked out receivers cleverly and passed accurately. He also led the regulars on defense against aerial heaves.

WILDCAT RESERVES

EVANSTON, Ill.—Northwestern's regulars were excused early today as Coach Dick Hanley and his assistants checked over the reserve material. The work of Park Wray, Abe Epstein and Dewitt Gibson, all 200 pounders, at tackle impressed Hanley. Cary Devry and Frank Riley, a pair of sophomore guards, are giving the veterans, Capt. Al Kaval and Ed Whalen, a lot of competition.

RENNER OUT

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—The hopes of the University of Michigan for another strong entry in the Big Ten football campaign suffered a hard blow today with the announcement that Bill Renner, the senior quarterback from Youngstown, Ohio, would (Turn to page 7)

'We're in,' Predict Princeton Fans; 'Maybe,' Says Crisler

(This is another of a series on prospects of major college football teams.) "It was harder to build a morale than it was to develop a football team," explained the bustling young westerner who guided Princeton football to a new high in 1933. "This year our friends have put us on the spot. They are expecting these kids to breeze through to another season like last. Here it is still September and already the October games have been played, won and sewed up in the bag. Our big job is to keep such impressions from getting a hold on the team. If I let the players become too confident we're sunk."

There are several minor matters to be decided before Fritz can announce his starting lineup, notably holes at both tackles, left end and the development of a reserve center, but he frankly admits his chief problem is psychic. The schedule: Oct. 6, Amherst; Oct. 13, Williams; Oct. 20, Washington & Lee; Oct. 27, Cornell; Nov. 3, Harvard at Cambridge; Nov. 10, Lehigh; Nov. 17, Yale; Nov. 24, Dartmouth.

Solem Hands Backs Pass Punt Workout

Iowa's football team took only a fairly heavy drill yesterday afternoon on old Iowa field, with Coach Solem handing the backfield men a passing and punting session before sending the whole squad through a touch scrimmage.

Face Opening Game With S. Dakota University

Lawrence Haltom, Dick Crayne, Dwight Hoover and George Teyro sat in for the passing work, with Crayne and Rasar doing the punting.

Mrs. Kingfish Wants Divorce From Fighter

CHICAGO, Sept. 24 (AP)—Mrs. Kingfish "ain't I strong" Levinsky grabbed off one of her husband's favorite tricks today and took a run-out powder from the marriage ring. Married a little more than a month, Roxanne Carmine Levinsky, nee Goldie Glickman of the Maxwell street Glickmans, tossed in the sponge by filing suit for divorce from the wallowing reformed fish-peddler, charging cruelty. It was the nearest thing to a knockout that Levinsky has caught up with in a couple of years.

U. S. Track Team Defeats Japanese As Metcalfe Stars

DAIREN, Manchukuo, Sept. 24 (AP)—The American track and field stars touring the far east won a two-day meet against the Japanese Northeastern Athletic association here today, 82 to 69. In the 200-meter dash Ralph Metcalfe, Marquette college's Negro sprinter, registered world record time of 30.2 seconds. The accepted record is Roland Locke's 29.6 run at Lincoln, Neb., May 1, 1926. Charles Parsons, University of Southern California, was second, and Nishi of Japan third.

ST. LOUIS CUTS NEW YORK LEAD TO 2 GAMES

Whip Chicago 3 to 1; Giants Meet Phillies

Bill Walker Lets Down Slipping Cubs With Seven Hits

CHICAGO, Sept. 24 (AP)—The flag-favored St. Louis Cardinals continued their furious stretch drive in pursuit of the league leading Giants today, beating down the Chicago Cubs 3 to 1 to reduce the world champions' margin to two games.

While the Giants marked time through an open date, Lefty Bill Walker, one-time member of the New York hurling staff, collaborated with Pepper Martin and Leo Durocher in fashioning the Cardinals' eight victory in their last nine games. The victory was Walker's eleventh of the season.

Drive in Runs
He allowed seven hits, walked only one, and fanned seven, including Babe Herman, the Cubs' left-handed cleanup hitter, three times. Martin and Durocher played their part of driving in the runs off Lon Warneke, seeking his twenty-second victory of the season, and Bill Lee. Durocher opened the third inning with a looping blow over second base and stretched the hit into a double when Kiki Cuyler was slow in returning to the ball to the infield.

The peppy third St. Louis shortstop moved to third on Walker's sacrifice but it was not necessary as Martin came through with a home run into the left center seats.

Warneke Excused
Warneke was excused for a pinch-hitter in the eighth. The Cards pounced on Lee for their third run in the ninth. Bill Delaney singled with one out, took second on a sacrifice and romped home as Durocher dropped his second hit of the game, a single, in center.

Kiki Cuyler saved the Cubs from a white-washing when he connected for a home run in the ninth.

The Cards left for home to open a two-game series with the Pirates.

GENEVA (AP)—Its judicial committee yesterday decided the council of the League of Nations can legally attempt to effect a settlement of the war in the Chaco Boreal between Paraguay and Bolivia.

BIG SIX

(By The Associated Press)
Connecting with two of the Yankees' four hits yesterday, Lou Gehrig moved to the front by the margin of one point in the battle for the major league batting crown. The Yankees iron-man first baseman boasted his average to .360, an increase of two points and a lead of one over Paul Waner, who was idle, Joe Moore, the Giants' hard hitting outfielder, did not play but he took over third place in the National league trio when John Moore of the Phillies and Kiki Cuyler of the Cubs lost ground.

Dodgers Take Phillies Twice

Score 5-3 Triumph In Opener, 10-0 Win In Nightcap

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Sept. 24 (AP)—Brooklyn wound up its season against the Phillies today by wall-pounding the visitors in both ends of a twin bill, 5 to 3 and 10 to 1.

opening game with South Dakota State, reputed "light but fast" aggression which will visit Iowa City for the first time in six sessions. The Coyotes are unbeaten and unscored upon. They shut out Yank-ton college, 14 to 0, last Saturday.

Last year, Ossie Solem had to pit the team against Northwestern without benefit of a non-conference game, but the Hawkeyes will be aided by an actual contest before facing the Wildcats at Evanston Oct. 6.

The Iowa linemen were meted out a short drill in the fundamentals of blocking yesterday, this to help bolster the ragged work displayed in the game Saturday when both forward walls did only fair work.

Unless Coach Solem makes wholesale alterations, it appears that more than four sophomores will start against South Dakota. These men are Corney Walker or John England, ends; Ted Omalooki, center; Gail Lundberg or Clarence Doe, guards; and Oze Simmons, half-back.

St. Pat's Gridders Point for Game With West Branch

St. Pat's grid squad went through two hours of stiff drill yesterday afternoon, working on kicking, passing, totting, tackling, and blocking, topped off by a session of setting-up exercises and a light scrimmage.

University high gridders were handed a long drill session last night, Coach Joy Kistler dividing his squad into three teams for punt formation work. Dave Foerster and Wyjack handled punting assignments.

The Blue and White gridders meet Kalona here next Friday afternoon in the season's opener.

be out of the game for five or six weeks with a fractured bone in his left ankle.

The loss of the ace signal caller resulted in a revamping today of what probably will be the first team. Russell Oliver will likely call signals and do the passing, with the running attack built around Howard Triplehorn or Vincent Aug. Matt Patanelli, the big end from Elkhardt, was shifted to the backfield today to work as a blocking back.

OHIO STATE

COLUMBUS, Ohio—The weather summery, Coach Francis Schmidt allowed the Ohio State university grid squad to let down on its drive today. Most of the two practice sessions was given over to chatter, with a few demonstrations about the errors made in Saturday's scrimmage.

The squad tapered off with a 10-minute scrimmage in the afternoon, the varsity running through defense formations against the reserve squad.

BEAT MINNESOTA

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn.—Bernie Bierman drifted away from an established practice today by drilling Minnesota's gridders for an hour in heavy rain and refusing to take them indoors until all the boys were drenched.

Annoyed by weather conditions which have intruded too much on the Gophers, Coach Bierman indicated he is doubtful about making his eleven step fast enough to suit demands before the schedule opens with North Dakota State Saturday.

WISCONSIN

MADISON, Wis.—Plainly dissatisfied with the showing of the linemen on the offense, Coach Clarence Spears today made wholesale changes in the forward wall of the University of Wisconsin squad. Except for some good running by Tom Fontaine, left halfback, and Eddie Jankowski, sophomore fullback, the practice was devoid of the sparkle that has characterized most of the previous workouts.

PURDUE

LAFAYETTE, Ind.—A reserve eleven stopped the Purdue aerial game dead for a while today, but the Boilermaker varsity put on the pressure with its running attack and the defense cracked to permit Purvis and Carter to connect for long passes. Ed Skoroneki was a standout in the varsity line.

INDIANA

BLOOMINGTON, Ind.—After the third day of drill behind locked doors, mostly on fundamentals, Coach Bo McMillin today announced his Indiana football squad will engage in an open scrimmage game tomorrow with freshman elevens. The game was arranged to give students and fans a preview of the Hoosier tactics expected to be used against Ohio university Saturday.

Explanation Of "Strange As It Seems"

Although Ty Cobb is heralded by many as the greatest base stealing player of all time, he never touched the record set by Harry Stouch of the old Philadelphia Athletics, in the 80's.

In three successive years Stovey ran up a total of 295 stolen bases—96 in 1886, 143 in 1887, and 156 in 1888. Ty Cobb's best three-year total was 255, and they were not successive years. He stole 96 in 1915, 83 in 1911, and 76 in 1909.

The ultimate in tiny radio receivers has apparently been reached by Rufus P. Turner who has constructed a set so small that it can be passed through the eye of an ordinary sewing needle.

It consists of a crystal mounted between two platinum wires no bigger than a hair. The crystal itself is only a few thousands of an inch in diameter. There is no need for a tuning coil or condenser in the set.

The tiny rock rabbit, or hyrax, is no larger than a common rabbit, yet it is the closest relative of the elephant—the largest of all land animals now alive. Outwardly the rock rabbit bears no similarity to the elephant, but the close relationship is borne out by a study of the skeletal structures of the two animals.

First Presbyterian Church Accepts Resignation of Rev. Lemon; Will Go to Ann Arbor

Accepts New Pastorate; Resignation Becomes Effective Nov. 1

The resignation of the Rev. William P. Lemon, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Iowa City for the last four years, was accepted at a meeting of the boards of the church last night.

The Rev. Mr. Lemon was officially notified Sunday of his appointment to the pastorate of the First Presbyterian church at Ann Arbor, Mich. His resignation will become effective Nov. 1.

The Rev. Mr. Lemon, who has more than 15 years experience in university church work, came to Iowa City in 1931 from the Andrew Presbyterian church in Minneapolis, Minn.

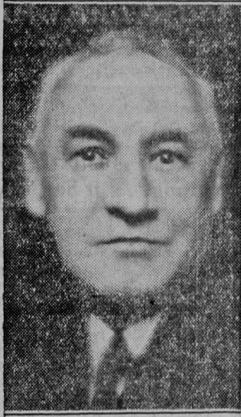

Expresses Reluctance
He expressed yesterday his reluctance in leaving his friends in Iowa City but said, "The only feeling I have is that this opportunity is a challenge for me that I cannot afford to ignore."

"My new work," the Rev. Mr. Lemon said, "offers the same sort of thing I have been doing. The university work appeals to me," he said.

Last year, the Rev. Mr. Lemon was elected president of the University Presbyterian Pastors of the United States for a term of three years. He is also a member of committee on national missions and of Christian education in the Iowa City presbytery. Recently he accepted a position on the church publication which succeeds the Presbyterian Advance, and has been a member of the Christian Century staff.

Lecture at S.U.I.
In addition to his work as pastor he has lectured in the English department of the University of Iowa, is a director of the Westminster foundation, a member of the Iowa City Chamber of Commerce, and of the board of directors of the Social Service league.

The Ann Arbor church on the University of Michigan campus has been established over 100 years. It has 800 members and a seating capacity of 1,200.

The Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Lemon will be accompanied to the new pastorate by their two daughters, Gwenyth, a senior high school student, and Kathryn, a junior high school pupil. Their son, David Lemon, is now in Ann Arbor where he recently enrolled for his freshman year at the University of Michigan.

Receives High Degrees
The Rev. Mr. Lemon is the recipient of high degrees from several universities. He did preparatory work at the University of South Wales, received an A.B. degree at Huron college, Huron, S. Dak.; M.A. at Princeton university, bachelor of divinity from New York state university; Ph.D., Columbia; and an honorary D.D. degree from Huron college.

Legion Plans For Nov. 10

Cooperates With S. U. I. For Drum Corps, Band Contest

A report on the plans for American Legion day, Nov. 10, in Iowa City, was made by L. E. Clark last night at the Roy L. Chopek post's regular monthly show in the American Legion Community building.

The state department of the American Legion is cooperating with the University of Iowa athletic department in an attempt to bring several drum corps and bands here for a celebration in connection with dad's day, Nov. 10, when the Hawkeyes meet Purdue, Mr. Clark said.

The athletic department is offering trophies for winning drum corps, which will be selected in competition drills on Iowa field before the game starts. The winning corps will drill between halves. In the morning an Armistice day ceremony will take place on the steps of Old Capitol, with speeches by several officers of the Legion. Following the game, the local post will be host to visiting Legionnaires at a party in the American Legion Community building.

Members of the state committee are Frank Purinton, commander of the second district; Mr. Milroy, commander of the third district; and V. F. Sieverding of Grundy Center, vice commander of the state department.

Winant Rises as G. O. P. Leader

Gov. John G. Winant

A new G. O. P. political figure is rising on the national horizon in the person of Gov. John G. Winant, of New Hampshire, chairman of the presidential mediation board appointed to settle the vast textile strike. Acceptable to staunch New England conservatives, the black-haired, strikingly handsome, three-term New Hampshire executive has earned a wide reputation for liberalism and social legislation. At frequent intervals he has appealed for a fair deal by employers toward labor.

By MARK BUTTIMER

BOSTON (I.L.N.)—Out of rock-ribbed and normally conservative New England has come a Republican politician whose liberalism, popular attitude and defense of the Rooseveltian New Deal gradually is building him up as G.O.P. presidential timber for the future.

He is black-haired handsome Governor John W. Winant of New Hampshire, chairman of President Roosevelt's textile strike arbitration board. Republican stalwarts are pointing to him as the "messiah" who can lead them out of the political woods in which they have been aimlessly wandering since the eventful days of 1932.

Governor Winant is a strange anomaly among New England statesmen. For one thing, the chief executive of the Granite state for the last six years has earned a reputation for moving along with the spirit of the times, at the same time retaining the loyalty of the numerous conservative folk who make the state a citadel for Republicanism.

When he was elected to his first term as governor at the age of 36 to become America's youngest governor, Winant already had a reputation for liberalism. Virtually all the social and labor legislation enacted in the state during the last decades has been due to his leadership.

In 1932, he declared that "the time has come . . . when certain industries must so organize their business as to eliminate exploitation of labor as a competitive weapon. This applies particularly to the textile industries." New Hampshire depends a good deal upon its mill activity.

Tall and awkward in appearance, Governor Winant is regarded as one of the handsomest public officials in the country. His eyes are deep set, and most of the time he poses for his pictures with a thick forelock of hair curling toward an eye. Usually carelessly dressed, Governor Winant is popular among the rural voters. In him they see mirrored their innate conservatism, coupled with the awareness of the new tempo of the present years. It helps New Hampshire folk to believe they are still in step with the nation.

Son of wealthy parents, Governor Winant studied at Princeton

Reasons For Delay on PWA Action Asked

Becoming impatient over the delay in action on the PWA loan and grant agreements for a municipal light plant in Iowa City, C. S. Sykes, counsel for the PWA in Washington, D. C., asked for reasons in a letter to Mayor Harry D. Breene yesterday.

Both Mayor Breene and City Attorney Thomas E. Martin, to whom the agreements were given at the last council meeting for opinions on certain requirements, dispatched letters to Washington, D. C. last night giving reasons for the delay.

The council, which has had the loan and grant agreements since Sept. 1, has delayed action until the requirements were "ironed out and cleared up," Mayor Breene said.

United States Army Announces Transfer of Lieut. Col. Harwood

The transfer of Lieut. Col. Thomas E. Harwood, Jr., instructor of the national guard medical units in Iowa City, to Ft. Omaha, Neb., was announced last night in army orders from Washington, D. C.

Maj. E. L. Titus, formerly connected with the University of Iowa dental unit of the R.O.T.C., disbanded last June, will probably succeed Colonel Harwood, it was indicated in army circles last night.

Colonel Harwood, who has been in Iowa City for a year as instructor of the 186th hospital company, spent part of his time with the CCC units stationed near here.

Resurfacing Of Street To Begin Today

Workmen will begin this morning tearing up Burlington street in preparation for the $59,000 resurfacing job made possible through the cooperation of the city, the FWA, and the state highway commission.

Work on the street, to be done by the William Horrabin Construction company of Iowa City, will begin at the east end of the project near Summit street and Muscatine avenue.

U.S. highway 6 will probably be detoured this morning from Burlington and Gilbert streets south on Gilbert to Bowers street, east on Bowers to Summit, south on Summit to Kirkwood avenue, and Kirkwood avenue to lower Muscatine road. The detour will join the highway east of Iowa City at the Scott church.

The detour is routed over lower Muscatine road because of new approaches and a new floor being built on the bridge over the Rock Island tracks just outside of Iowa City.

ELECTROL SUPERIORITY...
Why is the ELECTROL oil burner given the widest national acceptance by engineers and discerning buyers of quality merchandise?
ELECTROL is a pressure type burner but not a gun type, long flame burner. ELECTROL flame is round, soft and enters the heating plant under low pressure. There is a maximum of refracted heat at the lowest possible effective place in the heating plant. It burns high heat No. 3 fuel oil. The factors make for highest efficiency and lowest operating cost.
ELECTROL flame is round and the same shape as 90 per cent of the boilers and furnaces in Iowa City.
ELECTROL works just as efficiently under a heavy load of 4 gallons of oil per hour as under a light load of 1 gallon per hour.
ELECTROL is installed OUTSIDE the furnace and the flame projected into the heating chamber so that in an emergency a fire may be had from solid fuels without injury to the burner itself.
ELECTROL is insulated against unnecessary noise and is noticeably quiet.
ELECTROL operates from electric ignition (the first burner to ever use this method), which is protected from interfering with your radio.
ELECTROL has only one wearing part and that always runs in oil. Hence, long life and ELECTROLS now starting their 18th year. No other oil burner has such a history.
ELECTROL is perfectly automatic, yet safeguarded by controls which positively prevent malfunctions and their consequences.
AND IN IOWA CITY
ELECTROL is sold, installed and maintained by . . .
Dane Company
with 5 years of successful oil burner experience and 11 years of merchandising heat.
