Gov. Kraschel Ousts Greater Iowa Chairman

Muntz Loses Position After Clash Over Allotment

DES MOINES, Sept. 10 (AP)—Otto S. Muntz, chairman of the Greater Iowa commission, said tonight he had received a letter from Gov. Nelson G. Kraschel, notifying him of his removal and of the appointment of O. R. Sweeney of Ames to succeed him as a member of the commission.

Muntz charged the governor's move was "purely for political purposes."

He said he would "continue to resist, as I have in the past, his (Kraschel's) efforts to prostitute the program of the Greater Iowa commission and his short-sighted determination to convert it into a political propaganda agency for the governor and his political henchmen."

Kraschel in Anamosa
Kraschel, who was away from the city attending a courthouse dedication at Anamosa, spent much of Wednesday in conference with Sen. H. Lundy of Albia and M. P. Christiansen of Algona, the other members of the commission. Muntz said he was not invited to the conference.

Today's developments climaxed a sharp clash between Kraschel and Muntz which grew out of the allocation of funds to the commission after the legislature had failed to make an appropriation.

Kraschel said Muntz had sought an allocation of $25,000 from the $500,000 emergency conservation fund placed at the disposal of the governor by the general assembly. The governor said he denied the request.

The commission subsequently obtained an allotment of $5,000 from the legislative committee on retrenchment and reform, which body, in turn, refused to allocate any money to the state planning board.

Like the Greater Iowa commission, the planning board was left without funds by the legislature.

Prof. Charles A. Hawley, for the last 10 years a Protestant professor in the University of Iowa school of religion, yesterday announced his resignation to become dean of the College of the Ozarks, Clarksville, Ark.

Widely known throughout the middlewest as an authority on religion and literature, Professor Hawley will also serve as head of the Bible and religion department, which specializes in the Bible, religious education and the philosophy of religion. He will be dean of the Munger Memorial chapel.

Recently he has revealed several hitherto unpublished letters of the American poet, John Greenleaf Whittier, William Lyon Phelps, professor-emeritus of Yale university and noted authority on literature, has syndicated several articles on Whittier written by Professor Hawley.

Professor Hawley is the author of several books on the subject of the relation of religion to literature. Among them are the recent "Teaching the Prophets," "Teaching of Old Testament History," "Teaching the Apocrypha," "Critical Examination of the Peshitta Version of Ezra." He is now writing a book on the religious background of American letters.

During the last 10 years he has contributed several articles to the State Historical society's publication, the Palimpsest, the latest of which is on "Whittier and Jennie Shrader."

Drought Pares Federal Corn Crop Estimate

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP)—The Federal Crop Reporting board today cut its estimate of this year's corn crop by more than 100,000,000 bushels. The slash was attributed to drought in parts of the corn belt and the great plains.

Production forecasts on wheat, barley, flax and late hay crops also were lowered, but these declines from the board's August figures were called relatively unimportant.

Barring widespread early frosts or other adverse weather, the board said prospects are favorable "for normal to ample domestic supplies of practically all crops." These estimates, based on crop conditions Sept. 1, failed to clarify the prospects for a special session of congress to enact new crop controls. If the estimates had been boosted, the chances for a special session in the fall would have increased, observers believed.

Armies Wage Fiercest War on Northern Front

By J. D. WHITE
PEIPING, Sept. 10 (AP)—Japanese military headquarters announced tonight the fiercest battle of the North China conflict was raging at Machang, 30 miles south of Tientsin.

Both armies were reported fighting at times in water waist-deep following torrential rains which inundated most of the battle area.

Japanese said their armies had advanced within two miles of the heavily fortified Chinese garrison after a day-long attack.

At dawn this morning the Japanese infantry moved forward, sloshing through water and covered by an intensive artillery bombardment and air raid.

Japanese said in the face of Chinese machine gun fire, they captured Liuhochen, on the opposite side of the Machang river, crossing the river on pontoon bridge.

Tanks and armored cars were useless but airplanes reduced Machang to ruins, gutting the village and firing the barracks, Japanese said.

Chicago School Children Attend Class by Radio

CHICAGO, Sept. 10 (AP)—Printed lessons in newspapers, supplemented by radio lectures by teachers were outlined by educators today so that Chicago's 317,000 elementary school children will not sacrifice mental progress for physical safety in the current infantile paralysis outbreak.

Three radio stations voluntarily offered broadcasting time to the board of education for school work while classrooms remain closed during the wave. Newspapers immediately offered to turn over some of their columns to the project.

Fuehrer Hurls Defi in Speech To Thousands

'Reich Belongs to All of Us,' Leaders Are Told

NURNBERG, Germany, Sept. 10 (AP)—Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler flung a warning at Moscow tonight that "Germany never will be conquered now—either from without or within."

"Let this be a warning to those who would seek from Moscow to set the world afire," he declared at a gigantic ceremony of devotion at the national socialist congress.

The center of an awe-inspiring spectacle of lights that penetrated through miles of a star-studded sky, of 140,000 brown uniformed party functionaries, of the gleaming gold tips of 34,000 massed black-white-red nazi banners, Hitler made his declaration in a voice become husky from days of speeches.

Temple of Light
He stood in an immense temple of light, the dome of which was formed by shafts that intersected high above the gigantic crowd that heaped upon him their adulation.

He gave them warm words of gratitude for their loyalty.

"I am always glad when the Nurnberg congress nears its close," Hitler told his hushed legions, "for these days are our memory of the old battling days, when it was still dangerous to proclaim one's national socialist faith."

"Then we were laughed at and derided. But you believed in me. Today Germany belongs to no one but us—all of us."

"Those who would seek to break our backbone now must know it is many times stronger than before."

"Have More Children"
He then warned that Germany "never will be conquered now" and concluded:

"May other nations strive toward goals as great as ours—then they will understand Germany's will toward peace."
Earlier Hitler, himself a bachelor, urged the women of Germany "to be yourselves and have more children."

Trade Vessels Given Warning

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP)—The state and navy departments warned American merchant vessels today that it is dangerous for them to operate in waters adjacent to the China coast because of the Japanese blockade of that area.

The warning, which was broadcast by the navy hydrographic office in the form of a state department "announcement," did not specifically tell American vessels to stay out of Chinese waters.

The hydrographic office earlier this week broadcast a similar warning to American mariners to exercise caution in the Mediterranean because of the activities of unidentified sea and air raiders.

Today's announcement said: "The conflict in the Far East has resulted in the creation of a danger zone along the coast of China which makes it dangerous for American merchant vessels to operate in the adjacent waters."

The Indians Get Their Country Back

ALMOST UNNOTICED, there has recently been going on in Mexico a process almost in complete reverse of the one which every school child studies—the Indians are being given back their country.

Not that the whites are vacating altogether, but in those districts, particularly in southern Mexico, where the Indian and half-breed population is large and landowners are few, the government is attempting an equitable distribution of land. Strangely enough it is a case in which the party in power is living up to its pre-election promises.

Undoubtedly to the wealthy landowners who find themselves now owning but a few thousand acres of land where once they owned thousands, such a division smacks strongly of communism. And perhaps that old Spanish conquistador, Cortez, who carved a bloody swath of Aztecs from the sea to Mexico City, is turning over in his grave at the thought of his descendants treating them so kindly.

Nevertheless, the action of the Mexican government in so summarily disposing of other people's property is a very real step towards lifting the great numbers of its citizens from the peonage in which they have too long been bound.

When the white man first came to Mexico he found a charming and civilized, although almost child-like race, highly advanced in arts and sciences in comparison with other Indians of the new world. But a few years of contact with their more materialistic white brothers so brutalized and coarsened the Aztecs, that with their spirits broken by the dominating whites, they lost almost all resemblance to the proud race they once were.

It is to be hoped that the action of the Mexican government in giving land to the Indians, instead of following the usual custom of taking it away from them, will be beneficial—that they may regain the eminence which they lost so long ago.

The average American probably hasn't taken sides yet in the Chinese-Japanese struggle, but he has made up his mind about one thing—everybody else mispronounces those Chinese names.

That Season Of the Year

THERE'S SOMETHING in the autumn, according to the poet, and so there is. It's the time, just now, when the days are growing shorter; reluctant students are returning to school; straw hats are in the discard; department stores are displaying fur coats again—and heavy tweeds; business men are wearing coats again; the railway stations echo with the noise of returning vacationists; there was a distinctly pungent odor in the air yesterday; those cool rains are beginning to fall again.

It must be autumn. Above the level of the summer lassitude politics is rearing its dormant head, open-mouthed; the brown hues so painfully acquired on a summer beach are even now beginning to pale. The quiet university halls are bustling—or preparing to—with the activity of a new year.

There's something comforting about it—this approaching winter. Yes, we know the electric bills are going to climb, and the coal bills will be large. Yes, the weather man has predicted another sub-zero winter, and the perennial Tama Indians have come through with their usual remarkable forecast of around this time of year and foresee a heavy frost within 30 days.

Yes, Babson has predicted that the bubble will break and that we're in for another lull in business. Yes, congress will probably be called for another session and will probably spend a lot more of the taxpayer's money. Yes, it will be quite expensive getting all the children outfitted for school again. Yes, we know the outlook is pretty dim.

But maybe it isn't so bad after all. The United States Chamber of Commerce has just reported employment seems to be at its highest point since 1930; and you've probably heard that the Baltimore and Ohio railroad promises another huge dividend—along with a lot of other large utilities. And the commerce department has made a survey of the banking situation to find that more persons have more money in the bank than at anytime during the last five years. And, oh, yes, President Roosevelt has even made rather definite moves toward balancing that lop-sided national budget; and Secretary of Agriculture Wallace has predicted that, despite a late season drought, everyone of the major grains will yield a record crop this year.

It's a pretty good world after all. The annual retreat from nature has begun; winter will soon be with us. In short, the days are growing shorter again.

The ultimate in exposition architecture was reached this year when a certain fair we won't name succeeded in making its wooden buildings look as though they were made of cardboard.

CLIPPED From Other COLUMNS

JOE LOUIS

THE MOTION pictures of the Louis-Farr fight show one thing conclusively—there is no question as to who won the fight. Farr, for all his gameness and toughness, was awkward, ineffective and, except for occasional rushes that resulted in no damage, he was on the defensive nine-tenths of the time.

Often when the fight crowd roared its approval of a Farr blow, the pictures show the blow never reached Louis.

Granting that Louis is dumb, granting that he has become, as Sec Taylor puts it "gunshy" since Schmeling flattened him and that he fights more cautiously, fairness forces the conclusion that he is really Farr's superior.

Moreover, as one sports writer has pointed out, various other champions rated "great" did not knock all their opponents kicking. Jim Jeffries, probably the most unbeatable of all at his peak, went 25 rounds with Tom Sharkey, failed to knock Sharky down, and won a close decision. Gibbons lasted 15 rounds with Dempsey. And so on endlessly.

Louis is a victim of his early reputation as a slaughterer. The fight fans want a knockout in a few rounds or they get mad. We surmise, along with Sec Taylor, that Louis could have given it to them this time if he had plunged in to slug every minute of the way, taking a punch in order to get a chance to land one. But that is another matter.

The thing about Louis that puzzles us today is his unpopularity. An average Orpheum audience at the picture in Des Moines boomed him. That seems to be a general attitude. Is it solely because of a liking for the game underdog in this particular fight? Is it because Louis is so stolid—lacks magnetism and so on? Can it be due in any degree to race prejudice, even in our north?

After all, Louis is just a youngster whom nobody should expect to be an Einstein. His trade is fighting. He is good enough at that to whip all except Schmeling and to become world champion even after losing to Schmeling. Why expect him to have the personality of Lindbergh? And, on the side of race, isn't it fair to observe that he has never given offense to public taste in the way Jack Johnson did.

We are beginning to look on Joe Louis as the underdog, so far as public sympathy is concerned.

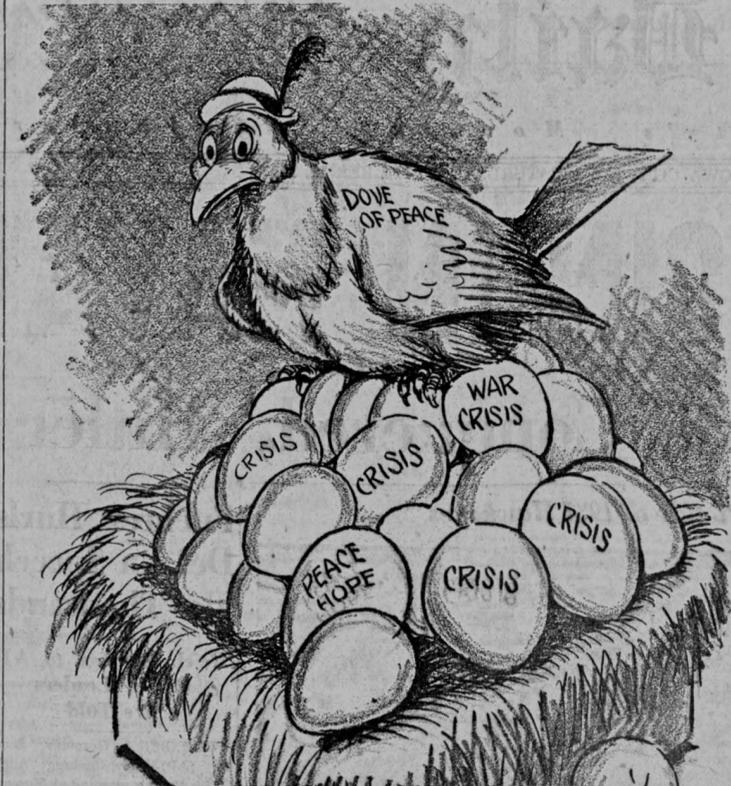

So long as she behaves herself—which has not always been a characteristic of heavyweight champions either black or white—why not give him a "break"?

Milk Should Be Modified To Suit Each Individual's Taste

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

"I have been advised to drink milk, but it does not agree with me. I can't stand it. What shall I do?"

This wall that comes to my desk is one that doctors have to answer all the time.

To analyze the situation we can recognize that there are four possible reasons why milk disagrees, and they may be catalogued clearly by answering the following questions:

- 1. Does milk disagree with you every time you drink it or just sometimes?
2. Does it give the same digestive symptoms every time it disagrees or do they vary?
3. Does it affect your digestion alone?
4. Can you take milk in other foods—in coffee, tea or ice cream, in bread, with oatmeal.

The first group of milk disagreeers are those with a slight digestive disturbance anyway—an irritable colon or a mild gall bladder infection. Milk, with all its excellencies, is a particularly digestible food, and these people in the periods when their digestive functions are upset revolt at it.

The second group is a modification of the first, and without any definite digestive disorders they have a sensitive digestive tract in some way which milk upsets. In some people milk produces a diarrhea, in some a constipation. When it is well digested it is constipating, when not, diarrhea results. Modifying the milk, using boiled, skimmed milk, will get around the tendency to diarrhea. And adding cream will get around the constipating effect. The curd in cow's milk is large. Boiling the milk lessens the curd. That is why it makes it more digestible. The addition of carbonated water, or lime water, does the same thing. A mixture of equal parts of milk, cream and carbonated water is more palatable and more digestible than plain milk.

Curded Milk Digested
The best way to insure against the formation of large curds is to curdle the milk before ingestion. That is why in this group buttermilk, junket and Koumyss are better tolerated than raw milk.

The third group are those who are allergic to milk. They should have, to prove this, other symptoms than those referable to the digestive system—such as hives or asthma. I believe these cases must be far rarer than the reports one hears indicate. A great deal of harm has been done by taking people off such necessary articles of food as milk on very flimsy evidence of its allergic qualities. The cases I have heard of strike me as being very poorly analyzed.

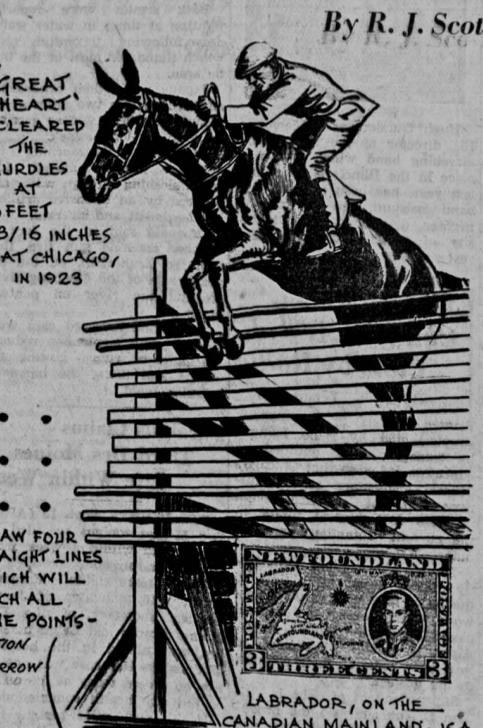

The last group, the group who says yes to question 4, are those who have a psychic aversion for milk. It is the largest group. I must say I have a great deal of sympathy with them. Intellectually I praise milk; gastronomically the smell and taste of it are insipid beyond words. But for these milk soups, milk punches, egg noggs, ice cream and even the addition of cream, half and half, solves the difficulty.

The modification of milk for adults should be studied as much as it has been for children. With proper resourcefulness nearly any prejudice can be overcome.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — that they are ALL labor. President William Green of the A. F. of L. and John L. Lewis of CIO are calling each other harder names than it seems to me the facts justify.

Green's and Lewis' respective labor philosophies differ, but from that it by no means necessarily follows that Lewis is communistic, as Green implies, or that Green is a traitor, as Lewis out and out charges.

I am convinced, from the whole tenor of Lewis' argument and from what he has told me personally, that the CIO head believes his program to be an antidote alike to communism and fascism.

I am convinced, equally that Green is 100 per cent loyal to what he believes to be the best interests of trade unionism.

Broader Scale For Lewis
Lewis is endeavoring to provide ALL labor with a voice. His definition of labor is pretty broad, too.

He includes all kinds of craftsmen (of the A. F. of L. type), so-called "common labor", white-collar workers, domestic servants, farm hands and even farmers, if not in so exalted a class as to rate more as landlords than farmers.

Not Fully Representative
Now, it is all right for workers in some particular craft to organize. It likewise is all right for these craft groups to affiliate. But they hardly can contend that he is a radical in comparison with conservatism. The Aims of Each

Yet it is not fair for Green to say that Lewis is a communist. John L. is a sincere and relatively moderate spokesman for the so-called masses.

Nor is it fair for Lewis to call Green a traitor. Green's objective is altogether different from Lewis'. They are bowling down different alleys.

Lewis is bowling for labor in general. Green is bowling for HIS labor in particular. Both are honest.

HOLLYWOOD—Samuel Pokrass is the fourth, fifth and sixth Ritz brother. Wild as they are, Sam is wilder. Loud as they are, Sam is louder. Three of them together can talk your ear off and drive you nuts. Sam, aided only by his waving arms and hands and the terrific energy of a talking machine, can do it alone.

Don't misinterpret that. Sam is a great guy. He's been speaking English only eight years, and intimate association with Gregory Ratoff hasn't helped any. Sam has a terrific time expressing himself, so that by the time he's told his life story over a plate of fried chicken you feel about as chipper as what's left of the chicken.

His Music Gets You
But what a life story—and what a musician! Sam is short and pudgy and beetle-browed. He doesn't look like Robert Taylor but when he sits down at a piano you don't laugh. Instead you're likely to get a funny feeling in the throat—even when he's doing classical variations on "St. Louis Blues" as Mozart, Wagner, Beethoven, etc., would play it. He can play the piano when the keys are covered with a cloth but that's just a trick, like playing the violin on a trapeze the way he did with a circus in France.

Farley Says 'Hello' to Iowa Citizens

Scores of Iowa Citizens received a firm handshake from Postmaster-General James A. Farley (above) during his 10-minute stop here yesterday. He addressed a thousand, tried to meet them all and in the attempt, delayed a Rock Island railroad express there would be no regret if they voted democratic in 1940. The rosy-cheeked cabinet member towered above his friends. Farley wore a black serge suit and a white shirt. Thin white stripes crossed a black silk tie to break the conservative style of his clothing.

Adams. Jack Grove, guest organist, will play Nevin's "The City From Afar Off" and Stark's "Festival March."

There is a nursery for children whose parents are at the morning service.

'Kick-Off' Dinner Opens Iowa Grid Season

AS FOOTBALL WAS CROWNED KING AT IOWA

300 Gather In Iowa Union To Hear Speeches

Simultaneous Dinners Held in 105 Towns In 95 Counties

Three hundred athletes, coaches, "I" men, alumni, Iowa "backers", and pressmen met in the Iowa Union lounge last night to formally inaugurate the University of Iowa's 1937 football season.

The occasion was the sixth annual "Kick-Off" dinner.

The featured attraction of the evening was the 15-minute radio broadcast of the brief speeches of the coaches, "I" club president, athletic board members, and several of the players.

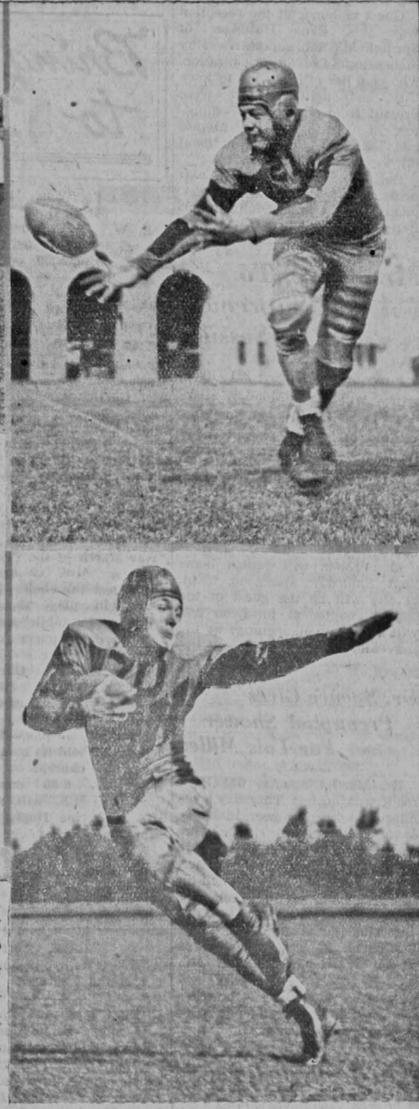

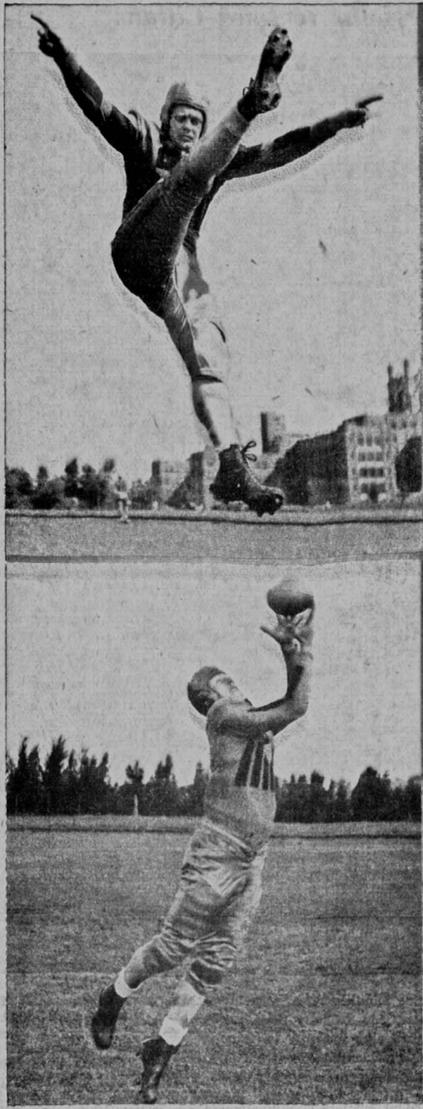

While Iowa City was host to the "key" dinner, 105 other dinners in 95 counties were being held with the diners preparing to boost Iowa, win or lose, through the coming season.

Under the able direction of Bruce E. Mahan, secretary of the Iowa alumni association and chairman of the "Kick-Off" dinner committee, this year's attendance was the highest ever reported.

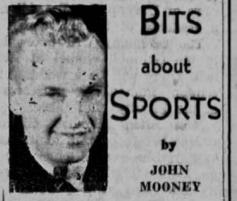

Although advance information has been rather gloomy, the speakers last night let slip little glimmers of optimism which they did not quite conceal from the victory-craving football fans. While none of the coaches came out to forecast a winning season, still one of the very prominent coaches was quoted as saying that "We'd pledge ourself to give you a football season that you would be proud of."

All in all, it was a nice, friendly little get-together with the "old-timers" renewing acquaintances, and the youngsters of the group making friends with the older members.

The dinner, which was the climax of the opening day of football practice for the "awkeys", served the triple purpose of introducing the entire coaching staff, the entire football squad, and the president of the re-organized "I" men's club.

A column of baseball facts and fancies as told to me by Harold Manders, sophomore hurler on Coach Otto Vogel's varsity nine last year who turned professional at the close of the 1936 season.

Q. "Well, Harold, how did things go this summer?"
A. "Swell. Had a swell year, and now I have been recalled to the Beaumont (Texas) league."

Q. "Weren't you with that league in the first place?"
A. "Yes, I started there but was soon sent to the Evangeline league for seasoning."

Q. "What kind of luck did you have there?"
A. "I won 11 and lost 5 games, and struck out 132 men in 136 innings."

Q. "What was the best game you hurled?"
A. "The best game I think I pitched was the time I struck out 15 opposing batters."

Q. "Are you all through school now?"
A. "Oh no, right now I'm planning to enter the university this fall."

Q. "Oh say, Harold, being a cousin of the famous Bob Feller, what is your opinion of his 'comeback'?"
A. "He always was good. He didn't need a comeback; all he needed was confidence. He's coming here Oct. 4 and I'll bring him around."

Q. "Do they try to teach you anything in those leagues?"
A. "A very little, and everything they said down there was a repetition of what Coach Vogel told us. I guess he must have told us everything that there was to know on the subject."

Q. "How old are the fellows in this league?"
A. "I don't think that there was a fellow over 24 years old in the whole league."

Q. "Are many of them college men?"
A. "Nine of the 14 players on our team were college men. Frank Stanton, Minnesota slugger of two years ago who led conference in batting, played second for our team; Lefty Crimmins and Olson of Luther college; Lenhardt and Seho of Michigan State were also in the league. Luchbaum, L.S.U. pitcher who lurched against the Iowans in a spring training contest last year, also pitched in this circuit. Yes, I think that 80 percent of the men are college men."

Q. "How is the pitching in the league?"
A. "It's seven times tougher than this Western league competition. Down there you never get a ball across the middle of the platter; it's all corners. I pitched five ball games and threw just one curve ball. Why, when you get a three and one count on the batter they make you rare back and whip the ball down the alley; there's no easing up on them."

Q. "How was your batting average in this competition?"
A. "I had an average of .200. Most of my hits were line drives to the catcher. I did get two home runs, but then the wind was blowing hard."

Q. "Are the catchers pretty good?"
A. "No, that's the surprising thing about it. Dick Bowlin, last year's catcher, was a lot better receiver than our catcher."

Q. "You've been asking me a lot of questions, now I'll tell you something," said Manders. "Keep your eye on this Nile Kinnick. I went to school only seven miles from his school and he really is a whiz."

On this topic we agreed with Manders and wandered off to watch Kinnick and the rest of the Iowa hopefuls practice football.

Francis Heydt Places Second To Adolph Kiefer

CHICAGO, Sept. 10 (AP)—Ralph Flanagan, Miami's contribution to major league American swimming, stroked to another triumph today in his program of three national A.A.U. titles and records to go with them.

The big freestyler from Florida, who inaugurated his campaign yesterday with a smashing, world-record victory in the mile, came right back today in Lake Michigan's choppy waters to win the 440 yard event with as much ease as he did in the longer race. He coasted home 30 yards in front of Tom Haynie of the University of Michigan, in four minutes, 46 seconds, more than two seconds faster than his own American and meet standard of 4:48.6.

Along with it, he swam his first 300 yards in 3:14.2, bettering the listed American mark of 3:18 set by John Macionis of Yale university in 1935, while his time for the full route, was almost two seconds under his own 400 meters record of 4:47.8.

Back of Haynie came John E. Patton Jr. of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., who finished second in the mile yesterday, with George A. Lowe of the University of Illinois fourth and last.

Adolph Kiefer added another mark to his already staggering collection by winning his third straight outdoor 100-meter backstroke championship in one minute, 6.3 seconds. His performance, made with little competition from the rest of the field, was two-tenths of a second faster than his own record, and only seven-tenths of a second slower than his world standard.

Francis Heydt of Iowa City, Ia., was second about seven yards behind the sensational Chicagoan. Leroy Ogle of the Detroit A.C. and John Sherill of Ann Arbor, Mich., finished third and fourth, respectively.

Today's program produced the fall of two 1936 titleholders, Johnny Higgins, great young breaststroke star from Providence, R.I., and Yale's 880 yard freestyle relay quartet.

New 'I' Club Elects Al Jenkins as President

Constitution, By-Laws Are Also Approved

Albert P. Jenkins, president of the newly reorganized "I" club of University of Iowa letter men at a meeting of 18 former athletes from various sections of the state here Friday afternoon.

Jenkins, who won letters in football and basketball between 1916 and 1918, won a B.A. degree at the university in 1918 and a law degree five years later. He served for several years as end coach here. He was the only man nominated for the presidency.

Three vice presidents were elected. They are Leyland Skelley of Des Moines, Forrest Olson of Sioux City and Willis Glassgow of Shenandoah. Eric Wilson of Iowa City was named secretary-treasurer.

At the two-hour meeting, with Dr. John Voss of Iowa City serving as temporary chairman, the delegates adopted a constitution and by-laws. An executive board of nine members, one from each congressional district of Iowa, will be appointed by President Jenkins. All officers also will serve as members of the executive committee.

A membership campaign will be conducted and the first general meeting probably occur this fall, the date to be fixed by the executive board.

Lengthy Blocking and Tackling Drill Features Afternoon Grid Workout for Hawk Hopefuls

Opening the season's practice yesterday, Coach Irl Tubbs gave the photographers full sway, allowing his men to pose for countless "stills" and action shots, but in the afternoon session, the seriousness of the task became apparent with blocking, tackling, passing and pass defense taking the spotlight.

Five Auto Damage Suits Filed in Court Within Two Days

Stransky Asks 3 For $4,500 In Accident Case

Frank Buntz Sues To Collect $406 For Car Damages

Automobile accidents were the cause of five suits to collect damages filed in district court here in the past two days.

Ivan Stransky is suing to collect $4,500 from H. W. Strickler, the driver of the other car, and Charles Larkin.

Stransky alleges that he was riding in a car driven by Leo Birka on May 2 and that he was injured in an intersection collision at College and Linn streets. Stransky's petition charges Strickler, the driver of the other car, with negligence.

Seeks $406

Frank Buntz filed suit to collect $406 from G. G. Anderson and Viola Lerhring. Buntz claims his car was damaged and his wife injured in a collision four miles east of West Liberty on U. S. highway 6 July 5. Miss Lerhring, driver of the other car, was negligent, his petition charges.

Hazel Eagen Schrader of Oxford is suing to collect $350 from Mary Ruess, an Oxford high school girls' basketball coach, and Dr. C. O. Parks, Virgil Harker, H. A. Paul, Dr. J. J. Schroder and M. E. Baker, all members of the Oxford independent district school board.

The plaintiff states in her petition that Miss Ruess borrowed her car Dec. 10, 1935, to transport members of the team to Sharon Center and that the car was wrecked on U. S. highway 6 west of Iowa City. The plaintiff alleges Miss Ruess was negligent.

Ask $1,279

W. F. Snell and his daughter, Maxine, filed suit to collect $1,279 from C. E. Moss and Kenneth Moss. The Snells allege that the driver of the other car was negligent. The accident occurred at the intersection of Governor and Washington streets June 7, and Miss Snell was permanently injured, the petition states.

A. F. Hungerford is suing J. E. Bowersox to collect $950 for injuries and damage allegedly resulting from a collision eight miles south of Cedar Rapids on U. S. highway 161 June 30.

AROUND THE TOWN

with MERLE MILLER

Introduction

Congressman Eicher's introduction of Jim Farley was exceedingly brief yesterday, if you noticed . . . But all too clear in the minds of many Iowa Citizens is the memory of the time William Jennings Bryan appeared in a small town just outside Iowa City. The silver-voiced one was also here for a five-minute stop . . .

When the presidential candidate's special train pulled out of the station, the local chap was still introducing him.

And those who noticed Farley's quite trim figure yesterday wonder if he hasn't been on a special reducing diet . . .

A local democrat who had been on Farley's special train for most of yesterday tells me the postmaster-general's long-expected resignation is not far off . . . He declares Farley will submit it within the next 60 days and start devoting his complete time to the 1938 and '40 campaigns . . . His successor, they say, is an Indiana man already chosen.

And regards the special session so many have been predicting, Farley is reported to have said there's almost certain to be one early in November.

It'll be no trick of course to shake the hand that shook the hand of Farley yesterday . . . Actual count is said to be more than 200 . . .

And those who observe such things tell me that half the headlines that come from the large eastern cities about remarkable medical feats are often repeated in University hospital, but few of the internationally-known doctors here are looking for publicity . . .

The newsreels of the Sino-Japanese war are the most graphically realistic I've seen . . . They are the horror of "The Good Earth" in reality . . .

And I know one local attorney who always has a large box of chocolates in his desk, munches on them during his office hours.

The librarians tell me that one of the town's most prolific readers is Mrs. William Malamud, who reads two and three books a week . . . Among the professors, the librarians say, English Professor Wilbur Schramm ranks highest . . . Almost all of the new books have his name near the top of the list of early borrowers.

And the most prolific play reader is Jacob Reizenstein, who reads all of the new Broadway hits . . .

And a local university student who hails from Spain has a letter from a distant relative there telling him his family is scattered, may not all be living . . . The letter is only half there, the rest having been deleted by the censors . . . But family-scattering is no news, the chap tells me . . . He declares few of the larger Spanish families are united or have been since the war began.

Dinner

And it was just a year ago last week that President Roosevelt and Gov. Alf Landon exchanged invitations to see one another in the White House . . . But so far nothing has come of it . . . Why doesn't Frank invite Alf down to Washington for a chicken dinner—and Alf bring one of his chickens?

H. Abbott Sues To Collect $183

Harry Abbott filed suit to collect $183 from Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Carleton yesterday in district court here. Abbott alleges the amount is due for house rent and merchandise.

Mary E. Lewis Seeks Divorce

Alleging cruelty and inhuman treatment, Mary E. Lewis filed suit for divorce against Dean E. Lewis, 514 S. Dodge street, Thursday in district court here. Mrs. Lewis asks for an absolute decree and alimony.

Iowa City to Des Moines—One Hour

The "Rocket," which will be on exhibition here between 8:15 and 1 o'clock today could speed from here to Des Moines in an hour, if necessary. The scheduled runs, however, will be made at only half speed or 60 miles an hour. Trained guides will show Iowa Citizens the modern interiors of the four streamlined stainless steel cars, and the powerful 1,200-horsepower electro-motive Diesel engine that will race the new Rock Island railroad train between Chicago and Des Moines. A definite date for the start of the regular service has not yet been released. Unofficial estimates say the schedule will start Sept. 25. Five other trains of this type will

Iowa City To Preview 'Rocket' Train

Streamliner Will Arrive at Rock Island Depot Today at 8:15 A.M.

Iowa Citizens may preview the 117-mile-an-hour passenger train that will soon commence regular service through here at 8:15 this morning at the Rock Island depot. Trained guides will escort visitors through the stainless steel cars until 1 o'clock this afternoon. Visitors have been asked to approach the "Rocket" on Clinton street and leave the train on Duquesne street. This will facilitate handling the visitors efficiently,

Frank Meacham, ticket agent said. The "Rocket," with its modern equipment in the four passenger cars, is the latest type of streamlined trains. Its powerful Diesel engines can generate 1,200 horsepower to speed the train over the rails at 117 miles an hour. The regular runs will be made at approximately half speed, or 60 miles an hour. The train will connect Des Moines and Chicago on a daytime schedule.

Unofficial estimates place the starting date as Sept. 26, but this has not been verified by the Rock Island lines.

The train has passed through here several times on test runs, but this is the first time visitors have been allowed to examine the train minutely.

C. C. Gardner, assistant general passenger agent from the Des Moines office, arranged the exhibition.

Iowa City Among First With New, Modern Bus Terminal

One-Story Building To Facilitate Heavy Traffic Here

Iowa City is one of the first cities of its size to have a new, modern bus terminal, officials of the Interstate Transit lines announced last night.

The modern one-story brick building at 213 E. College street, has been equipped to facilitate heavy passenger bus traffic. The 22 buses of the Interstate Transit and affiliated lines that stop here daily made essential the erection of the new depot.

Operating in 18 states and connecting the Pacific coast with Chicago and intermediate points, the Interstate lines carried more than 3,000,000 passengers last year. Travel by bus during the last six years has doubled, officials said.

Streamlined air-conditioned super-buses now operate through Iowa City, connecting Chicago, Omaha, Cheyenne, Salt Lake City, Los Angeles and San Francisco. More than 100 of these are on the Interstate Transit lines schedule.

Interstate Transit lines have leased the bus depot, which was constructed by Reuben Swartzlander.

Marengo Auto Crash Victim's Condition Fair

Mrs. Britton Still In Hospital Following Operation

The condition of Mrs. A. W. Britton, 63, of Kalona, sole survivor of the double-death car that collided head-on with a truck near Marengo Thursday night was described as "fairly good" by Mercy hospital authorities last night.

Mrs. Britton, suffering from a fractured nose, broken ribs and shock, was rushed to Mercy hospital from the Marengo death scene Thursday night. After an examination, Mercy hospital doctors operated on the injured woman.

She is the sole survivor of the three Kalona women who, while returning from a funeral at Atlantic, were in a light sedan that collided with a truck on the Bear creek bridge one-half mile west of Marengo on U. S. highway 6.

Her companions, Mrs. Emma Smith, 72, and Mrs. Clare Mott Perrin, 42, both of Kalona, were killed instantly.

It was the third serious automobile accident near Marengo on the past three Thursday nights. The first two accidents resulted only in injuries.
