Ethiopians Prepare for Battle While Council Ponders Action

Italy Plans To Enter Aduwa As Ethiopians Make Ready

Italian Aviators Report Two Columns Of Black Troops But Few Miles Distant

(By the Associated Press)

Black warriors of Ethiopia swung into position near Aduwa for the "battle of vengeance" as darkness closed in the manufacturing of Italian and Ethiopian troops last night.

Italian aviators late in the afternoon reported two powerful columns of Haile Selassie's troops were only 20 or 30 miles from the Italian lines.

The chiefs of Benito Mussolini said the Italian forces will enter the city before "night falls tomorrow."

Meanwhile, in the United States President Roosevelt determined to maintain strict neutrality, announced an immediate embargo on American shipment of "arms, munitions and implements of war to Ethiopia or Italy. He acted under the neutrality powers voted by the last session of congress.

Latest reports by Italian forces claimed they occupied the village of Entisio at a strategic point 30 kilometers east of Aduwa.

Adigat, also east of Aduwa, was the scene of most violent fighting during the day. There, said reports from the front, was hand-to-hand fighting the kind the knife-wielding tribesmen of Ethiopia best like. The results were still uncertain.

There was fighting, too, in Danakil farther east along the Eritrean border, and at Mussa Ali where the Italians apparently had not made much headway.

At Geneva, Ethiopia asked the League of Nations to order immediate military, naval and air sanctions against Italy.

A report to the league council absolved Ethiopia of blame for the present conflict.

A call was issued for an "urgent" session of the league assembly next Wednesday, and a committee of six was named to make a new inquiry into the Italo-Ethiopian situation, in view of the changed status.

Mussolini's request that England agree to withdraw her fleet from the Mediterranean Italy would do the same was turned down by the British government.

The military situation, as disclosed by dispatches from the various fronts, from Rome, and from Addis Ababa, is as follows:

The Aduwa sector.

Forces numerically equal face each other on this, the northern front. Italy's advantage lies in her superior war weapons and supplies. Ethiopians are favored by a thorough acquaintance with the terrain. Little of which adapts itself to any pitched battles such as the fields of Flanders in the World war.

General Emilio de Bono has 100,000 men, supported by planes, tanks and artillery. From his base at Asmara in Eritrea he has moved since Thursday across the border in a semi-circling movement aimed at Aduwa, the little city which he has been an ache in the Italian heart ever since an Italian force was wiped out there 40 years ago.

Haile Selassie Sends Throne On to Dessie

ADDIS ABABA, Oct. 5 (AP)—Emperor Haile Selassie dispatched a portable throne and personal effects, including the imperial firearms, to Dessie today where he expects soon to arrive to head an army.

The emperor will move from place to place by airplane as circumstances require on the three fronts where the Italians are pushing ahead into Ethiopia.

The empress may accompany him because Dessie is her birthplace and the governor is her son. She does not plan to go to the field camp, however.

League Names Six to Handle War Question

Create "Strategy" Board But Fail to Act On Appeal of Ethiopia

GENEVA, Oct. 5 (AP)—The council of the League of Nations appointed a "strategy" board of six to handle the Italo-Ethiopian warfare tonight but failed to take immediate action upon solemn Ethiopian appeal to "stop the massacre of innocent populations."

A report submitted to the council by its committee of 13 absolved Ethiopia of blame for the African fighting. A member said it inferred Italy was "clearly in the wrong."

Failure of the council to act immediately upon Ethiopia's plea for adoption of military, naval and air sanctions against Italy brought forth later private expressions of reproach from even the most ardent advocates of the league.

League circles heard one of the first actions of the committee of six was to ask the league secretary to draw up a statement based on the assumption Italy has committed unprovoked aggression.

This statement will be discussed by the committee tomorrow afternoon. No actual decision of war guilt against Italy was reached by the group, it was said, but its action in directing the secretary to draft a preliminary document of that nature was held to be very significant.

Recommendations

The strategy committee must make recommendations upon Ethiopia's plea for military sanctions and also must name the aggressor, in a report to the council Monday afternoon. The committee of six went into session tonight immediately upon council's adjournment.

With desperate fighting continuing in northeast Africa, the gravity of the situation as seen in Geneva was shown by the fact President Edward Benes invoked a session of the league assembly for next Wednesday.

60 Nations

This means that almost 60 nations will be asked to give their opinion and share responsibility in any decision for sanctions against Italy.

When the committee of 13's report absolving Ethiopia from blame was made the Italian delegation instantly entered a declaration of full reservations concerning it.

Baron Pompeo Aloisi, head of Premier Mussolini's delegation, made the reservations before packed galleries at a public afternoon session of the council which followed a private one this morning.

Do We Want A Band?

It is high time action be taken on the University of Iowa band situation. If we are going to have a marching band that both students and alumni may be proud of, now is the time to build it. Not two months from now, nor two years.

Where the blame should be placed for the present difficulties of the university band, we do not know, nor do we care. The main trouble, however, seems to be that no one knows who is in charge of the university band or bands.

For years this institution, which is absolutely essential in the building up of pep and enthusiasm for athletic events, has been practically an orphan child of the university. It is time some department claimed it and took over the responsibility of seeing that an organization is built that can be viewed with pride.

We do not lack material, with certainly more than 150 experienced musicians ready and willing to play in a university band. We have plenty of R.O.T.C. officers with the time and training to teach the fundamentals of marching. The University of Iowa music department is fast gaining recognition as one of the leading institutions of its kind in the United States. Every year we bring thousands of high school students here for a music festival. Yet, we have not placed more than a 40 piece band on the field so far this season.

We do not wish to cast any reflections upon the band members who marched in the stadium yesterday. They did a good job, but their numbers were pitifully small.

There should be no arguments about concert bands and marching bands. The students of the University of Iowa want one band, a large band, that will be worthy of the pride they have in the institution as a whole.

2 SUI Bands May Combine Next Saturday

Band Members Meet, Draw and Adopt Five Resolutions

Indications were last night that the university concert band will probably combine with the marching band, beginning with the Colgate game next Saturday.

Strong protests have been made by alumni, faculty members and band members against using the small marching band of about 40 pieces for football games.

Protesting band members met again yesterday and drew up a set of resolutions. A committee which was chosen to confer with university officials was counseled to be patient in order that the situation may work itself out.

University authorities told the protesting group they felt confident that both bands will be combined into one organization and thoroughly drilled for coming games. They were advised that cooperation between band members and those in authority is essential.

Band members claim that the whole situation revolves around the fact that the responsibility for the university band is not definitely placed.

Although the band functions under the military department, Lieut. Col. George F. N. Dalley denies that the responsibility is his. However, Dr. O. E. Van Doren, who has been head of both the concert and marching bands for the last several decades, has been replaced as head of the marching band by order of Colonel Dalley.

The resolutions adopted by the concert band members follow:

1. The entire university band should be returned to the direction of Dr. Van Doren.
2. Appropriations, which have not been forthcoming in the last few years, are necessary to the running of the university band.
3. The University of Iowa should have a large marching band and a large concert band of high excellence. Members of the concert band should be allowed to play in the marching band.
4. Freshman and sophomore members of the band should be excused from military classes and drill, as has always been the custom until this year.
5. Present band members are ready and willing to drill and to appear at any time under the direction of Dr. Van Doren.

Versatility Of Iowa Offense Gives Colgate Scouts Eyeful

Oze Simmons, Crayne Lead Powerhouse Attack on Lighter Dakota Ramparts

By ART SNIDER
(Daily Iowan Sports Editor)

Iowa is ready for Colgate! This was the consensus 11,000 Hawkeye fans carried away from the stadium yesterday afternoon after observing a pompous pageant of manpower, 42 strong, slaughter the stout-hearted Coyotes of South Dakota U., 47 to 2 for one of the largest early-season scores an Iowa team has amassed in recent years.

Three Colgate scouts viewed an inkling of what the Red Raiders may expect next week as the Hawkeyes cut loose with a bit of open football, only a small amount, but much more than Coach Ossie Solem wanted them to see.

Restraints Own Team

The Hawkeye mentor, seeking to abate the furious aggression of his charges and "restrain them from 'looking too good,'" rushed second, third and fourth string men into the fray at the slightest excuse, and apparently hoped that his quarterback would not try to accumulate too large a score.

But the Old Gold machine was apparently unable to curb its own power as it combined a series of improvised laterals, sweeping end runs, spinners, reverses, and long and short aerial bombs for seven touchdowns, a field goal and two kicks after touchdown.

Capt. Dick Crayne, and Oze Simmons were leaders in the touchdown raid, four of which came in the first half, and one in the third and two in the final quarter.

Scores 3 Touchdowns

The formidable Hawkeye leader crashed over from the two yard line for the first marker, skirted left end for 14 yards and the second score, and thundered through center from the 13 yard line for his third touchdown of the afternoon. Simmons, who looked every bit the Simmons of early '34, served notice of "comeback" intentions with two of the sensational touchdown sprints for which he is famous.

Early in the third period he gathered in a lateral from Crayne, broke through a trio of opponents, and outdistanced the field for a 65 yard touchdown run. The Negro star supplemented this deed with a 49 yard return of a punt in the fourth quarter through the entire opposition. A pass from Bowlin to Harris, and Haltom's four yard plunge accounted for the sixth and seventh touchdowns.

Coyotes Furnish Test

The Coyotes furnished a far more rigid test for the Hawkeyes despite the overwhelming score. Ripping into the left side of the Iowa line for huge gains early in the game, they throw a scare into the locals and caused Solem to insert replacements at left guard and tackle soon after the kickoff. On defense, the South Dakota aggregation tackled clean and hard but could not contend with the stronger, heavier and more experienced Hawkeyes.

Solem faced the same lineup which faced Bradley last week with the exception of Wayne Mason and McDowell in the places of the injured Lannon and Kelley.

Bush Lamb, visibly high strung and nervous, was removed in favor of Bowlin in the first quarter. It was not until the third period that the Newton sophomore was able to regain his composure and return to the lineup.

Strong Pass Attack

Indications of a potent passing attack were seen when the Hawkeyes completed five tosses for 83 yards, dropped two long tosses, and were in the open for two others as Simmons, Bowlin and Haltom threw to Crayne, Harris and Mason.

After an early threat of South Dakota in which Ray spun through right tackle for 13 yards, Iowa secured the ball on her 47 yard line after a punt and engineered a succession of line plays, interspersed with one pass, for a touchdown. Bowlin reeled off 11 yards around right end and was good for five more through a huge gap opened by Leytze.

Schools Will Conduct Drill

Fire Prevention Week Includes Inspection Of Social Groups

Fire drills at all public schools will be conducted this week as the first activity of fire prevention week here, Fire Chief George Kaspar announced last night.

Fire prevention week opens today and will continue through Saturday, Fire Chief Kaspar said yesterday. Observance of the prevention week has been proclaimed by state and local officials.

Iowa City firemen will aid local citizens in guarding against fire dangers this week by inspecting fraternity and sorority houses, schools, and downtown buildings.

Iowa Citizens have been asked by Fire Chief Kaspar to cooperate in the inspections by allowing firemen to complete surveys of all buildings.

Several members of the fire department will speak to Girl Scout and Boy Scout troops, school groups, and business men concerning fire prevention during the week.

Fire Chief Kaspar pointed out that the fire losses in Iowa City and throughout the state of Iowa have decreased greatly as citizens have been educated to assist in the prevention of fire.

Hoover Launches Attack On Fiscal Policies of Roosevelt

OAKLAND, Cal., Oct. 5 (AP)—A direct, scorching attack on the fiscal policies of the Roosevelt administration was made by former President Hoover tonight in an address climaxed by a "Spirit of '36" convention of western states republicans.

"Had the republican principles of balancing the budget been accepted in 1931 and 1932," he declared, "the final stone in the foundation of permanent recovery would have been laid three years ago instead of deferred four years hence."

Drawing comparisons from his own stewardship, Mr. Hoover asserted the Roosevelt regime was spending $8,000,000 annually, piling up a deficit of nearly $3,500,000,000 a year and heading the country on the road to "taxation, repudiation or inflation."

He advocated "a sound fiscal policy."

He charged Roosevelt policies had

Two Persons, Alcohol Taken By Authorities

Frank, Emma West Are Seized in Raid By Police, Federals

Three federal officers and Iowa City police late last night arrested Frank and Emma West and seized a quantity of un-taxed alcohol at 812 E. Davenport street. The arrest was made on a state warrant.

The Wests will undoubtedly be charged with maintaining a liquor nuisance when they appear before Mayor Thomas E. Martin in police court this morning, police said early this morning.

Mrs. West will also be charged with resisting an officer and attempting to destroy evidence.

West is scheduled to stand trial in district court next week on a similar charge following a grand jury indictment.

Mrs. West was taken to the county jail and West was being held in the city jail early this morning.

Last night's raid is a continuation of activities of federal officers stationed here last spring by the alcohol tax unit of the federal treasury department after city and county officials heekled over various forms of vice which were said to exist in Iowa City and Johnson county.

The vice war in Iowa City continued with city officials appearing before the May term county grand jury causing five persons to be indicted on vice charges. West was indicted on city evidence by the September grand jury.

Twelve defendants will appear before District Judge James P. Gaffney tomorrow morning with County Attorney E. A. Baldwin prosecuting for the state. Most of the offenders are charged with bootlegging or maintaining a liquor nuisance.

THE JEWELS OF "DIAMOND JIM"

By Hugo Weigert

ONE day a jeweler brought me a set of unusual pieces of jewelry to chase. He also told me exactly how he wanted it done. I told him that if they were done the way he wanted them, they wouldn't be correct. He was indignant. He said that they were to be exact imitations of a famous set of jewelry. I told him I knew that perfectly, because I had made that famous set of jewelry and I had made it for Diamond Jim Brady. After that, he let me make all the pieces exactly as I had made them in the first place.

Mr. Brady has 30 different diamonds, sapphires, rubies, emeralds, pearls and other jewels—a different set for each day of the month. These pieces were studied with 20,000 diamonds and 6,000 colored precious stones.

Although I carved the settings of all of Diamond Jim's jewelry, I only saw Diamond Jim once in my whole life. One night I was coming back in the subway. Directly opposite me sat a stout individual who looked like Al Euba, decked out in the lot of forty jewel thefts. I recognized the jewels right away but before I could make up my mind to tell him who I was, he got out at Herald Square. At any rate, I'm glad to have the opportunity of making a replica of his famous jewels for the picture, "Diamond Jim."

Maibaum's Anti-Nazi Play to Be Second Dramatic Offering

"West Winds are Blowing," a comedy of pioneer life, will open the University theater community series on Nov. 13, 14 and 15; and "Birthright," a tragedy of Jewish life in present day Germany, will be the first experimental play. It will be produced Oct. 30, 31, and Nov. 2.

Further announcements of the University theater season will be made by Prof. Edward C. Mable, head of the speech and dramatic arts department, when he returns from Washington, D.C. The dedication and moving of the University theater into the new building during the middle of the year and the proposed cooperation with federal theater projects, which is not at present definite, will enter into the making of plans this year.

Other Dates

Other dates for the community series for the coming season are as follows: Dec. 11, 12, 14; Feb. 12, 13, 15; March 11, 12, 14; April 22, 23, 25; and May 13, 14, 16.

Readings for the first three productions of the University theater will be in Macbride auditorium tomorrow from 4 to 6 p.m. and at 7:30 p.m. Castings for these plays will be restricted to majors in the speech department.

Quad Scout Comes Through

THIS would never have happened in the days when men were men, it wouldn't. Two Quaders sunk good money in a low sheet known as Frivol, or something like that, that is given away with tickets to a brawl. A bet. One of the lads must don a gown and go to the frolic as the other's date. Cosmetized and padded he looked the part, but the Quad is notoriously ill-equipped with dresses. A telephone call to Russell house. No frock. Ditto Delta Gamma. Still no wardrobe. More calls—nothing stirring. Then the boys gave up! GAVE UP!! Pansy blood in the Quad. Oh, the pity of it all!! Oh.

What'd we tell ya? Lay it on the line for the Tigers. They did it again, and how. Looks like Warncke and either Bridges or Rowe today. Fill out the slip for Detroit.

While on the subject of baseball we are reminded of the tale, fresh from Italy, of the American tourist from the mid-west who was being shown the Vatican City.

"Who's that?" he asked the guide as a heavily robed procession passed.

"Shh," whispered the guide, "that's the Pope."

"Who's the fellows with him?" the tourist, slightly bored, wanted to know.

"They are the Cardinals," explained the guide.

The tourist's mouth opened. "The hell you say!" he said. "Which one is Dizzy Dean?"

After visiting four houses on the campus Friday night in search of dates, four law students approached the women at the Currier hall desk at about 11:15 with a request for information as to whether or not they could find four dates.

"You lawyers certainly must be losing your grip," was the sprightly reply given by the night officer on duty. "If you can't dig up dates at four houses on the campus, what do you expect to do here at this time of hour?"

The laws hung their heads in shame and quietly wended their way out.

Will this women and tree business never fizzle out. The poem below was forwarded, with a note attached crediting it to the Purdue Exponent. Page Eddie the Philosopher!

I think that I shall never see
A coed lovely as a tree,
A tree whose limbs are brown
and bare,
And has no dandruff in her hair;
A tree whose head is never pressed
Against someone else's manly breast;
A tree who never wants a meal,
And never tries to make you feel
As if you were a lowly heel.
Coeds are made like fools, you see,
But it makes little difference.

Perhaps it is a defect of the auditory sense—perhaps not. But we do feel that too many students mistake the word "college" for the word "knowledge."

—Eddie the Philosopher.

EDGAR ALLAN POE: REPRESENTATIVE SELECTIONS, with Introduction, Bibliography and Notes. Begun by Margaret Alterton and Completed by Hardin Craig. 700 pp. New York (American Book Company) 1935.

Reviewed by Frank Luther Mott.

This volume is one of the American Writers' Series edited by Harry Hayden Clark. It is an important contribution to a distinguished series.

Miss Alterton had already won wide recognition in the field of Poe scholarship before her untimely death, chiefly through her "Origins of Poe's Critical Theory," written as a doctoral dissertation at the University of Iowa. We are indebted to Professor Craig, who directed that work, for taking up the unfinished introduction to the present volume and completing it in the spirit in which it had been begun. The study as it now stands belongs in the front rank of recent Poe scholarship with the work of Campbell and Stovall.

The introduction has a very definite thesis. It is a history of the development of Poe's idea of unity and a study of that idea in his work. This sounds, however, as though the scope of the introduction were much narrower than it really is; in fact, the history of Poe's idea of unity becomes a general history of the development of his thought, and it is shown as paramount in all his work.

Iowa Graduate Contributes To New Magazine

A section of the first book length poem by Paul Engle, graduate of the University of Iowa in 1932 and now studying at Oxford university under a Rhodes scholarship, as yet unpublished, will appear in the November issue of American Prefaces, university literary magazine, it was announced yesterday.

This poem is more mature than "American Songs," which won Mr. Engle wide acclaim in 1934. Prof. Wilbur Schramm, editor of the magazine, said. The section to be published in American Prefaces contains a very vigorous interpretation of the spirit of Chicago and the spirit of Russia.

Mr. Engle, winner of the Rhodes scholarship in 1933, wrote this new selection while vacationing in the Tyrol mountains. Previous to being awarded the Rhodes scholarship, Mr. Engle studied on a Roberts fellowship at Columbia university.

COULDN'T TALK ENOUGH

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 4 (INS)—Not the filibusterer Huey Long was, the Rev. Richard A. Babcock, known as the "fisherman evangelist," was ousted as pastor of the Full Gospel church. For three hours the Rev. Babcock and his wife, only members of the board of trustees left after the pastor, for economy, had cut the body from 10 to two, sang hymns and read the gospel. But the opposition outlasted the Rev. Babcock, ousting him some time after midnight.

Professor Shimek Will Address Club

Prof. Bohumil Shimek of the botany department will address a Botany club meeting tomorrow at 4:10 p.m. in room 408, pharmacy-botany building.

He will talk on "The Ecological Outlook."

To a student of Poe this introduction suggests numberless opportunities for comment, but the present reviewer must satisfy himself with the statement that here are stimulus, clarity and cogency. The bibliography, though shorter than might be desired, is well selected and concise, and the annotations singularly calm and just. The selections themselves, which occupy 473 pages of the volume, bring within narrow scope the many facets of Poe's genius, and afford opportunity for adequate study on the part of the college student. The notes, by Professor Craig, which are gathered together in the back of the volume are full and helpful. Like all the volumes of this series, the book is carefully edited and neatly and attractively produced.

BITS ABOUT SPORTS

by Art Snider

IOWA coaches say that Homer Harris will be the most talented flankman to play here in the last 10 years, before the season's end.

His catch of Bowlins' toss after eluding the secondary was one of the niftiest ever seen in the stadium.

The Iowa line will come in for overtime work this week as Zud Schammel and Eddie Lynch try to improve the weaknesses cropping out in yesterday's play.

PURDUE BEATS NORTHWESTERN, 7 TO 0

48 Yard Run By McGannon Wins Contest

30,000 See First Night Game in Conference At Dyche Stadium

EVANSTON, Ill., Oct. 5 (AP)—One brilliant burst, a thrill producing 52 yard touchdown gallop by Sophomore Tommy McGannon gave Purdue's Boilermakers a 7 to 0 triumph tonight in the opening battle of the 1935 Big Ten football season.

The struggle, fought out on almost even terms except for McGannon's spirited dash, was the first in the history of the Western conference under artificial lighting and was watched by 30,000 chilled spectators.

McGannon broke up the ball game on the third play of the second period. In doing it, turned a great kick by Northwestern's Steve Toth into the only score of the bitterly fought contest.

Kicking from behind his own goal line, Toth booted a beauty to McGannon who took it on the fly on Purdue's 48 yard mark. He swung to his right and down the sideline, picking up speed at every stride.

Marquette Eleven Trips Badgers, 33-0

Coe Scores Win From Dubuque U. In Spotty Thriller

CEDAR RAPIDS, Oct. 5 (AP)—Three sudden scoring thrusts gave Coe a 19-0 victory over Dubuque university here today. A touchdown in the first minute of play, and two more in the final period completed the scoring.

Elmer Keith took the opening kickoff and returned it 70 yards to the Dubuque six yard line, from where Coe went over in three plays.

Penn Bows To Princeton

50,000 Watch Tigers Unleash Fury in 4th Quarter for Win

PRINCETON, N.J., Oct. 5 (AP)—Far across the eastern football jungles tonight roared the victory cry of the Princeton Tiger.

Doped to lose to a dashing Pennsylvania eleven, making its first serious bid in years for football supremacy in the east, an aroused Tiger team snapped out of the doldrums today to stage a savage seven point last quarter charge and leave a brilliant and smartly coached group of quakers gasping on the small end of a 7 to 6 score.

Fifty thousand spectators stared pop-eyed as the Tigers, hopelessly outplayed in the first quarter and barely able to stand their own in the second and third, unleashed their pent-up fury to run wild in the fourth and sound a businesslike challenge to Harvard, Yale and other rivals to be met later.

hard hitting fullback flopped on the ball to end Northwestern's only big chance of scoring.

The Wildcats earned their last cheers early in the final period when a magnificent goal line stand halted the Boilermakers a yard from a second touchdown.

At rushing, Northwestern topped the Boilermakers 177 yards to 125, in kicking, Toth outpointed Isbell and Charles Wright, averaging 43 yards for seven attempts, to 35 yards for the Purdue pair who kicked nine times.

The statistics reveal how evenly matched the teams were. Each made eight first downs. Northwestern outgained the Boilermakers in total yardage, 229 yards to 220, Purdue had the edge in passing, completing three tosses for 49 yards, while Northwestern connected on one which netted seven yards.

Franklin lacked the necessary size to cope with the local stalwarts, who seized one touchdown in the first quarter, another in the second and wound up with an aerial flash that netted the final tally.

"Banjoeyes" Nichols romped across the pay-stripe for the first two counters. Throughout the game, the playing of Nichols was invaluable to the midget Red and White.

The third touchdown came as the result of a beautiful pass from "Honk" Brown to Paul, standing behind the goal line. The first extra-point attempt was smeared as the locals tried to run for it. Brown skirted the right side of the line for the second extra point try, and plucky Nick Duros did likewise for the third try. "Dusty" Maher hauled down some nice flips, but also let a few slip through his fingers.

Starting for the locals were Paul, Black, Nelson, Conklin, McGreevy, Maher, Patterson, Duros, Brown, Travis, and Nichols. Buckley, Dicker, and Gardner also saw considerable action, among several others.

Hilltopp's Win First Contest Over Old Rival

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 5 (AP)—A powerhouse of speed and drive on the ground and ever a menace in the air, Marquette university's football team achieved today what 11 of its predecessors failed to do—defeat the University of Wisconsin.

It did the trick by the overwhelming score of 33 to 0, outplaying a heavier Badger team in every department of the game.

When little Roy (Skippy) McMahon, a Madison boy, romped across for the first touchdown in the first period, he accomplished a feat that Marquette had been unable to do since Dr. Lee Foley crossed the Badger goal in 1908.

The Marquette-Wisconsin series began in 1904.

The Hilltoppers plunged on after McMahon speared the pass on Wisconsin's eight yard line and kept the Badgers on the defensive while they hung up two touchdowns in both the second and third periods.

Wisconsin never threatened although Jankowski, Cole and Mortell made good gains despite a line that was broken consistently.

An estimated crowd of 20,000 saw the duel, the season's opener for Marquette, and the second for Wisconsin.

Hawklet Mites Sink Franklin By 20-0 Score

Coach Herb Cormack saw an embryo team in the making yesterday morning at Shrader field when he witnessed the "scrub" teams of Iowa City's Little Hawks administer a severe 20 to 0 shellacking to the third and fourth teams of Franklin high of Cedar Rapids.

Nebraska Gridmen Whip Ames, 20-7

Husker Backs Pave Way To Crushing Win

AMES, Oct. 5 (AP)—The mighty men of Nebraska, scarlet clad football giants, brought their power and cunning to State field here today to crush Iowa State 20 to 7 in their opening bid for the Big Six conference championship.

The powerful Cornhuskers, out-weighting the Cyclones 10 pounds to the man, whipped across one touchdown in the first period, added two more in the final quarter and held Iowa State scoreless until late in the game.

Cardwell Leads Attack With Lloyd Cardwell, Sam Francis and Captain Jerry LaNoue leading a versatile offensive, Nebraska swept to 14 first downs compared to three the inefficient Iowa State attack could muster.

After Iowa State muffed two golden scoring opportunities at the start of the game, the Cornhuskers took complete charge of the battle for which 12,000 persons, including several hundred Nebraska fans, gathered in the stadium.

Late in the first quarter Nebraska took the ball on its own 20 yard line and started its first touchdown drive. Francis, the 200-pound Husker fullback, ripped his way to midfield on a sparkling 30-yard dash. Cardwell, whom Coach Dana X Eble kept on the sidelines during the last half, then took a lateral from LaNoue, dodged several Cyclone tacklers and sprinted 50 yards down the sidelines for a touchdown. Francis booted the extra point.

Punting Duel Both teams failed to score in the next two periods as Fred Poole, Iowa State end, and Francis engaged in a punting duel with Poole getting a big edge over the Nebraska kicker.

The Huskers threatened twice in the second period, but Russell Countiff, Iowa State tackle, intercepted two forward passes at the crucial moments.

LaNoue scored the second Nebraska touchdown on one of his characteristic elusive drives off tackle.

MEMORIAL STADIUM, Berkeley, Cal., Oct. 5 (AP)—An inspired University of California football team rose today to defeat St. Mary's Gaels, 10 to 0, in an upset victory that thrilled 55,000 fans.

Gaining ground steadily on punt exchanges, the Bears took possession of the ball on St. Mary's 21 yard line early in the second period. Three passes netted 25 yards. From the six yard line the Bears smashed over with plunges, Ken Cotton, fullback, making the last yard. Left Halfback Fowler added the extra point.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Oct. 5 (AP)—Soaring on the wings of opportunity, the Illinois football team launched a challenge to Southern California, its foe at Los Angeles next week, by passing and running its way to a 28 to 6 victory over a heavier Washington university squad today before 15,000 persons.

Three of the Illinois touchdowns came in the last quarter, two of them touchdowns by Henry, one to Bill Bennis, sophomore end from Lincoln, and the other to Bob Grieve, one of the fastest sprinters in the country. The fourth touchdown of the game was registered by Jewett Cole, Champaign halfback, with a complete second team on the field, following the recovery of one of many Washington fumbles, on the 12 yard line.

Recreational Center Announces Activities; Tournament Results

Add Activities With More Assistance; 221 Have Attended

At the close of the first month of the recreational center's fall program last night, a total attendance of more than 1,750 children was revealed, according to Margaret Mulholland, supervisor.

The attendance recorded yesterday morning for the first day of the Saturday fall playground program was 221 children at three playgrounds and Old Iowa field.

Recreational center activities are being constantly extended with the gradual addition of assistants, including volunteers, NYA employees, and practice teachers from the women's physical education department at the university, and with the gradual acquisition of more adequate facilities to care for the hundreds of Iowa City boys and girls who as yet have not participated in the "supervised play" designed to instruct them in the "wise use of leisure time."

Children at Horace Mann, Henry Sabin, and Longfellow schools engaged in a peanut hunt yesterday morning, and a treasure hunt is planned soon.

Touch Football
At Old Iowa field 31 older boys played touch football and soccer yesterday morning under the direction of Robert W. Larsen, C4 of Ft. Dodge, and Don Liercke, A3 of Storm Lake.

Registration will begin tomorrow for a pool tournament for midset, junior and senior boys beginning Thursday.

Stamp Club
A stamp club is being organized for boys from nine to 12 years old under the direction of Lewis Brown, and will meet for the first time tomorrow.

Those in charge of the Saturday playground are: Horace Mann, Opal German, A4 of Des Moines, director (NYA); and Betty Heffernon, A3, assistant (practice teacher).

Henry Sabin—Mary Vincent, A3 of Des Moines, director (NYA); Betty Moore, A3 of Des Moines, assistant (practice teacher); and Max Meyers, A3, assistant (NYA).

Longfellow—Margaret Grunewald, A3 of Cedar Rapids, director (NYA); Milton Felsen, A3 of New York City, assistant (NYA); and Emily Placatka, A3, assistant (practice teacher).

Louise Lindeen, A3 of Chicago, will direct a chorus for high school boys and girls from 8 to 9 o'clock Tuesday and Thursday nights, and Ruth Donald, A3, will assist in floor supervision. Both are practice teachers.

Paukert Beats Morrow In Boys Final Ping-Pong Match, 3 to 1

The junior division of the recreational center's ping pong tournament for boys ended last night as Paukert defeated Morrow 3-1 in the finals.

In the semi-finals, Paukert had won over Bannon by a 3-0 score and Morrow had secured a 3-0 decision over B. Quinlan.

In the senior division, one second round match, H. Bright vs. J. Maher, and two semi-final matches remain to be played before the finals.

E. Crain will meet the winner of the Bright-Maher match, and the winner of that match will meet the winner of the S. Duros-C. Clark match in the finals. Bright advanced to the second round yesterday with a 3 to 0 victory over L. Kleopfer.

C. S. Cornell To Broadcast Over WSUI

Director Has Trained 150 Artists During 35 Years of Work

Charles S. Cornell of St. Petersburg, Fla., who has directed choruses in musical festivals throughout the country, will be presented on the familiar hymns program over WSUI at 9:15 tonight. He is the father-in-law of Prof. Rufus H. Fitzgerald, director of the school of fine arts.

Director of a large chorus at the World's fair in Chicago in 1893, Mr. Cornell has had more than 150 different artists under his supervision in his 35 years of festival work. Mr. Cornell has sung in and conducted more than 2,000 concerts in all parts of the United States. He organized the Los Angeles Symphony orchestra.

First Big Job
Looking back, Cornell believes that Gounod's "Redemption," presented in Old Orchard, Me., was his first big undertaking. He gave "Faust" as a concert piece the second time it was ever given in this country.

Mr. Cornell was the first to present Liszt's "St. Elizabeth" and Taylor's "Hiawatha's Wedding Feast" in this country. He has directed "The Messiah" 34 times and "The Creation" and "Elijah" on countless occasions.

Organizer
Mr. Cornell was one of the organizers of the Three-Quarter Century club at St. Petersburg. This mixed chorus is probably the only one of its kind in the world—membership being limited to those over 75 years of age.

Mrs. Charles B. Righter will accompany Mr. Cornell on tonight's broadcast.

Following is the complete program:
The Unclouded Day ..... Excell
God Will Take Care of You ..... Martin

Why Can't I Have Natural Gas?

—My question has not been answered. The strange part of it is that natural gas is right outside the city gates. The company promises to bring it in without a cent of cost to me either in my business or my home and they also claim the savings to customers will be from 25 to 60 per cent.

Why don't the mayor and city council let us have natural gas when they can do it in one constructive, forward-looking move which will be of inestimable value to the city?

Surveys show that with natural gas, permanent and substantial reductions can be made in the bills of both commercial and residential users of gas.

IOWA-SOUTH DAKOTA FOOTBALL GAME ACTION SCENES

Bill Ryan, one of the outstanding South Dakota backs of the afternoon, is shown attempting a left end run. Homer Harris, giant Hawkeye Negro end, broke up the interference offered by Gene McGinty (No. 22) and brought the Coyote back down without a gain. Not an inch was made around Harris' end all afternoon. Other Hawkeyes shown in the picture are, from left to right: Crayne, Leytze (18), Harris, and Floyd McDowell.

Oze Simmons, sparkling Iowa Negro halfback, is shown being tackled by Ryan of South Dakota after having received a punt in the second quarter. Russell Sauvage (27), is crossing over to help in the play, while Akin is blocking Schwartzkopf (No. 42).

OCTOBER 6, 1935

The Great American Craze

Once more the time of year has come when the average American citizen closes his office at 2 o'clock in the afternoon and hies himself to the seclusion of the den in his home to listen to the radio broadcast of the American sports classic, the world series. Once more college professors dismiss classes early and shamefacedly admit to wondering students that the baseball bug can penetrate even the inner sanctum of the study. And every drug store and street corner in every town from Buckersburgh to Boston is a clearing house for the better.

They, seems to be no immunity to the insidious bite of the bug. International bankers forget the rate of gold exchange, white collar workers forget their books for the radio in the big office, and the housemaid runs out to consult the corner policeman as to the progress of the series.

For one whole week come wars, come floods, and pestilence, but the baseball games get the headlines. Innumerable columns of type, countless inches of pictures, and dozens of bottles of ink are emptied to give the eager public all of the inside dope on what this and that pitcher thinks about everything from spinach to blondes.

And the sports writers and the radio announcers are in their heyday. It's the chance of a lifetime to use all that glamorous language they've been saving up since the last series. Pictorialism becomes the watchword of the radio announcer. The sun may be glaring in Detroit, but the announcer always ends, "And now the black shadows are beginning to march across the field." And the beginning would do credit to Gabriel.

In a week the series will be over and life will be normal again until next year. And it goes without saying, "May the best team win."

Price Neutrality

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT in no unequivocal terms announced that the United States would assume and maintain a position of neutrality in event of an Italian-Ethiopian conflict. His position while praiseworthy should make American citizens do some realistic thinking as to the price of neutrality.

It is a truism to say that it is difficult if not impossible to maintain a position of neutrality in case of any widespread conflict. Yet most persons unthinkingly approve the assumption of a neutral position without any understanding of what that position involves.

How many passenger ships are we willing to have sunk how many millions of dollars worth of property lost because of interrupted freight shipments. When American firms in Africa are mobbed, factory equipment destroyed, and the stock of American investors made worthless, are we still going to be willing to stay out of war? When American seamen are taken off American ships and unceremoniously clamped into jail in a foreign country are we still to smile and maintain our neutrality?

If we maintain a position of neutrality, what effect will that have on our ability to join with England and France in the enforcement of sanctions, economic or otherwise? Can we be neutral and yet crack down on foreign trade and travel on the part of American citizens in order to avoid complications.

The nation that hopes to be neutral can not calmly withdraw into its shell and tell the rest of the world to go on and fight. It isn't that simple.

The World Owes Us a Living: ABOUT A YEAR ago the above title was the theme song in a popular Silly Symphony. It showed a lazy grasshopper who did not have time to work. He made no effort to put away food for winter and would have starved if the ants, who worked all summer to prepare themselves for cold weather, had not fed him.

This may be compared with a certain percentage of those persons on relief. Some of this group would rather live off the government and those individuals who have saved money than work themselves.

It has been difficult to find employment, but at the same time some work can be had for the asking. So many men had been telling the relief director of Des Moines that they could not find work that he thought he would see for himself how difficult it was. Inside of 50 minutes he had a job paying $2 a day.

During harvesting many farmers were looking for help to shock grain. They were willing to pay $3 a day, board and room but very few men on relief offered to work. Living in the bounty of the government is very apt to become a habit with some of the people on relief. Rather than work themselves to obtain a living they will keep on taking what food, clothing, and shelter is handed out to them.

This of course does not apply to all persons on relief. Some cases are worthy ones. But too many families are kept on relief because the husband or father has adopted "The World Owes Me a Living" as his creed.

As To Dickinson: Rolfe Arrow: If the republicans desire a man of Dickinson's type for president, then Dickinson is as good a man as any to nominate. If we wanted that kind of a man we see no reason why we couldn't support him, but we don't want that type. Seventy-five per cent of Dickinson's republicanism consists of opposition to democrats.

Objective Revealed: Mason City Globe-Gazette: J. N. Darling's Saturday Evening Post article confirms our suspicion that the principal purpose of the federal wild life program was to take an anti-administration cartoonist away from his easel for a year or two.

What Others Think

The future of NRA is not clarified by the president's latest attitude. He says that the Blue Eagle will not be resuscitated if business believes itself. The proviso is the retention of code standards as to wages and hours. Ninety per cent of all industry is held to be abiding by the old pledges.

How the president arrives at this percentage is as difficult to understand as the method of reviving NRA over the supreme court's veto. But it is no doubt true that labor conditions are better than they were when Mr. Roosevelt entered office. This is because of the example left by the NRA? Partly. As Donald R. Richberg says, "The NRA itself developed collective thinking and acting that made it possible for the great mass of businessmen to agree informally to carry on their standards." As this sort of collective thinking develops, we may yet obtain a blend of Adam Smith and William Morris—the tempering of the competitive society with the community of fellowship.

The more we have of this sort of collective thinking, the better. Now government agencies have come to its help by underpinning it with social insurance and hour and wage legislation in the individual states. It is furthered by federal government encouragement afforded by the skeleton NRA over which George L. Berry now presides as "co-ordinator of industrial cooperation" of the voluntary plan in many industries on trade practices which are not only unfair but antisocial.

The trouble with the old NRA "collective thinking" however, was that it had a price. This was monopoly. Monopoly adorned by the blue eagle is no more agreeable than dictatorship adorned by a king. They are both the negation of liberty. Higher wages had to be paid for higher prices. Thus the NRA method was not conducive to the filling out of labor purchasing power which was the president's original intention. For buying power is the resultant of two factors: income and prices. If prices and income increase in the same ratio, then buying power is stationary. For the white-collar workers the position was even more unsatisfactory. They paid the higher prices, but were not paid the higher incomes.

Mr. Richberg's other explanation of the maintenance of labor standards is even more valid than the existence of "collective thinking." He says, "We are in a tide of improving business." Undoubtedly. And improving business is the only source out of which better wages and lower hours can be maintained. It certainly cannot be achieved by keeping prices just one jump ahead of increased money income. Collective thinking by industry should never again mean the endorsement of business with sovereignty over prices. In this respect business did not behave itself under freedom, then there is also the tax weapon available to insure equitable treatment of labor. We prefer a taxation Roosevelt to an NRA Roosevelt.—Christian Science Monitor.

A Washington Bystander

WASHINGTON. . . One of the most interesting political conundrums of the day is whether the "new deal" stands to gain or lose from the improvement and pace of business.

By KIRKE SIMPSON: claim to have helped to restore that public confidence which now offers so substantial a foundation for our recovery.

Roper Hits Strategy: Before they could begin setting it off, Secretary Roper lured himself to the microphone to give the broadcast hint yet of the new deal strategy.

Snell Summed It Up: The opposition viewpoint was summed up immediately by Representative Snell, the republican leader: "If it hadn't been for the new deal recovery would now be much further advanced."

Thus it stood when the directors of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States gathered to consider more reports antagonistic to the administration. They were looking ahead, concerned with "trends" as much as specific legislation.

Can the opposition convince the voters recovery has been impeded at Washington? Or can the "new dealers" argue successfully that Roosevelt and progress are one?

CONTEST A RIOT: CAIRO (INS)—A beauty competition, which was to have been held at Beirut, for the election of "Miss Syria," had to be canceled—for fear that it might lead to a riot. Religious institutions raised such an outcry at the proposals that an uprising threatened. It was decided that beauty competitions were "contrary to the traditions of the east."

MAE WEST NOVEL BANNED: MELBOURNE (INS)—Mae West's novel, "Diamond Lil," otherwise known as "She Done Him Wrong," has been banned by the customs department here. The novel is alleged to "contain indecent and obscene passages."

SHEEP-DOG HONORED: MOSCOW (INS)—Tabush, a Caucasian sheep-dog, who has a record of having killed nine wolves, was the hero of a canine show at Leningrad where 400 soviet "service" dogs were on parade. The dogs were chosen by reason of their loyal service to their masters and acts of bravery.

Crayne Blasts Through Simmons replaced Hild at fullback as the second quarter opened and the Ebony Eel was just in time to receive Clinker's punt on the Coyote's 49 yard line and return it to the 29. Crayne Blasts Through

Simmons replaced Hild at fullback as the second quarter opened and the Ebony Eel was just in time to receive Clinker's punt on the Coyote's 49 yard line and return it to the 29. He followed Dowling around right end for 15 yards and smacked right guard for an additional yard. Bowling, on the next play, handed the ball to Crayne backed up and threw a long pass over the goal line to Homer Harris for a touchdown. Harris, probably Iowa's finest end in the last decade, extended a pair of long arms and gathered in the ball while in full stride with seemingly methodical effort. Crayne again missed the kick and the score stood 24 to 0 near the close of the first half.

Brings Crowd to Feet Simmons' spectacular run early in the third period brought the crowd to its feet. After Crayne had returned Ray's punt from the 17 yard line to the 35, he turned, as he was about to be tackled and tossed laterally to Simmons on his left.

The Negro flash burst through a wedge formed by three South Dakota tacklers, swerved to the left sidelines and streaked up the field while a host of tacklers pursued him in vain. Crayne added the kick for the first time in five attempts and Iowa led 31 to 0.

Simmons came back with another electrifying run in the fourth quarter when he gathered in Ryan's kick on the 49 yard line and followed Big Ship Farroh down the field, dancing and flaunting the ball in his opponents' faces, for the sixth score. His drop-kick was wide.

Lamb Place-Kicks A mixture of third and fourth stringers, piloted by Bush Lamb, brought the ball from South Dakota's 41 yard line to the three yard line from where Lamb successfully place-kicked a field goal.

"Skeets" Haltom carried the ball over for the seventh touchdown near the end of the game from the four yard line after a series of line plays from the Coyote 28 yard line. His place-kick hit a South Dakota crossbar and fell over for the forty-seventh point.

South Dakota's two points were garnered on a safety in the third quarter when Richards attempted to kick from behind his own goal line. The ball was blocked by Savage and rolled into the end zone.

The Hawkeyes, although displaying an abundance of power, demonstrated a need for crisp blocking, especially down the field. In many instances the interference was far too slow for the ball-carrier.

The Hawkeye line showed potentialities, especially on the right side where McDowell, Leytze and Harris stopped everything cold. The Coyotes registered a net loss of 5 yards around Harris' end during the afternoon.

Hoover played his usual consistent game, both on offense and defense, while McDowell and Mason showed to advantage in the time they were played.

FIRE PREVENTION

October
6-12

FIRE CHIEF'S PROCLAMATION

TO THE PEOPLE OF IOWA CITY:

For many years past it has been the practice to set aside a week during the autumn months to be known as Fire Prevention Week. The principal object of this week is to direct attention to the unnecessary civic loss caused by fire and to inspire public activity against such losses which annually destroy the people's resources. Iowa's 1934 fire loss was $4,262,768.

Believing that Fire Prevention is the patriotic as well as the economic duty of every citizen of Iowa City, I hereby proclaim October 6 to 12 as Fire Prevention Week, and I urge every citizen to make a special effort to reduce fire hazards as all fire losses are paid by society in general and the average individual bears his share of the burden.

The pulpit, press, and radio in the past have rendered valuable service, and are once again relied upon to call the people's attention to the necessity of each doing his part. It is only through concerted action that the lives and properties of all may be secure.

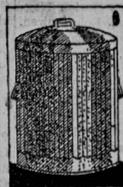

Signed:
GEORGE KASPER,
Fire Chief.

THE latest photographic fad to sweep the country is the making of "bas relief" pictures—illustrated on this page with special "bas reliefs" for Collegiate Digest by Frederick Kaeser II.

You can make photographs like these with your own camera by following this procedure: First, take a picture and develop the negative. Second, make a contrasting positive on film. Third, place the negative in a printing frame, with the positive film on top of it. Fourth, move the positive to either side, just so positive and negative are not in perfect register. Fifth, place printing paper over films and expose to light, developing the print as you would an ordinary picture. Considerable more exposure will have to be given in printing "bas relief" pictures than in ordinary photographic work.

Kitchen Scene Enlightens 2

Sigma Nu Kitchen Is Just Melting Pot
Students Discover

It was in the kitchen of the Sigma Nu house that it finally happened. "—in the Cosmopolitan club last year—" a young man was saying. He wore a white waiter's jacket and glasses.

"I belonged to that at once myself," said another young man. He too wore a white jacket and glasses. "Cosmopolitan club? Where were you born?"

"In Korea."
"Teh! Teh!
"You're a liar!"
"All right, where were you born yourself?"
"Korea."
"Why you . . . ?"

Two graduate students in the University of Iowa were talking in this way recently. One of them, Charles Bernheisel, is in the college of commerce. The other, Wilson Taylor, is in the school of journalism. And both were telling the truth.

They were born of missionary families in Korea, a peninsula off the mainland of Manchuria that belongs to Japan. And both were born in 1908 within 250 miles of each other, one in Kongju and the other in Pyongyang.

12 Years in Korea
Mr. Taylor lived in that country 12 years and Mr. Bernheisel for even a longer period. After the first few years they were only separated by a little more than 100 miles—in a country with so few missionaries that practically everyone of them knew one another.

Both graduated from Iowa colleges—one from Morningside college and the other from Buena Vista college. The rest has been told. They met by grace of the Sigma Nu fraternity—and until then they had never known of the existence of each other! Imagine the excited "Did you know . . . ?"

Mr. Bernheisel was president of the Cosmopolitan club last year.

Prof. G. Davies Predicts Rise In Prosperity

Professor Sees False
Prosperity in Case
Of General Warfare

While prospects for a fair volume of business are good this fall, if the Italo-Ethiopian situation leads to a general European conflict it may result in seeming prosperity. Prof. George R. Davies of the college of commerce predicts in his summary in the current issue of the Iowa Business Digest, monthly publication of the bureau of business research.

The stock market, which during recent months has been registering recovery, would probably boom in case a general war should break out; but it would have no permanent basis because of the destruction caused by war, the article states.

Seeming Prosperity
War orders create a seeming prosperity which has no permanent basis. "What is obviously needed for a fundamental business recovery throughout the world is active production and trade such as will add to the earnings of capital and labor in terms of goods actually produced and consumed."

According to Professor Davies, because of a rise in business conditions late this summer, the prospects for a fair volume of business this fall are good.

Show Improvement
The figures he compiled show a small improvement in Iowa, which is in "keeping with the trend throughout the nation." There is more business activity this fall than during the spring months.

Building contracts head the list with a gain for August of 259.9 per cent over the same period a year ago. The great amount of public construction raised this percentage. However, residential construction held its own and, after all due seasonal allowance is made, there is pronounced upward trend.

Store Sales Rise
Department store sales in the state were 17 per cent above a year ago. During this period the cost of living increased 4.4 per cent, Professor Davies points out.

Employment increased two per cent in Iowa as compared with a year ago. This figure is based upon a sample of 200 to 300 firms and 40,000 to 50,000 employees. Several cities reported an increase in employment for the month of August.

Reported Increases
Some of the reported increases are: Marshalltown, 15 per cent; Muscatine, 6.9 per cent; Sioux City, 3.8 per cent; Des Moines, 3.2 per cent; Clinton, 2.5 per cent; Dubuque, 0.5 per cent; Cedar Rapids, 0.4 per cent; and Waterloo, 0.2 per cent.

Several industries also reported gains in the number employed. These industries are: railway car shops, 15 per cent; textiles, 8.1 per cent; paper products and publishing, 3.9 per cent; leather products, 3.9 per cent; food, 1.9 per cent; and lumber products, 0.8 per cent.

This Central Press radio photo shows an Italian heavy artillery laid down a barrage of bombs. Aduwa was chosen as the first of a series of attacks which resulted in a disastrous defeat in 1896. This radio.

Italian Troops Take Holy City On North Front

LONDON, Oct. 8 (Tuesday) (AP)—The holy Ethiopian city of Aksum, west of Aduwa on the Italo-Ethiopian front, was reported early today by Reuters (British) news agency to have fallen to the invading Italian army.

(Copyright, 1935, by The Associated Press)

WITH THE ITALIAN ARMIES IN THE FIELD, ADUWA, Ethiopia, Oct. 7—Benito Mussolini's general fortified their newly-won lines and held their eager armies in leash on the northern Ethiopian front tonight.

Anxious to Advance
The blackshirts, fresh from their avenging capture of Aduwa, were anxious to press on into the land of the hated "Negus"—Emperor Haile Selassie. Their officers restrained their enthusiasm with difficulty, knowing too rapid an advance would mean loss of lives.

It seemed possible the armies would spend some days consolidating their positions along the line from Adigrat to Aduwa before striking again.

To Use Artillery
Nevertheless, the Ethiopian warriors must be driven from the mountains directly behind Aduwa, and this the Italian artillery will proceed to do.

These Headliners Actually Graduated

WHEN radio announcers introduce a certain number called Stardust, they still reverently tell the audience that the composer is Hoagy Carmichael. Most song writers usually remain anonymous over the air—while the orchestra gets the credit.

Privately and publicly, Mildred Bailey, the Rocking Chair Lady, who used to sing flaming torches with Paul Whiteman, reverently remembers Hoagy for his Old Rocking Chair. When Al Jolson first went on the air, he relied heavily on Lazy Bones, and that was one of Hoagy's tunes, too.

Hoagy himself is an ascetic, sad-faced gentleman. Unlike most radio and screen celebrities (who began college) Hoagy actually did get the law degree all the others seemed to start out to get before joining an orchestra and leaving—and Hoagy had an orchestra, too. This is a matter of pride to Kappa Sigma, the fraternity Carmichael joined soon after he entered the University of Indiana in 1920. There, in the famous Indiana Book Nook, Hoagy used to make his classmates weep as he played the original Old Rocking Chair, so sad a composition that his publishers made him tone its tragic lyrics down.

WHEN Carmichael finished Indiana in 1926, he had a law degree and a reputation for really making the Jordan River Campus Reviews something. He sadly told his orchestra boys that from now on he was a lawyer. A year later he came back from a Florida law office, reorganized the orchestra, and began to use a melody called Stardust as his signature song. That song was published; and Hoagy left the orchestra to spend all of his time working out the tunes that troubled his sad soul. You know them: Georgia on My Mind, One Morning in May, Moon Country, Snowball, and many other mournful plaints that made music publishers glad. His last song was Judy. Hoagy has many more lachrymose reflections on romance and the Southland which he saw so briefly as a barrister in Florida. You'll hear from him some more.

WHEN NBC wants a professorial touch to its programs, John B. Kennedy becomes the narrator. John B. Kennedy has the positive and sure voice of dignity. He thought so when he was a student at St. Louis University before the Great War. His great opportunity to show it came when he was scheduled to appear on a platform in the college quad with two other students. They were going to tell just why they thought Woodrow Wilson, Teddy Roosevelt, and Howard Taft should be the next president. In this exercise in civics, John B. was to speak in behalf of President Taft. He walked in, gave his speech; then locked the others out of the hall. Taft lost St. Louis, Missouri, and the election. In 1913, the next year, however, John B. was graduated with honors from St. Louis University.

"He locked his opponents out . . .
But Taft still lost St. Louis.

After working on newspapers in St. Louis, Chicago, and Montreal, John B. Kennedy became an associate editor of Collier's magazine. He specialized in writing breezy interviews with stage and screen celebrities. Kennedy was a man of the world, and he knew how to keep out too much breathless adoration of the great.

IN 1924 Collier's decided to buy an hour on NBC. John B. Kennedy was the staff orator, and easily got the job of putting on the program. He doesn't write anything anymore, except radio lines for himself. You may have heard him with Lawrence Tibbett last year. This winter he is appearing over NBC with a big cast that will dramatize the day's news on the air. John B. Kennedy will be there to comment on the commentators and lend dignity to the whole affair.

"An ascetic, sad-faced gentleman . . ."

Writes equally sad tunes.

Many Killed In Explosion

26 Injured in Hospitals;
Unable to Compute
Probable Damages

CHICAGO, Oct. 7 (AP)—A devastating explosion blew a six story building to bits today—killing between seven and 13 men and injuring at least 60 persons.

Seven bodies had been recovered from the ruins tonight. Six men were still missing. Twenty-six of the victims were in hospitals, some in serious condition.

Search for Bodies
Laboring under eerie floodlights through the night, workmen dug into a half block square of bricks, twisted steel, broken machinery, shattered tanks and pulverized concrete for additional bodies. The debris, heaped as high as 25 feet, was all that was left of the Glidden Soybean Products company plant which was blasted into the air as if by a gigantic blown, blown asunder and strewn in every direction.

The blast occurred at 11:40 a.m. The $500,000 pillar of smoke and geyser of debris could be seen for miles. Detonations broke windows and dishes in shops and homes within a mile radius. Pedestrians and householders were knocked down. Panic temporarily gripped the far northwest side neighborhood.

Traps Workers
Heavy fragments crashed down on six adjacent buildings. Some workers were propelled through glassless windows. One employe of the main Glidden plant was catapulted across the street. Some of his colleagues were trapped under tons of wreckage.

Thousands of curious swarmed about the wreckage tonight. Among them were anxious relatives awaiting definite word of the missing.

Sen. Borah Warns
Against Propaganda
In Event of War

BOISE, Idaho, Oct. 7 (AP)—Sen. William E. Borah warned the United States tonight to guard against "subtle ways of propagandists" in striving to stay out of wars.

The veteran Idaho republican predicted it "will not be difficult for this country" to avoid entanglement in the Italo-Ethiopian conflict "should the war remain a war between the two nations now involved."

"But," he said, "should other countries feel their supremacy in the Mediterranean, or their territorial interests threatened, then will begin an appeal to the United States to enter the conflict."

A. F. I. Drafts Resolution To Enlarge Band for Home Games

Situation of Iowa Band
Remains In Muddle
After First Moves

A.F.I., University of Iowa senior men's honorary organization, last night in a special meeting urged immediate steps to be taken by the university to appoint one "competent person" to take charge of the university band.

Drafts Resolution
Urging immediate action, the honorary fraternity drafted the following resolution:

"Be it resolved: That the responsibility of placing a representative band on the field for the remaining home football games be given to one competent person.

"That the desire of the student body and alumni and the citizens of the state of Iowa is to maintain a band equal in size and quality to that of other universities of similar enrollment.

"Since it has been the policy of this university to encourage the enrollment of musicians that they be given the maximum opportunity to demonstrate their ability.

"And that A.F.I., senior men's honorary fraternity, pledges its cooperation to anyone obtaining immediate action in forming a band of which we may be proud."

Situation in Muddle
The Iowa band situation was still apparently in a muddle last night as no action was taken yesterday by those in authority to place larger than a 40 piece band on the field for the Dad's day game Saturday.

The present controversy over the size of the University of Iowa band was precipitated Saturday when members of the concert band charged Lieut. Col. George F. N. Dalley with keeping them out of the marching band.

May Name Committee
It was indicated last night that a faculty committee might be appointed today to help solve the situation.

At present the whole matter rests with Colonel Dalley. Unless there is a change in the setup, his orders are necessary to place the band members on the field.

Most of Colonel Dalley's present organization of 40 pieces are inexperienced. It was learned yesterday that 75 men of last year's band are now attending the university and are ready to drill.
