

BORAH RENEWS CHARGES OF WASTE

Republican Independent Asks Investigation by "Disinterested Committee"; Urges Safeguards

Mob of 200 Seeks Negro, Girl Attacker

E. K. Harris Charged With Attacking 14 Year Old White Girl

Says Millions Wasted By Administration Of Funds to U.S. Needy

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19 (AP)—New charges of waste amounting to millions of dollars were aimed at the relief administration tonight by Senator Borah of Idaho.

In a radio address the veteran republican independent boomed a demand for an investigation by a "wholly disinterested committee or tribunal." Asked before he stepped to the microphone what he meant by that, he said: "congress."

Urges Safeguards

Borah urged that the administration wrap additional safeguards against waste around the huge relief program contemplated for next year.

In one western county, he asserted, he had a report that $4 had been disseminated in relief but that the cost of administration had been $572. In another county it cost $576, he said, and the amount administered was $6.

"The relief problem will be with us for a long time," he asserted. "It is going to take not only millions, but it will run into billions. Every dollar saved in administration means food and shelter for the needy and the unshoused."

Proposes Investigation

"Before we start upon a new program, there ought to be a thorough, searching and dispassionate investigation by disinterested parties, not only as to things past but as to how best to deal with the matter in the future. With the cost and expense now being incurred, there is going to be a breakdown."

Evidently replying to the claim of Harry L. Hopkins, the relief administrator, that he had supplied no specific evidence of "shameful waste" to a PERA investigator who conferred with him last week, Borah said nothing had occurred to justify modification of his accusations.

Goes Into Details

Instead, he went into more detail regarding reports of "waste" which he said had poured into his office.

"The source of waste seems to come from administration in the field," he declared. "The administrative payroll is enormous. Those in authority in different sections of the country, through pressure or desire, seem to place a wholly unnecessary number of persons on the administrative payroll at salaries beyond what the service justifies."

"Many of these persons cannot qualify on the basis of relief or of experience. The payroll becomes clogged and padded and the cost of administration runs in some instances from 25 per cent to 59 per cent of the sum administered."

SHELBYVILLE Tenn., Nov. 19 (AP)—A crowd described as "about a couple of hundred people" entered automobiles before the city hall tonight to go to Murfreesboro, Tenn., after E. K. Harris, Negro charged with attacking a 14-year-old white school girl near here today.

The Negro was taken from the city jail shortly after his arrest about 7 p.m. and rushed toward Murfreesboro where he was to be placed in the Rutherford county jail for safekeeping.

At Murfreesboro he was turned over to Rutherford county officers, who took him to the Davidson county jail at Nashville, reaching there at 9:30 p.m.

City Policeman A. F. Hamilton, who aided in the apprehension of the alleged attacker, described the crowd milling before the city hall.

"There's about a couple of hundred out there now loading into cars going to Murfreesboro," he said. "A good many have already gone."

Negro Denies Attack On Virginia Girl

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 20 (Tuesday) (AP)—Sheriff T. Wilson Seay of Henrico county said early today that Phillip Jones, 25-year-old Negro murder suspect, had made a new confession of the slaying of Alice and Ellen Hill of Clinton Forge, in which he absolved three other Negroes held.

Jones emphatically denied, the sheriff said, that he had attacked either of the girls.

The coroner who examined the girls after their bodies were found in a rainwashed gully near Jones' home, said the older girl, Alice, 13, had been criminally attacked.

The four Negroes, Jones' wife, Chester Smith, John Pryor and Jones, were brought here late last night after they had been hurried away from Clifton Forge and Roanoke.

In Clifton Forge Jones' house had been burned.

Child Scalded Critically

LINCOLN (AP)—Alvin Neal Sherwood, 13 months old, was scalded critically here last night when the child tugged at the cord of an electric peccolator and upset it. Boiling coffee caused third degree burns over most of his head and body.

National Industry Congress To Seek Cooperative Recovery

Leaders Disapprove Public Utilities Policy; Labor Head Skeptical

NEW YORK, Nov. 19 (INS)—Business leaders and administration representatives today were planning for "a national congress of industry" to be held in New York Dec. 5 and 6 in an intensive drive toward recovery.

The call to congress was issued yesterday by the national association of manufacturers.

Fifty of the nation's most influential business heads signed the call which sounded a note of cooperation with the government.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19 (AP)—The newly cemented friendship between big businesses and the administration was ruffled—hardly shattered—today by President Roosevelt's forceful reiteration of a public utilities policy decidedly distasteful to the leaders of the cooperative recovery move.

Nor was the surface of the accord made smoother by labor, William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, reiterated in a statement tonight he was "skeptical as to the real degree of cooperation" big business would give the administration.

Public ownership of power plants and power lines, which the President said should be extended to every state in the union, is a form of governmental competition with private interests to which business organizations are unalterably opposed.

Nevertheless, Mr. Roosevelt's assertion of last night is hardly to be made the occasion for a renewal of the recently ended feud between business and the White House. Business is anxious to consolidate the gains it has made in the few days since the word "cooperation" began filling the headlines. It will proceed with its plans.

Studying the implications of the President's speech of last night, many interpreted it as saying while Mr. Roosevelt was glad to have business working with rather than against him, he wanted it understood that he was safeguarding his freedom of action.

League Plan Is Refused

1,000 Bolivian Dead Reported by Leader Of Chaco Forces

ASUNCION, Paraguay, Nov. 19 (AP)—Paraguay officially refused today to comply with the report of the League of Nations consultative committee which recommended arbitration in settlement of the Chaco war between Paraguay and Bolivia, and a cessation of hostilities pending the arbitration.

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 19 (AP)—Unconfirmed newspaper reports from Formosa, in the Argentine Chaco, said tonight that 1,500 fleeing Bolivian soldiers had taken refuge on Argentine soil. The reports added they were not inclined to yield their arms.

Probation Officer Asks Assistance in Locating Two Runaway Girls

Mrs. Mabel Evans, probation officer, yesterday afternoon broadcast an appeal to help find Meta Gifford, 13, and Violet Dunaway, 14, who ran away from the juvenile home, 1338 S. Gilbert street, Friday night, Iowa City police officers are also on the lookout for the girls.

The two were to be brought before the juvenile court last Saturday morning for running away from home to Cedar Rapids the previous Tuesday. Sometime during Friday night they left their sleeping room on the third floor of the home and used the fire escape as a way out of the building, according to the juvenile matron. They were on their honor not to leave.

Death Stalks Island of Life

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 19 (AP)—One of the little volcanic rocks of the Galapagos Archipelago that Charles Darwin a century ago said offered clues as to how life first appeared on the earth, today holds a strange mystery of death.

A pole from which fluttered a tattered rag distress signal, a little skiff, a bundle of baby clothes, and two human bodies, ravaged by the elements after a slow death by thirst and starvation, formed the unfinished story.

Dispatches from a tuna fishing clipper, the Santa Amargo, told this much. In addition they disclosed one of the bodies apparently was that of a large man slightly bald. The smaller form was in such condition it could not be certain whether it was a man or woman.

A packet of letters also was found, signed Margaret Wittman.

The lonely, waterless isle is known as Marchena, 160 miles northeast of the old convict island of Charles, which is near the equator, 500 miles off the coast of Ecuador.

Nine persons are known to have been on Charles Island, including the Wittman woman.

They were Arthur, her husband, a 14-year old son and a two year old baby, the only white person known to have been born in this strange Archipelago; Dr. Friederich Ritter, Berlin raw food exile, and his mate, Frau Dora Strauch Koef-wien, also of Berlin, and the Baroness Eloiise Bonquet de Wagner of Vienna with two companions, Alfred Rudolph Lorenz of Paris and Robert Philpison, her mate.

All were self exiles seeking an island paradise.

State Administration Advocates Sweeping Government Reforms

'Hot' Session Of Legislature Is Indicated

State Police System, Welfare Boards Among Recommendations

DES MOINES, Nov. 19 (INS)—Sweeping governmental reforms advocated by the state administration today indicated this winter's session of the Iowa legislature will be a stormy one.

The administration's program would not only revise the machinery of state government but would reach down into cities, counties, and townships to affect almost every public office-holder.

Broad outlines of the plan, and some of its intricate details, were revealed by Gov. Clyde L. Herring and the legislature interim committee at a conference with Iowa editors yesterday afternoon.

Proposals Urged

Among the proposals to be urged upon the legislature are:

1. A "department of public safety," actually a state police system, which would not only patrol the highways and pursue criminals but would also absorb inspection and enforcement functions of six existing state departments.
2. State and county public welfare boards which would assume functions of a score of agencies and delegate broad powers to appointive state and county welfare administrators. Among other agencies, county soldiers' relief commissions would be abolished.
3. State and county purchasing agents who would do virtually all of the buying for their respective governmental units.

Follow Brookings Survey

These are only three of a list of recommendations which will be made by the interim committee, it was made clear.

The proposals follow in general those made by the Brookings institution after a survey of Iowa government, but in some respects they are more drastic.

The keynote of the entire plan is centralization of authority. It would place another large portion of state government directly under the governor and would give five-member county boards complete authority over local welfare activities.

Salaries Set by Governor

Salaries of state officers created would be set by the state comptroller and the governor.

Experts Give Endorsement To Proposals

Philadelphia Record Says Night Life Figure Seized For $100,000

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 19 (AP)—R. George Harvey of the department of justice, said tonight his men are investigating the reported kidnaping of William Weiss, night life figure.

Weiss was seized near his home on October 26 by "underworld characters" who have since demanded $100,000 ransom, the Philadelphia Record says in a copyrighted story.

Members of his family enlisted the aid of associates of Weiss in an attempt to raise the ransom money and did not report the kidnaping to the federal men until today, the paper says.

"Whether the ransom has been paid remains a secret, the paper states.

Other than the bare statement that his department has received a report of the kidnaping and that the investigation was in progress, Harvey would say nothing. Philadelphia police said they "know nothing about it."

Weiss, who is about 40 and who maintained an office in a downtown building, was "snatched" just outside his home in the Overbrook section, the Record says.

Justice Agent Investigates Kidnap Report

Governor-Elect's Daughter Threatened

KENT, O., Nov. 19 (AP)—Despite a reported underworld plot to kidnap her, pretty Evangeline Davey, 23-year-old daughter of Governor-elect Martin L. Davey sat safely in her home tonight, calmly asserting: "I'm not afraid."

A special escort of state highway patrolmen was assigned to guard her when she motored to Columbus last Saturday to witness the Michigan-Ohio State football game.

A Stein Is a Club--

But There Are Some Who Want Capitals And Punctuation

When Gertrude Stein arrives in Iowa City Dec. 10 with Alice B. Toklas and her dog Basket, to give a lecture before the Times club, she will find not only a Stein club, but an Anti-Stein club to greet her.

The Anti-Stein club, organized in secret, has for its membership a group of die-hards who believe in such things as capital letters at the beginning of sentences and punctuation.

Because of their sponsorship of such radical principles, the members of the club have not dared to make public their names. However, Prof. John A. Eldridge of the physics department set forth the club's objects in a letter written exclusively for The Daily Iowan yesterday.

The letter is herewith presented, in order that readers of the Daily Iowan may obtain as clear a view of the matter as the editors did: "Dear Editor, Editor, Editor: "a lemon is a lemon is a lemon is a lemon. unless it are a par-sump. what of it: and is just as a rose by any other name is just as like a lemon. christopher stein and gertrude morley, gertrude versus shake-speare and stein versus william. now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their party? But still what of it?"

OBJECT OF THE SOCIETY

"More CAPS instead of lesser; More and yet MORE MORE! ditto punctuation xxx?/?/, dash xix! and !/?/*? stop !?x*?Z!"

"Signed and designed. Professor Gertrude Christopher." The editors of The Daily Iowan offer one free membership in the Anti-Stein club, which will probably be organized soon, to anyone furnishing further information on this nefarious organization. Organization organization.

Crazed Watchman In St. Louis Kills One, Injures Two Others

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 19 (AP)—In bloody frenzy through stores and recreation centers on Olive street here tonight a crazed night watchman shot and killed one man, seriously wounded another and a young woman and was himself brought down by police bullets.

The watchman, Henry Blumh, 51, was rushed to a city hospital with wounds in the head and arm. Hospital attaches said he had little chance for recovery.

The special officer began shouting in a drug store, critically wounding David Glazier, the proprietor. From there he went a few doors down the street and killed Louis Cuneeo in his saloon. He then dashed into a roller rink and critically wounded Mildred Smith, the cashier.

Six Historic Iowa Landmarks To Be Restored; Cost $15,000

John Brown's Home Included; Survey Made in 80 Counties

First steps toward the restoration of six Iowa historic sites, recommended in a report to the state planning board, are now under way. Jacob A. Swisher of the State Historical society announced here yesterday.

The report, submitted to the planning board by Mr. Swisher and D. Russell Paul of Ames following a survey of possible sites throughout the state, recommended the restoration of six historic shrines at a cost of $15,000.

An application for federal relief funds to purchase, mark, and restore the house where John Brown, Civil war abolitionist lived, near Springdale, is already under consideration in Washington, D. C. This project, representing a cost of $3,000 is the most costly of the group.

Plans are also underway now to restore the first schoolhouse in Iowa, built at Galland in 1830. This project will cost about $1,500, the report estimated, and will involve reconstruction of the building.

It is expected that federal emergency relief funds will be available to carry out all of the six projects contained in the report of the two men. In addition to those already mentioned, the restorations recommended are:

A six story mill, now used as a barn, near Motor. Estimated cost of purchase and repair $2,000.

The home of Ansel Briggs, first governor of Iowa, who served in 1847-7, at Andrew. Estimated purchase price, $2,000.

A farm house near Winterset, used as part of a slave underground railway before the Civil war. Estimated purchase price, $1,500.

An old flour mill at Decorah, still in use. Estimated purchase price, more than $2,000.

The report also recommends the erection of highway markers near the most important historical sites in the state.

The survey by Mr. Swisher and Mr. Paul was made last summer. Working under the auspices of the State Historical society and the state planning board, the men traveled in 80 counties, viewing suggested sites for restoration.

The John Brown house at Springdale has been especially urged for reconstruction and preservation as a state shrine. This matter was under consideration by Prof. Benj. F. Shambaugh, superintendent of the State Historical society, early last summer. At that time Professor Shambaugh favored its restoration, and pointed out that its state of ill repair would mean its entire destruction unless some steps were taken immediately.

Mr. Swisher and Mr. Paul considered one site in Johnson county in their survey—the site of the camp erected by the Mormon handcart train near Coralville.

Moley Reported No. 1 Aide Again; Acts as Peacemaker

London Conference Forgotten as New Plans Go Forward

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19 (AP)—Raymond Moley was reported today in high quarters to have returned to the right hand of President Roosevelt.

The one-time "brain trust number one," whose star in the Washington government ascended speedily and with a scintillating brilliancy, only to fall and lose color a year ago, has returned in recent months to become the right bower among the chief executive's advisers on things politic and economic.

Inner administration circles are giving the former undersecretary of state much credit for originating the idea of the recent truce, struck by "big business" and the "new deal" as a united move for recovery.

Those close to the situation assert that he first sold to the president the idea that the new deal must have the cooperation of business in order to accomplish the goal of his administration. Then, they say, he sold the idea to business groups that unless they worked hand in hand with the new deal there was little hope of improving economic condition and increasing employment.

Further, they contend that Moley, writing in his magazine "Today," opposed the gubernatorial candidacy of Upton Sinclair, former socialist running under the democratic label in California, and that the administration thereafter quickly turned a cold shoulder to Sinclair and his "end poverty" program.

Moley now slips quietly into Washington from New York one or two times a week to confer with the president at the White House in unannounced evening sessions. Frequently he is a dinner guest but little is known publicly about his movements and the many leaders in official life he contacts during his visits.

In recent months Moley has done much of the research work in preparing material for Mr. Roosevelt's radio fireside chats and other speeches. His intimates say that he actually has made the first drafts of speeches along lines suggested by the president and that they go over some of the speeches together after Mr. Roosevelt has revised and put them in his own language.

It is further recalled that the former Columbia university professor of civic government drafted a government anti-crime program and that many of his suggestions were adopted in whole or in part during the last year. Moley was assigned by the president to the study after an inside blow-up following his efforts at the London economic conference,

Eunice Prien Opens Course

Member of National Girl Scout Staff Outlines Principles

"Girl Scouting is an educational movement," said Eunice Prien, member of the Girl Scout national field training staff, in the opening meetings yesterday of the leaders' training course, given in conjunction with the recreational leadership class of the physical education department.

"To learn by doing is the Girl Scout way," said Miss Prien in explaining the four educational principles of the Girl Scout program.

"The average gang is composed of eight members, and in that group there is usually one leader," she continued. The patrol of no more than eight members, the basis of the whole Girl Scout program, was devised for this reason.

Miss Prien will meet with the recreational leadership class tomorrow and Friday at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. to complete the training course.

Meeting with local leaders and leaders of lone troops from neighboring towns tonight and Thursday from 7 to 8:30 p.m., Miss Prien will present an outdoor program.

Local leaders will then meet with her at an outdoor meeting Saturday at 11 a.m. at the Rotary Boy Scout camp.

News and Reviews of THE NEW BOOKS

As the Presses Roll—

Books have been published here-fore about the "boners" committed by applicants for government relief. It remained for Joseph Kroman and John Tully to write one-

Jenny's Story

Dottie married a Canuck and left her folks, she hated them all, anyhow. But Jenny couldn't do that way to her Ma and the folks. She was so much in love with Berkley, and Berkley didn't approve of Minna and Grandma and the rest.

S. U. I. Symphony Orchestra To Open Program Tomorrow; Beethoven Number Featured

Beethoven's "Pastorale" symphony will be the featured number on the first concert program to be given by the university symphony orchestra tomorrow at 8 p. m. in Iowa Union.

Good Folks Wouldn't Understand

Good folks wouldn't understand the Harrises. But I did, and I liked them. And when Jenny said "... they're really awful nice. Some of the things about them sound bad, but if you knew them you'd see they aren't like they sound," I said "Yes, Jenny, I know."

Confessions Of a Real City Editor—

newspaper's inner workings. Perhaps he does not preach the noble aims of journalism stressed in college classes, but at any rate he has given a clearer and less exaggerated picture of the newspaper world than the movies, stage, or novels have done.

The Harrises Is Different To Other Folks—

FEBRUARY HILL, by Victoria Lincoln. New York, Farrar and Rinehart, 337 pp, $2.50.

As do most city editors, Stanley Walker of The New York Herald-Tribune holds an obscure place so far as the reading world is concerned. In "City Editor" he has opened the curtains of a newspaper office and has disclosed the inner workings of a modern distributor of the news.

Art and the Land In a Village In Bulgaria—

DOBRY, by Mubica Shamon. New York, The Viking Press, 176 pp. $2.

Dobry lived with his mother and his grandfather on a farm in Bulgaria. Here he grew from childhood to youth in a typical Bulgarian peasant atmosphere. There was the work on the farm—that was first and foremost. The peasants are a stern people; their work and their land come first.

"Goes Right Through"

No, it wasn't all that which made the Harrises different. "It goes right through, sort of," Joel said. "It ain't no good, trying to mix with them other folks as if we was them. It goes right through, sort of. We're funny, sort of, the whole lot of us. We're different to other folks."

Impartial Treatment

In dealing with the newspapers of New York he hands out impartial praise and criticism. His paper meets with as much censure as any other. From 15 years' work on a newspaper he has gained fair judgment of his profession, as he proves by his shrewd and well-founded observations.

Prof. Sowers To Give Talk

Prof. W. Leigh Sowers of the English department will give an address on the Times club Thursday afternoon program in the river room at Iowa Union Thursday at 4 p. m. He will speak on "The Soviet Theater."

Exploding The Myth About Mr. Columbus—

THE DISCOVERY AND RE-DISCOVERY OF AMERICA, by Thomas P. Christensen. Cedar Rapids, The Laurence Press.

Excellent Drawings

Written for boys and girls of high school age, "Dobry" is a simple and yet careful study of the attachment of peasantry to the land and of the force of artistic ambition. The book is well made and well printed, and no report of it can be complete without a mention of the very excellent illustrations in color and black and white by Atanas Katchamakoff.

K.P.'s, Pythian Sisters Start Euchre Series

The series of euchre games between the Knights of Pythias and the Pythian Sisters will start tonight in the K. P. hall, Arthur Boss, chairman of the Knights committee, announced last night. The series will be continued for four weeks with 10 games being played each night. At the end of the series, the winning team will be guests at a banquet to be given by the losers.

"Don't bite the hand that fed you!" ZaSu Pitts is cautioning W. C. Fields in the scene from "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," coming Wednesday to the Englert theater. But despite her apprehensions, Fields, with his courtly "furrin" ways, is merely impressing a kiss on the lily white fingers that have so recently served him his victuals.

Mapes Will Tell Club About Buenos Aires

Prof. Erwin K. Mapes will present an illustrated slide lecture on the subject of "Buenos Aires," at a meeting of Iowa Woman's club members, Thursday at 2:15 p. m. at the Hawk's Nest cafe. Roll call will be answered with "Thanksgiving Thoughts."

New Books At S.U.I.—

New books received in the university libraries, announced yesterday by Grace Van Wormer, acting director, are as follows:

Personal

Mrs. Howard L. Beye, 422 Brown street, left yesterday morning to spend a few days in Chicago.

Interested in Nordics

The author, being Nordic, is definitely more interested in the Norwegian, Swedish, and Danish explorations than in others equally important, and devotes considerable space to details of Nordic life hardly relevant to the discovery of America. He briefly discusses possible Mongolian and South Sea colonization of the American continents, and launches into European exploits.

Little New Material

There is little new material in this recital of pre-Columbian explorations on this continent, but the book is a handy compilation of facts which should be more generally recognized and taught.

Is the "Great Mother's" Gown White or Black?

A SHORT WHILE ago the great annual "roll call" of the Red Cross got under way and the American people are now being urged to give freely of their pennies, nickels, dimes and dollars for the relief of suffering.

For a great many years the American people have taken the Red Cross at face value, accepting without question its self-made title of "The Great Mother." They have been moved by its pleas for funds with which to alleviate the misery of unfortunate victims of disaster and to feed the hungry and clothe the destitute. They have believed its own story of unselfish devotion of the cause of humanity, and have taken for granted that this was one organization whose halo was not a sham.

But John L. Spivak, writing in the November issue of The American Mercury, tells a different story. Now Mr. Spivak is no mere seeker after notoriety, to be taken with a grain of salt and dismissed. He is a reputable writer whose revelations carry more than ordinary weight. Therefore it behooves every citizen, whether he happens to be a member of the Red Cross or not, to consider Mr. Spivak's charges with an open mind; and it behooves the Red Cross, if its nursing gown is as spotlessly white as it has been pictured, to make an honest answer.

If Mr. Spivak's charges are based in solid fact—and he quotes a multitude of convincing figures in his 31 page broadside—, the Red Cross is not worthy of one penny in the way of contributions from the common people of the United States. If these charges are true, "The Great Mother" is one of the most vicious of all the vicious agencies which operate under cover of propaganda and in the name of humanity and mercy to perpetuate the very miseries they collect the people's money to combat.

Mr. Spivak asks for a congressional investigation into Red Cross operations, to get to the bottom of the 20 specific charges he makes against it. The government itself is involved in these charges, because the Red Cross is a government-chartered organization and has been used on numerous occasions for the disbursement of millions in government funds and supplies. In fairness to the government, the public, and the Red Cross itself, a thorough investigation is hardly too much to ask.

Platitudes And Tolerance

THE PLATITUDE about glass houses and people who throw stones is, like all platitudes, a homely thing, but it fits some circumstances snugly.

For a law suit now in progress in Boston no Jews were impelled on the jury. This action was agreed upon by counsel for both parties and, according to New York reporters, sets a precedent in American history for this kind of discrimination. Undoubtedly the attorneys considered their reasons for the agreement to be proper and valid. White men in the south also have reasons, which they consider adequate, for making provisions whereby Negroes are not allowed to exercise their constitutional rights. The purge of Jews and intellectuals in Germany was a desirable and necessary step, from Hitler's point of view.

Reasons are often rationalizations which, rather than serving the cause of justice and right, are the vehicles by which we enforce or justify prejudices.

The history of Jewry is a story of persecution, of which the Spanish Inquisition is one of the most horrible chapters. We in America pride ourselves that here all men are free and equal, that we are tolerant. Tolerance exists legally, but it is time we looked to conditions as they are and not to the law and what it says. Intolerance across the seas should not blind us to intolerance at home.

This Record Won't Stand Long

"THE LARGEST mass wedding in history took place in 324 B.C. at Susa, Persia, when Alexander the Great had 10,000 of his Macedonian soldiers married to Persian women at one time," says the Reader's Digest.

But it won't stand long. As soon as II Duce gets wind of this achievement, Alexander the Great will have joined the long list of has-beens.

Hiking Is All Right—On the Level

HIKING CLUBS for people who walk for the fun of it are quite common; but New Yorkers, confronted with the possibility of being forced to climb up and down from 10 to 60 stories in event of the threatened elevator operator strike, have lost their taste for walking.

When bus drivers strike the populace takes to the street car; if both car conductors and bus drivers strike, the long suffering public valiantly strikes out on foot. But there seems to be a difference between walking on the horizontal and walking in the vertical.

And the imminence of weary walks, one stair at a time, into the dizzy heights of New York's Babylonian towers brings a fearful appreciation of the wonders of science, and of electric elevators.

Hope Grows From Hope
(From The Kansas City Times)

Dr. O. M. W. Sprague, international monetary authority and former special adviser to the treasury, has joined the procession of the hopeful about future developments in this country, although he is not yet certain enough to take a position in the front ranks. Dr. Sprague simply feels "a little more hopeful" than a year ago, when he resigned from the treasury post and made public his protest against policies then being pursued. He believes now that recovery may proceed along fairly safe lines, but that if these fail, inflation will be inevitable. This is reassuring so far as it goes; and everybody will hope that Dr. Sprague will be able to find more ground for hope within another year.

GOOD MORNING

"If I Were Dictator" is the title of a book, but it is also the title of everyman's dream and the point of expansion for his theories about this and that. Thus George Jean Nathan jots down in the November American Spectator "A Layman's Notes for American Recovery." Suggests Critic Nathan:

- "1) Emulate the pronouncements of Mussolini and remove women from all fields of labor, save in such cases as they are the heads of families and have persons dependent upon them for support, thus clearing the way for unemployed males.
- "2) Emulate the pronouncement of Hitler and get rid of women in politics, where they have done more harm than good. Send them back into the home, where they belong.
- "3) Endorse, immediately and fully, birth control.
- "4) Abrogate all personal income taxes on incomes under $8,000 for married men and $5,000 for single men, and double the present taxes on incomes over those amounts up to $30,000. Take one-third of all amounts from $30,000 to $50,000; one-half of all from $50,000 to $100,000; and sixty-five per cent of all over $100,000.
- "5) Get rid of the new deal instantler, admitting freely, frankly and ingratiatingly that it has been a failure.
- "6) Form civilian army corps of the unemployed as branches of the regular army; put them under army regulations; house, feed and pay them as in the case of the regular army. (And pay no heed to the peace and anti-preparedness howlers.)
- "7) Tax all luxuries to the limit.
- "8) Forbid the further purchase of any foreign bonds, government or otherwise, by Americans.
- "9) Double all corporation taxes.
- "10) Throw open all amusement places to the public, free of charge, one day a week."

The constitution guarantees to every man the right of free speech. Consequently all that can be done in a case like this is to add the suggestion that we emulate Hitler in one more matter and purge the country of all intellectuals, giving special attention to drama critics.

Dr. Edward A. Steiner of Grinnell has said many a worthwhile thing in the years he has been influencing the middle west with his able thinking. Sunday there was sad truth in his contention before the council on international relations that youth is more conservative than old age.

"The new conflict," he said, "is between old and new in spirit, rather than old and young in age. We have so long loved our country in war and exploited her in peace, exalted the killer and crucified the savior that a great change in spirit must occur to create the new generation."

The blowers of reactionary trumpets are continually pointing to the colleges and universities as hotbeds of radicalism and to college men and women as dangerous and rattle-brained liberals. Their mistake is ludicrous.

It would be difficult to find any group more thoroughly embedded in conservative dogma and more resistant to change than the average American college student body. And it is not true in America only.

It is significant that Hitler and Mussolini find their most responsive and enthusiastic support among the youth, anxious to march in goose-step under orders from above. And if that sort of thing were to get under way on this side of the Atlantic, one would not be surprised to find the so-called young radicals falling in line at the head of the parade.

Behind The Scenes in HOLLYWOOD
By Harrison Carroll

HOLLYWOOD—The woman fan who clipped one of Shirley Temple's curls the other day in a department store should be well pleased with herself. As a result of the incident, the little star will be decried the thrill so dear to the hearts of all children—to tour the toy departments and put in her letter to Santa Claus.

Shirley Temple Her mere appearance in a store causes all business to stop. It was had enough when people just crowded around and exclaimed. But, last time, when Shirley's mother heard her cry out and turned to see a woman making away with a snipped curl, the situation took on a more serious turn. Fearing that the child will be mauled, the Temples have been driven to the new rule—no more shopping tours for Hollywood's "poor little rich girl."

An attack of influenza has done Claudette Colbert one good turn. Her physician, Dr. Joseph Pressman, has ordered the Paramount star to take a rest, preferably a sea voyage, as soon as she finishes "The Gilded Lily". That was all Claudette has been waiting for. Though still in bed, she is making plans to go to Honolulu and really see the Hawaiian Islands. The time she went before, for the De Mille picture, she was sick all the way over, and worked continuously after her arrival. Now, it's going to be different. With Daisy Lukas (the wife of Paul Lukas) along for company, she'll have at least a week to see the sights.

Maybe it's a declaration of independence or something. Evelyn Venable hints that you may be seeing her in a typical movie love scene just any picture now.

"I still have pronounced ideas on the type of parts I'll play," she says, "But if I accept a role that calls for kisses, I'll kiss or be kissed."

I thought you'd like to know: As an ex-salesman for an exclusive London tailor, Henry Wilcoxon thought he knew all about fittings. But that was before De Mille cast him as Richard, Coeur de Lion, in "The Crusades."

Henry Wilcoxon To get the desired effect, Wilcoxon has put in an hour every other day for three weeks. Juliano Arrachea, European armor expert, has superintended the fittings.

When the job is finished, Wilcoxon will have a chic 1197 A.D. model suit of mail.

And great care has been taken to have it just the right year, for there were different styles of armor in 1150 or 1250 A.D. To have erred either way would have been like putting a one-piece bathing suit on a Gibson girl.

There are still that many left which scientists have been unable to define.

Scientists have been able to prove only very little concerning the constituents of amino-acids. However, experiments with white rats show that rats deprived of certain amino-acids decline and die after a period of 80 days.

Rev. Morrison Defends Peace, Attacks War

Asserts More Being Done for Peace Now Than Ever Before

Abolition of war is the most important moral problem of the time, the Rev. Charles Clayton Morrison, editor of The Christian Century, asserted to a vesper audience of 1,200 at Iowa Union Sunday night.

"More is now being done for peace than ever before in the history of mankind," the Rev. Mr. Morrison declared. "Not in 50 years has the world been in such a state of nerves, and yet more for peace has been accomplished in the last 16 years than in previous centuries."

Looking Ahead
After the World War we lived in a post war mood, but now we are living in a pre war mood, he continued, adding that no one knows who the enemy is. "The world has forgotten to look back at the World War and is looking ahead to the next war."

"No country knows its enemies except France and Germany, and no country knows its friends," the Rev. Mr. Morrison reported, "but they are all nervous. Even Japan is attempting to drive a wedge between the two English speaking friends, the United States and Great Britain."

Visible Rulers
"Governments generally want peace," he said, "but our governments are not real governments. Behind our political government stands an invisible economic government, based on a profit motive that depends upon a search for markets, raw materials and monopolies."

The Rev. Mr. Morrison pointed out that if this system continues, our peace, civilization and children will be doomed. "Although everyone says that the next war will destroy civilization, still we go right on planning it," he said.

President Eugene A. Gilmore presided over the service, introducing the Rev. Mr. Morrison. The Rev. C. C. Gargiulo of the Christian church served as chaplain. The service was broadcast over WSUI.

Three Members Of Chemistry Department Write for Journal

Two articles by three members of the chemistry department appear in the November issue of the Journal of Biological Chemistry.

H. S. Olcott is the author of "Vitamin E. 11. Stability of Concentrations Toward Oxidizing and Reducing Reagents."

Gerald J. Cox and Clarence P. Berg are co-authors of "The Comparative Availability of D- and L-Histidine for Growth."

James R. Wilson, who was graduated from the University of Iowa, recently accepted a position with the Cedar Rapids law firm of Grimm, Elliott, Shuttlesworth, and Ingraham. It was learned here yesterday. He received his B.A. degree in 1928 and J.D. degree in 1930.

James R. Wilson Joins Law Firm

In order to accept his present position, Mr. Wilson resigned as contributing editor of Corpus Juris. Mr. Wilson is listed in the recent compilation of "America's Young Men," publication including the names of prominent American men of 40 years of age or less.

Chemistry Group To Consider Candidates

Eligible candidates for membership to Iota Sigma Pi, honorary chemistry fraternity, will be considered at a business meeting of the group this evening at 7:30 in the chemistry clubroom, chemistry building.

Dental Luncheon Club Has Meeting in Union

The Dental Luncheon club met yesterday noon on the sun porch of Iowa Union for its semi-monthly luncheon meeting.

Talks will also be presented on research studies by Margaret Cooper, G. of Villisca; and Margaret Thomas, G. of Phoenix, Ariz.

SEEN from OLD CAPITOL

by TOM YOSELLOFF

If anyone doubts the value of a college education, let him give heed. Here are two examples of collegiate brilliance.

A young woman went to University theater's production of "Yellow Jack," the other night, and she heard numerous references to Karl Marx and socialism. But she was puzzled. In fact, she was openly skeptical.

"The play was supposed to have taken place in 1900," she pointed out, "and the four Marx brothers weren't even known in 1900."

The other example was in a conversation between a young woman and an Iowa City clubwoman. The young woman asked the title of the paper the clubwoman intended to read at a meeting.

"It is going to talk on Botticelli," the clubwoman replied.

"Botticelli—what?" the girl asked. "How do you spell it?"

The clubwoman patiently spelled the artist's name.

"Well," the girl was still uncertain, "well—what is Botticelli?"

And another one. This one happened in Prof. Ivan Pollock's political science class yesterday. The class was discussing the federal treasury department, and the talk turned to the bureau of health.

"Why is the bureau of health placed under the secretary of the treasury?" the professor asked.

A wit in the rear of the room knew the answer.

"To keep the treasury healthy," he suggested.

William Dodds of Newton is a young medical student who makes a practice of arriving at his classes just as his name is called in roll call—or something to designate that he just gets in on the nick of time. So his classmates have conceived a grand plan. They spread oil or vaseline or anything else handy in front of his seat. Whereupon Mr. Dodds, approaching his seat as a baseball player approaches third base, invariably rewards them with as skillful a job of balancing as was ever seen in a medical class.

And speaking of coming late, Oscar Johnson of the English department has probably cured one young man who had made a practice of coming to Mr. Johnson's class late. The other day the English teacher went through a rather lengthy proposition, explaining it at some length to his class. Then, just as the late arrival slid into his seat, Mr. Johnson asked:

"What is your opinion of that, Mr. _____?"

This method no doubt Mr. Johnson would allow any other teacher so inclined to use.

And, just to make this column one of "cracks" entirely, let me recount this one from Prof. Sam Sloan's English class. Professor Sloan was talking of a man who had become a member of the bar. In the midst of his discussion, he stopped and regarded his class a moment.

"You understand I mean that he became a lawyer," he explained. Then he added: "With all these modern improvements in Iowa City, it is necessary to be specific."

Gilmore Urges Red Cross Aid

Asks Faculty, Students To Answer Roll Call Now in Progress

President Eugene A. Gilmore yesterday urged students and faculty members to support the annual "roll call" of the American Red Cross, now in progress.

In a proclamation, the Iowa head called attention to the demands of economic hardships in the last five years. The text of his proclamation is as follows:

"As president of the State University of Iowa, at Iowa City, Iowa, I deem it my duty and privilege to call the attention of the university faculty and students to the eighteenth annual membership campaign of the American Red Cross which is being conducted here between Armistice day and Thanksgiving, Nov. 11—Nov. 29, 1934.

"The Red Cross is solely dependent upon individual backing. Lacking this support the organization would be unable to carry on its noble work during disasters, among war veterans, in the health field, first aid, life saving, and its numerous other tasks which have been greatly increased in the last five years of economic strife.

"Every faculty member and student can answer the roll call appeal—this community challenge—with assurance that each contribution to this cause will be treated by the Red Cross as a trust fund of the public."

E. A. Gilmore.

Dr. Peterson to Give Post Graduate Lecture

Dr. Frank R. Peterson of University hospital will present the first in a series of three post graduate lectures at Humboldt this evening.

Tomorrow he will talk at Ames and Thursday at Ottumwa. These lectures are under the auspices of the speakers bureau of the Iowa State Medical society.

McCloy Will Address Philosophical Club

Prof. Charles H. McCloy of the physical education department will address a meeting of the Philosophical club at 8 o'clock this evening at the home of Prof. and Mrs. George D. Stoddard, 724 Bayard street.

Professor McCloy will discuss "Applying Anthropology to You."

W.A.A. Will Open Winter Sports Tonight

The W.A.A. cabaret party, which will take place this evening in the women's gymnasium from 7:30 to 9 o'clock, will begin the season of winter sports, and close the activities of the fall seasonal clubs.

The party is open to all university women. Those who attend will be given an opportunity to register for the winter clubs.

Helen M. Needles of the bureau of dental hygiene is doing her health work in Worth county this week.

Miss Needles is presenting an illustrated mouth health program before groups of school children.

University Library Shows First Edition, Autographed Books

The first edition of Mark Twain's "Innocents Abroad," a copy of John Galsworthy's "Man of Property," and a volume of Robinson Jeffers' "Roan Stallion, Tamar, and Other Poems" with the autographs of these writers were placed on exhibition in University library yesterday.

Robinson Jeffers, a well-known contemporary poet, also included with his autograph a few words of greeting to the University of Iowa and several lines from his poem "Woodrow Wilson." Hamilton M. Jeffers, a brother of the poet, was a member of the faculty of University of Iowa from 1921 to 1924.

Announce Change In Schedule of Baconian Lecture This Week

This week's Baconian lecture, scheduled for Friday, has been postponed until Dec. 7, it was announced yesterday.

Twelve Baconian lectures will be presented on the 1934-1935 series by the Baconian society under the auspices of the graduate college. Two lectures have already been given, by Prof. Emil Witschi of the zoology department and Prof. George D. Stoddard, director of the Iowa Child Welfare Research station.

These talks are broadcast over WSUI and are open to the public.

Four Represent S.U.I. At Joint Meeting Of Societies at Davenport

Three faculty members and one student of the University of Iowa attended a joint meeting of the Tri-City chapter of the American Society of Metals and the Quad City Foundrymen's association at Davenport last night. J. S. Vanich of the International Nickel company, New York, spoke on "The Hardening of Cast Iron."

Those who attend the meeting are: John P. Eckel and Dillon Evers of the chemistry department, John Fielding of the college of engineering, and Raymond D. Sulentic, E4 of Waterloo.

Prof. Mavis Discusses Engineering Paper

A discussion by Prof. Frederic T. Mavis of the college of engineering of a paper entitled "Flow of Water Around Bends in Pipes" appears in the November issue of The Proceedings of the American Society of Civil Engineers.

Professor Mavis adds several references to the original manuscript in his discussion.

Burlington Rotarians Hear Bartow Speak

Prof. Edward Bartow, head of the chemistry department, addressed the Rotary club at Burlington yesterday afternoon.

Professor Bartow went to Burlington from Pittsburgh, Pa., where he attended the semi-annual meeting of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers last week end.

Student Art Guild Names Committees

General plans for the year were discussed and committee members named at the first regular meeting of the Student Art guild in the south conference room of Iowa Union Sunday afternoon.

Committee members announced are as follows: General committee chairman, Florence Brown, G of Iowa City. Social committee, Thomas Wood, U, of Des Moines; Alice Van Pappelendam, A2 of Keokuk; and Marea Schenk, A3 of Des Moines.

Program committee, Fern Bruce, A3 of Perry; Ann Crow, A3 of Burlington; and James Sweeney, A2 of Marion. Group project committee, Theatlis Alberts, A3 of Radcliffe; Clara Wisler, A2 of Des Moines; and Bernard Goss, A4 of Kansas City, Mo.

Aden Arnold of the graphic and plastic arts department spoke informally to the group on "Experiences," illustrating his talk with humorous reminiscences of his work here at the university and at the National Academy in New York city.

Designs for Christmas card painting, the first group project, will be submitted by the individuals to the club, and will be sold by the club to create a source of income for operating expenses. The group project committee will also serve as bureau of information, and the more talented students will instruct others in various work, such as etching and wood-carving.

Decorations and suggestions for the first all-university masquerade party will be submitted by the social committee at the next meeting of the guild, Dec. 9.

Prof. Baldrige to Talk In Waterloo Tonight

Dr. Clarence W. Baldrige of University hospital will address a meeting of the Black Hawk County Medical society at Waterloo this evening.

He will talk on "The Untoward Effects of Some Commonly Used Drugs."

Stefansson Will Tell About Adventure in Arctic Wastes

Northward, believes Vilhjalmur Stefansson, the course of empire wends its way. When the famous explorer-author lectures here Thursday evening, as the first university lecturer, he will discuss "The Northward Course of Empire."

For many years strange ideas were current about the far north. Stefansson's lecture considers historically how those ideas came into being and how they are gradually dying out. Among these ideas is the theory of a lifeless Arctic, which came down from the ancient Greeks. It is only through discoveries of the last few years, in which Stefansson had a large part, that this theory has been exploded.

The trend of civilization has been ever northward, the explorer believes. Tracing the spread of civilization from its beginning in the tropics, he has pointed out that the northward movement will not stop until the Arctic is completely opened.

Stefansson was one of the first men to visualize Arctic exploration by air. He foretold the coming of air-commerce to the north in his books and in articles in National Geographic and World's Work between 1919 and 1922. In his lecture he will discuss the part which the airplane will play in the northward movement in the future.

The lecture, in Macbride auditorium at 8 p.m. Thursday, will be illustrated with slides and moving pictures taken on trips.

Stefansson, a graduate of the University of Iowa, is the author of numerous books on his Arctic explorations. Among these are: "My Life With the Eskimo," "The Friendly Arctic," "The Northward Course of Empire," "The Adventure of Wrangel Island," "The Standardization of Error," and "Hunters of the Great North."

He has lectured widely before school groups and clubs, and has spoken on the Iowa campus on several occasions since his graduation here more than 30 years ago. He returned to the campus several years ago, when the university conferred an honorary doctor's degree upon him.

In addition to his public university lecture Thursday evening, Stefansson will lead a roundtable discussion in the senate chamber of Old Capitol Friday.

JOPLIN, Mo., (AP)—Mrs. Carrie Carney, Joblin widow, was found shot to death in her automobile near here yesterday afternoon. Police said she was murdered.

Ohio U. Dean To Talk Here Tonight

"A Revision of the Professional Courses for the Training of Teachers" will be discussed by George F. Arps, dean of the college of education of Ohio State university at 8 o'clock this evening in the senate chamber of Old Capitol. The lecture is under the auspices of the college of education.

Dean Arps has developed a new approach in training teachers, which is based on the fundamental changes growing out of the evolutionary principle. He believes that the work of Darwin, Tyndal and Huxley in revolutionizing human thought has not been adequately recognized in educational procedures in general and in training teachers in particular.

Prior to becoming dean of the college of education of Ohio State university in 1920, he was professor of psychology at the University of Indiana from 1909 to 1910 and at the University of Illinois from 1910 to 1912. He was made head of the psychology department at Ohio State university in 1912, a position which he still holds.

Dailey Will Speak On Codes, Ciphers

Lieut. Col. George F. N. Dailey of the military department will be the principal speaker before a meeting of the Engineers club of Iowa City this evening at 6 o'clock at the Hawk's Nest cafe.

Colonel Dailey will speak on "Codes and Ciphers."

Prof. H. E. Wessman Speaks on Chinese Engineering Project

Prof. Harold E. Wessman of the college of engineering addressed the Rotary club of Muscatine yesterday on "Through the Heart of Old Cathay."

Professor Wessman emphasized the merging of the old oriental life and culture with occidental technical development.

The talk briefly summarized Professor Wessman's engineering experiences while with the Chinese government ministry of railroads.

ABOUT SPORTS

By JOHN ROGERS

Hard Schedule . . . Bucks Heavier Than Iowans . . . William's Cage Clinic . . . Frosh Gridders Close Season.

WHATEVER else they say about the 1934 football show put on by the Old Gold grid gars, they won't say this—that the Hawks have had a set-up schedule.

Minnesota and Purdue, Iowa's opponents in the two home conference games of the season, now head the loop in that order. Ohio State whom the Iowans take on Saturday in Columbus is riding in third position with four conference victories already packed away on ice, and an average of 32 points a game shouting out the glories of the Buckeye attack.

THIS OHIO State offense, classed by many as the equal of the Minnesota steamroller, is a whirlwind of power and deception operating behind a line averaging 203 pounds from end to end. Dick Heekin, Frank Boucher and Damon Wetzel, classy backs, start their bewildering array of running and passing plays from behind this ample bulwark, and so far the result has been a five letter word, spelled y-a-r-d-s.

THERE is not a favorable drop in the dope bucket for the Hawkeys unless it is found in the fact that they will have had two weeks rest since the Purdue game. Then again, if the Old Gold line will be as stubborn in the middle of the field as it has been on the goal line against Indiana and Purdue, the Buckeye ball carriers will find the going tough.

Coach Rollie Williams will hold his second annual basketball clinic for high school coaches and players in the field house Dec. 1. Iowa varsity cagers will demonstrate fundamentals of various types of offense and defense, individual and team play to the 2,500 prep coaches and players expected to attend. No enrollment fee is charged for the affair, and the high school outfit will be treated to the Iowa-Hamline game in the evening.

FRESHMAN football players who have been drilling nightly since the start of the season are now in their last week of drill. A squad which numbered more than 100 at the beginning has dropped steadily from week to week and will close the campaign with about 40 candidates on the list. These boys will wind up the football year Thursday with a full length game on old Iowa field between two teams chosen from their own numbers.

Speedballers Clash; Cage Entries High

The best team in section four of the speedball tournament will be determined this afternoon in a battle between Phi Kappa Psi and Sigma Alpha Epsilon. As Phi Kappa Psi shut out Sigma Alpha Epsilon 5 to 0 last week it is expected that the latter team will be primed for revenge. The winner of this afternoon's game will enter the semi-finals at 4:30 Thursday afternoon against Phi Kappa Alpha which has come out on top in section three.

Delta Upsilon has shown its supremacy over the first two tournament sections and stands ready to meet the best team in the semi-finals. The date for the championship game has not been set.

Fraternity basketball has attracted 17 entries showing an increase of two over last year. The schedule for this season has not yet been made out but Larry Griswold, assistant in intramurals, expects to get started the first of next week.

Those fraternities now entered are: Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Alpha Sigma Phi, Phi Kappa Sigma, Phi Delta Theta, Phi Epsilon Pi, Sigma Chi, Phi Kappa Alpha, Beta Theta Pi, Phi Gamma Delta, Phi Kappa Psi, Sigma Nu, Alpha Tau Omega, Delta Chi, Phi Beta Delta, Delta Upsilon, Delta Tau Delta and Theta Xi.

St. Pat's Open Cage Season Against Irish Alumni Quintet

When the Irish take to the court Dec. 4 for their first basketball scrap, they will oppose St. Patrick's alumni rather than Parnell, as first planned. The latter will play here either Jan. 22 or Feb. 1. With the opening tilt more than two weeks away, Coach Ryan has been drilling his athletes on fundamentals, leaving scrimmage sessions until better condition and finesse are attained.

Interfraternity Swim Meet Divided Into Two Sections

Because of an expected large entry list for the interfraternity swimming meet, which was originally scheduled for 7:15 p.m. tomorrow, the program has been divided into two sections.

The preliminaries are to begin at 4:15 p.m. tomorrow and the finals at 4:15 p.m. Friday, according to the new schedule.

Harrison Drills Varsity Cagers In Scrimmage

Substitutions Frequent; X-ray Shows Barko's Ankle Injury Slight

Making certain that fundamentals are mastered before advance work is taken up, Coach "Pops" Harrison put the varsity cagers through a lengthy workout yesterday, halting play on numerous occasions to point out individual mistakes.

With passing erratic, shooting far below par, and ball handling loose, the most listless exhibition of the practice season was offered by the basketweavers.

Any apprehension over John Barko's injury was allayed when an x-ray revealed only a slight sprain. The high scoring forward will be kept out of uniform for the remainder of the week.

Cage School

Types of offensive and defensive play will be demonstrated to some 2,500 high school coaches and athletes from Iowa and neighboring states by the varsity and freshman cagers at the University of Iowa's second annual basketball clinic under the direction of Coach Rollie Williams, Dec. 1.

Following the outlining of important points in man-for-man defense, pivot play, shooting, fast breaks and methods of working through a zone defense in the afternoon, the visitors will be guests in the evening at the Iowa-Hamline game.

Any coach, athlete, or school official is welcome to the field house at 2 p.m. to witness the clinic demonstrations which are arranged by Coach Williams as an aid to high school coaches in preparing their players for the season. There will be no enrollment fee.

Max Baer To Fight Miler In Des Moines

DES MOINES, Nov. 19 (AP)—Max Baer, heavyweight champion of the world, will box Johnny Miller, Albia, light heavyweight in an exhibition match here sometime next week, Dave Fidler, local promoter, announced tonight.

Max and his brother, Buddy, will make their headquarters in Des Moines for about three weeks, during which time the champion will visit neighboring cities in Iowa and surrounding states to fill other boxing engagements, Fidler said.

A tentative date for Max's exhibition here had been set for Nov. 26, but a telegram from Frank Pacassi, assisting Ancil Hoffman, the champion's manager, stated that the champion was suffering from an infection and the date would have to be held up until the champion's exact condition is determined.

Rain Hampers Drill; Iowans Tackle Dummy

Don Nelson, McDowell On Injury List; Pass Receives Attention

Facing a team possessed with power as great as Minnesota's, more deceptive and daring than the Gophers, Coach Ollie Solem renewed preparations yesterday for Iowa's final gesture of the 1934 football season with Ohio State at Columbus Saturday.

Back from Columbus where he saw the Buckeyes in all their fury, employing unorthodox football tactics, defeat Michigan 34-0, Coach Solem had planned a hard scrimmage session for the Hawkeys yesterday. The Iowa coach was forced to alter his plans somewhat when low murky skies which gave forth some precipitation made footing insecure and brought on early darkness.

Three Combinations The Hawkeys, after a vacation of two days, were given a short session of calisthenics and work on the tackling dummy. Three backfield combinations were used in running plays. The first string backfield included Crayne, Fisher, Hild and Aiken. Simmons worked at a half-back position on a third string which included Richards, Lundberg and Ash.

It seemed highly probable that "Red" Nelson, who gave such a good account of himself when he got his chance against Purdue, would be unable to play Saturday due to an infected toe, while it is also doubtful that Page will see action against the Buckeyes. Page was not in uniform last night and watched the practice in civilian clothes.

Schneidman May Play Herman Schneidman, who has been out of the game since the encounter with Nebraska because of a dislocated shoulder, took a light workout behind a first string line, but was not making contact. It appears that Schneidman will be ready to take his place in the Hawkeye backfield against the Buckeyes.

Coach Solem was using a first string line which consisted of Osmaloski at center; Dee and Gallagher at guards; Kelley and Leytza at tackles; and Walker and Jakoubek at ends. Des replaced McDowell at guard when the latter tore a finger nail early in the line charging practice session and was dismissed for the evening.

The first string backfield also came in for a lengthy pass session which saw Crayne doing most of the tossing.

Claypool, Green To Co-Captain Kohawks

CEDAR RAPIDS, Nov. 19 (INS)—Charles Claypool, Shanandoah, and Harry Green Cedar Rapids, today were co-captains of the Coe college football team for 1935.

The two men, both tackles on this year's squad, were given an equal number of votes by teammates at the annual football banquet here.

Millrose A.A. Cross Country Team Defends National Crown With Array of Champ Athletes

National championships in distance races have been won by half of the eight athletes who will attempt to defend the A.A.U. senior cross country team title for the Millrose A.A., of New York, here on Thanksgiving morning.

Coach Mel Sheppard has listed his team members with which the metropolitan organization will seek its sixth national A.A.U. crown in eight years over the 10,000 meter course.

Titled Athletes The titled athletes are Louis Gregory, Olympic runner who has won five national championships in various distances since 1923; Eino Pentti, another Olympic competitor and winner of the A.A.U. senior 10,000 meter crown last June; Joseph Mundy, national junior cross country champion of 1933; and his brother, Paul, who won the United States title in the 15 kilometer run in 1933.

Strong Team In addition to the stars, the Millrose group will have James McDade and Frederick Titzel, tenth and twelfth in the team's victorious race in Chicago last fall, and Harry Jackson and Frederick Ward, who have been placed among the first

Undeclared Elevens Take It On Chins in Big Upsets Saturday; Yale Gives Princeton Headache

By DAVID J. WALSH (International News Service Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Nov. 19 (INS)—This is blue Monday, the day when football reputations, having been passed through the wringer and mangle, are hung out to be aired; fumigated would be more like it in some cases. The Atlantic seaboard, for instance, finds itself completely washed out this morning, its national prestige a limp and shapeless garment without body and almost without weight.

It had three undefeated and untitled title contenders on Saturday morning. Today, it has none. All three, the Navy, Syracuse and Princeton, were given the old rough dry treatment during a week end that will go down in the books as one of the most violent of them all. There were seven outstanding upsets, headed by Yale's 7 to 0 defeat of Princeton with 11 men and Wisconsin's 7 to 3 victory over Illinois, both far from spurious.

Situation Simplified The Illinois were the fourth national championship victim of the day, and Santa Clara was added to the first-defeat teams when it lost to St. Mary's yesterday, 7 to 0. While this simplified the situation no end, it nevertheless must be admitted that the survivors—Minnesota, Alabama, Rice, Stanford and a few more—remained remarkably impressive. They won their games by anywhere from 59 to 40 points from major opponents.

Equally impressive, at that, were those two great one-defeat teams, Pittsburgh and Colgate. Pitt took an undefeated Navy outfit and just swarmed all over it to win by 31 to 7, gaining 25 first downs and 435 yards. Colgate, on the other hand, was outgained by a previously undefeated Syracuse, the first downs being respectively 6 to 17. But it is my conviction that the better team won the ball game.

Sheer Magic It is also my belief that I saw the two best football teams of my personal schedule this year, Pitt alone excepted. All Colgate did was twice defend its goal-line and twice execute perfect play, but this was enough; in fact, it was a tremendous plenty. Colgate's pass play for the first touchdown was sheer magic. So was McDonough's run back of a punt for the second score. On both plays, Colgate men seemingly leaped in couplets and trios out of the ground for the finest interference I have seen through three generations of football.

The thousand Swedes who jumped out of the weeds in the famous ditty were well outdone on these occasions. I, therefore, nominate Colgate as one of the really great one-defeat teams of this age and its coach, Andy Kerr, as 1934's best. Of course, if one does not also must include Ohio State, the team that beat Colgate, in the nominating ticket. The Buckeyes were never better than in beating Michigan 34 to 0, on Saturday, thereby paying back with accrued interest and penalties a debt so old that it was practically outlawed.

About Right However, this is getting a little ahead of the no-defeat teams and, in truth most of them were downright hard to get ahead of the other day. Minnesota put on another great show, this time beating Chicago, 35 to 7 to virtually move in on the Big Ten title. Purdue, which came east to take Fordham, 7 to 0, still has a chance but the feeling is that nobody is going to stop the Gophers this year. I'd just as soon try to stop the Union Pacific's stream-lined train without my chest protector.

That seems to go for Alabama, too, with its 316 yards and its 40 to 0 defeat of Georgia Tech, not to overlook Stanford's 40 points against the Olympic club. The Cardinal is beginning to generate tremendous power as it goes along and apparently can't miss the coast conference title.

Huey's Doings But Louisiana State might have been better than its 14 to 0 score against Mississippi, although that seems to have been arranged for beforehand. Huey Long, it appears, ordered only two touchdowns because he found that everybody around Mississippi had a nice kind face.

Meantime Western Maryland kept in the general picture by beating Bucknell by 6 to 0. Wisconsin's defeat of Illinois, greatly simplifying Minnesota's march toward the championship, takes equal rank with the fall of Princeton in the upset stakes. A few more were Southern California's 33 points against Oregon and Cornell's 21 to 6 victory over Dartmouth. Also North Carolina's 7 to 0 score against Duke; Carnegie Tech's 3 to 0 victory over Duquesne and Montana's 7 to 7 tie with Oregon State.

Six members of Iowa City high's best grid team in years, four men from a University high eleven that ranked almost with last year's stand-out aggregation, and a lone representative from St. Patrick's high school make up The Daily Iowan's 1934 all-city team.

Because of the exceptional record of six victories, two losses and one tie made by the Wellsmen, and the above average season of four victories and three defeats enjoyed by University high, this team undoubtedly possesses greater all-around strength than any Iowa City team picked in recent years.

Ballard Named Captain Left end goes once more to big Fred Ballard, dynamic City high performer who is also honored with the captaincy of the team. Though erratic at times, Ballard is the aggressive, hard driving type, capable of inspiring team mates to greater efforts. All season he was a smashing power on both defense and offense. Annual Hawkeye Run Over 2 Mile Course Planned for Saturday

The annual Hawkeye run will be held Saturday at 4 o'clock, over the two mile course on Finkbine field, Coach George T. Bresnahan announced last night.

Ed Hass won the race last year, covering the course in 10:45, and the traveling cup awarded to him at that time will go to the winner of this year's event. Twenty-five ribbons will be given as well as a turkey, goose, duck and hen.

All men who have not won an "A" are eligible to enter Saturday's race.

Ottey Takes 2nd Collegiate Harrier Title Wins 6 Mile Run With Ease; Helps Michigan State to Team Crown

NEW YORK, Nov. 19 (AP)—Blond Tom Ottey, of Michigan State, who runs over the college crop of cross country harriers like Minnesota rolls up and down their football fields, raced through the formality today of winning his second successive national intercollegiate championship over six-miles of rolling country in Van Courlandt park.

Loping along in front of the pack from the first mile on, Ottey, former national 10,000 meters champion, and a competitor in the 1932 Olympic games, led by 200 yards half way around the course and continued on to retain his individual title in 31 minutes, 54.6 seconds. Behind him at the finish, 250 yards back, was Edwin C. Yersey, of Colby, New England intercollegiate champion, with J. Nelson Gardner, of Michigan State, third, another 100 yards back. Ottey and Gardner pulled Michigan State into the team championship for the second straight year with a total of 74 points and men in first, third, 2nd, 25th and 31st places while a surprisingly strong Maine team took second with 93 points.

'Doc' Spears Moves Up Old Prof's Students Gather for Another Monday Session

By PAUL MICKELSON (Associated Press Sports Writer)

CHICAGO, Nov. 19 (AP)—Doc Spears, the forgotten pupil of the classroom for several weeks, was almost mobbed before the old professor saved him and restored order in his Monday morning class for Big Ten football coaches today. Bernie Bierman of Minnesota and Noble Kizer of Purdue picked Spears out of the back row seats as soon as they spied him and clapped his back with mighty wallow to thank him for beating Illinois Saturday and leaving only the Gophers and Bollermakers undefeated in the Big Ten championship struggle. Soon the others joined in and the old professor had to call a halt.

Stop It, Boys Professor: "Stop it, boys. Classence must save his strength because he meets Minnesota Saturday. Clarence, you and your Wisconsin team—and Pat O'Dea—did a fine job in stopping Illinois. You're the first to recite today. Can you beat Minnesota?"

Spears: "The Badgers undoubtedly played their best game of the season in defeating Illinois. The line charged faster and the tackling was greatly improved. No, I do not think they are capable of as good a game against Minnesota. Their victory over Illinois probably will make the Gophers even tougher."

Bob Zupke, Illinois: "Congratulations, Doc. You trotted out a sturdy inspired team, which gamely fought its way back after a discouraging start this season. The whole setting—the first big game at home, the Pat O'Dea homecoming and the rest—was all against us. Of course, I'm feeling low, but that's the life of a coach. Up one week and down another. Our boys are game fellows and they'll be in their fighting mood this week to get ready for Chicago."

Professor: "Well Bernie, no one will believe you, but what about it?"

Nothing Outstanding Bierman: "There was nothing very outstanding about our win against Chicago. The boys weren't particularly hot, nor were they anything much the other way. We played our normal game, but penalties stopped three of our marches and that hurt although we had them coming. Chicago is pretty good and Berwanger is a darned good back. Wisconsin? They've got a good team there now and will be tough." Clark Shaughnessy: "Well I (Continued on Page 7)

Chicago Bears Undefeated In 29 Grid Games

NEW YORK, Nov. 19 (INS)—The great winning streak of the Chicago Bears, National football league champions, remained intact today thanks to the educated toe of Jack Manders, whose field goal with only 56 seconds left to play enabled the Bears to nose out the New York Giants, 10 to 9, before 55,000 fans at the Polo Grounds yesterday.

The game was featured by savage tackling and frequent fisticuffs, the latter being overlooked by the officials.

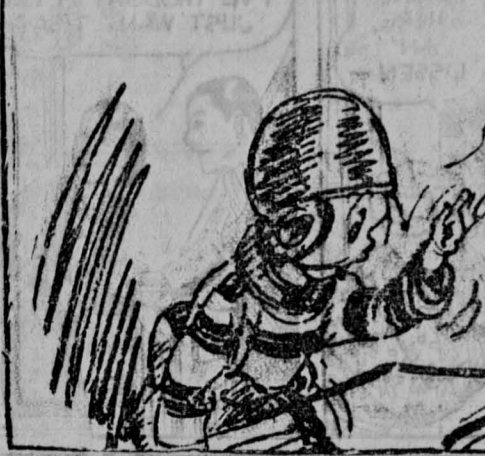

Trailing 9 to 0 with but eight minutes to play, the Bears drove 47 yards to a touchdown in four plays, Nagurski ripping the New York line to shreds and Feathers scoring.

Strong scored for the eastern leaders in the second period and they picked up two more points on a safety.

The Bears haven't been beaten in their last 29 games, including league and exhibition contests. They are tied with Detroit for first place in the western division of the league.

Siwash Coach At Wit's End to Stop Losing Streak

GALESBURG, Ill., Nov. 19 (INS)—With one game left on the schedule, Coach Lloyd Burdick today sought desperately for ways and means of ending Knox college's sensational losing streak.

The Siwashers, who ran their string of successive defeats to 26 by losing to Bradley 44 to 0 Saturday, will close their season against Manmouth college Thanksgiving day.

Knox has not scored a touchdown this season.

The old professor noticed Bo McMillin of Indiana glare at Kizer and promptly called him before the class to recite.

McMillin: "Our team played the best game offensively against Maryland that we have played all season, the defense was second only to the Temple game. If our injured boys are able to play Saturday, we will give Purdue a run for their money, professor. I predict it will be a game worth going miles to see."

Kizer: "You don't have to tell me, Bo. You've got us plenty worried."

Afternoon Spoiled Hanley: "I recommend that each game end as soon as a team scores, professor. We have scored first six

Explanation Of 'Strange As It Seems'

Because a shout among the hills sounds like the voices of many, a helpless little band of Britons stampered and routed a large army of Picts about 500 A.D. at a point near Vocal Mountain in England.

The invading army could have easily overwhelmed the Britons had not their fears caused them to retreat, panic-stricken.

Ossie Solem, Iowa: "My Saturday afternoon watching Ohio State and Michigan play was spoiled by the thought that we must meet the Buckeyes Saturday. Schmidt has a team, which at present, seems to be as strong as Minnesota's. There are eight Ohio State backs as good as the best on Iowa's team."

Francis Schmidt, Ohio State: "Thanks, Ossie. We finally beat Michigan and do we feel grand?" Harry Kipke, Michigan: "Oh, you know how I feel, professor. The memory of four good years has been erased completely by the poor showing this fall. We'll have to start from scratch now."

So the class ended with only Kizer and Bierman in the front row.

U. High Holds Cage Drill; 22 Candidates Out

Twenty-two aspirants for the varsity basketball team turned out for the first practice of the season at the University high school gymnasium last night.

Although the river school mentor has but three weeks in which to pick out and mold together a smooth functioning team, he has a large group of promising candidates with which to work.

Leading the group of basketballers are Thomas, center and forward, and also a letter winner, Foerster, forward with varsity experience; Smith, veteran forward; Fountain and Barron, both guards on last year's quintet.

Eleven forwards, eight guards, and two centers make up the river school squad. The forwards are: Foerster, Smith, Welt, Jessup, Sid Miller, Hart, Wyjack, Kent, Schnoebelen, Rlenow, Kriz and Hinman. The guards are: Fountain, Meyers, Bob Miller and Westcott. Thomas and Anclaus are out for the center berth but Jessup has also seen quite a bit of service at the pivot position.

Cubs Out To Purchase New Ball Talent

CHICAGO, Nov. 19. (INS)—Officials of the Chicago Cubs will attend the National Association of Professional Baseball leagues meeting at Louisville, with a bulging pocketbook and in a bargaining mood.

The Cubs have made or will make bids for Carl Hubbell and Hal Schumacher of the New York Giants, Van Mungo of the Dodgers, and Larry French of the Pirates, it was reported here today.

It was also learned that the Cubs have never made a formal offer to the St. Louis Cards for the Dean Brothers but are ready to dig deep and bid high if there is any intimation the pitching brothers are on the market.

Future of America Is Bright, Davies Declares at Luncheon

Says Business, Labor Will Cooperate To Down Present Fears

"We certainly aren't any worse off than we have been before, and we probably are a little better," Prof. George R. Davies told members of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday noon in discussing "The Trend of Events" at the regular luncheon in the American Legion building.

"Big business, little business, and labor are all willing to do everything possible to promote the general welfare," he explained, saying that America's future gave promise of dispelling present difficulties.

In considering the present situation, Professor Davies said that there were five fears disturbing the country today: the attitude of labor, inflation, the debt burden, fear of war, and the profit motive.

Labor is one of the least worries, he declared. "Labor consists of perfectly good and law abiding citizens, although there are a few radicals," he asserted.

Discussing the fear of inflation, Professor Davies said that every one of this country's depressions had been followed by inflation. "There is only a remote danger of a runaway inflation such as occurred in Europe after the war," he declared, adding that "A mild inflation will be wholesome."

As for our debt burden, he said there was little to fear. "England has an $800 per capita debt to our $200, and they don't seem to be worrying," he said. "We've got to make a transition some of these days from the flow of money into producer business," he pointed out.

Turning to the fear of war, he said there was no reason for it to paralyze us as it does. "Capitalists, labor, farmers, politicians, and idealists agree that we don't want war, but if wars come, we'll have to fight them through," he said. It is nonsense for people to say it will mean the end of civilization, he declared.

"Because we are building a large navy doesn't mean we are an aggressive nation; it merely means that we're waking up to the world around us. "There isn't any nation in the world as peaceful as the United States," he added. Productive effort will put war in the background, he stated.

The profit motive he described as a dangerous thing, "playing with fire and civilization." However, he said that the accumulation of money for humanitarian motives was just as reasonable as collecting books to disseminate knowledge.

Merchants To Offer Bargains

Seasonable merchandise at special prices will be offered during "Iowa City Bargain Days" Thursday, Friday, and Saturday of this week.

Special window displays in all leading stores in the city will announce the event and the values offered. Detailed announcements will be made in the advertising columns of The Daily Iowan tomorrow.

Seventy-one merchants cooperated in the "Iowa City Bargain Days" sales event last August. Both merchants and shoppers were reported enthusiastic about the special event and plans now being made indicate that the three day sales this week will be more successful.

Glenn Porter is chairman of the Retail Merchant's bureau committee which is in charge of the sale. Harry Bremer, Leslie Yetter, J. J. McNamara, and J. H. Steinmetz are on the committee.

Many Speakers, Songs Feature Observance Of Veterans' Night

Veterans' night was observed last night by the Sons of Union Veterans and auxiliary at the court house. Members of the Women's Relief corps and Daughters of Union Veterans also attended.

The program opened with a flag salute by the assembly. Clyde E. Hinchliffe gave the welcome address from the Sons of Union Veterans. Mrs. Lola Harmon welcomed the group for the Daughters of Union Veterans.

The "Gettysburg Address" was read by George Trundy and a military dance by Jean Gatens, and songs by Josephine Walsh, accompanied by Marie Korab, and Robert Buell, with Gracka Quandt as accompanist, followed.

The Rev. Luther Childs of Centerville, department commander of the Sons of Union Veterans; Mrs. Wilma Coombes of Des Moines, past national president of the auxiliary to the Sons of Union Veterans; Mrs. Tracy Bradley of the local Women's Relief corps; Mabel Condon of the local auxiliary; Benjamin Switzer, commander of the local Sons of Union Veterans; and Mrs. Emma McRoberts, department treasurer of the Daughters of Union Veterans, spoke before the meeting.

Following a piano duet by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Seger, the assembly sang "America."

Resurfacing Now Finished

Burlington Street To Open for Traffic Within Few Days

The resurfacing of Burlington street between Linn and Summit streets was completed and will be open for traffic tomorrow or Thursday, J. F. Spruatt, city engineer, said yesterday.

The project, costing $56,838.35, began Oct. 11, when the first concrete for the base was poured. Workmen began laying bricks Nov. 2, and finished Saturday. The base, curb, gutter, and sidewalks required 14 cars of cement, and 42 carloads of brick were used in the paving, Chief Engineer Spruatt said.

Pay for the 125 men totaled $10,000. Two shifts of men, each working five hours, were used from 7 a.m. to 5 p.m. every day, with no noon hour.

A system novel in paving projects of Iowa City was used in this job, Mr. Spruatt said. After the bricks were set in place, a solution of calcium chloride and starch was sprayed over the top. The hot asphalt was then poured on top, allowed to cool, and scraped off. A smoother paving is insured by this method, officials believe.

A PWA grant of $17,400, a PWA loan of $16,500, and a gift of $18,000 from the state highway commission partially financed the project. Bonds for the remainder and for the PWA loan were purchased from the city by the Carleton Beh company of Des Moines.

Fred E. Gartzke, assistant city engineer, was in charge of the project.

Continue Auto Death Probe

Schedule Holmes Funeral Today At Iowa City Church

Funeral service for Walter M. Holmes, 56, who was killed when struck by an automobile Saturday night, will be at 9 o'clock this morning at St. Patrick's church. The body is at the Hohenschuh mortuary.

Meanwhile, investigation of the double accident on highway 6, in which Mr. Holmes was struck by an auto driven by Tom Connell, Jr., 20, is being conducted by Coroner George Maresh, who said that a verdict of accidental death will probably be returned.

Mr. Holmes, driving in the rain to his home near Coralville, bumped into a stalled car belonging to E. V. Sparks, route 2, of Iowa City, with little damage to either vehicle. Both drivers alighted and were conversing, when the car driven by Connell struck Holmes, throwing him several feet, and fracturing his skull, pelvis and right leg. Instant death occurred, Dr. Maresh said.

Mr. Holmes was born in Pleasant Valley, township in 1878. He was employed for several years at University hospital.

Survivors are: his widow; eight children, Watson, Mrs. George Paul, Mrs. Francis Kelley, and Mrs. Lee McGuire of Iowa City; Walter and Margaret of Coralville; Mrs. A. J. Haman of Des Moines; and Mrs. Victor Malchky of Richmond. A son, Albert, died in 1924.

U. High Free Dance Features New Band

Members of the university high school will dance to the tunes of the new high school orchestra next Friday at the first matinee dance of the year from 4:15 until 5:30 p.m. There is to be no admission charge for the dance which will be in the gymnasium. This will be the first appearance of the new orchestra.

Judge Evans Opens November Term Of Court; Jurors Chosen

Grand jurors were impanelled yesterday, as District Judge Harold D. Evans opened the November term of court. The jurors, who went into session immediately after impanelment, were: Carl Roup, foreman; Vernon Brown; J. P. Mead; George H. Miller; William Maresh; Karl E. Wiese, and M. A. Randall.

The "Gettysburg Address" was read by George Trundy and a military dance by Jean Gatens, and songs by Josephine Walsh, accompanied by Marie Korab, and Robert Buell, with Gracka Quandt as accompanist, followed.

The Rev. Luther Childs of Centerville, department commander of the Sons of Union Veterans; Mrs. Wilma Coombes of Des Moines, past national president of the auxiliary to the Sons of Union Veterans; Mrs. Tracy Bradley of the local Women's Relief corps; Mabel Condon of the local auxiliary; Benjamin Switzer, commander of the local Sons of Union Veterans; and Mrs. Emma McRoberts, department treasurer of the Daughters of Union Veterans, spoke before the meeting.

Following a piano duet by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Seger, the assembly sang "America."

State Pension Board Upholds County Ruling

Action of the Johnson county old age assistance board in refusing to divulge names of pension recipients last Friday was upheld by a ruling of the state old age assistance commission from Des Moines yesterday. The letter to Dr. D. F. Fitzpatrick, chairman of the local board, is as follows: "A number of newspaper stories in various parts of the state seem to indicate that information as to names and individual allowances were being given out by some of the boards. "For the protection of the aged people, the state old age commission has made it a rule not to divulge the name or amount allowed to any individual applicant. It is our suggestion that this rule be followed by the county boards, as this information only tends to create jealousies and makes the work of the county boards and investigators that much more difficult."

Charles Probst Shoots Self

Charles A. Probst, 51, committed suicide yesterday noon on his farm in Monroe township. The body was found by one of his sons in a small machine shed near the house. During the absence of his wife and children, he shot himself in the roof of the mouth with a 12 gauge shotgun. The body was found an hour later.

No message was left, but it was believed that despondency over ill health had prompted the act, friends said. He had not been well for several years, and had taken treatments at Mt. Pleasant several times, Coroner George Maresh said.

Seymour Pitcher Tells Of Objections Against Humanism in Address

Pointing out the objections modern philosophers have against humanism, Seymour Pitcher of the English department addressed a meeting of the Humanist society last evening. Talking on "The Future of Humanism," Mr. Pitcher suggested reforms to be made, if humanism is to become the philosophy of the future and described humanism as it was formulated by Irving Babbitt. Alma E. Hovey and Carrie E. Stanley were hostesses to the society at their home, 314 N. Dubuque street.

Police Begin Crime Drive

Chief Bender Requests Cooperation of Home Owners, Newspapers

Beginning a campaign against housebreaking in Iowa City, Chief of Police W. H. Bender announced yesterday that he would ask the cooperation of newspapers and home owners here.

"After a thorough study this year I am convinced that two precautions to insure against home robberies of absent owners should be taken," Chief Bender said. "First the absentee should notify local officers when he is going 'out of town'; and second, announcements of his departure, his address, and definite information as to the duration of his stay should not be published.

"In every case on record since fall the housebreaking and robbery followed an announcement that the dwellers would be absent. If we had 50 men on our staff instead of nine, including night and day shifts, we might be able to fully protect every home even though an open house invitation to anyone who cares to read has been made. However, announcements of the occupant's return can be made with impunity.

"The worst feature of the whole thing is the way a person unlofted for a few hours can literally wreck the place," Chief Bender continued. "Besides actually carrying away valuable articles this type of thief often breaks furniture, dishes, and ruins costly rugs or carpeting with carelessly thrown cigarette stubs. The miracle is that more fires which destroy the whole property do not result."

Delinquent Tax List For Johnson County Smallest in Years

The smallest delinquent tax list in Johnson county for many years was announced yesterday by County Treasurer W. E. Smith.

The size of the list indicates diligent effort of Johnson county taxpayers to pay their 1934 taxes, Mr. Smith said.

Big Grove township claims the honor of having no delinquent residents on the report, and Newport township lists only two. The annual county tax sale will be Dec. 3, the treasurer announced.

William Phelps Talks On Metal Research

X-ray studies of absorption frequencies in various metals were discussed by William D. Phelps of the physics department at a physics colloquium meeting yesterday afternoon.

The talk dealt with a paper by R. L. de Kronig, Dutch physicist, who has conducted extensive research on x-ray studies in metals. A short discussion followed the address.

U. High Buys New Games, Equipment

Bandits Hold Up Grocery

Robbers Get $30 From J. Goldberg, Owner Of Bowery Street Store

The Bowery Street grocery, 518 Bowery street, was robbed yesterday afternoon of $30, when two men held up its proprietor, J. Goldberg.

Mr. Goldberg, who described the men as "floaters," from 17 to 19 years old, said they entered his store at 3 p.m. and ordered him to the back of the room. One man pointed a gun at him while the other rifled the cash register.

Sheriff Don McComan and Chief of Police W. H. Bender scouted east on Bowery street and north on Johnson, the direction Mr. Goldberg thought the thieves had taken. However, he could give no description of the car they used, and the only thing he could tell about the youths was that one had a thin face and wore a blue Scotch plaid cap, and the other was wearing a grey hat. Police last night had made no arrests.

This is the second time the store has been robbed in two years. In 1932, Raymond E. Smith, 28, of Ft. Madison, was arrested and sentenced to 25 years for stealing $45.
