BORAH FAILS TO FALL IN LINE

News Flashes

Condemnation

WASHINGTON, June 12 (AP)—Condemnation of the house tax bill as a measure that "would obstruct industrial growth and the progress of recovery" came today from one business organization as conferees worked inconclusively to bring the house and senate versions of a revenue bill into alignment.

Troops Near China

SHANGHAI, June 12 (AP)—Big detachments of the Nanking (central) government army marched southward today and were believed dangerously close to troops of the militant Canton (south China) government.

Conservative leaders both in Nanking and Canton reluctantly admitted they believed hostilities were imminent.

Both Hongkong and Canton dispatches said southern troops, which advanced into Hunan province—of the central government—were withdrawing. Nanking fliers dropped pamphlets warning against further advances, these reports said. Warlike tension was said to have receded.

Plunges 12 Stories

NEW YORK, June 12 (AP)—A crowded elevator load of screaming women and a few men plunged 12 stories to the basement of the Wurlitzer building near Times Square tonight but only three of the 26 passengers had to be taken to a hospital.

At least 11 others who made the dizzy descent received minor injuries to legs and ankles and body bruises. Three women taken to a hospital suffered head cuts and two of them broke leg bones.

Five-Year Sentence

DAVENPORT, June 12 (AP)—District Judge W. W. Scott sentenced Rosemary Sankers, 18, to serve five years in Rockwell City women's reformatory today and then paroled her after the girl pleaded guilty of attempting to extort money from E. P. Adler, Davenport publisher.

Judge Scott continued the case of Marie Dumond, 16, who the Sankers girl claimed induced her to telephone Adler that he'd better meet a "woman in green" at a Davenport theater "or the same thing will happen to you that happened in Chicago."

"Shoot Me"

NEW YORK, June 12 (AP)—Otto Richter, 21-year-old German refugee, marched down Broadway to the Battery today with a sign on his back reading: "Shoot me."

At the Battery he gave himself up to authorities who took him to Ellis island for deportation to Germany tomorrow.

His sign asked that he be shot because if he went back to Germany he would meet a similar fate.

Soviet Democracy

MOSCOW, June 12 (AP)—The official press, commenting on Russia's projected new constitution, described Soviet democracy today as the "only real democracy of the world."

Bourgeois democracy, the newspapers asserted, is a "dictatorship of capitalism."

A new constitution, to be promulgated this fall, will guarantee freedom of speech, press, employment and religion; establish two parliamentary bodies and give Russians the right to elect part of their officials by secret ballot.

David Hughes, 75, Dies Here

David J. Hughes, 75, 609 S. Dodge street, died at University hospital at 9:25 last night. He had undergone an operation June 5, and had developed heart trouble after the operation.

Mr. Hughes was born in Van Wert, Ohio. He lived the first 17 years of his life in a log cabin. His father died during the Civil war. Just before his marriage to Jane Ann Thomas in 1886, Mr. Hughes came to Johnson county.

Surviving are two sons, George L., an employe at the postoffice here, and W. G., a bindery foreman at the Athens Printing company.

Four children preceded Mr. Hughes in death. His wife died April 20, 1916. Hugh O. Hughes, a brother of Vanwert, Ohio, and 3 grandchildren also survive. Nine brothers preceded Mr. Hughes in death.

The body is at the Oathout Funeral home. Funeral arrangements will be completed today.

NEW G.O.P. NATIONAL CHAIRMAN

Completing the capture of the national republican organization by Landon forces, John Hamilton, Landon campaign manager, yesterday was unanimously chosen as chairman of the national G.O.P. committee. Hamilton is pictured above as he addressed convention delegates in Cleveland.

Hamilton Named Committee Head

PLEDGES SELF TO ELECTION OF ALF LANDON

By the Associated Press
CLEVELAND, June 12—A vigorous, hard campaign to elect Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas to the presidency was pledged today by John Hamilton upon assuming the chairmanship of the republican national committee.

With his elevation to that office, requested by Governor Landon, the forces of the Kansas completed their capture of the national party organization. Moreover, a subcommittee, appointed by Hamilton, was authorized to name all other officers and subcommittees.

Proposed Resolution

Even before he was chosen, the young, red-headed Kansan, his face lined from the fatigue of the last few convention days, proposed a resolution, which was adopted, authorizing appointment.

"We are going into a vigorous campaign and a hard campaign," he said. "We expect the republicans to do their duty."

"There are going to be a lot of mistakes and errors of judgment made because we're going to do things. In advance I ask your indulgence in those errors and a realization that they were made in an effort to elect a republican president."

Members of the subcommittee which will confer with Landon: Hamilton, Williams, and Henry P. Fletcher, retiring chairman, ex officio; George A. Ball, Indiana; Mrs. Bertha Baur, Illinois; Robert P. Burroughs, New Hampshire; R. B. Creager, Texas; Rep. J. Will Taylor, Tennessee; Mrs. Paul Fitzsimmons, Rhode Island; Walter S. Hallanan, West Virginia; Charles D. Hillis, New York; Mrs. John E. Hillman, Colorado; Daniel Pomeroy, New Jersey; Mrs. H. H. Sayre, Oklahoma; Mrs. Marion M. Scranton, Pennsylvania; Harrison E. Spangler, Iowa; Earl Warren, California; Ezra Whitla, Idaho; and Joseph W. Martin Jr., Massachusetts.

Hamilton has been learning politics from the "grass roots" up for most of his 44 active years.

In recent months he was the field marshal of the Landon forces who triumphantly pushed to success the candidacy of the Kansas governor for the republican presidential nomination.

Will Oppose Farley

In the forthcoming campaign, he will be pitted against the politically-wise James A. Farley.

Performance Aim of Education Declares Erskine Before 3,500

ERSKINE IS THRILLED IN TRAVEL THROUGH GRANT WOOD'S LAND

By MERLE MILLER
(Daily Iowan City Editor)

John Erskine thinks Grant Wood is one of America's greatest painters. He thinks women's place in education is far too important. He thinks Iowa would be a great place to live, and he thinks teaching is the greatest profession in the world.

All this he revealed yesterday afternoon in his hotel room, 10 minutes after he had arrived.

"Come in," he said as we knocked at the door. "Make yourself at home." Then all at once he ushered us to a chair, offered us a cigarette, took one himself, opened a window, lit the cigarette and began talking.

He is thrilled by his lecture tour through the midwest, and especially Iowa. "This is Grant Wood's country," he said. "As I pass along the road everything looks different from what it did when I was through here before. I seem to see all the scenery through Wood's eyes."

While he talked in his slow, lais (See Page FIVE No. 1)

Author Opens Lecture Series; Conducts Round Table Today

The largest audience ever to attend a university summer lecture, 3,500 heard John Erskine last night declare that performance, not merely appreciation, is the aim of education.

Mr. Erskine, famous as an educator and author, opened the university summer lecture series with an address on the west front of Old Capitol.

He will also conduct a round table discussion at 9 o'clock this morning in the house chamber of Old Capitol.

Speaking on "The Better Education," Mr. Erskine severely criticized the modern teaching of language, history and English. "We are famous for teaching French or German over a period of eight or 10 years so that nobody can understand it," he declared.

Gently making fun of the "liberal arts," the speaker declared that performance, not theory, should be taught. He maintained that science and athletics are taught as they should be.

"History," Mr. Erskine said, "is a drama in air: racing with death in fiery plane." (See Page FIVE No. 2)

Drama in Air: Racing With Death In Fiery Plane

Jesse Jones, Three Others Aboard, Saved By Calmness of Pilots

By the Associated Press
DALLAS, Tex., June 12—Jesse Jones, chairman of the reconstruction finance corporation, and three other passengers, were saved from a fiery death today by two daring pilots who raced a flaming monoplane to earth while fire raged in their compartment.

Full Credit

Edwin Hefley, Houston, Tex., the pilot, was seriously burned about the face and arms. Co-pilot Eugene Schacher, Houston, was less seriously injured. Jones helped pull them to safety.

Jones gave them full credit for saving his life and the lives of his fellow passengers, former Governor and Mrs. W. P. Hobby and Joe Toomey, Jones' secretary, all of Houston.

All of the four escaped injury except Hobby, who was cut slightly over the right eye.

The blazing monoplane, with the pilot and co-pilot grimly facing the flames in their compartment, dived at a rate estimated by Hefley at 275 miles an hour.

Gasoline Leak

The plane landed in a field on C. Edwards' farm near Ferris, 20 miles south of Dallas, skidding to a smoking halt on its belly after the landing gear had been torn off.

Jones and his fellow passengers tore open the door of the pilots' compartment and dragged Hefley and Schacher to safety.

A few moments later the plane was destroyed by the blaze.

Schacher said he and Hefley smelled a gasoline leak, cut off the motor and began a gradual descent. A moment later, he said, there was a backfire and a flash of flame.

As fire began to eat at the single-motored ship, Hefley put it into a dive.

Show No Alarm

"Pilot Hefley told me to go back and tell the passengers what had happened," Schacher said.

"I told them to fasten their safety belts, that the plane was on fire and that we would land in a hurry. They did not show any alarm, but quietly did as I told them."

Jones said Schacher then re-joined Hefley in the pilots' compartment, tightly closing the door to the passenger cabin.

"If they had not stuck to their posts," he asserted, "we all would have been killed."

No Time for Fear

"With the plane ablaze, the pilot made a quick forced landing—a beautiful piece of work—in a field near Ferris. The plane hit hard and we scrambled out, pulling the pilots from the flaming compartment."

Jones said he did not have time to be frightened.

"We came down so fast that we didn't have time to think," he said.

Ex-Convict Admits Slaying Oil Attendant

APPREHENSION CLEARS UP MURDER ASCRIBED TO ESCAPED MANIACS

By the Associated Press
OMAHA, Neb., (Saturday)—Omaha police said a 19-year-old ex-convict, captured late last night by detectives here when he approached an automobile which the officers had watched for several hours, admitted early today he kidnaped and slew Henry Plummer, 38, Council Bluffs oil station attendant, Thursday night.

Police Capt. Robert Heller and Lieut. Thomas Ryan said the youth's capture cleared up the killing which authorities yesterday had ascribed to Lawrence De Vol, escaped Minnesota felon, and two companions who fled with him last Sunday from the hospital for the criminally insane at St. Peter, Minn.

The officers said the youth identified himself as Allen Wheat, 19, of Rapid City, S.D. They said he told them he recently was discharged from the South Dakota state prison at Sioux Falls after completing a 15-month sentence for auto theft.

President Hits Monopolies In Texas Speech

By the Associated Press
DALLAS, Tex., June 12—President Roosevelt climaxed his whirlwind speaking tour of the Texas centennial today with a two-fisted assault on monopoly and an urge that his "good neighbor" policy be extended to Mexico and other foreign lands.

In another speech—an informal luncheon address—the president said that while the United States was "world minded," its help to foreign nations beset with dangers would be "merely moral."

Facing a colorful and cheering crowd estimated at 50,000 in the Cotton Bowl Centennial stadium here, the chief executive declared "chiselers" and "prophets of evil" were "still with us" and added that if "labor is to be a commodity," the nation would find itself one of "boarding houses instead of a nation of homes."

Freely discussing national questions, he said:

Have Restored Democracy

"Today we have restored democracy in government.

"We are in the process of restoring democracy in opportunity."

The great throng sitting in a broiling sun that sent the thermometer to 95 cheered this utterance and applauded again as he asserted:

"In our national life, public and private, the very nature of free government demands that there must be a line of defense held by the yeomanry of business and industry and agriculture.

REVEALS QUANDARY

PARIS, June 12 (AP)—Nomination of Gov. Alfred M. Landon of Kansas as republican candidate for the presidency of the United States, and the party's keynote speech have revealed the republicans in a veritable quandary, two French newspapers observed here tonight.

The authoritative and conservative Le Temps insisted there was "nothing new or clarifying in the candidacy of Governor Landon."

CANDID CAMERA CATCHES KNOX

"Ladies and gentlemen . . ."

"That's what we need . . ."

"I want you to remember this . . ."

Landon Favors Swift Attack

By the Associated Press
TOPEKA, Kan., June 12—Vigorous and outspoken, Gov. Alf M. Landon topped his first day as the republican presidential nominee by asserting tonight that "I favor an immediate move on the enemy."

Swiftly he dispatched a message of confidence to the Cleveland convention; congratulated Col. Frank Knox, his running mate; outlined by telephone his choice of John D. M. Hamilton to head the national committee, and arranged to meet Knox and others here Monday for a study of strategy.

Echoes From G.O.P. Convention

NEW YORK, June 12 (AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover boarded a train for the west tonight with a statement that "the ticket and the platform adopted by the republican party suit me perfectly."

For 10 minutes the usually taciturn Hoover grinned, chuckled, talked politics and said "the momentous question of where I'm going fishing" would have to be decided within 24 hours.

"WE'LL CARRY IOWA"

CHICAGO, June 12 (AP)—Sen. L. J. Dickinson, en route home from the republican national convention, said tonight "we're going to carry Iowa for Landon and Knox and Dickinson next fall."

Peggy, Mrs. Knox Leave

CLEVELAND, June 12 (AP)—Tired Peggy Anne Landon, headed for her father's front porch campaign before this show's finale, didn't hear his hospitable call to all: "Come out."

DELIGHTED TO CONFER

CHICAGO, June 12 (AP)—Col. Frank Knox, republican vice-presidential nominee, wired Gov. Alf M. Landon tonight he would be "delighted" to confer with the presidential nominee in Topeka, Kan., Monday.

The Chicago publisher said: "We are at Armscaddon again and I prize highly the opportunity under your leadership to fight battle to a victorious conclusion in a far graver crisis than that of 1912."

BACK TO ROUTINE

TOPEKA, Kan., June 12 (AP)—Duties as mistress of the Kansas executive mansion engulfed Mrs. Alf M. Landon, 36, tonight as the household settled back to routine out of which the nomination of her husband as republican presidential candidate lifted it yesterday.

Idaho Senator Unwilling To Reveal Stand

SENATOR NORRIS PREDICTS ROOSEVELT WILL BE REELECTED

By the Associated Press
WASHINGTON, June 12—A refusal by Senator Borah of Idaho to say whether he would support Gov. Alf M. Landon for president in the coming campaign coincided today with an assertion by Senator Norris, veteran Nebraska republican, that he was confident President Roosevelt would be reelected.

In a statement, Norris said the Cleveland convention demonstrated "very clearly that the reactionaries are still in control" and that "the issue is clearly drawn between the forces of reaction and those of liberal progress."

"The spontaneous demonstration given Mr. Hoover," he said, "is conclusive evidence that the party leaders still believe in reactionary principles and have learned nothing from experience."

Declines to Make Comment

A short while after his return from Cleveland, Borah declined to make specific comment on Landon's monetary message to the convention last night because he said it was "not clear."

Talking with a score of reporters, the Idahoan said he felt "no soreness" at his own failure to gain the presidential nomination and that he had no "objection" to the selection of Col. Frank Knox as the vice-presidential candidate.

The statement by Norris who supported Mr. Roosevelt in 1932 said:

"The republican convention demonstrated very closely that the reactionaries are still in control of that organization. The same unseen influences controlled its deliberations and its actions. Liberalism and human considerations were given lip service only."

"The spontaneous demonstration given Mr. Hoover is conclusive evidence that the party leaders still believe in reactionary principles and have learned nothing from experience."

"For more than 30 years, in congress and out, I have fought these special interests which, for the benefit of the few, have fleeced the many. During these years, I have looked forward in hopeful anticipation to the day when we would have a man in the White House who would dedicate himself to breaking the strangle hold of these interests upon the lives of the American people."

"I believe that in President Roosevelt we have such a man. I have never been more convinced of the truth of the conviction that the issue is clearly drawn between the forces of reaction and those of liberal progress than during the 'three long days' that I have followed the proceedings at Cleveland. In the republican party as now organized and led, the old guard is still in the saddle and in my opinion the welfare of our nation and our people demands that the new order be continued. I am confident it will be."

President Roosevelt himself has urged Norris to run for the senate again this year. As yet, the Nebraska has made public no definite decision.

Further reaction to the naming of the Landon-Knox ticket and the platform adopted by the republicans generally followed party lines, with praise coming from republican members of congress and criticism emanating from the democrats.

Representative Bacharach (R-NJ) said in a statement that the platform was a "forthright statement of liberal republican principles." On the other hand, it was described by Representative Jones (D-Tex) as a "wilderness of phrases."

Seeks Quick Passage

PARIS (AP)—The chamber of deputies sent a bill giving workers of France a 40-hour week to the senate yesterday, and Premier Leon Blum sought quick passage of his labor measures by the upper house in order to speed a settlement of paralyzing strikes.

Meets in Special Session

MADRID (AP)—Meeting in a special session, the Spanish cabinet agreed tonight to take drastic steps to bring political and labor strife to an end. It was decided to punish to the fullest extent of the law all employers and workers who refused to abide by the terms of a government-dictated compromise.

STEPPING OUT!

with Mary Fran

Dan Cupid, that mischievous master of heart affairs, is in the height of his glory this month with each day bringing announcements of his successful work.

Today, in an early afternoon ceremony at Newton, Alice V. Morgan will become the bride of Howard L. Kellogg, 426 S. Clinton street. The wedding will take place at the First Congregational church, with the Rev. J. Irvine Walker officiating.

Erma Frick, instructor in the Longfellow grade school, and Harold Schuppert, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Schuppert, 1218 E. College street, will be married Monday at the home of the bridegroom. The Rev. Illon T. Jones of the Presbyterian church will officiate.

Of interest at the fine arts building is the "Portrait of Elizabeth Jane Crawford," the work of Mrs. Jean Dayton West, an alumna of the University of Iowa art school. The picture was posed by the little daughter of Prof. and Mrs. Bartholow V. Crawford, 208 Richards street.

The Catholic Daughters of America will receive communion at 7 o'clock tomorrow morning at St. Mary's church. They will attend in a body. A breakfast will be served afterwards in Reich's pine room. Reservations may be made by calling 6357.

Daughters of the American Revolution will be guests this afternoon of the Washington, Ia., chapter at a picnic supper. Mrs. Barbara O'Brien is in charge of transportation.

Mrs. Kinney Names Group Leaders For Girl Scout Camp

Unit leaders of the Girl Scout day camp beginning Tuesday at city park have been announced by Mrs. F. A. Kinney, acting Girl Scout director. Mrs. R. E. Piner, 28 Valley street, is council-advisor, with Ruth Allerton Summer, director.

Unit 1, made up of older girls, will be led by Mrs. Hugh Carson, 927 Third street, Iowa City's first Golden Eaglet scout. Junior councilors to Mrs. Carson are Lorene Berkey, 924 E. Market street, Gertrude Ann Billick, 420 S. Clinton street, and Gretchen Hughes, 112 Bloomington street.

A second unit made up of younger girls will be led by Roberta Schmitt, 501 S. Johnson street, lieutenant of troop 7. Miss Schmitt's junior councilors are Mary Geraldine White, 705 S. Clinton street, and Betty Williams, 1855 Muscatine avenue.

Unit leader for the lone troops outside of Iowa City will be Mary Parden, 225 River street, captain of troop 7. Margaret Ann Farrell, 710 Summit street, is junior councilor.

ERSKINE-ISMS

"In another 50 years, the way our curriculums are lengthening, a man won't begin to practice medicine before he's 45 or 50, and a lawyer won't start until he's about 60."

"The Greeks are dead now, and their dancing's over. Nobody can possibly know now how they danced."

"We study music appreciation so we can notice what we should in Brahms or Beethoven—if we recognize it."

"They say Latin is a dead language. Well, the way we're teaching our other languages, we're killing and burying them too."

"It takes less time and money to teach a student a subject so he can use it than to give him a cultural background."

"I am not an admirer of athletics, but I am glad they are a part of the university curriculum. Athletics are taught right. We don't teach the history of baseball or football. We teach how to play it."

"When you graduate from the university the administrators are not sure your education will show, so they give you a diploma."

IOWA CITY'S NEWEST BANK

HAS JUST RECEIVED THE FOLLOWING REGULATIONS FROM THE FEDERAL RESERVE BANK OF CHICAGO RELATIVE TO:

Adjusted Service Bonds

1. Only the veteran himself whose name is inscribed on the face of the bond can "cash" the bond. The bonds are not negotiable, cannot be assigned or pledged as collateral.
2. The bonds may be presented for redemption at any Post Office in the United States, although only certain Post Offices have been designated as "Paying Offices."
3. In all cases where bonds are presented at Post Offices the veteran will not receive payment immediately but a receipt will be issued and thereafter a Treasury Department check will be mailed from a "paying office" direct to the veteran's address. The length of time required for this cannot be estimated at this time. In these cases bonds will be handled at the risk and expense of the United States.
4. Bonds presented for certification ELSEWHERE than at Post Offices cannot be surrendered to Post Offices for redemption but must be forwarded at the expense and risk of the veteran direct to the Treasurer of the United States, Washington, D. C. Thereafter a check will be issued in payment and forwarded to his address. BONDS SHOULD NOT BE FORWARDED TO THE FEDERAL RESERVE BANKS.
5. Certifying officers will be held responsible for positive identification, provision being made for witnesses known to the attesting officers if necessary.
6. COMPLYING WITH THE REQUEST OF PRESIDENT FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT THE IOWA STATE BANK AND TRUST CO. WILL NEGOTIATE CHECKS IN PAYMENT OF BONUS BONDS AT PAR AND WITHOUT CHARGE TO VETERANS.
7. While the first delivery of bonds will be made June 15, the tremendous volume involved may cause some delay, and immediate delivery of all items should not be expected within the first few days.
8. Veterans should be instructed to address all communications to their Veteran's Office.

AROUND THE TOWN

with MERLE MILLER

Temperature High?

We wandered over near West-lawn yesterday afternoon and just sat there for a while on the lawn talking to some of the nurses—mostly students, a few graduates. We found out some startling things. We found out the old story about nurses marrying their patients isn't so over-romantic after all.

Convalescing

Hospital romances, we are told, usually begin when a patient is convalescing. In his weakened condition he begins telling his secrets. Sometimes he regrets later. Usually, however, he calls up the nurse later and tries to make a date—occasionally he succeeds.

No Evenings Off

Student nurses haven't many evenings off. They meet very few men. But romance blossoms right along anyway. And usually there isn't much trouble in making arrangements for a date. Most nurses think appendectomy cases are the most romantic—and the best looking.

Women Talk

And it isn't only the men who indulge in confidences. Many women tell nurses the things they haven't told their mothers, and certainly not their husbands. They talk over disappointments in love, and discuss the woman down the hall or the good-looking doctors.

Doctors and Such

Then, of course, there are the doctors. Doctors and internes aren't the shining heroes to their feminine colleagues that we had supposed. "We get tired of them," the nurses told us.

Enough

A nurse isn't supposed to answer any questions either. She's just supposed to stand quietly by and tell the patient that that pain he feels in his liver is nothing, that he has nothing to worry about, and that life is just a bowl of honey. But enough of this. Nurses, we found, are pretty o-kay in the long run. We'll be able to tell you more after tomorrow night. We have a date with one.

Picnic Lunch But No Food

Big Ten Art Exhibit Piece No. 64 Fools Iowa City People

"Picnic lunch," No. 64 of the Big Ten art exhibition in Iowa Union, is about to be explained.

Curious spectators blocked the entrance to the Iowa Union library as they looked at this example of a Minnesotan's art, until it was removed to a less conspicuous place for convenience's sake.

They thought it was an outdoor scene. They saw in it a man, reclining against an automobile seat. They saw a tree. But they could never understand why they could see no food.

Indoor Scene

Sixty-four, however, is an indoor scene. There are a basket, a bottle, a window, a wall and a table. For so writes the artist, Wilhelm Bodine of Minneapolis, in answer to a letter from Dorothy Spencer, librarian, requesting that he explain his painting to the public.

Regretting that the letter was really too short to satisfactorily explain the picture, Mr. Bodine invited anyone from here who is ever in Minneapolis to call on him, saying that he would be glad to answer any questions at that time.

Not Idle Play

Artist Bodine went on: "Briefly, I wish to say that my work is not a noble sort of idle play. Behind my painting is a definite aesthetic. I am not only interested in the art of doing, but also in the science of how, and the philosophy of why. "I think of art as a representation of life. This life, I interpret in terms of movement or change. Movement gives rise to the spacial-concept. The spacial-concept gives rise to the first problem—a fusion of the spacial concept with the materials of art for work." Mr. Bodine's painting will leave Iowa Union shortly with the rest of the pieces in the exhibition, when the entire show will be sent to another of the contributing schools.

No. 1: Early Years LIFE STORY OF COLONEL FRANK KNOX IN SKETCH STRIPS

Col. William Frank Knox was born in the Dorchester section of Boston, Mass., New Year's day, 1874, the son of William Edwin and Sarah Barnard of English extraction. At the tender age of seven, Knox's family moved to Grand Rapids, Mich., where his career began some years later.

While attending grammar school Knox spent his early morning hours and evenings selling papers to help support his family. Determined to become a wage earner and a financial help to his family, Frank left school in 1889 against the protests of his mother to work in a shipping room at $5 a week. Advancing swiftly, he became a traveling salesman at 19.

In the 1893 depression Knox was thrown into the army of unemployed. He worked on temporary jobs for as little as $2 a week. He continued ambitiously. Thus, at 20, he entered Alma college, Mich., to work his way through. Knox was athletically inclined, and in his senior year, he was appointed physical instructor of the college. He was graduated in 1898.

Knox became a Rough Rider partly by accident, partly by energetic design at the age of 24. When war started, he pedaled a bicycle to the Michigan militia camp, 120 miles over and back to enlist for the war. He was told to recruit 15 other college men, which he did, but on the day the unit was sworn in, Knox was at a funeral and the unit was filled.

Depressed over this fact, he followed his comrades to Tampa, Fla., as a uniformed camp follower. Nearby the famed Rough Riders were encamped. Knox strolled over to the Rough Riders' camp to talk to a college friend and it was through this acquaintance that he was able to join the unit, headed by the late Theodore Roosevelt. He was with Roosevelt at San Juan.
