Russian Fliers Cross North Pole in Storm

Temperature 17 Degrees Above Zero At Crest of World

MOSCOW, July 13 (Tuesday) (AP)—The Russian fliers flying to the United States over the top of the world crossed the North Pole at 3:14 a. m. today (6:14 p. m. Monday, CST) in a snowstorm.

They reached the pole just eight minutes under 24 hours after their takeoff from Moscow in an attempt to better the world record for long distance in a straight line and to demonstrate the feasibility of an European-American air link over the Arctic.

Return Flight
BOUCHERVILLE, Quebec, July 12 (Canadian Press)—The British transatlantic flying boat Caledonia docked here at 2:04 p. m. (CST) today on the first leg of a return voyage to Foynes, Irish Free State. It left Port Washington, N. Y., about two and a half hours before.

Danilin as navigator, crossed the top of the world at an altitude of 2,700 meters (8,858 feet) at a speed of a fraction under 100 miles an hour.

Navigator Danilin reported a temperature of eight degrees below zero centigrade (17.6 degrees above zero Fahrenheit).

He added the crew was well and everything in order despite the weather conditions.

Radio Contacts
The fliers made frequent contacts by radio with ground stations.

At 12:15 a. m. (3:15 p. m. CST Monday), they reported they were at latitude 86, longitude 58 east, flying at an altitude of 4,500 meters (14,763 feet) and passing over a cyclone area.

The fliers took off from Moscow at 3:22 a. m. yesterday (6:22 p. m. CST Sunday).

The pilot, the press reported, planned to set his course on the 120th meridian (which passes east of San Francisco) after crossing the pole and to fly as far south in the United States as possible.

"Main Purpose"
"We consider the main purpose of the flight," he said, "to confirm again the possibility of regular communications intercontinentally by way of the pole. We also wish to attempt to break the record for long distance in a straight line. Our flight will be made in accordance with all rules of the (International Aeronautic) federation."

Legion Names Delegates To State Session

Delegates to the state American Legion convention in Des Moines Aug. 2, 3 and 4 were chosen at a meeting of Roy L. Chopek presiding at the Moose hall last night.

Commander Elmer Dewey is chairman and Commandant George Sheets, vice-chairman. Other delegates are District Judge Harold D. Evans, B. M. Ricketts, Lou E. Clark, Attorney Thomas E. Martin, Don Davis and Francis Boyle.

Alternates are George Zeithamer, Attorney William R. Hart, City Engineer Allen Wallen, Roscoe Taylor, Delmer Sample, Gordon Dismore, Dick Dodd and Charles Fiesler.

Ricketts, chairman of the picnic committee, reported the annual affair will be July 28 at Picnic Point.

The colors of the local Legion post will probably lead the parade at the state convention, it was reported, because this post leads the state in the number of new members for its population.

Youth, 16, Indicted For Attack on Girl

CHICAGO, July 12 (AP)—Two true bills charging John Ardlean, 16-year-old high school athlete, with a criminal attack upon a 9-year-old girl and with assault with intent to kill, were reported voted today by the Cook county grand jury.

Close C.I.O. Headquarters After Battle

2 Killed, 15 Injured In Clash Between Police and Strikers

MASSILLON, Ohio, July 12 (AP)—Police and national guardsmen closed C.I.O. headquarters today and prohibited formation of picket lines in the wake of a clash between police and strikers which killed two men and injured 15, including three patrolmen.

National guardsmen stood watch over the union building, from which police tear gas, backed up by firing from a sub-machine gun, had forced all C.I.O. adherents.

Frank Hardesty, sub-regional director of John L. Lewis' steel union, declared the "shooting and murder" were "part of a premeditated plan to shoot down innocent workers to inspire terror." He asserted foremen of the Republic Steel corporation, which has a plant 500 yards from the union headquarters, participated in the shooting; Republic spokesmen said none of its employees had participated.

The clash brought to 15 the death total of the strike, called by the union May 26 in an effort to obtain signed bargaining contracts from independent steel companies. It came as Republic was opening the last of its strike-closed plants, and Youngstown Sheet and Tube company was arranging to reopen tomorrow its Indiana Harbor, Ind., works, employing 7,700.

Chastened Burlesque Reopens

Producers Retrieve Shows From License Commissioner's Laundry

By GLADWIN A. HILL
NEW YORK, July 12 (AP)—Stripped of the strip tease and calling itself "variety," burlesque gingerly tip-toed back onto Broadway today after two months in the city license commissioner's laundry.

Chorus girls with plenty of clothes on—the producers call it "clothed nudity"—giggled embarrassedly and went through the humdrum kicks and whirls that used to preface an exhibition of undressing—and then the curtain went down.

Comedians skidded onto the stage, slipped each other around and rattled off the lines that used to build up to a crack that knocked the hats off the customers in the back row and—the curtain went down.

Then, as if gathering itself for one of the slam-bang, pre-May 1937 Minsky coups d'etat, the band jammed "Gee But You're Swell," the curtains parted and the showgirls "line," clad about like a nice department store's lingerie display—mimed decorously up and down,

Plane Carrier Ready to Send Fliers on Hunt

Visibility Poor As Lexington Reaches Howland Island Area

HONOLULU, July 12 (AP)—The aircraft carrier Lexington lined its flying deck with fighting planes and posted special lookouts today, ready to launch its mighty forces into a final hunt for Amelia Earhart.

Approaching the northeastern border of the 265,000-mile search area which centers about Howland island, the big ship was tuned from stern to stern for the greatest aerial search in history.

At 12:30 p. m. (CST), the Lexington was 500 miles northeast of Howland and was heading toward a point 100 miles north of that island to start its search.

Rain Squalls
Sudden rain squalls limited visibility. Officers said there was only a 50-50 chance of weather improvement before the hour set for the aerial operations to begin.

The navy announced the battleship Colorado was refueling the destroyers Cushing, Lamson and Bratton 375 miles north northeast of Howland.

The coast guard cutter Itasca and the navy mine sweeper Swan later turned down toward the Gilbert islands and the navy department moved to obtain the necessary permission from the British government to search that area.

Lookouts Scan Seas
The lookouts, stationed at every vantage point aboard, scanned the tropic seas on all sides, hoping for some trace of the aviatrix and her navigator, Fred Noonan, who vanished 10 days ago in a vain attempt to reach Howland island.

The 63 planes were checked, fueled and in position for quick takeoffs with 126 fliers. The takeoffs were tentatively scheduled to start at dawn tomorrow.

Hope was at its lowest ebb everywhere among the far-flung search units, but the Lexington's crew seemed to feel that the great air armada would do everything possible to find Miss Earhart and Noonan.

Premier Mussolini Greets Roosevelt's Son and 4 Friends

ROME, July 12 (AP)—John Roosevelt, son of President Roosevelt, was received today by Premier Mussolini and the two exchanged cordial good wishes.

With Roosevelt were the three sons of the United States Ambassador William Phillips—William, Drayton and Christopher—and the ambassador's nephew, John Drayton. The envoy introduced them to Il Duce.

Roosevelt and his grandnephew, Mrs. James Roosevelt, reached Italy Friday from the United States.

PEIPING, July 12 (AP)—Japanese and Chinese troops resumed their warfare west of Peiping tonight as strong reinforcements

BULLETIN

TOKYO, July 13 (Tuesday) (AP)—The Japanese cabinet, meeting in emergency session, today took the unprecedented step of calling all prefectural governors to Tokyo for a conference on the North China crisis.

The action followed declaration of a "state of emergency" in Manchoukuo and Japan's Kwantung leased territory.

were hurried by both sides toward the North China zone of conflict.

The chatter of machine guns, punctuated by the roar of artillery, was clearly audible in Peiping from about 10 p. m. to 11 p. m. (8 a. m. to 9 a. m., CST). Chinese and Japanese alike expressed deep anxiety over the renewal of hostilities, which came after a day of truce.

Nearer Peiping
The fighting was nearer Peiping than previous clashes, which began Wednesday night along the Yungting river, 10 miles west of the city.

Chinese reports said tonight's fighting started when Japanese infantrymen stationed at Tachingsun, a village four miles east of the river, advanced to within firing range of Chinese troops holding Tsaihsenmiao (Temple of the God of Wealth), only two miles from Peiping's walls.

Chinese said the Japanese retired after an hour's fighting.

Chinese declared the Japanese had broken the truce which had been in effect since Sunday night although both sides were vague as to its terms.

Not Withdrawing
They asserted that an official attached to Mayor Chin Teh-Chun of Peiping, sent to the Yungting area to see that the Japanese had carried out an agreement to withdraw their forces, returned to report that Japanese commanders near Wanpinghsien told him they had no intention of withdrawing.

Origins of the conflict remained obscure. Each side declared the other fired first in the opening battle Wednesday night, and each blamed the other for the collapse of subsequent truces.

Anamosa Fugitive Captured, Returned

ANAMOSA, July 12 (AP)—The warden's office at the state reformatory here announced today that Claude Warrington, 26, who was serving a 10-year sentence for an Emmet county robbery, was captured and returned to the institution today.

The warden's office said Town Marshall Null of Monticello captured Warrington last night in the Monticello depot. He surrendered peacefully.

Senator Bailey Asserts Court Measure Illegal

Wyoming Democrat Charges Leaders Ignorant of Bill

WASHINGTON, July 12 (AP)—Senator Bailey (D-Wyo.) climaxed a turbulent day of senate debate on the court reorganization bill today with an assertion that the measure is clearly unconstitutional.

Before a crowded senate, taut with the strife the measure has provoked, he shouted the purpose of the bill is "to control the decisions of the supreme court," an objective for which there is no sanction in the constitution.

The North Carolinian spoke after Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.), former democratic national committeeman, charged administration leaders with ignorance of the bill they are espousing. He also accused them of imposing "zag rule" on the senate and denounced the measure as centralizing control over the administration of justice.

Sharpshooting
Both speakers delivered their addresses between intermittent outbursts of the parliamentary sharpshooting that has dominated the discussion ever since Senator Robinson (D-Ark), the majority leader, invoked rules only used to combat actual or threatened filibusters.

Both proponents of the bill and the opposition denied responsibility for the fact that since these rules were applied, other business, notably a war department appropriation bill and the administration farm bill, has piled up awaiting settlement of the court squabble.

Proponents pointed to the fact opposition senators blocked introduction of the farm bill today. The opposition replied the bill can be introduced any time the administration forces choose to relax their drastic rules.

Senator Wheeler (D-Mont) charged the farm bill was brought in to put the foes of the court bill on "the spot" by making it appear they are blocking farm legislation.

Message
Soon afterward, President Roosevelt sent a message to Capitol Hill saying it is vitally important to the nation that the farm legislation be passed at this session.

Bailey denounced the substitute bill now before the senate, saying it is just as objectionable as the original measure. It provides, he said, for the same "control over the decisions of the supreme court."

Plan Tribute To Gershwin In Two Cities

HOLLYWOOD, July 12 (AP)—George Gershwin, noted American composer of modern music, will be honored Thursday in simultaneous memorial services here and in New York, N. Y.

A committee headed by Irving Berlin, Moss Hart and L. Wolfe Gilbert was appointed today to arrange for the services here. The eulogy will be given by Oscar Hammerstein.

Bing Crosby, Victor Young and other artists participated in a radio broadcast tonight in which Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue" and other compositions were played.

Gershwin, 38, who advanced from a $15-a-week song plugger in New York to a writer of scores for film musicals at a reputed $250,000 a year and was a Pulitzer prize winner, died here Sunday after an operation for a brain tumor. His body was sent tonight to New York.

France Ready To Call Off Border Watch

Foreign Office Says Observers May Be Taken from Frontier

PARIS, July 12 (AP)—The French government was ready tonight to suspend international supervision of her Spanish border at noon tomorrow.

The foreign office announced that since Portugal had made no move to reestablish international control of her Spanish frontier, France would remove facilities for the foreign observers who had been stationed on her boundary.

Portugal Balks
The observers had been posted both in France and Portugal by the 27-nation neutrality committee in an effort to keep foreign men and arms from going to Spain.

Portugal, friendly to the insurgents, recently refused to permit the foreign agents to continue their duties.

The French government, sympathetic with the Spanish government, announced the observers on her border would be allowed to remain there if they desired but their tasks would be carried out by Frenchmen only. France said, however, the frontier would continue closed to foreign volunteers and war materials.

Up to Britain
The French decision, announced in advance to the neutrality committee last week, left Great Britain, a leader in the non-intervention movement, to provide some scheme for isolating the Spanish struggle which would be acceptable to Italy and Germany on the one side and France and Great Britain on the other.

Britain to Present Anti-War Plans
LONDON, July 12 (AP)—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden told the house of commons today the British government would present a new plan for keeping the Spanish war within bounds to the 27-nation non-intervention committee this week.

"His majesty's government," he said, "are fully aware of the urgency of the problem and are at present actively engaged in the necessary work."

Eden's plan was expected to be a compromise between the hitherto opposed Anglo-French and Italo-German viewpoints on the problem of controlling the flow of arms and men to the Spanish civil war.

Britain and France have wanted to maintain a naval patrol around Spanish coasts, using only their own warships if Italy and Germany will not rejoin them in that task. Berlin and Rome want to abandon the naval patrol and accord both Spanish factions status as belligerents.

ST. LOUIS, July 12 (AP)—Sometimes it doesn't pay to hold your arm out of an automobile to signal a turn.

William Schott, a carpenter, suffered amputation of his left arm at the elbow when his car was grazed by a truck as he signalled a turn today.

Business Must Pay Price Of 'Vigilance,' Roosevelt Warns

WASHINGTON, July 12 (AP)—President Roosevelt advised business today that "eternal vigilance" by the government is the price it must pay for protection "from the sharp, or shady, practices of the unscrupulous."

Mr. Roosevelt spoke at the laying of a cornerstone for the new federal trade commission building, the apex of a $75,000,000 triangle of new government buildings facing Constitution avenue.

"May this permanent home of the commission stand for all time as a symbol of the purpose of the government to insist on a greater application of the golden rule to the conduct of corporations and

CITY COOLS OFF
Iowa Citizens cooled off a bit yesterday as the day's highest temperature recorded at the hydraulics laboratory stood at 85, three degrees below the average.

Yesterday afternoon's rainfall of .12 inches brought cool breezes and cut Iowa City's rain shortage to 22 inches for the month.

Assails Veto
The veto, commented Representative Crawford (R-Mich), provides "further proof that much the president has to say about his interest in and desire to help the American farmer is mere balderdash."

"The president justified his veto by claiming income of the American farmer has been greatly increased," he continued. "It might be well for the president to inquire into the increased costs which the American farmer must pay for the things he must purchase in order to provide for family needs and secure the necessary operating supplies for the farm."

A Rhapsody In Blue

GEORGE GERSHWIN did not suspect that he was doing anything unusual when he wrote another song late in 1922. He had been writing songs, hundreds of them, while employed as a song plunger at $15 a week. This one didn't seem particularly different to him.

He peddled his music from publisher to publisher, and no one was interested. Finally Gershwin brought his song to the door of an almost equally obscure jazz band conductor whose name was Paul Whiteman. Whiteman had an engagement to play in Aeolian hall where heretofore only the great symphony orchestras had been heard.

His program was to bridge that wide gap between rag-time and symphony. As his closing number he chose George Gershwin's song which they had decided to call "Rhapsody in Blue."

Smug concert-goers who had come to sniff at such music remained to cheer. The 20th century rhapsody became Whiteman's theme, and Gershwin's music became immortal.

Since then Gershwin had risen from a $15-a-week job to an annual salary of $250,000 as a song writer in Hollywood. He was at work on the music for a new picture when he died Sunday at 35 years of age.

He was also the composer of the only authentic American folk opera, the delightful "Porgy and Bess" which New York's Theater Guild did last year. He won a Pulitzer prize with the music for "Of This I Sing," a musical comedy satirizing America's political life and the only such ever to be so recognized by the Pulitzer committee.

Gershwin had written hundreds of songs before and after he wrote "Rhapsody in Blue"; but he didn't have. That one melody will keep him forever in the company of music unforgettables like Stephen Foster and those others whose contributions to the music of their country often are more remembered than the men who compose its symphonies and operas.

Born in the slums of Brooklyn, with only an elementary school education, George Gershwin made a significant contribution to American music. He wrote a song that has already become immortal. Shakespeare, as we understand it, had taken no course in playwrighting. Genius has a way of being unexpected.

Is a World War Generating? WEEKEND DEVELOPMENTS see war clouds threatening everywhere. Brewing restlessness seems headed for brutal warfare as belligerent nations struggle for power and world-wide supremacy.

situation. Great Britain nervously twiddles her thumbs, fearing that Germany's probable move into Austria might constitute an aggression toward her.

Across the sea even the United States senses the threat of impending war. Our navy is preparing to mount the most powerful guns in the world on its two battleships under construction. This action is the result of British and Japanese refusals to observe treaty limitations on guns.

Civilization is progressing, but in the direction of human destruction. Time, apparently, has dimmed the horrors of previous wars as younger generations are being educated to the "glories of nationalism." With scientists all over the world inventing more and more efficient weapons of warfare, and with aviation already developed to the extent of transcontinental service, there is little hope that any nation in the world can escape the next war.

The Bible says "There shall be wars and rumors of wars." We wonder if that divine prophecy will ever stop fulfilling itself.

The Literary Digest—From Present to Past

THERE WILL be no Literary Digest this week, or ever again. Saturday the oldest magazine in the United States still under original ownership will cease as an independent weekly, and merged with the Review of Reviews, will be sold on magazine stands as the Digest.

Founded in 1890 by Isaac K. Funk and Adam Wagnalls, the Literary Digest, an institution in thousands of American homes, has been purchased by Albert Shaw Jr., editor of the Review of Reviews.

The Review of Reviews is a very conservative magazine. So was the Digest until 1932. Under the editorship of Robert J. Cuddihy it preserved a high moral tone and was an excellent interpreter of current problems. Its cover reproductions of famous oil paintings were framed in many a rural home.

In 1925 its circulation reached 1,000,000 and the advertising increased in such volume that the magazine often had as many as 140 pages. From this peak it dropped to 1,400,000 in 1928 and to 958,000 in 1932, but even its modernized cover, its sprightly editorials and clever columns could not maintain its life.

When newspapers reported that Mr. Shaw had paid a nominal price for the Literary Digest, Mr. Shaw snapped: "It may have seemed nominal to them, but it didn't to me."

One thing, however, the new publisher is not arguing about. "We do not expect," he says, "to conduct any more polls."

CLIPPED

From Other

COLUMNS

CHARLIE MCCARTHY, the overbred brat of the radio, is so inebriatedly satisfied with himself that it is risky to praise him in public. He is already in danger of bursting with vainglory. Fortunately, Edgar Bergen can shield him from superfluous publicity, for Mr. Bergen is a ventriloquist and Charlie is his wooden dummy. Ordinarily, the spectacle of a ventriloquist with a voluble dummy on his knee is half the fun of such knavery. Since Charlie's radio audience cannot see him, Mr. Bergen has had to concentrate on the tone of the simulated voice and the wit of the script. Both these things he has done with such skill and originality that Charlie has become the most real personality on the comic air waves this season. He is an imaginary being created entirely in terms of the ear and his whole life is on the radio. Accordingly, it is hard not to believe in the truth of his fantastic personage.

The impression of reality comes chiefly from his voice, which has abundant range and variety. Basically, it is arid. Although Charlie is apparently still in his teens, his little voice is aware of the world. It has the internal, fatigued assurance of a lad who has been too much in the company of his elders; it is suave, condescending and imperceptibly familiar. But it also has the sound of an alert mind, for Charlie is clever enough to protect himself in all sorts of situations. As a whole, Charlie is a fairly objectionable little fellow. He is impudent, lazy, egotistical and artificial. A stern parent should have whaled the conceit out of him years ago, and perhaps W. C. Fields, his colleague on the same program, will do it yet. The great mountebank of stage and screen is no one to triffling with. "My diminutive little chum," Mr. Fields calls him with grand and tautologous venom as though he were sharpening a scalpel. For this wooden imp of the radio who sits on a ventriloquist's knee has no respect for his betters. Make no mistake about it, he is a bad egg. And his personality is developing so rapidly that even Mr. Bergen is losing control of him, and week by week has less and less to say for himself. Charlie Frankenstein McCarthy will be the proper way to refer to him a few months from now.

Tuning In with Lenore DeVries

Back-fence gossip (over a radio network) pays fancy dividends. In fact air chattering's salaries top those of many stars. And they're all topped by Jimmy Fidler, who gets $3,500 a week for his two 15-minute Hollywood Gossip spiffs.

You hear Jimmy Tuesday and Thursday at 8:30 p.m. over NBC. It was a woman who contracted for the steel in the Chicago Board of Trade building and the Merchandise Mart. She is Mrs. Jean O'Haver Shassere, one of the few American saleswomen, who will be presented in Edgar Guest's It Can Be Done program over NBC at 6:30 tonight.

Seen but not heard—Lanny Ross inspecting a collection of farm equipment. He owns a farm in upper New York state. Andre Kostelanetz examining musical shells in a curio shop.

WSUI HIGHLIGHTS: Works of modern classic composers will be played by Margaret Schrock, 616 S. Governor street, pianist, on the Evening Musicales program tonight at 7:30.

Miss Schrock, who accompanied three winning high school students in the national contest in Columbus, Ohio, this spring, was a student at the university in the music department last year. She plays over WSUI the second Tuesday of each month.

Students in the all-state high school speech group will present five scenes from "Alice in Wonderland" in their weekly WSUI program tonight at 7:30. They will be directed by Elisabeth Andersch, visiting lecturer in the speech department.

TODAY'S WSUI PROGRAM: 9 a.m.—Travel's radio review. 9:15 a.m.—Yesterday's musical favorites. 9:30 a.m.—The bookshelf, Tamara Rosenbaum. 10 a.m.—Illustrated musical chats, John Szepessy. 10:20 a.m.—Market reports. 10:55 a.m.—Program calendar and weather report. 11 a.m.—Within the classroom, Shakespeare's tragedies, Prof. Hardin Craig. 11:50 a.m.—Farm flashes. 12 noon—Rhythm rambles. 2 p.m.—Poetic interlude. 2:10 p.m.—Within the classroom, classical music, Prof. Philip G. Dr. Clendening Says Snails Delicious and Healthful Food

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D. A GREAT MANY years ago in this column I advocated the use of broccoli as a healthful food. And later I tried to introduce fennel to a wider audience. Today I have a new one because I have been eating snails, and I want the whole world to try this delicacy. I am painfully aware of the prejudice against them in America, and it will probably be a long time before we can serve snails in this country unless we import them from France.

Why Prejudice? But there is no more reason why we should have a prejudice against snails than we do about oysters or clams. They are the same kind of food. And snails are cleaner and more hygienically raised for market than oysters. Naturally since I have been eating snails I am in Paris, and I learned here how they are "fattened" for the table. The snails I ate were four years old, specially selected.

Small farming is done mostly in the eastern part of France, in the wine country. The snails are caught in the fields after a day of rain. They are put into little enclosures where delicate young lettuce and radishes are growing. They feed on these leaves, not mulberry leaves as is popularly supposed.

General Notices

Recreational Swimming for Men: The fieldhouse pool will be open for general swimming during the following hours: Mornings from 9 to 12. Afternoons from 2 to 5. Any student may use the fieldhouse privileges without additional locker fee charge. However, he must present his tuition receipt at the locker room office and have a locker assigned. D. A. ARMBRUSTER, Director of Gymnasium.

Recreational Swimming: Recreational swimming will be open for women at the women's gymnasium pool every afternoon from 5 to 6 o'clock during the week and from 10 to 12 on Saturday mornings. History Degrees: All candidates for higher degrees in history at the August Convocation will appear for written examinations on Friday, July 23, 9:12 a.m., 2:5 p.m., in Room 298 Schaeffer hall. W. T. ROOT

Graduate Theses Due: All graduate students who expect to receive degrees at the August convocation should check in their theses at the graduate college office, 116 University hall, not later than 5 p.m., July 23. DEAN GEORGE D. STODDARD

Pi Lambda Theta: Pi Lambda Theta will meet July 14 at 5:30 p.m. at the Memorial Union. Dinner will be served at 5:45 p.m. Members of all chapters are most cordially invited. Reservations may be made with Evelyn Benizer, Ext. 3374, until Tuesday evening. ISABELLE MacDONALD, President.

Women's Dinner: The all-University women's dinner will be held Tuesday evening, July 13, at 6:30 o'clock in the Main Lounge of Iowa Union. Faculty women, wives of faculty men, students, wives of graduate students, and all women in administrative offices are invited to attend. FRANCES ZULL, Chairman.

Visual Demonstration: A talk on advantages and disadvantages of sound and silent films for educational purposes will be given Tuesday, July 13, at 4:10 p.m. in room E-105, East hall. Demonstration of films will include the following subjects: "Fundamentals of Acoustics" and "Body Defenses Against Disease" in sound, and a silent film on "Posture." DEPARTMENT OF VISUAL INSTRUCTION

Iowa City Area Golf Championship: The Iowa City Area Golf Championship will be held during July. Qualifying round will be played from July 12 to 16; first round in all flights, July 17 to 19; second round in all flights, July 20 to 25; quarter finals, July 26 to 30; semifinals, July 31; and final, August 1. C. KENNETT

To Students in the Graduate College Expecting to Receive Degrees at the Coming Convocation: Each student in the graduate college who expects to receive the master's degree, or the doctorate, at the forthcoming Convocation, is requested, so far as he may not have done so heretofore, to procure for us immediately the official transcript of whatever graduate work he may have accomplished in another graduate school. He should then advise the assistant university examiner of his selection of a major (both major and minor for the doctorate) so that his work may be transferred to his graduate record here. This should be done early within the session. Otherwise we may be unable to certify for graduation a student who has accomplished satisfactory work elsewhere. H. C. DORCAS, Registrar.

Recreational Gymnastics: The main gymnasium of the field house will be open every afternoon from 2 to 4 for the use of men interested in work-outs in gymnastic and apparatus work, under the supervision of Mr. Baumgartner. E. G. SCHROEDER, Director.

Badminton Tournament: Any one interested in badminton is invited to sign up at the Women's Gymnasium for either a women's singles elimination tournament or men's singles. Entry may be made by telephoning name to women's gymnasium or stopping in and signing entry blank at end of the main hall before Wednesday morning, July 14. The form of play will be drawn and posted by Wednesday morning. Games may be played any time in the large room of the women's gymnasium from 1 to 5:00 p.m. MIRIAM TAYLOR

George Davis Bivin Foundation Prizes: The undersigned committee is authorized to announce a graduate prize of $50 under the auspices of the above named foundation. The award will be made on the basis of a regularly submitted thesis of an experimental or theoretical nature. It is not expected that the thesis be specifically planned in advance to meet the requirements of this award. It is hoped rather that in the graduate work in the Child Welfare Research station or in the graduate studies of the psychology or sociology departments or the college of education, a thesis may be submitted which may be adjudged as making an original contribution of value to this program. Copies of theses submitted for this award must be in the hands of either member of the committee before 5 p.m. on Thursday, July 15. Further information may be obtained from either member of the committee. BETH L. WELLMAN, CHRISTIAN A. RUCKMICK, Chairman.

Visual Education Exhibit: A complete exhibit of motion picture equipment, lantern slide equipment and other material for use in a visual education program will be on display in room C-5, East hall, until July 29. All school officials and teachers are invited to inspect this equipment. DEPARTMENT OF VISUAL INSTRUCTION

Pi Lambda Theta: There will be an informal Pi Lambda Theta luncheon at the Iowa cafeteria each Thursday at 12 noon during the summer session. No reservations are necessary. Members of all chapters are most cordially invited. ISABELLE MACDONALD, President.

A New Yorker At Large

By JACK SUINNETT

NEW YORK—Manhattan is the heaven of odd jobs. So complicated is life on this crowded little slab between the rivers that thousands of inventive souls make their livings (and darn good ones, too) selling services for which there is little or no demand anywhere else in the world.

For example, there is a young woman in Wall street who is a buttonhole florist. Her trade is exclusively in boutonnières. You subscribe to the service by the month for year, and each morning a fresh carnation, rosebud, cornflower, daisy, gardenia or what-would-you-have is delivered to your coat rack.

The towel supply service undoubtedly gave birth to the diaper service, which now is one of the city's major industries (at least the number of trucks seen about the streets with Diaper Service, Inc., on the sides would make you think so). But the latest offering along these lines are the shirt rental companies.

Emil Liss has one such firm. For a moderate weekly sum, Mr. Liss will deliver a clean shirt to your door each morning, picking up yesterday's soiled one. The advantages of wearing rented shirts are manifold. Think of always having an excellent excuse at hand when some friend asks you for the shirt off your back, or if you lose your shirt, being able to snap your fingers and say, "Oh, well, it wasn't mine anyway."

The dog-walking services have become common. But Kitty Carlsle told us her favorite, the "Walking-The-Dog" Service, which not only sends an attendant around to escort the pup on his outings, but also delivers the mutt's meals at the proper hour. And what meals! Special diets, worked out after scientific observation of your canine... and just the proper balance of beef, lamb, tripe, heart, liver, chicken and vegetables.

Helmi Menken once told us of the problem she faced when, during the run of "The Old Maid," in which she was co-starred, she wanted to give a party but could find no time for making all the arrangements. The problem vanished, though, when she telephoned Party Mart. This service will provide anything from tea for two to an old-fashioned Hollywood blow-out with pre-prohibition bartenders.

Any one interested in badminton is invited to sign up at the Women's Gymnasium for either a women's singles elimination tournament or men's singles. Entry may be made by telephoning name to women's gymnasium or stopping in and signing entry blank at end of the main hall before Wednesday morning, July 14. The form of play will be drawn and posted by Wednesday morning. Games may be played any time in the large room of the women's gymnasium from 1 to 5:00 p.m. MIRIAM TAYLOR

SCREEN LIFE

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—It would be nice and different to report otherwise, but Helen Troy loathes telephones and doesn't know anything about a switchboard. And she always gets the wrong number when she dials for a personal call. Which may be why the movies and the radio consider her just the type to play the languid telephone operator.

In several films so far she has played nothing else. In "Broadway Melody of 1938," true, she runs a health home, but the switchboard is still suspended albatross-fashion around her neck. She tries to keep her patients from telephonic annoyance.

Nice Person: She's a nice person, blonde, blue-eyed, frank. She makes no claim to beauty but believes her husband looks like Clark Gable. She never expects to play Juliet to any actor's Romeo. Her ambition, of course, is to play something away from a switchboard.

Her husband is Dr. Alton E. Horton. They were childhood sweethearts in Traverse City, Mich., where Helen moved from her native San Francisco. They were married when both were practically children, so in her early 30's she has a nearly grown family. Jane is 10, and Troy, the boy, is 13. She thinks that's nice, too. Instead of putting aside her career for motherhood, she has the most trying part of motherhood behind her.

Individual gymnastics room at the women's gymnasium. Posture pictures will be taken if desired. LORAIN FROST

Interpretive Readings: The recent novel, "Of Mice and Men," by John Steinbeck, will be read in the second of a series of interpretive readings Sunday, July 18, at 4 p. m. in the dramatic arts building. The reading will be given by Lois Witter. GLADYS LYNCH

Recreational Swimming: There will be no recreational swimming from 7:30 to 8:30 tonight in the women's gymnasium because of the all-University women's dinner at 6:30. It will be resumed again Thursday. MIRIAM TAYLOR

All-State High School Students Will Stage Noel Coward's Three Act Play 'I'll Leave It to You'

To Give Production July 15 and 17 In Dramatics Building

The cast for Noel Coward's "I'll Leave It to You," a production of the all-state high school dramatic arts students, was announced yesterday by Prof. Vance M. Morton of the dramatic arts department, director.

The play will be given Thursday and Saturday at 8 p.m. in the dramatic arts building. Ten students have been selected for parts in the play which was first produced in the New Theatre, London, England, in 1926. A comedy in three acts, "I'll Leave It to You" has an English setting.

The part of Mrs. Dermott will be taken by Kathleen McGivern of Marengo. Portraying her five children will be Sam Goldenberg of Burlington as Oliver; Andree Olson of Boone as Evangeline; Florence Walker of Boone as Sylvia; Peter M. McGivern Jr. as Bobbie; and Betty Miller of Burlington as Joyce. Mrs. Dermott's brother, Daniel Davis, will be played by George Foxhoven Jr. of Panama. Other members of the cast are Betty J. Nelson of Boone as Mrs. Crombie; Margaret Roach of Muscatine as Faith Crombie; and Patty Bates of Iowa City as Griggs.

Preparations

Lighting for the play will be by Prof. Hunton D. Sellman of the dramatic arts department, settings by Prof. Arnold S. Gillette of the dramatic arts department, and costumes by Janet K. Smith, visiting instructor in the speech department.

Students enrolled in the summer session may obtain free tickets for the play beginning Thursday at 8 a.m. in room 5A, Schaeffer hall by presenting identification cards.

S.U.I. Poets Represented In Anthology

Two University of Iowa faculty members, Prof. Ellsworth P. Conkle of the dramatic arts department and Prof. Edwin Ford Piper of the English department, are represented in an anthology, "Contemporary American Men Poets," edited by Thomas Del Vecchio, published by Henry Harrison, New York, N.Y.

The collection also contains the work of Herbert Krause of Peris Falls, Minn., and George B. Abbe of Guilford, Conn., both graduate students here last semester. Thirteen other Iowa poets are represented in the book which includes 459 poets.

TEACHERS WILL HOLD 2ND PARTY AT RED BALL INN

Games, dancing and bridge will be included in the entertainment for commercial teachers and their families at their second summer party tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. at Red Ball Inn.

A buffet supper and cold drinks will be served at the informal party.

Those wishing transportation should meet at the north side of university hall at 7:30 p.m.

Committee members in charge of the party are: Helen Braatz, G of Fond Du Lac, Wis., chairman; Doris Johnson, C of Ironwood, Mich.; Irene Campbell, G of Evelyn, Minn.; Mary Ferro, G of Farmington, Ill.; and Gladys Nolan, G of Guthrie Center, Iowa.

Blancham Fraser, G of Jackson, Miss., chairman; Maurine Ballance, G of Kirksville, Mo.; and Harold Perry, G of Freeport, Ill., food.

Stanley Robinson, G of Competition, Mo., chairman; Clarence Martzke, G of Shawano, Wis.; and Lucas Sterne, G of Brunswick, Mo., transportation committee.

MILLERS HONOR KIRK FAMILY AT HOME SATURDAY

In honor of Mr. and Mrs. Kirk of Schenectady, N.Y., former residents of Iowa City, Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Miller of Kalona entertained at a dinner Saturday evening in their home.

The guests included Florence Burr and James R. Bridge of Moline, Ill.; Alice Hagenbuch of Riverside, Roy Bontrager of Kalona and Mr. and Mrs. Kirk.

With their small son, Karl Jr., the Kirks have been visiting in Iowa City for the last two weeks. Mr. Kirk will leave today to resume his position with the General Electric company in Schenectady. His wife and son will make an extended stay.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Kirk were graduated from the university.

DILL TO TALK ON SEA LIONS AT 8 TONIGHT

Prof. Homer R. Dill, director of University museum, will give a talk tonight at 8 o'clock in geology lecture room on "The Sea Lions of the Quillayute Country" in the third of the museum lecture series.

An account of an expedition to the northwestern United States for the purpose of collecting stellar sea lions of the coast of the state of Washington will be given. During the trip the party lived with the Quillayute Indians.

On one occasion, while towing a sea lion back to land, the party was attacked by a pack of sea wolves and narrowly escaped death.

Colored slides showing the Quillayute Indian reservation, the trail through Douglas fir trees 365 feet tall and Lake Crescent on the Olympian peninsula will illustrate the lecture.

By request Professor Dill will describe "A Zoological Pilgrimage 800 Miles Into Old Mexico" instead of the scheduled talk on "The Expedition Into Billy Goat Pass" in the concluding lecture next Tuesday.

2 FORMER S.U.I. STUDENTS WILL WED IN WAHOO

Down The Sports Trail

By PAUL MICKELSON

NEW YORK, July 12 (AP)—A big link in the "glamorous days of 'way back when'" was broken today with the death of Jack Curley, a restless, take-a-chance man who in many ways was a far more romantic figure in the realm of exciting promotional adventures than the immortal P. T. Barnum.

Curley died at the age of 61 in the peace and quiet of his Long Island home but he really lived a thousand lives for the price of one. Behind him he left a chapter of early Americana bound between the bright covers of a diversified promotional career that may never be duplicated or attempted.

Actually, Curley began where Barnum left off. He made the whole world chuckle and groan with his shows and stunts that included everything from flea circuses, dance marathons, wrestling matches to bull fights.

He was born July 4, 1876, of Alsatian parents, who named him Jacques Armand Schuel. Because of his curls and ringlets, he was nicknamed "Curley," a name he later legalized. At 13, he was a copy boy on a San Francisco newspaper. Saving $10, he quit his job and bummed to Chicago, where he got a job in a shooting gallery. Later, he was a waiter in John P. Harding's first restaurant, became his own manager, shoving off on his amazing promotional career with a boxing show.

A few of his promotion achievements:

Resurrected wrestling after it lapsed from the glorious days of Frank Gotch and George Hackenschmidt by introducing grunt and burlesque to the game. Organized the wrestling trust. Promoted more than 20,000 wrestling matches.

Invented the one-piece bathing suit to give the shapely Annette Kellerman more allure when he had her on tour. Jack did it by stitching the two parts of the suit together and tucking off the skirt.

Managed tours for William Jennings Bryan, Rudolf Valentino, Sylvia Pankhurst and the Vatican choir. Bryan signed with Curley only after he learned Jack wasn't a drinking man. (The reason why he wasn't was because his brother got hold of the wrong bottle once and almost died, scaring Curley into a teetotaler's life.) Valentino's tour probably was the most successful of all time. Every appearance was a sellout with thousands milling outside and offering big money for seats.

Promoted scores of fights, including the heavyweight championship match between Jack Johnson and Jess Willard at Havana. Curley was roundly accused of starting Pancho Villa on the war path against the United States. He had promised the Willard-Johnson fight to Mexico and Villa, so the report went, swore eternal vengeance on the Americans when Curley held the battle in Havana.

Promoted Big Bill Tilden's first professional tennis exhibition, a flea circus that knocked Broadway for a loop, a wild west circus, bridge championships, cock fights and bunion derbies.

Trained a wrestler on the estate of Archduke Ferdinand whose assassination touched off the World War bomb.

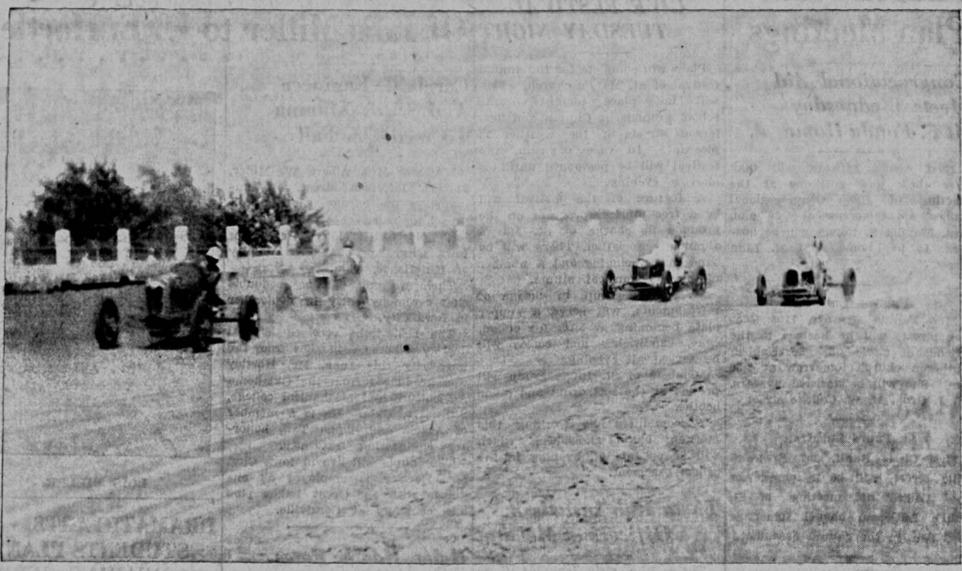

Was the first "sport" to win best dressed honors by the quality, not the quantity, of his clothes.

Visited every state in the union and every country of the world, promoting at least one sports event in each.

Of all his promotional ventures, bull fighting puzzled Curley the most. He promoted one in Butte, Mont., in 1903 and had the whole town out. All was in readiness with a great bull fighter in the ring but when the bulls came out they refused to fight. One by one, they came out, gazed around and then sat down as the crowd tore down the stadium. Curley tried to promote another bull fight and the same thing happened. So he quit the bulls.

The closest call he had was in Springfield, Ill., when he accompanied Tommy Ryan there for a fight. The spectators didn't think the fight was on the up and up and they started for Curley. Frank James, brother of the famous Jesse James, came to his rescue, and Jack never went back to Springfield.

Simmons Takes Lead In Poll

Backfield Ace Leads in Poll

Other Iowa Seniors Rank High in College All-Star Team Voting

Ozzie Simmons, the Ebony Bel of the gridiron, took an early lead in the local balloting for the College All-Star team when he piled up more than 200 votes in the first two days of the poll. The All-Stars will meet the Green Bay Packers Sept. 1 on Soldiers field in Chicago in the fourth annual game between the pro football champs and the pick of the college players who finished their collegiate careers last fall.

Iowa City fans placed two other Hawkeyes in the lead when they gave Ted Osmaloski and Corney Walker their votes at the center and tackle positions, respectively. Don Nelson was second choice of the local voters for guard and John Hill was placed right behind Sam Francis of Nebraska in the race for the fullback spot.

Dick Bowlin, who played two years on the Iowa varsity as quarterback, is third in the fight for the signal-calling position, trailing Sammy Baugh of Texas Christian and Bud Wilkinson of Minnesota. Don Simmons, brother of Ozzie, ranked fifth among the ends and Gene Liggett was placed fifth among the candidates for a tackle post.

Ballot boxes will be placed in convenient locations by tonight. Votes may be placed in these boxes or brought to The Daily Iowan. The local poll is a part of a nationwide poll being taken to determine the personnel of the squad that will go into training Aug. 14 in Chicago. The 11 men who receive the greatest number of votes will make up the starting lineup.

Leaders for each position:
Ends: Larry Kelley, Yale, 102; Gaynell Tinsley, Louisiana State, 96; Matt Patanelli, Michigan, 92; Ray Antil, Minnesota, 89; DON SIMMONS, IOWA, 76.

Tackles: CORNEY WALKER, IOWA, 142; Ed Wildeth, Minnesota, 106; Chris Dall Sasso, Indiana, 74; Avereil Daniel, Pittsburgh, 52; GENE LIGGETT, IOWA, 50.

Quarterbacks: Sammy Baugh, Texas Christian, 199; Bud Wilkinson, Minnesota, 92; DICK BOWLIN,

GOLFING CARBO

John Montague, alias LaVerne Moore

Mystery man of golf, John Montague, apparently is a mystery no longer. For Montague, the wizard of the links, has been arrested in Los Angeles under the name of LaVerne Moore, on charges involving the holdup of a roadhouse at Jay, N.Y., in 1930. Montague admitted he was Moore but would say nothing further. For months sports writers have publicized the feats of this man, how he lowered course records day after day, defeated Bing Crosby on the links by using a shovel, baseball bat and rake in lieu of ordinary golf clubs, how he claimed to have bet and won as much as $1,000 on a hole in golf matches. Until his arrest, the mystery man was seldom photographed. He shunned publicity. For months he has made his home with Oliver Hardy, movie comedian. — Central Press

Giants Fall As Phillies Rally

New Yorkers Make Triple-Killing in First Inning of Contest

PHILADELPHIA, July 12 (AP)—While the Giants furnished much of the excitement today with a first-inning triple play and Manager Bill Terry's ninth-inning ejection, the Phillies combined three hits with an error, four bases on balls and a sacrifice to score six runs in the seventh and whip the New Yorkers, 6 to 3.

Iowa 'Kick-Off' Feeds Booked For Grid Fans

State-Wide Football Rallies to Be Held September 10

The 1937 football campaign of the University of Iowa, first since 1932 under a new head coach, will be inaugurated Sept. 10 by Hawkeye alumni and other fans with a series of "kick-off dinners."

Bruce E. Mahan, secretary of the alumni association, announced Monday that efforts will be made to set up at least one dinner meeting in each Iowa county. The Iowa squad of some 75 men starts practice on that date.

The plan is similar to that started in 1932 when the first annual Iowa football day was held on the opening day of practice, except that this year the meetings will begin at 6:30 p.m. instead of at noon.

At Iowa City, the "key" dinner will occur and between 8:45 and 9 p.m. a broadcast from the university will be on the air from various Iowa stations. Speakers will include Coach Irl Tubbs, Pat Boland and Ernie Nevers, his aides; Director E. G. Schroeder, and Prof. Clarence Updegraff, chairman of the athletic board.

It is expected that the change in time from noon to evening will increase the attendance at the various dinners, since many professional men in past years were unable to attend at noon. Groups in about 50 counties met last year.

During the dinner and before the broadcast, the football enthusiasts will talk over Iowa prospects and the new coaching set-up, using football information booklets furnished by the university.

Sam Francis Signs Contract With Chicago

CHICAGO, July 12 (AP)—Sam Francis, brilliant fullback with the University of Nebraska eleven last fall, signed a contract today with the Chicago Bears of the National Professional Football League.

Francis, a 215-pounder standing better than six feet tall was practically a unanimous choice for fullback on the 1936 all-American mythical eleven. He joins a team already carrying two famous fullbacks, Bronko Nagurski and Jack Manders, former Minnesota luminaries.

Terms of the contract, a one-year document, were not revealed, but George Halas, Bears' owner, and Francis were smiling when they emerged from a conference to announce Francis' action.

"Give us a big smile, Sam," asked photographers.

"He should smile at that contract figure," laughed Halas, as Francis smiled broadly and nodded his head.

Francis will pass up an invitation to tour Japan with an American track squad, performing in his specialty, the shot put. He will report to the Bears in August, but will play with the collegiate all-stars against the Green Bay Packers at Soldier field the night of Sept. 1.

Francis, one of the most rugged players in the collegiate ranks last season and a great punter, said he expects to weigh in at 205 pounds when the professional season opens.

BITS about SPORTS by JOHN MOONEY

The annual Iowa "Kick-Off Dinners" will be held Sept. 10 this year, it was announced yesterday by Prof. Bruce Mahan. Sometime ago, E. G. (Dad) Schroeder told us that it would probably be at this time that the reorganization of the "I" club would take place.

Whatever may be said, the organization of this club should be undertaken as soon as possible.

John Montague, the mystery man of sport, has all the sport followers spinning yarns about his prowess—especially his strength and golfing ability. It is reported that he once lifted Oliver Hardy, the portly member of the Hardy-Laurel duo, off the floor with one hand. He can also outdrive Bobby Jones, so they say, by 50 yards.

The biggest disappointment of the A.A.A. auto races in Cedar Rapids Sunday was the poor showing made by Mauri Rose. The lighter cars of his opponents skidded around the half mile oval while Rose had to be content to ease his way around the curves. Bud Henderson looked to be the class of the field in driving ability and daring, but after leading the other 10 for the first five miles of the 20 mile sweepstakes race, he was forced to withdraw as his motor became overheated.

Sam Francis, Nebraska's all-American fullback, signed a professional football contract with the Chicago Bears, but he will still be eligible to play with the college All-Stars when they tangle with the Green Bay Packers professional football team on the night of Sept. 1.

The Iowa City News Agency in cooperation with The Daily Iowan will again have a voting booth on the streets of Iowa City to enable the voters to cast their ballots for the All-Star team without bothering to bring them up to The Daily Iowan.

Iowa has one player who through his three years of football playing at the university has stamped himself as one of the greatest players of all time. Ozzie Simmons has a small lead in the Iowa City poll now—how long he will continue to hold this position depends on the fans of the state.

Francis will pass up an invitation to tour Japan with an American track squad, performing in his specialty, the shot put. He will report to the Bears in August, but will play with the collegiate all-stars against the Green Bay Packers at Soldier field the night of Sept. 1.

Francis, one of the most rugged players in the collegiate ranks last season and a great punter, said he expects to weigh in at 205 pounds when the professional season opens.

St. Louis Wins Series Opener From Pirates

'Lippy' Durocher, John Mize Sent to Showers By Moran, Parker

PITTSBURGH, July 12 (AP)—A two-run rally in the eighth inning gave the St. Louis Cardinals a 6 to 5 victory over the Pirates today in the opener of a two-game series.

Arguments between the gas house gang and Umpires Moran and Parker became heated and two Cards, Leo Durocher and Johnny Mize, were sent to the showers.

In all, three Cards left the game, Catcher Osgroedowski retiring in the eighth after he was struck on the hand by a foul tip. Mickey Owen finished behind the plate.

Joe Medwick led the Cardinal attack with three hits, driving in as many runs at the expense of three Pirate hurlers, Jim Weaver, Russ Bauers and Mace Brown.

Bob Welland started for St. Louis, but was knocked from the mound in the seventh when the Pirates took the lead with a two-run rally. St. Johnson finished and was credited with the victory.

An X-ray disclosed today that shortstop Aky Vaughan of the Pirates tore a cartilage in colliding with Johnny Dickshot during Sunday's game with the Chicago Cubs.

The Pirates' management announced Vaughan will be out of the lineup "for several days" with Pep Young moving to shortstop and Bill Brubaker returning to third base.

Jamboree Jottings

The jamboree has ended, and we broke camp, raked the grounds and got on the train at 2 p.m. Saturday. We were pretty hungry after policing up the old camp ground; so we went into the diner and had our supper. We ate too much so we went back to the comforts of our chair car and dozed a little.

Sunday we awoke only to find that we had just five minutes to get dressed and ready for breakfast; but it didn't take us that long because we felt the need for some bacon and eggs.

We pulled into Chicago at 9:20 a.m. in the morning, and we had to transfer to the Rock Island. We checked our luggage and headed for the John G. Sheild aquarium where we saw just about every kind of fish there is. There were sea cows, sharks, all kinds of snakes and sea horses.

Then we crossed the street to the Field museum where we saw all kinds of stuffed monkeys, prehistoric men and ancient animals. We had lunch in the restaurant in the basement of the museum.

About 2 p.m. we took a bus south to Jackson park where we visited the Industrial museum, a part of the World's fair of 1893. Lake Michigan looked inviting; so about 4 we all took a dip and was the water ever cold.

At 7 it started to rain, and we got dressed, hopped a bus and went back to Chicago to see a show. After that we walked back to the station and got on a train. We were all pretty tired so we went to bed in a hurry. We were starting the last leg of a swell trip.

Yesterday we got up at 7:30, washed and got ready for the last stop, Iowa City.

It seemed like a long time before 8:15 came and we pulled into the station. There were about 50 persons waiting for us.

We all looked back over the last week remembering Washington, New York and Chicago, but there wasn't one of us who didn't think that home was a pretty good place after all.

MOL To Complete Case in Two More Days, Says Linville

Van der Zee Questioned In Vote Contest

Defending Aldermen Expect To Commence Testimony Thursday

Two more days of testimony will complete the MOL case in the election contest hearing. Attorney Guy Linville, Municipal Ownership League lawyer, said last night. The four defending aldermen will probably begin their case Thursday morning.

The MOL attorneys, who allege "bribery and corruption" in the last city election, will call George Sheets, sales supervisor of the Iowa City Light and Power company, as their first witness this morning. Sheets' testimony may take most of the morning, Linville said.

Incumbent Aldermen R. J. Phelps and Everett Means, two of the four defendants in the contest, also will be called by the MOL attorneys as well as several directors of the Consumers' Protective association, a political organization active before the 1935 election.

Yesterday afternoon's testimony was mainly concerned with technicalities involving the building of a proposed municipal plant and the sales price of its plant made to the city by the power company.

Three witnesses were on the stand—J. Van der Zee, MOL leader, Roscoe Taylor, manager of the power company, and Herman Smith, who spent most of Friday on the stand, and was recalled.

Smith was president of the protective association and also executive chairman of the Citizens Non-Partisan party, all of whose candidates were elected to city offices March 29.

During Smith's testimony he was asked to identify several bulletins which the Consumers' Protective association sent to voters between the 1935 city election and the 1937 election.

During his cross-examination by Attorney William R. Hart, defendants' attorney, Smith, said candidates of the CNP party in this spring's election were nominated at a "public caucus attended by 75 to 100 persons."

Van der Zee, who was questioned by Attorney D. C. Nolan, the other MOL lawyer, identified light bills he said were sent him monthly by the power company.

The political science professor also identified the circle in his bills which he said contained the amount to be paid him, as a light consumer, if plans for a municipal plant were abandoned. He said the power company began impounding the money in August, 1935, and that his own bill increased at the rate of $1.05 each succeeding month.

Van der Zee's other testimony was chiefly concerned with early plans for building the light company. In June, 1935, he testified, each city councilman received a letter from the manager of the power company offering a rate reduction in answer to the council's request for a price on the distribution system of the plant.

"That offer," the MOL leader testified, "was refused."

Van der Zee also said the power company offered to sell its generating plant at Coralville and the distribution plant in Iowa City for $1,125,000 but that offer also was refused.

"The city council and the mayor acted as a unit at all times on questions of municipal ownership," Van der Zee said.

After Van der Zee's testimony, Taylor was called to the stand to identify advertisements run in local newspapers and offering the retroactive rate. Taylor was also asked to identify a yearly report of the United Light and Power company, of which the local power company is a subsidiary.

"The situation in Iowa City, referred to in last year's report, has improved," the report stated. "At the municipal election held March 29, 1937, the light company ticket opposing municipal ownership and favoring private ownership of electric utilities defeated candidates for reelection who favored municipal ownership. Suits brought by the Iowa City Light and Power company to enjoin the federal government from making a PWA grant for the building of a municipal power plant and distribution system are pending in both the federal and state courts."

The report was issued in April. Mother Confesses in Slaying ST. LOUIS (AP)—Mrs. Marie Porter, 37-year-old mother of four children, yesterday admitted, Chief of Detectives John J. Carroll said, her part in the slaying of her brother, William Kappen, on his wedding day. She was quoted by Carroll as saying she sought to collect Kappen's insurance money.

Millionaire

Probably by now everyone else has commented on the man who had a part of his brain removed and became a high-powered salesman and a millionaire. . . Did the surgeon by any chance extract his conscience too?

There's one tax we are heartily in favor of, most of us. . . That's the inheritance tax. . . After you've gone there's not much squawking you can do.

Gone

By now, you may be happy to know, "Gone With the Wind" is in sixth place on the best seller's lists. . . And "How To Win Friends and Influence People" is gone altogether. . . Probably if Dale Carnegie and Margaret Mitchell would get together they could create a book that would out-sell "Uncle Tom's Cabin." . . It, too, would probably start another Civil war.

Dispute

A lot of Americans say the Soviet really hasn't any right to the North Pole, and there may be hostilities any day now. . . Ice water is at a premium.

Tired

Congress may end it all any day now. . . They're all worn out thinking about the bills they should have been passing. . . And also they think maybe they'll let the supreme court pass on Roosevelt's court compromise before they act on it. . . It's easier that way.

Cardinal

We all have our troubles. . . In Europe it's Hitler and Cardinal Mundelein, and here in America it's Cardinal Dean. . . Both of them get out of hand once in a while.

Jokes

And some day I imagine there'll probably be a joke so bad not even radio studio audiences will laugh at it. . . Sounds far-fetched, but it may happen.

Some authority has just announced America has enough soft coal to last more than 3,000 years. After that there probably will be something else to strike about.

Splitters

A scout writes to report that "Republicans never change. . . Abe Lincoln split rails, and John Hamilton splits infinitives." . . And, of course, the day may yet come when they split an election with the democrats.

PASSING SHOW

You won't be seeing the Literary Digest any more. . . You'll have to make your own guess on how the election's not coming out.

Fly Away

It may be a desire to further aviation science that's causing all these Russian flights. . . And then again it may be just another way of flying away from the firing squad.

Back in Vermont, a newspaper clipping reports, a record number of aliens are applying for their citizenship. . . Probably just some of those who voted G.O.P. in the last election, reapplying for admission to the union.

Life seems to go on. . . I read in the papers Sunday that a girl in New York tried to get into an asylum for the insane, and they wouldn't let her. . . You just can't do anything that you want to any more.

Remember, Mr. Life Guard.

Whenever these swimmers complain of the water being too hot, tell them they can always cool off at Racine's No. 1. It's air conditioned day and night.

LAST-MINUTE POW-WOW

In a last-minute pow wow above picture was snapped Van der Zee, Attorney D. C. Nolan, J. Van der Zee, and Attorney Guy Linville, right. Immediately after this picture was snapped Van der Zee went on the stand to relate early attempts to establish a municipal light plant here.

3 Iowa Citizens on Committee For Iowa Territorial Centennial

Three Iowa Citizens have been named by Gov. Nelson G. Kraschel as members of the committee which will plan the 1938 Iowa Territorial Centennial celebration. Two are university faculty members, Prof. Benj. F. Shambaugh, head of the political science department, and Prof. Louis Pelzer of the history department. The third is Merritt C. Speidel, publisher of the Iowa City Press-Citizen. The 1938 Centennial will commemorate the 1838 creation of Iowa as a territory. The territorial act was approved by congress June 12, 1838, and took effect July 4, 1838. Iowa's first territorial election took place on Sept. 10, 1838, and Iowa became a state eight years later, in 1846. Governor Kraschel was directed to name the committee, consisting of 80 prominent Iowans, by the legislature. J. R. Bahne, publisher of the Eldora Herald-Ledger, is general chairman.

Funeral Rites For Mrs. Griffith Will Be Tomorrow at 2

Funeral service for Mrs. Ann Griffith, former Iowa City resident, will be tomorrow at 2 p.m. in Beckman's. The Rev. Llewellyn A. Owen will officiate, and burial will be in the Welsh cemetery. Mrs. Griffith died yesterday at Red Oak, where she had lived with her niece, Mrs. Laura Evans, for the last five years. A Johnson county resident for 60 years, Mrs. Griffith and her husband farmed near Iowa City before coming here to live 30 years ago. Her husband, Richard W. Griffith died in 1931, and Mrs. Griffith moved to Red Oak in 1932.

This Radio Station Bans Commercials

LAPEER, Mich. (AP)—Radio station WMPC is not commercial. Its policy can best be summed up in a phrase its director says has been accepted as the meaning of the call letters—Where Many Preach Christ. Mr. Hemingway operated his first station in 1926 with a 30-watt outfit. Now, wattage has been increased to 250 with a frequency of 1,200 kilocycles. As program director, the minister is careful what is broadcast. No dance bands, no commercial announcements, not even for a church supper or social. Once a funeral service was broadcast for a mother who was unable to leave a hospital to attend her daughter's funeral.

Newspaper Workers Strike DECATUR, Ill. (AP)—Residents of this city got their news from radio broadcasts or a strikers' newspaper yesterday as a walkout of 17 editorial employees, members of the American Newspaper Guild, forced suspension of the Herald-Review, Decatur's only daily paper.

Heavy Rain Floods Basements, Washes Out Crops, Bridges

BLOCKTON, July 12 (AP)—A heavy rain that amounted to nearly nine inches flooded streets and poured into store basements here today. The heavy downpour flattened corn and washed silt into wheat fields. Several farmers reported chickens and hogs drowned in the cloudburst, which sent nearby streams out of their banks and washed out bridges. Business houses reported five feet of water in their basements. Measurements showed a rainfall of nearly nine inches between midnight last night and 6 a. m. today. Another hard rain started falling at 6 p.m. today. Blockton, whose population is approximately 700, is in Taylor county, in the southern part of the state.

7 Tried for Traffic Violations, One On Intoxication Charge

Seven persons were tried for traffic violations and one on a charge of intoxication in police court yesterday. John Collins Jr. was fined $10 and costs by Police Judge Burke N. Carson on a charge of intoxication. C. L. Jennings, J. H. Green and Will Rowland were dismissed on charges of overtime parking. Art Leach, charged with improper parking, was also dismissed by Judge Carson. J. E. Berney was fined $1.50 for driving without a driver's license. Kenneth Dunlop, charged with overtime parking, was fined $1. Judge Carson also dismissed Harold L. Hurl, charged with disturbing the peace.

It's Cool in Cool; But Investigation Uncovers Big Hoax

COOL, Ia., July 12 (AP)—Cool, where it's been pretty hot lately, has a way of keeping the temperature down. On the front of the general store is a thermometer. Yesterday puzzled visitors saw it record only 72 during the heat of the day. But if you get confidential with J. L. Graham, former store proprietor, he'll take you around in back where "the good thermometer" shows a 95. The other one has been "out of whack" for several years, Graham said. Three slain in Prison Fight. MEXICO CITY (AP)—Three convicts were killed and nine wounded yesterday in a gun battle with federal troops inside the local penitentiary.

Morgenthau To Sail

A NEW ANGLE?

Looks as if a new angle to the MOL case was just discovered when this candid shot of City Solicitor Robert Larson and Attorney William R. Hart was taken. Starting Thursday they will present the incumbents' side of the case and attempt to refute the arguments brought by opposing Attorneys Linville and Nolan.

Hollywood Movie Will Depict History of Associated Press

HOLLYWOOD, July 12 (AP)—David O. Selznick, president of Selznick International Pictures, Inc., announced today production would begin immediately on a film depicting history of the Associated Press and the part it has played in development of the free American press. The producer said the picture will describe the Associated Press at its beginning in 1848, show the growth of the non-profit cooperative association into the largest news-gathering organization in the world and, in effect, will be a cavalcade of American journalism in all its exciting and romantic aspects. "Freedom of Press" The picture will be entitled "Freedom of the Press," Selznick said, "and will present a truthful outline of the nature of the Associated Press and its firm development of the principle of unbiased news." The production will be authentic.

Unending Struggle The Associated Press' unending struggle to annihilate time and space will be related from the early days of the Morse telegraph, before which newspaper ingenuity drafted carrier pigeons, fast horses and clipper ships to speed news. It is a saga of triumph over terrific obstacles, for today there is no habitable spot on earth that is more than a few minutes from the nation's front pages whenever the news breaks. The newspapers the world over are members and the spread of its humming wires feeds thousands of presses hundreds of words a minute.

AUGUST C.S.A. PICNIC PLANNED

Plans for an August picnic were discussed at a meeting of the C.S.A. last night in their hall. Anton Soucek, 1014 N. Summit street, and Mrs. Mary Faherty, 632 N. Kimball avenue, were appointed chairmen of the general committee, which will formulate picnic plans. As chairmen they will appoint their own committee members.

Ordinances To Be Considered

City Officials Draft Four Proposed Health Bills For Council

Four proposed city health ordinances, all designed for stricter health regulation and enforcement, will be considered at a special meeting of the city council tonight at 7:30. Interest is centered on the proposed milk ordinance which would completely replace the one now in effect. Dr. E. W. Paulus, city health officer, labels the present ordinance as "out-of-date" and will offer one having approval of the U.S. Public Health Service. Dr. Paulus with City Attorney Robert Larson drafted all of the proposed ordinances. A health department would be created by another proposed ordinance. This department Dr. Paulus, said, would coordinate the duties of all health officials and result in better enforcement of our health regulations. Another proposed ordinance would supplement the present food and food dispenser regulations as it aims at more sanitary conditions for dispensers and serving places. Initial regulation of barbers and chiropodists would be attempted by the other proposed ordinance. Principally it would bar the employment of persons with communicable diseases, in addition to prescribing sanitary regulations.
