Nollen Challenges Graduates To Turn Minds to Building Up Of Spirit, Community Pride

105 Get Degrees In Mid-Year Exercises At Union Last Night Challenging 105 graduates to devote their university trained minds to the building up of public spirit and community pride, John S. Nollen, president of Grinnell college, spoke at the mid-year Convocation exercises last night at Iowa Union. "It is high time that the best intelligence and morality of the nation be mobilized in the fight against ancient evils and stupidities, and for the conquest of our rightful communal heritage," he declared. "In throwing out his challenge to you, new graduates of this university, I am paying you the compliment of assuming that you are better than your fathers. You are yet far less involved than they in the bad old habits of thought and action, the 'cultural lag' that compels us to live in a dead past rather than toward a living future," he said. The cure for the prevalent lack of public pride and political interest lies "in an honest and effective revival of the principle of truly representative government that was basic in the establishment of our American democracy," continued President Nollen.

Aristocracy He pointed out that the "leaders of our republic were an aristocracy of brains, character, and pioneering courage. It is impossible for the republic that he built to endure long without the service of a similar aristocracy of 'forward-looking intelligence and patriotism.'" "The training of such a serviceable aristocracy is a primary responsibility of our schools, colleges and universities," he declared. From the fact that tomorrow's leaders are now in school or just graduated, the American college and university have a "peculiarly important function in leading the nation toward a modern solution of its problems," he said.

Not Most Important Although a formal education trains a person to fulfill a particular position in the financial world, professional responsibility is not the most important thing for which a university fits its graduates.

President Nollen emphasized the fact that it is important that each graduate turn not his back upon what he has learned about the technique of communal relationships. It is the present disease of the country that many trained minds consider only the profession for which they have been trained and disregard the responsibility that that training has placed upon them to build up communal relationships.

"Cultural Battle-Field" "The whole world today is a cultural battle-field. There is war, relentless war, between democracy and autocracy, between capitalism and socialism, between nationalism and international organization, between fascism and communism, between laissez-faire and experimentation, between individual caprice and government control, between capital and labor, between Christianity and paganism," he added.

Thus the question of whether the world can survive these bitter conflicts is the question of whether the world has enough intelligence to adapt itself to new conditions. And as the world is made up of individuals, it is the responsibility of each individual to contribute all his intelligence to adjusting the body politic.

Gilmore Gives Degrees Therefore to university graduates comes the challenge "to marshal the forces of intelligence and goodwill to make your own idealism and devotion effective, in order that we may march forward triumphantly into the new day," President Nollen concluded.

Work relief projects which come to a halt Feb. 14 leave 470 Johnson county families solely on county relief, unless Congress enacts legislation to again set up a work relief program. The cost of work relief projects is more than $15,000 per month. The county now pays 30 per cent of the burden. FERA projects include university tunnel and levee, Lake MacBride state park, quarry, and the mattress factory.

Cooper's Plea For Change Of Venue Refused

DES MOINES, Feb. 5 (AP)—The supreme court today ruled that Chairman Harold M. Cooper of the Iowa liquor commission, charged with violating the liquor control act, must stand trial Monday in Linn county district court at Cedar Rapids. The court thus upheld the action of District Judge H. C. Ring in overruling Cooper's motion for a change of venue to another judicial district. Application of Cooper's attorneys for a writ of certiorari to review Judge Ring's ruling, made today at Cedar Rapids, was denied by the court, which at the same time refused to order stay of the trial.

Senate Prepares To Consider Investigation

DES MOINES, Feb. 5 (AP)—The way was cleared for senate consideration of the proposed investigation of the liquor control law and its administration when the senate judiciary committee agreed today on its report on two resolutions it had received. The committee, headed by Sen. M. X. Geske (D) of McGregor, voted to recommend for amendment and passage a senate sponsored resolution and to return without recommendation a resolution which had been adopted by the house.

Retain Lump Sum Of Relief Measure, But Reduce Powers

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—Led by Carter Glass, the senate appropriations committee democrats today agreed to amend the bill which would give President Roosevelt power never before possessed by a peace time executive.

Net Liquor Income Reaches $556,782

DES MOINES, Feb. 5 (AP)—Net income of the state liquor system from its establishment March 8 to Dec. 31 totaled $556,782.12, a statement of income and expenses filed by the liquor control commission with the state auditor showed today. The figure represented the total after deduction from the gross profit on liquor sales of the total operating expenses and other deductions, and the addition of other incomes including receipts from permit sales. Gross profit on liquor sales was placed at $813,198.73, retail liquor sales totaled $2,486,117.07 from which was deducted $6,820.85 in sales refunds and price markdowns, to place the net liquor sales at $2,479,296.22. The gross profit was arrived at by deducting $1,666,097.49 the cost of liquor sold.

Warrant Sale Probe Passes

DES MOINES, Feb. 5 (AP)—A house sponsored investigation of all warrant sales since Jan. 1, 1935 moved over to the senate tonight after receiving three unanimously affirmative votes from the lower branch.

House Okays Move To Investigate All Sales Since 1925

DES MOINES, Feb. 5 (AP)—A house sponsored investigation of all warrant sales since Jan. 1, 1935 moved over to the senate tonight after receiving three unanimously affirmative votes from the lower branch. The inquiry, originating from a resolution offered by three members, passed the house after spirited debate which drew the executive council, board of education and board of control into the probe. The approval resolution, as amended and substituted, provides for a committee of six members, three from the senate and three from the house to look into the sale of all state warrants since 1925. The committee would consist of four democrats and two republicans. Discussion of the proposal drew mention of the recent sale of $3,500,000 sinking fund anticipatory warrants by State Treasurer Leo J. Wegman to the Carleton D. Beh company of Des Moines and the threatened split in the executive council on the authorization for the sale.

"Not Proper," Official Says DES MOINES. (AP)—Leslie E. Francis, counsel for the Iowa liquor control commission, asserted last night he did not "believe it proper" for the commission to give out any information about its transactions in view of the pending legislative investigation of the commission.

Banking Bill Faces Battle

Me a sure Proposes Wide Expansion Of Reserve Power WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—Only partially endorsed by the administration, and already a subject of controversy, the treasury's bill proposing a wide expansion of federal reserve board powers today appeared headed into one of the hottest of congressional fights.

The significant measure, interpreted today by Chairman Fletcher (D. Fla.) of the senate banking committee as giving the administration a tighter grasp upon the issuance of currency and the ups and downs of credit supply, became a vehicle of some disagreement even before it was formally introduced. Nor were matters quieted when a hint was dropped tonight that a move might be made to steer the legislation around the senate subcommittee headed by Carter Glass (D. Va.), conservative foe of the measure who already was irritated by the circumstances of its introduction. Fletcher strongly indicated that this might be done but Glass, after a meeting with the banking committee chairman, asserted he had "not heard of any such thing" and added that he did not believe it was true.

Germany Gets Ultimatum

Britain Warns Of Air Alliance; Germany Must Agree To Pact LONDON, Feb. 5 (AP)—Great Britain told the world today that Germany's refusal to enter the new Anglo-French peace framework will mean her isolation by defensive air alliances. The alternative facing the Reichsruehr—the most critical test in spectacular foreign policies—came faced since he and his Nazis came to power two years ago—has been communicated to all the world's interested powers, among them the United States.

Birth Control Bill Voted Down by House Judiciary Committee

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—Birth control crusaders, bethel planning a "birth control comes of age" dinner for February 12, today had their appetites and legislative hopes for this season dashed by a 15 to 8 vote against the Pierce bill in the house judiciary committee. Margaret Sanger, for more than two decades the birth control leader, attributed the defeat to "the same influences that killed the world court."

Witness Says He Saw Fisch At Cemetery

Hauptmann Trial AT A GLANCE Former cabaret "host" says he saw Isador Fisch at St. Raymond's cemetery in Bronx night Dr. J. F. Condon handed $50,000 ransom money over hedge. Defense counsel says it will attempt to prove Isador Fisch tried to peddle bundles of ransom cash. Taxi cab driver says he saw four men near cemetery night ransom was paid. Defense attacks "Jafsie's" reputation. Hauptmann friends offer more alibi testimony.

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Feb. 5 (AP)—A Brooklyn restaurant cashier and former cabaret "host" told the jury in the Bruno Richard Hauptmann trial today that while keeping a tryst in a darkened automobile April 2, 1932, he saw Isador Fisch, Hauptmann's furrier friend, jump from the wall of St. Raymond's cemetery in the Bronx. That is where Dr. J. F. Condon paid the $50,000 Lindbergh ransom money.

Clings to Story

Vague later on in identifications of the surroundings and unwilling to name the girl in the tryst, now dead, Benjamin Heier clung to his story that he flicked his automobile lights on and off and that in their glare he saw for about five or six seconds the man the defense says got the Lindbergh ransom cash. Earlier in the day, Edward J. Reilly, chief of the defense counsel, attempted to show through a woman witness that Fisch had attempted to peddle bundles which may have held ransom notes.

Frank, Aides To Go in Big AAA Shakeup

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—An unexpected shake-up at the agricultural adjustment administration today resulted in the virtual dismissal of Jerome Frank, AAA counsel, and four subordinate officials. The changes were announced as a reorganization and no mention was made of Frank, or the others slated to go. The new alignment, however, represents a head-on collision between Chester Davis, farm administrator representing a conservative viewpoint, and Frank, identified among the group of original "brain trusters."

Ship Building Firm Studied

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—A shipbuilding firm that sought presidential, diplomatic and gubernatorial pressure to keep down competition was described today to the senate munitions committee. Clinton L. Bardo, bulky, white-haired former president of the New York shipbuilding corporation, identified for the committee a cluster of letters he had written to Governor A. Harry Moore of New Jersey, now United States senator. Moore was described as having communicated with President Roosevelt and Postmaster General Farley to block a $35,000,000 loan requested by Gulf Industries, headed by Laurence R. Wilder, to fit it for engaging in naval shipbuilding at Pensacola, Fla.

Senate Committee Hears of Moves To Stop Competition

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—It was the committee's inquiry into the company's effort to secure shipbuilding contracts in Brazil that brought evidence concerning an attempt to have Ambassador Hugh Gibson use his influence to bring American cruisers into the harbor of Rio de Janeiro as drummer's samples. The same testimony brought sharp reprimand of the witness by a committee member, Senator Clark (D-Mo.).

Bills to Provide Regulation By Government, Stiff Taxes to Go To Both Congressional Houses

Identical Measures To Be Presented In Senate, House Today WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—Legislation designed to eliminate public utility holding companies within five years was agreed upon tentatively late today at a White House conference. The accord was reached only after a heated session between advocates of federal regulation and proponents of a levy that eventually would tax holding companies out of existence. Bills to Be Presented Although a division of opinion exists in administration and congressional circles on the subject, identical bills to place utility holding companies under federal regulation will be introduced in the senate and House tomorrow. Chairman Rayburn (D-Tex.) of the house interstate commerce committee and Chairman Wheeler (D-Mont.) of the senate interstate commerce committee, will bring forward the measures. Measures Divided Final details of the measures are to be worked out tomorrow. Meanwhile, advocates of a tax on holding companies are planning to have a separate bill introduced to impose a levy to bring in revenue to the treasury. The tax rate, however, has not been decided upon. The proposed measures are divided into two titles. The first provides for regulation of holding companies, particularly with reference to the investors and the eradication of so-called abuses practices that effect consumers. Under the second title, companies operating in interstate commerce would be brought under closer supervision of the federal power commission.

Reorganizing Move Results in Virtual Dismissal of Counsel

Georgia House Cheers Huey

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 5 (AP)—Senator Huey P. Long in characteristic fashion described his share-wealth program today to a cheering audience which filled the chamber of the state house of representatives. Before he spoke on invitation of the Georgia house, two state senators sent an apologetic telegram to President Roosevelt describing the Louisiana "kingfish" as "the greatest demagogue of all times." Sometimes laughing, sometimes scowling as he screamed forth his message, the senator spoke for more than an hour and announced he would introduce his plan in the senate "in a few days."

30 Women Attend First Aid Session

Iowa City's adult first aid school opened last night with 30 women attending the initial session in the city council chambers. More than 25 men are expected to be present at the first meeting of the men's division tonight. Fire Chief Herman Amish, first aid director for the local Red Cross, said last night.

Dr. E. W. Paulus described the construction of the human body and explained the need for first aid knowledge. There were 99,000 accidental deaths in the United States during 1934, and 35,000 of these resulted from automobile accidents. Many of these lives might have been saved by correctly administered first aid, Dr. Paulus explained.

Roy Tunwall and C. I. Conover demonstrated bandages and fundamentals of emergency treatment.

The standard course being conducted this year will consist of 10 lessons. After the course is completed, members of the class will take the examination for an American Red Cross first aid certificate.

The women's class will meet each Tuesday at 8 p.m. and the men's class will convene Wednesdays at 7 p.m.

Bucket Brigade Of Students Puts Out Rooming House Fire

Firemen were called to put out a blaze in a rooming house at 128 E. Bloomington street last night, but the fire had been extinguished by a waste paper basket brigade formed by students living in the house.

George Teyro, A4 of Hopkins, Minn., lost a prize collection of ties, and Lloyd Rutenbeck, A2 of Lost Nation, a set of text books.

There was no one in the room at the time, but the fire is thought to have started from defective wiring.

The house is owned by J. H. Donohue, local mortician.

About 22 students live in the house.

Convocation officials of the evening were Prof. Basil F. Shambaugh, master of ceremonies; Prof. Charles A. Hawley, university chaplain; Prof. Vance M. Morton and Prof. Harry G. Barnes, university marshalls; and Prof. Frederic G. Higbee, director of Convocations.

Orchestra Plays
The university symphony orchestra, under the direction of Prof. Frank Estes Kendrick of the music department, played the processional and the recessional and the andante from the "Third Symphony," by Brahms.

Prior to the ceremony, the graduates were guests of the university at a dinner in Iowa Union. The affair was addressed by President Gilmore who stressed that a modern university offers an increasing amount of diversified knowledge.

Need Selective Minds
"There is so much to be seen that there is danger that nothing will be seen clearly; that only blurred and confused pictures will be obtained," he said. He pointed out the need for the student to acquire a selective and discriminating mind in his choice of subject matter.

"The world is in sore need of minds that can come to a focus and see some things clear and straight," he concluded.

Guests At Dinner
Guests at the graduates dinner included President and Mrs. Gilmore, President and Mrs. Nollen, Dean and Mrs. Carl E. Seashore, Dean Chester A. Phillips, Dean Wilber J. Teeters, Prof. Rollin M. WITNESS

Says Fisch Seen At Ransom Cemetery

he must have his witnesses in court. During the day more friends of Hauptmann came to the stand to present testimony contradicting that of a Greenwich Village theater cashier. She said Hauptmann was the man who passed a ransom bill at her cage the night of Nov. 26, 1933. That was the night a birthday party was held at the Hauptmann home for the defendant.

Dr. Condon's reputation was attacked in questions aimed at John E. Seykora, a department of justice inspector, but the inspector upheld "Jasfies" character by his testimony.

Swears He Saw Fisch

Heier swore in the courtroom that he sat in a parked automobile a hundred feet or so from where Col. Charles A. Lindbergh was waiting outside St. Raymond's cemetery, on the night of April 2, 1932, and saw Fisch jump from the cemetery wall.

His testimony made it appear likely the state would call Colonel Lindbergh as a rebuttal witness to refute the story a car was parked outside the cemetery on the night Dr. Condon passed the $50,000 ransom to a man the state contends was Hauptmann himself. Neither Lindbergh nor Condon mentioned a parked automobile when they testified.

Sat With Girl

The witness, young, self-possessed, describing himself as a writer, now working as a cashier, said he sat in his automobile near the gate of St. Raymond's for two hours with a girl, who, he said, died soon afterwards.

He told his story in a straight forward manner, but in cross-examination by Attorney General David T. Wilentz various inaccuracies cropped up as Heier strove to remember details of his physical surroundings.

He said the incident was called to mind in a letter from the girl after the news of the payment of the ransom was made public. Then, he said, he forgot it, and it was brought to mind again after Hauptmann's arrest when he saw a picture of Fisch in the paper.

Vague In Answers

Heier was vague in many of his answers to Wilentz's rigorous examination. He hesitated about revealing the name of the girl. He admitted to a conviction on a charge which was not brought out in examination.

He was vague, too, when he tried to describe the street condition where he parked, the street lights and the state of the cemetery wall near the spot where Lindbergh has testified he heard a voice, which he identified as Hauptmann's calling "Hey, Doctor!"

Lindbergh spent his twenty-fifth day in court, listening to the testimony with no greater show of emotion than he has evinced since the beginning. He watched Heier intently, taking note of every word.

24 Years Old

Heier, who said he now worked at a Manhattan restaurant, said he is 24 years old. On the night of April 2, he testified, he called for a young lady in the Bronx and took her for a ride in his automobile about 7:30 or 8 o'clock.

Q. The young lady is dead now, isn't she? A. She is.

Q. After this incident of April 2nd, 1932, did the young lady marry somebody else? A. She did.

Q. And is it a desire to protect her name and memory that you don't care to give her name? A. Exactly.

Q. And some time that evening did you get across the street from St. Raymond's cemetery? A. It is not exactly across the street; it is alongside of it.

"That Is Right"

Q. And you believe you were parked opposite the cemetery wall? A. That is right.

Q. And about how long were you there? A. About two hours altogether.

Q. Will you tell us now, without any leading, what transpired at one of the times you turned your lights on. A. I was—the headlights weren't on—I was turning them on and off absent-mindedly, at least sort of, and as the light hit the wall there, the light was hitting the wall when it was on, and it was darkness when it was off. Suddenly, some—well, rather, a man hit the sidewalk as if he had jumped.

Q. From where? A. From the fence.

"Between 9:30 and 10:30"

Q. Of St. Raymond's cemetery? A. Of St. Raymond's cemetery.

Q. About what time of the night was that? A. I don't know; about between 9:30 and 10:30, maybe. We had been there.

Q. You didn't look at your watch, did you? A. I had no watch.

Q. Now, what did that man do in relation to your car? A. He took about four or five steps toward it and then stopped.

Q. And in relation to the light,

All The Good Books Are Yours All The Time At

was the light good or bad? A. Very good.

Q. Could you see the man? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you get a look at his face? A. Yes, sir.

"No, Sir"

Q. For how long a time would you say that face was under your observation? A. Well, the time he took the four steps and about five or six seconds after that.

Q. You did not know that man before that night? A. No, sir.

Q. When did you next see that man or a resemblance of that man? A. In the newspapers.

Q. When? A. When the trial started.

ed.

Q. And the picture that you saw in the newspaper was identified by what name? A. Isador Fisch.

Early in May of 1932, Heier testified, he received a letter from the young lady who had kept the tryat with him, and the letter recalled the incident.

Letter Reminded Him

There were automobiles coming and going all the time in the vicinity, Heier said, but he did not see the man in the automobile. "We saw several people walk by," he said. He declared he came forward as a witness because the letter had reminded him of the night.

The attorney general switched to Heier's motives for entering the case as a witness. Heier said he had visited Reilly's office of his own volition.

Q. You were interested in the case because in addition to ordinary interest, you had the interest because you had been at St. Raymond's cemetery on April the 2nd. A. I had forgotten all about that incident.

"Did You Forget?"

Q. Did you forget about it in 1932, when the newspapers related finally that $50,000 had been paid at St. Raymond's cemetery on the night of April the 2nd 1932? A. No, sir. I remember that.

Q. So that some time in May, we will say, 1932, when you realized from the newspapers that you had been at or near the scene where the $50,000 had been paid, you realized then, in May, 1932, and again in June, 1932, that you had been near the cemetery? A. Yes, I was.

Q. Now, having known it at that time did you go to the police and say "I was at St. Raymond's cemetery on the night of April the 2nd, 1932"? A. No, sir.

"Nothing For Me"

Q. Did you go in May, 1932, and tell them about it? A. I never went.

Q. Why not? A. It was nothing for me to tell.

there, that you had seen his face, nothing to tell? A. Nothing to tell.

Q. Why didn't you tell them that?

A. I was grieved over something.

Heier refused to disclose the name of the girl he was with until Wilentz appealed to Justice Trenchard.

"Nobody else had been spared that has testified," Wilentz said.

Girl Died in 1932

Heier then said her name was Judy Schwartz and that she lived with her parents in the Bronx. She died in August 1932.

Wilentz continued his questioning about the man at the cemetery and had Heier repeat the exact location of his parked car and his statement he did not see any other car nearby.

Heier reiterated he saw several other persons nearby but only one jumped from the wall.

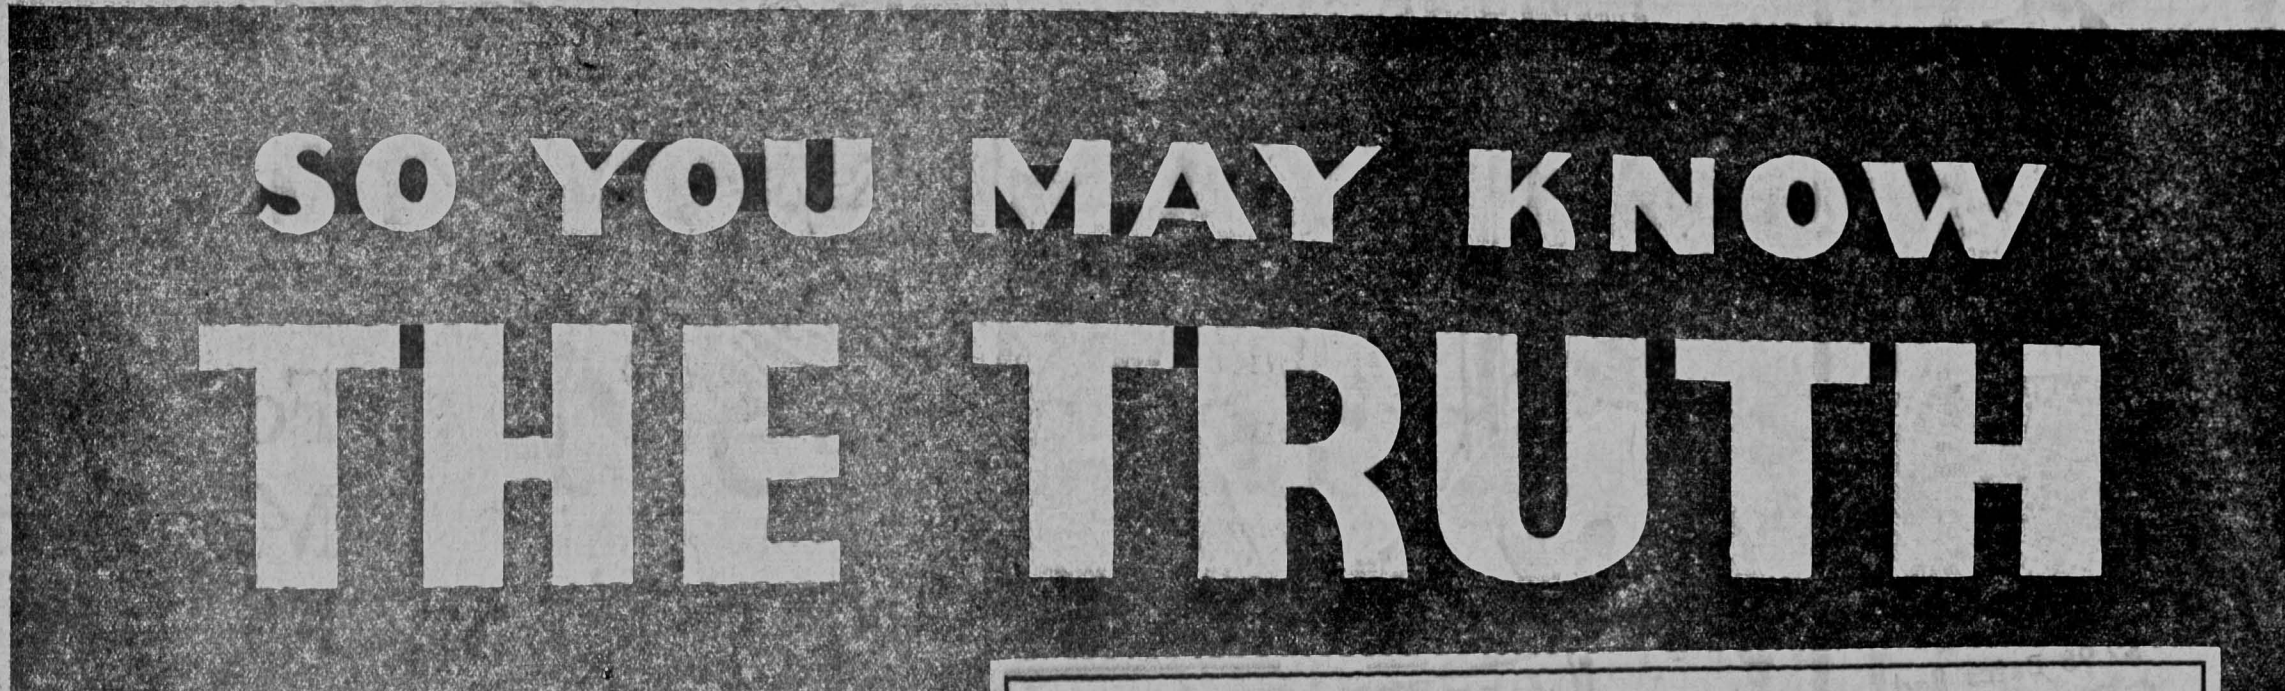

Q. While you were at the cemetery did you hear anyone yell "Hey, Doktor?"

A. I did not.

Q. Hear anybody holler "Doktor?"

A. No, sir.

BITS ABOUT SPORTS

by Jack Gurwell

SOME YEARS ago a giant of a fellow called "Dutch" Dehnert who played basketball with the original New York Celtics started something the consequences of which have caused a mighty roar of discussion to echo down the halls where cage officials and coaches gather to make talk about the latest trends in their favorite winter sport. That something was the pivot play.

In effect it is concerned with the practice of tall centers or forwards to stand, back to the basket, take a pass from a teammate, whirl around and up, and slip the ball through the magic circle—or try to. Well, you say, that's basketball. Why the roar? The roar comes because coaches, some of them, are in arms against the pivot play and would like to see it modified or thrown out of the game.

THEIR OBJECTIONS are based on the fact that guards have a tough time handling the pivot man on the play without resorting to rough tactics of hacking and blocking. So, they argue. Here in the midwest and in the south the pivot play, so they argue, here in the east and west, however, it is little used. The rub comes when hard feeling arouses its ugly head in inter-sectional games.

GUARDS UNACUSTOMED to the pivot play become exasperated by the annoyance of its continued success. Efforts to stop scoring by that method soon degenerate into a rough house and the howl begins. All sorts of suggestions have been made by various coaches to alleviate a situation which, if it continues in the present vein, will do the game of basketball no good.

The circulation rooms of The Daily Iowan took on a festive hue again last night, with more boys than were expected weighing in for the preliminaries tonight and tomorrow. One red headed fighter, however, came only to withdraw. Charles Morgan of Iowa City, rated pretty good according to workout performances, dropped a glass beaker across his hand in chemistry lab and it took four stitches to close the wound. If the doctor had permitted, Morgan would have weighed in to fight anyway.

COACH BOB Rush was on hand to pour over the entry list last night when pairings were made for the preliminaries. Rush opined the caliber of this year's boxers was higher than last, in that they were in better condition. For the last month, Golden Gloves worked out in the gym at the fieldhouse, and should be in shape for plenty of action tonight. Although matches will be run off as quickly as possible, the fights still will take about three hours an evening.

Armbruster Drives Swimmers Through Hard Practice

Varsity swimmers were put through a lengthy workout yesterday as Coach Dave Armbruster planned for the opening conference meet of the season with the undefeated Minnesota Gophers Saturday night at the fieldhouse. With examinations out of the way and all men eligible, heavy drills will be on tap daily until the Big Ten championships at Illinois March 25.

Undeclared

The Gophers, having trounced Minneapolis Y. M. C. A., Gustavus Adolphus and Carleton by huge margins, will provide strong opposition for the Hawkeyes, who, in turn, will be anxious to repeat last year's 43 to 36 win at Minneapolis.

Niels Thorps, serving his fourteenth year as Norse mentor, will bring a group of seven lettermen and a number of promising sophomores led by Capt. Wesley Webb who swims the back stroke and sprints.

Crack Sophomore Diver

Included on the squad are Auston Spurling and Dick Pfiel in the dashes, John Beard, Nyland Johnson and Walt Gjelhaug in the distances, Gordon Bruce in the breast stroke, and Bill Ferris in the dives. Illness prevented Ferris from competing in the last two Gopher meets, but the crack sophomore should be ready to give Bill Busby a fight Saturday night. Although the Midwestern A.A.U. championships pointed out Hawkeye strength, it also showed a number of weak spots, especially in the shorter races and Coach Armbruster will devote much time this week in building up these departments.

Iowa Cagers Prepare For Trip on Road

Appear Effective Against Frosh Five; Rosenthal Injured

In preparation for a tough and crucial road trip this week end when the Hawks face Ohio State Saturday and Indiana Monday Coach Rollie Williams yesterday drove the Old Gold cagers through a long scrimmage in the fieldhouse. Stressing offense, the Iowa mentor worked on a fast breaking type of attack, on which he believes will be especially successful against the zone defense employed by the Buckeyes.

Rosy Out

Sid Rosenthal, pony forward who injured a leg in the rough and tumble contest against the Minnesota Gophers here Saturday and since spent several days in the hospital, did not participate in the scrimmage yesterday. Physicians report-

Fast Break

Timing of the fast breaking attack occupied the Hawks during the drill. The team showed the benefit of the opportunity to practice regularly with all men on hand, a situation that has not prevailed since final semester examinations intervened on the daily sessions. With Ivan Blackmer as usual at center, Johnny Barko and Fred Schwartz at forwards, and John Grim and Al Bobby at guards, the Iowa varsity looked effective against a crack freshman lineup, driving through for many short shots.

Buckeyes Stronger

It will be a greatly improved Buckeye aggregation that the Hawks will meet Saturday night. After dropping their opening conference

Hawk Track Tryouts

Held in Fieldhouse For Grinnell Meet Here Saturday

Tryouts last night in most of the track and field events practically determined the Hawkeye indoor track team which will meet Grinnell here Saturday afternoon. Final selections will be made this afternoon for pole vault, broad jump and the weights.

In the 60 yard high hurdles Cretz-meyer and Moulton were clocked with the best times. The low hurdles had Owen, Moulton and Smith finishing in a close race. Schmidt, a freshman, turned in the best time in the mile run with 4:41, while Hass and Wisner led the array of varsity runners.

Tom McElhinney, M. H. Morissey, R. K. Brandt and John Lindemeyer tied in the high jump tryout. Dooley, Garrison and Owens led the flock of sprinters in the 60 yard dash, the best time being 6.4. In the 140 yard run, Phillips was the winner in :50, with Skinner and Dooley tying for second.

James Lyle, another freshman competing in the tryouts, took the half mile in 1:57.7. Paul Nelson was the first one of the varsity to finish. In several of the track events, freshmen turned in impressive performances. Lyle, Schmidt and Grosser are all freshmen who finished first.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—Illinois and Notre Dame resumed basketball relations after eight years last night with the fighting Illini squeezing out a one-point, 27 to 26, victory in the last minute of play.

No Time For Items Now--

This thing hit us so unexpectedly that we're still groggy, but we know one thing—if we're going to have to sell three months supply of clothing and furnishings in a month, we're going to have to cut prices drastically. We're starting Monday night to go thru stocks with a fine-comb. Every piece of merchandise in the store will be marked to a lower price. Our plan is to start the sale with reductions of 10% on all brand-new clothing and furnishings, and cut prices on all other goods from 20% to 50%. With good clothing hard to get and prices rising, we believe that a man who buys at this sale will save as much as half his spring clothing bill as compared with prices he would be asked next April or May.

By DON ANDERSON

Hitting a tremendous scoring pace during the initial half of their game with Immaculate Conception of Cedar Rapids last night at City high gym, the St. Mary's Ramblers coasted through the final stages to win pulling away, 33 to 19.

Captain Belger was the spark plug of the Rambler attack, which piled up a 22 to 14 lead at the intermission. He streaked through the opposing defense consistently, to swish the netting five times in eight attempts.

Check Invaders

Their lead threatened in the third period when the towering Wolfe began connecting, the Marianettes tightened and held the invading cagers to a single goal in the final stanza.

Belger's basket was nullified by O'Toole. But Consumus and Belger with two more buckets gave the Ramblers an 8 to 4 lead at the quarter.

With the opening of the second period Belger, Adrian and Consumus poured in baskets from all angles of the floor to establish a 20 to 4 advantage. Immaculate Conception finally broke the ice when Wolfe converted on Consumus' foul.

Hold Halftime Lead

Schnoebelen's free throw and O'Toole's long shot left the Parlor City five on the short end of a 22 to 8 halftime count.

During the third quarter the invaders determinedly fought back to draw up to a 15 to 25 and then a 17 to 27 score as the gun ended the period.

In the final period, baskets by Belger and Keller, with free throws by Stork and Lumsden more than off set Green's basket for the losers.

With the game in the bag Coach Francis Suplee substituted freely, but the seconds seemed to function as well as the first team had.

Marianettes Triumph

For the locals Belger and Adrian, with their driving offensive tactics, were easily outstanding. O'Toole and Schnoebelen took all the honors for the Immaculate Conception quintet.

In a curtain raiser, the St. Mary's grade school outfit romped over the Cub Scouts, 22 to 14. During the first

WILL REFEREE GOLDEN GLOVES

Bob Rush, university boxing coach, will again take up the role of referee in The Daily Iowan's Golden Gloves tournament, preliminaries of which are tonight and tomorrow night in the American Legion building. As Cyclone Tommy Thompson, Rush won the Pacific coast welterweight championship a few years ago. The popular professor of fisticuffs was largely instrumental in organizing the first Golden Gloves bouts last year, and came through with the same good work this year.

Oklahoma A. and M. Board Recommends Retention of Exendine

STILLWATER, Okla., Feb. 5 (AP)—Recommendation that Albert Exendine be retained as head football coach at Oklahoma A. and M. college will be made by the school athletic cabinet, Dean C. H. McElroy, chairman, said today.

McElroy's announcement refuted rumors there was to be a general shake-up in the coaching staff at the school.

Harry Coriell, president of the state board of agriculture, has said that the faculty's suggestions will be followed in making coaching staff appointments.

Rivermen, Hawklets Prep For Second Meeting of '35 Season

Kistler Gives U. Hi Quint Drill on Zone Defensive Play

In decisively trouncing the touted Mechanicsville quintet on its home floor last Friday night the University high hoopers served notice on the City high Little Hawks that there would be a real battle when the two fives meet in the final intracity tussle on the Hawklets' floor Friday evening.

Change Style

Using a new offense and a zone defense instead of their regular man-to-man defense the Kistlermen came from behind in the final half of the Eastern Iowa Eight conference tilt to whip the Mechanicsville team by 35 to 28 score. Wyjack, a new face in the varsity lineup, proved the sparkplug of the river school offense by counting four times from afield in the waning minutes of the battle.

The remainder of this week will be spent in smoothing off the rough places in the offensive attack at University high. The zone defense which faltered miserably in the first half of the Mechanicsville game, functioned to perfection in the final frames, and will in all probability be used against the Wellsmen.

Thomas Back

Losing the first classic to the Hawklets by a 31 to 19 count, the Kistlerites will not be tampered with in the forthcoming contest and will shoot the works in an attempt to even the two game series between the two schools. Further strengthened by the help of Ed Thomas their regular center who did not see action in the first meeting, the river team may show its city brothers a warm evening.

Coach George Teyro's sophomore cagers will meet their first foe of two weeks when they tackle the strong City high sophs, who under the tutoring of Coach Herb Cornack have compiled a record of five wins against one loss.

Triumph in Clinton Tilt Puts City High In Confident Mood

Having at last achieved what was beginning to appear the impossible, a victory in a 'Sippi league game, City high's Little Hawks returned to work yesterday with a will that has been lacking for some time.

Tough Defeats

Several times previous to their victory over Clinton the Little Hawks had come very close to winning, but always some combination of circumstances seemed to arise to check their hopes.

In a previous game Clinton licked them 15 to 12, Grant nosed out a three point win, Davenport and West Waterloo were victorious only through the medium of last minute phenomenal scoring bursts, and Washington high beat them in a nip and tuck battle at Cedar Rapids.

With the knowledge that they can win once in a while to spur them on, the Hawklets are looking forward to the remaining games with an enthusiasm unparalleled before during this season.

Won Before

Friday evening they will entertain the University high cagers in the second of their intra-city classics. The first game saw the Wellsmen romp to a 31 to 19 victory over a crippled River school outfit.

However Friday's tilt is apt to be a much different affair. Coach Kistler will have Thomas, an all-city center last year, available to lead the team's offense. In the first game, minus Thomas, the Rivermen seemed uncertain what to do with the ball when they got possession of it.

Yesterday the Red and White scrimmaged Sharon high, in the first of a series of hard defensive drills. Coach George Wells is concentrating on a zone defense again, confident that if it could hold Clinton to three long goals, it should function against even better teams.

Albert Primeau Trims John S. Davenport In Amateur Billiard Meet

NEW YORK, Feb. 5 (AP)—In a closely-constructed match at the New York Athletic club, Albert Primeau of Detroit tonight defeated John S. PITTSFIELD, Mass., (INS)—No one wear a mustache while chopping wood. Iowa Citizens Fail To Agree on Plan For $200 Pensions

By VIRGINIA COOK

Iowa Citizens react differently to the Townsend old age pension plan which in four months has become a focus of public pronouncements, personal abuse and political ballyhoo.

At least one Iowa City resident agrees with professors who ridicule the plan as being another white rabbit on which public hysteria will center; one person thought that Secretary Frances Perkins' labeling of the plan as fantastic, was correct. Several persons were enthusiastic supporters of the plan, while all those interviewed agreed on the need for some kind of old age insurance or pension.

Many of those interviewed were uncertain as to their attitude toward the plan which was recently introduced into congress by John Steven McGroarty of California. Several persons were unwilling to have their names used.

The ages of the persons interviewed varied from 20 to 50 years. None whose opinions are given admitted having received special literature or membership in Townsend clubs.

Mrs. Tom Meredith, 427 N. Duquesne street: "I think the plan is wonderful; people certainly need help. It will be fine for people in South Dakota and would help people in Iowa, too."

R. E. Goodyear, barber living at 319 E. Burlington street: "The $200 a month is out of all reason; the pension idea is all right. It would put more money into circulation. We're taxed to death now so I don't see how the $200 could be collected."

One of those who opposed to the plan was Bernice Heyer, waitress, living at 420 S. Clinton street, "I don't like the plan. People who don't need the pension could get it; anyone would be eligible for it. I think the state old pension is all right, though."

"The goodness or badness of the plan depends entirely on how it is worked out," says Carl Schilling of the Schilling Dairy company. "If it is given on a sales tax basis, where it will be paid for as it is given, it's all right."

Marjorie Propp, nurse living at Westlawn, was an enthusiastic supporter of the plan. "Yes, I'm in favor of the plan. People never realize when they are young the necessity of saving for old age. I have no home and my parents are dead so naturally the pension plan appeals to me."

One of those who thought the plan impractical was O. C. Carroll, 119 1-2 E. Washington street, detective: "No, I'm not in favor of the Townsend plan. Too much money is involved for the plan to be practical. I do favor some kind of old age pension plan on a sounder basis."

School of Journalism Receives 4 Volumes Of Vidette-Reporter

Four bound volumes of The Vidette-Reporter, University of Iowa newspaper preceding The Daily Iowan, were presented to the school of journalism recently by Mrs. Walter M. Davis, 909 E. Burlington street.

The volumes represent the editions during the years 1892 to 1895. Walter M. Davis was assistant business manager of the tri-weekly publication 1892-93, business manager, 1893-94, and editor-in-chief, 1894-1895.

The Vidette-Reporter was a small paper, about the size of a present-day tabloid, of four pages, published by the students of the University of Iowa previous to the publication of The Daily Iowan.

WEATHER ALWAYS BAD

BOZEMAN, Mont., (INS)—The superintendent of the local skating rink has his troubles. "Last year it was too warm to make ice, this year it's too cold," he declared. Ice contracts and cracks under extreme sub-zero temperatures, he explained.

Eliminations to Select Speaker for Contest Will Begin Tomorrow

Preliminary eliminations to select a speaker to represent Iowa in the extempore contest scheduled in conjunction with the annual invitational debate tournament in Iowa City March 1 and 2, will begin tomorrow at 2 p.m. in the forensic auditorium in Schaeffer hall, Prof. A. Craig Baird, director of university debate announced last night.

Topics will be selected from general current problems found in Time magazine for December, January, and February. Candidates are to draw their topics at 1 p.m., and speeches will be limited to a minimum of six minutes and a maximum of eight.

Adolph Hitler Meets Former Kaiser's Son

BERLIN, Feb. 5 (AP)—Adolph Hitler today met the former kaiser's eldest son, former Crown Prince Wilhelm.

The interview, held to be extremely significant, took place at the chancellery, the propaganda ministry said. Earlier rumors said Hitler dined with Wilhelm at his apartment.

What the two talked about could not be ascertained, although it was intimated they discussed "pressing political business."

A "polite visit" was the phrase the propaganda ministry used to describe the interview. Attaches at Wilhelm's palace confirmed the fact.

If Hitler entertained Wilhelm at his apartment, it was the first time the two—one the heir to Germany's idle throne, the other an ex-corporal in the armies of the central powers during the great war—have had opportunity for an intimate conversation.

Close friends of both have been trying to bring them together of late, it is known.

S. U. I. Women Debaters To Battle Missouri

A debate with the University of Missouri here Tuesday will open the University of Iowa women's debating season, Prof. A. Craig Baird, director of university debate, announced yesterday.

Mary Parden, C3 of Iowa City, and Gertrude Aitken, A3 of Newton, will represent Iowa, debating on the affirmative of the question: "Resolved, that the several nations should make governmental monopolies of the manufacture and sale of all combat instruments of war." The debate will be at 8 p.m. in Schaeffer hall auditorium.

Speakers for the University of Missouri women's team as announced by Gerald D. Shively, Missouri debate coach, will be Navis Palmer and Marian Glickman.

Library Club Elects Miss Wardell Head At Monthly Meeting

Margaret Wardell, assistant in the order department of university libraries, was elected president of the Iowa City Library club at a meeting in the Town and Gown Residence hotel yesterday evening.

She will replace Lucile Morsch who recently resigned here to take a position with the Enoch Pratt public library in Baltimore, Md.

Virginia Struble, assistant in the government documents department, was elected vice-president.

The general topic for discussion at the meeting was "Libraries in Iowa: How They Developed; Their Present Status; and Their Future Prospects."

Special topics were presented by Sarita Robinson, Miss Struble, and Nina Ann Frohwein of university libraries, and Mrs. Jessie B. Gordon, librarian of the Iowa City public library, Grace Van Wormer, acting director of university libraries, also spoke.

Mary B. Humphrey, superintendent of the government documents department, presided.

Judge Orders Law Suit To Federal Court

A court order of District Judge James P. Gaffney yesterday removed the suit of Rupert C. Rummelhart of Riverside against the Mutual Life Insurance company of New York into the United States district court at Davenport.

Mr. Rummelhart asked that the provisions of a policy issued to him by the insurance company on May 1, 1927, be carried out. He claimed that Dec. 16, 1929, he was permanently disabled by a heart ailment, and that he was entitled to $100 monthly income from the company for life.

The insurance company, he said in his petition, had repeatedly refused payment on grounds that the injury was not permanent. He asked that they be ordered to pay him $100 monthly and that the order be made retroactive to the date of his injury, Dec. 16, 1929.

The defendant asked that the case be removed to the federal courts because the company was chartered in New York and the plaintiff is a resident of Iowa.

Attorneys Goldthwaite and Wilkinson represented Mr. Rummelhart and the insurance company was represented by Attorneys Dutcher, Walker and Ries.

NEARLY FROZEN IN HOME

DENVER (INS)—Below-zero weather trapped Mrs. Ruth Kalber and her three small children in their home here.

Awaking in the night by chill, she found that the fire in her oil burning stove had gone out, having exhausted its supply of fuel. She started to go outside for more oil, only to find that the door and all the windows had been frozen shut.

Luckily, after several hours in which their discomfort increased, a special delivery carrier arrived with a letter. He broke open the door when he learned of Mrs. Kalber's predicament.

ANGLEWORM THIEF

DENVER (INS)—An outraged storekeeper appeared before Deputy District Attorney A. G. Gertz and tried to have a man sued for stealing 16 angleworms, valued at 7 cents. The storekeeper finally left when Gertz explained that it would cost about $50 to prosecute the case.

MASTER OF LANGUAGES

SWINDON (INS)—For 20 years Alfred Williams worked in the railroad yards here at $10 a week—and spent his nights becoming a master of French, Greek and Latin. "His translations from the classics are treasures of English literature," Dr. Albert Mansbridge of Oxford said. Serving during the war in India, Williams learned Sanskrit.

JACKSON, Wyo., (INS)—When the driver of the Spring Gulch school bus was found to have scarlet fever, children living in that district, a few miles west of Jackson, enjoyed a vacation. All passengers in the bus were quarantined.

Edvard Bellamy Comes to Life

THERE IS hardly a single brick in the whole structure of modern society which was not cast in the mold of radicalism and wild theory...

Usually such bricks have been tempered for long years after their makers had died before being covered with a coat of modern paint...

Such a maker of bricks was Edward Bellamy, who 40 years ago conceived a grand scheme for ridding the world of its injustice...

Recalling Dr. Sun Yat-Sen: WHEN General Chiang Kai-shek, leader of the Chinese National government, expressed adherence...

It will be remembered that Sun Yat-sen was not an enemy of Japan, but that he consistently reminded the Japanese of their responsibility...

Recently the tables have been turned. Japan's ruthless imperialism and her constant antagonism toward the interests of China fostered hatred and bitterness...

Consequently General Chiang's reversion to Dr. Sun Yat-sen was full of meaning on both sides of the China sea...

And it is probably in the development of art along such regional lines that real artistic expression will reach its fullest growth in the United States of the present generation.

The fact is that the United States is a "United States" in more than name. It is a political coalition of several great geographic regions...

Perhaps it is here that Miss Silvercruys seeks her "American look." That is real, but surely it is too big a thing to catch in a face...

It is true that through them all runs the breath of freedom and lack of the restraint that comes from being crowded within narrow borders...

Perhaps it is here that Miss Silvercruys seeks her "American look." That is real, but surely it is too big a thing to catch in a face...

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Played by the orchestra: Senator William Gibbs McAdoo of California likes "The Champagne Waltz" and he dances to it in a sprightly fashion despite his 71 years.

Behind the Scenes in Hollywood

By HARRISON CARROLL: HOLLYWOOD—The folks back in Granville, Mich., will never again believe those stories about Hollywood being a land of barred gates.

Fate being in a smiling mood, Cromwell was in, and consented to an interview. Young Wells must have done some fast talking, because Cromwell told him to come back the next day for a screen test.

The return of Nina Mae McKinney is Central avenue's biggest sensation since the days of Stepin Fetchit's purple limousine and liveried chauffeur.

"Not me," she said, "Why should I save my money for somebody else to spend after I'm dead?" A new crop of rumors would divorce Claudette Colbert and Norman Foster.

Director W. S. Van Dyke got his divorce, and we guess he'll marry Ruth Mannix as soon as he is finally free. The phonies who have been posing as writers for that smart magazine for men will have to look for a new racket.

These were Joan Harlow's parents waiting with her at the Clover club until Bill Powell appeared. And that was Dick Steeble with Althea Faye. The return of liquor is booming downtown hotels.

Let's see, the most ardent amateur cook in the film colony. He'll be back in Hollywood. He'll be back in Hollywood. He'll be back in Hollywood.

That Paul Kelly, a stage and screen actor since the age of 7, was the original "Vitagraph Boy?" K. G. Naik to Speak At Luncheon Today. K. G. Naik will be guest speaker before an engineering faculty luncheon meeting this noon at Iowa Union.

Helen Needles to Give Lecture at Hampton. Helen M. Needles of the bureau of dental hygiene will deliver a mouth health lecture before a teachers institute at Hampton Saturday morning.

SEEN from OLD CAPITOL by TOM YOSELOFF

HOME THOUGHTS FROM ABROAD. OUT IN PENNSYLVANIA (Special)—Pennsylvania is far enough from Iowa to start thinking about Iowa. In other words, as we stopped for lunch today, I happened to go through my pockets.

Going through a columnist's pockets is like going through an old desk. There are old letters, old bills (some of them paid), and once in a long long time something of importance. For example, I discovered a note about my laundry, which I almost forgot to get, a story with the headline "Iowa Governors Were Versatile Men" — which didn't surprise me at all — and various other papers.

Which recalled to me some stories that came to my desk just as I was ready to leave. The first one was about an examination last Friday. The students were walking out of the classroom, and a couple of them stopped to smoke and talk.

Another concerns a conversation overheard on the campus. Two students met near Schaeffer hall, and began a conversation on the hoof.

"Are you done with exams?" the first asked. "Not yet." "Well, will you do my work for me this afternoon?" — by that time they were separated by some yards and conversation was a matter of shouting.

Of course, these stories may not be true. There's no way of checking them at this moment, but they're yours for what they're worth.

So far this hasn't said much. But, after all, what can one say so far away. By the time you read this with your breakfast coffee, we'll be in New York city, and tomorrow we'll start reporting the situation on the white way.

Increase Shown In Book Circulation

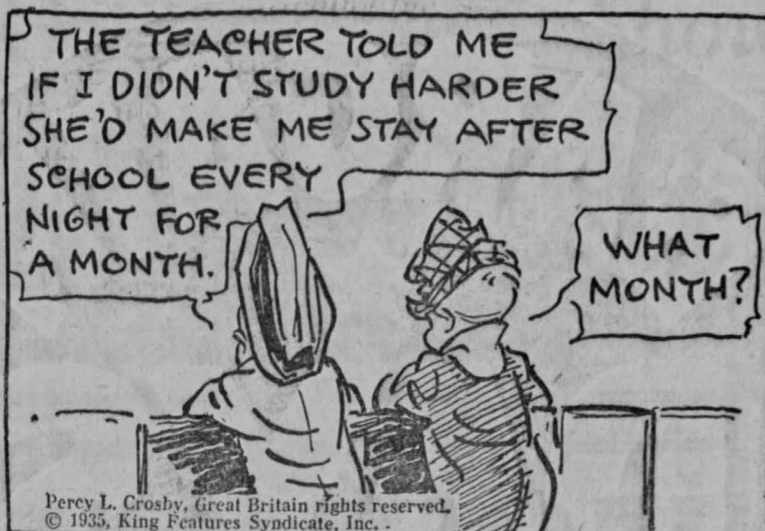

The chairmanship of the commission on religious activities will be transferred to Prof. Joseph H. Bodine, head of the zoology department, at a luncheon meeting for members of the commission in the Union Board room of Iowa Union this noon. He will replace Prof. Rufus H. Fitzgerald, director of the school of fine arts.

Use of Pictures in Iowa Papers Discussed by Mason in Article

Iowa newspapers are satisfying the latest trend in journalism by the use of numerous up to the minute pictures, according to Prof. Edward F. Mason of the school of Journalism, in an article appearing in the February issue of The Iowa Publisher.

Modern photography has been facilitated by the installation of wire-photo service by the Associated Press, the organization of the North-west Engravers association by 11 Iowa newspapers, and the establishment of a picture service by the Iowa Daily Press association, writes Professor Mason.

Business Continues to Improve In Iowa Says Davies in Digest

Iowa's business continued to register the moderate improvement begun in 1934 with striking gains in farm prices and check transactions. This summary is made by Prof. George R. Davies of the college of commerce in the current issue of the Business Digest.

Bank debits in December increased seasonally 15 per cent over November and were 35 per cent more than a year ago. The percentage gains during recent weeks, as compared with the corresponding weeks in 1933, are as follows:
