1,000 Prisoners On 'Hunger Strike' At Joliet Penitentiary

Convicts Balk At 'Poor Food,' Parole Change

Warden Mobilizes All Guards for Possible Emergency

JOLIET, Ill., Oct. 4 (AP)—Three thousand convicts, locked in their cells in the Stateville penitentiary, were fed on a "take it or leave it" cafeteria basis tonight as Warden Joseph E. Ragen sought to break a "hunger strike" which started with a nucleus of 200 prisoners at breakfast.

Guards wheeled cartloads of food down the cellblock corridors, handing the supper through locked and barred doors to those wanting it. Four hundred other inmates not involved in the strike, who performed their usual daily tasks in the prison shops, were fed in the dining room as usual.

Reveals Menus The warden estimated about 1,000 in all refused to eat supper.

Saying the quality and variety of food was one complaint of the prisoners, most of whom earlier in the day spent their meal periods by rattling their tin cups and dishes, Warden Ragen made public the menus offered.

For dinner the convicts were given hamburger steak, boiled potatoes, gravy, fresh vegetables, bread and coffee. Lunch consisted of beef stew, dumplings, vegetables, bread and coffee. Stewed prunes, cereal, milk, sugar, scrambled eggs, bread and coffee were served for breakfast.

Ready for "Emergency" The warden, who mobilized all prison guards for duty and announced "we are prepared for any emergency," said the prisoners also were dissatisfied with new regulations of the parole board, intended to reduce the number of paroles. He said only three paroles were granted from 274 applications in September.

Johnson County Husking Contest Set for Oct. 20

The Johnson county cornhusking championship will be decided Wednesday, Oct. 20, it was decided at a meeting of the Johnson county farm bureau board of directors last night.

A committee composed of Roy Smalley, chairman, William Steinbrech, and Edward Opfeld will meet Saturday night to decide where the contest will be held and to select the rest of the committees.

Any husker with a good record of past performances and who is a resident of Johnson county will be allowed to compete.

The contest is an annual event sponsored by the Johnson county farm bureau. Last year's champion, Arthur Schuessler of Lone Tree, husked a total of 2,292 pounds of corn.

The winner of the local contest will go to the state meet to be held near Oskaloosa Nov. 2. The winner of the state contest will go to the national event at Marshall, Mo., Nov. 4.

Police Raid Four Taverns in Business Area at Davenport

DAVENPORT, Oct. 4 (AP)—Davenport police raided four taverns tonight in the heart of the downtown business section. They said they seized about 200 bottles of intoxicating liquor.

Officers also visited other taverns, but failed to confiscate any liquor.

Police said the raids were staged as part of a campaign to halt the sale of liquor by the drink in taverns.

Bartenders on duty at the taverns where liquor was found were jailed. The raiders said they would be arraigned in justice of the peace court on a charge of illegal possession of liquor.

'Fettered' Press Could Happen In U. S.—Stahlman

NEW YORK, Oct. 4 (AP)—President James G. Stahlman of the American Newspaper Publishers association warned the seventh annual Herald Tribune forum on current problems today attempts had been made, are being made and would continue to be made to "fetter" the American press.

Referring to regimentation of the press abroad, he said "Lulled into a coma of false security by the dulcet tones of demagogues and spell-binders, we in America have so far been content to think these things can only happen elsewhere.

"How silly! How stupid! How suicidal! The dark night will come when we as a people decide we are ready for the darkness."

Stahlman urged greater vigilance against abridgement of such freedom and cited the "reciprocal responsibility" of the press to print the truth and the people to use the truth intelligently.

"A free press," he said, "is no publisher's right. It is the sole right of a free people and the newspapers are but the trustees of that right."

Delivering the keynote speech of the forum session devoted to "the status of a free press in the world today," Stahlman enumerated as illustrations of attempts against press freedom the murder of Don Mellett, Canton, Ohio, editor, in 1926, the Kentucky legislative investigation of a letter to the Louisville Courier-Journal, legal action taken against the Aberdeen, S. D., news for criticizing a court, Huey Long's Louisiana newspaper control laws and the murder of Walter Liggett, Minneapolis publisher, in 1935.

Windsors' Visit To U.S. Fails To Excite Britain

LONDON, Oct. 4 (AP)—Except for speculation on whether the Duke of Windsor received crown approval to visit Germany and the United States, news of the former monarch's projected tour stirred little interest in Britain tonight.

From King George down to the youngest member of Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's huge cabinet no official seemed to care where the duke and his American-born duchess went, just so it wasn't to England.

Newspapers, especially the conservatives, cautiously avoided speculative comment.

Some professed to see significance in the fact the press stressed details of Windsor's trip to Germany, while dismissing his United States visit casually. There still is some resentment over the duke's marriage to an American.

Observers who did venture comment connected the duke's recent Paris chat with two British government officials with the visits. They said it would be impossible for him to make such a semi-official trip without crown sanction, and added that it probably was conveyed to Windsor at the meeting.

(In Baltimore, Gen. Henry M. Warfield, uncle of the duchess, said he believed the couple, whose announced purpose will be to study housing conditions, would arrive in the United States before Christmas.)

Hooded Men Shoot Negro, 30, in Florida

MILTON, Fla., Oct. 4 (AP)—Five hooded men, halting Sheriff Joe Allen of Santa Rosa County on a midnight drive, seized a negro prisoner and shot him to death.

The Negro, 30-year-old J. C. Evans, was charged with a "crime against nature" involving an attack on a 12-year-old white boy, and with robbing a filling station. He was being brought here for trial today.

It was Florida's third lynching and the south's eighth this year.

Levitt Contests His Eligibility

Overflow Crowd Hears First Day's Court Proceedings

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4 (AP)—Justice Hugo L. Black unsmilingly took his place at the majestic mahogany bench of the supreme court today and, staring straight ahead, heard his colleagues postpone action on a motion designed to unseat him.

Black Appoints Jew

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4 (AP)—Associate Justice Hugo L. Black appointed a Jew today to be his law clerk.

He added Jerome A. Cooper of Birmingham, Ala., to a staff which already included a Catholic secretary and a Catholic Negro messenger.

Attention was called to Cooper's religion in statement issued through the court.

Second Motion Patrick Henry Kelly, angular and insistent Boston attorney, also attempted to address the court on a second and similar motion, but desisted at Hughes' request and submitted his motion in writing to Elmore J. Copley, the clerk of the court.

Both motions were separate and distinct from the controversy over Black's admitted former membership in the Ku Klux Klan, which brought a crowd that filled every cranny of the courtroom and overflowed into long queues in the corridors outside.

Officers said more than $100 of the checks had been returned, but Mull declared he could not remember the exact number of checks he had written.

Iowan Finds He Can't Run Store On Bad Checks

MOUNT AYR, Oct. 4 (AP)—Alva Mull, 56, was sentenced to from one to 15 years in the state penitentiary today after pleading guilty to a charge of forgery.

Ringgold County Sheriff O. K. Knight said Mull confessed he used forged checks to purchase goods to stock a store in his Ringgold home.

Sheriff Night said Mull had told prospective customers his prices would be 10 per cent below the current level and minus the Iowa sales tax.

Mull said he made his purchases in stores in southern Iowa and northern Missouri. He also said he bought goods from the Fairmont creamery at Omaha, Neb.

City May Vote on 2 School Bond Issues

Iowa Citizens will be asked to bond $90,000 to purchase a centrally-located site for the proposed $725,000 high school building if a special election petition circulating today is granted by the school board.

The four-year location problem will be ended if Iowa Citizens vote on the two-proposition ballot which the petition demands.

The other proposition will ask the voters to bond $398,750 to supplement the PWA grant of $326,250 for the project.

The modern educational plant will be built upon a centrally-located site if 60 per cent of the voters approve the $90,000 bond issue or on the Morningside site in

Iowa City Case To Be Argued

High Tribunal To Hear Power Suit Later This Month

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4 (AP)—Eight administration laws are involved in the mass of litigation awaiting action by the supreme court at the term which began today.

The court's new member, Associate Justice Hugo L. Black, thus will have an early opportunity to sit in judgment upon measures for which he voted while a member of the United States senate.

More than 470 cases, most of which have accumulated since adjournment of the 1936 term last June, are pending. The court is expected to announce next Monday those it will consider and those it will not.

The tribunal already has agreed to pass upon challenges of the government's right to make loans and grants for the building of publicly-owned hydro-electric plants. Arguments probably will be heard later this month in cases filed by the Alabama Power company and the Iowa City Light and Power company. The Duke Power company has asked the court to decide the same issue.

Don't DO That!

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4 (AP)—An attractive woman attorney, who did not reveal her name, had to check her hat today before she could enter the supreme court room.

When she sought admission wearing a hat, a guard reminded her she was attempting to violate one of the unwritten court don'ts. Others are: Don't giggle. Don't use lipstick. Don't chew gum.

He predicted labor and farm legislation would result in lower relief costs.

He forecast taxes would go no higher.

The president blazed a trail of important speeches across North Dakota and Minnesota during the day.

At Grand Forks, in the morning, he told an estimated 35,000 assembled in the fairgrounds that a surplus crop control measure must be enacted without delay.

Addresses Farmers At St. Paul tonight, addressing a meeting of farmers and others from a platform near the railway station, he linked the farm measure with the wage and hour bill as necessary to national soundness. The former reached neither floor of congress last session. The latter died in the house rules committee.

Sandwiched between the two main speeches was a brief platform talk at Fargo, in which he said he wished the "calamity howlers and the narrow minded stay-at-homes" had been with him on his trip so they could have a national point of view.

F.R. Makes New Plea for Wage And Crop Laws

President Indicates He May Call Special Session

By JOSEPH H. SHORT ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 4 (AP)—President Roosevelt, with fresh courage born of his western trip, made new demands tonight for wage-hour and surplus crop control laws to replace "cornerstones" of his program "knocked out by the supreme court."

He indicated he might call a special session of congress to act on the farm bill.

Censures Court He held up the court here and at Grand Forks, N. D., as having thwarted his program — speaking at a time when his appointee, Justice Hugo L. Black, was taking his seat on the high bench, after a bitter controversy over his former affiliation with the Ku Klux Klan.

He said he was more convinced than ever of the need for nearly uniform standards of wages, adding that he looked to all sections to support him in this.

He said the "twin" wage - hour and child labor law was not intended to restore all the features of NRA, but to restore fair standards to the workers of the nation.

Peace Gesture He made a new gesture of friendship to the farmer-laborites of this state.

He predicted labor and farm legislation would result in lower relief costs.

He forecast taxes would go no higher.

He indicated strongly his purpose had been bolstered by his recent travels, saying he found "overwhelming evidence" for the wage-hour bill on his tour between the coasts.

He speculated at Grand Forks that the supreme court might approve proposed new voluntary crop control legislation although he said he saw little practical difference between it and the old AAA farm contract which the court said was illegal.

'Cleaner Upper'

Frank R. McNinch

Appointed by President Roosevelt to "clean up" the Federal Communications Commission, Frank R. McNinch is sworn in as chairman of the FCC. Known for his work as chairman of the Federal Power Commission, the president "borrowed" him from that efficient commission to reorganize the communications commission.

Man Posing As Officer Sought In N.Y. Slaying

NEW YORK, Oct. 4 (AP)—Leaders of a handpicked army of 75 New York detectives tonight entertained the theory a man posing as a policeman might have slain 20-year-old Lewis Weiss and Frances Hajek, 18, the lipstick-branded victims of gunshot and stab wounds on a lonely Queens roadside.

Sifting their feeble clues amid the vain questioning of nearly a hundred persons, they expressed opinion the week end tragedy possibly could be traced to a uniformed intruder.

Wallet in Hand The theory was based on the fact that Weiss' hand clutched his wallet when the bodies were found.

"It is my belief," said Assistant Chief Inspector John A. Lyons, head of the detective bureau, "that someone pretending to be a policeman may have come up to the parked car, saying, 'I am a policeman, what are you doing here?' and that the boy pulled out his wallet to identify himself."

The couple had not been robbed and the girl was not ravished, police said, theorizing that the only reason Weiss had withdrawn his wallet was to identify himself.

Seen at Skating Rink Attempting to learn whether the slain couple were members of the "Mysterious Rollers," a skating organization, detectives went to a rink in Mineola where Weiss and Miss Hajek skated and were last seen Saturday night.

Acquaintances at the roller rink were questioned but none reported having seen the couple after they departed with the announced intention of visiting another rink at Elmont, enroute home from Mineola.

'Bushwhacker' Suspected Discovery of an apparently recently deserted picknickers' retreat or hobo "jungle" near the scene moved police to entertain the possibility they were victims of a "bushwhacker," the police name for lone roamers who frequent such places.

Police said remnants of food indicated the place had been occupied within the last 24 hours. The bodies were taken from the morgue tonight to a Queens village mortuary. Weiss will be buried tomorrow and Miss Hajek Wednesday after funeral services which their parents hope to keep private.

'Fraternity' Blaze Is False Alarm

Local firemen answered a call to the "Phi Delta" fraternity house at 11 p.m. yesterday. The person turning in the call gave the address as North Riverside drive. Since the Phi Delta Theta fraternity is located at 729 N. Dubuque street, the alarm is believed to have been turned in by a prankster.

7 Gunboats And 2 Planes Trail 'Pirates'

New Patrol Swings Into Action After Attack On Destroyer

ALICANTE, Spain, Oct. 4 (AP)—An exciting six-hour hunt for a pirate submarine by seven British destroyers and two seaplanes apparently ended tonight with a mysterious explosion and fire at sea.

No explanation was given by the searchers looking for a submarine of unknown nationality that earlier launched a torpedo against a British destroyer.

Explosions Heard Shore observers, however, heard numerous explosions as it from depth bombs and reported at least one was followed by a large column of smoke which hung over the sea for 10 minutes.

Two British warships cruising 25 miles east of Cape San Antonio, scene of the attack on the destroyer Basilisk, were seen to increase their speed suddenly just before the explosions were heard.

Zigzagging over a wide course, the warships apparently were dropping depth bombs against a submarine objective. The searchers were joined quickly by other units of the British detachment in nearby waters.

(The British Spanish agency reported two British destroyers were involved in the pirate attack, but the British admiralty in London announced only the Basilisk was under fire.)

Green Charges CIO Becoming Political Tool

DENVER, Colo., Oct. 4 (AP)—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, said tonight the C. I. O. was being used as the nucleus for a political organization designed to make John L. Lewis president of the United States.

"I appeal to the American people and the organized workers of America to choose between an unselfish, common sense political policy in labor and one dictated by unreasoning personal ambition, doomed from the outset to failure," Green said in a radio speech.

Green's speech tonight was his second blast of the day at Lewis and his Committee for Industrial Organization. He opened the A. F. of L.'s 57th annual convention by pledging the federation to increasing war to destroy the C. I. O. and to support democracy against the type of dictatorship he said Lewis represented.

"For two years the American Federation of Labor has been patient towards the C. I. O.," Green said. "First we warned its leaders that their course would destroy the unity of the labor movement in this country."

"They paid no heed to our warnings. Instead, they rashly proceeded to break the laws and constitution of the American Federation of Labor and seize control of several of its affiliated unions. They went further and directed the activities of these unions along lines which were in open violation of our law."

Mass Execution In the Orient

WARS HAVE been fought on this planet for centuries. Men have striven against men, clans against clans and nations against nations.

But seldom, if ever, has been seen the heartless brutality which characterizes Japan's onslaught against China. The Japanese government recently defended as "strategically necessary" the aerial bombing of Nanjing.

This was Japan's reply to the American note of protest sent by Secretary Hull following Japanese aerial attacks on large Chinese centers of civilian population.

Of course, many of the stories we hear about these outrages may be, and probably are, mere propaganda. But it is impossible to deny the mute testimony of pictures of China's war victims, of shattered bodies, of dead and dying strewn alike in desolated streets.

If wars must be fought, it is evident that soldiers must be killed. But is it likewise warranted that large sections of a civilian population be subjected to wholesale slaughter? No, Japan, the answer is NO!

It Looks Like

A Showdown on Spain

Most of us have been occupied watching the slaughter in China these last few weeks, and we may have missed what has been developing with reference to the Spanish civil war. Those who have been first-hand observers are warning, however, that events now occurring in Spain look like a showdown in the very near future.

It's not headline news any more, this war in Spain. It's an old story, a war which began in July, 1936, in what at first looked like an uprising of conservative elements against the radicals then in control of the Spanish government. By Aug. 1, charges were being made—and substantiated—that the Italian government was sending planes to help the rebels, and by Aug. 4, that Russia's Soviet government was raising money to help the loyalists.

France's popular front was sympathetic with the loyalists from the start. Hitler naturally sided with Mussolini as soon as it became apparent that Il Duce was in the war. Britain from the first pointed its main efforts at keeping the war confined to Spain.

This last summer has been featured by excitement over "pirate" submarines in the Mediterranean, which led to the latest and up to now most ominous development of the Spanish war.

Britain and France have gradually stiffened their determination to get foreign soldiers out of Spain and let the Spaniards finish their own war. A new naval patrol agreement is now reported to have been closed by Britain and France, with Italy more or less forced into it, allotting new patrol zones in the Mediterranean.

What the new agreement amounts to is notice by France and Great Britain that Italy is to stop shipping men and materials into Spain. If Britain and France mean business, and if Italy defies them by continuing to make such shipments, what then? If a boatload of Italian "volunteers" bound for Spain runs afoul of British or French patrol ships, suppose it is turned back or fired on?

It is useless to make predictions; but it is extremely interesting and important to watch Europe's story unfold.

If Britain and France should make their blockade stick, the Spanish war seems likely to end in a victory for the loyalists—especially since part of the French border faces loyalist-controlled territory. Over this boundary war materials will probably move in increasing quantities as France warms up to the loyalists, and both Britain and France increase their pressure to keep Mussolini from making the Mediterranean an Italian lake.

If Mussolini forces Britain and France to back down, as he has done before, his men and supplies will continue to move into Spain, and Franco will probably win—becoming Spanish pro-consul for Mussolini.

Wars are peculiarly unpredictable. But many a foreign observer has been seeing the shadow on the wall. It looks as if a real showdown on Spain can't be put off much longer.

Please,

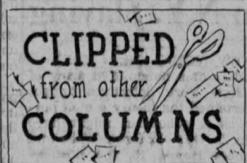

Mr. Hutchins

SPEAKING BEFORE members of the American Bar association at a recent meeting, Robert M. Hutchins, the University of Chicago's youthful president, declared himself as follows: "Few universities and few law schools seem much interested in anything but cook-book drill."

The noted Chicago educator was undoubtedly referring to the deplorable lack of ingenuity which the university student should develop in his classroom work. Courses are based upon a standardized pattern; creative thinking upon the part of the undergraduate is unnecessary. Here indeed is a problem which must be solved before our advanced educational system can be said to be satisfactory.

But has not President Hutchins gone too far in his indictment of the American universities? Upon campus after campus the students are given opportunity to participate in extra-curricular activities. Through the various student organizations the undergraduate is enabled to cultivate the qualities of leadership, initiative and salesmanship—all of which are more valuable to him in later years than the facts and figures gleaned from textbooks.

The classroom work may be little more than "cook-book drill." But in the extra-curricular world one can find numerous avenues for self-development. Are we right, Mr. Hutchins?

JOBS FOR ALL

AT THE turn of the century it seemed that the time might soon come when it could no longer be said that there were new jobs to be had in place of old. Then the automobile was transformed from a plaything to one of the necessities of life. Its manufacture gave employment to increasing thousands. It became one of the greatest of the country's industries. The radio industry followed. Again it might have seemed that there was a condition in which all the jobs had been created. But the process of making new jobs goes on.

Figures just published by the federal labor department show that airplane factories now employ 823 men for every hundred they employed in 1923 and 1924. In other news of the day there is evidence that the airplane industry is still in its infancy, although it is a lusty infant. This week plans are published showing the layout of six Boeing clipper which are expected to begin regular service between the United States and Europe next year. One of these flying boats will carry fifty passengers and two and one-half tons of cargo. How many men will be needed to meet the demands for such craft 10 years hence?

The government figures show that locomotive factories give work to 59 men as compared with 100 in the 1923-1925 period. This loss of jobs as compared to the sum total of jobs in the country becomes insignificant. And the new jobs which have been created in meeting the demands for other forms of transportation call for much the same kinds of skill that go into the making of locomotives.

The building of aircraft is destined to be one of the major industries of the country. Television will soon call for the apparatus to be placed in the homes of the nation. Recent weather in Boston has been of a kind to suggest the extent of the coming demand for air-cooling equipment in homes and places of business. It is another case in which mass production will bring a great blessing within the means of the multitude.

As of books, it may be said that of the making of jobs there is no end. There will be enough of them to go around in an age of shortened hours, when man is not called upon to work from sun to sun. There may be times when there will be jobs begging for workers.

ANOTHER JOB FOR THE FACE LIFTERS!

Clendening Predicts Soy Bean May Become Popular Food

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

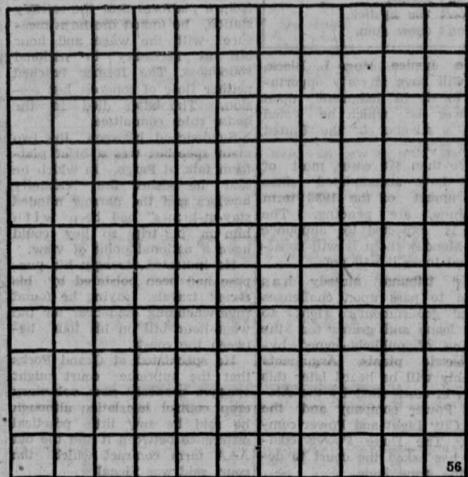

I predict that the soy bean, which has long been used in the Orient, will become in the near future a widely used food.

The flour is higher in protein and much lower in starch content than other flours and is, therefore, suitable as a bread substitute for diabetics and overweight people on a reduced diet.

Its proteins are similar to those of animal food, so that it can be used as a meat substitute. I have had within the last week a breakfast in which soy bacon was served, and can aver that it makes a good substitute.

It has been suggested as a substitute for milk for infants with eczema, who are sensitive to cow's milk. It reduces in the body to an alkaline ash, so that it is suitable for those who need to get

Tuning In with Margie Fastenow

The Al Jolson musical variety show, top-notch CBS-WABC program which goes on the air tonight at 8:30, will have Lum and Abner, radio's Pine Ridge philosophers, as guest stars.

The amount of carbohydrate or starch is variable, and in completely ripened beans it is said to be practically nothing. This, of course, is what we want in diabetic bread.

Protein Content Interesting: The protein content of soy is interesting. Chemists have found that about 200 substances, all falling into the class called amino acids, are linked together to make up what we call protein. Not all of these amino acids are found in one protein necessarily, and not all are necessary for human health and nutrition. But a good protein should have four: lysine, cystine, histidine and tryptophane. And the soy bean has all four.

By CHARLES P. STEWART: no prospect that the conservatives will be able to take it away from them; not by 1940, anyway.

And Wheeler, except on the supreme court enlargement issue, always has been away to the political and economic left.

He also is nominally a democrat. Other "possibilities," like Senator Robert M. LaFollette of Wisconsin and Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia of New York, who have been democratically suggested, never have been democrats. Their ideas may be all right, but not their labels—and labels count like everything in party conventions.

Wheeler is democratically o. k. True, he ran vice presidentially on the progressive ticket in 1924, but he has lived that down. No one charges it against him any more. On the opposite side, the republicans cannot afford to name nearly so decidedly conservative a candidate as the kind they have been nominating in the comparatively recent past.

Well, Vandenberg is a mild liberal. His liberality is pretty mild, but maybe he has enough of it in his system to "get by" with voters who, though liberalish, want to stay Republicans, too. Rampant liberals probably would turn thumbs down on him, but doubtless he would pass muster with the not too vehement ones, such as himself—or even a little more so that he is, up to a certain point.

He should catch the conservatives also. He would not be quite conservative enough for them. Still, if he were the nearest to a conservative candidate on any ticket, what could they do but make the best of him?

HOLLYWOOD—Hollywood is doing something now it never did before. It is using the screen to tell film fans how motion pictures are made. (Remember when Hollywood was afraid of "destroying illusions" about itself?)

But Hollywood took a tip, on this matter, from the many big corporations and industrial concerns that have been using camera and microphone to sell, "educate" and instruct retailers, salesmen, and in some cases consumers on the intricacies of their products.

Comparatively few of these industrial films reach the commercial film house, as did "These Thirty Years," the production of a leading car manufacturer (Henry Ford) four years ago. But if you look around you can see, at special showings, the inside story of tires, corks, cars, spark plugs, tooth pastes, iceboxes, railroads, whisky, biscuits, nickel fixtures, gasoline, and whatnot—free.

New Type of Trailer: Pat Dowling, one of Hollywood's successful makers of industrial films, estimates that nine-tenths of the pictures of this type are not intended for the commercial theatre, but go to schools, fairs, exhibits, and clubrooms, as well as to retailers and salesmen.

Occasionally, he says, an industrial firm of legitimate interest, entertaining and timely, will find its way to a theater screen—provided the manager deems it sufficiently entertaining. In these instances no money is exchanged. The manager pays no film rental fee, but the industrial producer runs the film.

That gang down in Arkansas—Marion C. Blackman's Society for the Encouragement of Commercial Advertisements in Motion Picture Theaters—is not expected to bog at what Hollywood has done. (But then Hollywood hasn't yet consulted Mr. Blackman.)

Frank Whiteback, Metro's exploitation chief, turned out a "short" entitled "The Romance of Celluloid," beginning with the making of raw film from cotton, and swing naturally into details of production at his studio. Evely and (I thought) inoffensively, he wound up with a "preview" of the new productions, obtaining a new sort of trailer with genuine fan interest.

Prof. Ralph M. Barnes of the mechanical engineering department has recently had a book, entitled "Motion and Time Study," published by John Wiley and Sons, Inc.

The material has been in use in lithographed form for several years at a number of prominent colleges and universities for specialized courses.

Investigations on manual work made by engineers, physiologists and psychologists were studied, and the findings are included in the volume. Three chapters discuss the principles of motion economy.

Professor Barnes personally selected or developed the case material used for illustrations in this book.

Malesevich Starts Off-Tackle Slant

Fullback Weiss Barely Makes Line of Scrimmage

Jack Watson, Daily Iowan photographer, witnessed the Marquette-Wisconsin football games last Saturday and brought back the following pictures. While Watson was snapping away, John Mooney, Iowan sports editor, perched in the press box covering the game for this paper. In the above picture, Bronko Male-sevich, slippery halfback (hidden to elude John Loerke (82) of Wisconsin and make the tackle. Others shown are Walt Cole (60) and Gene Brodhagen (95) of the Badgers. The gold of Marquette blended so well with the muddy terrain that several of the Marquette players, although in the foreground, could not be recognized.

Fullback Howard Weiss (70) takes a pass from center, pivots and fakes to Halfback Roy Bellin (85) and then plunges back toward the line looking for a hole.

Bill Schmitz (55) is shown blocking out a would-be tackler in this play. Although this play barely made the line of scrimmage, the Badgers finally went out to win the game 12-0 from their ancient intra-state rivals, Marquette, and snap the Hilltopper's string of conquest over Badger teams at two games.

New York Set For Series Opener Tomorrow

Yanks Favored Wednesday In 'Nickel Series'

Southpaws Hubbell And Gomez Slated To Hurl Opener

NEW YORK, Oct. 4 (AP) — New York's fifth baseball civil war begins this Wednesday at the Yankee stadium, with all signs pointing to the bitterest kind of strife for prestige and profits, but the gathering clans hardly could prove it today by either the headlines or evidences of civic clamor.

Whether it's the contrast with the way the American Legion recently took the big town by storm or simply because metropolitan fandom has become accustomed to the Yankees and Giants fighting it out, the fact remains this year's world series is being taken pretty much in stride.

Unless Manager Joe McCarthy of the Yankees changes his mind overnight, Lefty Vernon Gomez will be assigned to pitch for the world champions Wednesday against the southpaw old master of the Giants, Carl Owen Hubbell of Meeker, Okla. Hubbell's nomination was confirmed by Manager Bill Terry. McCarthy is expected to name Gomez officially tomorrow morning before directing his club's final workout at the Polo Grounds. Gomez never before has pitched an opener but he has gained three world series decisions without a setback. Red Ruffing was last year's starter.

If Gomez starts, the Giants will use Hank Leiber, a right handed batsman, in center field and in the cleanup spot in the batting order. Against right handed pitching Lou Chiozza is slated to play center for the National league champions. Leiber got the call over Wally Berger, another right slugger, after recovering from a recent throat infection.

Unlike some of their predecessors who were shell shocked by the Yankees, the Giants hold their rivals in no special awe of fear. Terry believes he has the pitching as well as the defense otherwise to stop the world champions this year.

"Your guess is as good as mine," remarked Terry, when asked his opinion of the outcome. "The players think they can win the series, just as they were convinced they could come from behind to take a pennant. I believe we have the right combination. We would like a few breaks — who wouldn't?"

Bernie Bierman Gets a Straight Jacket

Old Professor Gives Gopher Coach Place of Honor on 'Blues Day'

NEW YORK, Oct. 4 (AP) — Always a man of uncanny vision and amazing fortitude, the old professor came fully prepared to his Monday morning alibi class for football coaches today. A bit dazed himself, the old gent whistled a funeral dirge as he carefully placed a tin of aspirin and a huge crying towel on each of the back row seats.

Before the room was half filled, the old professor rapped for order. Professor: "I want to warn you boys if there's any undue demonstration today, I'll clear out the courtroom — er, I mean the classroom. You'll all note Bernie is strapped into a straight jacket in his request. It's pretty tight so we'll give him first take. Bernie, what in the world happened to Minnesota?"

Biff's Greatest Team Bernie Bierman, Minnesota: "Professor, Nebraska had the better, more alert team. They consistently outplayed us. But they really won from a mediocre team. The game was played carelessly with considerable over-confidence by Minnesota. The Gophers were ready and willing to ride along on past glory, professor, believing in all the fancy tales of their greatness." Professor: "Biff, congratulations on bringing the old Army game into the middle west. How did you do it?" Biff Jones, Nebraska: "Professor, that was the greatest game I ever saw. Our boys put up the fight of their lives. Am I dreaming?" Professor: "If you are, why, Bernie's having the nightmare. So is Andy Kerr. Tell me, Carl, were you or Andy the most surprised over Cornell's 40-7 crush of the Red Raiders?"

Carl Snavely, Cornell: "I was, professor. I read the score in all the Sunday morning papers I could find and it was always 40 to 7." Andy's Worst Licking Andy Kerr, Colgate: "Professor, I'm out of aspirin. It was the worst licking I ever took in my life. Cornell has a team that'll make trouble for anyone it plays." Professor: "Well, I'll be hornswoggled if it isn't our old pal Dana Bible back in weeping row. How come, Dana?"

Dana Bible, Texas: "Professor, L. S. U. was too good for us, too far advanced. They play plenty smart football." Bernie Moore, L. S. U.: "Professor, it was a game I really wanted to win. Our boys played a wonderfully improved game over last week. Our blocking, guard play and ends were highly satisfactory." Professor: "Jimmy, if you keep this up, you'll have to go back to the Rose Bowl." Jimmy Phelan, Washington: "We got the breaks—and needed them—to beat U. S. C. professor. I'm glad we don't have to see Southern California anymore." Too Many Bobbles Howard Jones, Southern California: "I'm not trying to blame anyone, professor, but bobbles beat us. They turned the tide against us just when it had been scoring chances we threw away inside the 20-yard line." Harry Stuhldreher, Wisconsin: "Professor, I'm satisfied on the whole but my boys don't hit hard enough." Paddy Driscoll, Marquette: "Our sophs did as well as we had a right to expect, professor, but we have a long way to go on our offense. Wisconsin looked good but the Badger fans shouldn't expect too much in the face of the second half of Harry's schedule." Elmer Layden, Notre Dame: "Our tackling and blocking were only fair against Drake. We've got to go right back to fundamentals. I'm thinking of the four

Tubbs Seeking Sparkplug For Iowa Eleven

McLain Relegated To 2nd Team, Olson Tried at Full

Still seeking a sparkplug to pace the Iowa offense and defense, Coach Irl Tubbs yesterday relegated Ed McLain, sophomore fullback, to the second team and promoted Glenn Olson to the post on the first team.

Tubbs also tried Charles McCall and Frank Balaz at the fullback post, but none of the aspirants seemed to please Tubbs. Several regulars were missing from the line-ups last night. Nile Kinnick's place at quarterback was filled by Russell Busk while Bush Lamb and Bill Gallagher were at the wingbacks.

Capt. Homer Harris, regular left end who volunteered to play the tackle post when Henry Luebeck, giant regular, was injured, was still at the position yesterday. Harris has had some experience in high school at this place, and with an abundance of wingmen and the scarcity of tackles, he volunteered to attempt to fill the gap.

Fall Baseball Practice Starts In Fieldhouse

The plunk of the baseball striking the mitt echoed in the fieldhouse for the first time this year, yesterday as Freshman Coach Lawrence "Pops" Harrison started out his first contingent of varsity baseball candidates. The initial practice, with less than half of the squad reporting, was hardly more than an "arm loosening" exercise, although Harrison expects practically the full squad as soon as the weather permits outside work.

The roster, which includes a good portion of last year's team along with some promising freshman numeral winners last year, follows: Varsity letter winners: catchers, David West, Onawa, and Wendall Winders, Ft. Dodge; pitchers, Kenneth Reid; Rose Hill and Gene Hinrichs, Rockwell City; infielders, Elmer Bratton, Waterloo; Bennie Stephens, Cambridge, Ill.; Ed Kadell, pressmen . . . looked like Iowa in the good old days. . .

PLANS . . . Several have already signified plans to make up parties for the expedition into Badgerland for the Wisconsin homecoming in a couple of weeks . . . really shouldn't be missed if you can possibly get off. . .

Dolphins to Hold Annual Mixer At Iowa Union Tonight

The Dolphin club will hold their annual mixer Thursday evening at 8 p.m. in the Iowa Union cafeteria, at which time those interested in swimming should plan to be in attendance.

The main speakers will be Dave Armbruster, varsity swimming coach, Al Hurley, freshman swimming coach and Dr. Waid Tuttle. They will discuss the functions of the Dolphin club and give short talks on subjects of interest to swimmers.

Following the talks, Coach Armbruster will show some movies of swimmers and divers in action that he has taken himself. The evening will close with refreshment.

Yearlings End Week's Drills

Climaxing a week of intensive conditioning, one of the strongest freshman football squads to turn out at the University of Iowa in many a year left the coaches smiling at the display of speed and power they have witnessed the last week.

Waddy Davis, head freshman coach, says, "It is too early to make any definite statements, but from all indications there are several men who are of outstanding ability, especially among the backfield candidates."

Approximately 85 men have been reporting regularly for the drills. Thus far they have consisted merely of calisthenics, ball handling, light blocking and tackling, and a great deal of signal running. Also a considerable amount of time has been spent on punting and passing.

One of the outstanding features of the squad is that it is well balanced in spite of its size. At times in signal practice there have been as many as eight teams on the field, and, outside of two or three, it has been difficult to tell which handles the ball the best. This means that there is going to be plenty of competition among the candidates.

A number of things have prevented the squad from getting down to the more serious work of scrimmage, but it is expected that by next week all of the

Swimmers In First Workout Of 1937 Season

21 Candidates Answer Armbruster's Call To Practice

Captain Robert Christians of Chicago and Ray Walters of Rockford, Ill., headed the list of returning lettermen on Coach David Armbruster's University of Iowa swimming squad at last night's initial workout in the fieldhouse pool.

Christians is one of the best utility men on the squad, swimming the 220, 440 and 5,000 meters. Walters in his sophomore year annexed the Big Ten 50 and 100 yard free style titles.

Outstanding among the sophomore recruits is Francis Heydt, state A.A.U. champion in the backstroke and 500 yard free style. Heydt's most noteworthy achievement was when he pushed Adolph Keifer, Olympic back stroke king, to a new American record in Chicago recently.

Room for Good Divers Coach Armbruster has asked that any students interested in varsity diving report immediately, as there is room for good men in this event. Opening practice sessions will be devoted entirely to conditioning the men, and working on muscle stretching and loosening exercises, Armbruster said.

Squad members reporting included: Albert Armbruster, sophomore free styler and back stroker from Kansas City, Kans.; Charles Bremer, back stroker, St. Louis, Mo.; George Brown, breast stroker, Chicago; Banford Cochrane, free style, Chicago; Robert Christians, crawl, back stroke and diving, Chicago; Edward Callahan, Jr., New York City, (transferred from Manhattan college and competed as a freshman here last year); breast stroker; Arnold Christen, Hammond, Ind., diving.

Francis Heydt Edmond Gerber, St. Louis, Mo. free style; Francis Heydt, Wichita, Kan., back stroke; free style and breast stroke; Robert Lowry, Chicago, free style; Gail Mischeke, free style, North Platte, Neb.; Russ Murphy, free style, St. Louis, Mo.; James Ramsey, free style, Burlington; Gene Kershaw, free style, Cedar Rapids.

Robert Sweitzer, Cedar Rapids, free style; Robert Sebastian, (former city champion of Chicago in the 220 free style), Melvin Witte, Williamsburg, breast stroke; William Stipe, Clarinda, back stroke and diving; Tom Saluri, Des Moines, back stroke (eligible at mid-term); John Stark, free style, back stroke and diving, Cedar Rapids; Ray Walters, Rockford, Ill., free style.

Armbruster announced that a swimming squad mixer would be held in the cafeteria room of the Union Thursday at 8:00 p.m.

men will be in shape, having by that time relieved themselves of much surplus weight. Also, those unfortunate individuals who were vaccinated during their physical exam last week are expected to be able to use both arms with equal effectiveness by that time.

U. High Harriers Prepare for State Cross-Country Meet

The University high harriers are hard at work in preparation for the State high school cross country meet which will be held at the University of Iowa field next Saturday morning.

The blue and white runners will be entered in Class B competition with a seven man team. These seven will be selected by Coach M. F. Carpenter from his squad of twelve which includes the following: Don Spencer, captain, Bob Alderman, Paul Bordwell, Bill Dunton, Murray Dawson, Burdell Hager, Charles Means, James Bowers, Robert Ranshaw, Richard Rourke, Charles Robbins and Donald Welt.

In their first meet of the season last Saturday, Coach Carpenter's team suffered a defeat at the hands of McKinley high of Cedar Rapids.

this spring, or Bump Hadley. Series sidelights: Commissioner Landis will give the four umpires their final instructions at a conference tomorrow, to be attended also by the rival managers and league presidents. . . The freshman arbiter in this year's lineup is Stephen Basil of the American league, only two years out of the Texas league. . . Basil is the only Syrian umpire in the business. . . William Harridge, affable prexy of the American league, thinks the Yankees will win in six games but looks for a hard-fought and exciting series. . . Ford Frick, National league chief executive, believes the Giants have "a great chance."

Seven Report For Net Drills

Plans for the 1938 tennis season got under way yesterday with seven of the more experienced men reporting to Coach Wendler at the field house for practice.

The return of Capt. Charles Fleming, veteran tournament player, and Robert Sander, 1937 frosh champion, together with several numeral-winners and lettemen, gives the team a well-balanced lineup with which to face its Big Ten schedule.

Dates with Chicago and Northwestern have already been arranged and negotiations are under way for other matches including several more in the Big Ten.

Coach Wendler announced that the fall practices will consist of a round robin tournament among the men of each of the two groups into which the squad will be divided.

Promising candidates who have already reported for duty include Bill Best, Omaha, Neb.; J. Egan, Missouri Valley; Walter Berns, Chicago, Ill.; Robert Sieh, Spencer, and Irwin Gluckman, Bayonne, N. J. This group together with several other veterans who will undoubtedly report for duty soon, gives Coach Wendler a strong squad with which to point to the 1938 season.

Cornhuskers Rest LINCOLN, Neb., (AP)—Weary and sore in every muscle, Nebraska's football team relieved its upset victory over Minnesota yesterday, saw motion pictures of Saturday's fray and took a light limbering up exercise attired in sweat suits.

ATHLETIC MANAGERS Prepare Eligibility Rules For Greeks

Eligibility was the main topic of discussion yesterday as the athletic managers of most of the fraternities met in the fieldhouse to discuss the problems confronting intramurals. After a prolonged discussion it was decided that the rules of eligibility of last year would still hold good.

An eligibility committee was elected comprised of three members, Kenneth Reid, James Hoak and Dale Roberts.

In the advent of one of their fraternities being involved in a dispute two alternates, Walter Berns and John Collinge, were chosen.

Two fields immediately behind the fieldhouse are now ready to be used for practice and touch football will soon be getting underway.

Mechanical Trouble Foils Englishman

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah, Oct. 4 (AP) — Captain George E. T. Eyston's "speed of the winds" race car burned out a universal joint today, forcing the Englishman to cancel an assault on world long distance land speed records.

The mechanical breakdown occurred on the 15th lap of the 11-mile course on this dry lake bed.

Eyston immediately cancelled plans for a day and night run and returned to Wendover, on the Utah-Nevada line, to prepare his other car, a huge 24 cylinder powerhouse called "Thunderbolt," for a run in quest of Sir Malcolm Campbell's measured mile mark of 301.12 miles an hour.

BITS about SPORTS

by JOHN MOONEY

A column of sports chatter by a hitch-hiking sports editor back from the Wisconsin - Marquette wars with nothing but gloom on his alleged mind over the Hawkeye's prospects for a victory against the Badgers. . .

SLICK . . . three of the Badger runners really will be troublesome to the Hawkeyes. . . Gradisnik, Schmitz, and Malesevich at times reminded me of a phrase coined by a publicity man at one of the Big Ten schools the other day. . . said this writer, "These two backs are as slippery as two eels with St. Vitus dance in a barrel of axle grease. . ."

PAUSE . . . officials of the game paused a long time before blowing their respective whistles to halt the play. . . Badgers capitalized on these little slips to toss several lateral passes which went for long gains. . . several times Badgers would be stopped standing up, and the Marquette players would refrain from piling in for fear of being penalized for unnecessary roughness. . . meanwhile the Badger back would survey his field and then calmly toss a lateral to a teammate who would skirt the relaxed defense for good gains. . .

CIGAR . . . Rollie Williams, basketball coach and one of Iowa's scouts, had a cigar named after him while he was a student at the University of Wisconsin. . . one of the local dealers hoped to capitalize on Rollie's "name" as an athlete, but even a name wouldn't sell those cigars, it seems. . .

COCKY . . . Badgers, from sports editor of college daily down through all branches of college life, are sure that Wisconsin is "in" this year. . . why they feel this way, I am not sure, but nevertheless, all the boys are really gunning for Iowa. . .

MISSING . . . the Golden Avalanche of Marquette, minus Justavid and Guepe brothers, was just another mediocre eleven last Saturday. . . while Wisconsin was vulnerable, or would have been, to seemed, against aerial thrusts, Marquette had a poor percentage of connections via this route and consequently couldn't carry the mail. . .

PREDICTION . . . Iowa CAN beat Wisconsin quite handily. But the question that will drag most of us all the way to Madison and keep us on pins and needles until after the game is, WILL Iowa beat Wisconsin? . . .

Intramurals At Iowa

With rush week over and its ravages just about cleared up, fraternities will soon be in a new type of competition.

Dr. Frederick Beebe of the athletic department called a meeting of the athletic managers of all the fraternities to be held at 4:15 o'clock in room 201 of the field-house yesterday. The purpose of this meeting was to fix rules and schedules for the approaching matches between the organizations.

And, viewing the campus for the first time, I find only a few houses conscious of the proximity of interfraternity football. The D. U.'s are perhaps the first to show some signs of action and they already show promise of a well organized team. The Phi Gam's and Phi Kap's are out getting the feel of the pigskin and today for the first time the Phi Ep's lined up for initial organization.

All's quiet on the east banks of the Iowa river, or could they be indulging in a bit of secret practice? How ever you figure it competition promises to be stiff and you'll be seeing some good games of touch football.

LATEST NEWS FROM

BIG TEN SQUADS

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Oct. 4 (AP)—Coach "Bo" McMillin said he noted improvement today in the Indiana University football team's pass defense. McMillin has been complaining that this is the team's weakest department. Varsity backs this afternoon knocked down aerial thrusts of reserves who used Minnesota plays as reported by scouts. Indiana plays the Gophers next Saturday.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 4 (AP)—Coach Francis A. Schmidt clinched a long and tough drill today by naming 37 Ohio State University gridgers for the trip to Los Angeles and the Southern California game Saturday. Schmidt kept the backs busy flinging passes with most of the work centering on Nick Wasyluk who tossed both wisely and well in the Purdue game. The Bucks will depart for California Wednesday morning.

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Oct. 4 (AP)—Injuries cost Purdue's football team another regular end today. Jimmy Zachary, flashy pass receiver and outstanding defense player against Ohio State last Saturday, pulled a tendon in his left ankle, joining Don Powell on the sidelines for possibly three weeks. Powell suffered a dislocated elbow in the Ohio State tussle. Acting Coach Mal Elward sent the entire Boilermaker squad through a long scrimmage session. He made several changes in both the line and backfield in an effort to improve the team's running attack.

CHICAGO, Oct. 4 (AP)—Daily scrimmage this week was prescribed today by Coach Clark Shaughnessy as Chicago's Maroons began preparations for their first home game against Wisconsin next Saturday. Chicago's defeat by Vanderbilt brought to light errors in play execution, plus poor tackling. The Maroons came through the Vanderbilt game in good condition.

EVANSTON, Ill., Oct. 4 (AP)—Coach Lynn Waldorf took his Northwestern Wildcats to the movies today, showing them pictures of the Northwestern-Iowa State game. Waldorf, recalling the numerous penalties called on his team in their opening game victory, warned the Wildcats linemen about over-anxiousness. The squad is in good shape for the Michigan battle here next Saturday.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 4 (AP)—Coach Bernie Bierman let his Minnesota Gopher regulars and first string reserves off with a short workout today and then, with movies of Saturday's game, showed the players mistakes they made in losing to Nebraska, 14 to 9.

A 10-minute limbering up drill was all the first stringers got before the Minnesota head coach called a halt. Meanwhile, the remainder of the squad went through a snappy signal drill. Return to hard work for the regulars was scheduled for tomorrow, with Bierman indicating fundamentals would be stressed again.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Oct. 4 (AP)—Coach Bob Zuppke, remarking "we are going back to fundamentals," put his Illinois football squad through a secret workout today. The Illini mentor, forgetting Saturday's scoreless tie with DePaul, began laying the framework of his plans for stopping high-powered Notre Dame next Saturday.

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 4 (AP)—Coach Harry Stuhldreher restricted his first three teams to a very light workout tonight but sent those players who failed to see action in Wisconsin's 12-0 victory over Marquette Saturday through a stiff offensive scrimmage. Stuhldreher nominated Neil Pohl, veteran Milwaukee center, to lead the Badgers against Chicago next Saturday.

Howard Issues Call To Varsity Matmen

Coach Mike Howard has issued a request that all available wrestling talent interested in trying out for the varsity wrestling team report to him at the field-house at 4 p.m. this afternoon. Every Tuesday and Thursday night from 4 to 6 p.m. for the next two months during the football season, Coach Howard will put his squad through intensive drills on fundamentals in preparation for the winter contests.

Budge Retains Pacific Crown

BERKELEY, Calif., Oct. 4 (AP)—Don Budge provided an expected finish to the 48th Pacific coast tennis championships by retaining his men's singles crown against the attack of Bobby Riggs, Los Angeles star, who was an unexpected finalist.

The Oakland red-head, decidedly off his game in the first set, won 4-6, 6-3, 6-2, 6-4, but had to call on all his shots before subduing the stubborn Riggs. Tournament officials had hoped to see Baron Gottfried von Cramm of Germany in the finals against Budge, but Riggs upset their hopes by defeating the German in the semi-finals.

When Budge began finding the corners in the second set, he had Riggs on the run most of the time, despite steady, hard play by the Los Angeles star, who is national clay courts champion. Budge ran up a 4-0 lead in the third set, but lost the fifth game after tossing away a 40-love lead. Riggs got two games before Budge finally won the third set and went on to take the deciding one. Budge later paired with Mrs. Helen Willis Moody of San Francisco to win the semi-finals and finals of the mixed doubles. Anita Luzana of Chile, United States women's singles champion, won the women's final today with a 6-2, 6-2 victory over Margot Lumb, English Wightman cup player.

Long Drill for Irish
SOUTH BEND, Ind., (AP)—A decisive 21 to 0 victory over Drake brought no rest yesterday for Notre Dame's regulars. Expressing dissatisfaction with the team's blocking and tackling, Coach Elmer Layden ordered a coach drill on fundamentals, and his charges did not hit the showers until after dark.

Auburn, Tulane Battle in Mud To 0 to 0 Tie

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 4 (AP)—Auburn and Tulane suffered southeastern conference championship blemishes today when they battled to a scoreless tie on heavy turf in a football game postponed from Saturday.

Two days ago the playing field was under three feet of water and while the flood had been pumped away the going was so treacherous neither team could get a sustained drive going.

In the fourth period Tulane got the ball at midfield after one of a series of poor Auburn punts had taken a crazy header out of bounds there. A pass from Warren Brunner, Tulane's star half-back, to Pete Dalavasio, end, was good for thirty yards and was the most spectacular play of the game.

Honest John Andrews, Tulane fullback, and Brunner alternated in bucking the ball to Auburn's nine yard line. That was the farthest penetration of the day.

U. High Holds Light Practice

The undefeated University high grid machine held a light practice yesterday afternoon on their own field and then Coach Jack Sterret called them in for a chalk talk.

Coach Sterret indicated that he is going to concentrate on defensive work this week in preparation for their game with West Liberty this Friday.

Hans Ries, co-captain and quarter back, is completely recovered from the leg injury he received in the game with St. Pat's last Friday.

The blue and white team has emerged victorious in both games they have played this season, defeating St. Pat's last Friday, and Kalona the previous week.

Newark Downs Columbus, 1-0

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Oct. 4 (AP)—Athey Donald handcuffed the Columbus-Red Birds with a three-hit pitching performance here tonight, defeating the American association champions, 1 to 0, and giving Newark's Bears, International league pennant winners, their second straight little world series victory.
