

JURY MAY RETURN VERDICT TODAY

Business Will Battle Further Moves Having Tinge of NRA

United States C. of C. Issues Statement in Emphatic Terms As Legislators Gather

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28 (AP) — Legislators gathering for the session of congress opening next Friday were notified by an organized business spokesman in emphatic terms today that it would continue to oppose all measures having an NRA flavor.

This word came as a formal statement from the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. It served notice also that business leaders would fight any cash bonus bill and warned against heavy federal expenditures and any permanent neutrality measure "which might operate to take us toward war rather than way from it."

The chamber hit at three "carry-over" bills introduced after the death of NRA. Listering the Walsh bill, which required that all business enterprises having government contracts abide by specified hours and wages; the O'Mahoney measure providing federal licenses for all interstate industries, and the Black 36-hour week proposal, it added: "The chamber is opposed to all these proposals as it is to all efforts to reenact mandatory provisions of the defunct NRA."

Favors Agreements "It favors trade practice agreements voluntarily entered into and contends that this procedure will permit a program of labor relations fair alike to worker and employer without resort to the inflexible fiat of legislative enactments administered by 'crackdown' government agents, which have previously proved obnoxious alike to labor and employer."

After enumerating other bills it will favor and some it will oppose, the chamber said:

Issues Statement "These are prominent among the questions immediately to the fore as congress assemblies. Meanwhile the country asks 'Is the breathing spell over?'"

Smith to Turn Down Offer of U.S. Executive

NEW YORK, Dec. 28 (AP)—The paths of two political associates and friends of other years, President Roosevelt and Alfred E. Smith, were farther apart today with the disclosure the former governor will decline an invitation to be a White House guest when he goes to Washington to address the American Liberty league dinner Jan. 25.

Sends Invitation The invitation was sent by Mrs. Roosevelt more than a week ago. The 1928 democratic presidential candidate has not yet replied, but he said today he would be unable to accept inasmuch as he would be accompanied on the trip to Washington by a large party of friends and would remain with them.

To Stay at Hotel Smith's party will stay at a Pennsylvania avenue hotel, two blocks away from the White House and one of the former governor's guests, it was expected, will be John J. Raskob, former chairman of the democratic national committee.

Like Smith, Raskob is a charter member of the league. In view of Smith's known hostility to the new deal, associates of the former governor, both in New York and in Washington, pointed out that the Liberty league address without doubt will contain an attack on the administration.

Sentences Three Youths LEMARS (AP)—District Judge J. G. Rodman sentenced Everett Freese, Don Landstaff and William Vonhagel yesterday afternoon after they pleaded guilty to a series of farm robberies in Plymouth and Woodbury counties.

Held in Slaying

Roy Crittendon, above, a Negro domestic, is held in jail at Haverford, Pa., following his confession, according to police, that he shot and killed Mrs. Mary Louise Ginder, 70-year-old dietitian and housekeeper at Haverford college. Mrs. Ginder was slain as she dined with friends in a private dining room at the college.

Court to Hear Bruno's Appeal

Court of Pardons May Discuss Case During Informal Session

TRENTON, N. J., Dec. 28 (AP)—Members of New Jersey's court of pardons, who will soon consider Bruno Richard Hauptmann's petition for mercy, have received many letters for and against clemency. Hauptmann is under sentence to die the week of Jan. 13.

Court members said the letters could have no possible bearing on the vote. There are eight members and Hauptmann needs the votes of five to win clemency. One member, George Van Buskirk, a lay judge, will be prevented by illness from attending.

May Come Soon Hauptmann's application for clemency, filed Monday, may come before the court informally at a special session Monday. The court will convene in the executive office at 10:30 a.m. to consider a limited parole for another prisoner to permit him to testify in a New York murder case.

Gov. Harold G. Hoffman said the court probably would decide then when to consider Hauptmann's application and whether to meet at state prison to hear Hauptmann personally. The governor indicated he favored calling Hauptmann as a witness.

To Receive Notice There is little likelihood the court will dispose of the Hauptmann petition Monday. State and defense attorneys normally would be given several days notice and they have not been told when the hearing will be held.

Clemency—perhaps commutation of sentence to life imprisonment—is Hauptmann's main hope of escaping the chair for the kidnap-murder of Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr.

French Approve Funds For Increasing Army

PARIS, Dec. 28 (AP)—The senate approved tonight a proposed budget for 1936 of 40,000,000,000 francs (about $2,600,000,000), providing heavy expenditures for the French army and navy.

Gen. Victor Denain, minister of air, told the senate a three-year program of reinforcing France's air fleet will be completed within 18 months.

Make Agreement ROCK ISLAND, Ill. (AP)—Illinois and Iowa made a reciprocity agreement on trucks operating in the two states Thomas E. Brennan, Rock Island, investigator for the automobile division of the Illinois secretary of state's office, announced yesterday.

Report Fierce Battle in North Africa

Claim Victory For Ethiopians In Great Drive

ADDIS ABABA, Dec. 28 (AP)—A huge Ethiopian army was reported locked in a fierce battle today with Italy's invaders in the north. The warriors are encountering strong opposition and many have been slain on both sides, it was announced here.

This report was given to the government by Emperor Haile Selassie in a telegram from Dessye.

First Big Conflict He said that the huge forces under Ras Mulugeta, attempting to drive northward against the entrenched fascists, is now engaged in its first important conflict with the enemy and that casualties are heavy.

Mulugeta is the Ethiopian minister of war and left the capital weeks ago to command a main army in the north. Haile Selassie is at Ethiopian field headquarters at Dessye, about midway between the northern and southern fronts.

Launch Counter-Offensive Apparently this battle marked the launching of a major Ethiopian counter-offensive in the north. There have been fierce skirmishes at Italian outposts as the Ethiopians carried on a bitter guerrilla warfare, but no great bodies of troops had gone into action.

The government also claimed today it had captured Abbi Addi, only 25 miles west of Makale, in another bloody battle with the Italians, who have held Makale for weeks.

Drives Back Troops A surprise attack upon Abbi Addi drove back Italian native troops, the communiqué said. Many bodies were found on the battlefield, it was reported.

The battle apparently is the same one described several days ago in an Italian communique, which said the Ethiopians retired after a day-long battle marked by fierce hand-to-hand fighting.

One hundred of Italy's native soldiers were taken prisoner, it was said here, and fighting continued the next day.

There have been repeated skirmishes in the area.

Winter's Sub Zero Weather Finally Ends

CHICAGO, Dec. 28 (AP)—Winter's first sub-zero wave was definitely broken today but only after it had caused, directly or indirectly, loss of at least 220 lives and damaged crops to the extent of millions of dollars.

Snow in many sections marked the departure of the extreme frigid blast that swept over the country from the Rocky mountains to the Atlantic coast.

Snow Covers States A white blanket covered the "little dust bowl" of southeastern Colorado, extended over the continental divide and reached from Santa Fe, N. Mex., to Montana. The fall broke a six weeks' drought in that area.

In many other sections of the northern states, the covering persisted as the mercury climbed slowly upward.

Suffer Heavily While the snowfall in Kansas and other wheat growing areas was deemed highly beneficial, southern agricultural areas suffered heavily from the frost.

Three thousand men and 250 pieces of apparatus dug New York out of the remainder of the week's snow.

Death Ends Career Of Montana Gunman

BUTTE, Mont., Dec. 28 (AP)—Southwestern Montana peace officers, fatigued from one of the state's most sanguinary manhunts, closed the record tonight of William Henry Knight, killer of four persons.

A bullet from Assistant Chief of Police Jack Duggan's pistol last night proved fatal to the 39-year-old ex-convict.

Predicts More Snow DES MOINES (AP)—The weatherman predicted continued snow and not much change in temperature over the week end in Iowa after the state's severest cold of the season.

Milne Kidnap Case Falls Apart; Caleb Milne IV Held in Default Of Bail by G-Men for Extortion

NEW YORK, Dec. 28 (AP)—The Milne "kidnap case" fell apart today, leaving drama-loving Caleb Milne, IV a prisoner in truth instead of fancy.

The 23-year-old heir to a textile fortune confessed today that his kidnaping two weeks ago was a hoax inspired by need of money and by a belief that resultant publicity would help him get a job on the stage.

Makes Confession His confession, made to government agents, was followed within a few hours by his arraignment on a charge of attempted extortion. He was ordered held in default of $7,500 bail for a hearing Jan. 9.

The federal assistant district attorney asked, that bond be fixed at $10,000, but United States Commissioner Cotter fixed the lower amount when, in answer to a question, the

Mauna Loa Responds to Bomb Attack With Blast of Flames

HILO, Hawaii, Dec. 28 (AP)—Mauna Loa volcano answered an aerial bombing attack tonight with a terrific blast of fire and a new advance of red-hot lava toward Hilo's water reservoirs.

It was as if the ancient volcano, once worshipped by natives, were aroused by the 20 big bombs dropped yesterday by army flyers seeking to divert the lava flow away from Hilo.

Flames Shoot High Flames, accompanied by a deafening roar, shot high in the most spectacular display along Mauna Loa's historic slopes since the current eruption started Nov. 21.

A great fiery tentacle, in a lava advance of about one and one-half miles today, reached within three miles of the Hilo reservoirs. The distance from Hilo, a city of 20,000, was conjectural. Some said 24 miles, others 12.

Unable to Tell Thomas A. Jaggar, government volcanologist, said he still was unable to tell whether the bombing attack had any effect.

Jaggar and army authorities apparently were waiting for further observations before deciding whether prisoner said he didn't think he could supply a $10,000 bond.

Specific Charge The specific charge was that Milne deposited "a letter in the United States mails demanding $20,000."

Milne, an amateur actor who wanted to act professionally and who also had the urge to write mystery stories—ambitions which met with little success—disappeared two weeks ago from the modest room he and a younger brother occupied here. He was found four days later lying bound and gagged and with one arm punctured as though by hypodermic needles—they were pin pricks, his confession explains—beside a roadway near Doylestown, Pa.

So realistic was young Milne's plight that he was taken hurriedly to a hospital and kept in seclusion for many hours, his condition being described as "too serious" to permit questioning.

to undertake another bombardment in an attempt to turn the lava from the direction of the city and its water supply.

At the present rate of flow, Jaggar said, the lava would reach the city in about five months.

How long the eruption would continue was a matter of speculation. At the outset some observers figured it would continue perhaps three weeks.

Hawaiians Fear Wrath Of Fire Goddess, Pele

HILO, Hawaii, Dec. 28 (AP)—Old-time Hawaiians expressed regret today at the bombing of the volcano Mauna Loa. They appeared disturbed over the violation of a tradition that the fire goddess Pele never should be exposed.

Some of their remarks were: "Pele is angry. She should not be disturbed."

"This bombing is folly. It will do more harm than good."

"If Pele has decided to come to Hilo it is not for man to dissuade her by artificial methods. It is impossible to stop her thusly."

Laval Escapes Political Death In Shaky Win

PARIS, Dec. 28 (AP)—Premier Pierre Laval escaped political decapitation by a shaky victory in the chamber of deputies tonight on a promise to "uphold the League of Nations" in the Italo-Ethiopian war.

Two votes of confidence were given the worlded premier-statesman in one of the most critical periods of his long career. The first was 296 to 276 and the second 304 to 262.

Predict Crisis So narrow were the margins on a question of foreign policy that many deputies predicted a cabinet crisis still was ahead.

The votes ended two days of stormy and disorderly debate. Leftists bitterly assailed Laval's policies as pro-Italian and particularly his co-authorship of the now dead Anglo-French peace plan.

Escapes Hoare's Fate But Laval escaped the fate which overcame the other sponsor of the plan, Sir Samuel Hoare, who was forced to resign as Great Britain's foreign secretary.

The premier, in a speech liberally filled with the "danger of war with Italy" if he were overthrown, convinced the deputies to let him remain in office—at least until the budget is voted next week.

Fear Germany The whole debate, which found deputies near blows at times, was conditioned on the fear of both friends and opponents of a future German invasion of France.

It was fully agreed that the danger exists, the opposing sides differing only on whether Laval had allowed up sanctions, thereby jeopardizing France's chances of getting armed aid against Adolf Hitler's troops in the future.

Gives Assurance The premier disclosed that Hitler, in answer to a question from Laval, had assured the French minister to Germany that the reich is "not considering any act of aggression."

Fears were expressed by some deputies that Edouard Herriot and other radical socialist ministers might resign from the cabinet.

Army Thrusts Forward Into North China

SHANGHAI, Dec. 29 (Sunday) (AP)—A Manchoukuoan army thrust forward today into Chahar province of northern China, said a Chinese report.

Escorted by Japanese airplanes, the army was reported to be attempting to sever an area as large as the state of Maine from control of the Chinese government.

Drive Toward City The invaders were driving a wedge toward the city of Shantung, on Chahar's western frontier, thus hoping to isolate the northern half of the frontier.

Chinese observers said that this thrust into Chahar was Japanese inspired in an effort to cut the important trade routes between China and outer Mongolia, which is under soviet protection.

Ministers Confer (Outer Mongolia's war minister and other leaders recently conferred in Moscow on what they called a Japanese-Manchoukuoan threat to invade outer Mongolia. Relations have been marred by repeated border incidents.)

At the same time, northern Hopeh province was thrown into turmoil by an invasion of 2,000 irregulars under the pro-Japanese leader Lie Kwel-Tang.

Seek New Clues In Liggett Murder Case

MINNEAPOLIS, Dec. 28 (AP)—City, state and county officials investigating the slaying Dec. 9 of Walter Liggett, weekly newspaper publisher, said today they were continuing their search for new clues in the case, but had uncovered nothing new.

County Attorney Ed J. Goff said, however, that while "there is nothing immediately new, developments are expected some time during the coming week."

Lindberghs Near England

Airplane Under Sealed Orders at Airdrome Adds Mystery Touch

Copyright, 1935, By The Associated Press

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, Dec. 28 (AP)—A ship bearing the Charles A. Lindberghs away from their native America approached the British Isles today and an airplane waited under sealed orders near here.

The possibility arose that Colonel Lindbergh, Mrs. Lindbergh and their son, Jon, might leave their ship here and complete the journey to England by airplane.

Only Passengers The family are the only passengers aboard the S. S. American Importer, having a rough passage across the north Atlantic. They sailed secretly last Sunday, apparently to escape kidnap threats against three-year-old Jon.

Where the Lindberghs will disembark was uncertain. The importer usually calls at Belfast only on its west-bound voyage, but it was pointed out that route may have been changed for the Lindberghs.

Plane Is Waiting Officials at the Aldergrove Royal Air Force airdrome admitted a plane is waiting there under sealed orders but said they did not know for what purposes.

The Lindberghs spent a lone Christmas at sea. They are expected to take up residence in England—which has never had an attempted kidnaping for ransom.

They will be far from their New Jersey home during the week of Jan. 13 when Bruno Richard Hauptmann is scheduled to die for the murder of the Lindbergh's first son, Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr.

Publicly Renounced Calles has been publicly renounced by many of his former allies—men he raised to power and wealth. He is virtually alone and deserted in his home here. Only seven months ago his word was law on any important question.

Calles broke with Cardenas and charged "Mexico is being headed toward communism."

This was vigorously denied by the president and other government spokesmen.

Hitler Grows Bolder Increasing Armament BERLIN, Dec. 28 (AP)—Adolf Hitler was said by informed sources today to be "taking a bolder stand as German armaments increase."

For concrete examples of this stand, they said he recently rejected both British and French moves for an arms limitation pact involving Germany.

Parke A. Dickey Marries Janet Woods in Afternoon Ceremony

Chrysanthemums, Palms Form Background At Marriage Rites

White chrysanthemums and palms formed the background for the wedding ceremony of Janet Woods, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Andrew H. Woods, 1100 N. Dubuque street, to Parke Atherton Dickey of El Centro, Colombia, S. A., yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the living room of the Woods home.

Officiating at the ceremony were the Rev. David J. Woods of Clinton, S. C., an uncle of the bride, and the Rev. L. A. Owen of the Congregational church, Margaret Woods, twin sister of the bride, bridesmaid, and John Dickey of New York City served his brother as best man.

Proceeding the ceremony music was furnished by a trio composed of Marianne Witschi, violinist, Hans Witschi, cellist, and Margaret Schrock, pianist. All three are from Iowa City.

The bride, gowned in floor length white satin trimmed with white lace from her mother's wedding gown, wore a lace cap and veil caught with orange blossoms. Her bridal bouquet was of white roses and lilies of the valley. Her bridesmaid carried Joan Hill roses and wore a long blue velvet gown trimmed with old Irish lace at the yolk.

Mrs. Woods, mother of the bride, wore a red-brown dress and a corsage of talisman roses. Following the wedding, a reception was given for members of the bridal party at the Woods' home. Tea was served from a table decorated with holiday flowers.

The couple left immediately following the reception for Oxford, Pa., to visit the parents of the bridegroom, the Rev. and Mrs. Samuel Dickey. They will also visit the grandfather of the bride, the Rev. Francis M. Woods, at Martinsburg, W. Va., before sailing for South America, where the bridegroom is employed by the Tropical Oil company.

Mrs. Dickey received his Ph.D. degree from Johns Hopkins university at Baltimore and is now an industrial geologist. After 10 months in South America Mr. and Mrs. Dickey expect to return to the United States.

Mrs. Dickey's going away outfit was a tailored black wool traveling suit with black accessories.

Miss Woods and Mrs. Dickey graduated from Bryn Mawr in 1932 and have since been students at Radcliffe. Before Dr. and Mrs. Woods came to Iowa City the family lived in China.

Former Classmates
Mrs. Dickey, mother of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Woods, mother of the bride, were former classmates at Bryn Mawr.

Guests from Cedar Rapids who were present at the wedding included Mrs. Sidney Sinclair, Caroline Soutter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Knox, Dr. and Mrs. James Knox, Henry Kirk, and Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Kirk.

Other out of town guests at the ceremony were the Rev. and Mrs. Howell Vincent and their daughter, Rea, of Philadelphia, Pa.; Mary and Elsie Sinclair of Indianapolis, Ind., and Mrs. Philip Will of Chicago, all former residents of Cedar Rapids.

Dr. Francis M. Woods of Rochester, N. Y., Thomas S. Woods of Chicago, and Robert Woods, medical student at McGill university, Montreal, Can., all brothers of the bride; Vivian Kuhl of Davenport; Mr. and Mrs. George E. Leonard of Chicago; Catherine Jeffers of Columbia, Mo.; Ruth Catherwood of Madison, Wis.; Mary Wright of Chicago; and Eileen Carpenter of Carbondale, Ill.

PERSONALS

Mrs. W. T. Swenson, 427 N. Dubuque street, and her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Rogers of Mansfield, La., who have been visiting here, will drive to Mansfield, La., for a three weeks' visit with Mrs. Swenson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Smith.

Guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Shulman, 946 Iowa avenue, this week end will include Sally Shulman, Mr. and Mrs. L. Shulman, Mr. and Mrs. J. Moline and family, Mrs. M. Wolf, Ruth Wolf, and Aaron Wolf, all of Chicago; Rhea Shulman of Kansas City, Mo.; Lilian Shulman of Washington, D. C.; and Mr. and Mrs. L. Shulman of Des Moines.

Beware!!! Mere Males 'Tis Soon to Be Ladies' Choice - And For Life Sentence

NEW YORK, Dec. 28 (AP)—Leap some more, my lady—beginning at 12:01 a.m. next Wednesday. From that moment until midnight of Dec. 31, 1935, maiden ladies may propose marriage without blushing, and forever abide the consequences. Ever since 1832, women aspiring to a home by the (kitchen) range have been obliged to await the whim of man as concerns matrimony. Unfortunately, the intervening years have been parious and of a nature to discourage courtious bachelors from seeking of their own volition to add matrimony to their other economic problems.

Even though the economic pressure has been somewhat relieved of late, the bachelors have not displayed as vigorous enthusiasm toward matrimony as might have been hoped for. But beginning as soon as the stroke of midnight dies away next Wednesday morning, the ladies-of-waiting are privileged by custom, based on law, to do the matrimonial propositioning themselves.

The idea was Good Margaret's: Good Margaret of Norway, who was Queen of Scotland in the thirteenth century; a lady who felt that the practice of leaving the matter of selection entirely to the male was so much fish and tush. In the year 1288 Margaret decreed that during her reign—"during the reign of her maist blisssit megeste"—every "maiden ladye of both hight and lowe estate" should have the privilege each leap year "to bespeak ye man she likes."

The good queen went further. She decreed that if the man "refuses to take her to be his lawful wyfe, he shall be mulcted in ye sum of one pound or less, as his estate may be."

Barnet, as secretary of state, took over the reins of government when Carlos Mendieta resigned.

Announce Marriage Of Olga Dostal To Charles Mullinex

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Olga Dostal, daughter of Mrs. Josephine Dostal of Cedar Rapids, to Charles D. Mullinex, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Mullinex, 429 N. Clinton street, which took place June 23, 1934, at Rock Port, Mo.

Mr. Mullinex attended the University of Iowa and received his B.S. degree in civil engineering in 1930, and his M.S. in 1932. While a student he became a member of Theta Tau fraternity.

He was an assistant in the university department of engineering drawing from 1930 to 1934, and for 18 months was associated with the Iowa state department of health as assistant sanitary engineer. He is at present with the United States public health service at Chariton.

Mrs. Mullinex is a graduate of Cedar Rapids business college. The couple is residing temporarily in Cedar Rapids. Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Mullinex will entertain at a dinner in honor of the couple New Year's day at their home here.

New Year's Day Baby to Win Many Prizes in 1936 "Baby Derby"

Merchants To Award Prizes To First Baby

Lucky Baby Must Be Born in Iowa City To Local Parents

Within a few minutes after the clock strikes twelve Wednesday morning, indicating the passing of the old year and the beginning of the new, some baby born in Iowa City of Iowa City parents will be the lucky winner of 14 valuable prizes.

The Daily Iowan, cooperating with its advertisers, has arranged for the first baby born in Iowa City in 1936 to be met with a veritable shower of practical, necessary, and valuable gifts.

Rules of Contest

Three rules govern the "baby derby." They are:
1. The baby must be born in Iowa City and the parents must live within the corporate city limits.
2. The time of birth must be substantiated by the physician in charge.
3. A statement of birth must be sent to The Daily Iowan business office with the physician's signature.

Offer Prizes

The prizes, with the merchants offering them, are listed on page three. They include a baby bath from Lenoch and Clek; an all-wool crib blanket from Strub's; a quart of Boerner's cod liver oil from Boerner's pharmacy; a juvenile auto seat from the Firestone Auto supply; a baby nursery chair from the Saltzman Iowa Furniture company.

One week's free laundry from the New Process laundry; a sacque, bonnet, and cap set from the J. C. Penney company; $3 in cleaning service from LeVora's Varsity cleaners; a $5 bank deposit from the Iowa State Bank and Trust company; a baby album and hot water bottle from Lubin's pharmacy.

Other Gifts

A sterling silver baby spoon with initials engraved from Fuiks; 1,000 pounds of Carbon King coal from the Dane Coal company; a $3 check from the H. I. Jennings Insurance company; and 30 quarts of special baby milk or pasteurized milk from Swane's dairy.

Announcement of the winner of the contest will be made in The Daily Iowan as soon as all returns are in.

Babies to Face Winter Blasts Of New Year in Novel Clothes

Petticoats are titled "Gettrudes" and nightgowns "Snuggle Duckles," but the 1936 baby will be as warm and as well dressed in his modern and novel garments as mother was 25 years ago in her muslin petticoats with yards of hand crocheted lace.

Strange names novel trimmings, and unusual shapes have been given to all the clothes and accessories in baby's wardrobe. Even the common hot water bottle turns into a fish or "Mickey Mouse" to amuse his young owner, and the pink rattle assumes the shape and color of a delicious apple or orange.

Shirley Temple Styles

"Shirley Temple" styles dominate the fashions for little girls not only in dresses but in hats, shoes, and mittens. Angora trimmings from head to toe are found on costumes for both girls and boys. Angora tams and boots are especially popular with the members of the younger set who are from several months to two years old.

Rubber "panties" and sheets can no longer be distinguished from silk, and to top it off they are perfumed so baby will not be annoyed by the smell of rubber, when he is ready to go to sleep. His toys too are frivolous and perfumed, but mother need no longer throw away soiled toys, because even the fuzziest teddy bear is washable. The perfume clings until the toys are worn out.

Replace Buttons

Buttons and ties have been replaced by zippers, sometimes three or four zippers in one garment. Snow suits in bright colors fasten from head to toe with one long zipper, so there isn't much danger of a wintry breeze finding entrance even when the thermometer hovers well below zero. "Leggins" and mittens comprise the remainder of the outdoor winter wardrobe.

Union suits of no more than 25 per cent wool with short sleeves and "trunk" legs offer variety from the under garments of all wool and long legs which were worn a few years ago. Some mothers prefer long stockings, but anklets still dominate.

Little Changed

Dresses and shoes change very little the year 'round. White shoes and cotton dresses are worn as much in the winter as in the summer. Organdies and dimities are the most popular materials with the girls. The boys prefer more tailored garments of linen, lawn, or print.

Dresses and suits have bonnets to match. These, however, are usually saved until spring, because the warmer knit stocking caps keep ears from freezing in the winter.

Many Accessories

Accessories are as an important part of the wardrobe as shoes and dresses. An innocent Scotty dog with a red ribbon around his neck is in

DeMolays, Rainbow Girls Plan Supper

A joint pot luck supper for the members of the Order of Rainbow for Girls and DeMolay will take place tomorrow evening at the Masonic temple. What -- No Fan Dancer?

New York Exposition Backers Perplexed With 3 Problems

NEW YORK, Dec. 28 (AP)—Three new problems have emerged to plague the backers of the New York World's fair of 1939.

They are:
Shall the fair be an aesthetic orgy?
Shall the general design interpreting the spirit of the fair be functional?
Tsk! Tsk!

Shall the public be permitted to view anything in the nature of fan dancing?

All three questions were asked by an unofficial group of well known architects and designers who hope to take the lead in molding the physical aspects of the fair. And so far the questions officially have not been answered.

Walter Dorwin Teague, an industrial designer who among other things designed the art exhibit at Chicago's "A Century of Progress," suggested a loud "no" to the first question.

To Face Problems

He holds that the vast undeveloped tract on Long Island, part of which will be given up as a refuse dump by the community of Corona in favor of the fair, presents unusual architectural problems.

"The fair," said Teague, "must be approached from the functional viewpoint."
Which means the buildings should be built to perform the function for which they are intended, to wit: permitting the people to absorb the message of the exhibits with a minimum of sore feet and brain fag.

Cries Mistake

Lewis Mumford, author, critic and lecturer, declares it is a mistake to believe lewd shows will make up the deficiencies caused by possible architectural blunders.

He further contends the industrial story of the nation is not the only tale to tell in the fair.

"The effort in 1939 must project itself as a new civilization," said Mumford.

Faith in Youth

Harvey Wiley Corbett, an outstanding architect who was chairman of the architectural commission of the Chicago World's fair centennial celebration, 1933, puts his faith in the youth of his profession and stated that from the "courage and ignorance of youthful enthusiasm" will evolve the 1939 fair.

"I care not who designs the buildings of the fair; I want to know who's gonna run the fan dancer."

There Is Time and Place

ONCE A YEAR in Washington, D. C., a gridiron dinner is held. It is an occasion when satire rules supreme and the brains of many of our leading statesmen and newspapermen are directed toward witty skits, dialogues, and music. Some of the greatest orations ever made by men in public office have been in a satirical vein.

Friday night the city council met and turned the evening into a razz-session. Two resolutions were passed in due form and made a matter of public record. The resolutions were answers to circulars put out occasionally by the Consumers Protective association.

Obviously the whole attack of the council on the light and power company and the consumer's association was a publicity stunt, but the action was taken officially by the government of Iowa City, and therefore it became news.

The action of the Consumers Protective association in circulating satirical literature to the detriment of the city council is not only silly, but juvenile in effect. The council, in answering these attacks in official form, put itself in the same category. However, the consumer's association is a private organization and what it does may not necessarily become the business of the public. The council, on the other hand, is a duly elected governing body of the people of Iowa City and should be above such childish tactics.

There is a time and place for everything.

What 58 Lawyers Will Do

DURING THE last few weeks we have heard a great deal concerning some 58 lawyers who have taken it upon themselves to pass upon the constitutionality of the various measures of the present administration.

For those of us who are interested in the retention of the supreme court as a means of checking dictatorial ambitions of any elected representative of the people, whether he be a president or senator, we find comments in the United States Law Review of interest.

"It admits of grave doubt whether the 58 lawyers selected to pass on the validity of the new deal legislation," as the newspapers have it, are performing a service to the cause of constitutional government by the course they are pursuing. That is to say, it may be suggested that the function they assume to perform is constitutionally that of the courts.

"We are just a little incredulous that all of those named would actually subscribe to a round robin or resolution for use in the newspapers, declaring legislation duly enacted by congress, and approved by the executive, to be unconstitutional before it has found its way into the courts or received judicial interpretation.

"The constitutionality of legislation is the function and responsibility of the courts, and pronouncements such as those accredited to the 58 lawyers are of dubious desirability, to say the least. Whether the purpose of such emanations is to influence the federal courts when such legislation shall be presented for consideration, or whether it is to arouse public sentiment so that confidence in the courts will be impaired should the legislation be held constitutional, is not clear. But neither purpose has anything to commend it."

It would seem, entirely from the point of view of a layman, that any concerted attack upon the new deal by any group of lawyers in the country would actually do more to build public sentiment in favor of the administration than against it. There is no doubt that vast majority of the masses in America are in favor of the social objectives of the new deal, though there may be wide divergence of opinion as to how these objectives may be accomplished.

The Liberty league's 58 lawyers, after all is said and done, have no right to set themselves up as a kind of a super-supreme court. We believe the vast majority of the members of the American bar would concur in this opinion.

1935 The Story Of A Year  9.-Nation's Business Swings Into New Recovery Phase

This is the ninth in a series of 10 daily articles.

By CLAUDE A. JAGGER (Associated Press Financial Editor)

NEW YORK (AP)—The United States began a new and broader phase of economic recovery in 1935.

Last summer, the fourth distinct offensive of the recovery campaign was started, and it has carried farther into the territory of prosperity than any of the three previous drives.

The nation's business has achieved the first pronounced autumn upswing since 1928. This lifted the Associated Press weekly index of industrial activity and similar statistical indicators to the highest levels since 1930, exceeding for the first time the peak of July, 1933.

Fourth Upswing Vigorous

Analysts note three nine-month business cycles since the banking crisis of March, 1933. The third touched bottom last summer. The fourth and current upswing has developed such vigor as to inspire high hopes that restraining influences of the last two years have at last been cast off.

These restraints have been widely diagnosed as centering in the capital or heavy goods industries. The 1935 recovery is still concentrated in the lighter lines, with consumption of such things as cigarets, wool and rayon even exceeding the levels of 1929.

But at last the heavier lines show signs of moving. A trickle of new capital has appeared in the financial markets. Residential building, while still only a fraction of boom-time levels, has in recent months been running more than double a year previously.

Auto Industry Leading

Machine tool orders have risen to the highest total since 1929. Rather than such necessities as textiles and shoes, the automobile industry is now leading the procession of consumer goods, with the biggest production for 1935 in six years.

Despite the progress of 1935, recovery is still far from complete. This is most strikingly indicated by the stubborn refusal of unemployment estimates to dip much under the 10,000,000 level, including the more than 3,000,000 supported by WPA.

Building and related heavy lines are normally among the biggest employers, and as recovery accelerates in those sectors, analysts agree that headway should be made in cutting into the aggregate of unemployed. For a time the effect of this may be to remove workers from publicly financed projects, so that gains in aggregate consumer purchasing power may be offset by reduced government expenditure. But in the meantime, bankers feel that reduced government spending should bolster financial sentiment and spur private initiative.

Possible Campaign Effects

In looking forward to 1936, business executives have their fingers crossed on at least two points. The first is the possible effects of a national political campaign. Economists point out, however, that economic history gives little basis for the conclusion that such a campaign is necessarily disturbing.

The second point is the fact that the automobile industry brought out its new models in November, rather than in January as formerly. This was a major factor in lifting seasonally adjusted index figures of industrial production above the July, 1933, level to new peaks for the recovery. Comparison with the 1933 peak, however, may be adjusted on the grounds that that peak was due to a sharp contra-seasonal summer upswing in general manufacturing.

In business and industry, 1935 got off to a good start, but the spring peak was reached early, and March and April were somewhat disappointing. The stock market touched the year's bottom in March, however, and thereafter experienced its most protracted advance of the recovery, lifting the average of industrial shares to the best levels since 1931.

Death of Blue Eagle

The supreme court's decision wiping out NRA in June was met with a confusion of cheers and misgivings. Many business leaders hailed the decision as marking the end of repressive government interference, while others expressed fears that disturbing waves of price and wage cutting would ensue. In the main, however, prices and wages were well maintained, and by July a pronounced business upswing was under way.

In August, final enactment of such important reform legislation as the social security act, the banking act and the public utilities act, appeared to have been largely discounted as factors affecting business sentiment, despite fears expressed by executives earlier in the year. Shortly after congress adjourned, President Roosevelt announced that a "breathing spell" for business had arrived.

A Washington Bystander

WASHINGTON — First blush impressions or expressions to the contrary notwithstanding, the Borah-for-president drive in Wisconsin looks a lot more like a definite stop-Hoover, move than anything else.

The Wisconsin republicans who conducted negotiations with the senator which drew out his agreement to having his name entered for pledged delegates may or may not privately take that view. It is what Mr. Borah thinks that counts and he is not saying, for obvious reasons.

Any possible translation of the Borah statement, that he was willing his name should be entered in any state where there was no "liberal" republican being offered, leaves the question of Borah's real purpose as clouded as ever. Certainly, the Borah offer to support liberals who are seeking delegates is not in line with any known presidential candidate strategy.

Affirmative's Easier What it all seems to be is a def-ing both from war fears and renewed worry over the position of the franc, sent gold flowing to the United States in huge volume once more, boosting the nation's total monetary stock to unprecedented levels above $10,000,000,000. Excess bank reserves swelled to above $3,000,000,000.

This prompted fresh discussions and warnings of a possible excessive inflationary boom based on bank credit expansion. As the year drew to a close, however, credit expansion had made but scant progress.

Selenium, an element revealed as the cause of "alkali disease" or blind staggers in cattle, has been found a constituent of many poisonous weeds, says Dr. V. G. Heller, agricultural research chemist at Oklahoma A. and M. college.

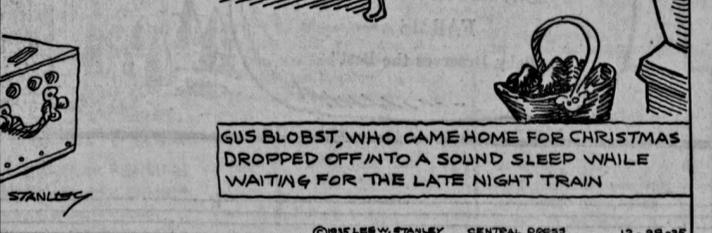

Announcement of an engagement should be made upon the day that the bride-elect chooses to wear her engagement ring for the first time publicly.

Before bees are insulated for winter, they should be moved from a windy location to one well protected, advises an expert of Oklahoma A. and M. college.

To Smoke Hoover Out The senator, too, is unquestionably aware of the extent to which anti-Hoover talk permeated private conversations in the republican national committee circle during its recent meeting. It may well be that Mr. Hoover has no intention or purpose of putting himself forward or permitting his name to be put into the race for delegates. Yet with Borah actively in the field for delegates and inviting party liberals to join him in their own behalf, it would seem that pressure on Mr. Hoover to announce his intentions and to indicate his choice, if he has one other than himself, was due to increase. That may be Borah's real objective—to smoke Hoover out.

At any rate, champions of the uninstructed delegation theory of arriving at a nomination in Cleveland are now face to face with that old political saying: "You can't beat somebody with nobody." They need to personify a "stop-Borah" movement of their own and how can the uninstructed theory be personified?

New Student Union Continues Meeting Despite Legion Protest

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Dec. 28 (AP)—The newly formed American Student union answered an American Legion protest tonight with a decision to close its convention a day early, and then reversed its stand.

After deciding to leave the meeting place in the Y.W.C.A. building, representatives of the union determined to continue their convention through Sunday as originally planned.

Detect Communism A Legion committee asserted it had detected communistic tendencies among student delegates.

"We have decided not to jeopardize the standing of the Y.W.C.A.," said James Wechsler, representative of the National Student League, which merged today with the Student League for Industrial Democracy.

His announcement was made after a conference with directors of the Y.W.C.A.

Outlaw War The principal business of the convention was the merger and the adoption of a platform for outlawry of all war.

The meeting was thrown into turmoil when Robert Calland, a delegate from Ohio State university, reported that a book containing registrations had been snatched from his hand.

A New Yorker

At Large

By JAMES B. RESTON

NEW YORK—Elmer Rice, the dramatist, who won the Pulitzer prize with his "Street Scene" in 1931, is running the strangest and the saddest experiment in the theater today.

He is directing the WPA's New York theater project. Each day a long line stands before his door applying for relief, and in this line are actors and actresses whose names have glittered on Broadway. This is a weird line: old withered women, roughed and tattered; old men, brushed into respectability, carrying canes; handsome youngsters who could not find a job on Broadway; onetime vaudeville stars knocked out by the movie; hard women, dressed like Sadie Thompson.

Still, Elmer Rice's line is not the end of their dreams. You talk to them and find that hunger and disillusion have not frozen their hope. Each thinks: "When these WPA shows open in January, the Broadway managers will come down and look us over, and maybe then..."

The armored car, imperious as a fire truck and twice as tough, is as common on our streets today as traffic lights. Each day millions of dollars move from one bank to another here. And when the trucks start loading or unloading—keep away, keep away!

Gigantic fellows, who should be out pulling down houses with their hands, man these trucks. They are draped with guns. A large gun and a small one, just in case. Two of them sit up in front. I've never seen them talk. They look as if they're busy hating somebody. And when they stop the car and run around behind to open it up, and other giant with a fierce looking sub-machine hops out.

In a moment of unguarded glee, I added to my "List" the other day, "men who wear black hats," whereupon countless men, who obviously wear black hats, wrote in to say that I was, among other things, ill-bred and stupid. If I had received only a note or two, I should have forgotten them and decided the gentlemen who wrote them were sentimental about some particularly comfortable old felt. But there were more than a few, which has led me to repeat.

Gentlemen, take your case! I have not only taken black hats off my list, but I have spotted a very handsome one in a window on the avenue, which I will wear, if someone gives it to me for Christmas.

Screen Life

By HUBBARD KEAVY

HOLLYWOOD—Figuratively, Joe Penner is like the hungry vaudeville man who ate his trained duck.

There isn't a duck in the Joe Penner home. Nor on the Penner grounds. There are some parrots, in modest white bric-a-brac, in the living room, but no other fowl of any kind. Perhaps Joe owns some white duck pants, but there isn't any special reminder of the Goo-Goo that Joe made famous and that helped make Joe a celebrity.

Joe hopes he has said a final goodbye to the duck gag. He feels that ducks have done him a good turn and he is properly grateful.

"But a guy can't get by forever with a duck and trick clothes," says Joe. "Trick clothes and 'prop' gags limit a guy. In the first picture ('College Rhythm') we had 2,000 ducks. What can you do to top that? You'd have to have 5,000 ducks."

Goo-Goo has been retired and the trick clothes and the funny hat have been laid away. In his second film (the forthcoming "Collegiate"), Joe wears everyday street clothes and in the very final scene only, does a duck appear. That scene is the duck's farewell.

Penner has settled down in Hollywood and he hopes to become an actor. An actor of parts, that is, who will be given an opportunity to do pathsos as well as comedy. As part of his campaign to get rid of the "props" and their associations, Penner gave up the radio. He feels that after an absence of a year, with only occasional other appearances as a "guest artist," he will be able to return in a new and different characterization.

When a Penner settles down, he does it right. Joe didn't build a house right off, because he wasn't sure what he wanted. He has been living in trunks and hotels for a good many years and he says he wants to "live around" in houses before he picks a permanent one.

So he rented a furnished house and when Joe considered the rental of $550 a month, it seemed like a good buy. But after he moved in, he didn't like the furniture. He took out everything. He bought his own furnishings and drapes and rugs—between $7,000 and $8,000 worth of them.

"It sounds silly, I guess, to say that I rented a furnished house and then threw out the furniture," says Joe, a little sheepishly. "But all the stuff will fit into the place I plan to build some day."

Business Establishes Finest Record For 1935 During Christmas Season

By RADER WINGET
Associated Press Financial Writer

Business and industry of the nation rested last week after establishing the finest record of the year, which in many sections of the country surpassed previous peaks back to 1930 and beyond.

Retailers recapitulated the final Christmas buying rush and found the sales volume from two per cent to as much as 30 per cent greater than for the corresponding week of 1934.

Totals Are Highest
A majority of cities estimated dollar totals were the highest since the 1929-30 levels.

A broad view of the situation by observers showed that buying progressed in a steadily widening manner for several weeks before the holiday, and in only exceptional cases did the last rush of customers fail to come up to or exceed previous estimates.

The latter part of the week was given to clearance sales and preparations for January offerings with wholesalers ready for an expected extension of trade.

Rises to New High
The department of commerce in a survey of 32 cities for the week ended Wednesday stated: "A sweep of holiday buying during the week immediately preceding Christmas brought the season's volume to the highest level in recent years in some of the principal trade areas of the country."

The report also commented upon the near capacity travel movement and the resumption of the custom of giving Christmas bonuses to employees.

Index Drops
In the industrial sector, the Associated Press index of activity, adjusted for seasonal variation, eased slightly to 86.2 per cent of the 1929-30 average from 87 per cent of the previous week which had established a record coming back to mid-1930.

Automobile production, which was cut into heavily by the Christmas shutdown from the previous week's 1935 high, dragged the composite average down.

Detailed reports by federal reserve districts for last week follow:
New York—Post holiday clearance sales, coupled with a brisk Christmas demand, increased total December retail sales estimates to four or five per cent over last year. Wholesale prices on apparel and other lines were firm, and mail orders were heavy.

CLEVELAND—Although retail trade was reported "not up to expectations" of merchants, December sales were estimated at 20 to 25 per cent ahead of last year. Cleveland-Lorain steel operations fell, but Youngstown gained sharply because of heavy motor orders. Auto parts and accessories were at capacity.

Chicago Cheerful
CHICAGO—Merchants concluded the best holiday trade in five years. Shopping crowds were the heaviest ever witnessed. Dollar sales were well above a year ago, but many reports found them not keeping pace with volume. Steel operations declined before an expected rebound after the holidays.

ST LOUIS—Christmas retail trade was the largest since 1929. A sharp drop in temperature promoted sales of sporting goods and fuel. In many wholesale lines, especially electrical supplies, hardware, furniture, groceries, volume was the largest since 1930.

Trade Is Good
KANSAS CITY—Christmas trade was good and up to expectations, ending a year in which sales volume was the largest since 1930 and materializing the first profits of consequence in five years. Business observers look for a continuation of the upward trend in the first six months of the new year.

Graf Zeppelin Sets 4 Records to Close Seven Years' Duty

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, Dec. 28 (AP)—Germany's sky veteran, the Graf Zeppelin, completed its seventh year of service this month, incidentally chalking up four interesting marks for its bigger-and-better successors to beat if they can.

During the autumn months the big ship

1. Made its five hundredth cruise.
2. Finished its fiftieth South American flight.
3. Crossed an ocean for the hundredth time, and
4. Remained aloft 119 hours at a stretch.

The latter mark was set unintentionally, when revolutionary battles in Brazil prevented the Graf from landing at Pernambuco.

During the year the airship traveled 220,000 miles—its biggest annual mileage so far—and took its 12,000th passenger for a ride. The Graf has carried more than 130,000 pounds of airmail and freight in the seven years.

Grundy County Boys Win 4-H Sweepstakes

Defeat Greene County By Close Scores In Annual Contests

AMES, Dec. 28 (AP)—Six farm youths from Grundy county walked off today with the cream of the judging awards at the eighth annual boys' 4-H short course by winning sweepstakes honors in both the grain and livestock divisions at the close of the three-day meeting.

Coached by County Agent L. W. Plager, veteran grain and livestock judge himself, the two Grundy county teams, made up of three men each, crowded out the Greene county judges by a narrow margin—10 points in the grain division and only nine in the livestock.

More than 550 of the 650 boys attending the short course took part in the judging contest.

Win Wise Trophy
Members of the winning livestock team—awarded the L. O. Wise trophy for their outstanding work—were Delbert Shirk, Grundy Center; Howard Vint, Beaman; and Hugh Clarke, Conrad.

The winning grain judging team was made up of Wilbur Henningsen, Grundy Center; Martin Myers, Beaman; and John Hellmich, Conrad.

Other high ranking grain teams, in the order of their final scores, were Greene, Humboldt, Franklin, Sac, Tama, Worth, Calhoun, Jasper, Appanoose and Scott.

High Judging Teams
The high 10 livestock judging teams were Grundy, Greene, Hamilton, Clay, Tama, Calhoun, Cass, Hancock, Wayne and Franklin.

Installation of the newly elected state officers of the 4-H organization, along with the announcement of the judging contest winners, marked the close of the convention Saturday afternoon. With 70 counties represented by the 650 attending the meetings, the short course was the largest in the history of the 4-H organization.

The new officers are: Ed Wearin, Malvern, president; Royal Holz, Rippey, vice-president; Paul Diehl, Storm Lake, treasurer; Kenneth Kramer, historian; Earl Stepp, Kellogg, secretary.

20 Get Pins
Special 4-H club achievement pins awarded to the 20 high-scoring individuals in livestock and grain judging contests went to:

George Martens, Tama; Howard Vint, Grundy; Billie Rinehart, Marion; Leslie Greene, Greene; Arnen Miller, Greene; Russell Holz, Greene; Kenneth Showalter, Franklin; Melbourne Bye, Scott; Charles Clark, Grundy; Hugh Clarke, Grundy; Royal Holz, Greene.

Deenan Conrad, Calhoun; Earl Geiger, Benton; Vernon Hutson, Franklin; Andrew Hayes, Winnebago; Harold Parsons, Humboldt; John Miller, Grundy; Wilbur Chambers, Harrison; Thane McClurg, Greene; Vincent Braniger, Pocahontas.

Make 'Em—Break 'Em
Dust Off Old Ones, Make New Ones—And Break 'Em All

CHICAGO, Dec. 28 (AP)—They dust off the old ones, fabricate new ones and spurn 'em altogether, a parcel of the nation's notables disclosed today as the annual date for New Year's resolutions approached.

One, Newton D. Baker, ex-secretary of war, averred he hasn't had to fashion a new one in 60 years; a resolve he took as a youth is still worth sticking to. What was it?

"Oh, just to be a better boy," said the famous Cleveland.

Offers Resolutions
For motorists, and others, too, Secretary of Commerce Roper offered this:

"Let us all resolve, particularly the drivers of cars, to exercise more care, thus contributing materially to the saving of lives and property in 1936."

Smokers' Resolution
Invertebrate smokers could fall in line with Gov. James V. Allred of Texas, himself one of them, who said:

"As usual, I shall resolve not to smoke and as usual I probably will break the resolution."

Gracie Allen, movie and radio star, also could see little benefit in the year-end custom. Said she:

"I am making no resolutions because Mexico has enough trouble with them."

Just Another Day
In a similar vein, said Sinclair Lewis, author, "New Year's day is to me just one of the 365 days of making resolutions before breakfast and breaking them before dinner."

But habitual resolvers had plenty of outstanding company. Gov. Floyd B. Olson of Minnesota may have the one easiest to keep:

"I have resolved to continue my

Oh, to Be a Doctor Of Philosophy For Just a Few Hours

CHICAGO, Dec. 28 (AP)—Jobs are coming easier for all college graduates these days. Northwestern university said today, but it's almost a cinch for a Ph.D. to land one.

Making its annual report on employment obtained for the alumni, the university's placement bureau said that every doctor of philosophy who sought employment had made a salary connection.

The bureau placed 1,538 men and women in jobs at an average starting salary of $1,329 during the year. Opportunities increased steadily from August on, it said, with the total number of graduates placed in December reaching 107 per cent above the August figure.

Starting compensation for holders of Ph.D.'s the report said averaged $200 per month.

Nye Predicts New Embargo

Senator Believes U. S. Will Place Embargo On Oil Shipments

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28 (AP)—Senator Nye (R-ND) predicted today that a "rising swell" of sentiment in congress for strict neutrality soon would force the administration to embargo oil shipments to the African war zone.

Announcing completion of the draft of a bill to extend the provision of the neutrality act imposing a mandatory embargo on sale of arms and implements of war to belligerents, Nye told newsmen that favor for strict neutrality was mounting.

Expects Demonstration
"I look for a demonstration in congress that will cause the administration to include oil in the list of embargo items," Nye added.

Although declining to make public the draft of his new bill, the chairman of the munitions investigation committee said it proposed:

1. To extend the present neutrality act's ban on arms shipments to belligerents. This section expires Feb. 29.

Embargo Loans
2. To embargo loans or credits to belligerents in excess of those in normal times. Nye said the bill possibly would be revised to embargo all loans or credits to belligerents.

3. To authorize the president to add to the embargo list materials of war such as oil, as he deems advisable.

4. To prohibit any increase in shipments to belligerent countries beyond the average of a five or 10 year period.

Prohibit Shipping
5. To prohibit any American vessel from carrying goods into a war zone. This would require belligerents to come to American shores to get their purchases in their own ships.

6. To prohibit transferring ships from American registry to that of foreign governments for the purpose of carrying war supplies.

7. To require an automatic arms embargo against all belligerents. The present act imposes it against original participants in a war, but gives the president discretion whether it shall be extended to nations entering later.

Operation May End Politics for Olson

ST. PAUL, Dec. 28 (AP)—Gov. Floyd B. Olson will go to the Mayo clinic at Rochester tomorrow to prepare for an abdominal operation Tuesday.

The operation, while not critical, is serious enough to require a drastic change of pace in the governor's activities. Physicians have advised him to slow down, even to the extent of getting out of politics.

To Fly Speed Plane
Rosacoe Turner: "I resolve to spread new wings over 1936 and fly the fastest plane ever built by man."

Mae West's recalling the incident of the discovery in Milwaukee of a several years' old wedding license to a Mae West and a Frank Wallace: "I have resolved that any one can come up and see me during 1936 except a guy named Frank Wallace and I'd invite him, only he's told the world he's been up before."

Officers Catch Bond Jumper In Sioux City

SIoux CITY, Dec. 28 (AP)—Frank Malloy, wanted as a bond jumper on a fugitive of justice charge at Elk Point, S. D., where he is charged with burglary, was captured this afternoon in a south side house here by three deputy sheriffs and Oscar Hanson, a federal agent.

The deputy sheriffs were Leo Naughton, chief deputy, Glenn Houser and John Zechman.

Recover Auto
The officers also recovered an automobile which Malloy is alleged to have stolen from Vermillion, S. D.

Capture of Malloy ended a 15 months' search by Sheriff W. R. Rice and his deputies, as it was believed that Malloy, a well known police character here, eventually would return to Sioux City. Sheriffs at Vermillion and Elk Point were notified of the arrest and they informed Sheriff Rice that they would come here for the fugitive.

Jumps Bond
Malloy jumped his bond under which he was at liberty here as a fugitive when extradition papers were issued for him by the governor of South Dakota following a hearing in which Malloy fought the extradition.

Malloy is 33 years old and has spent a large portion of his life behind prison bars. His record shows that he was sentenced in St. Cloud, Minn., in March, 1921, to five years in prison for burglary.

He received a three year sentence in Sioux Falls in 1924 for burglary, and a 10 year sentence on a similar charge in Redfield, S. D., in February, 1927.

Russians Earn Approval For Canned Blood

CHICAGO, Dec. 28 (AP)—The weirdest discovery of the year—"canned" blood—was listed by professional authority today as medicine's foremost accomplishment of 1935.

A process of taking blood from the bodies of the dead and preserving it to save other lives through transfusions was placed first in a "Yearbook of Fame" compiled for the Associated Press by Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the journal of the American Medical association.

Used by Russians
Russian doctors and chemists deserved first rank for developing the "canning" method and using it successfully in more than 1,000 cases, the editor said.

Near the top of his list Dr. Fishbein placed:
Operations on the sympathetic nervous system for relief of pain, lowering of blood pressure, and control of heart action.

Discoveries about glands. First among these was determination of how the thymus and pituitary glands control growth. The active principles of the sex glands were also revealed.

Pure Vitamins
Development of vitamins in pure form. These included vitamin C, vitamin B, and carotene from which vitamin A is obtained.

Discovery of ergotocin, the active principle of ergot, a drug used in childbirth. This find, like other discoveries of active principles, permits smaller doses and more efficient treatment of patients.

Lindbergh's "Heart"
Far down on the list was the work of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and Dr. Alexis Carrel, of the Rockefeller Medical center, New York, in developing an artificial heart to keep cell groups and organs alive indefinitely.

Although "technically interesting," the artificial heart is of "no immediate practical importance," Dr. Fishbein declared, for "There's a great deal of difference between keeping cells alive indefinitely and keeping a whole body alive for 75 years."

Blackstone Advocates Economics Education At Chicago Meeting

CHICAGO, Dec. 28 (AP)—Americans need a practical education in economics, Dr. E. G. Blackstone of the University of Iowa told a conference of education directors here today.

"Present economics courses in secondary schools and colleges, devoted to theoretical studies of laws and principles, are futile for the development of economic citizenship," he said.

"Give students a thorough consideration of 20 or 30 specific problems and let them debate them from all angles, and I don't care whether they ever hear of the law of diminishing return."

Dr. Blackstone suggested as problems the sales tax, social security, the Townsend plan, war debts payment and unemployment relief.

Dr. Blackstone is vice-president of the National Council of Business Education.

Coeds at the University of Rochester are constructing powerful astronomical telescopes in a new course.

Hawkeye Cagers Meet Marquette Tomorrow

N.C.A.A. Endorses Olympic Participation, Flays Southeastern Conference Plan

Twelve Men Leave Tonight For Milwaukee

Williams to Start Regular Lineup in Contest With Marquette Five

Twelve University of Iowa cagers will entrain tonight for Milwaukee, Wis., to clash with the Golden Avalanche of Marquette in the second road trip of the season. The squad, one of the largest traveling groups in recent years, is the same as that which made the two-game tour into Illinois and Michigan 10 days ago.

Making the trip are: Forwards—Capt. John Barko, Sid Rosenthal and Fred Schwartz; lettermen; Bush Lamb and Sam Johnson, sophomores.

Centers—Matt Walsh, letterman; Jack Drees and Floyd DeHeer, sophomores.

Guards—Al Buss, letterman; Joe Van Ysseldyk, Ken Suesens and Ed Thompson, sophomores.

Coach Rollie Williams will probably start the usual lineup of Barko and Rosenthal at the forwards, Drees at center, and Van Ysseldyk and Suesens at guards.

The center post is the most hotly contested. Floyd DeHeer, 6 foot 7 inch Oskaloosa athlete, has been rapidly rounding into form during practices this week.

Yesterday, he climaxed his efforts by starting with the first team at the pivot post in a scrimmage with an amateur coach.

Coach Rollie Williams indicated, however, that Drees would get the call at Milwaukee.

The game will serve as the final outside the conference before play begins. Illinois' fast-stepping five will come to Iowa City for the opening game Saturday night.

The entire squad will go through a defensive drill against Marquette plays this afternoon in the field-house.

Marquette is again represented by a powerful crew. Last night, the Hilltoppers conquered Minnesota 34 to 31. Outstanding men are Rubado, a floor guard, Sokody, a forward, and Vhtiska, also a forward.

Cooper Takes Good Lead In Pasadena Open

PASADENA, Cal., Dec. 28 (AP)—Harry Cooper, Chicago professional, shattered par by five strokes, equalled the course record, and took a commanding lead in the first round of the $4,000 Pasadena open tournament today.

Cooper carded a 33-32-66. His score led the mark set three years ago by Craig Wood.

Mortie Dutra, Detroit, Henry Picard, Hershey, Pa., Victor Ghezzi, Deal, N. J., and Orville White, St. Louis had 69's in the third day of first round play.

S.M.U. Aerial Circus Comes Back to Town

PASADENA, Cal., Dec. 28 (AP)—The circus came back to town today.

It was Southern Methodist's unbeaten football troupe, primed with an array of fine and fancy football acrobatics for the edification of Stanford and 85,000 odd fans who will fill the Rose Bowl to overflowing here New Year's day.

Promises Good Condition Falling to live up to his reputation as a pessimist, Coach Matty Bell promised his galloping Mustangs would be in the best physical condition of the season.

"We don't rate to be the favorites," Bell told Coach Claude (Tiny) Thornhill, mentor of the western representatives, when they met at the train, "and neither do you. It's a good even ball game."

Secret Workout Bell took the Texans to Occidental college for a long secret workout which included dummy scrimmage against Stanford formations and an amazing array of offensive gestures.

The Indians as usual worked behind unlocked gates. They, too, concentrated on defensive and offensive finishing touches, including a great deal of pass throwing.

Might Change Attacks From casual observation in the two camps there was a faint indication that the opposing teams might abandon their usual roles.

Southern Methodist, famous for its aerial circus of forwards and laterals, showed a leaning toward running plays.

Stanford, primarily a hard driving power team, was throwing the ball around with Bobby Grayson and Bill Paulman on the chucking end.

There was the possibility, of course, that these unusual tactics merely were moves designed to disguise their real intentions.

Free Rein for Wilson While the S.M.U. offensive plans were wrapped in the cloak of secrecy, there is no secret that Bobby Wilson, the great little halfback who ran wild against the University of California at Los Angeles Nov. 11, would be given free rein in an effort to match the work of Grayson as a ground gainer.

Coach Bell promised that Harry Shuford, fullback, would be ready to start after gracing the sidelines for more than a month because of a knee injury. And it was probable that Bob Finley, fine passer and punter who replaced Shuford, would play a halfback on the starting lineup with Wilson.

Moscrip to Play? Doubt still shrouded the case of James (Monk) Moscrip, Stanford's end who is not completely recovered from a knee injury. His left leg strengthened with a brace, Moscrip again worked out lightly today.

The opposing camps planned no workouts tomorrow. Drills Monday and Tuesday were expected to light tapering off work.

Marquette Holds Lead Throughout Game; 2,500 See Contest

WISCONSIN RAPIDS, Wis., Dec. 28 (AP)—Marquette's basketball team defeated Minnesota's heavier but slower Gophers here tonight, 34 to 31, dominating play and leading throughout the game after overcoming a slight lead built up by the northerners at the start. A crowd of 2,500 saw the game.

King, Gopher center, controlled most of the tip-offs but the faster Hilltoppers repeatedly took possession by intercepting passes and recovering rebounds. It was Marquette's fast offense that repeatedly caught the Gophers napping and let a Hilltop man free under the basket for an easy shot. Erich, Marquette's center, led the scoring with eight points.

BITS ABOUT SPORTS

By ART SNIDER

STANLEY Woodward's criticism of the colleges which have "pneumonia coops" for press boxes draws whole-hearted praise from sportswriters throughout the nation.

There is nothing more disagreeable, just as he declared in the meeting of the American Football Coaches association yesterday, than to work in a press box which has unsuitable equipment.

But Woodward must exempt the two press boxes in the University of Iowa stadium. One may travel the nation through and yet find few to equal it. The scores of writers who covered games behind their large, clear glass window fronts were unanimous in their praise of them.

A GAIN 18,000 storm their way into Madison Square Garden to watch a basketball game. The people in New York have become simply batty about their basketball—and especially when a team like Purdue comes to town.

And true to predictions, the game between Purdue and New York university was a thriller. Only in the last few seconds was the outcome decided. The 43 to 41 score left the Violets undefeated and gave the Boiler-makers their second reversal of the season, both of them by two-point margins.

WHAT makes the fighting machine of Joe Louis elick? Artie McGovern, the noted conditioner of famous men, took to find out. He brought Louis before a brain specialist for an examination and this is what he found:

That the blows Louis strikes are governed by the cerebellum and are as instinctive as the spring of a panther. (The cerebellum is the part of the brain which governs instinctive actions such as walking while the actions that must be thought out are governed by the cerebrum.) Since the Brown Bomber's blows are governed by the automatic part of the brain, they have no conscious thought behind them.

Louis, thus, is a natural fighter in the true sense of the word. In short, he is a "ring robot."

Mertenmen Seek Sixth Victory of Season Against Strong Foe

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Dec. 28 (AP)—George M. (Red) Trautman, who assumes the American association presidency Wednesday, took precautions today to insure privacy for the league's new headquarters.

He leased the penthouse atop the Chamber of Commerce building—the only penthouse Ohio's capital boasts—and soon had workmen tearing out partitions, eliminating transoms, and putting in new and sturdier doors.

Only a winding stairway, wide enough for one person, leads from the floor below.

"That stairway will have two uses," Trautman said.

"If the managers or fans want to storm my office, they'll have to do it one at a time."

"And then again, I can always tell whether my umpires are in shape by ordering them up here and then watching how they breathe after climbing the stairs."

Ramblers Eye Contest With St. Joseph 5

Getting his charges in shape for the St. Joe of Rock Island invasion Jan. 3, Coach Francis Suenppl conducted a lengthy scrimmage yesterday morning on the City high court. This is the first engagement for the Ramblers since they fell victims to St. Pat's of Cedar Rapids, 25 to 17, in their only loss of the season.

The Marian's alumni furnished the competition for their successors in yesterday's scrimmage. "Skip" Adrian proved that he hadn't lost his basket eye over the Christmas holidays, while Vic Belger looked best for the former St. Mary's stars.

Riegel, Combes Wipe Out Early Siwash 8 to 2 Advantage

GALESBURG, Ill., Dec. 28 (AP)—Held to four points in the first 12 minutes, Illinois' sharpshooting basketball team opened up to defeat Knox college, 48 to 31, tonight for its fifth straight victory this season.

Siwash appeared on the way to an upset triumph in the early going, running up an 8 to 2 lead at 10 minutes, and holding an 8 to 4 margin after the first dozen minutes. At that point, however, the Illini, with Harry Riegel and Bob Riegel whipping in for short shots, staged a rally that continued after substitutes took over the job.

DePaul Beats Drake

DES MOINES (AP)—Adams' field goal from near the center of the court in the last 40 seconds gave DePaul university a 20 to 23 victory over Drake, co-champio of the Missouri Valley, here last night in a rousing basketball game before 4,000 persons.

Thrills And Chills Missouri Valley Loop Adds Glory to '35 Sports Parade

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 28 (AP)—The Missouri Valley region provided its share of thrills and chills in the nation's 1935 sports parade.

To cite only a few there were: The defeat of Glenn Cunningham by Glen Dawson in the Kansas relays, in which eight new records were set.

New Basketball King The dethronement of Kansas as Big Six basketball champion with Iowa State the new king, thanks to a belated uprising on the part of Missouri against the Jayhawks.

The phenomenal rise to fame of Helen Stephens, the Fulton, Mo., athlete who defeated the great Stella Walsh in record time.

The startling upset of Jesse Owens by Eulace Peacock, the Temple flash, in the 100-meter dash in the National A.A.U. meet at Lincoln.

The list could run on and on. Football alone offered its weekly thrills, although the Nebraska Cornhuskers early in the campaign indicated they were the class of the section, virtually assured of again wearing the Big Six crown they relinquished to Kansas State in 1934.

Although Nebraska won the Big Six football crown, and Iowa State the basketball crown, Oklahoma walked off with honors in most of the other sports. Conference champions in other activities were baseball, Oklahoma and Iowa State; tie; indoor track, Kansas State; outdoor track, Oklahoma; team tennis, Oklahoma; individual tennis, Albert Usher, Oklahoma; swimming, Nebraska; wrestling, Oklahoma; team golf, Oklahoma; individual golf, Harry Gandy, Oklahoma; two mile, Oklahoma.

Coaches Close Meeting With Little Action

By ALAN GOULD Associated Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Dec. 28 (AP)—Manifesting a spirit of holiday tolerance derived, at least in part, from more security in their jobs and better working conditions than they have enjoyed in years, upwards of 300 members of the American Football Coaches' association tonight closed their fourteenth annual meeting with a maximum of militant oratory but a minimum of agitated action.

They generally appeared in agreement on at least two proposed changes in the rules for 1936, involving elimination of the so-called "slow whistle" as advocated by the rules committee itself and a less severe penalty for forward pass interference, but referred all details to the standing committee headed by Columbia's Lou Little.

No Action on "Bowling" Games They listened with much interest to, but took no action upon, the suggestion of Gus Dorais of Detroit, a former Notre Dame quarterback, that research be made to determine whether post-season "bowling" games are "a healthy appendage or a cancerous growth." Drawing no conclusions on this score himself, Dorais, as chairman of the public relations committee, dealt further with criticism of coaches who are "evasive or hostile to the press," colleges which have "pneumonia coops" for press boxes, and elements responsible for excesses in drinking or gambling in connection with the gridiron game.

First-hand description of press-box problems came from Stanley Woodward of the New York Herald-Tribune, newly-elected president of the Football Writers' association.

He called upon the coaches to cooperate in eliminating unsuitable working conditions and, further, to refrain from deluding the press or public "with baloney." Woodward declared conditions had improved at least 200 per cent, from the sports writers' standpoint, since the war, but the colleges, especially in the east, still were lax in furnishing adequate facilities to newspapermen.

"We do not ask for board, lodging and liquor," declared Woodward, "nor are we interested in the academic standing or salaries of the players, but we do require properly equipped press-rooms, accurate and prompt information."

Praises Southeastern Loop Woodward took occasion to praise the Southeastern conference for its "honesty and progressive spirit" in regulating, openly, the subsidization of football players. He described it as a "distinct service to the game" and drew applause from the coaches with his appeal for more widespread frankness in dealing with the whole subject of athletic recruiting and subsidizing.

The coaches listened to an explanation of the Southeastern conference action by Dan McGugin, Vanderbilt's athletic director, who denied the new plan involves "an open warrant for the recruiting of athletes."

Various Proposals To frame the coaches' proposals on 1936 rules changes, to be laid before the national rules committee later, Lou Little has called a meeting of his standing committee for Feb. 1 in New York. Besides the two principal alterations suggested, Little already has an assortment of proposals from individual coaches, including restoration of the goal posts to the goal line, starting the second half where the first left off, moving the ball in 15 yards instead of 10, after it goes out of bounds, and making it legal for either side to run with a blocked kick.

The view that football coaches should not be held accountable for the failure of their players any more than a professor is held responsible for shortcomings of students in the classroom was advanced in the report of Clark D. Shaughnessy of Chicago as chairman of the committee on ethics.

Emphasizing that "winning coaches never lose their jobs" Shaughnessy added:

"Coach Least Important Factor" "Since the prime necessity for a winning team is material, it is up to the institution to get the material." (See No. ELEVEN, Page 7)

Asks Members To Give Money For Olympics

Association Takes Loop To Task For Action In "Compromising"

NEW YORK, Dec. 28 (AP)—The National Collegiate Athletic association gave unanimous endorsement today to American participation in the 1936 Olympic games, and then lashed out at the southeastern conference for its recently adopted sports subsidization scholarship plan.

The association not only approved American participation in the Olympics at Berlin next summer, but urged its constituent members to lend generous financial support so that "America shall be honorably and adequately represented."

Report Paves Way Such action was urged by President John L. Griffith, commissioner of the western conference, who in his annual report, also paved the way for the presentation and adoption of a resolution which, by inference, took the southeastern conference to task for "compromising" with "recognized and inherent difficulties in enforcing amateur rules."

The resolution viewed the development below the Mason-Dixon line as "a serious threat to the very life of amateur sports," and said it "represents a real emergency which calls for a mobilization of all the resources of the member institutions, particularly the presidents and boards of trustees, who have final powers and responsibility for university policies . . . to combat these evils."

To Study Inimicable Influences The president was empowered by the resolution to designate a committee of three to make a "thorough study of all the influences that are in any way inimicable to the best interests of intercollegiate sport and threatens its very existence."

The committee members are Prof. Philip O. Badger of New York university, Dr. Joseph Raycroft of Princeton and Z. C. Clevenger of the University of Indiana. The committee will make recommendations at the 1936 convention.

Names Not Mentioned Neither the southeastern conference nor its plan was mentioned by name, nor did its author, Dr. John J. Tigert, president of the University of Florida and of the conference, appear before the convention as had been expected.

President Griffith touched on recruiting and sports subsidies. He frowned on an oft-suggested plan of employing a corps of officials to police the colleges "with the thought that if fouls are committed some kind of penalty should be enforced."

"What then can this association do?" he asked. "We can go on in the future, as we have been proceeding in the past, depending upon educational methods, urging that the colleges that do not maintain teams composed of mercenaries compete with like institutions of like ideals."

Enrollment Increased The N.C.A.A. enrollment roster was increased to 153 with the admission to membership of Drexel institute of Philadelphia; Niagara university of Niagara Falls, N. Y., and the University of Baltimore.

At the suggestion of Dean Frank L. Nicholson of Wesleyan university, secretary-treasurer of the association, the president will appoint a committee to consider the advisability of adding golf to the program with a view to holding a championship annually. An intercollegiate golf championship is held (See No. TEN, Page 7)

New York University Defeats Purdue 43 to 41 Before 18,000

Violets Rally In Second Half To Triumph

Victors Overcome Six-Point Handicap At Intermission

NEW YORK, Dec. 28 (AP)—Before the largest crowd ever to witness a basketball game in New York, more than 18,000 persons, New York university tonight pulled out of the rack to down Purdue 43 to 41 in a wildly exciting game.

Purdue's fast, passing attack began to operate early in the first period and before the Violets could get under way the westerners had piled up nine points, Young getting four and the high scoring Kessler, two.

30 to 14 Halftime Lead
The New Yorkers' attack then began to function, but nevertheless Purdue was leading 20 to 14 at halftime.

Purdue continued to outplay New York in the early stages of the second half, but with the score 25 to 15 against them, Rubenstein and Klein combined to bring the New Yorkers into contention with the former getting two field goals while Klein made three foul shots good. The New Yorkers pulled even at 26-26 on long shots by Schulman and then went into the lead when Rubenstein and Klein again got under way to collect a field goal apiece.

Kessler High Scorer
In the final minutes Purdue, paced by Kessler, who was high scorer for the evening with 14 points, pulled up to within one point of the Violets. Young made two field goals good, then gathered in a field goal.

He missed a field goal just as the whistle blew and Schulman, fouled in the final scramble, made the score 43 to 41 on a foul try after the game had ended.

Wildcats Take 34-19 Victory From Bears

EVANSTON, Ill., Dec. 28 (AP)—Northwestern marked up its fourth basketball victory in as many starts on its home floor, easily defeating the University of California Bears at Patten gym tonight, 34 to 19, before 3,000 fans. The defeat was the fourth straight loss for California on its holiday trip.

The Bears showed little during the first half, trailing by a 22 to 7 margin, but at the beginning of the second period the Pacific coast team improved its passing and shooting which prevailed until the intermission. Dave Luce and Harry Cordes, a couple of substitutes, scored three successive field goals while holding the Wildcats scoreless, but the rally was short lived and Northwestern soon pulled away again.

Northwestern wasted no time in getting away to a good start and within the first six minutes of play they held an 8 to 0 lead before California scored. Nagode started it with a tip-in basket on Trenkle's miss of a free throw and then the latter made good on two tries from the free throw line on Carlisle's foul. McMichaelis and Bender followed with field goals.

Grid Deaths Hit 35 Mark

Total of High School, Sand Lot, Athletic Club Deaths Higher

NEW YORK, Dec. 28 (AP)—Football, as played in high schools, colleges, on sand lots, and by athletic clubs, resulted in 30 deaths during 1935, according to the report presented before the American Football Coaches association by Prof. Floyd R. Eastwood of New York university today.

One-half of the fatalities were among high school boys as the school boy death rate from the gridiron sport showed an increase of 34 per cent over 1931. Last year there were 13 deaths among high school players.

Increase of 3
Athletic club competition resulted in seven deaths as against four last year. There was a decline, however, among the sandlotters and colleges. Five deaths resulted from sandlot competition as compared to nine last year while there were only three in the colleges as against four in 1934.

This year's total was five higher than 1934 and increased the aggregate for the five-year-period, in which Professor Eastwood has kept the figures, to 147. Of the total fatalities, 65 were among high school players, 20 in colleges, 24 in the athletic clubs and 38 in sandlot competition.

Solution
As a solution, Prof. Floyd R. Eastwood of New York university suggested better playing surfaces for both practice games and inter-scholastic competition, pre-season medical examination of all candidates, adequate time for conditioning players before the first game, properly equipped players, elimination of "live ball" for tackling practice, and vigorous warming-up periods. He would also open up the game, as far as line play is concerned, and give greater protection to the forward passer and punter in high school and the kicker in college.

Owens Ruled Out of Track

Ohio State's One-Man Team Ineligible For Winter Season

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Dec. 28 (AP)—Jesse Owens of Cleveland, world champion sprinter, hurdler and broad jumper, and captain of Ohio State university's track team, was declared ineligible for competition today because of scholastic difficulties.

The Negro star failed to hurdle a psychology examination, and was ruled out of athletic competition for the winter quarter, during which all of the season's indoor meets will be held.
By passing all his studies during the winter quarter, Owens may become eligible for the outdoor meets in the spring.
The ruling will keep him out of the Millrose games in New York Feb. 1; the West Virginia relays, dual meets with Indiana, Illinois and Michigan, and the Big Ten meet at Chicago March 14.

Totten, 7th Seeded Junior Star, Loses In Net Championships

NEW YORK, Dec. 28 (AP)—Jack Totten, seventh seeded junior star of the East Side high school of Paterson, N.J., was the only favorite to lose here today as the quarter-final round brackets were filled in the national indoor boys' and junior tennis championship at the 7th Regiment armory.

WEST Crayne, Iowa RHHR Ward, Idaho Beise, Minn. . . FBFB Justice, Gonz. The eastern squad, having difficulty in mastering the intricacies of the "Warner system" as taught by co-coaches Andy Kerr and Dick Hanley, held an open workout, widening up with a scrimmage against a pick-up team of local players.
Several members of the western squad turned out for drill nursing bumps, bruises and cuts.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP)—Real prosperity for the league and longer schedule for the clubs, is the outlook for the 1936 Western association, President Tom Fairweather said yesterday. He cited 10 reasons why the class C circuit should be the strongest in its history next season, and expressed the opinion the season might be lengthened from 135 games to 144.

Major Parties Hear Rumbles Of 1936 Strife

Election Year Begins As Rifts Increase Within Party Ranks

By EDWARD J. DUFFY
Associated Press Staff Writer
WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 (AP)—Storm signals multiply for both major parties as 1935 gives way to a presidential election year.

Leaders of each find it increasingly necessary to cope with differences in their own ranks. Whether the impending struggles will threaten the traditional political setups presents a potentially-historic question.

To Attack New Deal

Week end developments illustrated the disordered situation in part. With Alfred E. Smith planning to resume attack on the new deal at the American Liberty league dinner here Jan. 25, the President and Mrs. Roosevelt a week ago invited him to be their guest during his stay in the city.

He said today in New York he would be unable to accept.

Although Smith has refused to sanction attempts to elect delegates pledged to him for the June convention, some moves to that end persist. The speech may indicate the extent to which he is ready to carry his opposition to administration policies.

Borah Will Speak

Standing to profit from that prospect, the republican leadership was given cause for thought itself today by word that Senator Borah of Idaho will undertake eastern speech-making in New York Jan. 28.

This arrangement followed closely upon announcement that delegate slates for him would be entered in the Wisconsin and Illinois primaries in the spring. Three different factions already have signified an intention to gain the 90 New York delegates for the Idahoan also, in defiance of the state party organization.

Maintain New Deal

Quarters close to the White House believe that, while no extraordinary new departures are now contemplated by Mr. Roosevelt, neither will there be any turning back on new deal fundamentals.

Smith's views, elaborating on liberty league objections to the administration course, doubtless will be read in the light of the recent republican national committee invitation for disaffected democrats to join forces with it.

While Borah is also outspoken against the new deal, his immediate objective has more to do with overthrow of the old guard in his own party. In seeking this, it said on his behalf this week, he will stand on the monetary views which bulk so large in eastern opposition to him.

Wants "Sound Gold"

"I have never advocated anything except expansion of the currency on a sound gold reserve," he was quoted.

In another way, too, he evidenced determination to follow through on his plans at whatever cost to attempts to join the eastern and western wings of the party. A conference between him and Col. Frank Knox of Illinois prompted reports that the desirability of party unity was discussed, leading Borah to imply it was up to others to come to his point of view. He gave no assurance that he would move to keep out of the primaries in Illinois, where Knox is a "favorite son" for the nomination.

Hoover vs. Borah

The democratic national committee tonight sought to capitalize on the opposition difficulties. The weekly statement of Charles Michelson, publicity director, spoke of "the controversy between Senator Borah, whose nomination the republican high command must veto, because the fellows who are paying the bills are deathly afraid of him, and ex-President Hoover, whom they cannot nominate. Because of the deep rift between the old line republicans and the other fellows, nobody of consequence in the republican party will express preference at this time for any individual candidate."

He expressed the opinion that the republican western headquarters in Chicago was working hand-in-glove with the "Knox for President" committee there, to the detriment of Gov. Alf Landon of Kansas and other possible nominees.

Rev. D. Woods To Deliver Sermon In Iowa City Church

The Rev. David Woods, pastor of the First Presbyterian church at Clinton, S. C., will deliver a New Year's sermon at the Congregational church at 10:45 this morning. The Rev. Mr. Woods is the brother of Dr. Andrew H. Woods, director of psychopathic hospital here.

"The Atmosphere of Rejoicing" will be the subject of the Rev. Mr. Woods' sermon.

The Rev. L. A. Owen, pastor of the Congregational church, will conduct the morning worship.

Six Hours in a Patrol Car Leaves Reporter With No Yearnings to Be A Policeman in Iowa's Winter Season

By RICHARD EVERETT
Daily Iowan City Editor

If Junior voices determined intent, to be a policeman when he grows up, we can suggest one sure-fire method of disillusioning the lad about the glamour of the profession. Put him, in the back seat of the Iowa City police car as it makes its nightly patrol, and let him look at the routine of the department as the police themselves see it.

It has been some time since we last seriously considered becoming an officer of the law, but for the information and guidance of all the "Juniors" of the city, let's patrol Iowa City with Officers Arthur Schnoebelen and Frank Burns.

Leave Police Station

As we pull away from the station shortly after midnight, we stare at the swirling snow, and think about the slip of paper we just signed. It releases the city from responsibility just in case our little ride is climaxed by us getting shot full of holes or flying through the windshield in an accident.

However, the broad backs of the two officers in front is a comforting sight. Nestled against the side of each is a powerful .45 calibre pistol; and besides, haven't they been doing this night after night and still seem in excellent health?

From the very start we get cold feet, not the mental kind, but the physical variety. Then hour after hour we prowl the alleys, streets, highways and driveways of the city. Only a set of heavy duty chains makes progress through most of the alleys possible. We feel we have a speaking acquaintance with every back door in town. Not only that, but we go monotonously around in circles, peering into every filling station, scanning the outside for footprints, and shining over-worked flashlights on doors and windows.

Bumpy, Bump

We follow no set course. We cover every section of the town, most of them more than once. In our travels through the packed, rough snow, we can't even catch a wisp of sleep because of the pitching and jolting of the car.

Burns and Schnoebelen pass snatches of conversation, but mostly peer out of frosted windows, alert to any untoward happening that might present itself.

All Quiet

Every few minutes Schnoebelen circles the car back to a point from which the department signal may be seen. If a certain red light is burning, we hustle back to the station to find out what is going on. If the light does not show, we know that all is serene.

We stop once during the night to replace a cross link in the chain, broken as the car strains to pull out of deep snow.

Grub Pile

Once during the night each officer takes his turn at eating in an all-night restaurant while the other continues the endless patrolling.

It is 4 a.m., and still no more excitement than what appears to be a suspicious character loitering about a parked car. We pull up to the curb, flash lights, only to find out that the man owns the car, and is merely looking up for the night.

Sh'all Riv'r Osshier

We haven't even encountered a drunk. But wait a minute, that old gentleman seems to be tottering considerably as he walks down Burlington street.

Stopping to watch, we see him almost fall down, then turn uncertainly and head back the way he came. We pull up in an alley, blocking his path and Burns inquires as to what, if anything, is the trouble.

"Not a thing. Not a thing in the world."

A suspicious odor of a liquor much stronger than water pervades the atmosphere.

Unwanted Company

The old fellow mumbles something about somebody waiting for him and almost runs up the sidewalk. He disappears into a small hotel.

We follow, find the proprietor, and learn that he has been trying to get rid of the man most of the night.

Searching the hotel, Schnoebelen posts us on the second floor with orders to "make sure he doesn't go down while we are up on third."

I'm a Tough Guy

We are uncertain just what we would do if he did try to leave, but for lack of any reply we stand there trying to look much larger and tougher than we really are.

When Burns and Schnoebelen come down, we point out the closest where we saw someone peeping out, and they unceremoniously escort the tipsy gentleman to the car and thence to the station.

After having provided the drunk with a nice, warm cell for the remainder of the night, we again take up our dreary patrolling chores.

Came the Dawn

And thus it goes until dawn. No murders. No exciting chases. No robberies. No spine-chilling, romantic adventures. Just hard work with a pair of cold feet. And at a time when you and I ought to be in bed.

Thus, when the family pride and joy wants to become one of the forces of law and order, put him in a police car and let him watch the actual work.

Not that being a policeman isn't a good job, but we maintain it isn't all its cracked up to be.

House Demos Say Contacts Out This Time

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28 (AP)—House democratic leaders said today they were confident that no liaison man would operate between the White House and capitol in the congressional session that opens Friday.

They did not wish to be quoted by name but advanced two reasons for that belief:

Prospects that there might be relatively little major legislation sought by the administration.

Deep Resentment

Deep resentment among some house members over President Roosevelt's use of a contact man last session.

Speaker Byrns has let it be known to some of his colleagues that his office would not again be at the disposal of a White House spokesman on Capitol Hill.

That post was filled last year by Charles West, former representative from Ohio and now undersecretary of the interior. While he did not appear on the floor, he used the speaker's office to transact business by telephone and even sat in on some secret meetings of important committees.

"No Excuse"

"Members felt that there was no more excuse for the administration having a lobbyist up here with special privileges than for some private interest to have one," said one man high in democratic councils.

Resentment, it was explained, was not directed at West personally. He was described as filling the post of contact man in the least objectionable manner possible.

Approves Title Conveyance

Conveyance of an abstract title on the Johnson County Savings bank building by Ben S. Summerwill, receiver, to the Johnson County Realty company was approved in district court this morning by Judge Harold D. Evans. The building was sold Oct. 14 for $137,000 to Philip D. Ketselsen, trustee, who this month assigned the title to the realty company upon payment of the purchase price.

Mrs. Clara B. Haney Dies in Eugene, Ore.

Mrs. Clara B. Haney, 49, a former resident of Iowa City, died Friday morning in Eugene, Ore., following a heart attack, according to word received here yesterday. Mrs. Haney left Iowa City last August to join her husband and a son at Black Butte, Ore. She had been confined to the hospital for the last three weeks.

She is survived by her husband, Orville A. Haney; three sons, Paul, Edwin and Philip, all of Black Butte; two daughters, Alice, and Mrs. Lila C. Alt of Iowa City; four sisters, Mrs. Ida Daniels, Mrs. Cordia Cole and Mrs. Hope Barclay, all of Iowa City, and Mrs. Ruby McGruder of Lancaster, Mo.; and three grandchildren.

The body will be brought here for funeral service and burial.

Grant Teague Dies in Iowa City Hospital

Grant Teague, 19, Oelwein farm boy confined to the state psychopathic hospital here for more than three weeks apparently because of worry over the accidental death of a chum, died yesterday afternoon.

Friends of the boy attributed his breakdown to remorse at the death last September of Arthur Kunkle, also of Oelwein, after Teague had left the latter in Omaha. Kunkle's body was found near a railroad track shortly after the two had parted.

It was said that a post mortem examination of Teague's body will be made to determine the exact cause of death.

Farmers Holiday Group Will Meet Monday — M. Reno

DES MOINES, Dec. 28 (AP)—Milo Reno, national president of the Farmers Holiday association, said today a state convention of the Iowa association will be held here Monday prior to Reno's public forum address Monday night.

Reno will discuss, "Has American Agriculture Come of Age?" as he replies to Secretary Wallace's forum speech about a month ago.

Three of those who served on the questioning panel for Wallace will question Reno. They are Mrs. Rose Cunningham, housewife; Lewis Morris, Grimes, Ia., farmer, and R. G. Kelly, Clarence, Ia., farmer.

Other panel members will be J. C. Lewis, Iowa Federation of Labor president; Raymond Sayre, chairman of the Warren county corn-hog committee, and Dennis Ryan, Corning, Ia., farm union member.

French Senate Ponders Over "Little NRA"

PARIS (AP)—Minister of State P. E. Flandin's "Little NRA," dominant since his overthrow as premier, has been revived in the senate with a possibility that it may yet be adopted.

President Roosevelt's experiment with industrial codes in the United States, which inspired the Flandin scheme, has been cited anew in its favor.

Codes for Adjustment

The Flandin plan is intended to adjust production to consumption by means of codes for the duration of the depression. Each industry would draft its own code, controlling production, prices and marketing, with a provision, however, that labor must not suffer.

As passed by the chamber of deputies in March, Flandin's bill for "inter-professional accords" would permit limiting production to market needs, shortening working hours and withdrawing stocks from the market for storage until conditions improved.

A code would become compulsory on an industry when two-thirds of the firms representing three-fourths of the industry's production asked the government to impose it. It would have to be approved by an arbitral committee on which the government, employers, labor, Bank of France, commercial courts, and national economic councils would be represented.

"In the United States, the tradition of liberalism was as strongly rooted as in France," says a report of the senate commerce committee, supporting the Flandin proposal.

Trusts Too Strong

"It is there (in the United States) that unlimited freedom of production engendered the first and most crying abuses. The enterprises ruined by the oppression of monopolies demanded protective laws.

Laws against trusts were voted, but the trusts were stronger than the laws and the courts of justice. They still claimed the principle of liberty, pursuing their work of crushing.

"When he took power, President Roosevelt struck at habits, prejudices and interests whose power he could not underestimate. He obtained from his parliament, however, dictatorial powers to impose on a nation of 120,000,000 inhabitants a managed economy which retroactively regulates all categories of national production.

"It is the most complete and systematic experiment in managed economy. The American people accepted it. Despite partial checks and inevitable difficulties, it retains all its faith in the success of the giant enterprise which is upsetting the traditional regime."

National Park Service Takes FERA Camps

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28 (AP)—The national park service today took over 44 of the old FERA transient camps for use in a program to improve the nation's recreation areas, supplementing work already initiated by the civilian conservation corps.

Secretary Ickes announced that board, clothing and salaries for the 10,837 men in the transient camps would be provided by the works progress administration. An additional $736,916 of work relief funds, he said, will be provided for materials, equipment and supervisors.

The CCC already operates 491 park camps, with an average of 200 members in each. But Ickes explained the new program would permit work to be done within the corporate limits of communities—activities banned under CCC regulations.

"Typical projects," he said, "include protection of timberlands from fire, erosion control, construction of trails, bridges, shelters, cabins, outdoor fireplaces, picnic and parking areas, public camp grounds, places for swimming, boating and controlled fishing, as well as construction of water and waste disposal systems."

Unlike the CCC which pays $30 a month and (with the exception of World war veterans) is limited to unmarried young men with dependent families, there is no age limit for the park service work camps. Salaries, in addition to board and clothing, will be $15, $20 and $25 a month, dependent upon skill.

The former transient camps, ordered closed by Harry L. Hopkins, WPA chief, on Dec. 1, accommodated an average of 200,000 needy who had left their homes. Those unable to work have been sent to their home communities.
