News Flashes

Too Fat to Teach

ALBANY, N. Y., March 13 (AP)—Rose Freistater, took off 30 pounds in an effort to get back her teaching job, but it was no use.
Dr. Frank P. Graves, state commissioner of education, dismissed today the young woman's appeal from a ruling of the New York City board of education denying her a teacher's license because she was overweight.

Justice Strikes Fast

MANCHESTER, ENG., March 13 (AP)—Traditionally swift British justice tonight sentenced Dr. Buck Ruxton to pay with his life for the "devil's beefsteak" murder of his wife.
Sixty-two minutes after receiving the case, a jury of farmers and townsmen convicted the Indian-blooded physician. Presiding Justice Singleton immediately sentenced him to be hanged.
The doctor from the first denied he had, as the crown charged, throttled his wife, cut up her body and tossed the mutilated parts into a lonely ravine called the "devil's beefsteak." His denial was equally strong to the prosecution charge he had bludgeoned a nursemaid, Mary Jane Rogerson, to death.

Breaks Thumb on 13th

LITTLE FALLS, Minn., March 13 (AP)—The next time Friday falls on the thirteenth, Sargie Lambert, drum major of the Little Falls band, isn't going to "wise crack" about it.
"I suppose I'll break a leg today," she said jokingly as she started for school.
A block from home she slipped on ice and broke a thumb.

Teachers to Vote

DES MOINES, March 13 (AP)—Des Moines school teachers will vote during the week of March 22 to 28 on a proposed teachers' pension plan under which teachers would pay a portion of their salary into the pension fund and the remainder would be raised through taxation.
Under the plan teachers would retire at the age of 60 after 15 years of service in Des Moines public schools. They also could retire at 60 without 15 years' service with approval of the school board. Retirement would be mandatory at 70.

WPA Feeds Squirrels

DES MOINES, March 13 (AP)—Iowa WPA workers launched a new project today—feeding four baby squirrels milk from eye droppers to keep them alive—but it was entirely unofficial.
The squirrels rolled out of a hollow tree felled on a tree clearing project. The mother squirrel was crushed to death beneath a large limb.

"Yardstick" Created

WASHINGTON, March 13 (AP)—The administration's new housing program moved a step nearer completion today as experts discussed with President Roosevelt the creation of a "yardstick" to measure building needs in various sections of the country.
Those present at the White House conference reported they hoped to round out the program soon—in all probability before Mr. Roosevelt leaves next week for a Florida vacation—and draft a bill for congress.

House Votes $50,000

WASHINGTON, March 13 (AP)—The special bi-partisan committee investigating the Townsend and other old age pension plans was given $50,000 extra expenses by the house today over protests that the amount was "grossly excessive" and was like "stuffing $50,000 down a rat hole."

Fisher Suffers Severe Injuries In Car Wreck

Ralph Fisher, 25, 121 Highland drive, suffered a fractured skull and lacerations about the head and shoulders at midnight when his light delivery truck crashed head-on into a semi-trailer driven by Ralph Ranberger, 20, of the Hawkeye Transport company of Muscatine near Westlawn on U. S. highway 6.
Charles Johnson, 335 S. Johnson street, 25, passenger in the Fisher car, received minor cuts about the face and head. Thelma Westburg of Des Moines, another passenger, suffered a shattered knee cap.
Neither Ranberger nor Kenneth Jones, also of Muscatine, a passenger in the truck, was injured.
Physicians at University hospital said this morning that Fisher's skull was fractured just above the eyes. Hospital officials described his condition as being very serious.

CLAY WILL AGAIN STAND TRIAL

THEY WALKED AWAY

M. W. Kestler, D1 of Humeston, and Charles Goldthwaite, D3 of Sigourney, both of 108 River street, stepped out unhurt from the car shown above after it caromed off a curbing into a telephone pole in the 500 block on E. Washington street last evening.

Increase City Budget $11,376

City Tax Levy Up 2.68 Mills

Martin Says Sharp Rise Due to Increase For Bonds, Interest

Asking expenditures $11,376.58 greater than in last year's budget, the city council last night submitted a proposed city budget totaling $223,746 for the 1936-37 fiscal year beginning April 1. March 31 at 7:30 p.m. has been set as the time for final action on the budget and a public hearing.

In a discussion of the increases planned, Mayor Thomas E. Martin declared the only increase in the city's tax levy has been 2.68 mills, while state and county taxes have, in many cases, gone up as much as 6 mills.

The increased levy in this city is caused by higher appropriations necessary to meet bonds and interest payments due to special assessments levied by former city administrations, the alderman said last night.

Included in the proposed expenditures is an increase of $4,540 for wages of the enlarged personnel of the city street department. The general bond fund is jumped from $21,936.90 to $45,882 because of bonds issued for the building of the sewage disposal plant here.

Increased court and legal services costs are boosted from $1,234 to $2,000. The general library fund, which last year was lower than for many years, has been raised to $13,000.

A $1,000 provision has been made for bond retirement on the Burlington street paving bond fund, but the interest on bonds has come down from $1,214 to $840.
Airport maintenance has been slashed from $500.25 to $163.75. Bridge maintenance is cut almost $6,000, while the bridge bond fund has been lowered by nearly $4,000.

Engineering services for the light plant project are entirely eliminated in the new outlay. A total of $4,000 was granted for this purpose last year.

Alsations Undisturbed

STRASBOURG, France (AP)—Undisturbed by rumors of war, Alsation peasants harvested wheat in their fields yesterday above subterranean fortifications where French troops labored to bring military equipment to near-perfect condition. "Only nazid thunder," was the peasant reaction to Adolf Hitler's speech at Karlsruhe Thursday in which the Reichsfuehrer reaffirmed nazi sovereignty in the Rhineland.

British Succeed in Delaying Action on Rhineland Situation

Council Will Adjourn While Britain, France, Belgium, Italy Await Conciliatory Gesture From Hitler; Make Recommendations Also

LONDON, March 13 (AP)—The British government, fighting for time to allow Adolf Hitler a final opportunity to reconsider in the face of stern French demands for sanctions, succeeded tonight in delaying action on his remilitarization of the Rhineland for at least several days.
The four remaining Locarno treaty powers, after a day-long discussion, agreed to make tomorrow's meeting of the League of Nations council here a mere dress rehearsal to hear the French and Belgians state their complaint against Germany's violation of the treaty.

Council to Ask Light Co. For Lower Rates

Wade Requests Heights Be Treated Same As City on Sewage

The ever-puzzling question of light rates popped up again at council meeting last night when the ordinance committee was authorized to "draw up a rate ordinance for electrical energy furnished to Iowa Citizens in order to bring about a more reasonable rate than now charged by the light company."
The committee, composed of Aldermen Van der Zee, Boller, and Swisher, is expected to have the ordinance ready at the next meeting.

Prof. Harry Wade, town clerk of University Heights, asked the aldermen to bill Heights' residents on the same basis as Iowa Citizens. Professor Wade said his town would take care of delinquent accounts. Wade's request was referred to the city clerk.

Keunzle Gets Injured Arm in Car Accident

In the second of a series of accidents reported here last night and early this morning, Kenneth Keunzle, 20, of Burlington was badly hurt when his arm was caught between two cars in an accident at Market and Madison streets at 12:15.

Keunzle was outside a parked car owned by Jack Waldhoff, P1 of Burlington, trying to separate the machine whose bumper was locked with the car behind when an auto sliding down the Market street hill crashed into the Waldhoff car, crushing Keunzle's hand between the two autos.

A taxi took Keunzle to University hospital where six stitches were taken in his arm and hand. He was reported by hospital officials to be resting easily early this morning.

The Day In Washington

(By The Associated Press)
William Randolph Hearst, newspaper and magazine publisher, asked the District of Columbia supreme court to order the senate lobby investigations committee to return any messages in its possession sent by him to publishers.

A house ways and means subcommittee studying the new tax plan was reported in agreement on a broad tax levy on the undistributed net income of corporations, ranging from 15 to 55 per cent.

President Roosevelt asked WPA Administrator Harry L. Hopkins, Corrington Gill, his aide; and Daniel Bell, acting budget director, to attend a night White House conference.

Administration housing experts met at the White House to discuss with President Roosevelt establishment of a "yardstick" to measure the nation's building needs.

Faces New Trial

LOUIS CLAY

Court Paroles J. Walden On Good Behavior

Mr. Mrs. Schmidt Get Parole After Having Served for 5 Days

J. P. Walden, proprietor of the Snack Shack, who was arrested by local police Feb. 24 on charges of operating a liquor nuisance, was released from the Johnson county jail early yesterday afternoon on parole to Sheriff Don McComas following a court order by District Judge James P. Gaffney suspending a three months' jail sentence upon good behavior.

Walden paid $213.50 yesterday, including a payment of $150 on his $400 fine, $50 attorney fees, and $13.50 court costs. A further condition of the parole provides that the balance of Walden's fine be paid on or before June 15.

Admonishes Walden
Judge Gaffney yesterday admonished Walden that another violation of the state liquor laws while on parole will mean a penitentiary sentence. Gaffney also pointed out that a revocation of the parole can be made at any time without notice.

The French attitude, it was disclosed, remains absolutely unchanged from the point of view there should be a full application of the league covenant.

Despite the statement in an official communique that "a closer approximation of views" had been reached, a French spokesman said privately "no substantial progress has been made."

It was emphasized nothing can be done for the moment until it has been whether Adolf Hitler will make a gesture of conciliation or continue deaf to British appeals for one.

State to Ask Death Penalty Before Judge Gaffney Here

County Attorney Says M. Davis Testimony Will Be Basis Of Prosecution's Case

Louis Clay, 27, Iowa City Negro, will be retried for the murder in 1933 of George J. Folsom, 77, it was announced last night by County Attorney E. A. Baldwin, who will prosecute the case beginning March 30 before District Judge James P. Gaffney. The death penalty will be asked by the state, County Attorney Baldwin said.

A supreme court reversal of a life sentence handed down by a district court jury in January, 1935, made a new trial mandatory. The only other alternative was to free Clay.

State Contention
The state contends that Clay, accompanied by his former wife, Mabel Davis, blond octonon, entered the aged Mr. Folsom's lonely home on the outskirts of Iowa City late on Christmas eve, 1933, robbing the victim. Clay then choked the old man, the state will argue, causing almost immediate death.

County Attorney Baldwin will tell a jury that Clay then propped open Folsom's door, in an effort to make investigators believe the aged man died of a heart attack and extreme cold.

Eight Months Later
It was not until eight months after the crime was allegedly committed that the buxom Miss Davis told her story to Waukegan, Ill., police to provide the first suspicion of foul play. Miss Davis said that Clay assaulted her with a blackjack because "she knew too much."

Following Judge's original conviction before Judge D. V. Jackson, a supreme court decision handed down in December of last year reversed the verdict, largely, it was said, because Miss Davis was an accomplice, not a witness as the lower court had ruled. Therefore, according to the rules of testimony in Iowa, the octonon's testimony should have been corroborated.

County Attorney Baldwin told The Daily Iowan last night he was "convinced that I can produce sufficient evidence to justify the submission of the case to the jury."

The state's new case will be the same as presented in the lower court last year, he said, except that points the supreme court ruled not admissible will be omitted.

No new witnesses will be called for the state, County Attorney Baldwin said, but all witnesses used during the previous trial are available and willing to testify this month.

Murphy to Appear
Attorney W. F. Murphy, appointed by the court to defend Clay last year, will again appear in behalf of the defendant in the new trial.

In a statement to The Daily Iowan last night, County Attorney Baldwin said:
"I've been studying the proposition since the supreme court ruled on it, and I am convinced that I can produce sufficient evidence to justify the submission of the case to the jury. And, believing that I have sufficient evidence to convict the defendant, I feel it my duty to proceed with the trial, even though it will necessarily be expensive."

"I believe that a citizen of this county has been murdered in cold blood, and I intend to do all in my power to bring the murderer to justice."

The world wonders what part Britain's new king, Edward VIII, took in trying to find a solution to the crisis over German remilitarization of the Rhineland. It was after he called Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin for a conference that announcement was made of transfer of League of Nations' council meeting in London. In the above photo, the latest picture of King Edward, he is seen attired in the uniform of the Welsh Guards in London, upon the occasion of the celebration of the coming of age of the regiment. Note that King Edward wears a mourning band in memory of his late father.

Jesus Teaches His Disciples to Pray

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By the Rev. Alvin E. Bell And Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Luke 11:1-13.

Jesus often withdrew from his disciples into some lonely place, to pray, sometimes continuing all night in prayer. On one of these occasions his disciples found him and asked him to teach them how to pray.

He taught them to pray as worshipers to God—"Hallowed be thy name", as subjects to sovereign—"Thy kingdom come"; as beggars to benefactor—"Give us our daily bread"; as bankrupts to creditors—"Forgive our debts."

To encourage importunity in prayer he told the story of a man who went to a friend at midnight to borrow bread for an unexpected guest. At first the friend did not wish to get up and give the bread.

Finally the friend relented and gave the man three loaves of bread for his guest. Thus Jesus teaches us to continue praying when answers seem to be delayed. "Hit-and-run" praying is not the proper way to pray.

Around these community leaders will assemble others who also have the interests of their community at heart, and the actual formation of a county planning unit will thus have been made possible.

Perhaps all the kings in Europe should rise up in wrath against the character of "Richard the Second" as portrayed by Shakespeare, all the princesses against the "slander" in the ungrateful characters of King Lear's daughters, all princes against the wailing Hal in "Henry the Fourth." Maybe the Greek race should demand that the reproduction of "Medea" be forever banned. The absurdity is evident.

Professor Explains Importance Of Hydraulics Research In Understanding of Flood Details

Mavis Traces Growth Of Study in Field Of Hydraulics

Explaining the importance of hydraulics research for a better understanding of the details involved in floods and drought, Prof. Frederic T. Mavis of the college of engineering in a Baconian lecture last night said, "Continuous records during periods of high and low extremes cannot be overemphasized."

"The compilation and analysis of streamflow data in times of flood and drought, as well as in times of normal flow," the speaker said, "is one of the most important activities fundamental to the control of natural water resources in any state."

Records too short Professor Mavis continued: "Continuous stream-flow records in Iowa are too short and too few in number on most of the streams to enable us to tell in advance and with reasonable certainty the probable behavior of the river at any particular location. As more comprehensive records are available, engineers will be better able by analyzing these data to explain why high low or average runoff from our streams appear to follow a set of conditions which on the surface appear to be similar."

Tracing the growth of study in hydraulics in his talk, "Harnessing Rivers in Miniature," Professor Mavis said the aim of experiments on small scale models is mastery over difficult enterprises at low cost through experiments on similar typical structures, and added, "Necessary features for laboratory research are simplicity and restricted purpose, stimulation of the imagination, adaptability to experiment, and economy."

Describes Hydrologic Study Professor Mavis described a hydrologic study of the Ralston creek watershed near Iowa City, which was undertaken by the bureau of agricultural engineering and the university. Since 1924, continuous records of rainfall, runoff, and ground water levels, as well as annual crop surveys, have been made on the small watershed.

Another use for such data is in the scientific investigation undertaken by the soil conservation service engineers, Professor Mavis explained. "The service is very much interested in smaller drainage areas in the study of rainfall, runoff, ground water levels, and the effect of various crops on runoff and erosion from these smaller areas."

A discussion of the Iowa service trades act under which Iowa City has recently requested a municipal ordinance for price control is contained in the fourth symposium issue of the Iowa Law Review, out yesterday.

Graham, Edson Win Law Trial On Coal Issue

The plaintiff, represented by Leonard Graham of Ida Grove and Wendell Edson of Storm Lake, won a verdict of $100 in the senior practice court trial in the college of law yesterday.

The case concerned a suit brought by the B. and A. Coal company of Iowa City against the Centerville Coal Mining company of Centerville for failure to deliver 17 carloads of coal promised in oral agreement. Carroll Johnson of Clinton, and James Egger of Bettendorf, defense attorneys, represented the Centerville company.

Issues involved were the statute of frauds, oral contract for the sale of coal, and failure to ship the coal due to cold weather, coal shortage, and other adverse conditions resulting from a severe winter.

Senior practice trials are a part of the course in practice court work, conducted by Prof. Mason Ladd of the college of law. The concluding trial of the first series of this semester will take place next Thursday and Friday. There will be another group of practice trials later in the course.

Record Holder

Million Mile Lady Driver

Eva Jordan Uses 14 Cars in 13 Years; Has No Accident

More than one million miles of automobile driving in the short space of 13 years without an accident is the record of Eva Jordan, who transports patients to University hospital.

Miss Jordan won her spurs in the driver's seat of her own cars on the highways of eastern Iowa. Her job is to transport patients between their homes and University hospital.

Since she began driving at the age of 52, Miss Jordan has owned 14 cars. Her average yearly driving distance during the last 13 years has been equal to more than three times around the world. Each of the five cars Miss Jordan has owned since 1930 was driven more than 100,000 miles.

Modest and retiring in discussing her unique accomplishment, Eva Jordan describes a simple code of safe driving which she believes will cover every contingency. It calls for driving at a moderate, but steady speed. At all times she watches the road and the rear vision mirror, and she keeps conversation at a minimum while driving.

Like the proverbial postman who takes a walk on Sunday afternoon, Miss Jordan has taken two rather long automobile trips, both of them to Colorado. Her chief diversion is reading, with a preference for the popular current magazines. She enjoys moving pictures, but has no favorites among screen stars.

Miss Jordan's driving record was checked by Robert L. Ripley for his "Believe It or Not" cartoon, and was found accurate.

Prior to her work with University hospital, Miss Jordan was editor of a McGregor newspaper, and was a banker there for 15 years.

Swims River

Braving a swift current and low temperatures, Shirley Starr, A2 of LeMars, yesterday afternoon swam the swollen waters of the Iowa river from the west shore to the east bank at the city park bridge.

She performed the five minute swim, which began at 4:15, on a bet.

Holder of a life saver badge, Shirley declared "It's nothing to get excited about. Last winter, beginning in February, I used to swim in the quarry at home every day."

Shirley said "the only tough part of the swim was dodging the dead chickens in the river—I guess there were a few dead pigs, too. But outside of that there was nothing to it."

Geologist Will Talk Before Club Dinner

Prof. Charles H. Behre of the geology department, Northwestern university, will speak on "The Origin of South Park, Colo." at a Geology club dinner the evening of March 24, at Iowa Union.

A discussion will follow Professor Behre's address.

First Classes University Held 81 Years Ago

A second-hand church bell called 75 students who had responded to a newspaper advertisement into a rented building here just 81 years ago Sunday.

The young men and women, eager for an "education" in the new University of Iowa, paid their tuition fee of $4 each on March 15, 1855, and began their 16 weeks of study under three "professors."

Eight years earlier, the legislature had established the university, but it was impossible to organize classes until the 46,000 acres of government-granted land had been sold to provide support money.

Research into the university's early history by Marie Haefner of the archives department shows that Abel Beach was the first professor of languages, Alexander Johnston was professor of mathematics, and William McGinley later replaced Beach, who became ill. The men received a total of $746 for their services.

Trustees were extremely frugal with funds, for the bell was bought from the Presbyterian church for $76.45, and some seats, desks, and blackboards completed the equipment.

The informal term ended in July at about the time that Amos Dean of the Albany Law school accepted the first presidency of the young university. In September, the first regular academic year began when 124 students enrolled in the departments of ancient and modern languages and mathematics.

Haggis, believed to be a strictly Scottish culinary delicacy, had its origin in ancient Greece and was brought to England by the Romans.

Steindler Visits Former Chief, III In Newport, R.I.

Dr. Arthur Steindler of children's hospital has gone to the bedside of his old supervisor, Dr. John Riddon, who is seriously ill in Newport, R. I.

Twenty-five years ago in Chicago Dr. Steindler was assistant to Dr. Riddon, pioneer orthopedic surgeon of the west. Receiving word that his former superior, now 84 years old, was ill, the Iowa surgeon left last night for Rhode Island.

Dr. Riddon is the oldest orthopedic surgeon in the country. He has been known for many years in the medical world as an authority on orthopedic work. For the last few years Dr. Riddon has been living in Newport.

Dr. Steindler is expected to return Tuesday.

Dr. Fred M. Smith To Lecture Twice

Dr. Fred M. Smith of University hospital will deliver two lectures before members of the Cleveland Clinic, Cleveland, Ohio, Tuesday.

Experts Agree on New Broad Tax on Corporation Incomes

Tentative Plan Will Bring In $620,000,000

Tax Will Range From 15 to 55 Per Cent; To Allow "Cushion"

WASHINGTON, March 13 (AP)—Congressional tax experts today agreed tentatively on a broad new tax on the undistributed net income of corporations—ranging from 15 to 55 per cent.

Members of the house ways and means taxation subcommittee promptly asserted such a graduated plan would provide a "substantial cushion" of corporate reserves against lean years and still bring in the full $620,000,000 in additional revenue sought by the administration.

Although Chairman Samuel B. Hill (D-Wash.) of the subcommittee emphasized that the agreement was only tentative, it nevertheless emerged as the first definite action to mark a week and a half of steady subcommittee work on President Roosevelt's $792,000,000 tax program.

Some subcommittee members said privately they thought the new schedule was almost certain to be recommended later to the full ways and means committee.

The 15 per cent rate would apply to all undistributed net corporation profits up to 10 per cent. The top rate of 55 per cent would affect all undistributed net profits of 30 per cent, or more.

"The cushion's in there, and it's a good one," Hill announced. "It doesn't cut the yield, which still is $620,000,000."

While the corporate levy is the foundation stone of the administration's tax plan, and today's decision clarified the most important point of dispute yet brought into the tax deliberations, touchy problems yet unsolved gave indication that it might be nearly another month before the new bill could be brought to the house floor.

Such a delay would cast a considerable shadow upon congressional hopes for a May 1 adjournment.

Madrid Rioters Burn Churches In Wild Melee

Police Charge Through Crowd in Mad Effort To Stop Rioters

(Copyright, 1936, by the Associated Press)

MADRID, March 13 (AP)—Mobs of extremists roamed the streets of the Spanish capital tonight setting fire to churches and convents and shouting "burn all the pope's property."

The latest outbreak of political disturbances was the signal for an emergency meeting of cabinet ministers after the roving rioters had set fire to a newspaper plant, three church buildings and engaged in numerous street encounters.

Mounted Police

Mounted storm police and civil guards charged madly through the streets in attempts to disperse the milling crowds.

The plant of La Nacion, rightist newspaper which criticized leftists for the recent campaign of terrorism, was gutted by fire.

The rioters transferred their disorderly attentions to the San Lulu church in the busy downtown section, set fire to the building and held off crowds of spectators with machine guns and pistols.

Other Fires Started

As the flames from the burning church leaped high into the air, other fires were started at the San Ignacio church and the Santa Isabel convent.

Emergency Red Cross units were called out as apartment buildings adjoining the burning edifices were ordered evacuated of tenants.

Another group of extremists attempted to seize an armory but was driven off in a sharp encounter with police.

Alvaro Rodriguez, a fascist youth, was stabbed by angry socialists when he jeered laudatory ceremonies accorded to the slain bodyguard of Prof. Luis Jimenez Asua, intended victim of an assassin's unsuccessful assault yesterday. Rodriguez is expected to die.

Attempt to Chastize Woman

The mob attempted to chastize a woman who was alleged to have made slighting remarks about Jimenez but she was rescued by police.

G-Men Assist Detroit Heads In Theft Probe

DETROIT, March 13 (AP)—The department of justice joined local authorities today in investigating the disappearance of $349,000 in city trust funds from a bank which led to the suicide of Harry M. Tyler, assistant city budget director.

While city officials assembled evidence indicating that the free-spending Tyler obtained at least part of the money by forging checks on the teachers' retirement fund, interest centered on a search for possible accomplices.

One phase of the investigation was delayed today when Tyler's widow, returning hurriedly from a vacation trip in the 16-cylinder automobile he had given her, refused to open Tyler's safety deposit box. Officers at once asked for a court order to open the box.

Magician Puzzles Masons With Card Tricks at Luncheon

Explaining that most card effects of today were once the artifices of clever gamblers, Dr. A. W. Bennett presented a program of sleight-of-hand card tricks before the Masonic service club at the Masonic temple yesterday noon.

Ray Short, program chairman, introduced the legdemainist, a member of the International Brotherhood of Magicians.

Dr. Bennett opened his program by manufacturing a cigaret out of air and then caused it to disappear. He then worked with several "fanning decks," producing varied color and number combinations. He concluded his program by causing a deck of cards to disappear while held in his hand.

3 German Officers Oppose Occupying Of Rhineland Area

BERLIN, March 13 (AP)—It is common talk in informed German quarters that Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, nazir minister of economics, along with Konstantin von Neurath, foreign minister, and Gen. Werner von Blomberg, minister of war, opposed the reoccupation of the Rhineland. Schacht is said to have feared disastrous results to the delicate financial and economic structure he directs. Financial circles reflect nervousness over the outcome of Locarno talks in London.

Hearst Seeks Wide Injunction Against Senate Lobby Inquiry

Attempts to Prevent Telegraph Seizures; F.C.C. Made Party

WASHINGTON, March 13 (AP)—Charging a conspiracy to infringe the freedom of the press, William Randolph Hearst today sought from the courts a sweeping injunction to bar the senate lobby committee from seizing any existing or future telegraphic correspondence of the publisher.

With the backing of Jerome D. Barnum, president of the American Newspaper Publishers' association, who filed a supporting affidavit, Hearst asked the supreme court of the District of Columbia to require the committee to return all Hearst telegrams now in its possession and enjoin it against efforts to obtain additional messages.

Made a Party

The federal communications commission, charged with illegally delivering copies of Hearst telegrams to the committee, also was made a party to the suit which asked that the injunction apply equally to that agency.

Ellisha Hanson, counsel for the newspaper publishers' association, said the effect of the suit would be first of all to bring the Black committee into court in defense of its contentions that the courts have no jurisdiction over it.

Wisconsin Governor Will Act On WPA Strikers' Demands

MADISON, Wis., March 13 (AP)—A committee representing the 100 or more Fox river valley WPA strikers who have camped in the capital since yesterday received from Gov. Philip F. LaFollette today a promise that he would confer with the WPA administrator on their demands.

During a half-hour conference with the group pressing for an increase of $12 on their $48 monthly wage, the governor stated the state was unable to raise funds to meet their appeals. He said only the federal government can boost the scale, although local units if they are able may appropriate funds to supplement the WPA wage.

CHICAGO (AP)—For the second time in three years Evanston, Ill., yesterday was announced the 1935 winner of the annual traffic safety contest conducted by the National Safety council.

F.R. May Ask For 1 Billion

President Seeks Final Decision on Money Needed for WPA

WASHINGTON, March 13 (AP)—Amid threats of new congressional attacks on the new deal work relief program, President Roosevelt tonight sought a final decision on how much extra money would be required to continue federal jobs for the needy.

The president summoned Harry L. Hopkins, Corrington Gill, WPA accounting expert, and Daniel Bell, acting director of the budget, to the White House for the fourth time in recent weeks.

At his press conference he declined to indicate how much he would ask from congress to carry on after July 1, but speculation centered on the possibility this would be held to about $1,000,000,000.

The president also declined to comment on a demand by the United States Conference of Mayors for a $2,340,000,000 appropriation to continue WPA an entire year.

Officials said $1,000,000,000 would be enough to provide about 3,000,000 WPA jobs from July 30 until January, when congress meets again, but would furnish little or no money for additional PWA and housing projects.

Anti-Superstition Club Meets to Blast Omens of Bad Luck

Peace Looms In Service Strike

CHICAGO, March 13 (AP)—The Anti-Superstition club, which turns up its nose at all bad luck omens, chose this Friday the thirteenth to urge national extension of its campaign to laugh "such silliness" out of existence.

"Look at our record," said Nathaniel Leverone, club president (and secretary of the Chicago Crime commission, as well).

"We've operated for five years now in defiance of all portents, auguries, and prognostications and not one of our original members has had what we call bad luck."

In his address at the club's dinner, held in room 1313 of a downtown hotel at 6:33 p. m., Leverone said "the persistence of belief in ancient hoodoo practices" and offering to dismiss them.

At the same time Mayor F. H. LaGuardia announced appointment of a board of survey of five citizens whose task it will be "to establish the obstacles to prompt settlement of the strike and to make recommendations for immediate termination of the deadlock."

Leverone opened the banquet by smashing a mirror with his presidential gavel (seven years of bad luck) after the 13 members (more bad luck) had walked to their places under a ladder (bad luck again).

The postprandial smokes had to be lighted three to a match under a club by-law.

Peace Looms In Service Strike

600 Buildings Sign Union Pacts; 6,000 To Return to Work

NEW YORK, March 13 (AP)—Peace in the 13-day-old building service strike appeared nearer tonight than at any time since the walkout began.

Six hundred buildings, represented by the Metropolitan Building Owners' association, late today signed an arbitration agreement with the union under which an asserted 6,000 men will return to work tomorrow.

A few minutes later the really advisory board, the strike's strongest opponent, made a new plea for settlement, admitting that 85 per cent of its "replacement" workers were men who would not be satisfactory under ordinary circumstances" and offering to dismiss them.

At the same time Mayor F. H. LaGuardia announced appointment of a board of survey of five citizens whose task it will be "to establish the obstacles to prompt settlement of the strike and to make recommendations for immediate termination of the deadlock."

When Queen Victoria succeeded to the crown there were about 6,000 convicts in England. At her death there were fewer than 6,000.

Spring Fever

in the news

No doubt of it now — the open season for Spring Fever is upon us. The first robin has been duly acknowledged, crickets are tuning up, and the advertising columns of this paper are full of news about gayer things to wear and do and eat and enjoy.

Even a shut-in can follow the rhythm of the seasons by reading the advertisements. The first ad for white shoes is as sure a sign of Spring as the first tulip. Soon you'll be seeing in these pages what you dare leave off on the beach this Summer, and hearing what new sunburn lotion will guard the exposed areas.

You'll be buying Springy things off and on for several weeks. Chart your shopping course carefully, wisely, by following the advertisements from day to day. Compare values, select styles, make up your mind before you start the leg work from store to store. You'll save money — and have more time to enjoy the nice weather.

DANCE

TO STAN STONE TONIGHT AT SHADOWLAND

If your name appears in this ad, clip it. It is good for one couple's admission tonight.
