Noisy Crowd To Greet Team

Campus Groups Unite in Celebration For Gridders This Morning

A crowd of cheering, yelling, noisy students and townspeople will welcome the returning Hawkeyes back from their season's opener against the Huskies of Washington in what has promised to be the wildest "homecoming" demonstration ever accorded an Iowa eleven, this morning at 7:30 at the interurban station.

A.F.I., senior honorary society for men, in cooperation with Pi Epsilon Pi, national pep fraternity, Mortar Board, senior honorary society for women, the city of Iowa City, and the various fraternities and sororities on the campus, has spared no effort to make the Hawks realize that win or lose we are with them. Policemen and highway patrolmen have also volunteered to assist in the welcoming, but since the team will probably have to hurry for classes, there will be no street parade as previously planned. Band members, under the direction of Prof. C. B. Righter will furnish music, with cheer leaders drawing yells from the crowd.

Iowa, although defeated 14 to 0 in the opener by the champions of the Pacific coast, played far better ball than almost everyone expected, losing the game as a result of aerial thrusts which went for scores.

The squad stopped in Omaha, Neb., last night for a short stay and arrived here at 6 o'clock today, but the boys are expected to sleep until awakened for their 8 o'clock classes.

Mussolini and Hitler Dedicate Fascist Powers to Peace As Climax to Meeting in Germany

'Europe Will Become Fascist,' Duce Tells 600,000 Nazis

BERLIN, Sept. 28 (AP)—Peace, but not at the price of bolshevism, Premier Mussolini and Reichsfuehrer Hitler proclaimed today as their twin policy.

Il Duce and Der Fuehrer, in a climax to the Italian leader's visit to Germany, symbolically linked arms in declarations that fascism and nazism are supreme and resolutely united against any threat. "Europe will become fascist," Mussolini shouted in German to 600,000 rain-soaked Germans at a mass meeting in the Olympic stadium and to the rest of the world by radio.

He called Italy and Germany "the greatest democracies" and bolshevism "the regime of slavery, famine and blood."

The two leaders arrived at the stadium after driving in an open automobile from the Wilhelmstrasse through streets jammed with spectators.

Their entry was heralded by a half hour's tolling of the 1936 Olympic bell, by the roll of drums and blare of trumpets and by thousands of opened umbrellas as rain began to fall heavily.

Hitler, in a gesture that caused the crowd to cheer madly, took Mussolini by the arm when they approached the tribune and escorted him around it to show his guest to the vast audience.

Just before they reached the May field and Olympic stadium the tribune was illuminated brilliantly in a flood of yellow lights. Der Fuehrer spoke first, bitterly but briefly, thanking Il Duce that Italy had not joined other powers in which he charged was abuse of Germany after the World war.

Hitler, saying the meeting "made history," declared it was a "people's meeting" with the "honest desire to guarantee to our countries a peace not resulting from cowardice, but resulting from a conscious safeguarding of our national, spiritual and personal as well as cultural objects and treasures."

"No people has experienced in the same measure as the Germans the terrible consequences of feeble credulity," Hitler asserted.

"Before the advent of power of national socialism, we passed through a period of 15 years of unbroken succession of pressure and suppression, of refusals to grant us our rights and of material and moral distress."

Il Duce followed his host to the rostrum at the foot of the Olympic bell tower, facing the center of May field and the open end of Olympic stadium in the distance.

Reading in fluent German from a prepared text, Il Duce cried hoarsely into the battery of microphones and amplifiers:

"The whole world is tensely asking, 'What will be the result of the Berlin meeting, peace or war?' Both of us, Der Fuehrer and myself, can answer with a loud voice, 'Peace!'"

Little Rock, Ark. (AP) — Gov. Carl E. Bailey yesterday called a special general election for Monday, Oct. 18, to fill the vacant U. S. senate seat of the late Joe T. Robinson.

General Alarm Fire Rages In Twin City Mill

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 28 (AP)—Flames that roared high in the night air tonight raged through the huge Delmar Elevator no. 1 of the Archer-Daniels-Midland company in southeast Minneapolis, occasioning the first general fire alarm in this city since 1921.

The flames, visible for miles, attracted a huge crowd that seriously hampered fire apparatus. The blaze, which started early in the evening, raged unabated "near midnight."

With 250 firemen already fighting the flames, dispatchers called out all men from other shifts that they could reach. These men reported at stations and manned equipment not already in use. As the night wore on, the fire-fighting strength was being built up to the full complement of 500 men.

Wirtz To Join Iowa Law Staff

Harvard Graduate Will Succeed Strong As Instructor

The appointment of W. Willard Wirtz as an instructor in the college of law was announced yesterday by Dean Wiley B. Rutledge. Wirtz will take the place of Prof. Frank Strong, who resigned last spring to accept a position at Ohio State university.

Wirtz was graduated from Harvard law school last June with an LL.B. degree. While attending Harvard, he was a member of the editorial staff of the Harvard Law Review.

He was graduated from Beloit college, Beloit, Wis., receiving a B.A. degree in 1933. He taught for one year in the high school at Kewanee, Ill.

He will teach courses in constitutional law, taxation and trade regulation.

Mr. and Mrs. Wirtz are making their home at 304 S. Summit street.

"Iron Lung" Ready DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Tom V. Murray, Jr., general agent of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy lines said today his company had purchased an "iron lung" and held it at Omaha, Neb., in readiness to rush to any infantile paralysis victim stricken in the area the railroad serves.

Box Tossed at F.R. Proves Harmless

HOOD RIVER, Ore., Sept. 28 (AP) — Secret service men knocked aside a package thrown at the automobile carrying President Roosevelt and his party when it passed through Hood River today.

Examination of the package revealed a hand-embroidered handkerchief and flowers. It was intended as a present for Mrs. Roosevelt, said an unidentified elderly lady who threw it.

'BREAK' SEEN IN KIDNAPING

Boy's Prank With Shotgun Costs Life of Iowa Woman

VINTON, Sept. 28, (AP) — A boyish prank today cost the life of Mrs. Sven Hanson, 51.

The woman, wife of a Vinton farmer, died in the hospital of gunshot wounds unintentionally and accidentally inflicted, authorities said, by her son, Lewis, 12.

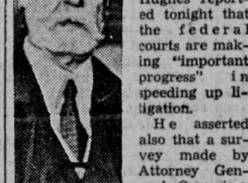

Sunday afternoon as the lad played about the Hanson farm home, he walked stealthily up to his mother whose back was turned toward him.

Poking a shotgun at her he playfully cried "boo," but as he shouted and she jumped, the weapon was discharged, the shot striking Mrs. Hanson in the back.

Hughes Defends Federal Courts

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28, (AP) — Striking what was widely interpreted as a blow at President Roosevelt's court reorganization proposal, Chief Justice Hughes reported tonight that the federal courts are making "important progress" in speeding up litigation.

He asserted also that a survey made by Attorney General Cummings "affords no just ground for general criticism of the work of the district courts."

Charles Evans Hughes

In a report on recommendations of the annual conference of senior circuit judges, who met at the supreme court last week.

The conference recommended the appointment of four new circuit judges and 12 additional district judges to relieve congestion in certain localities.

Nothing Done Hughes said that a year ago the conference recommended additional district judges for northern Georgia, eastern Louisiana, southern Texas and western Washington but that nothing had been done about it.

"The conference renews its recommendation as to the four districts above mentioned," Hughes said.

He added that reports to the conference by the circuit judges "show that in general the circuit courts of appeals are well up with their work."

Attorney General Cummings' survey, he said, showed that the work of the district courts is "current" in 68 of the 84 districts.

Said Courts Behind One of the grounds given by President Roosevelt for the court reorganization he vainly advocated at the recent session of congress was that the federal tribunals were behind in their work.

The judicial reforms recommended to congress last February by the president would have added not more than 44 jurists to the district and circuit courts as well as a maximum of six to the supreme court. The president's legislation would have permitted appointment of an additional judge for each member of the federal judiciary with ten years' service who failed to retire after reaching the age of 70 and one-half years.

recommended for the second, fifth, sixth and seventh circuits.

None in Eighth While not recommending another circuit judge in the eighth circuit, the conference reported "it should be noted, however," that in this circuit, "the court of appeals is able to keep abreast of its work only through the aid of retired judges, of whom there are three. There is no certainty as to the length of time this aid will be available, and if in the future, it should be seriously lessened, the business of that court would require another judge."

The eighth circuit includes the districts of Minnesota, northern Iowa, southern Iowa, eastern Missouri, western Missouri, eastern Arkansas, western Arkansas, Nebraska, North Dakota and South Dakota.

A.F.L. Conclave Set Astir With Lively Discord

DENVER, Sept. 28, (AP) — Blasts at Labor Secretary Perkins and the labor relations board and a spirited dispute on the C. I. O. issue turned a previously calm labor convention today into a lively forum.

Roy Horn, president of the blacksmiths' union, started the fireworks when he accused Miss Perkins of attempting to dictate what unions American labor should join. He said he would prefer "the dictator that wears a little bunch of hair under his nose or his hat cocked on the side of his head to one that wears a skirt."

Reports Adopted After applauding Horn's remarks, the delegates slumped back into their ordinary routine of approving unanimously the reports of its committees.

Suddenly Joseph A. Franklin, president of the boilermakers, jumped to his feet and reminded the delegates they had approved without question the recommendation of the resolutions committee that John L. Lewis' rebel C. I. O. unions should not be expelled at next week's A. F. of L. convention.

Come to Life Franklin said that he, for one, wanted to be recorded as voting against the report.

John Coefield, president of the plumbers, took the floor to say that he also wanted to record his opposition.

The remarks of these two brought the convention to life. Although Arthur Wharton defended the committee's report, the delegates voted almost unanimously to reconsider their previous action and to return the report to the committee for further consideration.

Lazarus speculated whether a big objection might be "the fact that Hugo Black was a new deal senator with such an economic education that he would be likely to vote as a liberal on the bench."

The resolutions committee of the junior bar association turned down a resolution holding that membership in secret organizations subversive to law and order is inconsistent with tenure of judicial office. The committee's notation on the rejected resolution was that the general theme was acceptable but it was too broad in scope.

Before the senior bar resolutions committee, John D. Clark, of Cheyenne, Wyo., proposed: "that the supreme court should not declare an act unconstitutional through a mere majority vote of its members. The vote should be unanimous, or nearly so."

Cameraman 'Takes Off,' Soars 2,000 Feet As Balloon Cluster Breaks Loose

OLD ORCHARD BEACH, Me., Sept. 28 (AP)—Rifle shots fired by a Catholic priest today brought down a cluster of 32 balloons which broke loose from their post and carried a New York newsreel photographer 2,000 feet into the air.

The cameraman—flier, Al Mingalone, dangling from a harness beneath the runaway balloons, landed uninjured 13 miles from the take-off.

As two shots fired by the Rev. James Mullen of Old Orchard Beach, found their mark hydrogen escaped slowly from several punctured balloons and the wind-borne cluster descended gradually.

Phil Coolidge, chief of newsreel photographers here, said the balloon was being used to take pictures from the air.

The photographer previously had made a brief picture-taking ascent using 30 balloons, and had returned to earth to change reels.

He had just climbed back into his harness when the extra lifting power of the two additional spheres broke a rope holding the cluster captive.

Black's Appointment to Court Assailed, Defended by U.S. Bar

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 28, (AP) — The appointment of Senator Hugo Black of Alabama to the supreme court was both criticized and inferentially defended before the American bar association today but the record gathering of more than 3,400 delegates displayed no intention of entering extensively into the controversy.

In silence, the important resolutions committee took under consideration a proposal that "the relevant facts" be ascertained by an impartial committee of five created by the association.

Before another sectional group of the bar, Isidor Lazarus, chairman of the committee on professional economics of the New York County Lawyers' association, questioned whether Black's reported membership in the Ku Klux Klan was the real objection of his critics.

Lazarus speculated whether a big objection might be "the fact that Hugo Black was a new deal senator with such an economic education that he would be likely to vote as a liberal on the bench."

Pat Maguire, Oak Park's 'Sleeping Beauty,' Dies

Pretty Stenographer Fails To Awaken From Five-Year Stupor; Pneumonia Causes Death

CHICAGO, Sept. 28, (AP) — Death perpetuated the long sleep of Patricia Maguire tonight.

The pretty Oak Park stenographer, who slumbered for five years and seven months in the grip of lethargic encephalitis, died in a Chicago hospital of double pneumonia which developed as surgeons prepared to operate for the removal of an abdominal tumor.

Two blood transfusions failed to give the 32 year old girl the strength to fight off the last assault of disease on her languorous body. She was still in a coma when she died at 8:35 p. m.

Family at Beside Six members of her family were at the bedside during her last moments. Among them were the two women who had adjusted their lives to the constant care required by the sleeping girl—Mrs. Sadie Miley, her mother, and Mrs. Gladys Hansen, her sister.

Roosevelt Sees Balanced U. S. Budget in Year

SEATTLE, Sept. 28 (AP)—President and Mrs. Roosevelt arrived here tonight at 9:35 p. m. to visit their daughter, son-in-law and grandchildren.

BONNEVILLE DAM, Ore., Sept. 28 (AP) — President Roosevelt predicted today that the federal budget will be balanced in the next fiscal year and that untold national wealth will grow from his administration's power projects in the years to come.

Containing that the millions spent by this government for power development are a far wiser investment than Europe's huge outlays for arms, Mr. Roosevelt added that a balance between federal income and outgo in this country is definitely in prospect.

He denied that his proposal for additional regional planning agencies like TVA is a step toward "totalitarian or authoritarian" control. Instead, he argued, it will give small communities a voice in planning the development of natural resources and enlarge their place in the national life.

"By regional planning," the president said, "it will be vastly easier for the executive branch and the congress to determine how the appropriations for the following year shall be fitted most fairly and equitably into the total amount which our national pocketbook allows us safely to spend."

The fiscal year for which he predicted a balanced budget begins next July 1.

Spider Bite Fatal

CHICAGO, (AP) — Donald Jezelick, 10, of Cary, Ill., died last night of infection following a spider bite.

Dr. Eugene Traut, the family physician, resorted to serums, blood transfusions and artificial fevers.

Occasionally Miss Maguire, a pretty stenographer, showed a restlessness which the family hoped meant she was returning to consciousness, but she didn't.

she had complained of being tired and drowsy. The night of Feb. 13 she went out to mail a valentine to a niece. The next day she went to bed a sick girl and then passed into the coma that baffled the medical world.

Doctors diagnosed her affliction as encephalitis lethargica, a form of sleeping sickness followed by the aftermath of narcolepsy, a sort of stupor.

Officers Visit Home Of Victim; Silent On Ransom Note Rumor

CHICAGO, Sept. 28 (AP)—Capt. Daniel Gilbert of the state's attorney's police and several other officials directing the investigation of the kidnaping of Charles S. Ross arrived at the retired manufacturer's apartment late tonight in what appeared to be an important development in the case.

The city news bureau reported it had learned that shortly before their arrival a special delivery letter, addressed in pencil to Ross' wife and postmarked Washington, D. C., had been delivered to the apartment.

Mrs. Ross, reached by telephone, said she had "no comment to make."

Neither the authorities nor associates of the 72-year-old man, who was abducted Saturday night, have admitted the receipt of a ransom note.

Japanese Guns Answer Attack On War Vessel

SHANGHAI, Sept. 29 (Wednesday) (AP)—Violent Sino-Japanese artillery bombardments rocked Shanghai today as the belaguerers were fired to intense activity by an apparent Chinese attempt to blow up the Japanese flagship Izumo.

Chinese civilians in the city were thrown into a panic and windows in the downtown business area were shattered as a series of thunderous explosions along the Whangpoo river heralded the dawn.

It was believed the Chinese attempted to torpedo the Izumo in the river. Instantly all the Japanese warships anchored in the river from off the Japanese consulate here to Woosung opened up a heavy cannonading.

Chinese artillery concealed in Pootung, industrial area across the Whangpoo from Shanghai, replied briskly, sending shells screaming over their own civilians on this side of the river at Japanese positions.

The firing continued for nearly an hour, awakening the entire city and lighting it up.

Americans and other foreigners scrambled to roof-tops to watch the duel and spotted a number of his made in the Pootung sector.

The heaviest firing occurred just as the rising sun silhouetted the horizon and bathed the entire Pootung peninsula in crimson that made it appear the land was on fire.

Dense smoke prevented observers from estimating the amount of damage done but two Japanese destroyers were seen hurriedly taking up positions abreast of the Izumo, many times the target of Chinese artillery and airbombs.

The Japanese later switched their attack to the north station sector, artillery and bombing planes carrying out a terrific bombardment.

British Take Cover The Welch fusiliers, British troops, were ordered to abandon their lookout stations and take bombproof cover when one shell fell within 20 feet of their lines.

Japanese shells struck the railway administration building four times, while within an area of 1,000 square yards between the north station and the Commercial Press building Japanese warplanes dropped 80 bombs.

Blockade Lifted SAN FRANCISCO, (AP) — A leisters' blockade of the San Francisco waterfront, called in an AFL-CIO jurisdictional dispute, was lifted last night, officials of the San Francisco chapter, international teamsters' union, AFL affiliate, announced.

England Awaits Story of Yacht's Fight With Sea

LONDON, Sept. 28 (AP) — While the government press strove for communication with Endeavour I tonight, the unsuccessful challenger for the America's cup in 1934 continued traveling somewhere on this side of the Atlantic.

The story of the frail craft, built of polished board and 100 feet of canvas, and its herculean fight against the raging Atlantic still was the secret of the ship, the crew and the sea. Since Sept. 13, when she broke away from her tow while returning about 3,000 miles from the United States, the Endeavour I was missing—many thought for good. Then yesterday she was located 260 miles off the Irish coast.

With hurricanes in her wake and adventures fit for ships of steel in her log, presumably she was sailing home to Gosport in a tranquil sea somewhere off the Scilly Isles.

McLaughlin Agrees To Pay Estranged Wife $750 Alimony

CHICAGO, Sept. 28 (AP) — Cloistered from hundreds of "interested parties" packed in a stuffy little courtroom, Major Frederic McLaughlin agreed today to pay $750 a month temporary alimony to Mrs. Irene Castle McLaughlin, the former dancer.

The estranged wife, suing for divorce, had asked for $1,500 and the wealthy coffee merchant's counsel had set $400 as a sufficient amount.

Under the agreement reached after a three-hour conference in the chambers of superior court Judge John J. Lupe, neither party will obtain actual custody of the two children, Barbara, 12, and William, 8, at this time. Barbara will return to school in the east and William in Chicago. Barbara will divide her Christmas holidays between her parents.

The question of attorney's fees was continued and the divorce case was referred to Chancery division for assignment to trial.

Russian Newspapers Temper War Threat

MOSCOW, Sept. 28 (AP)—Russia's government-inspired press warned tonight of the Soviet's might in war but foreign observers predicted there would be no war-like moves that might aggravate tense relations with Japan in the far east.

The Red Army's mouthpiece, Red Star, even threatened that Russia would fight an enemy on its own territory.

Neither the Red Star nor other newspapers, however, mentioned any names and the warnings were tempered with disavowals of any intention of the Soviet Union to go to war unless war is "forced on it."

Democrat Wins LYNN, Mass., (AP) — Massachusetts' heavily industrialized seventh congressional district last night voted a democrat into the house for the ninth consecutive time, selecting Lawrence J. Connerly of Lynn in a special election to fill the seat of his brother, the late Chairman Connerly of the house labor committee.

levels but at a loss of French gold and of his own position. Obviously the currency stabilization which was achieved last year with such high expectations can no longer be maintained in the face of the steadily falling franc. The franc does not have the importance as a currency that the pound or the dollar does—nevertheless its ups and downs may seriously affect world trade as did the fluctuations of American and British currencies when they were devalued.

Then too the fall of the franc may make necessary a series of adjustments in the other currencies of the world, bringing about another period of financial uncertainty such as existed prior to the stabilization agreement. Perhaps when the franc finds its level, another stabilization agreement can be made. Until then a decline in world trade may be expected. No one cares to sell his products when he is highly uncertain just what the value of the currency he is to get in payment may be when the time for payment comes.

It seems strange that a fall of the French franc could have an adverse effect upon the prosperity of American citizens in Iowa City or elsewhere. Such, however, is the case.

WORK IN WRITING

The author who takes his typewriter in hand is apparently still the exception to the old pen and pencil rule. Of the 20 authors who discuss the mechanics of their trade in Elmer Adler's "Breaking Into Print" Sinclair Lewis, Robert Benchley, Mackinlay Kantor, H. L. Mencken and Carl Van Vechten compose directly on the typewriter. All the others, including that master of prolixity, Theodore Dreiser, first march down the page in longhand, and then battle the typewriter for a second draft. Although the typewriter is an invaluable craft tool, the pen and pencil are the instruments of style. They complete the circuit from writer to writing; they are the wires down which the electric impulses of thought are discharged from the person of the writer to the meek paper. In spite of its compact ingenuity the typewriter is a fearsome barrier to face when a writer is searching for the sky-blue dome of Olympus.

There is a typewriter style, and it is a good one—genial, hearty, elastic. Exuberance can set the keys clattering merrily; drolleries like to monkey with the space bar and impudence can jump back and forth across the double shift. For the typewriter style is neither parsimonious nor finicky. A superfluous word or two is no calamity; a loose construction will not confound the dictionaries nor put the grammar books out of business. There were verbose writers before the typewriter was invented. Style is not a matter of craft mechanics but of personality.

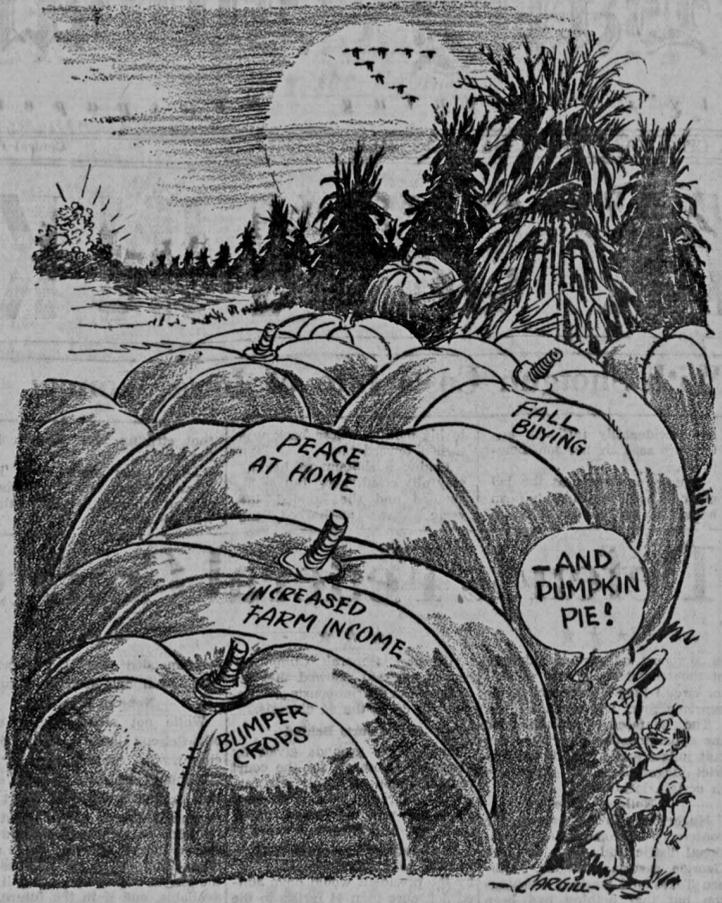

The pen and pencil are more patient with the fastidious writer. Using them as his instrument he is close to his work, like a cabinetmaker, and he can choose his words more deliberately and listen to the sound of his sentences as they creep down the page. William McFee professes to derive "some obscure sensuous satisfaction from the handling of a pen." Christopher Morley uses "a fountain pen but never as a fountain pen. I use it as a dipping pen, because dipping the pen in ink gives you time to think and not so much time that you know that you are thinking." In fact, Mr. Morley puts into italics the emphatic declaration that he never uses the typewriter to compose. He is well-advised; the literary beauty of his writing is worth the extra pains of longhand composition. For the intricacies of style—the accurate use and the color of words, the cadence of sentence structure—comprise the fine art of writing, and longhand is gracious to it.

But the typewriter, which is a democratic machine, brings a wholesome influence to bear on the second draft from hand-written copy. It is less wearisome to work with. It also loosens sentences that are too compact and sneers at diction that is too lofty. Equipped with Roman type it looks like the printed page, which is good discipline. What a writer may be vain about in his own scrawl on ruled paper he may be ashamed of when he sees it reproduced in the impersonal blackness of type. The typewriter draft gives him a margin before his vanity becomes a public scandal. The din of the typewriter keys sounds like the rude noise a scornful reader can make. For the typewriter is an impartial servant that delights in mowing off the heads of toll words and jamming the keys on obscure ones. The practical typewriter machine dislikes solemn company.

Franc Devaluation Threatens Trade

ONE OF the threads upon which hangs the commerce of the world is snapping as devaluation of the French franc threatens to wreck the currency stability so painfully achieved a year ago in the tripartite agreement among the United States, Great Britain and France. Within the last year the franc has dropped in value from 6.63 cents to 3.37 cents, the lowest level in 11 years. The tripartite agreement stated that value of the franc was to be kept between 4.35 and 4.96 cents. Premier Blum kept the franc between those

Diet Plays Important Part In Maintenance of Healthy Teeth

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D. It is a common belief that coarse foods make strong teeth. As a corollary of this, it is often said that candy causes tooth decay. And so it is supposed that primitive man, living on coarse foods—berries, grains, nuts, cracking the shells and gnawing on bones—had fine teeth, and that modern man, living on refined and processed foods, can ascribe his poor teeth to that habit. But the theory breaks down when the facts are examined. Fossil remains of man have been found all over the world, including jaws and teeth in most instances. The upper jaw of the Rhodesian man, who lived at least 35,000 years ago, shows typical human dentation. "The teeth are worn in primitive fashion, the upper incisors having met the lowers squarely edge to edge." (This shows they were

Tuning In with Margie Fastenow

Attention Tony Wons enthusiasts! Be sure to listen to the philosopher's new series of three weekly programs which begin this morning at 10:30 over the WABC-Columbia network. Lovers of his poetry and verse readings will find them more enjoyable than ever now that Ann Leaf, diminutive CBS organizer, has been added to the quarter-hour program.

Noel Coward, celebrated British playwright, actor and composer, will sing over the radio for the first time tonight when he appears on "Your Hit Program." The author of "Cavalcade," "Design for Living" and many other hits will speak briefly on the highlights of his long stage career and will sing one of his own compositions at 9 o'clock on the NBC-WEAP network.

Maybe Carlton KaDe'll had the right idea after all. When offered a $250-per-week movie contract, KaDe'll, who handles the Hal Kemp and W. C. Fields programs, turned it down for a radio job as spot announcer for less than half the salary. Today KaDe'll's salary is double his former offer!

General Notices English 91 English 91 will meet at 4 p. m. Wednesday, rather than Tuesday, in order to resolve a conflict with another senior course. The room will be changed: 101-B University Hall. WILBUR L. SCHRAMM. Drum Major Tryout Freshmen students desiring to try out for the position of drum major for the Drum Corps are requested to see Colonel Dailey at the Armory. Such students should have former experience as drum major, and should be at least 5 feet, 10 inches in height. GEORGE F. N. DAILEY, Colonel, Infantry, P. M. S. & T. Frivol Positions All persons interested in working on Frivol are requested to come to the Frivol office between one and four p. m. Wednesday. MADGE JONES, Editor. Cadet Officers Club Senior members of the Cadet Officers club will meet Wednesday Sept. 29, at 7:30 p.m. in the north conference room in Iowa Union. Election of a president for the coming year and plans for initiating junior officers will constitute the major portion of the business for the evening. Be there in uniform. DONALD KLADSTRUP Secretary-Treasurer Plant Physiology First meetings for lectures in Plant Physiology, Botany 109, will be held in room 408, chemistry building, Tuesday and Thursday at 9 a.m. instead of as announced in schedule. W. F. LOEHWING Ph. D. Reading Test Friday, Oct. 1, at 2 p. m., a reading test in German will be given in room 103, Schaeffer hall, for the benefit of those desiring to fulfill this language requirement for the Ph. D. degree. Candidates are required to bring at least 400 pages of technical or critical German text in their special field, of which 100 pages should have been thoroughly prepared. (Edited textbooks, imaginative literature, interlinear texts, etc., are not acceptable.) There will not be another examination until the middle of January. H. O. LYTE.

HOLLYWOOD—There must be something in the Viennese climate that favors the growing of actresses and beauties. Metro is practically a "little Vienna" with Luise Rainer, Della Lind, Tilly Losh and now Rose Stradner, and Paramount's Francisca Gaal and Columbia's Luli Deste enhance the roster. The latest to make a picture is Rose Stradner, and after meeting her I can agree with the casting director whose report on her confidentially urged the whole studio to become "Stradner conscious." She is a young woman of more than ordinary charm, appealing beauty, and a grace when walking that is like smooth dancing. Miss Stradner has an accent still, and she finds it no handicap. Aside from that, or perhaps because of it, her voice has an excellent quality of warmth and richness. She Bears Watching She was happy, when I saw her, because she had just won her name back. For a time the studio had rechristened her Andrea Marlo. She thought the new name affected and one the public would not like. Too many movie names similar to it: Garbo, Margo, Harlow, etc. I watched Miss Stradner do a scene with Edward G. Robinson for "The Last Gangster." It is too early to predict, but if she registers on the screen as she does on the set, film fans also are due to become "Stradner conscious."

On the set of "Rosalie" a regiment of West Pointers was being put through its dancing paces by Dance Director Dave Gould. W. S. Gould, in honor of the West Point setting of the musical, has gone very military. He has a bugle sound "fall in" when he wants the chorus boys to work. It is a very nice set, with West Point buildings reproduced exactly, and the drill field—covered with green burlap instead of fake grass—stretching away to surrounding trees that have the sheen of spring foliage, thanks to artful spraying.

Friday, Oct. 1, at 2 p. m., a reading test in German will be given in room 103, Schaeffer hall, for the benefit of those desiring to fulfill this language requirement for the Ph. D. degree. Candidates are required to bring at least 400 pages of technical or critical German text in their special field, of which 100 pages should have been thoroughly prepared. Washington World

By CHARLES P. STEWART WASHINGTON, D.C.—How much real information President Roosevelt will acquire from his tour of the west and northwest is still a question. Next spring's primaries will be subject to ratification, or a veto, on election day in November, 1938. However, the primaries will serve as a fairly dependable basis for guessing as to the subsequent election day result. The presidential tour, no matter what it may seem to indicate, cannot be so enlightening. KNOW OWN DISTRICTS? My own theory is that a senator or representative is likely to understand his own state or congressional district more intensively than President Roosevelt or Democratic National Chairman Farley possibly can know it. The president and Farley doubtless know the whole country better than any individual legislator knows it, but probably not so well as that lawmaker knows his personal bailiwick. And if a considerable number of lawmakers are able to defy the White

Modern Mohammeds Go to The Mountain -- and Dismantle It

SALT LAKE CITY, (AP)—And so, when the mountain wouldn't come to them, these modern Mohammeds went to the mountain, piled it piece by piece in huge ore cars, and carried it away. A modern paraphrase of Mohammed and the mountain is the story of the Utah Copper Co. and its copper mountain in Bingham canyon, 30 miles southwest of Salt Lake City near the shores of Great Salt Lake. But where Mohammed did nothing more than go to the mountain, the modern miners set to work to dismantle it. After 31 years they are still at work, and there is a good-sized hill left. Each day, huge, hungry, electric shovels sup with copper moun-

As Man ABOUT MANHATTAN

By GEORGE TUCKER NEW YORK—This is a portrait of a theatrical "czar" on Broadway. He is a producer, but as there are at least five others just like him, this becomes a composite portrait. They are, on the surface, all good friends. Fighting among themselves, as a fashion, went out when Ziegfeld died. They have their offices above theaters in the West Forties, all within a horse-shoe pitch of Times Square. Two of them have the manners of Oxford graduates. One is a gruff but kindly man who seems ashamed to let others see the compassion he feels for the less fortunate—hence his gruff manner, followed by a $5 note surreptitiously stuffed into a panhandler's pocket. They all speak graciously of one another—when speaking for the press. What they tell each other privately is their own affair. One of them has the unvarying habit of sailing for Europe two hours after his plays open. He never knows until next afternoon, when he receives cables from his press-agent, telling him the verdict of the press. His cable bill totals thousands of dollars, for on good reviews the press-agent cables them verbatim. Two of his colleagues like himself, own theaters named after themselves. They speak of the vanity of actors on Broadway, but you seldom hear of a theater being named for an actor. They are named for the owner, who produces the shows. Three of these men are handsome. All six are shrewdly analytical, using their heaven-given talent to make dollars, as well as toil for art's sake. With two exceptions, they have families, own vast estates. One of them is sea-crazy and devotes all his spare time to yachts and boats. All of them are natural born gamblers. They gamble fortunes on the fancy of a play-goer's mind. Few plays may be brought to first night without costing a minimum of $25,000. Often a play may close after the first performance, in which case the $25,000 goes quietly down the drain pipe. Only one, to my knowledge, has ever been in jail. All spend their days on a never-ending search for just the "right" play. They are widely traveled, and they communicate daily with the world's most noted playwrights. One of them recently crossed the Atlantic for a five-minute conference with an author concerning an unimportant sequence in a drama.

A Double Order of High Style

It's always been a problem to tell them apart, and this year it's going to be harder than ever. Any first glance might mistake Mrs. Thomas Martin for her sister, Mrs. L. C. W. Clearman, but when the glance catches them dressed just alike from trim suede shoes to flaring hat brims—well, it takes two or three more to straighten things out. They did it partly for a joke—buying identical fall outfits—and partly because neither could resist the smart Mountain Home dresses, and no wonder. The outfits illustrate perfectly what Iowa City's cleverest woman will wear when she shops, lunches, drives or does anything which requires simplicity and an all-time high in style. The frocks are of a knitted, jersey-like fabric, made on the new pencil lines with judicious pleats, ascot scarves and leather belts and for accent, clever, twisty metal buttons. The two sisters wear them with suede gloves and shoes and off-the-face Stetson hats. The only difference is in color. Mrs. Martin has chosen warm copper-son for her dress and accessories in a deeper rusty shade and brown. Mrs. Clearman's hat, gloves and shoes are in gray to set off the new Palmetto green of her frock. In case you're like the rest of us and easily puzzled—it's Mrs. Clearman, whose home is in Oxford, at the left, and Mrs. Martin, 122 McLean street, at the right.

High Sorority To Get Cup

Madge Jones To Award Scholastic Trophy At Panhellenic Dinner Tonight

At the annual formal Scholarship dinner tonight, Madge Jones, A4 of Cedar Rapids, president of Pi Beta Phi sorority and of the Women's Panhellenic association, will present a silver loving cup to the sorority with the highest grade-point average. Dinner will be served at 6:15 in the main lounge of Iowa Union.

The award is based upon the averages of the last school year. It was presented to the local Panhellenic association by Zeta Tau Alpha sorority to be awarded on a rotating basis and kept permanently by any sorority which should win it three years in succession.

For the last two years it has been in the possession of Gamma Phi Beta sorority. It was won the first year by Alpha Chi Omega and the second by Alpha Xi Delta.

Dean of Women Adelaide Burge and the sorority chaperons will be guests of honor. They will be seated at a table with the presidents of the houses and Helen Reich, hostess at Iowa Union.

All actives and pledges of the sororities will be present and will be seated at tables alphabetically.

Ruth Walker, A4 of DeWitt, Delta Delta Delta, heads the committee of house presidents in charge. Her assistants are Betty Grisinger, A3 of Burlington, Alpha Delta Pi; Mary Elizabeth Gearhart, A3 of Hopkinton, Chi Omega; Margaret Preston, A4 of Radcliffe, Phi Mu, and Christine Eberst, G of Logan, Ohio, Zeta Tau Alpha.

Stong Compares Novel by University Alumnus to 'Ethan Frome' in Review

The recent novel, "Remembering Laughter," by Wallace Stegner, a university alumnus, is compared to Edith Wharton's "Ethan Frome" in the last issue of the Saturday Review of Literature.

Stegner's novel recently won the $2,500 prize offered by Little, Brown and company for the best novelette. Reviewer Phil Stong, an Iowa author, calls the book a "narrative which comes startlingly close to perfection."

"In many ways it will remind everyone who reads it of 'Ethan Frome.' It has the same quiet strength and simplicity in structure and style," Stong writes.

Stegner, who received a Ph. D. degree from the University of Iowa, was one of the first university students to write an imaginative thesis.

He has also been a contributor to American Prefaces, university literary magazine. Although he has had several stories published, "Remembering Laughter" is his first long work of fiction to be published.

Halloran Dismisses Embezzlement Case Against Tax Worker

DES MOINES, Sept. 28 (AP)—Polk County District Judge John J. Halloran today dismissed embezzlement charges against B. R. Jones, former sales tax division employe of the state board of assessment and review.

Jones, a Mason City business man, had been accused of withholding $3,900 in sales tax collections from business firms.

Judge Halloran dismissed the case on motion of Assistant Polk County Attorney Al Adams after the trial had begun and several witnesses had testified.

"The court feels that in justice to Prosecutor Adams it should point out he had nothing to do with the preparation of this case," Judge Halloran said. He added that "the records of these state examiners that contacted Jones in regard to this matter have been garbled from the start."

Hawkeyes Will Resume Grid Drills Today

Strong Bradley Eleven Next To Face Iowans

Pass Offense, Defense Expected to Claim Most Attention

The University of Iowa's football team, defeated 14-0 by the Pacific Coast champions, Washington, will be given a warm welcome by the students and townspeople this morning and then will forget temporarily this first game in preparing for the second game of the season Oct. 9.

Bradley Tech, boasting one of the strongest teams ever to represent the Illinois institution, will open the Hawks' home schedule. It is expected that Coaches Tubbs, Boland, and Nevers will waste little time in sending the men into action in an attempt to eradicate the glaring weakness against a passing offense which lost the Washington game for the Hawkeyes.

Although Bradley will be foremost in the minds of the Iowans, they will really be pointing for the Wisconsin Homecoming celebration, Oct. 16. The Badgers, rated the team to expect the surprises from in the conference this season, is practically a year ahead of the Hawkeyes in this rejuvenation procedure, and most observers feel that the Badgers may set the Hawks off on the wrong foot in the conference battle.

South Dakota State fell before the Badgers, 32 to 0, in the opener last Saturday while the Hawks were losing a 14 to 0 verdict to the Huskies of Washington. The play of the Iowa line must have been encouraging to the Iowa coaches. This line, at best a question mark in this year's plans, held the highly touted Washington backfield to a total of 91 yards in rushing. Defensively, at least, the Iowa line looked powerful. It is expected that the coaches will attempt to find more speed in the line on offense as the Iowans were held under control by the Huskies most of the afternoon.

Coach Jim Yeager Uses Fundamentals For State Eleven

AMES, Ia., Sept. 28 (AP)—Fundamentals occupied the major portion of the Iowa State football practice today as Coach Jim Yeager stressed line charging and blocking. Jim Dishing, first string end, and Joe Goldberg, second team guard, were on the sidelines with injuries. Dishing had an injured foot and Goldberg suffered a chipped right elbow bone, an injury which will keep him out of the lineup for some time.

The freshmen ran Northwestern plays against the varsity today as the Cyclones prepared for their game against the Wildcats at Evanston, Ill., on Saturday.

Bryant Stops Cincinnati, 2-0 With Two Scattered Singles

Bucs Move Into Third Place By Defeating Cards

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 28 (AP)—Loose play by the Cardinals allowed Pittsburgh to rally four runs in the fifth frame today and move into third place in the National league with a 6 to 2 victory.

Ed Brandt, the Pirates' big southpaw, gave up seven hits, three of them being bunched in the second frame for all gas housers' points. His 11th win of the year sent Pittsburgh half a game ahead of St. Louis.

The Pirates, tied the score in their half of the second when two runners scored on a wild throw to the plate by Frenchy Bordagaray. In the fifth with the bases full Paul Waner singled in one run and Ducky Medwick threw low, getting another. A passed ball accounted for two more.

Ed McLain Leads Hawkeye Ball-Toters In Ground Gaining

Only half the length of the gridiron was gained by University of Iowa backs on ground plays in the Washington game but three sophomores excelled veterans in yardage. Edwin McLain, the Chicago fullback, made 28 yards in 8 attempts to lead the Iowans; while William Gallagher, a sophomore halfback from Oskaloosa, was second with 19 in 7 trials. In third place was Nile Kinnick who carried the ball 11 times for a net gain of 7 yards.

Chicago Gains Half Game On Idle New York

CINCINNATI, Sept. 28 (AP)—Clay Bryant, towering righthander, today pitched and batted the Chicago Cubs to 2 to 0 victory over the Reds and thus kept alive the flickering flame which is the Chicagoans' pennant hope.

With the Giants rained out of their double date with Boston, the Cubs cut the league leaders' advantage to four games, but hardly made things simpler for themselves. The Giants' double-header was washed right out of the schedule. As a result the pace-setters need only to win two of their remaining seven games to sew up the pennant, no matter what Chicago does in its five. Similarly, two defeats for Chicago or one for the Giants and one loss for the Cubs would put an end to the "race."

Bryant, in giving the Cubs their third straight victory, pitched two-hit ball, batted a triple that drove home Augie Galan with the winning run in the fifth and scored himself a moment later with the clincher on Stan Hack's single.

One of the hits off Bryant was of the "fluke" variety, a drive by Kiki Cuyler in the fourth, which Billy Herman stopped but couldn't handle in time to throw to first. Cuyler then stole second and third, the only Red to get that far.

Quite a Job New Marquette Coach Has Few Vets

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 28, (AP)—A round-faced, pleasant mannered Irishman who has taken over the job of coaching Marquette's football team faced the problem today of developing a winner with only one regular backfield man.

The coach, John L. (Paddy) Driscoll, veteran professional but a newcomer to college coaching, has 11 letterman but only eight of that group saw regular service last year and only one, Capt. Ray Sonnenberg, was a back.

But in the face of a heavy schedule, the former Chicago Bear and Cardinal quarterback is optimistic and hopeful. "I don't know what to expect," said Paddy, "but I'm inclined to be optimistic. The spirit is excellent, and I'm sure the season will be interesting. However, if we win five of our nine games, I'll be satisfied."

Driscoll's biggest job is filling the shoes of Ray (Buzz) Buvid, all-American passing ace, and finding a capable punter who can do what Buvid and Art Guepe did last year.

A big, red-haired Italian sophomore from Eveleth, Minn., Reginald Coldagelli, looks like the best bet for the key running assignment. He is fast, elusive, a fair passer and a fine punter. Another promising candidate is Andy Bakula, 180-pound Milwaukee sophomore, who looked good in the season's opener last Saturday against Ripon. A third candidate is Colonel Betz, a Sioux City, Iowa halfback and an excellent passer, but a little light for tough going. He weighs only 160.

Sonnenberg appears to be a fixture at the right halfback position. Leonard Raddatz, 196 pounder of Cudahy, Wis., Harry Laysenaar, Milwaukee, and Frank Austin, Little Chute, Wis., are other blocking backs who have shown promise.

Driscoll has not been satisfied with the showing of fullback candidates. Morgan Busch, reserve last year, got considerable work in the opening game last week and is sure to see a lot of action.

The coach expects little trouble with the line coached by the Veteran John L. (Tarzan) Taylor, now in his ninth year at the school. Taylor has nine lettermen available for the key spots and a host of promising new men.

Suspends Trainer SALEM, N. H. (AP)—Stewards of Rockingham Park yesterday suspended Richard Pollard, trainer of horses for Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Shaw of Newton, Mass., because, they said, a saliva test showed presence of caffeine after the two-year-old filly Stage Beauty won by six lengths last Thursday.

Grigger Injured ATLANTIC (AP)—Doctors here yesterday diagnosed as a skull fracture and brain concussion the injury sustained Monday by Donald Shanklin, high school sophomore, during football practice. He was reported recovering.

Let's Talk This Over

Slippery Rock vs. Spearfish? -- Yeah, Man!

Scribe Lauds Two Small Schools in Dakota and Pennsylvania

By PAUL MICKELSON NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (AP)—For the information of their thousands of rootin' pals who beseech us each fall for news of their heroes, we are happy to announce that all is almost hot-hot toasty at those football mad centers of yearning — Slippery Rock and good old Spearfish.

The Slippery Rock gang, evidently firm believers in Knute Rockne's slogan that no team can be great until it's been licked, took care of that piece of important business by dropping its first game of the big campaign. So they're ready to shoot the works with woe to the enemy.

Riding High Spearfish's yellow jackets have chased the evil hand that seemed to shadow their every move last season and dare riding high with fond hopes of duplicating their great 1935, untied and undefeated record. Their first game is Saturday.

Because of their peculiar names, Slippery Rock and Spearfish have more followers than any football teams in the nation in comparison with their size. The Spearfish Normal Yellow Jackets, with an enrollment of only 371, became sensations two years ago when they walked right among the list of eight untied and undefeated teams in the nation. Slippery Rock never achieved such fame but the little Teachers college with an enrollment of 540, two-thirds women, has been in the picture longer and louder than the rivals from South Dakota's hills.

Slippery Rock is named for the Pennsylvania town in which it is located. "Soapy Pebble" Gang The Slippery Rock boys, often called the Soapy Pebble Gang, won six and lost three last season but think they're cinches to improve. Their big shots are quarterback Bo Neals and Tackle Bull Wingrove. There's nothing "soapy" about those guys. They're the biggest pebbles on the Slippery Rock football beach.

Their annual classic is with Grove City, seven miles away. The Spearfish boys, named such by the Indians, can't help but be good. They've bounced right off the floor with a team Coach Ted Birkeland labels as one of the toughest he's ever handled.

Misfortune Dogs Team Misfortune and tragedy dogged the steps of the North Dakota boys after their glorious campaign of '35. First their coach, Paul Rose, died. Then their star end, Conrad Killian, was fatally injured. Yet they managed to escape with only one loss and a tie in seven close games. Coach Birkeland and his men won the respect and admiration of all South Dakota teams by overcoming disaster and turning out a crack eleven for its class.

Six good looking vets form the backbone of this year's fishing expedition. Along the line are Roy Williams, Sam Dickey, Jess Hendricks, Floyd Eaton, Archer Charlson and Bob Schloredt. Dickey is the star boater and he's no dead fish with that pigskin either.

One of Spearfish's most promising rookies is a fellow named H. Birkeland who is sure to be good because he learned a training lesson he'll never forget. At an early scrimmage, Birkeland suddenly turned pale and gripped his stomach as his face contorted with pain. Later he confessed it all. He had eaten too many green apples just before the practice.

Spearfish's "only rival" is the school of mines at Rapid City. That game to the Spearfishers is a combination of the Yale-Harvard, Notre Dame-Army and Rose Bowl games all wrapped into one copy.

But why not an annual super-colossal, gigantic spectacle for the funny name championship—Slippery Rock vs. Spearfish? It'd give a sawbuck to see that one.

Red Ruffing Hurls 2-Hit Game As Yanks Split With Senators

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 (AP)—Charley Ruffing gained his 19th victory of the year and the Yankees were stopped one shy of an even 100 today as the world champions split a double-header with the Senators.

Ruffing hurled two-hit ball and, aided by Joe DiMaggio's 45th homer with two on and Bill Dickey's 28th with one mate on base, blanked the Nats in the opener, 9-0. Then, striving for No. 100, the Yanks ran afoul of Southpaw Joe Krakauskas in the after-piece, the Washington rookie holding them to seven hits and fanning nine as the Senators scored, 2-1.

Bothered by a cold in his last two tries for his 19th win, Ruffing was in fine form this afternoon. He didn't allow a Senator to reach first until Cecil Travis singled with two down in the seventh. George Case's single in the eighth was the only other hit off the big red-head, who gave but one walk and struck out five.

The Yanks, meanwhile, gave him clear sailing with a 12-hit attack on Monte Weaver and Ed Linke. DiMaggio, who also hit a triple and a double, blasted his four-bagger in the fifth after walks to Ruffing and Frank Crosetti.

In the seventh five hits, including DiMaggio's three-base wallop, accounted for four more and drove Weaver to cover, while Dickey finished things off in the ninth by scoring behind Gehrig, who had walked, on his round-tripper.

Bengals Trample St. Louis Browns

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 28 (AP)—St. Louis' discouraged Browns—sunk in the cellar of the American league—bowed before Detroit's Tigers today, 6 to 1.

Detroit took an early lead and was never in danger. The Browns' only run, in the fourth, resulted from two errors by Bill Rogell, Tiger shortstop, Ed Silber, St. Louis recruit, reached second when Rogell threw high to first. He went on to third as Rogell tossed low to first on Bell's blow and scored on a force play at second.

Marchie Schwartz Holds Night Drills For Creighton Team

OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 28 (AP)—Coach Marchie Schwartz turned on the lights tonight for the first time this season as he drove his Creighton Bluejays through their longest drill of the year in preparation for Friday night's battle with the Oklahoma Aggies at Stillwater.

Schwartz said the performance of Vern Gaston, 180-pound sophomore, earned the halfback a starting post against the Oklahomaans. Only scrimmage the rest of the week is scheduled against the frosh tomorrow.

Irish Varsity Stops Drake Plays in Drill

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Sept. 28 (AP)—The Notre Dame varsity had little trouble today in stopping a freshman eleven using Drake plays. The Irish will clash with Drake here Saturday in their curtain raiser. Coach Elmer Layden rounded out the drill with work on forward pass plays. Chuck O'Reilly was at the varsity quarterback position in place of Andy Puplis, still nursing injuries.

JUST . . . by way of "encouragement," in a circular received the other day from the University of Wisconsin, I noticed that almost 200 freshmen were reporting for practice . . . Iowa isn't the only conference school whose athletic department is undergoing a rejuvenation, it seems . . . BITS about SPORTS by JOHN MOONEY

A column of criticism against the Iowa spirit on this campus as evidenced by the response at pep meetings and athletic contests for the last few years by a sports editor who would like to see some pins stuck in various and sundry sophisticates who believe that it is better to be seen and not heard, sometimes.

PROGRESS . . . along this line may have been started last night when Pi Epsilon Pi, our target of this week's comment, reorganized with the intention of finding the pep in P.E.P.

TWO . . . sides are found to this criticism of P.E.P. as was pointed out to me by a couple of members last night . . . little can be done by 35 or 40 men if the student body is not behind this group . . . resolution was passed last night by P.E.P. to ask Quadrangle to choose six men for membership in pep fraternity and to ask each cooperative dormitory to select one man for membership . . . this will remove some of the stigma attached to the organization—the challenge made by the vigorous opposition to the group that all the members were fraternity men . . .

STUDENTS . . . actually hold the fate of any pep group in their respective hands . . . those 40 members of the pep fraternity, if they come through as they have pledged, will be literally voices in the wilderness if the rest of us fail to see the light . . . it is naturally impossible for all of us to be members of this pep club, but we can at least follow the leader . . .

KICK . . . was made by one of the speakers when he said that the P.E.P. received little or no support in their efforts to promote pep . . . charged that it was impossible to secure tickets in one block as suggested, that "stunts" were frowned upon, and in general that they were given the well-known run-around on almost every occasion . . . (I know nothing of the above, but out of fairness to the P.E.P., I am printing their side of the story).

"WE . . . must hang together, or we'll all hang separately," said Benjamin Franklin, and while there is no actual excuse for a hanging, YET, some of you individualists had best read the handwriting on the wall . . .

PETITION . . . was left on this desk yesterday signed by 30 students under this caption, "We, the following men of Jefferson house dormitory, would like to see something done about the local pep(less) situation" . . .

MAYBE . . . if enough pressure is brought to bear and we all get organized, we can truly say that WE backed Iowa all season . . .

JUST . . . by way of "encouragement," in a circular received the other day from the University of Wisconsin, I noticed that almost 200 freshmen were reporting for practice . . . Iowa isn't the only conference school whose athletic department is undergoing a rejuvenation, it seems . . . SHAME . . . on any and all who slumber this morning while the team is welcomed . . . there are many logical excuses for missing the welcoming celebration, but my bet is that those with the best excuses won't need them . . .

It doesn't pay. All work and no play makes you pretty dull. Drop into Racine's and listen to the ball game with the fellows. They serve fine meals there, too. SAFE

Solter's Homer In 10th Inning Defeats Chisox

Feller Wins Season's Eighth Game, Rain Stops 2nd Tilt

CHICAGO, Sept. 28 (AP)—Julius Solter's 19th home run of the season in the 10th inning of the first game of what was to have been a double-header today gave the Indians a 7 to 6 victory.

The second game was called on account of darkness after the White Sox had assumed a 10 to 5 lead after the first half of the fourth inning. It was not a legal game.

Thornton Lee, who suffered his 10th loss of the season, gave up 12 hits, in the first game three of which were homers by John Kroner, Hal Trosky and Solter.

Bob Feller was credited with his eighth victory of the year when he took up where Willis Hudlin left off in the ninth, permitted the Sox to tie the score and halted the Comiskey bats in the 10th.

Purdue Eleven To Face Ohio State Saturday

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Sept. 28—Ohio State, the only Big Ten team that Purdue has yet to defeat on the gridiron, looms as what may be an insurmountable barrier in the path of the rebuilt Boilermakers as they open their conference season against the Buckeyes at Columbus, Ohio, next Saturday. The game, matching a Buckeye eleven that has distinct title aspirations against a potentially dangerous Purdue combination that must still be classed as an "unknown", will headline the day's gridiron offerings in the middle west.

Although football games are seldom decided on paper, past records, as well as available manpower, would seem to give the Buckeyes all the better of the argument, but the Boilermakers, neither optimistic nor pessimistic, have a spirit of grim determination that augurs well for a great battle.

Five times in history Purdue and Ohio State have matched gridiron strength, and as yet the Boilermakers have failed to score a single touchdown, let alone a victory.

In the face of the Buckeye power, Acting Coach Mal Elward has given every indication that he intends to build the Purdue attack around the brilliant passing of Cecil Isbell and the receiving ability of Jim Zachary, Don Powell, and Bill Vergane, a trio of veteran ends who will probably compare more than favorably with any pass receivers in the country.

Purdue's main lines worries are focussed on the center trio, for with Capt. Martino Schreyer and Clem Wolman at tackles, and veteran ends, the outposts should be more than able to hold their own.

The eventual backfield alignment still remains indefinite, with Cecil Isbell, at left halfback, the only permanent fixture.

The strength of the Buckeye defense, in the face of Boilermaker backfield inexperience, is expected to legislate against the effectiveness of the aerial attack, but Purdue is banking heavily on the air.

LATEST NEWS FROM

BIG TEN SQUADS

EVANSTON, Ill., Sept. 28, (AP)—Coach Lynn Waldorf took charge of Northwestern's second team today in a long scrimmage as he worked to strengthen the reserve forces before Saturday's opening game with Iowa State college. The Wildcat coach appeared satisfied with the progress of the first stringers, especially in forward passing, but expressed fear that there is too much difference between his best lineup and his second best.

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Sept. 28, (AP)—The Purdue Boilermakers scrimmaged today with two freshmen teams which used Ohio State formations and drilled at length on punting plays.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Sept. 28, (AP)—The emphasis which Coach Harry G. Kipke placed on passes as he drilled the Michigan football team on both offense and defense today indicated the Wolverines and Michigan State will resort to the air to a great extent in their encounter Saturday. Stark Ritchie, a senior, did most of the passing, finding the mark. The Wolves frequently intercepted or batted down "Michigan State" passes on defense.

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 28, (AP)—Coach Francis A. Schmidt sent his Ohio State university gridgers through a repertoire of wide open formations today, leading observers to believe that he will call upon his trickiest plays when Purdue invades Columbus Saturday. Schmidt thoroughly drilled his backs during most of the practice session. Mike Kabealo at quarterback and Nick Wasyluk at left half dominated the long passing drill with the former getting off some beautiful tosses.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Sept. 28, (AP)—The Illinois varsity put in another session today on defense against Notre Dame formations. Although the Illini meet De Paul Saturday, Coach Bob Zupke continued to look a week farther ahead as he sent the freshmen, clad in green jerseys against the regulars for an hour of scrimmage. The Illini did well against running plays, but were troubled by passes.

CHICAGO, Sept. 28, (AP)—Chicago's Maroons devoted two sessions today to fundamentals and offensive dummy scrimmage as Coach Clark Shaughnessy speeded up preparation for Saturday's opening game with Vanderbilt at Nashville, Tenn. The varsity showed improvement in handling the open game Shaughnessy intends to use in an effort to offset Chicago's lack of man-power.

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 28, (AP)—Freshmen armyed with Wisconsin gridgers, armed with Marquette plays, threw their wares at Coach Harry Stuhldreher's varsity for a half hour today with indifferent success, after which the varsity took the offensive in the remainder of a stiff scrimmage.

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 28, (AP)—New plays were issued to the University of Minnesota varsity football squad today and Coach Bernie Bierman sent the team through a long rehearsal in preparation for the game with the University of Nebraska Saturday.

Grid Notes

LINCOLN, Neb., Sept. 28 (AP)—Nebraska, tonight's football practice seemed to indicate, intends to throw the whole book at Minnesota Saturday.

Coach Biff Jones sent his squad through a long, hard scrimmage session with the freshmen and had his gridgers using passes, plunges, reverses, laterals, fakes and just about everything there is.

The first team rattled off five touchdowns, two on long passes, one on a lateral, one on a reverse and one on a fake. The seconds also got one, on a lateral, fifty yards in all.

COLUMBIA, Mo., Sept. 28 (AP)—Coach Don Faurot would "sell out for a point" he said tonight in discussing his University of Missouri football team's opener against the University of Colorado at Boulder Saturday.

The Tigers practiced in the rain for the first time this season, demonstrating a forward pass offense and defense that worked well both against the freshmen and the elements. Lateral passes also were tried in the workout.

LAWRENCE, Kas., Sept. 28 (AP)—Lyman Divens and Max Replogle did most of the tossing as Coach Ad Lindsey drove his University of Kansas football squad through a forward pass drill this afternoon. Dave Shirik, shifted from fullback, was working at one end and Russell Chitwood at the other, freshmen offered the opposition in the long dummy scrimmage.

MANHATTAN, Kas., Sept. 28 (AP)—Coach We Dry sent his Kansas State football squad through a long scrimmage today as the final home preparation for the game with Boston college at Boston Saturday, and at the conclusion of the drill named 30 players to make the trip. The squad will work out at Kalamazoo, Mich., Thursday, and in Boston Friday.

NORMAN, Okla., Sept. 29 (AP)—Coach Tom Stidham's Oklahoma Sooners may not have learned how to stop the dizzy passing game Tulsa's footballers pulled on them last week, but they certainly picked up a few offensive pointers.

The Sooner varsity hurried forwards and laterals all over the practice field today and scored nine touchdowns in scrimmage against the frosh.

Rain Handicaps Loser Again; Winner Gets Score of 70

By Bill King
BELMONT, MASS., Sept. 28 (AP)—Lord Byron Nelson of Reading, today proved to be a better mudder than Henry Picard of Hershey, his Pennsylvania professional golfing neighbor and Ryder cup teammate, as he gained a 5 and 4 victory in the scheduled 36-hole final round of the $12,000 Belmont open match play tournament.

With three fifths of the $5,000 finalists' purse at stake, Nelson, whose only previous important 1937 victory was in the Augusta (Ga.) national invitation tournament, twice beats back two-hole deficits during his morning round. He then spurred to victory by winning five of the first eight afternoon holes, while going one under the 651-yard course's par of 71 for his 32 holes.

All Even
Nelson and Picard were all even after their first 18, which both negotiated in 71, despite the fact that the Hershey professional, born in nearby historic Plymouth and competing in his native state for the first time since he quit the caddy ranks, twice led by decisive margins.

Rain, however, is the bane of Picard's competitive career, and when he drove off in a pelting storm after lunch, the downpour plagued his only weakness, his tee shots. During his last 14 holes against Nelson, Picard whacked at least half of his drives into the rough. He explained that he always had difficulty controlling a wet wooden club.

"Every time I have ever found myself in a position to win a tournament I wanted, it always rains," Picard said. "That has happened to me in the open, the P. G. A., the Canadian open and now I get it here. About 50 miles from where I was born and just where I wanted to win—but then Byron was putting today and when he's putting he's mighty hard to beat."

And Lord Nelson was putting. He had 15 one-putt greens, all the way down from 25 feet, and six of them went for birdies that won him four of the 11 holes he gained from Picard.

Both completed their morning rounds with par 71's but Nelson was one under for his last 15 holes and Picard wound up five other, after losing five of the first eight afternoon holes.

Picard probably kicked away all chances of victory on the 19th hole, when, after driving off while the storm was at its height, his ball landed behind a tree in the rough, where he was forced to waste a shot to regain the fairway. He then chipped 15 feet of the green and finally holed out for a six against Nelson's par four which put the latter one up.

Trio of Races Set for 1-Mile Prep Runners

Three separate championship races will be held in the intercollegiate one mile team race competition at the University of Iowa Oct. 9, Coach George T. Bresnahan announced Tuesday.

As the entries rose to 16 schools, he said that for the first time schools of classes A, B, and C would run in separate divisions, so runners in each enrollment class compete only against each other. Entries close Oct. 4.

Each team, the one scoring the lowest number of points in each class, will receive a team trophy, while individual prizes will go to high-ranking runners, Coach Bresnahan said.

The mile team races will occur on the cinder track between the fieldhouse and stadium. It is not a cross country event, the barrier race of 1.9 miles being scheduled for Oct. 23.

Entries to date in the three classes are:
Class A—Roosevelt, Wilson, McKinley, and Franklin of Cedar Rapids; Dubuque, Ottumwa, East Des Moines, Okaloosa, West Waterloo, Iowa City, and Burlington.
Class B—University high, Mechanicsville, Nashua.
Class C—Conesville, LeClaire.

Johnson County Judging Team Places 10th In Cattle Congress

Martin Warren, prominent young dairy calf showman, placed first in the state in individual judging of dairy classes at the Dairy Cattle congress which opened yesterday in Waterloo, County Agent Emmett C. Gardner announced last night.

Johnson county's judging team placed 10th in competition with 40 other teams. It was composed of Gerald Schwimley, Walter Winborn, Martin Warren and Howard Fountain. For Gerald and Walter it was the first judging competition.

The boys, accompanied by Gardner, drove to Waterloo early yesterday morning and returned last night.

Prophet

Another of those itinerary prophets wandered into the office yesterday, offering to foresee my future by the shape of my head and for "whatever you want to give me." . . . Just to prove his worth the chap, free of charge, glanced at my cranium, announced with a flourish that I have the "will to do." . . . He didn't say what.

This fellow, who may be on his way up by now, struck up quite a local business with less cynical observers than I, according to reports. I told him to go on his way. . . . All of which again proves that H. L. Mencken was right when he declared, "The only thing that will make the American people quit one quackery is a new one, more foolish than the last."

If you doubt the accuracy of Mencken, consider technocracy. . . . There were five million technocrats three years ago; there may be half a dozen somewhere now. . . . Townsendism, which threatened to upset the economic structure of America, was considered—only a year ago—the most potent political force in the nation. . . . Dr. Townsend is a nearly forgotten country doctor today. . . .

Or remember the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin, who declared he could ruin anyone in the nation politically? . . . He's still broadcasting his dulcet-voiced denunciations now. . . . But no one seems to mind much. . . . And in California today, I've read, the I. I. U. R. A.—the International Institute of Universal Research, is thriving, promising a millennium Dec. 20. . . . Books explaining the whole mysterious set-up sell at $2.50 each, and agents get a commission of 75 cents. . . .

Last week its leaders claimed 18,000,000 members, were enrolling more by the minute. . . . The reason—I. I. U. R. A. promises it will make it possible for everyone to work four hours a day, four days a week, eight months a year and earn minimum pay of $3,000 a year, advancing to $30,000 by rapid salary raises. . . . But none of the benefits will be in cash. . . . The organization will abolish money and substitute a new utopian method of exchange. . . .

All of which proves Barnum was right—although it's my personal belief that the birthrate is on the upturn. . . .

And those who remember this writer's babblings just after the Farley visit here now will find the casual statement of the postmaster general's resignation, here reported, nationally headlined. . . . Farley will resign, and my informant declares he hinted on his Iowa tour that Paul McNutt may well be the man to succeed him. . . .

And, incidentally, I haven't seen it headlined about, but there's a well-defined rumor that Roosevelt may be on the faculty of his alma mater, Harvard, come about 1941. . . .

One of the more successfully happy local couples has a simple secret, the wife tells me. . . . "I always agree with everything he says," she declares, "and then do what I'd planned."

Prof. Frank L. Mott, who heard the Roosevelt Constitution day speech, declares, admire him or not, the Roosevelt personality can't be denied. . . . When he speaks, Mott declares, the thousands assembled are so quiet not a word is lost. . . .

And everytime I form a new friendship I'm again convinced first impressions are nearly always wrong. . . . I have half a dozen friends I violently disliked on first meeting. . . . I suppose it's true the shallow ones put up the

For a Laugh Jack Benny Tells His Simple Rules

By JACK STINNETT AP Feature Service Writer

Rule No. 1 in Jack Benny's catechism for comedians is: "Never tell golf jokes in the winter time."

No. 2: "No man ever got kicked walking in front of a mule."

And just what, I asked Mr. Benny, does this cryptic catechism mean? It must mean plenty for in 20 years Benny has gone to the front most easily torn down on close scrutiny. . . .

It seems to be a phenomena that never fails. . . . Few improve their grade points second semester of a school year. . . .

top with it in vaudeville, radio and the movies.

As Simple As That Benny shifted his cigar and said: "Simple. In the first place, be believable. The best joke ever written loses its punch if you start by saying 'Of course, this is utterly impossible.'"

"I learned that before I ever left Waukegan. When I was fiddlin' in the orchestra pit, we had a comedian who, in the middle of the biggest blizzard in 40 years, used to start a joke with, 'A few minutes ago, I was standing on the corner waiting for a streetcar.' That joke did a nose dive into the footlights."

"In the second place, I mean that if you are going to be any good in this business you have to stay out in front. What is funny today is a Joe Miller tomorrow."

Some Benny Musts Benny protests he doesn't want to pose as the Sage of Sidesplit

Alley but there are a few other musts and must-nots in his handbook for humorists:

1. When the person who is not supposed to be funny says something funny, it generally is a much bigger laugh than when the comedian makes the same crack. Give the other persons on your program a break.

2. The only time good material costs too much is when it is a dollar more than your bankroll. More comedians are ruined because they are too tight to pay for good jokes than because they lack ability to be comic.

3. "The flavor of a funny situation lasts; most jokes are forgotten before the laugh (if any) dies."

Carlos Molina's Tango Band Will Play for Pica Ball Oct. 8

South American Orchestra To Open All-University Party Year At Journalist-Sponsored Ball

Tickets for Ball To Go On Sale Monday In Iowa Union

Carlos Molina will bring his tango band to Iowa for the first all-university party of the season, the Pica Ball. Oct. 8 is the date, 9 to 12 p.m. the time and Iowa Union lounge the place.

The Pica Ball will open the party season in a blaze of South American music well mixed with northern swingtime. Although the party will be informal as usual, there will be nothing sporty about it. The swish of long dresses in an atmosphere of soft lights and tropic palms will match the the romantic rhythm of the band from the south.

Brandt Accepts Drake Position

Eye Research Worker Takes Psychology Professorship

Herman F. Brandt, who formerly served as a technical assistant to Prof. Frederic B. Knight of the college of education and the psychology department has been appointed professor of applied psychology at Drake university, it was announced yesterday.

While connected with the university, Mr. Brandt did research work on the eye and perfected a bi-dimensional eye movement camera which accurately photographs every eye movement.

He assisted Professor Knight, who recently resigned to accept a position at Purdue university, from 1935 to 1937 while working on a Ph. D. degree. He received the degree in June.

Brandt was chairman of the education department, professor of psychology and chairman of the bureau of appointments at Doane college, Crete, Neb., from 1927 to 1935.

Pep Frat Asks For Members

Invites Quad Council To Name 6 Students; Co-ops One

A resolution inviting the Quad council to appoint six students to serve as members of Pi Epsilon Pi, pep fraternity, was passed at a meeting of the fraternity last night. An invitation was also issued to each men's cooperative dormitory to appoint a member.

Hyman Andich, A4 of Rock Island, Ill., was elected president of the group; Jack Dale, A3 of Davenport, vice-president, and Frank Brandon, A2 of Philadelphia, Pa., secretary-treasurer.

"Open invitations have been issued in former years for men to join the fraternity, but they brought no response. So this year we are inviting the men's dormitories to appoint members," Andich announced last night.

University Will Hold Forensic Meet in March

Institutions in 10 States To Send Speakers For Contests

Selected universities and colleges of about 10 states will send debate teams and individual speakers to the University of Iowa in March for the annual forensic tournament.

Although the definite dates have not yet been announced, preliminary plans call for the affair to occur about March 4 and 5.

In addition to about five rounds of debate, competition speakers will vie in extempore and oratory contests, Prof. A. C. Baird, director of debate, announced yesterday.

Held for the seventh year, the tournament probably will include midwestern, northern, southern, and southwestern institutions.

A RARE OPPORTUNITY IN FURS

A Glorious Array of Beautiful Coats Just 3 Days--Wed., Thurs., Fri.

Here's a timely event of unusual importance. Through close co-operation with the Cownie Fur Factory, we are bringing to Iowa City an exceptional collection of furs—at exceptional values.

Authentic styles, approved by Paris, Hollywood, New York. Choice pelts, hand-picked for beauty and durability, carefully fashioned by Cownie craftsmen into coats we're proud to show—and you'll be proud to wear.

Mere words could never do these coats justice. You must see them. Feel the soft, luxurious furs. Admire the lovely new styles. See how attractive they look on you.

Despite a rising fur-market, our prices on these coats are still remarkably low—made low by far-sighted advance planning. But don't expect to find such low prices later in the season. That's why this showing is so timely.

But remember—it's for three days only—Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. Be sure to come.

Sorlien Pleads 'Not Guilty' at Arraignment for Manslaughter

Mason City Man Faces Trial As Result of Dr. Drain's Death

Iowa Professor Fatally Injured June 5 In Auto Smash

Charged with manslaughter in connection with the auto crash death of a University of Iowa professor, O. C. Sorlien of Mason City will be tried here during the September term of district court, his lawyer, Attorney D. C. Nolan said last night.

Sorlien pleaded "not guilty" when he was arraigned before District Judge James P. Gaffney yesterday afternoon. Sorlien posted a $2,000 bond and was released.

The crash victim, Dr. Charles L. Drain, acting director of the bureau of dental hygiene, incurred fatal injuries June 5 when his car collided with Sorlien's machine four miles north of here.

Dr. Drain died shortly after arriving at University hospital. His wife was uninjured. The accident occurred on U. S. highway 161 at 6:30 p. m.

Sorlien was bound over to the Johnson county grand jury June 7, and he was indicted last Tuesday. The Mason City motorist has been free on a $2,500 bond.

Coroner George D. Callahan held an inquest two days after the accident and ordered Sorlien held on two charges, driving a car while intoxicated and reckless driving.

To Hold Rites For Mrs. Dent Yates At Bordwell Residence

Funeral service for Mrs. Dent Yates, mother of Mrs. Percy Bordwell, will be held tomorrow morning at 10 a. m., in the Bordwell residence, 111 E. Bloomington street. Burial will be at 10 a. m. Friday morning in Forest Hills cemetery, Kansas City, Mo.

Mrs. Yates, who was 72 years years old, lived with the Bordwells for the last 10 years. She died yesterday morning at Mercy hospital.

She is survived by Mrs. Bordwell; a son, Robert Dent Yates of Madison, Wis.; a sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Erb of Visalia, Cal., and a brother, Joseph Cawley of Davenport.

Gene Humble in school with Robert Shaw teaching

There is no whispering, passing of notes or classroom misdemeanors in the Humble district school, nine miles from Columbus, Kan. For the school has only one pupil, Gene Humble, 9, and one teacher, Robert Shaw. The situation developed when a school bus from Mineral, Kan., began hauling high school pupils away from the Humble district to the Mineral high school. Grade school pupils, also, are permitted to attend the Mineral school without any ad-cost, thus they too began riding the bus because it came to their door. But young Gene's relatives gave the school site to the district and a brother is a member of the school board; thus he alone refused to "desert."

Swiss Professor Will Deliver Lecture Here This Afternoon

Dr. Hadorn Will Speak On Experiments In Embryology

Dr. Ernest Hadorn of the University of Bern, Switzerland, biologist and authority on embryology, will deliver a lecture this afternoon at 4 o'clock in room 205, zoology building.

The topic of his lecture will be "Experiments on Developmental and Hereditary Potencies of Nucleus and Cytoplasm."

Dr. Hadorn, who is in the United States as a visiting Rockefeller fellow, has spent the last year doing research in important scientific laboratories of the country. He has done experimental work in embryology at Harvard university, in Rochester, N.Y., and at the Marine Biological laboratory, Wood's Hall, Mass. He plans to return to Switzerland soon.

A specialist in embryology, he has done considerable work in the study of hormone-like substances and in the development of the larvae of fruit flies.

Exports of German beer to the United States during the first five months of this year were double the shipments during the same period in 1936.

Doctor Outlines Child Diseases

Lectures on Infectious Ills of Children At Club Meeting

"Infectious Diseases Among Children" was the title of the lecture delivered by Dr. R. H. Heeren of University hospital to the Child Conservation club yesterday afternoon. Members met at 2:30 p. m. in the home of Mrs. Ernest Bright, 220 George street.

Hostesses were Mrs. Nathan Moore Jr., Mrs. Walter F. Merriam and Mrs. Ellis Crawford.

Four points were outlined by Dr. Heeren in his discussion of communicable diseases among children: first, the source of infection, the principal ones of which are carriers, cases and animals; second, the means by which the infection gains entrance into the body; third, the place of entry and fourth, a plan of defense.

Persons have no control over a disease unless they know the means by which it is spread, according to Dr. Heeren. Although it is believed that infantile paralysis is due to an infection in the respiratory tract, for instance, the real cause of its spread is not known.

In a consideration of the control of infectious diseases, Dr. Heeren listed good hygienic habits, early segregation, artificial immunization and general resistance as the most important points to be studied.

water over her men-folks she turned toward the CCC lads and explained: "Keeps the flies off'n 'em."

The bureau of fisheries information service had this one to answer:

"Dear Sirs: I am a boy 10 years old. I just had the measles. Five days later my gold-fish died. Did they catch it from me?"

He turned up stary-eyed with hope at the Washington traffic bureau. He was from Des Moines. He had parked his car next to the Henry Wadsworth Longfellow statue. Now he couldn't find it. Please, was Henry?

The desk sergeant groaned as he thought of the scores of statues in Washington.

But within half an hour the police had located Longfellow: The Fine Arts commission had given them the answer.

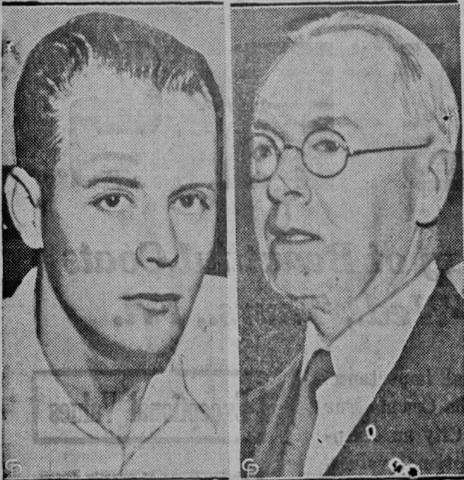

POLITICAL MEE-OW: Somebody's started the story about the $2,000-a-year clerk who lost his job and started to hunt another.

He was shunted to one of the new bureaus that was in need of clerks. But its rules set a salary of $3,000 for clerks.

So, says the story, everyone sat around in a blue funk because they liked the applicant and wanted to hire him. Then the bureau chief had a bright idea.

"Would you consider the job at $3,000?" he asked. The clerk would.

Alcatraz Rebellion Smashed

A rebellion among convicts at Alcatraz prison, island fortress where the federal government keeps its most hardened criminals, was believed smashed when 100 "strikers" were locked in their cells. First word to the public of the strike was disclosed when Warden James A. Johnston, right, was slugged by Burton Phillips, left, Kansas kidnaper and bank robber, in the prison dining room.

Phillips struck the warden from behind with his fists as Johnston walked through the dining room after interviewing 100 convicts confined to their cells because they refused to work. The warden was rushed to the prison hospital, but his wounds were not believed serious. In January, 1936, Johnston was slugged by another prisoner, striking by placing the ringleaders in solitary confinement.

50 Johnson County Men Will Attend Picnic In Washington

Rep. Edward C. Eicher will entertain democratic committeemen at an informal open forum and turkey dinner this afternoon and evening at the Washington, Ia., country club.

Farm and labor legislation and the problem of judicial reform which may be proposed at special winter session of congress will be discussed by Representative Eicher at 2:30.

Mrs. Eicher will serve a turkey dinner to the guests at 5 o'clock. Fifty Johnson county democratic committeemen are expected to attend the picnic.

Brrrr! Light Rain Lowers Mercury

Iowa City's highest temperature yesterday, 58 degrees between 3 and 6 p. m., was below normal, hydraulic laboratory observers said.

The city's lowest temperature, 45 degrees, recorded during before sunset-hours, was normal. The light rain between 2 and 6 a. m. was responsible for the city's sub-normal temperatures.

The total rainfall yesterday was .12 of an inch, and brought Iowa City's rainfall since the start of the year to approximately two and one-half inches below the normal precipitation.

About 80,000 fewer persons lived on farms in the United States at the beginning of 1937 than a year earlier. The farm population on January 1 of this year was 31,729,000.

Westminster Choir Meets Tonight At Presbyterian Church

The Westminster choir of the First Presbyterian church will meet for rehearsal tonight between 7 and 8 o'clock.

The choir director, J. G. Saetveit, invites prospective members to meet in the choir room of the church at Market and Clinton streets. Rehearsals will be held every Wednesday at 7 p. m.

19 Departments Offer Saturday Students 53 Courses

The first class day of the fall will arrive Saturday for hundreds of non-resident University of Iowa students.

They are the registrants in the Saturday class project who report for the first of 10 meetings to study in 53 courses of 19 departments.

From towns within a radius of nearly 200 miles, the Saturday class students will assemble. It is possible that the record of 688 students, set last year, will be broken, for the project has become more popular yearly.

Classes will convene from 8:10 a. m. to 1:40 p. m., and credit for the successful completion of each course will be three semester hours.

Among the departments which are offering courses are chemistry, commerce, education, music, graphic and plastic arts, botany, journalism and child welfare.

Dates of the other meetings are Oct. 16 and 30, Nov. 13, Dec. 4, Jan. 8, Feb. 5 and 19 and March 5 and 26.

Two Fined On License Count

Moline Man, Employer Pay Local Police Court Fines

Homer Thomas of Moline was fined $26.50 in police court yesterday morning on the double charge of failing to observe a stop sign and driving a truck without a license. His employer, Albert Hurly, also of Moline, was haled into court and fined $25 and costs for employing an unlicensed driver.

Five Iowa Citizens also paid fines for traffic violations. E. Escalona and Lulu Smith each paid $1 with costs suspended for failing to observe a stop sign. On the same charge, M. Alice Stewart paid $2 with costs suspended.

D. W. O'Bryan and Walter Chudwick each paid $1 for overtime parking.

Booked for intoxication charges, Earl Jackaway received a suspended fine of $25 and costs on the condition he leave town immediately.

Six Farm Loan Requests Filed

Applications Sent To Regional Office For Final Action

Applications for farm loans have been received from six Johnson county residents. The loans, already approved by the local rehabilitation committee, have been forwarded to the regional office for final action, Floyd B. Beck, district rural rehabilitation supervisor, said. Approved loan applications totaled $4,390.

Although seven other applications are still pending approval and investigation by the local committee, Beck reports that the loan petitions number the same as for 1936. Because the rural rehabilitation setup is better equipped to take care of the loans and the funds, loans will be given as soon as they are approved by the regional office.

Five Men Deny Guilt in Topsy Driving Cases

Five men, all charged with driving automobiles while intoxicated, entered pleas of not guilty in Johnson county district court before Judge James P. Gaffney yesterday.

Bond for the men, E. J. Novak, Albert Slade, John V. Halter, Louis Burleson and Lee Whetstone, was set at $1000 each. Each posted bond.

Board Discusses Problems of State Library Meeting

At its regular business meeting yesterday afternoon, the public library board discussed problems to be taken up at the state library board meeting in Davenport Oct. 14, 15 and 16.

A central depository library is one of the main issues to be considered at Davenport.

A new all-time travel record over the Delaware River bridge in Philadelphia was established recently when 70,175 automobiles crossed the span in one day.

Law Library Adds 2000 Books in Year

A total of 2,000 books has been added to the law library during the last year, Helen S. Moylan, librarian, announced yesterday. Approximately 69,700 volumes are now contained in the law collection, one of the most extensive in the state.

Business Men Warned Against Change Artists

Local business men should be on guard for a group of short-change artists reported Monday in Mt. Pleasant, Chief of Police W. H. Bender advised last night. Working separately, one of the group will enter a store, make a small purchase and offer a bill of large denomination in payment. After switching the change by sleight-of-hand, he then asserts that he has been short-changed. One man is described as about 40 years old and the other three about 25 years old. They are driving a dark-colored car bearing Iowa license plates 64-8917. State health departments in several states now designate suitable areas as being free of pollen that causes hay fever.

Renovate Library At Law Building

The law library, located on the third floor of the law building, has been renovated recently. A new linoleum floor covering in mottled design of black and buff has been laid, and new Venetian blinds have been installed at the south windows of the reading room.

Travis To Start Series of Clinic Speeches Today

Prof. Lee E. Travis, head of the psychology department and director of the speech clinic, will talk on "Speech Correction in the State and in the University" over WSUI this afternoon at 4:30. This afternoon's program will be the first in a series of speech clinic of the air broadcasts this year. The programs will be a weekly feature and will present various members of the speech clinic, who will discuss problems of speech defectives.
