Tax Quiz Splits Treasury; Two Officials Quit

Dispute Flares Over Order To Name Dodgers

Attorneys Given Choice Of Obeying Chief Or Resigning

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16 (AP)—A clash over the administration's recent investigation of "tax dodging" split the internal revenue bureau wide open today. Morrison Shafroth of Denver, chief of the bureau's crack legal corps, disclosed that he had resigned, along with his assistant, Russell J. Ryan of Indianapolis.

Reluctant

They disclosed that they had chosen the latter course, submitting their resignations last June.

The two were reluctant to express their feelings in detail, but friends said they thought it was unfair to make taxpayers' names public in such a way. They contended the proper procedure was court action.

This recalled that critics of the Roosevelt administration attacked the tax inquiry for weeks. Representative Fish (R-NY) declared the investigation was an "inquisition" in which opponents of the administration were "singled out for punishment and reprisal."

F.R. Inspires Probe

The inquiry, conducted at President Roosevelt's request, brought testimony from a half dozen revenue officials that scores of wealthy persons had used various devices to escape taxes.

Testifying at intervals in the early summer, the witnesses outlined alleged methods of tax dodging and put names of numerous individuals into the record.

Shafroth issued a terse statement today that he and Ryan "were unable to convince ourselves that it was proper to use the bureau of internal revenue as planned in the tax avoidance and evasion investigation."

"Being given the choice of participating in the presentation of the names or resigning, we tendered our resignations on the 28th of June, 1937," their statement said.

The statement was issued after Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, who was Shafroth's superior, said the attorney quit because of disagreement "with general treasury policies."

Morgenthau expressed regret Shafroth had resigned. Asked whether the revenue attorney had quarreled with Herman Oliphant, treasury general counsel, the secretary said "there were no differences between individuals."

Roosevelt May Ask Black To Resign

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16 (AP)—Talk that President Roosevelt might ask Justice Hugo L. Black to resign from the supreme court was heard in the capital amid new and bitter criticism of the Alabamian's alleged Ku Klux Klan membership.

Borah, Commemorating Birth Of Constitution, Appeals For Free Courts To Save Liberty

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16 (AP)—Senator Borah (R-Ida) appealed tonight for the maintenance of "uncontrolled courts" as the only guarantee that traditional American liberties will be preserved.

In a speech commemorating the 150th anniversary of the signing of the constitution, he swung without preface into a discourse which carried his hearers back to the memorable battle of last winter over the administration proposal to revamp the supreme court.

Still clinging to the objective of a reorganization of the high tribunal, President Roosevelt also will deliver a constitution day address tomorrow night.

In addition to his remarks on the courts, Borah assailed as false what he termed a current "pessimistic" theory that economic security can be had only by sacrificing personal liberty.

He criticized those who, he said, have been asserting that the constitution is not a "sacred document." It is sacred, he said, against all changes except those written into it by the people.

He referred scornfully to developments in the lands of the dictators, declaring that the constitution and free courts to interpret it safeguard America against such experiences.

And he took brusque exception to the recent statements emanating from the White House.

He said that the constitution is not a "sacred document." It is sacred, he said, against all changes except those written into it by the people.

League To Ask U.S. Advice In Oriental Crisis

Passes China's Plea On To Old Far Eastern Committee

By JOSEPH E. SHARKEY
GENEVA, Sept. 16 (AP)—China's appeal to the League of Nations to halt Japan's invasions today was turned over to the League's resurrected far eastern advisory committee, of which the United States once was a consultative member.

It was decided to send invitations soon to Washington and capitals of 22 other nations which held places on the original committee to reconvene to consider the latest oriental crisis. Hence the question of the American attitude toward further collaboration with the League on far eastern affairs became a vital matter in Geneva.

Formed in 1933

The League council, after hearing China's appeal, decided to convene the committee, which was formed in 1933 to deal with the crisis arising from Japan's conquest of China's Manchurian provinces, to study effects of Nippon's latest invasions of Chinese territory.

High Japanese spokesmen already have said emphatically Japan would reject any form of League action concerning the Chinese-Japanese conflict. They indicated tonight she would decline any invitation to be represented before the committee, especially if she were placed in the role of defendant.

The council heard Dr. Juan Negrin, premier of the Spanish government, accuse Italy of being the nation whose warships are "creating terror" in the Mediterranean.

Include Envoy's Speech

Referring to China's appeal, Negrin explained the matter was referred to the advisory committee under article three, paragraph three, of the League covenant.

The council then decided in addition to the two statements made by the Chinese government protesting Japan's invasion, there would also be communicated to the advisory committee the speech made before the assembly yesterday by Dr. Wellington Koo, Chinese envoy, and minutes of today's council session.

The advisory committee was formed after the League had condemned Japan's seizure of Manchuria and Japan, then a member, had withdrawn from League sessions. Later Japan resigned from the League. Hugh Wilson, then American minister to Switzerland and now assistant secretary of state, was the American consultative member of the committee, without right to vote.

Elliott Roosevelt's First Wife To Wed Stock Broker's Son

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 16 (AP)—Mrs. Elizabeth Browning Donner Roosevelt, former wife of Elliott Roosevelt, second son of President and Mrs. Roosevelt, is engaged to marry Curtin Winsor, of nearby Ardmore, son of a Philadelphia stock broker.

Their engagement was announced today by Mrs. Roosevelt's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Donner of Villanova, Pa. The marriage is expected to take place within two months.

Mrs. Roosevelt's marriage to Elliott Roosevelt lasted about a year and a half. They were married Jan. 16, 1932, while Elliott's father was governor of New York. The divorce was granted to Mrs. Roosevelt July 17, 1933, in Nevada, and she was given full custody of their son, who was then eight months old.

A few days later Elliott married Ruth Goggin, of Ft. Worth, Tex., at Burlington, Ia. They have two children.

A Busy Man

Secretary of State Cordell Hull, seen entering the White House in Washington to attend a conference with President Roosevelt and cabinet on the far eastern "war" situation, is one of the busiest men in Washington.

The president invoked a partial embargo, forbidding shipments of arms and munitions on U. S. government-owned ships. Privately owned merchant vessels, however, might carry such cargoes at their own risk. Only invocation of neutrality act would prevent this.

Crash Kills Two
CLEGHORN, Sept. 16 (AP)—A mother and her 3-year-old daughter were killed and three men seriously injured tonight in a collision of two cars at an intersection three and a half miles north of here.

Mrs. Arnold Kraft and her small daughter, whose name was not learned, died instantly. Their home was near Mansau.

Threaten Sitdown
DES MOINES, Sept. 16 (AP)—Members of the Iowa Farmers union today threatened to apply a "peaceable sitdown" if the next United States congress fails to protect agriculture against "loan sharks using federal moneys in bringing us 'under regimentation.'"

The declaration was contained in a resolution adopted by the union at the closing session of its 21st annual convention. About 500 attended the convention.

Japanese Score Rapid Gains In North China

Bomb Shansi's Capital, Claim Victory Over Peiping Army

By MORRIS J. HARRIS
SHANGHAI, Sept. 16 (AP)—Rapid Japanese advances in sweeping north China campaigns were outstanding developments today as conflict continued savagely over most of the 2,000-mile Chinese war front.

The Japanese reported they had plunged further into Shansi province, bombed its capital, broken Chinese armies south of Peiping, threatened to smash China's central Hopeh defense line.

On the Shanghai front the Chinese asserted they had recaptured Lotien. Cholera became a graver peril to Shanghai's millions.

Claim Cruiser Sunk

Japanese warships and planes continued to harry the south China coasts, but the Chinese claimed—without independent confirmation—their air force had struck back with punishing effect, sinking one enemy cruiser and damaging other vessels. Japanese planes bombed Canton's airport.

According to Japanese, General Count Juichi Terauchi's command extended its advance south and southwest of Peiping, where the capture of Kuanhsien Wednesday split the Chinese lines.

Cavalry, tanks and infantry shared in the Japanese advance, which, wheeling westward from Kuanhsien, 30 miles south of Peiping, was approaching Chochow on the Peiping-Hankow railway, 40 miles below Peiping.

Main Objective

Capture of Chochow would make the railway useless to the Chinese north of Peiping, their main base 30 miles southwest of Peiping and apparently the main objective of this Japanese drive.

Sixty thousand Japanese were engaged in this operation against eight Chinese divisions, about 100,000 men.

The weather, which had held up Japan's offensive power for weeks, turned in her favor. The rainy season appeared to have ended and the early north China autumn had set in, with clear bracing days.

Footprints Settle Problem of Crash Victim's Identity

DAVENPORT, Sept. 16 (AP)—It's Joyce Gaston who is in Mercy hospital here, Capt. William Hennelly of the Davenport police department declared this afternoon after comparing footprints of the Gaston twins made at birth with one he obtained of the injured girl.

Capt. Hennelly said the prints established beyond doubt the identity of the child as Joyce and that it was Jacquelin who died with her parents and a maid when the Gaston automobile was struck by a train near DeWitt Monday.

Iowa Farm Boy Invents Mystery 'Paralysis' Ray

DES MOINES, Sept. 16 (AP)—H. E. Taylor, Chicago, Ill., vice president of the National Inventors Congress, tonight described a mysterious invention which he said is being developed on a farm in southern Iowa.

Aided by the government, a farm youth inventor, he said, is working on a ray capable of paralyzing operation of all electrical apparatus that comes within its range.

The government has thrown a cloak of mystery over the work, Taylor explained, but he told in an interview that he knew of the invention.

"The inventor is a young fellow with nothing more than common school education," he said. "The largest town he has ever seen is Ottumwa, Ia., and he lives somewhere on the Iowa side of the Iowa-Missouri line."

From what he had heard of the machine, Taylor said its beam could be directed through magnetic screens and could paralyze electrical devices from flash lights to power plants.

The Iowa invention is similar to an ultra-short wave transmitter, operated with a directional beam antenna, Taylor explained.

Copeland Runs Second on Each Party's Ticket

Four Boroughs Pile Up Heavy Majority For New Dealer

NEW YORK, Sept. 17—(Friday)—(AP)—Jeremiah Titus Mahoney, choice of pro new deal party leaders, held an impressive lead early today over Royal S. Copeland, backed by Tammany's leaders, in the New York democratic mayoralty primary.

A great wave of votes for the spare, athletic 62-year-old former state supreme court justice came rolling in from the four city boroughs outside Manhattan—all of them headed by democratic chiefs friendly to James A. Farley.

Revolt Against Tammany

Mahoney entered the race in the first place largely because the borough leaders outside Manhattan—in Brooklyn, the Bronx, Queens and Richmond—revolted against Tammany's insistent designation of Copeland, who as a United States senator opposed President Roosevelt's program at vital points and campaigned substantially as an anti-new dealer.

Manhattan, historically the bailiwick of Tammany, stood fast for Copeland.

Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia, was far ahead in the republican primary over Senator Copeland, who had entered that party's lists in the hope of attracting conservatives from both parties.

Claim Victories

Mahoney flatly claimed victory and said the job now ahead was the general election in November; republican leaders for La Guardia made similar statements.

In the primaries in upstate New York, first returns indicated incumbent state assemblymen carrying party support were successful in winning renomination.

In the mayoralty primaries, Mahoney, shortly before midnight, C.S.T., had 86,804 to 51,530 for Copeland; and in the republican race La Guardia had 20,137 to 10,348 for Copeland.

Interim Committee Orders Accounting Of Funds, Adjourns

DES MOINES, Sept. 16 (AP)—The legislative committee on retrenchment and reform adjourned a two-day session this afternoon after hearing a report on expenditures from the $500,000 emergency conservation fund and ordering an accounting of receipts and disbursements of the Greater Iowa commission.

The committee voted down a motion by Rep. Leroy Mercer (D) of Iowa City to appropriate $3,000 to the territorial centennial committee, and deferred action on a request of the state planning board for an appropriation of $1,000 a month to pay the administrative expense of WPA "white collar" projects.

General Johnson On Dictatorship

The nation is moving towards as rigid a dictatorship as there is on earth. So General Hugh S. Johnson, speaking in Chicago, warned his audience yesterday, asserting that the president "seeks the power to influence the decisions of the supreme court by appointing to it puppets of his own choosing—humbly Ku Klux wux hats from the forks in the creek like Senator Black."

Beyond a certain novelty of expression, General Johnson's speech contains little to commend. Yet such words, coming from a man who was once one of the president's staunchest supporters, must be accepted as being sincerely spoken, and therefore deserving of consideration.

Is the nation moving towards dictatorship? The general says that the appointment of Senator Black to the supreme court shows quite clearly the trend of our country's course. He advances the freshly killed court reorganization program to show us the direction in which Roosevelt wants to go.

He apparently forgets that the court plan met its death at the hands of a congress elected by the American people after an immeasurable amount of presidential pressure had been applied to force its passage.

Nor was the court plan presented by Roosevelt with any idea of dictatorship in mind. Mistakenly, perhaps, he thought that he was acting upon the wishes and the best interests of the American people.

It is unfortunate that the general should choose this time when the question of Black's eligibility to the supreme court needs the calmest of discussion to again cry the threat of dictatorship.

There is a school of thought in this country which declares "It can't happen here." General Johnson claims that it not only can, but will. We would rather stick to the group which says it can but probably won't.

I.O.U. Means More Taxation

IT WAS Capt. Liddel Hart of the United States army who last winter wrote, "The only thing we learn from history is that we never learn from history." Captain Hart is right.

Nations have condemned wars since the beginning of time, but we are still having them; we have had innumerable depressions before in the world's history, but they did not prevent the one from which we are just now emerging, and some economists say we are going into another this winter. We drifted into 1929 and its crash very easily. We disregarded signs and portents as plain as a range of mountains and went gaily through the speculative madness of the 1920's and into the disaster of the depression.

Now we are being foolish again. We are proceeding with the strange comedy of "recovery" on government credit. Ahead—unseen by most of us—are taxes and taxes and more taxes. No individual could be as careless of his spending as the government appears to be and still survive, but congress in its last session did nothing at all about the situation and has made no plans to take up the problem at the special session expected to be called this fall.

As economically conscious as some of us think ourselves to be, we actually believe that the entire tax burden should fall upon the rich. Editorials urging that the so-called "little fellow" be exempted from taxation appear daily in our newspapers.

But ask any true economist if such a thing is possible, and he will laugh at you. We can tax the rich men—those few that there are—as heavily as possible, and still the little man would have to bear the brunt of the tax load. That is a simple economic law.

Mr. Roosevelt has said many times, and many of us have believed him, that the burdens of relief are, for the most part, borne by the rich. To be sure during his administration the government has taken money in taxes from the rich and raised the rates in the upper brackets. And corporation taxes have been slightly increased, but no part of the billions paid out by the government for recovery and relief has come from these taxes.

The relief payments have all been made with money borrowed by the federal and state governments. The recovery expenditures of the federal government alone have amounted to about 20 billion dollars, and every cent of it has been borrowed. We still owe it, and the government still has to find the money to pay it some day and some way. The only way, of course, is by taxes.

Our present deficit, as has already been pointed out many times, is $37,000,000,000. It is not getting any smaller but is constantly increasing. If expenditures keep on as they are, by 1940 our government costs will be between $18,000,000,000 and $20,000,000,000. The prospect is appalling.

Some of us have been ignoring the situation—as have our predecessors. But an I.O.U. of the United States government must be paid just as surely as one of a private nature. It is time to stop fooling ourselves and demand action from congress and from the administration. This still being a democratic government, we should be able to get it.

An editorial complains children of today have nothing to look forward to. What about Christmas? PATIENTS WITH diabetes do not like to start taking insulin because (1) it looks like an endless thing and (2) because it requires a hypodermic injection. The idea that if you once start insulin you have to keep it up is only partly true. It is true that if the condition of the body requires it, the best thing is to continue, but it isn't true that if for some reason it has to be stopped, any serious result is likely to occur.

So far as the second objection (the use of a hypodermic) is concerned, it still holds, but in the new protamine insulin we have lessened the inconvenience because it can be given in one dose in the morning, and continues to work all through the 24 hours.

If the hesitant diabetic who needs insulin would just try it once, he would need no further argument. He doesn't realize how much better he will feel immediately. I know one patient who said she woke up the morning after her first shot of insulin and felt as if her body had been supplied with something it had needed for a long time. As, indeed, it had.

Dr. Elliott Joslin, an eminent diabetes expert, says: "A quite unanticipated benefit from the introduction and daily use of protamine insulin has been an alteration in the attitude of the diabetic patients toward their disease. Instead of being neglectful and indifferent, as they often were, to their tests, resisting efforts to keep them more nearly sugar free, they now watch their reports very closely and expect and demand that the physician produce his expected good results. This is a healthy sign. It certainly is desirable for us medical men to be challenged to improve our treatment."

Designed for Patients Protamine insulin is best designed for patients who have never used insulin, but really need it. For those who have been using regular insulin and have learned how to control the dosage, it is probably disadvantageous to switch to protamine insulin.

Age plays an important role in the degree of control of diabetes with protamine insulin, in that those above 40 years of age did better. The dividing line is 40. Protamine insulin is also superior to regular insulin in the treatment of underweight individuals who are not diabetic, according to work done at the Scripps Metabolic laboratory. It will be remembered that insulin was urged for this purpose several years ago.

A New Yorker At Large

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—At a recent ball game, won in the ninth inning with a dramatic home run with two on base, one of the spectators was so overcome that he tumbled out of his seat in a faint. A few minutes later he was dead.

The coroner said his death had resulted from a heart attack brought on by intense excitement but a doctor who knew him declined, privately, to accept this view. It was his theory that his friend had succumbed to what he called the "New York Rush." This, he insisted, was a malady peculiar to the island of Manhattan.

"My friend simply rushed himself to death," he told me. "I frequently warned him against this behavior, but he would not, or could not, listen. He arose at early hours, gulped hasty meals, leaped into subways, and, arriving at his office, attempted to do three days work in the space of one."

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Revolutions are coming so fast in Paraguay these times that the state department's Latin-American division admits itself puzzled as to who, from day to day, is the government at Asuncion.

The Paraguayans staged an overturning about a month ago which landed Dr. Felix Paiva in the presidential chair. President Paiva lasted 23 days. Just as the state department was getting acquainted with Paiva, there was another revolt and he was kicked out. Colonel Rafael Franco, a previous president, was proclaimed Paiva's successor.

Had Franco been on the spot he might have held the job for a while, but it happened that he was living in exile in Buenos Aires. He made for Asuncion by plane as fast as he could, but it was 24 hours after Paiva's elimination before he could get there. In the meantime there had been still another upheaval and Paiva was back in office.

Nothing remained for Franco but to climb aboard his plane again and streak it out under forced draft. Paraguay's latest revolutions are attributed to conflicts between rival elements in the Republic's army and navy.

SCREEN LIFE

By ROBBIN COONS HOLLYWOOD—Intimate report on the love life of a boy star, Mickey Rooney:

At 16, Mickey's affairs of the heart already are numerous. Some of the girl friends are film youngsters, like himself, but just as many are not. Strangely enough, they are all alike in one respect: none of the girls is more than five feet tall.

The reason? Well, Mickey himself is five feet two, and he can't bear to be seen with a girl taller than himself. He has almost despaired growing any taller, and it irks him. For a time he used to measure himself every day against a black chalk mark in the shower. But the only way he could move the mark up was to stand on tiptoe. Then he began affecting a military haircut that bristles in front. It makes him look an inch taller. The fact that it also makes him look as if he'd just escaped from reform school is beside the point.

Courting At School To be a Rooney "date" a girl must dance as well as be short. A Rooney "date" invariably means a high school or country club dance. His $10 a week allowance, out of which he buys his clothes, allows him about one date a week. His "gang" still considers too much dating sissy, but one a week is all right if you treat it in the offhand, man-of-the-world fashion. You may even be seen at an occasional premiere with a young lady, because it's the accepted thing, but otherwise you've got to go easy on this love stuff and prove you can take it or leave it. That's the code.

The schoolroom at Metro is somewhat limited as a juvenile matchmaker, for there are only two girls in the school anywhere near Mickey's age. They are Judy Garland, 14, and Betty Jaynes, 16. Judy used to be Jackie Cooper's steady, but since Jackie started attending Beverly Hills high school that romance seems to have wavered somewhat. In fact, it was Mickey who escorted Judy to the premiere of his "Captains Courageous."

Mickey, of course, is a very busy young man, and it's a wonder he has any time for girls at all. There are his song-writing, his orchestra, his bowling team and whatnot, and now that autumn is approaching the girls with designs on the Rooney heart are warned to make the most of their time now. In a few weeks he'll be giving them up entirely. Football practice gets under way any time now and with the Rooney "Blue Devils" getting into training, there'll be no women on the Rooney schedule until New Year's.

New Students Asked To Attend Special Vespers Next Sunday

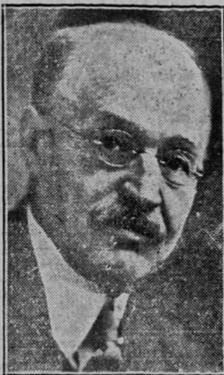

Parents Also Receive Invitations To Service

Some 700 new students and their parents have received invitations to attend the second annual special vespers service at the University of Iowa Sunday at 3:30 p.m. in the lounge of the fine arts building.

The invitations went to all new students whose home addresses are on file here, but several hundred others will be welcome even though it was not possible to issue invitations to them, Prof. William H. Morgan, adviser of the religious activities board, said.

Prof. Edward A. Steiner of Grinnell college has been appointed to address the vespers. It is a non-sectarian affair, designed to enable the new students to meet Iowa City ministers, faculty leaders and prominent upperclassmen.

Parents who have driven to Iowa City with their sons and daughters will have an opportunity to meet the leaders at the reception immediately after the vespers program.

University To Build $325,000 Structure On West Side

Bids for the $325,000 men's dormitory to be constructed on the west campus will be received Oct. 19 in the office of W. H. Cobb, university business manager, it was announced yesterday.

Plans for the three-story structure will be available in the office of Seth Temple of Davenport, the architect of the building, Oct. 5, Cobb said.

The site of the building, to be located on the west bluff on the Iowa river facing east in front of the northwest corner of the Quadrangle, is now being cleared. Construction will begin immediately after receiving bids Oct. 19 if the bids prove satisfactory.

The new dormitory will provide facilities for about 240 men.

Four Changes Made in S.U.I. Libraries Staff

Appointments Revealed By Director Grace Van Wormer

Four changes in the staff of University libraries, including the appointment of three new members, were announced yesterday by Grace Van Wormer, acting director of University libraries.

Henry E. Coleman Jr., who has been superintendent of the serials and exchange department in University libraries for the last year, has been appointed to serve as acting supervisor of departmental libraries.

He will take the place of Harold W. Hayden, who has been granted a one-year leave of absence to do advanced work in the University of Michigan library school.

Hart Gets Post
Coleman's former position will be taken by Eugene D. Hart, who has been serving as an assistant in the reference department of the University of Michigan libraries. He received a B.S.P. degree from Iowa State college, a B.A. degree from the University of Michigan, and an A.B. degree in L.S. from the University of Michigan.

Fern E. Young of Clarinda will serve as an assistant in the education library. She has been employed as a librarian at the Crystal Lake High school, Crystal Lake, Ill. She received a B.S. degree from Tarkio college, Tarkio, Mo., and a B.S. degree in L.S. from Western Reserve University school, Cleveland, Ohio.

Life of Jennie Shrader, Early Resident of City, Described in Latest Palimpsest

The life of Jennie Shrader, an early Iowa City resident, and her admiration for John Greenleaf Whittier, the Quaker poet, are described by Prof. Charles A. Hawley in an article in the September issue of the Palimpsest, publication of the Iowa State Historical society.

Professor Hawley, who last week announced his resignation from the school of religion faculty to accept a position in the College of the Ozarks, is the discoverer of many hitherto unknown facts about the great American poet.

Iowa City Host At Presbyterial Meeting Today

Representatives of 10 Counties To Attend All-Day Session

The first session of the all-day meeting of the Iowa City Presbyterial to take place here today will begin at 10 o'clock in the local church. Representatives will be present from Presbyterian churches of 10 surrounding counties.

The Presbyterial, the men's division which corresponds to the Presbyterial for women, will have its annual September state meeting Tuesday in Brooklyn. Iowa City will be represented by members of the local Presbyterian ministry.

Devotional Service

The attendance at the meeting of the Presbyterial will include one ruling elder from each of about 40 churches and Presbyterian ministers within the area, whether active or retired. About 80 representatives are expected.

At the Presbyterial meeting this morning, Mrs. C. S. Williams, 226 S. Lucas street, will lead the devotional service which will open the session. The period between 10 o'clock and 11:30 will be filled with conferences led by the secretaries of the various departments.

At 11:30 Mrs. Williams will present to the assembled delegates an address on "Stewardship."

After a noon luncheon in the church parlors, for which about 80 visitors and local members are expected, the afternoon session will begin.

Luncheon at Noon

The two principal speakers will be Dr. Myrtle Hinkhouse of China and Mrs. Francis White of Africa, who will deliver the missionary addresses. The conference will be closed with a final devotional led by Mrs. Bruce West of Cedar Rapids.

City High Gridders Play Decorah Tonight

Hawklets Open Football Card This Evening

Quarter Bill Buckley May Be Unable To Start Game

Featuring a passing game which will off-set a slow running attack, the Little Hawks of Iowa City high school will open the Iowa City football season here tonight at 7:45 when they take the field against the powerful grid machine of Decorah.

The Little Hawks, seeking a share of the state championship title, may have to start the game without the services of their star signal-caller, Bill Buckley. An injured shoulder may keep the elder Buckley out of the line-up, but Bob, his younger brother, will be ready to go in his place.

The Decorah game will be the first game of the season for the City high gridders and will open a nine-game schedule. Six of the games will be played on Shrader field. There will be no rest for the Little Hawks as there is no open date in their schedule. Following the Decorah game the locals will play host to Dubuque and Wilson high of Cedar Rapids on consecutive week ends. The following Friday night they journey to Clinton, then return to Shrader field for an encounter with Franklin high of Cedar Rapids. McKinley high of Cedar Rapids will be met on foreign soil followed by Marshalltown and Geneseo, Ill., here. The season's last game will be played with the Davenport Blue Devils at Davenport.

Probable starting line-up for the Little Hawks tonight: ends, Paul and McLaughlin, tackles, Jenkinson and Kerr, guards, Stimmel and Burger, center, Snider, backs, Justice and Parizek and Bob or Bill Buckley and Kimmel or Lewis.

OSIE HAS HIS WORK CUT OUT FOR HIM. SYRACUSE HAS HAD A NUMBER OF LEAN FOOTBALL YEARS THE ORANGE LOST SEVEN STRAIGHT GAMES IN 1936

Editor's note—The following column was assimilated and knocked together after the sports editor had spent three days of practice on the varsity football squad.

A sports column by a "has-been" who has been trying all evening to gain solace for his wounded pride and his hurts by reciting this little quotation—

"It is better to be a 'has-been' than a 'never-was.' Because a 'has-been' has been while a 'never-was' never was."

But while this is all very pretty and clever, the overwhelming voice keeps pressing forward, asking, "Oh yeah, but suppose that you're a 'never-was.' How are you going to alibi that one?" And that always has me because I don't know any little sayings eulogizing "never-were's."

With these morbid thoughts in mind I solemnly dedicate this column tonight to all "has-beens" and "never-were's"—let's stop a moment to ponder on these thoughts and recall our "has-been friends"—there. Feel better now? I thought so. (Sniff, sniff.)

It has been said by others less tactful than I that there is nothing more pitiful than seeing a man who doesn't know when to quit, be it sports, business, or bridge. (This even may be stretched to include sports editors who feel they MUST write columns.) I will go farther on that quitting statement and say that there is something more pitiful than seeing this man—it's being that man.

I will go on record for posterity as saying that nothing is more shocking to one's ego than to find that the old muscles can't take it any more. That saying, "The spirit is willing, but the flesh is weak," although a trifle out of place, perchance, in this type of writing, was strictly on the up-and-up. It is most disheartening to feel like jumping like a grasshopper, gambling like a lamb, running swift as a deer, and all the while knowing that all this is dead and gone. (Sniff, sniff.)

"Futility, futility, all is futility," sayeth the poet, and the trouble is that there is both truth and poetry in those five little words. Speaking of little words in this vein of thought, the hardest "three little words" I know that one can hear in any line of business, sports, or bridge are "You are through."

You don't believe it? I thought not. Well, listen here, did you ever hear your boss say, "You're through," your coach say, "You're through," or your doctor say, "You're through?" If you have you'll appreciate the solemnity of this momentous epistle, and if you haven't, just wait, you will.

I have let myself become carried away (quiet, please) by my thoughts; my self-sympathy has swept me off my feet (ouch), and my hurts and pride still pain me. Maybe you can sympathize with a "has-been." Why not have a party—all meet outside the Iowa stadium this afternoon at 4 o'clock, bring a couple of red bandana handkerchiefs and we'll all have a good cry.

P.S.: Please someone bring a bottle of liniment.

Giants Boost National League Lead to 3 1-2 Games As Melton Shuts Out Pirates

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 16 (AP)—The New York Giants boosted their National league lead to 3½ games today by blanking their favorite stogees, the Pirates, 3 to 0 behind the six-hit pitching of Rookie Cliff Melton.

The win, coupled with the Cubs' defeat at the hands of the Boston Bees, added a full game to the Giants' lead in the pennant parade.

Although Tobin was tagged for only nine hits, he was unable to get by the Giants when they were in position to produce runs. In the first inning, Jojo Moore, first up, walloped a three-bagger, his third of the current series. He scored a few moments later when Pop Young fumbled Jim Ripple's grounder.

'Goofy' Gomez Holds Indians To Three Blows

NEW YORK, Sept. 16 (AP)—Lefty Gomez breezed in with his 19th victory of the year today, a three-hit shutout that gave the Yankees an 8 to 0 victory over the Cleveland Indians and eliminated the Tribe from the pennant chase.

"El Goofy" gave up a single to Hal Trosky in the second, another to Bruce Campbell in the fifth and one to Frankie Pytlak in the eighth. Outside of that, he was on top all the way. He fanned seven, gave up only one walk, and allowed only one man to reach third.

The defeat made it mathematically impossible for the Tribe to take the pennant.

The game ended the season series between the two clubs, with the Yanks showing 15 victories to three defeats.

Pity the Poor Abused 'Rassler'

Promoter Ray Fabiani Laments the Excess of Wrestling Champions In World of Sports

By PAUL MICKELSON

NEW YORK, Sept. 16 (AP)—All is chaos along grunt and groan row. Everybody is in everybody else's hair. Rassling champs are as numerous as tax collectors. The struggle for promotional supremacy is jammed with laughs and busted pocketbooks. It's so bad one rassler almost got hanged in the quest for free publicity.

And topping all the upside business, in the candid opinion of Promoter Ray Fabiani, is the action of the National Wrestling association which named John Pesek, the old tiger man from Nebraska, world champ. Pesek, a young man of promise somewhere in his late fifties, maybe early sixties.

Greatest Laugh "I" said Fabiani, who used to wield a mean fiddle in grand opera, "have been in this business many years now but the action of the National Wrestling association gives me my greatest laugh. Why didn't they name some young fellow like George Hackenschmidt or Stanislaus Zyzbko? We've had enough young upstarts like Pesek in this business. By the way what is the National Wrestling association? Darned if I ever heard of it before."

Since the famed Jack Curley passed on, the scrap for wrestling supremacy has branched out with five big factions, I'm told.

The rivals, listed by Fiddler Fabiani who claims he doesn't want to fiddle while the rassling business burns up, are Toots Mont, New York and Philadelphia; Al Haft, Columbus, O.; Paul Bowser, Boston; Jack Pfefer,

New York, and now Jim Londos, who's in business for himself. A probable added starter is Curley's son, young Jack, who threatens to do big things.

Ernie Dusek Ernie Dusek, who does his rassling for Fabiani, is the one who almost got hanged as a publicity gag. They got Jack Dempsey to hold the loose end of the rope and Fabiani kicked the box from under Dusek's feet. It worked swell. Dusek's neck withstood the shock beautifully. But the trouble arose when Dempsey, holding the rope in his vise-like grip, became so interested in the dangling Dusek he forgot to let go.

"Why, Ernie almost lost his life," sighed Maestro Fabiani. "Imagine what a story: hanged by Jack Dempsey!"

The picture was a pip for everybody concerned except Max Waxman, press agent for Dempsey's restaurant. To his consternation, he noted the dangling Dusek's left hand had blotted Dempsey's face from the picture.

"We gotta do it over," demanded Waxman, "so we get Jack's face in full. Call Dusek."

"Jump in the lake," creaked Dusek. "You almost broke my neck the first time. I don't wanta get hanged even by a famous guy like Dempsey."

Another piece of disturbing news is the apparent "wash up" of the one and only Man Mountain Dean, who cleaned up a little nest egg of over $150,000 as a wrestler after the age of 40. Man Mountain still has his whiskers but his left leg was broken in a match against Sandor Szabo in California. Man Mountain is suing the promoter of the show, Lou Daro, for $100,000 on the charge Daro put Szabo up to breaking his leg.

"Sore at Me" "He was sore at me 'cause I always asked so much dough," Man Mountain told Fabiani, "so he got Szabo to break my leg to get rid of me."

We asked about Bronko Nagurski. Can't he make more dough as acknowledged rassling champ than as a player for Chicago's football Bears?

"Bronko Hasn't Quit" "He hasn't quit," said Fabiani. "He's so strong he can play football and wrestle at the same time. He's signed to wrestle in Philly, Oct. 8, and at New York, Oct. 11."

Strangler Lewis is on his way to India to wrestle the great Gama, magic hindoo who has never been beaten.

"Lewis can't win," confessed Fiddler Fabiani. "Gama wrestles once a year for the Maharajah of Patiala. For every match the Maharajah builds a new stadium. They wrestle on sand and as soon as one man is thrown off balance, why, the match is over. They never last more than a minute. Stanislaus Zyzbko once went over there. It took him two months to make the trip and Gama beat him in 52 seconds. The Strangler will do okay by himself though. He's getting $30,000 for the match."

"Once I tried to get Gama over here but quit negotiations as soon as he told me had had to have 15 servants. Sometimes I wish I was a promoter in India."

Fading Chicago Cubs Falter Before Boston, 7-0

Turner Hurls As Chicago Loses One Full Game

CHICAGO, Sept. 16 (AP)—The rapidly fading Chicago Cubs fell to their lowest position in the National league since May today as Jim Turner, one of Boston's young-old rookie stars, shut them out with seven hits as the Bees piled up 14 for a 7 to 0 victory.

The decision gave Turner his 18th win of the season, gave Boston the series, three games to one, and as the pace-setting New York Giants defeated Pittsburgh, put Chicago three and one-half games behind the league leaders with only 17 games to play.

Harry Kelley Hurls and Bats A's to Victory

Philadelphia Hurler In Fine Form; Holds Browns to 6 Hits

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 16 (AP)—Showing the form that enabled him to win 15 games last year, Harry Kelley pitched and batted the Athletics to a 4 to 3 victory over the St. Louis Browns today. Kelley held the visitors to six hits and would have had a shut-out but for an error by Newsome in the third that paved the way for three unearned runs.

After home runs by Wally Moses and Frankie Hayes had tied the score, Kelley doubled Yount home with the winning run in the seventh.

Negro Fighter Wins Technical K.O. in Fourth

NEW YORK, Sept. 16 (AP)—Henry Armstrong, sensational Los Angeles Negro featherweight, continued his sweep through the east tonight with a four-round knockout of Johnny Defoe of New York before 19,000 customers in Madison Square Garden. Armstrong weighed 132½ and Defoe, 127½.

Billed as a 10 rounder, the fight was stopped by Referee Johnny McAvey after 1:12 of the fourth just as a badly beaten Defoe staggered to his feet after his sixth knockout.

The New Yorker was bleeding from a cut over the right eye and Bloomington, Ind., Sept. 16 (AP)—Coach Bo McMillin produced his own "new faces of 1937" today in Indiana university's football practice. In kick-off and place-kicking drill McMillin brought Bob Stevenson, a sophomore, into action to compete with George Miller, center, who did that work last year.

The Hoosier mentor also sent his linemen through a blocking and tackling drill and schooled the entire team on timing of plays. James Logan, Richmond, Ind., sophomore, alternated with the veteran John Olmstead as the "fifth man" in the Indiana backfield.

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Sept. 16 (AP)—Purdue university's football squad passed up scrimmage today for the first time since last Saturday. Drilled on fundamentals and then turned to punting and place kicking.

Cody Isbell, an outstanding punter, injured his leg. He was believed to have pulled a tendon. A light scrimmage is set for tomorrow and an intra-squad game for Saturday.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Sept. 16 (AP)—The University of Michigan's offense underwent scrutiny by Coach Harry Kipke in two long drills today. The athletes appeared listless from two scrimmages held earlier in the week.

A search for a place kicker was started, with Danny Smith and Paul Nelson showing promise. The annual intra-squad scrimmage will be held Saturday.

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 16 (AP)—Ohio State university's football varsity, functioning in better than expected fashion, scored a 27 to 0 victory over the reserves in a practice game today.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Sept. 16 (AP)—Minor injuries kept six Illinois gridgers on the sidelines today and gave Coach Bob Zuppke a chance to look over newcomers to his first two teams.

Clearly was in no shape to further withstand the rapid-fire two-fisted assault of Al Johnson's protege. Armstrong's pile driving rights and left sent Defoe crashing to the canvas three times in the second heat, twice in the third and once in the abbreviated fourth.

The second was a nightmare for the grizzly Defoe. Armstrong cut the New Yorker's eye early in the round. Defoe's number went up then and there. A moment later a right caught him on the ear and he took a nine count

Christmas is celebrated in Spain on January 6, which is known as the Feast of the Three Kings.

$2,032 Tax Met By Johnson County People

Auto Buyers Assessed Under Terms Of New Law

Johnson county residents purchasing automobiles during August, paid $2,032 as a 2 per cent use tax. The tax is paid to the county treasurer whenever an Iowan purchases a car in this state or any other.

The act went into effect in April. Since then the use tax has collected $591,963. During August, Iowans paid $121,321 on the tax.

The Johnson county use tax receipts rank it 12th in the state. Counties collecting a greater amount are Black Hawk, Cerro Gordo, Clinton, Dubuque, Linn, Marshall, Polk, Pottawattamie, Scott, Webster and Woodbury.

'Johnny' To Make Appearances In Iowa City Today

Johnny Philip Morris, call-boy who is heard on a national radio hookup twice weekly, will arrive in Iowa City today at 3 o'clock for several appearances.

Thousands of radio-listeners have heard his "Call for Philip Morris" on the air. Johnny is a 26-year-old midget. Driving the foreign model of an American car will be his chauffeur.

Johnny will stop at Racines No. 1 at 3 p.m. before going to Whetstone's No. 1, Racine's No. 3, Old Capitol and Iowa Union.

His appearances here have been arranged by G. E. Higgins, Davenport representative of a cigaret firm.

judge in the Virgin islands, asked the high court on Aug. 18 for permission to file a petition demanding Black snow cause why he should be permitted to serve as an associate justice. Levitt resigned from the justice department in July after incurring his superiors' displeasure by opposing appointment of Lawrence W. Cramer as governor of the islands.

Johnson Sounds Warning
In Chicago, Hugh S. Johnson of NRA fame warned an audience the nation is moving toward "as rigid a dictatorship as there is on earth" and asserted the president "seeks the power to influence the decisions of the supreme court by appointing to it a majority of puppets of his own choosing—hillbilly Ku Klux wool hats from the forks in the creek like Senator Black."

Fish's veiled attack on other members of congress was made in a statement in which he said responsibility for Black's appointment "rests squarely with the president."

"I am inclined to believe," the New Yorker added, "that if a thorough investigation was made a number of prominent democratic leaders in congress from southern states would be found on the Klan payroll or affiliated with that organization."

More talk of possible impeachment of Black came from Representative O'Neill (D-NJ) who said in Newark, N. J., that he was one of the congressmen canvassed by Chairman O'Connor (D-NY) of the powerful house rules committee as to their attitude toward such action.

Telegram
O'Neill said he had telegraphed O'Connor:

"If Mr. Justice Black was a member of the Klan when nominated and confirmed his silence constituted a moral fraud upon the American people."

"Should he further refuse to explain his present relation with that order or refuse to repudiate its principles and purposes, I anticipate the president of the United States will request his resignation. Should Justice Black refuse, I would vote to impeach him."

Sen. George L. Radcliffe, Maryland democrat, joined the growing list of senators asserting they would not have voted to confirm Black's appointment had they known he was a member of the Klan.

An ardent new dealer and personal friend of the president, Radcliffe asserted that anyone joining an organization as "obnoxious" as the Klan would be "unfit to sit on the supreme bench of the United States."

Black Takes Oath
Meanwhile, Charles E. Corpley, clerk of the supreme court, disclosed Black had taken a dual oath of office on Aug. 19, thereby complying with the legal requirements for membership of the court.

In addition to a simple oath to uphold the constitution, Corpley said Black had subscribed to a printed justice department form containing one pledging impartial administration of justice.

If it's true that they are still attempting to split the atom, the logical thing to do, it would seem to me, would be to turn it over to those fellows who slice the fillings for those drug-store sandwiches.

Religion, too, it seems, must go the way when there is war about. In Japan they are urging the people to sacrifice everything to support the events going on in China. . . . One of the first things to go was Osaka's Temple of Humanity, which has been melted down to make scrap iron for new warships.

Bruce Bliven in a recent New Republic has the best definition of conversation I know. "The world of conversationalists, in my experience, is divided into two classes," Bliven writes. . . . "There are those who listen to what the other person has to say and those who use the interval to plan their next remark." . . . Most everyone I know falls in the latter category.

One of the most exciting personal libraries I know belongs to the campus family which writes, on the flyleaf of the books they have just finished, exactly what the person thinks about it—any way. . . . The idea, they say, comes from Ian Malcolm's "The Pursuits of Literature," an essay worth perusing if you don't know it.

It's really dangerous to make predictions about young people. The leaders while young may turn out to be day laborers, and the class shirker may become president. . . . A high school principal in a small Ohio town told a smart alec he was firing that he would never amount to a hill of beans. . . . The fellow was Odd McIntyre.

Minors
And a local tavern has an illuminating sign: "No Minors Under 21 Allowed," it points out.

PUNNY: That 37 billion dollar national debt is still rising. . . . It probably would have suggested to Poor Richard that a penny saved is a penny spurned by public officials.

And a campusite who has just returned from Europe and Russia tells me those tales about there being no tipping in Russia are communistic propaganda. . . . Seems he found more tipping there than in any other country of the continent.

Seems doormen, waiters, porters, checkroom attendants, chambermaids, barbers and manicurists all expect a little palm-greasing. . . . Newly arrived tour-

Merchants Already Making Plans For Christmas Trade

A mile-long parade, to remind Iowa Citizens of the approaching Christmas holidays, has been arranged by the retail merchants' division of the Iowa City Chamber of Commerce.

Plans call for the event to take place Dec. 3 in the business district. Fifteen floats will be entered, and numerous costumed persons will wear grotesque oversize headpieces.

At the parade's conclusion, the marchers will separate and station themselves throughout the business district.

It is expected that Iowa City school pupils will be excused from classes to see the parade and that rural school-children will also be allowed to attend.

Portable cathedral chimes and from two to four marching bands will provide holiday music, and reindeer, eskimo dogs and other animals will lend a wintry touch.

At a meeting of the retail merchants' division yesterday, it was planned to raise funds to decorate Iowa City streets for Homecoming, Dad's day and Christmas. They planned to canvass the city for funds for the project this week.

ing from Germany concerning the rights of nazis abroad.

Without referring to Germany by name, Borah referred to a "high official of a foreign government" and declared that official had said "emissaries from his country coming here to preach their doctrine must be protected by our government, that they must enjoy, as it were, immunity in their efforts to sow the seeds of religious intolerance, race hatred, and arbitrary power among us."

Borah declared these emissaries will have liberty of expression, but if they break the law

'Debate' on Air

By the Associated Press

Addresses of President Roosevelt and Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) in their constitution "debate" will be broadcast.

All networks will carry the president's speech beginning at 8:30 (CST) tonight.

WEAF-NBC will broadcast an address of Senator Vandenberg at noon today and CBS will broadcast his speech tomorrow night at 8:45.

they will be put on trial "not in the puppet courts of their homeland, but in independent courts."

Referring again to the need for untrammelled courts, Borah said:

"There is no such thing as security for the masses or protection for minority groups, political, racial, or religious, never has been, and in the nature of things never can be, under any form of government save government where the people through their representatives make the laws and uncontrolled courts construe them."

In behalf of the theory that "personal liberty has become incompatible with economic security," it is argued, he said, that:

"The things to be done are so big, so vast, that they must be done by the government and the citizen must yield up all discretion, all judgment, together with most of his ancient privileges and his personal liberty."

"If that is true," Borah continued, "we began wrong 150 years ago. If that is true, Washington and Jefferson were wrong and Mussolini and Hitler are right. This theory would write 'lie' across the face of the Declaration of Independence and 'obsolete' across the federal constitution."

"But the theory itself is false, and has been proven to be false by all human experience. Personal liberty, the discretion and judgment of the citizens, are not incompatible with, but are essential factors in economic security."

BISMARCK HOTEL CHICAGO

15th Place Goes To Local Store In Liquor Sales

August sales amounting to $9,434 at the Iowa City state liquor store placed it 15th in Iowa liquor sales. There are 154 stores in the state.

The August total here was less than the July amount of $9,745 when Iowa City ranked 14th in the state.

The stores that consistently sell more liquor than Iowa City are Des Moines, Davenport, Mason City, Council Bluffs, Sioux City, Ft. Dodge, Ottumwa, Waterloo, Cedar Rapids, Burlington, Clinton, Dubuque, East Des Moines and East Waterloo.

Independence hall in Philadelphia is open daily to the public without charge.

County Groups Will Consider Integrated Bar Plan Tuesday

The Johnson county bar association will consider endorsement of the proposed integrated Iowa bar Tuesday night when it holds a joint meeting with members of the Iowa county bar association at Marengo.

Approximately 40 members of the Johnson county association will attend the meeting in the Marengo Country club. During the afternoon, prior to the discussion, they will play golf.

The proposed state integrated bar association would serve as a self-governing unit to penalize unethical practices and to prevent unauthorized practices of law in the state also. The organization would operate under state supreme court supervision.

If the bar associations approve the plan Tuesday night, as members of the eighth judicial district, they will present a resolution to the state supreme court stating that they are in favor of the proposed association.
