Just a Few Millions

Report Discovery Of Pirate Loot On Uruguayan Coast

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 29 (INS)—The hiding place of pirate loot plundered from a British vessel 200 years ago was reported discovered today.

An expedition of Uruguayan engineers headed by Major Bernigno Carambula found what it believes to be the pirate cache near Colonia of the Uruguayan coast.

The loot, according to popular legend, was taken from a British ship enroute to Europe from Peru, and is believed to total several million dollars. Several weeks ago, Major Carambula came into possession of documents purporting to reveal the hiding place and immediately organized an expedition.

First reports from the searchers said they had turned up a number of ancient toys and other articles convincing them they were hot on the trail of the plunder.

A British expedition was sent to Uruguay in 1883 and carried on a fruitless search of several months. The treasure is said to include 30 casks of gold.

The noted South American pirate, Victor Molina, is generally credited with being responsible for the robbery and burial of the loot.

Japan Wants Peace-Hirota

Minister Optimistic Over Jap-Russian Relationships

TOKYO, Nov. 30 (Friday) (AP)—Japanese insistence upon abolition of the ratio principle in naval armament was declared by Foreign Minister Koki Hirota today to be in accordance with a "principle of non-normance and non aggression."

Picturing Japan as the champion of this principle, he told the house of peers, in extra session, that the empire is actuated by "the spirit of disarmament."

Hirota referred to the "healthy development of our ally, Manchoukuo," which he described as a matter "wherein we are vitally interested as may be readily perceived from the imperial rescript issued on the occasion of Japan's secession from the League of Nations."

He reported improvement in the relations with Russia since a previous report on the subject, and reported that while serious obstacles had been met an agreement had been reached on the price of the transfer of the North Manchurian railway (the new name for the Chinese Eastern railway not yet formally made.)

Don Lash, Indiana, Wins A.A.U. Nat. Harrier Run

Defending Champion Gets Only Fourth In National Meet

BY RAY COX

Sprinting the home stretch as if inspired, Don Lash, black haired Indiana sophomore, overtook slender Tom Ottey of Michigan to win by a three yard margin the thirty-seventh National A.A.U. 10,000 meter senior cross country run held over Finkbine field yesterday morning.

Ray Sears of Butler university, defending champion, had to be content with fourth place.

Millrose A.A. of New York city placed four men of its five men team in the first 10 to finish to garner its sixth team title in eight years. The easterners captured their title with an exceptionally low score of 26 points, while Michigan State took second with 47, Indiana third with 57, and Iowa fourth with 80 points.

New Record

Lash's time for the event, yesterday held for the first time west of the Mississippi, was 32:17.2, bettering Sears' winning time of last year by more than 30 seconds. It established a new record for the rugged terrain. It was a cold day and a light drizzle fell throughout the race.

Lash, who seems headed for a great running career like so many other Hoosiers, and who only two weeks ago won the Central intercollegiate harrier crown, hung well back at the start of the race. Caught in the swirl of flashing legs as the pack of 43 hill and dalers from nine universities and clubs set forth on their six and one fourth mile title chase, the Indiana sophomore was content to follow the pace setters until the final 600 yards.

Pentti Third

At this point Ottey, who had led the pack for the most part, shook out a faster pace, with Lash hard on his heels. The blonde haired Spartan from Michigan State stepped his pace to the limit on the final curve of the cinder track east of the stadium, but the rugged Hoosier, with strength in reserve, cut the distance and shook his heels at Ottey for the gruelling run victory.

Eino Pentti, an Olympic star and one of the Millrose A.A. standouts, finished third, behind Ottey and ahead of Sears, leading his five teammates who were well up in the race to team honors. Louis Gregory, Paul Mundy, Joe Mundy and Fred Fitzze finished fifth, seventh, ninth and tenth respectively for Millrose.

Sears seemed far from the condition.

Princess, Duke Wed In London; 500,000 Witness Procession

Copyright, 1934
By the Associated Press
LONDON, Nov. 29 (AP)—Great Britain's big royal wedding was not without its casualties. Ambulance men attended 750 cases along the wedding route, where crowds were most densely packed.

Ten persons were taken to hospitals, but most of the other troubles were minor. Many women fainted, two persons suffered fractured legs.

LONDON, Nov. 29—In the grandest, most gorgeous show London has seen in many years, beautiful Marina of Greece became the bride today of the Duke of Kent, King George's handsome youngest son.

A half million persons who packed this staid old city to the chimney-tops roared cheer after cheer as the young couple, parading in glittering processions from Buckingham Palace to Westminster Abbey and back, plighted their troth in two separate ceremonies.

Feverish, happy excitement, not at all blighted by early morning rain, fog and mist, gripped the capital from the moment Marina, waking early, peeped out between the curtains of her Buckingham palace suite until shouting throngs saw the newly-weds off for their country honeymoon.

The mood of merry-making still held the city tonight and the spirit of carnival reignited at all London's places of amusement as the royal honeymooners sought seclusion at the Earl of Dudley's country home, Himley Hall.

It was the city's biggest event since, perhaps, the coronation of King George 25 years ago. Londoners, their numbers swelled by thousands from the provinces, made the most of it.

Two colorful ceremonies, each steeped in centuries of tradition, united the pair, whose romance, born at the country estate of Prince Paul of Yugoslavia in the beautiful Slovenian Alps, thrilled England's charwomen and countesses alike.

Helen Gillis First Feminine "Public Enemy" in U. S.

CHICAGO, Nov. 29 (AP)—Diminutive Helen Gillis tonight unofficially became the nation's first woman public enemy.

Hundreds of federal agents, police, sheriffs and their deputies scoured highways and byways tonight to ferret out the widow of Baby Face Nelson, killer of three federal agents, who fell mortally wounded by bullets from guns of two dying agents.

With her in the futile dash away from authorities was believed to be John Hamilton, last lieutenant of the crime-crazed Dillinger mob.

And should officialdom meet the desperate duo, gunfire will not be withheld. The apparent mercy Inspector Samuel P. Cowley and Federal Agent Herman E. Hollis showed the woman believed to be Mrs. Gillis will not be repeated. It was that mercy that cost them their lives Tuesday.

Inspector H. H. Clegg who flew here from Washington to assist Melvin H. Purvis, head of the local bureau of investigation of the department of justice, commented tersely: "We want her."

No gun girl was the petite, 94 pound Helen Wawrzyniak when she married Lester M. Gillis who later became George (Baby Face) Nelson. She was born and reared on Chicago's northwest side. She is the mother of two children, Arlene, 4, now at the home of Nelson's mother, Mrs. Mary Gillis, 65, and Ronald, 5, reported to be at the home of one of Nelson's sisters in Bremerton, Wash.

Mexican Head To Take Oath

MEXICO, D.F., Nov. 29. (AP)—General Lazaro Cardenas, whose knowledge of the aims of the Mexican revolution was gained at first hand during nearly 15 years of military campaigning, will take the oath of office as 45th president of Mexico tomorrow.

A veteran of the field, Cardenas also has had experience in government. He held office under the revolutionary government for five years before his election July 1 to succeed President Abelardo Rodriguez.

Youngest of Mexico's presidents at 39, he comes into office at a time when the revolutionary movement, during five years of internal peace, has consolidated and strengthened its position to such an extent that it has virtually no articulate opposition. During his term, scheduled to end in 1940, he is expected to attempt to bring to fulfillment the economic and social program outlined in the six-year plan of the national revolutionary (government) party.

Man, Woman Arrested, Held by Chicago Police

CHICAGO, Nov. 29 (AP)—A man and a woman were in technical custody tonight as federal agents, police and sheriff's officers combed the nation for John Hamilton and Mrs. Helen Gillis, diminutive widow of George "Baby Face" Nelson.

Mystery surrounded both the raid in which the pair was seized and the reason for detaining them. Excited witnesses declared federal agents were on the scene.

Federal Mortgage Insurance Will Stimulate Urban Housing

New Rules May Draw Private Capital Into Low-Cost Building

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29 (AP)—Private capital was invited by the federal housing administration today to step into the low-cost urban housing picture, with the inducement of federal insurance of mortgages up to the full cost of the buildings.

The invitation took the form of a new set of regulations for insurance on such projects, issued by James A. Moffett, the housing administrator. The move generally was interpreted as further clarifying the housing situation over which Moffett and Secretary Ickes clashed last week.

Aid Slim Pocketbooks

Moffett's rules definitely defined the low-cost housing field into which he hopes to bring private capital.

President Roosevelt yesterday made clear that the government intended to help those whose pocketbooks were too slim to build their own homes.

The chief executive's announcement was interpreted to mean, however, that the federal funds would not be thrown into competition with private capital. Thus both the Ickes and Moffett plans would be kept from colliding.

Full Insurance

The housing administration's announcement today held out the hope in some instances of full insurance of mortgages on the second of two classes of property with which it deals, namely, "properties comprised in low-cost housing projects occupied by a large number of family units, in either one building or a group of buildings."

Federation Of Labor Reports 'Hard Times'

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29 (AP)—On the eve of a significant administration decision as to its future relief policy, the American Federation of Labor tonight reported that a half million more men and women were unemployed than in October a year ago.

William Green, president of the federation, interpreted this to mean that the relief problem over the coming winter was "the most serious this nation has ever faced."

"We are entering the winter of 1934," he said, "with 550,000 more out of work than we had at this time a year ago. The American Federation of Labor estimates show 10,671,000 without work in industry in October, 1934, as compared to 10,122,000 in October, 1933."

Loaded down with even later and more complete data, Harry Hopkins, relief director; Secretary Morgenthau and Undersecretary Tugwell of the agriculture department, meanwhile, were headed toward Warm Springs, Ga.

At a conference with President Roosevelt tomorrow or Saturday, a session regarded as one of the most important of pre-congress gatherings, the entire relief problem will be dissected and policies formed.

Green Says 500,000 More Jobless Than In October, 1933

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29 (AP)—Administration officials have passed the word to congressional leaders that quick action is desired on forthcoming permanent NRA legislation in order to assure business about its future under the blue eagle.

Those at work under the direction of Donald R. Richberg, the recovery coordinator, were disclosed today to have made considerable progress on a tentative draft of a measure to continue indefinitely this major phase of the Roosevelt recovery program.

The present act expires next June. The administration wants a new measure enacted as quickly as possible in the coming session in order to have the permanent machinery ready for operation when the existing law ends. Further, the position is taken that the longer the measure is before congress the more it will disturb business. Extended consideration also would be more likely to engender controversy that might delay passage, the administrator holds.

Business To Aid Insurance

Report Industrialists Will Boost Measure For Social Security

NEW YORK, Nov. 29 (AP)—A group of leading industrialists is mustering forces to align itself with administration officials during the coming session of congress in shaping an unemployment insurance program. It was learned tonight from authoritative sources.

Their primary purpose, one of the group disclosed, is to cooperate in developing a program based on sound principles, with employers taking the lead. Another vital consideration, however, was reported to be that jockeying in congressional committees and on the floor might produce a measure detrimental to business interests.

These business executives, contending that unemployment insurance could best be handled through an understanding between employer and employe, have been studying the question intensively for the last week, reviewing ground covered in previous analyses.

Dutch Schultz, N. Y. Racket King, Surrenders to Police

NEW YORK, Nov. 29. (INS)—It was a cold turkey Thanksgiving day in the underworld of this metropolis today.

Dutch Schultz, who rose from "grifter" and petty thief to the feudal lordship of most of the modern rackets in New York town, walked into jail in Albany to save his hide.

Causes Earthquake

He was but a few steps ahead of a cordon of federal agents ready to shoot him down even as less cute public enemies—Dillinger, Pretty Boy Floyd and Baby Face Nelson—had met their ends.

The surrender of Schultz, born Arthur Flegenheimer to federal authorities for alleged failure to pay any income tax on his rum-running profits in the prohibition era, caused an earthquake in subterranean circles.

The half dozen major rackets, which funnel forth millions of dollars every day, were left crownless. If Schultz fails to beat the rap at his trial here in federal court, one of the bloodiest gangster duels for control of the golden traffic was predicted.

These rackets include bootlegging (still a thriving industry), the policy or "number" racket, slot machines, gambling pools and the "daily double" betting syndicate.

Politicians Worried

And when New York's public enemy number one goes on trial, many political friends of Schultz will spend sleepless nights. For Dutch boasted with a wink that he couldn't be got.

While federal authorities sought for him for a year, it was reported he had come and gone at frequent intervals through his native city; that he had been seen at major prize fights in gay spots on Broadway and once even at the opera.

U. S. Sailors Get Turkey

LOS ANGELES HARBOR, Cal., Nov. 29 (INS)—This is Turkey day with plenty of emphasis on the turkey, for the 30,000 men of the United States fleet based here.

It was revealed today that 35,000 pounds of turkeys have been slaughtered so Uncle Sam's sailors may have a typical Thanksgiving day dinner.

The trimmings for the fleet's dinner included 20,000 pounds of sweet and Irish potatoes; five tons of celery; 400 gallons of olives; 400 gallons of sweet pickles; 3,000 pounds of mixed nuts; 5,000 pounds of fruit cake; 5,000 pounds of mixed candy; 1,500 gallons of ice cream, to say nothing of cigars by the thousands of packages, and gallons and gallons of steaming coffee.

No estimate on the amount of turnips, cauliflower, lettuce, and tomatoes to be used was available, but it will run into the thousands of pounds on each item.

U. S. Officers Give Lives for Cleanup Of Dillinger Mob

CHICAGO, Nov. 29 (INS)—With nine desperadoes dead and an equal number of officers slain, the war between the John Dillinger gang and organized society stood even today following the death of George "Baby Face" Nelson, the nation's public enemy No. 1.

Three of the officers killed were federal department of justice operatives. The machine guns of the cherubic faced desperado accounted for three, Samuel P. Cowley and Herman E. Hollis were slain in the battle at Barrington, Ill., in which Nelson was fatally wounded. Federal Agent W. Carter Baum was killed in an attempt to capture Dillinger and Nelson at the Little Bohemia resort near Mercer, Wis., last April 22.

Officers Killed

Other officers killed by Dillinger guns were: Sheriff Jess Sarber of Lima, Ohio, Oct. 12, 1933.

Policeman Harold Wagner, South Bend, Ind., June 30, 1934.

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A 10-point platform, presented by the Screen Actors guild and rejected, in toto, by motion picture producers was unofficially disclosed last night to be the stumbling block to an agreement between Hollywood film players and production heads.

Underworld Leader Faces Charge Of U. S. Tax Evasion

NEW YORK, Nov. 29. (INS)—It was a cold turkey Thanksgiving day in the underworld of this metropolis today.

Dutch Schultz, who rose from "grifter" and petty thief to the feudal lordship of most of the modern rackets in New York town, walked into jail in Albany to save his hide.

Causes Earthquake

He was but a few steps ahead of a cordon of federal agents ready to shoot him down even as less cute public enemies—Dillinger, Pretty Boy Floyd and Baby Face Nelson—had met their ends.

The surrender of Schultz, born Arthur Flegenheimer to federal authorities for alleged failure to pay any income tax on his rum-running profits in the prohibition era, caused an earthquake in subterranean circles.

The half dozen major rackets, which funnel forth millions of dollars every day, were left crownless. If Schultz fails to beat the rap at his trial here in federal court, one of the bloodiest gangster duels for control of the golden traffic was predicted.

These rackets include bootlegging (still a thriving industry), the policy or "number" racket, slot machines, gambling pools and the "daily double" betting syndicate.

Politicians Worried

And when New York's public enemy number one goes on trial, many political friends of Schultz will spend sleepless nights. For Dutch boasted with a wink that he couldn't be got.

While federal authorities sought for him for a year, it was reported he had come and gone at frequent intervals through his native city; that he had been seen at major prize fights in gay spots on Broadway and once even at the opera.

Relief Party Goes To Aid of District Swept by Typhoon

MANILA, Nov. 30 (Friday) (AP)—A relief party left here today for Leyte province, center of devastation wrought by a typhoon which cut through the east central Philippines yesterday. Reports from Leyte described the storm as one of the most violent in that region in many years.

At 6 a.m. the vortex of the typhoon was reported on the Island of Mindoro, probably 100 miles south of Manila. The weather bureau said winds of 125 miles an hour were reported in Leyte, and added the extent of destruction would depend on the nature of the areas affected.

Official Ask Quick Action On Legislation

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29 (AP)—Administration officials have passed the word to congressional leaders that quick action is desired on forthcoming permanent NRA legislation in order to assure business about its future under the blue eagle.

Those at work under the direction of Donald R. Richberg, the recovery coordinator, were disclosed today to have made considerable progress on a tentative draft of a measure to continue indefinitely this major phase of the Roosevelt recovery program.

The present act expires next June. The administration wants a new measure enacted as quickly as possible in the coming session in order to have the permanent machinery ready for operation when the existing law ends. Further, the position is taken that the longer the measure is before congress the more it will disturb business. Extended consideration also would be more likely to engender controversy that might delay passage, the administrator holds.

Gang vs. Law Score 9 to 9

CHICAGO, Nov. 29 (INS)—With nine desperadoes dead and an equal number of officers slain, the war between the John Dillinger gang and organized society stood even today following the death of George "Baby Face" Nelson, the nation's public enemy No. 1.

Three of the officers killed were federal department of justice operatives. The machine guns of the cherubic faced desperado accounted for three, Samuel P. Cowley and Herman E. Hollis were slain in the battle at Barrington, Ill., in which Nelson was fatally wounded. Federal Agent W. Carter Baum was killed in an attempt to capture Dillinger and Nelson at the Little Bohemia resort near Mercer, Wis., last April 22.

Officers Killed

Other officers killed by Dillinger guns were: Sheriff Jess Sarber of Lima, Ohio, Oct. 12, 1933.

Sergt. William T. Shanley of the Chicago police force, Dec. 14, 1933.

Policeman Eugene Teague of the Indiana state force, slain at Paris, Ill., Dec. 20, 1933.

Policeman William O'Malley, East Chicago, Ind., Jan. 14, 1934.

Undersheriff Charles Cavanaugh, killed March 16, 1934, with Herbert Youngblood, Negro companion of Dillinger in the Crown Point, Ind., jailbreak.

Policeman Harold Wagner, South Bend, Ind., June 30, 1934.

Gangsters Killed

Dillinger gangsters killed in encounters with the law:

"Baby Face" Nelson, at Barrington, Ill., last Saturday.

John Dillinger, in Chicago, July 22, 1934.

Homer Van Meter, at St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 23, 1934.

Charles Makley, killed trying to escape from Ohio State penitentiary, Sept. 22, 1934.

Eugene Green, at St. Paul, April 10, 1934.

Herbert Youngblood, at Port Huron, Mich., April 20, 1934.

Joseph Jenkins, at Beensblossom, Ind., Oct. 1, 1933.

Harry Pierpont, electrocuted at Ohio penitentiary for murder of Sheriff Sarber, Oct. 17, 1934.

GRINNELL, (AP)—Six persons were injured here early yesterday as an auto sideswiped a truck. Glenn Eortell of Grinnell suffered severe head injuries and was the most seriously injured.

Police Press Search For Widow of Slain Gangster

CHICAGO, Nov. 29 (AP)—Diminutive Helen Gillis tonight unofficially became the nation's first woman public enemy.

Hundreds of federal agents, police, sheriffs and their deputies scoured highways and byways tonight to ferret out the widow of Baby Face Nelson, killer of three federal agents, who fell mortally wounded by bullets from guns of two dying agents.

With her in the futile dash away from authorities was believed to be John Hamilton, last lieutenant of the crime-crazed Dillinger mob.

And should officialdom meet the desperate duo, gunfire will not be withheld. The apparent mercy Inspector Samuel P. Cowley and Federal Agent Herman E. Hollis showed the woman believed to be Mrs. Gillis will not be repeated. It was that mercy that cost them their lives Tuesday.

Inspector H. H. Clegg who flew here from Washington to assist Melvin H. Purvis, head of the local bureau of investigation of the department of justice, commented tersely: "We want her."

No gun girl was the petite, 94 pound Helen Wawrzyniak when she married Lester M. Gillis who later became George (Baby

William Zepp, representing Michigan Normal college of Ypsilanti, Mich., who won the individual crown in 1930 and who has beaten Ottey, finished sixth.

The New York team, in finishing five men in the first 20, turned in an outstanding feat, while Michigan State finished its quintet in the first 15.

Not in Running

William Dreyer, holder of the junior 10,000 meter championship, who peddled his way 225 miles on a bicycle from Barrington, Ill., to compete in the meet, was out of the running from the start. While he gained over a few of the runners he was unable to finish close to the head of the procession, garnering twenty-second place.

Coach George T. Breenahan, meet manager, was well pleased with the performance turned in by the Iowa squad. While the Hawks never had a chance of taking home honors, they ran a good race. Ray Pratt was the first Iowa man to cross the finish line, in sixteenth place.

Approximately 500 spectators braced the threatening weather to view the contest. The Finkbine course which takes the runner over hill and dale, hard track and turf, was in fine condition although damp and slightly slippery.

Police Seek Death Clues In California

CARLISLE, Pa., Nov. 29 (AP)—Lieut. H. E. McElroy, chief of detectives of the state police, said tonight the description of the three girls and the man and woman found dead in Pennsylvania's "babes-in-the-woods" mystery tallies with that of Elmo J. Noakes, of Roseville, Cal., his three daughters and his niece.

CARLISLE, Pa., Nov. 29 (AP)—State police tonight turned to California as the most likely source of obtaining clues to the identity of the five dead in Pennsylvania's "babes-in-the-woods" mystery.

Major C. M. Wilhelm, deputy superintendent of state police, announced that pictures and descriptions have been sent to the Pacific coast to be distributed in districts where the woman and man found shot to death near Altona, and the three little girls found huddled in death on a mountain near here might have visited before they came east.

At the same time, Wilhelm appealed again to school authorities throughout the nation to re-check class rooms for three empty seats. It was suggested this check center around children of the third grade, because the youngest of the little girls is reported to have told a woman in a Philadelphia restaurant she was in that grade.

That bit of information was given to Mrs. Anna Lefauvre, customer of the restaurant, who bought the child a dinner after the man, woman and two other children, with her asked for a meal to "split" among the tots. Mrs. Lefauvre was one of several persons who identified the bodies of the children and the man and woman as being in the group which drove through central and eastern Pennsylvania in recent days, stopping at tourist cabins on their way. Mrs. Lefauvre said all were in the party which stopped at the restaurant in Philadelphia.

Another of the several identifications of the bodies was made today by Mr. and Mrs. Perrie, tourist home operators at Waynesboro, who said a man, woman and three girls stopped at their camp the night of Nov. 17 but left after learning the rates. She said the man gave the name of J. C. Cowden, of Vallejo, Cal.

Sophie Picks Her Men

No Movie Actors For Stage Star; Roosevelt Leads as Handsomest

By COPELAND C. BURG
CHICAGO, Nov. 29 (INS)—Sophie Tucker today picked the 10 handsomest men in all the world for International News Service and there wasn't a movie actor in the list.

In fact Sophie got a little bit upstage and ultra and after she had picked a president, a king, a prince, a premier and a few writing gentlemen there wasn't room for any Clark Gables and John Barrymores. "Just ordinary good looks never could impress me," the famous stage figure said. "A man to be handsome must possess much character, beauty of expression and individuality. The men who make up my list are 10 widely different types and yet each in his own way is handsome."

F. R. Heads List
"President Roosevelt heads my list because of the loyalty, perseverance and kindness so clearly shown in his famous features. He has the face of a born leader, a face that inspires confidence and good will."

"King George of England must be included because of his aristocratic bearing, quiet demeanor and truly noble appearance."

"Colonel Charles Lindbergh is certainly one of the world's handsomest men. His clear eyes, courageous character and strong chin are symbolic of true American youth. He is the ideal of every mother."

"George Bernard Shaw—Ah! There is a man. To this red-hot momma he seems to be the last of the red-hot papas. A fiery, merry, witty soul."

"Premier Benito Mussolini is handsome because his face is a mirror of strength, self-confidence and intelligence. He is one of this generation's most forceful personalities and a unique type."

"Quite another type is H. G. Wells. His is the face of a great humanitarian. A man who knows more than the crowd but whose sympathies are with the crowd. His face seems to say 'come to me with your problems and worries as I will understand, sympathize and advise you.'"

"The Prince of Wales is a gay, colorful sort. To me he is extremely handsome and dashing—the swiftest of my 10 handsome men. He is exciting because he has the dual charm of goodness and honesty—the kind who has seen life, loves it and wants to see more."

"Arthur Brisbane has a charm—charm that lies largely in the intelligence that is so finely etched upon his brow. He is distinguished, a representative American type—thoughtful, trustworthy and truth-loving."

cago, must be included in my list because he is so jovial looking even when he attempts to look serious. He is a man who is never too busy to help others and he goes into the list, too, because he is so alert and vitally interested in everything." Sophie wound up her list with Prof. Albert Einstein, but didn't say why except that "he is sweet."

From Roots To Rattlers Desert Dwellers Eat Strange Dishes For Thanksgiving

TUCSON, Ariz., Nov. 29 (INS)—While the rest of the nation carved turkey, dwellers on the American Sahara sat down today at tables where the delicacies ranged from sand roots to mashed insects.

Since the gobbler has always been a rare bird on the wastelands, the desert denizens turn each Thanksgiving to their own variety of cranberry sauce and dressing.

The root eaters of southern Arizona and California, a vanishing tribe of Indians who live in the sand dunes, cooked an extra fine batch of ammobroma roots, a vegetable which resembles the sweet potato and grows wild. The Ozumas, another fast-dying clan of red men, pounded a kettle full of supupa, a tiny white worm which smacks of crab meat.

Many prospectors in the hills quaffed a few glasses of sahuaro-cactus whiskey, which has effect more of opium than of the usual hard liquors. Hunters in the Apache lands plunged knives into javelina meat, having ended hunts for the wild boar which were reminiscent of days in old England.

Fordyce Says Troops May Get Award

An estimate that eight troops and cub packs of the Iowa City Area council will earn the 1934 ten year program award of the Boy Scouts of America was made yesterday by Scout Executive Glen G. Fordyce.

The troops, as announced by Mr. Fordyce, are: troop 2 of Iowa City, with Frank Kinney as Scoutmaster; troop 10 of Iowa City, St. Patrick's church, Tom Kelly, Scoutmaster; troop 14 of Iowa City, First Methodist church, Frank Swisher, Scoutmaster; troop 25 of Williamsburg, Williamsburg commercial club, George Meyer, Scoutmaster; troop 28 of Marengo, Marengo Knights of Pythias, B. W. Mann, Scoutmaster; troop 29 of Marengo, Marengo Rotary club, Dr. Galbraith, Scoutmaster; troop 33 of Washington, Ia., Washington Y's Men's club, David Elder, Scoutmaster; and cub pack 2 of Iowa City, Longfellow P.T.A., Arthur Boss, Cubmaster. A medalion will be given to these troops, according to Mr. Fordyce.

The ten year program, as established by the Boy Scouts of America at the beginning of 1923, is described as a challenge to every Boy Scout troop in the nation to maintain a high quality, year-round program, so that the interests of members will be retained for at least a four year period. If the ultimate goal of the program is realized at the end of 1942, one out of every four boys in America of Scout age will have been a Scout and will have come under the influence of all the varied aspects of the Scout program for four or more years.

This program of development affects 30,000 Boy Scout troops and 1,780 cub packs in all parts of the United States and its possessions, and involves 209,067 volunteer leaders in the movement.

The award medalion is designed to be displayed on the flagstaff of the colors of the troops which earn it. It is a gold and blue enamel metal shield, shaped to fit the flagstaff, and includes a replica of the Boy Scout insignia crossed by the date, 1923. Beneath it is the inscription "Ten Year Program Award, 1923, 1942."

To earn the emblem, a Scout troop must carry on an exceptional program throughout the year and maintain high standards in relation to attendance, membership, camping, hiking, civic service, health and other activities of the Scout program.

Senator Norris Starts Another Crusade

WHEN Senator Norris began his drive for a unicameral legislature for Nebraska he announced that it would be his "last fight." The public, after a quarter century in which the fiery midwesterner has been constantly involved in "fights" for governmental reform, was skeptical. And the public has now been vindicated in its skepticism.

Senator Norris announced Wednesday that he is beginning a new drive for a twenty-second amendment to the constitution to abolish the electoral college and provide for the direct election of presidents and vice-presidents.

Technically speaking, of course, this is not a new fight. The Nebraskan has been campaigning for such an amendment for a good many years without success. He sponsored a resolution in the last congress, calling for submission of the question to the states, only to be beaten in the senate.

But he is used to defeat, and he has learned that a good cause, if it is pressed hard enough and with sufficient patience, always wins in the long run. He has taken part in every constitutional change in the last 25 years and has won all his major battles. He is credited with the famous "lame duck" amendment which eliminates the old session of congress in which defeated representatives distributed last minute gravy among themselves. Outside the realm of constitutional amendments, his greatest achievement is the TVA, a program he sponsored with force and patience ever since the war.

He will win again. The electoral college is a worthless appendage on the national election machinery. It should be discarded.

Compromise With Veterans

FRANTIC efforts are now being made by the administration to head off the threatened stampede of congressmen under the lash of the American Legion to pay two billion dollars to veterans in advance settlement of adjusted compensation certificates. In the face of legion sentiment and congressional spinelessness it seems impossible, however, to share in the optimism of Chairman Harrison of the senate finance committee.

"If proponents of the bonus would agree that those ex-service men who are in need should be given immediate payment of their service certificates," he predicted Wednesday, "I haven't the slightest doubt we could get together and pass the legislation."

But the legion is not especially interested in getting payment only for those veterans who need the money. These already are being cared for through the relief administration on an equal basis with other deserving Americans. The legion wants special consideration and special benefits, and it is not going to be satisfied with treatment no better than that accorded other citizens.

Proposals of compromise are all right, but there seems to be little likelihood that any satisfactory agreement will be reached and we might as well expect a showdown. Roosevelt certainly will not allow congressmen to buy legion votes so brazenly with public money if his veto can prevent them, and it is altogether possible that he will have to appeal to the people over the heads of congress and the veterans. Such an appeal probably would not save the treasury, but it would do much to martial public opinion against further encroachments by "non-political" political organizations.

Federal Guns On The Crime Trail

SOME wit the other day suggested that, considering the success of federal agents in tracking down kidnapers and bandits, the government's failure to enforce prohibition must be evidence that it "just didn't get mad" at the bootleggers.

Whatever conclusion one might wish to draw about the enforcement of prohibition, it certainly is evident from activities of the department of justice in the last few months that the federal government can and will cope with crime if it is given the authority and the means.

It must be remembered, of course, that the enforcement of prohibition was entrusted to the treasury department, and the splendid work now being done is merely an expansion of the justice department's activities. Agents of the department of justice always have been on a far higher plane than the makeshift organization of the treasury's dry force and the two can hardly be compared.

The nucleus of a first rate crime detection agency has always been maintained in the bureau of investigation of the department of justice, but it is only recently that it has been armed with authority to take active part in the solution of crime. Its work so far should be evidence enough that the scope of its activities should be materially increased.

Thanksgiving Quick-Lunch

Thanksgiving dinners with families or friends will be few and far between this year if the present published intention is carried out by the university authorities—for classes are to begin at 8:30 on the Friday morning following Thanksgiving day. This ruling makes it practically impossible for more than a very small percentage of the college enrollment to get home and back without a damaging number of cuts.

The 1933 April "Undergraduate Announcement Issue" of the Official Register of the University said that in 1934 classes would not commence until 10:30 on the Friday morning following Thanksgiving. The more recently published "Catalogue Issue" says, in its calendar, that classes will begin at 8:30. This change affords, practically, a very short time for those who wish to get away from Princeton for Thanksgiving. It is hard to see why this quite innocent desire should be rendered difficult of attainment for those who wish to go home.

Perhaps it is wrong to look a gift horse in the mouth, but the purpose of the holiday will be defeated if classes are officially resumed at 8:30 Friday morning.

Few of us in Iowa realize the extent to which the American school system has suffered in the last few years through the ignorance, bigotry, and mis-directed good intentions of those who, for innumerable reasons, forced reductions in school budgets.

The situation existing today is vividly presented in this week's "Nation" magazine by Dr. John K. Norton of Teacher's College, Columbia university, writing on the breakdown in public education in this country. Dr. Norton believes the situation is caused by obsolete methods of financing education almost as much as to the depression, bearing out the contention of those who claim that education need not have suffered as it has.

"A quarter of a million teachers," he says, "to whom is entrusted the education of 7,000,000 children, are scheduled this year to receive wages below the minimum fixed for unskilled factory workers by the blanket code of the NRA. Even these meager salaries in many cases will not be paid in full."

Even Iowa, which enjoys the distinction of having one of the best systems of public education in the United States and which has suffered less than most states from the depression, provides numerous instances of such starvation wages for school teachers. But that is not all:

"One-fourth of the cities of the United States have closed their night schools and part time classes for adults and youths," Dr. Norton continues. "Special provisions for physically and mentally handicapped children have been drastically reduced or entirely eliminated by many communities. Badly needed school buildings, 80 per cent completed, have stood for months deteriorating in the open weather for lack of funds to complete them."

Dr. Norton, in an analysis of local methods of raising school budgets, finds that we are still using those developed soon after the "Jacksonian revolution" when "the battle was won to make the schools free and to support them through taxation in the form of local property taxes." This method of financing schools, he maintains, "is obsolete as an oxcart."

"A century ago land made up most of our wealth, and land ownership was a fair measure of ability to pay taxes. It is not so in 1934. A man may enjoy a large income but own no property. He therefore does not pay a local property tax for schools. He may own a house and lot or a farm, but have little ability to pay for schools. He may lose his job but this does not lower his school tax. If he is a farmer, his sales of produce may approach zero. He still receives a tax bill for the support of education."

Dr. Norton's plea for "a radical reconstruction of American educational finance" deserves at least serious consideration. He would abolish most of the local school districts on the ground that "modern methods of transportation and communication have removed the only excuse they ever had for existence" and would replace them with "a much smaller number of local districts in size both as to territory and population."

State governments, he thinks, should assume responsibility for raising their school revenues through income, inheritance, business and other taxes, and the reorganized local school district should retain control of its schools, "both financially and educationally."

Dr. Norton is offering a solution of one of education's most pressing problems, and at the same time would retain local control, which most educators consider vital to the health and growth of the educational system.

If such reforms in education are to be made, now is the time to consider them, before the country begins another period of reckless concern.

Behind The Scenes in HOLLYWOOD By Harrison Carroll

HOLLYWOOD—Known as a calm one, Barbara Stanwyck startled the boys and girls by lashing out against those who would make her the victim of a whispering campaign.

"For a long time, certain people have been circulating rumors in Hollywood that Barbara is too moody to associate with the other film folk. 'It's true,' she said, 'but I'm not particularly tactful person and that I speak my mind frankly, and I've always been that way ever since I was a chorus girl before I came to Hollywood. The truth of the matter is I make friends slowly. I just want to be sure of what I am doing.'"

"If I were a waitress in Peoria, instead of an actress in Hollywood, I'd be the same way." Which comes under the head of telling them. Claudette Colbert is plenty worried over a mysterious telephone call.

The star has been doing scenes in "The Gilded Lily," in which she wears the $1,000,000 collection of jewels brought out here for display by a prominent eastern firm.

Two nights ago, a man called the star's home representing himself as an agent of a protective service. He asked numerous questions about the jewels and offered his service as a guard. It may be on the level, but Claudette is suspicious. She wants to know that none of the jewels belong to her and that she never wears them except upon the set. There, they are guarded by a detective from the insurance company and by Lieutenant Cliff Jordan of the Los Angeles police department. They go to and from the jeweler's safe in an armored car.

Here's news for the Mae Clarke fans. For the first time in weeks, the star talked to a friend on the telephone the other day. She is feeling fine and plans to go away soon on a short trip. On her return, she'll do more resting, but hopes to be ready to go back to work early in the new year.

The lingo of the Hollywood chorus girl has a new word—zuber. The Busby Berkeley beauties started it at Warners and the term is sweeping the studios.

In the noun form, it means a snappy dresser. The chorines also use it as a verb, "to zub," meaning "to work up."

There is a funny story behind the origin. Director Berkeley is noted for his careless dress around the sets. A pair of old trousers and a sweat shirt are his favorite attire. The girls coined their word by spelling his nickname, "Buz," backward. A zuber, then, is the opposite of Berkeley—a snappy dresser.

As Willard Mack once instructed, Bryan Foy will receive the cane that the actor-author carried for 20 years. Long, long ago, Bryan's father, Eddie Foy, gave the cane to Mack. Frank Shields, the tennis ace, has taken the Lew Ayres' home for his stay in Hollywood.

General Notices

To All Students Who Expect to Graduate at the Close of the First Semester, February 5, 1935

Every student who expects to receive a degree or a certificate at the University Convocation to be held Tuesday, February 5, 1935, should make his formal application on a card provided for the purpose, at the registrar's office on or before Saturday, Nov. 24, 1934. It is of utmost importance that each student concerned comply with this request immediately, for otherwise it is very likely that a student who may be in other respects qualified will not be recommended for graduation at the close of the present semester.

MAKING APPLICATION for the degree, or certificate, involves the payment of the graduation fee ($15.00) at the time the application is made—the payment of this fee being a necessary part of the application. Call at the registrar's office for the card.

At a meeting of the graduate faculty Nov. 21, 1934, the following resolutions were passed:

Progressive Selection
1. All candidates for the master's degree who contemplate further work in the graduate college leading to the doctor's degree shall be expected to make the master's examination a qualifying examination. The examination shall then be suited to the master's level, and it is suggested that as far as practicable it be of a functional character. One foreign language must be certified. The examination must be both oral and written. The candidate may, of course, pass for the master's degree but fail on the qualifying. The committee shall consist of four members, and three favorable votes shall constitute approval.
2. All students must have passed the qualifying examination and both language requirements one and one-half years before the degree is expected (45 credit hours); except where the student transfers two years of advanced standing, when the limit shall be one year (30 credit hours).

Optional Attendance
Whenever a graduate student presents an adequate program of reading or experimentation as an advantageous substitute for any unit of class exercises, and agrees to submit himself for examination on that unit class attendance for that period.
Auditing Courses
Permission to audit a course without credit may be obtained from the Dean upon recommendation of the instructor. Occasional visits to outside courses are encouraged.
The regulations will go into effect immediately for those who can qualify under them, but will not be made retroactive.
DEAN CARL E. SEASHORE

The Penalty for Unused Absences
The regulation of the faculty of the college of liberal arts with regard to absences of students immediately before, or immediately after a holiday or vacation is as follows: "Each absence immediately before or immediately after a holiday or vacation (except the vacation preceding the new year) shall operate to reduce the amount of credit by one semester hour for each absence, unless such absences be excused by the committee on admission and classification."
GEO. F. KAY

Junior French Club
The Junior French club will meet in the north conference room of Iowa Union Wednesday, Dec. 5, instead of Nov. 28, as was previously announced. All elementary French students are invited. PRESIDENT

Library reading rooms will close at 6:00 p.m., Wednesday, Nov. 28, and will be open from 8:30 a.m.-12:00 m. and from 1:00-5:00 p.m., Nov. 30, and Dec. 1. Foreign language libraries, education-philosophy library, and medical library will observe the same hours for this period. Special hours for other departmental libraries will be posted on the doors.
All university libraries will be closed Thursday, Nov. 29, in observance of Thanksgiving Day.

Hutchins Backs 'Brain Trust'

DENVER, Nov. 29 (INS)—The mystery of why Robert M. Hutchins wasn't given an expected place in the "Brain Trust," may never be cleared up, but the "boy president" of the University of Chicago is making no mystery of his views concerning the "brain trust."

College professors excel professional politicians and officeholders as governmental executives, President Hutchins declared in Denver on a visit.

The "brain trust" gives the country a higher type of leadership than would be possible under the traditional method of rewarding vote solicitors with official positions. He added:

"If I were president, and I had to choose between a cabinet made up of politicians or college professors, I should choose the professors every time. Then I should hope that the professors would remain professors and not turn into politicians. As open-minded, independent, clear-thinking men, professors have made and can make a definite contribution to the process of government."

Greater Independence for India Due?

After more than 200 years of British control, India's teeming populace is headed for semi-independence if parliament votes approval of the famed Indian home rule report 18 months in process of drafting. Land of sacred cows, untouchables, multi-religions, India transformed England's king into an emperor. It has furnished an un-

LONDON (I.L.N.)—India's long-awaited "home rule" constitution is soon slated to be approved by the British parliament amidst the catcalls and objections of numerous minorities.

Ever since the British crown formally took over the Indian peninsula with its teeming tens of millions of inhabitants in 1858, Indian native patriots have demanded the liberation of their land and the withdrawal of England's military forces and influence.

Numerous Rebellions

India's history is dyed red with the blood of numerous "rebellions" against Britannia's rule. Such was the 1857 Sepoy mutiny in which British officials were slain. And in recent years since toothless Gandhi, the white robed Mahatma, instituted his famed passive resistance campaign, India has seen the revolt against British domination grow until it has become too gigantic to suppress except by "costly enormous armies."

English and Indian proponents of the tentative constitution, have been assailed by British die-hards on the one hand, led by Winston Churchill, who insists upon retaining the colony despite all costs, and the Indian nationalists who demand "complete" independence at once through "militant tactics."

A Minority to Vote

Under the Indian constitution, the various provinces, states, and cities would elect responsible governments, but with only 35,000,000 voters including 5,000,000 women out of a total population of 400,000,000.

Provincial governments are to be federated into a national body which will remain under Britain's control. India's armed forces, railways, banks and postal service will remain in Britain's hands, plus the power of the viceroy (governor) to veto any legislation enacted which he regards as unsuitable.

India represents a gigantic paradox according to able critics. They point out that though its hundreds of millions are opposed to England, religion and caste in turn keep the natives from internal unity in pushing toward independence. Gandhi, Oxford graduate, for example, has made heroic attempts to win a hearing for India's 70,000,000 "untouchables" or pariahs, but the remainder of the population refuses to accept his attitude of reconciliation.

Moreover, India, a melting pot of religions, finds two great antagonists in Mohammedans and Hindus, mortal enemies of each other.

The powerful and wealthy Indian princes look to England for their

Following are a few samples of some of the gibbering we get from our stool-pigeons:

1. We'd like to know what story was told to that woman in Kansas whose body keeps turning all colors. . .
2. Signs of higher education: Jack Brady, A1 of Keokuk, cutting out paper dolls at the nurses' cafeteria at University hospital the other day, and Pearl McMurry, L2 of Promise City, reading bed time stories off the back of cereal boxes.
3. Persons who passed through the corridors of the engineering building recently did so at their own risk and with grave concern for the tops of hats and various points of their clothing. The walls are being painted a light cream color. Doubtless the walls looked a bit dirty and the painters seemed to say "Come cream."
4. (Ed.'s note: Try to figure this one out—we can't.) Prof. de Kiewitz left a note for his seminar class in European culture: Classes will not meet this week. Will be postponed until next week as usual. (Or words to that effect.) We'd like to know if that's customary. Anyway, since "next week" referred to the present week, and as the class meets on Friday, there is no class this week either—as usual?

A 1900 graduate of Miami university, Mortland was a veteran national officer of Sigma Chi fraternity, directing undergraduate chapters in Indiana and Michigan. Funeral services will be held tomorrow in his South Bend home with burial in Edgerton, Ohio.

KANSAS STATE HUMBLER NEBRASKA

Ends Huskers' 3 Year Reign With 19-7 Win

Purple Powerhouse Crushes Titleholders Under 2nd Half Drive

(By the Associated Press) 1934 BIG 6 STANDINGS W L T Pct. TP O P

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 29 (AP)—Kansas State's young football opportunists, gallantly coming down the stretch for the "freshman" coach of the conference, overwhelmed Nebraska with a last-half rally here today, 19-7, and wrested from the Cornhuskers the Big Six football championship, the first ever won in major rivalry by the late-arriving "Purple Powerhouse."

With one touchdown in the third period and two in the final quarter, all scored from the vicinity of the 10-yard line, the Purple-clad youngsters of Coach Lynn Waldorf ripped apart the Cornhusker forces that had scored their touchdown and shoved the Wildcats all over the gridiron in the first half.

The "forgotten team" of September's search for title contenders ended Nebraska's reign over the Big Six for three years and became the second away from the Huskers. It was the first loss for Nebraska in the conference since Kansas State scored its first and only previous victory over the Cornhuskers in 1930, thereby handing the championship to the rival Kansas Jayhawkers.

Maurice (Red) Elder, 180-pound sophomore fullback, scored the touchdown that enabled the old reliable halfback, Owen Stoner, to tie the score with a well-directed placekick in the third period.

Stoner Shines Making the most brilliant offensive show of his college gridiron career, which ended today, Stoner swept the ends for the other two touchdowns in a fourth quarter upsurge which turned the game into a rout.

All three 10-yard slashes that produced touchdowns for the Purple found the leather-lugger over the goal line virtually untouched. Nebraska's score was made on a short stab by Bob Benson as the climax of a long march.

With a shivering crowd of 22,000 on hand to watch the game played in freezing weather but on firm turf, protected by a cover against recent rains, Nebraska led off by ripping the Wildcat line to shreds and running laterals deep into Kansas State territory.

Parsons Gets Away On the second scrimmage play, Bud Parsons took a lateral from Quarterback Henry Bauer and dashed away on a 19-yard sprint. More of the same and the Huskers carried their attack to the 21-yard line where they were halted only momentarily by Churchill's interception of a lateral.

Driven back consistently by the effective lateral pass plays and end runs, the Wildcats depended upon Stoner's punts to kick them out of danger. Once Elder got loose for a 28-yard gain in the first period but the Wildcats were stopped by big Walter Pflum's catch of a hurried pass from Quarterback Dick Armstrong.

Carnegie Tech's Misplays Aid Pitt in Tacking Up 20-0 Win

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 29 (AP)—Pitt's soldiers of the stadium today charged to a 20 to 0 victory over Carnegie Tech, "the team from down the street," as 10 veterans of many a gridiron war fired farewell salutes to the banners of Blue and Gold.

Approximately 34,000 fans sat under steel-gray skies and saw the rampaging Panthers, aided by the ill-fated fumbles of the gritty Scots, score touchdowns in the first, third and final periods in the twenty-first clash between the home town rivals since they first met in 1906.

Izzy Carries On Izzy Weinstein, one of the season's greatest fullbacks, scored the first two touchdowns—and then kicked the extra points. Herb Randour got the final tally but the Panthers, who made 12 first downs to Carnegie's one, could probably have added a couple of more touchdowns had they been so inclined.

Tech, with a do-or-die defense, but an attack as impotent as the winds that blow against the stars, was over-anxious at the start and Bill Spisak muffed the ball on his own 32 yard line. Mike Nickisick recovered for Pitt. A five-yard off-side penalty helped Pitt to a first down. Weinstein, after the defenders had stacked the Panthers up on three plays, made first down on the one-yard line and on the next play he

Brown Bears Succumb To Red Raiders

Hold Powerful Foes Even for 3 Periods, But Falter in Final

BROWN FIELD, PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 29 (AP)—A gallant band of Brown Bears, starving for a major victory, fought Colgate evenly for three periods today but wilted as the magical Red Raiders drove 50 yards for a fourth period touchdown that clinched a tight 20-13 triumph. The Bruins, having failed in every major objective this season, were not even expected to be strong enough to hold down Colgate's score to reasonable figures. They were such hopeless pre-game underdogs that only a slim crowd of 10,000 came out to watch this Thanksgiving morning classic.

But those few thousands saw one of the bravest fights against football odds that the east has seen in many a season. The Bears covered the speedy Colgate backs and ends from start to finish while holding Colgate's famous passing and lateral attack in check.

Colgate scoring: Touchdowns, Offenhammer, Kuk, Irwin; points after touchdowns, Irwin, Anderson (sub for Kuk), (both placements). Brown scoring: Touchdown, Karaban 2; point after touchdown, Lynch (sub for Chapin) (placement).

Utah Rises To Smite Aggies By 14-7 Tally

SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 29 (AP)—Out of the morass of its worst football campaign in a decade rose a mighty and alert University of Utah football team today to smear the perfect record of the Utah State Agricultural college eleven.

Utah Aggies, needing a tie or a victory to clinch the Rocky Mountain conference hunting for the first time since 1921, bowed to the Indians, 14 to 7, before a holiday throng of 18,000 shivering gridiron fans, sending the 1934 championship over the Rockies to Colorado where three schools share in the laurels.

Indians Scalped CINCINNATI, Ohio, (AP)—Xavier university's Musketeers came from behind to crush the Haskell Indians 38 to 6 yesterday after Haskell took a one-touchdown lead in the first period.

effective lateral pass plays and end runs, the Wildcats depended upon Stoner's punts to kick them out of danger. Once Elder got loose for a 28-yard gain in the first period but the Wildcats were stopped by big Walter Pflum's catch of a hurried pass from Quarterback Dick Armstrong.

Bears Claw Lions, 19-16

Manders' Toe Enables Chicago 11 to Annex Western Pro Crown

DETROIT, Nov. 29 (AP)—Scoring all their points through the air, a versatile Chicago Bears eleven today defeated the Detroit Lions 19 to 16 to clinch the western division championship of the National Professional Football League.

In the toe of Jack Manders, Bears fullback and former Minnesota star, lay the difference which gave the Chicago club its 12th straight victory this fall and the Detroit team its second defeat in a dozen starts. Manders booted two field goals, both in the third period. More than matching the one kicked by Glen Presnell, Lion quarterback, in the second.

Seize Break A break of the game, opportunely seized by Zeller, Bear guard, played a big part in the victory. With the score 16 to 13 in the Lion's favor in the final period, Zeller intercepted "Ace" Gutowsky's pass on the Chicago 46 and raced to the Detroit four before Gutowsky hauled him down. Two smashes at the Detroit line gained only two yards. Then Nagurski, Bear fullback, faked a plunge and pushed a soft, floating pass over the piled up linemen to Bill Hewitt, in the end zone. Nagurski's conversion attempt was blocked.

Another break resulted in Detroit's first touchdown. With the Bears in possession on their own 36, Mitchell, Detroit end, intercepted a partially blocked pass from Brumbaugh, and ran to the Chicago four before being stopped. Gutowsky plunged over for the touchdown and Dutch Clark dropkicked the extra points.

Bears Tie Count The Bears tied the count early in the second period when Keith Moleworth passed 14 yards to Gene Ronzani in the end zone for a touchdown after a long pass by the same combination had put the Bears in scoring position. The home club again took the lead a few minutes later when Presnell booted a field goal from the 42 yard line, and then added its second touchdown when Gutowsky smashed over a touchdown to climax a march which began on the Lion 35.

Trailing by nine points as the third period opened, the Bears called on Manders. The former Gopher booted one from the 21 after one to the 42. Then came Zeller's interception and Hewitt's winning touchdown in the final period.

The Bears stopped a desperate Detroit running game in the final minutes after the Lions had rushed and passed from their own 20 to the Bears' 14. Two running plays were smothered, two passes failed and the Bears took the ball moments before the final gun.

The Lions made 14 first downs to the Bears' 6 and outruled the visitors 201 yards to 116.

Knox Does It! Loses Again

Siwash Pushes On Toward Immortal Fame; Ties Record

MONMOUTH, Ill., Nov. 29 (AP)—The Sons of Old Siwash trudged wearily off Wald field today toting a share of the intercollegiate record consecutive football beatings, the crowning blow a 39 to 0 blistering administered by their oldest rivals, the Scots of Monmouth college.

This defeat, in the final game of the season, was the 27th straight for Old Siwash, otherwise Knox college, and permits the wearers of the Purple and Gold to share "honors" with Hobart college of Geneva, N. Y., as the losingest team in football history.

Fall to Score The seven seniors on the squad, Captain Lou Vitale, Bill Racine, Al Lambert, Kenny Lind, Marshall Malloy, Chet Wilmoth and Butch Lang, finished their careers without having scored a single point during their last season. They were fresh when Knox won its last victory, that historic 6 to 0 triumph on October 31, 1931.

The meeting was the 50th in the Knox-Monmouth rivalry and the Scots took full advantage of the plucky, but wholly inadequate Siwashers, to run up their biggest score of the old series. Their previous best was 32 to 0, turned in by the Scots of 1907.

Monmouth started pouring it on in the first period, scoring two touchdowns before Coach H. L. Hart sent in a second team. The Scots scored immediately after the second quarter started and joined in a three-touchdown blast in the third period. Coach Hart set up the unique record of using every one of the 24 men on his squad in every period. Monmouth was not forced to punt until well into the second quarter.

Almost Did It Siwash had the ball past midfield four times, and in the final period almost blew its record of not scoring all season. Wolf, a sub halfback, intercepted a pass deep in his own territory and ran the ball back 55 yards to Monmouth's 35. Knox made a first down on the Scots' 15, but three passes were batted down to end the drive.

Knox made only 16 yards from scrimmage, while Monmouth piled up 398, and achieved three first downs, two of them on forward passes ruled complete for interference. Monmouth made 14 first downs.

Giants Swamp Dodgers, 27-0; To Meet Bears

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Nov. 29 (AP)—The New York Giants swooped out of the air this afternoon to pass their way to a one-sided 27-0 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers before 5,000 Thanksgiving day customers at Ebbets field.

The rout gave the New Yorkers the undisputed championship of the eastern division of the National professional league and earned them the right to meet the Chicago Bears, leaders in the western half, in the playoff for the league title at the Polo Grounds, Sunday, Dec. 9.

The Giants ran wild to ring up two touchdowns each in the first and second quarters. The Dodgers layed and held the New Yorkers scoreless in the last two raics, but could do no damage themselves.

The only time they got within speaking distance of a touchdown was early in the fourth period when Cliff Montgomery, the former Columbia captain, entered the fray and passed his way from the Brooklyn 46 to New York's 16 before Ike Franklan, giant end intercepted a heave and ended the spurt.

Rose Bowl Hopes Vanish for Temple; Play Bucknell to Tie PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 29 (AP)—Any faint hopes there may have been for a Rose Bowl chance for Temple university's football huskies vanished today under a scoreless statement with Bucknell's thundering herd of Bison.

Not once did the burly Bucknellians smash back every threat made by "Dynamite Dave" Smuller and the rest of the Temple entourage, but they actually outplayed the undefeated local club in every department of the game, except for a minor deficiency in the over head attack.

Chicago Cards Hand Packers 6 to 0 Defeat

CHICAGO, Nov. 29 (AP)—Homer Griffith, former Southern California star, carried the opening kickoff off back 90 yards to a touchdown today to give the Chicago Cardinals a 6 to 0 victory over the Green Bay Packers in a National professional football game here.

A steady rain made the field so soggy that few opportunities were presented either eleven thereafter. However, shortly after Griffith's sparkling dash the Packers drove within 3 yards of a touchdown, chiefly on a 42 yard sprint by Roger Grove and a nine yard toss from Monnet to Goldenberg. At this stage the Cardinals repulsed three line thrusts and then, when Hinkle faded back to his 27 yard line to pass, dropped him before he could get the ball away.

Few opportunities were presented either team thereafter. In the second period Hinkle missed a place kick from the 40 yard line and in the third period Cook's effort for the Cards from the 31 yard line was blocked.

Only 3,500 fans braved the rain to watch the affair.

Idaho Defeats Creighton 13-0

Fine Passing Game Helps Down Bluejays Who Lack Punch

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 29 (AP)—Displaying a brilliant passing attack, Idaho university defeated Creighton Bluejays 13 to 0, in a Turkey day game here today.

The Vandals scored in the first quarter on a series of line bucks and short passes advancing the ball to the Bluejays' 8 yard line, where Devin swung around right end for the counter.

Idaho's second counter came early in the second period on a beautifully executed pass, McCue to C. Anderson, for 40 yards and a touchdown. Moser's place kick for the extra point was good.

The Bluejays had two good chances to score but on both occasions lacked the necessary punch. Late in the fourth quarter Holland, Creighton center, intercepted a Vandal pass and ran 85 yards before yard line, but the visitors' line held and Creighton lost the ball on the 15 yard stripe as the game ended.

REIGN ENDS ST. LOUIS, Nov. 29 (AP)—The three-year reign of St. Louis university's Billkens as collegiate football champions of St. Louis ended today in a 27-7 defeat by Washington university. A crowd of 18,000 witnessed the game.

45,000 Watch Penn Gallop To 23-13 Triumph Over Cornell

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 29 (AP)—Pennsylvania's speedy, aggressive young football team closed its season triumphantly today by outscoring its old rival, Cornell, 23 to 13, in an exciting race for touchdowns on a rain-soaked gridiron.

A Thanksgiving day crowd of 45,000 saw the Quakers gallop into a 13 point lead in the first half by cashing in on all their scoring opportunities, and then surving a smashing come-back by the gallant Ithacans in the last two periods.

Cornell Rallies Apparently hopelessly lickered after yielding two touchdowns and a field goal to Penn's brilliant attack, ably directed by Quarterback Frank Murray, Cornell rallied and completely outplayed the Quakers in the last half.

The Ithacans tallied touchdowns in each of the last two periods and threatened to score two more with a combined running and passing attack, only to have one of their thrusts bounce back at them in the form of a 76-yard gallop for Penn's third touchdown by Bill Shanahan, substitute back.

Intercepts Pass Shanahan's dash, the longest gain and the most spectacular play of the game, followed his interception of a pass thrown by Cornell's captain, Walter Switzer, as the Ithacans were pounding along from Penn's 35-yard line. Aided by fine blocking, Shanahan raced unchecked up the side lines and scored the points that ended Cornell's lingering hopes of pulling the game out of the fire.

Cornell came back again, however, and rushed over its second

Victory Helps Tide's Chance For Bowl Tilt

Dan McGugin Closes Great Grid Career; Dixie Howell Stars

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 29 (AP)—One of the most powerful teams ever to don the Crimson and White football armor of the University of Alabama staged a touchdown parade this afternoon before 24,000 cheering spectators, burying a vastly weaker Vanderbilt university team under a score of 34 to 0.

Ninth Straight Win Knifing through the Commodore line almost as will tearing around its ends and snagging occasional aerial heaves fired by the great Millard (Dixie) Howell, Alabama completed its football wars for 1934 with nine consecutive triumphs and in ringing up its seventh Southeastern conference victory, established a claim to at least a share of the title.

Hopes of the Crimson Tide for an invitation to represent the East and South against Stanford in the Rose Bowl classic New Year's day soared as the avalanche of touchdowns proved a test of the Red regiment's power.

Vandy Gallant Vanderbilt fought gallantly but fell victim to a relentless Alabama attack that did not subside from the start. The contest brought to a close the coaching career of Colonel Dan McGugin, who now retires to the office of athletic director after turning out many powerful Commodore teams at the Nashville school since 1904.

Violets Wilt Under Ram Attack, 39-13

NEW YORK, Nov. 29 (AP)—New York university entertained the football forces of Fordham on this Thanksgiving day afternoon and like good hosts left the muddy turf losers, beaten 39 to 13 in the biggest score ever rolled up in the 30 years history of their intra-city series.

Fordham had too much power and experience for the Violets, who were far from the shrinking variety. Maniac, Sarasky and Borden, backed up by the rest of their Fordham teammates, stood out brilliantly in the Ram's triumph while Machowitz and Stelmach were the spearheads of N. Y. U.'s attack, which consisted mainly of forward and lateral passes.

N. Y. U. rolled up 16 first downs, three more than Fordham, largely by virtue of their aerial attack, but the Ram's gained 245 yards on foot to 155 for N. Y. U. touchdown on a sustained drive of 69 yards, with Al Frederick of Elmira, N. Y., bucking the last half foot to score after he had alternated with Bill Condon and Jack Batten, a triple threat sophomore newcomer, in battering Penn's weary line.

Murray Leads Murray, aided by the all-around passing and kicking of a substitute back, Dorrnan Brown, was chiefly responsible for building up Penn's big first-half lead. Carrying the ball most of the way, Murray went over on a short buck for the first Quaker touchdown, in the opening period, as the climax of a 51-yard march.

He plunged across for another touchdown, in the last few moments of the second quarter after (Continued on Page 7)

Poor Old Missouri Tigers Fall to Kansas By 20-0 Score; Looks Bad for Carideo

COLUMBIA, Mo., Nov. 29 (AP)—Outweighed and outclassed by a powerful University of Kansas eleven, Coach Frank Carideo's hapless Missouri Tigers were crushed in a 20 to 0 defeat here today that placed them in the Big Six cellar for the third successive year.

The victory, fifth straight over the Tigers in their annual grid feud, left the Jayhawk eleven fourth in the conference standing, and marked the eighth successive loss of the season for the Missouri team.

The Accid Test Picked as the acid test of the Carideo grid regime, the encounter made it all but a foregone conclusion that the stocky one-time All-American quarterback, under strong alumni fire for 22 defeats in three years, would not be retained for another year.

A 50-yard drive from midfield, led by George Haggood, brought the first score, John Peterson's touchdown gave the Kansas a 13-0 lead at half time, Haggood's 55-yard run and a pass led to the final tally.

Scores Aplenty Playing on a slippery gridiron before 12,000 Tiger homecoming fans, the Kansas backfield, operating behind a powerhouse line, scored in all but the final quarter.

The Missourians, their running attack stopped dead, found an aerial bombardment of 30 passes equally ineffective and were impotent except for two fruitless thrusts up the air in the third and final quarters.

Carideo Resigns As Coach at Missouri Says Late Report ST. LOUIS, Nov. 29 (AP)—The St. Louis Globe-Democrat says tonight that Frank Carideo resigned as head football coach at the University of Missouri immediately following his team's 20 to 0 defeat by the University of Kansas.

In a special dispatch from Columbia the newspaper says Carideo's resignation went to the Missouri committee on intercollegiate athletics as soon as the game ended. The paper said Lynn Waldorf, Kansas State mentor, and Don Farquhar, coach at Kirksville Teachers college which has a string of 25 victories, were reported as candidates to succeed the former Notre Dame quarterback.

Parsons Ends 8-Year Jinx To Stop Wesleyan

MT. PLEASANT, Nov. 29 (AP)—Parsons college overcame an eight year jinx today to hand the Iowa Wesleyan football eleven a 6 to 3 defeat here.

Parsons scored the winning touchdown in the fourth quarter when Dubois flipped a pass to Norvell who was standing in the end zone. A series of passes from Dubois to Norvell and runs by Lovett and Tischer put the ball in scoring position.

Hayward placekicked the Tigers to an early lead. He stood on the Parsons 26 yard line as he made the placement in the third quarter. Stein, Wesleyan right end, recovered a fumble on the Parsons 29 yard line to put Hayward in striking distance.

Led by Hal Huffman, the Iowa Wesleyan team made eight first downs to Parsons seven. Norvell averaged 37 yards on his punts against Zillmer's 28.

Capt. Clyde Hayward was a tower of strength in the Tiger defense. Huffman, in the clear behind the Parsons safety man in the last period, dropped a long pass from Clark to spoil a scoring possibility.

A free-for-all fight among players after the final gun sounded marked the contest.

Tennessee Scores 19-0 Victory Over Kentucky Gridders to Kill Jinx KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 29 (AP)—Tennessee's Volunteers, playing for the next to the last time under the tutelage of Maj. Bob Neyland, made him a parting present of a 19 to 0 victory over their old time rival and special jinx, Kentucky, before a Thanksgiving day crowd of 18,000.

Joy Reigns In Kansas State Dress Room

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 29 (AP)—The Kansas State dressing room was a scene of delicious confusion tonight as players and coaches toasted a Big Six championship with back slapping, cheers and wildly thrown football toys.

Guards barely fought off the onrush of Kansas State fans who shouldered the Purple clad players off the field.

Oren Stoner, star halfback, was in the center of excited Kansas State players who congratulated themselves with the gusto of high school boys.

"I feel plenty good," said Stoner, grinning through a swollen lip. "Sure I expected to win. That's the only way to feel isn't it?" Coach Lynn Waldorf stood to one side. A wide smile bisecting his face, "I'm tickled to death," he admitted. "I looked pretty bad at first, but I'm surely pleased with the way our boys came back."

Williams Drills Hawkeye Five On Eve of Season's Opener With Crack Hamline Cagers

Intends to Polish Up Attack in Workouts At Fieldhouse Today

Granted a 24-hour furlough yesterday to properly observe the Thanksgiving festival, University of Iowa's basketball team will compensate for its absence by drilling twice at 10 o'clock this morning and at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

Smoothing down all phases of attack to be unleashed upon Hamline college tomorrow night in the opening game of the 1934-35 season will absorb attention of the cagers in both workouts.

Team is Tall Averaging 6 feet 1 inch in height, the quintet which takes the floor against the touted Pipers, champions of the Minnesota intercollegiate conference, will possess three major and two minor lettermen.

Guard Reserves As guard substitutes tomorrow night, Williams will undoubtedly use Al Bus, a 6 foot sophomore from Keokuk, who was a first team man until Bobby was shifted to the back court, and Fred Kunkel, an all-state performer on Davenport's state champions of 1931-32.

Tomorrow's contest will be the first for Hamline college, which boasts of practically the same team that topped 17 of 19 contests last year. The Pipers are paced by Walter Zimmerman, the 6 foot 3 inch forward, and Kenneth Fladager, a talented guard.

Gaels Charge Over Oregon State, 13-7

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 29 (AP)—An inspired St. Mary's eleven put on a thrilling second half drive today to defeat University of Oregon 13 to 7.

Herb Schreiber, left halfback, was the spark in the St. Mary's charge. The Red Raiders of Texas Tech scored their third consecutive victory over the University of Arizona here today but failed to shut out the Wildcats as in the two previous encounters. The score was 13 to 7.

SUNSHINE AND JAY LINDSBURG, Kan., Nov. 29 (AP)—Bethany unceremoniously seven-touched down plunger to crush York college of Nebraska, 46 to 0, here today to win their only game of the season and thrill a large homecoming crowd.

ANAMOSA, Nov. 29 (AP)—The Anamosa reformatory football eleven today trounced the Anamosa Firemen 19 to 0. Vandever, flashy Negro halfback, made two of the reformatory touchdowns. Shell counted the other on a plunge. Poor punting and lack of scoring plays kept the firemen from the reformatory goal.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 29 (AP)—Beaten in eight previous starts, the Oklahoma city university Goldbugs splashed through the rain on a muddy field here today, turned the tables and beat the Oklahoma A. and M. college Cowboys 13 to 0.

Dad's Day At Coe College 35-Year Old Father Of Four Out To Earn Letter in Basketball

CEDAR RAPIDS, Nov. 29 (AP)—"Now coach, back in '17 we did it this way."

That's what Charles Daniels, candidate for the Coe college basketball team, can tell Forest Ritzgers, Kohawk basketball mentor.

Three years older than the coach, Daniels has reported for basketball and hopes to make the varsity letter he missed by only 40 minutes playing time 17 years ago.

Daniels is now 35 years old, the father of four children, and completing his course in liberal arts. He plans to get his degree next August and obtain a coaching position.

Realizing it takes a man of 35 longer to get into condition, Daniels has worked out in the Coe gymnasium all fall in preparation for his "comeback."

He admits basketball has changed considerably since his first days with a Coe squad. "It's much more scientific now," he asserts.

Coach Ritzgers says Daniels has real talent along defensive lines and handles himself well on offense.

Bradley Licks Cornell Eleven By 14-0 Score

PEORIA, Ill., Nov. 29 (AP)—Bradley packed its scoring punch into the second period today to defeat Cornell college of Mt. Vernon, Ia., 14 to 0, in their annual Thanksgiving day gridiron battle.

A pass, Handley to Huddleston, from the five yard line, scored the first Bradley touchdown early in the second frame. Near the end of the period, Black plunged over the one-yard stripe. Zajonich placed-kicked for both extra points.

Semlow, Bradley guard, suffered a leg fracture on the opening kickoff of the third period, and Peterson, Cornell halfback, left the game with a collarbone fracture.

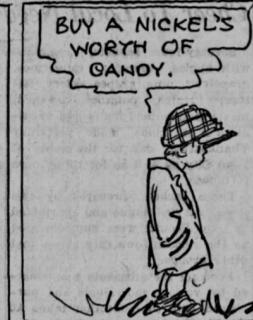

There has, of course, never been a question of anything else between Evans and Johnson. I can recall the former, one of the least heliostic of men, offering to go right down there in the inlaid woodwork with a reporter from some place like Jersey City Heights because the latter ventured a criticism of Johnson during the world series of 10 years ago.

There is no evidence that Evans ever changed his mind. He quite evidently still feels as did the careful of baseball men who went out on the platform to greet Johnson when he climbed aboard the train for the recent convention at Louisville.

As a spontaneous testimonial, it was tremendously impressive. This hard-pan racket simply doesn't do those things even for athletes who used to be great. As a matter of fact, I doubt if they thought about Johnson for what he was. They were thinking about what he is.

I've called him one of the great men of baseball, but I am not speaking of his record, either. If he never saw a ball field, he'd still be great according to the estimate of those who knew him best, and I've got to go along with that since I hardly know him at all. He apparently is one of those unlucky personalities known as a "good fellow"; too good, without doubt.

"Big Train" on Way Out As Cleveland Indians' Manager; Rumor O'Neill In Line for Job

By DAVID J. WALSH (INS Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Nov. 29 (INS)—One would like to start out by stating that Walter Johnson, one of the great men of baseball, is about to resign as manager of the Cleveland club of the American league and that Steve O'Neill, the ex-catcher, will succeed him.

Johnson is still the manager in name of the Cleveland Indians and O'Neill is merely his coach. But there is a story around here today that Johnson will be nice in his customary way and yield to popular demand, even though it means the difference between $12,000 a year and nothing.

Managements sometimes are that way. They figure that the most effective way to offset prejudice is to make it more or less permanent. Anyhow, Johnson was hired for the following season—and now they say he isn't.

There was no evidence of this, to be sure, down in Louisville at the recent minor league meeting, where Johnson and his business manager, Billy Evans, were apparently in perfect accord.

Anything immediately below and you're a born leader of men. On this basis, I'm afraid Johnson simply will not do. Far from being 50 per cent bad, he's so close to 100 per cent good that they say he's never thinking of retiring from a soft job because some mug in the left field bleachers may not entirely approve of him.

Western Maryland Flash Leads Grid Scorers of Nation

WESTMINSTER, Md., Nov. 29 (AP)—Bill Shepherd, all-eastern back, became the nation's leading scorer with 120 points today as he led Western Maryland to a 26-0 victory over Mount St. Mary's.

Shepherd scored 20 points to pass Miller of South Dakota State, who until today held the lead with 116 points. Shepherd's three touchdowns and two conversions gave him a four point margin over the westerner.

U.C.L.A. Wins 13-6 Triumph Over Loyola

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 29 (AP)—Two touchdowns in the final period enabled University of California at Los Angeles to defeat Loyola university 13 to 6 before a crowd of 45,000 spectators today.

All three touchdowns came from forward passes. Bill Murphy substitute quarterback, played a comparatively short time but was in the game long enough to figure in both his team's counters. He caught the first touchdown pass from Chuck Cheshire and tossed the second to Fred Funk.

PENN GALLOPS Over Cornell By 23-13 Score

Brown had place-kicked a field goal from Cornell's 21 yard mark. Brown then set the stage for the next score by completing a 40-yard pass to Jim Bradford, substitute Penn end, who was downed as he made the catch on Cornell's three-yard stripe.

Switzer's fumble, recovered by Yenko, Penn tackle, on Cornell's 18 paved the way for Brown's field goal and the interception of one of Storer's southpaw passes helped the Quakers gain possession near midfield for the quick thrust to their second touchdown.

Explanation Of "Strange As It Seems"

The year 1835 was marked by an outstanding event in the astronomical world, the appearance of Halley's comet which comes within our range of vision only once in 75 years. That year was also marked by an outstanding event in the history of American literature, for 99 years ago today was the birth of Samuel Clemens who was destined to become the famous author, Mark Twain.

Outside the door Danilo met Marcelle. "Anything wrong," she asked as she saw his frown. Danilo pointed towards the room. "Oh, she's impossible. I take her upstairs and just when I'm about to be nice to her, she starts to talk about another man."

He broke off suddenly as she stared at Sonia with dismay. She was following his explanation of what constitutes a lady with going on here?" she thought to herself. Something different. Too kind of person, he was describing was the kind of girl he was talking to! He questioned her silently with his eyes. They pierced her evasive look with the all important query: "Fifi—Are you a lady?"

"Would you like to dance?" she asked. "No." His voice was gruff. She walked back into the room and closed the door. She was overwhelmed with the same melancholy headache which had followed their encounter in her garden in Marshville. Why had she ever come to Maxims? The tears sprang to her eyes.

"Let's dance," he said quietly. At first they danced as strangers might. Soberly and enveloped them like a soft, warm cloud. Danilo held her more closely. Her cheek came to rest, shyly, on his arm. His eyes smiled down into hers.

They danced silently, each step a caress. Then Sonia began to sing, softly. As the music grew in intensity, Danilo's voice followed with the full meaning of the words she was singing: "Not a word, dear. Have I heard, dear. Yes, I know. You've not told me. But you hold me. So I know. Yet I know you hear. Music sighs—your heart replies I love you, dear."

She finished with a sigh. Their bodies swayed as the music played on with delicious fervor. Sonia felt herself carried away by the melody, by the import of the song, by Danilo, whose clasp had become an embrace.

Danilo lifted her tenderly in his arms and carried her to the couch. He sat down beside her and for a few moments he gazed at her, gently, lingeringly, with the outline of her glowing cheek.

CHAPTER VII Fifi Was a Lady

WHAT HAS HAPPENED BEFORE Danilo, believing Sonia to be Fifi, a Maxims' beauty, takes her upstairs to a private dining room. Sonia captures him and the same time eludes him. He decides Maxims' girl is worth the trouble of pursuit, particularly since this is his last night of gaiety. The next day he must report to the Embassy to meet the rich widow the King has commanded him to marry. Sonia is that widow—but she knows nothing of the King's command nor does Danilo dream that this is his bride-to-be. He derides her for her ridiculous attitude toward his enormous advances and leaves her in danger.

Iowa Citizens Attend Annual Thanksgiving Day Program

Druker Traces History Of Holiday; "Thankful For Free Country"

More than 100 persons of all denominations of all faiths attended the annual Thanksgiving Day Union service at the American Legion building yesterday morning.

Attorney Harry Druker of Waterloo, in the main address, traced the history of Thanksgiving Day from its beginning down to the present day, expressing his thanks that "we still live in a free country."

"In the past, man battled for political and religious liberty," the attorney declared, "but today the problem is of another kind of liberty, economic liberty."

Flags Liberty League

Pointing out that the American people should be more concerned over the economic autocracy of the present industrial system, the speaker attacked the Liberty League as being not sincere in its "attempt to save the constitution."

"The Liberty League," he said, "is not for the common man because it is made up of industrial leaders who are only trying to protect themselves and their system."

In conclusion, Attorney Druker told his audience that they had much to be thankful for because they were not living in an autocratic state as is found in Germany and Italy today.

Shift Responsibility

The Rev. Richard E. McEvoy, when asking for the offering which went to provide Thanksgiving dinners for nearly 40 Iowa City families, declared that the American people were too prone to pass the responsibility of providing for the less fortunate on to government relief bureaus.

"The custom of making Thanksgiving contributions was begun here three years ago," he said. "At that time there was a real response because everyone was conscious of a real need."

"Since then," he said, "there have been many changes, the growth of government subsidies for relief being the major. Today we evade our responsibility with the excuse, 'let the government provide for the poor,'" he concluded.

The president's Thanksgiving proclamation was read by the Rev. Harry Ryan of St. Patrick's church; and a solo was sung by Carl Hardman. The Rev. Harry D. Henry presided at the service and the Rev. C. C. Garrigues gave the benediction.

Children in Asheville, N. C., recently exchanged more than 1,000 discarded toys for admission tickets to a theater which is collecting Christmas gifts for distribution to the poor.

AROUND THE TOWN with Bill Merritt

Pheasants
The same "Frank Buckish" spirit that caused our ancestors to go out and knock off a few wild turkeys for Thanksgiving, thereby establishing a custom, seems to have made itself felt in some of the local sportsmen who spent Tuesday and Wednesday afternoon shooting pheasants for family feasts yesterday.

Toys
They may have an ear, a leg, or perhaps a hank of hair missing, but the dolls contributed by the pupils of elementary school gladdened many a small heart at the juvenile home yesterday. Not only were there dolls in the articles sent to the home, there were toy cars, planes, and several baskets of clothes. In fact the office of Mrs. Mabel Evans, county probation officer and supervisor of the juvenile home, very much resembled the old general store Wednesday afternoon.

A Gift
One Iowa City business man brightened the day for three poor families that might not have had any Thanksgiving food and cheer. Upon being told that the collection at the union service yesterday was hardly enough to provide for all the families needing food, he cheerfully reached into his hip pocket and extracted another $5.

Luncheon
Members of the Masonic Service club will hold their usual weekly luncheon this noon at the Masonic Temple.

Deserted
Streets of Iowa City were deserted yesterday except for a few lonesome looking students wandering aimlessly about, wishing they were home having a share of the family turkey.

County Tax Levies Cut

Johnson county tax levies were reduced 24 per cent for the four year period 1931-1934, a report of the Des Moines bureau of municipal research showed yesterday, according to the Associated Press. This lowered to $94,000 the taxes to be collected in the county for 1934 as compared to $1,310,000 collected in 1931. Reduction in Johnson county is just below the total state reduction, which amounted to 29 per cent.

The report placed the decline for the state at nearly $32,000,000, or from $110,900,000 for collection in 1933 to $79,124,000 for collection in 1934, accounted for by the mandatory tax reduction laws and the assessment reduction made by the state board of assessment and review.

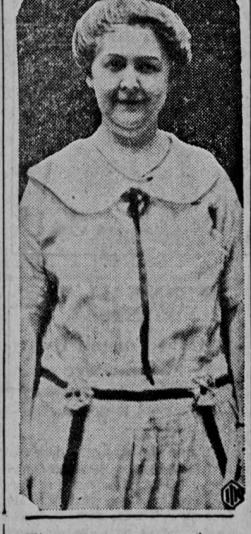

Comparison of the totals shows that in general the more populous county the smaller the reduction was. Polk county taxes were reduced only 18 per cent for the four years while in some less populous counties the reduction amounted to more than 40 per cent.

Iowa City Organizational Bring Cheer To Local Needy Yesterday

Seventy-four baskets, crammed with apples, oranges, tangerines, grapefruit, nuts, grapes, celery, lettuce, turnips, potatoes, bread, meats, and canned fruits and vegetables of all kinds, made yesterday Thanksgiving day for the needy of Iowa City as well as for those more fortunate.

These baskets, prepared by the Social Service league and distributed by Boy Scouts, were supplemented by the various Iowa City lodges and other groups.

Food for these baskets was donated by various individuals and purchased with the collection taken at the Thanksgiving service in the American Legion building yesterday morning.

Unusual Lacking
Unusual and interesting cases, always abundant in the past, were noticeably lacking yesterday as the Scouts made their deliveries from 9 until 1 o'clock. Last year, instances were found where families receiving baskets had new cars in their garage, a radio going full blast, and a table set with a better meal than many of those donating the baskets were going to have and also of a family of 12 living in a single room garage-like structure. Also, last year, many received baskets with stolid and hostile silence.

But this year, only two or three homes were discovered with radios going and the only cars to be seen were old and dilapidated. And they invariably greeted the baskets with the simple question, "Who's it from?" On being informed, they gave profuse thanks. Children either looked on with open mouth or wide smiles, and sometimes the old folks' eyes moistened.

Several deliveries were made to yards with chickens scratching around, but these baskets seldom contained chicken. Some of the later deliveries found folks already eating, but they eagerly accepted the baskets. One man, who lived in a six room house where baskets had already been delivered to two other families, came out to the car to thank everyone. "We already have a good meal," he said, "but we can sure use this. I'll play square with you—anytime you want a shave or haircut, you come around and it won't cost you a dime."

Deliveries Difficult
On the outskirts of town, deliveries were made difficult because of the almost impassible roads. The car frequently became stuck, and it took the combined pushing of the Scouts and passersby to get it loose. Many of the places were hard to find because they were situated in alleys.

As was the case in other years, many families were away from home, probably eating with relatives. But it was apparent that the food would not be wasted, for a peek in the windows revealed rooms with no rugs and only a table and bed to relieve the bareness. At one place however, the back porch was so filled with cabbages and pumpkins that it was impossible to get through.

Electric Searchlight

Published Every Friday in The Daily Iowan by the Municipal Ownership League of Iowa City.

The Municipal Ownership League hopes its supporters, the majority of the voters of Iowa City, will remain firmly convinced of the justice of its principles.

The League is a non-partisan organization without membership fee or paid workers. Its work is carried on entirely through volunteer workers and voluntary contributions.

Its goal is the city's ownership not of private business but of public services and natural monopolies, the most important of which just now is electricity. The League believes in the production of electricity not for private profit, but for public use at the lowest possible cost.

The League will not be diverted from its present objective by the introduction of any other local issue. The Power Company is trying hard to drag natural gas across the League's trail. The League detects the illegal, undemocratic methods by which the Power Company and its city council now seek to force natural gas upon Iowa City.

The League believes that no corporation should be allowed to sell both gas and electricity in Iowa City. The Power Company's prices for gas will only be right when the city operates its own electric plant and reduces the cost of electricity to consumers.

A municipal light plant is simply a cooperative enterprise, managed by the city for the benefit of the users of electric light and power. The cost of the plant and of its operation should be paid by the users of electricity, and BY NO ONE ELSE.

Under the Simmer law of Iowa, a non-user of electricity and a taxpayer cannot be asked to pay one cent for the establishment and operation of such a plant.

The Power Company exists primarily to pay a snug profit to its owners, while a municipal plant in Iowa City is designed to cut out profit and furnish electricity to the people at cost.

No matter how low the rate charged by a privately-owned utility, the rate charged by the municipal plant should, and can, be lower, because profit is the first objective of the former while the profit motive should not enter at all under Municipal Ownership.

Look for a moment at the financial set-up in Iowa City and compare the privately-owned electric plant with a municipal plant.

At present the Power Company claims an investment of nearly $1,000,000 in its depreciated electric property. This is a gross overvaluation, when the city's consulting engineer, Walter Schwob, reports that $917,000 will build a new and more adequate property.

During the last five years of great depression, the Company has received a NET INCOME of about 10 per cent a year, or an average of $150,000 on its own bloated valuation.

Since the courts have held in recent years that 4 per cent is not an unfair rate of return, the Company has received 4 per cent EXCESS PROFIT during these years when most of us were struggling to make a bare living. A 6 per cent return on a fair valuation would have saved the consumers of electricity $400,000 in those years.

In addition to this, the municipal plant would be tax-free. The consumers of the privately-owned utility pay all its taxes along with all other operating expenses—totaling $200,000 annually the past five years, which includes over $35,000 for depreciation.

This all means that the users of electricity in Iowa City during 1929-33 have paid EVERY YEAR approximately $350,000 until the recent municipal ownership brought some relief last January and again in July.

Stripped of all the never-ending charges which go with private ownership, a municipal plant with a gross income of $250,000 can be operated for about $114,000, set aside $36,000 for depreciation, and have $100,000 for principal and interest and surplus reserve.

At present Iowa City has an opportunity which may never come again. For a total cost to the city of $600,000, in addition to a gift of $250,000, we can now obtain a new, modern, up-to-date plant, much better than the present one, and pay but 4 per cent interest on the money. The annual interest charge would be less than $27,000 as against about $90,000 at the present time. This saving alone would be sufficient to pay for the plant in less than 10 years without a single cent of increase in electric rates.

If a longer time is taken for the payment of the principal, rates can be stepped down ten per cent at a time, until within 15 years the rates will be 40 per cent less than they are now.

Never again can we get our own at so little cost. All we need to do now is to elect faithful PUBLIC servants next March.
