Stronghold Of Basque Army, Bilbao, Taken By Insurgents

Rebels Smash 'Iron Ring,' March Into Capital City Without Shot Being Fired

By the Associated Press
Bilbao, hitherto invincible to siege, fell to the Spanish insurgents yesterday in the 12th month of the civil war.
Three months of resistance to Generalissimo Francisco Franco's war machine crumbled as a terrific nine-day final offensive shattered the Basque capital's "iron ring" defenses.
Franco's legions marched into the capital without a shot being fired.
Government Gone
Days before the Basque autonomous government fled from the city, leaving a defense committee of four to direct the last stand.
Asturian dynamiters blew up eight bridges over the Nervion river leading into Bilbao as Franco's troops, poised on the city's outskirts, received the order to advance. A battalion of Basque militiamen then forced the Asturians to the outer edges of the capital and hoisted the white flag.
"Santander Next"
Capture of Bilbao, momentous to Spain both in military and international political significance, was hardly effected until insurgents talked of Santander, 45 miles to the west, as the next objective.
They predicted that with Bilbao fallen, Santander would surrender "by telephone."
In the south, northwest of Madrid at Aroca, government and insurgent troops clashed in the heaviest fighting on the Madrid front in weeks.
Denies German Charges
At Valencia, Indalecio Prieto, minister of defense, denounced as "absolutely false" German charges that Spanish government submarines had tried twice to torpedo the German light cruiser Leipzig off the Algerian coast.
Prieto said all government submarines were in port on June 15 and 18, the dates on which Germany charged torpedoes were fired at the Leipzig.
In London, representatives of France, Italy and Great Britain agreed to consult their governments on Germany's demand for retaliation for the submarine attacks.

Justice Hughes Sees Danger To Democracy

AMHERST, Mass., June 19 (AP)—Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes today denounced both the "ruthlessness of a temporary majority" and the "activities of organized minorities," charging the former, if unchecked, would "eventually lead to the entire overthrow of democratic institutions."
Asserting the fundamental needs of democracy were "moral," he declared, "the ruthlessness of a temporary majority, if unchecked, will eventually lead to the entire overthrow of democratic institutions."
The 75-year-old chief justice did not elaborate on his references to the "temporary majority" or the "organized minorities," declaring it would not become him to speak of current interests.
He said he would "leave to the experts" the task of answering questions on current problems.

Picket Carnival

CEDAR RAPIDS (AP)—Four men carrying signs reading "unfair to union labor" picketed the entrance to the Royal American shows at a local amusement park here last night. The carnival is appearing under the auspices of the Shrine.

ESCAPED CONVICT RETURNED FOR IDENTIFICATION

Russian Plane Nears End of Polar Flight

SAN FRANCISCO, June 19 (AP)—Soviet Russia's transpolar fliers reported themselves heading to night for the Canadian coast on the last 2,000 mile lap of their hazardous 6,000 mile hop from Moscow to San Francisco bay.
The U.S. army signal corps at Seattle received the word from the airmen at 10:40 p.m. (CST) after a long period of silence, thought due to radio transmission difficulties. Their position was estimated roughly at Hecate strait, B.C., at 1 p.m. (CST). This point is 400 miles north of Seattle.
The signal corps message was the first publicity announced word from the airmen since 3:40 p.m. (CST) today. However, it was revealed in Seattle over five hours later that the radio station at Digby island, near Prince Rupert, heard at 2 p.m. the fliers then were over Great Slave lake, Alberta, roughly 500 miles north of Edmonton.
Definite word of the fliers' progress alleviated growing fear for the safety of the intrepid pair.
Down Coast
The Russian embassy reported here shortly after 8 p.m. it had received word from Seattle the plane was flying down the British Columbia coastline, and the fliers were expected to pass over Seattle within "four or five" hours.
From Seattle to Oakland it is roughly 750 miles. At the present rate of speed it was estimated the plane might arrive at its destination around 7 a.m. (CST) or earlier.
Route a Surprise
The route indicated by the airmen differs from that originally expected. Veteran fliers had expressed the opinion the Soviet airmen would fly the "inside route," via Edmonton, Alberta, and Spokane, Wash.

There's Been Mistake,' Cries Paulson, Identified as Gunman

Shackled hand and foot and with two guards over him, Cecil Paulson was returned here at 2 p.m. yesterday for identification on his way back to the Ft. Madison state penitentiary to finish serving a term of 10 years for breaking and entering.
Among the eyewitnesses of the shooting in which Patrolman Ben Hauber was injured were Edward Kibul, Ella Fry, behind whose home the car that Hauber was checking on was kept, George Williams, Willis Carney, from whom Paulson bought the car, and Robert Moore.
Two Not Sure
Although two of the witnesses of the shooting affray were not sure that he was the gunman, the rest identified him as the man who shot Hauber on June 11.
Of an emotional character, Paulson pleaded with the witnesses that he had never been involved in a shooting and that he had been in Minneapolis on the day of the shooting here. "There's been a mistake; there's been a mistake," he said over and over again.
Just outside of Charles City his guards discovered a blackjack that he had made of bedsprings. "He was apparently ready for a quick get-away," his guards from Ft. Madison said. "That is why we had to take the extra precaution of chaining his feet."
He will be returned here to answer a charge of assault with intent to commit murder filed by Attorney Robert Larson, acting county attorney, at the September term of court. Police Chief W. H. Benefield said.

Friends Urge Wegman Run For Senator

DES MOINES, June 19 (AP)—State Treasurer Leo Wegman today said he had received numerous suggestions from Iowa democrats that he be a candidate to oppose Sen. Guy Gillette for re-nomination in the 1938 primaries.
Wegman would add no comment to the disclosure.
"It is too early to talk politics," he said.
The state treasurer's name was the second heard in Iowa democratic circles as a possible candidate to Gillette next June. Gov. Neils G. Krasschel, who was a candidate for the democratic nomination for senator in 1932, also has been considered as timber for the democratic race.
Party chieftains have intimated in the last few weeks that Senator Gillette was in disfavor with some branches of the party in Iowa.

Abandon Hunt

SALT LAKE CITY, June 19 (AP)—It's up to sun and rain to uncover the broken bodies of five men and two women who met sudden death last December when a skyliner crashed into a Utah mountain peak.
Searchers left the hunt there tonight—abandoning efforts in fear of avalanches and after all indications were that the bodies may be scattered over a half mile of snow-buried mountain slope south of here.

Deputies Back Blum

PARIS, June 9 (AP)—The chamber of deputies tonight voted for the second time to give Premier Leon Blum full powers to rehabilitate French finances by decree, throwing back to the senate a fight which some political quarters thought might develop into a life or death issue for his government.
The upper house earlier by a vote of 188 to 72 rejected the bill embodying the emergency powers demanded by the premier, the opposition charging they were dictatorial.

Barrie, 'Pan's' Creator, Dies

LONDON, June 19 (AP)—Sir James M. Barrie, world renowned creator of "Peter Pan," died in a London nursing home today with the original Peter Pan at his bedside.
Peter Davies, adopted son of the 77-year-old author, watched death come peacefully and quietly after a long illness which developed into bronchial pneumonia. It was Davies who inspired the piquant story of the little boy who wouldn't grow up.

Man Killed In Fierce Battle At Youngstown

5 Injured In Clash Between Police And Republic Strikers

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, June 19 (AP)—At least one man was killed and five injured tonight in a fiercely fought battle between police and striking workers of the Republic Steel corporation plant.
The dead man was John Bogovich, who carried a picket card of the steel workers organizing committee.
The identified injured were: Thomas Osaby, 55, bullet wound in the head.
Ed Salt, photographer for the Youngstown Vindicator, shot in both legs and the right arm.
The other three wounded were not identified.
Women Cause Riot
The riot occurred when women C.I.O. sympathizers, police said, were ordered off company property. They refused to leave and C.I.O. officials said police fired tear gas into their ranks.
Screaming, they gave way, and scores of strikers rushed the police, forcing them into a railroad underpass.
Bullets splattered down from the surrounding hills.
C.I.O. leaders put in a frantic call for Gov. Martin L. Davey for state troops.
No State Aid
The governor, reported at his home in Kent, Ohio, could not be immediately reached.
The Republic plant, shut down since the strike started on May 26, is located one mile east of the city and until tonight only a small picket force was maintained there.
Pickets not actually engaged in the fighting formed lines across the roads east and west of the plant, blocking the highway, police said, in an apparent attempt to prevent the running in of reinforcements.
Police Line
A second police line beyond the picket defense line detained all traffic away from the riot zone.
Adjutant General Marx, commanding officer of the state militia, said he had received no orders from Governor Davey requesting troops and that his own observers in the riot area advised there was no immediate need for troops.

C.I.O. Leaders See Amicable Settlement In Maytag Dispute

NEWTON, June 19 (AP)—C.I.O. leaders here predicted amicable settlement of the labor dispute which has halted work for three days in the huge Maytag Washing Machine company factory here, after a mass meeting today.
Duane Eaton, a paint shop non-union worker, whom union leaders blamed as the agitator of the dispute, was unanimously accepted into the union by the 2,500 workers who attended the meeting.
Paint shop men affiliated with the union shut off the power and stopped work Thursday because, they said, they could not work with Eaton. They charged him with arguing against the union.

86 DEGREES HERE

Possible showers today may give Iowa City temporary relief from the season's first heat wave, which descended yesterday. The temperature reached a season high of 86 degrees at 2:11 p.m. yesterday, and lowered slightly during the evening.
While today may be continued warm with possible showers, tomorrow will be cooler, and showers are almost certain, the airport reported last night.
as the mercury crossed the 90-degree mark for the first time this summer at most Iowa points. Unofficial readings as high as 100 degrees were reported.
No heat deaths were reported.
The reading in Des Moines was 92 degrees at 4:30 p.m., compared with a previous high of 88 here on May 29.
The average for the day was six degrees above normal.
"That's nothing unusual for this time of year," the weather bureau explained. "We're just beginning to get a little warm weather for once, after the cool, late spring."

Tension Relieved

Lewis' action in cancelling the Johnstown mass meeting brought great relief to the atmosphere bristling with high tension. A telegram dispatched to United Mine Workers officials in all parts of Pennsylvania read:
"At the request of the governor of Pennsylvania, I have agreed that the mass meeting to be held at Johnstown, Pa., tomorrow at 5 p.m. is called off and canceled."
To Meet With Board
At the same time Lewis announced he would meet with the federal steel mediation board in Cleveland Monday. Attending with him will be three of his assistants, Philip Murray, Van A. Bittner and Lee Pressman.
Representatives of the four strike involved steel companies agreed also to meet with the board Monday.
Lewis agreed to cancel the miners' mass "invasion"—calculated to encourage C.I.O. steel strikers in the 24 day old battle over the question of signed labor contracts—upon receipt of a telegraphic request from Gov. Earle asking him to call it off "in the interest of public peace."
Before Lewis' move in calling off the march of 40,000 miners of Johnstown, Governor Earle had declared:
"Workers in the plant will be evacuated. If they remained there it might mean a terrible massacre, and I'm not going to take a chance."

C.I.O. Chief Calls Off Mass March Of 40,000 Miners

Johnstown, Pa., June 20 (Sunday) (AP)—The deadline set by Governor Earle for evacuation of the Cambria works of Bethlehem Steel corporation passed early today without indication that workers were leaving at the gates of the big Gantler mill, one of the seven main entrances to the works.

Johnstown, Pa., June 19 (AP)—A shut-down order to the huge Cambria works of Bethlehem Steel, coupled with declaration of martial law by Gov. George H. Earle, tonight marked the 24th day of the bloody "battle of steel."

Over-riding the bitter protests of Bethlehem's President Eugene Grace, Col. A. S. Janeway, directing martial law in the strike embroiled city, handed Bethlehem officials an order for immediate closing of the giant works.

Some 14,000 non-striking workmen were reportedly affected by the order.

This followed a dramatic surprise move by C.I.O. Chairman John L. Lewis in calling off a projected mass march of 40,000 miners of Johnstown tomorrow.

New Violence

Meanwhile, new violence raged tonight at the tense "danger point" in the far-flung strike front at Youngstown, Ohio, where police fired tear-gas bombs in repelling women C.I.O. sympathizers near the Republic Steel plant.

Hundreds of pickets, massed at the No. 5 stop gate of the plant, surged forward as the tear-gas barrage drew screams of terror from the women.

Rifle shots echoed from the top of the hills overlooking the scene, with snipers splattering bullets in the ranks of the hostile forces.

Prize Fights And Dollars

MAN HAS SOUGHT, since the beginning of time, to demonstrate a superiority over his fellow men. Tuesday night, the 1937 edition of this ancient and bestial urge will be exhibited before followers of the fistio art when Joe Louis meets Jim Braddock for money, fame and the heavyweight championship of the world.

In the days of old, leaders would meet in physical combat to decide their rivalry, but in the year 1937, monetary compensation has overshadowed the ideal of physical glory until the whole prizefighting situation is weighed and determined, not in brains and brawn, but in dollars and cents.

Max Schmeling, who has courage, physique, and ability—everything that a champion needs except the backing of Mike Jacobs—has been sidetracked by the "syndicate" so that Joe Louis may meet Braddock in the title bout. It will be recalled that Max gave Louis a sound trouncing about this time last year.

Jack Dempsey, regarded as one of the greatest fighters of all time, said a few weeks ago that unless this present "unpleasantness" in the heavyweight ranks was cleared up, the fight racket was doomed. Does it not seem that this is about the last straw in the heavyweight "policy game"?

Compare the two men who will be fighting for the heavyweight title of the world. Braddock came up from the relief rolls and the ranks of the ordinary light heavies to whip Corn Griffin and be named challenger for the crown held by Max Baer. In one of the most ludicrous bouts in ring history, Braddock outpointed the "Playboy Champ" to win the world's title. He has not fought since, although it has been two years.

Louis whipped Carnera, Ewer, the aged King Levinsky, and several other has-beens and never-weres. He celebrated invincibility myth was blasted by Max Schmeling last year, and yet he is still meeting Braddock for the championship of the world.

It will probably be a good fight—last it is being billed as such—where does that leave Max Schmeling? The question is, how long will the sporting public tolerate this sort of chicanery? How long will it allow the great American dollar to rule the athletic destinies of our country and of the world?

Doctors Ready To Cooperate

HUMAN BEINGS are creatures who like to have everything old—their furniture, wine, trees, paintings, books, friendships—everything, that is, except themselves.

A smoke screen may be necessary as part of naval maneuvers in a war battle, but we never could understand why so many factories try to hide behind one.

A Plea For Whimsey

HAVING WRITTEN more than a score of novels and plays, dozens of poems, innumerable fantasies, having created what may be the one immortal character in our contemporary literature, Sir James M. Barrie is dead. He was 77 years of age at his death yesterday, but it had been only a few months before when his last play opened in London. He was at work on another when he was recently taken ill with bronchial pneumonia.

So Sir James Barrie will write no more. There will be no more Peter Pans, no more Maggie Wyles, no more Alice-sit-by-the-fires. These and their author will be missed in the literary world.

live its creator, but Barrie wrote a kind of literature that is all too rare these days. He wrote of a world that exists only in the minds and imagination of men.

No one who has read of them will soon forget the Never-Never land, the daughter-that-might-have-been or the little minister. Persons or places like these may never have existed, but the world would be better if they had.

Literature today is different. Consider the plays that have been most successful on the Broadway stage during the last two seasons. One was a foul-speeched portrayal of southern poor white trash; another, equally vulgarly phrased, was a story of New York's east side and its criminals; a third dealt with abnormal psychology; a fourth with a group of murderers.

These playwrights attempt as they undoubtedly should, to show the "seamy side of life." They strive to show the hates, the ugly passions, the baser emotions of mankind. There is small room for whimsy or fantasy. We don't believe in fairy stories any more.

Undoubtedly the plays of Chekov, O'Neill and Anderson are finer drama than those of James Barrie, but we wish there were just one author left to dwell occasionally in the land of make-believe.

As Wordsworth has said, "The world is too much with us."

A Russian named Isaak Fedotich started work at the age of eight and did not retire until he was 124 years old. It seems a habit like that is hard to break.

Men's heads are getting larger, says an English magazine. After reading the latest news from Europe we aren't sure whether it is an actual increase in size or just a hangover.

No Smoking! Says the C.I.O.

No Smoking! . . . by order of C.I.O.

The stacks of America's steel mills no longer belch the smoke that means business, employment, food, and happiness for millions. There is no smoke because the furnaces are dead, the factory doors are closed.

Once again John L. Lewis has hit at American industry by inciting a strike of steel workers. The plants of four major independent steel companies in seven states are affected.

From Johnstown to Chicago this militant, power-grasping leader of workmen has thrown more than 100,000 men out of work as the greatest steel strike since 1919 continues to darken more furnaces daily.

Steel workers have consistently been one of the highest paid laboring classes in the United States. Their homes are above average. But out of work they can't continue on this basis. They can't eat C.I.O.

The C.I.O. is overstepping its limits when it interferes with the rights of laborers to work and employers to hire. The strike cannot go on indefinitely without inflicting permanent damage on American industry. Yet neither Mr. Lewis nor his C.I.O. has shown a reasonable willingness to terminate it, as yet.

Women have lost the art of love making and cooking in the last generation, wails Alfred Waterspiel, famed European chef. But they've learned to play bridge much better.

The little boy whose mother told him it was bad manner to point is naturally puzzled every time he sees a picture of Hitler or Mussolini being saluted.

There are long pauses between programs on many European radio stations, sounds like a swell new feature idea American broadcasters may find highly popular.

Doctors Ready To Cooperate

HISTORY, NATIONAL, as well as medical, was made at the recent Atlantic City convention of doctors. An important resolution was that approving birth control. More important than anything the American Medical association has done in recent years, however, was a second resolution asserting that the organization is willing to aid the federal government in extending adequate medical service to those who cannot now afford it. Before the convention ended President Roosevelt replied to the resolution, giving it his unqualified indorsement.

It is now generally supposed that whatever plan is evolved will be embodied in an amendment to the Social Security act.

In a day when scientific medicine has reached new levels of efficiency it is unthinkable that steps should not be taken to make its benefits available to everyone.

Many a family which can normally support itself has no financial reserve to meet the expenses of a sudden and a serious illness. Others on relief certainly cannot meet those expenses. As a result, the patients lose needed aid and the doctors lose their fees.

Working together the federal government and the medical profession surely can devise a plan which will protect the doctor and at the same time make medical care more generally available to those who need it.

STILL ANOTHER PROBLEM CHILD!

Saliva Makes Good Antiseptic, German Scientists Discover

By LOGAN CENDENING, M.D.

IN GERMANY recently there has been an extremely severe epidemic of diphtheria. So severe, in fact, that massive doses of diphtheria antitoxin have proved ineffective.

The epidemic suggested to certain German bacteriologists that they study the method by which the mouth normally kills off virulent bacteria. It was found that normal human saliva contains substances that will prevent the multiplication of malignant diphtheria bacteria in the mouth, and often kills them off within a few hours. If virulent diphtheria bacilli are exposed to saliva or are placed in a glassful of saliva, they are almost invariably killed to non-virulent forms, or else changed off altogether.

May Act Promptly There is perhaps a variation in the potency of saliva from time to time, under certain conditions it may not act as promptly or as completely as at others. It is possible in these periods of low potency that germs of one kind or another get a foothold in the mouth cavity.

Not only diphtheria, but many other forms of disease producing germs are destroyed in the same way. Whatever substance it is in the saliva that is destructive to germs, it is destroyed by heating to about 120 degrees Fahrenheit. Somewhat the same thing is true to the normal mucus of the nose.

These studies indicate the misleading nature of claims made for mouth antiseptics and nasal douches. The claim that a mouth antiseptic kills all germs in a very short period of time is, in most instances, untrue. Any antiseptic which will kill the germs will also kill the cells of the mucous membrane. Most of the antiseptics so advertised are extremely weak in their ability to kill bacteria, and as these studies show, it is much better to let nature's own antiseptics in the saliva and nasal mucus kill off bacteria in their own way. It is even possible that certain mouth antiseptics do harm by inhibiting the bacteria killing power of the saliva and nasal mucus.

New Yorker At Large

By JACK STINNETT NEW YORK—Many a young woman (and young man, too, for that matter) has had to hurdle the obstacle of parental objection in embarking on a career as an entertainer. . . . but so far as we know Helen Myers is the only young lady of the night clubs who has had the family minister put his stamp of approval on her efforts in the realm of after dark entertainment.

To go back, but not very far, Miss Myers is an Oklahoma City, Okla., girl who distinguished herself at the state university by collecting a Phi Beta Kappa key in her regular course of studies while devoting her attention seriously to the piano and composition.

She was active also in her national college sorority and a year ago was delegate to the annual convention in the east. On her return trip, she stopped off in New York, intending to stay a few days, has been here ever since. . . . composing, trying to get her compositions published, making phonograph recordings, doing radio work.

At first, all of her compositions were classical and her chief interest still is in modern classical composition, but, she explains, "a girl must eat."

She has one called "Dodging the Creditors," which she refers to as "stark realism."

Her venture into the night club field, however, was one of those things called a "break." One night last winter she was visiting the Rainbow Room at Rockefeller Center, as a guest, Evelyn Tyler, who did a solo piano number there, was called away by a death message. She had heard Helen Myers play. She asked her to substitute for her. Miss Myers did. . . . and before the evening was out she had signed a contract with the manager of the Maisonetie Russe in Vincent Astor's St. Regis hotel, who was in the audience.

Her engagement at the Maisonetie Russe was hardly well under way when, one evening, Rev. Paul Wright, pastor of the church which her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Myers, attended, and which Helen had attended since a youngster, telephoned her. He would like to visit her.

Miss Myers explained her working hours, invited the minister to stop in at the Maisonetie Russe. When Miss Myers appeared for her song and piano numbers, Dr. Wright was at a ringside table. It was after the show, when the reverend sat with the member of his flock, that he explained he was quite satisfied both with her performance and the decorous tone of the place.

SCREEN LIFE

By HUBBARD KEAVY. HOLLYWOOD — If you should happen by the University Training school here early some morning you might catch a glimpse of Mrs. Robert Kenaston bringing her four-year-old son to nursery classes. Mrs. Kenaston once was the screen's most beautiful woman—known then as Billee Dove.

Her hair is graying, but charmingly so. Her complexion is as pure as it was in her heyday, 10 years ago. Her figure apparently is unchanged. Generally, when she brings her boy to school, Billee wears tennis shorts of bright yellow or of pale blue. She attends mothers' meetings regularly and takes an active interest in the school affairs. As Mrs. Kenaston, Billee Dove lives quietly in nearby Santa Monica, in seldom seen among the film crowds.

Peter Pan Matures Betty Bronson, whom I see occasionally in Hollywood, looks almost the same as she did 10 years ago when she played Peter Pan. She has left pictures, too, to run a house, Bobby Vernon's smiling, and sometimes perplexed, face seems little different. But Bobby's waist is a few inches bigger than it used to be when he was a Christie comic. He is a gag man now.

Mary Miles Minter is still pretty and she has a nice complexion, but she is a little heavier—as you may have noticed in the news photographs—than she was many years ago on the screen. Mary says she is spending her time making a study of the history of tableware.

Vamp To Housewife Ella Hall, a star 15 years ago, is still a tiny person and still quite pretty. I often see her around the studios. She is a saleslady at large for an exclusive dress shop and makes a good living for herself and her three children. Theda Bara has changed considerably since she left the screen. The vamp of yesterday is the housewife today. Her husband is Charles Brabin, a director until his recent retirement. Both are active socially.

Local League of Women Voters To Sponsor Conference July 2

State President And Woman Judge Invited To Meeting Here

The Iowa City League of Women Voters is inviting neighboring leagues to attend a conference here July 2. Although plans are not yet complete, the hostesses hope to be able to present the next state president, Mrs. E. L. Nelson of Newton, to their guests.

If Mrs. Nelson accepts the invitation, one of the features of the conference will be a discussion, beginning at 10 a. m., in which she will take part. League measures and the new state league program will be the topics considered.

One of the high points of the conference will be a luncheon at which the league, in cooperation with the Federated Business and Professional Women's club, hopes to entertain Judge Florence Ellinwood Allen of Columbus, Ohio. Judge Allen, the only woman judge of a circuit court of appeals, will be in Iowa City at that time to present the third university lecture on the summer school schedule.

In the afternoon session, Prof. Ralph Fuchs of Washington university, a visiting professor in the university summer school, will conduct a round table discussion in Old Capitol senate chamber. He will talk on various aspects of recent labor legislation.

To conclude the day's events, Iowa City League members and their visitors will attend Judge Allen's lecture.

Child Welfare Exhibits To Be Displayed During Conference

Emphasizing recent discoveries in child behavior and in personality growth, exhibits of the Iowa Child Welfare Research station will be found in Iowa Union during the child development and parent education conference next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

The 1937 conference theme—dealing with the child's personality, his emotional adjustments and his community activities—is carried out in the exhibit and in Wednesday's program from the standpoint of contributions of research and service to personality growth.

"Circuit Riders" Experiments in the preschool to find how much the little child can learn and in what ways his behavior can best be guided toward self reliance are summed up by station workers and then carried over the state by radio speakers and parent education "circuit riders" like Mrs. May Pardee Youtz and Afton Smith.

A series of posters which also shows increased services to government agencies pictures these workers' adventures in attempting to reach remote corners of the state in spite of weather like the blizzard which barely prevented a 100 per cent leadership record at Sioux City last winter.

Study Groups Conference delegates are expected from among the 2,151 parents in 147 local study groups aided by these women and the more than 2,800 who took part in the radio child study clubs directed by Prof. Ralph H. Ojemann of the station.

Another series of exhibits describes play equipment and desirable parental attitudes that have solved discipline problems and prevented possible delinquency in some communities.

"Character Growth" and "The Family and the Community" courses suggested this year by national parent-teacher leaders, were worked out in detail by the station for groups under their supervision. At Washington, Ia., this resulted in cooperation between the P.T.A. and the school board to sponsor a summer playground supervised by the W.P.A.

The coordinating council, a new type of community service to prevent rather than cure delinquency, is explained in a new poster prepared by Harold M. Williams.

Besides supplying trained workers for community and government projects, the station has distributed more than 800,000 bulletins presenting research discoveries in a popular form.

Posters illustrating research that will be described Wednesday afternoon in Symposium B have been prepared by Prof. Amy L. Daniels, who talks on "Pitfalls in the Modern Diet"; Prof. Beth Wellman, "The Mental Growth of Children"; and Harold M. Williams, "Factors in Child Delinquency."

Something New in Crime Yarns: A Book Minus Hero-Detective

'Patterned Life' Proves Amazing To This Heroine

"The Pattern" by Mignon Eberhart (Doubleday, Doran and company, 1937, $2.00).

Cella believed in a pattern behind her life. It got her substantial Jerome Cable as a husband even though he was all but married to Nan Bayne. She thought it was going to bring her another, more substantial husband when she tired of Jerome, but she failed to watch it closely and it brought her death instead.

This is the foundation of Mrs. Eberhart's latest and probably best murder mystery. She introduces us to a colony of summer vacationists, plain, average folk, typical of every-day acquaintance. Their personalities and motives are delineated with fine craftsmanship and then woven together with several murders to form a fascinating and highly readable detective story.

No Hero-Detective One of the most conspicuous qualities of the book is its lack of a hero-detective. Mrs. Eberhart did well to leave Susan Dare at home, but she has substituted no Phlo Vance or Charlie Chan—instead there is only the morose and laconic Jacob Wait.

Mr. Wait really proves to be one

Two Couples Repeat Vows

Local Men, Olson Sisters Wed In Double Ceremony

In a double ceremony two sisters, Valta and Ruth Olson, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Olson of Tipton, became the brides of Harold Donham and Elmer Potter, both of Iowa City, route 6, at 3:30 a. m. yesterday morning in the Christian church.

Before members of the immediate families the two couples, unattended, were married by the Rev. Caspar C. Garrigue, pastor of the Christian church.

Mrs. Donham, in an ankle-length white lace dress with a separate poplin jacket, wore white sandals and a large white hat. In contrast her sister wore a pale blue taffeta gown styled as a redingote with white sandals and a white off the face hat. Both of the brides had pink roses.

A wedding dinner was served at the home of the brides' parents to members of the bridal party and relatives. Later the two couples left to spend the week end in Wisconsin.

All four are former students of University high school.

Louis Still Favored Over Jim Braddock In Tuesday's Battle

$750,000 Gate Lures Fighters

'Battle of Scrapped Contracts' Should Draw 60,000 Fans

By ALAN GOULD

CHICAGO, June 19 (AP)—The "battle of the scrapped contracts," involving Champion Jim Braddock and challenger Joe Louis in a small scale reproduction of the crowning event in heavyweight fistfighting held here 10 years ago, brings the latest upheaval in the boxing industry to a climax next Tuesday night, under the lights at South Side Comiskey park.

The circumstances, the fanfare and the gladiators themselves represent a far cry from that gaudy affair in September, 1927, when Gene Tunney arose from the celebrated "long count" to beat off the challenge of Jack Dempsey, but the current conference of pugilistic capital and labor looks like a highly profitable evening for all concerned.

Same Profit? Strange as it may seem, the Louis-Braddock match, with a prospective "gate" of $750,000 and a crowd of 60,000, may return nearly as much profit to its promoters as did that famous battle at Soldier Field, where upwards of 100,000 cash customers contributed to the all time record receipts of $2,658,000.

The late Tex Rickard, after paying approximately $1,500,000 in guarantees and otherwise lavishly producing his 1927 spectacle, got back to New York with less than $300,000 for the directors of Madison Square Garden, who now have nothing but a series of legal knockouts to show for their attempts to block the latest shift of the heavyweight industrial conflict to the big town of the American Indians.

The first mixed match for the heavyweight title since 1910, when Jack Johnson knocked out Jim Jeffries in 15 rounds at Reno, not only is assured of financial success, but in the view of a critical majority, may elevate the first Negro to the championship heights in 27 years.

Absence of Betting Already a pronounced favorite in the betting, which has been chiefly conspicuous for its absence, the 22-year-old Negro whose punching prowess has stimulated a three year fistic revival polled a substantial plurality today in expert selections.

Louis no longer enjoys the status of a "super fighter," such as was accorded him before he was flattened just one year ago tonight by Max Schmeling, the German who has been side tracked in current proceedings. Faced by so many "angles," the fight experts themselves have shown a pronounced disposition to "hedge" their predictions but a majority still feels Louis has the weapons, at least, with which to beat Braddock or any other American heavyweight.

"Shoot the Works" Braddock's gameness, his experience, and the fact he can well afford to "shoot the works" after a costly two year lay-off, may combine to spring another of the upsets that marked his comeback. He hasn't fought for two years and he wasn't particularly spectacular the night he outpointed Max Baer for the title in the Garden's Long Island city bowl. He's nine years older than the challenger and not the puncher that his rival is, with either hand, but it's just as well to remember the same arguments were being used against Schmeling's chances last June.

The deflation of Louis, in his bouts with Schmeling and Bob Pastor, match Braddock's age and inactivity in most pre-battle arguments. So-called "insiders" have spread stories that neither fighter "can lose." No heavyweight title fight would be complete without such rumors or considerable suspicion on the part of many railbirds. Dempsey "couldn't lose" here 10 years ago.

Similar Training Processes The training processes of both champion and challenger have been singularly mediocre and monotonous. Comparing notes, from day to day, most experts have agreed both fighters looked "terrible." (See HEAVYWEIGHT, Page 5)

Down The Sports Trail

KENOSHA, Wis., June 19 (AP)—Experts who like the chances of James J. Braddock to retain his heavyweight title made a bee-line to their favorite bookies today after watching challenger Joe Louis engage in his semi-final workout at the Lake Front stadium.

The Brown Bomber looked almost awful as he went through four rounds against two Negro sparring partners who fought along Braddock's style and made the challenger look like a sucker. Circling toward their own left to avoid Louis' one big punch—that left hook—spurnates George Nicholson of Yonkers, N.Y., and Tiger Hairston, Wheeling, W.Va., would have won the decision if it had been a real contest.

Playing Possum? No less than a half dozen times, Louis was maled by good rights to the jaw, and although Nicholson and Hairston are no great shakes as fighters, the Bomber blinked and seemed bewildered. Possibly he was playing possum. If so he did a masterful job.

Louis opened his drill weighing 159 pounds and went through a round of shadow boxing. As usual, he showed no spring in his legs but his wind and form seemed excellent. Then he began to spar as the assembled throng of 1,500 watched expectantly.

Experts Amazed Experts, looking at Joe for the first time, were amazed. Even trainer Jack Blackburn seemed a bit befuddled. The consensus was that Joe isn't as bad as painted but that he'll have to be a whole lot better than he was today to ship a man of Braddock's courage and experience.

Outwardly Louis is in great condition for his biggest shot. He appears contented and unworried. Two weeks of growth of whiskers decorate his face and he looks tough, rough and hard to handle.

Leaves Tuesday He will leave at 9:40 a.m. (CST) for Chicago Tuesday evening. His arrival to coincide with official weighing-in ceremonies at the Hippodrome theater in Chicago.

Until that time the experts are going to be in an awful stew. After today, some of them who were so confident of his chances feel like ripping up their predictions and starting all over again.

Reds Mix Derringer's Pitching With Homers to Whip Giants

CINCINNATI, June 19 (AP)—The Reds combined Paul Derringer's three-hit pitching with a pair of timely home runs today to whip the New York Giants 4 to 2 and climb out of the National league cellar for the first time since May 24.

Turning in his best pitching performance of the season, Derringer was in trouble only once in the fifth inning, when Mel Ott's 11th homer of the year, with a mate on base, accounted for both of the Giant runs.

Although he fanned only one batter, he did not walk any, to best Clyde Castleton in a pitching duel, giving the Reds their second straight over the Giants in the current series, and post his second win of the season.

A homer by Ival Goodman started the Reds scoring in the third, but Chick Hefey's round trip blow, with Phil Weintraub aboard and one out in the ninth inning, broke up the ball game for Cincinnati.

U.S.C. TRIUMPHS IN N.C.A.A. TRACK, FIELD CONTEST

BERKELEY, Calif., June 19 (AP)—Three meet records were smashed today as University of Southern California successfully defended its team title in the sixteenth annual national collegiate A.A. track and field championships with 52 points.

Meet records were established in the half-mile by Johnny Woodruff, of Pittsburgh; the two mile run by Gregory Rice of Notre Dame, and in the pole vault by Bill Sefton of Southern California.

Woodruff, long-legged negro who won the 1936 Olympic 800 meters championship, charged into the lead at 200 yards and won as he pleased in 1:50.3—finishing five yards ahead of Ross Bush of Southern California. The old record was 1:50.9 set in 1933 by Charles Hornsbottom of Indiana.

Rice's two-mile time of 9:14.2 compared with the former record of 9:17.7 set by Charles Shugart of Miami in 1932.

Sefton, already co-holder of the unofficial world's vault record, set a new meet mark by clearing 14 feet 7 7/8 inches.

Heavyweight

They report that Louis, remembering Schmeling's blast is "right hand shy" and still extremely vulnerable to a high shot to the temple—the spot that Schmeling tapped with such telling effect.

The Negro's handlers insist he has recaptured his confidence and incentive. They say his heart is set on becoming the first of his race to gain the championship in more than a quarter century. They "throw out" the Schmeling and Pastor fights as consequences of overconfidence, over-weight, and inexperience.

Jim Still Pleads
Bradcock, though less of a mystery, still in the plodder type. He relies mainly on his left jab, his ring judgment, and ability to keep his head under fire. His right hand is dangerous but not as explosive as Schmeling's. No greyhound on his feet, the champion is nevertheless shifty.

A scattered few, having in mind the recent history of pugilistic upsets, have gone so far out on the limb as to predict a knockout victory for Bradcock but there is no logical basis for figuring Jim to win on any basis but points, if the bout goes the 15 round limit. The titleholder's popularity in the trade, his come-back from the relief rolls, and his fight for financial security now, have combined to give a more sentimental than convincing touch to his support.

Profitable Path
Regardless of the outcome, there's a profitable path in prospect for the victor. Plans are afoot for the victor to defend the crown against Tommy Farr, British champion, in London, late in July or early in August. Schmeling doesn't figure in current calculations, since he left this country in a huff over Bradcock's alleged "run-out," but it won't be startling if the German bounces right back into the picture for a fight in New York this September.

Louis, if he lifts the title, will be particularly anxious to try squaring accounts with Schmeling. Until the German has had his "shot" at the crown, now three deferred since he knocked out the Negro, there can be no satisfactory heavyweight rating, no matter who is on top.

Paulus Plans Reorganization

City Council To Hear Outline for Combined Department June 28

Plans for a new city health department are being drawn up by Dr. E. W. Paulus, city health officer. Organization of the new department in ordinance form includes a health officer, city nurse, two sanitary inspectors for beer and milk and a building and plumbing inspector.

The entire sanitary code will be presented to the city council at its next meeting June 28.

An extensive milk ordinance, taken from the United States health service, defines grades of milk as to bacterial content and condition of cows and dairies. The new ordinance will supplant the present one and will specify regular inspection dates. Permits will be issued to those who comply with the ordinance.

At present there is no grading of milk under the city ordinance. Under the new ordinance only grade A milk will be sold raw, and grades A and B will be sold to pasteurizing plants.

"The big dairymen are all right; it's the small fellows who keep unsanitary plants. It's a question of the little dairy or the little children who have to drink unsanitary milk," Dr. Paulus said.

Odd Fellows To Hold Meeting on Tuesday

Routine business will occupy the regular meeting of the Odd Fellows Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. Secretary John Huss announced yesterday. The meeting will be at the Odd Fellows hall.

Driver Waives To Grand Jury

Louis Burleson of Iowa City posted a $500 bond and waived to the Johnson county jury yesterday in Justice of the Peace T. M. Fairchild's court.

Burleson, charged with driving a car while intoxicated, was arrested by State Highway Patrolman Kenneth Rhoades and B. B. Bentzinger Friday night in the business district.

John Collins Jr. of Iowa City, Burleson's companion, was sentenced to three days in the city jail when he pleaded guilty of intoxication.

A fine of $50 and costs was levied against J. H. Hollinger of Omaha, Neb., who pleaded guilty to a reckless driving charge. Hollinger was stopped by the highway patrol east of Iowa City on highway 6 Friday night.

Dean Kay To Attend Kiwanis Convention As Local Delegate

WARN CITIZENS OF FAKE SOLICITORS

Iowa Citizens are warned against persons traveling in a car bearing Florida license plates and representing themselves as solicitors for funds for a safety council.

Judge Rankin, Keokuk, to Rule On City Election Dispute July 8

INVITE PARENTS TO BOY SCOUT MEETING TODAY

The parents of all Boy Scouts going to the National Boy Scout jamboree in Washington, D.C., June 30 to July 9 from the Iowa City area are invited to attend a discussion of details of the trip this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the five-day training camp now in session at the City park. Scout Executive Owen B. Thiel announced yesterday.

Fifteen boys who will go to the jamboree are now engaged in preparing their share of the regional exhibit, making handcraft trinkets, headresses and loin cloths for an Indian dance to be presented at the jamboree and rehearsing an act for the little theater there. However, no fixed schedule is followed.

Official Boy Scout haversacks will be issued to the jamboree troop in which all equipment for the trip must be carried. The haversack will become the permanent property of each Scout and will be decorated with patrol insignia and the jamboree emblem while the boys are in training camp. The boys also will receive 12-page scrapbooks in which to keep their memoirs and snapshots of the jamboree.

District Court Will Hear Both Parties, Judge Evans Says

Judge John M. Rankin of Keokuk will rule upon the Iowa City council controversy in district court here beginning July 6, it was announced by District Judge Harold D. Evans yesterday.

Quo warrant proceedings brought by the county attorney against members of the former Municipal Ownership league council asking them to show by what right they claim to hold office as aldermen of the city will be heard, as will an appeal by the MOL's of a special contest board's ruling that the incumbent CNP council is rightfully entitled to administer city affairs.

In contesting the city election of March 29, the MOL's charged four of the incumbents "joined with the Iowa City Light and Power company to bribe and illegally influence the voters."

Refinish Rock Island Station

New Cool Pullman Service Between Here and Chicago

The first step in reconditioning the Rock Island Station was completed yesterday as painters finished redecorating the building inside and out.

The exterior has been painted green with cream and brown trimmings. New seats have been installed in the waiting rooms and a new flag pole has been placed in the park east of the station.

Frank Meacham, local agent, yesterday announced there is air-conditioned pullman service daily between Iowa City and Chicago.

A new heating system is yet to be installed at the station, and this same heating unit will be used during the winter to heat the pullmans standing in the yards.

AROUND THE TOWN

with MERLE MILLER

Scout's Report - A scout reports Vivian Pierce, whose first novel Doubleday, Doran may publish this spring, was a freshman here last winter. The scout declares she scarcely attended class, spent long hours in her room reading Indian folklore—the theme of her first novel. She may return next fall—should the novel be published. Vivian, I add, is 17.

Communism - Recommended reading for all those who believe they're communists or socialists is Lewis Carliner's "Papa Is a Pole, Alas" in this month's "Story."

Age - Of course, at least half a dozen men I know are commenting on Mrs. Roosevelt's suggestion for women on the supreme court bench. How, they ask, will it ever be possible for a woman to admit she's too old when eight old men won't?

Dictatorship - Dorothy Thompson is certainly making up for her famed error of 1932 when she declared Hitler would never be Germany's dictator. Now a viewer-with-alarm, Miss Thompson is seeing everyone in dictator's shoes—especially Mr. Roosevelt and the new deal.

Long Remember - And, of course, there's some doubt now as to whether Johnson town will be remembered for the Great Flood or the Great Strike.

American—Side by side on the front sheet of a Thursday New York paper were two news items—one of them declaring $25,000 was spent in carrying out the MacDonaid-Raymond wedding, from Hollywood. Another, from Johnstown declared, "Two of the strikers say the wages are so low they would be 'better off' on relief pay rolls."

Retribution - And today is the day we give a five cent postcard and a box of cigars to dad in exchange for his keeping us the other 364 days. Almost every co-ed knows C.O.D. means "Collect off Dad."

Ties - And a local haberdashery, they tell me, has two sets of ties for shoppers. For men who're obviously buying cravats for themselves, there are quiet wearable stocks; but for gift shoppers, the loud, unwearable ones are bargained. Probably not true, but it makes a good story.

Culture - And I'm happy to hear the St. Louis symphony may make a summer trip to Des Moines. Iowa will be able to imbibe a little culture in the summer as well as during the cold months.

Biography - And I observe by the New York press that Emil Ludwig's to write a biography of "the most hated and most loved man in America." Won't tell who—but everyone's making a private guess. It isn't President Roosevelt.

A localite paid $30, they say, for a ticket to the Louis-Bradock affair. Far as I know that's the high mark for a single local fan.
