German Nazis' "Supremacy" Offensive Hits at Church Youth Groups

Church Circles Expect More, Stricter Laws

Jews Staying Away From Public Places Until Storm Dies

BERLIN, July 24 (AP)—Germany's Nazis, unsuccessful in their two-year fight for supremacy in religious matters, shifted their offensive to another front today with swift, sharp thrusts at young people's church groups.

The Baden state government announced dissolution of Catholic Deutsche Jugendkraft (German Youth - Strength), confiscating its properties.

Acted Quickly

Quickly—so quickly after as to indicate his orders came from Berlin—the governor of the lower Bavaria had Oberlauf ordered that the children of Nazi officials could participate in only three Nazi organizations. These are: the "Young Folk," the League of German Girls and the Hitler Youth.

Some Church Circles Said Ominously that the next month almost certainly would bring further strict repressive measures, regardless of the German-Vatican concordat or Adolf Hitler's promises, to enable Nazi leaders to announce "complete liquidation" of the church question.

Jews Wait

Jews meanwhile more and more were staying away from public gathering places, waiting for the newest anti-Semitic storm to subside.

Mayor Treff of Steglitz, Berlin borough, was today's spokesman for the anti-Semitic faction. Demanding Jewish stores be boycotted, he said:

"The shameless behavior of cer-

Terre Haute's Situation Tense

Martial Law Will Be Continued, 500 Guardsmen Remain

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., July 24 (AP)—Rioting broke out tonight at Twelve Points, west of the plant of the Columbian Enameling and Stamping company, where about 3,000 persons milled about. National guardsmen released several gas bombs and 11 persons were arrested.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., July 24 (AP)—National guard officers toured Terre Haute today and decided that although Union labor's general strike is ended a tense situation still prevails.

Nevertheless it was decided to demobilize all but 500 of the 1,100 troops rushed into this city Monday when members of 40 unions started a "labor holiday" to show their sympathy for fellow unionists who have been on a four month's strike to force recognition from the Columbian Enameling and Stamping company.

Brig. Gen. D. Wrat Deprez, commanding the guardsmen, said martial law would be continued indefinitely.

Union leaders attributed the calling of the general strike to resentment over alleged importation of armed guards and strike-breakers by the enameling concern.

Father of Three Confesses To Murder of Six-Year-Old Boy

DUBUQUE, Ia., July 24 (AP)—Mario Heinz, 28, father of three small children, confessed today that he strangled his sister's six-year-old son, David Fox, to death while attempting to attack the boy late yesterday.

Heinz, a relief worker, signed the confession before Sheriff Thomas Ryder, Dubuque Police Chief John Glella, County Attorney John Duffy and his assistant, Ed Tschudi.

Found in Stream

The boy's body was found late yesterday in a shallow stream that flows through the farm of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fox, near Holy Cross, Ia.

Heinz told officers he met his brother-in-law in Dubuque yesterday and went back to the farm with him. Accompanied by his nephews, David and Fred Jr., he went to a meadow to drive in the cows for

Federal Troops Take Over City in Mexico, Demand Mayor Resign

BROWNSVILLE, Tex., July 24 (AP)—Federal troops, armed with machine guns and backed by city police and customs employes, took over the city of Matamoros, Mexico, at 4:20 p.m. today.

General Gabriel Cervera, commander of the federal detachment at Matamoros, had federal troops surrounding the city administration building as agrarian rebels, camped on the outskirts, prepared to march on the city and demand the resignation of Mayor Rafael Munguia C.

Although the agrarians had announced they would forcibly evict Mayor Munguia C. at 4 p.m. if he had not resigned, they remained close by their camps and let the deadline go by.

Glass Voices Opposition To Bank Proposal

Idea Is Repugnant To Federal System, Virginian Claims

By D. HAROLD OLIVER
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

WASHINGTON, July 24 (AP)—A vigorous assault by Senator Glass (D-Va.) on the "repugnance" of central bank proposals to the American financial system today opened Senate debate on the administration banking bill.

The 77-year-old Virginian warned Senators Nye (R-ND) and Borah (R-IDaho) and other advocates of a government-owned central bank, that such a proposal was "so repugnant to the original purpose of the federal reserve system" that those who had sponsored it in the past "found it convenient to abandon their inebriated attitude."

The bill's main provisions would give a reorganized reserve board majority control over the nation's credit.

Although central bank and inflation amendments will be offered, democratic leaders predicted the bill would pass this week or early next week almost as soon written.

Regional Reserve System

Glass asserted that both the Woodrow Wilson and Theodore Roosevelt platforms opposed such a scheme and in its place there was created a "regional reserve system upon the theory that the 12 regions established would know better how to manage their own credits and respond to the requirements of their own people."

Discussing the compromise provision constituting a federal reserve board of seven and five representatives of the reserve banks as the new open market committee to control the reserve bank buying and selling of government bonds, Glass said the government has "never contributed as much as one dollar to any federal reserve bank."

Bond Issue for New Schoolhouse Approved

WASHINGTON, Ia., July 24 (AP)—Voters of Riverside Independent school district today approved of a $12,000 bond issue for construction of a school addition. A PWA grant of $9,000 recently was approved to help defray costs of the project.

War of Words Follows Irish Riot Actions

BELFAST, July 24 (AP)—A war of words today succeeded Ireland's 12-day religious war of bullets, rioting and incendiarism that has taken nine lives, left many injured, resulted in 140 arrests and caused widespread property losses.

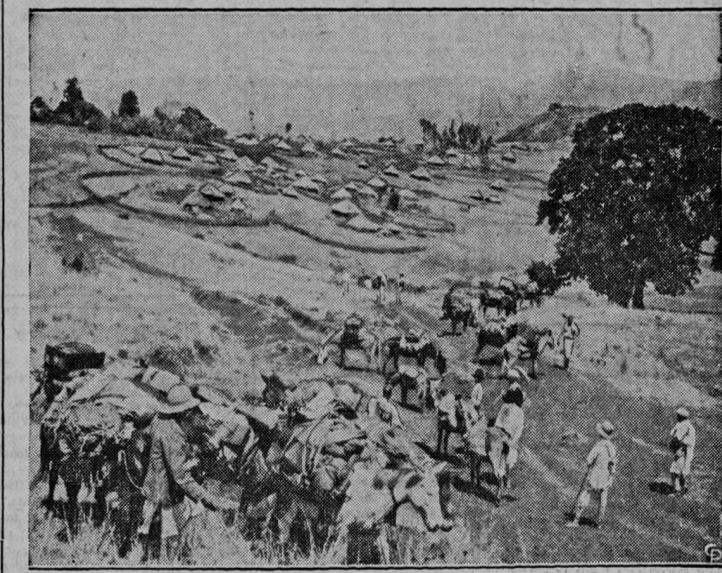

Leaders of opposing factions in the Catholic-Protestant strife fired accusations and counter-accusations of responsibility for the trouble, the most serious since that of 1920 and 1921.

Cardinal Macrory, in a statement today, placed the blame for the initial disturbance July 12 on the authorities, asserting they should not have permitted the parade.

Adrienne Ames, Movie Star, Gets Divorce From Bruce Cabot

LOS ANGELES, July 24 (AP)—Adrienne Ames of the movies was awarded an interlocutory decree of divorce today from her third husband, Bruce Cabot, film actor. She testified Cabot did not love her and wasn't cut out for marriage.

WILDERNESS PROTECTION FOR ABYSSINIAN CAPITAL

One of the hazards obstructing any armed attack directed at Addis Ababa, capital of Abyssinia, is the wilderness that surrounds it. This picture made several years ago, shows the topography of the countryside which would make progress of infantry difficult. The capital may be glimpsed in the right background, situated on a high plateau. It may be abandoned in case of war.

Mysterious Box Enters Inquiry

Texas Accused Of Giving Package On Eve of Power Vote

WASHINGTON, July 24 (AP)—A mysterious, newspaper-wrapped box and a direct insinuation that it passed secretly from a power official to a member of congress today entered the senate's investigation of utility bill lobbying.

Repeatedly, Chairman Black (D-Ill.) asked John W. Carpenter, president of the Texas Power and Light company, whether he entertained a member of the house just before the vote on abolition of holding companies and presented him, Carpenter apparently unperturbed, leaned back in the witness chair and just as often told his insistent inquirer that he could "not remember."

He might have received such a visitor, he said, but anyway, he "never gave anyone anything except maybe a meal or two or some cigars."

"Do you want the committee to believe," Senator Schwellenbach (D-Wash.) took up the questioning, "that you can't remember the day before the vote was taken that a box was wrapped in a newspaper and that a congressman took it from your room at the hotel?"

"I can't remember," was the reply. "I know I didn't give away anything unless it was a box of cigars."

Wilkins Plans Trip to Pole In Submarine

NEW YORK, July 24 (AP)—Sir Hubert Wilkins, arriving from Germany today enroute to South America on an antarctic expedition, already has plans under way for a second submarine exploration of the North Polar seas in 1937.

He has asked bids, he said, from four builders on a submarine to cost $100,000, of 100 feet overall length and 20 feet beam.

"I hope the vessel will be ready for experimental cruises, probably in Lake Erie, during the winter of 1936-37. I hope to start for the North Pole in the spring of 1937."

Report 30,000 Bodies Recovered in Area Of Han, Yangtze Floods

SHANGHAI, July 24 (AP)—A report that 30,000 bodies of flood victims had been picked up in the Hankow area alone today provided grim measure of the toll taken in central China by the receding waters of the Han and Yangtze rivers.

Simultaneously, northern provinces continued struggling to imprison the raging waters of the Yellow river, "China's sorrow," which roared heading down to the sea, crushing its barriers to engulf enormous areas of farmlands.

The report from Hankow, coming from Red Cross authorities there, combined with reports from other areas to indicate uncounted thousands of Chinese had died like flies in the floods.

Expect Break In Roosevelt's Security Bill

Hope Is Result Of F.R.'s Opposition To Senate Amendment

WASHINGTON, July 24 (AP)—Open presidential opposition to the senate's amendment exempting private pension plans today foretold a likely break in the congressional deadlock over the Roosevelt security program.

Boilers House

The chief executive's stand bolstered the position of the house which rejected the Clark amendment to exempt from the proposed nationwide Old Age Pension system those companies with private plans offering equal benefits.

Shortly after Mr. Roosevelt spoke, at a White House press conference, Chairman Harrison (D-Miss) of the senate finance committee announced the senate-house conferences would meet again tomorrow in an effort to break the deadlock.

It will be the first meeting of the conferees since the house overwhelmingly rejected the senate amendment.

Same Class

The president said he believed all corporations should be put in the same class and feared the human temptation under the senate amendment would be for private companies to lead their old people into the government system and retain the young workers in their private plans.

At the same time, the president said he had not yet found a rail pension bill that would comply with the supreme court's decision invalidating the railroad retirement act of last year.

Report Gomez Near Death, Exiles Worried

PORT-OF-SPAIN, Trinidad, July 24 (AP)—Unconfirmed reports that Gen. Juan Vicente Gomez, who for the last quarter century has held Venezuela in perhaps the tightest grip of any twentieth century dictator, was at the point of death moved Venezuelan exiles here today to prepare to return home.

A scramble for power, with perhaps actually armed warfare, was predicted in the event death broke the 26-year stronghold Gomez, "El Benemerito" (the meritorious one), has held on Venezuela.

Roosevelt A Cinch in 1936" Says Farley

OMAHA, Nebr., July 24 (AP)—Postmaster General James A. Farley, crossing Iowa enroute to Hawaii for a six-week's vacation trip, tonight told newspapermen that "Roosevelt is a cinch in 1936" and predicted congressional approval of his session of all the president's "must" program, including the tax-the-wealth bill.

Roosevelt is a cinch, Farley said, because you can't beat him with a "nobody." He expressed satisfaction that Iowa would remain in the democratic column.

"Who have the Republicans got?" Farley asked newspapermen.

Denying that there was any political significance in his swing across the western part of the country at this time, Farley said he had left Washington "simply to get away from the telephone."

3-Month-Old Girl Dies From Scalding Burns

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., July 24 (AP)—Jacqueline Alter, 3-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Alter of Omaha, died in a hospital here tonight from scalding burns received Tuesday at Persla, Ia.

Building Rejected

DENISON, Ia. (AP)—For the second time in two years, Denison voters yesterday rejected a proposal to construct a new high school building. The vote was 471 for and 357 against, lacking by 3 per cent the required 60 per cent majority.

Tax Bill May Be Deferred To Next Year

Roosevelt Opposes Exempting Gifts To Charities from Tax

WASHINGTON, July 24 (AP)—A swiftly developing series of disputes involving the president, congress, business, and organized welfare agencies today stirred up new but vigorously denied reports that the administration tax bill would be put off until next year.

In quick succession, the day brought these developments:

Opposition

1. President Roosevelt expressed strong opposition to the idea of exempting from taxes gifts made by corporations to charitable agencies.

2. A representative of three welfare groups contended that the president's insistence would mean "going back to the horse and buggy days of private charity."

3. An official poll of house ways and means committee democrats, not immediately completed, strengthened the possibility that the committee might disagree with the president's recommendation that graduated taxes be levied on corporation income taxes.

Decline to Talk

4. Tight-lipped members of the committee declined to talk about what they were doing after Chairman Doughton (D-NC) described as "traitors" those who told newspapermen what was happening in secret sessions.

The president expressed his ideas at a press conference. He contended that gifts by corporations are made to seek good will; he conceded humanitarian purposes of some corporations but argued that the desirable reasons for permitting them to escape taxation were outweighed by the undesirable.

Representative McCormack (D-Mass), a member of the house ways and means committee, recently introduced a bill to let corporations give up to 5 per cent of their net income without paying taxes.

No One Injured As Streamlined Train Crashed Tool House

KEMMERER, Wyo., July 24 (AP)—"The City of Portland," Union Pacific's crack streamlined train was derailed in Nugget canyon, 17 miles west of here, late today.

Although the silver locomotive plunged down the roadbed three-quarters of a mile several cars left the tracks and crashed through a large water pump and tool house, none of the 75 passengers was injured.

Railway officials declined to comment on the cause of the derailment, but workmen said they believed a wheel of the center car apparently broke, throwing the train off the tracks.

Four Cars

Not one of the seven cars turned over. In the shatter-proof glass was damaged in several cars.

Four cars in the middle of the train left the tracks.

Tibetan Monks Begin Search For Tibet's New Dalai Lama

LHASA, Tibet, July 24 (AP)—The search for Tibet's new Dalai Lama—the unknown baby reposing in some humble manger or costly crib in this land of ancient mystery—had officially begun today.

A mission of leading monks, accompanied by four soothsayers, was en route from Lhasa to the Holy Kail lake where they expected to see the baby's present home mirrored in its waters.

Fire Water Test

Awaiting this future supreme ruler of Buddhism's 150,000,000 followers is the sacred, ancient "test by fire and water." Holy flames and waters brought from the seven holy rivers of India are important in the selection of the infant who will become "the patron of angels and all living things."

The last Dalai Lama died in December, 1933, and since then giant prayer-wheels in the Potala Dalai palace in this forbidden city of Lhasa have been spinning as the wise men prepared for their quest.

Exact Moment

Plentifully supplied with gold to protect them against corruption, the mission will visit some 300 homes scattered throughout Tibet whence claims have come that the young son of the house was born at the exact moment that the former Dalai Lama died.

The exact moment of birth is important, for Tibetans believe the Dalai Lama's immortal soul enters into the body of some new-born baby at the instant of his death.

A score, perhaps, of infant candidates will be chosen and brought to Lhasa for the final test and choice by the grand council of Lamas.

Slogan Coined By Selassie Draws Many New Recruits

Reports of British Loans to Ethiopia Neither Confirmed, Officially Denied

ITALO-ETHIOPIAN SITUATION IN BRIEF (By the Associated Press)

LONDON—British hear Mussolini to send 500,000 men to Africa; Ethiopians seek financial help.

ROME—Youths of 18 "become soldiers" under war ministry order; will form huge army reserve.

NEW YORK—Wall street source says Italy eventually may devalue lira to level of French franc.

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia, July 24 (AP)—Ethiopian fighting men flocked to the colors today, fired by the slogan "Die Free."

It was Emperor Haile Selassie, king of kings and conquering lion of Judah, who coined the slogan in his address before parliament recently outlining the development of the Italo-Ethiopian controversy and pledging Ethiopia's "last man" in the fight to defend the country's independence.

Better

It was better to die free, the emperor told his subjects, than to live conquered.

While recruiting for the expected war with Italy continued apace, reports neither confirmed nor officially denied said Ethiopia's further military preparations would be aided by British loans.

Speculation among members of the capital's foreign colony also was rife concerning what the emperor said to the French minister when he conversed with him privately during the imperial reception for the emperor's forty-fourth birthday anniversary yesterday.

New Note

A new note which the Italian legation presented to the foreign office today declared Italy held Ethiopia responsible for the breakdown of conciliation efforts at Scheveningen, The Netherlands, recently.

The note was an answer to an Ethiopian communication charging the Italian members of the conciliation commission brought about the breakdown.

Italy May Send Huge Force

LONDON, July 24 (AP)—Information that Premier Mussolini intends to send 500,000 troops into East Africa against Ethiopia was said tonight by an authoritative British source to be in the hands of several foreign governments.

In giving out this information the source concerned said Italy intended to make up that total number before the rainy season ends.

Satisfaction Expressed

Sir Samuel Hoare, foreign secretary, answering questions in the house of commons, disclosed he had expressed to the American ambassador "the satisfaction of his majesty's government with the recent utterances" of Secretary Hull "concerning obligations devolving on all signatories of the Kellogg pact" outlawing war.

British statesmen were represented as determined the league should not "legalize" the war through half-measures or no actions at all.

No Decision

The Ethiopian government was said to be endeavoring to arrange credits in London with which to pay for war material, although it was asserted there has been no move to obtain an official loan.

It was announced the cabinet would make no decision on arms exports until shortly before Anthony Eden, minister for League of Nations affairs, goes to Geneva next week.

New York Fashion Parade

By MARGARET GARRAHAN
NEW YORK (INS)—The town's simply reeking... with pine. And the answer, as you probably guessed, is pine-scented baths. They're cooling and leave you with that million-dollar feeling for hours afterwards... Another accessory that's struck is the bath mit—that little bag of stuff, you know, that holds a combine of scent and lather-cleansing powder and is good for baths and baths. Especially swell for shower fiends who are always dropping the soap—for these have little loops on top through which you fix your finger...

In the name of all-summer daintiness, while we're on the subject, two of the swankiest cosmetic houses have brought forth their versions of the wax depilatory. Both swear the hair'll stay away for weeks and there isn't an iota of hurt in a tubful...

Once more we rise to sing the praises of belts and what a new one will do for a pet dress that, mayhap, is palling. For the witting linen frock we saw an eye-catching thing made of bands of contrasting linen. The bands are separate, and in this case the top and bottom strips were of brown, with a middle strip of beige. Each is fastened with a golden tassel, and you can push them around to make all sorts of designs on your front...

We liked a little girde of light and dark blue silk cord, too. The contrasting cords cross in back and catch with clips on the hips... and the whole thing's knotted in Grecian fashion in front... There also was a stunning one of black antelope, punctured into a leaf design in front, and a heavy black suede caught with big interlocking gold clasps...

Other accessory bits we found interesting were a brown leather bow, intended as a fastening on a white pipe redingote... a gooly little button—half patent leather, half suede—for similar use... and a collar clasp of black patent leather tubing with matching buttons for use where you will...

Warn Against False Claims

Agents Promising Civil Service Jobs Are Outside Rights

Numerous letters received by the United States civil service commission at Washington, D. C., indicate that misleading information is being given to the public by agents of some of the correspondence schools which give instruction in preparation for civil service examinations, according to an announcement made yesterday by the commission.

To guard against the loss of money paid for tuition of this kind the civil service commission announced: "No one can promise appointments to positions for which the United States civil service commission holds examinations. The claim that such assurance can be given brands the person making it a fraud."

Information regarding examinations for the United States civil service may be obtained from the boards of United States civil service examiners. There is such a board in each community which has a post office of the first or second class.

The Iowa City civil service office is located in the post office building. A. C. Lorack is in charge of local examinations.

Announce '35 Collections Of Old Age Taxes

Collection of the 1935 old age assistance tax, reported by the state comptroller's office as of July 15, totals $1,631,454.31, it was announced yesterday in Des Moines. Of this total $24,644 was paid by Johnson county.

Remittances continue to be made by county treasurers from various parts of the state even though the tax became delinquent on July 1. It is expected that the above totals will be increased during the remainder of the year.

The $1,000,000 appropriation made by the legislature during the last session, will be available for the use of the old age assistance commission during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1936. There is also a chance of federal aid through the social security act.

Under the law, the 1935 old age assistance tax is now available for distribution in pension awards, which activities will start within the next two weeks, according to Byron G. Allen, superintendent of the Iowa old age assistance commission.

Mr. Allen announced that on the strength of the $1,000,000 appropriation made by the state, about 6,000 additional pension awards will be made within the next two or three months, starting soon after Aug. 1. This will increase the total pensions in effect to 16,000 nearly half the eligible applicants.

Plans for New High School Are Result of Long Study

Plans for Iowa City's new high school building are the result of years of study by many school boards, Iver A. Opstad, superintendent of schools, told members of the Lions club yesterday noon at Reich's pine room.

"Since 1920 there has been talk of a new high school building," Superintendent Opstad declared. "Since 1925 that movement has been taking shape, first through studies in the college of education, then through planning surveys, and in 1931 with the start of purchasing land in the east part of the city."

The decision to select the site at the east end of College street was made after complete surveys were made of other proposed sites, the speaker said.

A careful estimate for the purchase of additional land surrounding the present high school square was placed at $325,000. The 29 acres now owned by the board was purchased at a small fraction of that cost.

The present levy of $25,000 a year will be sufficient to handle the project, along with the 45 per cent grant from the PWA.

For The Good of Iowa City

ANY DOUBTS citizens may have about the value of a chamber of commerce in a community of this size should be dispelled by the determined manner in which that body is going to work on several local projects.

The chamber of commerce is not an official organ of government in a democracy in the sense we view a city council or a board of supervisors. But, as a force in keeping things moving and calling attention to the needs of a community it is many times more potent than either of those two bodies.

A chamber of commerce can make or break a town. It is made up of a group of unselfish interested citizens whose motives are those of making conditions better and providing the necessary stimulus to public sentiment.

Will Hopkins Know the Answers?

IOWA CITIANS should feel greatly honored tomorrow by the visit of Harry Hopkins, FERA administrator and the most sought man in America.

Whenever any one of the numerous Roosevelt key men come out of Washington to deliver an address, there is considerable speculation by political observers as to what may be the significance of the occasion.

In view of the many slashes made in relief over the country, it is only natural that local tax bodies will be interested in knowing to just what extent the burden of caring for the unemployed and the needy will fall upon the shoulders of local taxpayers in the future.

The Iowa Farmer Watches

AGRICULTURE IS vitally interested in the status of the AAA. This week the senate passed the omnibus agriculture bill, which consisted of numerous amendments to the farm act of 1933.

The financial standing of France is none too solid, however, and a bankruptcy of the Italian government after extensive loans had been made might easily drag into chaos her neighbor across the Alps.

Perhaps this picture is too gloomy—but it is certainly possible. Italy is risking her life and the security of Europe, still suffering from the terrible World War losses, by her threatened war.

for the AAA payments received during the last year; these checks were life-savers in a time of disaster when depression and unprecedented drought conditions combined to wreck the farmers.

With memories of the past winter in mind countless farmers will watch the supreme court with considerable interest.

"Lazy Bones Sittin' in de Sun."

DO YOU like a succession of long days of ease with nothing to do but be lazy? If you do, you're the exception rather than the rule, we'll wager.

Most of us look forward to the week or two weeks away from routine as a time when we shift our interest and attention from the workaday world to a work of an entirely different kind.

Those whose work is arranged so that their vacations extend over a month or more find satisfaction and rest in enrolling for advanced study.

Our vacations must be full—so full that we have no time for thumb-twirling—for once we have the habit of work we never give it up—not even for vacations!

Breakfast Topics

Like a sunburned nose, the Italian-Ethiopian situation stands out on the world's face, and, no matter how much one tries to ignore it as being too trite for comment, its importance in international affairs shouts for attention.

The latest aspect of the dispute to draw speculation from those who see the situation as a possible prelude to world conflict, is the financial condition of Italy.

As a logical result, the Fascist bonds have dropped in the world market, and Italian credit is shaky before the war actually starts.

But if Italy opens war against the Ethiopians, she will probably have years of hectic conflict on her hands. The blacks intend to fight in guerrilla style, sniping and cutting off supplies without exposing themselves to superior arms.

And even if political control is established over the kingdom by Mussolini's henchmen, the battle is still not won. According to such reports as are available, the Ethiopians really intend to fight to the last man for independence, and any foreign government which assumes power without their consent must prepare for years of internal strife.

This war, in brief, would almost bankrupt Italy, and the subjection of Ethiopia would not mean any immediate return of wealth through raw materials because of the unsettled conditions.

The financial standing of France is none too solid, however, and a bankruptcy of the Italian government after extensive loans had been made might easily drag into chaos her neighbor across the Alps.

Perhaps this picture is too gloomy—but it is certainly possible. Italy is risking her life and the security of Europe, still suffering from the terrible World War losses, by her threatened war.

Law or No Law, Broadway Will Have No Sunday Shows

NEW YORK, July 24 (INS)—Law or no law, actors won't act on Sunday next season. The League of New York Theaters (comprising most of the producers and managers) is resigned to that prospect today.

For years, Manhattan has been agitating for the privilege of seeing stage productions seven days a week. But ancient statutes of more or less indigo hue forbade them on Sunday.

Everybody but the actors. Although many of them had protested that movies, club shows and benefits had been permissible while legitimate attractions were banned on Sunday, they took another tack when the lawmakers made it possible for them to work seven days a week.

When the managers seized on the opportunity to bolster box office receipts and grab a share of the Broadway trade on the Sabbath, the performers hedged. They pointed out that even an actor needs a day's rest a week.

And no pay no play. Chief argument they advance is that any increased receipts from such performances will be voided by increased overhead in the form of actor salaries.

A New Yorker At Large

By JAMES B. RESTON NEW YORK—GLANCES AT THE NAMELESS:

A towering red-faced Irishman in a Bowery cafe, ordering lunch. His order was simple. "Meat and potatoes," he roared. The waiter, small, thin and slow, vanished into the kitchen. He reappeared with a plate, clapped it on the counter before the Irishman, who sat with a fork in one hand, a knife in the other. "Where's the potatoes?" yelled the customer as the waiter started for the kitchen. "The cook says apud ain't good for ya," replied the waiter, and disappeared.

A man and woman, in town on vacation, standing before the information desk in Rockefeller Center. A pretty girl was explaining to them what could be seen in the quarter, when the man was attracted by a sign on the counter, which read: VISIBILITY FAIR, and referred to the view from the roof of the skyscraper. "I've never seen a visibility fair," said the man to his wife. The girl explained. The wife added: "You should know better dear; anybody knows you spell that kind of a fair—f-a-r-e!"

A well-dressed, affluent-looking old gentleman in one of the better department stores. He was addressing the interior decorator, a wisp of a man who patted his hair frequently. "I want a chair," the old man said. "It must be comfortable. It should resemble, as much as possible, a club chair." (You could tell by looking at him that he had spent many years sitting around in clubs—luxurious clubs.) "When you have found what I want, have it covered in red damask," he went on. "Yes, sir," replied the wisp. "And where shall I have it sent?"

Why, to the S.S. . . . I've gone around the world nine times and I've never been comfortable. This chair is going up on the deck with me. Then it's going down to the stateroom with me. Then it's going up on the deck when I go. Good day, sir."

An aged couple sitting on a box in Central park, the woman's head on the old man's shoulder, watching a presentation of John Drinkwater's "Abraham Lincoln" by the city's portable theater group.

About them sat thousands of persons, many talking and paying no attention to the play, many other-profane children—skipping noisily about the place. But the old couple seemingly did not hear. They sat engrossed, both silently weeping.

Still, occasionally one sees an encouraging sight. At Forty-Second and Lexington is a blind man selling papers. Each evening I pass there and recently I noticed a boy come out of the drugstore on the corner with a tall glass of water, which he handed to the peddler. When the blind man had finished drinking, I went to get my paper and said it was kind of the boy to bring the water. "He has been doing that every hour in the summer for two years," the man said.

Science Finds Cod Liver Oil Kills Animals

Large Doses Cause Injuries to Heart, Muscles at Cornell

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE (Associated Press Science Editor)
ITHACA, N. Y., July 24 (AP)—Muscle and heart injuries, and sometimes death, from feeding large amounts of cod liver oil to herbivorous animals was announced today in the Cornell Bulletin of Cornell University. Medical authorities elsewhere indicated, however, there was no cause for "alarm" respecting humans.

Seven Years
The report summarized seven years' experiments, made in the animal nutrition laboratory at Cornell by Dr. L. L. Madsen and Professors C. M. McCay and L. A. Maynard. The animals were goats, sheep, guinea pigs and rabbits. Their muscles degenerated. Paralysis resulted. Hearts were affected, with evidence of fatty changes. Livers became fatty.

The harm was traced to an unidentified "fraction" present in cod liver oil. This "fraction" is not associated with the vitamins, for which the oil is given. It probably can be removed, the report states, and apparently is largely removed in cod liver oil concentrates.

No Direct Bearing
The writers state that their results have no direct bearing on cod liver oil in human nutrition.

"But they suggest," the report says, "a careful reconsideration of the wisdom of the continuous use of the large intakes now recommended, particularly in view of the reports of Arduhr and Malmberg of heart injuries in infants."

The two scientists named as authorities for a possible human angle are Eric Arduhr of the University of Upsala and Nils Malmberg of Stockholm.

body and called Sheriff Ryder. The doctor said his examination disclosed the boy had been sexually mistreated. A further post mortem was held.

Denied Attack
Sheriff Ryder immediately began questioning Heinz, who, he said, at first denied attacking the boy and then declared he had been drinking and could not remember what had happened. Heinz was brought to Dubuque where the questioning continued. He confessed this afternoon.

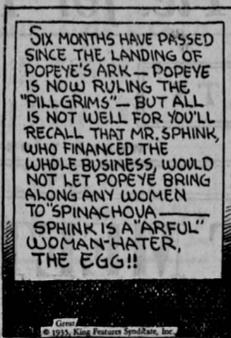

The post mortem examination disclosed, officers said, that several of the child's teeth had been knocked out, his jaw broken and his face and arms cut and bruised. There were bruises on his head, they said, which appeared to have been inflicted with a rock.

Heinz Scratched
"The boy was dead when his body was thrown in the stream," Sheriff Ryder reported. He also declared that Heinz was scratched about the arms and face.

Four years ago, officers here were confronted with a similar crime. The body of Earl Fuller, 12, was found on a refuse dump. The boy had been sexually mistreated, mutilated and strangled to death. Joseph Altringer, Dubuque, ultimately confessed he lured the boy away from a football game with candy and killed him.

"Prologue to Glory" Opens Theater Conference Tonight

PROF. BRUCE E. MAHAN

PROF. R. H. FITZGERALD

PROF. EDWARD C. MABIE

DEAN PAUL C. PACKER

The experimental play in the western theater is the thing at the western theater conference to open tonight with the presentation of Ellsworth Prouty Conkle's play, "Prologue to Glory," by University theater.

Blase New Yorkers jaded with the commercialism and sex rehashing of Broadway will mingle with directors of country theaters on the plains of North Dakota at the conference devoted exclusively to the experimental production of new plays in the western theater. The problem will be considered in round table discussions, speeches, and at the luncheon table.

Two Days
For two days sessions will be conducted at Old Capitol with the production being considered from the viewpoint of the playwright, the director, educator, critic, and audience.

Regionalism will run rampant, Broadway will be a favorite hot spot and the western theater will be the burning reality.

Participating in the discussion from the playwright's point of view will be Paul Green, Chapel Hill,

N. C., Elmer Rice, New York City, George Middleton, Madison, Wis., Ellsworth P. Conkle, and Vergil Geddes, Iowa City.

Directors, Educators

From the director's and educator's point of view the following persons will be among those participating in the round table discussion: Prof. Halle Flanagan, Vassar college, and director of the national theater project; Prof. A. Dale Riley, director of University theater, University of Minnesota; Prof. Edward C. Mabie, director of University theater and head of the speech department; Hewitt Heffner, Northwestern University; Prof. Rufus H. Fitzgerald, director of the school of fine arts; C. N. Meredith, Dallas Little theater, Dallas, Tex.; Prof. James Fiderick, Drake university, Des Moines; Sara Sherman Pryor, Grinnell college; Hazel Strayer, Cedar Falls; Bernard Lenrow, Iowa State college, Ames; Dean Ralph Dennis, Northwestern University, and Prof. Alfred G. Arvord, North Dakota State college, Fargo, N. D.

From the point of view of the critic and the audience John Sherman of The Minneapolis Star, Merle Faulter of The Minneapolis Journal, Mrs. H. C. Houghton Jr., president of the Iowa Federation of Women's Clubs, and large delegations from little theaters throughout the state and midwest will take part in the discussion.

Specific Suggestions

With Mr. Rice, Professor Flanagan, and Harry Hopkins, FERA administrator, all participating in the conference, it is expected that there will be some specific suggestions and plans made for the development and organization of the regional theater.

Mr. Rice, long one of the professional lanterners of Broadway commercialism, has for several years developed his plans for a community repertory theater that would in time create a vital native American drama. Professor Flanagan, director of the national theater project, will discuss the possibilities of a national theater as its basis. Mr. Hopkins, FERA administrator, will supervise the national theater project as developed by Professor Flanagan. According to present plans the government support will be announced about Sept. 1.

Guests

Persons attending the conference will be guests at the play in which Philip Foster of Mason City, graduate of the University of Iowa, will play the part of Abraham Lincoln. Mr. Foster has recently played in New York city with Helen Hayes in "Mary of Scotland." He has also played with Philip Merivale in "George Washington," with Grace George in "The Road to Rome," and in the Theater Guild's production of Eugene O'Neill's "Mourning Becomes Electra."

The conference is under the supervision of the speech and dramatic arts department, the school of fine arts, and the extension division. The committee in charge consists of the following persons: Prof. Rufus H. Fitzgerald, director of the school of fine arts, Professor Mabie, Dean Paul C. Packer of the college of education and director of the summer session, and Prof. Bruce E. Mahan, director of the extension division of the University of Iowa.

Situation In Mexico Clear

MEXICO CITY, July 24 (AP)—Mexican students today celebrated jubilantly the overthrow of Tomas Garrido Canabal, dictator of Tabasco state, as peasants in Tamulipas state continued their bloodless fight to oust Governor Rafael Villarreal.

Several thousand students handed Garrido in effigy in one of the capital's principal avenues this afternoon in token of the anti-church leader's downfall. Garrido's power was broken when President Lazaro Cardenas intervened to remove his protégé, Governor Miguel Lastra.

tain Jewish elements and other state enemies has recently made necessary special regulations. It is more than ever necessary for each public employe to buy only from German fellow citizens.

Agitation against the Steel Helmet veterans' organization continued, despite reported Nazi promises that it would not be molested further for the time being. An editorial in the Nazi newspaper "Rhein Front" demanded their dissolution on the grounds that all such organizations should be made part of the "national unity."

"This league has now lost all its independent symbolism," the article asserted.

The edict requiring Nazi children of lower Bavaria and Oberalz to limit their allegiance to the three Nazi groups was explained thus:

"On the premise that religion is endangered, priests try to hold youths in order to use them for their political interests. As long as church leaders do not succeed in forcing church sub-leaders to adopt a positive attitude toward the state and der Fuehrer, it is impossible for state officials and employes to give their children to confessional youth organizations.

Servants of State

Prep Band To Give Concert

High School Group To Play at Union Next Wednesday

The public programs of the all state high school band will begin Wednesday when the music department will present a concert at Iowa Union, at 8 p.m.

Enrollment in the band, the only all state group conducted during the second term of the summer session, is smaller this year because of the Farm bureau band in which 800 Iowa high school students throughout the state are playing at the exposition at Pasadena, Cal.

Registered Students
The band is made up of students registered in the all state organization, band directors and supervisors enrolled in the course in high school band problems, and university students.

The all state group is participating in a regular course of study including recitals, radio broadcasts of solos and small groups under the direction of Milton Dieterich, visiting lecturer in music. Classes in music theory and music appreciation are also conducted for the all state organization. A program of sports and recreation as well as private music lessons has been worked out.

Daily Rehearsals
The all state high school band rehearses daily at 10 a.m. under the direction of Prof. Charles B. Richter. University students who have had some experience in band playing are invited to join the group.

The junior music group, a new feature of this summer's program is being conducted during the second term. Students enrolled in this group are below high school age and are Iowa City children or persons who are temporarily in the city while their parents are attending summer school. Al Cummins and Himie Voxman are directing the junior music group.

Enrollment in the regular advanced courses in the music department is unusually large. With the junior music division and the high school organization together with the university work, supervisors can observe the actual teaching process from elementary grades through advanced courses for the doctor's degree.

stores, regardless of whether they are Gentile—or Jewish-owned.

Thus the "National Blatt" at Coblenz observed:

"Our principles regarding department stores remain adamant as do our other principles. We are still fighting this institution, refraining from overt action for the present only for social reasons."

Library Gets Three Vardis Fisher Novels

The three novels in the tetralogy by Vardis Fisher, Idaho realist, now visiting on the campus at the University of Iowa, head the selections from recent additions to the university library announced yesterday by Grace Van Wormer, director.

"In Tragic Life," and "Passions Spin the Plot" Fisher attempts to apply the methods of Zola and Dostoevsky to the American scene. He has undertaken to tell the story of the inner and outer life of his hero, Vidar Hunter, in boyhood in rural Idaho, in adolescence in college at Salt Lake City, and in manhood at Chicago. The last completed volume in the tetralogy is to be completed by January.

Mr. Fisher was presented by the graduate college during the first term of the summer session in a lecture, "Romance and Realism; Two Approaches to Life and Literature." He has been visiting for several weeks at the home of Don Lewis, 1342 N. Dubuque street. He is planning to leave Iowa City the first of August.
