Federal Funds Enable S.U.I. To Begin Building Program; Many Students Enroll to Set Record

1935 Sees Marked Return to Pre-Depression Optimism Among Students; Many Changes Made in Faculty Set Up of University

By JESSE GORKIN
(Campus Editor)

The year 1935 saw a marked return of pre-depression optimism among the student body while the physical facilities and enrollment of the University of Iowa mounted to new heights.

But these bright criteria were not alone as contributing factors in the progress of the last 12 months, for achievements in science and literature gained especially outstanding recognition.

Get Federal Funds

Federal funds figured prominently both in the physical expansion of the university and the augmented number of students in attendance. Included in the some 1,700 students who have been aided in obtaining employment this semester through the reorganized university employment bureau, under the direction of Lee Kann, are 600 undergraduate students and around 125 graduate students who are working at jobs made possible with federal funds.

Also, for the fourth year cooperative dormitories are enabling upwards of 250 students to attend the university.

Set New Record

Skyrocketing to a new university record, the number of resident students enrolled this semester cleared the former high mark of 5,800 students, established in the previous year, by more than 600. The university retained tenth place, which it held in 1934, in enrollment among state universities in the year ending Nov. 1, 1935. Higher comparative rankings were gained in the colleges of medicine and dentistry, while the summer session, graduate college and colleges of commerce and law retained their previous high standing.

The rise in the number of students is especially significant because of the increased figure in all units of the university rather than in one or a few divisions.

New Magazine Starts

Literature had its word on the University of Iowa campus during 1935 in the form of the new born American Prefaces, university literary magazine. The first publication of its kind here in about five years, lavish praise for its quality has been tendered the magazine and its editor, Prof. Wilbur Schramm of the English department, by persons from all sections of the United States.

Science Forges To Fore in University

Science forged to the fore in several departments. Prof. Walter F. Loehwing of the botany department has made considerable progress with a new plant hormone which he has synthetically produced in the laboratory here that may eventually lead to solving the problem of cell division, a key question in scientific circles. When applied to plants this hormone greatly stimulates growth.

Receive Two Grants

That research being conducted in the zoology department is gaining national acclaim was made known by the awarding of two grants. One donation was a grant of $50,000 by the Rockefeller foundation for research work in the study of physiology of the normal cell and its relation to cancer and the other an award of $8,500 from the national research council for a project on the biology of sex. A system of measuring physical condition and efficiency as a key to swifter detection among children has been developed in the anthropometry laboratories here.

Building Program Begins in Earnest

The university's long time building program came several steps nearer realization during 1935. During the summer session the $300,000 fine arts building, one of the initial buildings of its kind, was opened for classroom use. Work on another structure, the new $100,000 university theater, is rapidly being pushed toward completion and, it is planned, will be opened next May.

CHICAGO (AP)—True to the tradition that around the new year's beginning higher prices for wheat are to be expected, all wheat markets tended upward yesterday.

Local Officers Report General Advancement

More Than $5,000,000 Pours Into Johnson County During 1935

By RICHARD EVERETT
(Daily Iowan City Editor)

"General advancement all along the line." That statement, issued yesterday by city, county, and federal officers was born out as the annual summary of statistics effecting Iowa City and Johnson county was compiled.

An estimated $5,000,000 has been poured into the county from various government agencies; $1,180,293.54 collected in state, county, and city taxes up to Dec. 1, 1935; an assessed valuation of $35,843,924 in taxable properties, and a relief load lightened by almost one-third.

Farmers of Johnson county have received $3,000,000 in federal farm loans during the year, nearly one-third more than in 1934. Nearly 600 loans were made.

A total of $13,959 has been spent on various road projects in the county, of which $8,253 was provided by the county, and $5,705 by PWA. No state funds were used.

A total of 18 1/2 miles of grading has been done on county roads during 1935, with an additional nine miles within the city limits.

Building in Iowa City registered a total estimated value of $109,854, compared to $88,490 for 1934.

Registrations Boom

Automobile registrations and sales have boomed, with license plates on sale at the courthouse going at 25 per cent faster rate than at the previous turn of the year.

More than $122,094 in poor relief funds have been distributed by the county supervisors. This figure includes county home upkeep, juvenile home, and widows' pensions.

Sixteen of the Chamber of Commerce's 18-point program have been carried out, Secretary D. W. Crum said. Chief among the Chamber of Commerce projects was the encouragement of the Lake Macbride project, and the construction of a primary road from the state highway to the park.

Lake Macbride will officially open either late in 1936 or early in 1937, it was said, and a road will be constructed as desired by the chamber.

J. J. McLaughlin Dies

CHICAGO (AP)—A furtive funeral yesterday ended the varied career of John J. (Boss) McLaughlin, 67, who died yesterday in Leavenworth prison where he was serving a five year sentence for participation in the $200,000 kidnaping of Edward Bremer, St. Paul banker.

Hill, Lewis Agree

DES MOINES (AP)—L. S. Hill, Iowa WPA administrator, and J. C. Lewis, president of the State Federation of Labor, agreed upon a four point labor-WPA program yesterday in the wake of Lewis' order postponing the statewide WPA strike scheduled for tomorrow.

Liberty League Won't Urge Smith to Run

BOSTON, Dec. 31 (AP)—Joseph B. Ely, former governor of Massachusetts, who said yesterday that if Alfred E. Smith sought the democratic nomination against President Roosevelt, he would "back him to the sky," indicated today the American Liberty league would not urge Smith to run.

Olson's Future Problematical

Stomach Operation Is Not Successful in Curing Minnesotan

ROCHESTER, Minn., Dec. 31 (AP)—Gov. Floyd B. Olson's political future, aiming toward the United States senate, was problematical tonight after an operation intended to cure a stomach difficulty failed in its purpose.

Mayo clinic physicians announced after an operation this morning to remove a growth in his stomach that inflammation had prevented removal. Their announcement added that medical treatment rather than an operation would be the best means to clear up the disorder.

Dr. A. W. Hoaglund, Minneapolis, the governor's personal physician, said after the operation that he did not believe the chief executive's condition would interfere with his political activities. Attending physicians, however, advised the governor, a strenuous campaigner, to moderate his activities to some extent.

America Gives New Year A Big Welcome

America greeted 1936 Tuesday night with a riproaring welcome perhaps unequalled since the spontaneous celebration that heralded the end of the World war. From hamlet to city the lid was off—either by official proclamation or ripped from its moorings by enthusiastic celebrants. Everywhere they were calling it: "The biggest night since the Armistice."

Jews Lose Servants

BERLIN (AP)—Jews of Germany, stripped of citizenship rights during 1935, said farewell yesterday to their gentle maids under 35, who are forbidden to work for them after today.

4 Die Beneath Speeding Train

Youthful Farmers' Light Coupe Struck Near Small Illinois City

WRIGHTS, Ill., Dec. 31 (AP)—A passenger train crashed into a light Chevrolet coupe near here today and killed four young Wrights farmers, who are survived by their widows and seven children in all.

The men apparently failed to look back for the train as they approached the diagonal railroad crossing.

The dead: Paul Scott, 28, apparently the driver.

Howard Scott, 37, his brother. Emil Kirgan, 31. Benjamin Stinnett, 30.

They were en route to Carrolltown to attend a community sale when their car was struck broadside by the northbound Burlington train. The car, smashed to pieces, was hurled 25 feet.

Bombs Kill 32 On Southern War Frontier

By The Associated Press

The killing of 32 Swedish and Ethiopian members of an ambulance unit on the southern war front by Italian aviators was reported Tuesday in Addis Ababa.

"This was the outstanding development as the African war spent its first New Year's eve.

The bombing was reported to Addis Ababa in a wireless message from Ras Desta Dintu, southern commander and son-in-law of Emperor Haile Selassie. Nine of the victims were said to have been Swedes and the others natives.

So great was the indignation in Stockholm that it was necessary to rush a police guard to the Italian legation. Prince Paul, president of the Swedish Red Cross, called upon the International Red Cross to investigate.

In New York, Lij Tasfaye Zaphro, first secretary of the Ethiopian legation in London, who is in America, to raise relief funds, called the reported attack "another example of barbaric and inhuman actions of the Italian invaders."

Optimism is Keynote of Citizens After Five Long Years Under "Old Man Dep"

Christmas Business in '35 Was Best Four Years in Nearly All Lines of Auto Registrations, Sales Show Increase

The bells that rang 1936 into Iowa City and this morning contained a strong note of confidence that has been noticeably lacking in the last five years. Recovering in 1934 to a large degree from the depression in 1932 and 1933, Iowa City, undoubtedly in the state, found her stride in 1935 and with the year in 1936.

Col. Lindbergh, Family Arrive At Liverpool

Flyer, Wife, Small Son Spend Quiet Evening In Hotel Suite

LIVERPOOL, Dec. 31 (AP)—The Charles A. Lindberghs arrived in England today maintaining the secrecy that had surrounded their entire voyage, but a relative said they were refugees from American crimes.

The flyer, his wife and three-year-old son, Jon, while Liverpool celebrated the New Year, spent the eve in the seclusion of their suite at the Adelphi hotel.

They refused to see anyone from the moment they left the American Embassy under the cover of a group of detectives and police.

But a member of the family of J. L. Morgan in Llandaff, Wales, said the Lindberghs would be guests there and would remain "for some time."

This spokesman said the Lindberghs came to England through fear that Jon would become the victim of kidnapers, as was his older brother, little Charles A. Lindbergh Jr. Business had nothing to do with the journey, the source added.

Expected at Llandaff The Morgan family expects the Lindberghs at Llandaff, in the quiet Welsh countryside, some time tomorrow. J. L. Morgan is the father of Aubrey Neil Morgan, widowed husband of Mrs. Lindbergh's sister. She was the former Elizabeth Morrow and died last year in California.

Colonel Lindbergh, bareheaded and with little Jon in the crook of his right arm, hurried down the gangplank of the Importer after Mrs. Lindbergh while a dreary rain fell. Ms. Lindbergh, the former Anne Morrow, was smartly dressed in a tailored costume. Jon wore a dark suit, a red hat and a white Scots plaid scarf.

Hints For Holidays

By LOUISE BENNETT WEAVER

Halibut Creole
Dinner Serving Four Or Five
Halibut Creole
Browned Potato Cakes
Creamed Onions
Pear Salad

Halibut Creole
1 1/2 pounds halibut
2 tablespoons butter
1 1/2 cups chopped celery
1-3 cup flour
1 1/2 cups tomatoes
4 tablespoons fat
1-2 teaspoon salt
1-4 teaspoon paprika

Pie Crust
1 1/2 cups flour
1-2 cup lard
1-2 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons cold water
Mix flour and salt, cut in lard. Mixing with knife, add cold water to make a stiff dough. Take up ball of dough in hands and press together. Roll out dough on floured board and fit into deep pie pan, pressing down well in the corners. Add filling.

Bettina Filling
1-2 cups cooked pumpkin
2 cup dark brown sugar
-2 cup sugar
1-2 teaspoons cinnamon
-3 teaspoon cloves
2 eggs
Mix ingredients carefully. Pour into pie crust and bake 10 minutes in hot oven. Lower fire and bake 50 minutes in slow oven. The pie is done when the center "shakes a little." This will stiffen when cold. Be careful in placing filling in crust not to have it come over sides as it will burn.

Iola Club
Iola club will meet tomorrow evening at the home of Mrs. Fred Kessler, 117 1/2 S. Dubuque street. Members will exchange gifts during the evening.

One Decade Ago

One decade—10 short years have passed since we purchased the old-established Stillwell Paint Store—an institution in which we had served long and faithfully.

At that time we promised the people of this community that we would adhere to the same old policy of honest merchandise and fair prices—fundamental principles upon which the store has stood squarely for more than three business generations.

Your response to this pledge has been generous and we thank you for your confidence in us and in the store.

We are now ready to serve you even better in 1936.

During the depression our store was quick to follow the lowered price curve, yet quality was always maintained. Quantity buying of paints and wall paper enables us at all times to give customers the advantage of rock bottom prices.

In addition to supplying your needs in wall paper, paints and paint sundries, for the last three years we have supplied the skilled labor, too, and thoroughly supervised the job from start to finish. Many of Iowa City's finest homes have been painted and decorated in this manner.

We are pleased to continue this service in 1936. We will be happy to call at your convenience, make a complete estimate, and then if the price suits, take over all of the responsibility the work entails.

May the New Year bring you health, happiness and prosperity.

Fanning Held In Kansas City

Had Served Term In Anamosa After His Capture in Iowa City

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 31 (AP)—While detectives questioned a man who said he was Homer Fanning, 27, department of justice agents tonight were "inclined to doubt" his story that Alvin Karpis, public enemy No. 1, was his companion in a police chase here early today.

Fanning, arrested by detectives, was quoted by them as saying Karpis and he occupied an automobile which eluded pursuing police cars this morning.

"I haven't talked with him about his Karpis story," said W. A. Smith, head of the bureau of investigation office here, "but I'm inclined to doubt it."

Smith said he had information that Fanning had been adjudged insane by a district court jury at Iowa City, Ia., in January, 1934. He said he did not know if the man was a fugitive.

At detective headquarters, where questioning still was in progress, it was said an announcement would be made later.

Police opened fire on two occupants of a car which they believed to have been stolen this morning. The driver escaped and his companion jumped from the automobile and ran to a nearby school building. Fanning was arrested near the school this afternoon.

Scout cars were sent scurrying over the eastern section of the city and the state highway patrol was warned to be on the lookout for the fugitive car and its driver after detectives announced that Fanning had identified his companion as Karpis.

Police found a revolver and $110 in Fanning's possession.

Fanning was captured by Iowa City police early in his career of crime, records here showed last night. After a gun battle with Capt. Joe Dolezal and an escape from the police station, Sheriff Don McComas and Patrolmen Garrett Byrne and Herb Beranek captured Fanning at a roadhouse outside of the city.

The gunman had been arrested by Patrolman Frank Burns on a tip from West Branch police; but Fanning broke away from police while being searched at the station.

Captain Dolezal, off duty, exchanged five shots with the man during the ensuing hunt, but it was not until the next day that Fanning was captured.

He was pronounced insane by psychiatrists, and was sentenced to a term at Anamosa, from where he was released July 31, 1935, as sane. After Fanning's release, he was paroled to his father in Kansas.

Fanning was first arrested Sept. 26, 1933.

Local Safety Organizations Stage Parade

Led by a "cruiser" showing talking pictures, local safety organizations staged a "prevent accidents" parade through the downtown district of the city yesterday afternoon. Police, fire, ambulances, and private automobiles joined in the procession, each vehicle decorated with the sign, "Think!"

The parade was led by the Phillips Petroleum company cruiser now on a safety tour of the state. Talking motion pictures portraying the horror of fatal crashes were shown from the cruiser.

Although the parade was hastily organized, large crowds gathered to watch the long line of ambulances, nurses, police motorcycle, fire chief's car, and the cruiser pass by.

Chief of Police C. O. Paine, organizer of the parade said last night: "I wish to thank the several business firms of the city who donated time and equipment to make the safety parade a success."

"I also wish to thank Mercy hospital and the University hospital, whose nurses took part in the parade."

The parade met the approval of Mayor Martin and myself, and I think the Phillips company is to be congratulated on the graphic way in which safety is being taught to the public."

Police Find Car

Iowa City police yesterday recovered a Ford coach stolen several days ago from John Lemions of Washington, Ia. The car was found on the speedway near the Country club. Washington police took the car into custody.

Heater Recovered

An automobile heater owned by Sam Wharton, stolen several days ago, was reported recovered yesterday. The heater was found near the sewage disposal plant.

Police last night announced the opening today of a new sliding hill for west side youngsters. The new hill is located at the west city limits, east on Benton street. The hill will be open, under guard, from 4 until 9 p.m.

History Repeats; So Does 1896 Calendar

OMAHA, Dec. 31 (AP)—Mrs. Mary Madsen of Omaha today discovered history and calendars repeat themselves—once in 40 years at least. A calendar published for 1896, she found, fits 1936 perfectly to a day.

Mrs. Madsen received the calendar from her 90-year-old aunt, Mrs. Sophie Mace of Evansville, Ind., in 1933. The calendar is a three-leaf affair with four months on each leaf.

"We hope that local business men will realize that our office places both skilled and unskilled labor," said Mr. Jones.

Johnson county records are relayed daily to Des Moines and Washington where they become part of a permanent file. Applications contain information necessary for the old age pension allotment and for the proposed unemployment insurance.

Merely Seasonal

"The rise is merely a seasonal one though," emphasized N. W. Jones, manager of the office. "It is almost a third less than last year at this same time."

During the month of December, the local office placed 74 men and women in private jobs and 117 in public projects. Everyone must register with the office before he is eligible for a WPA job and must get in touch with the office every thirty days to be on the "active" list.

Established in 1935 the local office has secured more jobs each year. It now has a permanent record of all unemployed. Similar offices being a branch of the national employment service at Washington, D. C. Beginning next week the Johnson county office will have a separate women's division and office.

One thousand Johnson county men and women are either partially or wholly unemployed, records of the local office of the Iowa state employment service show. Included among the list of unemployed are all WPA workers, persons filling part-time jobs, skilled laborers doing unskilled labor, and all persons on the relief rolls. The figure is an increase of two hundred since November.

Perfect Weather Prevails for Western Tilts

Playing Conditions Satisfy Both Stanford, Southern Methodist; 85,000 to See Annual Classic

All Players Ready As Last Practice Over; Odds Favor S.M.U.

PASADENA, Cal., Dec. 31 (AP)—The best football news today came from the weather bureau when the experts announced tomorrow would bring perfect playing conditions to the Rose Bowl. Oddly enough the announcement was greeted with cheers by both Southern Methodist university and Stanford.

"Suits us," said coaches Matty Bell of S.M.U. and Tiny Thornhill of Stanford.

The day before when rain was falling with no sign of cessation, both coaches said the boys would play just as well on a muddy track as a fast one.

Fans Cheered

The 85,000 persons who will see the annual classic were cheered by the thought that the chance of getting their feet wet was exceedingly remote.

No last minute changes in either lineup seemed likely. The Mustangs from Dallas and the Indians from Palo Alto awaited only the zero hour of 2:15 p.m. (4:15 p.m., central standard time) to start firing.

Coaches Differ

Some of the score of nationally known coaches on hand for the great game thought Bell or Thornhill might try to catch the other off guard by departing somewhat from their established lines of offense and defense. Others thought it much more probable the battle would be waged as forecast. This would see the Indians endeavoring to shake Bobby Grayson loose and passing only infrequently, and the Mustangs reversing the process of throwing many passes to get the Stanford defense back in the hope Bobby Wilson could gallop with abandon.

For the first time all season both teams were at full strength. All doubt that Jim (Monk) Moscrip, surefooted end of Stanford, would be in the starting lineup, had disappeared and a slight cold did not even slow Bobby Grayson in his final preparations to justify for the last time his election and reelection as an all-American.

S.M.U. Intact

From time to time during the year, the Dallas boys have had to go to bat without Iron Man Wetzel at guard, Harry Shuford at full or Johnny Sprague at half but each was fit tonight.

There was no real football practice on the eve of the game. The players of both casts only went through the motions, getting the feel of the turf of the Rose Bowl.

Late minute odds continued to favor the Mustangs at approximately 10 to 8.

Pasadena and adjoining Los Angeles fell into the hands of the Texans today and tonight. The football players were kept in strict seclusion but the rooters from the Lone Star state were seen and heard.

Texans Arrive

Ten special trains brought thousands of men and women wearing broad brimmed hats ready to give cowboy yells for the Mustangs.

James V. Alfred, young governor of Texas, flew in early in the day. Some of his predecessors rode horses in the days when Texas was months removed from California instead of just around the corner. Mrs. Alfred came by train.

The lineups expected to start:

The 1935 University of Iowa sports pageant, gayly flaunting the banner "success," has paraded in review.

Each contestant was lauded and applauded as he passed the reviewing stand jammed with thousands of rabidly loyal Hawkeye fans.

Each sport has claimed a prosperous season. The quality of play exhibited and the skilled performers produced by each substantiate these assertions.

Strong Football Team

King football, head of the sprightly procession, produced one of the strongest teams to represent Iowa in the last decade. Smashing victories were scored over Colgate, highly-publicized intersectional foe, Illinois, Bradley and South Dakota.

Thousands and thousands of persons, from 9,000 in the opening game to 52,000 in the Homecoming game with Minnesota, watched the powerful Old Gold eleven barrel through an eight-game schedule with four victories, two defeats and two ties.

Great Backs

One of the greatest pair of backs to be found in any backfield in the nation, the Dick Crayne-Ozzie Simmons combination, fired the Iowans from the opening whistle to the final gun at Dyche stadium, Evanston, Ill.

Honor team after honor team found one or both of the men on their lineups. Crayne climaxed an illustrious career, leading the Hawkeye scorers for three straight years. Despite injuries, which handicapped him from the second game of the season, he was one of the most feared men in the conference. He never played a poor game in his entire football experience.

Simmons One of Best in Nation

Ozzie Simmons, the man of a thousand and one synonyms, lived up to everyone of them. Experts everywhere stamped him as one of the best ball-carriers in the nation. His defensive work and blocking were far above reproach, too. The Texas Tornado weaved and danced to five touchdowns on runs from 51 to 71 yards. He led the Iowa ground-gainers by a substantial margin. He was a unanimous Big Ten choice and was selected on five leading all-American second teams and one first eleven.

Ted Osmalowski, curly-headed center, was praised far and wide for his sterling play on offense and defense. He played more minutes than any man on the line. Jim Kelley, Bill Secl, Red Nelson, Rudy Leytze, Bob Laynon, Homer Harris, Don Simmons and Scott Wagler all performed well.

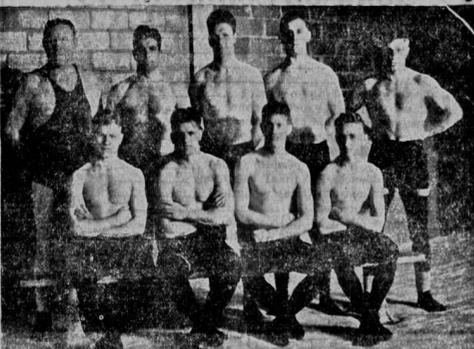

Basketball Team Soars

The Hawkeye basketball team soared to an undisputed first division berth at the third-way mark of the season, but hit a snag in the Indiana game and tumbled into a six game losing streak almost as quickly as it arose.

Nevertheless, it was recognized as one of the strongest outfits in the Big Ten. Losses of three games by a total of four points prevented a tie for the title. Opponents were outscored 638 to 623. The Hawkeyes averaged 34 1/2 points offensively to rank fourth in the conference in this department and finished in a tie for

Eastern Eleven Lines Up As Two and One Favorite Over Speedy Western Aggregation

Easterners Have Five All-Americans Against West's Team Two

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 31 (AP)—East and west met on the football field here tomorrow in the eleventh intersectional game played for charity—one that will see the eastern forces line up as 2 to 1 favorites.

Stars of the nation's college grid-irons in 1935 man the two squads. The 44 players, evenly distributed with the Mississippi river as the dividing line, represent 43 cities and 31 universities and colleges.

Print to Life

Bringing these combatants of the 1935 pinstrip wars together represents the closest approach to realism of transferring the all-American names from print to life.

In this respect the eastern squad, coached by Andy Kerr of Colgate and Die KHanley, formerly of Northwestern, has a decided edge. Among the 22 luminaries recruited from the east, middle west and old south are nine team captains and five men who rated distinction of all-American rating.

Two Smiths

Two Smiths, Riley of Alabama and Dick of Minnesota, were chosen for the 1935 all-America first team as quarterback and tackle respectively. Gomer Jones, Ohio State center, and Sheldon Beise, Minnesota fullback, made the second team and Dick Crayne, Iowa back, was ranked on the third eleven.

Take Your Choice, Tie Or 20 to 19

EVANSTON, Ill., Dec. 31 (AP)—Special investigating committee may have to be appointed to determine whether Northwestern defeated Notre Dame, 20 to 19, or the Wildcats and Irish battled to a 20 to 20 tie, tonight in their annual New Year's eve basketball game.

When the final gun was fired, the official score books kept by the student managers of the teams, gave the same version.

However, the books of every sportswriter in the pressbox had it a 20 to 20 tie. The point of difference was that Raymond Meyer of Chicago, Notre Dame forward, was credited with only one successful free throw attempt in the student managers' tallies, whereas the writers, to a man, credited him with two.

By ED WALSH (Daily Iowan Sports Writer)

VINTON, Dec. 31 (Special)—Vinton high school basketball team arose with all its glory to hand the tattered Iowa City high quintet a 26 to 23 defeat here tonight in a ragged game.

Conquerors of Austin high, Minnesota state champs, the Little Hawks were stopped by the grossly underrated Vintonites, especially in the first half when they left the floor with a 13 to 8 score against them.

4 Banished

Both teams, striving frantically in the closing minutes with the score almost even, carried their excitement too far with the result that blows were exchanged on the floor. Kenny Jones, Dick Amerine, Breece and Hora of Iowa City and Edmonds and Jack of Vinton were banished by the officials.

Alvin Miller, City high captain, was the only visitor able to find the hoop. He connected four times from the field and three from the foul line to score 11 points. He was the high man of the evening.

Vinton Leads at Half

Vinton got off to a good lead, holding a 10 to 4 advantage at the quarter. The Little Hawks whittled the margin to 13 to 8 at the half, but Vinton came back in the third quarter to lead, 19 to 13. Iowa City put on a desperate rally in the last quarter, but could not overcome the lead that had been established, and went down to defeat.

Hawk Cagers Eye Contest With Illinois

After breaking even in six non-conference games, the University of Iowa's improved basketball team is completing preparations for the Big Ten opener against the unbeaten Illinois quintet in the fieldhouse Saturday.

The Hawkeyes defeated Marquette at Milwaukee Monday for their third win, while Illinois was whipping California for its sixth straight victory.

Alternating defeats and victories comprise Iowa's December record. Milikin, Pittsburgh and Western State Teachers administered the defeats, while Carleton, Loyola and Marquette fell before the Iowans.

Between them, Capt. John Barko and Sid Rosenthal have scored 97 points, nearly half of Iowa's total of 202. Rosenthal is leading with 52, made from 13 field goals and 26 free throws, while Barko has 46 from 19 field goals and seven free throws.

Neither the guards nor the centers have upheld their end of the scoring. Van Yesseldyk has 33 points, but Suesens has made only seven, while Drees, who has played most of the time at center, has 26, with DeHeer the maker of nine.

The Iowa team has averaged 33 2-3 points per game, registering 74 field goals and 54 free throws. But defensive lapses have allowed opponents to score 193 points, for an average of 32 1-6 per game, on 70 field goals and 53 free throws.

Illinois, sharer of the Big Ten title with Purdue and Wisconsin last season, has three veterans of that fine team. Harry Combes, a good forward last year, now is a high-scoring guard; while Bob Riegel, the 6 foot 4 inch center, and Wilbur Henry, burly guard, are the other first team men of 1935.

It appears that Illinois will start an all-veteran quintet, since the forwards, Harold Benham and Jim Vopicka, have reserves last year. Combes and Vopicka have been scoring the majority of the points.

6 Victories

The Illini have whipped St. Louis, Wabash, DePauw, De Paul, Knox and California, averaging 2-3 points per game and holding opponents to an average of 22 1-2.

With six lettersman back from their Minnesota state championship team of last year, Austin high expected to find the Little Hawks an easy mark. Instead, they carried back a 31 to 24 beating to the Gopher state, their first of the season. The victory definitely established City high as a state case power.

SNAP STRING

The Hawkeyes snapped the six-game string of defeats by capturing a 37 to 25 victory over Michigan and a 33 to 27 triumph over Northwestern in the last two games of the season.

BRILLIANT PERFORMERS

Several brilliant individual performers stood out. The 440 yard relay team of Jimmy Owen, Wilson Briggs, Andy Dooley and Carl Nelson cracked the listed world's record with a :40.5 mark and went under the 880 yard relay record in the Kansas relays. They also came through with victories in the Drake relays at Des Moines.

NEW SCORING RECORD

Francis Cretzmeier, the captain-elect, set a new Iowa track scoring record of 144 1-4 points, breaking his own mark of 82.2 points made in 1934.

BARKO TOPS SCORERS

John Barko topped the Hawkeye scorers, his total giving him fourth in the loop's individual scoring pace. Iowa opened strong by taking Ohio State, Chicago, Northwestern and Minnesota in quick order, placing her at the top of the standings. But a five-point loss to Indiana in the fieldhouse shattered this streak.

OLD GOLD MERMEN FINISHED ONE POINT OUT OF SECOND IN THE BIG TEN MEET AT CHAMPAIGN, BILL BUSBY CONCLUDED A GLORIOUS DIVING CAREER WITH A VICTORY ON THE HIGH BOARD, OUT-POINTING FELSHELD OF MICHIGAN, WHO LATER DEFEATED HIM IN THE N.C.A.A. IN THE CONFERENCE MEET. WEHMEYER WON SECOND IN THE BREAST STROKE AND JACOBMEYER GRABBED A SECOND IN THE 220 YARD FREE STYLE.

RETAIN TITLE

The Hawkeyes retained their Midwestern A.A.U. title with ease, Jacobsmeyer counting 15 of the Hawks' 68-point total. Climax of the season came in the dual meet with Michigan, national collegiate champions for the last three years. More than 2,500 persons saw two American, three national intercollegiate and six tank marks shattered.

TWO DAYS LATER JACK SIEG, USING COACH ARMSTRUSTER'S NEWLY-INVENTED FISH-TAIL BACK, DID THE 100 YARD BREAST STROKE IN 1:32.2 OR 2.8 SECONDS BETTER THAN THE LISTED WORLD'S RECORD.

BUSBY SECOND IN N.C.A.A.

In the national championships Busby took second in both the high and low board diving, Dick Westfield gained second in the back stroke and Jacobsmeyer snatched fourth in the 440 and fifth in the 220 yard freestyles. The 300 yard medley relay team captured fourth and the 400 yard sprint relay team grabbed fifth.

Coach Mike Howard produced the greatest Iowa wrestling team in the last 19 years. Four victories in five dual meets, a second to Illinois in the Big Ten tournament, and a creditable showing the the National Collegiate was the record established.

BIG TEN MAT TITLES

Bob Larson and Earl Kielhorn, co-captains, and Verne Derrer, won first place crowns in the Big Ten meet in Chicago. Guernsey and O'Leary placed second and third in their respective classes.

One of the most prominent matmen in the nation, Kielhorn, won 17 of 19 bouts. He won second in the N.C.A.A. 165 pound class and second in the National A.A.U. 165 pound class.

Iowa gymnasts gained three victories in conference meets, took second in a triangular engagement with Nebraska and Illinois, and placed third in the Western conference meet at Champaign.

OUTSTANDING GYMNASTS

Eugene Wettstein proved himself the outstanding gymnast in the conference as he won the individual title in the conference championships. Other outstanding performers were Co-Captains Rockwood and Houser.

GEORGE NISSEN CLIMAXED A GLORIOUS SEASON BY WINNING FIRST IN THE

Weak Bitters

The team's greatest weakness was at the plate. Marty Underwood, the leading hitter, batted under .300. One hundred and nineteen runs were scored on 192 hits by the Hawkeyes.

The annual tour was made into Michigan at the close of the season with considerable success. Greatest Swim Season

Iowa swimmers probably enjoyed their greatest season in history. Fourth place in the National Collegiate championships climaxed the campaign for Coach Dave Armbruster and his proteges.

The Old Gold mermen finished one point out of second in the Big Ten meet at Champaign, Bill Busby concluded a glorious diving career with a victory on the high board, out-pointing Felshefeld of Michigan, who later defeated him in the N.C.A.A. In the conference meet, Wehmyer won second in the breast stroke and Jacobsmeyer grabbed a second in the 220 yard free style.

RETAIN TITLE

The Hawkeyes retained their Midwestern A.A.U. title with ease, Jacobsmeyer counting 15 of the Hawks' 68-point total. Climax of the season came in the dual meet with Michigan, national collegiate champions for the last three years. NEW SCORING RECORD

Francis Cretzmeier, the captain-elect, set a new Iowa track scoring record of 144 1-4 points, breaking his own mark of 82.2 points made in 1934.

Thirteen victories in 25 games was the record made by the Hawkeye baseball nine. Led by Capt. Gene Ford, righthander, Coach Otto Vogel's pitching corps was one of the strongest in the conference.

All 4 City Schools Maintain Successful Athletic Season In 1935 Basketball, Football

High school football hit a new high level in 1935 when every team in the city showed a vast improvement over its 1934 showing. The Little Hawks came through with the best season since 1914 when they won seven straight, losing only one, an 8 to 7 decision, to East high of Des Moines. University high won the Little Six conference championship without sustaining a defeat of tie.

A poor start by St. Pat's was soon forgotten when the fighting Irish came home with their first win in three seasons when Delaney and Dumphy each banged over a touchdown against Kalona. Although dropping their last tilt to Wellman, 8 to 7, the Shamrocks showed much improvement over the disastrous 1934 aggregation which was forced to drop football due to injuries.

With Coach Herb Cormack taking over the reins, City high cleaned up everything in sight except the tough East high outfit. Individual honors went to "Ham" Snider and Paul

Ross when Snider was named on the all-state first team at guard and Ross on the third string at fullback.

Coach Kistler's Blues came back with vengeance after a mediocre 1934 season to lick everything in their conference by wide margins. Among their other accomplishments, they defeated their arch rivals, St. Pat's, 25 to 0 in the only intra-city football game of the year.

Basketball teams representing Iowa City didn't fare well in state tournaments early this year, with the exception of St. Mary's. The Ramblers went to the state Catholic tournament at Dubuque after being runner-up in the district tournament at Davenport. At Dubuque the Ramblers were eliminated by Columbia in a close, 18 to 14, tilt.

City high defeated Williamsburg and Belle Plaine to gain the finals of the sectional tournament at Marango, but lost out, 35 to 33, to Washington high of Cedar Rapids.

University high entered the tournament at Marengo as underdogs but surprised everyone by taking Marengo into camp by a 22 to 14 count to gain the semi-finals. Their triumph was short lived, however, for Washington of the Parlor City defeated the Blues 45 to 23.

St. Pat's met defeat at St. Ambrose's hands 40 to 21 to eliminate the Irish in the first round.

Every cage team in town has a record to be proud of to date. City high and St. Mary's have dropped but one contest each to worthy opponents while University high is undefeated in two games and St. Pat's has won three and lost two.

City high reached the heights Monday night when they defeated Austin high from Minnesota, 31 to 24. Austin was state champ in '34 and also defeated the Iowa champions, Mason City, last year. The only blemish on the Little Hawks' slate is the loss to the perennially good Davenport club.

University high has defeated St. Pat's and West Branch and appears to be headed for the best season in years.

St. Mary's has only one defeat chalked up against them while they have dished it out four times to their opponents. Starting from almost scratch, Coach Francis Suplel has built up a winning ball club out of seemingly nothing.

St. Pat's dropped two tilts in a row but came back strong to defeat St. Ambrose 25 to 15 at Davenport. This feat has made the Irish one of the most feared ball clubs in the Catholic loop.

Theater Will Rank S. U. I. Among Finest Physical Plants

Mable Plans to Present Play, As Yet Unannounced, in New Structure on May 12, 13, 14, 16

University Theater Will Be One of Best in Any Part of U.S.

When the new $100,000 university theater is officially opened next May another project in the building program designed to make the physical facilities of the University of Iowa among the most extensive of any school in the middlewest will have been completed.

Tentative plans, released by Prof. Edward C. Mable, head of the speech and dramatic arts department and director of the University theater, call for the presentation of a yet unannounced play in the new structure on May 12, 13, 14 and 16.

Grant Aids Theater

The new theater, its furnishing and equipping, greatly aided by a recent grant of $25,000 by the Rockefeller foundation, will be one of the finest in any educational institution. The stage, 52 by 56 feet, will be enclosed with a cyclorama of the type developed in the foreign theaters. Changing the sets will be simplified by wagon stages and a revolving turntable 36 feet in diameter will be mounted within the stage proper so that several scenes can be arranged simultaneously. The theater's auditorium will seat 500 persons.

Open New Building

Another new structure, the fine arts building, one of the first of its kind, was opened for classroom instruction last summer. Like the theater, located on the west bank of the Iowa river, the $300,000 fine arts edifice provides for classrooms, studios, offices, space for art displays and a place for housing the permanent art collection of the university.

Minor projects during 1935 included the construction of a new roof on the fieldhouse, enlargement of the observational school, and the continuance of landscaping along the Iowa river.

Build Law Commons

Among the projectories in 1934 in the university's long time building program were Law Commons, the footbridge connecting the new buildings on the west side with the east side of the campus, remodeling in the Psychopathic hospital building, landscaping along the river front near Iowa Union, renovating of the Quadrangle and the erection of a stone retaining wall along the river banks.

Opened in September, 1934, Law Commons, dormitory for law students, is located on the bluff overlooking the Iowa river on the west side. Housing 150 men students and making the college of law self contained, the building includes dining halls, clubrooms, a library, lounges and sleeping and study quarters. The footbridge was constructed at a cost of $30,000 and spans the Iowa river from Iowa Union to the fine arts building.

To Construct Cottages

The building of men's dormitory cottages on the present summer camp site area at a cost of $177,100.44 is expected to get underway at an early date. WPA officials have already allocated $28,500 of the total.

Other projects to be included during 1936 are the erection of a new hospital entrance at a cost of about $15,000, the rebuilding of the present storerooms in the basement of the building.

U. Heights Council Opens Negotiations For Sewage Rental

At a meeting of the University Heights town council Monday negotiations were opened with Iowa City for the new town's use of the local sewage disposal plant.

Asking that the citizens of University Heights be billed at the same rate charged Iowa City's residents, a committee will confer with this city's council on the rental charges. Members of the committee are Prof. George D. Haskell, J. A. Nash, and E. C. Wilson. The group was named by Mayor L. D. Koser.

The council decided that differences in rentals between the two places will be fixed after the permanent rental has been established.

J. E. Lundy Elected To Historical Society

Eight new members were elected to the State Historical Society of Iowa at the December meeting of the board of curators this week.

Those elected to membership are: David W. Hazen of Portland, Ore.; Mrs. Elmer Hollingsworth of Marion; Frank J. Iren of Clinton; J. Edward Lundy of Iowa City; Alexander Moffit of Champaign, Ill.; Howard C. Rasch of Dixon; Mrs. Owen E. Vance of Muscatine, and Mrs. L. W. Wheeler of Ft. Dodge.

Provide Funds

PWA grants and donations have to a large extent provided the funds for carrying out projects. Figures reveal that for the fine arts building, bridge, and theater building, $92,000 has been given in PWA grants; Law Commons, dormitory improvements and Iowa Union improvements, $57,000 in PWA grants; Psychopathic hospital additions, $8,000 in PWA grants; and new roof on fieldhouse and enlargement of observational school, $22,000 in PWA grants.

Receive $100,000

During the last two years in connection with the river improvement, which includes building a stone retaining wall, straightening the channel of the river and the building of terraces along the river bank, approximately $100,000 has been received from the federal government in the form of materials and relief labor from the Johnson county relief rolls.

For the fine arts and the theater buildings the following funds have been donated during the last two years: Carnegie corporation, $113,000; Rockefeller foundation, $50,000; anonymous gift, $15,000; accumulated interest on the Ranney endowment fund for the school of fine arts, $50,000; and small gifts from alumni and friends for the theater, $5,000.

Faculty Members of S.U.I. Get Many Honors Throughout U.S.

Many University of Iowa faculty members were honored by election to office in state and national organizations and appointment to various positions during 1935.

Included in this group are Dean Paul C. Packer and Harry Johnson, both of the college of education, who are serving as state and assistant state administrator, respectively, of the national youth administration.

Serves as President

Prof. Louis Pelzer of the history department is president of the Mississippi Valley Historical association. Only one other faculty member, Prof. Benjamin F. Shambaugh, head of the political science department, has headed the association. One of the new committeemen at large of the National Association of Educational Broadcasters is Carl Menzer, director-announcer of WSUI.

Heads Celebration

Prof. Roy C. Flickinger, head of the classical languages department, was general chairman of the international celebration commemorating the two thousandth birthday of the Roman poet, Horace. At least a dozen foreign countries and the United States took part in this event, which was culminated with several events on the day of Horace's birth, Dec. 8.

A signal honor for artists, membership in the National Academy of Design, was bestowed on Prof. Grant Wood of the graphic and plastic arts department.

Gain Prominence

Two faculty members, Prof. Edward C. Mable, head of the speech and dramatic arts department, and Prof. Charles B. Righter of the music department gained national prominence by being named dramatics and music directors, respectively, of the prairie region in the WPA project for relief of artists.

Receive Appointment

Dr. Arthur Stelinder, head of the orthopedic surgery department, was appointed to serve on the advisory committee of the Georgia Warm Springs foundation. The hospital librarian, Mrs. Zoe Wright, was chosen chairman of the midwest district of the American Hospital association.

Prof. Harry G. Plum of the history department was elected president of the Iowa Historical association. A four year appointment as an editor of American Literature, monthly publication by the Duke University Press association with the cooperation of the Modern Language association, was given to Prof. Norman Foerster, director of the school of letters.

AROUND THE CITY IN 1935

At the top stands Old Capitol, looking a little different than in the past with all of the old trees removed from in front of it, but otherwise unchanged. Upper left is the new fine arts building on the west side of the river as it stands today with the new wings nearly completed and the grounds landscaped. Upper right is a view of Lake Macbride State park north of Iowa City. Once just a creek wandering through farm lands, this territory has become one of the leading playgrounds of eastern Iowa. Lower left is the new sewage disposal plant of Iowa City. Lower right is the new university theater which is rapidly nearing completion. It stands on the west side of the river a short distance from the new fine arts building.

Iowa Woman's Club To Meet Tomorrow

The Iowa Woman's club will meet in the pine room of Reich's cafe tomorrow afternoon at 2:30. Roll call will be answered by naming the outstanding events of 1935.

During the afternoon New Year's resolutions will be made, with prizes awarded for the funniest and the most serious resolutions. The hostess committee will include Mrs. Mildred Witzke, chairman, Mrs. G. L. Boss and Mrs. W. H. Simpson.

Mrs. C. W. Lafler To Entertain Tomorrow

Mrs. C. W. Lafler, 617 Oakland avenue, will entertain the Pearle division of the Missionary society of the Christian church tomorrow afternoon at 2:30. Mrs. Mary Ness and Mrs. Fred Paul will be assistant hostesses.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 1, 1936

Happy New Year

AS THE SOUND of chimes die away and 1936 is officially at hand, we pause to look back at the road we have just traveled before plunging ahead into a new year.

Economically speaking, the spirit of optimism has been growing steadily stronger during the last few months. Despite continued outpourings of federal money into every town, village, and hamlet in the United States, there is a feeling that times are better, better than they have been at any period since 1929.

While the relief load has not lightened to any great extent, jobs have been more plentiful. Graduates of 1935 have not found the world to be quite so cruelly cold, so willing to disregard them. Surely 1936 will see us all farther along the road to national happiness which can come only through at least a fair degree of economic security.

Iowa City and Johnson county, despite community strife and warfare in political fields, have far exceeded well. The FERA, PWA, CCC, AAA, FHA, RFC, WPA, and old age pensions have all brought money to the university, to the city, and to the county.

Bricks and mortar for buildings and shovels for new roads mean food and clothing for the wives and sons and daughters of those persons whose expansion and building. The old have seen the institution of pensions, small as it is, but nevertheless helpful. The needy and destitute have been taken care of and we must not forget that a great share of this load was borne joyously through the community chest, the Red Cross, the American Legion. Greater giving to charity reflected improved economic conditions.

Farmers found it easier to meet tax payments, buy machinery, and meet mortgages. However, it is a hopeful sign when we note that merchants agree that business has been better in 1935 than in 1934, but that AAA payments for Johnson county have been less this last year than the year before.

The end of the NRA produced no noticeable effects here in view of the fact that it meant little even when it was supposed to be enforced by none other than Hugh Johnson.

If the economic trend continues upward, either despite the new deal or because of the new deal, we can look for a bright '36.

Turning to the international scene, we find the future not so rosy. Even while we were passing from 1935 to 1936, men were fighting men under the burning suns of Ethiopia. National leaders and statesmen in Europe and in Asia are worried. Americans are uneasy about a general European conflagration growing out of the attempt of Britain and other nations to force, by arms if necessary, the withdrawal of Mussolini from Africa.

The constant increase of our own armed forces is an indication that world peace is not as secure as it should be.

Yes, we will inherit many unsolved problems from 1935 that we will attempt to do something about in 1936, but may not get far.

There is still an alarming spread of dictatorships, of "isms," of "ocracies," of panaces, and of murders, kidnappings, and lawlessness of all kinds. Last year saw outright disregard for the rights and liberties of human beings stronger than at any time since the beginning of the century.

In Germany, Italy, Austria, Mexico, Russia, and even in our United States mere men have set themselves on pedestals for the masses to worship and to direct the destinies of even the most insignificant. Suppression has taken its toll. The shootings of Huey Long and Dollfuss were outstanding examples of what may happen when those that have been ground under the heels of dictators rise up in desperation.

Nineteen hundred and thirty-six is an election year in the United States. We shall see much slinging of mud, much shouting. But these things are natural in a healthy democracy and as long as they exist we need have no fear of dictatorships, of fascism, communism, or any of the other "isms."

This year must bring renewed effort in the American fight against lawlessness. Kidnapings must stop. Racketeering must stop. Last year saw great strides in this direction with the calm elimination of one public enemy No. 1 after another, but that is not sufficient. We must get at the roots of crime. Nipping these potential Dillingeres in the bud is the only solution. This country must be made safe for rich and poor alike. The departure of the Lindberghs for Britain is to our everlasting shame.

Confidence must be the keynote of 1936. Business cannot go forward until it has confidence in the government. Industry will never be sound until it has gained the confidence of labor. That can only come through the peaceful cooperation of these two groups in working toward a common goal. Fair profits for one and fair wages for the other. If capitalism is to stand, we must not repeat those strikes and other forms of labor strife that so characterized 1935.

The coming year must be one of building. America has emerged from the deepest rut of the economic chaos. The year will not be without mistakes and its bitter experiences, but in spite of that it must follow an upward path. The hope of a nation echoes in a phrase: "HAPPY NEW YEAR!"

Crayne's Grand Finale

WHEN DICK Crayne romps onto the field at Kezar stadium, San Francisco, to aid the eastern cause in the annual East-West charity game today, it will mark his last bit of football activity as a player.

The Hawkeye star has announced in the face of several attractive offers that he is not interested in joining the ranks of the professional football players. He intends, rather, to follow a business career.

His decision is professional football's loss but business' gains. The business world will find him the same alert, sound thinking young man that characterized his performances on the football field.

Iowans will turn toward California today, hoping their football son will wind up a grand career in the proverbial "blaze of glory." They offer their thanks for the many quarters of thrilling play Dick Crayne has given them.

Eden: A New Leader

LAST WEEK, Capt. Anthony Eden, 38, youngest foreign minister Britain has had in nearly a century, took up the responsibilities of office in the midst of a world crisis.

There is something wholesome, something of a new spirit which we hope is pervading the international scene, about this appointment coming as it does in season of "peace on earth and good will toward men." The world peace movement, we firmly believe, is gaining some ground, despite its many gloomy set-backs during the last few years.

Back in 1931 Sir John Simon was foreign minister. He was not greatly upset over Japan's invasion of China, the seizure of Manchuria, and the bombardment of Shanghai. Nor, apparently, was the British public.

Recently, however, his successor, Sir Samuel Hoare, had to resign because of public opinion so bitterly opposed an Anglo-Ethiopian peace plan which would have permitted Italy to retain a large portion of Ethiopian territory.

Sir Samuel Hoare was literally forced out and Captain Eden proved because world opinion to aggression is making such headway. Eden is the favorite spokesman of the league, the traveling press-agent for internationalism. In that young, mustached foreign minister, not only England, but the rest of the world sees the spread of a new doctrine of peace, a doctrine of the younger generation which believes that imperialistic tendencies have gone with the bustles of the gay '90's, into decadence.

As America is trying to rid herself of racketeers, whose respect for that which is others is practically nil, so must the world rid itself of international racketeers with guns and men at their command.

Many a sturdy American is interested in prospects for trans-Atlantic airplane service without being happy about it. Isn't there such a thing as bringing Europe too close to the United States—especially in view of the fact that we Americans don't talk their war language?

The new dollar bill carries the motto "E Pluribus Unum" (One From Many), the significance of which will become immediately apparent every pay day.

A Washington Bystander

WASHINGTON—The business of politics in a representative democracy such as the United States is inseparably interwoven with drama. National policy has to be hammered out on the anvil of ultimate popular decision as expressed by the voters. Issues must be dramatized to catch popular attention, to get votes.

The single exception under the American form is in the higher courts, particularly the supreme court. It has been the consistent effort of all chief justices and of certainly the great majority of associate justices to keep supreme court proceedings in an aloof, dignified, dispassionate atmosphere, whatever the gravity of the constitutional points under review.

Throughout the World There Are Many Ways of Saying "Happy New Year to You"

"Ring out the old, ring in the new," says the old saying. Everywhere throughout the world, New Year's day has the same meaning. It is the day when all the sorrows and mistakes of the last year are forgotten and everyone looks forward with new courage and high resolve to the promise of the coming year. But each nation has its own way of ushering in the new year, dictated by tradition and superstition which have come down through the centuries. In Scotland, New Year's day is the time for exchanging gifts, rather than on Christmas. On this day, the gay and festive mood is in order. Dances are held in the streets and in the public squares, and whiskey flows freely. It is considered an omen of bad luck for a person to cross the threshold of a friend without a gift of whiskey.

A New Yorker

At Large

NEW YORK—In Charles Chaney's house are all the climbing sorrows of human life. Where he rears his four children, men fight daily for their lives. He lives in the Criminal Courts building of New York, where he is superintendent. For nine years he has gone about the common procedure of living amid the wailing of men and women, the gerry-mandering of lawyers, the jugglery of phony bondsmen. His living room window looks out on the yard of the Tombs. At his breakfast each morning, he sees men trudge across the Bridge of Sighs to their doom.

Bust Charles Chaney was hard-pressed by the struggle of living and dying long before he ever saw the Criminal Courts building. He lived on the east side all during his boyhood. He was one of 14 children, only six of whom are alive today. He lived on East Thirty-Fourth street and seems very proud of the fact that he swam every summer day in the East river when the water was still red with blood from the First Avenue slaughter houses.

Of course he wouldn't admit it, but being around the thugs and walking out of his home into this malevolent has stared him stiff. He is a sunless old fellow. He has listened to too many sad stories, too many subtle allusions. On the main floor of the building, under a harsh white light is a bar where the lawyers and bondsmen hang out. There also is Chaney's office, just to one side, and the moaning drifts across. He is sick of listening to it, and by now it's all rot to him. He no longer tries to distinguish between the true and the untrue.

In the 1920's, the scarcity of apartment space drove the people to living here in strange quarters. People who owned factories remodeled the attics into living quarters; warehouses suddenly blossomed out with penthouses.

Today some of the most attractive apartments in Manhattan are in the most unlikely places. You may walk down a street in the Thirties, where the great clothing warehouses are located, enter a building which is all appearances houses nothing but stuffy clerks and sales of cotton, and ascend in an old creaking elevator to a private door which opens into one of the most lavish apartments in town.

There are several advantages to the idea. All activity is suspended in the area after five each evening and there is quiet; and usually there is only one apartment in each building.

HOLLYWOOD — Helen Gahagan has a recipe that goes something like this: "To accomplish anything, work. Work regularly. Neither hell nor high water should stop you from giving your task three minutes a day, if you've decided three minutes is enough."

Helen Gahagan is no three-minute woman. When she made up her mind, several years ago after becoming an overnight star in the theater, that she just had to sing, she gave 15 hours a day to the study of voice. In a year and a half, she learned eight operas—in three languages each.

"I walked 20 miles a day, to try to relax," Miss Gahagan recalls. "But I was unable to let down because I was constantly memorizing, I couldn't sleep nights, with bars of music and words from the operas running through my mind. My mother bought me stacks of detective novels. Yes, I read them. They put me to sleep."

Even today, after success in concerts and singing on the stage, Miss Gahagan never quits working. She says she never works less than three hours on her singing, even when she is on the stage or making a picture ("She" was her latest). And sometimes she gets in as many as eight hours.

How does she keep her hoarse throat running? There is her husband, Melvyn Douglas, and her son, Peter, just two, to look after. "I don't know," says Miss Gahagan, frankly. "Sometimes I wonder about that myself. Sometimes it doesn't run—it goes all to pieces. But I keep on working, anyway. And the household always gets straightened up, eventually."

Sing in Czechoslovakia: "For one who isn't 'exactly sure' what her ambition is, Helen's determination to work at all costs is something over which to marvel. "I know that I want to sing and that I must be an extremely good singer," she says. "My mother had a beautiful voice and my father greatly admired singing. He didn't like having me in the theater, at first, but after three years he became my staunchest fan."

Miss Gahagan sang opera in Czechoslovakia—and wondered, each time she arrived in a new and unheard-of little town, why she was there. But only a few weeks ago did she make her American operatic debut. That was in San Francisco. Does she wish to become an opera star? She says she isn't sure. But she knows she's going to sing—no matter what happens.

Leaders Hoping

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Spokesmen for government and organized labor generally in optimistic mood welcomed the carry-over suggestions for 1936 the recovery program.

The expressions, however, were not unanimous. Business leaders saw government imposition of new labor laws as a concern with the recovery program.

Secretary Roper, government outlook is "On the basis of the record in the economy of the nation in view of the cumulative recovery forces, industry should now courageously in the long term program, ward to sound and steady progress."

Harper Sibley, pro-Chamber of Commerce spokesman: "With all of the new strength in the recovery forces, industry should now courageously in the long term program, ward to sound and steady progress."

How far these forecasts depend at present upon the burdens posed upon business," William Green, pro-American Federation spokesman: "The indications are that the present year will bring 1936."

Terminating the next "fateful year" for labor, the supreme court's constitutionality of the her disputes act, and a relation "will have 1936."

Leaders Welcome New Year Hoping for Continued Gains

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31 (AP)—Spokesmen for government, business and organized labor—speaking generally in optimistic terms—tonight welcomed the new year with suggestions for carrying forward in 1936 the recovery gains of 1935.

The expressions of optimism, however, were not unqualified. One business leader saw obstacles should government impose "burdens" on employers. A labor chieftain was concerned with the fate of new deal legislation in the supreme court.

Summarizes Outlook

Secretary Roper summarized the government outlook as follows:

"On the basis of the broad gains recorded in the economic and social life of the nation in 1935 and in view of the cumulative strength of the recovery forces, business and industry should now move forward courageously in the new year with long term programs, looking forward to sound and stable progress."

Sounds Optimistic Note

Harper Sibley, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States: "With all of the evidences of the new strength and vigor cumulative in their effects, we can depend upon continuation into the new year of the improved conditions of recent months."

Seeks Understanding

"Encouragement of a better understanding among government, industry, labor and the public to speed recovery."

Will Press Drive

In seeking to wipe out unemployment, Green asserted the federal government drive for a shorter work day and week "with greater vigor than before."

Talks of Acts

Terminating the next 12 months a "fateful year" for labor, Green said the supreme court's decisions on the constitutionality of the Wagner labor disputes act, the Guffey coal regulation law and other labor legislation "will have a profound effect upon the future policies of labor."

West Campus and the River

Improvement work are completed, the University of Iowa campus will be one of the most beautiful in the middle-west.

With This Increase of Facilities

Music, art and dramatics simultaneously made forward strides.

The Appointment of Prof. Edward C. Mable, head of the speech and dramatic arts department and director of the university theater, and Prof. Charles B. Richter of the music department as dramatics and music directors for the prairie district in the WPA artists' relief project, served to bring added recognition to the accomplishments in these fields at the university.

To Do Research Work

Further acknowledgement of the work being carried on in the dramatics department was sunded in a recent $40,000 grant by the Rockefeller foundation. Of this sum, $25,000 is for furnishing and equipping the new university theater and the remainder for fellowships, research and other work in the department.

Music, Drama Gain Further Prominence

Several stage hits have been given in the community series, the last one which opened the fifteenth community series being Noel Coward's "The Young Idea." The experimental theater, which has received considerable support from the Rockefeller foundation, also produced many noteworthy plays.

Present Music Numbers

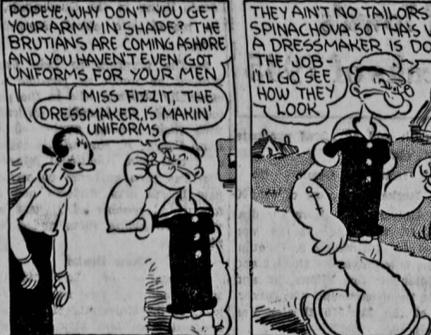

The university symphony choir and chorus and symphony orchestra has appeared before capacity audiences. Public recitals by students of the department have been weekly features. The latest musical achievement was the presentation of the "Messiah" under the direction of Prof. Philip G. Clapp, head of the music department, as part of the Christmas vespers.

Wood Aids Artists

Prof. Grant Wood of the graphic and plastic arts department, one of the leaders in the new movement in art known as regionalism, has aided budding artists from Iowa and surrounding states by his Saturday art clinics. Exchange exhibitions with other institutions have served to spread the influence of the university's art to other sections of the country.

The University of Iowa took part in an international debate for the twelfth consecutive year in 1935, on this occasion with Oxford university.

wages for workers and fair prices for the produce of farmers are also necessary to a sound prosperity."

In his New Year's "recommendations" to business, Roper said 1936 should "prompt the realization that it is a definite objective of the administration to lend constructive cooperation to business in its attempt to work out an adequate and sound solution of its problem; that there must be a recognized working partnership between government and industry."

Aids Law Group

Prof. Rollin Perkins of the college of law is one of a group of law educators who have been invited to suggest means of breaking legal technicalities which have hampered the capture of criminals. He has drawn up and submitted to the interstate crime commission a draft which will permit officers of one state to pursue criminals into another state.

Radio debates, the annual invitational tournament, and forensic duels with Western conference foes have brought added prestige to Iowa debaters.

S.U.I. Sees Many Changes in Faculty

Among the important changes in the university faculty were the selections of new headships of colleges. Dr. Ewen MacEwen was named dean of the college of medicine. Wiley B. Rutledge came here from Washington university, St. Louis, to assume the deanship of the college of law, succeeding Eugene A. Gilmore, who had become president of the university a year earlier.

Other Changes

Another significant change was the appointment of Prof. Bruce E. Mahan, director of the extension division, to succeed Prof. Frederic G. Higbee as executive secretary of the University of Iowa alumni association. Professor Higbee resigned to devote all of his time to work in the college of engineering.

In the extension division the year 1935 witnessed program expansion by the university radio station, WSUL to unprecedented proportions. Included on the schedule were broadcasts directly from the classroom, the speech clinic, and the presentation of three elementary language courses for the first time.

Scholastically, the all-university grade average increased from 2.314 in 1933-34 to 2.370 in 1934-35.

Many Notables Talk To S.U.I. Audiences

A group of outstanding speakers addressed university audiences during the year. Among the prominent persons who appeared on the university lectures program under the auspices of the senate board on university lectures were Stephen Leacock, humorist, and Louis K. Anspacher, dramatist.

The senate board on vespers brought outstanding religious speakers here. Some of the other speakers were Pierre de Lanux, director of the Paris office of the League of Nations, Robert A. Millikan, winner of the Nobel prize in physics; Anthony Vozech, Chicago sculptor; and John Stuebaker, U.S. commissioner of education.

With one of its faculty members, Prof. Roy C. Flickinger, head of the classical languages department, as general chairman, the University of Iowa joined with other institutions throughout the United States and at least 12 foreign countries in the Horace Binmillenium celebration in commemoration of the two-thousandth birthday of the Roman poet, Horace. The event was held here in connection with the languages and literature conference last December.

High School Students Participate in Events

Two peace organizations were introduced on the campus by University of Iowa students. One was the League for Peace which was endorsed by more than 20 members of the university faculty and by Iowa City churches and civic groups and the Student League for Industrial Democracy.

S.U.I. Extends Influence

The university extends its influence throughout the state through conferences and contests.

More than 85,000 students were involved in the various contests which the extension division has established. For the tenth annual play production festival the largest entry list in the history of the university was recorded, with approximately 70 organizations bringing 500 persons here for competition in seven different events. The music festival as usual was largely attended and more than 250 high school and junior college speakers took part in the High School Forensic League.

Conduct State-Wide Project for Parents

The largest conference in the point of attendance was the one on child development and parent education in June. More than 700 teachers and child welfare workers participated in the meeting which had as its principal topic "Health of the Young Child." Other conferences included school with dentistry, medicine, health supervision and administration, mathematics, languages and literature, history, newspapers, dramatics, music, and sociology and economics.

Conduct State-Wide Project for Parents

A state-wide project of considerable importance is the parent education study being conducted by the Iowa Child Welfare Research in cooperation with the extension division. Some 1,500 persons are involved.

Receives Small Grants

A few of the smaller grants given the university during 1935 were the award of $2,300 for study in child welfare by the Josiah Macy, Jr., foundation of New York and two renewal grants for research in the field of pediatrics.

The university also received two paintings by a former Iowan, Lacey Scott Bower, who died last year in Paris after attaining recognition in the art world which were placed in the university's art collection as a gift of Mrs. Elsie Darning. The eight plaster casts presented to the university during the previous year by Leo Lentelli, New York sculptor, were received in 1935 and are now in the fine arts building.

Plan Haney Service For This Afternoon

Funeral service for Mrs. Clara B. Haney, 49, former resident of Iowa City, will be conducted at the Oath-out funeral chapel at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Mrs. Haney died at Eugene, Ore., Friday following a heart attack.

The Rev. C. M. King, pastor of the Nazarene church, will officiate. Burial will be in Oakland cemetery.

Alice Haney, a daughter of the deceased, accompanied the body to Iowa City.

Solves Rocket Problem

Dr. R. H. Goddard Announces Rocket Which Will Soar 100 Miles, Claim Scientists

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 31 (AP)—The earth's atmosphere and act as a free meteor in space. "It looks now as if he would achieve the results predicted 20 years ago. "As an astronomer I am interested in flights up to a point where an automatic camera can photograph the spectrum of the sun, getting the ultra-violet lines screened out by the atmosphere. An altitude of 100 miles or more is needed for this. It is the hope of astronomers Dr. Goddard will achieve this."

Dr. W. W. Atwood, president of Clark University, which has given Dr. Goddard leave from its faculty to work on rockets, rose and congratulated the rocket professor saying: "He has accomplished what he has been working upon for so long."

Twelve Feet Long
The rocket shown today is 12 feet long, nine inches in diameter, weighs 80 pounds empty and carries 60 pounds of fuel. This fuel is gasoline and liquid oxygen, which are mixed by the driving power of compressed nitrogen.

This rocket, Dr. Goddard explained, solved two of the three problems of rocket flight; first a continuous flow of firing energy, second direction — flight in an almost straight line made possible by a "mechanical brain," a gyroscope no bigger than a large watch.

The remaining problem he said is building a lighter rocket which can carry more fuel. He said this third problem was dependent to a large extent on money for experiments with materials.

A reduction of weight by one half, he said, will more than double the height to which such a rocket can be fired with present fuel. This gasoline oxygen combination is twice as powerful as 75 per cent dynamite and five times more so than rocket powder. It develops 204 horsepower per pound of rocket, at a firing chamber heat of more than 3,600 degrees Fahrenheit.

This rocket will travel 700 miles an hour. To leave earth entirely it would have to go seven times faster.

Witnesses For Plaintiff Testify Against Rohner

Four witnesses for the plaintiff took the stand yesterday against Dr. F. J. Rohner in District Judge Harold D. Evans court, testifying in a $20,000 malpractice suit brought by Dorothy Dondore.

Dr. A. W. Bennett, Dr. E. D. Plass, John Dondore, and Mrs. E. Shimek were the witnesses testifying. Testimony in behalf of the plaintiff will continue tomorrow, beginning at 9 a.m.

Attorney George King of Corning, N. Y., handled the case for the plaintiff yesterday. With him was Attorney Clarence Brisco, also of Corning. The two attorneys joined Floyd Philbrick of Cedar Rapids.

Prof. C. A. Hawley To Give Address At Masonic Installation

Prof. Charles A. Hawley of the school of religion will deliver a memorial address at the installation of officers of the Iowa City Masonic lodge No. 4 tomorrow evening at 7:30.

C. C. Hunt of Cedar Rapids, grand secretary of the grand lodge of Masons in Iowa, will act as installing officer. Refreshments will follow the meeting.

Find F. Campbell Shot
OMAHA (AP)—Frank Campbell Jr., 37, an air conditioning expert, was found dead late yesterday by a maid who entered his room at the Y.M.C.A. here. Acting Coroner Paul Steinwender said investigators found a bullet in Campbell's head.

Music Director

Prof. Charles B. Righter of the music department is serving as music director for the prairie region in the WPA artists relief project.

WPA Head

Prof. Edward C. Mabie, head of the speech and dramatic arts department, was named dramatics director of the prairie district in the WPA artists relief setup. Projects are now being developed.

DES MOINES (AP)—William C. Rathke of Glenwood was named acting treasurer of the republican state central committee by the organization's executive committee at a meeting here yesterday.

University of Iowa's Ten Best News Breaks of 1935

Every year there are news stories which break to gladden the hearts of both editors and readers. These breaks are those stories which are more or less unexpected and which are of much more interest than the general run of events.

In selecting the 10 best news breaks of the year from the University of Iowa it is difficult sometimes to class one above another, and certainly all selections won't meet with approval.

Ten Best Stories
The following, however, are the selection of The Daily Iowan as the 10 best stories of the year coming from the University of Iowa:

1—The settlement of the band situation and later the sending of the band to the Northwestern-Iowa game at Evanston. When the football season began only a 40 piece band was placed on the field, but beginning with the Colgate contest, the third of the season, an organization of 129 student musicians represented the university.

2—The appointment of two University of Iowa faculty members, Prof. Edward C. Mabie, head of the speech and dramatic arts department, and Prof. Charles B. Righter of the music department as directors of dramatics and music, respectively, for the prairie district in the WPA $27,500,000 artists relief setup. It serves to make the University of Iowa the center for the regional project in these two fields.

3—The setting of an all-time enrollment record with around 6,400 resident students in attendance this semester.

4—The awarding of two grants for carrying out research in the zoology department. One is a grant of $50,000 by the Rockefeller foundation for research work in the study of the physiology of the normal cell and its relation to cancer under the direction of Prof. Joseph H. Bodine, head of the department, and the other a grant of $6,500 from the national research council for a project on the biology of sex, under the direction of Prof. Emil Witschl, bringing the total annual grants to $47,500 for research work on the biology of sex at the University of Iowa. Research under the Rockefeller award began July 1, 1935 and will end June 30, 1940.

5—The national youth administration made part-time employment available for graduate students in serious need of financial aid. The University of Iowa's quota was 122 students. Under this plan first year graduate students receive $15 to $20 sory health insurance plan for residents living in the Quadrangle, to be placed into effect September, 1936.

9—The program to help every student as much as possible and especially students who in the past have had considerable difficulty with their studies, announced by Dean George F. Kay of the college of liberal arts. Additional information has been gathered concerning new liberal arts students and an augmented number of student advisers are aiding them under this plan.

New Deans
10—Because of the unusually large number of new heads of colleges of the University of Iowa, announced since last May the tenth newsbreak deals with resignations and appointments of deans:

The resignation of Carl E. Seashore as dean of the graduate college and the appointment of Prof. George D. Stoddard as his successor, effective July 1, 1936. Dean Seashore will continue as head of the psychology department and Professor Stoddard will remain director of the Iowa Child Welfare Research station.

To Come To Middlewest
LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover yesterday decided to come to the midwestern farm belt to discuss agricultural questions.

Williams Resigns
The resignation of Clement C. Williams as dean of the college of engineering to become president of Lehigh university and the appointment of Prof. Byron J. Lambert as acting dean. Professor Lambert retains the position as professor and head of the civil engineering department.

The resignation of Carl E. Seashore as dean of the graduate college and the appointment of Prof. George D. Stoddard as his successor, effective July 1, 1936. Dean Seashore will continue as head of the psychology department and Professor Stoddard will remain director of the Iowa Child Welfare Research station.

Quad Decision
8—The decision by the Quadrangle council to adopt a compulsory health insurance plan for residents living in the Quadrangle, to be placed into effect September, 1936.

Dramatics Grant
6—A Rockefeller grant of $40,000 to the University of Iowa for dramatics. Of this total $25,000 was awarded for furnishing and equipping the new university theater and the remainder for fellowships and work in the department. The cornerstone of the $100,000 theater was laid July 26.

Appointment of Dr. Ewen M. MacEwen as dean of the college of medicine, filling a position which had remained vacant for about two and one-half years. He retains the position as professor and head of the anatomy, histology, embryology and neuroanatomy department.

The appointment in June of Wiley B. Rutledge as dean of the college of law. He came here from Washington university, St. Louis, succeeding Eugene A. Gilmore who had become president of the university a year earlier.

Horner Grants Extradition Of Forger

Gov. Henry Horner of Illinois yesterday notified Johnson County attorney E. A. Baldwin that extradition papers against Trent Estep wanted here on a bad check charge will be granted.

County Attorney Baldwin and Sheriff Don McComas will probably leave for Chicago Sunday evening and bring the fugitive back on Monday. Chicago police are now holding Estep.

Scott Rules Out Bids
MUSCATINE (AP)—Judge W. W. Scott ruled out bids yesterday of contesting claimants for a share of the Wilbur Staton estate when they produce additional evidence they are heirs of the Pleasant Prairie farmer who died leaving property estimated worth $100,000.

PROGRESS
BRINGS NATURAL GAS TO IOWA CITY

GAS HEAT

COST IN UNIVERSITY HEIGHTS IS AT THE SAME LOW RATE AS IN DAVENPORT AND CEDAR RAPIDS

Undoubtedly this low cost for automatic heat is one reason why 15 homes in the progressive Heights community have installed the new furnace fuel.

Cost of house heating gas in University Heights and Coralville, just as in Davenport and Cedar Rapids, falls on the second and third steps of the house heating rate, and these steps are identical in all four communities as follows:

35 Therms @ 12c Per Therm
All Over 50 Therms @ 6c Per Therm

Iowa City homes, too, can install this cleanest and most satisfactory furnace heat at the same low cost whenever the city council-fuel dealer obstructive opposition based on legal technicalities is withdrawn.
