Members of all dormitories, sororities and fraternities will mingle with townspeople in a mass demonstration of loyalty to the Hawkeyes as they leave for Cedar Rapids, the first leg of the trip to Washington.
All day today, earnest workers will gather boxes in an attempt to make this bonfire the biggest and brightest in Iowa history.
Members of the squad, coaches and prominent alumni will be asked to give informal talks.

***
Old Iowa field, on the east bank of the Iowa river between Iowa avenue and Burlington street, the scene of many thrilling victories for Iowa in the past, will serve as the setting for the noisy mob which will be showing its loyalty to this year's Hawks tonight.
The squad will entrain from the Interurban depot, south east of Iowa field, at 8 o'clock. Festivities are scheduled to get underway at 7:15.

***
Prof. Charles B. Righter has consented to permit all members of the football band who pass their trials before 5 o'clock this afternoon to play for the celebration. No uniforms will be worn, but all are requested to bring music.
Iowa football spirit has been rising by leaps and bounds; let's all get out there tonight at 7:15 and show the boys we're behind them.

G. O. P. May Have National Meeting in '38

Hamilton Sees Terrific Battle for Congress Positions

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21, (AP)—The prospects of a republican national convention in advance of next year's congressional election apparently increased today when Chairman John Hamilton disclosed he had suggested such a course several months ago.

The idea, not announced at that time, was brought into widespread prominence several weeks ago by former President Hoover.

After a conference with republican leaders from a number of large cities, Hamilton told reporters that at the last meeting of the party's national executive committee he appointed a committee to look into the possibilities.

Produces Files
He went to the office files and produced the minutes of the executive committee meeting, March 30, for the inspection of correspondents.

Hamilton explained that he was reserving judgment on the advisability of such a convention until the national committee meets in November, when, he added, it will "certainly be discussed."

The "convention," he said, would "have no legal status under the laws of the party but it could be given a semi-authoritative status."

He said he had received resolutions from several large republican groups favoring such a meeting.

The party leaders who met with Hamilton canvassed the trends of the political situation and predicted a big turnover in next year's congressional elections.

Hamilton, himself, forecast "the most intensive congressional campaign in the history of the party." After receiving reports from the conferees he said:

"The districts that are not dominated by big cities are perfectly splendid and a favorable change in the industrial districts is indicated. There will be a substantial increase in the republican membership in the house."

Lundy Defends Iowa Coal For University Use

DES MOINES, Sept. 21, (AP)—"Why kill the goose that laid the golden egg?" inquired Hugh Lundy of Albia, secretary of the Iowa coal institute, in a defense of Iowa coal prices addressed today to the state board of education.

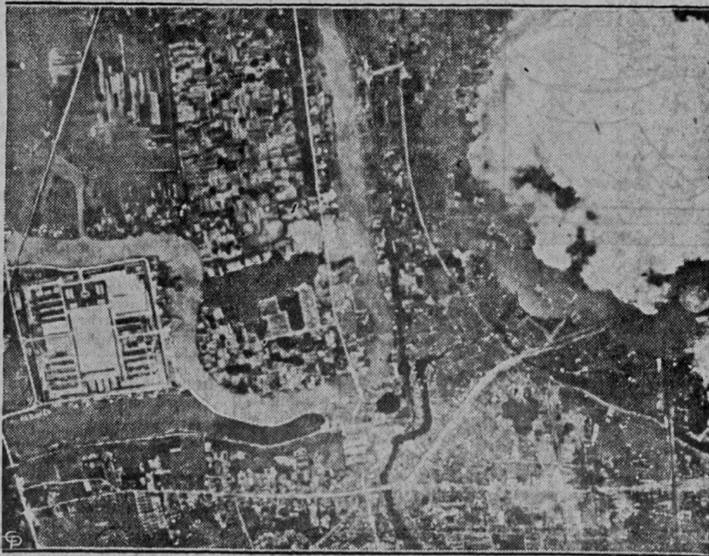

Lundy replied to Gov. Nelson G. Kraschel's assertion last week that the recent Iowa coal preference law will cost the State University of Iowa $42,000 this year.

The governor said bids submitted by Western Illinois firms on a season's supply at the university were $42,000 lower than quotations on Iowa coal.

If quotations on Iowa coal were higher than Illinois prices, it was because Iowa coal producers, in fixing their prices, tried to meet what they thought would be the recommendations of the bituminous coal commission, Lundy said.

"There should be no question about buying Iowa coal for the state university or other institutions under supervision of the state board. Iowa money should be kept at home," Lundy declared.

Self Defense To Be Garris' Plea

Three Brothers Charged With Murder Of Denhardt

SHELBYVILLE, Ky., Sept. 21 (AP)—A self defense plea, it was indicated tonight, will be made by Jack, Roy and Dr. E. S. Garr, charged with the murder of Brig. Gen. Henry H. Denhardt on the eve of the lawyer-soldier-politician's second trial for the slaying of their widowed sister, Mrs. Verna Garr Taylor, his fiancée.

"Men don't kill each other for nothing" was the terse reply of J. Ballard Clark of La Grange, their attorney, to questions concerning reports the Garrs planned such a plea.

"Reached for Pocket"
Patrolman Jephtha Tracey, to whom the brothers surrendered a few moments after seven bullets cut down General Denhardt on Shelbyville's main street last night, said they had indicated as much then.

"They said that before any shots were fired they saw General Denhardt reach for his pocket and they thought he was reaching for a gun," the officer said.

The brothers were formally charged with murder today in warrants sworn to by County Attorney Coleman Wright. Arraignment was set for Friday morning and the Garrs remained in the Shelby county jail. Clark said no effort would be made to provide bond until tomorrow.

Dismisses Charge
Circuit Judge Charles C. Marshall, who presided over General Denhardt's first trial last April, formally granted a commonwealth request at nearby New Castle, to dismiss the murder charge against the former lieutenant-governor and former head of the Kentucky national guard. The second trial was scheduled to open today.

Hunt for Yacht Proves Futile

Hope Still Lingers For Missing British Sloop

BOSTON, Sept. 21, (AP)—Four coast guard cutters turned homeward tonight from a fruitless search for Endeavour I, but in the waterfront gathering places of mariners hope still lingered that the big British racing sloop remained afloat off the beaten path, far out in the Atlantic.

No word has been heard from Frederic Sigrist's sloop since it parted from its convoy, the motor yacht Viva, in a terrific gale 200 miles east of Nantucket a week ago last midnight.

Coast guard craft have scoured several thousand square miles of rolling north Atlantic without success.

Double watches have been set on the bridges of the big trans-Atlantic "ferries" without a sign of the missing sloop reported.

Many have lost hope that Endeavour I ever will be seen again. But veteran mariners have faith in Capt. Ned Heard, skipper of Endeavour's crew of 20.

The coast guard searched the north Atlantic from a point 450 miles east of Boston to Sable island, off Nova Scotia.

Kerosene Used To Extinguish Blaze

GREENVILLE, Ala., Sept. 21, (AP)—Kerosene was used to fight fire here today.

When a blaze erupted in nine cotton bales threatened 1,000 other bales stored in a warehouse, Claude Baisden, Greenville water-works manager, called for kerosene. The fluid was used to extinguish fire in the bales as they were removed from the warehouse.

Cotton men explained water cannot penetrate to smoldering fire inside a cotton bale, while kerosene, which will not ignite if its fumes do not mix with oxygen, is effective.

Britain Warns Japan Against Nanking Raid

Holds Her Responsible For Any Damages In Capital

London, Sept. 21 (AP)—Great Britain warned Japan today that she would be held responsible for any damage to British persons or property in Nanking, despite Japanese advice to foreigners to flee the Chinese capital.

(Previously, both British and French naval officers in the far east had declined to heed Japanese naval warnings to remove their warships and nationals to safety from threatened Japanese air raids.)

One Crisis Eased
The diplomatic warning was handed to the Japanese government at Tokyo by Sir Robert Leslie Craigie, newly-appointed British ambassador to Japan, almost at the same time that strained Anglo-Japanese relations over the shooting of Sir Hugh Montgomery Knatchbull-Hugesson, British ambassador to China, appeared solved.

The Japanese, it was disclosed, handed Sir Robert their final answer to British demands for satisfaction and redress for the shooting of Sir Hugh.

The answer, informed sources said, was satisfactory but will not be published immediately. It followed by 15 days an earlier "interim reply" that failed to satisfy Great Britain and came 23 days after Britain's first protest was delivered.

Given Maps
Until now, the British government has refused to inform Japanese of the movement of British diplomats, as Japan had requested after the ambassador to China was shot. British officials now have given the Japanese maps indicating the location of British property and residences in Nanking.

Japanese naval authorities have warned that large-scale air raids will be launched against the seat of the Chinese government and have urged foreign governments to remove their nationals.

Find Clues to 'Ghost Ship'

Lake Wreckage May Solve Mystery of Vessel La Salle Lost in 1679

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 21 (AP)—Discovery of clues that may track the "ghost ship of the Great Lakes" to its watery grave after 250 years was reported tonight by a diver back from a private expedition to Lake Huron.

Eugene Kinney, 16, told of the discovery on the shore of Manitoulin island of wreckage believed to be the keel of the Explorer de La Salle's ill-fated ship, Griffin.

The Griffin sailed away on a Great Lakes voyage late in the 17th century and was never heard from.

Kinney, in spite of his youth, did the underwater exploration for the expedition, headed by his uncle, Eugene F. McDonald, Chicago industrialist.

"Uncle Gene has spent six years searching for the hull of the Griffin, but this is the first time he has found any definite traces," Kinney said.

"We found old timbers and these contained spikes which have been established by experts as unquestionably very old and of European manufacture."

The Griffin was built and launched in the upper Niagara river, near Lake Erie. A sample of the wreckage has been turned over to experts who will attempt to establish whether the wood is the same as that which grows along the Niagara, Kinney said.

The Griffin, a vessel of 45 tons, was launched in 1679 by de La Salle who sailed in it across Lakes Erie, Huron and Michigan.

La Salle was not aboard, however, when the Griffin made its last voyage.

Supreme Court Weighs Fate Of Youth Doomed for Iowa Killing

Refuses To Interfere With Death Verdict Against Second

DES MOINES, Sept. 21 (AP)—The Iowa supreme court tonight again had the life of Allen Wheaton in its hands as it pondered the plea of the youthful "death row" occupant for commutation of his sentence to life imprisonment.

Arguments lasted but 15 minutes on the youth's appeal for a re-hearing.

Wheaton, who will not be 21 until next Sunday, was sentenced to die Sept. 10 for the holdup slaying of Henry Plummer, Council Bluffs filling station attendant, in June, 1936.

Automatic Stay
The execution was stayed automatically by the petition for a re-hearing after the supreme court last June affirmed the death sentence. Wheaton now is in the state penitentiary at Ft. Madison.

P. C. Rasmussen, defense attorney, argued today that the trial court failed to give consideration to the testimony of Wheaton's mother, a Rapid City, S. D., widow, that her son fell from a swing when a child and injured his head.

The supreme court is expected to rule on the case in a few days.

Heinz Plea Denied
The court today refused to interfere with the death sentence decreed for another convicted killer, Marlo Heinz, 29, of Dubuque. Heinz was convicted of slaying his 6-year-old nephew, David Fox.

The lad was found lying in a creek near his home.

"The jury found him guilty of heartless cruel murder after he descended to the lowest depth of human depravity," Justice Carl B. Stiger's opinion stated. "We find no error in the record and no reason for interfering with the verdict."

Ida May Zornes, 15, missing Marshalltown girl, is entitled to $1,313 she found in glass jars under a bedroom closet, the court ruled. R. J. Bowen, the widower son-in-law of the previous owners of the residence, filed suit to recover the money and appealed to the supreme court after district court had found for the girl.

Mrs. Findley Loses
In another decision the court ruled against Mrs. Grace Findley's contention that she is entitled to at least a third of $200,000 in cash and securities given by the late Park A. Findley, former Iowa bureau of investigation chief, to his sister and mother two months before his death.

Mrs. Findley married the former state official 10 days before his death in June, 1935. The court refused to set aside the gift.

Long-Expected Raid on China's Capital Begins

Score of Americans In City During Raid Of Hour and Half

By C. YATES McDANIEL
NANKING, Sept. 22 (Wednesday) (AP)—Japanese air raiders launched their threatened attack to annihilate Nanking today and bombed the Chinese capital for an hour and a half.

The Japanese bombers swooped over the capital at 10:35 a.m. and the "all clear" was not sounded until noon.

For almost 24 hours this city of 1,000,000 Chinese had been waiting in tense anxiety for the heralded approach of the war planes.

Few Americans There
Only a score of Americans remained in the city proper. The United States embassy staff had been removed to floating quarters aboard the patrol boat Luzon in the Yangtze and other United States citizens had fled up river aboard merchant ships.

The bombardment was terrific. The blasts from the deadly bombs mingled with the sharp bark of anti-aircraft guns emblazoned on the hills about the city.

Embassy Staff Flees
Johnson had transferred his staff to the Luzon Monday night, heeding a Japanese warning that after noon yesterday Japan would not be responsible for foreigners who remain inside the city.

Righteous Taxpayer Fools Police, Pays Own Way to Jail!

AKRON, Ohio, Sept. 21 (AP)—"I'm drunk and I wanna go to jail."

"Sorry," replied Radio Dispatcher E. L. Engelhart who received that plea on the telephone at police headquarters last night, "we're only looking for bandits tonight."

A few minutes later the phone rang again.

"Listen here," the voice said again. "I'm a taxpayer an' if I wanna go to jail I'm entitled to go to jail. Send me a cruiser."

"If you want to come to jail," said Engelhart, "you'll have to take a taxi. All our cruisers are busy."

A few more minutes passed. A taxicab rolled up to the station and the righteous taxpayer lurching in to be booked.

Legion Spectacle Breaks All Records

NEW YORK, Sept. 22 (Wednesday)—(AP)—All records for convention parades were left behind as the American Legion continued into today the colorful procession it started up Fifth avenue early yesterday morning.

For more than 16 hours the veterans, brightly uniformed, with bands playing and colors flying, marched past the reviewing stand where national leaders received the salutes of state delegations from every part of the nation—and delegates from foreign countries.

Retrace Old Route
The former soldiers followed a route they took as members of a conquering army nearly two decades before.

Hours behind schedule, the last of the units making up the 200,000 marchers formed in lower Manhattan for their 26-block walk up the historic old avenue

One Fatality

NEW YORK, Sept. 21 (AP)—One child was killed and nearly 200 persons were injured today as crowds estimated by Legion officials at more than 2,000,000 persons jammed Fifth avenue for the annual parade of the American Legion.

Maj. A. R. Splint of the 102nd medical regiment which established three field hospitals along the line of march, said the casualty list was "remarkably small."

and a little weary, these marching men, and they seemed far from that 1917 time of mud and mesdemoiselles and destiny and death now 20 years ago.

Reminders
All along the 56 blocks of march there were reminders over and over again of men who will march no more on this or any other street—who died on the soil of a little vestpocket country across three thousand miles of sea.

Marching, too, were the youngsters of Legionnaires, lads stepping smartly along to the greatest crash of martial music that ever rolled across this city.

The old memories of the greatest war ever to ravage mankind were stirred again—but these men marched for peace. There were many things in this parade in no way military. There were signs and other visible reminders of the industrial progress of this community and that, and the 200,000 swung along mostly with the gravely considered tread of solid citizens, pillars of the community—in ten thousand cities and towns that they are.

Cannons Boom
The ranks of marching men were broken now and again with the mock locomotives of the Legion's "Forty and Eight," their small cannon thunderously splitting out wadding down the avenue.

The crowds who came out to see the greatest display in half a generation of the power and the glory of a republic so choked midtown New York for blocks away from the actual parade area, that it took—by direct experiment—45 minutes to move up-town 13 blocks, two streets away from Fifth avenue.

The avenue itself, echoing to the slow low-contained roar of

To Avoid War—Build for Peace

"IN TIME of peace prepare for war" has for many years been a slogan well known to military-minded governments. Unlike most slogans its precepts have been exceptionally well followed.

Now with an undeclared war going on in the Orient, a revolution in Spain, strained relations among the nations of Europe, the world is strenuously seeking ways by which it can avoid the war for which it has prepared. Anti-piracy and non-intervention patrols in the Mediterranean, and League of Nations appeals to warring countries can be but temporary devices to ease the international situation. They make only for an uncertain continuation of a fragile peace.

The best, perhaps the only way by which the world can assure itself of a permanent peace has been pointed out time and again by Secretary of State Cordell Hull. In an international broadcast Sunday he emphasized his ideas once more, saying "Through economic interchange and cooperation the opportunity is presented for all nations to live a satisfactory and improving type of life. . . Through enlarged trade there can come an equilibrium of peaceful interest more stable than the equilibrium of matched cannon and airplanes."

This enlarged trade that Hull regards as so vital to world peace has from the first been one of the primary aims of the Roosevelt administration. That other nations are coming to recognize its importance is shown by speeches in the same broadcast Sunday in which Anthony Eden of Great Britain and statesmen from five other nations reiterated Hull's statements. Their words boil down to this—"Let us have freedom of trade and we shall have peace." The mechanics by which the world may obtain this freedom of trade are well known, although little practiced. They include reciprocal trade agreements, customs unions, lowered tariff barriers, stabilized currency, and adequate provision for credit and financing.

By these methods we may avoid the economic pressures which drive nations to war. We may thus construct a permanent peace.

When a Great Man Dies

NEAR PRAGUE last week a man died whose passing the world little noted but will long remember. He had been called the most brilliant living man. He was a scientist, a philosopher, a statesman and an empire-builder. His name was Thomas Garrigue Masaryk, the founder and first president of the Czechoslovakian Republic.

Masaryk was the kind of man all too rare in any country. The son of a coachman, he worked his way through the Universities of Vienna and Leipzig, earning a Ph.D. in 1876. After a long and distinguished career as a teacher and a political philosopher, he founded his own political party and was elected to the Austro-Hungarian Diet in 1907. He was still in that group when the World War inflamed all Europe.

When the World War began, Masaryk, alone of all Europe's statesmen, realized that the world-wide conflict would cause the collapse of some old countries and create new ones. He then began the rallying of his people to the cause of a national Czechoslovakia and won the allies to that philosophy. When the war ended, Masaryk's country was born, and it is now a definite part of the European picture.

When Masaryk was buried yesterday there was little stir in a Europe once more ready to plunge into what may be another far-flung conflict. The world's statesmen made little mention of Masaryk's death, but in Czechoslovakia the day before his burial, peasant men, women and children by the tens of thousands crowded each other attempting to get a last glimpse of their beloved leader.

Masaryk was much loved and much respected by the people of his country, but he was little interested in material rewards. After serving as president of the Czechoslovakian republic until 1935, he resigned because of failing health.

The grateful Czechs immediately voted him a private fortune, but Masaryk, retiring to his country home to write books of philosophy, gave the money to a fund for cancer study. Such an example of unselfish-devotion to a cause might well be studied by more of the world's political leaders.

A news story says ex-Kaiser Wilhelm now possesses a fortune worth more than $75,000,000. Just as we suspected all along, it must have been two other fellows who lost the war.

An inventor has created a device which shaves the fuzz off peaches. Now all we need is a mechanism which will give a haircut to coconuts and civilization will be complete.

SHIVA TEMPLE

Verne, Wells, Conan Doyle—how many writers have not written of a lost world, a place isolated by geological forces, a place where life moves on in forgotten ways, its representatives theoretically extinct? Yet here come Dr. Harold E. Anthony and his associates of the American museum of Natural History's expedition to Shiva Temple, otherwise known as the "Island in the Sky," with the elements of just such a tale, and a modern touch of water and food to be dropped from airplanes on the camp of thirsty and hungry explorers.

The "island" has been separated from the surrounding rims of the Grand Canyon these 12,000 or 35,000 years. Back the mind drifts to Darwin and his voyage in the Beagle. It was when he set foot on Chatham Island, in the Galapagos, and there beheld creatures which were utterly different from those on the mainland and which had adapted themselves to their little world, that the truth of evolution first flashed upon him. Has nature played another such trick in Arizona and created an island on dry land where creatures of the dead past live and tell the story of adaptation to environment in bones, fur, tooth and claw?

Doubts arise. Thirty-five thousand years is scarcely a second in the ticking of the cosmic clock—too brief a time for evolution to work even if we allow for sudden, slight mutations. If the Island in the Sky were cut off during the last Ice Age—incidentally an ice age which has not yet come to an end and which therefore belongs to our own era—it seems highly improbable that its fauna should have evolved types radically different from those of near-by regions. In other words, there seems little hope of finding creatures that were extinguished elsewhere in North America because they were unable to survive in the struggle for existence.

These doubts are fortified by the evidence that deer have reached the waterless summit and left it in ways that cannot yet be inferred. And lastly, there is the fact that both National Park Service rangers and members of the expedition had little difficulty in scaling the peak. The reconnaissance made by the rangers with binoculars and motor trucks that took them almost to the base of the sandstone declivity proved to be correct. Rather than rob a scientific expedition of the honor of first setting foot on a mesa never before visited by man, the rangers stepped aside with the characteristic chivalry of forest and plain. Even the predicted potholes where water might accumulate on the slopes were found. It seems doubtful, then, if life on the Island in the Sky can be very different from what it is on neighboring elevations. Besides, animals have a way of crawling, wriggling, leaping and penetrating into fastnesses that defy man.

Yet this expedition was well worth the thought, effort and money that it cost. Though it is not likely that the story of the Galapagos will be repeated in a new form, it is not improbable that the animals which Dr. Anthony hopes to trap will depart slightly from their relatives only a hundred miles away. And these departures may well throw more light on the mystery of evolution.

Anti-Retentional Diets Aid In Stopping Headaches, Dizziness

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

Anti-retentional diets are designed to eliminate retained water from the system. As developed by Dr. Eugene Foides of New York, they are high in protein, and comparatively low in the water holding food elements, carbohydrates and fats.

Of the diseases in which water retention is a probable factor, the convulsive states, such as epilepsy, are prominent, but we will not consider that group here because the discussion would become too technical.

Sick headache or periodical headache is a common illness to which many people are subject. We need not go into the nature of the condition at present, except to say it comes on in attacks. Between the attacks the patient is in perfect health. We know little about the mechanism of these attacks, but they may be due to water retention with swelling of the brain and stretching of the brain covering. Dietetic treatment with anti-retentional therapy has helped some cases.

Meniere's disease consists of dizziness associated with nausea and vomiting, which comes on in sudden paroxysms and may have the same mechanism. The seat of the trouble is undoubtedly in the organ of equilibrium, the labyrinth in the ear. Dr. Walter Dandy has said that "until the advent of sectioning the auditory nerve there

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS. HOLLYWOOD—Bing Crosby, the big corporation president, has as handsome offices as you'll find in Hollywood, but there's one thing missing: a desk for Bing.

The name on the office door isn't Bing's either. It's Everett Crosby's, his brother. "Everett Crosby, Ltd.," the letters announce.

Everett is one of Bing's older brothers, and he is the fellow who says "No" when Bing says "How about this one?"

Four years ago Bing was a dance band vocalist trying to get along. He asked Everett to manage him. Everett took on the job on one condition: that Bing should incorporate himself.

And so Bing became president and sole stock holder. Everett became vice-president, and their attorney became secretary-treasurer. But now there are four officers. Bing's father, H. L. Crosby Sr., has a desk now. He's treasurer.

Everett's The "No-Man" "All of Bing's money," says

Tuning In with Lenore DeVries. Scientific contributions to the endless battle against crime will be dramatically presented by Phillips H. Lord during the "crusade against crime" program, "Gang Busters," tonight from 8 to 8:30.

Ordinarily "Gang Busters" re-enacts the activities of some notorious criminal but Lord wants to bring to the attention of the radio audience cases showing the futility of even the most carefully planned crimes when science is drawn into the solution of a case.

Three popular bandleaders are holding regular college alumni meetings in Hollywood hotel grills these days. Hal Kemp, Jan Garber and Johnny Trotter, all now in the cinema city, claim the University of North Carolina as their alma mater.

Tongue-wagging "Saymore Saymore," known in private life and the films as Helen Troy, has been "typed" as a telephone comedienne for the last 10 years, both on radio and the screen, and there doesn't seem to be much she can do about it. Every time a call comes from an air-wave casting director or the studios, the part designated for Miss Troy is that of a "hello" girl.

The final climax to this series of telephonic efforts came when she was selected by Eddie Cantor as a telephone comedian, and Cantor launched a nationwide contest for a new name. The result is history.

Roosevelt Declines Further Comment on Black Klan Charges

President Says PWA Program Now Complete

Advises Reporters Not To Link Politics With Trip

By D. HAROLD OLIVER
HYDE PARK, N. Y., Sept. 21 (AP) — President Roosevelt, on the eve of his departure for a two-weeks' tour of the west, told reporters today there was nothing he could add to his non-committal statement of last week concerning charges that Associate Justice Hugo L. Black is affiliated with the Ku Klux Klan.

Meanwhile, official sources let it be known that Black, returning from a European vacation, had not communicated with the president since publication of the charges. At a press conference late in the day, the president announced the wind-up of allocations under the new public works program and said this meant the end of PWA. He also admonished newsmen not to attribute politics to his visiting certain cities in the west and steering clear of others, and said he might make a fireside radio talk on future public works policy before congress meets.

Cites Previous Statement

The Black incident was revived when the president was asked about a report that a relative of the former Alabama senator had said the new justice had communicated with the White House on the subject of the current controversy. The president thereupon cited his statement of last Tuesday and declined to amplify it. In that statement he said Black evidently had not had an opportunity to read all the serial stories alleging Klan affiliation and that no comment would be made until the Alabamian returned from Europe.

The president also told last week's press conference he had no knowledge of any Klan membership when he appointed Black. Switching to his west coast trip, starting from here tomorrow at 3 p.m., central standard time, the chief executive warned reporters today not to guess his reasons for going to this and that city and passing up others.

Not Political
He said he had not given up visiting Nebraska for political reasons and while he had wanted to see some of that state's projects he could not include it in the already crammed itinerary because it would have added another day. The presidential special will pass through Nebraska Thursday night. This is the home state of Senator Burke, a leading democratic foe of the president's buried supreme court enlargement plan.

Mr. Roosevelt also said he would have liked to include, Butte, Mont., (home of Senator Wheeler, another democratic court bill opposition chieftain), in his scheduled stops, but that also would have added another day and he couldn't work it in.

Mother To Return
He said he might end the trip here instead of Washington and added that if he did it would not be for political reasons but to see his mother, who returns from Europe the day before, Oct. 5.

Asked about the reaction to his Constitution day speech in Washington, in which he assailed dictators and appealed for liberal interpretation of the constitution to achieve economic betterments, the president said he had received an amazing number of letters and telegrams.

He added he had received no advice regarding reactions in countries ruled by dictators.

Trouble on All Sides

Gladys Standon

While Gladys Standon, young mother of Ontario, Cal., was in juvenile detention home for failing to heed a traffic violation, a bitter storm over custody of her 17-month-old baby raged outside. Police jailed the child-bride's mother for allegedly falsifying her daughter's age so she could marry. Meanwhile, the baby's father was in jail on a drunk charge conviction. It was alleged that the mother was wed at 12.

Black at Last Finds Haven On Returning Ship

ABOARD THE S. S. CITY OF NORFOLK, Sept. 21 (AP)—This small ship, bound for Baltimore, Md., afforded Supreme Court Justice Hugo L. Black tonight the privacy he has demanded since the question of Ku Klux Klan affiliation was raised a month ago.

The City of Norfolk, which the associate justice and his wife boarded quietly at Southampton at the last minute, will give him an eight-day respite from the questions of reporters, whose colleagues will be waiting for him in the United States.

Refuses Comment
In London, he steadfastly refused to comment on reports he is a life member of the hooded Klan and on attacks made against him by Senators Royal S. Copeland (D-NY) and David I. Walsh (D-Mass.), both of whom raised the Klan issue.

Mr. Justice Black secluded himself in his hotel room there and asked that visitors and telephone messages be kept from reaching him. Aboard ship also, he asked officers to assure his privacy.

So far, the newly appointed associate justice has issued only one statement since the Klan issue was raised, charging "press persecution."

Changes Plans
He had wandered freely through London sightseeing until yesterday when, apparently he abruptly changed his plans and sailed for home, cancelling previous reservations aboard the United States liner Manhattan.

The change was made after the Manhattan reservations had become known. Mr. Justice Black and Mrs. Black sped from London to Southampton by automobile yesterday just in time to board the Norfolk.

Radio Program Is Popular in Barnyard

UNIFORM HAND SIGNALS

The new Motor Vehicle Law makes hand signals uniform and compulsory. The law says that no person shall turn a vehicle from a direct course upon a highway without giving an appropriate signal in the manner provided. The Law also requires the signal to be given continuously for not less than 100 feet. It is also against the Law to slacken speed or stop without giving the proper hand signal. Vehicles from which a hand signal would not be clearly visible to a following vehicle must be equipped with a signal lamp or device approved by the Motor Vehicle Department. Get the signalling habit, advises the Iowa State Safety Council.

The Senator From Arkansas Bakes Cookies By the Hundred

By SIGRID ARNE
AP Feature Service Writer
WASHINGTON—They do say forest, with a baby squirrel. He established the infant in a two-room cage. The squirrel caught on immediately. He cracks nuts and eats them in one room, does all his sleeping in the other.

When morning sunshine hits his cage he rushes into his bedroom and scatters his couch of shredded bark—presumably to air it.

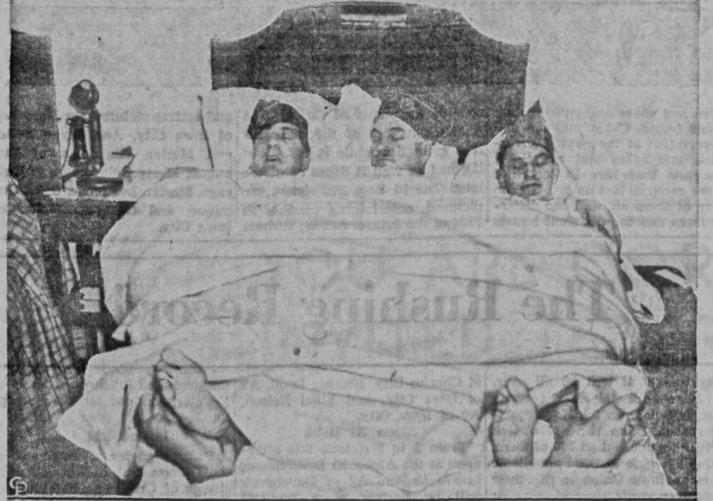

A Washington restaurant owner years ago started decorating the walls of his place with autographed pictures of famous men who ate there. Now the walls are covered from table-top to ceiling. The collection has become so valuable that the owner now insures most of them for $500, and some for $1,000.

J. Edgar Hoover's G-men couldn't believe their eyes when their boss received this note: "Dear Mr. Hoover: For a few days after the coming Christmas I plan to spend a few days in New York. Would you let me have one of your worthy G-men to escort me for one or two evenings, considering, of course, that I will pay for all expenses incurred, and be delighted to give you the best references any young woman, descended from a long line of interesting colonial ancestors can give?"

The hotel doesn't attempt to explain this one. It's about the lady who takes home highball glasses. She drops in every day at five for Scotch-and-soda. She's always alone. Never talks to anyone. Always takes just one too many. Always leaves a 50-cent tip, and always walks out with her empty glass in her purse. That is, she used to take the glass.

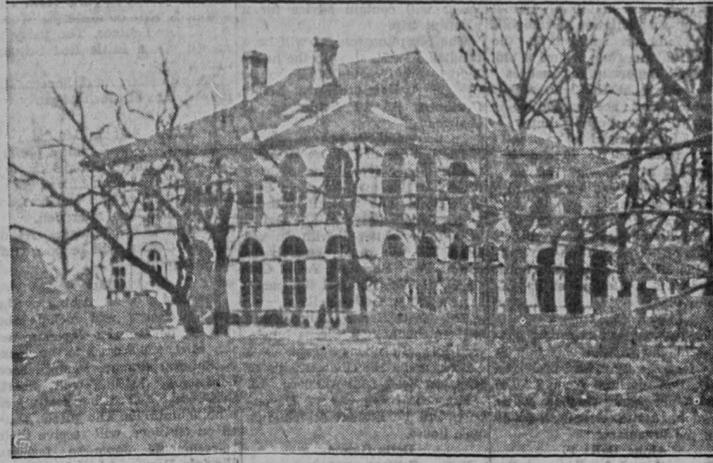

One night the manager of the cocktail lounge stepped up to her and whispered, "Pardon, madam. Our glass." She snapped open her purse, looked surprised and exclaimed, "Fancy that!" She handed the glass back. Now it goes on like that. She always takes the glass, and always hands it back with a surprised, "Fancy that!"

Attend the Pep Meeting Tonight

Practice Makes Perfect

Tea and cakes and conversation at one house. Cakes and tea and conversation at the next. Conversation and cakes and tea. So it goes, and there are 13 sororities on the campus. But no girl tries to party at them all, and the different faces and the different houses provide for plenty of variety. The unanimous vote of the 200 calls it a great life while it lasts—but it's just as well it doesn't last too long. The Pi Beta Phi sisters are pictured, entertaining possible Pi Phis of the future. Among rushees and actives pictured are Mary Lee of Iowa City, Ann Jayne Beiler and Marian Kintzinger of Dubuque, Marty Belle Baum of Chicago, Marian Loetscher, C4 of Dubuque, and Georgene Keller of Iowa City.

The Rushing Record

By tonight it will be all over. At 10 o'clock the last sorority door will close on the last departing rushee. From 10 to 11 o'clock all rushees, more than 200 of them, will congregate at the Panhellenic office in Iowa Union to file their preference cards.

Tomorrow by 8 a. m. sororities will have handed their lists of bids to the referee, and the long day of waiting will begin. At 4 p. m. the pledge lists will be announced.

The 8 to 10 o'clock parties tonight are the climax of formal rushing. An invitation to tonight's party indicates interest in the rushee but does not insure a bid. It is important for rushees to appear at the houses to which they are invited tonight. It is especially important for each girl to be present from 9:30 to 10 o'clock tonight at the house of her choice, indicating her interest in the group.

Rushees will receive their special invitations to the evening's parties by 7 o'clock from the Panhellenic office. Each sorority must turn in the invitations at the office by 6:15.

Alpha Chi Omega
Besides tonight's reception, Alpha Chi Omega will entertain at breakfast, the Lyre Bird preferred party, this morning from 8:30 to 10:30. Mary Agnes Goodell, A2 of Corydon, rushing captain, is planning the breakfast.

Alpha Delta Pi
The preferred luncheon at the Alpha Delta Pi house is scheduled for 11 to 1 o'clock today. Ruth Mullenburg, A4 of Rolla, Mo., and Carolyn Coe, A4 of Springfield, Ill., are in charge.

of Charles City, Eleanor Droll, A2 of Iowa City, and Ethel Nelson, A4 of Iowa City.

Alpha Xi Delta
From 1 to 3 o'clock this afternoon at the Alpha Xi Delta house, Lucile Mullen, A2 of Davenport, will be hostess at a nautical luncheon, the preferred party. The party will be a Bon Voyage to rushees setting out on the sea of college life.

On the tables will be the Alpha Xi Delta ship and Alpha Xi light-houses. At each place a paper Life Saver will contain advice for a pleasant trip.

The reception tonight will be a candlelight formal, with the house lighted only by candles and music by the Avalon orchestra. Mabel Gottburg, A3 of Schleswig, is chairman.

Chi Omega
The last day of Chi Omega rushing will begin with a southern breakfast this morning from 9 to 11 o'clock. The typical southern waffles and sausage will be served at a table centered with an old Dixie mansion made entirely of cotton. Jean Horowitz, A2 of Oak Park, Ill., has planned the party.

The Delta Delta Delta house will entertain at a Circus luncheon this afternoon from 1 to 3 o'clock, under the chairmanship of Florence Scott, A4 of Peoria, Ill.

Mary Stoelting, A4 of Davenport, will be hostess at tonight's open house.

Delta Gamma
Delta Gamma sorority's two parties today are in charge of Maureen Munger, A4 of Cedar Rapids, and Ruth Bohannon, A4 of Clinton. Maxine Baxter, A4 of Ft. Madison, is general rushing captain.

The chapter will entertain at the preferred luncheon from 11 to 1 o'clock and at tonight's reception.

Gamma Phi Beta
Today's preferred luncheon at the Gamma Phi Beta house is in charge of Gretchen Patzig, A4 of Des Moines, and is scheduled for 1 to 3 o'clock.

Kathryn Rehder, A3 of Blalbrook, will welcome rushees at the sorority reception tonight.

Kappa Alpha Theta
Hostess at the Kappa Alpha Theater preferred party from 4 to 6 o'clock will be Kathryn Wood, A2 of Des Moines. The party is named "In a Little Red Schoolhouse."

Mary Coulter, A4 of Seneca, Ill., is in charge of the final party tonight.

Kappa Kappa Gamma
Kappa Kappa Gamma's preferred party, the Fleur-de-Lis tea, is in charge of Jean Moore, A4 of Washington, Ia., and will be from 3:30 to 5:30 this afternoon.

Tonight Eleanor Rogers, A4 of Grundy Center, will be hostess at the reception.

Pi Mu
The last day of rushing at the Pi Mu house will include the evening party and a Japanese tea this afternoon from 2 to 4 o'clock. A Pi Mu alumna, Mrs. C. Esco Obermann, 1310 Yewell street, will pour tea, from her seat under a huge umbrella. The guests, seated on cushions, will receive their refreshments Japanese fashion.

Virginia Bosma, A4 of Vicksburg, Miss., is chairman.

Pi Beta Phi
Guests arriving at the Pi Beta Phi house today will open the door on an exhibit of surrealist art. On the walls will hang portraits representing the activities of 12 chapter members, the product of active Pi Phi imaginations.

In charge of the preferred tea from 1:30 to 3:30 are Jane Louise Leary, A4 of Omaha, Neb., Frances Zoeckler, A4 of Davenport, and Shirley Briggs, A2 of Iowa City. Guests will be welcomed at the door by Edith Leahy, A3 of Ft. Washington, N. Y., Mary Jamieson, A2 of Des Moines, and Betty Tripp, A3 of Mapleton.

Hostesses at the door at the party this evening will be Miss Zoeckler, Miss Leary, Miss Leahy, Miss Jamieson and Sally Fortune, A4 of Bloomfield. The committee includes Helen Anderson, A4 of Canton, S. D., and Mary Catherine Devlin, A4 of Clinton.

Sigma Delta Tau
Sigma Delta Tau members will be hostesses at a Gypsy tea today from 2 to 4 o'clock. Rushees will be entertained by a fortune teller in a candlelight room decorated with stars and crescents and the traditional crystal ball. Ice cream will be served from a huge, square block of ice, Isabel Greenberg, A3 of Algona, has planned the party.

The sorority will entertain at its preferred party tonight, a candlelight formal.

Zeta Tau Alpha
Two parties besides the evening reception are on the Zeta Tau Alpha schedule today. There will be a Mammy breakfast from 9 to 11 o'clock. An Aunt Jemima scheme will decorate the rooms and ta-

Will You Have Lemon or Sugar?

A Powder Puff tea differential-ed the party at the Alpha Chi Omega house from all the other teas on the campus yesterday afternoon. A Powder Puff tea may be unique, but the puffs themselves are a common occurrence in the three packed days when every rushee and every active must be svelte and groomed and smart every minute of the crowded hours. Among the guests and hostesses in the picture are Marian Danver, G of Davenport, Sally Larson of Onawa, Florence Fryer, A3 of Villisca, Isabel Wagner of Adair and Helen Qualheim of Denison.

The committee in charge includes Jane Ballard, A4 of Waterloo, chairman, Jean Wilson, A4 of Iowa City, and Barbara Lillick and Betty Holt, both A3 of Iowa City.

The freshmen will hear explanations of athletics at Iowa and a demonstration of the Iowa cheers by Cheer Leaders Arthur Rideout, A3 of Dubuque; Frank Brandon, A2 of Philadelphia, Pa.; Robert Reuben, A3 of Ft. FREMONT, O. (AP) — A cow on Mrs. Josiah Smith's farm near here is mothering five orphan lambs. Mrs. Smith said she was tired of feeding the lambs from a bottle, so put them with the cow as an experiment. The cow now shows a genuine affection for her "adopted" brood, and gets a warm greeting from them when she is driven into the barnyard each night.

It's an old southern custom, and it's rapidly becoming an old Iowa custom to the rushees, who have been dinner guests so often in the last few days. But this Southern dinner at the Phi Mu house is something special. It's the preferred party and a very festive occasion to both actives and rushees. At the table are Mrs. E. R. ## W. O. Douglas, Law Professor, To Head SEC

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21 (AP) — William Orville Douglas, 38-year-old law professor, became chairman of the securities and exchange commission tonight.

His election transformed into the official "watch dog of Wall street" a sandy-haired teacher who bummed his way on a freight train from the Pacific coast to New York just 15 years ago.

Douglas was selected for the chairmanship suddenly by his associates while he was away on a vacation. They did not even know where to send him the word.

Landis Resigns

Although he generally had been expected to get the post eventually, no action had been considered likely until President Roosevelt named a new commission member to succeed Chairman James M. Landis, who resigned last week to become dean of the Harvard law school.

The election gives the commission leadership to a man with a career strikingly like that of his predecessor. Both were born of poor missionary parents. Both worked their way through college. Both came to the commission from law school professorships and were looked at askance by professional market operators. And both reached power in the middle thirties, Landis having become chairman at 36.

Associates immediately indicated Douglas' leadership will assure vigorous use of the commission's powers to regulate the sale of securities and dealings on national securities exchanges. His strongly-worded criticisms of lawyers and bankers in reports to congress and in speeches have given a preview of his ideas about finance.

Birds Get Blame For Wrong Number

ELGIN, Ill., (AP) — The telephone girls have a new alibi for giving wrong numbers—it's the birds.

They said blackbirds and sparrows set up such a din in a tree outside the exchange that they (the girls, of course) could not hear the numbers correctly.

Ordinary shooting methods failed, so city firemen installed an auto horn in the tree and sounded it at intervals day and night until the birds got tired of it and moved away.

Hawks Entrain This Evening For Invasion of Washington U.'s Football Stadium This Saturday

Pep Meeting Will Send Hopeful Hawkeyes Off To Seattle, Wash.

By JOHN MOONEY Daily Iowan Sports Editor

Thirty three men, the pride of the Hawkeye state, will leave Iowa City at 8 o'clock this evening for Cedar Rapids to board the streamliner, "City of Portland," for the trip to Seattle, Wash.

Making his first plunge into big time football, Coach Irl Tubbs named six ends, six tackles, six guards, three centers, and 12 backs.

Washington, reputedly every bit as strong as last year when the Huskies won the Pacific coast title, will be the opening game on the Iowans' eight-game schedule.

The following men were named to make the trip:

Ends—Capt. Homer Harris, Bob Lannon, Erwin Prasse, Dick Evans, Fred Smith and Rubert Haight.

Tackles—Henry Leubcke, Floyd DeHeer, Frank Gallagher, Charles Irvine, Don Ludeman, Carl Conrad.

Guards—Charles Brady, Shipley Farroh, Robert Herman, Carl Vergamini, Wilbur Nead, and Robert Allen.

Centers—Dick Anderson, Fred Lindenmeyer, and Chester Poluga.

Backs—Nile Kinnick, Bush Lamb, Jack Eicherly, Ed McLean, Russell Busk, Floyd Dean, Bill Kelly, William Gallagher, Al Schenk, Frank Balazs, Glenn Olson, and Lawrence Benetone.

Accompanying the players will be Coaches Irl Tubbs, Pat Boland, and Ernie Nevers; Athletic Director E. G. Schroeder; Dr. Arthur L. Blome, medical supervisor; Bill Frey, trainer; Elwyn Shain, equipment manager; Charles Galher, business manager; and N. C. Louis, photographer.

Both practices yesterday stressed defense against the tricky Notre Dame type of offense used by Washington, with the regulars stopping the "tourists" on every occasion.

A huge pep meeting, scheduled for Old Iowa field at 7:15 this evening, will give the boys a send-off and another pep meeting is planned for Cedar Rapids.

BITS about SPORTS by JOHN MOONEY

In a story in this week's "Saturday Evening Post," Frances Wallace has an article, "Pigskin Previews," which has some pretty good football "dope."

Incidentally, Wallace picks the Midwest teams to finish in this order: Minnesota, Notre Dame, Purdue, Northwestern, Nebraska, Indiana, Wisconsin, Missouri, Michigan, Illinois, Michigan State, Iowa, Marquette, Chicago, Oklahoma Aggies, Creighton, Tulsa and Drake.

Which sounds like a lot of prune juice to yours truly.

Minnesota will be the class of the Big Ten, Notre Dame will be strong, so will Purdue and Northwestern. With those I will agree, but from then on... not I.

Here's the way they look to this sports writer: Minnesota, Notre Dame, Northwestern, Purdue, Nebraska, Iowa, Wisconsin, Indiana, Missouri, Michigan, Illinois, Drake, Michigan State, Creighton, Marquette, Chicago, Oklahoma Aggies and Tulsa.

Tonight at 7:15, the LOYAL football followers of S. U. I. will gather at Old Iowa field to cheer the Hawkeyes on to victory. It is expected that the largest crowd ever to witness a celebration for an out-of-town game will be present.

Let's all turn out for the pep meeting. After all, if they win they're OUR Hawkeyes; why not get a jump on everyone and cheer them before they win?

And here's the daily prediction—Iowa Will Beat Washington, 13-7.

Radio Station WHO in Des Moines will carry a telegraphic play-by-play account of the Iowa-Washington game, starting at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Folks having pastebore boxes they do not need may have them removed by calling The Daily Iowan sports editor or Arthur Rideout at the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity house.

As long as we have gone out on the limb this far, we might as well predict that Iowa will not be shut out in a football game this season.

Takers for those nominal bets which we mentioned the other night (that Iowa wouldn't get beat by more than 13 points Saturday) have been rather slow in forming the line. So far only two SUCKERS.

Let's dust off those old horns and bells and give the boys a send off that will keep them pepped up until after the game Saturday. Let's show them that the slogan, "Iowa Fights," applies to us sideliners too.

'Gabby' Hartnett Cops Slugging Honors as Rampaging Bruins Cut Deficit to Mere 1-2 Games

By WILLIAM WEEKES

CHICAGO, Sept. 21 (AP)—Gabby Hartnett's big bat, the roaring weapon in a thrilling 7 to 5 triumph for the desperate Cubs, blasted a full game off the battling New York Giants' margin today in the blazing National league pennant struggle.

A lot of other Cubs joined in to achieve victory in the first game of the three-game series which may settle the 1937 race, but it was Hartnett who was the difference between victory and defeat in a bit of baseball drama presented before 34,807 alternately jubilant and despairing fans.

He lashed out three hits, a triple, double and single, and every blow was vital, in the triumph which left the Giants with an edge of one and one-half games over the home forces.

First Blow: Hartnett's first heroic gesture, a steaming triple to the wall of the new bleachers in centerfield, appeared at the time, to be all that was necessary to conquer the league-leaders, but he had to come back twice to clinch the decision as the Giants rallied to tie the score.

With the aid of a slight attack of the jitters on the part of the Giants, the Cubs let go with a four run blast in the first inning. Stan Hack was safe when Dick Bartell muffed his grounder, and went to second when Billy Herman singled to left. Frank Demaree beat out an infield hit to Mel Ott at third base to load the bases and arrange the setting for Hartnett's first act. He crashed one of Harry Gumbert's pitches between Jimmy Ripple and Wally Berger and before the latter retrieved the ball, three runs scored and Hartnett stood puffing on third. He scored a moment later on Phil Cavarretta's single to right.

Southpaw Larry French, seeking his 15th pitching victory of the season and his third over the Giants, appeared to have everything under control after escaping serious damage in the first two innings. The Giants nicked him for a run in the second on a single by Johnny McCarthy and Harry Danning's triple to the center field bricks, but that was offset in the fifth when Hartnett singled and coasted in with the Cubs' fifth run ahead of Ripper Collins' three-base smash to the favored center field sector.

French did not permit a Giant to reach first base in the third and fourth innings, but disaster almost caught up with him in the fifth. Singles by Gumbert, Joe Moore and Bartell loaded the bases with two men out, but the southpaw star hauled himself out of trouble by fanning Ott on three pitches.

It was not so fortunate in the sixth, however, for after getting the first two men French was nicked for a double by McCarthy, and the Giants' second run resulted when Danning smashed a single off Collins' shin.

French had a sensational diving stop of Moore's hard grounder at the start of the seventh to get one man out of the way, but before Charley Root could be sent to the rescue, the Giants, set afire by Bartell's double to center, crashed out four more hits to tie the score and send French away. Bartell scored on Ott's single to right. Berger followed with another single, and Ott scored on Ripple's one-base sock to center. McCarthy popped out to Herman but Danning's third hit, another drive which handuffed Collins, scored Berger. Root came in and retired Burgess Whitehead on another pop to Herman.

After Ken O'Dea who batted for Root in the eighth, fled out, Stan Hack doubled off Dick Coffman, who replaced Gumbert at the start of the Cubs' sixth, and scored on Herman's triple. Hartnett put on the clincher by slamming his double against the left field wall, sending Herman home.

Root was credited with the victory, for his one and one-third inning of work. Coffman who gave way to southpaw Al Smith after the damage was done in the Cub eighth, was the loser.

The defeat left the Giants one and one-half games ahead of the Cubs with 15 games left to play. The Cubs have 12 more. The clubs agreed to start the third and final game of the set on Thursday at 2 p.m. (CST) to avoid the possibility of darkness overtaking the contest with the score tied.

Boston Splits Twin Bill With Detroit Tigers

BOSTON, Sept. 21 (AP)—Boston's erratic Red Sox today split a double-header with the Detroit Tigers, pushing across 10 runs in the fifth inning to capture the opener, 12 to 7, and dropping the nightcap, 4 to 1.

Paced by Ben Chapman's homer with the bases loaded, Boston landed on "Boots" Poffenberger and George Coffman for 12 hits in the first to offset some heavy artillery fire by the Tigers.

Extra base blows brought all of the Tigers' runs in the second game as George Gill set the Sox down with eight hits, well separated.

Table with columns: DETROIT, AB, R, H, PO, A, E. Lists player statistics for both teams.

GOOSE EGGS Boston's stinging beats have been shut out 16 times to date to lead both leagues in that baseball misery but their pitchers got full revenge by blanking the enemy 15 games even though they didn't lay a single goose egg until Lou Fette shut out Pittsburgh 6-0, on June 3.

Down The Sports Trail

By PAUL MICKELSON NEW YORK, Sept. 21 (AP)—A baseball doubleheader in cold, tell-tale figures from the loose pages of our big notebook where the activities of the game's goats and heroes are chronicled day by day.

IF... Every manager crows and cries over one-run defeats or victories and they are justified. They tell the big difference between good and bad ball clubs.

Leading the National league for the best winning average in such close call thrillers are the pennant headed New York Giants who have won 25 out of 40 one-run contests. Most celebrated victim of the league is Cincinnati.

No wonder the harassed managers over-work the word "if" more than any other in the king's language.

Marketing Group Plans Huge Banquet To Fete 4-H Members

500 Will Dine Upon Half-Ton Beef Champion

Time and Location of Celebration Still Undecided

A gigantic banquet, to be attended by 500 persons feting Johnson County 4-H club members, was planned last night at a meeting of the Johnson County Livestock Marketing association.

Iowa City will be host to the celebrants, the association decided, but the location of the feast has not yet been named.

Three Iowa Citizens were appointed to determine the supper-spot. They are Will Frybil, Carl Hastings and E. L. Hegg. They were named as a committee-of-three by the association.

The tickets, which will be sold for the banquet, will raise funds to benefit the Johnson County 4-H club.

The banquet will be during the coming winter in 1938, the association decided.

The Livestock Marketing association purchased a half-ton baby beef which will be served during the proposed banquet. The association purchased the ribbon-winner at the Johnson County 4-H club show here last month.

Board Selects Legal Helpers

Takes No Action On Special School Election

Meeting last night in an executive session, the city school board appointed the Iowa City law firm of Dutcher, Ries and Dutcher to handle the legal angles of a school bond election and construction of Iowa City's proposed $725,000 high school building.

The board's procedure in naming attorneys is entirely a routine matter, Dr. George Marsh, board president, said last night.

No action was taken by the board last night in regard to the special election which would bond $398,750 to add to the Aug. 19 PWA allotment of $326,250 for the school building.

P. F. Hopkins, state director of PWA, has not yet notified the board that the amount has been granted, and no local action can be taken until the formal notification is made.

The school board has notified Hopkins that it will not act regarding a special election until official notice of the grant has been received.

On Trial Again

Once more the long arm of the law seeks to convict Green Allen Brooks of murder following the capture of the St. Charles, Va., merchant last spring in Texas where he had attempted to conceal his identity by growing a beard and using the alias of the Rev. J. H. Jones. In May Brooks was acquitted of slaying County Deputy Bob Bailey two years ago. Now he has gone on trial for the slaying of Deputy Arch Redmond. Brooks was charged with shooting the two officers when they tried to arrest a brother-in-law,

AROUND THE TOWN

with MERLE MILLET

Clothes
At Iowa clothes do not necessarily make the man, but they do the college. . . Those derbied chaps you see are subtly suggesting they are senior dents. . . And the cane-carriers are law seniors adding professional dignity. . . The be-mustached chaps may be senior meds—although an occasional brave chap from another college may neglect his upper lip. . .

Hand-shakes are firmer this fall, I find. . . So many of us have been reading Dale Carnegie. . . But no one yet has been able to tell what happens when two Carnegites meet. . . The fellow who wrote that brush-that-chip-off-your-shoulder volume advises listening, not talking. If too many readers get together there is, they say, a strange, though friendly, silence. . .

Advice For Freshmen: It's better not to tell the plot of "Gone With the Wind" to those unfortunates among us who haven't. . . At times this writer gets a rather shaky feeling when he remembers he hasn't yet perused the magnum opus. . . But then I remember I never got around to "Anthony Adverse" or Carnegie either and that thought always makes me feel cheery again. . .

It's just one of those stories. . . But you may not have heard about the local bachelor boss who asked his secretary, "What are you doing tonight?" . . . "Nothing," she smiled. . . "Fine," he cracked. "Then maybe you can be to work on time in the morning."

And a Washington scientist declares love is electricity. . . Those Reno vacations must mean, then, that an A.C. male married a D.C. bride. . .

One of the smartest campaigns I've heard about comes from Pennsylvania where they are cracking down on the slow drivers as well as the fast ones. . . The slogan is "Not less than 30, more than 50."

This is the age of squandering. . . Why some nations that can't even afford peace are talking about war these days. . .

Wasn't it Harpo Marx who suggested that idyllic remedy for indigestion sufferers—spaghetti stuffed with bicarbonate of soda. . . So that you could cause and cure indigestion at the same time. . .

Secretary of State Cordell Hull sees no danger of a European war. . . Meanwhile, however, the Japanese system of peace is in danger of being generally adopted. . .

There's a purely personal attitude about the Sino-Japanese situation. . . It's no fun being an undeclared war hero. . .

And a historian has just announced that there have been 3,100 wars in 3,300 years. . . And, of course, all of the peace treaties concluding each war have been violated. . .

And, they tell me, Iowa in the Indian tongue means "Sleeping Ones" . . . And all Longfellow readers know that Minnesota is "The Land of the Sky Blue Water"—and football teams. . .

And some smart chap in Washington may some day agree that it would be a grand idea to have at least one post office booth open at night. . . As newcomers will soon discover there's nothing quite so difficult as finding a postage stamp after midnight. . .

Find Two Guilty On Speed Charges

Two drivers were found guilty of speeding, in police court yesterday. George Durin was fined $5 and costs and Harold Sears was fined $12 and costs for exceeding the speed limit. Sears was also found guilty of driving without a license.

Overtime parking cost G. K. Griffin and B. R. Wilkinson $1 each. Jim Moyland was sentenced to seven days in the county jail on a charge of intoxication.

The case of A. D. Miller, accused of disturbing the peace, will be continued.

Junior C. of C. May Broadcast Iowa Cage Tilts

Plans for Telegraphic Report Discussed At Meeting

Plans for financing the broadcasting of University of Iowa away-from-home conference basketball games this winter were discussed last night at a meeting of the Iowa City Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The junior chamber, which has sponsored telegraphic play-by-play descriptions of out-of-town Big Ten games during the past two seasons, will probably complete broadcast arrangements at its next meeting, Oct. 5 at the Red Ball inn.

Several projects, which would raise the necessary funds for the radio expenses, were discussed last night at the meeting in Red Ball inn, but none was definitely agreed upon.

The games will be broadcast, Maynard "Buck" Miller, who presided in the absence of Acting President E. J. Liechty, said, because radio listeners have practically demanded it. Annually the junior chamber requests listeners to comment on the broadcasts, and last year favorable response was great.

If present plans are carried out, the first telegraphic description will be Jan. 15 of the Ohio State university game from Columbus, Ohio. Other descriptions, which will be given from WSUI by student announcers, would be of the Indiana, Northwestern, Chicago, Michigan and Minnesota games.

Forty members were present last night at the meeting in Red Ball inn.

Herb Cormack, City high school coach, was the guest of honor, and discussed football with the businessmen. Cormack commented on the different aspects and prospects of football.

Four other guests at the meeting were A. Lander of Kregg's store, Bob Windrem of the university paint store, Craig Lambert, manager of the Firestone company in Iowa City, and George R. Jackson of Chicago, Ill.

Nanking--

ness without the feared attack this correspondent had explored the Yangtze river front near Hsiakwan, landing place for Nanking.

He sighted the Luzon about two miles up the river, where she had returned from further upstream since some time late last night.

The embassy staff remained aboard. The Luzon's sistership, the United States patrol boat Guam, was at Hsiakwan.

Further disposition of the two ships, the only United States war vessels in the vicinity, could not be determined, but it was believed certain they would await developments here.

(At Shanghai, Rear Admiral Edward J. Marquart was reported determined to keep the boats at Nanking unless they were subjected to direct artillery or air fire).

France, Britain Defy Warning

Only the United States and Italian embassies heeded the Japanese warning. Ambassador Johnson, declaring he could not risk the lives of his staff, hurriedly transferred the embassy aboard ship. Italian compliance, it was believed, was a gesture of amity between Rome and Tokyo.

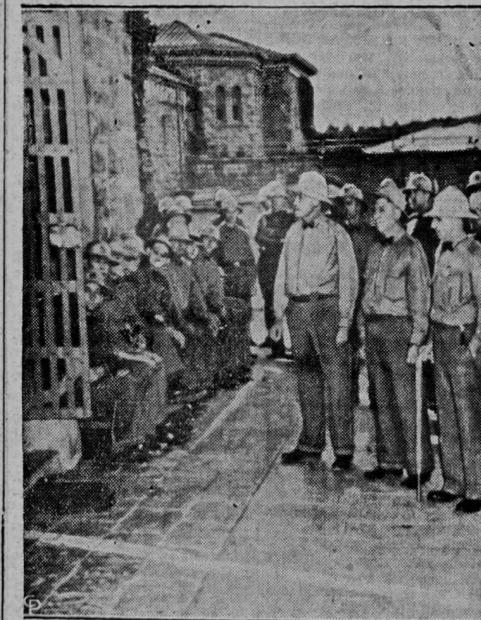

Both French and British naval authorities refused to heed the warning. They cautioned the Japanese that, despite Japan's refusal to accept responsibility, both would hold her to strict account for any damage to their nationals or their property.

(In Washington, Secretary of State Cordell Hull said the United States had made representatives to Japan in protest against her declared intention to send air attacks against Nanking, chiefly on grounds that they would violate international and humanitarian laws.

Hull said the representation emphasized that air attacks on Nanking might disrupt normal relations between the United States and China by endangering the United States diplomatic officers there.

He said that Johnson, in taking refuge aboard the gunboat, merely had complied with the United States' general policy to avoid ex-

County Associations Fail To Act On Integrated Bar Plan

No definite action concerning endorsement of the proposed state integrated bar association was decided upon last night at a joint meeting of the Johnson and Iowa County Bar associations.

District Judge James Gaffney is expected to set a date within two weeks, naming Iowa City as the place where the lawyer-members of the eighth judicial district will meet to reconsider the plan.

Both Judge Gaffney and Prof. Mason Ladd of the college of law approved of the plan. Nebraska is the latest of 20 states to join in the integrated bar plan, they said.

Both explained the features of the organization, which would coordinate members of the legal profession and their duties.

When both county bar associations meet here, they are expected to approve the plan. Iowa county members met early yesterday afternoon, but were puzzled by integrated-bar features and did not give their approval.

The members meeting last night dined at the Marengo Country club and played golf during the afternoon.

Barrow Gives Students Tips On Mail Use

Parcel Post Subject To First Class Rates When Sealed

In a special warning yesterday, Postmaster Walter J. Barrow requested students to advise all persons who might be sending them packages that sealing parcel post packages makes them subject to first-class postal rates.

While the sealing may be done with no bad intentions, Barrow explained, it constitutes sealing against postal inspection, and as such raises the status of the package to first-class.

Students are also asked to make their addresses known to all with whom they correspond. Many letters addressed to students merely "in care of the University of Iowa" must be returned for further address.

However, all such mail will now be sent to the main desk of the Iowa Union to be held until called for.
