Britain to Ask Sanctions; Haile Selassie Warns Against War

Plan Strong Stand Against Italy at Geneva

Incomplete Cabinet Tries to Hurry American Views
(Copyright, 1935, By The Associated Press)
LONDON, Aug. 21 (AP)—Premier Stanley Baldwin and seven of his key ministers tentatively decided late today to make a strong British stand at Geneva for economic sanctions against Italy in the event of war.

Trying Washington
At the same time the British government did everything but specifically ask the United States to give its full support to London's policy and by implication tried to hurry Washington into voluntarily stating its official views.

Denies Report
Ray Atherton, American charge d'affaires, had expected to be called to the foreign office tonight, but later went to the country for the night without the British government's making any formal approach on the question of American cooperation.

Six on Hand
There were six leading ministers on hand at the beginning and later Malcolm MacDonald, son of the former premier, who has charge of colonial policy of the government, a highly important responsibility just now, arrived.

Ministers There Were: Ramsay MacDonald, lord president of the council; Sir Samuel Hoare, foreign secretary; Anthony Eden, minister for League of Nations affairs; Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer; Sir John Simon, home secretary; Walter Runciman, president of the board of trade.

Farmers Hold Back Strikers

Vigilante Organization Keeps Harvest Hands In Grain Fields
CHARLESTON, Ill., Aug. 21 (AP)—Embattled Coles county broom-corn farmers, carrying shotguns and pitchforks, patrolled their fields today, turning back strikers who sought to entice workers from their labor.

Intimidation
A vigilante organization, numbering about 300, rallied to the Joe Driscoll farm this morning after 100 strikers had ordered 40 workers out of the field. Only the protection of the landowners' weapons kept the laborers at their task, for about 100 men and left the same spot yesterday when intimidated by strike sympathizers whose menacing firearms backed up their threats.

Earn as Much
"The crop this year is standing straight, where last year it had been beat down by wind and rain," one farmer explained. A man can make $3 to $4 a day with the same effort he put in last year, despite the lower hourly scale.

President Roosevelt Will Dedicate Boulder Dam at Completion

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Aug. 21 (AP)—Boulder dam itself will be completed by Sept. 26, when it will be dedicated by President Roosevelt, Walker R. Young, construction engineer for the federal bureau of reclamation, announced today.

Comedian's Wife Files Divorce
BRIDGEPORT, Conn. (AP)—Mrs. Roy Atwell, wife of the stuttering comedian of stage and radio, filed divorce proceedings in superior court yesterday. The papers charge cruelty and habitual intemperance.

Developments In Growing Crisis

London—Seven key members of the cabinet tentatively adopted plans to ask the full cabinet Thursday to press at Geneva for adoption of economic sanctions against Italy by league members in the event of war.

Washington—The senate speedily adopted a 7-point program designed to keep America neutral in the event of a foreign war.

Addis Ababa—Emperor Haile Selassie, tears in his eyes, warned in an interview with the Associated Press as his primitive empire stirred with frenzied preparations for war.

Rome—The capital bustled with warlike preparations as troops were sent through preparatory to embarkation. Uniforms were everywhere in evidence.

Vienna—The official government newspaper announced Austria, which has a fascist regime, would side with Italy.

Paris—Premier Laval continued attempts to persuade Mussolini to penetrate Ethiopia by peaceful methods.

London—American tourists here were apparently unperturbed by the threat of war, but dispatches said some in Austria and Hungary were cutting short their vacations.

Work Out Plan For Modifying Neutrality Bill

Proposed Measure May Ban Credit, Loans During War
WASHINGTON, Aug. 21 (AP)—A plan to modify the seven-point policy-reversing neutrality bill swiftly approved by the senate today to make it "more flexible" was worked out tonight at a White House conference.

Personal Opinion
Chairman McReynolds (D-Tenn.) of the house foreign affairs committee, after his conference with President Roosevelt and state department officials, said it was his "personal opinion" that final legislation also would include a ban on credits and loans to belligerent nations.

Loans Provision Was Not in the Senate-Approved Measure.
Calls Meeting
After the conference, which Secretary Hull and Assistant Secretary R. Walton Moore of the state department also attended, McReynolds called a meeting of his committee for tomorrow to consider action. He predicted a modified bill would be passed before adjournment.

As they left the White House, the conferees left no doubt that removal of the mandatory provisions imposed by the senate would be sought.

Mandatory Ban
The senate resolution encompassed a mandatory ban on arms shipments to belligerents and a declaration that Americans would travel on belligerent vessels "at their own risk." Both provisions departed from previous neutrality policies.

McReynolds, Hull and Moore all have advocated giving some discretionary power to the president, and it was indicated that the final bill would lay down few iron clad rules.

Sees Threat To Existence Of Humanity

Ethiopian Emperor Fears Coming War May Drag in World
(Copyright, 1935, By The Associated Press)
ADDIS ABABA, Aug. 21 (AP)—Emperor Haile Selassie, weeping bitterly tears of anguish, warned the world tonight his imminent struggle with Italy may touch off a conflict that will threaten "the very existence of humanity itself."

The lean and bearded lion of Judah stepped down from his golden throne to grant an interview to the Associated Press as his primitive empire stirred with frenzied preparations for war.

Whole World
That war, he predicted in the solemn tones of a medieval prophet, not only would drench Italy and Ethiopia in blood, but might drag in the whole world.

"Unhappily," he cried, "if such a conflict leads to a world struggle between the white and black races, the very existence of humanity itself will be threatened.

"We will be back in 1914!"
"There will be no more security for the world than there was then. International treaties will have no more validity than the word of a thief."

His eyes smoldered as he proudly declared his own people have sufficient courage and patriotism to bear the assaults of Italy alone.

But he warned:
Disaster
"If other nations are drawn in, as surely they will be, it will be a disaster of the first magnitude."

"I pray to God each day that such a catastrophe may be averted."
As he spoke his tense capital, echoing to the weird noises of frenzied warriors demonstrating their zeal in mimic war, heard reports from over the empire that a wave of patriotism is sweeping the land.

Subjects Shaken
From the hands of native runners came word that the emperor's subjects in all provinces have been shaken from their traditional lethargy.

The emperor disdained his glittering throne and sat in an ordinary armchair behind a flat-topped desk as he talked to the correspondent.

Chicago Will Bar Butter Not Certified Pure

CHICAGO, Aug. 21 (AP)—Butter from farm areas not certified as free of bovine tuberculosis, reported to include eight Iowa counties, will be barred from the Chicago market after midnight tonight.

The ban was placed by order of the city board of health, Herman N. Bundesen, president, said, to stop the practice of making Chicago a "dumping ground" for butter rejected in other cities.

The "dumping" occurred, he asserted, after Cleveland, Cincinnati and other cities adopted regulations similar to those effective here beginning tomorrow.

Iowa Starts Toward Recovery

State Buying Hits Increase

Sales Tax Returns Show Wave of Post Depression Sales
DES MOINES, Aug. 21 (AP)—A post-depression wave of retail buying, sharply outlined in increased retail sales, gave concrete evidence today that Iowa business has set its foot on the "road to recovery."

Iowa retail sales, evidenced by sales tax returns, increased $33,000,000 during the second quarter of 1935 over the same period last year.

The figures were announced today by Louis E. Roddewig of the state tax board. He predicted on reports of field men who found sales "increases in virtually every line" that the third quarter will show even greater gains.

Second quarter 1935 sales tax collections amounted to $3,225,603. This would show retail sales of $168,250,000, an increase over the same months last year of $33,142,000."

Back of the sales increase are a rising farm income, improved crop prospects, improvement in business confidence, increased employment and to a lesser degree, restored salary cuts.

Iowa's farm income for the first half of 1935, for which figures are available increased 63 million dollars or 36 per cent over the first six months of 1934. This includes crop adjustment benefit payments on last year's programs.

Confessional's Secrecy Right Is Challenged

BERLIN, Aug. 21 (AP)—The secret of the Catholic confessional was placed into jeopardy in Germany today when a Roman Catholic priest, Father Horoba, was fined 500 marks (about $200) for "abuse of the confessional chair."

Priest Denounced
The state attorney at Gletwitz prosecuted the priest for allegedly attempting to dissuade a woman during a confession from sending her son into the Nazi labor service.

She afterward told her husband and he denounced the priest.

Pleading that the confessional is secret, Father Horoba—a war veteran with medals—declared himself a supporter of the present regime, but said he had orders from his bishop to see that the religious training of young men in the labor service was not neglected.

Hogan Gets State Office

Appointed Deputy Treasurer to Fill Vacancy
Edward M. Hogan was appointed deputy state treasurer to fill the vacancy left by the death of Roy Williams, State Treasurer, Leo Wegman announced last night according to the Associated Press.

Mr. Hogan, who has been acting deputy since April 1, operated the Hogan plumbing and heating shop here until early in 1933 when he entered the employ of the state gasoline tax division.

He was superintendent of the division before becoming acting deputy treasurer.

Mrs. Hogan and three children, Eugene, Carroll, and Mary Elizabeth, reside in Iowa City.

Adjournment Plans Snarled By Congress

Solons Now Think Adjournment Will Be Next Wednesday
WASHINGTON, Aug. 21 (AP)—Despite rapid action in some quarters, congress became ensnarled today in a series of differences that threatened to delay adjournment until next week.

As the tangles developed, Speaker Byrns observed that "it looks like we'll be here until next Wednesday."

Representative Snell of New York, the republican leader, expressed a similar opinion.

Friday Adjournment?
On the senate side, however, Robinson of Arkansas, the democratic leader, asserted he was "ready to quit tomorrow night, provided some things are worked out tomorrow," but thought the drive should be directed toward a Friday adjournment.

On both sides, the adjournment fever remained high, bringing these developments:

Bulky Program Remains
A conference agreement on a compromise TVA bill, designed to bulwark the Tennessee Valley authority against legal attacks, was approved swiftly by both the house and senate and sent to the White House.

Wash Labor Standards Bill, Railroad Pensions, Utilities, Liquor Control, Gold Suit Prohibition, and the Frazier-Lemke farm moratorium. All except the first were enmeshed in difficulties.

Funeral Rites For Post, Will Rogers Today, Nation Mourns

Motors Roar For Flyer, Theaters Darkened for Noted Humorist, Actor
(By The Associated Press)

Airplane motors will roar, prayers will be whispered, bells tolled and eulogies spoken over the nation Thursday for Will Rogers and Wiley Post.

While funeral services are held in the afternoon for the actor-humorist at Los Angeles and for the globe-girdling flyer at Oklahoma City, legions of friends will memorialize them elsewhere.

Theaters Dark
President Roosevelt will be represented at the two principal services by army and navy officers. They will present wreaths in his behalf.

The motion picture producers and distributors of America announced that more than 12,000 theaters in all sections of the nation will be darkened for two minutes during the funeral hour as a tribute to Rogers.

Hollywood Services
All film studios, including the one at which Rogers was a star, will be closed during the services. It will be the first time in history studios have closed so long for an individual.

At huge Hollywood bowl, Conrad Nagel, actor, and Rupert Hughes, writer, will figure prominently in a Rogers tribute. Memorial services also are to be held at the Community Presbyterian church in Beverly Hills, the city of which Rogers once was mayor.

Iowa Remembers
On the other side of the nation, 46 planes, flying black crepe streamers, will roar above New York, in tribute to Post. They will take off from Floyd Bennett field at the hour funeral services begin for Post in Oklahoma City. At the same time, 25 planes, piloted by Veterans of Foreign Wars, will fly over Milwaukee.

In Iowa, carillons will toll at a Des Moines cemetery and at Iowa State college at Ames. Barring bands and cheering crowds at the Iowa State fair in Des Moines will be silenced for two minutes—honoring Rogers' portrayal of the event in his motion picture, "State Fair."

Wegman Hits Investigation

Invites Woodbury County Probers To "Go to Hell"
SIOUX CITY, Ia., Aug. 21 (AP)—State Treasurer Leo J. Wegman, in an address today before the Iowa League of Municipalities convention here, invited participants in the Woodbury county graft investigation to "take three running jumps and go to hell."

Shortly before, delegates elected Mayor Herman Lord of Muscatine as president to succeed Mayor Cornelius Van de Steeg of Orange City. Other officers are Mayor J. F. Walter, McGregor, vice-president, and Frank Pierce, Marshalltown, re-elected secretary-treasurer. Van de Steeg and City Clerk Fred Gelfke, Hawarden, were chosen trustees.

Lord was temporarily suspended from office last week on a petition filed by five Muscatine residents but regained his title a day later when authors of an ouster move failed to produce a bond to back their court suit.

John Mitchell, Ft. Dodge, speaker of the state house of representatives, discussed state legislative activities and State Senator Albert J. Shaw, Pochontas, spoke on the homestead relief bill considered by the last legislature at a dinner meeting of the convention tonight.

"Punch Card" Tax Collecting

WHEN THE "Show-me" state puts into effect a system of any kind it must be good! This may be a case of necessity being the mother of invention, since the new sales tax for Missouri becomes effective on Aug. 27.

The "punch card" system of sales tax collection is the answer which State Auditor Forrest Smith will likely put into effect in response to the ban of the federal government on state coined tax tokens.

The uncertainty of the federal fractional currency, also, makes the use of some system of tax collection necessary, according to Smith, for he says the state must have the revenue.

The idea of merchants issuing cards for the payment of taxes in their own stores may find ready acceptance in other states that are facing a similar difficulty.

The Missourians may have a feather in their cap for their solution of the problem, for other states will watch the system as tried in Missouri.

Experience Versus Opportunist

EXPERIENCE always loses when it clashes with the will of a powerful opportunist. An age old truth, never has it been more forcibly emphasized than in the picture of Il Duce's impending campaign against Ethiopia.

The great war is still fresh in the minds of all adults, and much responsibility for that devastating conflict must be charged to the boundless ambition of one man—Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany.

The Kaiser took a long chance at a time which in many respects resembles the present. He lost.

Mussolini rules a nation oddly like that which the Kaiser dominated in 1913. He faces a need for expansion in many ways, a need that cries for an answer.

There can be no doubt but that Il Duce has planned his Ethiopian intentions for some time. Then waited only a favorable moment for fruition. Today is the that moment, if ever it is to come, he logically reasons.

All Europe looks fearfully into the future, a future which may hold another terrible war. They recognize the unfairness of Italy's attack, sympathize with the hapless Ethiopians, and yet the chances of their doing anything to stop the impending catastrophe are negligible.

widely publicized Californian can easily testify. Mr. Willard has made many front pages with his resurrection experiments, performed on animals. He freezes his subjects in refrigerators and claims that he revives them after they have been solidly frozen for several days.

The day before yesterday he was halted in the middle of an experiment on a monkey by Dr. C. C. Warne, head of the Hollywood city humane department. In the presence of several friends, newspaper men and the officer, Willard then continued his work.

However the delay had been too long, according to the chemist, and the monkey was hopelessly dead.

Then Dr. Warne and Willard went to the city prosecutor's offices, where the latter must answer a complaint charging cruelty to animals.

We can visualize the ghostly visages of 10,000,000 guinea pigs, laughing loud and long.

Minnesota's Enigma

GOVERNOR Floyd Olson is aptly called "Minnesota's Enigma" in an article appearing in the current issue of the American magazine. Olson has figured in the newspapers at least twice during the last week.

First, the Chicago Tribune attacked him as being a dictator who is trying to suppress freedom of the press in Minnesota. In the second instance, news stories heralded a break between Governor Olson and President Roosevelt.

Governor Olson, elected on the farmer-labor ticket, went into office on the most radical of the successful party platforms. For months he seemed to be favorable to the administration, but at last he has broken from the Roosevelt ranks because he feels the WPA wages are insufficient. Now whether Olson's rift is due to a very sincere wish to increase the wages of public works employes, or is due to a wish to be in style we don't profess to know. The style, of course, right now is for radicals and conservatives alike to get anti-administration ideas.

In truth Olson is Minnesota's enigma. He apparently has visions of accomplishing a great deal for the common man. The way to help the common man is to follow a sort of socialistic program, by which in time the control of key industries will be put in the hands of the government. Capitalism will be ditched by peaceable means, and production shall be for use not profit. Personally Olson is a big husky Viking of common stock—a self-made man.

It's no wonder the common people of Minnesota have accepted as their chief the man who says, "I'm as radical as hell."

On the other side of the ledger we see Olson, the convivial man, who has as his personal friends numerous hard-headed business men and a good many politicians of the old school. Then the question comes up, why do these business men and politicians support Olson politically if he is such an out and out radical? The question resolves itself into two alternatives: Is Olson an earnest radical but with a practical turn of mind, or is he a practical politician with a veneer of vote-catching progressivism?

Our guess is that Olson is a hard fighter with practical leanings who will be in the political picture of the nation for years after Huey Long, Townsend, and others have joined the ranks of Elmer and the other forgotten men.

"My percentages may not be correct but I believe $20 will take care of the debt. Enclosed is the amount."

MURDERS A COW MIDDLETOWN, R. I. (INS)—Frank Peckham does not like a musical accompaniment to his steep—especially when the music is provided by a cowbell. After several nights of the serenades, Peckham grabbed a carving knife, rushed the cow,

WASHINGTON—Senator Copeland, that mighty vote getter of New York state, says the way to cure post-prohibition bootlegging evils is to have Uncle Sam loaf off his whisky tax at the retail spot, not the distillery bung of the barrel.

Over the objections of Secretary Morgenthau to sending his tax collectors to some 225,000 "retail outlets" instead of the more convenient distillery source, Copeland got the senate to accept his plan, at least for conference purposes.

The senate did that before Dr. Copeland got a chance to make the high-cost-of-whisky speech with which he was primed. That did not deter him. He made the speech anyhow, after the fact. And he outlined a picture of "pyramided" federal taxes that may interest liquor buyers. It purports to tell them why a bottle of whisky costing 25 cents to manufacture reaches the ultimate consumer at a price of $2.11 or thereabouts.

Tugwell Shows How Plight Of Farmers Will Be Changed

(This is the first of two articles on the work of the U. S. resettlement administration.)

(Written Especially for Central Press) By REXFORD G. TUGWELL (U. S. Resettlement Administrator)

A kindly, sun-bronzed farmer stood with one foot on the running board of the automobile. His dust-streaked hat was pulled down deep on his forehead to shade his eyes.

"You know," he said, "I came out here several years ago. Back east I had done fairly well. I had saved several thousand dollars, moved here with my family to the southwest and bought this large tract of land. I thought that in a few years I could retire."

He gazed over the scorched landscape. Dust had piled in layers like drifted snow. The air was heavy and sultry.

A Man's Own Story "I've worked hard, like a slave, almost, but I haven't made a paying crop yet—loses all the time. That's true generally around here. The top-soil is gone. Ever so often the wind whips up, blows away what little is left of the fertility of the land. We can't do anything about it. We've got to get out, but we've got to have help to get established somewhere else."

This story is typical of the hopeless fight that thousands of farmers are making in the so-called "dust bowl" of the great plains.

What had occurred? The nation pushed westward, closing the frontiers, taking up land for cultivation. The encroachments went so far that the grass cover was destroyed under the plow. Thus exposed, the land was prey to every wind. Soil has been exhausted, on millions of acres it is no longer possible to make a profit from farming. It is difficult to supply even a subsistence living. Thousands of families are destitute and stranded.

Similar Conditions In other great sections of the United States you will find similar conditions where the population is in retreat. These areas can be generally described:

1. Devastated, eroded sections in the Appalachian-Ozark region, running down the eastern seaboard and extending west into Mississippi and Arkansas.

2. Decadent coal mining areas, dotted with "ghost towns," with thousands of persons, once profitably employed, living in shacks and depending on relief.

3. Cut-over timber lands in northern Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota and in the Pacific northwest.

4. The spring and winter wheat areas of the great plains, extending from Montana and the Dakotas to the once vast prairie lands of the southwest.

Must Have Aid It is obvious that thousands of families in these areas are doomed to poverty standards unless, through outside assistance, they can remove to more suitable land.

To provide assistance for these economic refugees is a primary responsibility of the resettlement administration, recently created by the president. The problem has been long in the making. It will require time and patient cooperation to solve it.

What is needed is a national program of land conservation and utilization. Land must be adapted to its best economic use. The resettlement administration hopes to make a start toward this goal. Substandard acres will be taken out of production. But these acres will not lie idle. They will be converted to such public uses as forests, parks, recreational areas, wild life refuges, improved ranges and Indian reservations.

An Opportunity Families living on land purchased by the administration will be given every opportunity to relocate in areas where they will have a chance to win economic independence. Much of the resettlement will be on an individual family basis. All of it will be voluntary, not compulsory.

The land program fits into a national pattern. By the president's direction, 10 acres of land are to be retired from present cultivation to offset every acre brought into production projects. This will maintain an adjusted balance.

Next: The Human Tragedy.

A New Yorker At Large

By JAMES B. RESTON NEW YORK—After one of the most miraculous careers this you can count. He was born in Greenwich Village, sold papers down the east side theater, peddled candy through old Madison Square Garden selling programs, worked for the Flo Ziegfeld as an usher, then made money in the coal business as plenty more in the liquor business.

In the gambling dens along Broadway, anyone will tell you that Tim Mara is always a jump ahead of the game. In addition to his winning at the tracks, he has made money a fight promoter. Several years ago he had enough sense to see that professional football was on the way. So he bought the New York Giant which, if you know your football, you'll recognize as the team which beat the superior Chicago Bears a won the National league championship in a playoff at the polo ground last year.

Noted around the tracks for lightning mental arithmetic and uncanny luck, Tim is perhaps the most successful bookie at the eastern tracks today, and certainly the most interesting.

About a month ago, these people were all happy. The Yankees were leading the American league, the Giants were leading the National and the Dodgers were doing the level worst to get into the cell. Everywhere there was talk of "nickel-world series," and the boys were sending reservations to Barrow "at the Yanks' office, Forty-second street and to Jim Toney out at the polo grounds.

But at this writing the nickel-ries look like a week's vacation a train fare to Detroit, and the Yankees are drifting across the Hart river to watch Bill Terry's Giants.

Gambling on baseball here is prevalent than in any other city either major league. At the grounds the gamblers have a down along the third base line you can get bets on anything they know you down there, bet that the man at bat will hit or that he won't. They'll bet the next pitch is a strike, or that it's a ball. But you want to fast and you'll be use if you pay on the spot, for they don't or bet for fun down in that circle.

What Others Think

All costs of government of whatever nature, be they for administration, for constructive work or for social reform, must finally be borne by that large group of our citizens who work, earn and save. Any suggestion that it can be palmed off on the comparatively few very rich, or those of more than average means is entirely misleading.

All taxes must ultimately come from the earning capacity of the nation. If that earning capacity is injured or destroyed through placing a burden of cost on goods produced beyond what the public itself will pay for such goods, the whole structure of trade and commerce, which depends upon a profitable exchange of goods and services, breaks down and the government itself will sooner or later face bankruptcy.

As a people we must get out of the befogged atmosphere in which we have been living and come out into the clear sunlight of fact and substance. It is extremely foolish for any of us longer to delude ourselves with the thought or hope that by some hook or crook we are going to profit through some new scheme which will bring about a redistribution of wealth, already created.

If all of our fixed property could be turned into liquid wealth and if in such form it was equally divided between us all, it would not affect our problem of support of government or of social reconstruction one iota.

In so short a time that it would seem as nothing we would be back where we were, dependent on the creative energy of our citizenship. Destroy creative energy and there can be no civilized form of government.

Record With Harold Gatty Didn't Fully Satisfy Him, So Wiley Post Then Flew Around the World Unaccompanied

(This is the third in a series of four articles on Wiley Post.)

By FOSTER HAILEY (Associated Press Staff Writer)

"I can fly around the world in eight days in this plane," said Wiley Post in 1930 as he examined the new low-winged monoplane "Winnie Mae" which F. C. Hall, Oklahoma oil man, had bought for Wiley to fly.

Post and Winnie Mae had won the Los Angeles-to-Chicago air derby and $7,600 that summer, but few believed him when he talked about flying around the world in that length of time.

Why, it had taken the army flyers 175 days to circumnavigate the globe six years before!

Needed A Navigator

Hall believed Post, though, and believed in him enough to back his judgment with money.

"Who is the best air navigator in the game," Post asked his friends. They told him Harold Gatty, a young Australian who had come to the United States to act as navigator for a proposed Tacoma-Tokyo flight by Lieut. Harold Bromley, knew as much of this new science as anyone. Post hired him.

The scoffers still were scoffing as Post, Gatty and Winnie Mae roared away from Roosevelt field June 23, 1931.

Rearing Over the World

They landed at Harbor Grace six hours later. Then it took them 16 hours flying to reach Chester, England. On, on they went. Hanover, Berlin, Moscow, Novosibirsk, came up over the horizon to meet them and faded out in the haze behind the Winnie Mae.

Irkutsk, Blagoveshchensk, Khabarovsk—the American public was reading the names of more tongue-twisters than it thought were on the map.

Post Wasn't Satisfied

Came July 1 and a great crowd was waiting at Roosevelt field again. First a speck, then a shape, a recognizable plane, and finally the Winnie Mae was "dragging" the field and sliding in for a three-point landing. It wasn't eight days, but it was close to it: 8 days, 15 hours, 51 minutes.

Wined, dined, paraded, sought by autograph hunters, showered with ticker tape and financial offers, Post and Gatty were the heroes of the hour. But Post wasn't satisfied. He wanted to fly the world alone—he and Winnie Mae.

Wined, dined, paraded, sought by autograph hunters, showered with ticker tape and financial offers, Post and Gatty were the heroes of the hour. But Post wasn't satisfied. He wanted to fly the world alone—he and Winnie Mae.

With his "Iron Mike"—a device that handled the plane in the air—faithful Winnie Mae and his own high courage, Post took off from Floyd Bennett field, Brooklyn, in the dawn of July 15, 1933. He wasn't far out when he hit fog. Worry? Not a bit. Let "Iron Mike" worry.

Berlin In One Hop

He made Berlin that time in one hop, then on to Moscow—the now familiar trail he and Gatty had blazed—Novosibirsk, Irkutsk, Khabarovsk, Flat, Alaska, Fairbanks, Edmonton and New York while all the world wondered at the courage, the stamina of this one-eyed flying fool from Oklahoma.

The International Aeronautical federation voted him its gold medal for the outstanding achievement of the year, counting this one-handed feat of his greater than the mass flight of Balbo and his Italian squadron from Italy to Chicago and back.

Death was but a few hours distant, but Will Rogers and Wiley Post, standing on the wings of their pontooned-equipped plane, shortly before their takeoff from Fairbanks for Point Barrow, couldn't have known their barnstorming-holiday tour of Alaska and Siberia would end so abruptly. Shortly after the photograph was made Rogers climbed into the cabin, Post dropped down into the forward cockpit and they were off!

BITS ABOUT SPORTS

by Art Snider

MOVE over, James Braddock, I and permit Ralph Kress to share your "Cinderella" glory. It was less than a month ago that Manager Bucky Harris of the Washington Senators informed the red-headed utility man he was to be shipped to the Chattanooga Lookouts. Today, he is Washington's favorite ball player.

It all came about by an act of providence. Kress had some home to inform Mrs. Kress that Clark Griffith had presented him with a pink slip to the minors. They were sorrowfully engaged in packing when a ball-park attendant came rushing in breathlessly to inform him that Buddy Myer was injured in the first game of that afternoon's doubleheader and Cecil Travis was also out of the lineup. Kress hurried to the ball park, too late for the opener, but just in time to perform at second base in the nightcap.

What Kress did that afternoon is now history. Four times he came to bat and four times he lashed out a hit, in addition to fielding in faultless style. In the 12 contests following that performance, Kress accepted 67 chances with only two errors. At bat he has cracked out 18 hits in 43 trips to the plate for an average of .419 to boost his previous mark of .349 to .278 for the season.

Yesterday, the titian-haired Kress continued his sensational playing in the fray with the White Sox, banging a triple and scoring thrice in three trips to the plate. He drove in two runs and participated in four double plays.

Kress has proven somewhat of an inspiration to the downcast Senators with his comeback. Manager Harris says he'll remain on the roster for the rest of the season and will be taken south next spring.

Cowboys Down Blue Sox, 5 to 2 DAVENPORT (AP) — Although Frank Lamanski struck out 14 Slou City batters, the Cowboys reached him for nine hits and a 5 to 2 victory over Davenport in the first game of their series here. Kemp, pitching for Slou City, held the Blue Sox to four hits.

150 Funny Men and 50 Elephants Enjoy Their Work In Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus

"Joey" Tyler and "Big Ben," Members of the Huge Congress of Entertainers With the "Greatest Show on Earth"

Clowns and elephants are mainstays of the circus and for generations they have played an important part in the advancement of this favorite amusement. While the chubb-faced funmakers of the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey combined circuses are the foremost comedians of the "big top," elephants are the clowns of the menagerie. Elephants like their fun and frequently play tricks upon each other. There are innumerable instances recorded in circus history establishing the fact that these huge beasts possess a sense of humor. Like the funny men, elephants enjoy their work and when in the main tent, their sole ambition is to create amusement. One hundred and fifty clowns,

Kelly Van Ee Stops Locals In I.S.A. Tilt

Homers by Affeldt, Spencer Cause Kelly 10's Downfall

Ames, Aug. 21 (AP)—Ames registered an upset in the Iowa Softball association race here tonight by defeating the Patty Ames of Boone, 3 to 2.

The John Deere club of Waterloo said it with hits and runs last night and their language was so overpowering, the Kelly Oilers could scarcely get a score in edge-wise and went down to a 6 to 1 defeat.

Two lusty home runs and a towering triple, all three coming on opportune occasions, accounted for all the visitors' runs.

The Oilers were re-introduced to Kelly Van Ee but did not relish the meeting. They remembered his performance when they last saw him in the very first game of the season at Kelly field when he dropped a 3 to 2 decision to Fred Otto. Last night, they hooked up again, with Van Ee the superior.

A drive of 250 feet into left field by Affeldt, good enough for a home run, started the Waterloo aggression on their rampage in the third. Elmer Bratten followed with an equally long drive into right center in the sixth, clearing the bases for three additional markers. The stocky first baseman was nipped at the plate trying to stretch the blow into a home run. Spencer's home run into right field with Richmond on the sacks in the eighth accounted for runs No. 5 and 6.

The Oilers counted in the last frame; they filled the bases on singles by Ralph Dvorsky and Gaultoher, a walk to Belger and a fly to left field by Acting Manager Sulek, after which Dvorsky counted.

The Oilers will get into action again tomorrow night against Old Style Lager of Cedar Rapids and Sunday night against Schukel Chevrolet of Waterloo, now at the top of the league by virtue of Boone's defeat at Ames last night.

DRIVE FELLS SCHOOLBOY ROWE IN DETROIT CLASH

Schoolboy Rowe knocked down by liner

Struck in the groin by a hard drive from the bat of Earl Combs of the Yankees, Schoolboy Rowe, Detroit pitching hero, writhes in pain as he falls to the ground. Despite his injury, Rowe, after a 15-minute rest, resumed pitching and blanked the New Yorkers, 6 to 0. In the next inning after his injury, Rowe hit a home run over the left field wall.

Schumacher Again Halts Reds

Giants Win By 3-0 Score

Schott Engages New York Ace in Keen Mound Duel

NEW YORK, Aug. 21 (AP)—Hal Schumacher exercised his "jinx" at the expense of the Reds today and beat them 3 to 0 to enable the Giants to maintain their three-game lead over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Schumacher, who never lost to the Reds until this season, turned them back for the fifteenth time in his major league career today after a mound duel with Rookie Gene Schott. It was Hal's seventeenth victory of the season and he got it only after seven innings of scoreless ball.

The Giants did all their scoring in the eighth after being held to two hits in the first five frames and six in all up through the seventh. Schumacher had given seven in that span.

An error by Oskis Slade started the winning rally. He fumbled Travis Jackson's grounder to give the Giant captain a life. Bill Terry sacrificed and when Mel Ott hit to Kampouris Bill Sullivan failed to cover first. It was scored as a single, Jackson going to third. Mark Koenig's single broke the deadlock and Hank Leiber finished the job by belting a double that sent in two more runs.

That spurt was a welcome one for Schumacher for it produced the first runs the Giants had scored for him in 23 innings.

Yankee Davis Cup Players Register Wins

Mako-Budge Duo, Allison-Van Ryn Win In National Doubles

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 21 (AP)—The United States Davis cup delegation to the National doubles tennis tournament at Longwood registered a pair on their rivals by entering the semi-finals.

Wilmer Allison and Johnny Van Ryn, who held the National team title back in 1931 and were runners-up to George Lott and Lester Stoen, now grazing the professional ranks, at Philadelphia last year, gave a consistent performance, turning back Robert Bryan of Chattanooga, Tenn., and John McDiarmid of Ft. Worth, Tex., 9-7, 6-3, 6-4.

The other internationalists, Don Budge and Gene Mako, young California stars, had a much easier task eliminating the Seattle entry, Henry Prusoff and Sam Lee, 6-2, 6-2, 6-1.

Having qualified Freda James and Kay Stammers, the all-England champions, for the semi-finals yesterday, the women's division spent the day deciding that round's other occupants.

The defending titlists, Helen Jacobs and Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Babyan, gained a one-sided 6-1, 6-1 win over a Brookline team, Mrs. Betty Carlisle and Mrs. Virginia Mahley. Nancy Lyle and Evelyn Dearman, in last week's Wightman cup play at Forest Hills, advanced on a 6-3, 6-3 victory over Gracy Wheeler of Santa Monica, Cal., and Katherine Winthrop of Boston. Mrs. Dorothy Andrus of Stamford, Conn., and Carolin Babcock of Los Angeles, had to go an extra set before ousting the Anglo-American combination. Mrs. Phyllis Muddford King and Mrs. Penelope Anderson McBride of Short Hills, N. J., 3-6, 6-2, 6-4.

Discovery

Finally Defeated By Top Row In Rich Narragansett

NARRAGANSETT PARK, PAV. TUCKET, R. I., Aug. 21 (AP)—Back on the track where he set a world record for the distance, Almeda Gwynne Vanderbilt's Discovery today bowed to A. A. Baron's Top Row in the $25,000 added Narragansett special of a mile and three-tenths.

Top Row's time, 1:55 4-5, was only 4-5 of a second slower than the record set by Discovery last fall, but then Discovery carried only 110 pounds instead of today's 139 pound burden. Top Row bore an impact of only 110 pounds.

A crowd of 45,000 backed Discovery down to a 1 to 4 favorite in the annuals as the Vanderbilt four-year-old went to his first defeat after taking eight consecutive major turf purses.

Top Row had a length and a half on Discovery at the end of the race. In third place only one length away from Discovery was Mrs. Walter E. O'Hara's Howard, while Mrs. F. A. Carraud's Time Supply, winner of the stake in its first running last season, finished fourth, two lengths behind Howard.

Top Row earned $25,700 by his victory, making his earnings for the year $59,820.

Iowa's Young Republicans to Meet Aug. 28

Plans to Organize in Every County in State Will Be Laid

Iowa's young republican leaders will assemble at Des Moines Aug. 28 to plan for the active organization in each of Iowa's 99 counties in preparation for the national campaign next year, Attorney D. C. Nolan, state chairman, announced yesterday.

Invitations for the state meeting have been to young republican district chairmen and vice-chairmen.

Attorney Nolan, in announcing the conference plans, said, "The purpose of the conference will be to plan a statewide organization to conduct a campaign in every Iowa county next year and to take action supplementing the program adopted at the state meeting last April."

"The Iowa young republicans will plan to bring the national convention of the group to Des Moines."

"In addition, delegates will be selected for the fall national convention," Attorney Nolan concluded. National headquarters for the organization were established in Des Moines recently.

The local district will be represented by Henry Bailey, chairman for the district, and Laura Bouck of Fairfield, vice chairman.

"ACT OF GOD" AND MOTHER PLAY

Helen Hayes and daughter

Helen Hayes, noted actress, takes time out from roles at summer theater, Suffern, N. Y., to chat with her daughter, the "Act of God" baby, Mary Hayes. The sobriquet of "Act of God" came at the time the actress had to quit the stage because she was an expectant mother. In the contract, such an event could only be referred to as "An Act of God," hence Helen Hayes' baby became known as the "Act of God" baby.

Oat Yield in Johnson County May Be 40 Bushels Per Acre

By GLENN HEFFNER

As threshing nears completion throughout Johnson county, reports from various communities indicate an approximate average oats yield of 40 bushels to the acre.

Quality of the grain in this section of the state is uniformly good except for discoloration from weathering.

Not as Heavy

The consignments brought in to local dealers and those throughout the county are not as heavy in weight as first thought.

Some grain weighed only 25 pounds, while other loads weighed fully 32 pounds with an average of 28 bushels.

Marketing of oats this year is very light in Johnson county and in the entire state.

Quotations Slump

All market oats quotations slumped last week, making the price at the machine roughly 20 cents, considering threshing and hauling costs. The price in Iowa City for the best oats was quoted at 30 cents yesterday.

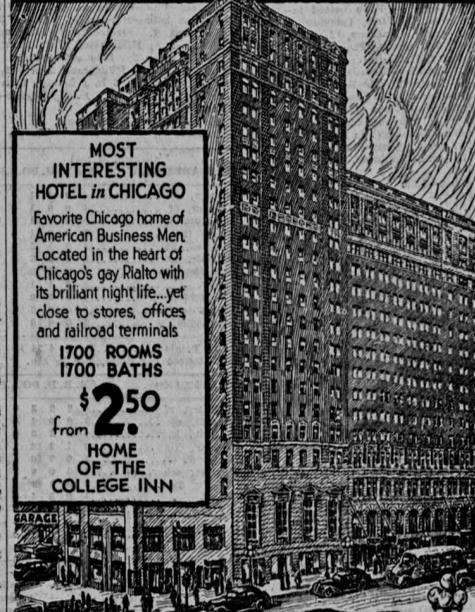

The reason for the drop in the market has been attributed to hedging pressure exerted by elevators.

The market is likely to strengthen, dealers believe, within a few weeks when the effects of the supply of machine-to-market oats wears off.

No Justification

Neither visible supply nor production figures for this year justify continued low prices for oats. The accumulated supply now in storage at the principal points in the nation as of Aug. 10 is placed at 8,524,000 bushels compared with a five-year aver-
