Japan's Conquest Of North China Region Nearing Completion

Capture Opens Front Door To Rich Province

Consensus Of Opinion Says Last Defense Has Broken

PEIPING, Oct. 11 (AP)—The Japanese army's conquest of the five provinces of North China tonight appeared to be near completion.

In Peiping the capture of Shihchiachuang, vital railway junction 175 miles south of Peiping, was hailed by Japanese as the beginning of the end.

Neutral military men were inclined to endorse the Japanese opinion the last effective Chinese defense line in North China had been broken. Shihchiachuang was the last important center of resistance in Hopeh. Its fall brought the Japanese legions to the railway penetrating Shansi province, and opened the "front door" of that rich area.

Strikes Five Provinces

The consensus of informed persons here was that in the three months of its North China campaign the Japanese army had either captured or advanced to within striking distance of the capitals or nerve centers of the five northern provinces—Hopeh, Chahar, Suiyuan, Shansi and Shantung. This area, conquered or apparently marked for conquest, is home to 80,000,000 Chinese, a population larger than that of Japan proper. The five provinces include China's richest coal, iron and aluminum resources and its best cotton and wool growing country.

Shantung Resists

Shantung appears to offer the greatest chance of effective Chinese resistance. But that province, governed by General Han Fu-Chu, has a long coast line vulnerable to the Japanese navy. Even if General Han receives aid from the central government forces neutral observers doubt his ability to stand long against the Japanese.

Italy To Stop Aerial Aid To Chinese Army

ROME, Oct. 11 (AP)—Reliable sources tonight disclosed Premier Mussolini has ordered Italian aviation experts ailing the Chinese government to quit now that China is engaged in a bitter conflict with Japan.

This dramatic move was said to be part of an understanding reached with Adolf Hitler, on 11 Duce's recent Berlin visit, to support Japan in her struggle with China.

There are understood to be about 75 Italian aviation experts in war-torn China headed by Col. Silvio Scaroni. With a German military mission composed of approximately 100 retired reichswehr officers, the Italians have been largely instrumental in building up Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's armies now battling Japan, which has the sympathy of the two fascist powers.

Hitler, these same sources said, has already or intends soon to recall the Germans.

General MacArthur To Retire Dec. 31

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11 (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur, former chief of staff of the United States army, who has been responsible for the reorganization of Philippine defense forces, will retire from active service on Dec. 31.

His retirement, at the age of 57, was announced today by Secretary Woodring.

Youth Shoots Self

DES MOINES (AP)—Norman Hendrickson, 19, was found shot to death in his home here yesterday. Dr. A. E. Shaw, Polk county coroner, said it was suicide. Coroner Shaw said Hendrickson had been out of work and was reported to have been despondent recently.

Japs Refuse Release Of Haldore Hanson, A. P. Correspondent

PEIPING, Oct. 11 (AP)—Japanese military authorities at Paotingfu tonight refused to release Haldore Hanson, Associated Press correspondent whom they arrested two weeks ago as a spy.

Col. J. T. Stilwell, military attaché to the United States embassy here, was not permitted to visit Hanson despite repeated requests. Colonel Stilwell went to Paotingfu during the day with a Japanese escorted party of foreign newspaper men and officials.

Lt. Col. Junzo Hiraoka, Japanese officer in charge of the party, however, assured Stilwell Hanson would be released and allowed to return to Peiping tomorrow.

Il Duce Is Still Cool to French, British Efforts

Italy Pays Little Heed To Suggestions In Spanish Crisis

By The Associated Press
LONDON, Oct. 11 (AP)—Premier Benito Mussolini today gave no encouragement to the efforts of France and Britain to make him promise to keep hands off Spain.

British and French officials actively sought a new plan to bring Italy to the conference table to discuss withdrawal of foreign volunteers from the Spanish civil war, but Il Duce remained aloof.

Authoritative circles in Rome indicated little fear that France would open her Spanish frontier to let supplies reach the Spanish government. They believed such a move would bring serious danger of European war as to make France and Britain wish to avoid it.

Rome also paid little heed to other suggestions for ameliorating the crisis, such as that emanating from Paris for an Anglo-French occupation of the Spanish Balearic islands.

Experts of the French foreign office were known to have put forward the idea that the Balearics, lying athwart France's route to North Africa and Britain's highway to India, might be occupied by an Anglo-French force to "nullify" alleged Italian occupation.

At midnight ambulances with muffled lights still were scouring the city for injured persons.

The Spanish insurgents, whom Italy supports, hold the most important of the islands and there have been frequent charges of Italian activity there.

The French suggestion, however, apparently aroused little support in the British capital.

Cummings Renews Criticism Of U.S. Supreme Court Decisions

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11 (AP)—Attorney General Homer Cummings renewed his criticism of some supreme court decisions tonight and asserted present-day social and economic needs "must and will be met."

"We have scant patience with those who believe the constitution is an unworkable document, and we are not moved by those who, in sheet blindness, strive to make it an unworkable document," he said.

Another World War? Mussolini Holds Key, Says Evans

By JOHN EVANS
Associated Press General Foreign Editor

Is another world war just around the corner?
That is the question most people ask. They add: "Will we be in it?"

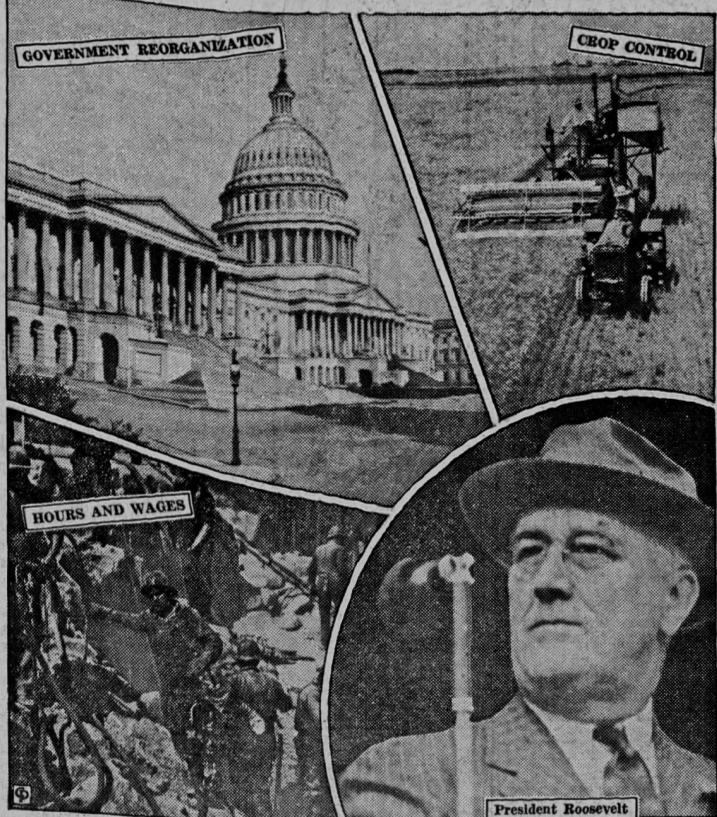

The war question can't be answered with a "yes" or a "no" but here is some background on it.

There are two wars already, one in Spain and one in China. That gives Mars a good start in his work to involve the rest of the world.

Special Session To Consider These Measures?

President Roosevelt will call a special session of congress between Nov. 8 and 16, it now is believed. It is expected that these measures will come up:

hours and wages, government reorganization and establishment of eight regional planning boards similar to the Tennessee Valley Authority. And the foreign situation, including neutrality measures and armament appropriations, will be discussed constantly. The judiciary issue may not come up.

Insurgent Guns Batter Madrid In Night Attack

MADRID, Oct. 11 (AP)—Insurgent artillery batteries tonight subjected Madrid to the most intensive night shelling the city has experienced in the 11 months since.

Several hundred persons were injured as 1,200 shells poured into the city in little more than an hour. Many shells burst in the heart of the city, near the Gran Via. Property damage was heavy.

Ernest Hemingway, American author, narrowly escaped injury when three shells hit his hotel. His room was filled with smoke and plaster was knocked from the ceiling.

Other projectiles struck near the residence of most of the foreign press correspondents.

At midnight ambulances with muffled lights still were scouring the city for injured persons.

White House Police Guard Mussolini's Son at Tea Party

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11 (AP)—Mussolini's husky young son, Vittorio, drank tea with the President and Mrs. Roosevelt today while a reinforced White House police guard watched for trouble that did not develop.

Police had believed there might be an anti-fascist demonstration outside the executive mansion. They had dispersed demonstrators this morning at the Italian embassy, where Il Duce's son spent the week end.

Young Mussolini remained at the White House 45 minutes. Photographers were barred from the grounds during his visit and reporters were not permitted to question him.

Vittorio is expected to sail for Italy on the Liner Rex Saturday. In the meantime he may visit Niagara Falls.

Four Killed Triple Collision Stops Negro Rites

Ogden L. Mills Succumbs With Heart Ailment

NEW YORK, Oct. 11 (AP)—Ogden L. Mills, an aloof aristocrat of American politics and one of the last great leaders of the once powerful republican old guard, died today of a heart attack.

He was stricken suddenly—only three days ago he had played a vigorous golf game with friends—in the old red brick and brownstone Mills townhouse that in itself is a symbol of a way of living that is passing.

His death occurred just two and a half months after that of his predecessor as secretary of the treasury, Andrew W. Mellon. With him was Mrs. Mills and the family physician, Dr. Henry James.

He was only 53, young in the light of a long and brilliant national career. Unquestionably he had been one of the great hopes of the party's conservative wing that he had helped so long to guide and direct.

An hour after his death became known, the street outside the door was filled with limousines, as weeping friends came to call at the gloomy old house.

The funeral arrangements had not been announced.

Health School for Oldsters Oklahoma Doctor Tells 70-Year Pupils How To Live A Century

CHICAGO, Oct. 11 (AP)—If you want to live to be 100, lend an ear to Dr. W. A. McKeever.

The doctor, who runs a school for people past 70 down in Oklahoma City, gave this prescription today:

1. Eat three light meals a day and only alkaline foods.
2. Have a job you like.
3. Lots of friends and read the newspapers for current affairs.
4. Stop grumbling and don't talk about old age or pains.

Don't preach against the younger generation. Get out with the young people. Dance a jig.

5. Don't sleep more than six hours a day. Have so many interests that you need the extra time to pursue them.

He told how he interested one older in art, another in singing a third in wood carving.

"I'm so darned enthusiastic about my school," he reported, "that I'm going to organize a junior department for boys and girls from 60 to 69."

Supreme Court Upholds Black Against Attack

Actions Proposed By Levitt and Kelly Disregarded

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11 (AP)—The supreme court brushed aside today two suits challenging the right of Justice Hugo L. Black to sit upon the nation's highest tribunal.

It refused to consider actions proposed by Albert Levitt and Patrick Henry Kelly, attorneys, who contended Black is constitutionally ineligible for the office. Bearded Chief Justice Hughes announced that neither had sufficient interest in the case to justify instituting the proceedings.

Battle Not Ended

The battle to unseat Black was not ended, however. Levitt declared immediately that other sources of action were open to him and that he would make use of one, or another of them. Kelly brusquely accused the court of evading the issue.

Their motions were based, not upon Black's admitted former membership in the Ku Klux Klan, but upon a contention that the supreme court retirement act increased the "emoluments" of members of the court and that, since Black was a member of the senate when the act was passed, he is disqualified by the constitution's prohibition against a legislator taking an office he has helped make more remunerative.

Not Settled

The court made no effort to settle this point, nor the additional contention that the retirement of Justice Willis Van Devanter, Black's predecessor, left no vacancy to be filled. It confined itself entirely to the question of whether Levitt and Kelly could properly bring such a suit.

Bishop's Cafeteria Employees On Strike

DES MOINES, Oct. 11 (AP)—Approximately 34 employees of Bishop's cafeteria went out on strike here today. They demanded union recognition and a closed shop agreement.

Congress May Have Special Crops Session

Increased Wheat, Corn Prospects Foretell New Laws

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11 (AP)—Slight increases today in prospective wheat and corn yields stimulated talk of a special session of congress to write new crop control legislation.

The agriculture department estimated there were almost 1,000,000 bushels more wheat in prospect now than a month ago, and 11,000,000 bushels more corn.

If its figures prove correct the year's wheat production will be 886,895,000 bushels compared with 826,461,000 last year, and the corn crop will make 2,561,936,000 compared with 1,529,327,000.

Crop control advocates, who read in the estimates a threat of returning surpluses and depressed markets if production continues to rise, recalled cotton prices broke $1.70 to $2.15 a bale at New Orleans Oct. 8 when the government predicted a yield of 17,575,000 bales—the second largest production in history.

The situation revived speculation as to whether President Roosevelt will announce a special session in his radio talk to the nation tomorrow night.

The president's talk will be broadcast over the nation's three major radio networks from 8:30 to 9 p.m., C.S.T. A White House aide said Mr. Roosevelt will discuss "probably a half dozen subjects."

Stephen T. Early, secretary to the chief executive, told reporters Mr. Roosevelt's "report to the nation" after his drought area inspection tour in 1936 set the precedent for his report tomorrow night.

Peace Efforts Will Be Made Before Acting

Door Still Open For Return of Rebels, Green Says

DENVER, Oct. 11 (AP)—The American Federation of Labor convention appealed to the C.I.O.'s rank-and-file today to overthrow its "power-greedy" leadership and march back into the A. F. of L.

By an overwhelming vote of the convention gave the A. F. of L. executive council power to expel suspended C.I.O. unions.

The convention adopted the resolutions committee's recommendation, however, that the door to peace be kept open and that a battle to exterminate the C.I.O. unions be delayed until all peace efforts failed.

The 25,616 to 1,277 vote in favor of the committee's report followed a plea for the rebel unions to "come back home" from William Green, A. F. of L. president.

"The door is open," Green said. "The hand of the A. F. of L. is extended. The voice of the A. F. of L. says 'please come back home.' If anyone of these (C.I.O.) organizations comes to the door, it need not come with its hat in its hand. We'll be there to welcome them and embrace them."

Green said he knew it was the council's intention still to pursue a "patient policy" but that the charter of the "obstinate" unions would be revoked.

"When this is done, the rank and file of those who want to come back will be given the opportunity to do so," he said.

C.I.O. Considers Censuring Japan

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. Oct. 11 (AP)—The Committee for Industrial Organization toyed tonight with the question of adopting a resolution condemning Japan for its undeclared war with China.

Although the subject had not reached the stage of formal discussion in business sessions of C.I.O. leaders meeting here, some union heads predicted privately the organization would suggest the United States boycott Japanese goods, following the lead of the American Federation of Labor.

Coal Miners End Sit-Down Strike

LANSFORD, Pa., Oct. 11 (AP)—Thirty-eight determined hard coal miners walked out of the Coaldale Colliery late tonight, ending their sit-down strike, 1,300 feet underground just 10 hours short of a week after it began.

Proposals carried by Gov. George H. Earle from the Lehigh Navigation company, operators of the mine, to the strikers paved the way for the end of the strike that has crippled the entire Panther Creek valley with its nine miles of collieries and 7,500 miners.

Illinois U. Students Feel Strike's Pinch

(AP)—University of Illinois students, walking because of a bus strike, faced the prospect of no laundry or cleaning service tonight when a newly-formed local of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, C.I.O. affiliate, voted an immediate strike for recognition and arbitration of wage and hour demands.

Grains Drop Limit To Reach 1933 Low

CHICAGO, Oct. 11 (AP)—In a sensational collapse of values today, wheat, corn, oats and rye smashed low price records that in some cases extended back to 1933. December and May wheat plunged down 5 cents a bushel, the full immediate limit allowed by trade rules.

However, Spain is only one sore spot and there are the makings of war in other situations that may effervesce a little later.

Proof of the 'Pudding'

Members of the "family" of 25 women students living at Russell house, women's cooperative dormitory, are eating the dinner planned and prepared by themselves. While the cooking "shift" remains the same throughout the year, a different committee plans the menus each week. Membership on the committee—consisting of two women—alternates until everyone in the house has had a part in planning the meals.

Meet the Chefs!

Cooking may be the duty of a housewife, but it is also one of the home-like tasks that have to be done by university men living in cooperative dormitories. The three men preparing the evening meal are Keith Peasley, A1 of Dunbar, Omer Clark, A2 of Sabula, and Carl Ortmeier, A2 of Charles City, all residents of Whetstone house.

Education at a Reduced Price

200 S.U.I. Students Live in Cooperative 'Dorms,' Find Expenses Cut

A college education at a reduced budget—that's what living in a cooperative dormitory means to more than 200 University of Iowa students—both men and women.

In the three cooperative houses—Russell, Breene and Tudor—all the problems of the ordinary household are cheerfully met and solved by a group of approximately 60 women.

One hundred thirty-eight men meet the same problems in five men's cooperative dormitories—the Gables, Jefferson house, Mansie, Wilson house and Whetstone house.

"The work in a cooperative dormitory is really no harder and takes no more time than the work we would do at home," one of the residents of Russell house said.

"It's just that we do one certain thing all the time. At home we would probably make a bed or two, dust and clean, prepare a meal or help with the dishes," she explained.

All the work of the houses is divided among several committees. Usually there are six—for breakfast, lunch, dinner, breakfast and lunch dishes, dinner dishes and cleaning. Everything except the laundry is done by the students. Usually the work averages between an hour and one-half and two hours daily.

The committees usually considered the "choicest" are the cleaning and breakfast committees. "If we are on the cleaning committee, we can do our work anytime—just so we do it before noon. We can get up early and get it out of the way or do it later between classes," another woman student said. Despite the early morning hour, the breakfast committee is quite popular. The students have to get up early and have breakfast ready to serve at 6:45, but when breakfast is over, their work for the day is also over.

One of the biggest problems facing the students in all of the houses is "how much to cook." Most of them are, not accustomed to preparing meals for such large groups. The smallest number is 22 in Wilson house, while the largest is 35 in the combined Breene-Tudor houses.

The cooperative dormitories have proved popular as well as economical. This year more than half of the men who stayed in cooperative dormitories last year applied for rooms again. Last year 210 men lived in the houses. The number was reduced this year because of the closing of Kellogg house and Kellogg Annex.

Scholastically the cooperatives rank high among campus groups, despite limited study facilities. Their grade-point averages for last year prove their scholastic superiority over fraternities, sororities and dormitories.

Boarding the royal private car of the king's special train, the desperate Zapt, the adventurous Rassen-dyll disguised as King Rudolf, and Fritz, high strung with nerves and hangover, started for the coronation.

As the royal special chugged toward Strelau, bearing Rudolf Rassen-dyll, literally in the shoes of the incapacitated King Rudolf, Black Duke Michael was busy at the capital planning the coup against the throne.

He prepared a proclamation stating that he had "taken cognizance of the lamentable disorders occasioned by the non-appearance of his majesty at the solemnities of his coronation, therefore, I hereby assume the regency of the kingdom and ordain and proclaim state of martial law."

"This is no joke, Englishman," said Zapt sternly. "Look! He pointed to the body of the king stretched out on a bench. Fritz, only partly dressed, stood beside the monarch, bucket in hand gazing anxiously at him.
"The King has been drugged," said Zapt. "That last bottle of wine was doped. This is Michael's work."
"Michael?" queried Rassen-dyll.
"Yes, Michael, his half brother," said Zapt. "Michael wants the throne—and the Princess Flavia. He's waiting in Strelau now with half the army already on his side and half the people too. It's the moment he's been waiting for, planning for. It's his chance to pose as the people's savior from the excesses of an incompetent king."
Rassen-dyll suddenly noticed that Zapt had stopped his excited pacing and was gazing at him intently.
"Englishman," said Zapt, slowly, forming each word carefully and clearly, "I am much older than you. As a man grows old he comes to believe in Fate. Fate sent you here, Fate sends you now to Strelau. It may sound mad, but without your beard, I'd wager you could deceive your own brother."
Rassen-dyll attempted to dismiss the idea as sheer madness. "My dear Colonel, I came here on a fishing trip. I like to fish. I as a simple have a drink."

The king drew his hand back, slapped Zapt across the face.

"There are more important things than that, sire. I question your freedom to drink yourself into a condition in which you will not be fit to be crowned tomorrow."
"I question your right to say that to me," snarled the king, with mounting rage.
"Your father knew his obligations to the crown. He never thought of himself or his own pleasure," said Zapt, in a tone intended to soothe the raging monarch. "Your father never forgot that he was king."
"Livid with rage, the king drew back and struck Zapt full across the face. The old soldier's weather-beaten, tuddy face turned bloodless white. There was a moment of sickly silence, a tensely which penetrated even the King's alcoholic haze. Then Zapt drew himself up smartly, clicked his heels and bowed.

"By your leave, Your Majesty," he bowed again and walked toward the circular staircase with its banister of bear spears which led to his room. The king's anger died as he watched the faithful old retainer go. He called after him but Zapt went on.

Josef, the major domo of the hunting lodge, stood by the king's side.
"The bottle of the 1868, Your Majesty?"
He took a glass from Josef and the servant filled it. The king smiled of his satisfaction at the taste as he drained the goblet and smacked his lips appreciatively.

He decided the proper thing at this time would be to apologize to the king so he started for the colonel's room. At the foot of the stairs a look of pain and dismay crossed his face, he shuddered, clutched the banister, tried to hold on and fell to the floor unconscious.

A bucket of ice water full in the face woke Rassen-dyll the next morning. He had slept all night in the chair he had occupied at the dinner table.

"I don't care much for this kind of a joke," said Rassen-dyll, now custodian of a monumental hangover.

Looking Glass Reflections

By VERA SHELDON

The first days of school are the most impressionable ones in a child's life. Her first meeting with tiny playmates makes the kindergarten miss conscious of her personal appearance. The manner in which she is accepted by the group may stamp a complex on her growing personality which will last throughout her adolescent life.

A child starting to school should be dressed for both comfort and attractiveness. Clothes should be well-fitted with no binding seams or uncomfortable fastenings. A child's clothes must be bought to fit, not to grow into.

Mother must be careful to dress her so that she is chosen as a member of the play group and not set apart because of clothes inappropriate for school wear.

Another consideration in choosing a child's wardrobe is to dress her so that she can care for herself. Clothes are made now with zippers and convenient fastenings so that the small girl may assume a certain amount of independence.

Another is her hairdress. Health should be the first consideration. Daily brushings and weekly shampoos should leave her hair with a healthy sheen. Like her clothes, her hair should be dressed for comfort as well as for charm.

Sleekly brushed "dutch bobs" are still becoming and appropriate for the child with a high forehead. Straight hair is pretty on most children. For others loose end curls are nicest.

Bobbing curls swung away from the face with tiny barrettes are easily kept on the little tot with curly hair which is heavy enough to make pretty curls. There are others who wear hair best in soft ringlets similar to those worn by their older sisters. Braiding of top hair and the use of hair ribbons will keep the necessary youthfulness in the child's hair style.

League Hears Prof. de Kiewiet Discuss Europe

His recent tour of Europe was the basis for the talk on "Europe Today" presented by Prof. Cornelius W. de Kiewiet of the history department at the first fall meeting of the League of Women Voters. Mrs. Homer Cherrington was hostess at tea in her home, 230 Person avenue, yesterday afternoon. Comparing the internal social problems of labor and capital in France, Germany, Great Britain and the United States, Professor de Kiewiet stated that Germany is much in advance of the other countries, mostly because of the absolute government control. Because its labor and capital problems are settled, Germany is able to stress preparation for war. Through printed matter she has built up a strong feeling of nationalism and has lowered her standard of living considerably, he said. In explaining the latter, Professor de Kiewiet told of a sign in grocery stores which, in urging thriftiness in use of food, read: "If each family in Germany were to waste one piece of bread, the country would lose 38,000,000 marks." However, according to Professor de Kiewiet, Great Britain is also preparing for war, although she is doing it more quietly than Germany.

School Board Explains Building Issue

Two Propositions, Issuance of Bonds, Selection of Site, Defined

The city school board has issued a statement in an attempt to clarify the two propositions concerning the construction of Iowa City's proposed $725,000 high school. The board's message, formulated at a board meeting, is printed below. Voters are urged to read it carefully and clip it out for future reference. The board's statement follows: Two Bond Issues "We, the members of the Iowa City board of education, in deciding to call a special election for the purpose of voting on the 'two bond' issue propositions believe we took the only available course in order to be fair to all the voters and at the same time comply with PWA regulations. "The first proposition concerns issuance of $398,750 in bonds to supplement the PWA grant of $326,250 for construction and equipping of a new high school building not to exceed $725,000 in cost. "In proposition number 2 of the petition to be voted upon the voter is asked to express whether he favors issuance of $90,000 in bonds for purchase of a new site for the building. The code of Iowa prevents pressure being placed on the voter, but the board will be bound morally to purchase a central site if the second proposition is approved and thus carry out the mandate of the people. Location "The second petition presented to the board asked that the words 'centrally located' be included in the question, and it proposed issuance of bonds in the amount of $398,750 for purchase of a site, and construction and equipping of the building to supplement the PWA grant of $326,250 from the PWA. "Following is the proposition listed in the petition which was rejected by the board: Amount of Bond "Shall the independent school district of Iowa City, Iowa, issue bonds in the amount of $398,750 for the purpose of purchasing real estate for a new site centrally located within said school district, constructing and equipping a new senior high school at a cost not to exceed $725,000, to supplement a grant of 45 per cent of such cost in the sum of $326,250, made by the federal emergency administration of public works?" "Even though the words 'centrally located' could have been included in the question, there would not be a grant of $326,250 from the PWA available because federal aid would be decreased to be in proportion to the amount that the school board actually

THE QUESTIONS The questions upon which Iowa Citizens will vote Nov. 4, are presented herewith so that readers may refer to them while reading the school board's explanation of the question. 1. Shall the independent school district of Iowa City, Iowa, issue bonds in the amount of $398,750 for the purpose of constructing and equipping a new high school building at a cost not to exceed $725,000, to supplement a grant of 45 per cent of such cost in the sum of $326,250 made by the federal emergency administration of public works? 2. Shall the independent school district of Iowa City, Iowa, issue bonds in the amount not to exceed $90,000 for the purpose of purchasing real estate for a new site in said school district upon which to construct a new high school building? would spend on construction and equipping of the building after the cost of the site was deducted. The PWA will pay no portion of the cost for a site. "The propositions, as submitted to the voters, are fair both to those favoring the Morningside location and those desiring a centrally located site for the building. "If a person prefers the east end site he should, aside from voting yes on the first proposition, vote no on the second. The voter who favors the centrally located site would vote yes on both propositions, thus assuring that the building will be erected and on a new site which will be located centrally. "If the first proposition is carried and the second one loses, the board will erect the new building on the Morningside site. If both propositions carry, the building will be erected on a centrally-located site. "In any case, the first proposition must be carried or no building will be erected. Morningside Site "A vote in favor of the second proposition is definite opposition to the Morningside site. Had the other proposition as suggested in the second petition been submitted to a vote, the person favoring the Morningside site would have been unable to express this sentiment in any way other than voting against the school building. It also would have been necessary to submit an amended application to the PWA which might have resulted in Iowa City losing the grant. "The board has no definite site in mind for the building and would be glad to receive suggestions from residents of the city. "The following communication was received by the school board from E. W. Clark for the administrator of the federal emergency administration of public works regarding the grant made to Iowa City: "Subject to the terms and conditions (PWA form number 230) which are made a part hereof, the United States of America

White Sox Defeat Cubs in City Series, 6 to 4

Monty Stratton Checks Bruins In Fifth Game

Dykesmen Need One More Game For Chicago Title

By EARL HILLIGAN

CHICAGO, Oct. 11 (AP)—Jimmy Dykes' White Sox, with the top of the batting order providing the punch when hits meant runs, came within a game of winning their 15th Chicago championship today, defeating the Cubs, 6 to 4, at Comiskey park before 11,575 spectators.

The victory gave the American leaguers three wins to two for the National league representatives, giving the Sox a chance, through another triumph tomorrow at the same park, to take their fourth straight city baseball crown.

The Sox were outthit 11 to 8 but their safeties were more timely and they fielded snappily on several occasions when the Cubs threatened to take command. Little Mike Kreevich, who put the Sox ahead in the first frame with a long home run, drove in another marker in the seventh. Batting in the No. 3 spot behind Kreevich, Dixie Walker punched home two runs, and did the next man in the Sox batting list, Rip Radcliff.

The Cubs mixed two hits and an error by Monty Stratton to knot the count in the third, but the American leaguers came right back for two runs in their half of that inning, getting them after two were out, and never were headed.

Carleton, in losing his first game of the series to counter-balance his victory in the opener of the skirmish last week, allowed six hits in as many innings, the other two Sox safeties being off the veteran Charley Root, who entered the contest in the seventh after Carleton had retired in favor of a pinch-hitter. Stratton, chalking up one victory in his first series start, allowed eight safeties, the other three Bruin singles being off Clint Brown, who worked the final three frames.

Vern Kennedy, whose three-hit pitching gave the Sox the second game of the series, tomorrow will oppose Larry French, the Cub southpaw who hurled four-hit ball in subduing the Sox in the third encounter.

BITS about SPORTS by JOHN MOONEY

A column of chatter by a sports editor in the midst of a wave of pity for the unmentioned slaves who grind out sports copy after every game to the waiting public.

PROBLEMS... face the sports writer which are undreamed of by the average reader... it is the purpose of this column to point out to the reader some of the perils of sports writing, lest he or his children fall by the way-side and succumb to the glamor of the printed page.

ANGLES... there are several angles from which a story must be written... the coach's viewpoint... the players' viewpoints... the fans' viewpoints... and trying to please them all is something very few men can do... problem number one...

COACHES... hate to have team publicized as a powerhouse aggregation... fear over-confidence on part of fans and players... want to keep players fighting rather than relying on their laurels... to please coach, a game story should point out errors of home team, skipping sensational word-plays which give the life and color necessary to a good story...

PLAYERS... want just and due credit, and maybe more, for playing a good game... do not want newspapers calling them bums or criticizing their play unnecessarily... want stories to read well for the home-town folks and for the "one-and-only"... feel that always to blame and never to praise is unjust... like to read the more exciting accounts of the outstanding GOOD features of the game rather than see an account of the POOR plays...

FANS... make up a third class of readers who must be satisfied... already, coaches and players differ on types of stories... general public cares more for the sparkling pass attack of the winners or the last-minute touchdown dash for victory than they do for the poor chances of beating U. P. Tech next week or of the fine defensive play of "Killer" Jones at guard.

CLASHES... when any or all of these groups descend upon the unsuspecting scribe; trouble is bound to happen... if the fans get too upset, the writer may cause a loss of circulation and the ultimate loss of his job... if the players gripe, the sports authority may suffer physical mayhem... remember Jack Miley and Dizzy Dean?... if the coach objects, he may sever his relations with the paper and deprive the writer of his news source and later the much-coveted job...

PUZZLE... most athletic men like to have their teams painted as under-dogs for the psychological reason that a fighting under-dog can often upset an over-confident rival... too, victory against great odds doesn't hurt the coach's prestige... if the scribe pleases the coach and paints a gloomy picture and then the team wins on the following Saturday 35 to 0, what next?... the public must trust the columnist to believe his writings... will such mistakes build circulation?... but they do gain the coaches' good graces...

furthermore, players hate to be referred to as inferior to opponents they know to be far below their class...

ADDED... an added starter in this group may be called the "reader-between-the-lines" type... he is the one who reads perfectly innocent yarn which perhaps pleased all three of the above classes, and this reader interprets slanderous meaning in the article... were you ever called out of bed in the early hours of the morning (9:30 is early if you've worked 'til 4) to answer questions for such and such a dignitary regarding the probable effect of your story in the paper on the alumni in Poodunk?...

MORAL... think before you leap; but if, after thinking it all

This game marked the fourth victory for the American leaguers against one of the Nationals.

Offensive, Defensive Errors Are Pointed Out to Hawk Gridders

Errors in offense and defense, manifested in the Iowa-Bradley football game Saturday, were called to the attention of the offenders in a chalk talk yesterday preceding a lengthy contact workout.

The three Iowa coaches, Irl Tubbs, Pat Boland and Ernie Nevers, expressed deep concern over the lackadaisical play of the Hawkeyes Saturday when they barely defeated the Bradley Tech eleven, 14 to 7.

The defensive line play of the

Mike Howard Expects Men To Begin Work

Although not all available wrestlers have "checked in" with Coach Mike Howard this fall, he expects a squad of 20 or more by the end of the football season.

Until the end of the football season varsity wrestling drills will be held every Tuesday and Thursday afternoons at 4 p.m. Coach Howard has prepared a series of drills on fundamentals which will be run off on schedule during the next two months.

The squad which will be available this year is as follows: Members of the varsity squad last year: Capt. Wilbur Nead, heavyweight; Carl Vergamini, lightweight; Morris Mathews, 155 pounds; Don Maland, 135 pounds; and George Smith, 155 pounder.

Sophomores who were freshmen champions last year: Carl Conrad, heavyweight; Frank Murphy, 175 pounds; Harold Gibbons, 165 pounds; Clarence Kemp, 155; Wayne Hardin, 145 pounds; Kenneth Kingsbury, 135 pounds; James Butsch, 126 pounds; and Phil Millen, 118 pounds.

Sophomores who were awarded numerals last year: Geo. Bailey, heavyweight; Bernhart Hermann, 155 pounds; Howard Krouse, 155 pounds; Ed Shannon, 145 pounds; and Bob MacDowell, 118 pounds.

over, you feel that you must leap—go ahead. But don't ever plunge into the sports racket...

PLEA... in closing, let's all breathe a word of praise—or sympathy—for the forgotten sports scribe who pounds out his fingers and vocabulary in the press box long after the triumphant hero and his coach have been applauded from the field... and remember, he not only plays the game mentally as it goes along, but he must replay it in the morning sheet so that you, reading it over your coffee, may feel the same thrill that you experienced the day before as the scoring play clicked for a 60 yard touchdown sprint... poor us...

Coaches Shift Lineup of City High Gridders

Little Hawks Priming For Franklin Tilt This Weekend

Determined to stop the highly touted Franklin high gridders of Cedar Rapids, Coaches Herb Cormack and Francis Merten began a week's intensive drill for the Little Hawks last night by inserting several new faces into the first string line-up.

Dave Wright has been switched to defensive end and offensive center. Jack Hirt is being groomed to play offensive tackle and to perform in the middle of the line on defense. The right end berth will be handled by Bob Beck, while Wayne Putnam will see considerable action at the flank.

The fifth man in the backfield will be Herman Miller of Ted McLaughlin, if the latter's ankle responds to treatment. A light drill directed to improve the passing attack and develop a more competent forward wall was topped off with a brief scrimmage.

All the men on the squad, with the exception of Eldon Parizek, who is suffering a slight charley-horse, returned from the Clinton invasion in good physical condition.

Buivid Signs With Pro Football Team

CHICAGO, Oct. 11 (AP)—Ray "Buzz" Buivid, former Marquette University backfield ace, signed a contract today with the Chicago Bears of the National professional league and will make his professional debut Sunday when the Bears meet the Chicago Cardinals at Wrigley field.

Capt. Homer Harris and Frank Gallagher at the tackles, Chuck Brady and Bob Allen at the guards, and Dick Anderson at center. Russell Busk, replacing Nile Kinicki who cut his head in the Bradley game and had eight stitches taken in the wound, called the signals with Bill Gallagher and Jack Eicherly at the halves and Ed McLain at fullback.

Opening their conference schedule this week-end against the undefeated Badgers of Wisconsin, the Hawks loom as a distinct underdog to this scrappy eleven, chiefly because Wisconsin has won three victories in impressive style in contrast to the Iowans' rather dubious .500 percentage.

Saturday's game has been designated as the Badgers' Homecoming contest.

Tickets for Hawkeye Special Go On Sale At Iowa Union Desk

Round-trip tickets on the Madison-bound Hawkeye Special which leaves Iowa City at 5 a.m. Saturday morning, went on sale yesterday at the Iowa union desk. Reservations for the game itself, although they have not arrived as yet, are expected to be on sale at the union by tomorrow at the latest, making it possible for the Hawkeye fans to avoid the last minute ticket-office stampede at the Badger battle grounds.

The Union desk is the only place where reservations for the special train and for the game may be made and those who are planning to make the trip should apply as soon as possible.

Blues Prepare For Monticello

U-High Team Seeks To Upset Invaders Here Friday

A light practice session and a chalk talk featured the workout of the University high football team yesterday as they began preparations for their game with Monticello here Friday.

The Blue and White gridders, disappointed with the tie game they played with West Liberty last Friday, will seek to upset the dope by downing the visiting eleven from Monticello.

Monticello, who defeated U high last year, 21-6, and placed second in the Little Eight, appears to be strong on paper, having lost only one game this season, that the conference-leading Tipton aggregation.

The physical condition of the entire University high squad is excellent according to Coach Jack Sterrett. Bob Campion who was out of the game Friday with an injured shoulder is very much improved, and barring any new developments is slated to be back at his guard post.

Heavy St. Joe Gridders Whip Irish, 36 to 0

St. Pat's Bewildered By Clever Rock Island Team

On a dry, fast field St. Patrick's bowed to a much heavier and stronger St. Joseph football team at Rock Island Sunday, 36 to 0. Featuring a big, powerful line and a clever backfield the Rock Island team had the Irish completely bewildered throughout the game.

St. Joe turned on the heat in the first quarter, scoring four touchdowns. The first marker came on the second play of the game, as Bill Negro shook himself loose from the Irish tacklers and ran 55 yards for a touchdown.

On the next kickoff, Bill Knoefel took the ball and raced the length of the field for the second touchdown.

Negro Scores Again Negro in the same period came through with another touchdown as did Knoefel, who galloped 12 yards around his own right end in the closing minutes of the quarter.

In the second quarter St. Joe's fifth touchdown came as a result of Walden's blocked kick on the 40 yard line. The Islanders took the ball from there and proceeded to march 52 yards for the final score of the first half.

Reserves Sent In In the second half the Rock Island reserves were sent into the fracas, and pushed over a sixth touchdown before the game ended.

The Irish throughout the entire game were on the defensive and only once did they in any way threaten to score. This was at the start of the second half when they advanced the ball to the opponents' 30 yard stripe only to lose it on downs.

Walden and Beasley turned in a good game for the Irish while the entire Rock Island outfit showed up well.

Northwestern opened its defense of the Western conference football championship at Dwyne stadium in Evanston, Ill., by engaging the Michigan Wolverines, who held the Wildcats to a scoreless tie for the first two periods. However, Northwestern won, 7 to 0, when Capt. Don Heap's pass to Cleo Diehl, end, in the third quarter, was good for 17 yards and a touchdown. Here Captain Heap is shown carrying the ball for a 3-yard gain before being brought down in the second quarter.

Interclass Track Meet Starts Today

Freshmen, seniors, sophomores and juniors alike will have an opportunity to show their track prowess today and Thursday in the interclass track meet on the outdoor track west of the fieldhouse. The time has been set for 4:15 on both days. This meet, which opens the fall track season, will bring together the freshmen and senior tracksters against the sophomores and juniors.

Anybody enrolled in the university who is interested in track is eligible and invited to compete and has only to report to Francis Cretz-meyer, former Iowa track star, at the track at the beginning of the meet. Some of last year's track men who will probably compete are Merrill Harkness, Buffalo Center, discus; Ed Duane, Iowa City, sprinter; Howard Ely, Guthrie

Center, pole vault; Vincent Finazzo, St. Louis, Mo., broad jump; Robert Nelson, Oskaloosa, distance; Eliot Waples, Cedar Rapids, sprinter; Bob Waples, Cedar Rapids, hurdler; Carl Teufel, Davenport, sprinter and hurdler; Dale Roberts, Villisca, pole vault; Fred Teufel, Davenport, hurdles and sprints; Willie Thomsen, Racine, Wis., distance; and Ed Wiggins, Omaha, sprinter.

Last year's freshmen who are likely to perform are Robert Cowan, Waterloo, sprinter; Don Cook, Elgin, Ill., quarter miler; John Collinge, Des Plaines, Ill., hurdler; Cameron Campbell, Iowa City, distance; James Barron, Iowa City, half miler; Art Moeller, Ft. Dodge, distance; Ed Elliott, Ft. Madison, half miler; Earl Smith, St. Louis, Mo., sprinter; Lawrence Zuccolo,

New York City, distance; and James Wilson, Kansas City, Kan., high jump.

Led by Jack Alderice, Davenport, state titleholder in the high jump, the freshmen will be represented by Archie Greenlee, Valley Junction, half miler; Glenn Sparks, Oskaloosa, miler; Harry Cuthbert, Upper Darby, Pa., distance; Ray Davis, Oskaloosa, distance; Karl Ryerson, Cedar Rapids, pole vault and javelin; Merlin Erickson, Waterville, distance; Fred Martin, Hampton, weights; and Victor Moore, Waukegan, Ill., hurdler.

Last year 46 track and field men competed with the juniors and sophomores carrying off the honors. The events and the days on which they will be held are for today, 100 yard dash, 800 yard run, 60 yard high hurdles, pole vault, and shot put. The 50 yard dash, 300 yard dash, 110 yard low hurdles, high jump, broad jump and discus throw will be held Thursday.

Old Professor Getting Used to Sobbers

Crying Towels Plentiful But Only Phelan and Schmidt Need 'Em

By PAUL MICKELSON

NEW YORK, Oct. 11 (AP)—The Old Professor was a suspicious gent today as he patiently listened to alibis and praise in his Monday morning class for football coaches. Two of his best sobbers, Jimmy Phelan and Francis Schmidt, really had something to cry about for a change but the others spilled naught but crocodile tears.

Professor: "So far this has been a helluva season. Where are all the upsets you cry about and predict every Monday? The only big catches we've got in the dog house are Bernie Bierman, Schmidt and Phelan. The more I study this situation, the more I'm convinced old Gil Dobie was just an amateur in this gloom business. C'mon Carl, what's the gag today?"

Carl: "Snively, Cornell. 'Professor, I can't understand it. I can't understand how the boys played such inspired football to beat Princeton. This Cornell team is a constant series of surprises to me. We started practicing earlier this year. Maybe that's it. But, Professor, that may be to our disadvantage for we will not improve much more while our opponents will progress as the season gets older."

New Bear Stuff
Professor: "Well, I'll be darned. No wonder Fritz Crisler didn't show up today. You stop me, son. Even Bierman never thought up that one."

Bernie Bierman, Minnesota: "Professor, we were a little lucky getting by Indiana with that slim lead. We look worse every Saturday."

Dukes Tough
Jock Sutherland, Pittsburgh: "Professor, I don't believe I ever saw a harder game than the one we won from Duquesne. Inexperience almost cost us a touchdown near the goal line but the boys played their heads off—and had to."

Clipper Smith, Duquesne: "It was terrifically hard fought in the mud, Professor. 'Pitt was helped considerably by greater reserve power while we had to stand pat for 60 minutes with our seven starting linemen. The breaks were about even and I feel our boys did extremely well."

are. Is it true what they say about Alabama?"

Frank Thomas, Alabama: "We played a good game against South Carolina, Professor, but we must improve to have a chance against Tennessee. We showed a glaring weakness in pass defense. Our tackling was uncertain."

"Not in Rose Bowl Yet"
Homer Norton, Tex A and M: "Don't put us in the Rose Bowl, Professor, just because we beat Mississippi State. Remember, please, that we are weak on kicking. Say, that Dick Todd is the greatest broken field runner in America today, barring none. He played an amazing game."

Col. Ralph Sasse, Mississippi State: "Don't let him fool you, Professor. Homer has a great ball club. We made too many errors."

L.S.U. "Lucky"
Bernie Moore, L. S. U.: "Professor, we were lucky but a lucky win counts as much as one you've earned. Yes, sir, we were lucky."

Jimmy Kitts, Rice: "Gosh, what luck, Professor. We have the game under control and then a break like that fumble and Kavanaugh's 100-yard run that beat us. My boys played their heads off against one of the greatest teams I've ever seen. Gosh, what a break."

"Tight Little League"
Lynn Waldorf, Northwestern: "We had a tight squeak with Michigan, too, Professor, but I was mighty pleased with our passes. Those Michigan tacklers gave our ball carriers a headache. Looks like we're in a tight little league."

Harry Kipke, Michigan: "I feel like Bill Terry and his ferns."

N.Y.U. Injury Jinx
Mal Stevens, N.Y.U.: "North Carolina was good but that injury jinx is chasing me around in circles. Looks like from now on, Professor, I'm going to open a full time hospital for the lame and halt."

Professor: "Enough, I'm glad I didn't have to hear these stories last September. Now git."

Mermen Begin Daily Workouts

"Get those kinks out and loosen up" is the order Coach David Armbruster barks at his varsity swimming squad working out daily at the pool in the fieldhouse. "Swimming requires a much different type of muscular action than any other sport, and consequently being in good physical shape from hard work or some strenuous body exercise does not help much with swimmers," Armbruster says.

Both rookies and lettermen are going through the mill of stationary running, various body stretches and muscle loosening exercises in an effort to gain ease of movement and gracefulness in the water. None of the varsity squad has been working out in the pool yet, all practices being devoted to conditioning exercises out of the pool.

Outside of his returning lettermen and a few of the other men, Coach Armbruster has little idea of the capabilities of his squad. Am Christen, Capt. Bob Christians, and Ray Walters, all lettermen, are certain point winners and potential Big Ten champions.

Francis Heydt, sophomore back stroke sensation, is one rookie who shows unlimited promise. Heydt has already pushed Adolph Kiefer, premier American back stroke-

NEW OLD GOLD

By FREDERICK GRAWE

This is the first of a series of short articles introducing some of the outstanding freshman football prospects. Undoubtedly you will be familiar with some of the men who will appear in these articles, for most of them have made one of the many all-state teams which were chosen last fall, and every section of the state is well represented.

The first person I should like to introduce is Ken Pettit. Ken enrolled in the University at the beginning of last semester, but as yet has not become eligible for varsity competition.

At the present time he weighs 200 pounds, stands 5 feet eleven inches tall, and is 18 years old. He is unusually fast and also a good ball handler, as is shown by the fact that he was elected to the all-state basketball team in 1936.

Ken spent his first year of high school in Council Bluffs, where he played on the freshman team. The next year his folks moved to Logan, where he finished his competition. During his sophomore and junior year he played end on defense and in the backfield on offense.

The 1936 season, Ken's last, was a very successful one for Logan. They were undefeated and un-er, to a new United States record, and should make his mark in Big Ten and mid-western competition.

ted, and as a result won the Western Iowa conference championship. Logan scored a total of 230 points during the season with Ken contributing more than half of them. During that season he continued his dual role in a different manner. On defense, for the first three plays, he would back up the line and then would go back to the safety position. On offense he played quarterback, and called signals, and the success of the Logan team seems to indicate he has football sense as well as a football physique.

Dormitories Accept Athletic Card For Coming Semesters

The co-op dormitory athletic managers met with Fred Beebe, acting intra-mural program director, at the fieldhouse yesterday afternoon and drafted initial plans for a revived co-op athletic league. A complete athletic program for the year was laid before the managers which will include all sports listed on the regular intra-mural schedule. Final decisions will be passed at the next meeting to be held next Wed. at 4 p.m. in the fieldhouse. The co-op touch football season will get under way the latter part of next week with Whetstone, Munse, Wilson, Gables and Jefferson participating.

No Cheer
There's something about the luke-warmness of alleged Iowa routers that leaves you with a distinct let-down feeling after a game . . . I didn't cheer myself Saturday, of course; there would have been something a little conspicuous, raising my voice in the strange silence of the stadium.

I'm told three Sigma Alpha Epsilons are buying a theater sign these days . . . They don't exactly want it any more, but they're buying it at a stiff price per foot anyway . . .

There's a well-defined campus rumor that a professor of the faculty wrote that "anonymous" article called "Roosevelt—Then What?" in a recent Forum . . .

Speaking of writing, does anyone know the English prof yet in his 40's who is now at work on a first novel he promises will be a sensation? . . .

Mussolini wants peace; there's no doubt of his declaration in Germany . . . Just to hurry things up he's helping both Japan and General Franco, in a peaceful sort of way . . .

John Gunther's "Inside Europe" — and a new revision is just out — declares in Italy the boys learn the meaning of "halt" and "forward march" before they can pronounce the words . . .

Courage
And whenever I feel particularly low I like to think of the student who, crippled from an infantile paralysis attack when a child and whose legs are nearly helpless, is making almost his entire way through the university, typing, living in a co-op dormitory and through NYA . . .

There's one professor in the college of education, I'm informed, who leaves a definitely warm spot in the hearts of his students . . . To show that he understands the undergraduate mind he occasionally warns students, "I think I'll sleep through class next time" — and does . . .

I sometimes think a professor might get a fairly good picture of a student's mental faculties if he'd take a glance at the note-taking during his lectures. . . . I'm convinced the best minds aren't the most prolific note takers; in fact the inverse may be true . . .

Social Faux Pas of the week was pulled by the Phi Kappa Sig pledge who asked the girls at the Pi Phi house Sunday, "Is this the Phi Psi house?" . . . When informed it wasn't, he climaxed the afternoon by inquiring, "Is this the first day of open house?"

Measures
I've always thought one of the wisest measures of character was that of Aristotle . . . "Tell me who his enemies are," the Greek wrote, "and I'll tell you what manner of man he is."

A university function too few know about are the Wednesday afternoon tea dances . . . Seems to me it's one of the more reasonable ways to entertain a date . . .

I'm wondering why someone doesn't do something about raking the leaves on certain parts of the campus . . . Seems to me there are enough workers available . . .

At Sunday's session of the court, Judge Carson sentenced Floyd Clay to 30 days in the county jail on charges of disturbing the peace and intoxication. W. J. Lauman, Jr., P. A. Crowd and M. Depping were fined $1 for using the streets for storage. R. F. Cook paid a $1 fine for parking in a prohibited zone.

SMASHING THE RACKETS

72 out of 73 racketeers convicted in two brief years! And, astoundingly enough, by the youngest prosecutor on record—the 32-year-old man who never saw New York until he was twenty-one, and who dared set himself against a billion-dollar New York crime ring. How Thomas E. Dewey nabbed Waxie Gordon, Harlem policy kings, politicians, and racketeers is now revealed. First part this week.

HEADLINES screamed his name . . . He caught passes out of nowhere . . . Now he breaks down and admits his high school's motto was "Don't throw the ball to Kelley." How he deliberately set out to catch the public spotlight, what sensational plays he enjoyed most, and how football looks to the man in the huddle, he tells you in the story of his career.
