RHODES' PLEA 'NOT GUILTY'-HAYEK

Offer Union Plan Today

Seek Tribunals To Handle All Work Disputes

Seniority Rights And Discrimination Are Discussed by Heads

DETROIT, Feb. 16 (AP)—The United Automobile Workers of America prepared tonight for submission to General Motors officials the draft of a plan for arbitration boards to settle grievances of union employes in the corporation's automotive plants.

Homer Martin, U.A.W.A. president, after four hours of discussions marking the first day of conferences to negotiate questions of wages, hours and working conditions left unsettled in the General Motors strike peace agreement last week, said the union proposal will be presented tomorrow morning.

"We have been laying plans to set up tribunals for the handling of past, present and future grievances," the union head announced as the conferees left a smoke-filled fifth-floor office in the General Motors building late today.

In the morning and afternoon conferences representatives of the corporation and the union, whose strikes threw G. M. production far behind schedule, engaged in what William S. Knudsen, executive vice-president, described as "a general discussion of seniority rights and discrimination cases."

The conferences will be resumed at 9 a. m. (CST) tomorrow.

Knudsen, who carried his hat in his hand each time he entered or left the conference room today, announced he would be absent for the next few days, but declined to say where he would be.

Martin, whose eight demands on General Motors, listed in a letter he addressed to Knudsen Jan. 4, provided the points about which the negotiations revolved, also will be absent tomorrow. He indicated he would participate in future meetings only occasionally.

Unsettled Demands

DETROIT, Feb. 16 (AP)—The unsettled demands of the United Automobile Workers of America now being negotiated with General Motors corporation officials in conferences here, are:

Abolition of all piece-work systems of pay, and the adoption of a straight hourly rate in its place.

30-hour work week and six-hour work day; time and one-half for all overtime. (General Motors plants now operate on a 40-hour, five-day week).

Establishment of minimum pay rates "commensurate with an American standard of living."

Reinstatement of employes unjustly discharged.

Seniority based on length of service.

Agreement on speed of production, between the management and union committees in all General Motors plants.

Files Petition Of Bankruptcy

John Barrymore States Inability to Meet His Obligations

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 16 (AP)—John Barrymore, film actor, filed in federal court today a debtor's petition of bankruptcy under section 74 of the national bankruptcy act.

Barrymore stated in the petition that he was unable to meet his debts and desired to effect "composition or extension of time" to liquidate them.

The clerk of the bankruptcy court said that law under which Barrymore filed his petition permitted a debtor to go into bankruptcy and to offer settlement on a percentage basis without jeopardizing his property holdings.

Barrymore's wife Elaine Barrie, recently filed suit for divorce.

OFF TO ORIENT!

Helen Keller Leaves For Lecture Tour

NEW YORK, Feb. 16 (AP)—Imbued with her late teacher's admonition to "carry on," Helen Keller planned tonight to sail for the orient April 1 to "give a word of encouragement to the blind and handicapped" of the far east.

The internationally famous author-lecturer, who has crossed the north Atlantic numerous times, never before has turned her sightless eyes toward the setting sun over the Pacific.

The trip will be made in response to pressing invitations extended by women's clubs and educational authorities in Japan.

Race to Beat Deadline

LONDON (AP)—Twenty-six European nations cemented a far-flung plan to wall Spain in from the world last night while foreign volunteers, most of them apparently from France and Italy, raced to beat a Saturday midnight deadline to the zone of war.

So They SAY...

President Roosevelt, asking congress for legislation to save the "American dream" of individual farm ownership:

"A nationwide program under federal leadership and with the assistance of states, counties, communities and individuals is the only solution. Most Americans believe that our form of government does not prohibit action on behalf of those who need help."

* * *

Daniel M. Ladd of the Chicago office of the federal bureau of investigation, criticizing lack of severity of punishment in United States prisons:

"Punishment for criminals in many states has become a thing of the past. We are amazed to learn that too often there is no such thing as a life prisoner but that the average man who receives a life sentence stays only about 10 years in prison."

* * *

Rep. Joe Flynn, announcing two bills which he proposes to introduce into the Iowa house of representatives, one permitting Iowa papers to carry liquor advertising and the other prohibiting the sale of papers carrying such advertising:

"I'm willing to go either way. Either cut out liquor advertising or let Iowa papers take advantage of the revenue available."

* * *

Former Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas after a conference with party leaders, claiming that the republican party is not dead yet:

"It (the party) is proud of the fight it made in the campaign and will keep on fighting. I found the party leaders ready to rebuild and fight their way back."

Ben Keck, former Nebraska state legislator, as the Nebraska legislature prepared to act on a bill to establish a state licensing board for painters and paperhangers:

"Pretty soon we'll have to have a board to get licenses to shovel dirt on a farm."

F.D.R. Asks Congress Save Farm "Dream"

President Outlines New Plan for Individual Farm Ownership

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP)—President Roosevelt asked congress today to save the "American dream" of individual farm ownership.

Reporting that it is increasingly difficult for energetic young men to ascend the traditional ladder from hired man to tenant to independent owner, he proposed to bring federal millions to their assistance.

The proposals:

1. Government purchase of good farm land for sale on liberal credit terms to selected tenants.

Retire Poor Land

2. Federal and state purchase of about 100,000,000 acres of poor crop land, and assistance to families moving from it to better farms.

3. "Modest loans" to prevent small farm owners from slipping into tenancy and to help tenants, croppers and farm laborers to increase their standards of living.

"Windfall" Tax

4. A federal "windfall" tax to take a large percentage of profits from sales of land made within three years after its purchase.

5. State legislation to improve the general leasing system and provide compensation to tenants for property improvements they make.

6. Construction and operation of "decent places to live" for itinerant farm laborers.

7. Creation of a farm security administration, under the secretary of agriculture, to direct the federal program. A farm security corporation would handle legal transactions concerning purchase and sale of land, stock and equipment, and the making of loans.

Proposal For Rigid Liquor Enforcement Before Committee

DES MOINES, Feb. 16 (AP)—Proposed Iowa beer and liquor law changes came to the front in the Iowa legislature tonight as the house liquor control committee received a bill to write rigid enforcement provisions into the present statutes.

The proposal would take from cities and towns and place in the hands of a full-time state board regulation of the Iowa beer traffic. It would also place strict limitations upon licensees, reduce tavern open hours, and divorce beer and dancing except in hotels, restaurants or clubs.

Beer "spiking" would be banned through a clause outlawing the sale of near beer.

Roosevelt to Make Inquiry Into Negro Student's Flunking

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP)—A White House secretary said today that President Roosevelt desired an inquiry into the flunking at the Annapolis Naval academy.

James Lee Johnson, 19-year-old District of Columbia Negro, was asked to resign last week after Naval academy officials reported him deficient in certain studies. At the same time, similar requests were made of 127 other middies who had taken midyear examinations.

Representative Mitchell, Negro democrat from Chicago, reported the incident to Mr. Roosevelt today, declaring Johnson, his appointee, had been "railroaded."

Number of Medical Students Declines

CHICAGO, Feb. 16 (AP)—A decline in the number of the nation's medical students was reported to the American Medical association's congress on education today.

Dr. Harold Rypins, secretary of the New York state board of medical examinations, attributed the decrease to stricter entrance requirements and limitations placed on the size of freshman classes at schools of medicine.

Will Arraign Accused Man This Morning

Attorney To Talk With Rhodes Before Court Room Appearance

Walter H. "Dusty" Rhodes, 31, confessed dynamite slayer of his wife, Mabel Rhodes, 31, will probably enter a plea of "not guilty" before District Judge James P. Gaffney when his arraignment is continued at 9 o'clock this morning, his attorney, Will J. Hayek, said last night.

Hayek, appointed by Judge Gaffney on Rhodes' request, last night asserted:

"I do not even know the man. All I know about the case is what I have read in the papers, but if I am to defend him I certainly will not allow him to plead 'guilty' until I have investigated carefully."

Attorney Hayek declared he will talk with Rhodes in his cell in the Johnson county jail early this morning before the arraignment begins.

Rhodes, held in the county jail since early Monday morning, has expressed no emotion and appears resigned to fate, jailers declare. He is said to have expressed no emotion over the death of his wife.

Trial May Be in March

If Rhodes pleads "not guilty" this morning, the trial could not be held before the middle or March, District Judge James P. Gaffney, presiding in this term of court, said last night.

"Assignments for this term of court run until the middle of March," Gaffney said. "And therefore, the trial could not be set before that time."

Gaffney said, however, that the defense might, if sufficient reasons are presented, gain a continuance of the case which would then be set for the second term, scheduled to start May 1.

District Judge Harold D. Evans will preside during the May term, and the case, if continued, will be tried under the Iowa City judge.

Other Developments Missing

Other developments in the case were missing last night. State Investigator W. J. Fogarty was still in Iowa City while Joe Burke, the other state agent assisting in the case, was visiting in Dubuque. Both men will be here for the arraignment this morning.

Rhodes, 31-year-old Iowa City musician and quarry worker, confessed Sunday afternoon in Des Moines to tricking his wife into pulling the trigger of the dynamite-loaded shotgun a week ago yesterday. If he pleads "not guilty" this morning, he will continue to be held in jail without bond.

Vestermark Fails to Comment

County Attorney Harold W. Vestermark refused comment last night. He had previously said he would ask the death penalty for Rhodes.

Vestermark today probably will receive a report from Dr. Ernest W. Shumaker, Des Moines chemist, on evidence of dynamite damage to the remaining portion of the shotgun barrel.

Neither Mrs. Mabel Skriver, for whose love Rhodes declared he committed the crime, nor Mrs. J. H. (Myrtle) Myron is expected at the arraignment this morning.

'I Am Innocent,' Mrs. Mabel Skriver Declares

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

By MERLE MILLER
(Daily Iowan City Editor)

Mrs. Mabel Skriver, tall "mystery" woman of the Rhodes case, last night declared she was "entirely innocent," adding "I was tricked into lending him money by nice words."

"Rhodes deserves the full penalty if he actually did that awful thing," Mrs. Skriver, who until last November operated an oil station about six miles east of Iowa City on U. S. highway 6, declared. "I think he deserves the limit."

Mrs. Skriver had known the accused wife-murderer for about a year, she said, and loaned him about $500 three months ago.

She denied he had told her he was going to use the money to obtain a divorce from his wife. "He didn't say what he was going to use it for," she declared.

The "mystery" woman denied her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mabel McClure, with whom she lives on a farm eight miles east of here in Scott township, had loaned Rhodes any money.

"If he did, I never heard of it," she declared.

"I just couldn't have believed he could have done any such thing until I saw it in the papers," Mrs. Skriver said. When I heard about it last week, I believed it was accidental."

Mrs. Skriver and Mrs. J. H. (Myrtle) Myron, the two women figuring prominently in the investigation of the blast death of Mrs. Walter Rhodes, were dropped from the case last night by officials.

"We are now satisfied with the stories of both women and are convinced they are in the case as victims of circumstance," an official said last night.

For the love of Mrs. Skriver, according to the signed confession of Rhodes, he plotted the murder of his wife.

Turn to Radio on Court Issue

Three Solons Talk Over Air

Labor League Throws Support to Proposal Of Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP)—Three democratic senators, divided on President Roosevelt's proposal to force new blood into the supreme court, took to the radio tonight in a continuing effort to win public support for their respective sides of the question.

Still another development was an announcement that labor's nonpartisan league, formed to support President Roosevelt in the past campaign, would throw "all its resources" into the fight to empower Mr. Roosevelt to name six new justices to the supreme court.

Maj. George L. Berry, president of the league, told reporters in the presence of John L. Lewis, another league leader, that the league would bring every possible influence to bear. It will hold a national convention in Washington soon, a series of sectional mass meetings and in the 1938 congressional campaigns "will not look kindly" on those who have disregarded the "importance of the issue," Berry said.

Tonight's speakers were:

Senator McAdoo (D-Cal.), who called for enactment of the president's program to speed up the work of the courts and "dismissed as unworthy of consideration" charges that the president was attempting to "pack" the supreme court in favor of new deal legislation.

Senator Van Nuys (D-Ind.), who opposed the proposed enlargement of the supreme court, when its members serve beyond the age of 70 and said if "the checks and balances of our present form of government need readjustment, let the people say so but let it not be attempted by congress through tampering with the courts or tinkering with the constitution."

Senator Thomas (D-Utah), who said that "if the courts take unto themselves the power of using judicial review to such an extent that the court becomes a legislative body, contrary to the constitution, and strikes down laws so commonly as it has been done in the last few months, then the will of the people of the country is overcome by a smaller group still, and we have an oligarchy."

Rhodes Has Record As 'Alky' Runner, Authorities Report

Walter H. "Dusty" Rhodes, accused of the dynamite slaying of his wife here a week ago yesterday, was an "alky" runner for a high-powered Davenport liquor ring during prohibition days, it was disclosed by Davenport police officials last night.

On the night of May 19, 1936, State Agent Roy Moon and Detective Otto Kuehl arrested Rhodes as he drove off the government bridge at Davenport with the rear of his auto loaded with Illinois stamped liquor. The liquor is thought to have been destined for a warehouse near Iowa City by which Rhodes was employed.

Charged with having unlabeled liquor in his possession, Rhodes was arraigned before Justice L. C. Egger in Bettendorf the morning after his arrest. He was fined $100 and costs which he paid.

Employment In S.U.I. Probed

458 Wives Working At Iowa Say Husbands Employed Gainfully

DES MOINES, Feb. 16 (AP)—Representative Leo A. Heegh (R) of Chariton reported today that state departments and institutions, including the teachers college, state college and University of Iowa, employ 764 married women of whom 458 admitted their husbands are "gainfully employed."

Heegh started an investigation of the number of married women employed by the state after a bill was filed in the house which would prohibit state employment of persons whose husband or wife earned more than $1,500.

He said he would study his report compiled by the state comptroller's office, with a view of amending the bill on file to spread state employment even among more persons than it proposes.

The report showed that the University of Iowa employs 2,038 persons. Men number 1,191; women, 847, of whom 205 are married and of these 85 have husbands gainfully employed.

Coffman said he had heard rumors an attempt is being made to "pack" the board of regents and ask his resignation, but said he was unworried. The Minnesota house and senate will name several new regents in a joint session sometime before April, but no one in authority could be found who would comment on the rumors.

Will Petition for Rehearing Of Sorenson vs. Iowa Land Case

Hayek to Present More Evidence to State Supreme Court

Petition for a rehearing of the Sorenson against State of Iowa land case before the state supreme court will be presented within the next few weeks, Attorney Will J. Hayek, acting for the Sorenson family, announced last night.

Hayek said he may have additional evidence to present at the rehearing.

A five-man section of the supreme court unanimously decided for the state last week, reversing the decision of District Judge Harold D. Evans of the Johnson county district court in May.

Judge Evans ruled a 100-foot strip of land south of the Iowa avenue bridge from the street down to the original high water mark belonged to the appellee. The supreme court in reversing his decision ruled that the Sorensons owned land only down to the new high water mark created after construction of a dam in 1905.

If the petition is granted, the entire court of nine judges will hear the case.

Push Child Labor Amendment

AFTER 12 YEARS of lethargy the United States is showing renewed interest in children employed in industry. On Friday New Mexico became the 27th state to ratify the child labor amendment to the federal constitution.

Iowa, an agricultural state, deserves much praise for having passed the amendment three years ago. The middle west, however, does not have a perfect record in respect to the measure. The South Dakota legislature recently voted on the proposal and added its name in the shameful column of rejections.

The people of the United States early showed a deep interest in child welfare when it involved those who were forced to work when they should have been in school or following other pursuits of normal, growing children. As early as 1842 Connecticut and Massachusetts passed laws protecting them. Other states quickly followed. In 1916 the Keating-Owen bill was passed by congress regulating the hours and wages of children employed in producing goods that were to be sent through the channels of interstate commerce.

The bill was declared unconstitutional 275 days after it went into effect. Three years later congress tried to reach the same end by placing a 10 per cent tax on the annual net profits of business which did not meet certain enumerated specifications with regard to the employment of children.

There was a great national outcry when both these acts were declared unconstitutional. To correct this situation congress, on June 2, 1924, proposed an amendment to the constitution, the same now up for consideration by many states. It provides that congress shall have power to regulate, limit and prohibit the labor of persons under 18 years of age. It is not a measure that would impair the power of states.

There is ample precedent to sanction child labor legislation. England has had national regulation since 1819. Sir Robert Peel was responsible for its enactment.

Is there no humanitarian equivalent of Sir Robert Peel in the state legislatures which thus far have not considered the proposed amendment? Or are people so busy with social life and high finance that they canot find time to echo the voice of the pale kid on the factory bench up to the men who make our laws?

Freshman Orientation

WITH THE announcement of the annual orientation banquet comes the query, "What is freshman orientation?"

We may define it as a women's activity sponsored by the University Women's association for the purpose of orientating freshmen into campus life.

Its purpose in detail is twofold, psychological and practical. The practical purpose consists of showing freshmen definite facts and customs to be observed on the campus, of assisting them in registration, and of adjusting them socially. The psychological aim is to imprint on the mind of every freshman the thought that she is not alone and that there are other students, definitely named, who are interested in her welfare on this campus.

There is also a definite system of action. There is a central council which appoints a group of leaders and assistants. These leaders and assistants are each given a group of freshmen who, along with a faculty adviser, comprise a trio. The freshmen are contacted during the summer before they register, and as soon as they arrive on the campus, meetings of the various trios begin. These groups go on hikes, have waffle suppers, play cards, and enjoy any sort of social activity they decide upon. In this way new women are sure to become acquainted with other students, they have someone to ask if something puzzles them and they fit in more readily to the scheme of college life.

At the beginning of the year there is a special information booth in the lounge of the Union during registration sponsored by the central council. Also there are a few other general activities including all groups, as sponsorship of campus movies, an annual tea and freshman lectures.

At the banquet tonight, the new council for next year will be presented, and freshmen who are interested in assuming leadership of some sort next year, will have an opportunity to see the more minor details of the organization.

Our Readers' VIEWPOINT

Letters must be signed and should not exceed 250 words. Opinions expressed by our readers do not necessarily reflect our views.

EDITOR, The Daily Iowan:

In some ways the University of Iowa lags behind other schools. For instance, in a goodly portion of other colleges horseback riding is taught as a regular part of the physical education program. Yet here it is not possible to get this kind of training.

The tendency in physical education today seems to be an expansion of its aims with emphasis on exercise for exercise's sake alone being replaced by the teaching of sport skills which the student can put to use once college days are over. To this end tennis, canoeing, badminton, golf and other hobby sports are part of the physical education program here. But these are limited and do not necessarily include the greatest possible number of interests.

I should think that through a period of several years it might be possible to so amplify the activities of the physical education department to include all seasonal sports, those winter sports which might be possible with the development of the facilities which The Daily Iowan proposes as well as horseback riding.

As I understand it, there is a cavalry unit in town and the university might work out a plan whereby students could use these same horses. In time perhaps the university would be able to build up its own stables. However, if horses already are available it seems a shame not to use them.

I do not say that horseback riding is of such major importance that it exceeds in value all other sports, but it is very enjoyable and attractive. It is a form of recreation which one can rarely perfect for himself without some instruction. It grows more popular daily, and can be enjoyed in school or out. In a well-rounded physical education it should certainly be included.

Washington World

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Two or three members of congress (Senators Robert F. Wagner of New York and Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, especially) are mentioned as likely appointees to the federal supreme bench if President Roosevelt's plan for an increase in the court's membership, up to a total of 15, is indorsed by the lawmakers.

Jos. T. Robinson

But no Senator or representative who votes for the increase will be eligible for appointment under the readjustment.

It is well established that a legislator who casts his ballots to create an office cannot legally accept that office after it has been created.

Therefore, unless Senators Wagner and Robinson, as well as other judicial aspirants now in congress, resign before a vote is taken on the presidential proposition, it is safe to say that their names may be scratched from the list of appointive possibilities.

Cannot Benefit

They know, if other folk do not, that they cannot take jobs they have been influential in providing for ANYONE or in profiting by pay increases that they have balloted for.

Thus, supposing that Senators Wagner and Robinson support the president's supreme court program, the conclusion is that neither is a supreme court candidate.

Federal supreme justices are on strike, in a way, against their retirement.

Suppose a supreme court judge, on a $20,000 annual salary, retires. He retires on a salary of nothing. Naturally he does not like to retire. Congress may vote him a pension—or it may not. I cannot blame him for hesitating to take chances.

Now he is being voted a guaranteed pension, but it is rather belated.

Maybe he would have quit sooner if he could have afforded to.

What an English Physician Says of Medical Progress

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

IN ANSWER to the question what discovery or invention during the last year or two has been of the greatest importance to medicine, Dr. Otto Leyton, physician to the London hospital, selected these:

Dr. Clendening

"1. That the ratio of the different types of cells in the anterior lobe of the pituitary gland can be modified by the administration of different substances and the removal of certain glands.

"2. That the common cold, influenza and rheumatic fever are of virus origin, and that a virus can be cultured and probably an immunity produced.

"3. That some of the sex hormones are of a comparatively simple chemical structure, and may be synthesized from cholesterol."

As to what he considered the most important drug or method of treatment introduced within the last few years, Dr. Leyton said:

"My interpretation of 'the past few years' makes me exclude the method of improving the blood supply to the limb by the application, alternately, of diminished and increased atmospheric pressure, which is accomplished so successfully with Herrmann's Pavaex apparatus, and others of similar construction.

Most Important Therapeutic Substance

"The most important therapeutic substance introduced during the past year or two is, in my opinion, testosterone propionate (Perandren). I make this selection, even after having seen patients suffering from myasthenia gravis transferred from pergatory to paradise by swallowing, at intervals of five or six hours, 15-milligram tablets of Prostigmin, because, fortunately, the victims of that fell disease are very limited in number and therefore Prostigmin can benefit only a very small proportion of mankind.

"Testosterone propionate and estrone dihydroxy benzoate prove that man can combine substances and produce agents of greater potency than those which occur in nature. I doubt whether this new preparation will fulfill the dreams of Brown Sequard and rejuvenate, or even prevent, the devastating effect of time upon the majority of the tissues of men. It seems probable, however, that it may delay hypertrophy of the prostate gland, even if it fails to cause atrophy. As an aphrodisiac it is unlikely to have any action other than that produced by suggestion. It may, however, supply the aged with mental energy and change the 'seventh age of man.'"

This statement must be taken with some latitude by the American interested in medical matters, because these drugs are all in the experimental stage. I know of no American clinic which takes quite so rosy a view of Perandren, also known in the United States as Oreton and Androsterone, as that which Dr. Leyton expresses.

Mussolini shows remarkable restraint. Though there are a half dozen Italians on the New York Yankee ball team, he never has taken credit for their world baseball championship.

A recent survey shows that children born in winter months are less intelligent than those born in other seasons. It is a good thing George Washington and Abraham Lincoln didn't know that—they might not have tried.

CHAIRMAN, SENATE BOARD ON VESPERS.

Screen Life

By HUBBARD KEAVY

HOLLYWOOD — If the Motion Picture Academy had a sense of humor, it would give more prizes. . . . One to the best walker-outer, for instance. . . George Raft would win it. . . Was reminded of this when Raft agreed to be the hero of "You and Me" if a seasoned director could handle him. . . Norman Krasna, Cinderella of the scenario clan, wrote the piece and was appointed its director.

HUBBARD KEAVY

Raft said: "Me, a $4,000-a-week star and they break in a director on me" . . . and with that long speech (for George) he walked. . . That was George's sixth or seventh walkout. . . He thought the speeches were too long in "Souls and Sea" and walked. . . He ought to try a sit-down strike some time.

Kibbee Gets Stung

This just goes to show you how money can make a sucker out of a guy. . . There's a house, a sort of estate, in our locally famous valley which caught the eye of this town dweller. . . For $6,000 (a fair price for the house and fruit trees) I could have gone back to the soil. . . (Did I hear hisses?) . . . well, the point is, Guy Kibbee bought the place the other day. . . But he had to scrape up $12,000 to get it. . . .

Hollywood got a laugh when it read, among the monthly expenses of Elaine Barrymore (seeking $2,525 every 30 days from harassed John): "Dairy products, $100" . . . It was Stu Erwin who suggested that might have been a typographical error. . . "Maybe she meant diary products," said he. . .

Feud Overrated

The feud between Martha Raye and Shirley Ross (pals, according to the script, in "Waikiki Wedding") is much overrated, you hear at Paramount. . . But they hiss each other . . . and Martha, pointing to a pig on the set, says sotto voce: "The Ross stand-in." . . Scene stealing in "The Big Broadcast" started it.

Note to Winifred Shaw: In the close-ups, at least, don't try to make your mouth look smaller when you sing. . .

Every time an actor tells me how hard he's working, I think of Joe Cunningham's description of movie acting: "You make faces and play Indian—and get paid for it!"

A New Yorker At Large

By JACK STINNETT

NEW YORK—Notes for a Manhattan Guidebook—Night Spots:

French Casino—The most spangly, gaudy, breatth-taking show in town . . . the Max Reinhardt of girl shows. Food, fair. Music, good enough. Dinner $2.50; minimum after 10:30, $2.50 . . . and don't be irritated if you get a ringside and have to pay that small "location charge."

Cotton Club—Cab Calloway and his band, a parade of other entertainers, and a big chorus of sepia ladies make entertainment that is hard to beat anywhere. Dinner starts at $1.50 and there are three shows nightly.

Hollywood and Paradise — Take your pick. The girl shows at both places are about the best. Dance music, good. Floors, crowded. Prices start at $1.50, higher on Saturdays.

Stork Club: If you can get in, you are lucky. Cuisine, matchless. Music, good. Prices, high . . . but Sherman Billingsley's genial hosting makes any tariff reasonable. It's a favorite spot for the young blades and their ladies and there always are celebrities.

El Morocco—Another spot where the prices seem to stagger no one. People who would be staggered do not go. It gets noiser toward dawning. Ernie Holst's orchestra and Chiquita's rhumba band make good music. Food excellent.

Twenty-One—The garden of the little gods of Broadway and Hollywood. Every other person you see will have a name you know, which is entertainment enough. Food, excellent. Drinks, the best. Maybe you have heard of it as Jack and Charlie's.

Jimmy Kelly's—This is the midnight to dawning madhouse in the village which earned the now practically copyrighted label: "Not for debutantes." The music is goofy . . . . the entertainment something the Greeks never had a word for, but let's call it indiscreet. There's a two-berry minimum.

Kit Kat Club—Another madhouse, with an excellent all-Negro show of dancers and singers. It's a favorite spot toward the end of the swing.

Dill Makes Plea For 'No Smoking' In Macbride Hall

A plea against smoking in Macbride hall was issued yesterday by Prof. Homer R. Dill, director of University museum, who pointed out the dangers of fire to the museum's valuable collection.

He explained that the collection has an original value of $750,000, but since some of the items have become irreplaceable, its present value is far above that. None of the collection is protected by insurance.

As the smoking regulation has not been observed by many persons, a stricter policing of the halls is planned, he said.

T. Wilder To Give Talk At Union Tuesday

World-Famed Novelist Will Address S.U.I. Audience at 8 P.M.

Thornton Wilder, world-famous novelist and lecturer, will appear as university lecturer in the main lounge of Iowa Union Tuesday at 8 p.m.

Mr. Wilder came into prominence a few years ago when he published his novel, "The Bridge of San Luis Rey," the leading best seller, which had an estimated million readers. At the time literary critics declared this to be the finest novel produced in this age.

Woman of Andros

More recently Mr. Wilder has published "The Woman of Andros" and "Heaven's My Destination," both of which have been especially praised for their perfection of style and interest of narration.

"Heaven's My Destination" was the choice of the Book of the Month Club of America and the Book Society of England.

Mr. Wilder's early years were spent in China, where his father was an American consul general. Later, he came to America and was graduated from Yale university with honors.

Travel

Since his graduation Mr. Wilder has travelled extensively. Before writing "The Bridge of San Luis Rey" he spent some time in Peru, studying the country, the people, and the social life in Spanish colonial times. A cruise among the Greek islands furnished the inspiration for "The Woman of Andros."

Tickets will be available to faculty and students at Iowa Union on Saturday and Monday and to the general public on Tuesday.

Prexies Accept Meeting Bids

Anniversary Dinner To Follow Education Conference Wed.

College presidents and state officials are among the first to accept the invitation of the University of Iowa for the conference on higher education and the 90th anniversary dinner here next Wednesday.

St. Patrick's 5 Seeks Win Over Marians

Parochial Schools Tangle In Intra-City Tilt Tonight

STARTING LINEUPS:

Irish Cagers Hopeful Of Avenging Early Season Defeat

Hopeful of conquering their traditional city rivals, St. Mary's, in the second meeting of the season, the St. Pat's basketball squad tapered off with a light workout last night on passing and free throw practice.

As has been the case in most of their games this season, and because of an earlier defeat by the Marians, the Irish will enter the game as the under-dog. In the first tilt, St. Mary's won with a last half rally to beat the Shamrocks in overtime, 30 to 26. Up to the intermission, the Irish showed plenty of offensive power and sported an eight point lead at the halfway mark. Their offense was completely demoralized when the three veterans, Patterson, Demery and Healy were lost via the personal foul route.

Playing Spotty Ball

Since then, the Irish have been playing spotty ball, being up one game and hitting bottom the next. If previous showings can be taken for fact, tonight should be St. Pat's night.

The five men that started the first game for the Irish will again represent St. Pat's tonight. Coach Ryan has named Healy and Bradley, forwards, Patterson at center, and Walden and Demery, guards, as the five starters for the all important clash. These players began together in the first Marian game and with some valuable experience gained in the interim will bear the brunt of the Irish attack.

May Be Last Minute Change

However, anyone of five reserves may be a last minute choice of the Irish mentor. Aaron and Pinney, who have had a great deal of experience, are possible starters for the south-side parochials. Love, Carelton and Guterriez are all very likely to see service in the conflict. Love, by his heady play and scoring ability shown in the Wilton game last week, may be a surprise package for the Shamrock coach to use.

Come what may, the city sports fans will be in for a lot of good basketball when the two teams clash on the City high court, because, since all dope is thrown overboard at the mere mention of the age old meeting of the parochial schools, the outcome is always in doubt until the final gun.

Louis Enroute

CHICAGO (AP) — Joe Louis, accompanied by Trainer Jack Blackburn, Co-Manager Julian Black and Carl Nelson, a bodyguard, left last night for Kansas City where Louis will meet Natie Brown of Washington in a scheduled 10-round bout tonight.

Marians Seeking 2nd Victory From Local St. Pat's Cagers

St. Mary's Ramblers, remembering their last encounter with St. Patrick's which they barely won in an overtime game, worked determinedly through their final practice last night to add polish to their attack before meeting the Irish for the second time in City high gymnasium tonight at 8:30.

A curtain raiser at 7:15 will be staged between St. Mary's seventh and eighth grade and the junior Iowa City All-Stars.

Traditional Competition

Tonight's tilt is a continuation of a long standing traditional athletic competition between the two schools which has been staged for more years than any other two parochial conflicts in the state, according to Coach Francis Sueppel.

Having won the first game, the Marians will have everything to lose and not much to gain in tonight's contest. St. Pat's will no doubt be gunning for a win to avenge their defeat earlier by their Iowa City enemies, while the Blue and White aggregation can only hope to keep its record clean.

Statistics Unreliable

As both teams have had rather unsuccessful seasons so far, and have lost a majority of their games, statistics cannot be relied on to pick the favorite. Because of St. Mary's initial victory over their Catholic opponents, they may be regarded as having a slight edge. However, in another vein of thought, the Shamrocks whipped University high this winter who in turn ran rough shod over the Ramblers, thus giving the advantage to St. Pat's.

In any case, the Irish-Dutch battle probably will not be clinched until the final gun goes off and the scorebooks have been checked and rechecked.

Strabley Still Out

Immediately after beating the Shamrocks, St. Mary's suffered a serious setback when Bob Strabley, regular guard, was injured in a coasting accident. In contradiction to early reports, he probably will not be able to enter tonight's game.

Coach Sueppel has had considerable difficulty in finding a reliable guard combination in the last four games, Holoubek, former substitute, has rapidly developed into a tough defensive player but neither Grimm nor Hessessey has worked into the other guard post with any marked degree of success. Sueppel had not made up his mind late last night which of the two men he would give the starting call.

Lost Three Out of Four

In the last four games, St. Mary's has lost three and won one. The competition was exceptionally strong, however, as the Ramblers met up with Columbia academy of Dubuque and St. Ambrose of Davenport, both of these quints being among the top notch teams in Iowa parochial circles.

Spirit ran exceptionally high in St. Mary's high school as the student fans loudly exhibited their desire for victory with "Beat the Irish" signs plastered over a majority of the blackboards. Such active enthusiasm is expected to be injected into the Ramblers as they attempt to win the most coveted tilt of the year tonight.

Initial Tennis Drills Slated For Tomorrow

Captain Fleming, Coach Rush to Conduct Indoor Practices

With its ranks riddled by graduation, the Iowa tennis squad will meet for its initial workout tomorrow on the fieldhouse courts. Capt. Charles Fleming, the only returning letterman from last year's team, will be the unofficial coach of the squad, and Bob Rush of the physical education department will supervise the drills and the completion of the schedule.

The foursome which won six of its nine meets last year and finished the season with a fourth place ranking in the Big Ten, will have to depend upon sophomores and inexperienced juniors and seniors to carry on in the coming campaign. Frank "Teps" Nye, Kenneth Cline and Dave Metz were all graduated last spring, leaving Fleming the nucleus of this year's team.

Ten Dual Meets

A busy season faces the Hawkeye netsters. Ten dual meets, including seven with Big Ten opponents, will be topped off by the conference meet at Ann Arbor, Mich. A dual meet has been arranged with Iowa State college and tentative plans call for meets with Bradley Tech and Coe before the conference race opens with the Northwestern tilt at Iowa City April 24. The toughest day of the year for the team will be on May 1 when it meets both Purdue and Michigan in a pair of dual meets.

Squad members, besides Fleming, from whom the team will be picked are Carter Alexander, A4 of New York City; Jim Brammer, A3 of Des Moines; Jack Drees, A3 of Eau Claire, Wis.; Gerald Hutchinson, A3 of Iowa City; Harold McCollum, A4 of Iowa City; and the following numeral winners from last year's freshman squad: Claude Douthett, Waterloo; Francis O'Conner, Dubuque; Dale Hatch, Keokuk; Bob Stansbury, Cedar Rapids; Charles Brady, Keokuk.

The tentative schedule:

April 24—Northwestern, here.
April 30—Illinois, there.
May 1—Purdue, there; Michigan at Purdue (tentative).
May 7—Iowa State college at Ames.
May 8—Minnesota, here.
May 15—Chicago, here.
May 17—Wisconsin, there.
May 20, 21, 22—Big Ten meet at Ann Arbor, Mich.

(Daily Iowan Sports Writer)

Basketball magic, in the form of the Globe Trotters, invaded Iowa City high gym last night as the world famous colored quintet downed the Academy five 36 to 34. In a preliminary game the Skelly Oilers defeated the Sharon Aces 36 to 26.

The Globe Trotters, led by Johnson and Bowen, gave the large crowd their money's worth as they combined a little bit of each major sport to clown their way to victory. The colored cagers started out fast to pile up a half time lead of 24 to 8 that enabled them to clown their way through the last half and win with plenty to spare.

Academy Tries Hard

Trying hard to make a game of it, the Academy quintet took advantage of every scoring opportunity that presented itself but could not manage to keep up with their illustrious opponents. In the later stages of the game, leading 34 to 26, three of the colored quintet left the floor and the other two cagers finished the game.

The famous football plays, forward pass and drop-kick formations were executed by the Trotters much to the amazement of the Academy players. Tricky ball handling, and fast accurate passes kept the crowd in an uproar during most of the tilt.

In the preliminary game, the powerful offense of the Skelly Oilers was too much for the Sharon Aces and the final bell found the Oilers ahead 36 to 26. The Sharon team, composed of former high school stars and their coach, were in front at the end of the first quarter but dropped behind and could not head off the strong Oiler quintet.

Tubbs Issues Call For Spring Drill

BITS about SPORTS

By JOHN MOONEY

WE WERE just digging our way through some of the sports news which had accumulated on our desk the other day and we ran across two clippings, one from the Duluth News-Tribune and the other from the Milwaukee Journal, pertaining to Irl Tubbs, the University's new head football coach.

Quoting from Cubby Campbell's column in the News-Tribune, "Ira Irl Tubbs, newly appointed head coaching at the University of Iowa, faces a gigantic task in fulfilling his avowed promise to Hawkeye officials 'to make good in one season or get out.' The development of a successful team, whih means a winning eleven in at least half a season's schedule, is a problem that few major grid coaches in the country would care to undertake. If Tubbs is able to lift Iowa's grid status from the doldrums to an elevated position in the Big Ten he will have earned rightfully the honor of being called a 'miracle man.'

"THE University of Iowa is a hot-bed of athletic and political intrigue. Ossie Solem had the experience of about 20 years coaching at Drake and Iowa, yet his tie-up with conditions there didn't prevent a series of blasts at his coaching regime when his teams faltered a bit the last two seasons. Tubbs will be in a delicate situation right from the start. There has already been quite a bit of unfavorable comment regarding his appointment. The Hawkeye coach is a swell fellow once you get acquainted with him."

We will add from our meetings with the Iowa mentor that he impressed us with his shrewdness and keenness without seeming to radiate those attributes as some coaches have.

Says the Milwaukee Journal, "Tubbs and Pop Warner, now at Temple, have been close friends for 10 years largely through their inventive interests. Warner thought so much of Tubbs' football genius that when his Stanford team came out to play middlewestern teams, he always engaged Tubbs to scout them for him."

STILL QUOTING the Journal, "Tubbs has had much to do with what has been popularly called the 'Warner double wing back system.' He started the first major coaching school in the country at Superior with such men as Knute Rockne, Pop Warner, Doc Meanwell, Howard Jones and others on the faculty. All these men listened carefully to Tubbs' teaching, and Warner, in particular, used Tubbs' ideas in connection with his double wing back. In fact they improved the system together. At Superior, Tubbs' teams were famed for their intricate concoctions from the double wing back. Many times the spectators as well as the opposition did not know where the ball was until the ball carrier was out in the open."

Which looks as if Tubbs is just about the man we have been looking for lo these many months.

Monday Set As Day for 1st Grid Practices

Tubbs, Boland Plan Hard Scrimmages For Spring Training

Irl Tubbs, Iowa's newly appointed football mentor, will begin the Hawkeye spring practice session next Monday, Feb. 22.

Tubbs and his assistant, Pat Boland, are in Miami, Fla., making final arrangements of their affairs at Miami university. Athletic Director E. G. (Dad) Schroeder had previously announced that practice would get underway tomorrow, but a telegram from Tubbs last night asked postponement of the date first announced because of unavoidable delay on his part. The wire indicated that the men plan to return here Saturday or Sunday.

Drill in the fundamentals and general technique of Coach Tubbs' style of play will be given in the fieldhouse until the weather permits work-outs on the field. It is expected, however, that the Hawkeye gridders will receive considerable outdoor scrimmage during the early practice sessions because of Tubbs' firm belief in placing particular emphasis on pre-season drills.

Uniforms and equipment have been checked out to varsity candidates from last season's squad. Freshmen players will receive their uniforms today.

It is expected that the Hawkeye squad which will report to Tubbs for the first time will number more than 50.

Swenson's Men Show Vast Improvement Over Maroon Meet

Iowa's freshman tracksters took six of a possible 11 firsts in their postal meet with Notre Dame Saturday, according to announcement made by Assistant Track Coach Ted Swenson yesterday, and won the meet by a 55 to 44 score.

The yearlings' efforts showed considerable improvement over those of a week previous when they lost a postal setto with the Chicago frosh by a top heavy score. Indeed, the marks were so much better than those of last week, that they would have won the meet lost to the Maroons, according to Coach Swenson.

Iowa Gets Three Slams

Each of the teams scored slams on the other, Iowa getting three in the 60 yard low hurdles, two mile run, and broad jump, and the Irish winning all three places in the 880 yard run.

Rosenbloom Claims Injury Prevented His Bout With Ramage

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 16 (AP)—Maxie Rosenbloom, veteran New York heavyweight boxer, appeared at a one-man hearing of the state athletic commission today and claimed an injured finger would prevent his going through with a 10-round bout with Lee Ramage, San Diego, at Olympic auditorium here tonight.

Matchmaker Joe Waterman reiterated his charge Rosenbloom "ran out" on the fight, which he said would have drawn a $10,000 gate.

Must Fight Ramage

Dr. Harry Martin, commission member conducting the hearing, put Rosenbloom on notice that he will not be permitted to meet anyone else until he fights Ramage.

GIANTS BEGIN TREK TO HAVANA CAMP FOR 1937 TRAINING

NEW YORK, Feb 16 (AP)—The 1937 major league training season officially started today when Secretary Edward Aloysius McGonigle Brannick of the New York Giants disappeared in the general direction of Havana, Cuba.

Snow was in the air when Brannick, equipped with a Spanish dictionary, 15 pounds of his favorite coffee, and his pretty wife, boarded the train. The rest of the New York party will sail tomorrow.

No Holdouts

"We didn't have a single holdout," Brannick rejoiced. "Joe Moore, Dick Bartell, Harry Danning, Hank Leiber and Roy Spencer haven't sent in their contracts yet, but they'll be in Havana by Friday." Shortstop Bartell arrived in Havana today.

According to Eddie, the boys mailed their contracts, or are too busy to send them in. "I don't know exactly what the reason is, but they're yelling for more money," he crowed.

Terry Has Cold

Only casualty on the Giants' list is Manager Bill Terry. He has a cold down in Memphis and won't be along for another week. In his absence, head coach Frank Snyder will be in charge.

Even Col. Jacob Ruppert, New York Yankees' owner, was in better spirits today. As long as the conversation didn't drift around to "Legs" Gehrig, the good colonel was calm.

"I had a letter from Jake Powell," he announced, "and he's going to be all right. He says he wants to play for the Yankees and nobody else, and that he's changed his mind about that $14,000 demand. We should get together in a couple of days."

City Hi, Blues Slated to Meet In Cage Meet

The prospective intra-city clash between University high and City high became an actuality yesterday as Coach Francis Merten announced the pairings for the sectional tournament to be held at City high gym March 4, 5 and 6. The two Iowa City teams will engage each other in the first round of the Class A portion of the meet.

The times have not yet been definitely set for the tournament games, but the two local fives will probably meet on the evening of Friday, March 8, at 8 o'clock. The following night the winner of this clash will play the third Class A team in the tournament, West Branch. The Hoovertown team drew a bye in the first round.

In the class B section, only two first round games will be played. Kalona and Lone Tree will take part in one of these, with Center and Nichols meeting in the other. Sharon, winner of last year's class B meet, will meet Springdale in the second round, both teams having drawn byes in the first round.

With the leading team of the Mississippi Valley league, Roosevelt of Cedar Rapids, as opponents Friday night, the Little Hawks of City high have settled down to serious work this week in preparation. The Roughriders have lost only one game so far this season, to Davenport, and are in a position to virtually clinch the conference crown by whipping the Mertenmen. In order to retain their mathematical chance of taking the championship, the Hawklets must defeat the Teds.

ROOSEVELT

Billy Stanford, 1A of Roosevelt school, is going to Florida for a month with his father and mother.

Primary students bought a book for Marilyn Rhodes. Each student wrote his name in the book before it was sent to her.

The five B class is charting the sky as a result of a study of winter constellations of the northern sky.

A play, "Marching On," was given by the fourth grade on Lincoln's birthday. The cast included: Missy, Margery Gable; Tom, Herbert Storing; Kate, Dorothy Hubbard; Arthur, Billy Vorbrich; Amy, Gretchen Yetter; Mary, Wanda Spaan, and Billy Kamman as master of ceremonies.

7A ARITHMETIC CLASSES OF IOWA CITY JUNIOR HIGH TAKE SELF-TESTING DRILL

All 7A arithmetic classes of Iowa City junior high school last week took a self-testing drill in which a rating of 10 went to a pupil who made a perfect grade and a rating of nine to all who made the next best grades.

One 7A class took self-testing drill 13, and Richard Guthrie was the only student to rate 10. Donald Stewart, Adeline Thomas and Billie Kanak received a score of nine.

In the fourth section of the class a rating of nine went to Helen Yorley, John Winslow, Richard Gross, Charlotte Slife, Ethel Mae Benson, Louis Marlas, Imelda Gatton, Fred Gartzke, Margaret Wylie and Carol Knotts.

In their first drill the following from section three made a rating of nine: Morris Ward, Minnie York, Jeanne Bowlin, Dick Coulter, George Gay, Loretta Hughes, Kathleen Smith and Marilyn Swanner.

Kathleen Smith and Morris Ward had the most problems correct.

High School Rifle Team Attains Class B National Rating

The rifle team of the Iowa City high school is now rated in the class B division of the National Rifle association on a country-wide scale of competitions.

The positions and ratings of the teams, based on the latest returns of scores of the 149 teams entered, were released at the national headquarters in Washington, D.C.

These junior championship matches, open to any team of 10 members under 18 years of age, are divided into two series of bi-weekly matches. The second series is now in progress, and will continue until the first week in April.

With 10 members firing in each match, only the five highest scores are considered in the bi-weekly computations of team totals. The division into four classes of A, B, C and D allows each team, no matter how inexperienced, a chance for national honors.

Kent to Outline National Scout Jamboree Plans Friday Night

Boy Scouts to Convene At Washington, D.C., In July and August

Plans for sending local Boy Scouts to the National Scout jamboree next summer at Washington, D.C., will be outlined to Johnson county district commissioners by Field Commissioner Gordon L. Kent Friday night.

This year's jamboree, which extends from June 30 to July 9, takes the place of one scheduled for last August but cancelled by President Roosevelt because of health conditions in states near the capital.

Scout representatives from Canada, Mexico and several European and South American countries will be included among the 25,000 boys and men who will pitch their tents in the 25 small villages being constructed for the jamboree on the Potomac river.

Scouts themselves will finance the cost of the jamboree by paying a small fee to cover food, other essentials and the cost of preparing the 35 acre camp site.

AROUND THE TOWN with MERLE MILLER

Chatted a long hour with a gas station owner last night, he telling a good one—to be taken with a grain of salt, but a good story anyway. . . A year ago station attendants asked, "Shall I fill it up?" and sold a usual amount of motor fuel . . . Last winter—the station owner had been reading a sales psychology book—attendants changed their query to "How many gallons"? and upped sales 10 per cent. . . This winter the question has been "How many will it hold?" and sales have gone up another 10 per cent. . .

Of course, all this may be due to better times, and not psychology at all. . . But it's something to think about. . .

Seriously enough, the oil stationer declares the next step may be several girl operators—a system already used with some success in Chicago. . . It may work, but isn't there something about paint and gas not mixing?

So many eateries are advertising "left-and-ham" sandwiches these days. . . The theory is the hog doesn't scratch himself with his left leg, leaving less muscle there. . .

Why not, may I ask, shouldn't farmers tie both hind legs of their hogs, advertise "hand-scratched ham?" . . . It's an idea anyway. . .

A card yesterday from a Stamford, Conn., justice-of-peace: "This card will entitle one couple to have their marriage ceremony performed in 1937 and pay for it in 1938. Write or phone in advance." . . . An appealing idea, $1-down-$1-a-week. . . Probably if a husband were overdue on his payments, the wife would be returned.

At four almost any afternoon the soda fountains nearby the Johnson County bank building are crowded with tired secretaries. . . It's the recreation hour—most employers admit it, willingly give their secretaries a quarter-hour off. . . If not, the girls go anyway—when boss is out of the office. . .

Only the bolder ones take a rest, also. . . Hard-hearted employes force stenos to grab a candy bar at four. . . But those don't have their secretaries long. . .

In case anyone is planning another sit-down strike, may this reporter suggest a good capitalistic remedy. . . Why not a large box of tacks scattered in vital spots? . .

Music Department Recital Today Will Include 12 Students

Twelve students will participate in a recital presented by the music department at 4 o'clock this afternoon in north music hall.

A string quartet composed of Marianne Witschi, A3 of Iowa City; Dorothy Johnson, A4 of Oak Park, Ill.; William Plant, A3 of Iowa City, and Alice V. Smith, A4 of Waterloo will play.
