Up a Tree About a Cat "Caesar" Doomed to Death by Will, But Attorney Disagrees

OMAHA, Neb., Jan. 5 (AP)—With the words, "I came to save Caesar, not to bury him," Joseph Lovely, public defender, today hurled himself into the legal dog fight that snarls around Mrs. Amelia Clancy's cat.

Caesar is the cat Mrs. Clancy doomed to die by chloroforming in her will which bequeathed $100 for a "decent burial" for her pet of 10 years. She explained she didn't want Caesar wandering about as an alley cat in his old age.

"Cat-egorical Duty"

Purred Attorney Lovely: "It is cat-egorical duty of the public defender to defend Caesar. The cat is entitled to live its nine lives. I will represent him."

Presiding District Judge John Yeager tossed his learned legal weight in the scales on Caesar's side. "The will of Mrs. Clancy does not obligate the Humane society to carry out the execution. One cannot bequest death."

Treed

The whole legal cat fight has Harry Fischer, coexecutor of the Clancy estate, treed. He said he would be guided by the court. While he's on a limb he is looking up some cat statutes himself.

"There seems to be many homes ready to take in Caesar, judging from his fan mail," he said.

County Judge Bryce Crawford, who may ultimately decide Caesar's fate, "mew-sed".

"Chloroforming Caesar might be proper—if the cat consents."

Hearing On Injunction Against Natural Gas Permits Postponed; Council, Johnston Declare Truce

Benda Enters Race For Nomination As Third Ward Alderman

Frank J. Benda, 1904 Church street, announced yesterday his intention to seek the democratic nomination for third ward alderman at the primary election Feb. 25.

Benda was born in Iowa City and has lived here the greater part of his life. For the last two years he has been in a tailoring business here and preceding that he taught music in the Reinbeck schools for nine years.

Benda is assertedly neutral on the major issues of the city campaign. "I propose to handle such problems as arise in the city council to the best of my ability," he said. Benda is the second to announce his candidacy for alderman from the third ward. George Bouck was the first. Both are democrats.

Action Is Held Up Indefinitely By Stipulation

Hearing on the temporary injunction to restrain the city council from granting a permit for natural gas in Iowa City will not be held tomorrow morning, it was revealed yesterday in a stipulation filed in district court.

Hearing on the injunction, on proceedings started by George E. Johnston, Iowa City coal dealer, several weeks ago, was postponed indefinitely by a truce which was signed by members of the council and Mr. Johnston yesterday morning.

Started Recently

The case arose recently when Mr. Johnston on behalf of the Iowa City coal dealers asked a permanent injunction restraining City Engineer John F. Sprout and members of the council from granting a permit to the Iowa City Light and Power company to bring natural gas into Iowa City.

All members of the city council signed the stipulation with the exception of Alderman Roscoe B. Ayers, who could not be reached last night for a statement.

Signed by Attorneys

It was signed by Attorneys Paul Toomey and D. C. Nolan for the coal dealers and Thomas E. Martin for the city engineer and members of the council. Attorney Martin said there was no reason for holding the hearing at this time as the city council had evidenced no desire for granting the permit in the immediate future.

Late in December the city engineer refused to grant the light and power company the right to tear up the streets and alleys of Iowa City to bring in natural gas. He based his action on the opinion of Attorney Martin who ruled that the action of the council in directing the company to bring in the gas was illegal.

Questioned Officials

The first move taken by the coal dealers after the injunction was filed was to call General Manager Joseph F. Porter of the light company and R. F. Henneman, construction engineer of the United Light and Power company, into Justice B. F. Carter's court and take depositions to be used in the hearing.

The light company has completed its natural gas line from the city limits to a point a mile and a half west where it is connected with the Ainsworth-Cedar Rapids line. This section of the work was completed several weeks ago and now the company is awaiting a permit from the council before proceeding to lay the pipe in Iowa City.

Polish Coal Miners End Strike; Officials To Find Work for 40

KATOWICE, Poland, Jan. 5 (AP)—Forty coal miners—all that remained of 80 who started an underground strike 11 days ago—climbed out of the Basca mine near Sosnowice tonight after local authorities agreed to find work for them.

They were exhausted and weakened from their stay in the dark, damp shaft 250 feet underground.

Peas of the strikers' wives to the local chief of administration brought his intervention with various mining companies, which undertook to provide employment for the men.

About 40 of the original number of strikers had surrendered during the last few days because of their sufferings underground.

Swanson Asks For Sweeping Defense Laws

Legislation Would Call for Mobilization Of Merchant Marine

Copyright, 1935

By International News Service

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (INS)—A sweeping national defense program calling for mobilization of the American merchant marine upon threat of war was placed before congress today by Secretary of the Navy Swanson.

In a communication to the house naval affairs committee, Swanson asked legislation permitting the president to take over every ship registered or licensed under United States laws whenever he deemed a war emergency existed.

"Essentials to National Defense"

"The prompt procurement for use as naval auxiliaries of a large number of privately-owned and operated ships at the outset of war or when a national emergency is imminent is essential to the national defense," Swanson asserted.

Under present regulations, he explained, the number of vessels of the necessary types which may be taken prior to the commencement of hostilities do not meet the nation's requirements.

"Will Reduce Delays"

"If the proposed legislation is passed there will be made available to the president a large field of selection for early procurement and this will reduce the delays and difficulties of obtaining satisfactory types of vessels," Swanson added.

The navy department, together with the department of war and commerce, feels such legislation is absolutely essential for national security, he said.

Navy to Ask Funds

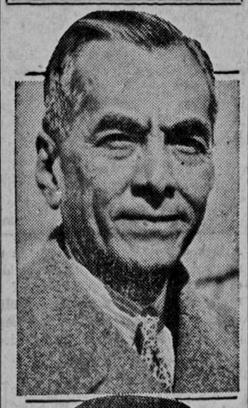

The legislation suggested to the house of the navy would amend the merchant marine act "to permit the president to take over or purchase any vessel licensed under U.S. laws if he deems an emergency is imminent."

Meanwhile, the navy also will ask congress to appropriate $3,200,000 for construction of a ship model basin at Cabin John, Md.

Rosenthal, Blackmer Lead Scoring; Buckeyes Never Threaten Iowans

By JACK GURWELL (Daily Iowan Sports Editor)

Hawkeye cagers plunged headlong into the current Big Ten basketball season by overpowering Ohio State's quintet last night in the field house by a score of 32 to 21. Jumping into the lead in the opening minutes of play, the Iowans staged a brisk battle, gained an early lead, and coasted to their initial triumph.

Despite dire prophecies as to the outcome of the contest, the Iowa aggregation put on the best exhibition of basketball displayed by the locals this season, and rank heavy favorites to drop the Chicago quintet here Monday night.

Take Big Lead

With the rangy Ivan Blackmer, and the small, but fast and elusive Sid Rosenthal leading the offense with precision, especially in the first half, Iowa overcame a 4 to 3 lead garnered by Ohio State as the game opened. From then on the Hawks tossed in baskets from all angles. Just before the half ended, Iowa held a 17 to 4 lead, and half-time found the lead 17 to 9.

By virtue of four field goals and a trio of free throws, Rosenthal captured high scoring honors for the evening, with Blackmer only one point behind with four baskets and two free throws. The Scarlet cagers were held down in the scoring department, Laybourne, forward, being their top man with two buckets and a charity toss for five points.

Rosenthal Outstanding

Probably the work of Rosenthal was the more outstanding, but the performances of Blackmer and Grim rate right up in there. Johnny Barko added a little vim and vigor to the Iowa cause, that was alert and fast moving at all times. Although hard driving, the Iowans drew only six penalties, three of which were missed by Buckeye players.

Unable to overcome a height advantage possessed by the Hawks, Ohio State's basketekers were forced to resort to long shots for the most part. On several occasions, however, the visitors broke through for counters under the basket. Five Ohio State baskets were long attempts that swished through the net without even touching the rim. The midset Scarlet guard, even shorter than Grim, "Tippy" Dye, proved the most effective from a ways out on the floor.

It was Dye's long shot from the side which gave Ohio State a one

Rumor Says Herring Asks Cooper to Quit Liquor Commission

DES MOINES, Jan. 5 (AP)—An even dozen prospects loomed on the legislative horizon today as the first rumblings of the opening of the forty-sixth general assembly were heard in Capitol Hill. The two houses will be called to order a week from Monday.

Meanwhile, there sounded in state-house corridors a multiplicity of rumors concerning the reported request for the resignation of Harold M. Cooper as chairman of the Iowa Liquor Control Commission.

Report Resignation Asked

One reliable report said that Governor Clyde L. Herring has asked for Cooper's resignation as a result of the gift of 200 state liquor seals to J. Leroy Farmer of Cedar Rapids and a subsequent raid on Farmer's canning plant by officers Dec. 12.

Cooper denied that he had been asked to vacate the office and declared that the reports had been provoked by political enmity.

"I have no intention of resigning," the liquor commission chairman said. "Governor Herring has not asked for my resignation. He never has suggested that I resign. Street talk of my resignation is plain political gossip."

Discussed by Officers

The liquor commission situation was being discussed by major state officers.

Governor Herring advanced two new proposals which will probably be placed before the legislature for consideration—reduction of the state highway commission personnel from five to three members and consolidation of the state fish and game commission with the board of conservation.

Committee Meets

The interim committee was meeting to determine the final draft of its report to the general assembly. The committee has already recommended four reprimand measures—creation of state departments of public welfare and safety and establishment of state and county purchasing systems.

Additional beer and liquor legislation undoubtedly will be sought by legislators who have discussed such subjects since the adjournment of the special session of the forty-fifth legislature.

Some provision, Governor Herring has asserted, will have to be made for relief measures to enable the state to take its part in the relief program sponsored by the federal government during the coming biennium.

$50,000 Worth Of Jewelry Is Hijacked

Trio Stops Truck, Loots It of Cargo In Heavy Chicago Traffic

CHICAGO, Jan. 5 (AP)—A truck which was transporting $50,000 worth of jewelry from a loop building to a railroad station was hijacked tonight by three men, police said.

The hijackers apparently followed the truck as it left the Heyworth building on East Madison street, and at Roosevelt road and South Washburn avenue they ignored heavy automobile traffic and forced the machine to the curb.

Truck Looted

Forcing the driver of the truck into their car, one of the trio got into the truck and drove it to another street intersection several blocks away, where it was looted of its contents.

The jewelry was contained in a trunk which John Thurston, driver for a transfer company, was taking from the Oscar Lessing Jewelry Manufacturing company to the Illinois Central railroad station.

Consigned to St. Lou's

Leonard Goodman, a salesman for the jewelry firm, said the trunk was consigned to a hotel at St. Louis, and that he was to have taken the night train for that city.

AAA to Renew Iowa Cattle Buying Program

AMES, Jan. 5 (AP)—The AAA will renew its cattle buying program in Iowa with a quota of 60,000 head which will bring an estimated million dollars to farmers in the 31 drought counties, Henry Eichling of the Iowa extension service announced late today.

2 Candidates Are Selected

University of Iowa, Grinnell Men Chosen To Represent State

Samuel Dunlap, representing the University of Iowa, and Joseph W. Bond, representing Grinnell college, were chosen here yesterday to represent the state of Iowa as candidates for Rhodes scholarships.

This was announced by Prof. Jacob Van der Zee, secretary of the committee of selection, following a meeting of the committee yesterday morning. Eight applicants, winners in a former elimination, were interviewed by the committee.

The two Iowa representatives will meet in Des Moines tomorrow with two men each from five other states in this district, Minnesota, Kansas, South Dakota, Nebraska, and Missouri, for final selection by the district committee. Four men will be named from the six states for the scholarships, which carry a stipend of about $2,000 per year for two or three years study in Oxford university, England.

Mr. Dunlap is a graduate student in English here. His home is in Iowa City and he is a graduate of the Rice Institute, Houston, Tex. Mr. Bond's home is in Lansdowne, Pa., and he is a senior at Grinnell.

Procedure Still in Doubt

WASHINGTON (AP)—A three-hour conference between President Roosevelt and senate leaders yesterday left the question of administration procedure on the world court and the St. Lawrence waterway treaty in doubt.

II Duce, Pierre Laval Pledge Italy, France to Peace Cause concerning our two countries, but also a consecration of the ideals which came from our community of origin, and of which people have the greatest need in time of uneasiness and uncertainty like the present."

The Franco-Italian conversations are not designed to cause renunciation of their respective friendships in central Europe, the premier said.

Already worked out in diplomatic interchanges between Rome and Paris are drafts of agreements, which the meetings here are expected to give final form, covering these major questions:

1—A joint Italo-French declaration that Austria's independence shall be maintained.

2—A five-power non-interference pact intended to embrace Italy, Austria, Hungary, Yugoslavia and Czechoslovakia.

3—Plans for other European powers not neighbors of Austria to adhere to the five-power pact, though with obligations differing from those of Austria and her neighbors.

4—Solution of the conflict of Italian and French interests in Africa

ROME, Jan. 5 (AP)—Benito Mussolini and Pierre Laval, representatives of two of Europe's most powerful nations, tonight publicly pledged their friendship and active collaboration in the cause of peace.

"The peace of Europe remains precarious," France's foreign minister said at the brilliant banquet II Duce gave for him in the Venezia palace, "and requires the attentive care of statesmen."

The continent's peoples, Laval said, "are not willing to wait any longer" for peace.

"We have given rise to great hopes," Laval said. "We will not deceive them. Peace must be maintained and consolidated."

"Our civilization cannot disappear. Listen to the lesson of the past. It is: Always in war is it that civilizations sink."

Mussolini said he and Laval hope not only to bring about "an arrangement of particular questions

State-Federal Police Force Recommended

Senate Anti-Racket Committee Says 35 States Have Approved

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP)—A state-federal police force, composed of men trained in the justice department's ferreting school, was disclosed today to be one of the 18 anti-crime recommendations by the senate anti-racket committee.

35 States Approve

Senator Copeland (D., N. Y.), chairman of the committee said 35 states had approved the plan which calls for a new type of correlation of federal and state anti-crime forces.

Under the bill, the states would select men to be trained in the department of justice school for special agents. These super-police-men would return to their home states, be vested with state police powers and operate under the supervision of the attorney general.

Wider Control Asked

Widening of the control of the fire arms traffic—at present limited to regulatory powers over transactions in machine guns and sawed-off shot guns—was asked by the senate committee.

This bill would give the federal government licensing power over the manufacture and sale of all forms of fire arms.

It was stated that every citizen of the state has the right to buy and sell property, and that this right is taken away from them by liquor control act which gives the liquor commission the exclusive right to deal in spirits.

Mexican, U.S. Authorities On Lookout for Arms Smugglers

Fleet of Trucks, Cars Believed on Way To Plotters in Mexico

CALIXICO, Cal., Jan. 5 (AP)—A fleet of trucks and motor cars believed to be speeding from the United States into Mexico with 120 machine guns and ammunition for revolutionary plotters were hunted strenuously by officers on both sides of the border tonight.

Instructions to stop the gun-running caravan "at all costs" were delivered to guards on both sides of the international line. Guard forces were doubled both in American and Mexican territory.

Reports that 300 additional machine guns were stored in a huge Los Angeles warehouse, presumably awaiting movement into revolutionary hands south of the boundary, sent detectives there on a hunt for the place.

Two men were held in Los Angeles after assertedly telling police the arms and ammunition had been collected and secreted there over a period of several months. The police said the arrest of "the big chief" of the suspected plot was imminent.

While the Mexican capital reported no knowledge of a border plot, advices from Vera Cruz, on the east coast of that country, said 200 peasants had attempted to capture police headquarters at Los Tuxtlas and that several were wounded when gendarmes fired upon them.

Advices from Jalapa said troops had left there to pursue an armed band near the Tlapacayan.

First information of the suspected revolutionary plot came with the Los Angeles arrests.

Police said one of the men told them the second consignment of munitions would be sent south by ship.

Authorities declared they were told the cargo of arms already on the way was valued at $84,000. Another load, believed still here, was evaluated by the men in custody at $210,000, police said.

Police said the men told them Mexican revolutionaries had agreed to accept the munitions on a C.O.D. basis.

Permission was given the two groups to hold the mass meetings, expected to be the biggest since the plebiscite campaign opened, in Saarbruecken the same day.

If the gatherings can not be held peaceably the final Sunday before the balloting, it would be dangerous to attempt to carry out the plebiscite one week later, officials said they believed.

The task of preserving order during the test of the Saar's discipline will be left to police; troops of the league's international army being kept in barracks.

Should the mere presence of the "invisible army" prove sufficient to discourage the Nazis and anti-Nazis from flying at each other's throats, officials believe it will be demonstrated that the plebiscite is likely to take place without serious difficulty.

If serious conflict should develop tomorrow, however, it will be indicated—according to opinions expressed privately among League of Nations officials—that the plebiscite can not be held safely Jan. 13 and should be postponed.

Looks After 9,000,000 Children

A task of no mean proportions is that of Miss Katharine Lenroot, new chief of the United States children's bureau, who has the worry of looking after the fortunes of some 9,000,000 delinquent and needy children in the nation.

By International Illustrated News WASHINGTON—The old woman who lived in the fairyland shoe had her worries with all those children, no doubt, and so do the mothers of big families in real life.

But for real worry over children, a real job in helping to mold youth, consider the task of Katharine Lenroot, who holds one of the federal government's most important positions.

Miss Lenroot is chief of the United States children's bureau. As such she has a large brood of children to worry over—in fact, approximately 9,000,000 of them, which is quite a few more than the average mother has to look after.

Of course, Chief Lenroot isn't what you might call a federal mother for the nation's youth. Rather, she's more of a special delegate in Washington of the mothers of America. Her job is to look after the vital interests of youth as sort of an Aunt Mary, the female counterpart of your Uncle Sam.

For example, she has the duty of looking after the 7,000,000 children of families now on relief. There are about 2,000,000 others who left school during depression years with no chance to earn a living that give her more to worry about.

Mothers undoubtedly will agree that handling 9,000,000 children would require considerable knowledge and efficiency. Miss Lenroot is possessed with both of these faculties. Child welfare is her career, and for 20 years she has been doing work for the nation's children.

Since 1913, she has been a civil service employe. In 1914 she joined the bureau she now heads as a special agent. She has been with the bureau ever since, stepping up through the various positions until she reached the top recently as the successor of Grace Abbott.

Although never active in politics, Miss Lenroot virtually grew up in the midst of it. Her father, Irvine L. Lenroot, served in the Wisconsin state legislature and later in the United States senate. Lenroot, now a judge in the U. S. court of customs and patent appeals, is a republican. His party affiliation brought objection from democratic leaders.

Child delinquency soon became her specialty. She had much to do with arranging a practical approach to the question of handling delinquency among juveniles. Largely through her efforts the bureau began gathering juvenile court statistics and devising methods to stem the tide of crime among children.

No figure-head, Miss Lenroot is a forceful figure with strong opinions. Her so-called liberal views recently led a southern American Legion post to denounce her as a dangerous radical. But while she is forceful, she makes no show of her authority, and goes about her work with a manner of quiet determination.

Extending their aim of friendship, University club is following a program of contacts with foreign students which includes dinners, teas, and providing each group with a "godmother."

"Godmothers" of the student groups are Mrs. Ernest Horn, Continental Europe; Mrs. George Bresnahan, England and Canada; Mrs. C. H. McCloy, China; Dr. Zella White Stewart and Mrs. F. A. Stromsten, China; Mrs. H. O. Croft and Mrs. P. C. Jeans, Turkey, Syria, and Persia, and Prof. Estella Boot, Philippine Islands, Hawaii, South America, and Mexico.

Each of the 60 students of other nations has been provided with a faculty friend and most of them also have a town and a student friend.

"Godmothers" invite their groups to dinner, and next semester it is planned for each fraternity and sorority to invite two foreign students as dinner guests.

Mrs. Mildred Giffen, chaperon of Delta Delta Delta sorority, heads this program.

Mrs. Knight, Prof. Haynes Will Address Woman's Club Groups

Two departments of the Iowa City Woman's club will open their 1935 activities with meetings this week.

Members of the literature department will meet Tuesday and the social sciences department will have its regular luncheon Friday.

Literature Mrs. Irving Kins, 903 Dearborn street, will be hostess to literature department members Tuesday at 3 p.m. Mrs. Minerva S. Knight will review "Tia Barbarita" by Barbara Pearl.

HAUPTMANN Defense to Name Four Suspects

friendly terms with Red Johnson, who was around Englewood (where the Lindberghs spent part of their time). He was examined at the time of the crime. However, I do not want to see him."

The lawyer commented, in passing, that Miss Gow "showed no hysteria, crying, or the usual symptoms a woman would normally show when a child to which she was closely attached is stolen. She was cold."

Quiet Week End Flemington itself sighed with relief today at the prospect of a week end considerably calmer than the last few days with their popping flash bulbs, the rushing of messenger boys, and the constant crowding on the courthouse steps.

Most of the principals of the trial, including defense and state counsel, have departed, to spend the week end shaping the courses of action for next week.

Reilly, at his Brooklyn conference, said: "We intend to use three groups of witnesses to free Hauptmann. One group will establish a complete alibi. A second will involve handwriting experts. The third will be made up of fingerprint experts."

More Than One "I have felt all along that Hauptmann would get off. From the beginning I have believed that there was more than one person in this crime, yet the indictment names Hauptmann exclusively."

All the surrounding circumstances indicate that Colonel Lindbergh and his wife were imposed upon by some one in the household. Yesterday, for example, it was brought out in the testimony that the baby was unaccompanied to strangers and that no one had access to the child except those connected with the household."

Bruno Hauptmann himself will be the first witness when the defense gets its chance, Reilly said. The prisoner, pale as a ghost now and lean-faced almost to the point of emaciation, had been studying at old moments to improve his English diction. While he has been in America more than 10 years, he speaks with a pronounced accent and is sometimes difficult to understand.

Terrific Person Hauptmann, tight-lipped during all the weeks he has been in custody—first of New York police and later of New Jersey authorities—had one comment to make after listening for hours to the examination and cross examination of Colonel Lindbergh. "It is terrible to kill a baby," Hauptmann told Reilly. "Whoever did it is a terrible person."

One of the important pieces of evidence in the state's case is the ladder found outside the Lindbergh home the night of the kidnaping. It has bolstered the theory that a kidnaper climbed to a nursery window, took the baby from his crib, and descended.

Ladder "Scenery" Asked about the ladder today, Reilly said it was "just scenery," implying that it may have been placed where it was found to turn suspicion away from the actual means of kidnaping.

At Taunton, Mass., where he registered early today, Dr. John F. Condon, the "Jafsie" of the ransom negotiations which led to the payment of $50,000 in ransom money, declined to say whether he would identify Hauptmann as the man to whom he paid over the money. He said he is holding his opinion of the identity "in abeyance."

Reilly was asked to elaborate on his plans for fingerprint testimony. He said he would introduce six experts, all of whom will testify that the ransom notes were not written by Hauptmann. One of the six experts is a specialist in Teutonic handwriting.

Hauptmann Perturbed Except for the jury—which is restricted over the holiday to walks and conversation (newspapers and radio being frowned upon by Justice Tranchard)—Hauptmann is about the only interested party in the trial who has not left town. Hauptmann was perturbed today when they gave him a newspaper with most of the news torn out. He is allowed one paper a day of his own choosing, but all references to his own case are deleted.

Hauptmann was not advised today of his mother's comments on the trial as given to an Associated Press writer in Kamenz, Germany. Reassuring her conviction that her son is innocent, Frau Hauptmann said she thought his arrest was the work of "enemies who want to destroy his life because they envy his happy marriage."

Two Theories Two theories, one already sharply outlined by evidence, and the other still vague and hastily sketched—give the Hauptmann jury totally different pictures of how the Lindbergh child was kidnaped.

In the state's hypothesis Hauptmann is the arch-criminal who single handedly abducted and murdered the baby, taking the child from his nursery crib down the kidnap ladder and away to the spot near Mt. Rose where he buried the little body in a shallow grave.

The German ex-convict plays an entirely different role in the indicated defense reconstruction of the case. He is the innocent victim of circumstances being tried for a crime which was committed by two men and two women who perpetrated the kidnaping by carrying the baby down the stairs through the house and out a ground-floor door.

Stories Tally The expertly-fashioned kidnap ladder has not yet been produced in court for evidence, but Colonel Lindbergh, and Charles Williamson, of the Hopewell police, have both described how they found the abandoned ladder a short distance from the house.

Both, too, have told of seeing the imprints of the ends of the ladder made in the soft clay soil under the southeast window of the nursery, and of the footprints around those impressions. Williamson also recalled how the footprints led from that spot under the window to the abandoned ladder.

Lindbergh and the police officer likewise tallied in their description of the condition of the nursery, how the ransom note was found on the

Shutters Open

The shutters of the kidnap window were open, the agreed, but the window itself had been carefully closed—repeatedly in its cross examination of the two witnesses.

The defense theory, sensational but still only briefly indicated, will be based on the charge that a group of four persons did the crime, some or all of them closely connected with the households of Lindbergh and his mother-in-law, Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow.

Still unnamed is the shadowy ghost of the Hauptmann case, Isadore Fisch, the consumptive business partner of the defendant who died in Germany early in 1934. Fisch is Hauptmann's alibi for the ransom money found in his possession. "Fisch gave it to me," is the alien's stubbornly reiterated contention.

Nurse to Testify Whether any of these characters named by the defense will be listed in the kidnap band of plotters Reilly says he will name next week is a matter of speculation. There is strong belief in some quarters that the tubercular Fisch, Violet Sharpe, and Ollie Whately, all dead, will figure prominently in the defense construction of the four-person kidnap theory.

Prosecutor Anthony M. Hauck, Jr., of Hunterdon county, said today he expects Betty Gow, who goes on the stand Monday, to stand up under Reilly's cross-examination as well as Colonel Lindbergh did.

Mrs. Anna Hauptmann, the defendant's blonde wife went to New York today to see her year-old son, Mannfried, who is being cared for in the Bronx by a niece.

Some "Dont's" for Pile Sufferers

If you are a sufferer from Piles or some other rectal disorder, read carefully the following list of "Dont's"—prepared by Dr. T. G. McCleary, world known rectal specialist. Don't neglect a well defined rectal ailment and expect it to get well. Don't use an ointment for temporary relief, believing it will provide a permanent cure. Don't wait until your whole system is undermined before you consult a competent rectal specialist. Don't take the grave chance of cancer or some other incurable condition developing before you decide to do what you should do now. Dr. McCleary has prepared a book that describes all rectal conditions and the mild McCleary treatment. It will be sent free to any reader of this page. Use the following address: Dr. T. G. McCleary, E-3405 Elms Blvd., Excelsior Springs, Mo. Use a post card or write a personal letter, describing your case if you so desire.

AS PRESIDENT OUTLINED RELIEF PROGRAM IN SPEECH TO CONGRESS

Charting the outlines of a new economic order to make individuals and families in the United States secure, President Roosevelt is pictured in Washington as he made his address before a joint session of congress. The president advocated the enactment of a program to provide every able-bodied individual with a job. Back of president, Vice President John N. Garner, left, and Speaker Joseph Byrns.

1935 Motor Show Opens In New York

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (AP)—Vivid splashes of color, the motor cars for 1935 made their first public appearance today, drawing tremendous crowds that New York automobile show officials estimated would break all records for the opening day. Beauty is stressed, along with safety, economy and many mechanical improvements. The automobile of 1935, of course, is streamlined, aerodynamic, streamlined, aerodynamic or airflying, which means to the layman that it glides through the air with the greatest of ease. Twenty-eight passenger car lines are being shown. Four major changes stand out, these being: A new type of spring suspension on many models, which is said to

Short Short Stories

YEGGS LAY EGGS

BOSTON. (INS)—Fresh yeggs used a crate of fresh eggs to insure themselves against interruption when they robbed the store of Abraham Karras. After taking $45 from the pockets of Karras, the bandits tied him up and to make sure that he would not attempt to pursue them or molest them at their work of making the cash register lighter, placed him on the floor and put a case of fresh eggs on his chest.

GUN WOMAN IN BOSTON

BOSTON. (INS)—There are nine gun-carrying women in Boston with permits, police records reveal.

HELP TO LAWYERS

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (INS)—Kentucky lawyers who want briefs for any case can get one worked up free, with all the legal points, authorities and precedents cited. Students at the University of Louisville School of Law do all the work—just for the practice. Though the "Briefing Service Staff" has been in existence only a few weeks, 30 voluminous legal papers already have been produced.

RENTED NUT TREE

ALBANY, Ky. (INS)—While not denying the famous quotation that

"only God can make a tree," a firm has been organized here to rent them, something new in the world of commerce. The firm will rent walnut trees in order to be sure of enough nuts and kernels to keep their "walnut plant" busy.

SURE TEST FOR ICE

LYNN, Mass. (INS)—Patrolman Arthur Vaughan found his 175 pounds cause for regret while he was testing the ice on the town skating pond, in company with Sergeant John Hines, who weighs 21 pounds. The ice broke, giving Vaughan an ice cold bath. Hines rescued his companion with a rope.

REAL STEEPLECHASE

CINCINNATI, O. (INS)—Louis Meyers, 45, painter, gave a spectacular roof-climbing exhibition and frightened spectators by his antics atop St. Stanislaus church. Rescued by firemen, Meyers said turpentine fumes intoxicated him while he was mixing paints and prompted him to make the steeplechase climb. He was fined in court.

Paraguayan Forces Take Major Fort

BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 5 (AP)—A smashing Paraguayan offensive today brought the fall of Ft. Capirenda, one of Bolivia's two major strongholds, dispatches from Asuncion tonight said.

Ft. Villa Montes, principal Bolivian army base and Paraguay's chief objective in her latest drive, was placed in serious danger, together with the oil fields lying behind it, by the fall of Capirenda, the dispatches said.

Villa Montes, however, was defended by heavily fortified hillside positions, and La Paz today reported successive Paraguayan attacks had been beaten back, the Paraguayans suffering heavy losses.

Another objective of the intermittently advancing Paraguayans was the network of Bolivian communications running into the heart of the Bolivian departments of Santa Cruz, Chuquisaca and Tarija.

To hinder the Paraguayan offensive the Bolivians had massed heavy artillery at strategic spots around Villa Montes and in other sectors. Aerial raids also were hampering the attackers.

Paraguayan forces occupied positions north and south of Capirenda, it was asserted, and were not far from Curandayty.

FORD V-8 FOR 1935

A Distinctive, Modern Car for the Woman Motorist

To the power, speed and brilliant performance of the Ford V-8, there have been added a new beauty, a new luxury—and a marvelous riding ease.

The Ford V-8 has always been a favorite with men. You've heard the men in your family talk about it. "That's a great car," they have said. "Eighty miles an hour when you want it, a smooth, powerful engine, swift pick-up and the ability to 'take it' all day long."

But the New Ford V-8 is a car in which women, too, can take a still keener pride and delight. A more beautiful car, with modern style in every line and appointment.

A "FRONT-SEAT RIDE" FOR BACK-SEAT PASSENGERS

In the New 1935 Ford V-8 you ride forward—nearer the center of the car. You ride on longer, more flexible springs. All weight is distributed to give Center-Poise. The back seat is roomy, restful and relaxing—the ride becomes a smooth and flowing glide at any speed, on any kind of road.

THE ROOMIEST, MOST COMFORTABLE FORD EVER BUILT AND THE EASIEST TO DRIVE

The New Ford is a bigger car than any previous Ford. It has wider doors and is lower—easier to step in and out. Front seats are 4 to 5 1/2 inches wider. New, larger space is provided behind the rear seat for suitcases and bags, thus avoiding crowding of passengers.

New features make the Ford V-8 still easier for women to drive. There is a new soft clutch which requires less foot pressure. The brakes also require less pressure, although they are more powerful and stop the car more quickly and smoothly than ever before. New steering mechanism makes the car easier to handle.

STYLE THAT WOMEN WILL ADMIRE

A glance will tell you that the New Ford is just about the handsomest car you have ever seen. Its lines are modern, graceful, without being freakish. Its colors are new and attractive. It is a car that women will stop to admire as readily as they do a new gown.

LUXURIOUS APPOINTMENTS

Modern ideas in design and coloring are seen in the car interiors. New upholstery with narrow piping and pillowed seats; hardware in tones to match upholstery; a new, more convenient and very modern instrument panel; curved gear shift lever which adds to the comfort of passengers in the front seat; double sun visors; doors which are hinged in front and swing forward; Clear-Vision Ventilation—these are some of the features which make these new cars so distinctive.

FORD V-8 RELIABILITY AND SAFETY

Every Ford V-8 for 1935 has Safety Glass all around—in doors and windows—at no additional cost. Every car has welded all-steel body. And, of course, every Ford has the powerful and reliable V-8 engine which makes the car such a satisfaction to drive as well as economical to operate.

We invite you to drive this New Ford V-8 and see for yourself why it is the ideal car for women motorists.

Rhodes Scholars—Unofficial Envoys

IN THE fall, a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of the Rhodes scholarships, if one may be allowed to paraphrase a trite old dodge.

Because only 32 of these men can be successful each year, there have been thousands of disappointments. The committeemen who have the task of selecting through elimination the 32 scholars each year have a difficult and often thankless task.

But the men who have come out of Oxford as Rhodes scholars have gained distinction for themselves in many fields. They number among the greatest teachers, the greatest writers, the greatest statesmen of our time.

Aside from the value to the United States in offering fine training for a selected group of men, the Rhodes scholarships have another great value. The men who go to England each year on these stipends are unofficial envoys of a high character.

Toward Standards—The Impossible

"CUSTOM, THAT Tyranness of fools, That leads the learned round the schools In magic chains of forms and rules."

The student in any field of art is forever face to face with the pedagogues who insist upon molding everything within their sphere into an iron mold and cataloguing its shape according to prearranged rules and forms.

John D. Goes Poetic

world, he is worse than useless; he is vicious. No critic, no teacher can set standards applicable to everything spoken or written in the world.

Federal Police Add Another Triumph

THE ANNOUNCEMENT yesterday that John Paul Chase, gang suspect captured last week in California, had confessed to participation in the gun battle in which Federal Agents Hollis and Cowley and Hoodlum Nelson were killed, adds another laurel to the record of the federal crime fighters.

The national agents can now take over for themselves with justification the old motto of the Canadian Mounted Police; for they always seem to get their men. Capone, Dillinger, Van Metre, Nelson, Chase—these are a few of the notches in the federal pistols of which these men can be proud.

Where ill equipped and poorly manned local police forces had failed, where state police were powerless because of their boundary restrictions, the federal agents have stepped in and done a good job.

All of this bespeaks only too plainly the need for a well organized federal police force, with full power to act in all criminal cases, state or federal. The federal agents have acted wherever it has been possible. They have used every pretext to find federal offenses in order to obtain jurisdiction over a case.

Even the deepest dyed state-rights advocate can not deny the fact that the national agents have demonstrated their ability to fight crime where the state men have failed. Just how much of an inroad a federal police force would make on the dual responsibility of state and nation would remain to be seen, but every thinking American would probably say state rights and dual government be hanged when the national security is at stake.

Why force our federal agents to operate under cover of pretext in order to protect the nation? A federal force, with authority to track down any sort of criminal through cooperation with local and state forces, would solve the problem.

England, through the activities of Scotland Yard, has gained a record for crime fighting that America, with its blood stained record, may well envy. Why not a Scotland Yard for the United States?

What Others Think

For the Love Of Ginger

(From The New York World-Telegram)

It is a shame to spoil a good story, and so we hope fondly that no literalist decides to check up on the report of the two zoo men in San Francisco who died of grief over their ape.

Ginger was the ape, a huge orang-utan that could lick thirty men if he got angry. But he was gentle as a lamb. Some vandal slipped poison in his peanuts, however, and he died.

Jack Bamberger, his keeper, died the next day. Undoubtedly, said the report, it was a case of shock and grief over the ape.

And now George Bistany, superintendent of the zoo, has died also. It is reported as another case of shock and grief. Ginger was a friend to the men, according to bulletins from San Francisco, and they didn't care to survive him.

Little animal stories of this sort appeal powerfully to the heart. We like them. We are also ready to accept as coincidence that the keeper had a chronic heart ailment and the superintendent had high blood pressure and a kidney ailment.

The Washington Parade

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (INS)—Prayer and politics don't mix—not if the prayer is long and the politicians are impatient.

The first prayer in the seventy-fourth congress caused the first dissenting vote.

The Rev. Dr. James Shera Montgomery, white-haired, white-mustached chaplain of the house, ascended the speaker's rostrum to pray that the few able men in that body and the many humdrum politicians be given guidance in their work this session.

Before him was a microphone. It may have been the "mike," it may have been the occasion, or some other reason, but Chaplin Montgomery prayed ten minutes instead of the usual two or three.

A few minutes later the democrats and republicans presented their slates, on both of which the well loved chaplain was the choice to be continued in that position.

The speaker called for a vive voce vote. "Aye," shouted some three hundred old members.

"No," belted one. "Why did you vote 'no'?" he was asked. "Because," he replied, "if we gave that much time to prayer every day we'd never get any work done here."

An hour before the democratic caucus named Representative William B. Bankhead of Alabama to be the majority floor leader he was carried from his home on a stretcher. . . . It's being kept mum but he has a severe heart attack. . . . Speaker Joseph W. Byrns of Tennessee is the second to hold that office and to be known as "Uncle Joe."

The late Speaker "Uncle Joe" Cannon of Illinois was the first.

Some twenty-four hundred bills were tossed into the legislative hopper in the house before the session was an hour old. . . . Most of them were intended for "home consumption."

Twenty-three hundred of them will never get beyond committee. . . . Less than one-quarter of the others will be passed. . . . Congress goes on forever, but what's become of the garden seeds you?

The photos couldn't get enough shots of Mrs. Byrns and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Byrns Jr., who sat in the front row of the members' gallery. . . . A few feet away sat Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth, wife of the late Speaker Nick Longworth and daughter of the first president Roosevelt. . . . The boys who touched off the flashlights ignored her. . . . On the floor Mrs. Caroline O'Day, New York's representative at large, for whom Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt made campaign speeches last fall, surveyed the turbulent scene calmly through pince nez glasses. . . . She was either bored or amused, it appeared.

Fiorella LaGuardia, who was a congressman before he became mayor of New York city, came down to see the show. . . . "I'd a whole lot rather be down here voting 'aye' than up in the city hall saying 'no,'" he remarked to a friend. . . . The friend had difficulty hearing the big-voiced LaGuardia. . . . Just at that moment one of the many children who sat on members' laps distinguished himself by bawling at the top of his voice. . . . It was a different bawl than the child's that interrupted the opening prayer.

566 Students Now Working Under Emergency Relief Plan

The tenth and twenty-fifth of every month are red letter days to 566 students working on the student emergency relief division of the Iowa state emergency relief administration. On these two days student workers can collect their checks at the treasurer's office.

A monthly appropriation of $7,650 to the University of Iowa has been made from the state funds. Individual students may earn from $15 to $20 a month, the latter figure being the maximum. The appropriation is based upon the number of students registered at the university October, 1933.

Vouchers made out by department heads list the number of hours, the type of work done, the rate of compensation and the total amount owed the student. The office work involved in distributing the money is done by some of the students receiving aid, under the direction of Dillard W. Bray, chief accountant of the business office.

The type of work done by the students has been extended this year to include community projects. Most of the students work the required stint of 50 hours a month doing clerical work, grading papers, or serving as research readers. A large number work on the buildings and grounds in minor construction projects, repair and cleaning work. This year several students are working at the recreational center.

The aid is given to students on the basis of their financial need and scholarship records. In most cases the work could be done without federal appropriations. The plan does not lessen the number of jobs available to the student depending upon university employment for part-time work.

Behind the Scenes in Hollywood

By HARRISON CARROLL HOLLYWOOD — Despite strict French regulations on American pictures, Katharine Hepburn is the current film queen of Paris.

This on the word of Charles Boyer, Gallic screen star, who has just returned to Hollywood to play in Walter Wanger's "Private Worlds."

La Hepburn's performance in "Little Women" turned the trick, Boyer reports. After six months, the film is still playing, in English, to capacity houses, and shows indications of doubling this run.

Next to the whimsical Katharine, the French actor rates Claudette Colbert. Joan Crawford, the former toast of Paris, has suffered in popularity, he says, because the exhibitors over there have been changing all the dialogue of her pictures into French. The voice chosen for Joan, according to Boyer, is rather high and doesn't fit Joan's personality at all.

Boyer, who has been having a belated honeymoon with Pat Paterson, will stay in Hollywood at least six months this time. Walter Wanger has him signed to a contract that assures it.

The John Hay (Jock) Whiteheads have given Frances Dee and Joel McCrea a thoroughbred mare from their Kentucky stables. The horse, with the registered name, La Tille, is a jumper and has won several steeplechase events.

Joel, who is an excellent rider but who doesn't go in for frills, has bowed out as trainer for La Tille. His pal, John Cromwell, will take over the job. And Frances says the horse is going to be hers.

One of the better paid actors, reports Grover Jones, was squelched SO beautifully the other day. Most of Hollywood contributes generously to the Community Chest, but this particular actor, although he could well afford it, began making excuses.

Finally the solicitor for the charity—he also is a studio executive—got tired of listening. "Why don't you do them out of it like you did last year?" he snapped. "Give him a check?"

This is a story of two extras who came through as winners in the recent elimination contest. The other morning, an R-K-O casting director called one of the new super extras with an offer of two weeks' work at $80 per week. He instructed her to come to the studio at 10 a.m. the next Sunday for a wardrobe fitting.

Her answer—the casting director is still boiling—was: "Oh, I don't know whether I can do THAT. I am going to be out very late Saturday night and 10 o'clock is too early to get up."

Calling another of the extras, who lives at a Hollywood hotel, the casting director was told she was out. "But if you want to talk to her maid," came the voice on the phone. "Call back in 30 minutes. She is taking Miss — a dog for an airing on the roof."

These cases are not typical, but they do suggest a couple of more splendid names to eliminate. Especially as so many of the rejected kids are so earnest and need the money so badly.

What actress, who is making a big bid for sympathy since the breakup of her romance with a matinee idol star, really has nothing to squawk about, because she brought it on herself.

KNICK-KNACKS—Most of the guests at Joan Crawford's Christmas party missed the really exciting part. At 3:30 a.m., when only a few close friends remained, Joan asked Franchot Tom to come out in the garage and help her open a box that had just come. When he got there, he found a shiny 16-cylinder car—Joan's present to him. Franchot did hand-somely by Joan, too. . . . Just one of the items was a diamond and star sapphire pendant with bracelet to match. And the bracelet is one of those new gadgets that breaks up into clips and a brooch. . . . The opening of the Santa Anita race found the film crowd arriving early for the first time on record. They expected to have traffic trouble, but the arrangements worked so smoothly there was no delay at all. Everybody in the industry was there. . . . The Bob Montgomery and Chester Morris, who had expected to spend Christmas together on Bob's Connecticut farm, shared a box and confessed it was better to be in sunny California watching such a colorful spectacle. . . . Will Rogers had Billie Burke and Patricia Ziegfeld as his guests. They've been friends for years. . . . Mary Brian and Dick Powell photographed dozens of times.

Many Ancient Mortars, Pestles In Prof. Kuever's Collection

"There is the jewel of my collection," said Prof. R. A. Kuever, of the college of pharmacy, pointing to a small object among his array of old European mortars and pestles that he has been collecting for the last five years.

The "jewel" is a small bronze mortar which Professor Kuever got in France. On it is inscribed the date, 1590, and the pharmacist's original coat of arms. The bronze pestle shows its years of use by the amount of wear on the ends of the instrument.

Distinct Shapes
"You will notice," the professor continued, "that each mortar and pestle I have from a different country has a distinct shape of its own, peculiar to that country."

"Now this little French one has a handle on each side of the mortar. When it is set on the block, straps are fastened through the handles and the pharmacist works it with his feet. All French mortars have such handles."

A pure brass one that he got in Berlin dates back about 100 years, and is particularly valuable because during the later years of the war, the Germans combed their cities for every obtainable piece of brass to convert into jackets for shells and for barrels of small arms and cannons. In that way many choice mortars and pestles were lost.

200 Years Old
The German mortar is similar to the French in that it is held in place by foot, but instead of handles on either side there are knobs, and the bottom is not flared so that it can be placed in a deep hole in the block.

From Lucerne, Switzerland, the garden spot of the world for old apothecary shops which date back as far as the beginning of the fifteenth century. Professor Kuever has a bronze mortar and pestle approximately 200 years old.

It is distinguished by its squat appearance, having flares at both top and bottom.

Three English Mortars
Also in the collection, three English mortars, all about 100 years old, are similar to each other, but taller and with wider flares than the Swiss kind. One that Professor Kuever got in Exeter is bronze, and one from London is brass, the wear on it showing plainly by the thinness of the brass on the sides of the mortar.

A very small one which he got in Canterbury is not more than an inch and a half in diameter, and was used for eye-potion. The English make the smallest mortars in the world, and two from Brussels show a very distinct shape, like that of a bowl, having no flares.

Official Mortar
One, a small bronze, was used in the official apothecary of that territory during Napoleon's reign. It formerly was adorned with jewels, but they have been taken off and used for other purposes. The other, made of brass, is about 50 years old and is typical of modern Belgian mortars and pestles.

"Hear that tinkle of pure brass and bronze?" asked Professor Kuever as he struck each mortar with its pestle. "You see, these were originally made by bell makers. Now a mineral substance called wedgewood is used.

SEEN from OLD CAPITOL by TOM YOSELOFF

In the day's mail:
"Dear Tom:
"Netamente Modernistas" I called them. I merely wish to show you how progressive our young college students are growing.
A couple, several days ago, promenaded on the sidewalks and every few steps exchanged lovable kisses without paying attention to the amazed people that went by. So what? It seems that the comfortable davenport or the rumble seat has become too old-fashioned for them and so they resort to this idea as a true modernistic movement.
'Keep in step with the progressive world, college boys and girls' is the motto of today.
Adios."

Tut, tut. Such behavior. Who would have thought that our much befertilized campus would have sprouted emotional honesty? This is indeed a situation for the reformers to take in hand immediately, and this department issues the clarion call to all who have within them the true spirit of Carrie Nation. Let the hatchets be brought out! Fall to in the battle for morality!

After all, this isn't a case of modernistic radicalism. It's just a case of necessity. A young man—heaving to the line of morality established by our benevolent university—can not entertain a young woman in his quarters. Nor can a young woman entertain a young man in her quarters. Which leaves the rumble seat and the sidewalk. And probably in this case there was no rumble seat.

Ta-ta-ra-ta. That, my dear readers is the bugle call to arms in the battle for morality.

Another reformer has been busy over in the hospital. It seems that a notice was placed on the bulletin boards, dated Jan. 5, informing all and sundry that the public cafeteria in the hospital will be open after noon Jan. 3. Some clever student ringed the two dates and walked about reciting "Backward, turn backward, oh time in thy flight."

It was at a party the other evening. Discussion was at a high point, and, as usual, punning was the order of the evening. One student, who is especially noted for the worst puns on the campus, was at the height of odoriferousness. Two of the others issued an ultimatum.

"You pull three more puns like that and out you go," they warned him.
"Do you mean," he asked calmly, "that you would pounce upon me? That would be a punishment too severe to pun-der. Can't you be lenient punding further offenses, or at least think of a juster punalty?"
Out he went.

NALL CHEVROLET COMPANY ANNOUNCES TWO NEW LINES FOR 1935

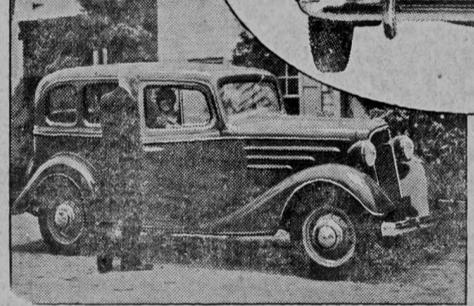

The Coupe model typifies the beauty and style of Chevrolet's New Master De Luxe series for 1935. Improved performance and exceptional economy also characterize these cars.

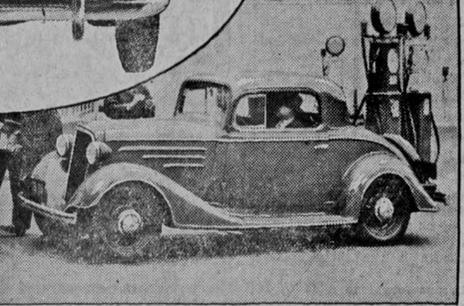

Right: Front view of New Master De Luxe Coupe, showing roominess and graceful lines. Below: The Sedan model in the New Standard series, which, powered by the time-proven Master engine, combines brilliant performance with smartness and style.

Fleet, graceful lines also mark the New Master De Luxe Sport Sedan. Ample luggage space is provided by the built-in trunk, and a luggage compartment behind the rear seat cushion.

Another attractive model in the New Standard series is the Coupe pictured here. Numerous body and chassis refinements, in conjunction with the Master engine, unite to make these cars outstanding values in the lowest-priced field.

Typical of Chevrolet's two new lines of cars are the models illustrated here. Mechanically, the Master De Luxe series and the New Standard series have much in common, including the Master engine, in which numerous refinements have been made to enhance performance, durability and economy. As these pictures reveal, the New Master De Luxe departs distinctly from previous Chevrolets in the striking advance which has been made in body design and trim. The Standard Sedan, Coupe and Coach are on display now at the show rooms of the Nall Chevrolet Co.

Full Penalty Levied By Judge on Four Men Convicted in Massacre

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 5 (AP)—The law's full penalty fell today on the heads of four men convicted of a conspiracy which the government charges paved the way for assassination of a federal prisoner and four officers in Union station plaza here June 17, 1933.

Declaring he thought the maximum penalty "a moderate one indeed," Judge Merrill E. Otis sentenced Richard T. Galatas, Hot Springs, Ark., gambler; Herbert Farmer, ex-convict of Joplin, Mo., Frank B. (Fritz) Mulloy, Kansas City night club owner, and Louis (Doc) Stael, Chicago night club operator, to serve two years in a federal penitentiary and to pay a fine of $10,000 each for their part in a conspiracy to liberate Frank Nash, recaptured federal convict.

Will Postpone Insull Trial

CHICAGO, Jan. 5. (AP)—Assistant State's Attorney Wilbert Crowley announced today that Samuel Insull's embezzlement trial would be postponed when it is called in criminal court next Monday.

The state was ready to prosecute the former power potentate for the alleged illegal withdrawal of $66,000 in middle west utilities company funds but Floyd Thompson, the barrister who won an acquittal for Insull in the recent $100,000,000 federal mail fraud case, will be out of town.

Crowley declined to discuss the possibility of dismissing the charge in view of the fact that government and state have failed to gain a conviction in three cases against Insull chiefs, but three assistant state's attorneys declared they were ready to present evidence in the new trial.

Soviets Accuse "Big Country"

MOSCOW, Jan. 5 (AP)—A "big country" identified only by implication stood behind the "small country" whose consul at Leningrad was recalled allegedly for giving money to the slayer of Sergei Kiroff, communist leader, the newspaper Pravda charged editorially today.

In his purported confession made public by the Soviet, Leonid Nicolaieff, subsequently executed for assassinating Kiroff at Leningrad Dec. 1, said he received 5,000 rubles from an unnamed consul at Leningrad.

Pravda, official organ of the communist party, said "behind the small country in this case stands another which is bigger and stronger, and considers war against the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics its holy mission, which prepares by violation to change the frontiers of Europe." Its editorial reviewed Nicolaieff's asserted testimony that he prepared documents to make it appear that the crime was one of personal despair, and commented: "It is curious that exactly the same position was occupied by the German press, repeating that Nicolaieff acted through personal motives."

PROBABLE STARTING LINEUPS

IOWA	CHICAGO
Rosenthal	Haarlow
Barko	Flinn
Blackmer	Petersen
Bobby	Lang
Grim	Dorsey

Time and Place: Tomorrow night, 7:35; Iowa field house.
Broadcast: WSUI. Carl Menzer and Eric Wilson.

Off to an auspicious start in the Big Ten title race, University of Iowa's caters will strive to make it two straight tomorrow night when they encounter the Chicago Maroons at the field house.

Lost Six Straight
After trouncing Wheaton college in their opening non-conference game of the season, the Maroons have been downed in six consecutive contests to register the poorest record of any conference aggregation thus far.

Sid Rosenthal, by virtue of his splendid performance against the Buckeyes last night, will probably get the call at the disputed right forward position tomorrow night. The remaining lineup will be the same, with Bobby and Grim at guards, Blackmer in the pivot, and Johnny Barko at the left front court post.

Haarlow Leads Mats
The Chicago attack is built around Bill Haarlow, a junior, who was third high conference scorer last year with 110 points accumulated in 11 contests. Haarlow accounted for 15 of the Maroons' 24 markers against Marquette last night.
The Hawkeyes' offensive average is now 33 as compared to 27 for Chicago. On defense, Iowa has an average of 29 as compared to the Maroons' 35.

She's Still Their Choice

Mrs. Paul Dean's Name Up for Co-ed Beauty Award

RUSSELLVILLE, Ark., Jan. 5 (AP)—Mrs. Paul Duffey Dean discontinued her college career at Arkansas Polytechnic here when she married the St. Louis pitcher last Dec. 20, but the local student weekly "Arka Tech" today nevertheless nominated her as "Tech's beauty of 1934-35."

Mrs. Dean, the former Dorothy Sandusky, was a winner in a local beauty contest a year or so ago.
Her picture, with those of 17 other candidates nominated by various campus groups, will be submitted to Dick Powell, Arkansas movie star, who will make the selections for the college year book.

Sooners Lick Kansas State By 47-34 Tally

NORMAN, Okla., Jan. 5 (AP)—The University of Oklahoma basketball team returned to old time form here tonight and defeated the Wildcat cagers of Kansas State, 47 to 34, to sweep a two-game series and keep a clean record in the Big Six court race.

Led by Edgar (Fudge) Warren, Sooner forward, who was "right," the Oklahoma five started the scoring early and grabbed a lead which was never relinquished.

In the latter part of the first half Oklahoma held a 19 to 5 lead, but Frank Groves, Laney Aggie center, and his mates, Lee Rallsback, found the hoop from far out on the floor and the Sooner reserves, who finished the first period, left the court in the most dangerous position of the game with a Sooner lead of 20 to 19.

Huskers Fall, 30 to 28, To St. Louis U.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 5 (AP)—With Bill Cochran, flashy guard, tallying six times from the floor, St. Louis University eked out a 30 to 28 victory over Nebraska tonight.

St. Louis hopped off to a three-point lead at the start of the game, but McDonald and Parsons hit from the floor and the visitors managed to stay ahead during the remainder of the period, which closed with the Cornhuskers leading, 12 to 10.

Grinnell Wins

CHICAGO, Jan. 5 (AP)—Grinnell college of Grinnell, Iowa, tripped up the Loyola for its fourth defeat of the season here tonight on their own court by staging a last minute rally to take a hotly contested victory, 28-23.

Julie Bauer, a Chicago lad led the Grinnellians to victory by scoring four buckets and a free throw, two of the baskets and one free toss coming in the last four minutes to clinch victory. Loyola led at the half 19-9.

Boilermaker Rally In Final Moments Proves Fatal to Wisconsin

MADISON, Wis., Jan. 5 (AP)—Ed Shaver missed four free throws, but caged the fifth in the last few seconds of play to give Purdue a 19 to 18 victory over Wisconsin in its first game this season in defense of its Big Ten title.

The Boilermaker guard made the last of the only four points Purdue was able to get in the second half and it climaxed the rally the champions put on in the last five minutes of play.

Wisconsin took a three to one lead at the start but it soon melted and Purdue fought to a 15 to 10 advantage at the intermission.

Cotton, Purdue's high-scoring guard, was closely guarded by Captain Foster but he managed to slip in three field goals and as many free throws to lead in scoring.

Cards, Tigers Meet in Spring

Navin Says Detroit Will Play 25 Game Tour With Champs

DETROIT, Jan. 5 (AP)—The world champion St. Louis Cardinals and the Detroit Tigers will resume their warfare where they left off in the world series with a two game series in the spring training schedule.

Charles F. Navin, club secretary, announced Saturday that the Tigers would open a 25 game training schedule with a game against the Cardinals at the Tigers training camp, Lakeland, Fla., March 22. The second game will be played on the St. Louis diamond in Bradenton, March 27.

The Cincinnati Reds will provide the Tigers opposition in 12 of the 25 games. Four other major league outfits, Boston Red Sox, Brooklyn Dodgers, Boston Braves and the Phillies, are on the schedule.

Missouri Signs Don Faurot To Coach Hapless Tiger Gridders

COLUMBIA, Mo., Jan. 5 (AP)—Don Faurot, master of arts, has been called in as doctor of football by his alma mater, the University of Missouri, and already has completed his diagnosis.

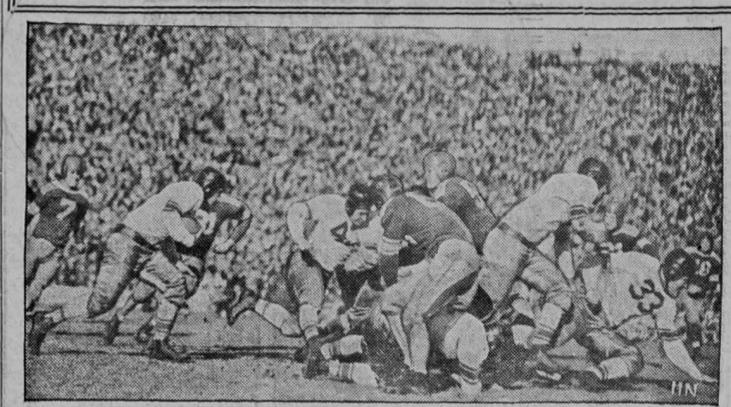

The 32-year-old, soft-spoken all-around athlete believes the remedy lies in a numerically large squad, a versatile attack thorough knowledge of the fundamentals and an injection of Bernie Bierman's Minnesota football.

From Kirksville
Coming here this week after a successful nine-year term as athletic director of the Northeast Missouri Teachers college at Kirksville, Faurot stepped immediately into shoes vacated by Frank Carideo.

He will scrap the Notre Dame system established here three years ago by Carideo. He will use selected features of the Warner system, and the nondescript but highly effective measures he learned while playing for Gwinn Henry, Carideo's predecessor in office. Faurot has more than a few ideas of his own.

Cunningham Wins From Gene Venzke Does 800 Meters In 1:57 on Flat Boards At K. of C. Meet

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Jan. 5 (AP)—Glenn Cunningham, holder of the world's indoor and outdoor record at one mile, swung back into competition on the boards tonight with a thrilling victory over Gene Venzke, of the University of Pennsylvania in the 800-meter run at the Knights of Columbus track and field meet in the 196th infantry armory.

Sprints at Finish
With the same relentless stride that carried him over a mile in 4:08.4 on the Madison Square Garden banked track and 4:06.7 over the cinder track at Princeton to establish new world marks last year, Cunningham stepped to the front one and half laps from the finish and then staved off the brilliant stretch challenge of Venzke, himself one-time holder of the indoor record for the mile.

Remarkable Time
Less than two yards separated the pair at the finish, while William Ray, of Manhattan college closed fast to nip Harry Williamson, University of North Carolina ace, Cunningham, preparing for more important battles against his arch rival, Bill Bonthron, was clocked in 1:57, considered remarkable time for the flat boards.

Critz Sends Signs His Signed Contract

Chicago Bears Name 21 for Western Trip

CHICAGO, Jan. 5 (INS)—The Chicago Bears of the professional football league entrain this evening for Los Angeles, where three games have been scheduled for the latter part of this month. Twenty-one men were designated by Coach George Halas for the trip.

Cunningham, Famous Distance Runner, To Enroll Here Feb. 1

The University of Iowa will claim one of the greatest distance runners in the world as its student next semester.

The former University of Kansas star's racing program for 1935 includes only one meet—the 800 meter run of the Columbus council games held last night in Brooklyn. He will not engage in any further competition until the difficulty of his schedule here is determined.

Cunningham expressed the hope of meeting his arch foe, Bill Bonthron of Princeton, once or twice this year.

Louis Rests On Top Rung Victory Over Perroni Placed Unbeaten Negro As Title Challenger

DETROIT, Jan. 5 (INS)—Fighting to hold back the tears as the referee raised his hand in victory, Joe Louis, unconquered Detroit Negro, stands in the top rung of Max Baer's title challengers by his one-sided, three-knockdown victory over Patsy Perroni, of Cleveland, here last night.

Max Baer, champion, grimaced and danced a so-called four-round exhibition bout with Babe Hunt of Oklahoma, as 16,000 disgruntled spectators booed the proceedings.

Customers Disgruntled
"What do you want for $2, a championship fight?" Max called to disgruntled customers as he left the ring after a dizzy 12 minutes of face contortions, wild swings, clownish tactics and boos from the gallery.

The hard-hitting Detroit Negro pumpeled Perroni three times for counts of nine, but three times Perroni escaped the not-too-savage Louis, who danced in for the kill. A short left to the jaw proved most uncomfortable for the Clevelander, who bobbed and weaved as he sought to evade the ever-oncoming Negro. But there was little action—the crowd often hand-clapped and booed.

Tried for a Knockout
Louis tried hard for a knockout as his seconds urged him on, but in vain. When it was over, and the referee had raised his hand in triumph, Louis appeared ready to cry as his handlers talked to him. The displeasure of the crowd at the slow action apparently had upset the youthful Negro, who has now won 12 professional straight fights. Louis weighed 195 and Perroni 186 3-4.

Buddy Baer, 240 pounds of might and main, thoroughly frightened one Jack O'Dowd, of Detroit, into a two-round technical knockout. O'Dowd was on the canvas seven or eight times in the brief encounter. It was no match.

May Not Stay
"I don't know of anything more cocky than a Missouri football coach buying a house."

The new coach's expressed admiration for the Minnesota system and his own determination to coach the line also has given rise to reports that Lowell (Red) Dawson, the Gopher backfield coach, may be offered a Missouri post.

With about 35 members of the 1934 last-place Tiger squad back and several outstanding freshmen coming to eligibility, Faurot will have a likely group at the first roll call for spring practice, March 1.

Gophers Trail At Half But Stage Rally

Mickey Kupperberg, Jimmy Baker Lead Second Half Drive

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 5 (AP)—Minnesota and Notre Dame set the floor on fire tonight in a burning basketball battle, the Gophers standing the heat a trifle better and winning, 30 to 28.

Gopher Comeback
A second half Minnesota comeback, staged after the Irish seemed winners with a 19 to 14 lead at intermission, gained by obvious superiority, settled the Gopher triumph before 7,200 excited fans. It was Minnesota's sixth victory in seven games preliminary to the Big Ten campaign.

Reserve and Vet
A sophomore rookie, Mickey Kupperberg of New York, and a reserve from the bench, Jimmy Baker, veteran, led the Gophers' second half attack which shone with brilliant ball handling by both sides. Notre Dame's taut defense lived up to its reputation, limiting the Gophers to seven field goals against the Irish 11, but fouling cost the visitors heavily.

Sensational long shooting by George Ireland, Irish guard, who dropped in five field goals from long range, kept the Gophers in hot water consistently.

U.S.G.A. Holds Annual Meeting; Needs Larger Enrollment in '34

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (AP)—While the United States Golf Association closed the year 1934 with a balance of $4,619, Herbert Jaques, of Boston, the retiring president, today warned the annual meeting that unless the association's club membership roster is increased during the current year, continued curtailment of activities will be necessary.

Chicago Drops 28 to 24 Game To Marquette

CHICAGO, Jan. 5 (AP)—Marquette scored its second basketball victory of the season over Chicago, and its third in five starts against Big Ten teams tonight, outpointing the Maroons, 28 to 24.

The Hilltoppers took the lead at the start, but the Maroons tied it up at 5-5 in the first five minutes. From there on Marquette pulled away, with Ray Morstadt doing the bulk of the damage. Morstadt dropped in six field goals.

The battle was fought on even terms until shortly after the start of the second half, when Indiana, with Kehrt and Gunning starting the drive, took a lead it never gave up. Fechtman, although outjumped and outscored by his six-foot, four-inch opponent, Bob Riegel, kept the Hoosiers in the running in the first half with four field goals, and added another in the last period.

Riegel scored six field goals and made good on three of his six foul shot attempts to lead both teams with 15 points.

Rupp Proposes Tourney For Leading Fives

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (AP)—Adolph Rupp, basketball coach at the University of Kentucky, today proposed that leading college teams from each section meet in a post-season tournament to decide the national basketball championship.

Rupp, whose Wildcats met New York university at Madison Square tonight, thinks this is the only logical way to decide the title and do away with half dozen annual claims to mythical championships.

"Such a tournament would be an end to conflicting claims to so-called national championships. It would tend to further interest in this sport throughout the country. Furthermore, a more uniform code of rules interpretation, which is sorely needed, would soon be accepted," Rupp said.

Cuts Waistline
Griffith likes everything about Armbrust except his avoirdupois. The fat boy has been shaking off weight all winter and may be down to a normal size by spring.

From Sam Holbrook, who joined the Senators from Chattanooga, Griffith heard high praise of Cohen. Griffith has eight other moundsmen, but some will be scissored off the squad. The eight are Earl Whitehill, who had a pretty good year in 1934; Bobby Burke, who looked good in spots; Monte Weaver, an in-and-outer, and Jack Russell, Walter Stewart, Al Thomas, Alex McColl, and Ed Linke.

McCluskey In Win at 3000 Meters, 8:48

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Jan. 5 (AP)—Joe McCluskey, former Fordham university distance star, inaugurated his 1935 foot racing campaign with a victory tonight as he spread-eagled a large field in the 3,000 meter invitation run in the metropolitan area's opening track meet of the season held under the auspices of the Knights of Columbus in the 106th infantry armory.

"Shufflin'" Joe, after staying back for five furlongs while William Steiner, the marathon runner, and Paul Mundy of the Millrose A.A. alternated at setting the pace, took the lead at the half-way mark and rapidly pulled away. At the finish he was 100 yards in front of Mundy. McCluskey was clocked in 8:48, considerably slower than the world mark for the distance but a brilliant performance for an unbanked track and so early in the season.

Champion Maxie Baer Battles Around; Gains Some Dollars

By BILL CORUM
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 5. (INS)—Maxie Baer, the gay Lothario of the tin ears and heavyweight champion of all this world, was fighting somebody again last night.

It is quite true that the bout in which he was scheduled to appear was a four-round exhibition. It is equally true that General John J. Phelan, recently reappointed chairman of the New York state boxing commission, has been overheard to remark in public:

"He couldn't do that around here." Too Conservative
The general is too, too conservative. What he should have said was: "Nobody can do anything around here."

At least, nobody is doing anything. Any fight fan who has a few bucks left over from Christmas and New Year's, which he might be induced to invest in a couple of fight duets, will tell you that. As has been pointed out in this space before, the gentlemen most concerned are doing more than their share of fighting among themselves. But they seem totally unable to arrange for anybody else to do any fighting for gain.

Cheap Stuff
In a way I agree with Chairman Phelan that four-round exhibitions are pretty cheap stuff for the reigning champion of the world. But they are better than idleness; infinitely better than nothing. The four-round game seems to be the only fight game going at the moment, and if it is a sucker's game, it is also a sucker's as far as Baer is concerned. The other evening he lost Kingfish Levinsky. A fellow who is knocked dead in a four-round exhibition is knocked just as dead as a fellow who is stiffened in the fifteenth heat of a 15 rounder. Provided always that the Home Sweet Home waltz is on the level.

In short, if the Baer-Levinsky thing was a shooting match, and I know of no reason to believe it wasn't, it probably was a better fight at $4 a copy ringside than you would see in the Madison Square Garden bowl next summer at $25 cover charge.

Surely champion Baer is more to be congratulated than are his challengers, who apparently are confining themselves to newspaper action exclusively. Which is to say that all they are doing is to issue statements to the press, some of which are getting into print.

It may be financial necessity that is driving Baer into action in his current "all-American socker tour." But even if his creditors and his baby dolls from here to Tacoma are driving him to it, there is no denying that it is smart business.

Improving
Not only is he picking up a little of this and that as he goes, he is also improving as a fighter and keeping in trim to fight. The modern history of the heavyweight championship has been an oft-repeated story of titleholders who grew fat, lazy, and second rate through inaction.

If Hamas, Laskey, Schmeling and the rest of them continue to sit around bickering with promoters while the Mauling Max stays busy, what a cinch they are making it for him next summer.

In my opinion there is not one formidable challenger in sight.

Baer's Pop Has Ideas Believes Max Sincere In Wish to Fight 2 Men in One Night

OAKLAND, Cal., Jan. 5. (AP)—Ask dad, he knows! So we called Pop Baer. Pop's been around. He has some sound advice to impart to his fighting sons. Of course, like all fathers, he knows all the advice won't be taken.

Pop Baer has his own ideas on the doubleheader against Steve Hamas and Art Lasky that Max proposes. He said:

Not Good Business
"You know Max well and I know him better, and you know he says lots of things he doesn't mean. I have no doubt he is sincere about fighting both Lasky and Hamas in one night, but it doesn't sound like good business. I'd say such a move is foolish."

"Suppose," he continued, "Max, fortunate to win the first fight, had to go to 10 rounds to do it. Ten rounds of fighting might be tougher than Max bargained for; find him pretty well tuckered out for the second bout. It doesn't sound too smart to me."

Pop's List
Max Baer is going to bat this summer in the defense of the championship. He may fight it out again with Primo Carnera, although none may confirm at this writing. Baer is signed to a Madison Square Garden contract which expires in June. The Garden has done little to get an opponent for Baer this summer, unless it is, as we suspect, that Carnera is already signed.

While the contenders are not as thick as flies, Pop Baer would like to see Max go over the following list:
Schmeling, Carnera, Hamas and Lasky.

N. Y. State Commish Says—

NEW YORK, Jan. 5. (INS)—If Max Baer fights any four round exhibitions in New York state they'll have to be against opponents of known ability and his title will be at stake every time he enters the ring.

This ultimatum had been delivered to the heavyweight champion today by the New York state athletic commission. Max can take the ruling or let it alone. There's no appeal from the solon's decision. They made that clear.

The following men were listed as "suitable" opponents for the Livermore larruper regardless of whether the distance is four rounds or 40:
James J. Braddock, Steve Hamas, Max Schmeling, Primo Carnera, Art Lasky and Ray Impellittere.

point lead after Blackmer had opened the scoring for the evening with a free throw on Belmer's foul. Blackmer took an overhead pass from Rosenthal that caught the Bucks off guard to slip in a setup for a 3 to 2 lead that was nipped in the bud by Laybourne's side shot, Ohio State's last for about 13 minutes.

Barko opened Iowa's long scoring spree with a setup shot, and scored a gift attempt before Rosenthal cut under the basket from the side for two points to make the score 8 to 4. Again Rosenthal countered, this time from well out on the floor, before Bobby sank a long one and Blackmer tipped in another basket. Blackmer made one of two attempts down charity lane to whomp the score up to 15 to 4, and a pair of buckets by Rosenthal and Blackmer, shoved the Iowans into a 17 to 4 lead.

At this point Ohio State displayed their longest sustained scoring drive. Smith plunked in a free throw, and Whittlinger and Laybourne broke through the Iowa defense for short attempts that held the Iowans to a 17 to 9 lead at the half.

Rosenthal opened the second half scoring with a free throw on Belmer's foul, but Smith retaliated with a short set shot to make the score 18 to 11. Rosenthal tossed in a basket, quickly followed by two by Blackmer before Wilson, a forward, made good on a setup. Dye followed with a long set shot that was nullified by Barko's setup. Wilson cut loose with a long, high one that plunked through the hoop. Grim, then converted on a charity toss, as did Busch for the Scarlet to make the score 28 to 18 for Iowa.

Rosenthal made good on one of two tries from the free throw circle, Grim cut under the basket, took the ball from Blackmer, and scored an easy setup, and Rosenthal finished Iowa's scoring with a free throw. Laybourne connected on a free throw and Whittlinger looped the ball into the basket from a ways out to end Ohio State's point getting with Iowa leading at the final gun, 32 to 21.

Three New Records

Lenore Kight
Lenore Kight of Homestead, Pa., hailed as one of America's greatest free style swimmers, is snapped in action at Miami, Fla., where she snatched three new national records at an annual aquatic classic. She set up the new marks in the 500-yard, 220-yard and 500-meter events.

CITY'S LEADING PREP SCORERS

"Bingo" Snyder, a 6 foot 5 inch lad from Iowa City high school tops the scorers with 49 points in seven games. Another City high athlete, Alvin Miller, comes second in the list with 45 tallies.

Snyder also leads in field goals with 22. Paul Carrigg of St. Pat's leads in free throws with six. Jerry Pooler and Carrigg have the most fouls called on them with 15 each. The former lad is from City High.

Stagg's Eleven To Play Gaels Tilt Next Fall

STOCKTON, Cal., Jan. 5. (AP)—Coach Amos Alton Stagg will take his College of the Pacific football team into San Francisco for the first time when he meets St. Mary's next Oct. 12 in Kezar stadium, it was announced today. The Stockton team plays the University of Southern California in Los Angeles the week before.

Revolta and Babcock Grab First in Amateur, Pro Meet at Riverside

VICTORIA CLUB, Riverside, Cal., Jan. 5. (AP)—Swinging in the rain over the sodden fairways and slow greens today came John Revolta of Milwaukee and Ed Babcock, Los Angeles, to win the second qualifying round of the Riverside amateur-pro golf tournament with a fine best ball card of 33-33-66, six strokes under par.

Tied for second place today were Henry Bontempo, Springfield, Mass., and D. Nevegal, Los Angeles; and Stanley Kertes and Nick Petropolo, Los Angeles with 68's.

Babcock made good all of his three handicap strokes to help Revolta home in front, getting, with the gift points, half of the six birdies collected by the team as it played in and out of the intermittent showers with a consistently high caliber of golf.

Sidney Wood Seeded No. 1 in Florida Net Tournament

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 5. (AP)—Sidney B. Wood, Jr., of New York, ranked by the United States Lawn Tennis association as 1934's number two player, today received top seeding in the Miami Blitmore championship, in which play begins tomorrow.

Berkeley Bell, also of New York, ranked seventh by the U.S.L.T.A., was seeded number two in 1935's first showing of amateur tennis strength, while the south's "giant-killer," Bryan M. Grant, Jr., of Atlanta, received third seeding.

Racketeers Each Get Cut Lott, Stofen Receive First Tennis Money Of Professional Tour

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 5. (INS)—George Lott, Chicago's gift to the tennis courts of the world, and Lester Stofen, Hollywood's gift to the fanatics of the racket game, today cut themselves their first slice of pie as professionals.

Each Get A Slice
George and Lester put the arm on Promoter Bill O'Brien for a slight piece of that 12 1-2 per cent they are to get of the proceeds of a tour with Bill Tilden and Ellsworth Vines, two former amateur champions who long since saw the error of their ways and turned pro.

The boys will make their first professional appearance in Madison Square Garden next Wednesday and then start on a jaunt that will carry them into 84 towns and most of the states of the union. The newly christened pros believe they will each get $10,000 for their racket swinging in the next four months. Not a bad racket at that.

Veteran Lott
Lott, who has tramped the tennis courts of the world for 10 years, admitted today his reason for forsaking the polite plaudits of the amateurs for the delightful dollars of the pros is the love of woman—one Edith Collinson of Wakefield, Mass.—whom George intends to wed when the bankroll warrants.

Stofen, however, has higher goals. It's question of art with him. The filthy lucre is merely an incident. He wants to be true to his feminine public but he wants it strictly understood it was only the money that induced him to desert the Simon pures and give his lovely admirers a chance to pay the privilege of seeing him in action.

And has Lester a feminine public? Just bend an ear to Mr. O'Brien. "That guy Stofen is the great American lover, I tell yuh."

Popular
"He knows more phone numbers and gets more mash notes than any athlete on earth." The indignant O'Brien threatens to send a special guard on the tour to keep the sweet young things away from Lester. He's that alluring.

Mr. Lott, surprisingly rough and tough hembra for a tennis player, is neither so blond, so tall nor so good-looking as Mr. Stofen, but if he appeals less to the occasionally gentler sex, he carries more appeal for the men.

One Other Shirt
"I've banked tennis balls all over the earth and I've got only my other shirt to show for my efforts," says Mr. Lott. "It was a lot of fun and I've no regrets. The pay was poor but you couldn't beat the hours. Now I'm out to get mine in chunks."

"You know you can't lay up more sugar even on Davis cup tours. In fact, I always finished in the red although I got an allowance of $110 a week exclusive of traveling expenses. Of course, you may say I could have lived on $10 and saved $100 a week but you know how it is—easy come easy go."

Explanation Of "Strange As It Seems"
All children are normally born with a full set of baby teeth, even though those teeth have not yet erupted or come through the gums. They are well formed at birth, except that the root growth is not complete. This growth continues after birth until, and after, the teeth are forced through the gums. The crowns of all teeth are well formed before they appear.

The history of wars of the world is written with uncanny accuracy into the above simple verse of an unknown author. The history of almost any period will show that nations at war will fight themselves into bankruptcy, and that peace generally comes only when the loser's resources have been exhausted. During intervals of peace they rebuild, and with the rebuilding comes national pride. National pride is a highly important factor in the cause of wars. Thus, as the unknown writer observes, "so goes the round."

The common earwig, according to naturalists, is an example of an evolutionary transition from a flying insect to a crawling one. In the distant past it probably flew easily; at some future date it may have no wings at all. This insect, which gets its name from the erroneous belief that it sometimes crawls into human ears, is equipped with wings but it never flies. Observers say that except for perhaps one case in 10,000 the earwig never even unfolds its wings.

Candidate To Uphold "Will Of Majority"

Former Justice of the Peace B. F. Carter, who announced his candidacy yesterday in The Daily Iowan for mayor of Iowa City on the republican ticket, last night declared that he was for municipal ownership as long as it is the will of the majority.

Mr. Carter's statement to The Daily Iowan last night is as follows: "The temperament of the voters now is such that they demand an unequivocal declaration from each candidate where he stands on the so-called 'light question.' I am for municipal ownership. A majority vote declared for it. No officer should rise higher in opinion than his voting constituents. This declaration of municipal ownership is made as sacredly as the one made 10 years ago on law enforcement when I was first elected justice of the peace. You know the result of that declaration.

"As the matter now stands the new mayor will also act as police judge; the voters know my qualification for this work. There are obvious economies in the city hall that should be remedied."

Business In Forward Step

By RADER WINGET
(Associated Press Financial Writer)
Copyright, 1935, by The Associated Press

Business took a confident step last week into the new year and pointed with pride to sustained gains.

Steel and automobile production and general retail trade were undoubtedly the leaders, but electric power production and carloadings declined somewhat less than seasonally.

The week was broken by the New Year's holiday, and many plants were closed for inventory, but the usually dull period was enlivened by numerous contra-seasonal developments sustaining or adding to some previous gains.

Steel production was at 39.2 percent of capacity as estimated last week for the entire country by the American Iron and Steel Institute, the highest point for that usually very quiet week in four years. It was the eleventh consecutive weekly increase and was 4 percentage points above the previous week.

Automobile production was a major spur to steel. Motor orders were reported high enough to hold assembly lines until March. Employment now is estimated 35 per cent over last month and 60 per cent above this period last year. Dealers opened the annual New York show with high hopes of laying the basis for sales records for recent years.

Retail sales dropped last week from the previous week, but less than the same seasonal fall a year ago.

CCC Camp to Stay At Solon for Another Year, Crum Discloses

The civilian conservation corps camp at Solon will be maintained there for another year has been assured the Solon Community club and the Iowa City Chamber of Commerce, according to information disclosed yesterday by D. W. Crum, secretary of the local Chamber of Commerce.

Arrangements have been made by the organizations of both Iowa City and Solon to finance for at least another year the ground upon which the present camp is located. George Gay, John Swamer, and Mr. Crum represented the local group Thursday night at a meeting in Solon where a discussion of the project was held.

Report Nazis Will "Purge" Party Ranks

BERLIN, Jan. 5 (AP)—Lesser lights in the Nazi party were reliably described today as living in fear that they will be eliminated from the party rolls before the middle of April.

"The cleansing has already started," a non-German declared today, "although in a different way from the blood purge of June 30.

"Some have already been ousted, but the big cleanup is expected in many party circles, including the ranks of the storm troopers, within three months.

"Prussian Premier Hermann Wilhelm Goering recently asserted publicly that there won't be another June 30, so a blood purge is not to be expected."

Other rumors heard around the Schutz Staffel building, the huge barracks near Berlin, included one that Reichminister Goering's reputed salary of 92,000 marks a month (about $36,800) was causing considerable grumbling in the Nazi ranks.

State Checker Tournery Will Start Feb. 20

Beginning Feb. 20, and possibly continuing for four days, the state checker tournament, expected to draw players from all sections of the state, will be held either in the American Legion building or the Jefferson hotel.

The date for tournament, sponsored by the Octagon Chess and Checker club, was definitely fixed by an announcement made yesterday by D. W. Crum, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

In honor of the visiting players, a banquet will be given on one of the nights of the tournament.

Jacksons Leave For National Lamp Show

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd E. Jackson will leave Iowa City today for Chicago where they will attend the national lamp show at the Merchandise Mart.

Mr. Jackson said yesterday that indications pointed toward the greatest showing in years. George F. Little's New York lamp show and the national furnishings show will both be presented in Chicago at the same time.

"The public is becoming more and more light conscious," commented Mr. Jackson, "and we like to go direct to the national show to find the very latest and newest trends in lamp styles."

High Salaries Lure Hollywood Stars to England

Threatening to replace Hollywood as the movie capital of the world, English movie producers are expanding the film industry in that country by drawing many of the outstanding American stars to appear in British movies with a lure of big salaries. Among the stars who have left Hollywood for lucrative bits in English films are Charles Laughton, George Arliss, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Marian Marsh, Anna May Wong and Fay Wray. In most cases, the stars are paid much more than they receive in Hollywood, and film companies even pay their income taxes as a further inducement.

HOLLYWOOD—For years Hollywood has been the capital of the movie industry. And for years it has been the paradise of fame-seeking actors and the mint for gold-seeking stars. Never has it faced any serious inroads upon its exalted position.

But now it has some real competition. Day by day England is luring Hollywood know that it is a growing factor to reckon with in the matter of supremacy in the land of celluloid makebelieve.

While the British government has found it necessary to renege on its war debt payments to the United States, English film companies apparently are having no difficulty in finding money to expand the movie business in the British Isles.

With overflowing money bags, British cinema executives are turning out expensive film plays that rival Hollywood's best in production, direction and acting. And these same money bags are enticing some of the most outstanding American screen stars to parade before English cameras.

England, prior to 1933, had a place of little consequence in the film world. Since then, however, British firms have changed their production tactics. They have, as a matter of fact, adopted most of the practices which brought Hollywood to the peak position it holds in the screen industry.

British producers soon came to the conclusion that the best way to build up their film business would be to invade the world market—something Hollywood has been doing for years. Aided by their bankers, they began to jingle money bags as a lure.

The jingle, needless to say, was heard in loud tones in this village, where most of the world's best actors and actresses have been attracted in the search for fame and fortune. So began a film migration of a different kind—from Hollywood, instead of to Hollywood.

Laughton Among First

Over went Charles Laughton, a native of England, as one of the first big names to report for work in an English studio. He made the "Private Life of Henry VIII," which was hailed far and wide in the United States. On the strength of his performance in that picture, Laughton was awarded the 1933 acting trophy by the Academy of Motion Picture Art and Sciences. He has returned here to continue his career.

George Arliss, also an English native, who, like Laughton, rose to film heights in this country, trekked back to England last summer for one picture, "The Iron Duke." He is going back next summer for another. For his first English picture Arliss was paid $50,000 a week for three weeks' work.

The money inducement also was too great for Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., to resist. He left Hollywood cold and went to England to make "Catherine the Great" at a salary double that he had been drawing here. After returning to Hollywood for one picture, he went back to star in a legitimate stage production with his fiancée, Gertrude Lawrence.

Young Doug's father, for years an outstanding star in this country, also has found British films very lucrative. He received $10,000 a week plus a large interest in the picture for making "The Private Life of Don Juan."

Leslie Howard, another Englishman who reached stardom in the U. S., likewise was smitten by the English gold bug. He made $150,000 for one picture. Charles Farrell was induced to go over, and was paid $75,000 for his trouble and his work in one film. For the same reason, David Manners skipped to England to make "Contraband." William Gargan also went over, as did Phillips Holmes, Adrienne Ames and other lesser lights.

Fay Wray recently landed in England to play the lead in a new film at twice the salary she was receiving back home. And next spring

Court Denies Tucker Request

A motion of Frew A. Tucker to dissolve the temporary injunction issued Nov. 16, restraining him from erecting frises, poles, or obstructions on his property adjacent to the Iowa City municipal airport, was overruled yesterday by Judge Harold D. Evans, of the district court.

By this ruling, the temporary injunction still holds until the case has been tried. The temporary injunction, upon petition of United Air Lines and the city of Iowa City, was granted by Judge James P. Gaffney of the district court.

A petition for an injunction to restrain aircraft from flying lower than 50 feet over his property, filed by Tucker, is pending in court.

Chats with your gas man

Much Safer

- "Is it true that Natural Gas is not poisonous?" is the question frequently asked us.
- Yes it is true that the new gas contains no poison whatsoever, and this fact of course makes it much safer than the present gas for our use. Many accidental deaths may be prevented annually by the substitution of Natural for manufactured gas.
- The artificial product now served to customers in Iowa City contains about 30% carbon monoxide, a deadly poison as everybody knows. THERE IS NO CARBON MONOXIDE IN THE NEW NATURAL GAS. It is composed largely of methane and ethane, rich hydrocarbons, together with small percentages of nitrogen, hydrogen, carbon dioxide and luminants.
- However, although there is no carbon monoxide in the new Natural Gas, small amounts may be formed through incomplete combustion just as with manufactured gas.
- There will be no incomplete combustion, of course, when the burner has been properly adjusted by the company's trained mechanics. This service will be furnished free of charge to the customer.
- If there is anything else you would like to know about Natural Gas, as for instance—how much lower your gas bill will be with the new fuel—drop in at the office at your convenience and have a chat with us about it.

HETCH HETCHY RESERVOIR SERVES SAN FRANCISCO

This photo shows the O'Shaughnessy dam of the Hetch Hetchy reservoir project at Hetch Hetchy, Cal., which recently was completed at a cost of $100,000,000. The system, which serves San Francisco, carries water from the great storage reservoirs in the Sierra Nevada mountains, 167 miles through a series of tunnels and pipe lines to the city's local reservoirs.
