Flashes

H. P. Faris Killed
CLINTON, Mo., March 20 (AP)—Herman P. Faris, 77, prohibition nominee for president in 1924 and a former Clinton banker, was killed today when the sedan in which he was riding alone crashed into the railing of a concrete bridge seven miles south of here.

A witness said Faris apparently suffered a heart attack or a stroke as he was driving slowly and visibility was excellent.

Once wealthy, Faris had suffered financial reverses in recent years. Although his education was limited to high school, he was considered an expert on law relating to titles and estates.

Execution Date Set
TRENTON, N. J., March 20 (AP)—The defense renewed its attack tonight on Dr. John F. (Jesse) Condon's identification of Bruno Richard Hauptmann as Col. Mark O. Kimberling, warden of State prison, fixed the night of March 31 for execution of the convicted Lindbergh kidnaper.

Although Hauptmann has only 11 days to live unless a second reprieve is granted, he was reported to be "more confident than ever" he will escape the electric chair. His chief counsel, C. Lloyd Fisher, said he, too, was hopeful execution would be averted.

Unconstitutional
SIOUX CITY, Ia., March 20 (AP)—District Judge F. H. Rice today held unconstitutional the Iowa gasoline tax law under which more than $10,000,000 is collected annually for highway improvement.

Judge Rice ruled that the law, passed in 1934 to rewrite the old gasoline tax law, was invalid because it was "not properly passed" in that the house of representatives did not take a yeas and nays vote on final passage.

Denies Contentions
DES MOINES, March 20 (AP)—M. E. Rawlings, Woodbury county attorney, denied defense contentions that appearance of Verne Marshall, Cedar Rapids editor, before a Woodbury county grand jury invalidated indictments in a supreme court argument filed today.

Jury to Decide
SAN JOSE, Cal., March 20 (AP)—The long debated issue of David A. Lamson's guilt or innocence in the death of his attractive wife Allene went into a jury's hands again today for the third time in as many years.

Lamson's hands, gripping the arms of his chair went white as Superior Judge J. J. Trabucco completed his instructions and the jury filed out shortly after the lunch hour.

In a spectator's seat, Frank Thorpe of Lamar, Mo., a brother of Mrs. Lamson, stared fixedly at the accused man. Thorpe came here from Missouri to attend all three of Lamson's trials, the first of which resulted in a death sentence that was reversed on appeal. The jury in the second trial disagreed.

Relief Load Reduced
DES MOINES, March 20 (AP)—The Iowa relief load was reduced by 13,230 persons in February compared with January, J. C. Fryor, Iowa emergency relief administrator, announced tonight.

Persons receiving unemployment relief last month numbered 127,910, Fryor reported, while 141,140 persons were on the list in January. Families included among those aided numbered 27,798 in February, and 30,856 in January.

Investigate Poisoning
GRIENBILLE, Tex., March 20 (AP)—Mrs. Volma Patterson, 34, of Commerce, was charged today with fatally poisoning her daughter, Billie Mae McCasland, 11, and Sheriff D. M. Newton opened an investigation into the death of another daughter, Tommie, 13.

Billie Mae's death, at first attributed to influenza, was the third to occur in the family in recent months. Bill Patterson, husband of the woman under arrest, died in November, 1935.

A Dallas chemist reported finding poison in Billie Mae's viscera.

Report Ida County Fill Relief Quotas
ST. LOUIS, Mo., March 20 (AP)—Ida county, Iowa, was the first Iowa Red Cross chapter to report its quota or over subscription of relief funds for the flood-stricken east. Red Cross officials announced here tonight.

William M. Baxter, junior manager of the Red Cross' midwestern area, which includes Iowa, said 51 other chapters in the midwest reported their campaign quotas reached within 24 hours after the national appeal for funds.

New AAA Soil Conservation Program Payments To Average $10 An Acre

Wallace Orders State Directors To Begin Work

Application Forms Will Be Enroute to Field Within Few Days

WASHINGTON, March 20 (AP)—Lifting the cover from the administration's new $470,000,000 AAA program, Secretary Wallace tonight estimated subsidy payments to cooperating farmers would strike a broad national average of $10 an acre for shifting to soil conserving crops, plus other benefits.

In two swift strokes, the big conservation-subsidy plan was pushed into the stage of actual operation.

At the White House, President Roosevelt late today signed the independent offices appropriation bill, carrying $440,000,000 for the farm program and making available $30,000,000 of unexpended funds. The same measure carried a $1,730,000,000 authorization for paying the bonus.

Announces Details
At the agriculture department, Wallace announced details of the plan at an extended press conference and a few hours later sent telegraphic instructions to all state extension directors and farm leaders to begin operations immediately.

The conservation program, successor to the invalidated AAA, is designed to shift 20,000,000 acres from commercial to soil conserving crops in 1936. The first action of state extension directors and farm leaders will be the organization of state committees, county producer's associations, and county committees.

$10 An Acre
Making clear that the average subsidy of $10 an acre was only the broadest sort of an average, shifting up and down widely in different sections and for different crops, Wallace added that an amount up to $1 an acre would be paid for maintaining soil building crops—placed in a different category from soil conserving crops.

In fact, Wallace said, individual farmers would not know definitely how much they will receive in subsidies at the time they sign applications, forms soon to be distributed.

He conceded, in talking to newspapermen, that many other details have yet to be finally determined. At one point, he and Howard R. Tolley, acting AAA administrator, differed sharply on a definition of "soil building crops."

New Definition
The agriculture secretary explained that a new definition had been agreed upon last night.

Tolley told reporters, however, that application forms for participation in the new program would be enroute to the field within a few days. Officials said that despite the seeming complications and ponderous definitions of the new program, farmers in the cotton belt should be signing applications for payment within a week.

THE NEW FARM PROGRAM IN THUMBNAIL

WASHINGTON, March 20 (AP)—The new soil conservation farm program, as explained by the AAA tonight, is this:

The AAA has classed a dozen crops—including cotton, corn, wheat and tobacco—as "soil depleting crops" which it considers use up soil fertility and promote erosion.

The AAA has classed other crops as "soil conserving" and "soil building." These crops, principally legumes and grasses, add nitrogen to the soil. When plowed under, they add other restoring elements, building up fertility. They prevent erosion.

Must Meet Certain Conditions
Any farmer is eligible to receive a subsidy payment if he meets certain conditions. These conditions will vary for different crops, for different states and different regions.

Mainly, payments will be made to farmers who take lands they usually use for "soil depleting" crops and plant them in soil conserving crops.

The AAA hopes to have 30,000,000 acres shifted from soil depleting to soil conserving crops in 1936.

$10 An Acre
The payments for shifting will strike a broad average of $10 an acre on a national basis. In addition, payments will be made to farmers for lands usually planted to soil conserving crops which are now or will be this year planted in those crops. These payments will be not more than $1 an acre.

Maximum Needs
Maximum limits have been set on the number of acres which can be shifted from soil depleting to soil conserving crops.

For diverting to soil conserving uses lands which have been planted in all soil depleting crops except cotton, tobacco, peanuts, sugar beets, sugar cane, flax and rice, farmers will receive an average of $10 an acre.

Compromise Hope in Electric Plant Feud Fades; Sides Ponder Gaffney Opinion; Hearing 25th

Van der Zee Asserts "Elected to Build—Not To Compromise;" Porter Favors "Sympathetic And Serious Consideration"

By RICHARD EVERETT (Daily Iowan City Editor)

Settlement of the two-year feud between the Iowa City council and the Iowa City Light and Power company appeared no nearer last night as both sides sat back to ponder District Judge James P. Gaffney's statement handed down yesterday asking the opposing factions to consider compromise and settlement of the litigation.

In statements gleaned from the enemy camps last night, The Daily Iowan was told:

Approve Offer Of Commission To Pave Road

In the shortest city council meeting for weeks, city aldermen last night approved the offer of the State Highway commission to pave more than half a mile of road on Rochester road and Muscatine avenue in Iowa City. The council also authorized the mayor and city clerk to provide for the upkeep of the reconstruction paving.

The commission yesterday called for bids to be let March 31, according to present plans. With a total of $45,000 allotted by the PWA for the project, work will begin as soon as possible, aldermen said last night.

A hope was expressed that an action by the highway commission on the North Dubuque street resurfacing project be considered within the next few weeks.

With all the councilmen present last night, consideration was given to a number of minor measures. An appeal for amendments to the tree trimming ordinance was referred to the streets committee and City Attorney Sam Whiting. The committee was requested to bring the ordinance down to date and to determine whether or not cutting trees requires a street occupancy permit.

A request for a permit to hang a sign at the Ray-Mac Service company, an auto repair shop, at 325 E. Market street, was referred to the streets and alleys committee and City Engineer J. F. Sproat.

Two claims for remission of 1936 property taxes were referred to the claims committee. Bills for the street commission, fire company, police, city officials, and city expenses were approved by the council.

Certification of Harland F. Sprinkle, 806 Bowery street, and Lawrence N. Ham, 516 Church street, by the board of police and fire commission for appointments to the local police department, were accepted by the city fathers.

City Engineer Sproat was authorized to purchase 2,000 broom fibers for the street sweeper, while Mayor (Thomas E. Martin and City Clerk William Condon were authorized to draw warrants on the sanitary district fund for the amount of $200.

The mayor and city clerk were authorized to draw $280 from the sanitary district fund to purchase parts for the repair of the street sweeper.

Plans for the coming year were tentatively arranged yesterday, and directors will meet during the coming week to arrange a more detailed program.

Confidence Seen By C. of C. As Necessary For Re-Employment

WASHINGTON, March 20 (AP)—The Chamber of Commerce of the United States asserted tonight that private industry's efforts to provide more jobs for the unemployed—as requested by President Roosevelt—depended on "restoration of confidence" in the government.

In a resolution adopted by its board of directors, the chamber said increased taxes, "threats of punitive investigation," and "hostile" legislation "discourage and retard" efforts to increase employment and slash relief costs.

List of Deaths Stands at 152 As Red Cross Hurries Relief

Estimate Property Loss At $300,000,000; Vigilants Fight Food Raiders in Leedsdale

By The Associated Press
The crests of death-dealing floods neared the Atlantic ocean and the Mississippi river today, (Saturday), leaving scores of stricken towns in many states too busy with rescue and relief work to start reconstruction. The death list stood at 152.

The broad valley of the Ohio river eased the tension of the torrent in the Alleghenies, but a north-and-south strip down the center of New England was a virtual lake and from eastern Pennsylvania came meager reports of several darkened, famine-fearing isolated towns.

Vigilantes in Leedsdale, Pa., fought food raiders from another town. Groups of men, identified by Police Chief A. W. Nolan of Leedsdale as being from Ambridge, Pa., invaded the little town on the Ohio river below Pittsburgh. National guardsmen hurried from Pittsburgh in answer to Nolan's call for help.

After a battle nine of the invaders were arrested. Hartford, Conn., was in darkness. The last electric generator surrendered to the waters of the raging Connecticut river. National guards were increased to prevent looting.

Middletown, Conn., below Hartford, with its 25,000 inhabitants had no electricity. The Massachusetts house of representatives appropriated $750,000 for flood relief without a dissenting vote.

Pittsburgh's water supply situation became more acute. Harrisburg, Philadelphia and New York, N. Y., rushed water to the stricken city by air, highway and rail.

Sunbury, Pa., still was under 10 feet of water. Flood waters were too swift for rowboats there. Renovo, Pa., had not been heard from since it was inundated. Gov. George H. Earle asked Washington for $10,000,000 to speed relief.

While gorged rivers plunged upon such cities as Hartford, Conn., and Marietta, Ohio, engulfing numerous smaller communities on their way, the victims of other flood ravaged areas found themselves confronted with disease, thirst and discouraging heaps of wreckage.

The first day of spring found more than 200,000 homeless—the Red Cross reported it was caring for 270,000 in 13 states—and damaged property estimated at $300,000,000.

Explosions, fires and panic-breeding rumors followed in the wake of the debris-littered floods.

While the Ohio river floods that paralyzed Pittsburgh appeared to be spending their force along the lower valley, rivers in New England raced toward peak levels.

The Connecticut overflowed into Hartford, spreading frigid water over 15 per cent of the state capital and threatening to disrupt all business activity. At least three persons were missing and damage was estimated at $5,000,000.

Gov. Wilbur L. Cross prepared to call additional national guardsmen to reinforce the 300-man patrol in the "insurance city." Main street was closed to all traffic except food trucks.

Virtually the entire power supply and telephone communication systems were paralyzed.

A million dollars worth of yachts at Essex, Conn., were endangered. Throughout New England there were 16 deaths, 100,000 homeless and many unaccounted for. Total damage was estimated at $100,000,000. The New England Telephone and Telegraph company reported 14 towns without service.

Funeral Services
MISSOURI VALLEY, (AP)—Funeral services will be held here tomorrow for A. E. Fisher, 64-year-old Nebraska editor, who died at his home Wednesday night.

Floods Fail To Damage Washington Home on Potomac

WASHINGTON, March 20 (AP)—Those Washingtons were a far-seeing family.

The flood which inflicted much damage on other property along the Potomac never even touched George Washington's home, Mt. Vernon, which is 15 miles downstream from Washington.

"I think Washington's half brother, Lawrence, must have had floods in mind when he built the house on the high ground above the river," said H. H. Dodge, superintendent of the estate.

With The Ladies

By Doris Brainard

Knitting still has its fans among university coeds, but an increasing number of women have taken up a new hobby, card-weaving.

Striking color effects have been obtained by several students in a class on applied textile design taught by Prof. Lula E. Smith of the home economics department, where this method of weaving was introduced.

Card Weaving
Card weaving is an ancient Egyptian art which has recently been revived. Two of the oldest tracings in existence, an Egyptian girdle and part of another garment, are now in European museums and are thought to have been made by card weaving.

Belts, hat bands, wrist watch ribbons, handles for bags, fringes, sandal straps, baggage straps, and similar articles may easily be made by this process. Any smooth, fairly firm yarn may be used. Tinting silk, but-tonhold twist, and ordinary sewing silk work well for wrist watch ribbons, for instance. Cotton and wool may be used if they are not fuzzy and do not pull apart easily.

The equipment for card-weaving is a set of square cards with holes in the corners. The weaver may choose the size she prefers, being careful that they are not too large, because they are then difficult to handle. Too small cards make too narrow a shed, so they are to be avoided. They may be made from thin, stiff cardboard, but they can also be purchased at a small cost. A small, flat shuttle may be used but is not necessary.

One end of the warp is attached to some stationary object, such as a bed post or chair, and the other end is tied to the chair in which the worker is sitting. The pattern depends upon the way in which the different colored threads are threaded through the cards and the way the cards are turned in weaving. Four and one-half inches wide is the practicable limit.

Just a hint as to color—strong color with much contrast is pleasing and the effects are often startling. Black and white, bright red, dark blue, yellow, and green are good in almost any combination. The patterns are made in the warp because the weft is covered and shows only along the edges. Therefore the weft should be the same color as the borders.

To begin card-weaving, measure off the warp, allowing generously for take-up and wastage. Choose the pattern and thread the cards, laying each one as it is threaded on top of the cards that have been already threaded. When that is completed, tie the ends of the warp together and fasten it to a stationary object. The warp, previously chained at about two feet from the end, should be unchained and the cards drawn until it is straight. The ends of the warp are tied together and the knot fastened to the worker's chair. It should be fairly tight and all threads at an even tension.

Be sure that the cards are in correct order before beginning the work. The weft thread is put through the shed made by the cards. Turn the cards a quarter of a turn away from you to change the shed, bring the weft back through the new shed and press the weft together with the shuttle or your finger. Turn the cards another quarter of a turn and again insert the weft. Continue in this manner. As the cards are turned, the warp is twisted on either end and the unwoven warp becomes too tight to go on.

Practice is required for good results, though the technique is simple when one understands how to thread the cards and how to manipulate them. The width of the work must be kept even; the turns made regularly, and the work well-beaten together.

Professor Smith said that students found the work easy and fascinating and made some striking articles by card-weaving.

It Can't Keep Dates

Spring Won't Start On March 21 Again Until 1939—Wylie

Arriving a day earlier than last year, spring yesterday proved that Leap Year may confer other benefits than the ones it brings to hopeful maidens.

For, according to Prof. C. C. Wylie, university astronomer, not until 1939 will spring again begin upon March 21 as it did last year, meaning that, according to the calendar at least, relief will come to a winter-tired world a day earlier than otherwise would be expected.

Each year the time of spring's arrival advances six hours, Professor Wylie explained, advancing a whole day in four years, but keeping at an almost constant date by the set-back of one day received each leap year.

It was a typical spring day which March, apparently repentant for the blustery weather of the last week, produced yesterday. Only a few white clouds, driven by a warm west wind, cast shadows on the greening grass as spring was officially ushered in at 12:58 p.m.

At that time, according to Professor Wylie, the sun on its northward journey was passing over the equator just a few hundred miles west of the Galapagos islands in the Pacific ocean. It will continue northward until it reaches the tropic of cancer June 21, the beginning of summer, when it will turn southward again.

Miss Pratt also rated "excellent" in the soprano solo division and Miss Reeds ranked "good" in the contralto division.

Other schools participating in the contest were Muscatine, Davenport, West Liberty, Lone Tree, Williamsburg, Marengo, Mechanicville, Wilton Junction, Stanwood, Grand Mound, DeWitt, Clinton, Lost Nation and Springdale.

Speaker Tells Of Research In Child Welfare

Professor Beth Wellman Describes Work In Baconian Lecture

The study of progressive mental growth of a large group of children from birth through to middle age is the ultimate objective of authorities at the Iowa Child Welfare Research station, Prof. Beth L. Wellman of the research station declared last night in a Baconian lecture in chemistry auditorium.

"There are at present in the university about 80 students for whom we have at least one intelligence test during their elementary school years," she explained. "The college entrance examinations and grade point averages of these students will be studied."

There are also about 80 children, who were tested in the every-pupil testing program, who had previously been tested at the research station, she said.

Describing the nature of the IQ, Professor Wellman declared, "Under appropriate environmental conditions it will remain constant; and under less favorable circumstances it will actually decrease."

Remarkable prediction can be made with considerable accuracy for small groups of individuals, the speaker said. "When we know more about individual responsiveness to environmental stimuli, we may be able to make rather accurate predictions for individuals."

During the early period of Washington Irving's writing career, he used the pseudonyms Jonathan Oldstyle, Launcelot Langstaff, Diedrich Knickerbocker and Geoffrey Crayon.

Instrumental competition will be held today, Lloyd S. Swartley, instructor in instrumental music here, said.

Winners at the district meet will enter the state finals at the university April 30, May 1 and 2.

All Iowa Behind Them

The University of Iowa swimming team is to be congratulated for its splendid performance in the Big Ten conference meet last week.

The success of the team is largely due to the persistent efforts of Coach Dave Armbruster, who for the last few years has turned out all-American swimmers.

Coach Armbruster has made intensive study of swimming. To him it is a science. Many men have started under his guidance in their freshman year, and by the time their senior year has rolled around, they have developed enough to merit national attention.

The next goal that the best Iowa swimming team in history will attempt is a victory in the national meet at Yale University next week.

With Coach Armbruster to teach them, all Iowa to back them, and a splendid array of talent and that same fighting spirit displayed at the Big Ten meet, Iowa should come through and make this a banner year.

In Time Of Need

The flood disaster that has struck Pittsburgh and other eastern cities and states is not merely a spectacular development in distant places that will have its place in the news for a few short days and then be forgotten.

It has taken a sickening toll of human life, property and land, and has demoralized great industrial centers.

Every year the horizon has been darkened by such major catastrophes. We have just gone through a period of zero weather that paralyzed much of the country.

Man has been thrown back to primitive methods of living and modern civilization's advantages have been taken from him.

Now is the time to practice the policy of being a good neighbor.

Food and water problems are acute; power and lights have been cut off by flood waters. Thousands of homes in 50 communities have been destroyed.

President Roosevelt has cancelled all other affairs to devote his time to hasten relief to the people in the stricken areas.

The Red Cross has asked for $3,000,000 for work in the flood areas of at least 11 states.

Always on time, always impartially adding the needy and always bringing hope to the hearts of the stricken, this organization is worthy of all donations.

Many will grumble and call this sum too large. But they will pay until it hurts in taxes to build death's weapons for war use.

But now is the time to be unselfish. The middle west must do its part in contributing to the relief of those needy in the east.

Many times the east has come to the rescue of the west in times of drouth and floods.

For the good of the nation, all must unite. "Be a Good Neighbor."

Marbles, The Game of Youth

"Knuckles down!" That's the cry that everyone likes to hear. To the youngsters it means fun and competition, and to the older folks it's a sign of spring.

And so marbles as a game has been greeted for centuries.

In Babylon 5,000 years ago, in Greece and Caesar's Rome, the little spheres have been skillfully shot by boys and often men.

Clay, wood, glass, agate, all have been used. But the intrinsic value was not the attraction. The test of accuracy, coordination and aim was the true reason why all enjoyed the game.

Unfair Play On Both Sides

Were it any other publisher than William Randolph Hearst who has had his private telegrams picked up by the senate, we might be alarmed about the sanctity of the free press in America.

Obviously, there is some doubt as to whether the specific right of the senate to investigate denies the individual right of the citizen to immunity from reputed unreasonable searches and seizures as guaranteed in the fourth amendment.

Further, the action of the Black committee in seizing Hearst's telegrams looks very much as if the senate investigators were taking advantage of their position to crack back at Mr. Hearst.

If Mr. Hearst feels it his duty to rake the administration over the coals, it is his right to do so under the free press clause of the constitution and the bill of rights.

However, the Black committee is certainly within its rights to carry on a thorough and complete cleanup of the utilities and munitions mass telegraphic lobbies.

Enough of the telegrams have already been traced to fictitious sources to prove that if this means of influencing representatives of the people in the halls of government is not stopped, we have reason to fear the complete loss of democratic rule in the United States.

The whole thing boils down to a matter of unfair play on both sides. Certainly the government was within its rights to investigate the telegram situation, but it did not strengthen its situation by dragging in William Randolph Hearst.

How much simpler life would be if both public and private institutions would play by the rules and individuals representing both could see the light.

A Pessimist Looks at Spring

The first day of spring is officially over. So what? We of this advanced, scientific age have had our eyes opened to the truth and see spring as it really is rather than as the poets have pictured it.

What are the true signs of spring? Melodious songs of birds, babbling brooks and love prevailing? Bah!

As soon as this happy (?) season rolls in we aren't even able to sleep mornings. Screaming jays awaken us each morning at a much too hour.

Are our hearts full of hope and the joy of living? No! Our heads are full of a nasty cold. Another particular irritating aspect of spring weather immediately presents itself.

What shall we wear? If we don a raincoat and rubbers the sun will undoubtedly shine all day. If we leave the house minus an umbrella or any protection against the elements it's pretty likely to pour all day.

As for babbling brooks—the nearest thing to it is the incessant babbling of a lot of lousy poets.

A young man's fancy does, in truth, turn lightly to love. But very lightly, we assure you. He knows that love is one of the favored spring amusements, and in order to keep in step with the rest he does his bit of spring romancing.

With the first hot days even his pretense of seriousness disappears.

In the gay '90s spring may have been an event in the lives of a good many persons. But now it's the season that brings a great many bad colds, the payment of taxes and just enough good weather to keep us from actual torture during the spring rains.

How will superstitious people "knock on wood" when we all get to living in steel houses fitted with metal furniture? Perhaps the rolling pin will acquire a new household function.

Will France Yield?

Acting as a fatherly mediator in the Rhineland crisis, Great Britain has recommended that both France and Germany withdraw troops from their respective sides of the river and call it a day.

This would call for entire demilitarization of the borders of both countries, and, in the opinion of Britain, result in peaceful settlement of the problem which for days has caused talk of war in European capitals.

This puts a severe test upon France's alleged desire for peace. In recent years she has been busily occupied with preparation of an elaborate string of fortifications along her eastern border.

In March of 1934 she voted three billion francs ($195,000,000) for armaments on land, sea and air. In September of the same year, France refused Germany military parity on the grounds that such action would be a violation of the Versailles treaty.

In October, 1934, she showed her readiness to stop any German "push" into the Saar basin.

With all this in view, it seems unlikely that France will withdraw her troops from her eastern fortifications. She will not be willing to abandon her fortifications along the Rhine merely because of the withdrawal of a nation whom she has never considered an equal.

Ill feeling between France and Germany is a case of long standing. Its history dates long before the Rhine-Prussian war. Until a more suitable solution than that offered by England is reached, the animosity between these nations bids fair to remain.

A Washington Bystander

WASHINGTON—There seems to be a tradition among the Kentucky Breckinridges for political "walk-outs."

Against his personal as well as the Breckinridge background, the action of Col. Henry Breckinridge in walking out on the Roosevelt administration to the extent of launching a boom of his own for the democratic nomination is not surprising.

His selection of Maryland as a state wherein to demonstrate without precedent.

The colonel once walked out on the Wilson administration. He was assistant secretary of war under Secretary Garrison and when the latter bolted the Wilson cabinet in the 1916 controversy over Garrison's "continental army" idea as against the federalized national guard preferred by congress, young Breckinridge went along.

It Happened in 1860 Long before that, however, another Kentucky Breckinridge, John Cabell Breckinridge, walked out on his party ticket although he was

This should be done immediately since, otherwise, it is possible that we shall be unable to certify for graduation next June, a student who may have accomplished satisfactory graduate work elsewhere, just because we shall not have received the requisite official statement of it early enough.

To All Students Who Expect To Graduate At The Close Of The Second Semester, June 1, 1936 Every student who expects to receive a degree or a certificate at the University Convocation to be held Monday, June 1, 1936, should make his formal application on a card provided for the purpose at the Registrar's Office on or before Saturday, April 4, 1936.

It is of utmost importance that each student concerned comply with this request immediately, for otherwise it is very likely that a student who may be in other respects qualified will not be recommended for graduation at the close of the present semester.

MAKING APPLICATION for the degree or certificate, involves the payment of the graduation fee ($15.00) and also the cap and gown fee ($1.00) at the time the application is made—the payment of these fees being a necessary part of the application. Call at the Registrar's office for the card.

The petition of the Association of Senior Class Presidents that a fee of $1 be assessed to cover the cost of caps and gowns for Commencement has been granted. Therefore, hereafter this additional fee of $1 is to be paid by each candidate for a degree at the time he pays his graduation fee.

Heretofore the normal rental fee for bachelors' caps and gowns has been $2 and for doctors' caps and gowns $4.85. Romanelli Convicted DES MOINES (AP)—A district court jury yesterday convicted Francis Romanelli on a robbery charge and Judge John J. Halloran sentenced him to an indeterminate term of not to exceed 10 years in the state penitentiary. Hubert Veach, who pleaded guilty, was charged with Romanelli of robbing A. O. Henderson of Valley Junction of about $25. Veach received the same sentence.

A New Yorker

At Large

By JAMES B. RESTON

NEW YORK—Sprawled in a barber chair divinely bent on meditation (and a haircut), I happened to look up and see the conductor of a famous orchestra take the chair next to mine.

His hair was flowing. He studied it a moment in the mirror. "Haircut?" asked the barber. "The conductor frowned. "Shave?"

"No, I think not." And then, running his hand through his hair: "Just change the oil!" "I'll be over my wound in a few days now."

Despite the vicious tenderness of a mob of women, young Nelson Eddy has survived his recent concert tour. That is of news value because Eddy has soared to such popularity with the women that his life is now in danger whenever he looks out into the hall.

Two years ago he was no more than a very pleasant young man who sang on concert tour for Arthur Judson. Someone out in Hollywood decided he'd look good sweet-hearting on the screen. So he was signed. Then he hung around the studios on full pay until he almost went mad. Finally they started the picture "Rose Marie."

As soon as the picture was released, Eddy jumped from a mediocre attraction on the Judson concert list to one of the stars. Judson was forced to double his fees, then to redouble them, and today Eddy is one of the highest paid singers in the game.

Incidentally, he is one of the few singers who have turned down a chance to sing at the "Met." He doesn't think he has the experience necessary.

I went to the art museum the other day to see the Goya exhibition but there were so many rough people bent on culture that I couldn't get near it. So I wandered into the Egyptian wing, where there were a dozen or so great granite statues of an Egyptian king, bearded and clothed like those illustrations you see in the Sunday magazine sections.

But on reading the signs—for general education—I discovered that these weren't statues of a king at all but of a queen, one Hat-Shep-Sut. It was all pretty confusing, so I hunted out the guard.

It seems that old Hat-Shep-Sut was a pretty strong willed dame who wanted to rule despite the awkward fact that she was a woman and women weren't supposed to rule. But she naturally got around this. And she did it by dressing like a man and wearing a beard—this was for wisdom, said the guard.

But to rule, she had to cheat her nephew out of his turn. He didn't come to the throne until she died.

All the statues in the room were of the old lady, except one of a young man. That one's her nephew," explained the guard. "I guess the museum put him in here just to get his goat."

Screen Life

HOLLYWOOD—Real and unreal: Richard Arlen, who will be making "The Barrier" for an English studio in June, will enter the British Open golf competition. . . . He had it written into his contract that he'd be given time off for golf. . . . Dick says he may turn in a fairly low score—"If I don't get stage fright."

. . . Part of "The Barrier," by the way, will be filmed in the Canadian Rockies. . . . First time an English company has come to America on location. . . .

Guy Kibbee agrees that movie actors complain too much about being overworked. . . . He reminds actors who tell him tall tales about "dinky three months' vacations" that playing in stock was much tougher than movies ever will be. . . . Guy played 18 parts in one week with a stock company. . . . He had four roles in one piece and two in several others. . . .

Legs have had more than a little to do with Carol Hughes' life. . . . When she was 10, her leg was broken. . . . The insurance settlement enabled her to study dancing later. . . . When she was on the stage she won a leg contest. . . . Photographs of her as the winner, got her a screen test and now she's in the movies. . . . Carol's from Chicago and her name used to be Kay. . . .

While others who frequent the Hollywood athletic club gymnasium lift weights and wrestle and play handball for exercise, actor Olin Howland (Jobyna's brother) tap dances. . . . Says there's nothing like dancing to keep one fit. . . .

Helen Holmes has come out of retirement from her ranch near Sonoma, Cal., to re-enter the movies. . . . Her husband, Lloyd Saunders, former movie cowboy, sold his ranch.

. . . Away from Hollywood 10 years the former chain-jumping aerial queen played her first talkie part under the direction of Eddie Sutherland in W. C. Fields' "Poppy." . . . Sutherland's first movie job, 20 years ago, was to double for Helen. . . .

Marc Connelly expects to revive "The Green Pastures" in about two years, after the film version (now being edited) has had its run. . . . He wants the other half of the country to see it. . . .

Originator Of Fingerpainting Speaks Here

"A duck for Helen and a prehistoric cow for Richard, and shall we put some trees over there?"

Gathering 12 boys and girls around her as she practiced finger painting, Ruth Faison Shaw, originator of the art, explained in a lecture here yesterday why she thinks finger painting gives children a chance for creative self-expression.

"The children are telling a story in their pictures," she declared. "I'm not trying to paint pretty pictures. The artist is the only one who knows what the picture is."

A teacher in European and American schools, Miss Shaw lets children choose their own colors when they begin a picture. More boys than girls ask for green, she said, and girls nearly always paint pictures of women in red. Brown is demanded by many children with speech defects.

Although she believes children express their thoughts in finger painting, Miss Shaw is not a psychologist. "I accept the fact that a child is mentally, physically or so-

Senior Law Trial Favors Plaintiff In Practice Session

A $25,000 verdict was awarded the plaintiff, represented by Robert Bruner of Waterloo and Francis Wilson of Greene, in a college of law senior practice trial which was concluded yesterday afternoon.

Robert Moody of Nora Springs and E. C. Corry Jr. of Des Moines were defense attorneys. Prof. Mason Ladd of the college of law judged the trial.

Charges were brought against Robert Bush, the defendant, for reckless driving while intoxicated, thereby causing an automobile accident in which the plaintiff's companion was killed.

This was the concluding trial of the first series of practice cases this semester. All senior law students are participating.

cially disturbed and I let him work it out," she remarked.

"Play is an approach to a goal," she said, declaring that work with finger paints, a mixture of mud, water, and color, meets children's demands for play materials.

Visiting Staff To Teach Here

Courses in the department of classical languages at the University of Iowa will be taught during the summer session by six visiting staff members from three states.

With three Iowans included in the group, all are high school teachers with the exception of Prof. Edmund D. Cressman of the University of Denver.

Iowans are Fanny Howell of Lake City high school, Katherine Bogart of Marion, and Alpha Braunwarth of Correctionville. All will teach Latin.

Carolyn Baskett will come from Bozeman, Mont., high school, while the other appointee, a teacher of Greek, is Anna Goldsberry of Greenfield, Ill.

Six of the appointees will serve during the first term from June 8 to July 16 and Miss Goldsberry will come July 20 for the second term of five weeks.

SAN PEDRO, Cal. (AP)—The entire United States fleet in the San Diego and San Pedro areas was unexpectedly ordered to sea yesterday as a "drill in expeditious departure from bases." The fleet has just returned from five days of secret exercises in the drill grounds 60 miles off shore.

Seen From Old Capitol

We take it the military department believes it is all right to teach but impolitic to be taught. One presumptuous student, who corrected grammatical errors in questions on a military examination paper, was severely reprimanded and warned to refrain from this indulgence.

Yesterday we received a most interesting card from "Interested Lulu" about Max Wisgerhof, C4 of Sully. This department asked Max about it, but he says there is nothing to it. Anyway, here 'tis:

"While lunching on the Iowa Union swn porch, I heard the waiters discussing an infant Max Wisgerhof is raising. Always being concerned over the proper care for children I do not believe Mr. Wisgerhof has time to give proper attention to a baby. I would appreciate it if you would inquire into the rumor and take proper action."

It's our guess Lulu is hard of hearing or else has a most interesting imagination.

Some time ago we encouraged Prof. Gilbert Houser of the zoology department to continue his noble efforts at waxing humorous and said if he made the grade we would be happy to report it. The other day he not only told a few jokes to one of his sections but also turned the plan.

We understand he held the students spellbound by imitating in succession a mud turtle digging a nest with its flippers, a turtle dove decoying enemies away from its young and a mud-dauber wasp stinging spiders. To top off this demonstration he gave the following description of the young chick:

"How did it know what to do? It had never been hatched before."

Keep on trying Professor Houser. In the fulfillment of an as-ignment to design borders showing rhythm, given by Charles Okerbloom of the graphic and plastic arts department, one woman student drew music notes. The instructor, puzzled, said he saw no rhythm in it," explained the student, "but you ought to hear it."

It seems Jack Dempsey is as excellent a businessman as he was a prizefighter. He has sent us a letter for publication purposes:

"May I extend greetings from New York? It gave me great pleasure during the past week to welcome in person your esteemed fellow townsman, Glenn Cunningham, in my restaurant."

Historical Jottings
Do you know when the baseball diamond was on Front street with home plate to the north and second base to the south? How one had to run up hill from second base to third and down hill from third to home?

How many remember old south hall which was just south of Old Capitol. How it used to have the dental school in the basement and the first and second floors for academic classes? When the tennis courts were laid out in the lawn in front of Old Capitol? When each literary society had its own net and its Greek letters across the net?

This was all familiar to the folks back in 1885-95.

The D. U.'s had their own idea on how to welcome the arrival of spring yesterday. (Spring came on the twentieth this year rather than on the twenty-first). As part of the probation procedure, the boys were awakened at 5 a.m. by the tooting of the bugle and then had to participate in flag-raising exercises.

New Racing Circuit
DES MOINES (AP)—Forty members of the Iowa Fair Managers association agreed at a meeting here yesterday to set up a new horse racing circuit to be known as the Northeastern Iowa circuit. Officials, asserting they believed eight towns would be included in the circuit, said the towns and dates will be announced later.

Orators Competing For Gilmore Prize Should Report Now

Students wishing to enter the Gilmore prize oratorical contest have been asked to report to Prof. H. Clay Harshbarger of the speech department at once.

April 7 is the date set for the preliminary contest, and the final competition will be conducted April 16. The winner will receive $25 from President Eugene A. Gilmore, and will represent the University of Iowa in a contest of the Northern Oratorical league at Northwestern university May 1.

Honor Two S.U.I. Doctors of Dentistry

Two University of Iowa professors, Dr. Arthur O. Klaffenbach and Dr. Lester B. Higley, were elected to membership in the International Association of Dental Research at a recent meeting of the American Association of Dental Schools at Louisville, Ky.

Dr. Higley is professor of orthodontia in the college of dentistry and Dr. Klaffenbach is head of the crown and bridge department in the dental clinic.

WOMEN'S SPORTS

Spring activities in women's physical education were announced yesterday.

Registration for spring classes is scheduled for March 30 and 31, and new classes will commence April 1. In addition to the year-round courses, archery, tennis, golf, swimming, canoeing, and baseball will augment the list.

The W.A.A. rally is also dated for April 1. Any university woman may attend, and anyone interested may sign up for W.A.A. spring clubs which include archery, baseball, tennis, and canoeing.

The year-round clubs—seals, orchesis, and outing—will continue throughout the season.

New Books

A list of recent additions to the university libraries issued yesterday by Grace Van Wormer, acting director of university libraries, includes "Charles I and the Court of Rome," Gordon Albin; "The Klondike Nugget," Russell A. Bankson; "Strange Street," Arthur Beverley Baxter; "The Changing Opera," Paul Bekker; "The Hamwood Papers," Mrs. Eva Bell; "Arnold Bennett," Dorothy Cheston Bennett; "Feminine Attitudes in the Nineteenth Century," Cecil Willett Cunningham.

"Faster! Faster!" Edmee Elizabeth Monica De La Pasture; "Oxford Apostles," Geoffrey Faber; "The Son of Marietta," Johan Fabricius; "The Wynne Diaries," Mrs. Elizabeth (Wynne) Fremantle; "Blood Relations" and "England Speaks,"

Philip Gibbs; "Stormy Years," Carter H. Harrison.

Old Gold Runners Pile Up 74 Points to Take Fourth Indoor Championship in Five Starts

Lynn Philson Sets New Quadrangular High Jump Mark; Cretzmeier Wins Both Hurdle Events for High Point Honors

By JOHN MOONEY
An inspired Hawkeye track team came up from the under dog role to defeat decisively Drake, Grinnell and Iowa State in the fifth annual Iowa quadrangular track and field meet in the Iowa fieldhouse last night.

Although his heel was so badly bruised that he was unable to compete in the high or broad jumps, Capt. Francis Cretzmeier was still able successfully to defend his high and low hurdle championships and score 10 points for individual honors in the meet.

The Hawkeye tracksters, ranked as a possible second place against the powerful Bulldog cindermen, Capt. Johnny Graves, interscholastic half mile champ, running in a handicap exhibition race last night in conjunction with the state indoor quadrangular meet, tied the field-house record of 1:56.4, made by Martin of Purdue in 1928.

Outdid themselves in capturing their fourth championship in the five years that the contests have been held.

Lynn Philson
Drake, boasting Lynn Philson, one of the leading candidates for Olympic high jumping honors, and a powerful group of distance runners, was doped to pile up enough points in the high jump, the 880, mile and two mile events to defeat the Hawks, but Coach Bresnahan's distance men pulled one of the evening's major upsets as they copped a majority of the points in each of these events.

Lyle, Nelson Star
Jimmy Lyle and Paul Nelson starred in the iron man race and Lyle won the mile team race and Lyle was second, while later on Lyle won the 880 and Nelson placed third in the two mile run. Ed Hass, Iowa's leading two-miler, ran a smooth race to place second in the two mile behind Padgett of Drake.

Surpassing even the most optimistic of pre-meet predictions, Iowa's Floyd DeHeer tossed the iron ball out 47 feet, 7 inches to break his record throw established two weeks ago against Minnesota. The gigantic sophomore, profiting from added coaching during the last week, put himself behind the sphere as he easily wiped out the old meet record of 45 feet 8 1/4 inches.

Dooley Equals Record
Andy Dooley and Eugene Skinner were again responsible for their share of the point-getting campaign. Dooley won the 70 yard dash in the record-equalling time of 37.1 while Skinner was third, and then both boys ran on the 880 yard relay team which placed second. Skinner anchored the mile relay team and barely nosed out Grinnell's Captain Barnes. This race was by far the best of the tight struggles on the evening's program. Waples, running in the lead-off role, handed the baton to Briggs with a comfortable lead. Matteson received the stick with a safe margin, but as Skinner, anchoring the victors, started his 440, Barnes unleashed a terrific spurt that he maintained almost all the race and edged up on the lanky Negro. Stride for stride the race went on and just as they reached the back stretch, Barnes shot his out in an attempt to catch the Hawk, but Skinner had enough left to stand off the drive and the Hawks won their first relay race of the season.

Lyons-Pole Vault
Tom McElhinney and John Lindenmeyer placed second and third in the pole vault as Lyons of Iowa State came within half an inch of equalling the meet height of 12 feet 9 1/2 inches.

A large crowd, at times cheering and applauding like mad, filled every available inch of seating space and overflowed around the stands.

The summaries:
Pole vault—Won by Lyons (IS); McElhinney (I); second, J. Lindenmeyer (I); third, Ziesmer (D); Kan-out (D) and Nelson (D) tied for fourth. Height 12 feet 9 inches.

Shot put—Won by DeHeer (IS); Mountain (D); second, Costigan (IS); third, Harris (I); fourth, Distance 47 feet 7 inches. (New meet record. Old meet record of 45 feet 8 1/4 inches set by Blank of Drake in 1933).

One mile team race—Won by Iowa (P. Nelson, Lyle and R. Nelson); Drake, second; Iowa State, third; Grinnell, fourth. Individual winner—P. Nelson (I) with a time of 4:28.9.

Senators May Be "Surprise" Team of Loop

By EDDIE BRIETZ
Associated Press Sports Writer
ORLANDO, Fla., March 20 (AP)—While this business of nominating American league "dark horses" goes merrily on, it might be just as well to include the Washington Senators.

Young, fast and full of pep, the remodeled Griffis are doing things in the grapefruit loop that have everybody gasping.

They go about bumping off the solid gold Boston Red Sox and the world's champion Detroit Tigers, just like that. No wonder "old fox" Clark Griffith and Manager Bucky Harris are smiling all over Orlando.

Looks Promising
"This club is young and loaded with promise," said Harris today. "It's got to show that it can stand the gaff. But if it keeps on improving—and it should—it will cause a lot of surprises and a lot of headaches."

Improved pitching and an infield experiment which already shows signs of clicking are the reasons Harris thinks the 1936 Senators can step out.

"Shifting Cecil Travis to shortstop and installing Johnny Lewis who hit .303 for Chattanooga last year at third base, may make this club," he said.

Lewis a "Find"
"Lewis looks like a real find. If he fails to make good, I'd hate to have to take over a scouting assignment." But pitching is what makes or breaks a ball team and if the Senators fail to live up to Bucky's expectations, it will be because some of his young slabbists need another year's experience under their belt.

"In two years—or less—I expect to have the best young crew in the American league," he said.

In addition to the loud mouthed Buck Newsom from the St. Louis Browns, the starters will be Ed Linke, who won his last eight games for the Griffis last year, Earl Whitehill, veteran southpaw, Pete Appleton, 31-year-old right hander from Toronto who, Harris says, has found his spot, and Jimmy DeShong, the nattily dressed curver from the Yanks.

"I'm impressed with DeShong," Harris said, "and he's going to get every chance to prove he can start ball games."

Harris Copped and Monte Weaver (will be used as the principal relief hurlers, Richard Lanahan, southpaw recruit from Chattanooga, has an excellent chance of sticking.

The infield will start with Joe Kuhel at first, Charlie Myers, batting champion of the American League at second, Travis on short and Lewis at third. Oswald Bluege, Ralph Kress and the promising Cuban, Roberto Estalella, will be kept around just in case.

It looks like Jesse Hill from the Yankees, Alvin Powell and John Stone in the outfield, with Carl Schulte and Carl Reynolds as the extra gardeners.

Three Catchers
Harris intends to carry three catchers—Cliff Bolton, No. 1, James Holbrook and Bill Starr, the latter a freshman from Harrisburg.

The Senator manager says any one of last year's first division clubs can win the 1936 pennant and his tip is not to sell the New York Yankees short.

"They're not pushovers for anybody," he said. "If they get the pitching they should and their other stars return to normal form—as they should—watch out for them."

before the close of the season. Several of these are games which have had to be postponed because of conflicting activities.

1100 Mile Auto Trip Confronts Big 10 Champs

Armburstermen Slated For High Place At Meet in Yale Pool
Faced with an 1100 mile motor trip to New Haven, Conn., eight Hawkeye swimmers leave tomorrow for the National Collegiate A.A. championships taking place in the Yale pool next week end.

The eight Iowans are the same who scored 39 points in the Western conference meet last week to oust Michigan from the title position after a five year tenure.

Armburster's Hawks expect to check in at the Yale pool Tuesday afternoon. As the meet does not start until Friday, they will have two days in which to work out traveling kinks.

The Old Gold tanksters will attempt to end the championship monopoly of Michigan, which, like the Big Ten crown, has extended to five straight. They compose the largest squad ever to represent Iowa in an N.C.A.A. meet in the east. Last year, five men amassed 14 points to give Iowa a fourth.

Yale, Michigan and the Hawkeyes are regarded as ranking favorites for the team championship, with both the Hawkeyes and the Bulldogs expected to excel the Wolverines slightly in team balance.

Iowa swimmers who will make the trip and the events in which they will compete are:
Ray Walters—50, 100, and 400 yard relay.

Capt. Adolf Jacobsmeier—220 and 440 and 400 yard relay.
Dick Westerfield—back stroke and medley relay.

Bob Christians—220 and 440, Arnold Christen—high and low board diving,
Wilbur Wehmeyer—50 and both relays.

Jack Sieg—50, 100, and 400 yard relays.
Bob Allen—breast stroke and medley relay.

Iowa Gymnasts Enter Nationals
George Nissen and Ed Kringsel, Hawkeye gym stars, will definitely compete in the National Collegiate gymnastic meet at Temple university, March 28.

Capt. Eugene Wettstein will also make the trip if an injured wrist that kept him out of the conference meet last Saturday is sufficiently healed to enable him to perform on the apparatus.

Nissen, captain-elect of the Iowa squad, will defend his national intercollegiate tumbling championship won in 1935. Competition is expected to be unusually keen in this event, with a 1932 Olympic team member now enrolled at Texas and several outstanding Eastern tumblers furnishing opposition to the Iowan.

Kringsel has been placing close behind Nissen in every meet this season. He placed in all five events in the Big Ten meet but is expected to concentrate on tumbling in the nationals.

Wettstein has not been able to put any weight on his wrist since he injured it in the Minnesota dual meet. It has been improving rapidly, however, and he may be able to compete by next week. The Iowa athletes will leave early next week for Philadelphia, the scene of the national meet.

Boxer Dies After K.O. Tony Scarpati, K.O.'d Tuesday by Lou Ambers, Succumbs

NEW YORK, March 20 (AP)—Tony Scarpati, 22-year-old Brooklyn welterweight, died today in a hospital without regaining consciousness after his knockout by Lou Ambers in the seventh round of their fight here Tuesday night.

When Scarpati fell, his head struck the ring floor. Although surgeons operated to relieve pressure resulting from the concussion, he failed to regain consciousness.

Assistant District Attorney Paul Seiderman questioned Ambers, an outstanding contender for Tony Canzoneri's lightweight championship; examined the ring and questioned physicians regarding the combatants' condition before they entered the ring and indicated no charges would be filed.

"No criminal act occurred that we can hold anyone for," Seiderman said. "When Scarpati was struck by Ambers he left his feet and his head struck the floor. It was one of those things."

Before he turned professional, Scarpati had an impressive amateur record and four years ago won the Daily News A. A. Golden Gloves lightweight championship. His fight with Ambers was his first big test as a professional.

Ambers, grief stricken, offered to appear in a benefit show to raise funds for the Scarpati family to defray hospital and funeral expenses. Scarpati's parents and three brothers survive.

Vogel Hands Out First Intra-Squad Game of Season

After hibernating at the fieldhouse for the last month, Iowa's baseball squad migrated to Old Iowa field yesterday afternoon where Coach Otto Vogel conducted his first intra-squad game of the year.

Two promising sophomore pitchers, Howard Miller and Gene Hefrichs, worked three innings each before being relieved by Halton and Pickering, veteran hurlers. Both rookies turned in credible performances while Pickering burned 'em across the plate with more speed than he has shown in several seasons.

The loudest blows during yesterday's workout came from Stephens, Captain Underwood and Mason, who all connected for doubles to the deep outfielders. While the veterans were having a good day at the plate, the yanigans were easy suckers for the first time this season.

This afternoon another intra-team battle is scheduled at Old Iowa field with Charlie Blackman and Lowell Gesser, veteran mound acts, slated to do the hurling.

athletes will leave early next week for Philadelphia, the scene of the national meet.

Mason City Squeezes Out 18 to 17 Win Over Sioux Center
DES MOINES, March 20 (AP)—Mason City, East Sioux City and Davenport, three outstanding favorites, narrowly escaped elimination in the boys district high school basketball tournaments tonight.

Mason City got a terrific scare from Sioux Center's husky club, but got through with an 18 to 17 victory in the eighth district at Estherville.

East Sioux City, also playing at Estherville, got a one-point decision over Ida Grove, winning 25 to 24. Davenport had to put forth all 30 to beat Burlington, 31 to 29, at its own district meet.

Bronson, rated one of the state's outstanding class B aggregations, had little trouble disposing of a highly-touted Plymouth high quintet, 24 to 12, in district No. 8 at Estherville.

Dubuque, one of the favorites in district No. 2 at New Hampton, scored the first to fall, West Union scoring a thrilling 20 to 19 overtime victory over its river city rival. The score of the grueling battle was deadlocked at 15-all at the end of regulation playing time but Clair Wilgerson won the game for West Union as the gun went off to end the first extra period.

Kielhorn Snares Two Easy Decisions To Enter Third Round

Three University of Iowa wrestlers, Bob Larson, Earle Kielhorn, and Byron Guernsey, won matches in the N.C.A.A. wrestling tournament at Lexington, Va., yesterday afternoon and evening. The latter, losing his first match, triumphed in a second round consolation bout.

Kielhorn, wrestling at 155 pounds, won his first round match from Steidman of Virginia Military institute and a second round encounter from Nazworthy of Oklahoma A. and M. Both won by unanimous decisions of the judges.

Larson, in the 134 pound class, met only one man yesterday, Scrivens, class Oklahoma A. and M. matman. His victory was also by a unanimous decision.

The other Iowa star to make the trip, Guernsey, lost his first round match by a decision to Strong of Oklahoma A. and M. Wrestling at 145 pounds, the Hawk defeated Hamilton of St. Lawrence by a fall in 5 minutes, 55 seconds to win his first consolation match.

Wrestling at Olympic weights, the Iowa matmen, with the exception of Larson, are in lighter classes than those in which they all won Big Ten conference titles last week.

Larson has not been defeated in the last two years and has won the conference 135 pound championship both years. He was voted the outstanding wrestler of the conference last Saturday.

Kielhorn has won the National A.A.U. championship at 155 pounds and the Big Ten crown for two years at 175 pounds. In 1934 he was voted the outstanding wrestler in the conference. Guernsey, a sophomore, is Big Ten and Mid-Western A.A.U. champion 155 pounder.

Allen Likes Fieldhouse Pool; Brings Bob Christians With Him to Enroll

By HERMAN SCHMIDT

Austin high school of Chicago will always hold a secluded little corner of Coach Dave Armbruster's heart. For, figuring things one way, that institution gave the Hawkeye swimming mentor his first Big Ten conference championship.

To be more to the point, Austin high sent a pair of tanksters to the University of Iowa two years ago. A season under Armbruster's tutelage did wonders for the pair and they improved in such rapid strides that without sophomores Bob Allen and Bob Christians, Iowa last week would never have become champions of the Big Ten.

It was more than 10 years ago that Bob and Christy began swimming together in the Austin Y.M.C.A. pool. For a decade now they have watched each other develop and today each is basking in the other's reflected glory.

Shown in Water
Christy's specialties are the free style and back stroke events. From the day his uncle threw him into Channel lake and he paddled serenely back to shore, Christy has loved the water.

For four years he was an outstanding performer on the Austin high team. As a freshman he won the back stroke championship of Chicago in the junior division. The same year he placed fourth in the senior state interscholastics.

This outstanding frosh performance was a criterion of what Christy was to accomplish in later years. He placed in three successive city meets, finished second in the 100 yard free style Chicago Tribune swim, captured high point honors in the city "Y" meet, and was a member of the city championship medley relay trio, on which Allen swam the breast stroke.

Both Enroll
Through Allen, Christy was induced to enroll at Iowa in the fall of 1934. But Christy's real development didn't come until this winter. Seldom has a sophomore progressed as rapidly as he responded to Armbruster's instructions. In the Chicago meet he placed second to Wilson of Chicago in the 220 in one of the fastest races ever swum over the home course. Against Illinois he led the field in the 440 yard distance grind, and then to show his versatility, the Chicago soph captured the 150 yard back stroke against Wisconsin. His seconds in both the 220 and 440 events were valuable points for the Hawks as they barely missed upsetting Michigan's Wolverines.

But Christy saved his big race until the last day. Last Saturday, at a time when Coach Armbruster needed points as he had never needed them before, Christians came up with an amazing third in the 440 to beat out a pair of all-Americans, Wilson of Chicago and Woodford of Ohio State. Those three tallies were the difference between victory and defeat for the locals.

Allen's Rise to Fame
Allen's rise to fame has been no less impressive. Like Christians, he started to win recognition as a member of Austin high's squad, which he captained in his sophomore and senior years. When a junior in high school he won the city junior breast stroke title, and the following year captured the senior crown.

Bob was really responsible for the pair enrolling at Iowa. He had heard about the wonderful fieldhouse pool, so on his way to the Drake relays in the summer of 1934, he stopped off in Iowa City and met Armbruster. The next fall the pair matriculated here.

Several new acts and a galaxy of new performers will be presented in the 1936 Iowa circus. Most of the groups have been working out for several days, while the others will begin practice this week.

Brooks and Adams, a pair of outstanding freshman performers, will be presented on this year's program. The former has spent over a month's intensive practice on "iron jaw" work and will attempt a "slide for life" on a bigger scale than has ever been attempted in the Iowa show. Adams is an adept juggler.

The aerial troupe has been working for some time under the able tutelage of Larry Griswold, who ranks with the nation's leading professional fliers. Tryouts for both the flying and catching angles are being held, and the troupe has not yet been definitely picked.

Xavier Leonard, well known to the fans of the annual Dolphin show as George Nissen's partner, and Fritz Ritzman, physical education instructor, have been added to the list of catchers.

Wilson Fall, Bob Perry, and George Nissen appear to have the inside track on the flying jobs. Arny Christen will be added to the group after the national swimming meet. Christen is an all-American diver, and will present a clown act. Griswold himself will take part in a comedy routine.

Freshman physical education majors will start practice this week on group and ladder pyramids. New comedy stunts are being worked out on the revolving ladder, and the popular trampoline and tight wire are receiving considerable attention.

Circus fans will be introduced to a new piece of circus apparatus in the form of a revolving trapeze bar.

A much larger group of sororities has expressed desires to take part in this year's Iowa circus and several acts have been planned in which the campus "Circus Sallies" will display their wares.

Soph Netster Wins Tourney

Fleming Trips Metz To Capture First In Varsity Net Meet

Chuck Fleming, sophomore tennis flash, won the varsity net tournament staged last week. He defeated Dave Metz, 6-3, 6-1. In the first round Fleming, Metz, Capt. Nye, and Bill Sinn won victories respectively from Jim Drammer, Harold McCollum, Howard Davidson, and Kenny Cline. Cline's beating by Sinn was an upset as Cline played regularly on last year's varsity team. However, he is expected to show a reversal of form with a little more practice. Fleming-Sinn to gain the final round.

Coach Voltmer announced the individual ranking of the players, and he placed Fleming in the top position. Following Fleming in order are Metz, Nye, Sinn, Cline, Drammer, McCollum, and Davidson. The squad will engage in a series of challenge matches to determine the four varsity members who will oppose Coe here April 3. Two challenge matches may be played by each player each week, and players may challenge one another one or two places above them. Next week, Coach Voltmer expects to have the varsity team play the faculty.

Bunker Becomes Business Manager of Press-Citizen

Hageboeck Joins Staff; Harper Promoted To National Advertising

Three changes in the staff of the Iowa City Press-Citizen were announced yesterday by Merritt C. Spedel, president and publisher of the local afternoon daily. Harry S. Bunker, formerly treasurer and promotion manager, becomes business manager; William T. Hageboeck, now with the advertising promotion staff of the Des Moines Register and Tribune, becomes advertising manager; and Lyle T. Harper, formerly of the Press-Citizen advertising staff, becomes national advertising manager, according to Mr. Spedel's statement.

HARRY S. BUNKER

The staff changes follow an announcement made Thursday of the purchase of two Sallinas, Cal., dailies by Mr. Spedel, and the transfer of Graham Dean, formerly business manager of the Press-Citizen, to publisher of the California papers.

WILLIAM T. HAGEBOECK

Mr. Bunker, prior to his affiliation with the Press-Citizen last year, was general manager of Student Publications, Inc., publishers of The Daily Iowan, Hawkeye, Frivol, Transit, and Journal of Business. A graduate of the university, he has been active in business and civic life in Iowa City, having served as chairman of the community chest campaign during 1935.

LYLE T. HARPER

Mr. Hageboeck also formerly was with Student Publications, Inc., having served as advertising manager and assistant general manager of The Daily Iowan for several years before joining the staff of the Des Moines newspapers.

Jesus Teaches True Values

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—Luke 12:22-34

By the Rev. Alvin E. Bell and Alfred J. Buescher

A man came to Jesus to ask that he force his brother to share an inheritance. Jesus replied, "Man, who makes me a divider over you?" Instead Jesus rebuked both for their covetousness.

To illustrate the curse of covetousness Jesus told the story of the rich fool whose only thought was of "my barns", "my grain", "my goods". These were all he thought he needed in life.

Then God said to him: "Thou fool, 'tis night shall thy soul be required of thee, then whose shall those things be?" So, Jesus says, it is with all who lay up riches selfishly and lack godliness.

Jesus taught his disciples to trust God for all their needs. "Seek ye God's kingdom and these things shall be added unto you." (GOLDEN TEXT—Matt. 6:33)

Johnson County Taxpayers To Discuss Widening Highway 161

Widening of U.S. highway 161 between Iowa City and Cedar Rapids will be discussed at a meeting of the Johnson County Taxpayers' league March 28, it was announced yesterday by James E. Bowersox of Shueyville, president of the league. The meeting will be at 1:30 p.m. at the Johnson county court house.

The project has met with opposition on the grounds that taking land along the highway will destroy many shade trees and injure land owners' property, it was said in the announcement.
