Total Almost Same as Goal Of Last Year

No Great Changes Made In Apportioning Of Funds, Weber States

An Iowa City community chest budget for 1937 calling for $20,135.90 was announced late last night by Irving Weber, chairman of the board of trustees. Announcement was made by Mr. Weber at the close of a board meeting in the city hall. The total which will be asked for under the new budget is almost the same as last year's goal of $20,000. Last year only slightly more than $15,000 was actually raised which necessitated the use of most of the chest's emergency reserve fund.

The new budget follows: Social service, $5,075.20; unemployment fund, $1,300; Boy Scouts, $4,000; Girl Scouts $2,390; city hall rest room, $625; recreational center, $3,545.70; campaign expense, $700; administration, $600, and shrinkage, $2,000. The total is $20,135.90.

"These funds are allotted to different organizations to carry on their work for the year 1937," Mr. Weber said. "The total must be raised if the organizations are to carry their programs through as planned."

No Emergency Appropriation
The chairman emphasized the fact that no appropriation has been made in this year's budget for the chest's emergency reserve fund. This fund was practically depleted last year when it became necessary to divide it among the character building organizations sponsored by the chest to keep them operating.

Mr. Weber expressed confidence that the 1937 goal can be attained "with the liberal backing of the community."

No radical changes have been made in apportioning the funds to the various participating organizations this year, Mr. Weber stated. The recreational center will have the new duty this year of supervising coasting hills in the city.

Books Will Be Audited
The community chest's books will be audited each month by a certified accountant, according to J. J. McNamara, treasurer of the board. They are open to inspection by any citizen at any time, he stated.

Community chest trustees present at last night's meeting include, Mr. Weber, Mr. McNamara, Mrs. Mary Louise Lawyer, Mrs. Andrew H. Woods, Alva B. Oathout, Joseph Glassman and Harry S. Bunker. Prof. Earle S. Smith is also a member of the board.

Representatives from the following participating organizations were also present: Boy Scouts, Prof. Elmer W. Hills; Girl Scouts, Mrs. F. D. Francis; recreational center, Mrs. Arthur V. O'Brien, and social service, Frances Wilson.

The board of trustees will meet the second Monday of each month hereafter in the chamber of commerce building.

35 Indicted on Mann Act
NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—A federal grand jury yesterday returned indictments charging 35 men and women with violations of the Mann act in connection with the operations of an alleged white slave syndicate in southern New England.

Immediate steps will be taken this week by the Iowa City Light and Power company to lay natural gas pipe lines from the city limits to the company's main distribution plant on Burlington street, Roscoe Taylor, manager, said last night.

Court Stay
Taylor's decision came after the city yesterday afternoon received a court stay from Federal Judge Charles A. Dewey of Des Moines granting the city utility the right to lay the gas lines without interference from the city.

The stay directs, however, that the company cannot connect directly with its main line of distribution nor can it serve natural gas to any gas consumer pending the city appeal. The stay was granted to the city without an appeal bond being posted.

The city's appeal of Judge Dewey's decision will probably go to the United States circuit court of appeals in the April term next year, it was indicated. This will carry final decision of the case past the next city election.

The pipe lines will come from the end of West Benton street, over the Burlington street bridge and to the company's main distribution plant at 503 E. Burlington street. The pipe to be used is already on hand.

"Probably the entire work of laying the lines could be done in about three weeks," Mr. Taylor said last night. "We will attempt to lay the pipe in favorable weather conditions."

Ninety Days for Appeal
The city, meanwhile, will have 90 days in which to perfect an appeal to Judge Dewey's ruling of last Monday which provided that natural gas may be installed here and set aside a gas rate ordinance passed by the city council lowering the rate on manufactured gas.

The stay was granted the city by Judge Dewey yesterday afternoon. Attorney Whiting, Mayor Thomas E. Martin and Attorney D. C. Nolan, representing the city, attended the special hearing.

The gas controversy here is an outgrowth of a resolution passed in the fall of 1934 by the previous city council. The council after some investigation directed the light company to bring natural gas into Iowa City from a line west of Coralville.

In December, a group of Iowa City coal dealers through George Johnston, a dealer, brought suit against the city asking that the city engineer be restrained from granting the power company a permit to excavate the streets and alleys for the purpose of laying natural gas lines.

Injunction Denied
After the light company entered the case on the side of the city, the coal dealers' injunction was denied. It was later appealed to the supreme court.

When the present city council took office in April of 1935 the power of granting excavation permits was taken from the city engineer. The council decreed that it must pass on the application before a permit could be granted.

Following this step by the council, the light company began suit in federal court asking that council be ordered to grant a permit for the excavation of streets to bring in natural gas. The city retaliated by ordering the company to furnish manufactured gas at a 12 1/2 per cent reduction from present rates.

Relief Asked
Declaring that the council's ordinance ordering the reduction was confiscatory as long as the company attempted to manufacture gas, relief was asked in federal court.

The two cases against the city were turned over to Special Master Allen A. Herrick for findings by Federal Judge Dewey. Judge Dewey's decree confirmed the findings several weeks ago of Special Master Herrick who reported that natural gas should be installed and that the proposed rate reduction would be "confiscatory."

Dr. J. A. Edwards, Head of Oakdale Sanatorium, is Dead

Trustees Set Community Chest Budget at $20,135.90

Succumbs To Heart Ailment And Injuries

Dr. J. A. Edwards, superintendent of the state tuberculosis sanatorium at Oakdale, died at University hospital at 8:10 last night of a cardiac ailment complicated by injuries received last Tuesday when he was in an automobile crash near Marshalltown.

Dr. Howard L. Beye, head of the general surgery department of the University hospital, died shortly after the accident occurred, and Alva Hutson, State Center farmer, was instantly killed.

Dr. William Spear of the Oakdale staff, only survivor of the tragic accident, who was brought to University hospital Sunday along with Dr. Edwards from the St. Thomas hospital in Marshalltown, was reported "resting comfortably" early this morning.

Hospital authorities listed Dr. Edwards' injuries as a bad "compound fracture of the leg, shock, and numerous minor injuries, all of which contributed to the cardiac condition causing death."

At the time of the accident last Tuesday the three doctors were on their way to Sioux City where they were to address a meeting of the Woodbury County Medical society.

Funeral service for Dr. Edwards will be at his home in Oakdale this afternoon. Burial will be in Glenwood.

Born in Glenwood
Dr. Edwards was born in Glenwood Sept. 3, 1875. He studied at the University of Iowa college of medicine for one year, and finished at the University of Nebraska medical school.

He served both in private practice and as a doctor in a hospital at Rock Springs, Wyo. Later he was assistant physician in the School for the Feeble Minded at Glenwood for about eight years. In 1929 he became superintendent of Oakdale and has served in that position ever since.

Survivors
The nearest surviving relative is Charles Edwards, 331 S. Johnson street. He is also survived by three nieces, Mrs. Elizabeth Workman of Cedar Rapids, and Dorothy and Chairman Mollie of Los Angeles, Cal.; a nephew, Milton Edwards of Brewton, Ala., and an aunt, Mrs. W. I. Jackson of Des Moines.

He was president of the Iowa Tuberculosis association, and of the Iowa Sanatorium association. He was a member of the Knights of Pythias, the Iowa State Medical society, Johnson County Medical society, American Medical association, National Tuberculosis association, Sigma Nu fraternity and Phi Rho Sigma medical fraternity.

Teacher Reinstated
CAMPBELL, Ohio (AP)—The board of education last night reinstated Michael Graban as a teacher in Memorial high school after his transfer to a grade school by Supl. Andrew S. Klinko precipitated a "strike" among the school's 900 pupils.

Avenue Gets a Name
The Iowa City council at its special meeting last night gave a nameless avenue a name—Miller avenue. The avenue begins on the south side of West Benton street, goes along the west side of the Bailey and Becker addition, to the north side of primary road one.

I favor a university night club properly supervised in the Iowa Union cafeteria and ask that university authorities provide for its establishment as soon as possible.

Estimates On Equipment For Club Are Made

While votes favoring the proposed night club in Iowa Union cafeteria increased to 694 yesterday, estimates on installation of necessary equipment for the club went ahead.

Before official attention can be given the students' request for "a night club properly supervised in Iowa Union cafeteria" cost of its establishment must be provided.

Tentative plans include a change in hangings and lightings to harmonize with cabaret theme, dance floor 20x50 feet and installation of proper acoustics.

Student Talent

If the request of the students for the club is granted it is hoped that the wealth of student talent—crooners, dancers, musicians and magicians—will be unearched to perform at the club. A master of ceremonies—a student—will preside. Music will be provided by a local orchestra.

"Scores of students who are splendid entertainers will be given a chance to demonstrate their ability at the club," Prof. Rufus H. Fitzgerald, chairman of the university social committee said yesterday.

"Favorable Reaction"

He added: "There has been a very favorable reaction to the proposed night club and I'm having estimates made on the cost of laying the floor, installation of acoustics and lightings and hangings."

Planned to be open on Friday nights when no all-university party is in progress and on every Saturday night, the club also will be available for fraternity and sorority parties. The club will accommodate from 100 to 150 couples, with refreshments, purchase of which will not be compulsory, to be served.

While estimates are being drawn up on the cost of establishing the club, a step necessary before official approval of the proposed plan can be given, voting will continue. Cast your vote today.

Boy, What a Night! Sleep in Box Car Costs Men $71.50

Sleeping in a hotel would have been cheaper than the night in a box car which Howard Wright and a friend spent here recently.

Someone who entered the car while Wright and his friend were sleeping stole a diamond valued at $25, $9 in cash and a note for $37.50, according to a police report.

The stolen articles were in a pair of pants and a shirt which the unknown thief carried from the car. The clothing was found near the car where it had been left after being ransacked.

Russia Proclaims Roosevelt As Next Communistic President Of United States, Speaker Asserts

Landon Will Continue 'Aid Without Graft,' Says Mrs. Simmons

That the Roosevelt administration is transplanting communism into America was emphasized last night by Mrs. George Simmons, campaigning Missouri farm woman, in an address before 450 persons in Macbride auditorium.

After accusing Rexford Tugwell of implications with communistic Russia, Mrs. Simmons stated that "modern socialism is based on the 'perverted doctrines of Karl Marx.'"

"Red-blooded Americans cannot accept those teachings that are based on the destruction of government, abolition of religion and private property and invasion of the sanctity of the home. Roosevelt is heralded in Russia as the next communistic president of the United States," declared Mrs. Simmons.

Turning to agricultural policies, Mrs. Simmons, herself a farm woman for 23 years, asserted that the AAA was not an attempt to solve the agricultural problems. "Rather," continued Mrs. Simmons, "it was, along with the soil conservation act and other new deal policies, an attempt to perpetuate this administration in office. Our problem is whether or not to make permanent this temporary sacrifice of liberty and privileges."

To Continue Relief

According to Mrs. Simmons, Gov. Alf M. Landon will continue relief "where it is necessary but will eliminate all this political graft."

"We'll eliminate high-salaried relief officials and turn relief back to local agencies who can determine who needs relief and whether persons on relief can find jobs," she said.

In a vigorous defense of the constitution, the self-styled Jeffersonian democrat advised her audience to go home and read the document and "be astounded with the foresight of the fathers of our country. We haven't outgrown the constitution; we're behind it rather than ahead of it."

Mrs. Simmons is a newspaper columnist and was awarded the Missouri Guild Writers trophy in 1935. She is the mother of five girls, three married, one in college and one in grade school.

Attorney Robert Larson, republican county chairman, presided over the meeting. The speaker was introduced by Mrs. George Hunter, county vice-chairman of the central committee.

Clara Cole, 51, died suddenly yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at her home at 804 E. Fairchild street. Her death was caused by a heart attack.

Heart Attack Causes Death of Miss Cole, Life-Long Resident

Clara Cole, 51, died suddenly yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at her home at 804 E. Fairchild street. Her death was caused by a heart attack.

County Coroner George Marech was summoned, and the body was taken to the Hobenschuh funeral home. Funeral arrangements will be made today.

Miss Cole was born in Iowa City March 17, 1885 and spent her entire life here. She is survived by two brothers, Ed Cole, 804 E. Fairchild street, and Roy Cole, whose residence is unknown; one sister, Mrs. Frank Reddick, 102 S. Capitol street, and one niece, Margaret Pierce of Iowa City.

There was a kid named Alfred Landon on the football team at the Marietta, Ohio, academy, back in 1902.

He was a good right end, even though he was light, and his teammates called him a "swell fellow."

Thirty-four years later, Gov. Alf Landon is running as republican nominee for president. One of his old teammates, Prof. Charles H. McCloy of the child welfare department, yesterday recalled the days when both played football without helmets and wore noseguards.

Professor McCloy reminisced, "Alfred was an awful nice kid. . . Sort of quiet. . . He wasn't exactly a politician, but he never made any faux pas."

On the academy team, Professor McCloy played right tackle, and while at Marietta, he also served as track captain.

Even if he did play football with "Alfred," Professor McCloy won't be influenced when he votes in the November elections. "I really don't know yet which way I'll vote," he said. "But of course you don't vote for a man just because you played football on the same team."

A New Yorker At Large

By JACK STINNETT
NEW YORK—The "average New York hostess" knows as much about cocktails as Eskimos know about the nocturnal habits of the hippopotamus.

So, at least, concludes Cynthia Howard, writer and consultant on cocktail hour etiquette and recipes, after telephoning 500 New York hostesses for answers to a score of questions which she describes as both pertinent and impertinent.

Out of the 500, she found only 12 who "never served cocktails," which would warn the cockles of the distillers. If they were not aware of it already. Of these, two declared their reasons were those of taste, and that they preferred Dubonnet or sherry to more potent before-dinner quaffs.

On almost every call, Miss Howard was moved to say: "Fie, fie, for the ladies of the house invariably excused their lack of cocktail knowledge with the information that they always left the mixing business to the men of the house."

"Housewives who pursue such a negligent path are likely to find themselves living alone, whether they like it or not," warns the consultant hostess.

Informed by the city's barkeeps that the most popular mixed drinks are the Manhattan, Martini, Old Fashioned, Whiskey Sour and Bacardi cocktail, Miss Howard asked each hostess if she could mix any or all of them. The results, she says, "were appalling."

Only 3 per cent of the 488 who served cocktails were able to mix all five favorites; 7 per cent, four; 18 per cent, three; 26 per cent, two; 25 per cent, one; and 27 per cent none at all.

Many of the ladies did not know an Old Fashioned glass from an old fashioned mug... and a few turned the tables on their inquisitor by asking, "Just what is the difference between a highball and a cocktail?" One young woman with a Park avenue address thought a Whiskey Sour was a brand of liquor.

Miss Howard made another discovery with her last query on the list, "What is your favorite drink?"... that "most of the women called prefer 'masculine' drinks." The first three favorites, in the order of appearance, were the Manhattan, Bacardi and Scotch and Soda. That top-hat delight, Champagne cocktail, rated fourth place and then came the gin concoctions, ranging from the Alexander to that misnomer called "Maiden's Prayer."

Being a "consultant hostess" on cocktail hour matters, Miss Howard found all this "most depressing."

The survey was made, she says, as a basis for a campaign to make the American hostess a good mixer.

Washington World
By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Federal treasury financing is a mysterious thing. Only specialists understand it clearly. It is almost infinitely complicated. When mixed with diplomacy it baffles even the average expert.

Therefore I do not even apologize for having failed at all clearly to comprehend Treasury Secretary Morgenthau's recent announcement of a currency stabilization compact between the United States, Britain and France. Where I particularly erred was in assuming that the secretary was including in his announcement an explanation of the fashion in which stabilization was to be effected. I thought he was doing so, but that I was too ignorant to make any sense out of it.

I find that I did myself an injustice.

METHOD NOT DISCLOSED

Mr. Morgenthau did say that an Anglo-Franco-American monetary stabilization agreement had been arrived at, that France was devaluating the franc and that Uncle Sam has a two billion dollar fund (not to mention Britain's and France's resources) to make the bargain effective.

But he did not tell us in detail HOW it was to be made effective.

I imagined at the time that he WAS telling how, but that the technique of the plan was too intricate for my financially untrained mind to follow.

Now I ascertain from real experts who were present that he made only an announcement, with no explanation of the plan's methods that they could understand, either. Indeed, when questions were put to him, which might have elicited enlightening information, if answered, he sidestepped.

Banker friends of mine, who are skilled in international exchange transactions, testify that neither are they sure how the Anglo-Franco-American compact is to be fulfilled in actual practice.

STABILIZATION DESIRED
All this is not to assert that anything is the matter with the dicker.

Even critics of the secrecy with which it was arrived at express the opinion that international currency stabilization is highly desirable—if it can be guaranteed.

But they would like to know more of the particulars of it.

It is not alone that it is not defined in simple language. It is not defined in ANY language.

Screen Life

By HUBBARD KEAVY
HOLLYWOOD—Time, as Hollywood figures it, is worth about $20 a minute.

Accordingly, the entire scheme of movie-making is on a time-saving basis. Since the average cost of making a picture is $10,000 a day of eight hours, not many minutes—at $20 are thrown away.

Stars, too, who spend more time in preparation for a role than they do in playing it, save as many valuable minutes as they can. Many study their dialog while eating lunch, without getting nervous in digestion, and invariably they go over their lines while getting their make-up on.

Many Use Bicycles
Because distances from dressing rooms to stages are often so great, many players—Joan Crawford, Clark Gable, Gary Cooper and Joan Blondell, to name a few—use bicycles to save time. Olivia de Havilland and Dick Powell have motorized scooters that whiz them around at 20 miles an hour.

On nearly every movie set there is a "reclining board" or two where stars wearing very tight gowns may rest. If they sit down, they'd rip the dress or wrinkle it. They have to rest, so instead of retiring to their dressing rooms, at a loss of time, they sit down and stand up simultaneously.

Stars' dresses do get wrinkled. It might cost $100, or five minutes time, to take it off to press it. Instead, wardrobe assistants have portable ironing boards handy. The list of time-saving wrinkles must include the wisg some women stars wear. It takes from 20 minutes to an hour and a half to dress a star's hair. That means getting up that much earlier. Many save time by having their coiffures "copied" and then they slip them over their own hair.

Football Heads the List Of Pastime Casualties

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.
NOBODY EVER could accuse modern life of being congested. Leaving politics aside as too large a subject, we can stick to our own field of health and find plenty of material to prove the thesis. We are spending millions of dollars a month for research to find the cause and treatment of different diseases to prevent diphtheria and typhoid fever, to vaccinate children, to advise annual physical examination. We have lengthened the span of human life and saved millions of children in infancy—for what? To allow more and more thousands of people to be killed every year by automobiles, on the insane altar of the god of speed, of getting somewhere we do not need to get there in order to waste time before getting back to where we came from. And most of it is perfectly preventable.

We set up in all our institutions of learning athletic contests in order to increase the health and strength of the body, and so arrange the rules of one of these contests that the injuries to the body from playing that game amount annually to twice or three times the incidence of serious infectious disease—such as diphtheria and typhoid fever, which we have learned to prevent. Football heads the list. According to a table just come to hand, there were 97 casualties from football in the United States in 1934. Wrestling is next with 16, basketball has 15, baseball four, tennis none, golf one, tumbling one, track two.

The average citizen dismisses football injuries with a shrug, and the reminder that it is a rough-and-tumble game. As a matter of fact, most of them are preventable and are due to the stupidity of the sponsors and directors of American football. The game would not be tolerated in any other country. Soccer is a thousand times better game to play and watch, a good deal more fun and a good deal safer.

The open game was designed, according to my recollection, so that it would be more interesting to the spectator, and safer.

So far as the latter point is concerned, 36 per cent of all football injuries occur on forward or lateral kick-off plays, 12 per cent occur in line plays of all kinds. That does not look as if the open play had improved matters.

As far as the other is concerned, football now has become the biggest bore on earth. I know of a good many sport-loving people, but I don't know five who go to a football game to see the game. They go to see the crowd, or for dear old Alma Mater, or to get away from home. The referee is the best player on either team; he does the winning and losing for both sides. When one of these interesting open plays occurs, and the penalty is exacted, the grandstand for miles around wants to know what it's all about. One collegian five rows down says it's for holding, and one five rows back says it's for off-side play. You decide to let it go and find out which in the morning paper. By morning you don't give a darn.

The lecture will be illustrated with motion pictures. Admission to the lecture will be by ticket. Tickets will be available to faculty and students on Monday and Tuesday at the Union desk. Any tickets which remain on Wednesday will be available to the general public.

Blow by Blow in the PRESIDENTIAL ARENA

Campaign Offers A Perfect Choice Between Candidates

(Provided by the Democratic National Committee)

The campaign this year offers a perfect choice between contending candidates. Confronting the depression, President Roosevelt bravely met this crisis by initiating the greatest human relief and welfare program in history.

Governor Landon met the same crisis by cutting down on welfare and letting President Roosevelt carry the load. Now he appeals for your suffrage on these economies. Below we print the "box score" and ask you to take your choice:

ROOSEVELT BALANCED HUMAN LIVES!		LANDON BALANCED THE BOOKS!
1. 15,000,000 men, women and children saved from starvation.	1. Neglect of insane condemned as "barbaric" by Kansas judges.	2. 1,000,000 home owners saved from eviction.	2. $6.13 a month for helpless blind people.
3. 50,000,000 bank depositors insured against loss.	3. 458 schools closed.	4. National income raised $21,000,000,000.	4. 7,000 school teachers paid less than $10 a week.
5. Farm income raised more than $3,000,000,000 in one year.	5. No social security program.	6. 5,000,000 adults educated by re-let administration.	6. Children of 14 permitted to work in factories and mines.
7. One-fifth of the nation's school houses built or repaired.	7. No minimum wage law for women and children.	8. More than $500,000,000 spent for hospital construction.	8. Kansas last of the 48 states in aid to education.
9. 750,000 farm owners saved from eviction.	9. Relief workers on highways paid $1 a day.

President Roosevelt estimated the net cost to Uncle Sam for his program will be eight billions. Mr. Hoover cost us five billions in deficits for the depression. Bank deposits alone under Mr. Roosevelt are double the cost in national debt. Was this investment in America worth-while?

Mrs. Housewife, We Hope You'll Read This Today

(Provided by the Republican National Committee)

We hope the ladies will give this column their kind attention today. We want to talk about some of the facts of life. Also some of the figures.

It's an old masculine boast that the men make the money and the women spend it. We know some families where the women make it and the men spend it. But by and large, we all admit that women do about 80 per cent of the buying that is done for the family. And that the most important item on the buying list is food.

So we think that after three or four years of the new deal, with its plowing under of crops, its birth control of pigs, its "processing" taxes and what have you, women have the right experiments of whether they are not.

And the best answer to that question is ANOTHER question: "How much food could you buy with a couple of dollars in 1932, and how much can you buy now?"

These figures tell that story—up to the middle of June. If there has been a marked improvement since, we haven't noticed it.

Item	Amount	Cost	Amount	Cost
Bacon	1 lb.	.199	1/2 lb.	.192
Chuck roast	1 1/2 lbs.	.254	1 lb.	.237
Milk	3 1/2 qts.	.385	3 qts.	.375
Eggs	12	.27	3 1/2 lbs.	.27
Butter	5 lbs.	.255	3 1/2 lbs.	.25
Potatoes	5 lbs.	.075	2 1/2 lbs.	.075
Cabbage	2 lbs.	.07	1 1/2 lbs.	.07
Onions	2 lbs.	.062	1 1/2 lbs.	.06
Sugar	1 lb.	.049	1 lb.	.045
Prunes	1 lb.	.042	1 lb.	.039
Peanuts	1 lb.	.219	1 lb.	.21
Lard	1 lb.	.08	1/2 lb.	.075
Total		$1.99		$2.00

There seems to be a close connection between the blunders of the new deal and the cost of the family dinner. And before our new deal friends try to pass the buck for these prices to the drought, permit us to point out that the drought got in its dirty work AFTER they were compiled.

Eureka! Geniuses in Our Midst; Here Boy, Page Rube Goldberg

It was a cold room in the Quadrangle about 7 o'clock one morning.

The windows were open and the steam was turned off.

Dick Beckman, L2 of Burlington, and Jim Littlefield, L2 of Hopkinton, lay in their beds shivering, knowing that as winter came it would be even more difficult to get up for 8 o'clock classes.

Thus came the invention of the "window-closer-upper and steam-turner-onner."

How It Works

This is the way it operates: An equalizing weight attached to the window is connected by a cord to a trip on a dolly attached to the handle of the radiator. A board hinged to the wall holds an alarm clock over the radiator handle so the key with which the alarm is wound can fasten into a groove in the dolly.

When the alarm goes off, the key turns as the spring unwinds. This turning releases the cord attached to the weight and the windows close. As the alarm spring continues to unwind, the radiator is opened.

But this was only the first invention. Its creators explained modestly, "We wanted to read The Daily Iowan while the room was warming up, so we set to work on another device."

On the principle of a carrier track of a hayrack, Dick and Jim built a device which snaps under their door in the morning. Without getting out of bed, they pull a string, and the paper is carried across the ceiling to drop on either bed. A clothespin, mousetrap, cord and metal rings is the equipment used.

Other Inventions

An indirect lighting system and foot levers attached to the faucets of the wash-bowl are here," suggests Dick.

As to their training for these engineering feats, Jim explained, "Dick draws the blueprints and I do the manual labor—with the helpful criticism of our friends."

But they aren't through inventing yet. Complete plans have not quite been finished, but the latest is a device for opening the door when a person knocks.

"There should be a board on the outside saying, 'Knock here,'" suggests Dick.

"We could use a mousetrap," adds Jim.

And another energy-saver is being created.

Dean Kay Issues Regulations For All University Students

In order to clarify all questions in regard to graduation requirements in the college of liberal arts, Dean George F. Kay issued the following regulations yesterday:

Requirements for graduation:

A. A total of 120 semester hours exclusive of credit for required work in military drill, physical training, and freshman lectures is required for the graduation of students with no entrance deficiencies.

A total of 240 grade points is required on the 120 semester hours counted toward the degree, 2.00 average. Grade points are assigned as follows: to each semester hour of A grade, 4 points; B grade, 3 points; C grade, 2 points; and to each semester hour of D grade, 1 point.

Requirements for continuance of registration:

A. Quantity requirements: Any first semester freshman who does not pass one-half of the hours for which he is registered shall be dropped, unless permitted to continue on probation by special administrative action. If he passes one-half but does not pass as many as one, or three-fourths of the hours for which he is registered, he shall be placed on probation for the next succeeding semester.

Any other student, freshman or upperclassman, whether on probation or not, who does not pass 12 or three-fourths of the hours for which he is registered in any semester shall be dropped, unless permitted to continue on probation by special administrative action.

B. Quality requirements: Any freshman who does not have a 1.5 average on total hours passed at the end of his first two semesters' work shall be dropped unless permitted to continue by special administrative action. Any student who has a 1.5 average but less than a 2.00 average may be continued on probation.

Any upperclassman whose total grade points on work passed, together with a 2.25 average on the remaining semester hours required for the degree, do not give him a total of 240 shall be dropped.

Any upper class student who does not have a 2.00 average on total hours passed may be continued on probation for the succeeding semester. Grades are assigned the same value in computing grade points for the continuance of registration as for graduation.

AND IT COMES DOWN THERE

Irony of last night's council meeting was that the primary object passed by until two minutes before the session ended. Then it was informally decided that the construction of a maintenance garage at the city yards this fall could not be financed. The formal action on bids was postponed until next meeting, however.

Nine amendments and changes in old ordinances were given their second and third readings prior to

AROUND THE TOWN

with MERLE MILLER

Reminder

It occurred to me at a G.O.P. dinner last night that the main difference between Iowa City republicans and democrats is merely that the republicans eat faster. . . . By my watch the democrats at the city park one recent day took an hour and a half to devour a two-course meal, while the Landonites last night from the first morsel took only 55 minutes. . . .

Tuning In...

with Jean Thompson

The Mutual network drama, "The Life of Mary Sothern," recently veered to truth in its fiction when the script called for Mary to undergo an emergency operation. Just as the script went on the air, Minabelle Abbott, who plays Mary, went under the knife for an emergency operation!

Conrade Thibault, popular radio and concert baritone, (of Captain Henry's Showboat fame) will be the guest of Ben Bernie and all the lads at 8 o'clock tonight.

Don't miss Hammerstein Music Hall tonight at 7 o'clock over the CBS airways. Lucy Laughlin and Ted Hammerstein appear. And it is a grand show. On the other hand, Leo Reisman is on at the same hour on the NBC chain.

On a recent Tuesday someone in Milwaukee, Wis., saw on the streets a small boy all dressed up like Johnny, the call boy on the Reisman show. This seemed a little perplexing, inasmuch as he had just heard Johnny on the show a few minutes before. The answer is that Johnny, who is an identification for the sponsors' cigars, has proved quite popular, so a number of his "doubles" are "planted" all over the country for advertising purposes.

Why do two good programs have to appear at the same time? At 8:30 tonight the Camel Caravan with Benny Goodman's orchestra and Rupert Hughes, the writer, with Frank Forrest and Charles Boyer as guests, will be broadcast over the CBS. On the NBC chain is Fred Astaire's program with Charles Butterworth, comedian, and Trudy Wood, vocalist. (She looks as she sounds—charming.)

White House

And a conversation across the table about the White House reminded me of the tale I heard of a local community back-bone who last winter went to see the Roosevelt's. . . . At dinner the poor Iowa Citizen's waiter dropped almost half a bowl of soup on her dress. . . .

Whereupon the good woman said many a word, but spent the remainder of the evening in her wrap. . . . When she returned to her hotel that night, the poor lady found tiny alphabet letters all over her arm. . . . It had been Roosevelt soup. . . .

Necessity

I couldn't say for sure, but a card I received in the mail last night reports an old lady living halfway between here and West Liberty and bothered many years past by "neekers" driving into her very shady lane has just recently erected this sign:

"Trespasser will be persecuted to the full extent of too mongrel dogs which never was so able to strangers and I double-barrel shot gun which ain't loaded with sofy pillows."

Fitzsimmons to Hurl Today After Giants Win Second

BITS about SPORTS By ROBERT HOGAN

IOWA'S DISASTROUS Big Ten inaugural against Northwestern's Wildcats is history now, but looking back on the game many shortcomings dominated the Hawkeye picture.

THE DEMORALIZED aggregation that was swept hither and yon by a powerful Wildcat offensive on Dye stadium turf last Saturday, was a team without a leader.

Before Iowa's first game, in fact the first night that Ozzie Simmons called signals in practice, this department ventured the opinion that Iowa's ace ball carrier would feel the added burden, and would hesitate in calling his own signals for fear of the criticism that might be forthcoming.

WITH A THREAT like Simmons in the backfield, it is costly to let him block for the ball carriers when his value as an open field runner has long been established.

As for the Purple eleven, a Minneapolis sports commentator who witnessed the Iowa game said he was satisfied the Wildcats were the team Minnesota would have to defeat to maintain its Big Ten prestige this season.

Prof Holds Ossie Solem Caught by Tries to Sneak

NEW YORK, Oct. 5 (AP)—The old professor's Monday morning class for football coaches resembled a happy reunion of the old mutual admiration society today as the master minds from coast to coast overlooked defeats and talked victories.

Francis Schmidt, Ohio State: "Professor, you're right. It's one day up and the next day down. After Pitt gets through with us Saturday, we'll feel just like New York university did when we licked 'em, 60 to 0. I'll see Panthers in my sleep all week."

Mal Stevens, N. Y. U.: "Yes, it's true what they say about the Big Ten professor. We can't wait looking for Indians and were lucky to get back home."

Ducky Pond, Yale: "In general, professor, I was especially pleased with Dave Colwell's kicking under fire and Clint Frank's signal calling. Larry Kelley also was great. Cornell will be a pretty tough team to beat after a few more games."

Wally Steffen, Carnegie Tech: "Well, I'm perfectly satisfied to get off with a 21 to 7 kicking from Notre Dame, professor. They had entirely too much power. We'll go places before this season is over."

Elmer Layden, Notre Dame: "We still need plenty of polishing, but I'm quite satisfied."

Ed O'Brien's line smash in an overtime period netted the Beta Theta Pi fraternity a 6 to 0 win over the Pi Kappa Alpha club in the touch-football section of fraternity intramurals yesterday afternoon.

Lowell Taylor of Alpha Sigma Chi carried the ball around right end and carried his club's winning counter over the Sigma Alpha Epsilon Greek letter men. An attempted line smash for the extra point was unsuccessful.

Nebraska Tough: George Venker, Iowa State: "We've got a better line than we had last year, professor, but it was no use. Nebraska's was so much better—we weren't in it."

Ossie Solem Caught by Prof While He Tries to Sneak Out

NEW YORK, Oct. 5 (AP)—The old professor's Monday morning class for football coaches resembled a happy reunion of the old mutual admiration society today as the master minds from coast to coast overlooked defeats and talked victories.

Phi Ep's Win Intra-mural Golf Tourney

Francis Schmidt, Ohio State: "Professor, you're right. It's one day up and the next day down. After Pitt gets through with us Saturday, we'll feel just like New York university did when we licked 'em, 60 to 0. I'll see Panthers in my sleep all week."

Members of the Phi Epsilon Pi fraternity won first place in an intra-mural medal play golf tournament held on the Pinkish course Saturday. The team totaled 356 for the 18 holes, followed closely by Delta Upsilon golfers with a total of 360 and Delta Tau Delta with 365.

Charles Joiner of Delta Upsilon shot the low score of the tournament, an 80, but was closely contested by Herb Shulman of Phi Epsilon Pi who counted one more stroke. Third and fourth places went to the Deltas as Matt Wolfe came home with 86 strokes and Ed McDonald 87.

Several fraternities which intended to participate in the tournament were forced to default because their teams were broken up by the Iowa-Northwestern football game and because the tournament had to be held in one day only.

Hawk Track Coach Picks Race Starters

In an intra-squad race held over the week end, Coach George Bresnahan picked the probable starters for Saturday's cross country run with Grinnell and Cornell.

The race was won by Bob Nelson in fairly good time, with Don Purvis, Martin Stiller, Jimmy Lyle, Paul Nelson, Ed Haas, John Sitko, and Leon Goldsmith finishing after him in the order named.

Coach Bresnahan indicated last night that he would start the first six men in the run Saturday. The opposition to be met is unknown as to strength but is expected to be quite fast.
