Crane Advises Against Grant Of Petition

Planning Advisor Says New Station Would Hurt Zoning

A definite recommendation against the granting of G. B. Pearson's petition to construct a filling station on Riverside drive near Myrtle avenue was made at a public meeting last night by Jacob L. Crane, Jr., of Chicago, consultant of the city planning commission.

"If you expect zoning to stick, and zoning is the most important item in the city's development, it is dangerous to change single lots from residential to business areas. The present zoning ordinance should be scrapped, and a new one set up," Mr. Crane advised.

Enough Now, He Says

There are enough filling stations here at present, he pointed out, and a filling station east of Riverside drive would spoil property suited for park purposes. When and if zoning ordinance is revised, sufficient outlying business districts should be established to provide for new enterprises, he recommended.

The planning commission, which engaged Mr. Crane last spring to draw up a long ranged development scheme, has twice deferred action on the Pearson petition, pending advice from Mr. Crane. The report presented in the engineering building last night is preliminary to a final report, to be made soon.

See PWA Continuance

Mr. Crane, who has been working with the federal housing administration in Washington, D. C., predicted a continuance of the PWA and urged Iowa Citizens to be prepared by drawing up a logical plan of public works construction.

Except for his advice on the Pearson petition, Mr. Crane made no important recommendations not contained in a report presented here earlier this summer.

Prof. Earle Waterman, chairman of the planning commission, announced that final action on the Pearson petition will be taken today.

Amount First Regular Pay On Contracts

Nearly 1,500 checks, totaling $209,000, will be distributed to Johnson county farmers early next week as the first regular payment on corn-hog contracts.

The checks, received yesterday by John O'Connor of Lone Tree, treasurer of the county corn-hog committee, have been delayed several months because of the AAA check up of contracts in all Iowa counties.

Close to Half Million

The $209,000 received yesterday, with the $205,000 in early rider contract checks paid last spring, will bring benefit payments to Johnson county farmers close to half a million dollars.

Checks will be disbursed to farmers in the office of County Agent S. Lysle Duncan on the second floor of the Iowa City post office building.

Because several of the checks have been held up for lack of necessary signatures, each farmer will receive a letter from the county agent telling him of the arrival of his payment.

Schedule Revealed

Only actual contract signers will receive checks and each signer must make out his receipt in person, County Agent Duncan said.

Farmers from Monroe, Jefferson, Big Grove, Cedar, Oxford, Madison, Penn, and Newport townships will be paid Tuesday. Wednesday, checks will be disbursed to those from Graham, Clear Creek, Harding, Union, West Lucas, East Lucas, Scott, and Sharon townships. Washington, Liberty, Pleasant Valley, Lincoln, and Fremont township farmers will be paid Thursday.

Cheer Leaders Appoint Meeker Varsity Captain

Robert W. Meeker, A3 of Clinton, has been appointed captain of the varsity cheer leaders. It was announced yesterday by Pi Epsilon Nu, pep fraternity.

Other varsity cheer leaders are E. S. Nuefeld, D4 of Des Moines; Charles Tye, L2 of Orange City; and Vernon J. Anderson, A2 of Des Moines.

Assistant cheer leaders appointed are Bruce Morrow, A2 of Council Bluffs; Vernon Carstensen, A2 of Clinton; and Henry Saunders.

Neal Vanderveen was chosen freshman cheer leader.

The varsity leaders will lead the cheering at the Iowa-South Dakota football game this afternoon.

Reconstructs Crime

The Mercer county physician in a statement written for the Associated Press, said that as he had reconstructed the crime:

"The child was kidnapped, removed to a home near Hopewell, N. J., kept for a few days with intention of a quick settlement of a ransom, but police activities became so great the kidnapers, fearing detection, killed the child either with a bullet or a blow to the head, hurriedly removed the child to the woods near Hopewell, did not take time to bury it or even take time to go any great distance in the woods; they made a speedy retreat and then finding that the child was not discovered, opened up negotiations with the family and endeavored to collect a ransom before the child was discovered."

Says Fascism Increases

CHICAGO (AP)—Professor Robert Moss Lovett of the University of Chicago, in an address before the second U. S. Congress Against War and Fascism, last night asserted that Fascistic activities in the nation had increased greatly.

Moses Defeats Seabury For New York G.O.P. Nomination

Cluett Wins Vote For Senatorial Position

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 28. (AP)—E. Harold Cluett, Troy, N. Y., won the nomination for U. S. senator from New York by the Republican state convention.

The nomination went to Cluett after the name of William M. Chadbourne, a New York City attorney, was withdrawn before the ballots were tabulated.

Cluett will oppose the present U. S. senator, Royal S. Copeland, who was nominated by the Democratic party for re-election.

The Republicans earlier in the evening had nominated Robert Moses, present parks commissioner for New York City, for the gubernatorial race. He was selected on the third ballot, defeating Samuel Seabury,

Spoon Dagger Found in Cell Of Hauptmann

Guard Increased To Prevent Suicide, Escape

CHICAGO, Sept. 28 (AP)—A man and a woman were held by police late tonight—the man described by Deputy Chief of Detectives Walter Storms as "resembling closely" the much hunted "John" of the Lindbergh kidnaping case. The couple was arrested on a "tip" whose source Storm refused to reveal.

(Copyright, 1934 By The Associated Press)

BULLETIN

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Sharpened to a knife-like edge, a metal spoon was found today in the cell of Bruno Richard Hauptmann, shortly after his counsel said a psychiatrist would examine the alleged Lindbergh ransom extortionist, presumably to determine the possibility of an insanity defense.

To prevent any attempt at suicide, or escape, Sheriff John Hanley of the Bronx doubled the guard outside Hauptmann's cell after finding the spoon.

Friend Questioned

Accompanying this spectacular development, a close friend of the German alien ex-convict, Hans Kloppeburg, was picked up and questioned by District Attorney Samuel Foley.

Kloppeburg's picture was in the Hauptmann album and he has been sought for several days.

Kloppeburg left the district attorney's office alone after five hours of questioning. He was asked to return tomorrow.

Meantime, Dr. Charles H. Mitchell, who made the official New Jersey autopsy on the body of the Lindbergh baby, expressed a belief the child was killed intentionally by the abductors. Some investigators have theorized it was injured fatally in a fall from the kidnap ladder.

Reconstructs Crime

The Mercer county physician in a statement written for the Associated Press, said that as he had reconstructed the crime:

"The child was kidnapped, removed to a home near Hopewell, N. TIME AND PLACE: 2:30 p.m., Iowa stadium

BROADCAST: Station WSUI, Iowa City; WOC-WHO, Des Moines

By JACK GURWELL
(Daily Iowan Sports Editor)

University of Iowa's 1934 football team, backed by no little publicity and a great deal of enthusiasm and optimism, will attempt to justify this rating when it swings into action in the stadium west of the river this afternoon against South Dakota university, reputed light but fast eleven.

The game starts at 2:30.

Barring inclement weather a crowd of approximately 15,000 is expected to observe Coach Oesie Solem's third Hawkeye team in action. Historically, this day marks the forty-sixth opening of an Old Gold gridiron season.

F.R. Serves Notice States Must Give Aid

Declares U.S. Efforts Only Supplementary In Emergency

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28. (AP)—The Roosevelt administration served new notice on the country today that federal relief efforts were designed to be supplementary and that the states and municipalities must carry a greater load.

To 500 social workers and civic leaders, assembled on the White House lawn for the opening of 1934 conference on the mobilization for human needs, President Roosevelt repeated his declaration at last year's meeting that only after all other resources prove insufficient should the federal government "add its resources to the common cause."

Harry Hopkins, relief administrator, later told a conference luncheon that he was tired of "alibis." He warned those states not cooperating that they face the withdrawal of federal relief. Community chest drives were pointed out by Hopkins as a relief fund source.

The president, Hopkins and Newton D. Baker, former secretary of war, and chairman of the mobilization, gave separate views on how long it would be before private agencies would take over the relief burden.

Women's Clubs Laud Programs Of WSUI, WOI

The educational programs of radio stations WSUI at Iowa City and WOI at Ames were lauded today in a resolution adopted at the closing session of the Iowa Federation of Women's clubs in Des Moines, the Associated Press reported last night.

The resolution urged local women's clubs to exert influence in behalf of the two state-owned stations.

Another resolution passed by the body asked local clubs to sponsor adequate municipal recreation facilities as a "prime factor in the prevention of the development of criminals." Present facilities should be maintained, the resolution said, and should be expanded as soon as practicable.

9 Killed, 20 Hurt In Collision Between Trains in England

WARRINGTON, England, Sept. 28 (AP)—Nine persons were known to have been killed and at least 20 were injured in a rear-end collision near here tonight between a fast London express and a slow local train.

Richberg Tells Industry Sudden Upheavals Will Be Discouraged

Richberg Is Rising Power In New Deal

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 (AP)—A rising power in the new deal is Donald R. Richberg, man of many titles who now is being credited with another—"brain trust" No. 1."

When the silent, big-shouldered lawyer slipped into the administration set-up a little more than a year ago he attracted so little notice there was no hint of how his career would skyrocket.

Legal Counsel

He arrived as legal counsel for the NRA, a duty that meant much quiet investigation behind closed doors, but little active work on the actual "firing line" of the code hearings. A Chicagoan, much of his legal work was in behalf of railroad labor.

Today he is president's second "three tile man." Secretary Ickes, also from Chicago, is the other.

Richberg has worn his three titles through much of the summer. But it was only with the president's executive order of yesterday, creating two boards to handle NRA, that the importance of his position became clear.

Is Now Director

Now he is director of the industrial emergency committee, the group which will formulate all recovery policies.

In addition, Richberg is executive director of the national emergency council, and executive secretary of the executive council. He is still drawing pay as NRA general counsel, but has been given indefinite leave of absence.

It was in this legal post his star began its ascendancy. His survey of all major codes took him into all divisions of NRA. His word was thought the final "aye" on the legal workability of a code.

Reserve Board Hits at Council

Rebukes Advisory Body For Demanding Gold Standard Return

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28. (AP)—The federal reserve board caustically replying to a demand by the federal advisory council for a return to the gold standard, a balanced budget and an end of monetary experimentation, they told the council that such affairs were none of its business.

The advisory council's call for "stabilization" caused no end of stir in the capitol. The group consists of 12 men chosen by the directors of the reserve banks to act in an advisory capacity. The council is generally assumed to reflect the opinions of its banks.

City council members, in special session at the city hall last night, approved the issuance of $28,000 worth of bonds to finance the Burlington street paving project.

The bonds, it was pointed out, will be retired with state highway commission funds, and will not mean a tax levy on Iowa Citizens.

Textile Strikers Ordered To Repeat Application for Work

Leaders Adopt Move To Determine Basis Of Complaints

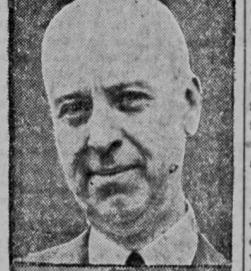

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 (AP)—Textile strikers who have been refused reemployment were ordered today by union chiefs in a strategy move to apply for work again next Monday.

Acting upon the direct recommendation of the new textile labor board, erstwhile strike leaders adopted this procedure as a means of gaining general re-determination of the basis of discrimination complaints already filed with the board.

By this method will be ascertained the exact number of cases to be adjudicated by that tribunal.

"I conferred with the textile board today," said Francis J. Gorman, national strike committee chairman, "and I was authorized by the board to notify all local unions that have discrimination cases, to send the workers to the mills on Monday morning and from that point we shall learn how many cases of discrimination we will have to handle. I am, therefore, issuing an order

New NRA Members

Revamping the NRA in the wake of Gen. Hugh Johnson's resignation as the blue eagle chief, President Roosevelt, announced the appointment of a six member policy board and a five man administrative group to take over his duties. Three members of the administrative board are, top, H. Clay Williams, tobacco company executive, center, Arthur D. Whiteside, chief of Dun and Bradstreet, and below, Sidney Hillman, NRA labor advisory board executive, and president of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America.

Council Approves $28,000 Bond Issue

City council members, in special session at the city hall last night, approved the issuance of $28,000 worth of bonds to finance the Burlington street paving project.

The bonds, it was pointed out, will be retired with state highway commission funds, and will not mean a tax levy on Iowa Citizens.

F.R. Sets Up Group To Hear Protests

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 (AP)—Acting to prevent disorder in the cotton garment industry, President Roosevelt tonight directed the creation of a three-man committee to hear protests, against cutting the work-week in that industry from 40 to 36 hours without a reduction of wages.

Amendments to the cotton garment code, putting this schedule into operation, were to have gone into effect Monday. By executive order, the president stayed the schedule until Oct. 15.

So strenuous had been the protests by cotton garment manufacturers that they would refuse to obey the hour-cutting, wage-raising order, and would take the matter to the courts if necessary.

Williams Will Top Executive Recovery Body

F.R. Tightens Reins Over Both Groups Of NRA

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 (AP)—Administration assurances that "sweeping changes by sudden fiat will be discouraged" went out to business today from the now multiple-headed blue eagle administration.

This word came directly from Donald R. Richberg, lawyer who helped mold NRA policies in their infancy, and now directs an administration committee specially created to advise Mr. Roosevelt on NRA and other recovery policies.

Williams Chosen

Simultaneously, Clay Williams, wealthy 50 year old industrialist, was chosen to head the national industrial recovery board now vested with all the business-bossing powers once wielded by Hugh S. Johnson.

Over both groups—policy making and executive—Mr. Roosevelt tightened reins of personal supervision in guiding NRA toward next winter's legislative gauntlet.

Richberg's assurance to industry that no sudden upheavals need be expected, was given at a crowded press conference called, he said, to avoid "misunderstanding and misinterpretation" of the relationships between his emergency industrial committee and the new NRA board.

"Most Important"

"The most important service at the present time in NRA," he said "is to provide continuing assurance against sudden or sweeping changes of policy, assurance of deliberative action and full discussion and an opportunity for those involved to be heard. The absence of sweeping changes applies to personnel as well as anything else."

Then Richberg, speaking emphatically as the reporters pressed close to his desk, added:

"The president will decide the policies. Our committee couldn't veto a decision by the industrial recovery board, but I would say the president, through our committee, could."

To Recommend to F.R.

With a smile, Richberg said his industrial committee will make the recommendations as to the course of NRA directly to the president, but "will intrude very little advice to the new board itself."

The suddenness of the creation of the new NRA administrative board evidenced Mr. Roosevelt's desire for pressing his reorganization plans. Sidney Hillman and Leon Marshall, the two labor members, were the only ones in the city today except for the ex-officio pair—Blackwell Smith, NRA legal advisor, and Leon Henderson, economic advisor.

Hillman and Marshall, in a long distance telephone hookup with Williams and A. D. Whiteside, the two industrialists, elected Williams chairman and Marshall executive secretary.

Marriage of Mary Scannell, Robert Larson Is Revealed

Ceremony Performed Last Spring At Cedar Rapids

Mary Alice Scannell, daughter of Mrs. Nellie Scannell, 650 S. Governor street, and Robert W. Larson, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. P. Larson of Ft. Dodge, were married April 17 in Cedar Rapids. It was announced last night at a party at the Scannell home.

Mrs. Larson, who graduated from St. Patrick's high school in June, has been active in Girl Scout work for many years. She has been a junior counselor at Camp Cardinal for the last three years and is now lieutenant leader of the Longfellow school troop.

Mr. Larson, a junior student in the University of Iowa, is a member of Alpha Sigma Phi social fraternity and is now co-captain of the varsity wrestling team. He has won a major I in wrestling and in 1931 was runner-up for the national interscholastic title. He was state champion high school wrestler in 1931, and was the winner of the most points in wrestling competition last year.

After an extended search, eight guests learned of the marriage in scrolls found in tiny treasure chests at the table. Guests at the announcement party were Eula Beck, Normalee Vanhorn, Nellie Scannell, Margaret Dane, Joe Scannell, Richard Sidwell, Louis Donohue, and Don Stutsman. Mr. and Mrs. Larson will live in Iowa City this year.

Women Golfers Conclude Play For Season at Country Club

Mrs. Joe Munkhoff Elected President For Next Year

Gathering for the last time this year after a summer of weekly tournaments, women golfers of the Iowa City country club played their last match together yesterday morning.

Mrs. Joe Munkhoff was elected president for next year. Mrs. Letty Spencer, vice president, and Mrs. Leo Carmody, secretary-treasurer, complete the list of officers who will assume duties next spring. Mrs. George Koser was announced winner of the all season "sociability" tournament, for playing the greatest number of games against the most opponents.

Luncheon Served
As a farewell courtesy, an elaborate luncheon was served, with all items on the menu titled in golfers' terms. A miniature golf links formed the centerpiece of the luncheon table.

Winners in yesterday morning's match were Mrs. Preston Coast, Mrs. Jule Kasper, and Mrs. George Koser. Of the 36 contestants, Mrs. Coast received the lowest number of putts in a nine-hole contest. Mrs. Koser received the lowest score with handicap and Mrs. Kasper won her match by the greatest number of holes.

Mrs. Henry Walker and Mrs. Paul Moore, Jr., took charge of arrangements for yesterday's play.

Met Each Friday
Directed by retiring officers, Mrs. R. L. Parsons, president, Mrs. Carl Strub, vice president, and Mrs. Vern Bales, secretary-treasurer, women golfers met each Friday morning for a round of golf together this summer. Hours of play varied with the temperature. In the hottest season golfers gathered at 6:30 a. m. to play before the morning sun rays became too unbearable. Luncheon or breakfast was always served following the play, which, during August, was directed by Don Young, country club professional.

During July a handicap tournament was conducted, and a championship tournament was in progress during August. Iowa City country club women golfers were guests at country clubs in Muscatine, West Liberty, and Marion. Out of town golfers entertained here represented clubs in Cedar Rapids, Marion, Muscatine, and West Liberty.

Electrol Heat

IS LOW COST AUTOMATIC OIL COST

Selling both coal and oil, we are in an unusually fortunate position to compare heating costs with both fuels. Then, also, we sell oil for many different makes of oil burners, and so have an unusual opportunity to find out which oil burners are economical and which expensive to use.

Here are the results of coal heat and ELECTROL oil heat in seven average Iowa City homes:—

	With Coal	With ELECTROL
Home No. 1—6 years	$157.12	$158.97
Home No. 2—4 years	194.93	204.24
Home No. 3—5 years	204.60	176.75
Home No. 4—4 years	165.10	102.95
Home No. 5—5 years	135.92	106.62
Home No. 6—8 years	153.41	140.90
Home No. 7—8 years	197.31	163.46

IN ADDITION—No smoke; no ash; no furnace attention needed. Automatic heat at an average of $150.76, compared with hand fired coal cost of $172.61. Times are getting better—give the family a real treat by having us install automatic heat in your home. It MAY cost a few dollars per year more; but if it does, it is well worth it.

From Traveling Methodist Minister To Artist--Route of Lester Fagen

Editor's note: This is the fifth of a series of articles dealing with Iowa artists whose work will be shown in the first Iowa City art library, to open in the public library next week.

5. Lester P. Fagen

From the position of traveling Methodist minister to artist is the route of Lester P. Fagen of Des Moines, one of the painters to be included in the Iowa City art library exhibit.

After his graduation, he went west, where he became a Methodist minister, serving first as a "circuit rider" on the plains of Wyoming.

Although he had received no training in art, he began painting western landscapes. After painting several years as a recreation, he took his first art courses in the Federal School of Art in Minneapolis, Minn.

In 1929, he exhibited 48 oil paintings and pastels in the hall of the Ogden Art society in Ogden, Utah, at the invitation of the society.

Mr. Fagen is especially known for his western landscapes and desert scenes. It has been said of him that "he has caught the atmosphere of the mountains and the desert as only a few artists have done."

Ex-Minister Of France To Fight Duel

SAINT MALO, France, Sept. 28 (AP)—Guy Lachambre, former minister of France, was slapped smartly on the face today, and tonight he planned to fight a duel with the man who insulted him.

The aggressor was Jacques Renouvin, Paris lawyer. He smacked Lachambre as a traffic snarl held up the former minister's automobile on a street here.

Lachambre discussed the affair with friends, and decided to accept Renouvin's challenge to a meeting on the field of honor. Lachambre's seconds will be Col. Guillaume, formerly attached to the staff of Marshal Lyautey, and General Barthelmy. They are to consult Renouvin's seconds Saturday.

The affair was an echo of the bitterness which has grown out of the fatal riots last February when mobs stormed the chamber of deputies.

The automobile of Lachambre who was a member of the Daladier cabinet, was halted in a town near here. When Renouvin, opened the door, reached in and slapped the deputy twice, saying:

"I was a manifest on Feb. 6. You are only an assassin." Thereupon, with great formality he handed Lachambre his card, saying "I await your seconds."

Marvin Day Goes Back Under Custody To Face Charges

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 28 (AP)—Handcuffed, but with a smile on his face, Marvin Day, alias Marvin O'Day, rode back to his Indiana home tonight to the scene of the brutal attack and slaying to which officer essay he has confessed.

Day, who says he is 16, but who is described by officers as possibly 20 or older, was placed in an automobile shortly before noon today for the long drive back to South Bend where 8 year old Marverine Appeal was brutally attacked and slain four years ago last August.

Transient Arrested

Exhibit at Ranney Library Commemorates King's Grant

A grant from Henry VIII, enabling Cambridge university to print books, is commemorated in the current exhibit at the Ranney memorial library, in the basement of Schaeffer hall.

In 1534, Henry VII granted letters patent permitting the university "to elect three stationers and printers or sellers of books, residing within the university . . . to print books of every kind that have been approved by the chancellor."

Although no printing was done under the royal patent until 1582 when Thomas Thomas was appointed university printer, the office has been filed continuously since then. "Herod and Pilate," by David

Maibaum Sells Movie Rights To New Play

"Lonely Man" Will Be Produced by Fox Studios

"The Lonely Man," a new play by Richard Maibaum, University of Iowa graduate and former member of the speech department staff, will be produced as a movie by the Fox Studios, according to an announcement received here yesterday.

The studio announced that it had purchased the screen rights to the play, and that it would be put into production as soon as it can be cast.

The story deals with the life of the late President Calvin Coolidge. It was reported that the Fox company is considering casting Will Rogers in the somewhat disguised role of the late president.

The comedian played in the Coolidge role several years ago in a radio broadcast, but it is reported that he does not desire the part in the new play because of criticism leveled at him at that time.

Maibaum, who has had three plays produced in the east and is soon to see his fourth go on the New York stage, received a degree from the University of Iowa three years ago.

On Campus Last Year Last year he returned to the Iowa campus as a member of the University theater staff, and worked on the proposed production of "Hiss! Boom! Blah!!" The play was taken out of production because of technical difficulties.

"Birthright," a play of Nazi Germany by the former Iowan, caused much discussion in New York theater circles last fall.

Christian Church Sends 60 Delegates To Meeting Oct. 16

The Christian church of Iowa City will send 60 delegates to the international convention of the Disciples of Christ at Des Moines, Oct. 16 to 21, the Rev. C. C. Garrigues announced yesterday.

Dr. William Rohrbacher, chairman of the attendance committee, will arrange transportation for persons desiring to attend the convention, the Rev. Mr. Garrigues said.

The convention will celebrate the sixtieth anniversary of the Christian woman's board of missions of the Disciples of Christ, founded by Mrs. Caroline Pearce, wife of the minister of the church here 60 years ago. Ministerial and lay leaders from this country and abroad will speak at the convention.

The center position, cause of worry on the part of the Hawkeye mentor, will start Ted Osmaloski, Toledo, Ohio, newcomer who has been out most of the week with a leg infection. Capable sophomore reserves, Merrill Robb, Jack Shea and Ray Mimsen, are on hand to fill in.

Reserve backfield material, composed mostly of sophomores, is likely to see action. George Teyro, veteran senior quarterback, and Bill Ash, senior fullback, lead the reserve material certain to play. Lawrence Haltom, Sheldon Gordinier, John Hild, Bob Moore and Paul Aldins are sophomore backs available.

Corney Walker, ransy Denver, Colo., end, has been laid up with an injured hip but should see action, as is the case with Frank Jakoubek, Cedar Rapids end.

Nothing in the way of intricate plays is expected in order to keep under cover the Iowa attack to be unleashed against Northwestern next Saturday.

Dionne Quintuplets Get Fingernails, Toe Nails Cut First Time

CALLANDER, Ont., Sept. 28 (AP)—One hundred tiny fingernails and toe nails were cut for the first time today as the Dionne quintuplets, having reached the age of four months, lay in the Dafce hospital.

Dr. A. R. Dafce, their doctor, said the mauling was an added indication of their development. Their nails were so soft before, he explained, that they broke off and no cutting was needed.

He said the improvement in their condition since the babies were moved to the hospital a week ago is remarkable.

"They were decidedly on the downgrade when we moved them," he stated, "but now they are on the way up. The color of their skin and their appetites have improved greatly."

"They laugh much more now, too, but the little rascals have been spoiled of late because we have had to pay so much attention to them. They cry till their lungs nearly burst and then when you go and stand over them they stop crying and start to smile."

Mrs. Gloria Vanderbilt Is Portrayed as Unfit Mother

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (AP)—Mrs. Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt was described today as a neglectful and irresponsible mother not to be trusted with the custody of her 10 year old daughter as the Vanderbilt-Morgan-Whitney families resumed their court fight for possession of the heiress to $4,000,000.

Mrs. Vanderbilt's mother, Mrs. Laura Kirkpatrick Morgan, declared in an affidavit that her daughter was an unsuitable guardian for Gloria Laura Morgan Vanderbilt and recited a chain of allegations to support her contention.

"Mrs. Vanderbilt devoted practically no time whatsoever to the child," declared another sworn statement by Emma Sullivan Kelsch, the child-heiress' nurse.

"Mrs. Vanderbilt endeavored to show Gloria how to make a cocktail and tried to force the child to drink orange juice although all liquids are forbidden by the doctor."

The charges were laid before Justice John F. Carew in a closed hearing on Mrs. Vanderbilt's habeas corpus writ to obtain custody of the daughter.

Mrs. Morgan intervened and asked the court to award guardianship to Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, the child's paternal aunt, who now has the possession of the girl and was charged with virtually kidnapping her by Mrs. Vanderbilt.

The hearing was adjourned for trial Monday.

"Little Gloria was like a poor orphan—she was not wanted," the child's grandmother declared. "I recall one day in Biarritz where we home to make room for guests: That she reared, without inspecting it, a Biarritz apartment 'infested with vermin' and located on 'a noisy street.'"

Mrs. Morgan contended that Gloria's frail health made it imperative that the child not be given to the mother's custody.

"She Felt So Unhappy" Miss Reisch, the nurse, quoted the child-heiress as saying "she felt so unhappy" with her mother that she would rather jump out of a window than stay home.

Mrs. Whitney denied that Gloria had been "virtually kidnapped" or that she was being held against her will. She declared that she took possession of the heiress because of her "highly nervous and excited and distraught condition" and charged her sister-in-law was responsible for the girl's bad health.

County Red Cross Plans for Chapters

Feet On the Ground—How Steadily?

THE president assured the nation Thursday night over a national radio hookup that it has its feet on the ground. He took courage in the belief that men and women in this country have learned to think for themselves, to find their own facts and adopt their own conclusions.

That is a pleasant belief, and one feels assured that it is at least partly justifiable. The man in the street is not nearly so prone these days to accept the word of men of wealth as gospel as he was before depression changed the color of things so completely. The same change is noticeable among students in the university.

It is in this latter group, of course, that The Daily Iowan is especially interested. Each year we have noted this improvement and have grown effusive about it, to the point of endorsing or actually sponsoring the organization of forums of different kinds as media for the expression of student opinion. Each time we have been disappointed.

Perhaps—and this is what we like to believe—the approach has been wrong. The thing hasn't been done in the right way; the response is there if one knows how to get it.

The Daily Iowan hopes that this year will prove the exception to a rule of long standing. As a preparatory offer, its columns will be always open to student opinion and suggestion providing, of course, that it remains within the bounds of decency and fairness.

The Dictator Asserts Himself Again

IT'S going to be tough on a lot of bachelors in Italy if Mussolini's announced intention of depriving all marriageable maids of their jobs is carried out. The purpose, of course, is to force them to find husbands and raise children for Il Duce's baby armies.

It would be possible to construct a lot of wise cracks about a situation like this, but one is more inclined to remark without much humor that Signor Mussolini is making a rather complete ass of himself.

Where Does The Money Go?

A FINE point of propriety is involved in the current tendency for men in high places to capitalize upon their official positions to sell books and pamphlets on political philosophy.

Publication today of Herbert Hoover's "The Challenge to Liberty" marks the beginning of a deluge of tomes, the Associated Press reports, on government written by men high and low in the national administration.

Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace has written a book called "New Frontiers" for publication soon as the choice of one of the national book clubs. It is expected to answer the former president. Soon after that will appear an autobiography by Hugh S. Johnson, fresh off the griddle of NRA controversy.

Late next month Secretary Ickes will burst forth with a volume on "The New Democracy," which is expected to reach decidedly different conclusions from those cherished by Mr. Hoover.

Well, maybe it's all right. Surely it is only proper that the administration in power make its position clear and answer criticism as honestly and openly as possible. But just offhand, it seems to the outsider that the proceeds should go for something besides a private cause. Maybe they do; if so, the public would be interested to know.

What Others Think

Individualists in Medicine
 (From The New York World-Telegram)

Medical Times, dealer in provocative editorial topics regarding the profession, asks, with a strong implication of an affirmative answer, if unorthodox medical individualism does not serve a useful purpose.

We will be explicit. Undoubtedly it does, though the unorthodox individualist, unless he is shrewd and keeps the right professional company, is likely to be ostracized and acquire a heavy incrustation of false rumor.

"Take, for example," says Medical Times, "James Graham, the noted charlatan of the eighteenth century—Edinburgh trained—who in America and England outraged the medical profession by forbidding the unfit to marry; by favoring early sterilization of every type of degenerate or the marriage of such degenerates to superannuated maids or old, dilettante women; by suggesting a special tax on spinsters who had rejected proposals of marriage and a similar tax on bachelors; by proposing that parliament enact triennial or septennial jubilees or matrimonial insolvent acts for the relief of wretched, discordant and barren couples; by urging a better balance dietary—less beef and more vegetables; by advising the continuous tepid bath and music in the treatment of the insane."

For the 1700s Dr. James Graham certainly was a modern. He foresaw the future and apparently helped create it and went far beyond the present. But if some good member of the New York Academy of Medicine or the County Medical Society got out and stumped the city for ideas as advanced now as they were then, the eyebrows of most of his co-fellows in those institutions would get weary raising themselves in questioning or disapproval, though one member of the Academy has written a courageous book on the subject of illegal operations.

The world might be a more diverting and a physically safer and happier place ultimately to live in if individualists in medicine were encouraged.

GOOD MORNING

That the high councils of American banking still are incorrigibly conservative is evident in the plea of the Federal Advisory council to the Federal Reserve board Thursday for a return to the gold standard. This is its position:

"Higher national income cannot be brought about by money manipulation but only through that increased volume of business and employment which will come in the future as always in the past when private capital is again assured that it can safely and profitably be put to work.

"No real or permanent recovery can be had, or can be reasonably hoped for until the country has been placed on a sound financial basis, and such sound basis necessarily implies a standard gold dollar of definitely and permanently fixed gold content, with other forms of currency redeemable at all times in gold bullion in the amount so fixed."

Since the beginning of the depression, 35 nations have raised their price for gold, and it is significant that the course of recovery is most pronounced where this procedure has been followed.

Perhaps the most noteworthy of these is Great Britain. She was among the first of the nations which laughed at the gold standard bugaboo and left it, and she has not yet returned. Recovery in England has proceeded without hesitation since she left the gold standard three years ago, and is continuing upward.

It is a strange coincidence that these same conservative critics who clamor for a return to the gold standard and for the abandonment of every piece of progressive administration adopted by the present government are the very ones who point to England—where the same methods were employed years ago—as an example of how recovery should be won.

England has pointed the way, but it is not the way of these men. It is essentially the way now being followed by the national government; if there is to be any serious fault to find it is that this government has not followed Great Britain far enough.

It is a mistake, of course, to consider money as the only important factor in depression and recovery. It is not. But it is interesting to note that what little recovery this country has experienced was coincident with the manipulation of the price of gold from $20.67 to the present stationary figure of $35.

For all practical purposes we are once again on the gold standard and have been since the price of $35 was fixed and left constant. Except for final legislative pronouncement, the government has given these men what they ask, and what is the result?

There is a general feeling today—and statistics of business activity bear it out—that recovery has come to a standstill. It reached that point soon after the government ceased its upward manipulation of the price of gold.

Though other factors always are involved so that the picture is blurred, the end of most major depressions has followed an increase in the price of gold, usually through an increase in supply.

Just before the discovery of gold in California and Australia, Europe and America were in the midst of the same breakdown as that which plagues the world today. In the midst of despair Marx and Engels issued their Communist manifesto—"Workers of the world, unite! You have nothing to lose but your chains!"

Then came the new flood of gold, and the world entered into an era of unprecedented progress which carried the United States to world supremacy. Marx wrote: "Capitalism has been revitalized by the gold stream. Our hope of communism has been deferred for two generations."

We cannot depend forever upon the providential discovery of new gold supplies in far corners of the world. But we can achieve the same results by raising the price of gold, which is controlled by the government.

We can defer realization of the communist hope indefinitely if we want to make use of the intelligence with which we have been endowed instead of permitting our destinies to be governed by the vagaries of chance.

Behind The Scenes in HOLLYWOOD
 By Harrison Carroll

HOLLYWOOD—The story is too funny to keep. About Jane Wyatt's letters to her geologist boy friend in the Byrd expedition to the South Pole. Jane is a comely Broadway actress who came to Hollywood to play the lead in Universals "Great Expectations." Her boy friend in far-away Little America heard the news and wrote asking Jane a lot of questions about the film colony and its people. Seeking to brighten the lonely existence of the South Polar exiles, Jane put all the lowdown she knew into her answer. And with very few reservations.

Imagine her amazement when letters started to flood in criticizing the frankness of her revelations.

The hilarious explanation is this: Mail taking so long getting to the Byrd expedition that the government sends many of the letters to Schenectady, where they are broadcast on a powerful short-wave radio station.

Besides Jane's boy friend, hundreds of owners of short wave sets listened to her spicy comments.

When Clara Bow and her baby leave the hospital, they will go to a brand new home, which the star and Rex Bell are building in Holmby Hills, adjoining the Bel Air district where so many Hollywood celebrities are now buying estates.

The one-time "It Girl" of the screen is ready to settle down at last. She has sold her Bedford drive house in Beverly Hills and the plans are all ready for the new home. Included, of course, is one of the most elaborate nurseries of any cinema menage.

Clara expects to go to the hospital in December. Several baby showers have been given to the red-headed star—the last by Marion Mack (Mrs. Louis Lewyn), one of Clara's closest friends.

What a well-known comedienne slipped out the window of her home while her husband was sleeping and had the time of her life showing the night clubs to her hairdresser and to an out-of-town fan?

Evidently, there will be no wedding bells for Sidney Blackmer, because the star is planning to organize a bachelor's club with headquarters in Hollywood.

Women are to be absolutely taboo within its walls, even the servants to be men. When members want to pull all-night poker parties there will be no one to deny them. As Sidney explains it, "we'll be able to put our shoes, golf equipment and fishing poles under the bed and leave them there for an indefinite period."

Informal Talks by Students Will Feature Debate Mixer

Affair Planned For Tuesday at Iowa Union

Informal speeches by students who have distinguished themselves in public speaking will form the main part of the program at a mixer for all debaters and students interested in public speaking Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the river room of Iowa Union.

There will also be a short "session of congress," with a bill for the abolition of all motion pictures to be discussed and voted upon. The committee in charge of arrangements is composed of John Harrison, G of Oakland, and Arthur Barnes, A3 of Eagle Grove.

The speakers and their subjects are: Robert Blakely, A2 of Onawa, "The Big Ten tournament"; Staten Browning, A2 of Iowa City, "Freshman debate"; Roswell Johnson, M1 of Ottumwa, "The Northern Oratorical league"; Tom Yoseloff, G of Mason City, "The Manchester tournament"; Earla Blaine Joseph, A3 of Hampton, "Women's debate"; Zedford Burriss, A2 of Des Moines, "Gavel club"; and Wallace Ashby, G of Oelwein, "The campus tournament."

Mr. Barnes, Prof. A. Craig Baird, Prof. H. Clay Harshbarger, Orville Hitecock, and John Hawkinson, A3 of Davenport, will talk on unannounced topics. The get-together, which is sponsored by Delta Sigma Rho, national honorary forensic society, will be presided over by Mr. Harrison.

League of Nations? Not Likely, But It's Close to It

The League of Nations could almost hold its conferences in the graduate class of the college of engineering this year, if the students could give less time to science and more to international law.

At least six countries are represented by members of the class, and according to Dean C. C. Williams about 50 per cent of the students are foreigners.

Countries represented include England, Germany, Austria, China, and Turkey.

Prof. Roy Flickinger Buys Graeco-Roman Mosaic for University

A Graeco-Roman mosaic, originally from Selinus, Sicily, was recently purchased for the University of Iowa by Prof. Roy Flickinger, head of the classical languages department. It will be on display for the present in Professor Flickinger's office.

The mosaic, purchased from a Chicago collection, was probably created about 400 B.C. Such a piece is quite rare in America, according to Professor Flickinger.

It is composed of tiny colored pebbles in a conventional pattern of circles, rosettes and spirals. Although it is about a foot long and seven inches wide, one side and corner are partly gone.

Prof. Ullman Of Chicago To Lecture Here

Prof. B. L. Ullman of the University of Chicago will lecture here Oct. 25 under the auspices of the Iowa society of the Archeological Institute of America. Prof. Roy Flickinger, head of the classical languages department, announced yesterday.

He will discuss "Changing Rome." Professor Ullman was head of the classical languages department of the University of Iowa from 1915 to 1925. He is author of several books and articles on Latin and Latin literature.

Edith Holmstrom Talks to Teachers

Edith Holmstrom of the university bureau of dental hygiene presented a mouth program to the rural teachers of Grundy county at Grundy Center, yesterday. The meeting, which took place at the county institute, featured Miss Holmstrom twice on the program.

New Plan in Use In Military Work Here This Year

In order to give sophomores who decide not to take advanced military training a chance to act in the capacity of instructors, a new plan is being worked out this year. Sophomores are being given a detail of freshmen military men and are responsible for teaching their details the fundamentals in the school of the soldier. Another new plan being worked out under the leadership of the new commander, Lieut. Col. George F. N. Daily, is the choosing of non-commissioned officers during the first semester rather than the second half of the year.

ABOUT SPORTS

BY JACK GURWELL

Bob Rush Returns . . . Boxing A Popular Sport . . . Touchdowns Count . . . Northwestern Should Have Good Line.

WELCOMING Bob Rush, last year's university boxing coach who returns for another long session of instructing University of Iowa ringmen in the arts of fistcurts. Under Coach Rush, boxing developed last year into a popular sport, climaxed by the all-university tournament. This followed The Daily Iowan's Golden Gloves tournament, the class winners of which fought in the Chicago bouts.

Coach Rush took a tour through the south this last summer, meeting 13 opponents. He defeated nine, lost three decisions and one fight was a draw. Rush says he fought in the hottest states in the country, Missouri, Kansas, Georgia, Arkansas, Oklahoma and Texas. Bob looked about the same as usual, no black eyes nor chopped lips, and with no teeth missing. He says his classes are full of students.

"I STILL can get around in the ring," concluded Coach Rush, "but I'm not as fast as I used to be." West coast boxing fans know Rush as "Cyclone Tommy Thompson." He was Pacific coast lightweight champion and billed as one of the stellar ring attractions. Coach Rush will bring his students along carefully, for, although only class bouts will be held for the better part of the first semester, the second annual Golden Gloves bouts and university and fraternity tournaments come up next semester.

OZE SIMMONS, Ft. Worth, Tex., halfback who is to go places with a football this year for the Hawkeyes, if the publicity accorded him is correct, says that he'll be more than satisfied if he gets loose to make some yardage. Concerning a photograph in a newspaper picturing himself romping down the field, Oze says that it's the touchdowns in the games that count, not the photographs.

So far, Coach Ossie Solem's opening game record is unblemished. In 1932 the Hawkeyes defeated Bradley Tech, 31 to 7, to open a dismal season. Last fall the Iowans knocked off Northwestern in a conference jarring contest, 7 to 0. If Iowa wins today Solem's mark will still be 1,000 per cent. Then, of course, a week from today we meet Northwestern.

REPORTS emanating from the Wildcat camp have Northwestern possessing a fast, heavy line and a set of versatile backs. Although Coach Dick Hanley will draw heavily on sophomore material, his line will be powerful. Hanley is one of the better line coaches in the country. His type of play—Hanley uses the Warner system of wingbacks—has to have a powerful, fast forward wall to protect the backfield until it can complete intricate maneuvers and get under way.

CARDINALS TRIUMPH TO TIE NEW YORK

Little Hawks Score Third Triumph; University High Victorious

J. Dean Shuts Out Reds With 4-0 Exhibition

Giants Face Dodgers Today; Cards vs. Reds Again

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 28 (AP)—Jerome Herman (Dizzy) Dean, who has backed up his superb confidence by doing practically everything one man could for the Cardinals, pitched the St. Louis club right into a tie with the idle New York Giants for the National league lead with a 4 to 0 shutout of the Cincinnati Reds today.

Pitching with only two days of rest, Dean made the Reds look like the dizzy ones as he limited them to seven hits and struck out one for every blow. His victory was his twenty-ninth of the season, against seven defeats, and his sixth shutout. He received able backing from his teammates in 12 well placed hits off Benny Frey and Allyn Stout.

Closest in Years
As the result of today's victory, the Giants and the Cards must struggle through the last two games of the season on even terms in the closest pennant race in years. St. Louis has two more games against the Reds and Manager Frank Frisch plans to keep tossing Deans at the tail enders until they are ready to cry quits. Paul Dean, Dizzy's younger brother, is slated for mound duty tomorrow and if that doesn't try it again Sunday. The Giants' two games are against an aroused band of Brooklyn Dodgers.

So effective did the elder Dean pitch today that only four Cincinnati runners got as far as second base and the Reds never succeeded in getting two hits in any one inning. Jim Bottomley got to the keystone corner in the second on a single and a sacrifice, Gordon Slade reached the same spot in the same way in the fourth; Adam Comorosky doubled to start the eighth and got no farther when Dizzy retired three men in short order and Harlin Pool connected for a double with two out in the ninth.

Frey was the victim of all the Cardinal scoring in three big innings in which Joe (Ducky) Wuckey, Medwick and Capt. Leo Durocher led the attack. Medwick made three hits, including a booming triple that accounted for the first run and he and Durocher each drove in two tallies.

Manager Frank Frisch set the style for his club when he doubled after two were out in the third and rode home when Medwick slammed his three bagger down the right field foul line.

The Cards took it up in the fourth. Bill Delancey opened the inning with a single and Ernie Orsatti doubled, moving him along to third. Durocher came through with a timely single to score his two mates but the Cards lost an opportunity for further scoring when Pepper Martin and Frisch died out after Dean had sacrificed. Rothrock drew the only walk of the game between these two outs.

Poor Turnout
The final tally came in the seventh when Martin, the first man up, beat out a roller to Second Base man Kampouris for a hit. Rothrock and Frisch went down on infield grounders, Martin advancing a base each time, but Medwick singled to score Martin with the last run.

Despite the Cards' great rush into a contending position, St. Louis

WEST BRANCH, Sept. 28—West Branch football crew grasped advantage of a fourth quarter break and converted it into a 6-0 triumph over St. Patrick's on a rain-soaked gridiron here this afternoon.

With three minutes gone in the final period and 12 yards short of a first down, Miller, West Branch fullback and kicking ace, dropped back to his own 35 yard line to punt. A wild pass from center delayed the kick and forced Miller to flee from the swarm of Irishmen. Evading the entire St. Pat. eleven for 50 yards, he was finally slammed down in the mire just 15 yards from the goal line. Short thrusts into Iowa City's inexperienced and effeted forward wall netted a first down on the four yard stripe. Miller, again lugging the ball, waded through for the touchdown. His attempt for the extra point was unsuccessful.

Up to this stage of the struggle, Coach Ryan's proteges had maintained a slight edge, registering an 8 to 5 advantage in first downs. They had stepped out in front in the first sessions, piling up three (Please turn to page 7)

U. S. Keeps Curtis Cup Golf Crown

Down Winfield 13 to 0; Third Win of Season

By DILLON GRAHAM
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

CHEVY CHASE, Md., Sept. 28—Sweeping five of the six single matches, the American Curtis cup team today repulsed a spirited challenge by England's foremost feminine golfers and successfully defended the internationally trophy by a point score of 6 1/2 to 2 1/2.

Put on their metal when the invaders delivered a surprising blow in dividing the three Scotch foursomes yesterday, the American stars crossed the experts by capturing all but one of the half dozen 18-hole singles contests over the Chevy Chase course this afternoon.

Strangely enough, it wasn't an English woman, but actually a veteran contender from the Irish Free State who punched out the only triumph accredited to the British forces. In a closely-contested duel, Mrs. J. B. Walker, runner-up in the Irish championship this year, won 3 and 2 from Mrs. Anelia Goldthwaite of Ft. Worth, Tex., one of the "freshmen" of the American squad.

In the other matches this country's stars flew high, virtually all of the way. Mrs. Logna Pressley Cheney, stocky, blonde-haired Californian, came through with the first United States decision, crushing Pamela Barton, the 17 year old darling of the visitors, 7 and 5.

Maureen Orcutt, the long-hitting Englewood, N. J., veteran, authored the next most impressive American win with a 4-and-2 decision over Molly Gourlay. The American champion, Virginia Van Wie, was one down to the former English titleholder, Diana Fishwick, through the first nine holes, but rallied on the home stretch to defeat her rival 2 and 1.

Football Swings Boldly Into Action on Far-Flung Fronts

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (AP)—Football, which ventured timidly into the sports picture last week, steps out more boldly tomorrow as leading college teams swing into action along a far-flung battle front.

With a few notable exceptions, bringing together sectional or conference rivals in the east, south and west, the major elevens plan to gallop for touchdowns against minor opposition.

No fewer than six Big Ten outfits will be making their bows with at least one of them—Northwestern—assured of a real test. The Wildcats oppose Marquette university at Evanston and this joust stands out as one of the most appetizing on the menu.

Iowa, Indiana
Coach Bob Zuppke will send his Illinois eleven against Bradley at Urbana; the Chicago Maroons will entertain Carroll; Bernie Bierman's rangy Minnesota Gophers open against North Dakota. Iowa plays South Dakota and Indiana partisans hope to get a line on their eleven in the tussle with Ohio university.

Dixie in Action
Other Dixie outfits will mingle with less important foes, Alabama playing Howard, Tennessee opening with Center, Georgia against Stetson and Auburn at home to Oglethorpe in the Southeastern, while Virginia, North Carolina, N. C. State and Maryland entertain Hampden-Sydney, Wake Forest, Davidson and St. John's (Annapolis) in the Southern.

The Panthers are favored over W. and J., but the game ranks right along with Marquette-Northwestern and Rice-Louisiana State as likely to produce fireworks. Army's new eleven expects a real test against Washburn college from Topeka, Kan.

Louisiana State
Biff Jones, former Army coach, has his Louisiana State squad primed for a stiff tussle with Rice in the only important game on tap in the southeast.

Intra-conference struggles are carded both in the southern and southeastern groups. Duke's Blue Devils go to Lexington, Va., for a Southern conference go with Virginia Military, Vanderbilt, with Col. Dan McGugin starting his last season as coach, plays Mississippi State at Nashville in the first southeastern test. Duke and Vandy are favored.

Also, the southern program calls for two inter-conference bouts, Clemson and Washington and Lee from the Southern meeting Georgia Tech and Kentucky of the Southeastern at Atlanta and Lexington respectively.

Pooler, Ross Score In Second Half Drives

Utah Downs Drake 6 to 0

By KERMIT BUNTROCK
Rain, mud, and a plucky Winfield eleven failed to stop the victory march of Iowa City high as the Wells men won their third straight victory 13 to 0 on Shrader field last night.

For the entire first half the powerful Red and White was held in check by fumbles, poor strategy, and determined defensive stands by the visitors; but they clicked with a vengeance on two brief occasions in the second half and scored a pair of touchdowns in rapid fashion.

Three times the Little Hawks crashed into the shadow of Winfield's goal in the first half and each time the attack bogged down.

The first march started on the City high 45 yard line when Jerry Pooler, offensive star of the game, knifed through the line and raced to the enemy 32 yard. After Pooler had gained two more on the next play, City high fumbled on the third and Winfield recovered on the 25 yard stripe.

Marshall Boots Far
Robert Marshall, Winfield's freshman punting ace, booted 40 yards, but the oval was returned to mid-field by Pooler. In two plays Pooler twisted to the 27 yard line and then tossed a 17 yard pass to Ballard, to put the ball on the 10 yard stripe. Here Pooler fumbled and Winfield again recovered.

Fumble, Fumble, Fumble
After the diminutive City high ace had returned Marshall's punt from midfield to the 38 yard line, he fumbled again, and then once more on the next punt on the 45. In both cases Winfield recovered the ball, a big factor in keeping the Wells men in check during the first half.

The Red and White's second quarter drive ended on the 23 yard line after Miller had recovered a blocked punt on the 30. With the running attack working for big gains, the Little Hawks took to the air and lost the ball on downs.

Ross Starts Drive
Big Paul Ross, shifted from center to fullback by Coach Wells, furnished the drive.

Cyclones Prepare For Opening Tilt Today With Luther
AMES, Sept. 28 (AP)—A light workout featured the Iowa State drill today as Coach George Veenker sent the Cyclones through a light passing practice and reviewed fundamentals in preparation for the Luther game Saturday.

Attention was given to the ends in blocking and tackling. Berger will start Saturday in the place of Conditt at guard, Veenker announced following the practice. Conditt is out with a sprained ankle.

Utah Downs Drake 6 to 0
U. high received the opening kick off and with Foerster and Wyjack alternating at the all carrying duties they marched straight down the field for a touchdown, Wyjack carrying the ball across from the three yard marker. The extra point was made by Foerster on a line plunge.

The other touchdown came in the second quarter when an exchange of punts, and a 10 yard pass, Foerster hit the line for three yards and Wyjack circled left end for three more. Foerster then skirted his right end behind perfect interference to dash 15 yards for the last six points of the afternoon. Foerster failed to convert the extra point on a plunge. The half ended a few minutes later.

Redskins Block Punt; Score on Pass In 3rd Quarter
DES MOINES, Sept. 28 (AP)—Utah's mighty Redskins, champions of the Rocky Mountain conference, swept to a 6 to 0 victory here tonight over Drake university in an inter-sectional football contest witnessed by less than 5,000 persons.

The powerful Utes, twice denied when on the verge of touchdowns in the first half, counted the only score of the game late in the third period when Rex Beekstead snagged Delmar Larson's short pass over the goal line. The placement kick went wide.

Near Perfect Line
Coach Ike Armstrong, a Drake star of 12 years ago, sent a near perfect line against his alma mater. The Drake offense got by midfield only four times during the game, and never was the Ute goal seriously threatened.

Break
The break of the game came in the third period. Beekstead recovered the ball for Utah after McKenzie had blocked Ubi's attempted punt. With the ball on the seven yard line, Utah tried a line play unsuccessfully, then uncorked the Larson to Beekstead pass for the score.

The outstanding Utah players were Larson, Gerald Lunn, fullback, and Dan Savich, slashing guard.

For Drake My Ubi, halfback, and Herb Scharlin, fullback, were the luminaries.

Casey Stengel, Dodgers Ready To Humble Giants; Van Mungo Slated to Hurl Against Enemy

Terry: "Are They Still In the National League?"

(By the Associated Press) The Big Six batsmen all were inactive yesterday and their places weren't threatened by the Cardinals and Reds...

By EDWARD J. NEIL (Associated Press Sports Writer) NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (AP)—The Polo Grounds looks like anything but the proper setting for melodrama...

But tomorrow, on that quiet field, the Giants and the Brooklyn Dodgers will churn the turf in the first of two games that will close out the National League season here...

0-0-0-0 Casey The Cards with two wins, continue their series against Cincinnati today and Sunday.

Brooklyn was more than ready for its part in tomorrow's drama, while the Giants, in the throes of a hitting slump, nerves ragged and tempers alighting, was never more poorly prepared...

"Brooklyn?" he asked coyly, puffing smoke from a big cigar, "are they still in the National League?"

From the Multitudes Casey Stengel, manager of the Dodgers, looks like a man who has struck off while digging for water...

Pleas for Vengeance There are telegrams, letters, a foot high on Casey's desk, all pleas for vengeance.

The Giants went through three hours of batting and fielding practice today. Young Roy Parmelee was Terry's choice to pitch tomorrow's game...

ST. PAT'S LOSE Initial Tilt of Season To West Branch

One of these aerial accomplishments in the initial period gave St. Pats their only scoring opportunity. Connor snatched a 25 yard pass from the Irish halfback and added 15 yards for land for a first down situation on the West Branch 15 yard line...

SKIPPY—This Topsy-Turvy World

Who Radloff With the Ball Punster Finds Outlet For Suppressed Puns

Maybe the Iowa coaches and football players are a touch afraid of the Coyotes, but the Iowa punsters know that there's nothing to fear. Take a look at the names!

The South Dakota team may have one man who's hard to BUCK, but Iowa has one who can run FOSTER than any of them. Even if the team goes into a slump, Iowa's captain will be able to FISHER out of it. Iowa may be afraid that they'll spread themselves all over our back PAGE, but even then, we'll have HOOVER just around the corner.

South Dakota may have been TERHUNE into everybody this year, but we have a great man who RADLOFF with the ball last year, and he'll do it again — isn't that what you SHEA? Most of the Coyotes look like they're going to DY-SON, and Iowa will be RICHARDS if that happens. Iowa is just AKINS to get after the opponent, but they feel sorry for the Coyotes because none of them look like they EVER-ETT!

CITY HIGH Defeats Winfield With 13-0 Score

(Continued from page 6) nished the spark that sent the Little Hawks to their first score early in the second half. He carried the ball 40 yards in his first three tries to put the Wellsmen on the 24 yard line. After he and Jones had advanced the ball five yards in two tries, a pair of passes called and Winfield took the ball on the 19 yard line. Marshall punted out of danger to midfield, but a romping 35 yard run by Jones on the next play again placed the visitors on the defensive. Ross carried a flock of tacklers with him as he power-housed to the six yard line. Eakes in two plunges advanced to the two yard strip from where Ross dove over the line for a touchdown. Eakes added the extra point on a line plunge.

The second touchdown was almost the single-handed work of Pooler. Inserted at the start of the third quarter, the speedy little halfback carried the ball 76 yards in two cleverly executed runs for the score. Ross' attempt to add the extra point on a plunge was stopped.

Winfield Threatens

Winfield's only serious threat came midway in the final quarter when a 15 yard penalty against the locals and a nine yard pass gave them the ball on the 16 yard line. With second down and one yard needed for a first down, the visitors were unsuccessful on two pass attempts and then were stopped on a line plunge, Iowa City taking the ball on downs.

For City high, Pooler was easily the ball-carrying star of the game. He knifed through holes like a veteran and flashed a clever side-step and change of pace that sent him off on long, reversing runs. Paul Ross, shifted from center to fullback in the last half looked good as he romped through the line and left tacklers strewn in his wake. Ross is big and unusually fast for his size.

DETROIT USES Cochrane's System To Win Games

(Continued from page 6) course. To play for a big opening in one inning and cleaning up. Your first five hitters in your lineup are your heavy hitters. Why waste them with sacrifices and leave the lower end of your batting order to bring home the runs? We stuck to our system and we have won a pennant as the result of it, and we'll continue to stick to it.

Confident that his team will prove just as big a surprise in the series as it did during the season, Cochrane says "We've got a great young ball club. They are game to the core and have proved it all season. We won the flag on sound baseball and on merit alone. We were not erratic, but consistent, and I don't believe there is a more colorful team in either league."

"The consistent manner in which we have played, the way in which we have won when we had to win, makes me certain that we are going to win the world series. I've been through three of them and I never was so confident as I am about this one. I'm not depreciating the power of the Giants or Cards. But I am more certain than ever before that we are going to win. I have a feeling in my bones that this is our year."

Mickey, rested after a grueling campaign in which he both played and managed his club to the top, says he is in "great shape" and believes "the rest of the team will go through the series the way they did during the season—without injuries."

Explanation Of "Strange As It Seems"

Although medical science has found that twins occur only once in 87 births, the stork has been particularly generous to the Ruff family of Peach Bottom township, Pennsylvania, where four sets of twins were born in three generations.

In the drawing above they are: back row, Albert, Catherine, Margaret, Gilbert; front row, Ruth Nathaniel, Jacob and Reba. Nathaniel and Jacob, the eldest pair, are 83 years old and still actively engaged in farming near Delta, Pa. Albert and Gilbert are sons of Jacob. They represent the second generation. The four girls are all in the third generation. Catherine and Margaret are granddaughters of Jacob, daughters of Edgar Ruff who is a son of Jacob. Ruth and Reba are daughters of Chester Ruff who is a son of Moses Ruff, a brother of the eldest twins.

Joseph Gurney Cannon of Illinois, known throughout the country as "Uncle Joe," served in the United States congress longer than any other man. Yet, strange as it seems, his career in Washington was interrupted by two defeats at the polls. He began in the house of representatives March 4, 1873, serving continuously until March 3, 1891, when he was defeated. He was elected again, two years later, to the house, where he served until he met his second defeat in 1913. He was elected again in 1915 and served eight years, at which time he retired.

Iowa has a noted player — "the CRAYNE, he saw, he conquered," and another man, Simmons, who will be noted 'cause he's OZE good. If the Coyotes tell the Hawkeys to "come up to MAYHAUS some time," the Hawkeys will just answer, "O, DEE me, no." So we're safe there. Now I ASH you? If the Iowa team does fall down on the job, they might try punning instead of punting—it might be more amusing. The punsters should have seen the coach about that—maybe they could have SOLEM on the idea. You know he's OSSIE nice!

Dr. Bywater Says U. S. Aid Prevented County Bankruptcy

Gives Address at Peoples Institute; Will End Today

Johnson county would have been bankrupt long ago if the federal government had not come to its aid, Dr. W. L. Bywater, head of relief work in Johnson county, said in a talk before the Peoples Institute in its second meeting last night at the court house.

Today's institute at the Baptist church, will have the following program: 10 a. m., Regional experimentation under the TVA by the Rev. Evans Worthley; 11 a. m., "Food values preserved," by Mr. Trafer; 1:30 p. m., "Some present labor conditions," by Mr. Daykin; 2:30 p. m., "Labor activities," by George F. Ramsey; 7:40 p. m., "The work of the reemployment office," by Nyle Jones. Mildred Greer will give a Spanish dance at 7:30 p. m., and the Hawkeye Serenaders will play for a dance at 8:30 p. m.

Tells Future Plans

Dr. Bywater, in speaking of relief plans of the present administration, said that the element in the country which objected most to the expenditure of the necessary funds was not the small taxpayers but the wealthy interests of Wall street. Future plans of relief as stated by Harry Hopkins, federal relief administrator, Dr. Bywater asserted, are to put every man to work who wants to work.

Other speakers yesterday were the Rev. W. P. Lemon, John P. Jenks, E. M. Sunley, and Frances Wilson.

The Rev. Mr. Lemon spoke on labor conditions throughout the world, and told of England's dilemma, in comparison with relief in this country. Strikes that have been numerous here lately are due largely to the industrialists, the speaker pointed out, and will have to be settled by an outside group of which neither labor or capital compose a predominant part.

Sunley Talks on Work

Mr. Sunley spoke of welfare work during the depression in all parts of the country, as a whole, and in particular states.

Miss Wilson, in telling of the work of the Social Service league, presented a triple set-up in which private, county and state social interests work under one central office.

John P. Jenks, a member of the American Federation of Labor, said that the purpose of unions is to increase wages, improve conditions of employment, and raise the standard of living through organized effort, collective bargaining, and resorts to strikes only when necessary.

Prof. Hawley To Address Students At Baptist Center

Prof. Charles A. Hawley of the school of religion will speak on "Religion and higher education" before the Roger Williams class at the Baptist student center tomorrow at 9:30 a. m., the Rev. Elmer E. Dierks announced yesterday.

Tomorrow at 3 p. m. Mrs. Elmer E. Dierks, assisted by members of Theta Epsilon sorority, will entertain all new women students of the Baptist preference at tea at the student center.

The evening meeting of the Roger Williams club will be an "interest finder" meeting at the student center at 6:45 p. m.

The Rev. Vernon L. Shontz, pastor of the First Baptist church of Muscatine, will be the guest speaker for the first of the monthly church nights Thursday at 6:30 p. m.; persons affiliated with the Baptist church or the Roger Williams club may make reservations for the supper at the church Sunday, the minister announced.

AROUND THE TOWN with Bill Merritt

Natural Gas

Mayor W. J. Neill of Cedar Rapids will speak on "Natural gas" at the first luncheon meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Monday in the American Legion Community building. The Chamber of Commerce is working with the city council to obtain information as to the feasibility of natural gas for Iowa City. Mayor Neill will describe Cedar Rapids' experience with natural gas.

Play Rehearsal

The cast of "How Boots Befooled the King" is to report to the recreational center this morning at 10 o'clock for rehearsal, Luella Reckmeyer announced last night.

Preparing Ballots

Deputy County Auditor William Kanak yesterday started to work on the ballots for the November election. Township ballots will be prepared first.

Deadlines Today

Today is the last day for payment of the city poll tax at the clerk's office in the city hall and also the final date for payment of the 1933 general property tax at the office of County Treasurer W. E. Smith. The treasurer's office will remain open this afternoon for the convenience of last minute tax payers.

Octagon Checker Club

The Octagon Checker club will hold its second meeting of the year Tuesday night at Redman hall. The club has a membership of 25.

Veiled in Mystery

The biggest mystery in Iowa City at the present moment seems to center around the identity of the manager of the state liquor store. It is generally agreed it will be a Democrat, but which Johnson county Democrat will draw the job?

University Hi Students Elect

Names of new officers of the University high school student council were announced yesterday afternoon at the first assembly this year. Ed Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Thomas, R.F.D. 4, and a senator in the school, was elected president; Jane Robbins, daughter of Prof. and Mrs. C. L. Robbins, 1049 Woodlawn street, also a senator, was elected vice president; and Betty Martin, daughter of Prof. and Mrs. G. W. Martin, Ridge Road, a sophomore, was named secretary.

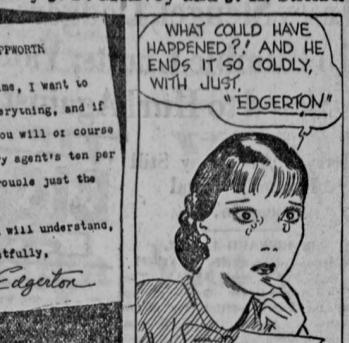

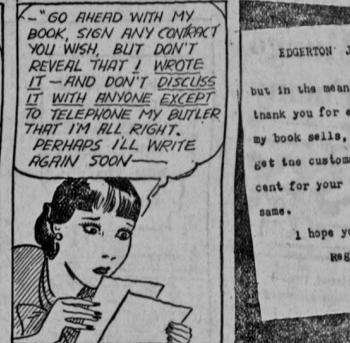

Other members of the council are: Betty Crum, John Mattill, Mary Carolyn Kuever, Hamilton Ries, Sidney Miller, Ada Schmidt, C. McCleery, David Foerster, Charles Smith, Ruth Olsen, and Bill Welt.

Althea Sprague To Arrive Here Today

Althea Sprague, formerly of La-Grange, Ill., will arrive today to take charge of music instruction in University elementary school. It was announced yesterday by Ann Pierce, head of the department of music in the elementary and high schools.

Miss Sprague graduated from the American Conservatory of Music in Chicago, and Lawrence college, at Appleton, Wis.

Aviatrixes Form Emergency Corps

America's women flyers are on the warpath. Not yet recovered from the humiliation of being barred from participating in the National Air Races, held recently in Cleveland, the aviatrixes are determined to make themselves worthwhile and "show up" the men. Under the leadership of Mrs. Florence (Pancho) Barnes and Bobbie Trout, of California, they are organizing an emergency flying corps for use in case of forest fires, floods, earthquakes and other disasters.

LOS ANGELES (I.N.)—America's women flyers decided to take a leaf from the books of Soviet Russia's aviatrixes and demonstrate that they, too, are able to compete with men in handling ships of the skies.

This decision is due mainly to the fact that they still are smarting from the humiliation of being excluded from the recent National Air races in Cleveland, because "women and other amateur flyers" reportedly tended to rob the aviation of its thrills and "slow down the speed tournaments."

Two of the queens of the air, Mrs. Florence "Pancho" Lowe Barnes, chubby California pilot, and slim Bobbie Trout, who have handled planes with veteran skill during recent years, are leading a group of famous feminine flyers in demonstrations to show how indispensable and useful they can be.

Unlike their Russian sky sisters who are thickly scattered among the powerful Red bombing squadrons and handle the stick of scores of huge passenger planes, America's women flyers always have had to take second choice "pickings," they contend.

"We can't handle machine guns or war planes," they declare, "but there are other jobs we'll be able to take over."

Ever-smiling "Pancho" Barnes,

Recreational Center Reveals Program of Fall Activities

Supervised Saturday Play Periods New Feature

The fall program of the Iowa City Recreational center was announced last night by Luella Reckmeyer, director, following a meeting of the activities committee. Members of the committee are Mrs. Jessie B. Gordon, Mrs. A. C. Moyer and the Rev. Llewellyn Owen.

A new feature of the program will be supervised play periods Saturday mornings starting Oct. 6. Permission to use the Horace Mann school playground has been given and one other playground may be secured, according to Miss Reckmeyer.

Touch Football

Touch football teams for the boys and kickball for the girls will also be organized on the Saturday periods. A variety of less highly organized games are being planned for those not interested in team games and for the small children. Directors of the Saturday playground sports will be men from the recreational center staff and women from the university class in recreational leadership. Several of the women of the group have had over

Ernst Coaches Boys in Pool

George Ernst of the men's physical education department is coaching the boys in pool and Sanford Robinson will hold Saturday afternoon classes in ping pong. Lomar Smith, Le Siegel, and Allen Hurley, also of the physical education department, will aid in the fall program. Jean Coffey of the social science department will be assistant sports coach Wednesday and Friday afternoons.

FRIENDS AND FELLOW-CITIZENS:—

In a few days we will be into October—the month of melancholy days, frosts and first hand indications of much colder weather. Mosquitoes have disappeared but flies and other pests we still have with us. We know the flies will disappear during the month and we are sure that "coal salesmen" will also disappear.

It is freely predicted by reliable producers and distributors of coal that there will not be enough high quality domestic coal to go around this winter.

What we are trying to tell every last one of our customers is that it is important this winter—as never before—to fill your bin while coal is freely available.

The five-day week and the seven-hour day have cut mine production so much that it takes from 30 to 50 days to get a carload of Pocahontas coal AFTER the order has been placed.

Mines can only produce coal as fast as screenings can be sold. Industry is still running short hours and screenings move very slowly. Our latest advise on mine running time is that smokeless mines are hard put to get in 18 hours per week of actual work. For every ton of Pocahontas coal you get for your house, the mine has to sell a ton of screenings to industry. When there are few sales of screenings there are few tons of coal available for household use.

Codes have reduced hours and raised wages. These things raise retail prices for the final dollar has to come from the consumer.

We believe there will be an increase of at least 50c and quite possibly $1.00 a ton in the COST OF COALS between now and the first of January.

Insure yourself against a short supply and higher prices by filling your bin now.

Yours truly,
THE DANE COAL CO.

Everything actually known to Science, that will make a good cigarette, is used in making Chesterfields. An eminent scientist wrote, a short time ago:
"Chesterfields are just as pure as the water you drink."
