F.R. Has 'No Favorites' In Senate Battle

President Confers With Harrison On Demo Leadership

WASHINGTON, July 16 (AP)—President Roosevelt sought to make plain today he is playing no favorites in the hot conflict over the selection of a senate majority leader to succeed the late Joseph T. Robinson.

He called in Senator Harrison (D-Miss), one of the candidates, and after the conference Harrison said he had received assurances the chief executive is not taking sides.

Opposes Barkley
Harrison, backed generally by democrats who have opposed the president's court reorganization bill, is running against Senator Barkley (D-Ky), who served as assistant leader under Senator Robinson.

The chief executive's assurances to Harrison followed a letter written to Barkley addressing him as "dear Alben" and urging passage of a court reorganization bill at this session. Many legislators had expressed belief this letter meant the president wanted Barkley to fill Robinson's shoes.

Not Taking Sides
"The president had heard," Harrison said as he left the White House, "that some had interpreted the letter to mean he was thereby injecting himself into the leadership contest."

"He wanted to give me the absolute assurance neither he nor the administration in any way was taking sides; that that was a matter entirely for the democratic membership to decide."

Senate in Turmoil
With the senate in a virtual turmoil over the court bill and the leadership contest, both accentuated by the president's letter to Barkley, great interest attached to Harrison's call at the White House, together with that of two other senators.

Senator Byrnes (D-Sc), after withdrawing from the leadership race in favor, it was understood, of Harrison, responded to a White House summons, as has Senator Hatch (D-NM), prominent in the battle for the court bill.

Discusses Census
Byrnes, however, left the executive mansion saying he discussed a census of the unemployed, and Hatch said he took up "a personal matter in New Mexico." Postmaster General Farley, who was in about the same time, said he discussed civil service legislation.

Harrison said he and Barkley had conferred during the day and had come to an agreement that it was desirable to get the leadership question settled as early as possible and that, therefore, a caucus would be held next Wednesday morning at which the vote will be taken.

Judge Releases Smith, 'Burned Body' Suspect

PERRY, July 16 (AP)—John M. Smith of Perry, one-time gubernatorial candidate who figured in the burned body mystery at Denison six years ago left the Dallas county jail at Adel today, a free man.

District Judge J. S. Cooper ordered him released at 3 p. m. today on a petition by County Attorney Charles I. Joy.

Joy said he will not bring Smith to trial on information charging him with attempt to defraud an insurance company and with bigamy.

Smith has been held at Adel since his release from the insane ward of the state reformatory at Anamosa.

He was declared insane at his trial six years ago, but found sane recently by the Iowa state sanity commission.

The county attorney said he was unable to locate Pauline Shaw, whom Smith was alleged to have married in Kansas in 1931 while his wife was living in Iowa, and that there was lack of evidence on the fraud charge.

POLICE BLAME STRIKERS—STRIKERS BLAME POLICE

General view of coroner's hearing in Chicago

A coroner's jury of six American Legion members is pictured hearing testimony in Chicago regarding the Memorial day clash between police and steel strikers. Police testified that steel strikers carried guns and clubs and began the fighting which cost the lives of 16 strikers. These statements were contradicted by the testimony of Gus Yuratovik, president of the Republic lodge of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers. Yuratovik said that "police surrounded us and before we knew it they started shooting and throwing tear gas."

Testimony before the senate civil liberties committee recently and news reel pictures shown by the committee indicated that police beat and shot running men in the back. Chicago police refused to permit showing of the film.

Nation's Great Honor Senator

Simple Rites Held For Joe Robinson In Senate Chamber

WASHINGTON, July 16 (AP)—The great of the nation honored Sen. Joseph T. Robinson in death today with a reverent little service which, in its hushed simplicity, belied the name state funeral.

Led by President Roosevelt, his face drawn and unsmiling, they gathered in the senate chamber, where for years Robinson directed the battles of his beloved democratic party. His flower-banked, silvery coffin lay a few feet from the desk which had been his.

No Ostentation
In reverence, they heard a few prayers, familiar passages from the scriptures, the softly moving cadences of the Episcopal service for the dead, hymns that an older generation loved. Then silently they departed.

It was a state funeral without pomp, without ostentation, without eulogy, without military display. It was a service in keeping, his friends believed, with the blunt, simple character of the man it honored.

Mrs. Robinson
Near the casket were the seats of Mrs. Robinson, heavily veiled in black, her brothers, Charles and Grady Miller, the senator's nephews, Joseph Brewer and Joseph Robinson Jr. and two close friends of Senator Robinson, Bernard M. Baruch and Harvey Couch.

The services, technically a session of the senate, were conducted by the senate chaplain, the Rev. ZeBarney Phillips, and the house chaplain, the Rev. James Shera Montgomery.

Interment Sunday
The casket, guarded by officers of the capital police force, remained in the senate chamber until time for transferring it to a special train, on which accompanied by Mrs. Robinson and a large delegation from house and senate, it will be taken to the senator's home, Little Rock, Ark., for interment on Sunday.

SEARCHERS FOR EARHART STILL UNSUCCESSFUL

WASHINGTON, July 16 (AP)—Searchers plying the equatorial seas for traces of Amelia Earhart reported to the navy department today a survey of the northern Gilbert islands was unsuccessful.

The coast guard cutter Itasca has completed its search in that sector, the department was informed.

The mine sweeper Swan was reported to be continuing its survey of the southern Gilbert islands group.

The aircraft carrier Lexington reported it was searching in the Howland island area.

Mississippi Claims Lives of 3 Children In a Day at Clinton

CLINTON, July 16 (AP)—Two sisters, Lavon, 5, and Arline, 7, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Heath of Clinton, drowned late this afternoon in the Mississippi river. They were the second and third drowning victims here today.

Eyewitnesses said the two girls moved too far from shore while wading and were swept away by the current.

Derrell Flack, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Flack, drowned in a similar manner this morning.

Until today there had been no deaths from drowning here this year.

Pay Up, Mae! Judge Says She Done Frank Wrong

LOS ANGELES, July 16 (AP)—The superior court ruled here today that Mae West is the wife of Frank Wallace, and that she has to pay the costs of the suit he filed to prove it.

Superior Judge Robert Kenny closed the case today by his ruling that the "Diamond Lil" of movies has been Mrs. Frank Wallace ever since 1911.

The court's decision was sudden and none too welcome to attorneys for either side.

Attorneys Protest
The vaudeville hooper's counsel, Lawyers Avery M. Blunt and Betty B. Gillette, protested they were not ready to terminate the case.

"I see no further purpose in continuing this matter," the judge said. He told the blonde movie star's attorneys she would have to pay the costs of the suit.

They protested, but the judge said the long-left-alone husband had been "put to considerable trouble in bringing the action" and ordered his counsel to present an itemized bill for the actress to pay.

Into Hiding
Mae West recently went into hiding after filing answer to the Wallace suit with the sensational admission she had married him in 1911 but that they never lived together.

About this the judge said: "I don't see that the question of whether the parties consummated the marriage has anything to do with the case before us. It might be of historical interest, but certainly not of legal interest."

Clippers Complete Transatlantic Hops

P O R T W A S H I N G T O N, N. Y., July 16 (AP)—Establishment of trans-Atlantic commercial air service appeared near reality today with completion of round trip flights in virtual routine fashion by two great flying boats of America and England.

Strike Pictures Shown to Jury

Photographer Tells Jurors 'Rioting Was Started by Strikers'

CHICAGO, July 16 (AP)—A coroner's jury saw motion pictures of the Memorial day steel strike riot today and heard the photographer, Orlando Lippert testify "the rioting was undoubtedly precipitated by rocks thrown into police lines by the strikers."

Lippert gave his testimony in a Paramount screening room, just before the film was run off at standard speed, in slow motion and as still pictures. His testimony was a surprise, inasmuch as Coroner Frank J. Walsh previously had adjourned the inquest over the week end.

Brief but Bloody
The riot was a brief but bloody encounter on a plain near the Republic Steel corporation's Grand Crossing plant in South Chicago. Ten men lost their lives and more than 100 persons were injured.

Lippert said he recorded only part of the battle, because he was taking other scenes when it started. He testified agents of the LaFollette senate civil liberties committee deleted some scenes before the film was shown to the committee.

Alters Testimony
Louis Selenik, leader of the steel union at the Republic plant and a member of the strike strategy committee, altered some of the testimony he gave previously. Selenik originally said Joe Weber, union organizer, had told pickets to use their signs as clubs to break through the police.

Asserting his mind was hazy about "certain things" since the battle, Selenik replied to a union attorney's questions as to whether he was "certain about what instructions Weber gave," that "I don't think he gave such advice."

Steel Co. Accused By Labor Board

WASHINGTON, July 16 (AP)—The labor relations board stepped into the steel strike today, accusing the Republic Steel corporation of violating the Wagner act in its Ohio plants.

The board's complaint, issued after John L. Lewis' Steel Workers' Organizing committee had asked for an investigation, charged the company or its agents with 10 specific violations.

Child Abandoned
KEWANEE, Ill., (AP)—A four-year-old neatly dressed red haired girl was abandoned in a railroad station here yesterday by a man believed by police to be her father, after he had inquired about a ticket to Washington, Ind. The child said her name was Mary Ellen Grover.

Truce in Strike
DETROIT (AP)—A 30-day truce in the strike of Michigan's intrastate union truck drivers was announced last night.

Police Quiz Young Girl In Webster Death

Officers Seek Clues To Find Slayer Of Prominent Doctor

PROVIDENCE, R.I., July 16 (AP)—An attractive girl, about 19 years of age, was taken to police headquarters tonight for questioning in connection with the slaying last night of Dr. George W. Webster, 39, fashionable homeopathic obstetrician.

Detective Edmund Crowley said the girl, whom he declined to name, was questioned by police for about 20 minutes and then placed in a cell.

Search Files
Meanwhile, detectives turned to the private files of Dr. Webster in efforts to solve his slaying shortly after last midnight.

Dr. Webster died on the operating table at Homeopathic hospital an hour after a man he said he did not know fired two .45 calibre slugs into him as the physician opened the front door of his home.

His death ended his announced plan to "tell you (the police) all about the shooting later."

No Blood Stains
An absence of blood stains in the Webster home puzzled police.

Deputy Superintendent James Cusick said there were no stains on the divan on which Webster lay when police arrived, nor in the vicinity of the telephone from which he called the officers, nor in the vestibule where the shooting occurred.

There was a small stain, Cusick said, on a suit of underwear that lay on the dining room table, and he theorized Dr. Webster put his hand upon it as he leaned on the table for support.

Seek Clue
Aided by Dorothea Gilligan, his secretary, police poured through records of his patients, seeking any who might, to use the words of Cusick, "have a grudge" against Webster.

170 Injured By Gas Explosion

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 16 (AP)—Surface and underground gasoline tanks in the storage plant of the Pure Oil company exploded today, injuring more than 170 persons and releasing an estimated 50,000 gallons of burning fluid over a square block.

Most of the injured were firemen. The others were spectators, including several women, policemen and some employees of the oil company. Forty-four of those hurt were said by local hospital officials to be "badly burned."

AS DYKSTRAS ARRIVED IN IOWA CITY

Registering in a local hotel as they arrived in Iowa City yesterday are President and Mrs. Clarence A. Dykstra. The University of Wisconsin president, returning to the University of Iowa, from which he was graduated in 1903, delivered the fifth

MINISTER CONFESSES KILLING

The Rev. C. E. Newton, 51, Baptist minister, shown in his cell at Pittsfield, Ill., who, according to announcement made by a state's attorney, confessed the killing of Mrs. Dennis Kelly, his former parishioner. The alleged confession came after a long day in which the minister had steadfastly maintained his innocence. Mrs. Kelly's battered body was found in the Mississippi river at Louisiana, Mo., Tuesday. The Rev. Newton is being held in jail at Pittsfield, Ill., as authorities believe the slaying took place in that state. Both resided in Paris, Mo. Central Press Photo.

Dykstra Urges Common-Sense Attack on National Problems

tion and the frontier pattern no longer have validity.

Common-Sense Attack
Advocating a common-sense attack on our governmental problems, he asserted that we "must decide on the best and most effective devices to meet situations as we find them. Functions that are national in scope, and problems which cannot be met on any other than a national basis, must be declared national functions without particular regard as to the machinery we now have for administration."

"It may fairly be said, then that in a day when Mussolini is taking over complete control of industry, and all human activity in Russia tends to come under the wing of government, we in the United States are trying to work out some harmonious understanding between individual enterprise and governmental activity which will give us the advantages of the latter without losing the benefits of the former," President Dykstra said.

"The average citizen is quite naturally confused by the hubbub and the turmoil incident to the shifting theories and practices in the whole governmental scene," the speaker pointed out.

He outlined a seven-point program designed to meet present-day problems. The proposals are:

1. The creation of metropolitan areas of government in urban regions to avoid conflicting authorities and to minimize the duplication of local jurisdictions.

2. The erection of large cities or metropolitan areas into separate states in our federal system so that the old geographic or agricultural state shall not smother the life of a great urban community.

3. The joining of a number of present counties into one larger county.

4. The wiping out of state boundaries where large populations live on both sides of a state line and form a more or less homogeneous social and industrial community.

5. Cooperation among contiguous states by compact or by uniform legislation.

6. Development of federal administrative regions, perhaps including roughly with the federal reserve bank areas, or worked out on a basis of sectional differences.

7. The "grant-in-aid" formula which proposes that local and state governments shall administer federal funds under standards set by the nation.

Seeks To Stop Hostilities By Moral Suasion

Secretary Refrains From Committing U.S. To Action

WASHINGTON, July 16 (AP)—Secretary of State Hull sought tonight by moral suasion to prevent further hostilities between Japan and China.

Carefully refraining from mentioning either nation by name, he called for "international self-restraint," for "abstinence by all nations from the use of force in pursuit of policy and from interference in the affairs of other nations."

Interests Involved
He let it be known this country would consider its interests or obligations involved in any serious hostilities which may develop between Japan and China.

Hull refrained, however, from committing the United States to action requested today by the Chinese government against the reported massing of Japanese troops in north China.

Envoy Asks Aid
Dr. C. F. Wang, the Chinese ambassador, had advised the state department chief his government wants action by the United States and other signatories of the nine-power treaty of 1922.

That treaty pledges the contracting powers to respect the territorial integrity of China and to protect her opportunity to develop and maintain a stable government. Japan is one of the signatories.

Main Armies Move Toward Combat

PEIPING, July 16 (AP)—The main armies of the empire of Japan and the central government of China tonight appeared about to be drawn into the vortex of the north China conflict, hitherto confined to local clashes.

Dispatches indicating that troops of the central Chinese regime, thus far not involved, were moving north to meet the Japanese, reached high frontier officials.

German-Trained
"More than one" of Nanking's crack, German-trained divisions was said to have reached the vicinity of Paotingfu, 90 miles southwest of Peiping by rail.

This was received by northern Chinese as the first trustworthy evidence that forces belonging to Nanking Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek were coming north to oppose what the Chinese say is Japan's purpose to sever the northern provinces from the rest of China.

Hitherto Peiping Chinese have paid little attention to Nanking statements that six of its divisions were "standing by in north China."

England Sees End to Fight On Neutrality

LONDON, July 16 (AP)—British officials tonight declared their belief the long deadlock over European neutrality in the Spanish civil war had been broken.

After Britain's new plan for isolating the conflict had been presented to the 27-nations non-intervention committee, British spokesmen said all members of the committee had accepted it as a "basis for discussion."

A subcommittee will consider details Tuesday.

The plan calls for the withdrawal of foreign volunteers from Spain, dissolution of the neutral naval patrol, establishment of a system of neutral observers on supply ships entering Spanish waters, and granting "limited" belligerent rights to Spain's warring factions.

"A week ago the principal powers were at odds completely, but now the outlook is highly satisfactory," a British spokesman declared.

Plans Rushed For Stratosphere Hop

ROCHESTER, Minn., July 16 (AP)—Dr. Jean Piccard eagerly scanned weather maps as his ground crews rushed final preparations for his stratosphere ascension in a multi-balloon aircraft.

Mac Emerson of the St. Paul airport weather bureau said conditions might be favorable tomorrow night.

Courts of Justice—Not Prejudice

ANOTHER CHAPTER in the long, involved story of the famous Scottsboro case was written Thursday when Clarence Norris, one of the nine Negro youths accused of attacking two white women, was convicted for the third time by a jury which recommended the death penalty.

Seven other youths are for a third time awaiting trial on the same charge, and a ninth is now serving a 75-year sentence for alleged participation in the crime. Significant in the last case was the closing statement of the prosecuting attorney. He demanded the electric chair for Norris as a "warning to other rapists and a protection for the womanhood of this state."

"We believe there is only one question that should have been considered by the jury, is Norris 'guilty' or 'not guilty'?" If he is the former, he should be convicted; if not, acquitted. It is not within the scope of any jury to decide that a man shall die as a "warning" to others; guilty, according to law, is the only consideration.

The law decrees that a person accused shall be acquitted if there is a "reasonable doubt" in the mind of the jurors that he is guilty. We believe the defense attorneys have established that doubt. Ruby Bates, one of the women allegedly attacked during the first trial declared the boys were guilty, but at a later trial denied they were and changed her former story entirely. When the time for the third trial came, she could not be located to testify.

The character of both Miss Bates and Mrs. Victoria Price, the second woman, has been blackened by defense witnesses. Why the two women were on the freight train in which the attack occurred has never been definitely known. Moreover, the nine boys have consistently denied all the charges since they were arrested, despite third degree methods to which they have been subjected.

Whether the boys will live or die, no one can say. Haywood Patterson's 75-year sentence has been called a "victory" by state attorneys. On the other hand, Defense Attorney Samuel Lebowitz, crack criminal lawyer, has declared: "I will appeal the sentences to hell and back."

But appeals cannot go on forever. The courts and the jurors of Alabama must now decide whether they are instruments of sectional prejudice or justice. In the Norris case, it appears they have already made that decision.

According to a neighboring editor, you can't get a job after you're 45, at 65 the government has to keep you, and at 70 you're declared unconstitutional.—Lake Mills Graphic.

Palestine Out Of the Picture

AFTER CREATING a momentary sensation, the recent partition of Palestine has dropped almost completely out of the public eye. And even in this veil of obscurity can be seen the clever workings of the master British diplomat.

No more do the Jews shriek out the perfidy of their betrayal. After the first herd of passion, they have come to realize that the situation is not all bad—that half a loaf is better than none. For the first time since the days of Emperor Titus, nearly 2,000 years ago, the Jews will have their own independent state. They will have their own president and cabinet, their own diplomatic representation abroad, their own defense force, and on top of all that, membership in the League of Nations.

To be sure, it is not the whole state that they were originally promised, but it is the best part of that state, and finally convinced, they now seem ready to accept it.

The Arabs, too, seem inclined to accept their share, even though it is an inferior one. Here there is internal dissension that interferes with the Arabs' presenting a united protest. Several of the stronger tribal chieftains have been benefited by the clever partition, and the others are in no position to carry the full burden of argument.

But even though the partition was designed to minimize antagonism from the Arabs and Jews, this was not the sum of Britain's worries. Here again, as in other aspects of British foreign policy, Italy became a vital factor.

In the first place, the partition plan must be approved by the mandate commission of the League of Nations, since Palestine is a mandated territory. An Italian is chairman of this commission, and Italy holds more or less of a whip hand over the other members. The significance of such a situation is immediately apparent.

But still more important is the fact that Italy has the ear of the Arabs. By radio propaganda, by a few whispered words, by bold commands, Italy could stir up considerable hostility among the Arabs to the British empire and the partition plan, even prospects of insurance. Because of friction between Italy and England, the possibility of this was not so unlikely as it might seem.

England realized the gravity of the situation and did the only thing she could, with surprisingly favorable results. Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden dispatched a personal plea to Dictator Mussolini, begging Italy to use charity in the crisis.

Il Duce, obviously flattered by such deference to his authority, has replied with a personal message to Mr. Eden assuring his cooperation. In fact, as a result of the exchange, the status of Anglo-Italian relations has definitely improved, and the two nations seem now nearer to reconciliation than in a long time.

Great Britain has good reason to feel relieved. An embarrassing predicament in Palestine has been disposed of. The Jews have been placated, the Arabs made impatient, and the cooperation of Italy finally secured. And on top of this, the whole thing has been hushed up, Palestine now seems to be out of the picture.

Scientists tell us it required a million years to make a man. And we are forced to admit that we knew a lot of cases where quality of workmanship is very questionable.—Council Bluffs Nonpareil.

Phonograph records replace the five-hundred bugler in the air corps established at a Long Island field. However, no mechanism will be able to ape the heart-felt groans of the boys as they roll out of their cot.

Crimes And Crime Schools

THE POSSIBILITY that a permanent state scientific crime laboratory and crime school may be established at the University of Iowa comes as encouraging news to those seeking more effective means of law enforcement.

There is much to be said favoring such a project. The university might well use facilities at its disposal in rendering aid to peace officers of the state. Its value has been shown many times in the past in the work done by Prof. Wilber J. Teeters of the college of pharmacy. His contribution is only a sample of what could be done if the proposed scheme were a reality.

The laboratory, equipped with complete research facilities, would represent a long step in the direction of solving one of the most important problems of law enforcement, crime detection. Many of our cities and towns now are unable to scientifically study crimes. With this aid the situation would be remedied to a large extent.

The introduction of a crime school, possibly in connection with the college of law, would eventually mean an improvement in our law enforcement machinery. Peace officers would be better trained to meet problems which they must face.

At present both the laboratory and the school are visions. Attorney General John Mitchell and other state officials have urged action in this direction, but no decisions have yet been made.

As W. W. Akers, chief of the state bureau of investigation, has said: "There is no reason why a state criminal laboratory and crime school could not be successful at the University of Iowa."

Northwestern university has operated such a system for several years and has a very materially aided Illinois law enforcement officials. A similar plan here could do wonders for Iowa.

New York state finally has "recognized" Joe Louis as world heavyweight boxing champion. Shaucks, Jimmy Braddock beat them to that by a couple of weeks.

New Yorker At Large

By JACK STINNETT NEW YORK—One thing Harriet Hillard and Ozzie Nelson will never have to teach their young offspring, David Ozzie, is how to steal a scene.

Perhaps we are being conservative in confining it to a scene. We dropped into the Nelson apartment, just a good baby-carriage ride off Central Park, to talk to Miss Hillard. After all, it was she who had just finished her third movie. And Miss Hillard was carrying the lead beautifully. . . when eight-months-old David made his entrance and stole the show. . . or at least gave a performance that calls for a division of honors in what we thought was to be a solid performance.

It was David, for example, who jossed back his head of tow hair, and proved that he had inherited perfectly the talents of both mother and dad; by crooning a tune of his own composition. To our demand for an encore, he smiled broadly enough to show that all four of his teeth were his own.

Her last picture, not yet released, is "Life of the Party," in which she shares starring honors with Gene Raymond. Before that, and currently showing, was the feminine lead in "New Faces of 1937."

If RKO wished to imply merely by putting her in it that Miss Hillard is not as yet well known in pictures as she will be, that is all right. . . but any implication that she is a novice as actress, singer or dancer, is false.

The Des Moines, Ia., girl was almost born on the stage. Her father, Ray E. Hillard, now in Ann Arbor, Mich., is a director, and her mother, Hazel Hillard, was well known in musical comedy and stock. Harriet made her first appearance when she was six weeks old and had her first speaking role at the age of three. At five, she "retired" to graduate 11 years later from St. Agnes academy in Kansas City, Mo.

She danced and acted in vaudeville. . . once made a short with Rudy Vallee's orchestra, in which she neither danced nor sang. Ozzie Nelson saw the short, "discovered" her, and signed her to appear with his orchestra.

Looking Glass Reflections

By VERA SHELDON

Several hundred years ago, a Japanese emperor decreed that the use of a red dye for lip coloring was forbidden in his country. But women, even so long ago, were determined to be beautiful. Not to be outdone by their ruler, they raised "bene," the plant which produced the dye, on the thatched roofs of their houses. From that day until this, Japanese women have been beauty conscious.

Elaborate hairdresses have been symbolic of Japanese women for centuries. Before the days of beauty shops, a lady employed a servant in the home who could dress the hair of her mistress.

Great precautions are taken to preserve the coiffure, which must last three or four days before it is combed. Women sleep on wooden pillows so that their hair will not be disturbed. So much importance is attached to beauty that, in addition to the wage that is paid her, a Japanese servant must be provided with a bath and hair dressing service each day.

Although Japanese women are rapidly adopting western fashions, the majority of them still wear long hair. This is mainly for convenience, for long tresses can be dressed in either Japanese or foreign fashion, depending upon the occasion. Children wear bobbed hair until they are through high school. When hair is worn short, it is usually cut in a shingle bob.

Contrary to general rule, there are Japanese who have curly hair. In early days, hair that waved was considered a disgrace and those unfortunate enough to have it tried every conceivable way to remove the curl. Today, despite the fact that their hair is difficult to curl, Japanese women have permanent waves. Hair dying is a common practice; gray hair is never seen on a Japanese woman.

Well-manicured nails are fashionable in Japan, but colored nail polish has come into use only recently. The custom of wearing the little fingernail long, which was adopted from the Chinese, is still followed by some eastern ladies. The "moga," or modern girl, also tints her toenails, but this had is still displeasing to the conservatives.

Body massage is an established necessity in every Japanese home. A blind masseuse visits the homes once or twice weekly to massage house mistresses. Every Japanese girl is taught to give body massages.

Beauty shops are as prevalent in Japan as they are in this country. Services to suit both Japanese and western styles are offered. True to their progress, Japanese beauticians have all of the most modern equipment in their shops.

Bolt Kills Two WILKESBARRE, Pa. (AP)—A mother and son, walking to the office of a justice of peace to defend charges their cow had eaten $3 worth of corn in a neighbor's field, were killed last night by a bolt of lightning. They were Mrs. George Golzinski, 40, and her son, Michael, 21.

Local Family To Leave City

Mr. Benson Accepts Teaching Position At University of Texas

Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Benson and their daughters, Frances Ellen and Ethel Mae, 741 Dearborn street, will leave Aug. 15 to make their home in Austin, Tex. Mr. Benson has accepted a position as instructor in the college of mechanical engineering at the University of Texas.

The Bensons have been Iowa City residents since 1928 when they came here from Colome, S.D., where Mr. Benson had been superintendent of schools. He received a B.S. degree from the University of Iowa in 1936 and was graduated with high distinction from the college of engineering. He has been doing graduate work and part-time teaching at the university this year.

Mr. Benson is a member of Pi Tau Sigma and Tau Beta Pi, honorary engineering fraternities, and an associate member of Sigma Xi.

Mrs. Benson is well known in Iowa City club and church work. She has been president of the Athens Historical circle for five years and has begun her second year as president of the Inter-Church Council of Religious Education. She is president-elect of the Iowa City High School Parent-Teacher association and president of the Iowa City area of the Johnson county Sunday school association.

The Bensons' older daughter, Frances Ellen, has finished two years at Iowa City high school. She is active in Girl Scout work and is a member of Sharks' club, Girls' Athletic association, debate club and rifle club at high school. She was to have been a member of the Little Hawk Weekly staff in the fall.

Her sister, Ethel Mae, will enter eighth grade in the fall. She has been a member of the second high school band and was to have been promoted to the first band next year.

(Note—You may extend this petition by pasting additional sheets of paper to it. Get all the signatures you can and mail to the All-Star Editor, The Daily Iowan.)

HERE ARE OUR VOTES, OZZIE

Ozzie Simmons, Iowa's leading candidate for a berth on the Chicago Tribune's All-Star football team, looks on as two of his friends, Louis Goodman and Mr. Trent prepare to drop their votes in the ballot box.

Buckeye Stars Lead in Voting

Wendt, Hamrick Set Pace for Candidates For All-Star Team

CHICAGO, July 16 (AP)—Two Ohio State university stars, Merle Wendt and Charles Hamrick, were the voting pace-setters today in the nationwide ballot to name a squad of 1936 college aces to meet the National League champion Green Bay Packers in the fourth annual all-star football game at Soldier field Sept. 1.

Ends: Wendt, 28,174; Gaynell Tinsley, Louisiana State, 27,892; Ray Antil, Minnesota, 31,655; Larry Kelley, Yale, 36, 463.

Tackles: Hamrick, 35,926; Averill Daniel, Pittsburgh, 33,281; Ed Widseth, Minnesota, 30,754; John Golombeske, Wisconsin, 27,463.

Guards: Steve Reid, Northwestern, 32,538; Max Starewich, Washington, 32,306; Bill Glassford, Pittsburgh, 30,692; Inwood Smith, Ohio State, 28,274.

Centers: John Witvack, Washington, 26,304; Bud Swensen, Minnesota, 24,896.

Quarterbacks: Sam Baugh, Texas Christian, 25,693; Vernon Huffman, Indiana, 23,287.

Halfbacks: Byron Haines, Washington, 32,853; Bobby La Rue, Pittsburg, 30,714; Bob Wolfe, Notre Dame, 30,248; John Drake, Purdue, 28,116.

Fullbacks: Larry Danbom, Notre Dame, 26,486; Sam Francis, Nebraska, 26,294.

Sam Francis, Ozzie Simmons Lead in Poll

Sam Francis surged back into the lead for the fullback post in yesterday's local balloting to select an All-Star team to meet the Green Bay Packers professional football team Sept. 1 while Ozzie Simmons, popular University of Iowa halfback, continued to poll the highest total.

Simmons added 1,763 votes to his total yesterday, but the Chicago Tribune's statisticians are swamped with the avalanche of votes and his total has scarcely been touched in the national computations.

The local voting booths were erected late yesterday at the corner of Whetstone No. 1 and it is planned to post petitions for signatures in all the leading stores in Iowa City.

The leading men for each position in yesterday's voting were— Ends—Kelley (Yale), 673; Wendt (Ohio State), 425; D. Simmons (Iowa), 531.

Tackles—Widseth (Minnesota), 673; Liggett (Iowa), 531; Walker (Iowa), 142.

Guards—Nelson (Iowa), 531; Starcevic (Washington), 531.

Centers—Basrak (Duquesne), 363; Svendsen (Minnesota), 245; Osmalowski (Iowa), 65.

Pirates Whip Giants 4-3 in Overtime Tilt

New Yorkers Throw Away Chance to Take Loop Lead From Cubs

NEW YORK, July 16 (AP)—The Giants threw away a fine chance to regain the National league lead today by giving up an unearned run in the 11th inning and thereby handing the Pittsburgh Pirates a 4 to 3 victory in their overtime clash.

The Giants remained only a few percentage points off the loop pace, but might have won but for the 11th inning blow-up.

Down The Sports Trail

By PAUL MICKELSON

NEW YORK, July 16 (AP)—Paul Glen Waner, the original "big poise" man from Harrah, Oklahoma, looked like the general run of pop fly hitters as he draped his 160 pounds on an easy chair and submitted to a candid interview.

If you weren't familiar with the record books, you'd never guess the little, 34-year-old Pirate was hot in pursuit of his fourth National league batting championship.

Q. Paul, as a batter who surely should know, what is the average hitter's weakness?

A. You hear everything but every man's weakness, no matter who he be, is just an old fashioned low ball, outside. Show me a successful pitcher and I'll show you a man who can toss 'em there. No one can hit that pitch consistently.

Q. I notice Bill Terry of the Giants was quoted as saying Ducky Medwick could hit .500 if he didn't go after so many bad balls. Is that possible?

A. Don't let him kid you. The devil himself, couldn't hit .500 in this league.

Q. What is your weakness?

A. Oh, I've got mine, but it changes. I never know. My theory is to keep on swinging and working on the pitcher. The other day, Chuck Dressen of the Cincy Reds was quoted as saying he finally had discovered my weakness but in a doubleheader the next day I got six for nine in the two games. That changed Chuck's mind, I reckon.

Worst Hitless Streak

Q. What was the worst hitless streak you ever had in 12 seasons of play with the Pirates?

A. Sixteen times at bat without a safety. When I came to bat for my 17th try I was so disgusted I picked up Arky Vaughan's circus stilt shaped like a jai-alai bat, and swung. It was a home run. The secret wasn't in the bat. It was that I went up there relaxed and belted it.

Anything Else Help?

Q. Paul, does any one thing besides your natural ability help you at the plate?

A. I may get bawled out for this because we're supposed to get fined if we play golf during the baseball season. But golf helps me considerably. It smooths and straightens out my swing and keeps me from lunging.

Q. Paul, I've heard reports you loaf in the summer but get busy in the last month of the season so you can lift your batting average up for a big contract talking point in the winter? Is that true?

Never Loafs Purposely

A. No, no player who likes to hit like I do ever loafs purposely. Every batter hits a slump. The reason is the more hits you get, the more you have to run. You get worn out, naturally. You don't hit so effectively. Watch the hitters, who are up there today, slump a little in August. They can't keep galloping so much without affecting their batting average.

Q. Who are the best natural hitters in the National league?

A. Arky Vaughan and Joe Medwick. They're naturals. All they have to do when they get in a slump is to keep on swinging in their natural style. Other fellows, like myself, have to work out of it somehow.

Q. Can the Pirates win this year?

A. We've got a good chance. We're only 5 1/2 games behind and we've had our slump. The pressure is off us and on the Cubs and Giants. Don't sell us short.

Chick swats one

Cracking a couple of world records and amazing the golf world, Chick Harbert, 22-year-old Battle Creek, Mich., amateur, breezes through to the Michigan Open golf championship at Jackson, Mich. Harbert's 72-hole total, 268, was 20 under par. He was 17 under par for 54 holes.

Cardinals Grab Doubleheader From Phillies

PHILADELPHIA, July 16 (AP)—St. Louis took both ends of a doubleheader today with the Phillies by scores of 10-3 and 18-10. The last game went 10 innings.

St. Johnson was the winner in both contests while Bucky Walters was the loser.

St. Louis won the first game in quick fashion by knocking Walters out of the box in the first inning with five runs and then gave Jorgens the same dose in the fifth to clinch the contest.

The second game was a see-saw battle of base hits with the Cardinals finally knocking Walters out of the box again in the 10th with an eight run rally that put a finish to the contest.

Bees' Rookie Holds Leaders To Three Hits

Only One Solid Blow Yielded By Boston's Sensational Mound Ace

BOSTON, July 16 (AP)—Lou Fette, the Boston Bees' sensational freshman, limited the pace-setting Chicago Cubs to three hits, two of which were extremely dinky, today while chalking up his 11th win in 14 starts by a 6-1 margin.

Although it was the second reversal the Cubs suffered in their three-game series with the Bees, it did not knock them out of first place as Jim Turner's win did here Wednesday. The Pirates' 4-3 triumph over the Giants in 11 innings enabled Charlie Grimm's harassed charges to retain a three-point lead over the New Yorkers.

Such ballots, copied from the Minneapolis Journal, will be in the form of a petition and all that you will have to do to vote is sign your name to the petition.

Several comments were received on that all-time Iowa all-star team which we printed the other day, but the four who devised that other mythical team would like to see a better one, so they say. If you can meet their challenge, pick your team and mail it to the sports desk or leave it at The Daily Iowan when you are passing by.

Speaking of this All-Star poll, the Chicago Tribune's staff of statisticians are so far in arrears already that some of our votes for Ozzie Simmons and the boys had been figured in yesterday's paper.

At that time, Ozzie Simmons was credited with 1,129 votes, which did not include the 2,361 votes sent in Wednesday night or the 1,963 sent in Thursday night, and he was ranked down in 20th position. If all his votes had been computed at the time Simmons would have been in ninth position. Of course, you must remember that the others haven't had all their votes computed either.

How can we expect the sporting public throughout the nation to support the Iowa boys when the newspapers in the state fail to cooperate in this cause?

It is a benefit to the university to have men on the team—it brings the name of Iowa before the sporting public. Are you an Iowa man? Have you voted for the Iowa men who are eligible for this honor?

If you haven't, if you have let small local political prejudices keep you from voting for them and rally behind the Hawkeyes and let's have an Iowan on the All-Star team.

Indians Wallop Senators Again

CLEVELAND, July 16 (AP)—Cleveland made it three straight from Washington today by defeating the Senators, 11 to 5. The Senators started a rally in the ninth inning, when they were trailing by eight runs, but it produced only two runs.

Yankee Hurlers Hand Out Seven Passes In Wild Sixth Inning

DETROIT, July 16 (AP)—In a cross between a circus sideshow and a burlesque farce, the Tigers trounced the New York Yankees 14 to 7 today to save one game out of their three-game series.

Not by the widest stretch of the imagination could the game be called big-league baseball, particularly the Tigers' sixth inning, when they scored seven runs on one hit.

In that frame, the only thing that didn't happen was for the roof to fall in. Monte Pearson, Yankee starter, old Blub Malone and Frank Makosky walked seven batters in that comedy to fall just one short of the major league record.

The Tigers added two more in the seventh, to sew the game up, and then completed their run-production with five unnecessary tallies in the eighth off Johnny Broaca, four of the five runs coming on homers by Rudy York and Eldon Auker.

Al Thomas Hired By Boston Red Sox

ST. LOUIS, July 16 (AP)—One of the two veteran pitchers released yesterday by the St. Louis Browns got another hurling job today.

Al Thomas, 36, was signed by the Boston Red Sox as a relief pitcher. Fred (Sheriff) Blake, 37, the other pitcher, conferred with President Sam Braden of the St. Louis Cardinals about a job.

The Cardinals announced the recall of pitcher Herb Moore, a right hander, from the Knoxville club of the Southern association. Mrs. Neville Coleman, England, refused to sit at a table set for 13, dined alone, and was stricken with a fatal heart attack halfway through her meal.

Budge, Grant Will Meet Germany's Net Aces Today

WIMBLEDON, Eng., July 16 (AP)—Blasting Don Budge of Oakland, Cal., and Bryan L. Betsy Grant Jr., the demon little retriever from Atlanta, Ga., today were nominated to face Baron Gottfried von Cramm and Heiner Henkel of Germany in the opening singles matches of the Davis cup inter-zone finals tomorrow on Wimbledon's center court.

Ill or lame ever since arriving in England a month ago, and practically reconciled with a reserved seat in the stands, Grant's name was dropped into the hat with that of Budge and drawn out against von Cramm in the first match tomorrow.

and Mako will play the two smashing German blonds in doubles on Monday.

Though it was known Walter L. Pate, non-playing captain of the American team, mentally was flipping coins between Grant and Frankie Parker for the No. 2 singles position, it was thought he would choose Parker, who played superbly at Wimbledon to beat Henkel in a great five-set match and even had the faultless Budge on the run before losing in the semi-finals.

U.S. Sprinters Lead Pan-American Trials

DALLAS, July 16 (AP)—Four of Uncle Sam's top-flight sprinters took charge of the 60-meter trial heats in the first track event of the Pan-American games tonight, but a Brazilian comet bobbed up as a real threat. Almost left at the starting line in the second heat, Bento Assis of Brazil, the "Jesse Owens of South America," came with a rush to finish at Columbia Ben Johnson's shoulder.

Ray Dean of San Francisco's Olympic club, one of the fastest starters on the American track, beat out Perrin Walker, national A.A.U. 100-meters king, by a pace in their heat. Jose Acosta of Cuba trailed in third. Each heat was run in 6.9 seconds. Little Ruben Bonafino of Uruguay won a place in the finals tomorrow night by trailing Johnson and Assis.

Summer Playgrounds Attract Many to Afternoon Programs

Horseshoe Tourney, Pet and Doll Shows Offer Entertainment

Horseshoe pitching, a doll contest and a pet show were highlights of a program conducted by the recreational center at the three summer playgrounds yesterday.

Meyer Markovitz, representing Henry Sabin, won from Joseph Kind of Horace Mann in the finals of the horseshoe pitching tournament at Henry Sabin playground yesterday afternoon. Markovitz was victor in three straight games in a scheduled "three out of five" match, to win the prize ticket to a local theater.

50 Dolls

About 50 dolls were exhibited at the doll show at Horace Mann yesterday afternoon. Prize ribbons were awarded to Dorothy Novy, for the biggest doll; Edith Slavata, smallest doll; Lucille and Geneva Kron (tied), oldest doll; Mary Kubick, prettiest doll; Cynthia McEvoy, best dressed doll; Marjorie Graef, funniest doll; Cynthia McEvoy, cleverest doll; Carole Ann Burger, doll with prettiest hair.

Mrs. George Mann, Mrs. W. J. Liebe and Pauline Reed judged the contest. About 85 persons were present.

Program

Preceding the show a doll program was given by Richard Workman, Marilyn McClean, Jean Slavata, Edith Slavata, Marjorie Graef, Coletta Hoy, Leona Huffman and Cynthia McEvoy.

Animals exhibited at the pet show at the Longfellow playground included dogs, cats, horses, ponies, rabbits, turtles, guinea pigs and a goat. About 25 prize ribbons were awarded. More than 100 attended, including several mothers. Some of the mothers acted as judges.

DANCE STEPS WILL FEATURE PLAY SESSION

New fox trot and waltz steps, an old country "barn dance," a tumbling exhibition, and a gun display will be highlights of the all-university play night at the fieldhouse tonight from 7 to 9 o'clock.

Ruth Murray, visiting instructor of the women's physical education department, will give some "do's" and "don'ts" of social dancing, explain some new steps and lead the groups in American dances, including the schottische.

A lecture demonstration of various guns and their use will begin at 7 o'clock under the direction of Maj. James F. Butler, assisted by Sergt. John A. Lemons, Sergt. Palmer Peterson and Sergt. William C. Buckley, all of the military department. There will be opportunity to examine the guns.

The tumbling exhibition, directed by Albert Baumgartner of the men's physical education department, will begin at 8 o'clock. Performers are George Nissen of Cedar Rapids, national tumbling champion, Xavier Leonard of Cedar Rapids, Jack Brown of Los Angeles, Cal., Robert Parry of Williamsburg, Wilson Fall of Iowa City and Thomas Davis of Ft. Madison.

Beginning at 7 o'clock volleyball, ping pong, "old sow," horseshoes, croquet and soft ball will be played on the field and there will be rifle shooting in the armory.

Traffic Violators Labeled Murderers

OMAHA, Neb., July 16 (AP)—Police Commissioner Richard Jepsen today classed traffic violators with "felons and murderers" and ordered the entire police personnel to take part in a campaign to stop traffic violations and a mounting death toll here.

"A drunken driver is a murderer," Jepsen wrote Chief of Police J. J. Pzanowski. "A speeder is a potential murderer, and the man who deliberately disregards the simple rules for traffic safety, if permitted to go unmolested, is well on his way to that class which can be called either would-be murderers or actual murderers."

HUNGRY 'HOPPERS

Eat Holes in Colorado Traveler's Coat

COLORADO SPRINGS, July 16 (AP)—Returning from eastern Colorado with holes in his coat, State Highway Engineer Ernest Montgomery had an emphatic explanation:

"Grasshoppers."

"They swarmed in the car while I was going through the hopper belt and started to eat my coat. I had to sweep them out."

TEMPERATURE HITS MAXIMUM OF 86 DEGREES

Iowa Citizens finished the week's work yesterday afternoon, with the temperature mounting to an 86 degree maximum.

Two sharp rains Wednesday and Thursday—aggregating .7 inch—provided a welcome respite from the 90 degree temperatures.

Total rainfall this year is .5 inch more than a year ago, according to weather observers, and Johnson county farmers reported the oats and corn benefited by the rain.

AROUND THE TOWN with MERLE MILLER

I Didn't Know
It's not the woman who's unprotected by the laws these days, I find. In fact under Iowa law the only real right a man has that a woman is denied is the right to change her name if married. A married woman cannot change her name; but a husband can change his name and hers too if he wants to.

And Iowa divorce laws are twice as kind to the women. Five times as many married women with children get divorces in Iowa as married men. Only twice as many married women without children get divorces.

Poll Taxes
Another advantage in being a woman is non-payment of poll taxes. Women don't have them. Too, a girl has the right to marry without parental interference at the age of 18. But, like a man, has to wait until 21 before she can vote.

And now, of course, a woman can hold almost any office. But, strangely enough, not until 1926 were women admitted to the state house of representatives in this state.

Property Control
Moreover, a woman has complete control over her property, may dispose of it as she sees fit these days. (Until after the 19th amendment became law, though, so long as she didn't change the law making the husband the guardian of his wife on marriage. He took over her property, and brought all her legal actions.) It wasn't until the Iowa code was revised in 1931 that a married woman's right to sue was clarified.

And under the original laws the husband was entitled to the wife's wages.

But try suggesting the "dutch-treat" system on the girl friend. I think it was George Jean Nathan who once declared, "Women are men's equals, heaven bless them, until the bills come in."

Vice Versa
Mrs. Roosevelt was wrongly advised about her taxes, they're saying. By now almost everyone knows, of course, that one man's tax is merely another man's loophole.

There's an easy way to distinguish the high schoolites on the campus this summer. They're the self-assured ones who look suave, unembarrassed. It takes at least a year in the university to lose that what-I-don't-know-doesn't-matter air.

Druggists To Hold Picnic

The Iowa Pharmaceutical association will hold its annual all-day picnic at the City park July 25, according to Edward S. Rose, secretary.

Golf for men and women will start at 8 a.m. at Pinkbire field with a picnic lunch at noon followed by races and other events with prizes in the afternoon.

Dean R. A. Kuever, Prof. Wilber J. Teeters and W. V. Pearson will serve on the golf committee; and Carl Helgen, C. E. Swenson, Frank H. Wright and Fred Stanford on the games committee.

Receive License
William Curl, 21, of Iowa City and Ruth Wehrle, 21, of Wellman were issued a marriage license yesterday in the county clerk's office.

And five-sixths of the vacationists I know travel 2,000 or 3,000 miles to vacation in a highly-touted resort to find that Iowa's nearly unpublicized state parks, in most instances, have twice the natural beauty of the far-away advertised ones. Why not a state publicity man? 'Twould net the state three times as much as most state-paid officers.

Revival
And why not a revival of some of the better old movies—most of them far more meritorious than half the new ones? I'd vote for a reshooting of Mae West's inimitable "She Done Him Wrong," Edward G. Robinson's "Little Caesar," Leslie Howard's "Of Human Bondage," the unforgettable "It Happened One Night" and last year's "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town."

Forgery Case Will Be Heard

Gardner To Appear Before Justice For Preliminary Hearing

Charged with forgery and carrying concealed weapons, Kenneth Gardner will appear this morning for a preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace J. M. Kadlec. Gardner allegedly cashed a forged check at the Dunkel Cigar store recently, police said.

The car which he used contained two automatic pistols and a .38 caliber revolver, Police Chief W. H. Bender said, and three flashlights, two watches and a chain, a rod and reel, and cartons of cigarettes and candy.

Gardner, who was under investigation for several weeks, was arrested by Joe Dolezal, assistant chief of police, Thursday afternoon, and is being held in the county jail.

Are Women Better Shoppers Than Men?

GRANTING a woman's reputation for wise buying, let's trace the methods by which she has earned it. Where does she find out about the advantages and details of electric refrigeration? What tells her how to keep the whole household clean—rugs, floors, bathroom tiling—and have energy left over for golf and parties? How does she learn about new and delicious entrees and desserts that surprise and delight her family? And where does she discover those subtleties of dress and make-up that a man appreciates but never understands?

Why, she reads the advertisements. She is a consistent, thoughtful reader of advertisements, because she has found that she can believe them—and profit thereby. Overlooking the advertisements would be depriving herself of data continuously useful in her job of Purchasing Agent to the Family.

For that matter, watch a wise man buy a car or a suit or an insurance policy. Not a bad shopper himself! He reads the advertisements too!
