Hauptmann Offers to Submit to Lie Detector

Declares His Innocence In Letter to Gov. H. G. Hoffman

Condemned Carpenter Hopes Dr. Condon Would Also Submit To Test of Truth

TRENTON, N. J., Dec. 16 (AP)—From his death house cell Bruno Hauptmann wrote a letter to Gov. Harold G. Hoffman today protesting anew his innocence of the Lindbergh kidnap-murder and offering to submit to a lie detector test to prove it.

The condemned man wrote he hoped Dr. John F. Condon, too, would submit to such a test, because the venerable "Jasie" of the ransom negotiations, he said, "changed" his attitude on the case between the time he visited Hauptmann in the Flemington jail and the trial a few weeks later.

"When he was visiting me in my Flemington cell," Hauptmann wrote in his apologetic note, "he said all excited to the prosecutor—I cannot testify against this man."

"I have a deep interest," Hauptmann told the governor, "in what kind of force made him change this way."

The governor announced the receipt of the letter from the Bronx carpenter a short time after published reports described an alleged confession in which Hauptmann was quoted as disclosing he and Isador Fisch, his business partner now deceased, collected the $50,000 ransom but were guiltless of the actual kidnaping. These reports were promptly denied by the governor and other official sources as groundless and untrue.

Governor Hoffman hinted strongly that Hauptmann probably would be permitted to plead his own case before the court of pardons when it considers his plea or a commutation of his death sentence.

The court, the governor said, will probably convene a week or so before the week of Jan. 13, during which Hauptmann has been condemned to die, to ponder the expected appeal for clemency.

Hoffman was asked if he was in favor of Hauptmann appearing in person before the court.

"Yes, I think I would," he answered, adding as an afterthought, "—at the prison."

He revealed he had advanced such a suggestion to the other seven members of the court recently and reported "there was considerable interest in it."

The recurrent report that a "high official" had offered Hauptmann life imprisonment in return for a confession was brought to the governor's attention, and he quickly pointed out that "no officer of the state has power to do such a thing" under the laws.

Will Ask Clemency

Iowa City Securities Company Will Pay Dividend Tomorrow

The Iowa City Securities company will pay a 10 per cent dividend of $7,450 to its bond-holders tomorrow, it was announced yesterday by Ben S. Summerwill, receiver. The payment will be made at the receiver's office in the basement of the Johnson County Bank building.

Mr. Summerwill estimated that approximately 40 bond-holders will receive checks, bringing the total paid out to 70 per cent since the company's bankruptcy.

60 Injured In Peiping Riots

PEIPING, Dec. 17 (Tuesday)—A night of fierce rioting against "Japanese aggression" in this ancient Chinese city left 60 student patriots reported wounded today and drew quick warnings from the Japanese military.

The Rengo (Japanese) news agency reported Gen. Sung Chieh-Yuan, forced to postpone the inaugural meeting of his semi-autonomous council for Hopeh and Chahar provinces, announced he would expel Dr. Hu Shih, noted scholar and author and President Chiang Meng-Lin of the National University of Peiping, to the south.

Both are American educated. Thousands of demonstrators from outlying universities, marooned in bitter wintry weather inside the locked city, howled anti-Japanese slogans through the night.

Local Youth Pleads Guilty To Robbery

John Osborne, 18, of Iowa City, arrested by local police recently as the third member of a trio of car thieves operating in Cedar Rapids, pled guilty in Linn county district court yesterday to a charge of theft of a motor vehicle.

District Judge John T. Moffitt withheld sentence on the condition that Osborne will accompany a sister to her home in Colorado, an Associated Press dispatch said. Osborne was released on his own bond. Arthur Ebricht, 18, and Daryl Ratzlaff, 18, both of Iowa City, the two other members of the gang, received indeterminate 10 year sentences at the Anamosa state reformatory on the same charge Dec. 9.

G. W. Godfrey Praises Yoder's Work With "Pat's Blue Ribbon"

Nearly 600 Iowa City business men and Johnson county farmers last night paid tribute to Cleo Yoder, 19-year-old Wellman farm boy whose steer, "Pat's Blue Ribbon," won grand championship honors at the Chicago International Livestock show recently. Sponsored by the Iowa City Chamber of Commerce, the youngster's achievements were praised by several prominent Iowa speakers at a dinner party at the American Legion building.

George W. Godfrey, assistant to the president at Iowa State college, told of the "behind the scenes battles with flies and heat" which are the main part of purebred stock breeding.

"There is something that was put in that calf by Cleo Yoder that you can't see, feel, or describe," Mr. Godfrey said. "It is perfection. Something that isn't bought with money, but is the difference between 'Pat's Blue Ribbon' and hundreds of other fine steers."

"Cleo courageously struggled for a year to produce an international champion, showing the same kind of courage that was part of the equipment of the frontiersmen; the same kind of courage more of us need today."

Lauds Disappearance
Mr. Godfrey lauded the disappearance of the "imaginary line between Iowa and country." He cited the "Yoder dinner" as a great factor in getting rid of the dividing line.

Thelma Todd Found Dead From Fumes

Film Actress Dies In Her Own Garage After Leaving Party

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 16 (AP)—Comely Thelma Todd, blonde film actress who was found dead today in her automobile, died of monoxide fumes "that she breathed accidentally," a county autopsy surgeon announced tonight.

The 30-year-old woman, slumped behind the steering wheel of her open touring car, was discovered in her garage this morning by a maid, May Whitehead. She had been missing since she attended a Saturday night party.

Miss Whitehead told police one of the sliding doors of the garage was partially open.

Blood
Blood on Miss Todd's face probably resulted from wounds incurred when she crumpled in the car, her head striking the wheel. Dr. A. F. Wagner, county autopsy surgeon, believed.

"The autopsy showed monoxide poison, to the extent of 70 per cent of total saturation, in her blood," the surgeon reported. "There may have been other contributing causes, but that definitely was the major factor."

"The fumes were breathed accidentally. Either she went to sleep with the motor running, or was overcome before she could help herself."

Miss Todd was guest of honor at a dinner party, Saturday night, given by Stanley Lupino, well known English comedian. More than 20 persons attended.

Drank a Little
Ida Lupino, the comedian's daughter, recalled that Miss Todd "drank a cocktail before dinner and a little brandy and champagne during dinner."

The last person known to have seen her alive was Ernest Peters, operator of a rental auto livery. He told police he brought her home early Sunday morning. He fixed the time at 4:20 a.m.

A valuable fur coat and diamonds valued at several thousand dollars were untouched when the body was found.

Three Slain In Gun Battle

Kidnapers of Wealthy Cuban Shot Early This Morning

HAVANA, Dec. 17 (Tuesday) (AP)—Cuban police announced early today that three prisoners taken in connection with the kidnaping of Nicolas Castano were killed or wounded gravely in a gun battle near the suburban town of Calvario.

Heavy firing broke out there late last night as soldiers were reported bringing the accused men here from San Antonio de Las Vegas, near where Castano, 66-year-old Havana millionaire, was freed yesterday without payment of the $500,000 ransom demanded.

Conference Shelves Japan's Proposal

LONDON, Dec. 16 (AP)—The simple expedient of changing the subject served today to steer the five-power naval conference temporarily away from a threatened deadlock and possible disaster.

With no progress in sight on Japan's proposal for a common upper limit for equality of world fleets, the conference agreed unanimously to shelve it for the time being and to take up consideration of a substitute British proposal.

Flight Over Iowa City Will Observe Wright Celebration

P. B. Shaw, local pilot, yesterday announced that he will commemorate National Aviation day by flying his plane over Iowa City at the same hour Orville Wright made his first flight 32 ears ago.

On Dec. 17, 1903, Wright took off from Kitty Hawk, N.C., at 10:30 a.m. It was the first flight of a power-driven airplane carrying man.

Last year at the same hour, almost every available army, navy, marine corps, national guard, private and commercial airplane in the United States took to the air and flew over their respective communities in a mass demonstration in observance of Wright's epochal flight.

Federal and private agencies identified with aeronautics have united in planning an appropriate observance of National Aviation day. The Iowa City airport is cooperating with authorities in a move to keep alive the memory of the first flight of a plane under its own power.

Hoover Gives Sharp Reply To Roosevelt

Former President Asks For Decentralization Of Relief Control

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 16 (AP)—Herbert Hoover answered President Roosevelt's recent speeches tonight with a sharp indictment of the new deal and a proposal for a new federal relief setup which would "go far to assure a clean election."

The former president "in the interest of good government" suggested a four-fold plan to decentralize relief control, cut government allotments to states by more than half and "relief human distress which suffers enough without the poison of politics in its bread."

Suffered Enough
He said "people on relief have suffered enough from having playboys take America apart to see how the wheels go round."

Addressing the John Marshall Republican club of St. Louis, Hoover singled out for a torrent of sarcasm Roosevelt's Atlanta remark two weeks ago that "the mechanics of civilization came to a dead stop on March 3, 1933."

The republican chief said the depression actually was turned backward throughout the world in June and July 1932, but that the new deal caused this country to lag for two years while other nations progressed.

"Error"
Roosevelt made a $2,500,000,000 "error," Hoover said in estimating the new deal's public debt commitments, and took credit for $2,200,000,000 of recoverable assets loaned out by the Hoover regime. He predicted the public debt would rise to $2 or $3 billion by next July.

Republicans Will Convene At Cleveland

Reduced Delegations To Meet Voted By National Committee

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16 (AP)—A bid for support by anti-Roosevelt democrats was issued tonight by the republican national committee, climaxing a lively session at which the party's 1935 convention was set for June 9 at Cleveland.

After spirited debate, the national committee also voted for reduced delegations from most states at the June convention. Under the action taken only 997 delegates will go to Cleveland in contrast to the 1,154 who had seats at the Chicago convalesce in 1932.

Bonus Delegates
Specifically, the committee voted down a move to grant a bonus of three delegates at large to all states that went republican in the 1924, 1928 and 1932 presidential elections. It approved this delegate bonus for only the six states that voted for Herbert Hoover in 1932.

The committee's call for democratic support, voted as the day's session continued on after nightfall, came somewhat as a surprise. The action came in the adoption of a resolution submitted by R. B. Creager, Texas committeeman.

"There is nothing between what we call the Jeffersonian constitution and ourselves," Creager argued. "It seems the part of common sense that we extend an invitation that they join us in the recovery of America."

Seconds Resolution
Mark Requa, California committeeman and a close friend of former President Hoover, seconded the resolution.

"There are fundamental principles at stake about which there can be no compromise," he said.

The bid for a democratic party split followed by a single day the provisional entrance of Gov. Eugene Talmadge of Georgia, a new deal critic, into the presidential race. He made this statement on an "if" basis, depending upon the actions of the Georgia democratic committee.

Report Milne Family Contacts Kidnapers

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 16 (AP)—The Record said tonight it had learned from a "reliable source" that relatives of the missing Caleb Milne, Fourth, "have contacted his kidnapers."

The paper said the young man's grandfather, Caleb Milne Jr., wealthy retired Philadelphia textile manufacturer, received a written demand for ransom at his home today.

Nears Death
SANTA BARBARA, CAL. (AP)—Jesse Livermore Jr., 16, who assertedly was shot by his mother Nov. 29, was reported in an "extremely serious condition" last night by physicians who said he had developed pneumonia.

Homeless at Three

Victim of inter-racial tragedy, three-year-old Joan Lee, above, of Boston, Mass., is homeless. Daughter of Esther Fitzgerald, a white girl, and Bennie Lee, Chinese, and former mayor of Boston Chinatown, Joan was orphaned when her father shot and killed her mother during a quarrel and then took his own life. Joan probably will reside with the white relatives of her mother.

Italy Makes New Demands

Mussolini Not Satisfied With Franco-British Peace Proposals

Italy, apparently not content with Franco-British peace proposals which have stirred criticism in those countries for being too generous, was reported to have countered Monday night with new demands.

Although Benito Mussolini let it be known in Rome that he must wait on the fascist grand council before replying formally to the two-power plan, diplomats in Paris said he had asked Premier Laval, through his ambassador, for wider concessions.

The Paris reports said he demanded the holy city of Aksum, which the Anglo-French plan would give to Ethiopia; that he wants a colonization line with no strings attached and with Italian-controlled police; that the seaport of Assab, Eritrea, must remain in Italy's hands, with mere free-port rights for Emperor Haile Selassie.

Under the controverted Anglo-French proposals, reports from Rome have indicated, Italy's rights in a proposed southern Ethiopian zone of colonization and influence would be superseded by existing concessions such as the oil grant which Francis M. Rickett, British promoter, obtained from the Negus Neghesti.

Oscar Draws Hurt When Auto, Truck Collide Near Here

Oscar Drews, 26, of Davenport, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Drews of Iowa City, suffered four broken ribs and painful burns yesterday forenoon when his car collided with a truck one mile east of West Liberty on U. S. highway 6.

His wife, riding with him, suffered a deep scalp wound and other cuts and bruises.

Mr. and Mrs. Drews were brought to a local hospital by ambulance, where their condition was reported good.

"Water Boy's" Shots Wound Three Others In Los Angeles

C. N. Layman Blasts At Men Because They Had Been Picking At Me' All Year

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 16 (AP)—A disgruntled 44-year-old "water boy" was arrested today after four WPA workers were killed and three others wounded in a burst of rifle fire at a drainage project.

Police said the gunman, Charles N. Layman, appeared at the drainage ditch and started firing without any warning from behind some trees.

With a terrified group of workmen at bay, he fired leisurely, once reloading his rifle, then fled. Patrolmen with sawed-off shotguns captured him two blocks away, without resistance.

The dead:
Lloyd E. Holden, 42.
Peter M. Cokitt, 46.
Harry Sell, 56.
Lloyd Davis, 25.

The wounded are Frances Secrest, 33, shot in the abdomen; Harold Johnston, 27, wounded in the head, and James Healey, 49, shot in the arm. Surgeons said Secrest and Johnston might not live.

Layman left his water boy at the project last Friday. He told police he came back and shot his victims because they had been "picking at" him.

"If you understood the whole thing," Layman said, "you wouldn't blame me. I told those fellows last Friday I was coming out to get them and I did. They have been picking at me for a year and that foreman wouldn't let me work on that job."

"But I fixed them up all right." Police said Layman would be given a psychopathic examination.

Cries of "lynch him" came from a group of several hundred workers at the project as Layman was hustled away. There was no violence, however.

Police said Layman also was armed with a .38 caliber pistol and had about 50 rifle and pistol cartridges in his pockets.

He complained that workmen at the job "threw things at me and whistled at me." They pitched shovels of dirt down his neck," he said, and did "so many other things I can't remember it all."

Cliff Gill, a witness, described the shooting scene:
"One minute there were several hundred men working as usual. The next minute they were all hunting for cover."

NUMBER ONE

The first anyone knew was when he began firing bullets over the ditch. Then he jumped into the ditch, about 10 feet deep, and began picking out his men.

"He apparently had his list all made out — he fired at the men he evidently wanted to get.

"One fellow named E. P. McIntosh stepped up and asked Layman what he was doing.

"I'm shooting and what of it," Layman yelled back.

"McIntosh ducked for cover, and he was a wise man to do it.

"I could hear the bullets singing, and saw men falling. Everybody was shouting and trying to hide. Layman seemed cool, and took his time about it. Then he climbed out of the ditch.

"It looked like a battlefield, with dead and wounded men lying around. Hadden was shot through the heart. Cokil in the leg and died to death before help could get there. Sell was shot in the neck.

"The bosses established some sort of order, and an hour later everybody was working as usual."

words at the request of Toastmaster Irving B. Weber, farmers, townspeople, and speakers alike rose to their feet to give the lad a tremendous ovation.

Yoder told of his 4-H club work and of some of his lesser stock raising victories which led to the highest honor among stockmen. That he received nearly $4,000 in prize money for "Pat's Blue Ribbon" apparently pleased him considerably, but the fact that Jack Dempsey recently bought the steer from the original purchaser for $100,000 to be served in his New York restaurant, seemed to please the youth more.

The Best

President Eugene A. Gilmore extended the congratulations of the University of Iowa. "Cleo didn't waste time and corn on second rate calves," President Gilmore said. "He picked the best calf and concentrated all his time and energy on the best.

Comes Winter

OLD MAN WINTER has blown his first sheet of icy breath across Iowa City's streets making the automobile a doubly dangerous vehicle to even the most careful driver.

With the temperature below the freezing point, every stretch of paving, every corner, and every busy intersection is glazed in an icy splendor which, although beautiful to see, spells an evident warning to every thinking motorist.

There is nothing quite so helpless as the driver at the wheel of an auto which is skidding out of control. And there are few things more dangerous to both motorists and pedestrians. The results too often are fatal to both.

The only remedy is sane, careful, and slow driving. Good brakes do not help. Neither does any other sort of preparation as far as the mechanism of the automobile goes. Chains prove valuable to some extent, but they are no substitute for a sane head behind the steering wheel.

True traffic safety, on icy streets more than anywhere else, depends almost wholly upon the driver himself. His abilities to see far enough ahead, to drive slowly, and to think quickly in emergencies, are the final tests upon which the protection of all who use the highways ultimately relies.

The Old Medicine Show

THE DAY OF the old medicine show is past. No longer do the inhabitants of rural Iowa troop to the small towns to hear that miracle man with the handle bar mustache, the song and dance show, and the colored water, guaranteed to cure everything from hives to hiccups.

However, the gap left by the passing of the medicine show era is being rapidly filled by the various departments of the Iowa government. The shows may not be as snappy, and the jokes not quite so off-color, but that old side show spirit is there.

The state liquor commission has an exhibit of bad liquor which is being carted around the state for the benefit of the drinking public and the more curious non-drinkers. The man with the exhibit tells how one may distinguish state liquor from bootleg fire water, Iowa corn from Templeton rye, and Bacardi from bay rum.

Now, the state bureau of investigation comes through with a little show depicting the various reasons why "crime doesn't pay," especially in the state of Iowa. The display contains the finger prints of Donald Lammy, Des Moines youth sentenced to life imprisonment for the murder of John LeClair, garage mechanic, sawed-off shotguns used in various bank robberies throughout the state, and other crime curiosities. The only thing wrong with this kind of an exhibit is that it will interest few outside of the criminal class and law enforcement groups. The former won't come to the show for fear of apprehension, and the latter should know by this time that "crime doesn't pay."

Many and divers are the ways of getting rid of the taxpayers' money. But, on the other hand, each governmental department must keep constantly in the public eye or someday it might be forgotten and left out of the budget. The new political economy calls for high pressure publicity. None of this old stuff about doing your job quietly and well.

Maybe the automobile department could increase the sale of 1936 license plates if a troop of chorus girls, attractively dressed in the motif of the new plates, was sent to every hamlet and town in the state. This "Highwayman's Review" should make the public realize the fine work being done by the automobile department, just as the displays in the other departments put over the liquor commission and the state bureau of investigation.

The Story of A Year

I. — Man-in-Street Keeps His Eye on Supreme Court

This is the first in a series of 10 daily articles reviewing major developments of 1935.

By WILLIAM S. WHITE WASHINGTON (AP)—The supreme court, which for years had been to the ordinary American a vague and remote power, became in 1935 a direct, compelling force in his daily life.

In terms every man could understand, the court wrote history. The majesty of the only national court in modern times that may say "No" to both legislative and executive was on public view. The issues before them touched intimately the everyday affairs of millions—their pay envelopes, their pocketbooks.

Survived Devaluation Test The new deal met some spectacular losses, but it won a case involving billions — the Roosevelt monetary devaluation. Had the court swept that policy away, the nation's public and private debt would have jumped overnight by $69,000,000,000.

(The administration had reduced the gold content of the dollar. Holders of bonds guaranteeing payment on the old gold basis demanded payment on that basis. To have paid them in the newly-devalued currency would have been to pay them $1.69 for every dollar of the original obligation, because the new currency was that much less valuable, in gold, than the old.)

In these issues the immediate question was what a constitution 146 years old permitted and did not permit. But beyond this was a deeper conflict—Was the constitution a growing, changing document permitting new measures as new problems arise, or a foundation rock unchanged and unchangeable except by the people's amendment? The broader question found no final answer.

Upheld in Gold Suits The administration was downed first, by an eight to one decision on Jan. 7, in the case involving a section of the recovery act empowering the president to prohibit interstate shipment of "hot oil." Next it was upheld in the gold suits—five to four, on Feb. 18—with dissenting Justice McReynolds saying hotly from the bench: "The constitution is gone! This is Nero at his worst!"

The compulsory railway pension act, not an administration measure, fell May 6—again five to four. Chief Justice Hughes, dissenting, observed sadly that the decision went so far as to deny congress power to pass "any compulsory pension act for railroad employees."

The sunny day of May 27 was Armageddon for industrial policies of the new deal. NRA, with its thousands of codes promising better wages and shorter hours to millions of workers, fell before the court's disapproval. On the same day died the Frazier-Lemke conditional five-year farm mortgage moratorium, also not an administration measure.

Horse and Buggy Days Affected in these measures were millions of indebted farmers, railroad workers and—in NRA—other workers of all classes, as well as substantially every type of business. There came from President Roosevelt a suggestion that the people sometime might have to decide whether it would be necessary to amend the constitution to clear the road for social change.

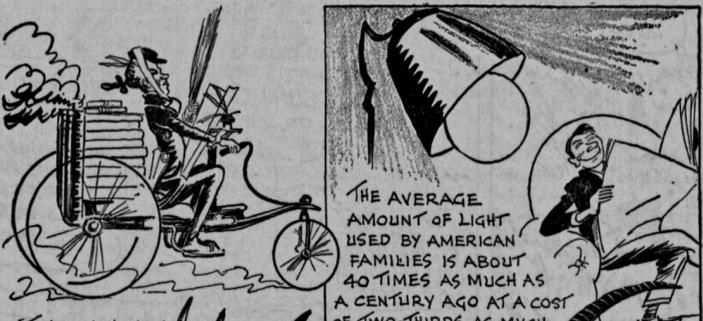

An oppositionist cry went up. Critics sought to cast the president in the role of constitution-changer. A political campaign issue—"Save the Constitution"—rose as a potentiality. The court left the layman without definite answer to this great question: What are the precise limits of the power given congress in the constitution's commerce clause—basis of much "reform" legislation?

That clause permits congress broadly to regulate interstate commerce. May it, then, move under that grant toward social and economic ends? Another reason why there will be no American revolution: Any group that gets mad enough to revolt will scare enough congressmen to get much of what it wants.

Credit for the new movement in real estate must be divided among recent earthquakes, returning prosperity and, in some cases, Italian bombers. Cleopatra's nose, had it been shorter, would have altered the aspect of the world. If Il Duce had a retreating chin, there would be changes made.

An adolescent up the street is in the throes of a first romance. His people report signs of soil erosion on the wrists, neck and ears. A Massachusetts law says all eggs must be fresh. That takes the responsibility off the hen.

Scott's Scrapbook by R. J. SCOTT

THE AVERAGE AMOUNT OF LIGHT USED BY AMERICAN FAMILIES IS ABOUT 40 TIMES AS MUCH AS A CENTURY AGO AT A COST OF TWO-THIRDS AS MUCH. STEAM VEHICLES FOR THE ROADS WERE VISIONED IN CARTOONS WHICH APPEARED IN DICKENS' PICKWICK PAPERS IN 1834. ONE OF THE MARKED DIFFERENCES BETWEEN AN ANTELOPE AND A DEER IS THAT ANTELOPES RETAIN THEIR HORNS LIKE A COW, WHILE A DEER SHEDS ITS ANTLERS EVERY YEAR.

A Washington Bystander

WASHINGTON—Attempts to visualize the next presidential campaign from this distance present one surprising possibility, if not probability. It seems to be in the cards that a number of favorite stump orators, both democrats and republicans, will be sulking in their tents.

The Hoover-Smith battle of 1928 was notable for that on the democratic side, particularly down south. Many veteran party spellbinders avoided bolting but did no campaigning at all for the national ticket. They were too busy with their own affairs. To what extent that helped along the Hoover crash through the lines of the old solid south on election day is anyone's guess. It did help. That is unquestionable.

Borah Said Nothing Coming down to the Hoover-Roosevelt battle of 1932, it looked for a long time as if Mr. Roosevelt would fall of the support, if he were not actively opposed, of Al Smith and his followers from Massachusetts.

Union Library Gets Nine New Books The addition of several new books to the Union library was announced yesterday by Dorothy Spencer, librarian. Volumes included in the list are: "Nijinsky," Romola Nijinsky; "Discovery," Byrd; "Road to War," Mills; "Swann's Way," Proust; "Mary Queen of Scotland and the Isles," Zweig; "Seven Pillars of Wisdom," Lawrence; "Voice of Bugle Ann," Kantor; "Winged Victory," Yeates; and "North to the Orient," Lindbergh. Carat derives its name from quirat, which in Arabic signifies the pod of the coral tree of Abyssinia, the seeds of which have from time immemorial been used in the east in weighing gold because they never vary in weight when they are dry.

The interchurch movement was an effort in 1917 to co-ordinate all Christianization of the entire world. It was projected to raise $300,000,000 for the work of investigating conditions.

Jung Says Italians Behind Mussolini In African Campaign

The average Italian is solidly behind Mussolini in his policies, Prof. Moses Jung of the school of religion told Quadrangle men at their first forum of the year Sunday afternoon. There is, however, considerable dissension regarding his foreign policy, and many intellectuals believe the war with Ethiopia is the last effort of a tottering dictatorship to regain prestige. In Spain, Professor Jung discovered on an European tour last summer, the lot of the average man has not improved since the overthrow of the monarchy.

36,000 Pupils Will Take School Tests On January 27, 28

More than 36,000 elementary school children will take the elementary school tests given Jan. 27 and 28, it was announced yesterday by Prof. E. F. Lindquist of the college of education, who is director of the every-pupil testing program for sixth, seventh and eighth grades. Yesterday was the last day registrations for the test could be made. About 225 schools in Iowa and other states will take part in the program. The every-pupil testing program is under the auspices of the college of education and the extension division.

Quad News

Ninety cans of vegetables and fruit to be distributed to Iowa City needy at Christmas were gathered at the Quadrangle "dinner" dance Saturday night, it was reported by Roswell Johnson, M2 of Ottumwa, at a meeting of the Quadrangle council last night. Johnson, vice-president of the Quadrangle association, presided in the absence of the president, and announced the appointment of a committee to handle the mailing of Christmas cards for the group. Robert MacDowell, D3 of Waterloo, chairman, will be assisted by Robert Shaffer, L1 of Chariton, Leland Rodgers, G of Ottumwa, Kan., and Robert Fenton, C4 of Jewell. Names of six nominees for the Freshman Party committee were announced, social and athletic committee activities were approved, and bills allowed.

Take Jewelry Valued at $250

Iowa City police revealed yesterday that thieves Saturday night entered the home of Mrs. Rose Foster, 223 E. Bloomington street, escaping with valuables totaling more than $250. Mrs. Foster said she believed her house had been watched for some time, and that entrance was gained through a sleeping porch. Included among articles taken was a diamond solitaire ring valued at $100, a diamond sapphire valued at $50, and a watch valued at $50.

Prof. Wylie Writes Article on Meteors

An article entitled "The Path of the Archie Meteor" by Prof. C. C. Wylie, university astronomer, has been published in the December issue of Popular Astronomy. The article describes the probable direction and duration of the flight of a meteor, which fell with a thundering scud near Archie, Mo., the night of Aug. 10, 1932.

A New Yorker

At Large

By JAMES B. RESTON NEW YORK—Burton Rascoe, for years one of the country's most promising young journalists, has dropped away to obscurity. He is now reading manuscripts for a mid-town publisher.

His brilliant, biting literary criticisms marked him in the 1920's as the fair-haired youngster of the news rooms. He went from the Tribune in Chicago to the Tribune in New York, then turned for four years to a New York column which was syndicated nationally. I hope it was merely a coincidence that this job stopped him—at least temporarily.

In those successful years, Rascoe championed several authors who today need no champion. I would merely start an argument if I say the discovered James Branch Cabell, Theodore Dreiser, Sherwood Anderson, Sinclair Lewis, Carl Sandburg, Edgar Lee Masters, Ernest Hemingway, John Erskine, Joseph Herge-shelmer, F. Scott Fitzgerald and Ring Lardner. But certainly he was among the first to beat the drum in their favor.

Ever since he left Michigan boulevard, he has been working on a novel, which Cabell has called "The most famous American novel never yet published." But his hope hasn't waned.

Gene Tunney is successful at living and at business just as he was at fighting. His life now is that of the successful cultured gentleman. He lives in Greenwich Village, goes up to his office in the Grand Central building every day, stays there until lunch time and then runs over to Chas. Cella's place on East Forty-fifth street where the writers gather.

He still manages to get around to Arlie McGovern's for a workout in the afternoon, and though he's a little thicker in the middle than he was in the old Dempsey days, there's no fat on him anywhere.

Jock Whitney has gambled the largest sum on Broadway this season and right now it looks like the best gamble. He sank $300,000 in Billy Rose's "Jumbo," which grossed over $60,000 in its first week. The premiere brought in over $17,000, at an $8.80 top. This is the highest price paid on the street this season for opening night tickets.

Screen Life

By HUBBARD KEAVY HOLLYWOOD—Paul Muni usually can be induced to discuss any subject that interests him, or any person he likes. He doesn't like to talk about himself, as a person, but as an actor—well, you can hardly stop him.

This about Muni, the person, comes from a variety of sources: his wife, Bella, his valet, his directors and his associates. For instance, he worries about his five-acre walnut crop. There aren't quite enough nuts to market yet there are too many for his own use. During the harvest season, nuts from bordering trees fall into his swimming pool. He skins them off each morning.

The gates of his ranch home are electrically controlled. When they fail to work, as they sometimes do, he personally goes out to admit callers. He is impulsive and once dived into his pool with all his clothes on. His real name is Mitchell Weisenfreund, but he always has been called Muni by his friends and his family. He finally selected it as his stage name.

Once a Juggler He likes to hide out in secluded hotels. If he is not immediately recognized, he poses as a musician and carries an empty violin case. He leaves home two or three times a year for a few days or a week. His wife never worries about him. She knows he will let her know where he is. He is moody, restless and loves to travel.

He infrequently attends parties, but he has a good time when he does. His suits are ultra-conservative, but he wears striped underwear and checkered pajamas. He plays an excellent game of pool and once he was a juggler in a burlesque show. He refuses to have turnips served in his home. As a boy he once drank half a bottle of applejack during an enforced violin practice period. He has drunk very little of any kind since.

9 Films in 7 Years He has, at various times, shaved his head or dyed his hair. He is one of very few actors who are willing to go so far in altering their appearance for the sake of a role. In "The Story of Louis Pasteur," he raised a beard and had his hairline moved back nearly two inches. It took six weeks for him to look himself again.

In seven years he has made only nine pictures. No other star of equal standing has made so few pictures. He lost most of his life savings in the market crash of 1929 and this led directly to the purchase of his ranch home, his first investment in real estate. He would like to be a farmer, but he believes he would starve to death at such a business.

"La Maternelle" Wins Praise From Critics Around World

Rarely does the expression, "international success" apply more to a motion picture than it does to "La Maternelle" (Children of Montmartre), the French motion picture which opens today for a three day run at the Strand theater under the auspices of the Romance languages department of the university.

Paris boulevards cheered it for an entire year; Berlin applauded it in the same first-run theater for 15 weeks and played it under the title, "Mutterhaendel"; Budapest awarded it a prize for the outstanding foreign picture of the year; Vienna nominated it for the "Nobel Prize of Motion Pictures," which they recommended to invent for the sole purpose of honoring "La Maternelle"; London presented it in its largest theater for three months; and New York is showing the film now in its twelfth record-breaking week.

The World-Telegram acclaimed it for the honors of the "World Cinema Prize"; New York Post called it a "masterpiece which belongs to posterity"; and all other papers joined the chorus of unrestrained praise. It is interesting to know that the film has been dubbed (a process whereby the French dialogue is eliminated and substituted by voices of the respective nationality) in Italian, German, Hungarian, Dutch, Spanish, and Japanese. It will be presented at the Strand theater, in its original French version with superimposed English titles which make the picture fully understandable to non-French-speaking audiences.

Many Showings
London, Paris, Berlin, Vienna, and every important city of Europe had seen and praised the film before it was considered for distribution in this country. American newspapermen and women who were vacationing abroad sent back reports of its greatness, and returning travelers spoke of it as the sensation of England and the continent.

Yet American picture magazines could not sense the possibilities of a production dealing with so simple a subject as life in a Parisian day nursery, and it was not until John S. Tapernoux, in association with Metropolitan Pictures corporation, decided to import it as an independent venture, that the American rights were sold.

It opened without the usual advertising build-up that American companies give their important releases, but so enthusiastic was the reaction of the press and the public that for many months, the New York Broadway theater was completely sold out, and the S.R.O. sign placed at the box office for all performances.

"Within These Walls" Offers No Entertainment, Says Critic

By LOU LAYNE

Although Marcus Bach's "Within These Walls" is definitely different from the usual run of dramatic fare, it would hardly hold a place on the theatergoer's list of plays he simply must see.

The theme and treatment of the piece are much too heavy for casual entertainment, yet Mr. Bach's attempt to bring to the stage the spirit of monasticism deserves more than momentary attention. As one player at the close of Sunday night's performance at University theater described the play, "It's a very interesting experiment," and as such should be judged.

The story, relating the transition of a modern-day American youth forsaking the world to dedicate his life to the spiritual, tells of his inward fight to leave the mundane circle he loves for the simpler and holier ideals of the Trappist monks.

Doubt
Despite his firm conviction that he is ready for his vows, a sense of doubt finds him wavering in his choice. He finally throws off the yoke of earthliness and gives himself, wholly and fully, to God.

An innovation in the presentation of the action of the story is the use of talking motion pictures, filmed in natural color and projected upon the walls of the scenery, to visualize the thoughts of the central character so that the audience might follow, as closely as possible, the rapid succession of hurried brain pictures.

The play ran 11 scenes in three acts and a prologue with a capella singing by the Columbia college vestal choir between acts and during the story's unfolding.

W. O. Payne Dies Sunday In Des Moines

W. O. Payne, 75, graduate of the University of Iowa, died in Des Moines Sunday, it was learned here yesterday.

Mr. Payne was graduated from Nevada high school in 1877 and later received A.B. and LL.B. degrees from the University of Iowa. Since then he had been editor of the Iowa Forum, and for many years was prominent as an editor in republican party activities.

He was twice a republican nominee, once for United States senator, and again for congress.

Radium is extracted from certain kinds of pitchblende consisting largely of uranium oxide.

Up until about the middle of the nineteenth century coal tar was regarded as a waste product and thrown away, or burned under the retorts, but beginning in 1846 its value was discovered and it was first used in Germany for making roofing felt.

Lighting
Lighting played a major part in the production of the show, imparting to many of the scenes the impressiveness of well executed tableaux. Scenery, though simple, was majestic reflecting the life of rugged self denial.

The play as a whole is interesting, well written, well acted and well directed but because of its subject matter and length could not be truthfully classed as entertainment; and entertainment is still the primary function of the theater.

"Within These Walls" was presented by the Columbia College Players in conjunction with the experimental seminar of the University theater. The Rev. George Stemm directed, with members of the speech and dramatic art departments of the University of Iowa cooperating.

IOWA CAGERS PLAY 2 GAMES THIS WEEK

Van Ysseldyk, Barko Tie For High Total

Hawks to Face Loyola, Western Michigan 5 On Foreign Courts

The scoring punch so prominently present in the Carleton game but so conspicuously lacking against Pittsburgh figuratively becomes the object of an intense search by the Iowa basketballers. Where it has gone so abruptly, no one, not even Rollie Williams knows.

But Rollie Williams has no immediate fears. He believes the men have the actual ability to make several more than five field goals a game. The shooting in the Pitt game was a poor criterion of the marksmanship of the first team.

Whereas one of every three shots dropped in against Carleton, only one of every seven swished the net against the Panthers. That poor a percentage will probably never befall the Hawkeys again this year.

But in order that the team should redeem its prestige, Williams will call for accurate shooting first and speed second in the two games this week; also, a strong finishing punch—the same finishing punch that brought last year's quintet four victories.

RIGHT now, Bush Lamb stands as the No. 1 contender for Capt. John Barko's forward job which will be left vacant by his graduation at mid-year. Lamb has revealed several flashes of ability. Coaches have maintained right along he has a basketball mind. Lamb has a good change of pace and brings a deceptive shiftness from the football field. He has not yet reached a varsity level but his faults are of a kind that can be corrected by experience and close attention.

Lamb has the makings of a first-rate forward but he must make his own opportunities like good players do.

If it's weight and ruggedness that make for championship basketball teams, you can award the title to Iowa right now. At one time Saturday night, a lineup averaging 194 pounds and possessing two football men, was in the game.

Wooden spoons are said to be best for stirring cooking foods.

Irish Meet St. Ambrose Tonight at Davenport

Ozzie Simmons Sleeps With Optics Open

"With My Eyes Wide Open, I'm Dreaming" is more than a song title to Ozzie Simmons, University of Iowa's great football star. It is a habit. The Ebony Eel, who has a nation-wide reputation for his unorthodox gyrations on the gridiron, seems to have a characteristic method of sleeping all his own.

This peculiarity was noticed by Johnny Hill, who along with the rest of the football team, was spending the night before the Homecoming game at the Country club, apart from din and clamor of the campus.

A short time after the players had retired, Hill was disturbed by the snoring of the Ft. Worth Flyer. As he glanced at Ozzie, he was startled in noticing that the peacefully sleeping player's eyes were wide open and that he was staring into space.

He immediately called Don Simmons, who arose calmly, snapped his brother's eyes shut and went back to bed. Ozzie did not wake up, and brother Don explained that this is a common habit of his brother's.

Cross Country Men Choose Nelson Leader

Paul Nelson, A3 of Keosauqua, was named captain of the 1936 cross country team at a dinner given in the team's honor by Coach George T. Bresnahan at his home Sunday night.

Nelson was a minor "I" winner in cross country for the last two years and a major "I" winner in track last spring. Throughout this last season, he was the most consistent point-getter Coach Bresnahan had.

After the dinner, Ossie Solem, athletic director, Coach Bresnahan and Ted Swenson, and James "Waddie" Davis, athletic assistant, gave talks. Coach Bresnahan reminded the men that Iowa has had men on every Olympic team since 1920.

Francis Cretzmeyer, track captain, appointed the following men to serve as chairmen of the committees for a track mixer, Jan. 9.

Ambrosians Will Present Lanky Quintet

Two losses in a row brought a shakeup in the St. Patrick's cage lineup on the eve of their tilt with St. Ambrose at 8 o'clock tonight in Davenport. The Irish, underdogs, are out to stage an upset victory.

Chuck Patterson, 6 foot, 3 inch reserve center, was moved up to the first string. Bill Leuz went to guard where he will team with Paul Carrigg while Bob Coen and Dick Healy received the call for the forward posts. This lineup will start against the Davenport aggregation.

Tonight's game is the initial tilt of the season for St. Ambrose which boasts four men on the first string who are taller than Patterson, lankiest Shamrock.

Men to make the Davenport trip are: Coen, Demery, Healy and Carrigg; forwards; Patterson, center; and Carrigg, Leuz and Byers, guards. Howard Demery, although not a starter, is expected to see action during the tilt.

An alumni team composed of Smith and Boyd, forwards; "Oz" Pinney, center; and Wetrick and Plugh in the back court, met defeat at the hands of their successors in a practice game Sunday afternoon, 33 to 29. "Moose" Carrigg and Bill Leuz smothered the old guard with airtight guarding.

Hawklets Drill For Davenport

Stress Fundamentals In Preparation For Strong Blue Devils

Fundamentals were stressed by Coaches Francis Merten and Herb Cornack at City high yesterday afternoon, as they drilled their Red and White crew preparatory to meeting one of the toughest foes of the season Friday night at Davenport.

Davenport won the state consolation championship at Cedar Falls last year, and also won a decision over Iowa City in their only meeting of the season. Last Friday Davenport, paced by their spectacular captain-forward, Simmons, trounced East Moline, 42 to 20.

Merten's outfit already has tacked four consecutive wins on the wall, while Davenport has dropped one game while winning two.

Tomorrow and Thursday the Hawklets will work out in Iowa fieldhouse in final drill for Friday's contest.

THEN - AND NOW

Iowa fans prized this packed Iowa field for many years, but it was crowds such as the one above that compelled authorities to construct a new stadium. The above photo shows most of the crowd of 30,000 which saw the Hawkeyes beat Illinois in the grand Homecoming game of 1925 in which "Red" Grange scored on the opening kick-off. (shown in the picture), and "Cowboy" Kutch came back with two field goals and a 30 yard touchdown run to bring Iowa a victory. The lower photo shows the desolate, forgotten structure all most entirely demolished to make room for other structures.

Times Change, But Memories Linger On

Years ago the gathering point of the sporting fraternity of Iowa, and today practically deserted and forgotten—that has been the history of Old Iowa stadium.

It has been replaced now by a new and larger structure across the river, but it will be many, many years before the new stadium will replace the old in the hearts of Iowa alumni.

Stands Deserted

Like the huge amphitheatres of old Greece it stands deserted, and an object of morbid curiosity. It's only inhabitants are mice and rats. Yet it was not so long ago that the stands were filled with spectators and the walls were reverberating from the cheers of the crowd. It was not so long ago that Iowa gridiron immortals were running over opposing teams and putting the fear of Iowa into the hearts of football teams throughout the land, and the proud slogan "Iowa Fights" was painted brightly upon the walls.

Now these same stands are in ruins. The walls are crumbling with age, and the turf is uncare for. After next spring the old stadium is going to be completely demolished and all sports trans-

Shires to Referee at Charity "Grunt Groan" Bill Tonight

Art Shires, former American league "bad boy" first baseman, will referee at the charity wrestling show at 8 o'clock tonight in Legion building when six leading grapplers show their wares.

Bob Rush, matchmaker, has secured Fred Grubmeier, native Iowan, and Mike Nazarian, "heavyweight champ of Armenia," for the main go. The other bouts will find Earl Wampler, Scranton coal miner, gouging Olaf Gregerson while Hill Billy Nelson will meet The Masked Shadow in the other.

Shires has warned the grunt and groan artists not to go beyond humane limits or he may provide some unscheduled fireworks himself.

Grubmeier has been grappling in New York where he has met most of the top-notchers and given a good account of himself in each match. He forced the present title-holder, Danno O'Mahoney, to the limit before the latter could emerge victorious. The last time Fred appeared in Iowa was when he forced Jimmy Londos, then champion, to two out of three falls.

Nazarian is reputed to be something of a villain, and may be expected to open up his full bag of dirty tricks before he succumbs to the superior skill of his opponent.

The semi-final between Earl Wampler and Olaf Gregerson is a one fall match. This is the match that may exceed the main go in sheer excitement as Wampler is one of the bad boys of the sport. His chief tricks require the concealment of a rope and soap in his trunks. At different stages of the match he endeavors to choke his opponent or fill his eyes with soap. Gregerson is big and tough and can take care of himself.

The first match of the evening will find Hill Billy Nelson opposing "The Masked Shadow." Nelson will endeavor to disclose the countenance

Crayne to Leave Tomorrow For East-West Game

A trip to the Pacific coast for a charity football game will replace a Christmas at home for Dick Crayne as the University of Iowa star leaves tomorrow for San Francisco with the east squad.

Crayne is one of nine backs from the region east of the Missouri river who will compete in the eleventh annual East-West game for the benefit of the Shrine hospital in San Francisco Jan. 1.

The Hawkeye will join Sheldon Beise of Minnesota, Dick Heekin of Ohio State, and Wally Cruise of Northwestern as the only Western conference backs on the squad.

After a workout at Northwestern's stadium Wednesday afternoon, the 22-man squad will entrain for the coast. Crayne is the fourth Iowan since 1929 to be named on the all-star squad, the others being Bill Glasgow, Joe Laws, and Francis Schammel.

Grubmeier, Nazarian Meet in Main Tilt At Wrestling Show

Art Shires, former American league "bad boy" first baseman, will referee at the charity wrestling show at 8 o'clock tonight in Legion building when six leading grapplers show their wares.

Bob Rush, matchmaker, has secured Fred Grubmeier, native Iowan, and Mike Nazarian, "heavyweight champ of Armenia," for the main go. The other bouts will find Earl Wampler, Scranton coal miner, gouging Olaf Gregerson while Hill Billy Nelson will meet The Masked Shadow in the other.

Shires has warned the grunt and groan artists not to go beyond humane limits or he may provide some unscheduled fireworks himself.

Grubmeier has been grappling in New York where he has met most of the top-notchers and given a good account of himself in each match. He forced the present title-holder, Danno O'Mahoney, to the limit before the latter could emerge victorious. The last time Fred appeared in Iowa was when he forced Jimmy Londos, then champion, to two out of three falls.

Nazarian is reputed to be something of a villain, and may be expected to open up his full bag of dirty tricks before he succumbs to the superior skill of his opponent.

The semi-final between Earl Wampler and Olaf Gregerson is a one fall match. This is the match that may exceed the main go in sheer excitement as Wampler is one of the bad boys of the sport. His chief tricks require the concealment of a rope and soap in his trunks. At different stages of the match he endeavors to choke his opponent or fill his eyes with soap. Gregerson is big and tough and can take care of himself.

The first match of the evening will find Hill Billy Nelson opposing "The Masked Shadow." Nelson will endeavor to disclose the countenance

They Won't Admit Defeat

Winning Habit of U. High Gridders Adopted by Cagers

This year Coach Joy Kistler and University high school are blessed with that rare gift—a group of athletes that just will not admit defeat. Doped to lose by several points last Friday against St. Pat's and trailing at the half, they came from behind to score an 18 to 12 victory over a school that has defeated the Blue for several years in succession.

Four of Kistler's quintet are football men from last season's championship eleven, a group of men that acquired the habit of winning. These four, Ted Hinman, Dave Foerster, Jim Barron, and Tom Horn, are well filled out by Charlie Smith, hard fighting forward who turned out a great game in last week's intra-city battle.

Whether the Rivermen can keep up their winning streak will be seen Thursday when they meet West Branch in their first conference tilt. The game, to be played at West Branch, will probably see a quite different team taking the floor from the one that out-shot St. Pat's Friday. Although the Kistlerites won the game the victory was more the result of sheer drive and fight than a smoothly functioning quintet.

This week will see Kistler doing all in his power to advance the smoothness of his proteges. Football tactics on the basketball floor is a condition the University high mentor will not tolerate, even if a change means a shake-up of the starting five. In a blood affair such as the St. Pat's game there is some excuse because of tension brought about by long rivalry, but henceforth rough play is out, according to Kistler.

Yesterday saw no let-up in work because of the Blues' recently gained basketball laurels. A fundamental drill was followed by a stiff scrimmage, with the first team lined up against the reserves. A blue down was evident in the drill, "Blue Monday" being a reality even in the team of University high basketball.

Most of the players are set to take a win from West Branch. It can easily be told that a dream of basketball pennants, to hang beside the recently acquired football trophy, is fast forming in the players' minds. But between University high and any such goal are 10 remaining games to be played, after which there is the sectional tournament to wade through.

War Department To Forbid Officers To Coach Grid Elevens

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16 (AP)—Army officers assigned to Reserve Officers' Train Corps units in educational institutions will be forbidden hereafter to engage in such activities as athletic coaching if it interferes with regular military duties.

It was learned today that the war department, confronted by a serious shortage of officer personnel, has taken steps aimed at conserving its commissioned strength as far as possible.

NORMAN, Okla., Dec. 16 (AP)—Capt. Lawrence "Biff" Jones of the United States army, head football coach at the University of Oklahoma, reserved comment today when informed of a new war department policy reportedly designed to prevent coaching and other work outside the regular line of duty from

Local Clubs Fete Children

Nearly 190 children were entertained Sunday evening by the Altrusa club, the Federated Business and Professional Women's club and the Iowa City Business and Professional Women's club at the second annual children's party for underprivileged children.

Before dinner the children were grouped according to age and participated in games. The boys and girls were then treated to a dinner of mashed potatoes and gravy, chicken and noodles, cranberries, cherry nut ice cream and spice cake, hot chocolate, and rolls and butter.

After dinner the children were taken upstairs and entertained by a puppet show, "The Pied Piper of Hamelin." Christmas carols were sung and Santa Claus distributed gifts.
