

Italy Declines British-French Three-Power Conference Bid

Demands Nazis Also Be Invited to Parley On Use of Volunteers in Spanish War

LONDON, Oct. 9 (AP) — Italy rejected tonight the Anglo-French bid to a three-power conference to discuss the issue of Italian volunteers fighting in Spain.

The action confronted Great Britain and France with what informed sources called decisions of "utmost gravity."

Replying to the joint invitation in which the two countries proposed the conference, Italy refused in a note to enter any talks unless Germany is invited and attends.

Officials Express "Regret"

She suggested that intervention problems should continue to be dealt with by the 27-nation non-intervention committee which has its headquarters in London.

Officials here and in Paris expressed their "regret" at the action and declared the reply "was not reassuring as to Italy's real plans."

(In Paris, French Foreign Minister Yvon Delbos said: "We must act.")

He made it clear that "we" referred to the French government but also that the two nations were acting in complete accord. Just what he meant by "act" was left for the British and French cabinets to decide.)

May Open Frontier

Possibly Anglo-French steps, according to previous forecasts, would include opening of the French-Spanish frontier to the flow of men and munitions and the lifting of Britain's arms ban.

Informed sources said, however, Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain and Premier Camille Chautemps of France and their aides would not make any swift decisions.

French Cabinet In Special Meeting

PARIS, Oct. 10 (Sunday) (AP) — Sources close to the French foreign office today said a special cabinet meeting Monday will study French secret service reports alleging new movements of Italian troops to Spain.

These sources declared "positive proof" is ready that 5,000 Italian troops secretly moved from Italy in the past week to fight with the Spanish insurgents.

Asks Probe Of Woman's Death

CLINTON, Oct. 9 (AP) — Coroner L. O. Riggert announced tonight he has ordered an inquest to be held Monday in the death here early today of a woman identified as Mrs. L. Marvin (or Marfin), whose body was found in bed in a hotel room here this morning.

At a post-mortem examination this afternoon, contents of the dead woman's stomach were removed and sent to the laboratory at the State University of Iowa for chemical analysis.

Coroner Riggert expects to have a report on the stomach contents by Monday.

Hewitt Heiress Seeks Privacy On Honeymoon

GRANTS PASS, Ore., Oct. 9 (AP) — Honeymooning Ann Cooper Hewitt, 23, sterilized heiress, and Ronald McMillan Gay, 32, garage worker, sought seclusion tonight after explaining they came here for their wedding "to avoid publicity."

They were married yesterday by County Judge Grant W. Mathews in the presence of two women friends.

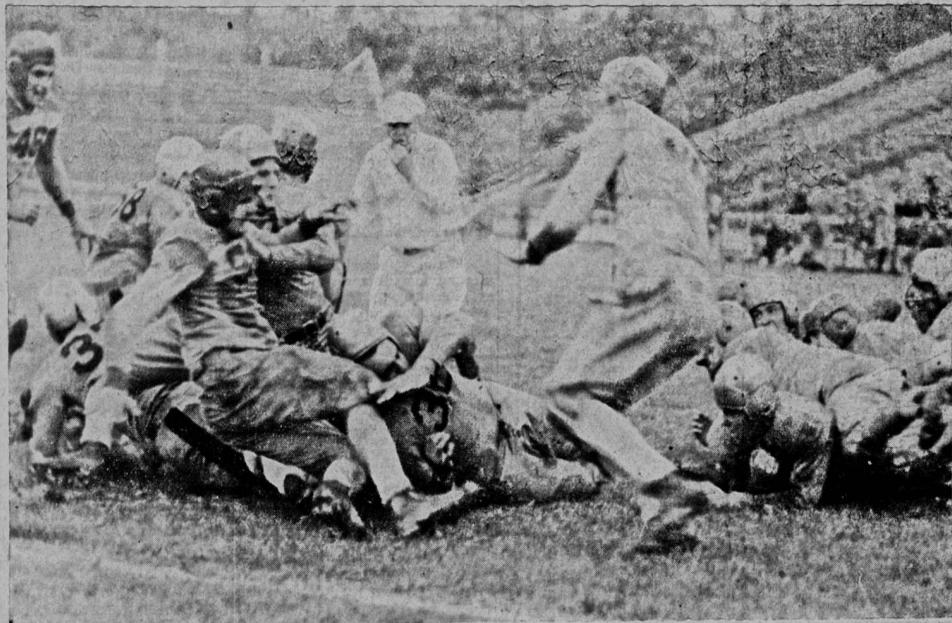

The bride, daughter and principal heir of the late inventor, Peter Cooper Hewitt, created a sensation and a unique legal problem in 1936 when she sued her mother and two physicians, charging she had been tricked into submitting to sterilization.

Mrs. Maryon Cooper Hewitt, the mother, and the physicians contended the operation was for Miss Hewitt's welfare because she was feeble-minded and "dangerously oversexed."

Busk Fails To Gain on Off-Guard Smash

Russell Busk, substitute quarterback, fails to gain in an attempted off-guard smash in yesterday's ball game, which the Hawkeyes won, 14 to 7. Kiefer,

Bradley end (45), is seen in the left of the picture, and lying on the ground can be recognized Erwin Prasse (37), Bill Gallagher (58), Charles Brady (30) and Bob

Herman, in the right foreground, who has taken his man out of the play and looks back to watch the progress of Busk, hidden by the Bradley player wearing the nose-guard. Homer Harris, in the right corner wearing the braced helmet, also looks on. The Iowans ran most of their plays through the Bradley line to keep all the more-complicated plays away from the opposing scouts.

Police Receive Death Warning Of 'Red Circle'

Message of Slayer Gives Threat To 'Kill Again'

By JOHN LEAR
NEW YORK, Oct. 9 (AP) — Has death in a long white envelope come again to worry New York police—and spread terror through the city?

The police said today, as they hunted the "red circle" slayer of Lewis Weiss, 20, and his 19-year-old sweetheart, Frances Hajek, that they had received a message—whether written or telephoned they would not say—in which the killer threatened to "kill again."

Ever since last Saturday, when the double murder occurred, the police have been wondering if there would be a long white envelope, for the deadly 3-X worked that way, and there was a fear that the "red circle" assassin and 3-X might be the same person.

Style of 3-X

No one has heard from 3-X since he killed two persons and wounded a third seven years ago, but the double of last weekend was in his territory and distinctly in his style.

Marks on his victims' foreheads—the slayer of Miss Hajek and Weiss inscribed a circle of lipstick—were never part of 3-X's technique, but he always had some way of identifying his work.

His murderous operations had the precision of mathematical formulae. He always chose a man and a woman. They were always sitting in an automobile. It was always dark. He always fired two shots, always in the head. He always advised the police, and his letters were in envelopes from which all four corners had been torn.

Weiss Shot Twice

For seven years 3-X was forgotten, and then on the night of Oct. 2, 1937, Louis Weiss and his girl friend, Frances Hajek, were sitting in Weiss' automobile in the same wooded section of Queens where 3-X had appeared. Just what happened no one knows, for both the boy and the girl were killed, but it was apparent that someone asked for Weiss' auto license. The card was lying face up, in Weiss' wallet, in his lap when his body was found.

And Weiss was shot—twice—in the head.

China Wants Moral Support

Political Science Students From Orient Make Plea for Nation

By JEWELL MANNERS
plained, "does not leave the country for it is used to pay for armaments and other needed materials from the United States."

Mr. and Mrs. Shih-Tseng Ying of Nanking, China, graduate students in the political science department, declared in an interview yesterday.

"The Confucian doctrine was one of peace. We do not want war, unless our country is forced into it, but no one is afraid to fight for China. My brother, who is studying in Germany, wanted to give up his work and go home to fight. We, too, will go when our country needs us," the Chinese students asserted.

China is struggling against Japan only for its existence because it is still a baby nation without all the forces and equipment of stronger nations, they believe. It is fighting too, because certain treaties are being violated.

"This war" has made China united," Mrs. Ying said. As proof of this she pointed out that since the war began over six million dollars have been contributed by the Chinese in this country, from laundries to merchants. They are giving in every way that they can, even though they are two or three generations removed from China. The Canadian Chinese are contributing about 18 thousand dollars every month.

Money For Ammunitions

"This money," Mrs. Ying explained, "is for the purchase of munitions."

Board To Open Bids For New $325,000 Dorm

Bids on the $325,000 dormitory to be built east of the Quadrangle will be opened by the state board of education here Oct. 22. They will be received in the office of W. H. Cobb, university business manager.

The plans for the three-story structure, which will house 240 men, have been prepared by Seth Temple, Davenport architect.

If the bids prove satisfactory the contracts will be let and construction will begin immediately. The building will be ready for occupancy with the opening of school next year.

U.S. Should Impose Sanctions—Herring

DES MOINES, Oct. 9 (AP) — Cooperation of the United States in imposing of sanctions against aggressor nations which violate international treaty agreements is favored by Iowa Senator Clyde L. Herring, he declared here today.

He declared he approved of President Roosevelt's Chicago address and that he did not find it in conflict with the "so-called" neutrality act.

Students Want SUI Parties On Air As Before

Social Committee Will Get Petition Signed By Over 300

More than 300 university students have signed a petition urging that the broadcasts of all university parties by station WSUI be continued this year as in former years.

The petition will be presented this week to the university social committee, headed by Prof. Rufus H. Fitzgerald, director of the school of fine arts.

Prof. Bruce E. Mahan, chairman of the radio board, has announced that station WSUI is willing to broadcast the university parties but has had to discontinue the policy this year because of a new ruling by the social committee.

The petition follows: "We, the undersigned, believing that the broadcast of University of Iowa parties adds to their prestige, publicizes the University and its parties, and allows those unable to attend to hear the music and events of the party, do hereby petition to have broadcast of such parties resumed."

Iron Burns Through Board, Causes Fire In Westlawn Room

A blaze in a room in Westlawn, student nurses' dormitory, was extinguished at 10 p.m. yesterday by firemen. Damage was slight, Acting Fire Chief J. J. Clark said.

The fire started when an iron burned through an ironing board and fell on a bed.

Betty Kraetsch, N3 of Des Moines, pulled the burning mattress into the hall, and firemen extinguished it.

A dormitory fire hose which the nurses tried to use, was not long enough to reach the room, Acting Chief Clark said.

Iowa City Among Major Points Of Highway Accident Concentration

DES MOINES, Oct. 9 (AP) — The cleanest spots on the state motor vehicle department's accident map are the areas where there are the most natural hazards.

Sections where the ground is the most level and the roads are the straightest show the greatest concentration of accidents.

Chief John R. Hattery of the state highway patrol plans to begin a tour of the patrol districts this week to find out where the

Scientists At S.U.I. Examine Jayne Evidence

SPENCER, Oct. 9 (AP) — Spencer and Clay county authorities paused in their investigation of the Frank Jayne slaying today while state agents conducted a scientific analysis of the evidence.

State Agent Jerry Wood took a section of stairway railing to the crime laboratory at the State University of Iowa at Iowa City for examination of spots believed to be blood stains.

Several persons have been questioned for information which might have a bearing on the crime. Paul Verner, 19, stepson of Jayne, is being held as a material witness.

Jayne, who lived alone in the downstairs of the two-story house, was clubbed to death a week ago as he listened to a phonograph record.

Anniversary Of Birth of Nation Heartens China

Promise Winning Drive As Part of Fete; Japs Say No

By JAMES A. MILLS
SHANGHAI, Oct. 10 (Sunday) (AP) — While a million youthful soldiers under Chinese Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek and a quarter of a million of Japanese Emperor Hirohito's warriors were squared off today on all fronts, the rest of China observed the nation's most important holiday—the "Double Tenth."

The anniversary—on the 10th day of the 10th month—marks the revolution which resulted in the creation of the Chinese republic.

The celebrations, subdued because of the grave national crisis, came as there was a comparative lull in the fighting at Shanghai, due to torrents of rain pouring from ominous black skies.

Despite a lessening in activities along some of the battlefronts, the Japanese advanced along the Tientsin-Pukow railway, carrying the war well into Shantung province as the invaders pressed southward to Tschow.

Reports received at Peiping said Japanese forces opened a drive yesterday against Chinese lines along the Hutoso river in an effort to reach Shihchiachuang, Hopeh province.

Young and old throughout the nation solemnly pledged redoubled efforts to prevent Japan from extending her domains toward China in observances of "Independence Day."

Scouts See Nothing

With note pads and pencils ready, the scouts for the Wisconsin, Michigan and Minnesota teams saw the Tubbs-coached eleven display line bucks, three pass plays, a punt formation, a simple reverse and an off-tackle smash.

F.D.R. Speaks Tuesday Night; Topic Mystery

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (AP) — President Roosevelt will make another of his radio talks to the nation Tuesday night which will give him a chance to talk about the need for a special session of congress.

High on the list of likely speaking topics, too, was the international situation.

A brief announcement of the presidential plans came late today from the White House. It gave no inkling of what he planned to talk about beyond saying he had a report he wanted to make to the country following his recent western trip.

Since his return to Washington, he has talked with Secretary Wallace and others closely associated with the preparation of new farm legislation.

In addition to a farm bill, a wage and hour recommendation of Mr. Roosevelt's remains to be acted upon by congress. Long ago, too, he said treasury experts were studying new tax plans with a view to revising the nation's money getting system.

And along with these, talk has arisen that a need for congressional action might arise out of the forthcoming talks among the signers of the nine power treaty.

The Giants Win a Game

Just when it looked like the Yankees would make it four straight and send the Giants back to the National league, licking their wounds and muttering to themselves, those lowly Giants suddenly took things into their own hands yesterday and won their first game of the series, 7-3.

For this, no matter where their baseball sympathies lie, millions of Americans will be grateful. It means at least one more game for those fortunate enough to be in New York to see; one more game for the rest of us, sitting tensely in front of our radios, to hear.

The players themselves yesterday had nothing to gain—as is often charged—by extending the series, being paid according to receipts of the first four games only.

And so far yet today the discussions will continue, in almost every home and on almost every street-corner in the United States.

"What," men will say to each other, "would have happened if the Yank infield had played in closer in the second, and would it have made any difference if Gomez had pitched?"

Trivial, apparently, and unimportant, this game of baseball, with nothing much to it but eighteen men throwing and batting a ball around.

Yes, trivial, perhaps, but nevertheless there's something about it which fascinates us all.

The first step of a young man who wishes to be in the van is to get on the water wagon.

This autumn when one hears a great honk-honking outside one doesn't know whether it's the geese or the trailers heading south.

Concerning This "Busy" World

Yesterday was a gloomy day all around. The weather was none too promising in the beginning; it was cloudy, dismal, rainy and disagreeably cold. For many of us, it was the morning after as well.

The newspapers, moreover, contained little of encouragement. There was news of a war in the Far East, a highway tragedy, an impending world-wide conflagration, a murder. Certainly the prospect was not inspiring. Then, hidden deep on the inside pages of the newspapers, we found an item that was definitely uplifting. It made the whole day seem more cheerful.

Prof. Norman Trowbridge of Columbia university was attempting an experiment. He had heard the old story about modern skeptics who refused to exchange $1 for $5 on the streets of New York, and Professor Trowbridge, a psychologist, wanted to find out if it were true.

said. They were wise men and women; they couldn't be taken in so easily. One man accepted Professor Trowbridge's offer. He was Paul Jorganson of an obscure town in Ohio, and this was only the second time he'd been to New York. Jorganson is a school teacher. When asked why he stopped, Jorganson replied, "I was just curious; I thought it would be worth $1 in fun anyway. I'm always curious about things."

We have a warm spot in our heart for Paul Jorganson. We feel he'll come to something some day; there are so few like him in the world. Most of us moderns know so much, we don't have time to be curious. We're too busy. The majority has always been too busy, of course, throughout the world's history. Only a limited few found time to "wonder" about things most people thought they already knew.

Copernicus had been taught the earth was the center of the universe and that the sun revolved around it. Everyone said so, all the brilliant men. But Copernicus wondered. Galileo wondered why objects always fell downward instead of sometimes upward. Spallanzani wondered what was the nature of the infinitesimal objects he saw through his microscope crawling in a glass of water he was drinking.

When, many hundreds of years ago, a young Jew walked the streets of Palestine telling those who would listen that He was the chosen one and the Son of God, almost everyone laughed. Only a very few believed him.

Somehow we have a feeling Jorganson would have stopped to listen—and would have believed. We wish there were more Paul Jorgansons around these days; the world would be a better place for their being here.

NO PLACE FOR DOGS

A LARGE CITY is no place for dogs, or for people, either. One can't as a rule, raise vegetables, chase squirrels, climb mountains, take a walk without being stopped every minute or two by traffic lights, or do a number of other healthful and natural things in a city. One can't even go out and bark at the moon without attracting unfavorable attention. One needs turf to walk or run on, no cement; one needs trees, with the wind making noises in them; one needs room to run in when one wants to run; one needs all sorts of outdoor smells, among which the odors of soft coal and gasoline are not included.

We didn't start out this way, the dog and us. The dog came somehow out of the wolf pack and lay down beside our fire. In our caves, in our huts, he took the job of protecting us from his friends and acquaintances who still preferred to be wild. When he misbehaved we kicked the daylight out of him, but in time we learned to love him.

Now all this is changed. We got cities, and though individually we may move out into the country if we choose, collectively a huge number of us, for one reason and another, stay in town. We cannot be such good animals in town, and neither can a dog, but we find something here that tethers us—we are on leash to fame or fortune, music, plays, the stimulation of kindred minds, the excitement of competition, certain comfort and conveniences, or just a job. The city takes us out for walks, but it doesn't let us run and bark—not it.

But since we have to be here, and mostly tramp the hills no more, nor range the forest, nor see the dawn trembling on the edge of the sky, except when we are on our way home from a hard night's dancing—since these things are so, we hope that some landlords, at least, will let us keep our dogs. We have been chums for a long time, the dog and ourselves. We have been through a lot together and have had bad times and good times, and though they build our cities with five streets on top of each other, and all the houses of steel and glass, and gyroscopes pepper the sky, and we live on synthetic foods and feed our pets synthetic bones, still there will always be, for many of us, a place for a dog in what we call our homes.

Home Hazards Exceed Those Found in Automobile Riding

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

"Quiet and safe at home," is just a phrase. The hazard of being at home is greater than being in an automobile.

In 1936 39,000 people were killed while "safe at home." Automobile accidents killed 37,500 in the same period.

The kitchen is the most lethal room in the house. Fifty-six per cent of fatal burns originated in the kitchen.

The bedroom is the room where most of the falls occur (39 per cent) while the living room is a close second.

The bathroom also is a dangerous retreat. There have been half a dozen reports of fatal fracture of the skull from slipping in the bathtub and striking the skull on the sides.

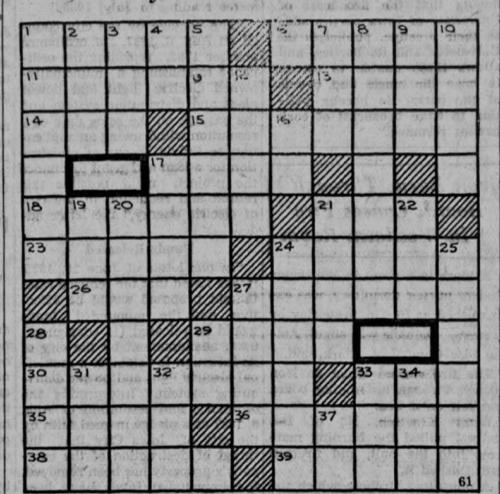

In the bathroom, too, is the hazard of low voltage shocks. "Has coming into contact with 110 volts of electricity ever caused death in an adult or child?" came a question.

Even much lower than 110 volts, as low as 75, has led to death in many instances. Alternating currents are regarded as more dangerous than direct, other things being equal. Amperage is more important than voltage. Death almost invariably follows exposure involving 100 or more milliamperes. Bath room accidents are ordinarily typical of low voltage conditions. The victim, standing in water, reaches for an electrical switch or fixture. Some defect leads to contact with the current. Leakage around electric switches and instruments of all kinds is almost always possible.

Automobile Home Hazard Another home hazard partly connected with the automobile is carbon monoxide poisoning. Do not leave your car with the motor running inside a closed garage. Even for a short time, and especially if you are inside the garage also. Carbon monoxide, which comes out of the automobile exhaust, does not give any warning, even to the sense of smell.

Tuning In with Margie Fastenow

Jack Benny will punt several gags on his program over NBC-WEAF at 6 o'clock this evening when he plays the role of "Ten-Yard McFavish" in a football sketch labeled "Get That Quarterback!"

House-hunting and '49 pioneers will become vital problems to Phil Baker when the latter brings his comic episodes to the air tonight over the WABC-Columbia network from 6:30 to 7 o'clock. Accompanying him will be the ever-faithful "Beetle," the ghostly-voiced "vividious Paisy Kelly and English-accented Oscar Bradley."

Here's one to mark on your Monday's calendar! Re-enacting the part made famous by her in the motion picture, "Stella Dallas," Barbara Stanwyck will star in a radio adaptation of the famous drama on the "Radio Theater" broadcast to be heard over the WABC-Columbia network tomorrow at 8 p.m. The play will be under the production supervision of Cecil B. DeMille, while musical color and interludes will be provided by Lou Silvers' orchestra!

America's premier master of ceremonies, George Jessel, and one of cinematic's most famous stars, Norma Talmadge, begin a new series of coast-to-coast radio programs over WGN and the Mutual broadcasting system beginning this afternoon from 5 to 5:30. Entitled "30 Minutes in Hollywood," the program will originate each week in Los Angeles, featuring Tommy Tucker's orchestra, favorite band of screen celebrities, and guest stars of the talkies.

Ozzie Nelson, who for more than five years has been playing dance engagements and theaters in addition to his radio work, will devote all his energies to the Bakers' broadcast with Peg Murray and Harriet Hilliard from now on. Peg Murray's famous "Seein' Stars" feature, the music of the Nelson orchestra and songs by Harriet and Ozzie, will comprise the entertainment of the program heard over the NBC-Blue network from Hollywood on Sundays at 6:30 p.m.

WSUI HIGHLIGHTS: "The Fighting Angel," by Pearl Buck is the novel Kay Hausen, A3 of Villisca, has chosen to read next over the Book Shelf program daily at 10:30 a.m. She will begin tomorrow. The book is the biography of Pearl Buck's father, Andrew Sydenstricker.

By ROBBIN COONS: Mae's a woman, and any woman likes to be told she has that Gibson-girl figure back again. Mae was pleased to be told, and—if the censors will permit—I might add that she practically blushed with pleasure.

In Ermine Again: "Does it show that much?" she said. "How'd I do it? Oh, I always go in trainin' before a picture. Ridin', hikin', bicyclin'. And I cut down on my eatin'. Eat the same things, but not so much."

Mae was swathed in a sweeping hour-glass of crimson with beaded doo-dads on it. Her picture hat was smothered in red plumes. A high lace choker clutched at her neck, and her ermine wrap, gaudily with tails, swaggered indignantly as she glided into a scene with Charlie Butterworth. Butterworth is the butler of a Gramercy Park millionaire of 1899. Mae thinks he's the boss.

Up To Old Tricks: When Butterworth exits, Mae holds the camera's eye for a full two minutes, sauntering around and giving things the eye. It's pantomime in the Western style—uncensorable.

Richard Maney—"He was born with a gift for laughter and a sense that the world was mad." John Anderson—Dramatic critic and a scholarly Southerner. The keys to his typewriter are equipped with barbed hooks. Talullah Bankhead—Wine red hair like sunrise bursting over Barnegat Bay.

Sinclair Lewis—Grown-up version of a country boy with freckles who takes his dawg, a can of worms, and a fishin' pole off to the creek. Libby Holman—Luminous-eyed torch singer with a growing ambition to become a dramatic actress.

James J. Walker—The former young man on New York's political trapeze is still dapper and quick. He is once more in the news and being assailed by critics. Ina Claire—A coolly sophisticated soapbelle lost in a pose of philosophic detachment.

THIRD TIME Prisoner Has No Luck At Escaping

CHEBOYGAN, Mich., Oct. 9 (AP)—Joseph Scofic, notorious jail breaker being transferred with four other prisoners to the northern Michigan branch prison at Marquette, was shot through the chest today in his third attempt to escape police custody.

The five prisoners dashed for the door, despite their leg irons, after lunching in a restaurant at Indian river, southwest of Cheboygan, this noon. A shot felled Scofic and the others—John McAllister, Andrew Leko, John Thompson and Raymond Hamilton—surrendered to their state police guards.

Overseas travelers to Europe numbered 230,000 from January 1 to August 15 of this year as compared with 214,000 for the corresponding period of 1936.

Speech Clinic Members Will Go to Chicago

To Present Papers At Meeting of Speech Association

Four members of the speech clinic and five University of Iowa alumni will present papers at the annual meeting of the American Speech Correction association in Chicago, tomorrow, Tuesday and Wednesday.

The faculty members include Prof. Lee E. Travis, clinic director, and John R. Knott, who will present a paper jointly on "Brain Potential Studies of Stuttering;" Wendell Johnson, "The Role of Evaluation in Stuttering Behavior;" and Melba Kimmell, "The Nature and Effect of the Stutterer's Avoidance Reactions."

S.U.I. Alumni

The university alumni taking part will include Robert Milisen of Indiana university who will discuss "Overt Stuttering in Relation to Expectation of Stuttering;" Spencer F. Brown of Ohio State university, "Stuttering With Relation to Word Accent and Word Position;" James Maddox of Purdue university, "The Role of Visual Cues in Stuttering;" John Snider of the University of Idaho, "Tension and Facial Appearance in Stuttering;" and C. Van Ripper of Western State Teachers college, Kalamazoo, Mich., "Method of Tearing Down the Adult Stutterer's Spasm Patterns."

Professor Travis

Professor Travis will also address a joint meeting of the American Speech Correction association and the American Academy of Ophthalmology and Otolaryngology on "Laboratory Research in the Speech Pathologist."

The joint meeting will also be addressed by Herbert Koepf-Baker, director of the speech clinic at Penn State college, who is now on leave of absence doing graduate work here. He will speak on "Retraining of Cleft Palate Speech Cases."

Dutch Newspaper Commends Jung's Marriage Course

The modern marriage course offered by Prof. Moses Jung of the school of religion has been highly commended in two articles appearing in the "Algemene Handelsblad," Dutch newspaper.

The editorial, "Hymen's School," treats the course from the biological, cultural and ethical aspects. The second reference was based on an article which appeared in the May issue of the news bulletin, entitled "Preparing for Happy Family Life."

Miss Corder will attend both conventions, accompanied by the first by Grace Yackey and Dorothy Luthi and to the second by Lillian Raper, Flora Weber, and Alice Bechtelheimer.

Nursing School Staff Group To Attend Meeting

Plans for Philo club meetings for the next few weeks were made at the meeting of the Philo club executive committee meeting in the office of the school of religion Friday afternoon.

New members which recently have been added to the committee are Johanna Schenk, A4 of New York, N. Y., Perry Osnowitz, A3 of Cedar Rapids, Ruth Subotnik, A2 of Cedar Rapids, Alvin Newman, A3 of Newark, N. Y., Michael Matcus, A3 of Boston, Mass., Bess Friedman, A3 of Baltimore, Md., Gertrude Isenberg, A4 of Davenport, and Anna Marie Gurau, D3 of Des Moines.

Living costs have increased 22 per cent in Paris in the last year. The cost of living in France outside of Paris advanced about 28 per cent in the same period.

Anxiously reading the newspaper for news of the Chinese-Japanese conflict are Mr. and Mrs. Shih-Tseng Ying, both of China, who have enrolled for graduate work in the political science department. Neither Mr. or Mrs. Ying has been to China since the war broke out, and neither has heard any news from their relatives. They arrived in the United States in the spring, on their way back to China. Because of hostilities in China they decided to stay longer than the three months they planned on, doing graduate work at the university.

Kraschel Says Big Industries Moving West

DES MOINES, Oct. 9 (AP) — Big industry has decided to "go west" with new factories which will give employment to grandsons of the young men to whom Horace Greeley originally gave advice three quarters of a century ago.

Not a week goes by that some eastern concern doesn't send its representatives through Iowa, surveying the possibilities for future location, Gov. Nelson G. Kraschel declared today.

Du Pont

The most ambitious program so far outlined is that of the du Pont company.

The governor said the cellophane plant which the company is establishing at Clinton will employ 800 men. The company's new plant at Fort Madison will employ 120 men.

Kraschel long has preached the advantages which Iowa has to offer to industry in the form of raw material, fuel, water, and sane normal living because there is no congestion of population.

Iowa Ideal

"Iowa is the ideal location for many outgrown industries of the east," the governor declared, "because of its superior living conditions, its water, and its coal."

From Iowa's standpoint, he declared, this westward movement of industry "promises the greatest opportunity of the state's future that has occurred during this generation."

Industrial expansion is one of the topics which the governor has assigned to the state planning board for survey.

So They Say . . .

Today's question—Are you in favor of a centrally located site for a high school building?

Mrs. Mildred LeVois, 103 N. Clinton street, clerk—Since I have no children, it really makes no difference to me; but I think a centrally located high school would be far superior to any other.

M. R. Petersen, 25 Olive Court street, telephone company employe.—I'm practically a total stranger to Iowa City, but it seems to me it would be natural that everyone would benefit by a centrally located school.

Jean Harris, 232 S. Dodge street, G of Minneapolis, Minn.—I should think that a centrally located school would be much more advantageous to all people concerned because there would be less antagonism among the citizens of Iowa City, and the students would have a fairer chance.

Harry Bayne, 1024 Highland avenue, grocer.—I don't know anything about it, to tell you the truth, but we certainly need a new school building. That building is a regular fire trap.

Mary Catherine Maher, 713 E. Washington street, unemployed.—Of course, each child in the city would have the very same advantages then.

Moi Hamburger, 118 N. Johnson street, window trimmer.—There is only one drawback. Everybody has a different idea of what place would be centrally located.

Alice Knight, 1024 E. Burlington street.—I suppose I am in favor of it. It seems perfectly natural that everyone would prefer a centrally located school.

E. Fellows, Omaha, Neb.—I'm a stranger here, of course, but I think it would be the thing for Iowa City. I would even say that it would be more economical in the long run.

Reviewer Declares 'Point Noir' Is Unhappy and Undramatic

Length, Dullness Keep First Novel From Real Success

"POINT NOIR" by Clelie Benton Huggins. (Houghton Mifflin company, 1937, $2.50.)

A first novel, a prize novel highly recommended by its publishers, "Point Noir" should be a good book, but it isn't. Its main faults are overbearing length and dullness, two weaknesses no book can quite overcome and still be a success — although, to this reader's mind, "Anthony Adverse" very nearly succeeded.

In short, "Point Noir" is another story about the degenerate, the fading deep south. Its atmosphere is unhappy; its theme is unhealthy. Its conclusion lacks drama. Yet, if you missed any of the dozen or more early books about the sort of thing, it's worth perusing. Had Miss Huggins not read William Faulkner's "Sanctuary," Robert Rylee's "Deep, Dark River," or even Erskine Caldwell's "Tobacco Road," — as I'm sure she did — she might have written a better novel. But her first novel, and this is a fault with many first-books, is a not-too-well mixed concoction of all these. It lacks climax and form.

Louisiana Plantation

"Point Noir" is an ancient plantation deep in Louisiana and enclosed on three sides by a sluggish bayou. There, in this dark and murky environment, live the Sevignes.

The head of the family is Paul

It's 'Charm' Thurber Has Humor. Bit Of Swing

"LET YOUR MIND ALONE" By James Thurber. (Harper and Brothers, 1937, $2.50.)

We've been needing a book like this one. There was danger that some of us might be taking Carnegie and Brande and the rest of their clan too seriously; Thurber doesn't. He's one of those peculiar and thoroughly delightful fellows who can't take anything seriously — including himself.

You'll like "Let Your Mind Alone." It has a sort of humor that causes you to laugh, read passages aloud to anyone who will listen. Yet when you try to sum up its contents in a few words you're at loss. For lack of a better word, you might call its chief quality "charm."

Everyone won't like it. Some persons prefer Ballyhoo and Esquire to the New Yorker, and some prefer Laurel and Hardy humor to the four Marx brothers and Mischa Auer. The former won't care for Thurber; the latter in both cases probably already know him.

James Thurber, you know, is the fellow who once wrote a book — in collaboration with E. B. White — called "Is Sex Necessary?" That started him on his literary career. Since then he's written half a dozen or more, all of them with strictly Thurberian illustrations — pictures of chinless men and rabbit looking women, illustrations strangely humorous but, like Thurber's writing, completely unexplainable.

Most of us have a way of dismissing Thurber's work with a shrug. He's clever, yes — but, well, not many weeks ago the New York Museum of Art devoted a complete exhibition to drawings exclusively Thurberian. More recently one of his best short stories has been selected as one of the year's best.

James Thurber is a sharp observer of life as it is. His essay, "Two Hamburgers," is a classic of the man-wife relationship; no writer — and that includes such writers as Hemingway and Faulkner — has caught that certain something swing in the way most of us talk as has this writer.

Read "Let Your Mind Alone"; loan it to your friends; laugh with it and at it. If the book is read by enough persons, it may just about counteract the harm such books as "How to Win Friends and Influence People," "Wake up and Live," "Be Glad You're Neurotic" and the rest have done among fairly intelligent circles. The rest won't read the book, but it doesn't matter about them anyway.

Local Chapter of A.A.U.W. Plans Activities for 1937-38

Professor Mabie Will Speak at Meeting On October 16

The local chapter of the American Association of University Women will begin its activities for the year Oct. 16 with a luncheon meeting at the University club. Prof. Edward C. Mabie, head of the speech and dramatics arts department, will be guest speaker.

Officers for this year are Prof. Nellie S. Aurner, president; Prof. Beth Wellman, vice-president; Mrs. J. L. Potter, secretary; Ethyl E. Martin, treasurer; Catherine Mills, historian and Mrs. E. K. Mapes, coordinating officer.

Prominent Speakers

The Iowa City chapter meets the third Saturday of each month for a luncheon and program. Speakers include persons prominent in many fields. Provision is made through study groups for individual interests of members.

Five study groups will be active during the year. Alberta Montgomery will be chairman for the education group, Mrs. Dorrance S. White for legislation, Mrs. Minerva Knight for international relations and Mrs. Norman Rander for social studies.

Chairman of the arts study group is to be appointed at a later date.

Joint Workers

In the education study group members from the League of Women Voters and the A.A.U.W. work under joint leadership. The social studies group, organized for the first time last year, will discuss social problems, giving special attention to novels and plays which illuminate vital social questions of the day.

The Iowa chapter will sponsor a series of radio programs to be broadcast at 7:45 p.m. over WSUI the second Thursday of each month. The first program will be presented next Thursday.

53,000 Total Membership

Eligibility for membership in the association consists of graduation from an approved college or university, either here or abroad. The only restriction is that the college course must have included at least two years of non-professional work.

The 600 chapters of A.A.U.W. in the country have a total membership of 53,000. The association is affiliated with the International Federation of University Women, which brings together in one organization women from 34 countries.

Objectives

The federation has as its objectives the furtherance of the interests of university women all over the world and the promotion of international understanding, France, Great Britain, Russia, China, Australia, and Sweden are among the countries which have active national associations.

National president of the international federation is Dean Virginia C. Gildersleeve of Barnard college. National president of the A.A.U.W. is Margaret S. Morris, dean of Pembroke college, Brown university.

The particular interest of A.A.U.W. is in higher education for women, the enlargement of opportunities for university-trained women and the contributions of educated women to society. The organization has been influential in maintaining educational standards in colleges, in obtaining recognition for women on college faculties and, through its fellowship fund in providing opportunities for college women to do important work in research.

The interest of the college graduates of the country is this last type of service is reflected in the fact that there was no falling off of the contributions to the fellowship fund during the years of depression.

UM! Delicious! What's delicious? Why a nice big juicy Maid-Rite hamburger, of course. After three hours of strenuous dancing at a University party, or even at 4 o'clock after a day's classes nothing tastes better than one of these tempting morsels. The MAID-RITE shop also delivers all kinds of sandwiches and drinks until midnight.

BE SURE of having that certain something in your sports clothes. You'll be right if you have on one of the new sweaters shown at PENNEY'S. They have the sophistication of a freshman and the nonchalance of a senior, all at the same time. You'll be able to find a distinctive style that says "you" in this group. Putting all their good points together, these PENNEY sweaters spell perfect style.

TIPS on the Shopping Market

By Marion Lamar

WE FOOTBALL fans and amateur psychics have our chance now with the new PHILIP MORRIS SCORECAST. With a little study of the sports columns, the good PHILIP MORRIS habit and the sporting spirit, you can be right up there in the weekly prizes. Get your gang together and go out full force for the grand prize.

WE HEAR noise about a Pi Phi pledge who, innocent of the meaning of a pin hanging when she first hit this town, came home pledge night with a Beta pin. Now she is somewhat at a loss as to a graceful method of getting back into circulation.

UM! Delicious! What's delicious? Why a nice big juicy Maid-Rite hamburger, of course. After three hours of strenuous dancing at a University party, or even at 4 o'clock after a day's classes nothing tastes better than one of these tempting morsels. The MAID-RITE shop also delivers all kinds of sandwiches and drinks until midnight.

BE SURE of having that certain something in your sports clothes. You'll be right if you have on one of the new sweaters shown at PENNEY'S. They have the sophistication of a freshman and the nonchalance of a senior, all at the same time. You'll be able to find a distinctive style that says "you" in this group. Putting all their good points together, these PENNEY sweaters spell perfect style.

Don't be embarrassed about an unharmonizing spot of ice cream on your new dress—SWANER'S can match any shade! Buy the ice cream that blends as well as tastes good.

MAKE RESERVATIONS to take your party to the BUTTERFLY CAFE. Everyone will enjoy himself because the BUTTERFLY CAFE has all the charm and graciousness of a private home plus the "dining-out" feeling. Or, if you don't want a full course dinner, the BUTTERFLY is a grand place for after-the-dance refreshment, or for coffee and sandwich dates during the day or evening.

Men's imported Tyrolean peaked hats—odd colors.

BEING RIGHT in the swing with the games and all the fall goings-on, you'll need just the right winter coat to make your winter wardrobe a huge success. STRUB'S are showing SHAGMORES and ROTHMOORS trimmed with gorgeously snugly furs—coon, beaver, lynx and what not—and their LA MUR cloth (shown in the current Harper's Bazaar) trimmed or otherwise is beautiful. A particular model in the new nude shade with midnight lynx and another in citron will give you something to think about.

The almost married Frank Nye, Phi Delta and former Iowa City eligible bachelor, is here for the week end.

Is Ruby the Roadster tuned up for cold weather? If you leave her at JONES STANDARD SERVICE station while you are in class you will find her all fortified for frost with winter oil and all the trimmings.

PRETTY NEAT little job you have there in an automobile. You'll want to take good care of that while you are down here at school. MAC'S AUTO LAUNDRY will keep it smart and shining in its spare moments when you have it there. It's grand too, having MAC trot it out to you pronto when you are ready for an eight o'clock or a date.

Men! Wear clothes that get a coed's second glance. If you're looking for confidence, you can walk down the street with the greatest ease if you swing into style with RICKETS & SHELLADY.

Doesn't this cold snap feel just like a steak fry? Let G & M MARKET pack you up a thick juicy steak each with all the trimmings and cut for the deep woods.

There seems to be a certain Sig Chi here supposedly for the purpose of higher learning but as yet he hasn't registered in the university.

If you're one of the busiest of busy campusites, one of your biggest worries is keeping your clothes pressed, brushed, and ready to wear. Take a tip—NAT-TIKNIT sportswear from California as shown at BAGWELLS is just the thing. It doesn't need pressing or brushing, and the styles fit any occasion or personality.

Novel belts for sweaters and plain wools.

How's your room looking these days? If you want to make it still cosier, try one of those clever hanging whatnot stands in the dull corner. KRES-GE'S have some that will make your mouth water, and there are china nick-nacks down there to make any collector's heart beat faster.

Is the dresser of your "one and only" at Yale, Northwestern, Iowa State, or at home, graced with a picture of you? If not, why not? ANDERSON'S STUDIOS take pictures that would draw nothing but praise from the most severe of critics.

WOULDN'T A flying trip to Chicago be a grand thing for one of these week ends when a home game or a prom is not occupying your time? UNITED AIR LINE RATES AND SCHEDULE make it possible to spend the minimum time traveling and do the maximum amount of wheeling in the big windy city. You really shouldn't deny yourself the thrilling experience of a bird's-eye view of the country-side between here and there.

Hey kids, a permanent is just the thing for the constant comeliness that will wangle a date from that good looking blond three rows back, when the I-Blanket Hop rolls around. Call the STAR BEAUTY SHOP, and make an appointment for one of their smooth looking jobs. They are right over REICH'S, and really have grand low rates.

Boys and girls, go down and meet the gang any old time at the DINETTE. There's where you fellows can buy the tops in food and refreshment and where you girls can tell your date to take you after the show. You'll have a good time, so will he, and you know one good time leads to another. So eat, drink, and be merry at the DINETTE.

Chest Officials Discuss Details

Community Fund Staff Studies Program Of Solicitation

Attorney Thomas E. Martin, community chest campaign director, met with four members of the board of trustees and the eight divisional directors yesterday noon at Iowa Union to work out the details for reaching all possible contributors.

Last year 300 solicitors carried on the intensive drive, but the staff will be reduced by 25 or 50 workers this year, it was decided.

At a luncheon meeting lists of those who have given in the past campaigns were studied to help determine the size of the solicitation staff necessary this year.

Person Who Took $131 at Fieldhouse Leaves 'No Clues'

Chief of Police W. H. Bender last night reported "no clues" to the identity of the burglar who broke open a locker in the fieldhouse yesterday morning and stole $131.45.

Using an iron rod to pry the metal hasps off the locker, the burglar took all the currency, leaving $60 in checks untouched.

John Graves, A2 of Clinton, placed the money, collected from the sales of "I" books, in the locker before attending an 8 a.m. class. When he returned to take the money to check it in, the loss was discovered.

S.U.I. Grad To Wed Tuesday At Ocheyedan

Geraldine Woodworth, Mack Bruce Will Reside Here

At an altar of flowers Geraldine Woodworth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Woodworth of Ocheyedan, will meet her bridegroom, Mack B. Bruce, son of Dr. J. H. Bruce of Ft. Dodge, Tuesday morning at 10 a.m. They will be married in the home of the bride's parents by the Rev. C. B. Ralston. Their new home will be in Iowa City.

The wedding will take place in the same house and room where the bride's parents were married 25 years ago. At the bridal reception at which Mrs. Woodworth will entertain tomorrow afternoon, her bridesmaids and Mr. Woodworth's best man will be among the guests.

Wedding Gown
The bride will wear her mother's wedding gown of heavy white satin, made with an over-skirt of white chiffon, and silver slippers to match the blue and silver beads which trim her gown. Her white veil is an heirloom of the family. She will carry a white testament and white orchids.

At 9:45 a.m. the bride's cousin, Howard Townsend of Fond-du-Lac, will begin his piano program. At the stroke of 10, the bride will appear through a gateway of bronze and yellow chrysanthemums. Her bridegroom will meet her, and they will walk together to the altar, banked with chrysanthemums.

Twenty-five Guests
Twenty-five guests will be present at a breakfast immediately after the wedding. Decorations will be in gold and brown.

When she leaves with her bridegroom on a week's wedding trip to Minneapolis, Minn., and Chicago, the bride will wear a mello-suede woolen dress of mahogany with brown accessories.

Miss Woodworth attended Stephens college and was graduated from the University of Iowa in 1936. Mr. Bruce is a former student at the University of Iowa and Drake university and was graduated from the Hohenschuh-Carpenter College of Embalming in St. Louis, Mo. He will be associated with the Beckman Funeral home here. He and his bride will live at the Burlington apartments.

Where That 50 Cents Went

Extra Registration Fee For Girls Pays For U.W.A. Membership

"I wonder what that extra 50 cents on my tuition fee is for." How many university women thought this when they paid their tuition for this semester?

All right, girls, here's what it is for. That extra 50 cents you paid go into the coffers of the University Women's association to help finance their activities for this semester.

Every woman who registers in the university is automatically made a member of U.W.A. The organization endeavors to make university women feel more at ease on the campus and to make them aware of the potentialities of their college careers.

It's an organization of the girls, by the girls, and for the girls, so why shouldn't they contribute their bits toward financing its activities?

Most of the money taken in from this tax is spent on service projects of U.W.A. Freshman orientation, which endeavors to orient all new university women, draws the largest share of the fund. Then too, U.W.A. entertains at coffee hours which introduce faculty members to students.

Ever hear of Town Coeds? It's an organization of girls living in resident homes who otherwise feel "out" of campus affairs and is a U.W.A. project.

The vocational guidance program informs girls about fields they are interested in entering in college. There may be an out-of-town speaker in the spring. U.W.A. sponsors an annual university sing to promote school spirit. These are only a few of the projects that will be financed by the fund.

The 50-cent tax at registration is an innovation at Iowa this year. This method is used in practically all schools in the Big Ten," Helen Focht, assistant dean of women, said. Formerly U.W.A. had only one source for money to finance its projects—an all-university dance, the Spinstar Spree.

So rest assured, girls, that your 50 cents will not be used in vain!

Chapter One

With a grind of brakes, several ear-splitting blasts of its shrill whistle, the Orient Express, between Calais, Vienna, Strelsau and Constantinople, halted for customs inspection at a border railroad station in rolling woodland country.

"Passengers will please to descend!" Passengers will please to descend!" barked the pompous guard as he went from door to door opening the carriages, which disgorged a crowd of passengers of various nationalities into the voracious arms of the local staff of porters.

"Passengers will please to descend!" Passengers will please to descend!" barked the pompous guard as he went from door to door opening the carriages, which disgorged a crowd of passengers of various nationalities into the voracious arms of the local staff of porters.

Into the station, swirling with humanity and gaily bedecked for the coming coronation of King Rudolf V at Strelsau, stepped Rudolf Rassendyll, handsome, tweedy Britisher, recently retired as a major from the English army, now intent on a fishing holiday on the continent.

Something about Rassendyll's appearance created consternation among the uniformed government officials at the station. One began to salute, another did salute, all became obsequious once they had noted his features.

When a crowd began to form around him, staring in equal measures of amazement and curiosity, Rassendyll became impatient. "I like to complain in our national manners," he protested to the official who was vixing his passport, "but you must have seen a man before who looked like me!"

"That's just it," replied the official, "we have!"

Warned that unless he made reservations, he would be unlikely to find accommodations in Strelsau because of the impending coronation, Rassendyll decided to go to Strelsau on foot in his own good time, getting in his fishing in the numerous streams along the way.

Finding an idyllic spot on the banks of a beautiful stream beside the road to Strelsau, he threw in his line, undetected by the sign proclaiming the spot to be within the royal hunting and fishing preserve in the province of Zenda, with trespassing forbidden by order of his majesty, King Rudolf.

He was sound asleep, his fishing rod fastened in the roots of a tree, when the king's hunting companions, Col. Zapt, counselor to the crown, and the king's good friend, Capt. Fritz von Tarnheim, chanced upon him.

As they studied the face of the sleeping Englishman beneath them, Col. Zapt and Fritz looked at each other in astonishment.

"Shave him," said Zapt, "and he'd be the king!"

Coming out of his siesta, Rassendyll rose to his feet and regarded the two men.

"May I ask your name," said Zapt, cavalierly, touching his hat. "I am Rudolf Rassendyll," was the answer, as he bowed and took off his hat, "travelling from England, hoping to get in some fishing."

"Rassendyll," chuckled Zapt, a gleam of intelligence fitting across his face, "By heaven, your face be-

A "back to school" party tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. will start the rushing parties. Thursday from 3 to 5 p.m. there will be a Rain-bow tea. Oct. 20, there will be a Fireside party. Pledging will take place the following Sunday, Oct. 24. All of these events will be in the student center.

Judge Holds Night Court Because Of Iowa-Bradley Game

Because of the Iowa-Bradley Tech football game yesterday afternoon, Police Judge Burke N. Carson held police court at 7 p.m. yesterday.

At the night session Judge Carson gave suspended fines of $10 and costs to Linus Droll and Roy Watts for intoxication, fined Virginia Suechting and Dan Rodgers each $1 for using the streets for storage and dismissed a similar charge against E. F. Case.

During the first meeting of the court yesterday morning, charges of using the streets for storage were dismissed against C. B. Benjamin, Richard Cresh, Leslie Ihrig, John Ferguson and Marie Steets. The same charge brought fines of $1 to Dick Marquette, R. L. Vander Hamm and Baker Waterman.

On the condition that he remove the spotlight from his car, the case against Ed Miller of Solon was dismissed. Gerald Locher was given a warning for leaving the motor of his car running unattended. Overtime parking brought a $1 fine for B. R. Wilkinson.

Giants Finally Overcome Yankees, 7 to 3

Hubbell Hurls Six-Hit Ball As Nationals Win

Ruppert Rifles Muffled By Carl; Leiber Leads Hitters

By ALAN GOULD
POLO GROUNDS, New York, Oct. 9 (AP)—Though still showing traces of grogginess from the effects of previous punishment, the New York Giants got up off the floor today and punched out a 7 to 3 victory over the Yankees in the fourth game of the World series.

Carl Hubbell, the king of National league southpaws, came back with a superb six-hit pitching performance to halt the rampage of the world champions and save the Giants from the humiliation of taking it on the chin four straight times.

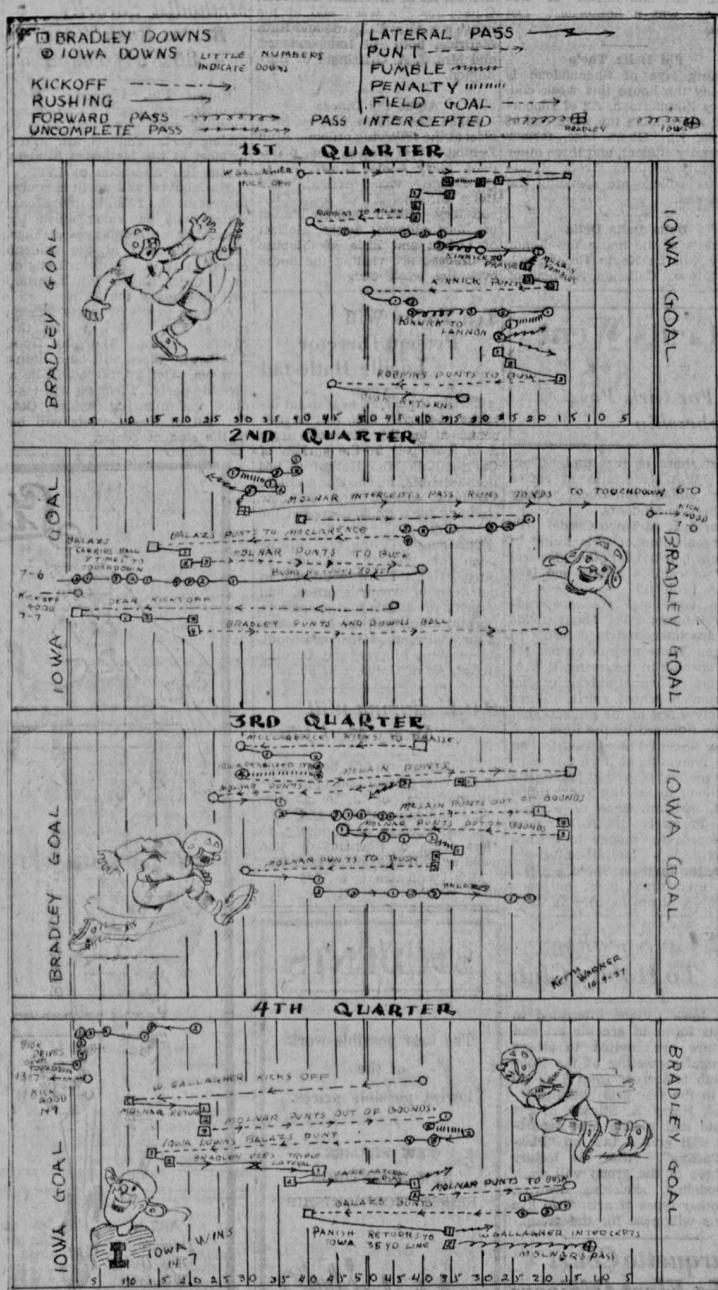

The Giants themselves, with big Hank Leiber back in centerfield and providing a cleanup wallop they had not previously shown in three straight setbacks, blasted Irving (Bump) Hadley from the box with a six-run attack in the second inning. That was twice as many runs as the National leaguers tallied in three preceding matches and it was more than enough to win behind Hubbell's great flinging.

Despite the fact they had only two full days of rest between assignments and was again victimized by ragged support, Hubbell was master of the proceedings at every critical stage. Lou Gehrig's ninth inning homer, a terrific wallop into the lower right field stands, was the only solidly achieved Yankee run. The other two were virtual gifts as the Giants, with three infield errors, ran their total for the series to nine misplays, a record for four games of which they are not the least proud.

Though the Giants emerged from one of their worst slumps and Hubbell himself regained prestige as he registered his fourth World series triumph, there remained slim chance for the National league champions to prolong the issue much further. Their spirits rose tonight as they chorused "It's not over yet" but the Yankees, with a 3 to 1 lead, need only one more triumph to clinch their second straight world championship.

The Bronx Bombers, held off in their bid for another "slam," will rely upon Lefty Vernon Gomez to pitch the fifth game tomorrow at the Polo Grounds. Gomez, unbeaten in four World series starts and victor over Hubbell in this year's opener, will be opposed by the Giants' freshman southpaw, Cliff Melton. It will mark Melton's third appearance. He was knocked out in the second game and did a two-inning relief job in the third.

Despite chilly weather and over-cast skies, 44,293 fans turned out to watch the belated come-back of the Giants. Jeers and cat-calls echoed from the stands as the Giants took the field at the outset but they soon changed to cheers as the National leaguers took command in their first batting plurge of the series. The rafters rocked with the roar of the throng as

Cornhuskers 20, Iowa State 7

Hubbell silenced most of the Yankee siege guns and finally survived a threatening blast in the final game.

The Giants were alternately brilliant and mediocre on the defense. Two wild throws by Dick Bartel and one by Mel Ott were offset by sensational outfield catches by Jim Ripple and Joe Moore but the payoff was the fact that the Giants finally found a pitcher they could hit.

Cyclones Hold For 3 Periods

AMES, Oct. 9 (AP)—Iowa State's battling Cyclones played mighty Nebraska on even terms for three full quarters today, but two sudden, dramatic Cornhusker thrusts turned the tide and the conquerors of Minnesota scored a 20 to 7 victory in their first Big Six contest.

Slightly more than 10,000 persons, sitting under a warm October sun, saw the Cyclones carry the battle to their more highly touted foes and push over a touchdown before the game was five minutes old.

Iowa State's offensive power faded, however, only a few minutes later when Everett Kischer, clever running and passing quarterback, left the game with a badly injured shoulder. It was Kischer, a 152-pound youngster, who shot two successful passes to Charles Heileman, halfback, to carry the ball to the Husker four-yard line. It was also the hard-fighting little quarterback who charged through the big Nebraska line for the only Iowa State touchdown and added the extra point by placement.

Harris Andrews, Nebraska halfback, grabbed a kick deep in his own territory and came out to his 20 yard line. The next play, a deceptive around-end performance, caught the Iowa State line by complete surprise as Paul Amen, Husker end, spurted into the open and dashed 80 yards along the sidelines for the first Nebraska touchdown.

For the next two periods Iowa State fought desperately to halt the Big Six champions. Time and again it appeared the Huskers would smash or pass their way across the Iowa State goal, but the Cyclones always had the strength to stop the Nebraska thrusts.

Marvin Plock, substitute half back, misjudged an Iowa State punt and the ball bounded back to the Nebraska 25 yard line. Plock scrambled back, grabbed the bouncing ball and headed along the west sidelines. Husker interference formed quickly and Plock speeded through the entire Iowa State team for a touchdown.

Iowa State, trying frantically to get a lateral under way, attempted to pass from its own 20 yard line on a fake kick. Richardson broke through, collared Howard Medin's hurried toss and Nebraska had the ball on the 11 yard line.

Andrews, after making five yards on two plunges, punched his way across for the final touchdown from the six yard line. Lowell English added the extra point from the placement.

Purdue Defeats Carnegie Tech

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Oct. 9 (AP)—A brother passing act, Cecil Isbell to Cody Isbell, and a 18-yard dash by Louis Brock of Stafford, Kan., brought Purdue's Boilermakers a 7 to 0 triumph over Carnegie Tech today in Purdue's homecoming football game, played before 20,000 spectators in a drizzling rain.

Illini Surprise Irish in 0-0 Tie

Zupke Starts 8 Sophomores

Scrappy Illinois Team Battles Ramblers To Stalemate

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Oct. 9 (AP)—The "Fighting Illini" lived up to the glorious tradition of their name today.

While a mist-chilled throng of 45,000 gasped in silence and whooped with joy, Illinois accomplished the gridiron upset of the day by holding the vaunted Notre Dame eleven to a scoreless tie in the first game between these teams in 39 years.

There was everything of a surprising nature about the outcome of the battle. On form, the highly favored invaders from South Bend, Ind., were favored to win, and the result was a personal triumph for the 56-year-old Robert Zupke, celebrating his 25th anniversary as coach at Illinois. No finer tribute could be offered Zupke than the performance of his eight untried sophomores, who not only fought back the "Fighting Irish," but actually took the play away from them on offense, although the statistics disagreed.

Place-Kick Tails

Each team made one serious threat to score in the first half and Illinois made another half-hearted one in the final quarter. In the first period Illinois marched 46 yards to Notre Dame's 14 yard line, where the Irish stiffened and held, and Melvin Brewer was called into the game to attempt a place kick from the 21-yard line. The boot was short and low and dropped harmlessly in front of the goal posts.

In the second period, Notre Dame drove 38 yards to Illinois, 12, where the alert Illinois secondary defense broke up three pass attempts that might have scored a touchdown.

In the fourth period, Brewer attempted another goal from the field for Illinois, this time from the 44 yard stripe, but it was a dismal failure, the ball landing in Capt. Andy Pupils' arms on the 10 yard line.

Irish Passes Miss

With 60 seconds to go, and seeing chances for a victory fading, the Irish opened up with a bewildering forward passing attack with Jack McCarthy firing the ball in all directions, hoping to find a receiver to grab it and scamper over the Illinois goal. The first one McCarthy fired was for 22 yards to Earl Brown. Then he heaved a second one for 50 yards to drop into Brown's hands as he crossed the 15 yard line, but the ball bounced out as the crowd first gasped and then groaned. The game was quickly coming to an end and the Notre Dame passer was fruitlessly trying to turn it in their favor.

E. Des Moines Wins Crown

Champions in three classes were crowned yesterday forenoon at the University of Iowa track as the Third annual state interscholastic one mile team races got under way.

East Des Moines won the class A team championship, with their first three men finishing first, third and fourth. Nashua edged out University high of Iowa City by one point to win the class B honors, and LeClaire emerged victorious in the class C race.

RESULTS

CLASS A—East Des Moines, 8; West Waterloo, 34; Ottumwa, 34; Oskaloosa, 35.
(Due to the large number of entrants in this race and the closeness with which they finished, only the first four winning teams were able to be picked. The other teams will be rated when the films of the race taken by a speed action camera are developed.)

CLASS B—Nashua, 17; University high of Iowa City, 18; Indiana, 19; Vinton City high, 30; Mechanicsville, 45.
CLASS C—LeClaire, 8; Conesville, 15; Buffalo, 24.

Last Period Scoring Try by Hoosiers Ends With Incomplete Pass on Goal Line

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 9 (AP)—Minnesota's thoroughly deflated Golden Gophers squeezed out a 6 to 0 victory over Indiana today in a Big Ten game that found "Bo" McMillen's scrappy squad failing in two last period attempts to pull the game out of the fire.

The final gun barked as a Hoosier pass fell incomplete exactly on the Minnesota goal line. Indiana in the last of two mighty thrusts passed capgily to the Minnesota nine for a first down. An end sweep lost four; there was a five yard penalty for too much time in the huddle and then the last futile pitch.

Just a few minutes earlier, a fourth down Hoosier pass from the five yard line missed the intended receiver in the end zone by inches.

Those two spectacular drives packed all the Indiana scoring threats of the day and four of the five Hoosier first downs came in the last few minutes of play, mainly through the accurate passing of Bill Anderson and Frank Filchock to Halfback Dale Tanner and Captain "Jick" Kender-

Southern California Noses Out Ohio State's Buckeyes, 13 to 12

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 9 (AP)—The University of Southern California Trojans rose to noble and unexpected heights today and sent the powerful Ohio State Buckeyes home bearing their first defeat of the season.

Southern California won by the margin of a lone point kicked after a touchdown, 13 to 12, but it was the biggest, nicest looking one Troy has seen in years.

The game was witnessed by some 55,000 fans, few of whom expected the Trojans, who faltered before Washington a week ago, to win—even by one point.

Using the famed Howard Jones power plays, and making them work, in front of Quarterback Ambrose Schindler, Southern California scored first in the second period. The try for extra point was missed.

Ohio State tied it up in the third without digging too deeply into Francis Schmidt's repertoire of fancy dices, thanks to the running capers of Fullback Johnny Rabb.

The Bucks forged ahead in the last period, blocking Schindler's quick kick on the Trojan 28. Mike Kabelek fired a pass over the line to Dick Nardi who scrambled over for the score. But Joe Aleska's try for conversion was wide.

Taking the kickoff, Southern California five plays later won on the Ohio 27. Schindler, the outstanding back on either team, hurried a pass to Sub Halfback Mickey Anderson.

Michigan scored first in the second period. The try for extra point was missed.

Chisox Even City Series, 14-2

CHICAGO, Oct. 9 (AP)—A combination of steady, seven-hit pitching by Big Johnny Whitehead and a 16-hit attack gave the White Sox a 14 to 2 victory over the Cubs at Wrigley field today, pulling the American leaguers up even with their rivals at two victories each in the 22nd Chicago championship series.

Whitehead, given a two run lead by his mates in the second, allowed the Bruins one marker in their half of that frame and then fairly coasted home as the Sox pounded four Cub hurlers at random. Bill Lee, the Cub starting moundsman, was shelled from the hill in the third and his successor, Clay Bryant, lasted only until the sixth. Roy Parmelee, the next National league flinger, gave way to Clyde Shoun at the start of the final frame.

Hits by Appling, Hayes and Sewell, plus a stolen base, gave the Sox two runs in the second. The Cubs scored their first marker in their half of the inning on a walk, Phil Cavaretta's single off Whitehead's glove and a force-out. The American leaguers picked up three runs in the third on two hits and two errors, the Cubs coming back to score their last marker in their half of the inning on an error by Zeke Bonura, Cavaretta's second hit and a miscue by Tony Piet, Sox third sacker.

Four hits, a hit batsman, another error and a walk gave the Sox four runs in the fifth and they picked up two more in the next inning on two hits, one a double by Bonura, a sacrifice and two walks.

Bonura opened the Sox ninth by smashing a 400 foot home run into the centerfield bleachers off Shoun and the Sox added two final runs through a walk and three hits.

The fifth game will be played in the same park tomorrow, with Monty Stratton slated to hurl for the Sox and Tex Carleton, who won the opening game of the Cubs, the mound choice of the National leaguers.

Badgers Rout Chicago, 27-0

Wisconsin Romps Over Lighter Maroons For Easy Win

CHICAGO, Oct. 9 (AP)—A heavier Wisconsin eleven wore down a light and inexperienced Chicago team today and romped away with a 27 to 0 victory in the first Big Ten game of the season for both teams.

Wisconsin scored once in the first period, failed by inches in the second, resumed scoring again in the third and climaxed the day with a pair of touchdowns in the final quarter.

Forward passes figured in all the scoring. Benz took a 15-yard pass and ran 15 yards for the first touchdown. Weiss place-kicked the extra point. Neil Pohl, Wisconsin captain, intercepted a desperate Chicago pass in the third period on his 29 and ran 64 yards to the four yard line. Weiss carried the ball over on his second shot at the line, but his try for the extra point was blocked.

Wisconsin substitutions, sent in liberally in the fourth quarter, scored twice after being held twice more within the ten yard line. Unable to get its running attack under way over the heavy Wisconsin line, Chicago passed from all parts of the field with Solly Sherman, a half back, doing the tossing.

Northwestern's Passes Defeat Michigan, 7-0

EVANSTON, Ill., Oct. 9 (AP)—Michigan's dead-end game Wolverines stopped Northwestern's vaunted land attack today, but their aerial defense faltered for one all-important second and the Wildcats fashioned a thrilling 7 to 0 triumph, to open their defense of the Big Ten gridiron championship.

The Wolverines, battling to regain their lost place in Big Ten sunshine, gave 32,000 Northwestern supporters more than one breathless moment during the sixty minutes of savage battling, but their comeback had not progressed far enough to enable them to stop completely the determined defending champions.

A 15 yard touchdown pass by Don Heap to Cleo Diehl in the third period sent them down to defeat after the Wildcats had blown one scoring opportunity.

Northwestern's touchdown followed what a moment before had appeared to be break for Michigan. Don Siegel, Wolverine tackle, partly blocked a punt by Bernie Jefferson and Michigan took the ball on its own 37. Fred Trosko, Michigan's sophomore back, attempted a surprise forward pass—and Erwin Wegner, Wildcat center, reached up and snatched the ball on Michigan's 44.

Hawkeyes---

it be said that Bradley was no push-over; that the Hawkeyes were unable to rest on their laurels in any phase of the game.

The Technicians, lacking manpower to match the Iowans, resorted to a smart heads-up type of football that often made their rivals from the state university look weak.

Bradley drew first blood as Molnar intercepted Frank Balazs pass on his own 30 yard stripe and raced the length of the field for a touchdown, eluding several Iowans on his goalward journey. McClarence place-kicked the extra point.

Balazs, after a series of line smashes, finally crashed over from the one yard line to give Iowa its first score of the season, and Eicherly's place kick was good.

Starting the second half, the Hawks resorted to their plunging tactics which culminated in Russell Busk's quarterback sneak for the winning marker. Bill Gallagher place-kicked the extra point.

Hawkeyes Good Defensively Defensively, at least, the Iowans lived up to all advance expectations, holding the Peorians to two first downs and 35 yards from scrimmage; but offensively, the Hawks were mediocre.

Two spots stood out darker than usual this gloomy, spotty afternoon. First Iowa allowed the only touchdown on an intercepted pass, and secondly, the Hawkeyes had five fumbles chalked up against them.

Nile Kinnick sophomore quarterback, left the game early in the first period with a cut over his eye, and he was replaced by Russell Busk. Charles Irvine, after playing a fine game, was removed from the game in the waning minutes after injuring a crippled shoulder.

Stand Outs For the Iowans, McLain, Kinnick and Busk stood out in the backfield while Lannon, Prasse, Smith, Harris, Herman, Irvine, Brady and Anderson were the most outstanding linemen in a line that was above par all afternoon.

Bradley played spotty ball all afternoon, at times reaching near-perfection and at times sinking to almost ludicrous depths. There were also times when the Iowa tacklers seemed to hark back to the good old "pardon me" days in their tackling attempts, but on the whole the blocking and tackling were satisfactory.

McKechnie Named New Red Manager

NEW YORK, Oct. 9 (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds tonight announced the appointment of Bill McKechnie, pilot of the Boston Bees since 1929, as manager of the club for a two-year term.

Plan Rites For Patricia Wiley

Funeral service for Patricia Ann Wiley, 6-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Wiley, 123 1-2 South Clinton street, will be tomorrow at 10 a.m. The service will be held at the Riley chapel with Rev. P. J. O'Reilly of St. Patrick's church officiating. Burial will be in St. Joseph's cemetery.

Patricia was born May 30, 1931 in Freeport, Ill., and died yesterday at 1 a.m. in the home of her parents. She had been ill for only a brief time. She is survived by her parents and one sister, Ylva-vane Esther Wiley. She was a first grade pupil at Henry Sabin school.

Council Votes To Buy Plow

Iowa City will purchase a snow plow at a cost not to exceed $275, the city council decided Friday night. The snow remover will be attached to a city truck.

The council also decided to hear open bids for the reconstruction of the American Legion building at its next meeting Oct. 19.

A $125 check for fire protection during the last year was offered to the council by University Heights during the meeting and was assigned to the fire equipment fund.

'Rocket' Triples Average Speed Of Early Train

Exactly 85 years ago today, the first Rock Island passenger train made its initial run between Chicago and Joliet, Ill., speeding at 20 miles an hour, according to Frank E. Meacham, local ticket agent.

Today the Rock Island "Rocket" glides over mid-western rails faster than 100 miles-an-hour. The "Rocket" passing through here between Chicago and Des Moines averages 60 miles an hour or triple the speed of the first train, Meacham said.

Baptists to Hold Memorial Service This Morning

The Sunday morning service of the Baptist church, Clinton and Burlington streets, this morning will assume the form of a memorial service in memory of Prof. and Mrs. Bohmil Shim-ek. It has been announced by Rev. Elmore E. Dierks, pastor of the church.

At the service new vestments for the choir and a new pulpit Bible, presented to the church in memory of Prof. and Mrs. Shim-ek by John G. Meerdink of Waterloo, Mrs. Shim-ek's brother, will be formally accepted.

AROUND THE TOWN

with MERLE MILLEP

I'm one of those persons who wonder what happens to youngsters whose parents raise them by psychology—no spanking—when they pledge fraternities.

There probably will be no third party in 1940, according to Jim Farley. . . There'll be just the new dealers, the democrats and the G. O. P. as before.

Man never knows his fullest powers until he tries. . . Take the recent New York election, a history-making event in that voters managed to spell LaGuardia 155 different ways. . .

I'm told one of the Johnson County bank building attorneys is being congratulated on the depression's end these days. . . He's purchased a new suit which those in the know declare is his first in some five years. . .

A chap I know has something on his mind, something he so far hasn't reported. . . But, one recent day he put a nickel in one of those vending machines. . . When he pulled down the lever, not only one bar but half a dozen came out. . . The fellow is wondering if, perchance, the vending machine company got its apparatus mixed and put a slot machine's works inside. . .

There was a tense little moment at one of the smaller hotels yesterday, I'm informed. . . About 9 a.m. a fellow ran in to tell the clerk there was something hanging out of one of the upper-story windows. . . When the staff investigated, the object was found to be the shirt of a pair of pajamas, quite neatly tied to the window frame. . . The occupant of the room had checked out, and no one seemed to know how long the pajamas had hung thus or why. . . It's just one of those things that makes each day a little bit different from the one before. . .

Ku Klux Klan, or no, President Roosevelt isn't worried. . . He's still busy saving the nation from Tories, the supreme court and G. O. P.

My personal vote for one of the campus' most distinguished looking goes to Prof. Lee E. Travis, who is also one of the tallest faculty men. . .

Higher education is one of those highly variable qualities. . . For example, such statements as one a scout reports overhearing from a high-up in the university. . . "I never get time to read," the fellow is quoted as saying. "Besides it seems to me a waste of time to be reading all the time. Where does it get you?"

In Manchuria and China, I've read, beauty shops are scattered throughout the large cities and consist only of a chair placed on some street corner. . . In India they are sometimes built on boats that move up and down the rivers from town to town. . . And in Russia the number is limited by law, and on week ends lines block in length block the streets.

I'm always being told stories, and this one came in yesterday. . . It concerns the man who was walking across the campus yesterday when a harried looking girl with a troubled look in her eye accosted him. . . "I'm

Sharon Center To Have Roast

Sharon Center's seventh annual ox roast benefit dinner will be held at 3 p.m. Thursday at the high school. The dinner is in charge of Mrs. Mable Meer, Mrs. Nora Schwinley and Mrs. Emma Madden.

Two hundred people will be employed in preparing and serving three baby beeves to the expected 1,500 people.

Larger Number Of Duck Hunters Get Permits This Year

Duck hunters were well represented in Johnson county at the opening of the hunting season yesterday. The large number of hunting permits issued indicates a larger hunting turnout this year. Johnson county residents have 1,325 hunting licenses thus far, according to County Recorder R. J. "Dick" Jones. It was also reported that many additional permits were sold in stores and other places in this county.

Police Tag 50 Cars In One Night To Open Parking Drive

A penalty of $1 to $100 will be assessed against motorists who park their cars in the residential section of the city overnight, Police Chief W. H. Bender announced yesterday.

Bender reminded autoists that the city's traffic ordinance also prohibits parking of automobiles in residential sections between 2 p.m. and 6 p.m. for longer than 30 minutes. He explained that violation of this section of the traffic ordinance will also be subject to penalty.

Police tagged 50 automobiles for violating this ordinance Friday night, the police chief said.

Council To Decide Casino Fate Nov. 5

The proposed ordinance which would place the Casino, a roadhouse west of here on U. S. highway No. 6, within the city limits, will receive a final hearing Nov. 5, the city council decided Friday night. The meeting will be public.

Last night a petition signed by 120 Iowa Citizens asking that the proposed change be made was presented to the council. The Iowa City Planning Board's report, condemning the proposition was received.

Iowa Citizens Seeking To Hire Housemaids Find They're Scarce

Iowa Citizens' demands for maid-servants have been unanswered recently, according to Nyle W. Jones of the local office of the state employment service.

"Good Friend Alben"

... is meeting tougher opposition now

It is no fault of Senator Alben William Barkley that Marvin College, once the pride of Clinton, Ky., no longer exists. In the late nineties, long before he became the new democratic leader of the Senate, Alben went out once a week to "do or die" on Marvin's football field. His muscles had been hardened on his father's Kentucky tobacco farm. It is said that when Alben Barkley came down the field, everyone got out of his way. But he could forgive his enemies while demolishing them, for he never missed prayer meetings at Marvin College.

Young Barkley was a forerunner of the youths who work their way through college taking magazine subscriptions. He sold kitchenware from house to house. The best senior honor at Marvin was the Declamation Prize. Senior Barkley won that. He remembers that for a long time afterward no function was considered complete unless he delivered his recitation.

Marvin College no more, Emory Junior College and the University of Virginia law school have made the most of his new prominence as democratic Senate leader. He studied at both schools, but learned the rest of his law in Paducah, Ky., under the prototype of Irvin S. Cobb's "Judge Priest."

Senator Barkley bit through a pipestem while waiting for the results of the Senate's poll on a new leader. He slid through, score 38-37. From his eminence as President Roosevelt's "good friend Alben," the new Leader can look back on a career very American: birth in a log cabin, campaigning on a mule for an early prosecuting attorneys'hip, learning law in a picturesque law office, finally soliciting votes by way of horse and buggy to get to Washington in 1912. There he has remained, leaving the House for the Senate in 1926.

Already 60, husky, quick with a joke, Leader Barkley's position will be a difficult one when Congress reconvenes. The party revolt is under way, and the opposition won't clear out as easily as that which faded before Alben Barkley sweeping down the football field for Marvin College.

First Come, First Registered

One and a quarter million students in 1,700 U. S. colleges and universities during the past three weeks have spent many tiresome hours waiting in long registration lines to sign the innumerable cards and forms and checks that started another year of their higher education.

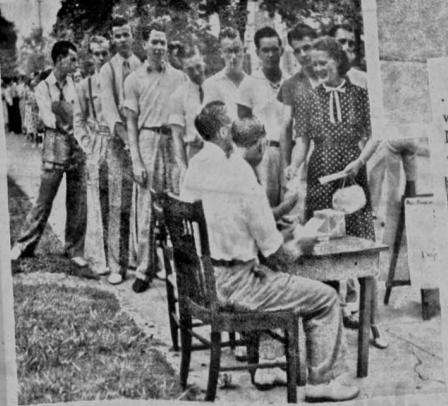

Having gone through the tedious process for three years, Annie Laurie Swaim, University of Alabama campus beauty, decided that this year she'd avoid the rush. Co-Education's 100th Birthday

For 200 years following the founding of the first U. S. university (Harvard, 1636) the education of young women was left to the "female" institutions whose courses were comparable to those offered by academies and secondary schools today. Higher education was not for women. Neither was co-education, until Oberlin College, on Sept. 6, 1837, admitted four women to a regular college course

Co-Education's 100th Birthday

For 200 years following the founding of the first U. S. university (Harvard, 1636) the education of young women was left to the "female" institutions whose courses were comparable to those offered by academies and secondary schools today. Higher education was not for women. Neither was co-education, until Oberlin College, on Sept. 6, 1837, admitted four women to a regular college course

Symbolical ... of co-education in the U. S. today is this interesting photo of Oberlin's Don Halsey and Marian Dale.

Japan's Conquest Of North China Region Nearing Completion

Capture Opens Front Door To Rich Province

Consensus Of Opinion Says Last Defense Has Broken

PEIPING, Oct. 11 (AP)—The Japanese army's conquest of the five provinces of North China tonight appeared to be near completion.

In Peiping the capture of Shihchiachuang, vital railway junction 175 miles south of Peiping, was hailed by Japanese as the beginning of the end.

Neutral military men were inclined to endorse the Japanese opinion the last effective Chinese defense line in North China had been broken. Shihchiachuang was the last important center of resistance in Hopeh. Its fall brought the Japanese legions to the railway penetrating Shansi province, and opened the "front door" of that rich area.

Strikes Five Provinces The consensus of informed persons here was that in the three months of its North China campaign the Japanese army had either captured or advanced to within striking distance of the capitals or nerve centers of the five northern provinces—Hopeh, Chahar, Suiyuan, Shansi and Shantung.

This area, conquered or apparently marked for conquest, is home to 80,000,000 Chinese, a population larger than that of Japan proper. The five provinces include China's richest coal, iron and aluminum resources and its best cotton and wool growing country.

Shantung Resists Shantung appears to offer the greatest chance of effective Chinese resistance. But that province, governed by General Han Fu-chu, has a long coast line vulnerable to the Japanese navy. Even if General Han receives aid from the central government forces neutral observers doubt his ability to stand long against the Japanese.

Italy To Stop Aerial Aid To Chinese Army

ROME, Oct. 11 (AP)—Reliable sources tonight disclosed Premier Mussolini has ordered Italian aviation experts aiding the Chinese government to quit now that China is engaged in a bitter conflict with Japan.

This dramatic move was said to be part of an understanding reached with Adolf Hitler, on 11 Duce's recent Berlin visit, to support Japan in her struggle with China.

There are understood to be about 75 Italian aviation experts in war-torn China headed by Col. Silvio Scaroni.

With a Germany military mission composed of approximately 100 retired reichswehr officers, the Italians have been largely instrumental in building up Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's armies now battling Japan, which has the sympathy of the two fascist powers.

Hitler, these same sources said, has already or intends soon to recall the Germans.

General MacArthur To Retire Dec. 31

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11 (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur, former chief of staff of the United States army, who has been responsible for the reorganization of Philippine defense forces, will retire from active service on Dec. 31.

His retirement, at the age of 57, was announced today by Secretary Woodring.

Youth Shoots Self

DES MOINES (AP)—Norman Hendrickson, 19, was found shot to death in his home here yesterday. Dr. A. E. Shaw, Polk county coroner, said it was suicide. Coroner Shaw said Hendrickson had been out of work and was reported to have been despondent recently.

Japs Refuse Release Of Haldore Hanson, A. P. Correspondent

PEIPING, Oct. 11 (AP)—Japanese military authorities at Peiping tonight refused to release Haldore Hanson, Associated Press correspondent whom they arrested two weeks ago as a spy.

Col. J. T. Stilwell, military attache to the United States embassy here, was not permitted to visit Hanson despite repeated requests. Colonel Stilwell went to Peiping during the day with a Japanese escorted party of foreign newspaper men and officials.

Lt. Col. Junzo Hiraoka, Japanese officer in charge of the party, however, assured Stilwell Hanson would be released and allowed to return to Peiping tomorrow.

Il Duce Is Still Cool to French, British Efforts

Italy Pays Little Heed To Suggestions In Spanish Crisis

By The Associated Press LONDON, Oct. 11 (AP)—Premier Benito Mussolini today gave no encouragement to the efforts of France and Britain to make him promise to keep hands off Spain.

British and French officials actively sought a new plan to bring Italy to the conference table to discuss withdrawal of foreign volunteers from the Spanish civil war, but Il Duce remained aloof. Authoritative circles in Rome indicated little fear that France would open her Spanish frontier to let supplies reach the Spanish government. They believed such a move would bring serious danger of European war as to make France and Britain wish to avoid it.

Rome also paid little heed to other suggestions for ameliorating the crisis, such as that emanating from Paris for an Anglo-French occupation of the Spanish Balearic islands.

Experts of the French foreign office were known to have put forward the idea that the Balearics, lying athwart France's route to North Africa and Britain's highway to India, might be occupied by an Anglo-French force to "nullify" alleged Italian occupation.

The Spanish insurgents, whom Italy supports, hold the most important of the islands and there have been frequent charges of Italian activity there.

The French suggestion, however, apparently aroused little support in the British capital.

Cummings Renews Criticism Of U.S. Supreme Court Decisions

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11 (AP)—Attorney General Homer Cummings renewed his criticism of some supreme court decisions tonight and asserted present-day social and economic needs "must and will be met."

"We have scant patience with those who believe the constitution is an unworkable document, and we are not moved by those who, in sheet blindness, strive to make it an unworkable document," he said.

Another World War? Muss

By JOHN EVANS Associated Press General Foreign Editor

Is another world war just around the corner? That is the question most people ask. They add: "Will we be in it?"

The war question can't be answered with a "yes" or a "no" but here is some background on it.

There are two wars already, one in Spain and one in China. That gives Mars a good start in his work to involve the rest of the world.

Insurgent Guns Batter Madrid In Night Attack

MADRID, Oct. 11 (AP)—Insurgent artillery batteries tonight subjected Madrid to the most intensive night shelling the city has experienced in the 11 months siege.

Several hundred persons were injured as 1,200 shells poured into the city in little more than an hour.

Many shells burst in the heart of the city, near the Gran Via. Property damage was heavy.

Ernest Hemingway, American author, narrowly escaped injury when three shells hit his hotel. His room was filled with smoke and plaster was knocked from the ceiling.

Other projectiles struck near the residence of most of the foreign press correspondents.

At midnight ambulances with muffled lights still were scouring the city for injured persons.

DUBLIN, Ireland, Oct. 12 (AP)—Sir John William Moore, famous Dublin physician, died today. He was 92 years old.

White House Police Guard Mussolini's Son at Tea Party

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11 (AP)—Mussolini's husky young son, Vittorio, drank tea with the President and Mrs. Roosevelt today while a reinforced White House police guard watched the trouble that did not develop.

Police had believed there might be an anti-fascist demonstration outside the executive mansion. They had dispersed demonstrators this morning at the Italian embassy, where Il Duce's son spent the week end.

Young Mussolini remained at the White House 45 minutes. Photographers were barred from the grounds during his visit and reporters were not permitted to question him.

Vittorio is expected to sail for Italy on the Liner Rex Saturday. In the meantime he may visit Niagara Falls.

FOUR KILLED Triple Collision Stops Negro Rites

CHICAGO, Oct. 11 (AP)—A triple automobile collision broke up a Negro funeral procession today and killed two women, a man and a boy, all Negroes. The accident occurred as an automobile drove into the funeral procession at an intersection throwing one of the funeral cars against another.
