COPELAND ASKS THIRD TERM BAN

Silk Workers Leave Plants By Thousands

C.I.O. Predicts Early Settlement of Strike In Eastern States

PATERSON, N. J., Aug. 9 (AP)—Aided in the local Passaic Valley by employers and in Pennsylvania by unionists from other fields, thousands of silk workers quit work today in a general strike considered so successful by C. I. O. leaders they quickly predicted an early settlement.

Called to take effect this morning, the quiet walkout was termed "extremely successful" eight hours later by a spokesman at national organizing committee, C. I. O. affiliate, in New York.

"Making Moves"

"There is practically no area where plants are not out and the manufacturers already are making moves to sign with the committee," the spokesman said. "We expect a considerable portion of the industry will be signed before the week is out."

Designed to force silk and rayon manufacturers to negotiate for improved labor conditions on a national scale, the strike affected 60,000 workers in New Jersey, Pennsylvania, New England, and New York. In all sectors, only those plants which remained open were picketed.

Stoppage Nearly Complete

In New Jersey, the strike brought a near-complete stoppage of the 500 shops in the Passaic Valley. T. W. O. C. leaders claiming all but "about 200" of the 6,000 weavers and throwsters left their looms. Spokesmen for a larger group of manufacturers agreed with the figures. Some employers here openly cooperated with the union, others gave passive approval, while most made no attempt to open their mills.

Members of the Amalgamated Garment workers and United Mine workers joined the textile workers in their campaign to close down the silk and rayon shops in some Pennsylvania districts.

Picket Stabbed

A mine worker-picket was stabbed in the arm and his alleged assailant arrested at the Duplan Silk corporation plant in Hazelton. It was the lone disorder reported from the wide strike front.

Shortly after this incident and an announcement by a C. I. O. district leader the union drive would center on the Duplan mill, the management announced the afternoon and night shifts would not report for work.

With more than 40,000 employed in scattered Pennsylvania cities, complete state-wide figures showing the extent of the strike were unavailable.

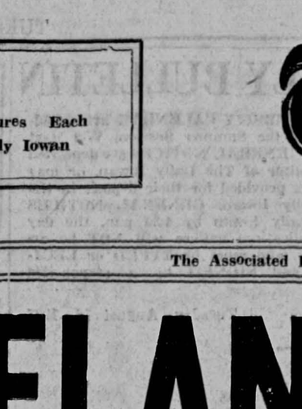
Work Returns To Normal In Auto Industry

DETROIT, Aug. 9 (AP)—The motorcar industry swung back into a production program promising close to 100,000 assemblies this week with the reopening of the Plymouth division of the Chrysler corporation, closed last week because of labor troubles, and the approximately two score branch plants of the Ford motor company which had been closed for three weeks for inventory taking.

The resumption of assemblies by the two large volume producers brought close to 110,000 workers back in Detroit alone. About 60,000 workers in Ford branches in other cities were affected.

Suspension of operations by the Plymouth plant last Wednesday resulted from a fight involving members of the United Automobile Workers of America and of the Independent Association of Chrysler Employes. In the settlement agreement, approved by the U.A.W. yesterday, four of its members discharged for alleged participation in the beating of two Independent association members within the Plymouth plant, are to be given a hearing beginning tomorrow, before representatives of the company and the union, with attorneys for both sides participating.

CAMERA'S EYE SPOTS— Faces in The Day's News



Japanese Fleet Admiral Hirovasu Fushimi is said to have informed Emperor Hirohito that it may be necessary to send additional warships to the Yangtse river area. This was interpreted by observers as a move to "impress" the Nanking government with the "futility" of resistance.

Latest of Hollywood notables to announce intention to wed is Paula Stone, daughter of the stage and screen veteran, Fred Stone. The actress will wed Walter Maston, cafe operator. No date has been set.

To "clear her conscience," Mrs. Mildred Anderson Anderson Evans Gray, who said her home was in Kenosha, Wis., told St. Louis police she married four men but divorced only one. She was held pending questioning.

Magda de Fontages, young woman who wrote for French newspapers and who shot and wounded Count de Chambrun because she said he broke up an alleged friendship of hers with Premier Mussolini of Italy, has been gently pushed out of the news by the French. She is pictured a surprised woman after the court had freed her on a suspended sentence and a fine of $3.75.

G.O.P. May Woo Anti-New Deal Demos

Party Leaders Favor Inviting Administration Foes to Proposed Rally

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 (AP)—An alliance with anti-Roosevelt democrats is one of the subjects suggested for discussion at a proposed republican rally next winter, or spring, G. O. P. leaders said today.

They reported some party members favor inviting anti-administration democrats to run on the republican ticket in the congressional elections next year.

Frown on Name Change

An alternative proposal, that the republican party change its name so democrats may enlist without going under the banner of their traditional foe, has aroused little enthusiasm over the country, some of the leaders declared.

It was said in usually well informed circles talk of arranging the national republican gathering sprang up about the time of Herbert Hoover's recent eastern visit.

The former president, sightseeing today in Yellowstone park, made no immediate comment on these reports.

John D. M. Hamilton, chairman of the republican national committee, told reporters he was aware of the proposals for the meeting. He declined further comment, however.

Re-invigoration

The general purpose of the rally, as outlined privately by other leaders, would be to re-invigorate the party and consider tactics for the 1938 elections.

Every effort would be made, these party chieftains asserted, to prevent it from becoming a device for booming 1940 presidential candidates.

Observers recalled Arthur M. Hyde, secretary of agriculture in the Hoover administration, recently declared his former chief should be "drafted" to re-vitalize and strengthen the party.

Not as Candidate

Hyde made this statement in an interview at Springfield, Mo., June 26. He added, however, he was not proposing Hoover as a presidential candidate but rather to supply "intellectual and spiritual leadership."

It has been proposed the rally be somewhere in the middle-west, and that it be attended by national, state and regional leaders representing every faction of the party.

Shooting Fray Creates Furor Near Shanghai

Two Japanese Navy Men Slain, Chinese Gendarme Wounded

PEIPING, Aug. 10 (AP)—Chinese sources reported today a Japanese army detachment had been wiped out in a battle with Chinese defenders of the Great Wall pass at Nankow, 30 miles northeast of here.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 9 (AP)—A shooting affray on the outskirts of Shanghai in which an officer and a seaman of the Japanese navy were killed and a Chinese gendarme wounded tonight shifted the spotlight of the month-old Chinese-Japanese conflict to this metropolis of China.

The clash occurred at an entrance to the Hungjao military airdrome, just west of Shanghai. Chinese said the Japanese officer fired first when his motorcar was denied entry and wounded a Chinese guard. The Japanese version was that Chinese fired on the Japanese without provocation.

Troops Keep Body

The officer's body remained in possession of the Chinese "peace preservation" troops guarding the airdrome, Japanese officers said, while the seaman's body was reported still lying in the field where he was shot.

Japanese naval authorities charged the Chinese with failure to keep a promise to deliver the two bodies, thus heightening the tension.

Word of the shooting spread something like panic along the northern and western fringes of Shanghai.

Barricades Erected

The Chinese immediately ran up barricades and put out heavy patrols of gendarmes along the main roads of the district, fearing an incursion from the huge barracks nearby of Japan's permanent naval defense force, to which both victims belonged.

A Centenarian Still Prefers Blondes

NEW YORK, Aug. 9 (AP)—When centenarian-plus Abraham Wishkovsky summons all his strength to blow out the 121 candles on his birthday cake tomorrow, he will wish for "a young, pretty wife with yellow hair."

The aged, Polish-born retired grocer has already buried three wives, and divorced two. The party will be in the Bronx, at the home of the Daughters of Jacob, of which he is one of 500 residents, all men and women over 65. He says the women at the home don't appeal to him.

S.U.I. Lights Go Out As Cable Blows Up

Probe Attempt To Crash Train

CARLYLE, Ill., Aug. 9 (AP)—Railroad special agents and Clinton county officers followed "several good leads" today in an investigation of what appeared to have been a deliberate attempt to wreck the Diplomat, fast Baltimore & Ohio passenger train, near here yesterday.

The train, speeding 65 miles an hour, struck an 8 by 12-inch tie plate, which had been fastened to a rail. The engine and tender crashed down a 20-foot embankment. The 12 coaches left the tracks but did not overturn.

Passengers, including 120 members of the Knights of Pythias from Cincinnati, and crew escaped injury.

President Vows 'Hands Off' In Mayor Contest

McIntyre Denies F.R. Will Intervene In New York Election

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Aug. 9 (AP)—A formal denial that President Roosevelt would lend a hand in the New York City mayoralty contest was issued today by Marvin H. McIntyre, secretary to the president.

Just as the chief executive was preparing to leave for Washington at the end of a three-day stay at the family estate here, McIntyre gave out a statement reiterating the president's policy not to "take part in any local primary election" except in his home town of Hyde Park and home county of Duchess.

The statement had reference to reports speculating on the visit here yesterday of Edward J. Flynn, Bronx democratic leader and supporter of Jeremiah T. Mahoney for the democratic mayoralty nomination in a contest with Sen. Royal S. Copeland, Tammany candidate for the post now held by Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia, fusionist.

McIntyre said Flynn, who has a home near Hyde Park, was one of a number of luncheon guests at the Roosevelt home yesterday, that it was entirely a social affair and "no political subjects" were discussed.

Some of the reports to which McIntyre took exception went so far as to say Roosevelt had given tacit support to Mahoney, a statement which drew a heated reply from Senator Copeland in Washington.

The New York senator, who has voted consistently against Roosevelt proposals, said the "president himself does more in five minutes to destroy democratic harmony than can be reestablished in a generation of Jefferson island picnics and peace dinners."

Fruit Train Derailed

FORT MADISON, (AP)— Derailment of a fruit train near Dumas, Mo., 15 miles west of here, was expected to tie up the Santa Fe railroad's double-track line for 14 hours.

'NO SPECIAL CONGRESS SESSION'

Representative Marvin Jones and Speaker William B. Bankhead

No special session of congress in October to pass farm aid legislation, but a farm measure will be the first and only order of business when congress convenes on Jan. 3. This is the word from President Roosevelt, carried to congressmen from agricultural districts by Rep. Marvin Jones, left, of Texas, chairman of the house agricultural committee, and Speaker William B. Bankhead. Senators and representatives from cotton districts, especially desired congress to remain in session to formulate a plan for regulation, due to the tremendous cotton crop and falling prices and President Roosevelt's unwillingness to grant commodity loans without regulation. Since the supreme court killed the AAA, difficulty has been encountered in formulating a plan that would be held constitutional.—Central Press

HORSTS GRANTED CHILD'S CUSTODY PENDING HEARING

CHICAGO, Aug. 9 (AP)—Little Donald Horst went back home today with his foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Horst.

County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki awarded them temporary custody of the 31-months-old child pending a hearing on their petition to adopt him on Aug. 23.

The boy's real mother, Miss Lydia Nelson, who signed a document giving her consent to the adoption, was not in the crowded court chamber when her dark-eyed son was reclaimed by the couple who had reared him since the day of his birth.

The happy Horsts lifted the lad from the judge's knee. Mrs. Horst sobbed:

"Oh, my darling boy."

Judge Jarecki said he would investigate "this whole mess thoroughly," particularly a police report that Horst until recently operated a hotel that had been raided as a vice resort.

$49.92 APIECE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 (AP)—Money in circulation on July 31 totaled $6,460,099,147, or $49.92 for every person in the United States.

This compared with $6,447,132,642, or $49.85 per capital, on June 30 and $6,161,947,699, or $47.95 on July 31, 1936.

Death Plunge

Iowa Man Falls 1,500 Feet When Plane Nose Dives

SIOUX CITY, Aug. 9 (AP)—Richard O'Farrell, 25, of Milford, was killed late this afternoon when he fell 1,500 feet from an airplane as it was passing over Maurice.

With O'Farrell at the time were Stanley G. Fuller of Milford, owner of the plane, and Lee Skyllingstab, also of Milford, a student pilot who was at the controls of the three-place, open-cockpit biplane.

The men were on their way from Milford to Craig, where two young Craig farmers were killed late Friday afternoon when a plane in which they were passengers crashed, injuring George Conroy of Sioux City, the pilot. Authorities said the men were going to Craig, where Fuller, a member of the state aviation commission, was to make an investigation of the crash.

Fuller and Skyllingstab said O'Farrell tumbled from the plane when it nosedived suddenly. They said O'Farrell accidentally kicked the controls in the front cockpit, causing the plane to nose downward. Fuller and O'Farrell were in the front cockpit at the time.

Fuller said O'Farrell's safety belt came unhooked. The plane owner said he grabbed O'Farrell's clothing but was unable to hang on. The pilot righted the plane and brought it down in a stubble field near where the body lay.

The body was taken to the Charles Vander Ploeg funeral home at Sioux Center and Vander Ploeg, who is Sioux county coroner, investigated the accident. He said O'Farrell's death was accidental and that no inquest would be held unless O'Farrell's relatives requested it.

A BIT OF COLOR

Mayor Sees Red Over Blue Fire Car

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Aug. 9 (AP) — Mayor William Guilfoyle served notice on Fire Chief William Grote the latter has just five days to carry out the mayor's instructions or be suspended for 30 days without pay.

The mayor ordered the chief to paint his mechanic's automobile red. The chief had it painted blue.

Offers Senate Proposal For Amendment

Would Change U.S. Constitution To Stop Re-Election

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 (AP)—Senator Copeland (D-NY) proposed a constitutional amendment today to prohibit presidential third terms.

He submitted to the senate an amendment which would provide no person "shall be eligible to hold the office of president for longer than two terms of four years each."

Includes Partial Terms

A portion of a term served by one who attained the presidency through succession would count as a full term for purposes of the amendment.

By another provision a president whose first term was less than four years because of the operation of the 20th "lame duck" amendment would be eligible for but one re-election.

Candidate for Mayor

President Roosevelt's first term was thus shortened, since he was sworn the second time last Jan. 20 instead of March 4.

Copeland is a candidate for the democratic nomination for mayor of New York City on an anti-administration platform.

Back to Capital

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Aug. 9 (AP) — President Roosevelt left here by special train at 10 p.m. (CST) tonight for Washington. He is due there early tomorrow morning.

After posing for photographs standing beside his automobile at the depot with W. A. Brooks, pullman conductor, and H. W. Lucas, veteran Negro porter on presidential special trains, the president boarded his private car and from the rear platform told a village crowd that had come to see him off: "I'll be back five days after congress goes home."

Cummings' Letter Branded 'Inane'

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 (AP)—Representative Snell (R-NY) made public today what he termed an "inane" letter from Attorney-General Cummings stating that the justice department is "making an inquiry" into the sale of democratic yearbooks autographed by President Roosevelt.

Snell, who is demanding a congressional investigation, had asked Cummings for an opinion as to the legality of the sales. The New Yorker contended the books were sold to corporations for $250 each in violation of the law governing campaign contributions.

"As you are aware, under existing statutes, the attorney general is permitted to render opinions only to the president and to heads of the executive departments of the government," Cummings wrote. "However, you are informed the department is making an inquiry with respect to this matter."

Calling the letter "inane in every respect," Snell said it "doesn't mean anything."

He asserted, however, he would continue to press for the congressional investigation.

Urges Action To Stop Tax Evasion

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 (AP)—The house ways and means committee heard oswell Magill, undersecretary of the treasury, suggest today the government might use a constitutional amendment and international treaties to stop tax evasion and avoidance.

Magill testified at a committee hearing on legislation designed to close some tax loopholes immediately. In response to questions he said he has "reasonable hopes" that the states would approve a constitutional amendment permitting the federal government to tax interest on state securities. But it would have to be a reciprocal arrangement, he said, allowing the states to tax federal securities.

He also asserted the state department, working with the treasury, has begun discussions with other nations about interchange of tax information.

City Budget Okayed at Hearing

Iowa City's $244,498 budget—with a co-requisite 14.6 mills tax levy—was accepted and approved by the city council at a public hearing last night. The city's expense list was given preliminary approval July 22.

Mayor Myron J. Walker explained in detail the estimates for different funds as he gave reasons for their increases or decreases.

The council chambers were half-full during the 65-minute session. All seven councilmen were present.

One "Objector"

No expense itemization changes were suggested by the public, and the only objector was Lou Mueller who told the council that "The budget is not high enough. It should be very unpopular, and I suggest that you double it."

Despite the estimated 65 per cent increase of last year's 8.83 mill tax levy, no petitions of objection were filed by taxpayers, City Clerk Grover Watson said.

By TOM JOHNSON

Nor did the MOL council meet for a public hearing of their proposed $208,000 budget and an 11.6 mills levy.

Prof. J. Van der Zee, MOL leader said last night that "We stayed home and listened to the radio." He said the MOL council has not set a definite date for the public hearing.

Mayor Walker, as he explained the budget, stressed the city's need for an adequate police force and modern equipment.

"We are providing $500 for equipping the police car with radio," he said, "because it will enable the car to answer emergency calls with greater speed than under the present system." A new police car will replace the present one during the year.

"Two additional policemen will aid in more efficient law enforcement, and a policewoman will attempt to curb juvenile delinquencies," Mayor Walker continued.

"In the future," Mayor Walker said, "I hope that three eight-hour shifts will replace the present two 12-hour beats in the police department. The advantages are obvious.

Salaries Increased

"In the health department," he continued, "salaries of the health officer and dairy inspector were increased. In the past, a substantial part of their salaries has been spent for traveling expenses while on official business. It was hardly worth their while.

"An additional $1,000 listed in the sewer fund estimate will be used to correct out-moded and faulty equipment and aims at eliminating cellar-floods caused by badly-functioning storm sewers.

The Soviet Gives Some Instructions

THERE NEVER was a device more certain to kick back with deadly force than the one the Russian people have been ordered to use as "a sacred duty" to their country. We quote instructions to the whole Soviet population, as published in the communist party's official newspaper, Pravda:

"The honest Soviet citizen must not only beware of spies; he must actively aid in revealing the undermining activity of agents of foreign intelligence services. No matter in what field he works, he must always watch carefully for enemies and intrigues. The first duty of a Soviet citizen who has found traces of a spy is immediately to warn the organs of state security (the secret police).

"Someone in a neighboring apartment may have peculiar visitors and carry on anti-Soviet conversations with them. That should be reported to the organs of state security. Yet some people who are sunk in the mire of philistinism think differently. They do not like to 'tell on a neighbor.' If an acquaintance has committed a petty deception in his work they hush it up in order not to 'give up a friend.' This false conception of 'giving up' and 'telling on' must be done away with once and for all."

Let us not feel too superior to the Russians or too confident that such things cannot occur in our country. They have. Remember the Ku Klux Klan and prohibition with their coteries of malicious busybodies and snoopers.

Russia, going the limit, not only tells her people that they must become informers against each other, but that if they do not, they will be punished as traitors. And so, of course, timid people will seek government favor by giving false information. Actual spies and saboteurs will try to divert suspicion from themselves by accusing loyal persons.

No man can trust his neighbor or live free from fear. The innocent will be in greater danger than the guilty. Soviet officials themselves will be denounced and destroyed by this Frankenstein of their creation.

Where Russia will go from here, no one can say. Few would care to guess.

Five new Japanese generals have been created and now the high command probably will gain five new ideas on how the invasion of China should be conducted.

Moscow will try to outdo New York by building the world's tallest skyscraper. We won't be jealous, however, unless the Russians establish two night clubs on the top story.

Let the People Have Their Say

THERE ARE two kinds of public opinion in America. There are the attitudes expressed by those who pretend to speak for the people in the press and in the public forum; and there are the actual, but indefinite, thoughts of the people themselves.

It is impossible to evaluate this latter social force. The opinions of people change so rapidly, and the opinions themselves are often so vague, that political leaders never know exactly where they stand. The people, for instance, overwhelmingly supported President Roosevelt in the last campaign; but no one knows to what extent they stand behind his aim of supreme court reform. Newspapers and propaganda agencies have so obscured the issue and spoken so vociferously on behalf of the people that no one can know what the people really think.

That is why the president, admitting temporary defeat on the court measure, has indicated that he will appeal to the people for a mandate to proceed with his program at the congressional elections next year. The action of a few has been so forceful and well directed that he believes the people should themselves be allowed to indicate their approval or disapproval of the court bill. If they disapprove, he will drop the program; if they approve, he will proceed. That is as it should be.

Indeed that is the way it should have been all along. But the president, himself partly to blame, has not been completely frank in his dealings with the people. His platform in 1932 gave no indication of the reforms to come; and in 1936 he did not mention court changes until after the election. Thus even the president himself could not tell how much the election results were personal triumphs and how much they were stamps of approval on his program.

But the nature of the president's opposition likewise tended to obscure the real attitude of the people. New methods of propaganda have been developed, including the chain telegram from interested groups to congressmen and new lobbying methods. A majority of the newspapers of the country have been opposed to the program and so the attitude of the people has not been given an impartial expression in this way. In general, the actual public opinion in this country toward the supreme court bill has been an unknown quantity.

That is why the president has determined on an appeal to the country in the congressional elections next year. In the face of an outright mandate from the people supporting those congressmen who favored the bill, the president expects the opposition to melt away. And if the people do not give this mandate, the whole business will be tossed into some senate waste basket.

That is way a democratic government should work.

Russia's attitude toward capitalism may soften somewhat now that she will soon have a penthouse to rent out.

Things could be worse. There seems to be no indication of a revival of these hog calling contests over the radio.

Playing the races doesn't indicate a good intellect, says a reformer. Oh, yeah? Well, just let's see him pick a winning three-horse parlay!

The football games this autumn will seem somewhat dull to us who have been following, nearly all year, through our newspapers the greatest line stand of all time—the defense of Madrid.

CLIPPED From Other COLUMNS

Eagle-Eyeing the Eagle

"PLAIN Facts About the Eagle" might serve to entitle an account of that long-distinguished bird, symbol of Roman Empire and American democracy, in a new Smithsonian Institution book. A bird of prey and true terror of the empyrean when gastronomic exigency compels such activity, it appears that the hungry eagle prefers to find and devour a shore-stranded fish. Nor does he insist on living in an eyrie high up on a precipitous cliff, but is as well content to make his home in a tree top; nay, more, he will sometimes nest on the very ground, and then, if a savant approaches, instead of defending his home he will stay not upon the order of his going but depart at once.

Your realistic eagle, in short, is capable of behavior attributed to your romantic eagle; but he would just as soon not.

It was once thought that eagles good-naturedly provided transportation for smaller birds. So thought Colley Cibber when he wrote,

Perched on the eagle's towering wing
The lowly linnet loves to sing.

Dryden had the same notion. "Fool that I was!" regretfully exclaims a character in one of his plays, thinking of past condescension to another. "Upon my eagle wing I bore this wren, till I was tired with soaring, and now he mounts above me." The Latin proverb, "Aquila non capit muscas," later translated in the Scottish proverb, "Eagles catch nae flees," was no doubt a figure of speech to indicate the superiority of the greater minds to the lesser things rather than the result of painstaking ornithological study. Shakespeare noticed what some would nowadays call a superiority complex:

The eagle suffers little birds to sing,
And is not careful what they mean thereby.

Mythology, associating the eagle with Jupiter, no doubt started the bird on a heraldic career that has included Rome, France under Bonaparte, Austria, Prussia, Russia, and the United States. Modern factfinding, however, doesn't altogether "debunk" the heraldic bird: it seems to indicate that the eagle is, within reasonable limits, that kind of a bird after all—but not that kind of a bird all the time.

Dropped Stomachs no Longer Fashionable, Says Clendening

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

"ARE EXERCISES of any benefit for a dropped stomach?" I am asked.

It really is almost the same as asking how to get rid of dinosaurs in the back yard.

Dropped stomach, once fashionable in the Gay Nineties, has disappeared from diagnosis. Doctors have forgotten all about dropped stomach, just as they have forgotten the instrument for determining uric acid which is accumulating dust on the back shelves of their laboratories. It is part of their equipment, but they don't use it any more than they use their knowledge of the exact year Columbus discovered America. Even chiropractors have almost given up making the diagnosis of dropped stomach.

Of course it exists, you understand. Just as the skeletons of the dinosaurs exist. But like the dinosaurs, it has ceased to be harmful. To get down to real facts, probably the dinosaurs never were harmful at all; there wasn't anybody around to harm in the dinosaur era. And certainly a dropped stomach never did any harm except to the pocketbook of the owner: it was good for the doctor who treated it, and that's about all the harm and good it ever did.

And, of course, the doctors were delighted, because here was something that seemed to explain why some people felt bad. They had dropped stomachs, that was what was the matter with them, and the doctors got up all sorts of treatments for dropped stomach. They put corsets on the dropped stomach people, and you could see when the corset was on that the stomach rose clear to latitude 54 point 8, and even sometimes beyond.

But it was found so often that dropped stomach was harmless that finally the conclusion was reached that it doesn't make any difference where your stomach is so long as it does the work. It can be down around your knees, but if it empties, everything will be all right. And that's what doctors think today.

Vol. X, No. 889 Tuesday, August 10, 1937

General Notices

Student Employment

Students or non-students interested in earning board during the period from Aug. 5 to Sept. 20 are requested to report to the Employment Bureau immediately.

Most of these jobs can be worked on the basis of one hour at each meal time, and consequently there would be no more loss of time than that usually given to the meal hour.

The cooperation of all students or prospective students is especially urged, since as a result of the change in dates of the summer session, this period of work is causing an unusual problem.

LEE H. KANN,
Manager

TO STUDENTS IN THE GRADUATE COLLEGE WHO PLAN TO REGISTER FOR THE INDEPENDENT STUDY-UNIT OF THREE WEEKS

All such registrations must be approved, as indicated by the signatures (on coupon 2, or the "departmental-permit-to-register" card) of the instructors and heads of departments, and the dean of the graduate college, on or before Monday evening, Aug. 9, 1937; and the requisite fees must be paid, and registration completed in the Registrar's Office, not later than the next day (Tuesday).

No such registration will be so approved after Monday evening, Aug. 9; nor may fees be paid and registration consummated later than Tuesday, Aug. 10.

H. C. DORCAS,
Registrar
P. C. PACKER,
Director of the Summer Session

LIBRARY HOURS

For the three weeks designated as a period of independent study, from Aug. 9 to 27, the library reading rooms in Macbride hall and library annex will be open the following hours: 7:50 a.m.-12 m., and 1:00-6:00 p.m. The education-philosophy-psychology library will be open from 7:50 a.m.-10:00 p.m. Special hours for other departmental libraries will be posted on the doors.

GRACE VAN WORMER,
Acting Director

Recreational Swimming

There will be recreational swimming for all women enrolled in the university, for those who are members of the faculty or administrative staff, for wives of faculty members, and graduate students from 4 p.m. to 6 p.m. during the week of Aug. 9 to Aug. 13. Swimming on Saturday, Aug. 14 will be from 10 a.m. to 12 m.

ELIZABETH HALSEY

Washington World

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, D. C. — For the first time since President Roosevelt lost Maine and Vermont the country has heard the actual voters express their opinion of new deal policies.

Senators and representatives have been expressing their opinions with much emphasis. But their home folk? How THEY have been reacting has been a matter of guesswork.

On Aug. 3, however, Virginia held its primaries for the nomination of state tickets. Here was a popular test. Its result is hard to interpret otherwise than as decidedly new dealerish.

Antis in Washington

Virginia, as we know, is a southern state, and while the south is democratic, the lawmakers it sends to Washington certainly have been predominately anti-new deal.

Senators Harry F. Byrd and Carter Glass of the Old Dominion commonwealth have been especially so. Byrd also has been recognized as head of the state democratic organization.

As to Virginia's republican organization, it does not signify. The democrats always win on election day. If there is a fight, it is not between democrats and republicans; it is between democratic factions.

Byrd Heads Antis

Well, there have been two Democratic factions in Virginia of late —an "anti" and a "pro" new deal faction. Byrd being organization leader and an anti-new dealer, it seems a fair conclusion that the organization is "anti".

There were two candidates for the democratic gubernatorial nomination. They were James H. Price and Vivian L. Page. Price vociferously proclaimed himself as independent of the organization.

I take it, then, that Price is a "pro" and Page an "anti" new dealer. The new deal was not an out-and-out issue, inasmuch as this was only a state-wide contest. Still, that was the general understanding.

A 10 to 1 Victory

Price not only won. He won overwhelmingly—10 to 1.

To be sure, both Senators Byrd and Glass have said that they favored Price and cast their primary votes for him, but they did not say it until after he was so completely a victor.

Anyway, the voters considered Page the organization preference, Page did, too. So did Price, the organization having once defeated him for the speakership of the Virginia house of delegates.

True, the organization scored some triumphs for minor state nominations, but the gubernatorial vote was a sockdolager.

Lightning Strikes Montanan—Twice

BROADUS, Mont. (AP) — Lightning never strikes twice in the same place?

"Well, it did me," said William Davis, sheepherder.

A bolt struck him and knocked off his hat. Two minutes later, recovered from his daze, he was struck again as he stood in the same spot. His socks and shoes were torn away, and he was deaf for days.

Invents Device To End Tractor Skids

PALMER, Neb. (AP)—Leroy Bahensky found a way to keep tractors from slipping sideways during cultivation of hillside corn.

He bolted steel discs slightly larger than the wheel to the outside of the tractor drive wheels. The discs sink into the ground enough to keep the machine from slipping.

'Good Joke on Me,' Says Jilted Groom

HINTON, W. Va. (AP)—Here is one bridegrom who was jilted but didn't take it seriously.

County Clerk Harold Price said a Pipestream resident returned an unused marriage license with this note:

"I am returning the license. Not married. She have got one good joke on me."

The hide of a hippopotamus, according to a magazine article, is sometimes nearly two inches thick. Golly, won't some politicians we know be jealous when they hear that!

SCREEN LIFE

By ROBBIN COONS
AP Feature Service Writer

HOLLYWOOD—The real mystery man of Hollywood is Producer Samuel Goldwyn.

Ex-glove salesman, the colony's pet target of jokes about the blundering producer forever revising the King's English, Goldwyn year in and year out puts on the screen in the main films that could spring only from a hand guided by fine taste and sensitive artistic consciousness.

Those qualities are predominate in "Stella Dallas," in my opinion the picture-of-the-month and one of the best of the year.

Once before, Olive Higgins Prouty's story of self-sacrificing mother love found its way to the hearts and purses of film fans for a sensational success. Goldwyn's new version is assured of the same reception. Along with its solid artistry it carries all the elements of heart appeal that make for box-office glory.

Fine Story of Mother Love

Barbara Stanwyck plays Stella, the millhand's daughter who marries Stephen Dallas (John Boles) from the upper strata of American society. Stella's idea of a "swell" does not change with marriage, and she remains hopelessly vulgar in manners, in choice of companions and clothes. Stella and Stephen drift apart, their one link their daughter Laurel (Anne Shirley). As the girl grows up, inheriting her father's finer sensibilities, the inevitable happens. She sees the mother she has adored through eyes she has inherited from her father, through the eyes of her own friends. Heartbroken, but passionately loyal, Laurel refuses to accept Stella's sacrifice of herself, forcing Stella to an ultimate test of unselfish mother love.

Under King Vidor's direction this story, rife with opportunities for sentimentality, never descends to that easy and common level, but hews to the line of legitimate drama. It is poignant, highly emotional, often heart-rending stuff, but never maudlin. Vidor, with such films as "The Crowd," "The Big Parade" and "Street Scene" on his list, here shows again that he retains his creative grip.

A New Yorker At Large

By JACK STINNETT

NEW YORK —Around the town: In Grand Central, a serious fellow in dark gray, removes a floppy-wide-brimmed straw hat to mop his high forehead. His lips are set in a grim line. His eyes, behind his rimless glasses are thoughtful.

It is George Palmer Putnam, husband of Amelia Earhart, whose round-the-world plane disappeared so completely in the South Seas. Almost alone now in his belief that Miss Earhart still is alive on some uncharted atoll in the tropic seas, the husband of the famous flyer has a plan to set the natives of the south Pacific on a search for the missing aviatrix that will end only in definite proof that she and her navigator are alive or dead.

Which sets us to wondering if the search for Miss Earhart in the trackless wastes of the southern ocean will not become as famous, in time, as the endless hunt for Redfern in the jungles of South America.

Shambles

Under the elevated highway that runs along the waterfront in the West Fifties, traffic is a shambles. Those able to beat through it with bones unbroken, find the great pier shed a madhouse . . . for the Queen Mary is out for Southampton with nearly 2,000 passengers and a dozen or so friends and relatives to see each of them off.

As we move up the gangplank, we see that the autograph army is already aboard the lugger and the ship is theirs. Deploying in platoons they maneuver in quick time across the decks, through the great salons into the passageways, executing attacks from both flanks on the cabins of Madeleine Carroll, Beatrice Lillie and Sonja Henie.

Honey-haired Sonja, smiling over a huge spray of orchids, keeps her romance with Tyrone Power alive by tossing coyly noncommittal answers to direct questions of the press. We are a bit weary of the romance and think it is about time Sonja's press department thinks up something else . . . and we say so . . . which widens the smile of the lady-of-the-skates into a grin and draws a mischievous wink. If Sonja, pronounced her name as most people mispronounce it, we would make a couplet of the fact that you can't be a meany with Sonja Henie.

Wants To Be Alone

Bea Lillie steals a march on the autograph army by encamping temporarily in the cabin of a friend, who despite his millions from Fifth avenue merchandising, is not worth a cent to the signature grafters. There was some complaint that that was no way for a Lady Peel to act, but being hard to find never has made anyone less desirable to the autograph hunters yet. Miss Lillie told us she is only off to London to see her son and tend a little legal business and will be back in a few weeks. There's Hollywood business to be attended to before long.

Miss Carroll had come aboard with the dawn and husband Capt. Philip Asteley, who was doing a job of holding the door of their cabin full worthy of comparison with Horatius's business at the bridge.

Miss Carroll and her husband are off for a holiday of boating on the French canals and the least we could do was wish them a much happier voyage than we saw them off to last year when civil war prevented their even visiting their castle in Spain.

'Bucket of Blood' Now 'Grogge Shop'

HELENA, Mont. (AP)—Now that saloons are legal in Montana, once again liquor dispensers are looking for something new in names.

In the old days the "Bucket of Blood" was considered tops among the monickers. Saloons also were called "The Sawdust Pit" and "Hogan's Hangout."

But fashion has turned the sign painter's mind toward higher things. The dude business probably had something to do with it, old-time bartenders say.

"Ye Olde Grogge Shoppe," the "Green Buffet" and the "Shiny Salon" are some of the names that have replaced the more startling Montana ones.

The first city directory in the United States was printed in New York in 1786.

Pan-Hellenic Sororities Plan Open House, Dance as Rush Week Innovations This Fall

Rushing Activities To Begin Sept. 19 And End Sept. 23

A Sunday night "open house" and a post-rushing dance for new pledges will be innovations in the program of the fall rush week, Sept. 19 to 23, according to an announcement by the Women's Panhellenic association.

The formal rushing period will begin at 7 p.m. Sept. 19 with each sorority holding a three-hour "open house." No invitations will be issued to the affair, but all rushees are encouraged to attend all "open houses."

"Big-Time" Orchestras

A "big-time" orchestra will play for dancing in the main lounge of Iowa Union Sept. 23 when all new pledges will be entertained.

Another new rule in this year's program provides that only upperclassmen rushees may be invited to parties Sept. 20. Freshmen may not accept invitations for that day, except for parties after 7 p.m., because of freshman examinations.

Invitations for rushing dates will be mailed to rushees beginning Sunday, with acceptances to be returned Sept. 1. The rushees will meet Sept. 19 at 5 p.m. in Macbride hall for explanation of the rules.

Seven-Party Limit

Each sorority will be permitted to give not more than seven parties during formal rushing, including the open house and the final party Sept. 22 from 8 to 10 p.m.

Special invitations will be issued by each sorority through the Panhellenic office for the final party Sept. 22, the last night of rushing. This is another new ruling for this year.

Lists of bids will not be issued before Sept. 23 at 8 a.m. Sororities will call for the acceptance lists at 4 p.m. that day.

Chairmen

Rush chairmen for the various sororities are Mary Agnes Goodell of Corydon, Alpha Chi Omega; Margaret Kennedy of Estherville, and Helen Kaufmann of Muscatine, Alpha Delta Pi; Muriel King, Alpha Xi Delta; Jane Myers, Chi Omega; Phyllis Wassam of Iowa City, Delta Delta Delta.

Maxine Baxter of Ft. Madison, Delta Gamma; Harriet Ludens of Morrison, Ill., Gamma Phi Beta; Helen Hayward of Plattsburg, Mo., and Betty Saar of Donnellson, Kappa Alpha Theta.

Mary Stuart Bagley of Audubon, Kappa Kappa Gamma; Dorothy Yeager of Ft. Madison, and Bessie Larson of Klemme, Phi Mu; Lavanda Carr of Clermont, Pi Beta Phi; June Meyerson of Council Bluffs, and Alliene Baker of Sergeant Bluff, Zeta Tau Alpha.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9 (AP)—Sifting the sport rumor crop and separating them into the easy and hard to believe departments:

Easy to Believe

That Don Budge, torch bearer of Uncle Sam's winning Davis cup tennis team, will keep his pledge by remaining an amateur and will be rewarded with the coveted Sullivan award as the outstanding amateur of 1937.

Max Schmeling, if he doesn't look too good when he arrives Aug. 18, will fight Joe Louis for the heavyweight boxing championship at Philadelphia in September or October. (See hard to believe department for Louis-Farr fight.)

Yanks Will Shatter Record

New York's mauling Yankees will shatter their 1936 record of 182 home runs this season as they gallop away with the American league pennant. (They've made 128 in 98 games so far, averaging 1.31 homers per game. If they keep up that War Admiral pace they'll harvest 204 for the campaign.)

That Charles Grimm, the sciatica-plagued manager of the pennant winging Chicago Cubs, will retire to the upholstered chair as president of the club at the close of the current season, with Gabby Hartnett succeeding him as pilot.

Swap Boats

That Harold Stirling Vanderbilt could swap yachts with Tom Sopwith and still trim him in four out of seven races.

Mike Jacobs, whose title as czar of boxing now is official, will keep his head, when all men about him are losing theirs, by running good shows and keeping prices within reason; that Mike ultimately will give Jimmy Johnston, ex-Madison Square Garden promoter after Oct. 1, a good job on the theory it's better to have a good man working for you than against you.

That Dizzy Dean is pitching his last season for the St. Looey Cardinals.

That Tommy Farr can lick J. Barrow Louis. Tommy's talking a great fight but Mr. Louis isn't the talking kind. (Before the build-up gets too high, it might be reported the consensus among fight writers today is that Farr won't come up for round three.)

The Brooklyn Dodgers are to be sold. This rumor now falls to the bottom of the pile as the oldest living bit of gossip in sport.

Gophers Are Tough

That any football team is going to kick Minnesota or Pittsburgh around this fall. Mr. William Andrew Weekes, our Chicago spy who recently visited Minnesota, says the Gophers are so tough that if they just stood still they'd be hard to beat. Jess Carver of Pittsburgh says that same thing of Jock Sutherland's Panthers of Pitt.

That George Jacobus will be ousted as president of the Professional Golfers' association. (George is quite a politician when the checks are down and I can't believe he's out until he steps down.)

Pickings Are Slim

That the gal swimming stars of the 1936 Olympic games, except Eleanor Holm Jarrett, are happy because they turned pro. (Pickings are pretty slim.)

That the Philadelphia Nationals can keep playing baseball in their egg crate park.

That Connie Mack will ever have another pennant winner. (The far-flung farm systems have Connie stymied.)

That big league ball players spent too much time figuring out the horses. (Most of them, to tell the truth, wouldn't bet you today was Monday.)

That Big Bill Tilden meant to be disloyal to the U.S. when he cheered for Baron Gottfried von Cramm to lick Budge in the Davis cup thriller. (Big Bill is a great pal of von Cramm's.)

That Joe DiMaggio can duplicate Babe Ruth's home run record.

That the National league field, home of the Boston Bees, isn't a paradise for pitchers; and that the time has come for all men to quit writing "Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their country" when they practice typing between ball games in the press boxes.

Dodgers Get Cantwell

NEW YORK, (AP)—Ben Cantwell, veteran right-hander recently drafted from their Jersey City "farm" of the International league, yesterday was sold outright by the New York Giants to the Brooklyn Dodgers for an unannounced sum.

Arson Squad

Yankee Sluggers Scare Rival Ball Clubs

By ALAN GOULD

NEW YORK, Aug. 9 (AP)—On shore leave and catching up: those Yankees must be using marlinspikes on their opponents, judging from way the rest of American league (Red Sox excepted, for the moment) is staggering around . . . We're reminded of what a managerial rival of Marse Joe McCarthy had to say month ago: "That's no longer a ball club; it's an arson squad." . . .

Chicago's Cubs, despite poor showing in last three world series (won 3, lost 12), figure to be National league's best bet to match Yankee power . . . But it's still too early to sell the Giants short . . . At this time last year, while most sport interest was focussed on Berlin's nine-ring Olympic circus, New York was in third place, trailing by 6 games . . . That's same margin by which Bill Terry's outfit now trails Cubs but difference is that Cubs, not Giants are "hot" right now . . .

Argentina lifted Cup of Americas (polo) last season and Germany displaced Italy in furnishing winner of Vanderbilt cup (auto racing) this year but otherwise Uncle Sam now has monopoly on major sports trophies . . . All U. S. cup victories have been scored at expense of Great Britain in last two seasons, including International cup (polo), Walker and Ryder cups (golf), Wightman and Davis cups (tennis), and America's cup (big yachts) . . . Our feminine tennis stars will seek to make it seven straight over England in Wightman cup competition at Forest Hills later this month.

Mike Jacobs has taken move to consolidate wrestling business, since demise of M. Jacques Curley, by signing with Ray Fabiani of Philadelphia to handle Hippodrome mat shows . . . Fabiani's grappling list is headed by Bronko Nagurski, the old Minnesota "blue" . . .

Gaynell Tinsley, Louisiana State's all-America end of 1935-36, has passed up coaching job to sign pro contract with Chicago Cardinals of National football league . . . St. Looey Cardinals won't have to look much beyond Columbus if they want more punch in 1938, judging from way young outfielders named Rizzo and Slaughter are banging A.A. fences . . . Dr. James Stotter, Broadway medico, is writing book on importance of facial characteristics in sport . . . Claims athletes with upturned noses make best swimmers . . . How about chapter on busted beaks, cauliflower ears and glass chins, Doc? . . .

Franklin A. Schriver, 40-year-old lawyer who shot ace in World Telegram's hole-in-one tournament on 135-yard hole at Forest Hill Field club in Bloomfield, N. J., didn't take up game until he was 30 . . . He's republican choice for assemblyman this fall and qualified for ace tournament by sinking his tee shot July 17 in tournament for William Cane (owner of Goshen track) trophy . . . Dr. William Lowell, who invented first wooden golf tee, making and losing a fortune, still is practicing dentistry at age of 75 in South Orange, N. J.

Marion Miley Shatters Par To Take Lead

CHICAGO, Aug. 9 (AP)—Tall, brunette Marion Miley of Cincinnati, who scored triumphs in 1935 and 1936 as a Lexington, Ky., lass, made an impressive start toward her third straight women's western 72-hole medal play golf derby today by clipping four strokes off par for the Onwentsia Club course with a brilliant 34-42-76 round.

She was not beyond reach of the field, however, for Edith Estabrooks of Dubuque, Ia., former western junior champion, cracked out a 38-39-77 for second place. Beatrice Barrett, tall daughter of a Minneapolis professional, scored a 41-38-79, and was tied for third with Dorothy Gustafson of South Bend, Ind., who had 37-42-79.

Tied for the next position at par 80 were Betty Jamieson of Austin, Tex., trans-Mississippi women's titleholder, and another Texan, Mrs. Dan Chandler of Dallas. Dorothy Foster, the Springfield, Ill., music teacher who was runnerup to Helen Hicks in the recent women's western open, finished her opening round with an 81, one stroke better than the card of Mrs. Russell Mann of Milwaukee, the former Lucile Robinson of Des Moines, Ia., and two strokes in front of Minneapolis' Patty Berg.

Miss Miley did most of her damage on the outgoing nine holees. After knocking down birdies on the second, fourth and seventh holes, she gained two more strokes on the course by sinking an 80-yard chipshot for an eagle deuce on the eighth. She dropped two strokes coming home by shooting bogies on the 15th and 16th. Miss Estabrooks had birdies on five holes, the first, second, seventh, ninth, 10th and 11th, and was one over on the sixth and 15th.

Miss Berg's trouble came on the greens, on six of which she used three putts.

Rip Collins Sent To Electric Chair — But No Casualties

CHICAGO, Aug. 9 (AP)—Rip Collins, Chicago Cub's first baseman, went to the electric chair today.

Collins, Stan Hack, Bill Jurges and several other bruins were county jail guests of Sheriff John Toman When the group decided they would like to see the chair, Collins was hustled into it as the experimental subject, with his mates going through all the motions up to throwing the switch.

"Whew-w-w-w," breathed Rip as he scrambled out of the seat. "That's like dreaming a fast one's coming at your head—and you can't duck!"

C. A. Douglas, Marc Stewart Head Advance

Carl Telander Bests Max Peterson, 1 Up In Nineteen Holes

The Iowa City Area golf tournament got under way yesterday as six players advanced into the second round. In the two matches in the championship flight Marc Stewart beat Cliff Nolan, 3 and 1, and C. A. Douglas bested Burnell Horrabin, 5 and 4.

The feature match of the day's play was in the Country Club flight as Carl Telander nosed out a 1-up victory over Max Peterson on the 19th hole.

Three Matches

Three matches were played in the Vice President's flight with the closest fight being waged between D. L. Crissinger and Forrest Allen. Crissinger won the battle with a one-stroke victory on the last hole. John Van Horn defeated Paul Hughes, 3 and 2, and M. J. McGovern downed V. Rowel by the same score in the other two matches.

All first round play must be finished by this Saturday. The second round matches will be run off the next week and the semi-finals will be held between Aug. 22-25. Finals in all the flights will be run off between Aug. 26 and 28.

Travis, American League Batting Champion, Sees Little Difference

By DILLON GRAHAM

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 (AP)—Most left-handed batters find it harder to hit southpaw pitchers than right handers but Cecil Travis, American league batting leader, sees no difference.

"If I'm hitting, I can sock any of 'em. And, if I'm missing, anyone can get me out," he says.

Actually, Travis has a better average against the portsiders. He's faced lefties in 25 games, including such aces as Vernon Gomez of New York, Bob Grove of Boston, Thornton Lee of Chicago and Earl Whitehill of Cleveland, and has banged out 32 hits in 80 appearances for an even .400 figure.

The Senator's shortstop had a 15-point lead on Lou Gehrig of the Yankees today in the batting race. His average was .389.

A normal .320 hitter, Travis has outdone himself during the last month. His spree began July 5 in Philadelphia and in 33 games since then he has made 56 hits in 113 appearances for a .495 pace.

He chokes his bat, half crouches and follows the ball almost across the plate before he swings. That's why most of his hits are short and are to left field.

His average is particularly impressive when it is realized that he is "robbed" of more hits than almost any other player. Rivals know he hits a short ball and play him for it. He seldom gets walked, can't bunt and isn't fast enough to beat out infield shots.

"Cece" gets no aid from his coaches, either. Some players, receiving signals, are able to "tee off" on a pitch.

"The coaches tried to signal me what pitch was coming but I didn't have much success. I guess it made me over-anxious," he explains.

Over-anxiousness may also explain why he is a poor "clutch" batter. Although hitting in a strategical position, Travis has knocked in fewer runs than five other Washington regulars whose average is 50 to 100 points below his.

The 24-year-old veteran—yesterday was his birthday—is only a fair shortstop. He is quiet, slow and almost awkward.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates defeated a team of West Michigan semi-pro stars 7 to 2 at Bigelow field in an exhibition game yesterday.

Bits about Sports

by JOHN MOONEY

The Barney Ross-Al Manfredo fight in Des Moines next week will mark a new high in Iowa fistic circles, and it is a step in the right direction; however, there is still much to be desired in this state before boxing can hope to rise out of the exhibition class.

* * *

Pinkie George, boxing impressario of the midwest, refused offers to take this fight to Minneapolis and St. Louis, and will hold it in the Des Moines Western league ball park.

* * *

It is such "big-name" fights as this that make the public interested and rabid fight followers.

* * *

Now that the ball has been started by these alert Des Moines backers, why wouldn't it be appropriate to keep it rolling and legalize amateur boxing in this state?

* * *

Way back in the days when grandfather was a boy and hoopskirts were all the rage, the Iowa legislature passed a law outlawing such contests. IT IS STILL ON THE Statute books of the state of Iowa.

* * *

There have been several attempts to have the law repealed; many more choose to ignore it and promote fights in spite of it, but nothing has ever been done to legally get around the obstacle.

* * *

Why not just remember this the next time you talk to your representative or senator and suggest that this change be made?

* * *

Max Starcevich, Washington's All-American guard and a member of the All-Star team which will meet the Chicago Bears Sept. 1, is a CENTERVILLE, IOWA boy. For the last two years he has been ranked as one of the greatest guards on the Pacific Coast.

* * *

Just another local Iowa boy who made good — in an out-of-state school.

* * *

DID YOU KNOW THAT the British Open golf tournament was originated in 1860 and was won by Willie Park Sr. with 174 for the 35 holes—almost a five stroke average?

Scouts Begin Last Period At Camp Rotary

Thiel Reports 16 Boys Taking Part In Final Outing

Sixteen Boy Scouts are now beginning the third and last period of current camping session at the Rotary camp, Scout Executive Owen B. Thiel reported last night.

Handicraft of various kinds — wood carving, leather working and bead work—occupies the free time of most of the boys.

Last night at the weekly game night, "capture the flag" provided excitement for all concerned. Tonight there will be a troop campfire with story-telling and singing.

Tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the camp pool there will be a swimming meet to which all parents and friends are invited. More than 100 attended last week.

Thursday afternoon—with a watermelon as the prize for the winning team—a nature hunt will send the 16 combing the camp grounds and surrounding country.

Another troop campfire will be held Friday night. Saturday night the last fire of the summer will be held in the council ring, but the program has not as yet been announced.

Sunday afternoon will find the grounds deserted with all tents and equipment packed away till the 1938 season.

Budget---

future replacement of the two fire trucks, one of which is 15 years old and the other five. Figuring 20 years to be the useful service limit of a machine, five per cent of the cost is laid aside annually for replacement.

"The fire department is 1,050 feet short of the proper amount of hose," Mayor Walker said, "and it must be replaced.

"The library estimate is increased $1,100 for the renewal of flooring in the children's room and to include the increased cost of books and binding." Walker also recommended that additional flooring be laid in the general room as soon as possible. The flooring is 34 years old.

Improvement Fund

The improvement fund estimate of $750 is triple last year's amount, which was barely sufficient to relay broken sidewalks. "Taxpayers are entitled to these improvements," the mayor said.

A $500 cemetery fund increase will be used to repair the roads, which are impassable, and the $1,720 park maintenance increase will be used in the main to repair and re-locate the public toilets and prevent contamination.

"The airport fund is receiving the maximum expenditure, $9,957," Mayor Walker stated, "because we intend to make the municipal airport one of the middle-west's finest."

He also explained the estimated .78 of a mill emergency levy which will repay the paving bond fund for the transfer of funds to the airport fund. The levy, suggested by the state comptroller, will raise funds to cover the city's share of WPA improvements at the landing field.

Sanitary Fund Boosted

The sanitary district and garbage disposal fund was slightly increased, and a water-tight collection wagon will aid the sanitization of garbage collection, the mayor said.

"There is a large surplus in the bridge maintenance fund, and no levy will be made for this division," he said. Approximately $1,000 will be spent for painting bridges.

County Auditor Ed Sulek will estimate the required tax levy, and it will be announced in September. Unofficial estimates place it at 14.6 mills.

The city had a balance of $132,426 March 31, 1937, and our estimated surplus next year will be $40,569," the mayor said. $177,898.

"Taxes will raise $177,898, and other income will provide $31,228, according to our estimates," Mayor Walker said.

The adjustable taxable valuation in 1936 was $12,024,412, and the money and credits for 1937 are $2,346,093.

Estimated fund expenditures are general, $89,022; improvement, $750; grading, $3,760; sewer, $6,500; water, $16,720; light, $13,400; consolidated fund (total of six funds above), $130,152.

Cemetery, $6,700; fire equipment, $4,500; fire maintenance, $21,207; firemen's pension, $421; sanitary district and garbage disposal, $7,011; bridge maintenance, $7,538; library, $15,100.

Park, $7,340; policemen's pension, $825, general bond, $22,950; Burlington street improvement, $1,735; emergency reserve, $9,063; and airport, $9,957.

Total estimated expenditures are $244,498.

Gets Suspended Sentence

Herbert "Red" Keys was given a 10-day suspended sentence in police court yesterday by Acting Police Judge T. M. Fairchild on a charge of intoxication.

WOMAN HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT IMPROVING HERE

Mrs. George Lee, 308 S. Capitol street, whose arm was lacerated in an automobile accident Sunday morning, is recovering, it was announced last night. Thirty-five stitches were required to close the wound, University hospital authorities said.

The car belonging to George Lee collided with a car owned by John Lynn of Cedar Rapids eight miles south of here on U. S. highway 161. Damage to each car amounted to $200.

Other occupants of the Lee car who were uninjured were Mrs. Etta Edwards, 308 S. Capitol street, and Mrs. Lee's son, Dick, and Mrs. Ray Hoop, and daughter Jean, of Oskaloosa.

Mrs. Lynn and her daughter were with Lynn in the other car.

Will Receive Estimates On Postal Route

Officials To Receive Bids for Iowa City To Webster Contract

Sealed bids for a postal contract soon to be let for a star route from Iowa City to Webster through Hills, Riverside, Kalona, Wellman, Kinross and South English will be received by the second assistant postmaster-general, Washington, D. C., up to midnight of Aug. 31, Postmaster Walter J. Barrow announced last night.

The purpose of the new contract is to establish regular postal service for these communities to supercede the temporary delivery system now in effect.

Twelve trips a week of 49 miles each are specified in the contract. The successful bidder must be able to handle a capacity of between 85 and 100 sacks of mail a trip, which will necessitate a one-and-one-half ton or two-ton truck. A $3,000 bond must be posted.

Service will begin Sept. 16 and will extend to June 30, 1939, with two round-trips each week day.

Award Contract For Re-Roofing Schools

A $1,992 contract for re-roofing the Horace Mann and Henry Sabin school houses was given last night to the Haegg Roofing company of Cedar Rapids, Iver A. Opstad, superintendent of schools, said.

Omaha Mayor Hits Police for Laxity In Gambling Cleanup

OMAHA, Aug. 9 (AP)—Mayor Dan Butler tonight made public a letter he had written to Assistant Chief of Police Robert Munch in which he charged Munch and the police morals squad with laxity and demanded that gambling be stopped in Omaha cigar stores.

The mayor revealed he has been conducting a private investigation into gambling in Omaha over a period of several months.

Police Commissioner Richard Jepsen immediately cracked back at the mayor, scoring Butler's open interference with Jepsen's department. Jepsen asserted he has complete confidence in the morals squad and in their superior officers.

'Devil Fish' Coming Here

Veteran Whaling Man Will Tell Story Of Capture of Octopus

A giant octopus, or "devil fish" will be on exhibition here with the Mammoth Marine hippodrome which will be in Iowa City Thursday and Friday on a specially-constructed railroad car near the Rock Island depot, it was announced yesterday.

Capt. David J. Barnett, veteran whaling captain and seaman, who is in charge of the show, will tell the story of the pitched battle previous to the capture of the devil fish in Conception bay a few years ago while he was in command of a whaling schooner.

Another marine oddity with the show was "Colossus," the 68-ton sea monster. The hippodrome is sponsored in Iowa City by the local chapter of the Veterans of Foreign Wars to raise money for its drum and bugle corps.

Erickson Sets New Record

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 9 (AP)—Banging out a sensational 67, five under par, Don Erickson of Alhambra, Calif., led at the halfway mark today in 36-hole qualifying trials for the national public links golf championship. Erickson set a new record for the Harding park course.

Erickson's superior golf snatched the lead from Joseph Greene of East Lansdowne, Pa., whose 69 was the first par-bettering effort of the day.

Tied at par 72 are Carl Kauffman of Pittsburgh, national champion in 1927, 28 and 29; Claude Rippy of Washington, D. C., runnerup last year; Hall Dufour of Sacramento; John Meier of Toledo, Ohio; Edward Sams of Buffalo, N. Y., and Wes Berner of Portland, Ore.

Roosevelt Approves Flood Appropriations

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 (AP)—President Roosevelt has approved allocations totalling $44,437,700 for 44 flood control projects congress authorized in June, 1936.

Army engineers, making this announcement today, said other allotments probably will be made within two months. Work on the $44,437,700 worth of projects can start as soon as conditions in the various areas permit, they said.

Zeithamel Nominated To Head Local American Legion Post

Election of Officers Will Take Place At Next Regular Meeting

George Zeithamel, director of the membership drive of Roy L. Chopek post 17 of the Iowa City American Legion, last night was nominated commander of the post for the coming year. Election of officers will take place at the next regular meeting.

B. M. Ricketts and Walter J. Barrow were both nominated for the position of vice-commander, and George Sheets was chosen for re-election as adjutant.

Delmer Sample was nominated as finance officer, Gordon Dinsmore as sergeant-at-arms, Don Davis as historian and Charles Fieseler and Elmer Dewey, present post commander, as members of the executive committee.

The Rev. Frank Barry of Cosgrove was nominated for the position of chaplain.

Reports of the recent state American Legion convention at Des Moines were given at last night's meeting by Don Davis and State Vice-Commander Lou E. Clark.

'Horsts Should Have Donald'

Iowa Citians Voice Sentiments in Regan Case to Daily Iowan Reporter

Thirty Iowa Citians last night expressed their approval of the decision made by John Regan and his common-law wife, Lydia Nelson, to allow the Otto Horsts to adopt two-year-old Donald Regan. The Horsts had taken care of the child since his birth.

A Daily Iowan inquiring reporter found the vote two to one in support of the adoption of the boy by the wealthy Chicagoans.

Twelve women and two men voted to back the opinion of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Morgan, 209 N. Lucas street, who, declaring that the Horsts were the only parents the boy has ever known, pointed out that "his real parents are like strangers to him." Mrs. Morgan, however, voiced the opinion that strict adherance to legal formulas would have awarded the child to his natural parents.

By far the most common answer was that expressed by six women and two men who chorused "if they didn't want him then, why should they have him now?" As Harry Cooney, 620 Oakland drive expressed it, "the Horsts seem to be doing a fairly good job of caring for the boy and should be allowed to continue." One woman declared that "since the Regans deserted him at birth, they have no rights to him now."

On the other side of the fence, seven women upheld a mother's rights to her child as above any other consideration. Not one man agreed. Few of the women gave reasons for their answers other than "a mother's natural rights to her child."

Six men and three women declared themselves unable to judge the case.

"It's six of one and half-a-dozen of another," summed up one young lady. "There have been a lot of contentions and claims, but no proofs. I can't decide until I know just what is what."

A man who professed himself interested in the moral and legal aspects of the case admitted that he would lean towards the Horst side of the case because the boy was evidently well cared for and because the Regans were not married.

City Changing Over Rapidly From Artificial to Natural Gas

75 Men Work Full Time To Complete Job

Company Officials Expect To Finish In Two Months

With a crew of 75 men working full time, Iowa City's changeover from artificial to natural gas is moving rapidly ahead, R. E. Taylor, manager of the Iowa City Light and Power company, said last night. The changeover began yesterday.

Under the supervision of R. F. Henneman of the Iowa Light and Power Construction company and R. L. Davis of the local company, conversion of stoves has already been completed in one district on the west side, and a second will be opened to the new gas within a few days.

Iowa City has been divided into 10 divisions to facilitate a quick changeover. These follow the meter-reading system, Taylor said.

Judging by the present rate of progress, Taylor expects the work to be completed by Labor day, Sept. 6.

Plan Tour For 4-H Club Show

More than 100 cars are expected to join in a goodwill tour of surrounding small towns beginning at 8 a.m. Thursday to publicize the coming 4-H club show. Charles A. Bowman, secretary of the Iowa City Chamber of Commerce, is in charge.

Music will be provided by the Bagpipers unit of the University band. Several clowns are also expected to make the trip.

Odd Fellows To Meet

Routine business will be transacted at a regular meeting of the Odd Fellows tonight at 7:30 in the clubrooms.

Louis Philippe, ruler of France from 1830-48, was known as the Citizen King.

AROUND THE TOWN with MERLE MILLER

Pathos

The local employment office tells the tale of the sallow-faced girl who wandered in one recent day, worn-looking but dressed in a bright green and striped dress. . . Her story was a sad one. Her mistress—she was a house maid—had mistreated and dismissed her without a cent. . . The officials sympathized, promised another job for the girl.

But that was only half the story. . . . Checking with the girl's ex-mistress, the office heard a second story. . . "I didn't mind her carrying on with my husband, but she stole my green and white stripped dress just after I paid her."

Women

Intelligent—and then
Whom worthy of these many virtues
Could we find among our men?

Toxicology

Prof. Wilber J. Teeters, who probably knows more about poison than any one in these parts, analyzed a recent widely-advertised Hollywood reducing diet. . . To his surprise—and those of the women who'd been cutting down poundage through its use—Teeters found the diet contained only soybean flour and a small amount of chocolate.

Teeters receives hundreds of letters and hundreds of samples of what persons suspect contain poison yearly. . . Recently a woman sent him a sample of milk which she thought contained poison. . . She asserted her son-in-law was out to kill her, but in her letter also said, "I love music and am in my 50's. Is a harp hard to play?"

More or Less

Teeters tested the milk, found it harmless but refused to commit himself on the difficulty of harp plucking — and refused to make further tests on food items the woman began to ship him by the score.

Teeters has a sizable collection of poisoned items too. . . There's chewing tobacco strong enough to kill several men, flour with enough arsenated lead to spray an orchard and an angel-food cake that would have sent any right-living person to the angels had the cook not used so much poison the victim's stomach could not keep it down.

Detective

Prof. J. Hubert Scott, who notices such things, has found Washington Irving's masterpiece he didn't write at all. . . His brother, Peter Irving, wrote "The Legend of Sleepy Hollow."

Shakespeare's "Richard II," a tremendous hit on Broadway last year, was actually authored by Shakespeare, Marlow and Kyd plus half a dozen others, Scott believes.

The English professor — he teaches engineering students—has found a system of rhythm analysis he believes detects whether so-and-so wrote what he claims.

Cooperation-less

Radio broadcasters can't get together, seems. . . I've had half a dozen calls to mention the peculiar lack of foresight which overlaps Monday night Shakespearean and O'Neill play broadcasts. . . Last night, for example, one chain offered "King Lear" while another aired an hour version of Eugene O'Neill's "The Fountain."

Shaw

But definitely drama is on the air, for the O'Neill casters are to do a series of George Bernard Shaw's best when the present cycle is completed.

CLARK PUTS MEN THROUGH PACES

Library Books Picked Monday

Sixteen Selected By Johnson County Board at Meeting

Sixteen approved library books for rural schools were selected by the Johnson county board of education at its semi-annual meeting yesterday.

The board decided that, as in past years, city and town schools may select their own library books.

The state allots 15 cents a pupil to the county to pay for the books, Frank J. Snider, county superintendent, said.

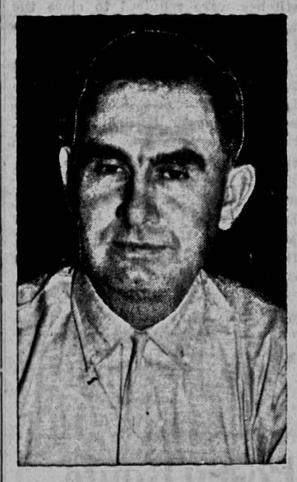
Five board members were present, James Bell of Fremont township, Edward Beranek of Jefferson township, Frank Krall of Newport township, Ray Smalley of Union township and W. F. Ulch of Big Grove township.

Defer Hearing For Seelman

J. O. Seelman of Liberty township, charged with failure to stop at the scene of an automobile accident, postponed his preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace J. M. Kadlec yesterday. The trial was postponed indefinitely.

It is alleged that Seelman failed to stop at an accident eight miles south of here on U. S. highway 161 Aug. 4. Attorney A. C. Cahill is his lawyer.

Mainspring



Mainspring behind the Johnson County 4-H club show here Aug. 18, 19 and 20 is County Agent Emmett C. Gardner. Besides planning all the details of the event, handling its publicity, Gardner must preside at every session of the show.

William Roach, 16, Of Muscatine Dies After Brief Illness

William Roach, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Roach of Muscatine, died early Sunday morning at University hospital. He was stricken last week with infantile paralysis and was brought here Friday. The body was returned to Muscatine.

The grandson of Mrs. A. J. Schneider, 816 E. College street, William was a frequent visitor in Iowa City.

Heart Ailment Fatal to Smith

Past Resident Dies In Waterloo Hospital After Brief Illness

James Irvan Smith, 29, former resident of Iowa City, died of a heart ailment in Allen Memorial hospital at Waterloo, early yesterday afternoon.

Born near Windham April 5, 1908, he attended Iowa City schools and lived here until six years ago. After traveling in California and the east, he took a position four years ago with the Schukei Motor company of Waterloo. He was employed there until stricken 14 weeks ago.

He is survived by his wife, the former Eleanor Davis of Cedar Rapids; his mother, Mrs. George Hoffman, a sister, Mrs. Ted Fleming, and a brother, Charles E. Smith, all of Iowa City.

A brother, Leo D. Smith of Waterloo, also survives.

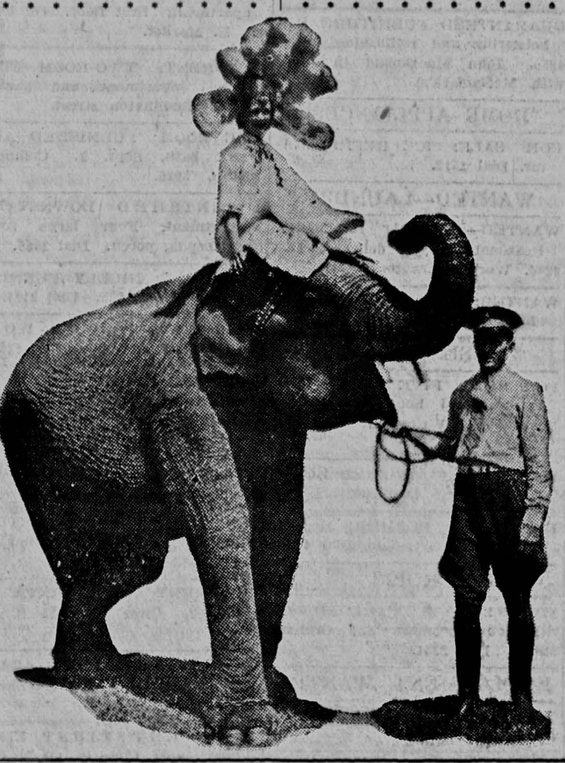
Oldest Elephant in America Coming to Iowa City Aug. 27

"Billy Sunday," oldest living elephant in America, will appear in Iowa City Friday, Aug. 27.

The elephant, about 300 or 400 years old, has traveled with the Sells-Sterling circus for over 75 years and is still active enough to walk from the cars to the show grounds and keep up with the balance of the herd, which will appear with the circus on that date.

Considered harmless, the elephant is sometimes allowed to carry small children, who also are allowed to lead him about the ring. Attendants say that Billy has been exhibited to more people than any other living animal.

Another star attraction of the circus is the "Donzelle Sensation," group of daredevils who present their "Plunge of Death" at every performance.



School Board To Hold Hearing On Budget for Year Tomorrow

Will Hear Objections To Expenditures At Meeting at 7:30 P.M.

Iowa City's $208,740 public schools budget will be given a public hearing tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. at a meeting of the city school board in the high school administration building.

Objections to the expenditures, $60,000 less than the previous year's budget, may be made at that time.

No increase in the present tax rate, 15.11 mills, is anticipated. Approximately $189,400 of the amount will be raised by taxes.

The budget received preliminary approval at last month's board meeting.
